COUNTY INSTITUTES PLANS

Bankers' Life Association of Des Moines Admitted to Territory.

Territorial Treasurer M. A. Otero has received $1,097.01 from Eugenio Romero, treasurer of San Miguel county, and $22 from Game Warden Gable for the territorial treasury.

County Institutes.
Superintendent J. E. Clark, of public instruction, is receiving letters from all over the territory in response to his request that programs for summer institute work be outlined at an early date so that a well arranged plan may be put into operation when the time comes. Mr. Clark has received the following announcements of appointments: John Milne, principal of the Albuquerque high school, will conduct the Bernalillo county institute from June 7 to July 7.

Superintendent Joseph S. Hofer of Tucuman has been engaged to conduct a four weeks institute at Mora, beginning June 5. He will also conduct a four weeks institute at Wagon Mound, Mora county, beginning July 3d.

Superintendent W. D. Sterling of Albuquerque will conduct the four weeks' institute beginning June 5 at Socorro, Socorro county. He also has charge of the Torrance county institute which begins July 17 and ends August 17.

Mrs. Leona Logue of Raton, will be one of the instructors in the Torrance county institute, which begins July 21 and lasts two weeks.

Mrs. Nora Brumbach of Estancia, will conduct the institute of four weeks in Guadalupe county at Santa Rosa, although the date is not fixed. She will also conduct the institute in Santa Fe some time in June.

Mrs. George Dixon of El Rito, will conduct the four weeks institute at Espanola, Rio Arriba county. Another institute will be held at Tierra Amarilla, but the conductor has not yet been selected.

Superintendent John Wagner of Las Cruces, will conduct the institute in Taos county, but the date has not yet been fixed.

Santa Fe Realty Company.

Articles of Incorporation of the Santa Fe Realty Company were filed in the territorial secretary's office today. The object of the company is to conduct a general real estate business and Hon. Miguel A. Otero is designated as the statutory agent in New Mexico with residence at Santa Fe. The office will be with Watson & Company on San Francisco street, where Carl A. Bishop, the assistant secretary, will be in charge. The company is capitalized at $100,000 consisting of a thousand shares at $100 each. The company begins with $20,000 stock. The shareholders who are directors of the company are Hon. M. A. Otero, 5 shares; J. H. Fulmer, Jr., 10 shares, and A. B. Graham, 5 shares. The duration of the company is 50 years and non-liability papers were also filed. The company, it is stated, will develop the Cienega, the Ramona School hill and other local real estate propositions.

Bankers Association.

The Bankers' Life Association of Des Moines, Ia., has been admitted to the territory. This is said to be the largest assessment life insurance company in the world.

Catching Mice.

Just now the capitol officials and their clerks are busy catching mice, which have made the capitol their headquarters. Even the sanctum of the mounted police seems to have inspired no awe in the mice, and two traps near Captain Fornoff's roller-top desk are kept busy springing surprises on the gray coated mischief makers.

Dona Ana County Road.

A few years ago the city and county of El Paso, Texas, constructed to Anthony, N. M., on the state line, an exceptionally fine highway. This road was constructed to meet a great need for traveling facilities in the farming sections above El Paso and the lower Mesilla valley. It has cost the county of El Paso a large sum of money and goes to show how much money can be spent advantageously by a city, to enable people of outlying sections to reach it easily and quickly to do their shopping, etc.

It is easy therefore to appreciate from a business man's standpoint the value of good roads to the city or town where business men wish to sell their wares to the farmer.

To the end of this highway at Anthony the county of Dona Ana, means by the help of the territorial road commission and subscriptions amounting to practically $40,000 raised, voluntary pledges of farmers residing near the proposed road to construct a beautiful highway. A classification of acreage, benefited by this road, has been made whereby land owners living within one-half mile contribute fifty cents an acre. Those outside this half mile and east of the Rio Grande, 25 cents and those across the river

REBELS BURN NINETEEN BRIDGES

Town of Naco Near Arizona Boundary Is Now Threatened

FREIGHT TRAIN IS DITCHED

Operations of Band of Six Hundred Insurrectos That Are Well Armed.

El Paso, Texas, March 1.—Mail advices from Torreon say that all bridges between Picardis and La Colorado on the Mexican National line, the old Central line, have been burned, a total of nineteen bridges being destroyed. The insurgents also burned all mail on a train at Jimuleo and then burned the entire freight train which they ditched near there. Six hundred insurgents were in the band, all well armed and supplied with ammunition.

Mexican Consul at El Paso Complains.
El Paso, March 1.—Antonio V. Lonelli, Mexican consul at El Paso, has complained to his government of indignities offered himself and family by persons whom he believes were Americans. Senor Lonelli says he complained to Mayor Kelly of El Paso and getting no reply referred the trouble to the authorities at Mexico City.

On the night of February 21, he says a crowd composed of Americans, awakened his family by shouting "Death to Diaz!"—Viva La Madero! He said several letters were also sent him, threatening to dynamite the consulate. According to Sheriff Edwards who investigated, at the request of Governor Colquitt, the crowd consisted of boys, who were in front of the consulate only a few minutes. He anticipated no further trouble.

Naco Fears Rebel Attack.

Naco, Az., March 1.—Although the rebel band which captured Ponce de Leon on Monday is reported within striking distance of Naco across the boundary from here and an attack is expected there momentarily, none of the insurgents are yet in sight. The local passenger train from here to Cananea, Mexico, today carried three machine guns and about 7,000 rounds of ammunition, indicating that a rebel assault on that big mining center is believed to be imminent.

Arrested on American Soil.

El Paso, March 1.—An employee of the Department of Justice today completed the investigation of the claims of Lawrence Converse of Los Angeles and Edwin Blatt of Pittsburgh, held at Juarez as suspected spies, that they were arrested on American soil, and says all evidence corroborates their claim. The United States is expected to demand their release at once.

RUEF WILL HAVE TO SERVE FOURTEEN YEARS.

Order for His Commitment to St. Quentin Prison Was Signed By Judge Lawyer Today.

San Francisco, March 1.—The order committing Abraham Ruef to the St. Quentin penitentiary where he will serve a term of fourteen years for bribing Supervisor John Furrey was made today by Superior Judge Lawyer. The court granted a stay of execution of judgment of one week, in order to allow Ruef time to settle up affairs before going to prison.

WITHIN TWO VOTES OF PROHIBITING SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Columbus, O., March 1.—By the narrow margin of two votes the House today passed the Greeves bill, which legalizes Sunday baseball in Ohio. Representative Guard of Champagne county, and clergymen led the opposition.

or in labor so much for man and team per day. Owing to a large amount of labor being in the latter form, the territorial engineer has detailed an engineer to start this work immediately so as to secure the benefit of this work before spring plowing, etc., begins.

Preliminary work will start Thursday, March 2. Four or five camps each with a foreman, who is directly under the road engineer, will be maintained from Anthony to Dona Ana, a distance of 30 miles. Each camp will comprise the land owners in that immediate section. This road follows along the right of way of the Santa Fe from Anthony to Mesilla Park where it passes up "The Pike" of the New Mexico Agricultural College, a beautiful avenue maintained by that institution and proceeds by way of the "Paseo" to Las Cruces, thence up the Alameda road to Dona Ana.

The Dona Ana county road connecting up with the El Paso highway, forms the terminus of the Camino Real which enters New Mexico at Raton coming from Cheyenne, Wyoming, through Colorado, Denver, Colorado Springs, Trinidad, and through New Mexico from Raton to Santa Fe, and thence to Albuquerque and finally down the Rio Grande valley to Dona Ana, Las Cruces, Agricultural College, Anthony and El Paso.

Postoffice Appointments.

Postmasters have been appointed in New Mexico as follows: Bertha Resbach Rehoboth, McKinlay county;

BANKER ROBIN PLEADS GUILTY

Another Disciple of Frenzied Finance Will Go to the Pen.

COLLAPSE OF INSANITY PLEA

"I am Tired of All This Fooling" Declares Self Confessed Embezzler.

New York, March 1.—Joseph G. Robin, the former banker whose operations in "frenzied finance" it is charged, resulted in the failure of three New York banks, today entered a plea of guilty in the supreme court to the charge of grand larceny of $27,000 from the Washington Savings Bank. The jury to try him had been selected when he entered his plea.

Tired of Fooling.
New York, March 1.—Robin was formerly president of the Washington Savings Bank. He was remanded to the Tombs until March 27, when he will be sentenced. The collapse of Robin's defence of insanity which former District Attorney Jerome put forward so strongly, was foreshadowed last night when it was reported that Robin said that he was "tired of all this fooling." On the night before he was arrested, Robin was committed to a private sanitarium on affidavits sworn to by his sister and two physicians, but the sanitarium rejected him. On the day he was arrested Robin attempted suicide by poison but prompt work with a stomach pump saved him.

Had String of Banks.

New York, March 1.—Through Robin's operations, the Washington Savings Bank, the Northern Bank of New York, and the Carnegie Trust Company and string of minor concerns which he promoted went into insolvency. No full statement of his larcenies has yet been made public by the state examiners.

Five to Ten Years.

New York, March 1.—Robin may be given an indeterminate sentence or not less than five or more than ten years.

GRAND EXALTED RULER OF ELKS SUMMONED.

Sensation Created at Cincinnati By Grand Jury Examining Men of Prominence Aligned With Cox.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 1.—Surprises were many yesterday in the investigation of public affairs in Cincinnati being conducted by the grand jury of Hamilton county. No indictments were returned but the prominence of the men summoned as witnesses started surmises which indicated that the inquiry is to become more far reaching than the indictments of George B. Cox would show.

Chief among those before the body were August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission and grand exalted ruler of the Elks, and Adolph Hynacka, a former county treasurer. Both have been associated politically with Cox.

Herrmann was before the jury twice, the first time immediately following Hynacka, who after testifying for half an hour, departed for New York.

Bayard Kilgour, Vice President of the Bell Telephone Company here, was quizzed today. The fact that officials of the Western Union Telephone Company, and John A. Paine, former head of a concern that distributed racing and market information, had been summoned, led to the belief that the grand jury was turning its attention to alleged gambling.

CARTER HARRISON WILL OPPOSE CHARLES MERRIAM.

Former Mayor Dunne Gave His Winning Competitor Close Race for Democratic Nomination.

Chicago, March 1.—Charles Merriam, professor of political economy at the University of Chicago was the choice of the Republican primaries today to oppose Carter H. Harrison, four times former mayor, Democratic nominee in the race for the mayoralty. Harrison was chosen after a close fight. In the Republican primaries Professor Merriam polled a vote which almost equalled the combined vote of his four Republican opponents.

