COURT DECISION

Judge Baker Renders Decision in Important Case.

600-000 GANG KNOCKED OUT

Present County Commissioners Were Legally Appointed.

THE DEMOCRAT'S DECISION REVERSED

TUESDAY, JUDGE BENJ. S. BAKER, OF THIS JUDICIAL DISTRICT, HANDED DOWN HIS DECISION IN THE CASE OF THE TERRITORY VS. T. C. GUTIERREZ AND SEVERO SANCHEZ, THE TWO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF THIS COUNTY, APPOINTED BY THE TERRITORIAL LEGISLATURE TO FILL OUT THE UNEXPIRED TERMS OF E. A. MIERA AND IGNACIO GUTIERREZ, WHO, ON THE CREATION OF THE NEW COUNTY OF SANDOVAL, WERE FOUND TO BE RESIDENTS OF THE LATTER COUNTY.

THE PROCEEDINGS WERE INSTITUTED BY THE SOLICITOR GENERAL OF THE TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO, THROUGH DISTRICT ATTORNEY CLANCY, UPON INFORMATION FURNISHED AND AFFIDAVITS FILED BY MEMBERS OF THE "GOO-GOO GANG," ASKING THAT THE TWO NAMED COUNTY COMMISSIONERS BE OUSTED FROM OFFICE AND DECLARING THAT THE LEGISLATURE HAD NO RIGHT TO MAKE SUCH APPOINTMENTS.

THE DECISION OF THE JUDGE, WHICH IS HERE PUBLISHED IN FULL, SUSTAINS THE ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE AND DECLARES THE APPOINTMENT OF THE TWO COMMISSIONERS LEGAL IN EVERY PARTICULAR.

The Decision.

In the District Court, Bernalillo County, Territory of New Mexico, vs. T. C. Gutierrez and Severo Sanchez, ex rel. Thomas J. Curran, et al., vs. Tomas C. Gutierrez and Severo Sanchez.

This is an action based upon an information by the solicitor general of the Territory of New Mexico against Tomas C. Gutierrez and Severo Sanchez, to require the respondents to show by what warrant or authority they hold the offices of members of the board of county commissioners of Bernalillo county.

The respondents for answer to the information say, that they hold said offices by virtue of an act of the legislature, approved March 10, 1903, which said act is in part as follows:

Section 3. That T. C. Gutierrez, to fill the unexpired term of the second district, and Severo Sanchez, be and they hereby are appointed and constituted county commissioners for the county of Bernalillo, as the same is constituted after the creation of Sandoval county, and the said T. C. Gutierrez and Severo Sanchez shall qualify as said county commissioners on or before the fifth day of April, 1903.

To said answer the solicitor general has a general demurrer. The demurrer raises the question of the validity of said act. If said act is invalid the solicitor general's demurrer must be sustained, and the respondents admitted to be holding said offices without authority or warrant of law, and must be ousted. If said act is valid, the demurrer must be overruled, and the information dismissed.

Congress, in establishing the territorial government of New Mexico, divided its powers, as is usual in republican forms of government, into the executive, legislative and the judicial. The executive power is vested in the governor of the territory. Section 3, organic act, approved September 30, 1850. The legislative power of the territory is vested in the governor and the legislative assembly. Section 4, organic act, supra. The judicial power of the territory was vested in the supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. Section 10, organic act. Section 8 of said organic act provides that all township, district and county officers, * * * shall be appointed, elected, or the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of the Territory of New Mexico." This section was amended on September 9, 1850 (Section 1857, R. S. U. S., 1873) and so far as it relates to the subject matter of the quotation from section 8, it was a re-enactment, and reads as follows:

All township, district and county officers shall be appointed or elected in such manner as may be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of each territory.

Chapter 318 (Statutes at large, Vol. 11) provides "That the legislatures of the territories of the United States now or hereafter to be organized shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases: * * *

Regulating county and township affairs; * * * granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity or franchise whatever."

This was amended, or, rather, given a construction at the time the act of the New Mexico legislature creating Sandoval county was approved, as follows: "That nothing in the act approved July 30, 1886, entitled an act to prohibit the passage of local or special laws in the territories of the United States, to limit territorial indebtedness and for other purposes, shall be construed to prohibit the creation by territorial legislatures of new counties and the location of the county seats thereof." Section 2, chapter 79, approved July 19, 1888.

Section 688 of the compiled laws of New Mexico provides: "Each county shall be divided by the first board of commissioners holding office into three compact districts as equally in proportion to population as possible, numbered respectively by one, two and three, and shall not be subject to alteration oftener than once in two years, and one commissioner shall be elected from each of such districts by the votes of the whole county, as herein provided."

Section 688 of said compiled laws, provides: "Any vacancy that may hereafter occur in the board of county commissioners of any county by reason of death, resignation, removal or otherwise, of one or more county commissioners, shall be filled by appointment to be made by the governor of the territory."

The foregoing comprises the statutes of congress and of the legislature of New Mexico on the subject matter before us, down to the act complained of. It will be observed in section 1857, R. S. of U. S., supra, that congress not only conferred upon the legislative power of the territory the authority to appoint or cause to be elected in such manner as the legislative power may provide, but it makes it the duty of the legislative power of the territory to appoint or elect in such manner as they provide the several county officers of the territory. The language is as follows: "All county officers shall be appointed or elected in such manner as may be provided by the governor and the legislative assembly of each territory." It will be further observed that there is nothing in the constitution of the United States, the organic act establishing the Territory of New Mexico, nor in any of the acts of congress designating what county officers there shall be in the Territory of New Mexico. That is granted by implication to the legislative power or branch of the territorial government. When such officers have been created where is the power to fill these offices, and by what means? Referring to section 1857, supra, we find that "all county officers shall be appointed or elected in such manner as may be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of each territory." By this act of congress the sole and exclusive power to fill county offices is vested in the legislative power, with authority to delegate such power to the voters of the several counties, to be exercised in such manner as may be provided by the legislative power; or the legislative power may appoint such officers. By the casual observer it would be contended that it is a vested right in every community, or at least every county, to elect its own officers; believing in local self-government; but when we look at the last mentioned act of congress, we find that the voter has no such inherent right, and in fact, the only way in which a county can have county officers and county officers is through the legislative power as given it by congress, and that instead of it being a local self-government, county officers may be appointed by the legislative power, or by delegating such power to some person or persons, entirely ignoring the right of local self-government and the right of the people of each county to elect its own officers. The following case is of much assistance to us in construing section 1857, R. S., supra. In this case, People ex rel. Waterman, v. Freeman, 80 Cal., 233 (22 Pac. Rep. 173, a statute of California is construed. The statute provided that the state library is under the control of a board of trustees, consisting of five members elected by the legislature in joint convention assembled, and holding their offices for the term of four years. The action was one on "information in the nature of quo warranto, instituted by the attorney general through special counsel, upon the relation of W. K. Waterman, governor of the State of California, against A. C. Freeman, to test his right to hold the office of trustee of the state library under and by virtue of Pol. Code Cal. section 2292." It was contended upon the part of the relator, that the appointing office was intrinsically, essentially and exclusively an executive function, and therefore that it could not be exercised by the legislature. On the part of respondent it was contended that there is a specific provision in the constitution permitting the legislature to appoint, citing section 4 of article 20 of said constitution, which reads as follows: "All officers or commissioners whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution, and all officers or commissioners whose offices or duties may hereafter be created by law shall be elected by the people or appointed, as the legislature may direct." The supreme court in passing upon this question said: "On the contrary, it had not only been decided in other states of the union under constitutions containing provisions substantially equivalent to the sections above cited from our own, that the legislature could fill offices by itself created, but our own supreme court construing identical provisions of our own constitution had come to the same conclusion." From a careful perusal of this California case, it will be seen that the court clearly and distinctly sets out the three departments of government and discusses whether or not section 4 of Art. 20 of the constitution infringed upon the executive department. After holding that it did not it then finds that the legislature may fill offices by itself created. This seems to have a very close resemblance to the case under consideration. Section 1857, supra, has the same relation to New Mexico as section 4, article 20 of the constitution of California, and it will be observed that said section 4 provides, "that all officers or commissioners whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution and all officers or commissioners whose offices and duties may hereafter be created by law, shall be elected by the people or appointed as the legislature may direct." You will observe that section 1857, R. S., supra, provides "That all county officers shall be appointed or elected in such manner as may be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of each territory." They are strikingly similar, there being no provision in all the laws establishing the Territory of New Mexico or acts of congress since then, that provides for a single county officer or the filling of a single county office, but leaves it to the legislative power to appoint or elect. In California, under the said section of their constitution, such officers as under the provision may be created, shall be elected by the people, or appointed, as the legislature may direct; and there it is held that officers elected or appointed by the legislature itself under such a provision were not elected or appointed in conflict with the constitution. In all the law heretofore cited there is no express provision for filling vacancies in county offices. In the power to create an office, is implied the power to fill the office. It would be mere folly to grant the power to create with no means provided for the filling of such offices. Therefore, I think we may assume that no one will contend but what there is a power somewhere to fill a vacancy in an office that has been created by the legislative power of the territory. It certainly cannot be contended that there is any power except that of the legislative power in the first instance to provide the manner and means of filling all offices of the kind and character in question here. We have cited authority for the creating of new counties in the territory. This, of course, implies the authority to change the old counties. So, when Sandoval county was created the act creating it interfered with Bernalillo county, both as to territory and as to its officers. It created the vacancies of county commissioners in Bernalillo county. The contention and issue in this case is, how, or by whom shall the said vacancies be filled; or, more tersely expressed, had the legislative power of the territory authority to fill these vacancies? If the authority to fill county offices was vested in the legislative power of the territory by congress, as expressed in said section 1857, R. S., supra, it was the duty of the legislative power (comprising the governor and the legislative assembly) to fill said vacancies, or it must delegate that power either to the people to elect, or to the governor, or to some one else, to appoint, or such vacancies must continue. Neither the governor nor the people have inherent power, or any power, to fill vacancies in the office of county commissioners unless such power is granted them by the legislative power. If the legislative power cannot directly fill such vacancies, then had the legislative power authority to delegate such power to any person or persons? In short, is it possible for the legislative power to delegate to others to do that which it had no power to do itself? The learned counsel for the relator general devotes considerable space to local self-government, and contends that if the legislature can appoint officers in this manner he apprehends dire and fearful result. We are not called upon to express our views of the virtues of local self-government, nor to predict the effects upon the people in case the law is upheld by the court. It is our whole duty to decide what the law is; not what it ought to be. We are called upon to construe what congress, in its wisdom, meant when it said, "all county officers shall be appointed or elected, in such manner as shall be provided by the governor and the legislative assembly." Would it not be wilful misconstruction to say that the foregoing language meant the people, or the governor, had the inherent or primary legal right to fill vacancies in the offices of county commissioners? Would it not do extreme violence to our mother tongue? It is contended that the appointment of Gutierrez and Sanchez by the legislative enactment complained of, was local and special legislation. In the very nature of things it had to be; but we cannot concede that it was "regulating county affairs." The duties of county commissioners are specifically provided by the statute of the territory: When a county commissioner complies with the law, he acts as a county commissioner; when he does anything else he is not a county commissioner, but acts as an individual. The affairs—business and machinery—of the county is not affected or regulated differently by a change of county commissioners. There is but one way prescribed for all county commissioners to act, and that is in compliance with the law of the territory: When one commissioner drops out and another takes his place, there is no change in the affairs of the county. A county commissioner is no more a part of the affairs of the county than is the engineer a part of the locomotive. Let us concede for the sake of argument, that the act was an interference with or regulation of county affairs: If so, would it have been less so had the legislative power, instead of acting and using the power vested in it by congress directly, delegated it to the governor to appoint, or to the people to elect? Would using that power second handed, free it from the objection urged? Had political parties nominated, and of the nominees two individuals been elected, would not the individuals thus elected have been granted special and exclusive privileges, immunity or franchise (if it be a franchise)? For power to fill vacancies do we not and are we not compelled to go back to section 1857, R. S., supra, and either take it direct or filter it through some agency provided by the legislative power? After all it is the legislative power that does it. The solicitor general through his learned representative, lays great stress upon the case of Morrison v. Burkhardt, 112 Pa., 329. It is difficult to understand how one could apply the principles of that case to the one at the bar. In a nutshell, the legislature of Pennsylvania provided that in counties of not more than 150,000 nor less than 10,000 inhabitants, the fees of the prothonotary should be changed and that they should have an increase in fees for services from the inhabitants of the county that should be called upon to do business with such officer. The supreme court of the state of Pennsylvania held that that was regulating the affairs of counties. Why, of course it was. They also say: "The prothonotary is a county officer. While his fees when received by him are his private property, they are paid by the people of the county, not, indeed, assessed upon all the tax payers as a salary would be, but upon all citizens who have business with the office or litigation in the courts. Every citizen of the county may be affected by such an act, and most of them surely will be." And when they are affected by such an act they pay more, and in the aggregate the citizens of the county were compelled to pay more for what was done than they had under the former act, and as this was applicable only to certain counties, it became local, and special, and affected the regulation of the affairs of counties. In the case at bar there is no such change of salary: There is not one cent more nor one cent less paid. In other words, the machine moves along just the same, only it has a different engineer.

