REDFIELD BEGINS PERSONAL WORK IN PROBING DISASTER

Secretary of Commerce Supervises Work of Federal Investigation Into Wreck of Steamer Eastland.

BOTH STATE AND UNITED STATES ATTORNEYS BUSY

Many Excursion Vessels May be Taken Off Lake Routes. It Is Hinted by Officer of Justice Department.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Chicago, July 29.—Examination of witnesses in the inquiry of the United States department of commerce under the personal supervision of Secretary Redfield into the cause of the Eastland disaster began here today.

Witnesses, including the officers and crew of the steamer and a long list of survivors, were summoned to the federal building to tell their version of the catastrophe.

While this inquiry was progressing United States District Attorney Clyne prepared to empanel a federal grand jury to investigate the question of criminal responsibility for the accident. In the state attorney's office efforts were directed to determine the extent of the jurisdiction of the state grand jury over the persons held by the coroner's jury for grand jury action. Doubt was expressed over the jurisdiction of the state over federal officials.

District Attorney Clyne visited the Eastland and inspected the hull for the first time. He hinted that a number of well known excursion steamers "might have to come off the lake."

Speaking of possible action by the state grand jury, District Attorney Clyne said:

"If any action against those responsible is ordered by the state grand jury we will demand the right to enter proceedings against the two steamboat inspectors and the most captain named by the coroner's jury in advance of any action which might be taken by the state attorney following indictments by the grand jury. These men are government officers, the captain holding a government license and being under government jurisdiction and we must demand the right to deal with them. In all proceedings, however, the state will have the fullest co-operation from the government."

The independent investigation ordered by the city council was abandoned today on the advice of the corporation counsel, who held the opinion that the jurisdiction of the city did not extend over a vessel at the docks.

The council's investigation committee decided, however, to petition President Wilson to appoint an investigating commission to act independently of federal authorities and to have the government make a stability test of every excursion vessel coming out of Chicago. The council committed appointed a subcommittee, which, in connection with the city engineering bureau and the city harbor master, will make a thorough inspection of every excursion boat in and about Chicago.

Coroner Hoffman today issued instructions for the arrest of the six persons whom the coroner's jury in its verdict held to the state grand jury. All the men either are in custody or under surveillance and it was said that the papers would not be served by Sheriff Traeger until later.

Governmental efforts to place the responsibility for the沉没 of the steamer Eastland in the Chicago river last Saturday got under way today with the convening of the federal grand jury and the opening of the investigation by the steamboat inspection service under the direction of Secretary of Commerce Redfield. Plans for both of these inquiries were completed at conferences which lasted nearly all night.

United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, with five of his assistants, and Hinton G. Claghorn, chief of the bureau of investigation, went over the evidence that is to be presented to the grand jury and selected the witnesses who will be presented. Among the first of these will be William H. Hull, general manager of the company owning the Eastland, who arrived in Chicago this morning in response to a subpoena. Indictments based upon six sections of the federal laws are planned, if they are given out after the conference.

The county grand jury, which was adjourned yesterday following a conference between Secretary Redfield and State's Attorney Hoyne, reconvened today and the report of the coroner's jury recommending that six persons be held was laid before it.

A charge of manslaughter was recommended by the coroner's jury against William Hull, general manager of the company owning the Eastland, Harry Pedersen, captain of the Eckhoff, steamboat inspectors at Grand Haven, Mich. The jury declared that the Eastland was "both improperly constructed for the service employed and improperly loaded, operated and maintained, and that the parties named are responsible."

The body of a man supposed to be William Gericke, a victim of the steamer Eastland disaster, was taken from the Chicago drainage canal at Western avenue today, nearly four miles from the scene of the accident. The body was caught in a net stretched across the canal.

Funeral services for the last of the identified Eastland dead were held today. All but four of the 832 bodies recovered up to noon have been identified.

RUSSIANS ASKED TO KEEP COOL UNTIL DECISIVE STEP CAN BE TAKEN

Military Critics of Petrograd Papers, After Conference With "Competent Authority" Urge Confidence.

STRATEGIC POINTS, NOT POLITICAL, STRESSED

Mobilization of Industrial Forces Must Precede Offensive Directed at German Troops, Is Announcement.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Petrograd, July 29.—(12 noon, via London, 4:30 p. m.)—The military critics of the newspapers of Petrograd, after conversations with "competent military authorities" today call upon the Russian public to view the events which are about to transpire with confidence and tranquility and to "maintain their faith in the glorious Russian arms until such time as it shall take a decisive aggressive step to break once for all the power of the stubborn enemy."

General Ulrich, speaking of the military department, said:

"We never have had such an efficient force as we have now. The men pass the hardest examinations we hold and inspectors this year work daily, while previously they worked only on Sundays, Saturdays and Sundays."

Robert H. McCready, deputy collector of customs of the port of Chicago, in charge of navigation inspectors, explained that navigation inspection is entirely different from steamboat inspection. McCready told in detail of placing inspectors on the Eastland to count the passengers and of making arrangements for one of the inspectors to sleep on board Friday night so that no passengers could be taken aboard without being counted.

"I went to the boat about 7 o'clock Saturday morning," said McCready. "There I saw Inspectors Oakley and Laddie in charge on the gangway. I watched them until the count reached 2,450. W. K. Greenbaum, who had chartered the boat, was also there and asked me several times about the count. When the count reached 2,450 I took Oakley's place and counted to 2,475. Then we shut off the gangway until only one could come aboard at a time. I counted off twenty, one at a time, and told Inspector Laddie to let on five more. Four women and a baby in arms came aboard and I counted the baby as the two thousand five hundredth person to come aboard the Eastland."