The following is the final count of the 1,224 precincts.
Democrats—Harrison, 55,069; Graham, 35,541; Dunne, 35,512.
Republicans—Merriam, 54,228; Schultz, 1,210; Thompson, 26,108; Murray, 2,823; Smulski, 25,167; Merriam is a member of the city council and gained publicity by a commission which investigated the city purchasing system.

His Republican opponents after the result was known were quick to offer their active support.

Harrison's victory and the hard run made by Former Mayor Dunne came as a surprise to many, Graham having been a favorite in the betting.

IT PASSED UNANIMOUSLY.

Washington, D. C., March 1, 4 p.m.—The House has just passed unanimously the Andrews Joint Resolution approving the New Mexico Constitution. It now goes to the Senate.

LORIMER IS VINDICATED

Senate by Vote of 36 to 40 Decides He Is Entitled to His Seat

A COMPROMISE IS REACHED

Under It a Vote Was Taken This Afternoon to Decide Controversy.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, D. C., March 1.—The Andrews joint resolution of approval of the New Mexico constitution is the next subject to come before the House. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill includes for the Santa Fe Indian School $58,000; Albuquerque $55,000, including a new dormitory to cost $25,000. Judge A. H. Fall stopped in Washington, D. C., on his way to New York. He is being greeted as one of the future U. S. Senators from New Mexico.

Washington, March 1.—By a vote of thirty-six to forty, the Senate today decided that Senator Lorimer is entitled to his seat.

Agreement on Lorimer.

Washington, March 1.—The agreement reached yesterday that the vote on the Lorimer case would be taken at 1:30 today, brought crowds to the capitol this morning. Most of the Senators were early in their seats, pleased over the prospect of transacting the urgent public business that has been hanging in the balance until the disposition of Lorimer's case. The vote today will be on the Beveridge resolution to the effect that William Lorimer was not duly and legally elected to a seat in the United States Senate, the negative vote therefore to be cast by the friends of the Illinois Senator.

Democrats Save Lorimer.

Washington, March 1.—Lorimer was not present when the vote was taken. The vote was: Nays—(Pro-Lorimer) Republicans, Bradley, Brandegee, Briggs, Bulkley, Burnham, Burrows, Carter, Clarke of Wyoming, Crane, Cullom, Curtis, Depew, Dillingham, Sutton, Flint, Frye, Gallinger, Gamble, Guggenheim, Hale, Hepburn, Kean, McCumber, Nixon, Oliver, Penrose, Perkins, Piles, Richardson, Scott, Smoot, Stephenson, Warren, Wetmore, Democrats—Bailey, Bankhead, Fletcher, Foster, Johnston, Painter, Simmons, Smith of Maryland, Thornton, Tillman, Watson. Total forty-six.

Ayes—(Anti-Lorimer) Republicans: Beveridge, Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Burkett, Burton, Stapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Gonnella, La Follette, Jones, Lodge, Nelson, Page, Root, Smith, Sutherland, Warner, Young. Democrats—Bacon, Chamberlain, Clarke of Arkansas, Culberson, Davis, Gore, Martin, Money, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Percy, Raymer, Shively, Smith, of South Carolina, Slone, Swann, Taylor. Total ayes 40. Absent, Aldrich, Frazier, Terrell.

Lorimer did not vote because of his interest in the case and Senator Tillamero was in his seat but did not respond to his name. The vote of Senator Cullom, Lorimer's colleague, was awaited with interest and both sides claimed him. He voted for Lorimer.

Tariff War May Result.

Washington, March 1.—While no inquiry regarding Canadian reciprocity has yet been received from the German government, the state department expects that most of the commercial powers will immediately make applications for privileges similar to those to be enjoyed by the Canadians, once the arrangement is in force. It may be stated authoritatively, however, that all such applications will be declined, the attitude of the state department being such that advantages may be obtained only through the special reciprocity treaty or agreement with the United States.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DEFENDS PLAYING HOOKEY.

Has Mercy for the Pupil Who Gives Way to Temptation When the Signs are Auspicious.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 1.—A new variety of legal opinion was rendered by Attorney General D. A. Preston today, when State Superintendent of Public Instruction Rose A. Bird asked his office if a school child could be punished for truancy on a legal holiday. General Preston's opinion, verbatim, follows:

"It is doubtful if a kid can be punished for truancy on a holiday, so give the kids the benefit of the doubt."

(Signed) A. PRESTON, Attorney General.

Subsequently discussing his official opinion Preston said he had a poor opinion of a boy who lacked sufficient prudence to play hookey when signs were auspicious.

TARIFF WAR IS IMPENDING

Germany May Want Concessions About to Be Granted Canada

OTHER COMMERCIAL POWERS

Most Favored Nation Clause in Treaties Makes Trouble For Uncle Sam

Berlin, March 1.—It is reported that the German government has inquired at Washington and Ottawa whether Germany will be entitled to the benefits of the American-Canadian reciprocity agreements. The foreign office professes ignorance of the report. "The Commercial Treaty Association," demands that the United States grant the new minimum tariff to Germany, reminding Washington of the provisions of the German tariff law of 1919, under which the Bundesrat authorized the withdrawal of concessions to United States if existing conditions are changed to the disadvantage of Germany through subsequent treaties with other countries.

ALMOST SOUNDS LIKE EX-SENATOR BLAIR'S STORY.

But These Are Alleged Conditions in Uncle Joe Cannon's District: Not in New Mexico.

Danville, Ill., March 1.—William Donegan, Civil War veteran, living at the Soldiers' home here and a former Democratic election official, testified before the grand jury as to the means used at the re-election of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon last November. Before he testified he said he had had the names of many men who had corrupted the old soldiers and that one man had received $200 to buy votes and had kept it all. After he testified he refused to say more than he had told what he had said he would, and that he was prepared to furnish corroboration. Among the charges made by Donegan were these:

That veterans, weak from disease, dying, some insane and others infirm and childish, were voted.

That these voters knew not what they were doing nor why they were doing it.

That officers in the hospital ward marked sample ballots and placed them in the hands of the voter, who was wheeled to the polling place. There judges marked ballots as outlined on the sample.

That battalions of veterans were formed, marched to nearby suburbs and voted as residents thereof.

Saddle Bonds on Town.

That on one occasion a bond issue of $10,000 was saddled on the Oaklawn school district by members of the home voted by an officer thereof.

That sick and weak in the hospital were given whiskey to sustain them until they could vote and that on one occasion a voter was dead within 24 hours after he had been voted.

That young, able-bodied Spanish American veterans were kept at the home to swell the enrollment and increase the appropriations for this branch of the home.

That money was given the barracks captains for voting members of their barracks.

That some of the veterans voted here, then caught a train for their home town and voted there, holding residence at both places.

Even Dead Were Voted.

That men were voted in place of veterans long dead and that it was not unusual for a man voting to forget the name under which he was to vote and that it was a very usual occurrence for a voter to not remember the initials of what he said was his name.

The grand jury spent the better part of its time today in listening to Donegan and John H. Hamilton, a banker of Hoopes town, where the county funds were on deposit previous to the last election. Hamilton was quizzed with reference to the amount Hardy Whitlock, former county treasurer, drew just previous to and on election day. The grand jury is endeavoring to discover if Whitlock, who is accused of embezzling about $38,000 from the county, spent the money for votes.

HEARST LINOTYPE OPERATORS ARE ON A STRIKE.

By Agreement Chicago Papers Issued Only Four Pages Without Any Advertising Whatsoever.

Chicago, March 1.—The newspaper linotype operators went out on the Hearst papers yesterday and continued with strike today. The morning papers issued by agreement consisted of four pages only. The evening papers made no effort to print advertising. The strike works particular hardship on the reading public at present owing to the great interest in the local mayoralty primaries of yesterday, and developments in the United States senate.

Strike Unwarranted.

Chicago, March 1.—James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union has officially declared the strike to be "unauthorized, illegal and unwarranted."

SUPREME COURT IN SESSION

Miss Nellie Brewer Appears to Argue Case Before Tribunal

LINCOLN COUNTY SEAT FIGHT

United States Supreme Court Will Be Asked to Decide Points Involved

The territorial supreme court held an adjourned session at the capitol this morning, all of the judges being present except Chief Justice Popovich, who arrived this afternoon from Clovis, where he has been holding court. Attorney General Clancy, United States Attorney David J. Leahy and Supreme Court Clerk Jose D. Sena, were also present.

The court heard motions presented in Case No. 1282 of the Pecos Valley and Northwestern Railway vs. Price.

An appeal to the United States supreme court was taken in the case of Gray vs. Taylor in the Lincoln county seat contest between Carrizozo and Lincoln. Under an act of the legislature a special election was held in Lincoln county in which the majority of votes cast favored the change of county seat from the historic town of Carrizozo to the new railroad town of Lincoln. The county commissioners issued bonds for a new court house and jail in Carrizozo, and work on the structure had been begun when an injunction stopped construction. The case has been before the district court and supreme court on various motions, and now the contest is to be taken to the United States supreme court for final decision.

This afternoon the supreme court will probably hear the Di Palma-Ruppe case, which has been in the courts for quite a number of years and which is before the supreme court for the third time. The case is No. 1025 and is that of Richard Di Palma and Bernard Ruppe, of Albuquerque, vs. Jacob Weinman and Joseph Barnett. This is a suit for damages instituted by Di Palma and Ruppe to recover the sum of $10,000, for the destruction of a certain store building occupied by Di Palma and Ruppe as a drug store, and whose stock was damaged by the collapse of a party wall. Di Palma and Ruppe declare that the defendants unlawfully entered the drug store and tore down a large portion of the walls and roof of said store so that the same fell upon and injured personal property of the plaintiffs.

This afternoon, for the first time in the history of the New Mexico Supreme Court, appeared a woman lawyer to argue a case. It was Miss Nellie Brewer of Albuquerque, secretary of the New Mexico Bar Association and the only female lawyer in New Mexico. She is an attorney in the case of Butler & Ramsey vs. Oliver Typewriter Company and argued skillfully and gracefully on a motion to reopen a judgment which had been granted through default. Miss Brewer was highly complimented upon conclusion of her argument.

BONILLA INSISTS ON HIS MAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Unless Peace Conference Gives into Him He Will Resume Hostilities in Honduras.

Celiba, Honduras, March 1.—Unless the peace conference at Puerto Cortes agrees today upon a candidate for provisional president of Honduras, Manuel Bonilla is expected to resume hostilities. The revolutionary leader demands the selection of one of three candidates proposed by his peace commissioner as the first condition of the agreement.