It is contended that vacancies should be filled by the general law now upon the statute book, being section 688 of the compiled laws of New Mexico as heretofore quoted. It will be observed that said last mentioned section provides: that "any vacancies that may hereafter occur in the board of county commissioners of any county by reason of death, resignation, removal or otherwise, shall be filled by appointment by the governor." In the case at bar the governor could not fill by reason of a vacancy occurring by death, resignation or removal. There is not mentioned the filling of vacancies caused by legislative enactment, unless it is implied in the word "otherwise." The duty of defining the word "otherwise" as used by the legislature, is imposed upon us. We might inquire why the legislative power delegated to the governor the authority to fill vacancies at all. Certainly the legislature would not have delegated such power had there been a vacancy occurring while the legislature was in session. The sessions of the legislature being limited by law to sixty days, that leaves the balance of two years in which no vacancy could be filled unless such power to fill had been delegated to some person or persons. If no provision had been made by the legislative power to fill vacancies, could they have been filled? Yes: by the legislative power, and by it only. If the legislature intended that any vacancy that may occur shall be filled by appointment by the governor, who would it specifically point out vacancies caused by death, resignation or removal? It would be a serious charge against the legislative intelligence that it meant any vacancy that might occur shall be filled by appointment by the governor, after employing the language it did. If the word "otherwise" is to be construed to mean "any vacancy," then the words, "caused by reason of death, resignation or removal," were surplusage and must stand for naught, because they are included in the words "any vacancy." We believe it to be a universal rule of construction that when general words follow particular and specific words, the general words are confined, in meaning, to the things of like kind and nature designated by the specific words.

Sutherland on Stat. Const. sec. 268.

Jensen v. State, 19 N. W. Rep. 378 (Wis.).

State v. Dennison, 82 N. W. Rep. 383 (Neb.).

In the Wisconsin case, supra, an indictment was found under a section of the law which provided, "if any tavern keeper or other person shall sell, give away, or barter any intoxicating liquors on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, or on the day of the annual town meeting, or the annual election, such tavern keeper or other person so offending, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor." The words "or other person" following the words "tavern keeper" would seem to have been used in the very broadest sense. The indictment charged the defendant with having sold liquor on Sunday in violation of this statute, without changing his occupation. The lower court held that the words "or other person" included any and all persons. The supreme court of Wisconsin, however, in construing this section of the law said: "The words 'tavern keeper' indicated very clearly the class of persons against whom the act was aimed, and the general words, 'other persons' must under the familiar rule, denote a class of persons and not to be extended so as to include all persons," and cite a long list of authorities in support of such construction. They further say "the words 'tavern keeper' as used in this statute, clearly means a person a part at least of whose business is to sell intoxicating liquors," and apply the rule above quoted. "The words 'other persons' must be held to mean persons whose business either in whole or in part is to sell such drinks." In the Nebraska case, supra, Dennison was indicted under section 225 of the criminal code, which is as follows: "If any person * * * shall open or establish as owner or otherwise, any lottery or game of chance in this state," etc. The indictment charged that Dennison opened and established a lottery or game of chance within the state. After the jury was sworn, defendant's attorney objected to the introduction of any testimony for the reason that the indictment did not state a crime, because it did not allege that Dennison opened and established a lottery as owner, or in some similar capacity. The objection to the introduction of testimony was sustained, and the defendant was discharged. Under a rule of practice in Nebraska, the prosecuting attorney may file exceptions in the supreme court to the rule of the lower court, for the purpose of having the law settled, and it was done in this case. The supreme court said: "It was not error on the part of the lower court to exclude evidence under the information claimed to allege a crime under section 225, and which did not allege the capacity in which the defendant acted in opening and establishing the lottery therein mentioned." In short, a perusal of the Nebraska case, supra, discloses the construction that the word "otherwise," following the word "owner," was restricted to an owner, or some one in similar or like capacity. So, where a statute reads that real estate actually purchased or otherwise acquired by an intestate, it should descend to the father, if he is living, or to the mother of such intestate if the father is dead. The words "otherwise acquired" did not include the land descended from the parent.

Robert V. Jackson, 4 Yerg., Tenn., 322.

and citing several other Tennessee cases.

State v. Wood County, 72 Wis., 637, is a case in which the term "otherwise" is construed, and which it is employed in a statute as follows, referring to a county road tax. * * * which shall be expended under their (county board) direction, in making culverts, grading, graveling, ditching or otherwise improving such highways." The court said: "By a familiar rule of construction, the words 'or otherwise improving such highways' must be held to mean the improvements of such highways by the making of culverts, grading, graveling, ditching or other improvements of a similar character, and not the building of a bridge."

Applying this rule of construction to section 688 of the compiled laws, supra, it would seem that the governor may fill vacancies in the office of county commissioner when such vacancy is caused by death, resignation or removal, or vacancies caused in a like or similar manner. It certainly could not extend to a vacancy caused by a legislative enactment. Such a vacancy is not of like kind, character or nature, as one caused by death, resignation or removal. Nor could it extend to such a vacancy, for the further reason that the reason for delegating the power to the governor would not then exist. The legislative power being in a position then to act, the legislature being in session, and a vacancy occurring at such time, would not prompt the legislative power to delegate its power to fill such vacancies. As to whether or not the removal by legislative enactment is like kind and character as death, resignation or removal, as construed by the legislature when it passed the act appointing the respondents. In other words, if conferring upon the governor the power to appoint is in seeming conflict with the act complained of, then the legislature has construed the former act by restricting it not to include vacancies caused by legislative enactment. But were the act appointing respondents in conflict with said section 688, the last act would be in force. The power that authorized the governor to appoint would certainly revoke it. A legislative interpretation of a statute is not binding upon a court, but should have great weight. In Jackson v. Board of Supervisors, etc., 34 Neb., 680, the court says: "Legislative construction, although not necessarily conclusive upon the judicial part of the government, it is entitled to great weight when deliberately given." Citing:

Bishop on Written Law. Sedgwick on Stat. Const. Coutant v. People, 11 Wend., 511.

We are of the opinion that the legislative power in appointing the respondents, Tomas C. Gutierrez and Severo Sanchez, county commissioners of Bernalillo county, acted within its authority, scope and duty. We are also of the opinion that the act complained of is not in conflict with the constitution of the United States, the organic act, or any act of congress, and is therefore legal.

For the foregoing reasons, the demurrer to the answer of the respondents is overruled, and the information dismissed.

OFFICIAL MATTERS.

The June term of the United States court of private land claims will convene in the court chambers in the (federal) building in Santa Fe on next Tuesday, June 16. The following officers will be in attendance: Chief Justice Joseph R. Reed of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Associate Justice William W. Murray of Huntington, Tenn.; Associate Justice Wilbur F. Stone, of Denver, Colo.; Associate Justice Henry C. Sluss, of Wichita, Kas.; Associate Justice Frank L. Osborne, of Charlotte, N. C.; Attorney Matthew G. Reynolds, of St. Louis, Mo.; Clerk I. L. Chaves, of Santa Fe.

Grounds Are Improved.

Extensive improvements are being made at the capital grounds, Santa Fe. A new iron gate is being placed on the north side, and the serpentine walk that now leads to the building from the northeast corner of the grounds will be taken up and placed from the north entrance of the building to the new gate. The fountain to the north of the building is being reconstructed and repiped. Nearly 1,500 feet of piping is being put down in the grounds this season, and twelve hydrants have been added to those already in use. Over 500 loads of fertile soil have been and are being hauled to the grounds to take the place of rocky earth that is being removed. Three more acres of land have been sowed in grass this season to be converted into lawns, and 250 additional trees have been put out this spring and summer. David L. Miller, superintendent of the building and grounds, has charge of the work, and when completed it will add greatly to the beauty of the premises.

Should Be Well Represented.

Preparations are being made now for the territorial fair, and it is the intention of the fair association to make it the largest exhibition ever given in the territory. Will Luna county be there with an exhibit?—Doming Graphic.

Rheumatism

Is Not a Skin Disease.

Most people have an idea that rheumatism is contracted like a cold, that the damp, chilly air penetrates the muscles and joints and causes the terrible aches and pains, or that it is something like a skin disease to be rubbed away with liniment or drawn out with plasters; but Rheumatism originates in the blood and is caused by Urea, or Uric Acid, an irritating, corroding poison that settles in muscles, joints and nerves, producing inflammation and soreness and the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to this distressing disease.

Exposure to bad weather or sudden chilling of the body will hasten an attack of Rheumatism after the blood and system are in the right condition for it to develop, but have nothing to do with the real true causes of Rheumatism, which are internal and not external.

Liniments, plasters and rubbing will sometimes reduce the inflammation and swelling and ease the pain for a time, but fail to relieve permanently because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it attacks it in the blood, and the Uric Acid poison is neutralized, the sluggish circulation stimulated and quickened, and soon the system is purified and cleansed, the aching muscles and joints are relieved of all irritating matter and a lasting cure of this most painful disease is effected.

S. S. S. is a harmless vegetable remedy, unequalled as a blood purifier and an invigorating, pleasant tonic. Book on Rheumatism will be mailed free.

EARLY DAY STORY.

How "Joe" Stinson Turned the Trick on Bad Man, "Wally" Henderson.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. M. EPISODE.

"No use to waste time talking about him; he was the only one of his kind. And when I say 'was,' I mean just that, for though he is alive today in an old soldier's home in California, he's a bad man, and—was is was."

Thus spoke William H. Baker, cheerful, content and corpulent, dispenser of lithia water at 1639 Stout street. "Lithia water! Harkee, it is true! And it is the same 'Little Billy,' whom the old-timers at Elizabethtown, N. M., knew back in the '70s, when a man's life at Elizabethtown was worth—well, whatever he could get for it, and it was always on sale."

"Little Billy" was talking to Joseph Stinson, who was born in Maine seventy years ago, but deserted the Atlantic seaboard early and came west to rough it, and rough it hard. Nobody would recognize him by the name Joseph, however. He was always "Jo," "good old Joe," but a mighty bad old Jo when he was aroused.

A Quiet Time.

It would take a big book of a good many chapters to tell about "Joe" Stinson, but it is well worth while to wait while "Billy" Baker tells of the killing of "Wally" Henderson, a job which "Joe" attended to one morning at the early hour of 4, to avoid unnecessary excitement and the disturbance of the sleepy inhabitants. "Billy" tells it something like this:

"I had blown in from Dodge City, Kan., and had gone in with Joe in the saloon business. Of course that meant a gambling place with a booze attachment. Ordinarily, I attended to the bar and Joe dealt faro while a hired man of ours ran the high ball poker game."

"Joe was a big, good natured fellow when he was sober, but he was a bad man when he got his load on. He didn't pick any trouble, even when he was full, but he was awful ready when he thought it was up to him. Several times he lost all we had between us by an unlucky deal or two and, when he lost heavily, he used to wind up by smashing all the furniture and glassware in the place and inviting everybody in 'till the booze was all drunk up."

"It was along about 1879 when Wally Henderson drifted into camp. He was a mysterious, old-timer, drinking sort of a cuss, tall, black moustached and gentle in his manner. But his reputation came along with him and the wildest of the boys went slow with him, for it was known that he would shoot, and it also leaked out that he was a marksman from whence, who had laid out several pretty confident fellows."

New Man Assumes Charge.
"I was 'tending bar about that time, and one night Henderson came quiet."

MURDER AT BERNALILLO.

A Degraded Wife Lured Her Husband to His Death.

BULLETS FIRED BY PARAMOUR.

Tony Castillo, who was at Bernalillo yesterday, returned to the city last night, and this morning gave The Citizen the following account of a fatal shooting affair which occurred at Bernalillo yesterday afternoon.

The man killed was Isidoro Lucero, and the murderer is Vincente Griego. The shooting took place on the railroad track at about 3:30 in the afternoon. Lucero was a sheep herder for Francisco Montoya, and was almost all the time away from home. Griego got in with his (Lucero's) wife, and for the past three years has virtually lived with the woman. Yesterday afternoon it is claimed, the woman went to where Lucero was herding some sheep, not far from Bernalillo, and they together walked toward the town. They had not gone far when Griego, as if prearranged, hoveled in sight, and when the men came up to each other a quarrel ensued. Both pulled their revolvers, but, as if prepared beforehand, Griego was the quicker and fired three shots—one bullet entered the right side of Lucero's forehead, and another bullet crashed into his skull just above the forehead, and the other bullet made a flesh wound in the right arm. Lucero had no opportunity to use his revolver, and during the shooting the wife kept out of range of the bullets by shielding herself under a small acacia bush.

Immediately on seeing what he had done, Griego ran off toward the mountains, but returned to the town and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Francisco Hernandez.

Mr. Castillo says that Lucero and wife separated every once in awhile, but would kiss and make up when he would return home from his herding. He also stated that it was common talk among the native people of Bernalillo yesterday afternoon that the woman lured her husband to his death, and Griego having prearranged matters for her to make up with her husband, came into town and he (Griego) to meet them, when a quarrel would be commenced and then the killing.

After Lucero's dead body had been found and Griego had given himself up to the officer, a coroner's jury was empaneled and a verdict reached the above facts.

The news of the shooting reached Albuquerque last night, and Sheriff Otero was also informed by telegraph of the killing. The crime was committed in Sandoval county.

THE AMERICAN EAGLE.

It is Now Domiciled at the Harvey Curio Rooms With Manager Switzer.

Manager Switzer has added another attraction to the Harvey curio rooms. This time it is the American eagle, and it's the real article, too.

The king of birds was brought in Sunday from the mountains by some natives. The bird is only two months old, but is a corker for size. It bids fair to become a pet, for it was walked around this morning and seemed tame as a chicken. You ought to see him eat! He would ruin a $15 a week man if he had him in his family. For breakfast this morning he had a great choice chunk of steak and some chicken. Now he's not fussy about bones either, for he gets them down, too. So you see he has started right in to be economical, as much as possible, during his sojourn with Manager Switzer.

He regards the red grapes and squaws who are also domiciled at the curio rooms as special friends, for they feed him carpet tacks, broken glass and any old thing which he regards as side dishes.