The witness explained that a baby was counted as a passenger the same as an adult under orders received from General Ulrich.

You are personally sure that there were only 2,350 persons on board the Eastland exclusive of the crew?" asked Secretary Redfield.

"I am positive," replied the witness.

Mr. McCready said that he had walked about the Eastland while it was being loaded and noted that no life preservers were properly distributed. He denied that there was any panic among the passengers or that they rushed to the dock rail when the boat listed sharply but seemed likely to remain in even keel.

W. K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company which chartered the Eastland, was the first of the six men ordered held to the grand jury by the verdict of the coroner's jury arrested. He was taken into custody on a coroner's writ and taken to the county jail. Fear that Mr. Greenbaum might be harmed by other prisoners caused the latter to detain him in the jail office rather than the cell room.

"There are three prisoners in the jail who lost relatives on the Eastland," said the jailor, and these men and their sympathizers might attempt to attack Mr. Greenbaum."

Boards for Mr. Greenbaum were fixed at $50,000.

WILD BUFFALO ARE REPORTED IN COLORADO

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Denver, July 29.—Lucas Crawford, superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Steamboat Springs reported to State Game and Fish Commissioner Walter R. Frazer today that he had been informed by campers that they had seen three wild buffalo in North park, a high plateau in northwestern Colorado. Crawford was granted a leave of absence to visit the region and to verify the report.

Several years ago there was a noted suit in the Colorado courts over the killing of what were supposed to be the last wild buffalo in North America. Harry Pedersen, captain of the Boston, July 29.—Six hundred machinists and other employees struck today at the plant of the Becker Milling Machine company because the company refused an increase in wages of 20 per cent and the reinstatement of discharged workmen. WHITMAN IS SOLE HOPE OF BECKER FOR ESCAPING EXECUTION Counsel Abandons Plan ofAppealing to Superior Court Justice for Stay of Sentence of Death.

MRS. BECKER TO APPEAL TO GOVERNOR TONIGHT

Former Lieutenant of Police Bears Up Well Under Realization That His Hours Practically Are Numbered.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Bronx, N. Y., July 29.—Governor Whitman, who motored to Camp Whitman near here, to review the state militia today, announced that he did not expect to intervene in behalf of Charles Becker, although he had an appointment to meet Mrs. Becker.

New York, July 29.—The sole hope of saving Charles Becker from dying in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tomorrow morning lies in Governor Whitman. Counsel for the condemned man announced today that they had abandoned the idea of appealing to Judge Hogan of the court of appeals at Syracuse for a stay of execution.

According to Attorney Manton, Mr. Whitman had in his possession at the time of the Becker trial, a report that Becker's first wife died under suspicious circumstances. Mr. Manton said this information was entirely erroneous.

Mrs. Becker will present data to correct any impression the governor might have regarding this matter. Mr. Manton said. She will show that the first Mrs. Becker, instead of dying under mysterious circumstances really died of tuberculosis after a long illness.

Commenting on Mrs. Becker's efforts to meet Governor Whitman, Mr. Manton said:

"I have learned that when Mrs. Becker telephoned to Albany this morning the governor said he would be in Albany until noon today but that he left at 10 o'clock, saying he would see her at 7 o'clock tonight.

In view of that situation she could not see her husband before the hour set for the execution if she wanted to see the governor. She communicated this to us. We advised her to do what is best and to follow the dictates of her conscience.

"I have decided not to go to Sing Sing today," said Becker's counsel. "I believe he should have this day to prepare to meet his God."

W. Bourke Cockran, Becker's chief counsel, today issued a statement which he said brought the case down to the "present moment." The statement said Mr. Johnson, Mr. Cockran's assistant, went to Albany today to make three requests of Governor Whitman.

First was that the governor reconsider his determination to dispose of Becker's case alone and that he take the advice of some prominent person in the interest of justice."

The second was that if the first request be refused the governor himself hear objections to the execution based on the records and the latest affidavits.

The third request was for a reprieve to enable the court of final review to decide whether Supreme Court Justice Ford was correct in holding that the supreme court did not have the inherent power to set aside a judgment of death under existing circumstances.

WHITMAN AGREES TO SEE MRS. BECKER AND COUNSEL

Albany, N. Y., July 29.—Governor Whitman agreed, over the long distance telephone at 3 o'clock today, to meet Mrs. Becker and John B. Johnson, of Becker's counsel, at a hotel in Poughkeepsie at 6 o'clock this evening. Mrs. Becker and Mr. Johnson agreed to leave here on the 3:30 o'clock train.

MRS. BECKER TO APPEAL TO WHITMAN THIS EVENING

Albany, N. Y., July 29.—Mrs. Charles Becker arrived here at 11:30 today to make a final plea to Governor Whitman for her husband's life. She was accompanied by John B. Johnson, of Becker's counsel. Mrs. Becker did not learn until after her arrival of the governor's departure for the city. She said her plans were uncertain.

Governor Whitman had telegraphed Mrs. Becker in reply to a request for an interview that he would see her tonight after his return from reviewing the state troops at Camp Whitman twenty miles from the Sing Sing death house.

BECKER BEARS UP WELL UNDER TERRIBLE STRAIN

Ossining, N. Y., July 29.—Charles Becker, former New York police lieutenant, condemned to die tomorrow for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was reported to be bearing up well today under the realization that virtually all hope of his escaping the electric chair had passed.

Less than an hour after Becker received word that Supreme Court Justice Ford had denied his appeal for a third trial, the condemned man threw himself on his cot. Becker lay with his face to the wall and the guard said he did not move all night.