GOVERNMENT MAY COMPEL RETURN OF COAL LANDS.

Denver, Colo., March 1.—The immense holdings of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company in Las Animas county are attacked by a suit filed by Attorney General Wickham in the federal court here. About 5,800 acres of the most valuable coal lands in the state, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, are involved. The government asks that this land be returned to it, alleging it was obtained by fraud, deceit and conspiracy. The government is severe in defining the manner in which the C. F. & I. and the Colorado Industrial Company are alleged to have come into possession of the Las Animas coal fields.

KANSAS UNIVERSITY STUDENTS THRIFTY POKER PLAYERS.

Lawrence, Kas., March 1.—The faculty of the University of Kansas is greatly scandalized by the discovery that several of the students have been spending usual amounts of money and that the money was acquired by skill at playing poker. An investigation was begun and Professor Carl Becker, head of the disciplinary committee of the faculty, now has the names of more than 35 players among the students. He says that he has not yet obtained the names of all the players, but is adding a name or two to the list every day.

HELPLESS PEOPLE OF NEW MEXICO

Peculiar Kind of Assistance That Henry W. Blair Gives Them

ASKS FOR AN INVESTIGATION

He Wants Congress to Make It Full, Fair and Deep.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—The opposition to the adoption of the New Mexico constitution has been doing its worst, and while there is no danger as to the final outcome, yet the element of delay has resulted, and it may be that in consequence, that New Mexico will have to wait another congress, to become a state. Hearings have been held before the Committee on Territories of the lower House during the past week, and a number of persons styling themselves as temperance leaders have appeared to protest against the admission of the territory. Ex-Senator Henry W. Blair, of New Hampshire, is the counsel for the objectors, and he has introduced a number of letters, affidavits and newspaper clippings purporting to show that the election was fraudulent. It is even attempted to show that ballots were not provided in certain localities that could be used to vote against the adoption of the constitution, but the statement was refuted effectively by the introduction of the returns, showing both an affirmative and a negative vote in nearly all election precincts. One might have thought, after listening to the claims made by Mr. Blair and his clients, that New Mexico was a dangerous place in which to live, so fearful were the conditions which the imaginative mind of the former New England senator depicted. His plea for the helpless people of New Mexico who ratified their constitution by a handsome and overwhelming majority was punctuated by this suggestion:

"Nothing but a congressional investigation, full and fair and deep, searching to the bottom of things with the mighty arm of the Nation, will save the otherwise helpless people of New Mexico."

The hold-up which statehood has been subjected to is purely the work of people not materially interested in the welfare of New Mexico. Delegate Andrews has expressed the situation very clearly by saying: "There are two kinds of temperance people in New Mexico, one kind being the prohibitionist who works because he has been hired, and the other kind is the temperance believer who lives in the territory, enjoys its benefits, and is interested in its growth and advancement. This latter class are interested in securing legislation for their cause, but they are not the kind who are working to stop the progress of New Mexico by defeating the great results that have followed since the enabling act was secured. The laws they seek will likely be passed by our new state legislature, which is the proper body to act upon the internal affairs of New Mexico. The paid prohibitionist who is holding up statehood cannot be considered in any way as a friend to the territory."

The House Committee, at its hearing, asked for testimony pertaining to the legality of the election, and an adjournment was taken to permit time to secure this from the territory. A great array of affidavits that will effectively convince congress was received from the territory. The two Houses may get things going in a hurry, and put New Mexico on the map among the sisterhood of states, but the business of both Houses is badly congested, and if the matter goes over it must wait until the end of the next congress before approval can be secured, and New Mexico will have nothing to do but to wait. If there should follow such a period of suspense, it is very clear where the responsibility should rest, as Delegate Andrews, Governor Mills, and the delegation that came on here from New Mexico have accomplished all that human endeavor could attain.

The president evidently takes no stock in the opposition to admission as he has issued a message and sent it to congress asking for action. New Mexico may become a state any day.

Filibustering.

Washington, March 1.—There are rumors of coming filibusters that may mark the closing days of the sixty-first congress, but the first affair of this kind has already been pulled off. It started on Friday, February 17th, and lasted until the following Monday afternoon, with only slight intermissions when the tired congressmen were compelled to obey the call of nature, and seek their restful places to secure sleep. An attempt had been made to secure passage of the French spoliation claims in the omnibus bill, and Mr. Mann, of Illinois, began to interpose obstructive measures. He finally won his contention, and then followed an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the passage of the omnibus bill until the portions stricken out were reintroduced. But this was unsuccessful, and the bill was finally passed. In order to

MRS. VEST FELT LIKE CRYING
Walla, Va., Dec. 28.—Mrs. Mary Vest, of this place, "I hadn't been very well for three years, and at last I was taken bad. I could not stand on my feet, I had such pains. I ached all over. I felt like crying all the time. Mother insisted on my trying Cardui. Now I feel well, and do nearly all my housework." No medicine for weak and ailing women, has been so successful as Cardui. It goes to the spot, relieving pain and distress, and building up womanly strength, in a way that will surely please you. Only try it once.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

Then Laugh.
Build for yourself a strong box.
Fashion each part with care;
When it's strong as your hands can make it.
Put all your troubles there;
Hide there all thought of your failures.
And each bitter cup that you quaff;
Lock all your heartaches within it.
Then sit on the lid and laugh.

Tell no one else its contents,
Never its secrets share;
When you've dropped in your care
and worry
Keep them forever there;
Hide them from sight so completely
That the world will never dream
half;
Fasten the strong box securely—
Then sit on the lid and laugh!

Chicken Thieves Apprehended.—L. Joseph and B. Spikes, negroes, were arrested at Albuquerque for chicken stealing.

Death of Mrs. Abel Tafoya.—Mrs. Abel Tafoya, who had been ill for several days, died at Las Vegas. Mrs. Tafoya is survived by her husband. She had resided in Las Vegas since her birth.

Measles Spread in Albuquerque.—Measles continue to spread throughout the city and in the last few days a number of new cases have developed, both in the Highlands and the lowlands.—Albuquerque Tribune Citizen.

Estancia Daily Herald Changes Hands.—Allan Barrett has bought and will take charge of the Estancia Daily Herald. It is to be hoped that the new editor will steer the editorial craft from out of the stormy Socialistic waters into the peaceful harbors of Republican principles.

Marriage Licenses.—A marriage license was issued at Albuquerque to John C. Campbell, aged 21, and Lillie M. Edgar, 20. The bride is from Custer, N. M., and the groom from Ordway, Colo. A marriage license was issued at Las Vegas to Matias Herrera, aged 25, of Armenia, and Bernabel Salazar, aged 19, of Gonzales.

District Attorney Quarantined.—O. T. Toombs of Clayton, district attorney for Union county, is quarantined in his home because of the illness of his little child with scarlet fever. Mr. Toombs hopes to be released from quarantine in time to prosecute the cases on the criminal docket at the March term of the district court for Union county, which will begin Monday in Clayton. In case Mr. Toombs is unable to be present in court it is likely a special prosecutor will be appointed.

Jefferson Reynolds Resigns.—After having served since its creation by the legislature as a member of the board of trustees of the Las Vegas land grant, Jefferson Reynolds has presented his resignation to Clarence J. Roberts, judge of the Fourth judicial district. The resignation has been accepted and Judge Roberts has appointed Hallet Reynolds, son of the retiring trustee, to succeed Mr. Reynolds. Increasing business responsibilities made it impossible for Mr. Reynolds to continue longer on the board.

Albuquerque.—This morning a number of sleighs appeared on the streets of Albuquerque. No sleigh bells were on hand and the drivers hooked cow bells on the necks of their horses. Many of the horses were not shod properly for snow and fell on the streets, those hauling wagons and sleighs alike. The heavy snowfall resulted in many leaking roofs this morning. The snow was wet and heavy and when the warmth of the rooms below began to melt the snow close to the roof the water began to leak through.—Albuquerque Tribune Citizen.

Returned to Italy.—Nine Italians from the Rocky Mountain camps south of here left yesterday evening for Milan, Italy, where they will spend several months with their home people and again return to Colfax county. The entire expense of transportation from Raton to Milan, which includes railroad fare to New York, third class steamship board and passage across the Atlantic amounts to $52, a remarkably reasonable rate for travelling one-third of the distance around the globe.—Raton Range.

Two Arrests for Pistol Toting.—M. Abila, a 16-year old Western Union messenger boy, is scheduled to stand trial for "pistol toting" at El Paso, a big revolver being found in his hip pocket. Abila is an all-night messenger boy and holdups have been so frequent of late, his companion states, that he decided to arm himself. M. A. Salazar was arrested Sunday night by the police and a charge of carrying a dirk preferred. G. Hernandez, E. Martinez, J. Griego, R. Rodriguez, I. Flores and J. Gandara were arrested by the police Sunday night on a charge of vagrancy.

No Action on Site.—That the present congress will not fix the site for the Las Vegas postoffice, for which appropriation was made some time ago, but that the succeeding congress will do so readily is the statement made to George A. Fleming, secretary of the Commercial club of Las Vegas, in a letter from W. H. Andrews, delegate from New Mexico. Mr. Andrews states he has received the bill drafted by the joint committee of the Commercial club and the Las Vegas club fixing the site for location on Douglas avenue now partially occupied by the First Presbyterian church, and has presented it. Mr. Andrews says the various committees have ceased reporting bills for this session. Otherwise the Las Vegas postoffice site bill undoubtedly would be passed. The site was agreed upon by leading men of both sides of the river as the most appropriate and convenient location.

Fog of Last Night Helped Crystallize Trees Which Presented Beautiful Sight in Sunlight.

Santa Feans awoke this morning to see a rare phenomenon here—the branches of trees everywhere frosted or "crystallized" in a strange manner. Explaining the sight a weather expert said today: A dense fog enveloped Santa Fe from 8 p. m. yesterday

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BAD BLOOD OFTEN INHERITED

Bad blood does not always come as the result of careless living, or indiscretions; it is a condition frequently inherited. Normal, healthy blood contains millions of tiny red corpuscles, which are the vitalizing and nourishing element of the circulation, their office being to provide every portion of the system with its necessary strength and nutriment. In weak, impure blood these corpuscles are lacking in numbers, and therefore the blood is not able to supply the proper amount of nourishment to the body. Bad blood manifests itself in many ways. With some it takes the form of skin diseases and eruptions, others become bilious and malarious, with sallow complexions, torpid liver, etc. Bad blood produces Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula and like troubles. Nothing is equal to S. S. S. as a remedy for bad blood; it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing not only the qualities to cleanse and purify the blood, but composed of roots, herbs and barks that tone up every part of the system, and assist in the creation of blood nutriment. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Blood Poison and all other blood disorders. S. S. S. makes good blood, and good blood makes good health. Book on the blood free to all.

until 7 o'clock this morning. As a result, the trees, fences, wires and so forth were dipped in ice crystals, deposited by the fog coming in contact with these objects. The crystals were from a fourth to half an inch in thickness. The trees in the plaza and along the streets presented an unusually beautiful sight in the early morning sunlight and kodak friends missed the chance of their lives if they did not take some pictures of this rare scene.