The American eagle is a great bird and may he thrive under the genial manager's care.

JUDGE MORRISON.

He Skins Rev. Skinner in Scientific Skinning Manner.

COMMUNICATION ON THE SUBJECT.

Santa Fe, N. M., June 5, 1903.
Editor Daily Citizen.

Some books are lies from end to end and some great lies were never penned.

Even ministers have been kenneled in holy rapture.

A rattlin' khud at times to vend And nail 't wi' Scripture

When Bobby Burns wrote the above he must have had in mind some veracious (?) person closely akin to the Rev. Norman Skinner. In a speech of half a dozen sentences, there were four wicked lies, known by him to be lies.

When he says "No man from New Mexico likes to hear the truth about his country," he says what he must know to be untrue. When he asserts that 10 per cent of the 100,000 Mexican citizens of this territory are literate, he utters another gross falsehood. Then he says: "When you put New Mexico into statehood you are receiving into the rights of citizenship 90,000 human cattle, who are bought and sold like sheep." How there can be 90,000 voters in a population of 200,000, is beyond the comprehension of any one but a Skinner. The fact is that the average vote of New Mexico is about 35,000 and I unhesitatingly assert that there is no more buying and selling of votes among them than among an equal number of citizens in the state of this modern Ananias. But the most deliberate and malicious lie is when he says that "There are no schools except those established by the missionaries." "Oh, shame, where is thy blush?" Does not this ungrateful creature know that the very city which has given him shelter and support boasts of schools which would be considered creditable in any town in the union? The people of Albuquerque are justly proud of their splendid public schools, and although the public schools of Santa Fe are not what they should be, and what they soon will be, the system of education here is fully abreast of any city in the country. Of course, the Rev. N. S. would not condescend to notice the magnificent schools, academies and colleges which the Catholic people have erected all over the territory, conducted in the most efficient manner by the Christian brothers, the Sisters of Loretto and other teaching orders of the Catholic church, in which thousands of boys and girls are taught to be good Christians and loyal American citizens. Probably the Rev. N. S. is ignorant of the fact that several of these schools were established half a century ago and that many of those devoted religious, crossed the plains when all Kansas was infested by wild tribes of hostile Indians who often ambushed and attacked the trains in which these holy servants of God were traveling, several of whom died and were buried on those desolate deserts, thus sacrificing their lives to the cause of God and His people. Where was the Rev. Norman Skinner in those troublous days? If he was alive, he did not take his life in his hands and dare the savages in his zeal in the cause of education. No, indeed, he waited for the days of the vestibule trains and the Pullman sleeper, and then he came not to educate like a good Christian, but to vilify, misrepresent and slander the people, all the people, without exception, who have extended their hospitality to him. Go home, Norman, go home, we love truthful men here and you are not one. If you ever had any usefulness here you have outlived it.

Adios, A. L. MORRISON.

FREE HOSPITAL.

To Be Established for Consumptives Between Two Territories.

AT WORK ON PLANS.

Consumption hospitals and sanitariums are being planned for several cities in both New Mexico and Arizona, and the latest, according to the Denver News, will be located on a site already selected near the boundary of the two territories. The article says:

"This hospital will care for those who are unable to pay their own expenses, and no charge will be made for services of any kind. Dr. T. C. Bancroft, formerly of Kansas City, is now at work on the plans for the hospital and it is expected that it will be opened within a year."

"The hospital will accommodate at least 125 persons. According to the present plans it is proposed to purchase a site of 800 acres, 320 acres of which are now under irrigation. On this land is a large modern brick building 100 feet square, containing seventy-eight rooms. There are also other buildings on the grounds, each containing three rooms. These buildings, it is intended, shall be used by families who seek the advantages of the hospital."

"The buildings were erected some time ago by an eastern man who intended making it a home for orphans. Lack of support and the small number of inmates caused the place to be abandoned, and it is now for sale. It originally cost $250,000, but it has been offered to Dr. Bancroft for hospital purposes for $50,000. The buildings are all modern and are well furnished. Much of the ground is under cultivation and some fine orchards have been set out."

"Dr. Bancroft is now at work perfecting the plans for securing the fund necessary to establish the hospital. Although an active canvass for money has not yet been begun, he has received several offers of funds."

"It is the intention to have the home incorporated under the national government, thus making it perpetual. The present plans include the making of the president of the United States honorary president, with a board of directors comprised of the governors of all the states."

Miss Helen Rodley, daughter of Delegate and Mrs. B. S. Rodley, who has been attending school in Washington the past year, is expected any day now. She has been on her way home for over a week but is delayed by the great floods in Kansas.

Owin Allen, of Denver spent some time here yesterday afternoon. Mr. Allen is a mining expert and was on his way to El Paso. From there he will go to northern Sonora where he will examine a copper proposition for some wealthy Denver men.

The cutting of alfalfa must be progressing at a rapid rate, judging from the numerous loads of it that have been hauled through the streets during the last two or three days.

Railroad Topics

Thomas Powers, of the local shops, is soon to go to El Paso, where he will reside.

Conductor Fred Russell, who has been in ill health for several weeks, has gone east to recuperate.

F. G. Samuels, an employee of the local shops, who has been visiting friends at San Bernardino, has returned home.

George Berman is the new depot master of the local station, succeeding Frank Barton, who has gone to San Francisco.

Dispatcher J. A. McCullum and wife of San Marcial, have planned a trip to Canada by the Great Lakes. A more delightful route could not be selected.

The large warehouse of the Maricopa, Phoenix & Salt River Valley railroad, at Phoenix, was destroyed by fire last week, causing a loss of $10,000.

Switch engine No. 2164, which has been doing night work at San Marcial the past few months, has been brought here and will be repaired at the local shops.

Mrs. F. H. Smith, wife of the railroad operator at San Marcial, and her sister, Mrs. C. Reed, arrived in Las Vegas, and will spend a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crites. They are on their way to Cheyenne, Wyo., for a month's visit with relatives.

Contractor J. A. Harlan is being somewhat hindered in the work upon the new San Marcial depot by the non-arrival of a carload of windows, doors, etc., from Kansas City. He can get no trace of the car and is inclined to the belief that the Kansas flood carried it to some out of the way anchorage.

The prospects for a railroad Y. M. C. A. at El Paso have gone glimmering, says the News. G. D. McMill, international secretary of the railroad Y. M. C. A., who came here from Omaha to look over the situation, has reached this determination. He was accompanied by Secretary Jones, of the Beaumont Y. M. C. A., and the two gentlemen decided that the scheme is not feasible at present.

The San Marcial Bee says: "Banks J. N. Broyles received a very important letter this morning from a gentleman high in the railway promoting business, asking for information about the coal and other resources of this part of the Rio Grande valley and estimating a fee as to the extent of the financial inducements a new railroad would call forth from the people of this locality. Mr. Broyles is enthusiastic about lending encouragement to such enterprises."

By a new arrangement the El Paso & Northwestern conductors will in future wire the El Paso office advising the number of passengers for Mexico, in order that they may arrange for the Mexican Central to wait in case the trains of the former road are late. For the convenience of passengers coming in off the El Paso-Rock Island, bound for Mexico, the Mexican Central has agreed to wait three hours to make connections.

The New Mexican, June 6, says: Senator Arthur Kennedy, of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the capitalists who is heavily interested in the Pennsylvania Development company, the Santa Fe Central railway and other enterprises connected with the two companies, will arrive in Santa Fe this evening. At 6 o'clock tomorrow morning Senator Kennedy and General Manager W. S. Hopewell, of the Santa Fe Central railway, will start on an overland trip for an inspection of the lines of the Santa Fe Central railway, now being constructed, and the development work done so far at the coal mining camps at Hagan. They will be absent several days.

Trains coming into El Paso on the Santa Fe report that it is very doubtful whether the Harvey system will secure the hotel privilege in the union depot when built at this point, says the El Paso Herald. The Harvey system operates fifty hotels along the Santa Fe lines, and the reputation of the system is well known all over the country, but unless the depot company places each bidder on a basis of its reputation the Harvey system will lose out, it is said, as that system cannot afford to pay a very high price for the privilege.

W. S. Hopewell, general manager of the Albuquerque Eastern and Santa Fe Central railroads, and Senator Arthur Kennedy, a stockholder of the same roads, are expected to arrive in Albuquerque tonight or tomorrow forenoon. They left Santa Fe on Saturday and have been driving over the line of the new roads.

Conductor Edward Corson, who was in attendance on the O. R. C. convention at Pittsburgh, Pa., has returned to the city. He was an eye witness to the awful railroad wreck at Hannibal, Mo., when a number of passengers were killed and injured.

WORK IN ARGENTINE.

Santa Fe Promises to Give Every Man Employment.

The Santa Fe Railroad company will give work to all the unemployed men in Argentine and many more as soon as the flood subsides, says a dispatch from Kansas City, dated June 6.

This railroad will also put on a train to furnish continuous and rapid service between Argentine and Kansas City, Mo., for the accommodation of people who work in Kansas City.

Two news, which means that there will be no idle men in Argentine when the water recedes, was the result of a visit paid to H. U. Mudge, general manager of the Santa Fe system, and General Superintendent Hurley.

A committee composed of M. Hurley, E. J. Engel and George Horn was appointed to interview these officials.

"Mr. Mudge said the company could give employment to all the men in Argentine just as soon as work could be begun," said Mr. Engel yesterday.

"The former employees, about 700, will be put to work first. Argentine men who are out of work will then be given the preference, but many more than are now in Argentine will probably be needed."

"Mr. Mudge said also that as soon as the tracks could be used a train would be put on to furnish transportation between Argentine and Kansas City. There are probably 1,000 people in Argentine who work in Kansas City, Mo., and the problem of how to get there and back even if they should secure their old positions, would have been a serious one. The trains will run into the Grand avenue depot until the Union depot is accessible, and will furnish rapid transit until the street cars are in operation between the cities."

THE LADIES' AUXILIARY.

It Lends a Helping Hand to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

When a terrible accident occurs on one of the great railroads the first question asked is: "How many passengers were killed?" Nobody asks for the trainmen or what became of them. Who ever thinks of that?

Only the men at the throttle and the woman at home waiting through the dark hours of the night for the shriek of a whistle followed by a familiar foot tread.

Sometimes it comes.

Sometimes somebody else comes and the familiar foot tread is heard no more.

Sometimes body has to look after "the girl he left behind him," and who does that?

The railroad company? Oh, no. The government? Oh, no.

Just the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Ladies' Auxiliary. Both national organizations for mutual help, protection and benefit in life and in death. Their purpose is to unite the families of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; to promote their welfare socially, morally and intellectually and to encourage them in all brotherhood.

The auxiliary was organized convinced that it was for the good of the brotherhood in general and for its own welfare that a mutual good feeling should exist at all times between both organizations.

The brotherhood was organized in September, 1883. The women interested in their fathers, husbands and sons of the rail wanted to help. During the convention of the brotherhood at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1888, the Ladies' Auxiliary humbly asked for permission to exist, which was granted.

Now 275 lodges are flourishing in every state of the union, Canada and Mexico. This is a national organization and whenever the brotherhood meets an invitation is extended to the Ladies' Auxiliary to be present—Joyce's Weekly.

FIRE CHIEF YOUNG.

He Visits Needles and Meets Fire Laddies of That Town.

Thursday evening the Santa Fe fire department called a meeting in honor of the visit of C. O. Young, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, chief of the coast line department. The meeting was called by Chief E. L. Cumback and were congratulated by Chief Young for his efficiency, making the remark that the Needles department was second to none or the system.

He stated that arrangements would be made for a tournament to take place at San Bernardino in the near future in which the several departments of the coast lines would compete. The complimentary remarks of Superintendent of Motive Power Henderson at the time of his late visit here were initiative of his action.

Assistant Chief John Armistage spoke in behalf of the local department in very concise terms. At 11 o'clock in the morning the alarm had been sounded and runs were made as follows: From house to round house, laying four lengths of hose, one minute and five seconds; coupling up Siamese connections from double to single, fifty-five seconds; coupling two lengths and getting water, ten seconds.

Accidents at the Grave.

Mateo Ortiz died at the home of his son, John R. Ortiz, in Santa Fe, Sunday afternoon and was buried yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Requiem mass was celebrated at Guadalupe church. Deceased was born in Santa Fe and spent his earlier days here.

He enlisted in the First regiment of New Mexico cavalry, commanded by Col. J. Francisco Chaves, and served during the civil war as a sergeant. Upon his retirement from the army he took up his abode in that part of Bernillo county now known as Sandoval, where he lived until about five years ago. Since that time he has made his home with his son, at whose residence he died. He leaves two daughters; one at Cuba, New Mexico, and the other in Santa Fe. Modesto E. Ortiz and Louis Ortiz, of this city, are sons of deceased, and he was the step father of Benjamin M. Read, of Santa Fe, and Sheriff Alexander Read, of Tierra Amarilla, Rio Arriba county. Mr. Ortiz was a member of the Roman Catholic church and vice president of the Holy Trinity society. Deceased was about 75 years old and death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Brakeman Geo. Hyde has returned from a month's trip to Denver and Old Mexico.

Dispatcher McCullough's wife and child are home again from visiting in Los Angeles.

Horace Wakeman, who has been in the service of the Santa Fe, has returned to his home at Westport, Conn.

O. B. Sutton, local cashier of the Santa Fe and Wells-Fargo company, was in Los Angeles for a few days on business.

Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Mr. Sutherland, the switchman, is back in Winslow after a long visit at Kenova, Va., accompanied by their son, Ray.