Becker arose at 7 o'clock today. After breakfast he was taken from his cell while the final preparations for his execution were made.

When Becker returned to his cell he found that all of his clothing, personal belongings and even the few furnishings of the cell had been removed. On a new cot lay a thin black suit, white shirt with soft collar, and black tie. Black stockings and soft felt slippers were also provided. The left leg of the trousers was not slit when Becker donned the clothes, as the slitting is done just before a condemned man is led to the execution chamber.

Mrs. Becker, wife of the condemned man, was expected to arrive today to spend the last hours allowed her with her husband. Other members of Becker's family were expected.

TEUTON ADVANCE NOW 60 MILES FROM NAREW

Activity Along Isonzo River Is Very Little, Cause Being Matter of Difference Between Rome and Vienna.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

London, July 29 (11:15 a. m.)—Except from Sochi, Galicia, where the Russians claim by a counter-offensive to have thrown back the Austro-Hungarian across the Danube river, little definite news reached London this morning from the eastern battle front. To the east of the Narew river the extent of the German advance from Roman is marked by the capture of the village of Gieworow, which lies only sixty miles from the river.

Along the western front comparative quiet prevails, with Berlin claiming and Paris admitting the reoccupation of trenches in the Souchez sector.

Home explores the line along the Isonzo river front on the ground that the Italians are engaged in organizing and securing the positions which they won on the Carso plateau, but Vienna claims the lack of activity means the termination of the Italian attack after a successful Austro-Hungarian defense along the whole chosen battle line.

The situation in the near east remains apparently unchanged so far as any departure from neutrality is concerned, but the entente allies already are showing considerable irritation over Bulgaria's successful negotiations with Turkey and they soon may transfer their displeasure to Romania, which is reported to be ready to lift the embargo on the export of grain, thereby supplying the central powers with a huge accession of food supplies.

Despite action to prevent the executions all preparations have been made at the penitentiary in Florence to carry out the court sentences.

SUPERDREADNAUGHT LION IS SENT TO DARDANELLES

Berlin, July 29 by wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News Agency says today:

"The Athens correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung reports that the British superdreadnaught Lion has arrived in the harbor of Mudros on Lemnos Island. The Aquitania and the Miqueania, being used as troop transports, also are in this harbor."

"The Lion," the correspondent says, "received serious injuries in a naval engagement last January off the Dogger Bank in the North sea. She apparently is not considered a first-class ship and has therefore been sent to join the Dardanelles fleet."

"The British battleship Agamemnon, badly damaged, also is lying in Mudros harbor."

GERMANS CONTINUE GAINS ALONG RUSSIAN FRONT

Berlin, July 29 (via London, 4:10 p. m.)—Twenty-five hundred coal operators and representatives of the miners' union packed the London opera house today at a national conference, called by the government prior to the recent strike in Wales, to give impetus to the coal supply.

The chief speakers for the government were Sir John A. Simon, David Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions.

"Coal," said the latter, "means life for us and death for our foes. Steam-means coal, rifles mean coal, shells are filled with coal, the very explosive inside them is coal, and coal carries them right on to the battlefield to help our men. Coal is everything to us and we want more of it to win the victory."

Referring to the recent British raid on the Suez Canal, Simon said all these were victories of German coal "produced by the Westphalian miners working in co-operation with the Prussian engineers without reserve and regulation."

The British navy which drove the Germans from the sea point out that it used its strength to coal. The speaker said there were two schools—optimists and pessimists—but he believed in looking things straight in the face. He continued:

"Events in the east, whatever they portend, mean that we must not forth all our strength. They mean that a larger share than ever of the burden of this struggle is to be on the shoulders of Great Britain. Do not shrink from it. We must pay the price of victory if we mean to get it. The peril our country faces is great, the demand for coal is great and the supply of labor has diminished. We must have more coal to win."

"In the southeastern theater of the war the situation with regard to the German troops is generally unchanged."

BELGIAN STEAMER LATEST VICTIM OF SUBMARINE

London, July 29 (8:50 p. m.)—The Belgian steamship Princess Marie, of 1,953 tons gross burden, was torpedoed and sunk today by a German submarine. Twenty-one members of the crew of 25 were saved.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)
London, July 29, (8:15 p. m.)—It was learned on high authority here today that the British authorities have arrested a German subject who had in his possession a forged American passport which the arrested man admits is not genuine. The forged document has been compared with the original passport which was issued to a bona fide American citizen.

The real passport, which was sent to London by the state department at Washington, shows that the forger had been in Silver City for six days trying to reach Mogollon by automobile, returned to the city this morning having given up the struggle. Mr. Stern declared that at the time of the recent rains the water in the main street of Silver City stood higher than the hub of an automobile. He said that when he left there had been only three trains into the city within seven days.

POLICE ENTERTAIN ELOPING COUPLE FROM THOREAU

Angry Father Wires Ahead and Has Them Taken From Train No. 10; Pa Is Coming on No. 8.

Pending the arrival of an angry father, an eloping couple are being entertained at police headquarters today. Father is expected on train No. 8, due ordinarily early tonight but delayed several hours late.

The couple are Lillie Heath, who says she is 18 years old, and Elias Montoya, 26. They are from Thoreau, N. M.

Lillie's age is reported in a spirit of causticness, not because there is a suspicion that she is more than 18, but because she may possibly be less. If she is less than 18, father's status in the eyes will be considerably more legal and impressive than if she is over 18. As to the fib that is hinted at, it is no fib at all. It is not fibbing for elopers to take liberties with their birthday.