The temperature yesterday was from 15 to 32 degrees and the average relative humidity was 94 per cent. The average depth of snow on the ground at 6 p. m. was 4.2 inches and a total depth of 5.7 inches was recorded. The precipitation for the 24 hours ending at 6 a. m. today was 0.18 of an inch of snow. The temperature at 6 a. m. today was 19 degrees.

HAPPY RESULTS.

No wonder scores of Santa Fe citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Santa Fe by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Toribio Rodriguez, 110 Johnson St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "Two and a half years ago I gave a statement for publication in regard to my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. Today I am stronger in my praise of this remedy than ever. I suffered greatly from disordered kidneys, the pains in my back being so acute at times that I had to stop work and sit down. The trouble steadily grew worse and I rarely knew what it was to be free from an ache or pain of some kind. Soon after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, my pains and aches disappeared and my back became strong."

FLAT LIFE MAKES FOR PEACE

Mayorality Contest in Chicago Hinges on the Price of Gas.

Chicago, March 1.—Who will become that international figure, the successor to Senator Lorimer, if the toga be taken from him by the present Senate or the new Senate which will come into being March 4? This is a problem that underlies not only the Chicago mayorality contest but a few other issues. The growing conviction that failure to unseat Lorimer not only would create widespread trouble for the Republican and also Democratic parties has made the need of a successor who is thoroughly trusted as to integrity and ability peculiarly important. The revelations concerning the patronage and other inducements offered by former Senator Hopkins, whom Lorimer defeated, have removed him from among the possibilities. Congressman George E. Foss was found politically weak and former Senator William E. Mason, whom Chicago calls "Billy" Mason in much the same way that the country calls Roosevelt "Teddy," may again occupy the seat. His strength with the labor unions and in the rural counties is due to the popular measures he sponsored in Congress, rural free delivery, pure food laws and the postal savings bank bill. Whether he will leave a lucrative law practice, his friends recall, however, that in 1896 Mason debated the free silver issue with Bryan and won back thousands of votes. He is one of the sturdy, old-fashioned "spell binders" and was the last Senator from Illinois whose election was never attributed to "a barrel."

Gas the Real Issue. The price of gas in Chicago is the real issue so far as all candidates for mayor but Merriman are concerned. The city ordinance fixing the rate which Roger Sullivan's Gas Company can charge having expired, for the time being the company can charge any old price it thinks expedient and the city cannot say it nay. Wherefore, the fact that Candidate Andrew J. Graham refuses to disclose "who is putting up" for his campaign is significant. It is well known that the sum runs into the hundreds of thousands. The expiration of the part of the gas ordinance last week was explained by the Chairman of the Gas and Electric Light committee of the Council, Alderman Pringle, in this way: "The 85-cent rate has expired and there is no new schedule ready to submit as yet. From tomorrow on until a new schedule is adopted there will be no fixed rate on gas. The new schedule will not be long in coming through. If I were to predict, I would make the time about a month hence. Revision downward? Well, one might be safe in saying so, but at the same time I wouldn't want to be the one to make the statement this far in advance. If there is a revision it will be revision downward and 75-cent gas is certainly not an impossibility." The gas company made net 40 per cent on its annual receipts in 1910 of $15,539,319 at the 85-cent rate.

Defender of Flat Life.

The city flat has found a champion in Chicago against the charges that it is responsible for many sins against childhood, family life and musical aspirations. A real estate dealer who took up the defense said: "Flat life is here and still coming and demands a progressive and intelligent way of leasing. Whether it is an agency in the development of higher civilization or in the evolution of human progress I do not know, but I do know, through my observation and experience, that there is not one personal quarrel where there used to be ten. I think it is safe to say that flats have brought about in less than two decades, thorough assimilation of new ideas by personal contact with tenants, more radical liberations from narrow and vicious opinions, intolerant religious and political differences and radical prejudices than has ever come to mankind from any source in the same length of time." Their champion urged that leases should not all be dated May 1 or October 1, to make renting easy and rentals profitable. On the contrary, flat life, which is growing at an astonishing rate, has been accused of menacing the future morals and ideals of city people.

Roosevelt a Big Eater.

Feeding Theodore Roosevelt is a serious undertaking, according to the chief of the Union League Club where the Ex-President was a guest during his recent Chicago visit. "Colonel Roosevelt takes the prize when it comes to eating and knowing how to order food," he said. "From the time he landed here at the club until he left—after getting outside of the biggest breakfast I ever saw a man eat—I was constantly on the jump. He started right in when he came here and within thirty minutes I had sent some refreshments to his room. Not many hours later he was ordering more food to take him over until the banquet of the evening scheduled for 7. I lay awake part of the first night figuring out plans for the next morning's breakfast. No sooner had I finished than I had to begin my calculations for the luncheon." The biggest breakfast consisted of the following: Strawberries, broiled chicken, hashed brown potatoes, two orders of shired eggs, wheat cakes and coffee.

exceed 90,000 of which approximately 6,000 killed were trespassers. More persons were killed and injured by the railroad operations during the last ten years than during the Civil war.

Probation Is Urged.

Probation of prisoners to make useful citizens instead of hardened criminals of them, now is proposed in Illinois with a plan which meets with the endorsement of the Central Howard Association in Chicago, which finds work for released prisoners from jails and penitentiaries, and by other philanthropic bodies. This plan for the prevention of crime is the result of ten years' work by various national experts. Warren F. Spaulding, of Boston, F. Henry Yvon, Superintendent of the Central Howard Association, and prominent members of the Civic Federation of Chicago have joined their brains to evolve a law which would be satisfactory to all and solve a state wide problem. "This would be a great boon to the state," said Superintendent Lyon of the Central Howard Association. "It is a measure badly needed. Such a law has proved of great benefit to Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. It would cover the minor offenders who are now sent to the workhouse, where nine times out of ten they learn little from the work assigned to them, are a drain upon the state or city, raise taxes, and emerge with the stigma of jailbird added to their previous and present incompetency. Every effort would be made to get the men on probation work. Every man convicted for minor offenses have jobs which they would not lose if given probation. Society in general and the men themselves in particular would profit under such a law."

NEW MEXICO POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Taken Its Measure.

The Albuquerque Times-Citizen has been occupying an unusual position between the devil and the deep sea. For business reasons it would not endorse the busybodies who were at Washington maligning the territory and trying to defeat a governor, and for obvious reasons it could not do so. It carried to Washington those charges of corruption which the Times-Citizen had printed day after day, both before and after the inauguration of election. The Times-Citizen, however, gets out of it, not very adeptly, though, by charging that the victorious majority had so conducted itself as to make the charges, even plausible. Meanwhile, the paper conceals its delight at the presidential approval of the constitution—Arizona Republican.

Stand by the Stand Bys.

It is an old saying that you will find the clubs in the trees that bore the fruit, and it is true of both men and trees that the berries are the ones at whom the clubs are thrown. The Republican party of New Mexico rolls the names of many men who have been subject to the most serious attacks of the opposition and, yet, they have held the support and confidence of their political associates and have accomplished great things for the territory. The discarding of men against whom evil has been spoken, would rob history of blessed mankind since the dawn of civilization. And the discarding of citizens of New Mexico against whom evil has been uttered would necessitate the importing of competent men to manage the affairs of state. The men who have borne the brunt of the fight the men at whom the clubs have been thrown are entitled to the support and confidence of the people, and especially that of their associates. Let us endeavor to be just in this matter by standing true to those who are our friends in need.—Pecos Valley News.

EDITORIAL FLASHES.

A False Alarm.

Belen, New Mexico, is getting up some agitation in the hope of being made the state capital, but the indications are, the people of the new state will be content for it to remain at Santa Fe.—El Paso Times.

Too Previous.

Colonel Berger is out with the candidacy of Belen for the New Mexico state capital, saying it is the "logical point." A little early, aren't you Colonel? And then, you know what happened to New Orleans on the "logical point" theory.—Rayon Range.

The Straight Tip.

If the House Committee on Territories reads all of the thousand or more affidavits from New Mexico which reached Washington Saturday and today they will have more information on New Mexico—from better sources—than they ever had before.—Rayon Range.

All the Same.

A friend in El Paso sends us a picture of Pascual Orozco, the Mexican insurrecto chief. We surely appreciate the courtesy, but looking at the picture we have our doubts. Pas may be a great general and illustrious patriot, but he looks like a cattle rustler.—Register Tribune.

The Croaker and the Liar.

Any town is a pretty good old place till the croaker begins to croak again or the liar begins to lie in its favor. Then if you have the rare intellectual balance needed in such cases you will cut off a few of the croakers and believe a few of the lies and take a chance with the old residents on the place pulling through.—Rio Grande Republican.

Who Wouldn't Smile?

Hon. Solomon Luna's smile is even more childlike and bland than usual these days when he thinks how the sheep on his Socorro county range will soon be fairly hidden in the new grown grass. In fact, Don Solomon says that the sheep are already kicking up their heels in anticipation of the pleasure of it all.—Socorro Chief.

Belen Wants Boy Scouts.

The organization of bands of Boy Scouts throughout the country is conducive to much good for the benefit of the youth of our land. The high ideals embodied in the constitution and by-laws of the organization place this important force for good in the highest rank among the moral and physical agencies of this country for the betterment of our boys' welfare. In this organization, the very name is an inspiration for love of country and patriotism. Every parent should encourage their sons to become Scouts. Belen ought to have an organization of Boy Scouts. No better society for inculcating love of home and comrades, and a haven of safety to the youth of the city from the contaminating influence and curse of saloons and their by-product of vice and iniquity could be suggested.—Belen Tribune.

Pattern After Woman's Board of Trade.

The Tribune would like to have a Ladies' Civic Club organized in Belen for the purpose of taking up the subjects of making the city of Belen more attractive and beautiful. Such an organization would be of vast usefulness to the city. A club of this nature with the sole purpose of engaging into devising ways and means for making our city beautiful by the planting of trees, plants, flowers, etc., around the homes of its citizens, and arming our public parks and making suggestions to other civic organizations for work along these lines would do wonders in a few years. Such organizations are in active work in many cities and villages in the eastern states and also in some cities of New Mexico, where they become large factors in doing much good work for their communities. The city of Belen has many energetic ladies who have plenty of spare time for work of this kind and if once interested in such occupation would find it presented a delightful and profitable diversion of their spare time.—Belen Tribune.