Brakeman Havenell fell from the pilot of an engine Monday. His leg came between the pilot and rail, the skin being torn off from the knee down. He was taken to the hospital at Los Angeles.

Out at the cinder pit things are running at full blast, under the management of Pete Wright. It takes sixty-five cars of ballast to the mile, and P. J. Keeley has charge of the unloading crew, which is now near Flagstaff.

They will ballast some distance beyond Ash Fork. When the work is completed the road bed will be in excellent shape.

Round House Foreman Jack Robinson has resigned and Night Foreman Jean Karigan has succeeded him. Jack will be greatly missed among the round house boys, for they all liked him, as he had a kind word and pleasant look for all. He will create a vacancy in base ball circles, as he was a first rate player. Mr. Karigan will be a good man in the position, as he understands the business and is well thought of by the boys.

After a long siege of suffering, Fire man Tom Seegar had to undergo another operation for skin grafting. The surgeons of St. Mary's hospital, Los Angeles, where Tom has been for months, performed the operation. Henry Seegar and J. J. Johnson furnished the required amount of cuticle for Tom's injured arm. It is said this operation will be the means of his complete recovery. His friends sincerely hope it will, for he has had a very unfortunate time the last few months.

We overlooked the fact that Mrs. H. M. Muchmore received a token of esteem from the engineers, firemen and shopmen. It was mentioned that at the reception given to Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Muchmore by the Masons and Eastern Star that Mr. Muchmore was presented with a watch and chain by the gentlemen above mentioned.

A couple of days afterward these same gentlemen, not satisfied with making a gift to Mr. Muchmore, decided to remember his wife also, and she was made the recipient of an elegant silver set. Engineer Jas. Christal was delegated to make the presentation, and he nicely accomplished it. Mrs. Muchmore was taken by surprise, but feelingly thanked the donors. Mr. and Mrs. Muchmore are now at Marshalltown, Iowa, where he is master mechanic for a railroad company.

Tax Decision.

Judge R. E. Sloan rendered an important decision recently in the case of the United Verde Copper company against Yavapai county. The suit was brought by the company to resist the payment of taxes on a valuation of $1,200,000 on the grounds that the valuation is excessive. It has been in the court for some time. Judge Sloan dismissed the case, on the grounds that the company failed to comply with the law by first paying its taxes and by then bringing suit to adjudicate the question at issue. A similar decision was rendered in the tax case of E. B. Perrin.—Prescott Journal-Miner.

Harry Fulton received a telegram from Mrs. E. H. Ward stating that her husband had been killed in a wreck at Stillwell, Kan., on Thursday. The wreck was caused by a head-end collision between passenger trains Nos. 1 and 8. Mr. Ward and family were passengers on No. 8 and were on their way to their home in Newcastle, Pa. They were friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fulton of this place, and spent last week here as their guests, and the news of the death of Mr. Ward was a sad shock to them. "A Wonder-Working Remedy for Women," Says Mrs. Brown.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Tones and Strengthens Every Weak Organ and Invigorates the Whole System.

Paine's Celery Compound has been specially prepared for the relief and cure of the many ailments that afflict women, and it never fails to give a new and healthy tone to the female organs; it removes relaxed debility and unhealthy secretions; it purifies the blood and establishes a perfect and vigorous health. Mrs. V. L. Brown, Vineland, Cal., writes as follows:

"Four years ago female troubles and irregularities commenced to make my life miserable. Though I sought the best medical advice, my sufferings seemed to increase, and recently, upon the advice of a friend, I used Paine's Celery Compound, and found it to be a wonder-working compound. I have used five bottles and can truthfully say I am a new woman. I owe my life and present good health to Paine's Celery Compound."

garding the charges made public in the press of the territory; Now, therefore, I, Miguel A. Otero, governor of the territory of New Mexico, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do appoint the following named committee:

Rufus J. Palen, of Santa Fe, N. M.
J. Frank McConnell, M. D., Las Cruces, N. M.
E. V. Chaves, Albuquerque, N. M.
George C. Bryan, M. D., Alamogordo, N. M.
H. M. Dougherty, Socorro, N. M.
Luis Hernandez, M. D., Las Vegas, N. M.
W. C. Porterfield, Silver City, N. M.
And I do further appoint Mr. W. E. Gortner of Las Vegas, N. M., as clerk of said committee and also as official stenographer.

The said committee to make a most thorough investigation concerning the management of the institution in every particular, all testimony to be taken down by the stenographer and typewritten; the final report as to the findings and recommendations to be made to this office at the earliest possible date; the committee to make such rules as are deemed advisable in order to expedite the work.

Done at the executive office this 9th day of June, A. D. 1933. Witness my hand and the great seal of the Territory of New Mexico.

MIGUEL A. OTERO, Governor.

Mrs. Al Stephenson and children, of Adamana, Arizona, spent a few days in the city this week visiting with her sister, Mrs. Sorenson.
S. Horrabin was in town from Thoron trying to engage 100 Navajos to work on the branch road of the lumber company. He had poor success as all the Indians are working.
J. A. Gordon has on exhibition a $250 Navajo blanket made for the Zuni Mountain Lumber company, of Guam. This blanket is fifteen feet square and the pattern is the most striking one we have ever seen.

Miss Teresita Nuanes, of Gallup, and Demetrio Anales, of Gibson, were married in the Church of Sacred Heart. The groom gave a ball in Kitchen's opera house in the evening.

Dr. Stewart Culin, who is collecting for the Brooklyn museum, returned from a trip to Canyon de Shelly, where he went in command of Fathers Weber, Berard and Domarest. Dr. Culin collected valuable curios in the several settlements he visited.

The Catholic church in town will celebrate its feast in the 21st instant. Several clergymen are expected to attend. By that time all the building and repairs of the church will be finished, and we will have one of the finest churches in the southwest.

Fred B. Nichols, of Penn Yan, N. Y., arrived in the city last night to accept the position of head bookkeeper at the arrived in the city last night. He is a first-class book keeper, and will locate here. Mr. McNichols is a nephew of Mrs. W. H. Strong and cousin of Dr. B. H. Briggs.

Yesterday, Charles Spader sold about 20,000 pounds of wool to W. J. Major, and will now return to his home and business at Jemez village, provided he can get through with some court matters now on.

Owing to the rainy weather, no quorum put in an appearance at the Commercial club last night, it being advertised that a meeting of the members would be held to elect a new board of directors. The meeting was postponed until Saturday, June 13, at 8 p. m.

W. H. Downs, of this city, was a visitor at the capital town yesterday.

THE "EL PASO KID."

Charged With Stealing $400 Worth of Diamonds—Held for Grand Jury.

UNDER $1,000 BAIL.

The "El Paso Kid," the colored youth who was a high roller in the downtown third street colony, is safely lodged in the county jail over in old town. Here he will eat and sleep until the grand jury take action on his deeds, which are shady.

His hearing came up before Judge Crawford late yesterday afternoon. The "El Paso Kid" has very little respect for the truth, in fact he don't have any regard for it whatever. Some time ago he hit the town, coming here from the Pass city, and took up his abode in the Third street colony. He was such an entertaining, good natured and good looking youth that he soon found employment. Miss Lillian Williams on West Copper avenue hired him to do this and that around the house and make himself useful.

The "El Paso Kid's" sporting blood boiled to be a bigger sport, so he did make himself useful and very much disreputable to Miss Williams. Last Friday afternoon he invaded her jewelry box and got away with nearly $400 worth of her choice gems. The "Kid" lit out with them and got away up to Raton, when the cruel arm of the law nabbed him on Monday. Deputy Sheriff Newcomer of this city went after him and brought him back Tuesday night. They have the "Kid" but the jewelry has disappeared and no trace of it can be found.

The "Kid" is such a liar and has so many names that not much could be learned at the hearing. First he'd tell one story and then that would contradict. He told City Marshal McMillin that his name was Major Toney and that his father's name was Toney Major. It is evident that he or his father was twisted when he was born. The "Kid" denied ever working for Miss Williams in the face of positive evidence that he did.

Such cheerful, straight, honest lying has not been heard in the police court for years. Judge Crawford found sufficient evidence and the "Kid" was bound over under $1,000 bail.

Arizona Railroad Valuation.

The total assessed valuation of railroad property in Arizona for 1933 is $6,449,552.78, being an increase of $1,451,118.46 over that for 1932. This increase is due to the exemption existing under which the Gila Valley, Globe & Northern, the United Verde & Pacific and 20.3 miles of the El Paso & Southern railroads were constructed, and the amount of taxes to be paid by the Santa Fe Pacific railroad company, whose road is to be taxed at the rate of $175 per mile of main track. This is the tax fixed by act of congress, approved June 27, 1902, and it is estimated that this tax is equivalent to an assessed valuation of $5,000 per mile.

RIVER CONDITIONS.

No Damage at Socorro—Little Brighter at Las Vegas.

TRAINS WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT.

Special to The Citizen.
Socorro, N. M., June 11.—The river is reported as rising, but not out of its banks. There has been eighteen hours of steady rain here, with a large volume of water in the tributary streams. No damage reported as yet.

ARROYO PECOS.

Temporary Bridge Constructed and Trains Pasing.

Special to The Citizen.
East Las Vegas, N. M., June 11.—The temporary bridge over the Arroyo Pecos was completed at 11:30 this morning and the blocked trains are passing north. Heavy losses on the owners of stock and the crops are reported from the flooded districts of the river, but the danger has now passed. No lives are known to have been lost.

The directors of the Las Vegas & Hot Springs Railway company, in session here today, decided to give the west side three miles of track. It will cross the river at the sanitarium, just above town, and circle the plaza. The work will commence at once and they will also inaugurate a lighting system.

SANTA FE.

From the New Mexican.

Mrs. C. C. Green, of Cerrillos, who has been in the city the guest of friends the past few days, departed for her home this morning.

George B. Brady, manager of the Truchas Lumber company, which is operating a saw mill on the Francisco Montez y Vigil land grant, is in the city from Truchas on business.

Miss Clara L. Foster, of Las Cruces, Miss Mary Waters, of Bozeman, Mont., and Lansing B. Bloom, of Auburn, N.

Y., who have been in Santa Fe guests of Miss Maude E. McFie, departed for their respective homes.

Sheriff Alexander Read, of Rio Arriba county, arrived in the capital. He reports the arrest of Eusebio Marcus, who was indicted by the April territorial grand jury for Rio Arriba county on a charge of grand larceny. The prisoner furnished bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of court.

In the case of Abendroth & Rott Manufacturing company vs. the Copper Hill Mining company and J. E. Wooley, trustee, Judge McFie signed judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $755.49, with attorney's fees of $755.14. This was a mechanic's lien case brought for the value of pipe furnished by the plaintiff, to Rhoades Bros., contractors, for the defendant company, and which has been litigated for a long time in the district court for Taos county. A. R. Rencan represented the plaintiff, and N. B. Laughlin appeared for the defendants.

Charles Dyer, of Chicago, is a visitor in this city. He has connected with a firm that manufactures a new dump car for railroad construction work and is here on business for his company. Mr. Dyer will be pleasantly and well remembered by many citizens of Santa Fe. He was connected with Santa Fe system as division superintendent with headquarters at Las Vegas and as general manager of the western division. For several years he was manager of the Colorado & Southern railroad with headquarters at Denver. He is vice president of the National Coal Dump Car company.

MEXICAN CHILDREN BARRED.

Can No Longer Attend Indian Schools—Equipment for National Guard of Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico.

A special dispatch from Washington, dated June 9, says:

Upon advice from Supervisor of Schools A. O. Wright, the Indian office today ordered the superintendent of the Indian school at Albuquerque, N. M., to send back to their homes eighty-five Mexican children who were being educated at government expense and put into the school fifty full-blooded Indians. At the assembling of the Albuquerque school next season it is expected that there will be 300 pupils enrolled, and by that time all children not full-blooded Indians, or at least half-breeds, will be turned out.

The department has determined to eject from all Indian schools all children not properly classified as Indians, but some difficulty has been experienced, particularly in the southwest, where there is such a general intermixture of Indians and Mexicans. The Indian commissioner holds that appropriations for the education of Indian children excludes all other nationalities, and he will vigorously enforce the law. Supervisor Wright will carry this work of elimination into the Indian schools of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

The secretary of war today notified the adjutant general of the national guard of Colorado and Wyoming that $6,372 had been set aside for the equipment of the militia of those states, and $5,516 for New Mexico. This is not the full extent of the allotment, but a preliminary apportionment made for immediate use.

To San Francisco in August.

It now looks as though there would be a heavy passenger traffic for the Grand Army of the Republic national encampment at San Francisco, August 17 to 22. Low rates have been authorized and all the transcontinental lines are strongly competing for the business. The Santa Fe has issued a handsome folder, which shows that a summer trip to California through New Mexico and Arizona will be cool and pleasant, owing to the high altitude and the large forest area. California itself, along the seashore and up in the mountains, is an ideal place for a summer outing. In San Francisco the thermometer rarely indicates more than 75 degrees at midday in July.

Cattle Sales.

W. H. Greer of this city purchased last week for the Victoria Land & Cattle company 1,000 head of steers from T. L. & J. Stockton and 1,000 head of Martin & Sloan, 1,000 head of M. F. Fleming, and 600 of Mullen & Whitmore, all for fall delivery at Deming. Other large purchases are being made and there is a great activity in all branches of the cattle trade. The early rains are making an unusual growth of range grass and the hay crop will doubtless be the heaviest we have had in years, thus adding to the prosperity of the cattlemen and community.—Deming Headlight.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

BY AN OBSERVER

Special Correspondence.