Lillie and Elias left Thoreau last night. Lillie slipped out of the house at 10 o'clock, was joined by the waiting Elias, and together they boarded train No. 10. Father—he is George Heath—didn't discover the elopement until Elias and Lillie were on their way and out of reach.

Heath promptly telephoned to the police here, asking that his daughter and Elias be taken from the train and held until he came. Chief McMillen sent Policeman Pablo Lujan to the station and Lujan got the lovers.

Lillie told the chief that her father objected to Elias because he was a Spanish-American. She said there was absolutely nothing against his character and that her father admitted Elias was a good man. She said she and Elias had kept company for years and were determined to wed whether father like it or not.

Chief McMillen said that if the girl was over 18 and insisted on marrying Montoya he didn't know what George Heath could do, but he thought it advisable to keep the couple until the father had had a chance to see his daughter.

Chavez had been married three times. All of his wives are dead. He was the father of sixteen children, most of whom are living. The last Mrs. Chavez died about three years ago. He was born in Bernalillo county and maintained his residence in the country during his entire life.

Letters are being sent to all the traveling men who make their headquarters in Albuquerque, urging them to attend the smoker which the state fair commission is to give for them at the Commercial Club Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The affair will be informal in every way and it is expected that those who attend will have an enjoyable evening as well as helping along the fair cause.

The fair commission has a lot of ideas about the ways in which the travelers can aid the state exposition without great expenditure of time or effort on their part and these are to be suggested to them at this gathering. In past years the traveling men have formed a very useful ally of the fair's publicity department and the commission hopes to secure their co-operation to an even greater degree this year.

Rome, July 28, (Via Paris, July 28, 5:50 p. m.) (Delayed)—A council of war at Bari has acquitted five monks belonging to the Dominican monasteries who were arrested in June charged with spying. The court ruled that the charge was unfounded.

The crowd in the court room applauded the decision of the president of the tribunal and called for three cheers for the army, which were given with great enthusiasm.

One of the survivors of the Acqua cathedral, M. Patrignani, has been acquitted on a charge that he hampered the Austrian warships during the recent bombardment of Acqua. The court martial considered the evidence of Patrignani insufficient.

The "Giornale d'Italia" says that Cardinal Gaspari, the papal secretary of state, having learned that the Paris court martial desired to hear his testimony in the case of the five accused monks, immediately placed himself at the disposal of the military authorities, thus renouncing the immunity assured the secretary of state under the law of guarantees and made his deposition in the home of Monsignor Sarti.

A BUDGET SYSTEM.

HOEVER live Albuquerque may be and is along other lines, there is one thing on which she is hopelessly behind the times. No, not hopelessly, either, for the evil can be remedied. Albuquerque is backward, far back in the dark ages, so to speak, on the question of raising funds for public affairs. The ancient idea of running up and down the main street with a subscription list, asking the man that is nearest for double what he ought to pay and letting the fellow off in an isolated corner get off without putting up anything, has been practiced here, with variations, for years.

Whenever there was a public movement of any sort on foot it was the man in the conspicuous place that got "tapped" first and oftenest. Beside, the local public is asked to give to so many things and on so many occasions that he gets weary of it. Perpetual asking makes him think he is perpetually giving.

Now there is another system in force in other cities the size of Albuquerque, and larger, and smaller, and it ought to be in force here. That is what is known as the "budget" system. El Paso has it, as had it for several years, and you couldn't persuade an El Paso business man to go back to the old haphazard system of raising money for public events for anything.

The budget system depends on two things: First, knowing about what the annual expenses of the community for civic purposes are; and, second, getting pledges enough from the local people, at one time, to cover these expenses. Then the fund arising from their contributions, which are usually payable quarterly, is placed in the hands of the hardest-headed committee of business men, with a good sprinkling of bankers, that can be found. Any one that wants to raise money for anything in the city must see this committee. If the proposition is endorsed by this committee the money is available for it immediately out of the budget fund and there is no waiting or possibility of misunderstanding. If the project is not approved by the committee, the money isn't forthcoming. In either event the business men have been spared the nuisance of a committee calling on them for a subscription.

The budget system eliminates the casual money-raiser of all sorts. Here in Albuquerque it would work out to the raising of, say, the fair contribution funds for the educators' convention, perhaps something for the Civic Betterment league, and something for contingencies, such as the road roads meeting next week.

There are two great advantages for the budget plan. One is that the potential contributor is asked but once to contribute, and he knows then that his contribution is placed in the hands of business men and given a business administration, and the other is that funds are available for whatever the community wants to back, and under this system there are usually plenty of funds, without placing any unexpected burden on the merchant. Of course, for something like the Santa Fe shop contribution or the Y. M. C. A. special campaign might be permitted, but the chances are that if Albuquerque had a committee composed of half a dozen men we could name, handling a budget fund of $15,000 to $20,000 a year, they would have found a way to circumvent the special campaign even for the Y. M. C. A.

Albuquerque has a bright and shining example of this scheme right at hand. El Paso has tried it well and is well pleased with it. She raises more money now for advertising and things that actually benefit her own interests than she did before the plan was put into effect, and she wastes practically nothing, either of energy or money, in misguided efforts. Further, she actually pays less, it is believed by El Paso business men, than when the old haphazard scheme was at work.

"PEP" IN ALBUQUERQUE.

If there is a town anywhere that can show more "pep" than Albuquerque when she gets started, we have yet to hear of it.

How well this community can get together and put across a bit of work that is for the good of the city or the county or the state is pretty well illustrated by the length of time it took the finance committee for the good roads meeting to raise the funds for that gathering. Just one day and a half. That's all that was required.