AFTER GRIP

Look Out For Trouble.

The after-effects of the grip are apt to be serious, but a normal healthy condition may be restored in a surprising short time by Vinol. Watertown, Wis.—After a severe attack of the grippe my system was in a very weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I began taking Vinol with the very best results and in a short time I began to feel like an entirely different person and I am better and stronger than I have been for years. Adelaide Gamm. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.) We have never sold in our store such a valuable strength creator and health restorer for the convalescent, the weak and run-down as Vinol, and we ask people in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it. The Capital Pharmacy.

crops to try on newly leveled fields. They do not occupy the soil for a great length of time, and can stand an excess of water in any place that happens to be low, perhaps, better than a majority of the crops grown in this region. Then too, the surface is left in an excellent condition for correcting slight inequalities in level that may yet remain. When these corrections are made, the soil should be ready to put in alfalfa or any other crop that will be on the land for years, with no fear of drowning out the lower levels. Great advantage in operation results from the use of well built boxes and gates for the turn-outs and other control of water. A subsequent bulletin will treat of these more fully.

FREQUENT MISTAKE MADE IN EDUCATING CHILDREN

Parents and Instructors Forget That No Two Youngsters Are Quite Alike.

Seattle, Wash., March 1.—In an address on education of man, woman and child, at Moose Hall last night, Professor Knox, founder and President of the Mental Science College of Bryn Mawr at Seattle, Washington, made a number of sensational statements and illustrations. He declared that the child was given the opinion that there is too much bad in the world and said that should not be taught. The good side of life, only, should be shown the young. He also asserted that at the age of 12 years the child had made up its mind what to follow and should be encouraged in its plans. In evidence of this he pointed out the success of Edison and declared any child in the audience could be as great as Edison if given the opportunity. He brought a number of children on the stage and showed by measurements and other ways that no two children are alike and declared the idea of teaching all alike was an error. He said that was the reason nineteen out of twenty failed. "How can we make a success when we are taught failures continually from the time we begin to think?"

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE GAME OF POLITICS.

It's a peculiar game. It has as many uncertainties as a game of poker and as many scientific possibilities as a game of chess. The average man hardly ever understands it, and the average woman never. It is a game that is based entirely on human nature and the law of averages, the human nature being the uncertain factor and the law of averages the scientific basis. It will be very hard to explain, for instance, that after years of muckraking and agitation for purity in politics, that the greatest state in the Union should be in the hands of bosses, such as is unknown in New Mexico and would not be tolerated in many a commonwealth, whose average of culture and education is far below that of the Empire state. To the man who does not realize that human nature averages the same the world over, it is a bewildering if not a humiliating spectacle, to witness a Tammany boss selecting a United States Senator for a commonwealth of almost ten million people. Tammany stands for everything that is deplorable and corrupt in politics and yet, the people of New York permit Tammany to rule, and on the rare occasions when they repudiate the Tammany boss, they simply choose another boss with the same characteristics even though of a different party name. No wonder Current Literature speaks as follows of the New York situation and political bosses in general: "Talk as you may, the two-faced man of brawn and nerve, the man with a defiant swagger who isn't afraid to curse anybody or to fight anybody, who knows what he wants and takes it, who without any doubt or hesitation or compunction conforms his life to—

"The good old rule...the simple plan. That they should take who have the power And they should keep who can—such a man still appeals to something unregenerate in the best of us, and exerts a sort of sneaking admiration. When a man of that kind gets into politics he becomes a ward leader, a district leader, or a city boss according to the amount of intelligence that goes with the brawn. Now take a fine pagan animal of that kind, give him brains and a Harvard education but no visible vestige of a social conscience, add to these endowments wealth and family prestige, and you get something with a striking resemblance to William Barnes, Jr., the new chairman of the Republican state committee of New York, who was 'beaten to a frazzle' at the state convention last fall and turned up again several weeks ago with the whole Republican state organization in his grip sack.

"The question who is to be Platt's successor, that has been hanging in suspense for a number of years, seems to have been settled at last. Barnes is no longer merely the boss of a city or county. For the time being, at least, he is a state boss. He defied Hughes, the Republican governor; Root and Depey, the Republican Senators; Roosevelt, the Republican Ex-President. In a measure he defied Taft, the Republican President, but Taft though his wishes were known, disavowed all intention to interfere in the party fracas in this state. Yet by some strange necromancy, and despite the fact that the people were out gunning for bosses in all parts of the Union last fall, we have in New York state, as a net result of the election, Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, nearer than any Tammany boss has before been in at least a generation to being the state boss of one party, and Barnes, the most outspoken and least diplomatic of all the petty Republican bosses, in control of the state organization of the other party. It is a shock that dazes even seasoned heads. No wonder that the country in general can not understand New York politics."

To this the Denver Times adds: Politics is fascinating because it is so primitively human. In no other phase of life are the motives and passions of man exhibited with such a stark shamelessness. It trips the weak into a fathomless pit of personal dishonor; it spurs the strong into acts of unselfish gratitude that can only find their fellow on the battlefield. The citizen will stuff a ballot box or cast the votes of a tardy elector who would never flinch a dime or break his word to a friend. And that same Lorimer who is now under discussion in the Senate of the United States for getting thereby alleged fraud is loved by the people in the Stockyards district of Chicago for the kindness of his heart, and his generous, personal beneficence. Of course it is popular to berate the organization and the machine in politics; we have ourselves indulged in moralizing of that kind; but the organization and the machine are inevitable so long as men are men, because the organization and the machine are the product of that gregarious human instinct which we call fraternity. And, although the political machine is often the implement of political graft and political tyranny, it may be observed that the most implacable enemy of the machine and the organization is the 'friendly politician' whose solitude is due to his lack of faithfulness to the ordinary obligations of life. A contest for better things and higher ideals there must always be; the striving after perfection is eternal, and perfection is charming chiefly because it is unattainable; but we can sometimes find comfort in our political failures from that wise reflection of Mark Twain's that 'there's a lot of human nature in mankind' and thus make for our politicians those allowances which, being human, we are so often called upon to make for each other.

WHY IS IT?

The Rev. Hugh A. Cooper of Albuquerque, seems to have embarked in the boat that was occupied some years ago by the Rev. Norman L. Skinner, another Presbyterian divine, judging from the testimony before the House Committee on Territories. It has been noticed in New Mexico, that the gentlemen of the cloth are too prone to incline their ears to those who whisper stories of wickedness and perversity about political leaders. Not so long ago, a Presbyterian divine in Santa Fe, destroyed his usefulness by giving voice to such slanders from the pulpit and soon thereafter found it convenient to seek other pastures. The writer mentions these Presbyterian divines, because he happens to be a Presbyterian himself, and has noticed with chagrin that the average preacher absorbs eagerly the stories of devilry a few devoted parishioners tell him about other parishioners and seldom has the judicial police to go to the other side for information. Too often, as a consequence, the first stunt of the new preacher and the last one before he leaves, is to denounce the awful depravity of politicians and society in New Mexico in general, and at the capital in particular. The fault primarily lies with his informers, but as a man of education and having a knowledge of human nature he should steer clear of mistakes of that kind.

The New Mexican is bewildered. At first it was informed that the constitution was formulated by the liquor interests. Then came another paper and said it was the Santa Fe railroad that perpetrated the trick. Then came Alfred Henry Lewis in the Cosmopolitan and says that the Mormons are at the bottom of the nefarious outrage. Scarcely had the ink dried on that assertion, when Charles Edward Russell in the Coming Nation declares:

"The Southern Pacific has been good enough to design the constitution for the new state of New Mexico and the character of the instrument is enough to make Coils P. Huntington arise from the grave with joy. No new-fangled ideas of progress for the Southern Pacific; no nonsense about rule by the people; no bosh about democracy disgraces this wonderful constitution."

How busy undertakers would be kept if the fate of Ananias were dealt out to all Harts!

Tomorrow Texas celebrates its Fourth of July. On that date it declared its independence from Mexico and the following month Sam Houston overwhelmingly defeated Santa Anna at San Jacinto. It was ten years later that Texas came into the Union as a state. It had only 150,000 population then. It has 4,000,000 now. New Mexico should have become a state a few years later, when California was taken in, and New Mexico was always sort of a step-child and is given the step-child's treatment even to this day. If New Mexico had come in as a state sixty years ago, it, too, might make a showing in population and in wealth that would compare with that of Texas, remembering that it has less than one half the area of the Lone Star state.

Arizona did not cast as many votes for its constitution as New Mexico cast against the document it formulated. The total vote cast in Arizona was only 16,000, while that of New Mexico was 44,000. Evidently patriotism and interest in public affairs runs less than one half as high in Arizona than they do in New Mexico.

Is there more than a coincidence in the fact that the same day that the cable announced that Emperor William had purchased four more latest model automobiles, that the press published the fact that Ex-President Roosevelt had "purchased" three Haynes cars for the use of himself and his family?

A few more such census frauds as have been unearthed in Blaine, and Arizona's population in the 1910 census will slip beneath the 200,000 line. Poor Arizona!

A MATTER OF CONSTRUCTION.

Says the Arizona Republican:

Upon the construction at Washington of the words in the enabling act for Arizona and New Mexico, "during the next regular session," will depend the question whether New Mexico will become a state immediately after the adjournment of the present Congress.

Upon the same construction would depend any question of delay as to Arizona in the event of presidential approval of Arizona's constitution.

The questionable language appears in Section 22 of the Act for Arizona, and is the same as Section 1 which relates to New Mexico. We quote the language as to New Mexico:

"And if Congress and the President approve said constitution and the separate provisions thereof, or if the President approves the same and Congress fails to disapprove the same during the next regular session thereof, then and in that event the President shall certify said facts to the governor of New Mexico, who shall within thirty days after the receipt of said notification from the President of the United States, issue his proclamation for the election of the state and county officers," etc.

Lawyers of Arizona generally, so far as we have been informed, have construed this language to mean that "the next regular session" of Congress referred to by the act would be the regular session following the President's action on the constitution. The Republican, and all other papers in the two territories have followed the lawyers' construction.

We now understand, however, that President Taft places an entirely different construction upon this wording—although we cannot vouch for the accuracy of our information. The President, it appears, understands that "the next regular session," referred to was the regular session which followed the passage of the bill—which is the present session.