Deming, N. M., June 9.—I have read with great interest in the June number of the Review of Reviews the series of articles entitled "New Hopes for Consumptives," and I note that none of the able contributions seem to understand the real nature and character of the arid west, and its great advantages in the relief and cure of consumptives and I have thought that it might be of interest to your thousands of intelligent readers to know something of this wonderful life saving climate, and the practical results which I have observed for the last twenty years. I also notice that there is considerable being said in the popular magazines and other periodicals about a national sanitarium for consumptives, and I have also thought it would be an item of important news to your readers to learn that such an institution was about to be established in southwestern New Mexico, hence I will give you a condensed outline of the pains and purposes of this semi-national colony and sanitarium for the treatment and cure of this terrible disease, and which is fully set out in literature mailed to you this day under separate cover. The official reports of the government military sanitarium, located at Fort Bayard, fifty miles north of this place will fully verify all I claim in this article. This government institution is doing a great work and curing a large percentage of all the military patients sent there; but it is only the soldiers and sailors that are benefitted; no civilians being allowed. The national colony and sanitarium for consumptives have organized their association upon the same basis and plans of the government sanitarium, but upon an immense scale, where they can care for this class of sufferers by the thousands and tens of thousands. This institution is located in the beautiful Mimbres valley, surrounded by small picturesque mountains, with an altitude of forty-three hundred feet, a mild even climate, average temperature of 52, bright sunshine 320 days in the year, cool, pleasant nights all the year round; pure, dry air, and an underground river of pure water which can be tapped at from twenty to fifty feet depth, anywhere in this valley within fifty miles square, and sufficient water obtained cheaply for all domestic purposes, as well as for the irrigation of any small plots of ground for gardens, lawns, vineyards, orchards, etc. The average rainfall is only 11½ inches per annum; so, upon the whole, it is an ideal home for consumptives.

1. Because the people here are not prejudiced against others coming. On the contrary, they welcome them.
2. The disease never spreads in this climate, and physicians and nurses are never infected by coming in contact with it.
3. The disease can be treated and cured here far more economically than in any of the eastern states.
4. A very large percentage are cured, but in order to keep well, must remain here, and it is safe to say that they can do as well for themselves here, and become as nearly self-supporting as anywhere else in the United States.
5. By removing your consumptives from their eastern homes, you not only save their lives, but avoid the spread of the disease in your own homes.
6. It is far less expensive for the eastern states to send their consumptives here than it is to take care of them at home.

Results Compared.
Dr. Bigg's report of the Blackwell's Island sanitarium for consumptives seems to indicate this as one of the most popular eastern places for the treatment of this disease. This report shows patients received for the current year, 1,431, and only twenty-seven absolute cures out of this great number, whereas it shows 394 deaths, thirty-seven sent to other hospitals, and sixty-seven sent home not benefited. It is true that they claim to have improved 480, but where the disease is not absolutely arrested the improvement is of short duration. After disposing of the above numbers, showing 1,007 of the 1,431, there are still left 424 patients not accounted for, and who were probably sent home to die. However, taking the figures as we find them, the results show in percentage as follows: Permanent cures, about 2 per cent; improved, 33 per cent; deaths, 28 per cent; sent to other hospitals, 3 per cent; sent home for other causes, 6 per cent; not accounted for but presumably sent home to die, 28 per cent; whereas, the average results in this arid country, are over 50 per cent permanently cured, and over 30 per cent where the disease has been arrested and the patients live many years, leaving less than 20 per cent of deaths, and many of the latter cases have had their lives prolonged. This statement may be doubted by many, but I am sure the results of the treatment of this disease by the government and other reputable institutions will bear out its truth.

According to Dr. Bigg's report, the loss in New York alone in expense, directly or indirectly attributable to this disease, is $23,000,000 annually, and to the whole country $350,000,000. Now, if one-quarter of this immense sum of money could be properly expended in the arid west for the same purpose, it would give four fold better results than is accomplished by the whole $350,000,000 expended, as now, in the low altitudes, and the country would be relieved of a large portion of this heavy burden. I also note in the articles of the Review of Reviews and other popular magazines that great numbers of private and public sanitariums for the care and treatment of this disease are being founded in various parts of the United States, and that millions of dollars are being expended in the erection of these palatial institutions which, in the great majority of cases, only provides for the care of fifty to three hundred patients, and are so expensive that only the wealthy few can be benefitted by them, while the average sufferer and the poor are entirely excluded. The national colony and sanitarium for consumptives will charge a reasonable sum for those who are able to pay, less for those less able, and provide free treatment for those unable to pay at all. All the money taken in from paying patients will go directly into the treasury of the association for the benefit of those who are unable to pay, this association being wholly benevolent and philanthropic in its character. None of its officers or promoters receive any compensation for their services, and can in no way make any profit out of the institution.

The only salaries paid will be those of the superintendent, physicians, nurses and others actually employed in the work. The charter absolutely prohibits any debts, and the money must be in the treasury to meet all expenses before they are incurred, hence it will be impossible for the institution to become encumbered with debt or fail. It is now a conceded point by all great authorities upon this subject, that climatic conditions such as those existing here, are almost imperative for the successful treatment and cure of this terrible scourge of the human race. I also note that out door tent life is highly recommended by many able authorities. In this connection I wish to say that I have seen nearly every part of the United States, much of Europe, the West Indies, Canada and Mexico, and I know of no location anywhere in the world better adapted to out door or tent life than southwest New Mexico. We can live here all the year round in tents in comparative comfort, and at least nine months of the year very pleasantly. The only unpleasant time is a part of the three spring months—March, April and May—during which time we have more or less wind and dust. It is a part of the plan of this association to supply tents by the thousands for their out door patients at once, to be followed by substantial buildings, cottages, etc., as fast as funds will permit. The literature mailed herewith and the able address of Dr. W. H. Mayfield of the Mayfield sanitarium and the Hon. James R. Waddill, ex-congressman of Missouri, and president of the association, treat the subject most exhaustively.

DISTRICT COURT.

Suit Against Bluewater Land and Irrigation Company.

WATER RIGHTS CASE.

The March term of the district court was resumed this morning with Judge Baker on the bench.

The case of Ernest Tiegens and J. A. Nelson vs. the Bluewater Land and Irrigation company was commenced before a jury, which is composed of business men of the new town. Several who were served ignored the court's summons, and left the city, for whom bench warrants were ordered to issue. A number of those remaining begged off; those getting away were M. P. Stamm and a deaf man. Hon. W. B. Childers and E. W. Dobson appeared for plaintiffs and E. W. Dobson and L. L. Henry for the defendants. A preliminary demurrer to the defendants' answer was submitted and sustained, and the cause proceeded to trial. The action is based upon an alleged contract whereby it is said the defendant company sold and delivered to plaintiffs 340 acres of land with perpetual water rights, and plaintiffs allege that the defendants appropriated all the available water to themselves and failed to carry out their obligations, owing the plaintiffs under the contract. The plaintiffs objected to a counter claim pleaded by defendants, on the ground that it was not under the statute of limitations, but the court held the counter claim properly pleaded. Defendants also pleaded an equitable defense on the ground that the contract sued on was not the real contract between the parties, but that it should be reformed to conform to the fact, which would save defendants from liability; which defense was not permitted to be pleaded; and the cause proceeded to trial upon the pleadings as amended. Ernest A. Tiegens was the first witness called, and the first evidence to be introduced was the contract sued on to which defendants objected that it showed a several liability and not a joint one as in variance with the contract. The plaintiffs then asked for a judgment in their favor on one of the plaintiffs and to proceed with the case as to Tiegens alone, and the court granted time until 1:30 p. m. to prepare such amendment, to which the defense moved to ask leave to be heard.

Ladies and Children Invited.
All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not grip, weaken or sicken; many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Lafayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while De Witt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by B. H. Briggs & Co. and S. Vann & Son.

Las Vegas Closed on Sundays.
People coming in from Las Vegas report the town closed tight on Sundays. The strict observance of the Sunday law appears to be due to the fact that recently two county officials became involved in a dispute with a saloon keeper over the price of some drinks and the end of the matter was that the grand jury now in session took the matter in hand and has had everything closed on Sunday. One man said that he wanted to buy a collar in one of the local stores there, but that the proprietor refused to let him have it as he said every place of business was being closely watched and he was afraid to take chances.

INJURED MARE.

Fine Riding Animal of Sheriff Hubbell Broke a Leg.

A fine bay mare, a recent purchase of Sheriff T. S. Hubbell, valued at $250 became unmanageable on Railroad avenue near the Bittner produce house Saturday evening and ran away, breaking one foot, rendering her practically useless. The mare is rather vicious and has on different occasions caused considerable trouble.

Saturday evening at the place specified she threw her rider, a native employee of Sheriff Hubbell, and ran across the street, jumping one of Bittner's transfer wagons. She got over pretty well with her fore feet, but she caught the edge of the wagon with her hind feet, fracturing the bone of the hock joint. The mare ran home on three legs, and, regardless of being handicapped by the broken leg, made pretty good time.

The injured limb was placed in a plaster of paris jacket, and it is thought that it will mend almost as good as before it was hurt.

His Last Hope Realized.

From the sentinel, Gebro, Mont.
In the first opening of Oakland to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much hard water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the case was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

Beet Sugar Colony.

The prospects of the Elmerdorf beet sugar colony assuming definite shape before the close of the present year, the absolute certainty of an appropriation by the government for a reservoir site near town in the no far distant future, and the encouraging outlook for the reclamation of a vast body of land out on the Jornada, are important factors in the present cheerful condition of things in the building line in San Marcial. —Bee.

Pontoon Bridge Washed Away.

Topeka, Kas., June 8.—The pontoon bridge connecting North Topeka with the north approach of the big Melan bridge, which latter spans the river connecting both parts of town, went at 1 o'clock today. This severs all connection with the north side save by boat and it is not thought that it will be possible to repair the damage before Wednesday. This will result in great hardship to the people in North Topeka, and all the boats sent here from the outside have been taken away.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonsville, Va., serves as example. He writes as follows: "I had bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all lung and throat troubles, consumption, pneumonia and grip. City Marshal McMillan received a dispatch this morning from Raton stating that the police there believe they have the "El Paso Kid," who is wanted here. The "El Paso Kid." The colored youth that the Raton police have has on the clothes, shoes and hat that the "Kid" had on when he took French leave from Albuquerque. Deputy Sheriff Newcomer will leave this evening for Raton. The telegram to the city marshal does not state whether any jewelry was found on him or not. A reward of $50 is offered for the return of the "Kid."

Clute, the deputy inchoone of the order, will probably be here tomorrow to meet with the new membership, and when the institution of the lodge is had here, Bisbee's famous sixteen will come over to assist in the degree work. DISPLAYED NERVE.

Mesdames Greer and Thurmond of Deming in a Buggy Wreck.

Mrs. W. H. Greer and Mrs. Frank Thurmond came near having a serious accident on Gold avenue that was happily averted by a display of coolness and nerve that is seldom witnessed, even in men. The ladies mentioned were taking a drive behind Mrs. Greer's fine colt, when the youngster took it into his head to want to go wrong, and to set him aright Mrs. Greer gave him a rap with the whip. His coltslip resented by trying to get into the buggy over the dashboard, which gave away, the harness breaking at the same time, so that in another moment the colt would have been free from the vehicle. The ladies kept their seats, and Mrs. Greer handled the colt like a veteran, while he reared and plunged in good style. Some men got hold of the horse and after quieting him the outfit was taken to Nordham's where it was repaired, and the ladies, against the advice of the bystanders, resumed their seats in the carriage and went on with their drive as if nothing had happened.—Deming Headlight.

Thirty-eight roads show increases and six decreases. Since July 1 the roads referred to above earned $416,758,826, an increase of $41,036,900 over the $375,721,926 reported for the corresponding period last year. The Citizen's Interview With T. J. Shinick Credited to New York Press.

When President Roosevelt was here on May 5, The Citizen interviewed T. J. Shinick on the early life of the president at Oyster Bay, N. Y., as Mr. Shinick was well acquainted with the chief magistrate when he played baseball and umpired games on the bottoms of that precinct.

That article is now going the rounds credited to the New York Press, and to cap the climax the Press makes it appear that Mr. Shinick was in Peacock alley at the Waldorf, New York, when he recalled some of the president's boyhood days at Oyster Bay.

The Press also tries to make some people believe, in the stolen article, that Mr. Shinick is a resident of Washington, D. C., when Shinick has resided in this city for twenty-two years, and has not been back east for many years; in fact, since he captured the heart and hand of a young lady of New York City, the present Mrs. T. J. Shinick.

Outside of the first paragraph, introducing the stolen article, every line of the interview credited to the New York Press was original with The Citizen, and first appeared in these columns on May 5.

The young man came here several weeks ago from Cleveland, Ohio, and got work. On the night he disappeared he drew his money and said he would be back later to work. Two telegrams were received here yesterday from his mother in San Francisco, and the police have taken the matter up. The young man so far as is known had no bad habits.

CATTLE CRUELTY.

Reported From Fort Cummings—The Dumb Animals Maltreated.

From the most reliable source the Deming Headlight is informed that acts of brutality, and what would seem to be beyond the measure of man to perform, has been lately indulged in by some party or parties at Fort Cummings, about twenty-five miles north of Deming.

Cattle are being cut, and horns knocked off, their skulls crushed and they are left to wander off to suffer from the blow flies and screw worms, until death puts an end to their sufferings.

James Phillips, a prominent cattleman of that section, has already found some sixteen or eighteen head of his cattle that has thus been treated. Thomas Haly, whose word is as

AT MESILLA PARK.

Closing of a Very Successful Year for Agricultural College.

INTERESTING PROGRAM CONDENSED.

Special Correspondence.