The fact that the retailers' representatives and the Commercial club's representatives could not see their way clear to raising the amount of funds the good roads people expected has nothing to do with the case; the point is that once the different interests had got together the money was raised, and raised in pretty short order. Moreover, the bulk of it is still in the hands of a treasurer appointed by the committee, available for use.

Pretty nearly everybody contributed to this fund. Some contributed substantial sums and others gave smaller amounts, but anyway, in spite of the fact that local merchants have been asked to contribute to a totally unexpected Y. M. C. A. fund of $15,000 this year, as well as a doubled fair fund, a fund for the Elko building (some of them) and the never-to-be-sufficiently-excused baseball club as well, they contributed. The public spirit of this community needs no comment. It speaks for itself. There is "pep" in Albuquerque.

"UNTEARABLE."

A GERMAN professor, an authority on international law, has called the position of President Wilson on submarine warfare "untenable." To back this up he says America, through the president, has demanded that Germany cease her submarine warfare. This is not true. What America has demanded, and what she will have, whether her position be "tenable" or not, is safety for her citizens.

America demands of Germany that any ships which it may be deemed expedient to sink by means of submarines or otherwise, though the submarine phase is the one most discussed, shall be called upon to stop and submit to search. If contraband is found on board, the Germans may sink them, or if the vessel, is called upon to stop for search, attempts to escape, she may be sunk. America then will have nothing to say. But if contraband is found on board America demands that the people aboard be removed before the vessel is sunk.

This is the answer to the question, why is the jitibus?

The jitibus is not a permanent institution every place.

As soon as the street railway service is improved, people will quit riding in the buses and the cars will stop running.

In some towns the spirit of seventy-five will live longer, and the Boston teaparty will go on quite awhile.

There are many answers to "whence comes the word jitney?" and none of them is right.

The car that you will buy next—I heck she is a peach! She has the latest gimmicks on, a twelve-foot-six-inch reach. She has a hood a fathom long,—in fact there's nothing new. Or up-to-date—or further still—your next-year's car won't do. This year, of course, you've got to buy a shabby bunch of tin—A common, crawly road-louise with a lot of rattles in. But next year—then is when you'll have the billy bunch in bank. And you can buy the dandy boat that never saw a crank!

The car that you will buy next year has vases for bouquets; Has leather cushions two feet deep, a stove for chilly days; Has eighty horses hid beneath her bonnet all the while—The car you'll buy next season has your this-year's beat a mile! This is the only trouble that the shrewdest car detect—The finest line of argument has often one defect;

The one big obstacle to which my spirit succumbs

Is that it always stays "this year"—that "next year" never comes!

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Pneumonia, The House Disease

There is by far a greater prevalence of pneumonia, per thousand population, in the southern part of the United States than in the northern part of Canada. Pneumonia is not a disease of cold climates or cold weather, as people commonly imagine; it is most frequent in temperate or warm climates and in the warmer part of the year when people still rely too much upon closed doors and windows and stoves to "protect" them from exposure.

An alarming epidemic of pneumococcus, which in one case causes pneumonia, may express itself in another case as coryza ("simple head cold"), and vice versa. Also sore throat, tonsillitis, bronchitis and middle ear infection (running ear or acute gathering in the ear) must be looked upon as interchangeable expressions of pneumococcus infection in the majority of cases. Hence you never can tell what yours will be when you pick up the much too common "cold" germ.

Contact is the means of infection—personal contact. Kissing, swapping gum pencils, personal articles of any kind recently contaminated with saliva, especially among children. Open face sneezing or coughing. Licking the fingers to facilitate handling papers or pages, then touching other hands with the contaminated fingers. And last, and least, we believe, expectorating in public places. We think this latter a much overdrawn evil, though common decency demands that expectoration in public shall be prohibited.

Pneumonia reaches its high water mark in March in America, that being the month when people are most susceptible to infection with the pneumococcus (pneumonia) and

PUNCTURES

A PUNCTURE is a small orifice made for the purpose of letting out a vast quantity of compressed wind.

There are two very prominent varieties of punctures—those made in automobile tires and those made in pompous and puffed-up people. Both varieties cause a great deal of grief but in the latter case the grief is balanced by the extreme delight to the spectator.

The puncture is the saddle spot in the life of the automobile. It brings him to earth on a hot day while he is careening blissfully through the summer and complete calm. It weeds out the tire with the sweat rings out his pants, and his wife makes pained remarks about the heartlessness of a husband who will not push a car half a mile in full into the shade while doing his tinkering.

Nothing is more gaudier than the automobile tire puncture. It purses neither the happy young loves nor miles of light right above the stage?"

THEIR REAL USE.

A real use has been discovered for airplanes and their descendants in this war. Our latest note to Germany states clearly that this country realizes warfare has undergone great changes since the present conventions of internationals law were framed. It indicates that we are prepared to view German acts with tolerance when they do not abridge the rights of society as a whole and the United States in particular. Our position is one that cannot injure Germany's interests, for it cannot benefit Germany to continue her present policy of sinking ships bearing Americans without warning or with insufficient warning.

Germany is trying to establish a sentiment in her behalf in this country. Leaving out all questions of partnership, would it not seem that every possible consideration for Americans would be dictated by the wish to foster a favorable public sentiment? Then why does this professor, Edward Hellefson, declare we have taken up an "untenable" position. And in what particular is the position untenable?

QUAY COUNTY SELLS PROPERTY FOR TAXES

TOCHONATE, N. M., July 29.—The tax sale of property under the direction of the county treasurer has been on for nine days now and considerable land has changed hands at a result. The sale probably will last about thirty days.