If our understanding of the President's construction is correct, the failure of Congress to disapprove New Mexico's constitution at this session—which comes to an end on Saturday of this week—will be followed by the President's certification of the fact to the governor of New Mexico, and by the immediate calling of a state election in that territory.

It has been assumed all along that if the President approved New Mexico's constitution and disapproved the constitution for Arizona, the matter of congressional disapproval as to each constitution would go over to the regular session of next winter, which would give the partisans of the Arizona constitution some tactical advantage in their ability to indefinitely delay action on the New Mexico constitution and thus force the partisans of New Mexico to come to the aid of Arizona. But the latest advice as to the President's construction of the meaning of the language in question remove, if they are correct, this point of Arizona's advantage.

If the report of this new construction is authentic, the situation in a nutshell is this: Congressional disapproval of New Mexico's constitution at this session is an impossibility, and New Mexico will be a state within three months. And, still assuming that the president will disapprove the constitution for Arizona, the future as to statehood for this territory will be determined without any complications as to the admission of New Mexico.

It must be said, however, that there is nothing in the president's message to congress advising that body of his approval of the New Mexico constitution that bears out the advice we have received as to his construction of meaning of "next regular session." For the fuller information of our readers we quote the message in full: "The act to enable the people of New Mexico to form a constitution and state government to be admitted to the Union on an equal footing with original states, as passed June 20, 1910, provides that when the constitution, for the adoption of which provision is made in the act, shall have been duly ratified by the people of New Mexico in the manner provided by the statute, a certified copy of the same shall be submitted to the President of the United States and to congress for approval, and if congress and the president approve of such constitution, or if the president approves of the same and congress fails to disapprove the same during the next regular session thereof, then that the president shall certify said facts to the governor of New Mexico, who shall proceed to issue his proclamation for the election of state and county officers, etc."

"The constitution, prepared in accordance with the act of Congress, has been duly ratified by the people of New Mexico, and a certified copy of the same has been submitted to me and also to congress, for approval in conformity with the provisions of the act.

"Inasmuch as the enabling act requires affirmative action by the President, I transmit herewith a copy of the constitution, which I am advised has been separately submitted to congress, according to the provisions of the act, by the authorities of New Mexico, and to which I have given my formal approval.

"I recommend the approval of the same by congress."

HATRED OF VICE IS NOT FANATICISM.

There is a difference between unreasoning fanaticism and the hatred that the decent man has for vice, tolerated or even licensed by authorities. It is not merely the half-baked hypocrites who burn with righteous indignation, when they speak of traffic in women, or even the toleration of so unmentionable and filthy a thing as a house of ill repute, but a jurist, of so liberal a mind as Judge Malone of New York, pronounced the men and women who engage in that nefarious traffic, who make money out of women's bodies and souls, as being "lower than perdition and blacker than despair," and the men who patronize or even tolerate such conditions, he classed in the same category. In his righteous indignation, which has nothing of the cant of the hypocrite about it, he sentenced the wretch found guilty of the traffic to seventeen years in the penitentiary, even though it was the man's first conviction. Says Leslie's Illustrated Weekly, which certainly can not be accused of being an anemic and bigoted enemy of personal liberty: "New York, like any other large city, has a number of scoundrels who live on the earnings of weak or wicked women. It is hoped that the inspiring example of the Empire State in legislating so strenuously against the white slave traffic will in time put an end to the abominable business." It is to be hoped, that the first New Mexico state legislature will be as advanced as the New York legislature and will make the offense in New Mexico a penitentiary one. In the meanwhile, every incorporated city should do its best to stamp out the heinous crime against decency, against manhood and particularly against the home and womanhood.

ANDREWS WOULD BANISH LIQUOR.

The enemies of the Republican party and of Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews have secretly, but diligently, circulated the lie that he is a staunch supporter of the so-called "Pennsylvania Whisky Trust." To refute this, the following testimony by him before the House committee on territories, in response to a charge made by a representative of the Anti-Saloon League is quoted:

"Do you know, or do you not know, that Chief Justice Pope of New Mexico, is a leader of the Prohibitionists, and that Judge McFie, of Santa Fe, of the district court of the United States, is another Prohibitionist, and that they wrote strong letters to the Prohibitionists in New Mexico advising them to ratify this constitution and take up that question in the legislature and pass legislation? I will say this. I am not in favor of any liquor being sold, and if I had the casting of the vote for the civilized world I would vote not to manufacture a drop of liquor, but I do not think it proper for me to ram my opinions down the necks of my neighbors; if they want liquor, let them have it."

According to Colonel Goethals the Panama Canal, and New Mexico and Arizona will come in together. In the recent lecture before the House of Representatives, the Colonel declared that by June 1, 1912, the canal would be sufficiently completed to permit the passage of ships, and unless that deadline in the Senate is broken it will be about that time that New Mexico and Arizona will hold their first state election.

The fact that Ex-President Roosevelt is a hearty eater will be grasped as proof of the assertion that a cast iron stomach has as much, if not more, to do with success in life than the size of the brain.

LET YOUNGSTERS HAVE PIE AND CANDY.
Dr. Woods Hutchinson is a Good Scout Every Boy and Girl Will Declare.

Baltimore, Md., March 1.—That pie is more efficacious than plecty in developing the American boy is the declaration by Dr. Woods Hutchinson, writer on medical topics, before the health conference here.

Doctor Hutchinson is a great believer in using plain terms in medical work. If a man has a pink eye, says Doctor Hutchinson, call it conjunctivitis and then charge him $5 for a fee. Call it pink eye and give him a 10-cent remedy.

"Give the boy all the pie he wants," said he. "When he gets enough he'll know it. His system craves for it, or he wouldn't ask for it."

"Let the boy eat all the pie he wants, even to gorging himself. Once he has eaten more than his body needs, he'll quit crying for it and stealing to the pantry when mother or the cook isn't looking to steal the forbidden sweets."

Then there's another hitherto friendless one in whose behalf Doctor Hutchinson lifts up his voice—the youngster who always growls: "Yes'm," when his mother calls him in the morning, and turns over and goes to sleep again.

"Children, when they are, say 14 years old, sometimes require twelve to thirteen hours' sleep. The constructive processes which are going on in the human body during childhood are usually more active when the child is asleep than when he is awake. Let him sleep. He needs the sleep; if he didn't, he wouldn't object to getting up."

Doctor Hutchinson goes even farther than this. "If a baby doesn't want to eat breakfast food, and does want to eat good candy, give it good candy. Good candy is better for it than breakfast food."

Of course, Doctor Hutchinson makes stipulation that the candy must be good.

TODAY IS ASH-WEDNESDAY: BEGINNING OF LENT.

Ashes Are Sprinkled on the Faithful; Fast and Abstinence Maintained.

Today is known as Ash-Wednesday, called in German "Aschermittwoch" and in French "Le jour des cendres." It takes its name from the ceremony of anointing the forehead of the devout with ashes, while the minister says, "Dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return."

It is a day of prayer, abstinence from meat and meals, and the beginning of the six weeks fast and penance period.

In the Catholic and Episcopal churches throughout the land the day is observed with special solemnities, and even those who do not follow the fast and abstinence programs realize that the six weeks before Easter have been set aside for special preparation for that great feast which celebrates Christ's arising from the dead.

While Lent is a solemn season in its entirety, still the last seven days called "Passion Week" are more solemn and severe than the rest of the season, commemorating in a special manner the passion and death of our Savior.

HOW ABOUT THOSE CITY CROSSINGS?

Well, They Are Being Swept as Rapidly as Possible, Says Mayor—but Don't Forget Sidewalks.

The ukase of Mayor Seligman to sweep your sidewalk or explain the reason why, has brought forth the query, "How about that city crossing or those city crossings? Why are they not swept? Why do we get our feet deep into the slush in crossing them?"

The mayor was asked about this little matter today. He said: "We had five men out working on these crossings and they are pretty clean now. Of course, the city cannot do with a few men, what the entire population can in sweeping sidewalks. But the city is doing the best it can, and we want the property owners to do their best, and sweep their sidewalks. This is not a great hardship and should be attended to, thoroughly and enthusiastically. A little exercise shoveling snow is moreover, a splendid appetizer and good for almost any one."

A Food Expert

In making the world-famed food—

Grape-Nuts

Combined whole wheat and barley in such a way that it is partly digested before being eaten.

The diastase in the barley, in the presence of heat and moisture, changes the more or less indigestible starch part of the grain into an easily digested form of sugar—just as the organs of the body change it if they operate properly.

Thus the expert solved the problem of perfect digestion for those who may be below par.

"THE TIME, THE PLACE AND THE GIRL." The Time: 8:30 p. m., Thursday. The Place: The Elks' Theatre. The Girl? You See Her.

Plays AND Players

At the Elks' Theatre.
Thursday, March 2. The Time, the Place and the Girl.
Friday, March 3. The Climax.
Thursday, March 7.—The Squaw Man.
Thursday, March 9.—The Girl from Rector's.

Written primarily with a strong love story of human interest in view, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which plays an engagement at the Elks' Theatre, Thursday, March 2d, proved that this when embellished with fun, catchy songs and pretty girls in vigorous dances, is the most successful play that that prolific trio, Hough, Adams and Howard have turned out. This play broke all records in Chicago, running there 400 consecutive times and has created equally notable records during three highly successful road seasons.

The scenes are laid at a sanitarium in Virginia, where John Hicks, a happy-go-lucky gambler and his "pal" Tom Cunningham, have fled to escape arrest, as a result of a physical encounter the previous night, in Boston. Before the police catch up with them the sanitarium is placed under quarantine. Cunningham, the "pal," is in reality a rich man's son, and the first love complication begins when he becomes infatuated with Margaret Simpson, "the girl," who is at the sanitarium with her father, a farmer, and her brother and a party of boarding school girls. As soon as the quarantine is declared, the servants of the hotel and sanitarium desert, and the guests are forced to look after their own wants. Cunningham, because of his manner, is chosen dictator of the place, and he assigns to each guest a certain task. Hicks, the young gambler, with a prolific and typical vocabulary, is made head cook. Margaret Simpson, who has quarreled with Cunningham, is ordered to do the scrubbing, and when she refuses her meals are summarily cut off. She then leads the general strike of the guests. Cunningham, however, proves an efficient strike breaker by jerking off his coat and declaring physical supremacy.

Although the comedy is written to give supremacy over the music there are ten musical numbers, including, "Thursday Is My Jonah Day," "The Waning Honeymoon," "Blow The Smoke Away," "I Don't Like Your Family," "Don't You Tell," "First and Only," and "Dixie, I Love You," and "Uncle Sam's Best Girl."