Mesilla Park, June 4.—The commencement ball given last night and which proved to be a most enjoyable affair closed the events of the commencement week for the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts of this place. The week has been a very successful one, all of the exercises being well attended and many of the alumni and old students having returned from different parts.

The week was started by Mrs. Horning's reception to the seniors on last Saturday evening. Sunday morning came the baccalaureate sermon and was delivered by Rev. William E. Fry of Las Cruces. The subject of his discourse was "What Is Life?"

The competitive drill was held Monday morning between the various squads and privates. The medal for the best drilled private fell to Homer Neal; the medal for the best drilled squad went to Corporal Bouts. The competitive drill between the companies will occur early next fall. The medals awarded are handsomely engraved gold medals and suitably inscribed.

Tuesday was inspection of the college and all departments were open. The board of regents met in quarterly session to consider the recommendations of the faculty for the conferring of degrees upon the senior class. Professor Hare, now first assistant in the mechanical department, was elected to fill the chair recently made vacant by the resignation of Professor Goss. Charles Post was made first assistant, taking the place made vacant by Professor Hare. The position of professor of English was declared vacant on account of the resignation of Miss Edith Davis. Her successor was not finally acted upon.

Miss Davis has been with the college the past two years and she has done splendid work in building up her department, and it is with regret that she leaves here. Her future home will be in Topeka, Kan.

The allotment of the college printing was given the attention of the board and was awarded to the New Mexican Printing company of Santa Fe for the coming year.

The alumni banquet was given at the dormitory Tuesday evening, and a large number were in attendance. The dining room of the dormitory was neatly decorated with potted plants from the college conservatory, and the people were seated at a large horseshoe-shaped table. Addresses were made by President Foster of the college, President Williams of the Alumni Association, Fannie French and Stanley McGregor of last year's class gave roasts to the class of 1903, and Miss Ina Nelson responded in behalf of the class. J. D. Tinsley gave a talk on "Alumni." Oscar C. Snow read a paper on "Duties of Membership," and Judge J. R. McElie of Santa Fe also delivered an address and presented, for the association, a gift from Theron Bennett, one of last year's class.

The officers for the coming year are: President, George M. Williams; first vice president, Frances French; second vice president, I. H. Stanley; secretary, Elizabeth C. Foster; treasurer, Charles L. Post.

The regular commencement program was arranged for Wednesday forenoon. Owing to the irregularity of the train, Rev. Mr. Moore of Santa Fe, who was to give the address was unable to arrive in time for the exercises. The graduates, four in number, read extracts and abstracts of their theses. Miss Ina Nelson's theses was on the "Minerals of the Little Mining Region"; Miss Fannie Ford's work was along the line of the birds of New Mexico; Orrick B. Metcalf gave a resume of his work on the flora of the Mesilla valley. Miss Maud E. McElie read extracts from her thesis which was on the "History of Mesilla Valley." All the theses this year have been of great value and were particularly interesting and well put together. All of them were started more than a year ago and the long and careful work has resulted in adding to the store of the college library.

The commencement ball at the rink in Las Cruces closed the most successful year in the history of the college.

Native People Improving.

The citizens of Old Albuquerque held a mass meeting Saturday night for the purpose of denouncing the Rev. Norman Skinner of Las Vegas, who, it is claimed, vilified the native people of New Mexico and their system of public schools at a meeting of Presbyterian ministers held a few days ago in Los Angeles, says the Gallup Republican. The native people are entitled to much praise for the great strides they have made in the way of education and good citizenship, and we do not blame them for being indignant at such slanderous remarks as that Reverend Skinner is reported to have made.

A PLUCKY WOMAN.

She Defends Her Home from Robbers With a Winchester.

Higgins Garcia, who resides at La Lendre, San Miguel county, received a sum of money in a transaction there a few days ago and left the same day for Las Vegas to deposit the same, and remained over night. His wife, who was left alone in the house that night, was disturbed by two men who demanded admittance and who upon being refused broke down the door and entered. However, they were up against it, as the plucky woman grabbed a Winchester rifle and began to pump lead at the miscreants, which had the effect of changing their views on the subject and made them very anxious to shake the dust of that locality from their feet as speedily as possible, which they did in the most approved style.

The identity of the men is unknown, but it is very probable that they were aware that Mr. Garcia had received a sum of money that day, as he was away from home, and imagined that they could easily obtain the same by frightening the woman, with the result above stated, which was evidently not to their liking.

ALUMNI BANQUET.

Happy One for University of New Mexico, Alumni, Graduates, Faculty and Guests.

INTERESTING PROGRAM.

The annual banquet of the alumni of the University of New Mexico was held in Recital hall last evening, and notwithstanding the inclement weather, every one who had the right to be there was there. These occasions are always of an enjoyable nature, and bring back pleasant memories of days gone by that help to cement and keep together the bond of friendship that should ever exist between the men and women who have graduated from the University of New Mexico.

Seated around the handsomely decorated tables, besides the alumni, graduates and faculty, were Rev. and Mrs. W. J. March, Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Beattie and Dr. and Mrs. Hope, members of the board of regents and Dr. Arthur Allen of the University of Colorado, who delivered the clever and very interesting and instructive commencement address Thursday evening. The splendid menu that was discussed by the inner man was of a very complimentary nature to the ladies of the Congregational church, who had prepared it. It is needless to say all done ample justice to the food, and it is needless to add that the food will do ample justice to all.

Dean Charles E. Holden of the faculty was at the helm and directed to the capacity of toastmaster to the queen's taste. Mrs. De Wolf and Mr. McKenna opened with a harp and piano duet and gave several other pleasing selections during the evening.

Miss Mabel Hunt told some of her views on "cranks." She says they are an underestimated class of people, for some of the greatest characters of history were at one time considered cranks. Professor Ticht said the ideal student always looks upon the bright side of life and is obedient to authority and in love with his work and play; that he is active in every line of college work and has faith in his own ability and is a gentleman at all times.

"The Campus" history was made interesting by Miss Huggert, and E. V. Chavez told about the history of education in New Mexico. Miss Parsons was funny with "Old Jokes" and many were repeated. She was followed by Professor Epphouse, who told the alumni what sort of a relative they should bear to their alma mater. The professor's talk was heartily applauded.

Dr. Allen spoke on the importance of our university in the fulfilling of the destiny of this great territory, and depicted in glowing terms what he firmly believed to be the not far distant future of New Mexico, and the great university which is to play so important a part in the upbuilding and advancement of the commonwealth. The doctor's remarks were listened to with marked attention.

The alumni banquet of 1903 was a success, and thus the year 1903 closes with marked progress in every way in the University of New Mexico over the preceding one.

Next fall we predict the largest freshman class in the history of the university.

At the Church of the Immaculate Conception there will be mass at 5:30 every Sunday during the months of June, July and August.

Passenger trains from the east continue to arrive in a very irregular manner. Two trains arrived during the night and this morning. No. 1 of tonight will arrive about six hours late. No. 7 has been annulled. No. 8 from the west is reported to arrive on time. A special, running on the time of No. 4, which train was taken off June 4, will pass through the city about 12 o'clock. It will carry passengers.

Hon. E. A. Miera, the well known and popular republican politician of Sandoval county, is in the city today. He is a member of the board of commissioners of that county, a general merchant of Cuba, and one of the most successful sheep raisers of central New Mexico. He has just returned from one of his several sheep ranges, and reports his lambing first class. The shearing of his immense flocks is now in progress.

TAOS COUNTY NOTES.

Mrs. E. I. Couse Thrown from a Burro and Her Arm Broken.

E. I. Couse, wife and son, of New York City, arrived in Taos a few days ago and will spend the summer there. They were at Taos for several months last year. Mr. Couse is a well known artist of New York City and while at Taos last summer, painted a number of Indian pictures, one of which won the $500 prize at the Art Exhibition in New York. He will devote the summer to his art.

Mrs. Couse, wife of the artist, met with a serious accident the other morning. She fell backwards from a burro she was riding and dislocated her right elbow and fractured the humerus. She was alone and about a mile from town. Though suffering intensely, she walked to town, to the residence of Bert Phillips where she told of her accident. Dr. Martin was summoned and reduced the dislocation and fracture. A few hours later Mrs.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and stings and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, and does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Couse was able to be moved to her rooms at Ranchitos where she is now resting easily.

CHILDERS AGAIN CAUGHT.

Deming Man Who Has Often Been "Pulled" by Officers.

J. W. Childers, Jr., who sprang into notoriety last year as the slayer of Attorney Tom Hoffin, at Silver City, New Mexico, was arrested in this city last night as a fugitive from justice and will be conveyed to Deming to be tried on the charge of attempting to murder a former resident of that place, says the El Paso News.

Childers was tried at Las Cruces for the murder of Hoffin and acquitted, but soon afterwards went to Deming, where he became involved in a drunken fight, during the progress of which a man was struck over the head with a six-shooter, receiving wounds which were at first thought to be fatal, but which afterwards proved to be trivial.

After the fight Childers fled to Mexico, but the grand jury at Deming returned three indictments against him and he was arrested at Palomas by ex-Sheriff Baca. After being in jail several days, it was decided that he could not be extradited and he was released. Since then he had remained in Mexico, but returned to El Paso yesterday en route to his home at Midland.

His presence in this city soon became known and last night he was taken into custody by Captain Will Davis on the charge of being a fugitive from justice and held at the city jail. He is confined there at present awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Foster of Deming, who will convey him to New Mexico, where he will be held to answer three indictments.

It is stated, however, that the man who was wounded by Childers has left Deming for parts unknown and it will be a difficult matter to make out a case against the defendant, and, under the circumstances, he may not be convicted.

Sheriff Foster is expected to arrive today to get the prisoner. Childers was defended during the recent murder trial by Judge Hamilton and that attorney called on him at the jail this morning. Ex-Sheriff Baca, now a cat "Inspector at Deming was also a visitor.

HUMOR THAT NEVER DIES.

Authentic Instances of "Modern" Jokes that Are 2,000 Years Old.

Plutarch was the father of the mother in law joke, he told this: "A man, angry at a dog, picked up a stone and threw it at the animal. He missed the dog and happened to hit his mother in law, who was standing near, whereupon he turned to the bystanders and remarked: 'Not so bad after all!'"

That good one you heard the other night was by Cicero. When he heard Fabia, a prominent woman of fashion say she was thirty years old, he slyly remarked, "That's true, for I've heard her say it for the last twenty years."

A Greek epigram tells of an ungrounded scandal in the fashion, "Some say, Nicylla, that you dye your hair. What nonsense! Why, it's as black as can be bought in the market."

The Chaldeans were the first to say rude things about wives. A recently read tablet of hieroglyphs discloses this thusly: "A wanderer from some remote province asked a distinguished looking man at a great feast given by the king who a certain homely looking woman was. 'That,' said the distinguished looking man, 'is my sister.' 'Oh, no,' put in the stranger hastily and in great confusion, 'I mean that hideous looking creature standing next to her.' 'That,' said the Chaldean, 'is my wife.'"

Socrates, who doubtless had reason for thinking as he did, on account of his shrewish wife, Xantippe, used to say when he was asked whether it was better to marry or not: "Which ever you do, you will regret it." Thence the flood of imitations.

Everybody knows the modern version of this: A man agreed to pay his doctor a fee if the latter cured him. His wife remonstrated with him for drinking heavily when in a high fever. He exclaimed: "What, do you want me to get well and have to pay the doctor his fee?" That is by an old Greek writer. Cervantes wasn't the first to josh doctors. You can find this in an old Greek joke book. Pausanias, the Spartan general, who asked why he spoke evil of a doctor who he had never consulted, said: "If I had consulted him I shouldn't now be speaking either good or evil about anybody."

Before the day of Dutch comedy this was told in Greece by Hierocles: A fool, meeting one of twins, the death of one of whom he had heard of, asked, "Was it you that died, or your brother?"—New York World.

RANCH IN GRAND CANYON.

A Rich Arizona Pasture in a Chasm of This Wonderful Gorge.

AN INTERESTING SUBJECT.

Opposite the point on which President Roosevelt stood to view the wonderful chasm of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado is a ranch that would hold delight for the head of the nation because of the wonders it could unfold. It is given up only to horses and cattle and cowboys, save for the few travelers who pass from Utah to Arizona or the other way, and the post rider, who crosses it twice a week on probably the loneliest post route in the country.

It is a natural inclosure about seventy-five miles long and fifty miles wide at its widest point, on which the Kaibab Cattle company feeds its thousands of cattle and horses and bids defiance to the sheep owners who would invade its rich pasturage of sage brush and prairie grass, says a Flagstaff, Ariz., correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger. Nobody can dispute the possession of the cattle company, although it owns at best less than 1,000 acres of all this domain. In that 1,000 acres, however, is all the water that can be obtained in the whole stretch of what is known as the House Rock valley.

Except in the winter, when the snow is on the ground, and the cattle and horses lick it up for their supply of water, and in the spring, when the snow melts and torrents rush through the valley to empty into the Colorado, there are only five watering places.

Lesson in the Conservation of Water.
A little spring, whose water is carried to big tanks that store up every drop of the precious fluid, is at House Rock, the company's station at the entrance to the valley on the wagon road. Fifteen miles further on is another spring that yields no more, and there are again the big tanks and the big corral surrounding them to keep out all intruders. Fifteen miles further is a stream called Soap creek, because its water is whitish with alkali—but it is only of the breadth of the span of a man's two hands, and the company controls the land through which it flows as it empties out of the mountains and then dives into a deep "box" canyon. Two other springs lie down the valley, and around them are the company's fences and the tanks to take all they supply.