The day day opened up with quite a number of bidders and was rather spirited. The biggest buyer was the Great Investment company of Denver, Colo., which through its representatives, M. E. Geiger of Tucumcari, purchased about 125 tracts of land. Other purchasers were: E. W. Bowen, Tucumcari; J. T. White, W. L. Hartnett, San Jon; J. D. Cutts, Tucumcari; West Brothers, West; L. J. Hennings, Marathon; M. C. Robertson, Kirtland; W. L. Standell, Tucumcari; E. F. Savoy, Tucumcari; J. D. Richardson, San Jon; and T. J. Hawkins, Hawkins.

The parties who owned this land being liable to pay all the back taxes, the cost of sale and interest at the rate of 12 per cent. If this is not done at the expiration of that period the purchaser obtains a clear title to the property.

FEEDING CATTLE ON FARM GETTING TO BE RULE, NOT EXCEPTION

ARTESIA, N. M., July 28.—Feeding cattle on the farm is getting to be the rule rather than the exception in this section of the country. More and more growers are taking up feeding as a means of realising the greatest profits from their animals and other means of profit.

The present price of feed hays around $7 per ton is entirely too low when the cost of production and the feeding value is considered. It will not be many months until at least a thousand cars of hay are shipped each year from everywhere along the line. The average shipments from the Artesia station alone run over 1000 cars of present.

The hay on the Colf ranch is not being baled, but is stricken loose. As many cattle as the hay will supply will be purchased and fed from the farms. They cannot be market the next steers to Fort Worth, but would take them to El Paso if the new packing plant is in operation by the time they expect to sell.

The Colf experiment, while hardly an experiment, is being closely watched by other Middle valley farmers who have been in the notion of doing something like this for a long time, but find it hard to get out of the old rut. No man can afford to waste alfalfa to sell it at any price if he has the slightest chance to feed it to his cattle.

MARKET EXPANDING FOR KAFIR CORN

TUCUMCARI, N. M., July 29.—Farmers of this section and eastern New Mexico generally are enthusiastic over the way the market for kafir corn and maize is expanding. These crops have begun to attract attention in the west as follows the following clipping from the "Ojinaga Record-Herald":

"Chicago is doing considerable business in kafir corn and maize. Sample grade kafir sold in the simple market yesterday at $1.20, No. 3 milo at $1.25 and No. 4 mixed milo at $1.20 per hundred pounds. A sale of 20,000 bushels of milo was made yesterday to go east by lake, the first bulk shipment of milo by lake in the history of this market."

Local farmers are encouraged to note that efforts toward enlarging the market for a grain that is of vast importance in this section are meeting with such success. Kansas City has been quoting kafir for several years, but Chicago has paid little attention to the grain until this year. The Rock Island has been pushing the matter persistently for five years, the latest move being the issuance of a number of the Southwest Trail devoted exclusively to the marketing features and to the increase of the use of kafir as a human food.

CERRILLOS ORE MILL IS TAKING CUSTOM WORK

CERRILLOS, N. M., July 28.—The announcement that the Cerrillos concentrator now is taking custom work has resulted in a considerable amount of ore being handled in for reduction to a form more easily shipped, and it is thought that this will soon interfere in a good deal of development work being done in mining which have been neglected for many years.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, with which W. S. Strickler and H. A. Scott of Albuquerque are connected, has a force of men at work on roads in the old concentrator, afflaining the old smelter at Cerrillos, and the intention is to open the plant for custom work on gold lead ore from the Cash, Entry and Durango districts north of Cerrillos. The silver-lead ore supply is quite plentiful in the Cerrillos region and it is believed that careful concentration will furnish rich shipping values.

The present concentration, while hardly an experiment, is being closely watched by other Middle valley farmers who have been in the notion of doing something like this for a long time, but find it hard to get out of the old rut. No man can afford to waste alfalfa to sell it at any price if he has the slightest chance to feed it to his cattle.

TUCUMCARI PUTS UP OVER $3,000 FOR A NEW ASSEMBLY HALL

TUCUMCARI, N. M., July 29.—Tucumcari now has raised over $3,000 for the new assembly hall and arrangements for concluding the structure and completing the organization which will have charge of it are being made.

Dr. E. D. McKinley, chairman of the committee in charge, reports that since the committee had raised the required $3,000 in subscriptions, the committee wants to turn the matter over to the stockholders, letting them proceed with the permanent organization by electing the board of directors and the writing of a charter. Dr. McKinley said that the pen sketch drawn by Frost & Frost had been returned to the architects by E. H. McRae, for the committee, with the directions as to the desired changes.

The committee has been empowered to perfect the permanent organization and is not to turn over the work to the stockholders until the charter

MINING OPERATORS IN MEXICO MAY LOSE PROPERTY

Today Marks Expiration of Time Within Which Villa Demands Operations be Resumed or Mines Forfeited.

(By Evening Herald Special Wire)
El Paso, Tex., July 29.—The one hundred and twenty days' time allowed by decree for the resumption of operations of all mines in territory controlled by the Villa government under penalty of confiscation expired today.

Representatives here of foreign-owned mining corporations are apprehensive of the possibility of drastic action by the Villa minister of finance, Manuel Escudero.

The retreat northward of the Villa forces, destruction of rolling stock and rails renders compliance with the decree impracticable according to mining men here.

The situation is further complicated according to mining men by the application until today, that there would be an extension of one hundred and twenty days more allowed. Advice from Chihuahua City today indicates this has not been granted.