In these days of dramatic depravity when the central theme for the average play is the wronged woman or the deserted wife, it is a positive relief to welcome such a clean, wholesome undeniably great play like "The Climax" which comes here March 3. If there is such a thing as pride in the breast of the theatre audience, Joseph M. Weber, who produced "The Climax," Edward Locke, its author, Joseph Carl Brill, composer of the incidental music, and even the players who make up the cast, should be looked upon as heroes in the cause of the advancement and elevation of the American drama.

The nearest approach to villainy in "The Climax" is at present the much discussed mental suggestion. This wholesome play tells a story of a young woman, named Adeline von Hagen, who comes to New York from the Middle West to study music and to develop her voice as a singer. She resides in the household of her instructor, Luigi Golfanti, and is beloved by his son, Pietro. She is also beloved by a doctor of medicine, John Raymond. The girl has rejected both suitors in order to follow that delightful will-o-the-wisp career. Dr. Raymond employs mental suggestion to destroy the girl's ability to sing and succeeds in doing so. Finding herself deprived of her voice, Adeline consents to wed Dr. Raymond. On their bridal morning, the doctor, afflicted with remorse, confesses his perfidy. Adeline recovers her vocal faculty, and the doctor withdraws, leaving her to happiness and song.

"The Squaw Man."
At last we are to see "The Squaw Man," unquestionably the most strikingly original dramatic success an American playwright has yet achieved. This is welcome news to all lovers of really good drama; there is no play in the history of the American stage that has won so large a measure of artistic as well as financial success as has this picturesque and beautifully written drama of virile American life from the pen of Edwin Milton Royle. "The Squaw Man" has been hailed by many as the long awaited "Great American Play." The management of the Elks' Theatre is to be congratulated upon securing this splendid attraction. The play will be presented under the direction of H. E. Pierce and Company on Tuesday, March 7th, with a superb company, and the entire production with a complete scenic equipment precisely as presented during the phenomenal engagement of the one thousand performances in New York City.

"You may not be able to go to Paris, but you can go to see 'The Girl from Rector's,'" said the New York Evening Telegram, during the run of that piece at Weber's Music Hall. "The Girl" with any other name would make you laugh. And you can't help laughing. You may not know what you are laughing at but you laugh. If you want a tip for an evening's entertainment that will make you forget all the rest of your troubles, go and see 'The Girl.' 'The Girl from Rector's' comes to the Elks' Theatre for a limited engagement of one night, Thursday, March 9th.

No Cause to Doubt

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will supply it free. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Reckall Orderlies are a gentle, effective, dependable and safe bowel regulator, strengthening and tonic that are eaten like candy. They re-establish nature's functions in a quiet, easy way. They do not cause any inconvenience, griping or nausea. They are so pleasant to take, and work so easily, that they may be taken by any one at any time. They thoroughly tone up the whole system to healthy activity. They have a most beneficial action upon the liver.

Reckall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Two sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents and 36 tablets 25 cents. Remember you can obtain Reckall Remedies in Santa Fe only at our store, The Fischer Drug Store Company.

bodies, and in the case of the House, Representative Norris, Shepherd, of Texas, delivered an oration that was not only scholarly, but which can well be considered a classic. The departments were closed, and as a result thousands of people, who were unable to gain admission, went to the Capitol for the purpose of hearing Senator Lorimer's defense of his election. Throughout the city flags and decorations were displayed, and here and there appropriate exercises were held, but on the whole it cannot be said that the Capital of the nation gave any more particular heed to the day than other cities throughout the country.

Representative Macon, of Arkansas, made rather a vitriolic attack upon "fake heroes" in the House this week. The object of his particular attack was Captain Robert E. Peary, whom he denounced in the most scathing terms, and his talk was directed towards defeating the proposal to recognize the popular hero by advancing him to the rank of an admiral. Mr. Macon attacked Admiral Dewey, Theodore Roosevelt, and most everyone else he could think of, referring to two New York newspapers as "unbelieving know-all tit-bits," and "peachy, pinheaded, and putrid-tongued infinitesimals." Such outbursts on the part of the Arkansas members have been rather frequent and naturally have grown to attract but little attention.

AEROPLANE IN 35-MILE AN HOUR WIND.

Maneuvers with New Wright Machines at Fort Sam Houston Are Successful.

Fort Houston, Texas, Feb. 28.—For the past two days, with the wind blowing a regular gale, as fast as 35 miles an hour at times, Phil Parmelee, the famous aviator and Lieutenant D. F. Foullos, of the army signal corps at Fort Sam Houston, have been maneuvering in the new Wright biplane presented by Robert J. Collier to the government. The machine is the latest Wright invention and is capable of carrying a great weight. With both of the aviators seated in the machine a number of flights were made, in some instances rising to the height of 800 feet, and regardless of the wind which was blowing at hurricane speed, the biplane was put through all kinds of maneuvers, turns to the right and left being made at will and the figure eight described in both directions. In addition to this, a new speed record for this part of the country was made, the machine going at a rate of 65 miles an hour for several miles carrying the two men. In a race with one of the fast automobiles at the post for a distance of over two miles, the auto was left far behind. It was thoroughly demonstrated to the military men here that the Wright biplane is a most useful addition to the signal corps of military service. In addition to being used for carrying messages and reconnoitering it could be used to carry supplies of light ammunition, particularly such as is used by infantry to a part of an army that might be cut off from the main command and short in ammunition. Parmelee has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the army officials that the Wright machine can fly in almost any kind of wind and is both safe and useful. It is maintained by those who saw the experiments that the demonstration has made the biplane a necessary adjunct to army equipment and that the uses to which it may be put, while many now are in their infancy. Under orders from the War Department, Parmelee and Lieutenant Foullos will proceed to Laredo, Texas, where they will be employed in scout work along the border, the new machine carrying gasoline for a 200-mile continuous trip.

HOPPE DENIES HIS RETIREMENT

Willie Hoppe, Champion Billiardist.

Willie Hoppe, billiard champion of the world, and his bride of a few weeks were much excited the other day over a report that he had announced his retirement from the game because of the objections of his wife and father-in-law.

The story was that Thomas W. Walsh, a wealthy Baltimore dry goods manufacturer, with whose daughter Alice young Hoppe eloped in December, insisted on his son-in-law's withdrawal from professional billiards to go into the dry goods business and that the champion of the cue intended giving up the game.

"It's all nonsense," said Hoppe. "Neither my wife nor my father-in-law objects to billiards. Why, I couldn't make a living any other way. Dry goods? Why, I don't know a bale of cloth from an aeroplane."

"The way the story started, I guess, was when I told my manager that I wouldn't play any more one-night stands. I've been on the jump playing these engagements for nearly a month since our marriage, and naturally Mrs. Hoppe doesn't like it. I'll continue to accept engagements outside of New York, of course, but I will not go on the road for an extended trip. We are going to Europe in a month or two, and I expect to play a series of matches with the French champions, Vignaux, Cure, Cassagnol and Adorcan."

Hoppe was born Oct. 11, 1887, in Cornwall on the Hudson. His father conducted a hotel there and the usual billiard room was a prominent adjunct in the hostelry. When a mere child, Willie and his brother Frank delighted in spending their play time at the pool table and it was not long before both of them could pocket all the fifteen balls without a miss. Their skill soon reached the ears of the billiard and pool world and invitations to play exhibition games were extended to them from all parts of the country.

Frank developed a left handed stroke, while Willie worked right handed. Their father and mother also accompanied the youngsters on all their trips and gave exhibitions of billiard playing.

At the age of 6 years, Willie was allowed to play with the billiard ivory and he developed so rapidly that to those who witnessed his playing it was only a question of time when he would be the world's master. His rise in the billiard world was not only rapid, but almost phenomenal. No man, not even the renowned Ives, showed such skill in the manipulations of the balls, the accuracy of his drive shots, and such perfect knowledge of the angles.

His playing was watched closely by all the old time champions. Schaefer, who was known as the "wizard" was practically the first to see the great future in Willie and obtained the consent of his parents to allow the youngster to accompany him on his tours.

Hoppe attributes his success to close application to practice, regular living, going to sleep and rising as early as possible. He is fond of long walks, which he takes every day in all sorts of weather, after which he will spend several hours in practice. His advice to all players who desire to improve their game, is to take a few lessons from some good instructor. The fundamental principles must be learned in order to develop; the rest will then take care of itself with practice.

An Obituary Poem

By Lawrence Alfred Clay

(Copyright 1911 by Associated Literary Press)

In the village where Major Lee, retired on half pay, had taken up his residence, it was generally argued by the villagers that he was dictatorial and without sentiment. Moreover, he was humorless and a kicker. He had run a regiment and he felt it his duty to run the village. His wife and his daughter Xena were well liked, but the people kept clear of the major, and he had a very sarcastic tongue.

And yet underneath his bluff, a kindly heart, and that heart was filled with sentiment. He had rescued a very young parrot from the hands of a cruel owner, and now the parrot had died he was almost in tears. The major should have endured the presence of a squawking parrot for a single hour was a matter of astonishment outside the family, but he had endured her for three years. That her death should bring a look of melancholy to his face caused certain people to think they had done him injustice.

Poll was dead. She had been found on her back beneath her perch, with all the squawk and chatter gone out of her. It was a case of old age and being too good. The major was the one to discover her lifeless remains, and for the first time in 15 years he was so choked up that he could not eat his breakfast.

"God, but it's tough—it's tough!" he said to wife and daughter. "We had a mutual affection for each other. She would swear when I told her to, and shut up when I raised my finger. Each of us had come to understand the moods of the other. She knew when I wanted to take my nap, and I knew when she wanted to take hers. I believe she thought of me when drawing her last breath."

"But, papa, she was a good deal of a nuisance, after all," replied Miss Nellie.

"Not a bit of it—not a bit. Nothing of the kind."

"But she swore at the minister and called him names."

"That was just one of her little ways to keep things moving along. She didn't know she was swearing."

Frank developed a left handed stroke, while Willie worked right handed. Their father and mother also accompanied the youngsters on all their trips and gave exhibitions of billiard playing.

At the age of 6 years, Willie was allowed to play with the billiard ivory and he developed so rapidly that to those who witnessed his playing it was only a question of time when he would be the world's master. His rise in the billiard world was not only rapid, but almost phenomenal. The Poem Was Read With Indignation

She thought she was getting off a joke of some kind, and the minister should have understood it so."

"I don't think people liked to hear her squawking."

"Then, as I told three or four of them, let them lump it. There's something wrong about people who don't like to hear the notes of an innocent bird. I can't bury her with the honors of war, but she shall have a grave under the apple tree, and then, daughter, I want you to write an obituary on her. I want it in verse, and I'll send it to the village paper to be published."