There is a great lesson in the conservation of water to be learned from the company's efforts at these springs. The one at House Rock is merely a little trickling, dropping stream that comes out of the face of the cliff. There is scarcely volume enough to fill the half-inch pipe that carries it to the great tanks. Yet in the summer, when the streams out in the valley have dried up, 1,500 head of cattle and 500 head of horses find plenty to slake their thirst from this meager supply.

In the valley itself nature shows many caprices. It is inclosed on its three sides between the Buckskin mountains, another great range of sandstone mountains that extends far up into Utah and the Canyon of the Colorado. Across the Colorado the valley seems to extend far away, but, although to one who does not know it seems like an unbroken plain, the land on the other side of the big canyon is called by another name.

House Rock valley slopes east from the Bright Angel cliffs that overlook the Colorado canyon. The Colorado flows west, it breaks out of the sandstone cliffs—through which it flows from its beginning at the point where the Grand and Green river unite in Utah—and after flowing along the level for about a mile it begins to burrow into the harder formation of the Buckskin. After leaving the sandstone its first canyon has walls of beautiful marble in varied colors, terraced and buttressed and as the river goes deeper and deeper it exposes wondrous formations of stone that would furnish life work for a geologist.

In like fashion the valley is cut through Little Soap creek flows out from a great canyon cut in the sandstone, with beetling walls rising for hundreds of feet, in shapes that remind one of great castles. As soon as it reaches the valley it begins to delve to the level of the Colorado. It crosses the wagon road that gives the passage way from Utah to Arizona, and then suddenly jumps over a cliff fifty feet down. A little further it falls over another cliff and half a mile from the sandstone it is so deep in the marble that the stream cannot be distinguished except when the sun is right above the canyon.

Story of a Stranger Who Lost His Way.
These "box" canyons cut the plain in every direction. Every stream that gets life in the spring from the melting of the snows has one of them. The trails and roads used by the cowboys wind far out of their way to find the places to cross them.

The story is told of a stranger who started one day to cross the valley from one of the company's posts to another. He could see his destination in the distance, and he remarked that the wagon road led around by a circuitous route. He thought he would ride as the cowboys. He happened to keep within the canyons in doing so, but when he was within half a mile of the other post he came to a canyon cut in the plain. He looked down and found it was hundreds of feet deep. He rode along to find a crossing place, and

WON'T STAND CUT.

Arizona Miners Walk Out When Employers Attempt to Reduce Wages.

NEW SCALE SHOULD BE ADOPTED.

A telegram from Phoenix, Ariz., dated June 3, says:

Several thousand miners are idle in Arizona because of attempts to reduce the wage scale by mine operators as a result of the eight-hour law, which became effective on June 1. Thirty-five hundred men are out on strike at Clifton and serious labor troubles are brewing at Jerome and other camps. The eight-hour law has caused no disturbance at Bisbee, where the eight-hour day was adopted years ago. At Tombstone the eight-hour law went into effect without friction, and there was no reduction of wages, though the customary day hitherto consisted of ten hours. At Clifton and Morenci the operators held a conference, following which they offered to the miners nine hours' pay according to the prevailing scale for eight hours' work in the future, declaring that they were operating on a margin of profit which would admit of no greater concession. The miners, acting under instructions of the federation, refused to accept the overtures and went out on strike. The companies, however, anticipated this move and closed down all their works as soon as it was ascertained that their proffered concessions met with disapproval and all hands have been idle since Monday. Clifton and Morenci were ten-hour camps. The principal companies affected there are the Arizona Copper company and the Detroit Copper company, two of the leading copper producers of the west. The Shannon Copper company in that district lets it work by contract and probably is unaffected. In northern Arizona several mines have closed down and the men are locked out. Branch unions of the Western Federation have plastered the district with notices warning men from working at any of the mines closed down until the trouble with the men locked out is adjusted, although the operators declare they have discontinued operations for other reasons than the new law.

Davis-LaRue Marriage.

On Thursday at noon Miss Mary R. LaRue of Las Vegas was married to Stephen B. Davis, Jr., at the home of the bride's parents in Las Vegas, the Rev. Mr. French officiating. The wedding was to have taken place on the 24th of this month, but the time was changed, as Mr. Davis has very important business to attend to early in July, which had the marriage taken place at the latter date, would have prevented a wedding tour. The ceremony was entirely private and there were only the members of the LaRue family and Governor and Mrs. Otero and son Miguel present. The newly married couple left on the early afternoon train for Denver for a wedding trip.

GALLUP MEMORIAL.

The exercises last Sunday were carried out according to the program which was published last week, and the crowd of people who turned out to do honor to the departed would have been a credit to a much larger town than Gallup. The Monsera band, Odd Fellows, Italian society, Knights of Pythias, Sons of Herman, Red Men, school children and citizens made a procession about a quarter of a mile long. Every one was supplied with beautiful flowers which were strewn on the graves at the cemetery after the services. Rev. George Leo Patterson led in prayer. Judge B. F. Adams of Albuquerque was the orator, who delivered an eloquent and manly address, which every one present seemed to thoroughly enjoy. Rev. Robert Hodgson made a few appropriate and timely remarks, and Rev. Seaborn closed the services with a prayer. A stop was made at the Catholic cemetery where the band played at the grave of John Doyle, one of their departed members. The day was ideal, and the program was carried out to the satisfaction of all.—Gallup Republican.

HATHAWAY AND ANDERSON.

Fred C. Hathaway, formerly of Albuquerque, Weds California Heiress. The forthcoming nuptials of Miss Ada L. Anderson to Fred C. Hathaway have just been announced to take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Prudence Anderson, 776 South Second street, San Jose, on Monday, June 8. Miss Anderson is a native daughter of this country and a charming young lady. She is the daughter of the late Neil Anderson, who was a prominent business man, from which she inherited a comfortable fortune. Mr. Hathaway, the prospective groom, is now in Portland, Ore., filling a responsible position with the New York Life Insurance company. A reception for the friends of the happy couple has been arranged from 2:30 to 4 p. m. on the day of the wedding.—San Jose, Cal., Mercury and Herald.

Fred Hathaway, the groom of this approaching marriage, was for nearly a year employed with the local office of the New York Life Insurance company and has a large number of friends and admirers in this city. He left here a few months ago to accept a position with the same company in Oregon. His friends here will read the above news with pleasure.

when he wound in and around the scores of smaller "box" canyons that branched out from it he finally found himself back to the wagon road which he had spurned.

The cattle company has taken advantage of this peculiar formation of the country to subdivide the valley into three big branches. A barbed wire fence of less than half a mile in length from the sandstone cliffs to the "box" canyon of Soap creek fifteen miles long on one side and ten miles on the other two sides. Another fence three miles long closes the gap to another and larger tract, while a third fence three miles long closes up the entire valley in the winter time, when the snow on the Buckskin mountains keeps the cattle from wandering up their slopes.

At the far end of the valley a trail leads down into the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. It was made by the first exploring party which went through years ago, but is now known only to the cowboys. Some of them have gone down it. Recently a prospector, who had heard that there were deposits of gold to be found along the trail, made the assay. He determined, however, that the greatest deposit of gold was not worth a second trip. While he was going down along the trail, which sometimes leads along the face of the cliffs and is so narrow that two men could not walk abreast, one of his horses stumbled and pitched in to the small canyon they were following, falling 500 feet to death.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEXT BOOKS.

Will Be Adopted by the Territorial Board of Education Next Week.

The territorial board of education meets in Santa Fe today in annual session. Some very important business will come before the board, and among this will be the adoption of text books for the public schools of the territory, city and county for the ensuing four years. The board consists of Governor M. A. Otero, Col. J. Frank Chavez, superintendent of public instruction; Brother Butolph, president of St. Michael's College of Santa Fe; Mrs. Maggie J. Bucher, superintendent of the city schools of Las Vegas; Prof. C. M. Light, president of the normal school at Silver City; President W. G. Ticht of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, and President Luther Foster of the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts at Mesilla Park. It is expected that every member of the board will be in attendance. School book publishing firms of Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and Topeka will be represented before the board.

Constipated Bowels.

To have good health, the body should be kept in a laxative condition, and the bowels moved at least once a day, so that all the poisonous wastes are expelled daily. Mr. G. L. Edwards, 142 N. Main st., Wichita, Kansas, writes: "I have used Herbine to regulate the liver and bowels for the past ten years, and found it a reliable remedy." 50 cents at J. H. O'Reilly & Co.

A Murderer Sentenced.

Judge McEwen sentenced Dolores Nolan to ten years in the territorial prison at Santa Fe for the murder of Sabina Leyla at Wagon Mound last year. Under the law she could have been sentenced from three years to life. Considering the crime the sentence passed was very lenient. Judge Long, as her attorney, made a strong plea for her, having in view the fact that the prisoner was a woman and there were extenuating circumstances. When asked if she had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon her, the woman replied in the negative. She received the sentence with-out visible emotion.—Las Vegas Advertiser.

SIXTEEN BRIDGES GONE.

One of the Big Items of Loss by Flood at Kansas City.

Estimates of the damage done by the flood are being reduced. At first they ranged from $10,000,000 up, but now they are all much below that figure. The greatest loss was of sixteen bridges across the Kansas river, all substantial structures. The Kansas City packing house plants did not suffer severely. The Cudahy and Schwarzchild & Sulzberger plants lost no fresh meats. The other packers were not so fortunate, but the buildings are all uninjured. At Armour's the fires were lighted late Friday afternoon. The wheat and flour in the mills and elevators was not injured, but 750 carloads of grain submerged on the tracks was ruined.

The railroads began to open cars Friday, but the greater part of the freight cars were still partially covered.

Small storekeepers in the flooded district were ruined and the losses on buildings are distributed among thousands of owners. No first class modern building has been ruined.

Secor County Finances.

County Treasurer H. G. Baca has forwarded to the territorial treasurer $3,850.13, which is the territory's 28 per cent of the total amount of taxes collected by him for the month of May. Also on Wednesday Mr. Baca sent to New York $800, the balance necessary to complete the payment of the $3,750 delinquent interest on the county bonds. This amount was left delinquent by Abram Abernethy and has now been paid out of taxes collected since he left the office of treasurer and collector.—Chieftain.

Miss Elizabeth Shimer, a teacher in the Agricultural College at Mesilla Park, is visiting her many friends in the metropolis. Miss Shimer was formerly a public school teacher here.

RIOT NEAR MORENCI.

Guard Disarmed by Strikers and Trouble Grows.

The strike situation is becoming more serious at Morenci, says a dispatch from Clifton, Arizona.

Today a guard was disarmed at Longfellow and the Longfellow incline closed down, preventing the transfer of ore from the mines to the plants.

The ground was surrounded by several hundred strikers and, on account of being alone, submitted to being disarmed.

The arms were afterwards returned to him. There are now fifty deputy marshals and ten rangers guarding the property at Morenci and Metcalf. As the strike goes on, the feeling of animosity between the officers and strikers grows more intense and it is feared that a clash cannot long be delayed. The governor was today requested by wire to send a company of national guards or company of regular troops to the scene with all possible speed and all mines and works have been shut down and the stores closed.

Blew Off His Head.

J. B. Jago, an old time Californian, blew the top of his head completely off Wednesday, with a Colt's revolver, at Yarnmouth, Arizona, where he was for years toll receiver on the road from the Cliff house to San Francisco. He has been engaged in mining and in business in Arizona, was wealthy, and no cause is known for the suicide.

AN UNHAPPY LIFE.

Rosario de Leyva wants a Divorce from Francisco Leyva.

Suit was filed in the first district court for Santa Fe county by attorney A. B. Renahan, counsel for Rosario de Leyva, versus Francisco Leyva, where in the plaintiff prays for a divorce and support of herself and five minor children. Plaintiff alleges that she was married to the defendant twelve years ago and that their married life was happy for the first four years, since which time her husband has abused, maltreated and slandered her. During the past few months he has grown worse, threatening to kill her, failed to support her or their children, and has slapped his wife several times. Defendant alleges that she and the children have been compelled to go to Mrs. Leyva's parents for something to eat.

W., who has been here working for the local lodge, and who has materially increased the membership was recently presented with a handsome Navajo blanket by the members of the lodge as a token of the appreciation of the work done by Mr. Burton. Mr. Burton leaves for Kingman, where he will institute a new lodge of A. O. U. W. and will then return to Williams.—Flagstaff Sun.

TAOS COUNTY CASES.

Arguments Heard by Judge McFie Involving the Rio de Costilla Grant.

Associate Justice John H. McFie of Santa Fe, sitting as judge of the first district for Taos county, heard argument Saturday in the case of the Defensive Association of the Land and Settlers of the Rio de Costilla vs. the United States Free Hold Land and Immigration company and others. The demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint as filed by the defendant was sustained, and the plaintiff given leave to file an amended complaint. This was a suit in ejectment by the defensive association for the possession of that portion of the Rio de Costilla grant that is in the territory, comprising about 223,000 acres. The attorneys for the defense were Abbott and Abbott of Santa Fe, and O. A. Larrazola of Las Vegas represented the plaintiff.

The case of the United States Free Hold Land and Immigration company vs. the Defensive Association of the Land and Settlers of the Rio de Costilla, involving the right to the possession of 8,000 acres of the Costilla grant for pasture purposes under lease, was also argued. The demurrer of the defendant was overruled and the injunction prayed for by the plaintiff was granted, forbidding any interference on the part of the defendants with the plaintiff's possessions. In this case Abbott & Abbott represented the plaintiff and Mr. Larrazola the defense.

Troutman Promoted.

Special Night Officer Troutman of the Santa Fe has just been appointed depot master at Albuquerque.

Officer Troutman has been in the employ of the Santa Fe for many years and has rendered very efficient service. It is due to his vigilance that box car robberies have been broken up in the Santa Fe yards and his appointment is regarded as a deserved promotion.