Mining men have demanded Minister Escudero promised Special Agent Carruthers two weeks ago that regulation, necessary under Mexican laws to make the decree legal, would be published in the official gazette extending the time for beginning operations.

A few days later a request for a loan of $250,000 was made by the Villa government of the mining corporations and was refused.

The regulation extending the time failed to appear. Meanwhile, according to mining men, Escudero has proceeded as though he regarded the decree legal without the regulation and granted exemptions to several companies. It is feared Escudero may consider his action an application for exemption as precedence for enforcing the provision of confirmation irrespective of the non-publication of the legalizing regulation.

CARRANZA FORCES HAVE TAKEN PACHUCA, IS REPORT

Washington, July 29.—General Carranza cabled his Washington agency today that his forces after six hours' fighting had captured Pachuca and routed the Villa flying column which was working south to reinforce Zapata's forces near Mexico City.

General Carranza's dispatch was the first word from behind the veil which has covered military operations about Mexico City for almost two weeks. When General Gonzales and the Carranza army evacuated Mexico City on July 17, it was announced that they were going out to meet a Villa force moving south.

The Carranza authorities claim their victory eliminates Villa forces from central Mexico.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN CAPITAL FORCES URGENT STEPS BY U. S.

Washington, July 29.—So serious has the food shortage become in Mexico City that the United States will make immediate representations to Carranza and Zapata, urging that provisions be permitted to get through to the starving people in the capital. Stories of alarming conditions have reached the state department under date of July 25.

Representatives to General Carranza at Vera Cruz and General Zapata whose forces are said to be scattered along the railroad and within Mexico City itself, will go forward probably today.

The report from Mexico City said there were some Zapata troops within the city but no mention was made of the Carranza army.

Washington, July 29.—Willie and Harmon, two Americans held at San Luis Potosi, charged with circulating counterfeit money, have been released at the request of the American consul there, upon General Villa's orders.

Quiet and good order are reported at Acapulco, Guaymas, La Paz, Manzanillo and the Yaqui valley.

Today's War Summary

The German endeavor to capture Warsaw, pushed forward with notable energy for a period covering more than two weeks, has not made any material progress since last Tuesday, according to reports coming from Petersberg, London and Berlin. On the contrary, the Russian authorities in their latest official announcement reiterate their claims that the German advance movements in the direction of the Polish capital have been checked, and they specify when and where. The Berlin announcement do not dispute Petersberg.

Going into details, the latest Russian report recites the favorable outcome to advance guard engagements near Mitau, in Courland, Russia, and says the Germans are continuing their efforts to cross the Narva river at a point near Novgorod, north of Warsaw. The line on the left bank of the Narva from Osterholz to the river Pruth, has seen strident fighting, but remains unchanged, and to the right of the Narva German attacks have been repelled.

Between the Vistula and the Bug there has been stubborn fighting in which the Russians claim success and the capture of 1,500 German soldiers.

At Grubeshow, a point close to the Galician frontier, north of Lemberg, the Germans have made determined attempts to advance, but have been driven back, according to the Russian war office, and a little farther south, at Sokal, the Russians declare they have begun a successful offensive movement. Desperate fighting is still going on at this point.

The French official statement of today reports minor activity but no fighting of any importance, while the latest Italian announcement says the progress of the Italian forces on the Carso plateau has been satisfactory and that they have been successful in minor encounters at other points.

Minister of Munitions, Lloyd-George addressed a meeting of cost operators in London today and laid particular emphasis upon the need of cost for the successful conduct of the war. He said this product meant everything to Great Britain and that the country needed more of it to be victorious.

He declared that events in the east meant that a larger share than ever of the burden of the struggle was to be cast on the shoulders of Great Britain and that the country must pay the price of victory if it means to be victorious.

The German imperial chancellor, who returned to the capital yesterday from army headquarters, where he saw Emperor William, is in conference today with James W. Gerard, American ambassador. This meeting is considered important in the matter of the relations between Germany and the United States.

The German official statement of today says there had been no change in the situation north of the Niemen river; that German troops have taken 2,910 prisoners near Suwalki, south of Kovno, and that Russian attacks south of the river Narva resulted in failure and heavy losses to the attackers.

News dispatches from Pragograd indicate that the newspapers of the Russian capital are preparing the people for the receipt of unfavorable news of the campaign in Poland.

DIMMIT COUNTY BAD MEN TO BE SEEN AT PASTIME TOMORROW

One of the most thrilling motion pictures ever taken, one that is based on the real exploits of real bad men of the true wild and woolly type, is to be seen at the Pastime theater tomorrow. The film is a reproduction of the incidents leading up to the capture of the Dimmit county outlaws.

The story of the actual events which is followed faithfully in the film, is as follows:

Sheriff Buck and Ortiz were captured at Capron's windmill in Dimmit county at dawn. Sheriff Gardner and City Marshal White, who were separated from Buck and Ortiz, killed one bandit and after a running fight escaped to collect a posse. The posse started out in about three hours after the capture of Buck and Ortiz. Ortiz was killed by the bandits about four hours after his capture in the creek of the Oak Grove pasture in Dimmit county. Posse overtook bandits same day about 4 p.m., and received buck under promise not to pursue the bandits. Sheriff Gardner was not a member of the posse and was not bound by the promise. Next day another posse and United States soldiers overtook the bandits five miles from the Rio Grande, and the following morning at 8 a.m. a fight ensued, two more bandits were killed and fourteen captured. All were taken back to Carrizo Springs where they were indicted.