"But, papa, I can't write poetry," protested the daughter.

"Then teach yourself. You've got brains enough to grind out something."

The poor old bird was carried out and buried, and an hour later Miss Nellie sat down to the obituary. Her father gave her 15 minutes and then asked if it was finished. As often as every half-hour he appeared with suggestions and words that rhymed, and when the day had passed without the poem being finished he more than hinted that the struggling poetess hadn't her heart in her work. Even when the five-verse poem was placed in his hands, a day later, he insisted on such alterations that it could not be looked upon as a finished product for two days more.

That obituary was inclosed with tender hand to the village paper. A note from Major Lee accompanied it. He requested that it be published in the next issue, and in a conspicuous place. He didn't exactly assert that it was a gem of a poem, but left the editor to find out for himself.

About the time poor Poll was doing the dying act the editor and owner of the paper was 20 miles away and saying to a friend and chum in the city:

"I hate to break into your vacation, Clarence, old man, but I'm in a fix. Got to go west to settle up an estate and come home with a full pocket. Be gone a month. You must come down and run the 'Eagle' for me."

"But I'm booked for the Catskills."

"They be hanged! Nicest town—nicest climate—best fishing—nicest girls. Why, you'll own the whole show in a week. All you've got to do is to steal an editorial or two on our relations with Japan, and the boys will do the rest."

There was further protesting and arguing, but in the end the "Eagle" man carried his point, and that was how Mr. Clarence Thorpe, author and journalist, came to be occupying the editorial chair of the village paper when Miss Nellie Lee's poem appeared.

The poem was first read with surprise, then with ridicule, then with indignation. It was an insult to send a PRITOT SCRIPIT to the "Eagle." Mr. Thorpe was about to return it to the major with some caustic observations when Fate stepped in. Although Miss Nellie's name did not appear as the author, her father had given her credit to his letter. She might be one of the nice girls the editor had mentioned. The poem would not hurt publication, even as a burlesque, but why hurt a nice girl's feelings?

Mr. Thorpe laid aside the manuscript and took a walk. A boy told him in which direction to walk to pass Major Lee's residence. He didn't know exactly why he wanted to pass it, but he walked on. The major was sitting on the veranda with his cigar, and Providence ordained that a summer shower should begin to fall at that moment.

"Come in, sir—come under shelter till it's over," called the old soldier, and the invitation was taken advantage of.

The two discussed politics and other things and exchanged names. The major received the impression that Mr. Thorpe had selected the village in which to pass a month or so, and perhaps gather material for another book. This gave him an opening to relate the death of the parrot and the construction of the poem, and to add in his blunt way:

"Yes, mailed the poem to our paper last night. I've been told that the editor is an ass, but perhaps he'll see the beauties in these verses. If he doesn't I'll call at his office and make it my business to find out why he isn't running a sawmill."

The "Eagle" was to be issued in three days. If the poem did not go in the major would keep his word. But Mr. Thorpe was determined that it shouldn't go in. He would dodge the major. He would even bribe the office boy to lie.

On the day the paper was to be issued, he encountered the man of war on the street and was taken home with him for another talk on the veranda. On this occasion he was introduced to Mrs. Lee and daughter, and two hours had passed very pleasantly when a boy brought a copy of the "Eagle." It was hurriedly opened by the major. No poem!

"Nellie, my hat and cane!" he shouted. "I'm going down there and call that editor a fool!"

Away he went in spite of protestations, and after he was outside the gate, Miss Nellie said:

"Oh, I do so hope he won't find the editor in! It was an awful foolish thing to send such a poem as that. Mr. Thorpe, can't you help me to get it back? I want to get it without father knowing it."

Mr. Thorpe promised to see what could be done. The major found the editor out, and that he brought the office boy 50 cents. The next day it was 50 cents more, and the next and the next. Then the major gave up the quest. His emotions over the death of Poll had begun to wane.

Every two or three days Mr. Thorpe occupied a seat on the veranda for a time, and then he began to be invited to dinner. The editor returned from California, but still Mr. Thorpe lingered. It was at the end of three months, with a trip now and then to the city, that he major said to him:

"Yes, go in and win her if you can. Hang you, you rascal, I found out that you suppressed that poem on me, but I haven't laid it up against you."

ACTOR WON HIS BET EASILY

With Three Insertions of a Three Line Advertisement, He Received $556.

August Heinze, discussing the gigantic gold mine fraud exposed recently in New York, said:

"The public likes to be swindled. I am reminded of a bet made by an actor in Butte. His bet was that he could collect $500 with three insertions of a three-line advertisement that promised nothing and was void of meaning."

"Wise readers will send $1, R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454."

"Three days later, the second advertisement appeared:
"Last chance. Send $1 before Sunday. Monday, everything refused. R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454."

"His last insertion was on a Saturday, thus:

"All remittances of $1 arriving after the last mail tonight absolutely refused. R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454."

Mr. Heinze smiled.
"On Monday morning," he said, "the Butte actor invited his friends to inspect the correspondence resulting from his advertisement which promised nothing. He won his bet easily. He had received $56 money orders for $1, which he immediately returned."

Effective Threat.

"I hear that old Grabbit has agreed to give his son an allowance of $5,000 a year."

"Yes. The boy swore that if his father didn't give him more than $50 a month for spending money he would become a chorus man."

MOTHER'S ANGEL.

"My darling," said a fond mother, who believed in appealing to children's tender feelings instead of punishing them, "if you are so naughty you will grieve mamma so that she will get ill, and have to lie in bed in a dark room and take nasty medicine, and then she may die and have to be taken away out to the cemetery and be buried, and you—"

The child had become more solemn, but an angelic smile overpread his face at his mother's last words, and throwing his arms about her neck he exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, and may I sit beside the coachman?"

The News.

"What is the news?" the condemned cried.
When told the judge denied his plea. He shook his head and sadly sighed: "That's noose to me."

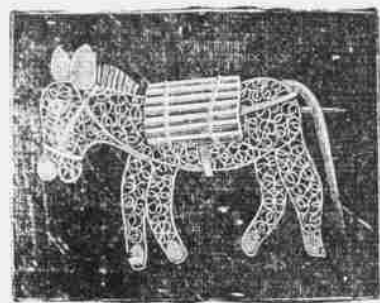

The Vernacular.

"You seldom hear a young man these days say that he is paying his addresses to a young woman."
"No. He usually announces that he is 'going after a skirt.'"

Alex Jordan, policeman, that Padilla had been dragged into the alley by two men and severely beaten and possibly robbed. The officer, accompanied by Schafer, arrested G. Murphy and
P. Rules and they were locked up, pending a time when Padilla may be able to identify them. Padilla was also held, as he will be wanted in police court today.

Mining Engineer Marries—At the residence of Paul A. Larsh, mining engineer at Albuquerque yesterday, occurred the marriage of John C. Campbell of Cutter, N. M., and Miss Lillian Edgar, Ordway, Colo. Miss Edgar was accompanied to this city by her father, M. Edgar, a prominent druggist of the Colorado town. Mr. Campbell is the assistant superintendent of the oxide plant at Cutter. The wedding was a quiet one, Rev. H. P. Williams of the Christian church officiating, with Mr. and Mrs. Larsh the only witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left last evening for their new home in Cutter.

Insurance Company Wins Suit—
Chief Justice William H. Pope disposed of a number of cases at Clovis during the past few days, several being important insurance suits involving large sums of money. The German American Insurance company won out in a suit brought by the Clovis Supply company for $24,000. The Clovis concern suffered from a fire a year ago and brought suit to recover on the policies held in the German American. The case was decided in favor of the insurance company.

Southwest Furnishes Best Soldiers.
—The southwest furnishes the best soldiers in the United States. This is shown by a comparison of the reports sent out by the department for the month of January. During the month of February there were 69 applications received at the El Paso station, which is in charge of Lieutenant F. L.
Poindexter. Of this number 35 were accepted. The January report for New York shows that there were 1749
applications and only 296 accepted;
Chicago's main office shows 654 applications and only 91 accepted, while Boston, a city of nearly 500,000 population, shows 321 applications and only 51 accepted. Of the 35 men accepted at El Paso and sent to Fort Logan, near Denver, Colo., not a man was rejected at the rendezvous.

Will Resume at Arroyo Hondo—A reorganization of the affairs at the Arroyo Hondo dam and reservoir has been effected and operations are to be resumed soon so that the spring floods may be caught in the upper reservoir which is two-thirds completed.

CUPID MADE ANOTHER "FAUXPAS" LAST NIGHT.

Inspires a Couple to Run Away in a Runabout and Then Disheartens
Them With Snow Drifts.

Dan Cupid had better look to his arrows or his bow and see what is wrong. There certainly is SOME-THING wrong with one or the other or with the old arrow shooter himself.

Only a few days ago two of his victims were brought back from Albuquerque and will be given a hearing before Justice Alarid tomorrow morning.

Then last night, the blind bow boy started up some more mischief and an attractive young widow is said to have eloped with a young man, using a carriage for locomotion. Probably these Santa Fe trains were considered too closely watched. A driver was taken along, it is said, and the vehicle must have been pretty well crowded but some how Old Cupid squeezed into it and in his blindness he steered the amatory craft into a snow bank near Arroyo Hondo.

Then their love is said to have grown cool and the driver and his team were sent back, the couple returning later with an officer of the law.

After all, perhaps Cupid was just having a mid-winter wedding journey rehearsal, having grown thoroughly tired of the fauxpas he had made.

Rio Hondo Reservoir Water Users' Association Sends W. C. Reid to Washington.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Rio Hondo Reservoir Water Users' Association, held at Roswell it was decided to accept the offer of the loan of $50,000 from the U. S. government and construct a cement ditch sixteen miles long, leading from the intake above the reservoir to the point four miles north of the Diamond A ranch where this ranch takes out its appropriation of water. The stockholders also decided to send W. C. Reid to Washington to look after their interests in making the loan, paying $100 dollars of his expenses. The shareholders will have ten years in which to pay back the money, without interest. W. M. Reed U. S. engineer, writes that the loan can be secured.

NO SMOKING FOR MINORS IN STATE OF WASHINGTON.

Olympia, Wash., March 1.—The senate passed a bill today making it a misdemeanor for any person under the age of 21 years to have tobacco in any form in his possession, and the person who sells tobacco to a minor is guilty of a gross misdemeanor.
The effect of the bills is to repeat the present anti-cigarette law. The House refused today to pass a bill to repeal the anti-tipping law.