John Mershon, a former police officer of this city, has been appointed to succeed Officer Troutman. The change will take place about June 15.—El Paso Times.

MACHINERY PURCHASED.

Arizona-Colored Copper Belt and Gold Mining Company Will Begin Active Work.

Col. R. M. Force arrived in this city last evening from Denver, where he purchased for his company, the Arizona-Colored Copper Belt and Gold Mining company, forty tons of machinery to be installed at the company's property near Globe, Ariz., says the New Mexican. The machinery consists of one heavy steam hoist, 1,000 feet of steel cable, a 100 horse power boiler, a big pump, a large tank for water, pipes and all fixtures, etc., weighing about 80,000 pounds. With the hoist just purchased the company will be able to sink its big double compartment shaft to a depth of 1,000 feet. The company now has ample means to develop its property which will, with development, become one of the big paying mines of Arizona. This company owns seventeen mining claims, over 340 acres, and it is now believed that the property has already passed the experimental stage. The seventeen claims are within three miles of Globe, accessible by a level wagon road and are about the center of the great copper belt known to exist in the Globe mining district, which is one of the biggest, richest districts in the entire western country, and a great deal of money is now being invested in that district. Since the Old Dominion company encountered such large rich bodies of sulphide ore at true water level, heavy capital has been going into the district for the reason that the permanency of the sulphide ore zone has been established and makes copper mining a certainty there. The ores carry a high copper value, also gold and silver. One big, strong vein on the Arizona-Colored Copper Belt company has been found to carry tin and uranium, besides high values in copper, silver and gold. It is but a question of time now when this property will be a big mine and the company will, at the proper time, install a smelter to treat its own ores. While the machinery is in transit, Col. Force will remain with his family in this city.

EXTRADITION ORDERED.

Insurance Swindlers to Be Taken to Mexico.

El Paso, June 10.—Consul Mallen has received a warrant for the extradition of Richardson and Mason, who are wanted in Mexico for being implicated in an alleged swindle against the New York Life Insurance company and for alleged murder. The warrant was presented to the United States marshal yesterday and their extradition will follow within the next few days. Before they can be taken to Mexico several minor details will have to be arranged.

This makes the twenty-eighth extradition case that Consul Mallen has handled since he has been located at this point and three of them were considered very important cases. One of these was the extradition of Mrs. Geo. Rich, who is now serving a term of twelve years in the penitentiary at Chihuahua for killing her husband in Juarez several years ago. Another important case was the extradition of Dr. Harle, who was taken to Chihuahua several weeks ago, where he will stand trial for the same offense as that of Mason and Richardson.

A Crazy Man's Antics.

A crazy man was picked up near Drake, Arizona, by deputy No. 7 on Tuesday evening. He had first presented to the conductor of an east bound train of the day before a bogus ticket and was put off the train at Daguerre. He climbed on a good ticket train and presented a good ticket to Chihuahua. When east of Francisco he jumped through the window of the car and was picked up by the west bound train. Officers were summoned to the train by telegram and Constable J. L. Medina took the demented man to San Bernardino.—Needles Eye.

Survey for Line From Silver City to Phoenix.

W. W. Kimball of Arizona, now has a surveying party in the field working in the interests of the Santa Fe railroad. The route which he is surveying is up the Gila valley from Phoenix, by way of San Carlos, to the New Mexico line. This route the company had surveyed several years ago, but is now having the work done over, with a view, it is said, of building a line from a connection with the Santa Fe Silver City branch to Phoenix.

Pretty Girls in Demand.

Pretty girls were never in such demand as they are today, says a Boston advertising agent. "We need them to pose for photographs for almost every article that we advertise. If you are advertising a camera then you must have a pretty girl taking a picture. If you are advertising a shoe, you photograph a pretty girl daintily tripping across a muddy street on a rainy day. If you are advertising a corset, then you have a pretty girl to wear it. We have found that nothing catches and holds the eye of the public like a good clear photograph of a pretty girl.

OVER THE RIVER.

Sister Superior of the Convent of Loretto Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Very general will be the regret caused in Las Vegas by the announcement of the death of Sister Superior Augustine Heaven, says an exchange dated June 8. The good sister, returning a short time ago from a hard trip to Colorado, during which she was much exposed, was attacked by pneumonia.

In spite of the constant attendance of two physicians and the most devoted nursing, her system failed to overcome the disease. Last evening at 6 o'clock she died. Before her white spirit passed over the river, all the sacraments of the church were administered by Father Pouget, who happened to be at the opportune time. Father Gilbertson had left the convent only two hours before, there being then no thought of such sudden parting of body and spirit.

Sister Augustine was born in Marion county, Kentucky, July 11, 1848. When eighteen years of age she entered the convent of the Sisters of Loretto. In 1882 she was raised to superior rank. She held the office of Sister Superior at Parsons, Kas., at New Haven, Ky., at Cairo, Ill., at Kansas City, Mo., at Denver, Colorado Springs and Conejos, Colo. In 1898 she came to Las Vegas as superior of the convent of the Sisters of Loretto there.

Sister Augustine was a lovely character, wholly devoted to her noble mission, which was to do good. She was beloved by all who came within the range of her sweet influence. Sister Augustine was a type of all that is loveliest in womanhood. "She shall be missed."

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning. The pall bearers will be Dr. Tipton, H. J. Ryan, Fred Desmaris, E. Chacon, O. A. Larrazola and Patricio Sena. The services will be most impressive.

POLICE COURT.

Clara Smith, an old native woman, who has been before the court as many times as she has fingers and toes, was up this morning before Judge Crawford. This time she was charged with trying to fight a "sake woman" while on a spree. Now, Clara couldn't pay a fine, neither would she be worth anything if she was jailed, so she was taken out in the back yard and left. She has probably flew the coop by this time. She is a nuisance and sooner or later will have to be taken in charge by the proper authorities.

William Nash, a good looking and well dressed youth, was on the bench. Nash was looking for work last night and was arrested in the railroad yards. He had plenty of letters as to his good qualities, and he was discharged.

A sleepy looking native youth from old town was charged with being drunk and sleeping on the sidewalk. Ten dollars or ten days.

William Callahan, an able bodied man, who it is said is too lazy to work, but who found time last night to quarrel with a woman and abuse her, was charged with breach of the peace. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

T. J. Shinick was fined $10 for driving too fast over the viaduct. The viaduct is becoming a source of revenue to the city nowadays.

THE WORLD DON'T CARE.

There's an aching head,
And a breaking heart,
In the home next door;
There's a quaking dread
And a making start
In the hotel poor—
And love has fled,
And hope is dead,
And peace has sped
Forevermore.

Comes now instead,
With solemn tread,
The gaunt despair—
There's a weeping wife,
There's a lightless life
In the cottage there;
But the throngs pass by
With busy feet,
And the crowds surge night
In the dizzy street,
And come and go,
But the world don't know
Of the suffering there—
And the world don't care.

A Home Wedding.

Miss Manuela Montoya, a daughter of the late Desiderio Montoya, of San Antonio, and sister of Max H. Montoya, was married this afternoon at 5 o'clock in that place to John McIntyre.

The bride is a popular young lady of San Antonio and comes from one of the best known Spanish families in the city.

BELIEVES IT WAS MURDER.

Sister of Dead Man Thinks Victim Put Upon Track.

Mrs. C. H. Brown, of Deming, a sister of the late Leon J. Smith, arrived in the city last night to make arrangements for the funeral of her brother.

Mrs. Brown holds the opinion that her brother was knocked in the head and his body laid on the trolley track to hide the crime. She says that before she left Deming she met some of the base ball team. They told her that they saw Smith in El Paso in the afternoon Sunday. He then had about $50 in money and a gold watch.

Both money and watch were missing when the body was found. They said that he had been drinking, but was not drunk.—El Paso News.

HAD COUNTERFEIT COIN.

Jesus Perez Placed in the County Jail on Serious Charge.

Jesus Perez, a native who says he is a railroadman, is over in the county jail in Old Albuquerque.

Perez is charged with a serious offense, that of trying to pass a counterfeit $5 gold piece. He was brought in from Isleta last night, where he tried to get the "querer" changed. The prisoner says it was given to him. The counterfeit is a peculiar one, inasmuch that the face is in a United States die, while the back is in Mexican.

He will be arraigned this afternoon before Judge Whiting and his trial will probably come off on Monday. A number of witnesses have been summoned.

RAILROAD BUILDERS.

Laying Rails on the Santa Fe Central Road.

GRADING ALBUQUERQUE EASTERN.

Hon. W. S. Hopewell, general manager of the Albuquerque Eastern and Santa Fe Central railways, and Hon. Arthur Kennedy, a state senator of Pennsylvania and one of the stockholders, drove into the city yesterday at noon after an inspection along the two roads. With the two gentlemen was F. E. Dunlavy, manager of the Dunlavy Mercantile company stores on the Santa Fe Central.

"We left Santa Fe early Sunday morning," said Mr. Hopewell, "and drove eighty miles that day. First inspected the line of grade and store at Kennedy station; then to the Hagan coal fields where we are opening up and developing half a dozen good coal mines. We then drove to our iron mine, ten miles away, where we met, by appointment, Prof. Charles R. Keyes, superintendent of the School of Mines, Socorro, and thence back to Hagan. From Hagan, the next day, we drove to the Albuquerque Eastern road, where graders are now at work and thence to Moriarty station. Here we took the train—engine and car—and inspected the Santa Fe Central from Moriarty to Torrance and return. Remained at Moriarty Monday night, and drove from there into Albuquerque yesterday.

"On Monday," continued Mr. Hopewell, "the track layers on the Santa Fe Central laid 8,900 feet of rail and should have reached Moriarty last night where, rains not preventing, the ranchmen intended to congregate and celebrate the event. It was our intention to have trains running into Santa Fe over the Santa Fe Central by July 1, but owing to heavy rains, which have prevailed the past few weeks, we will be unable to fulfill our promise until about July 10.

"As to the Albuquerque Eastern, about fifteen miles have already been graded, and will be pushed rapidly from now on. We should have trains running over this section of the road not later than January 1, 1904, subject to the usual proviso of unforeseen annoyances and delays.

"Last night," continued Mr. Hopewell, "myself and Mr. Kennedy met Messrs. Myers, Strickler and Brooks, the executive committee of the citizens' general committee, and discussed the right of way proposition into Albuquerque. The conference was very satisfactory, and I am confident the committee will soon fix up the little difficulty, which, at present, has hindered further advancement."

Mr. Hopewell says that when the Santa Fe Central and Albuquerque Eastern railways are completed and in good running order, the Hagan coal fields will then be pretty thoroughly developed, and cheap coal, as good as can be produced hereabouts, can be furnished consumers of this city.

Mr. Kennedy left last night on his return to Pittsburgh, Pa., while Messrs. Hopewell and Dunlavy will return to Santa Fe tonight.

IRRIGATION SCHEME.

Col. R. H. Greenleaf Comes to the Front With New Idea.

The man who can improve the present method of irrigating by the ditch process, so that the cost will be less will be doing a good thing for his fellow men.

R. H. Greenleaf, who lives on North Fourth street, has improved on the old method of irrigation, so he thinks.

Mr. Greenleaf, who has an inventive sort of a mind, has dug a well and put in a small pump, with a capacity of 1,000 gallons an hour. The apparatus is run by steam and can be operated at a very small expense. Mr. Greenleaf will soon put in a reservoir for the underflow though one well is inexhaustible and he thinks he has solved the cheaper and more practicable way of irrigating. His scheme will be watched with interest. If it works he believes all the land on the mesa east of the city, up to the foot of the mountains, can be made garden spots.

THE CELEBRATION.

Things Going Along Nicely and the Biggest Celebration Ever Held in the Southwest Is Assured.

The general executive committee of the Central Labor union's Fourth of July celebration met last evening.

The committee added the names of Commander J. W. Edwards and Adjutant W. W. MacDonald of the Grand Army of the Republic to the list on the honorary reception committee. It was also voted to extend an invitation to Governor Otero and staff to be the guests of the Central Labor union on the Fourth.

The appropriation for the fireworks has been increased and this feature of the program will be worth alone coming many miles to see. A clay pigeon shoot is promised, and this will be added to the program. You will be surprised at the number of people that will come here from all over the territory for the celebration on July 4 and 5, and what is more, you'll be surprised at the celebration. It's going to be a corker and things will hum for everybody. Every one should lend a helping hand, too. You can do it in some way or other. It is going to benefit the labor unions of the city; it's going to benefit Albuquerque, and it's going to benefit everybody and everybody who attends. So whoop'er up!

Santa Fe to Run Regularly Over New Route.

This morning Division Freight and Passenger Agent George E. Roe of the Santa Fe received a telegram from the passenger department stating that trains Nos. 1, 5, 7, 26, and 8 will commence today to run regular between Chicago and Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and Pacific coast points; by way of Lexington Junction and St. Joseph. For the present all business to and from Kansas City will be handled on stub trains by way of Emporia, Kan. All trains by way of St. Joseph will be able to make about the same time as by way of Kansas City.—El Paso Herald.

There must be a mistake somewhere. Charles K. Newhall proclaimed to a Citizen representative yesterday that he was going to return to farm life, and would be located on a farm near Wichita, Kansas, while some of his friends still insist that he will become treasurer of a big trust company at Kansas City, Mo. In any event, Mr. Newhall was a north bound passenger last night. Mrs. Newhall and child will remain here for the time being.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lindeman and children, formerly of Sleepy Eye, Wis., but the past year residing at Santa Fe, came in from the capital city last night, and continued west to Long Beach, Cal.