J. A. Serrato and Lino Gonzalez tried in Pearall, received 25 and 6 years respectively; Jesus Coto, tried in Cotulla, received 99 years; Bernardino Mendez, Leonardo L. Vasquez, Pedro Perez and Martinez, tried in San Antonio, received 16, 12, 25 and 25 years, respectively; four more go from 15 to 29 years. The two leaders were just sentenced in San Antonio to life imprisonment.

STEADY STREAM OF PRISONERS OF WAR REACHING HOLLAND

(Associated Press Correspondent)
The Hague, Netherlands, July 18.—A steady stream of prisoners of war keeps trickling out of the German empire and reaches the haven of Holland. Hardly a day goes by without an Englishman, Russian, Frenchman or Belgian making his appearance in some Dutch frontier village to become the object of admiration and the recipient of enough cigarette to keep him in tobacco for the rest of his natural life. As a rule they are the most energetic men of their company who could stand detention no longer and who, after passing through the most terrible hardships, often tumble across the line in a state of complete exhaustion. Many of their fellow sufferers are shot on their way. Often they come to the barbed wire fence which has been built all around the frontier to gape at their prospective freedom with a sudden bullet in their leg or in their back.

SANTA FE SOX TO MANY NORWEGIAN SHIPS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

Teutons Willing to Pay for Destroying Vessels "Accidentally," But Matter Has Become Serious One.

(Associated Press Correspondent)
Christiania, July 16.—Although the German government officially has declared its willingness to pay full damages when Norwegian boats have been "accidentally" torpedoed by German submarines, reports of the sinking of Norwegian steamers are becoming no less serious.

Many of the leading papers denounce the government for not doing what it ought to in order to protect Norwegian sailors and citizens. So word has been published from the government regarding what steps it has taken or how it has protested.

The Tidens Tegn says that it is necessary that the government break its silence and let the people know what it has done and is going to do in order to stop these continual encroachments, and "protect our dear sailors and peaceful travelers."

The Morgenbladet says: "While our sailors are met by insidious death, while our flag is offended and Norwegian ships are torpedoed without warning, the government and parliament are busy discussing whether the language we are talking is real Norwegian or whether the hymns and prayers are to be discontinued in public schools. About those events that fill everybody with uneasiness and which they say nothing."

The Attemposten says: "Everything is all right in Norway. Germany, however, for reasons we do not understand, is torpedoing our merchant ships, but what does it matter?" In the parliament the meetings are more quiet and undisturbed than ever; nobody seems to be affected or anxious.

At the same time our farmers are up against a crop failure; the daily bread is dear for the common laborer and everything seems to be uncertain—but with the government overtaking seems to have a rosy hue."

The Shipping Gazette points to the American note to Germany, which "contains the same questions and requests which Norway, as a neutral country, must demand from the German government."

ROMAN PRESS LIFTS VOICE AGAINST THE CENSORSHIP OF NEWS

(Associated Press Correspondent)
Rome, July 18.—The Roman press has joined vigorously in the chorus of protest which is going up from every country in active war, against the difficulties of the censorship. Aside from the fact that the censors are military men and unable to judge matter from a newspaper viewpoint, embarrassment is caused because there are several distinct bodies of censors, some of whom allow certain news to pass while others suppress it.

An effect of the censorship on Roman papers are finding great favor in the capital. The reason is, the Milan censor is very liberal and the Roman censor severe, the consequence being that the Milan papers are often the first to bring news to Rome. The latest and most notable example is that of the popular interview with the correspondent of the Paris Liberte. The Corriere della Sera published it in full, while no Roman paper was ever allowed to mention it, but when the Milan paper arrived in Rome, the censorship on the interview was finally lifted here.

The Roman papers do not object to the suppression of military news, which might even indirectly help Italy's enemies, but much is censored which is not military news at all.

The newspapers here are also troubled with the mystery of the fact that some foreign countries are allowed to have Italian news two or three days earlier than the Italians themselves get it.

LEARNED PROFESSIONS HARD HIT BY THE WAR

(Associated Press Correspondent)
London, July 18.—The learned and artistic professions have been hard hit by the war. During the past six months over 2,000 applications have been filed with the professional classes' war relief council, coming from artists, architects, surveyors, stockbrokers, engineers, musicians, lawyers, schoolmasters, authors, journalists, actors and craftsmen. Many requests related to education, and the council provided schools for 35 boys and 27 girls. Medical aid, loans, assistance moral and employment were among the other appeals.

A permanent exhibition for the benefit of the fund has been opened in London. Here the professional artists-in-arms, painters, jewelry, basket, leather and needle work expose their work for sale. Portrait painting is a special feature of the exhibition.

A careful analysis of a number of large and small successful advertisers in Albuquerque who are known to be making good shows that they use three methods in their advertising.

First—Placing right merchandise and store service behind their advertising.

Second—Telling nothing but the truth in their advertisements, building up individuality and personality by getting real store news into their advertising.

Third—By keeping everlastingly at it. In other words, giving right merchandise and good service not one day in the week but every day, running their advertising regularly, whether they use large or small space.

Advertising run on this plan will prove profitable to any business, large or small, and it is the only kind of advertising that will bring permanent and profitable results. It is the kind of advertising that will reduce the selling cost by increasing the volume of sales. It is the kind of advertising THE HERALD is encouraging and soliciting.

ADVERTISING PLANNED to GET YOUR "MONEY"

THE HERALD has for some time refused to solicit through its local sales force or with special "imported" men, the various advertising "schemes" planned with but two ideas in view, "To get the advertiser's money" and to put over a special deal for the sole benefit of the paper and generally, mind you, at "advanced rates" so the "special man" can "carry" his share of the "money away."

THE HERALD has found after a careful investigation through the readers of the paper and through the advertisers themselves, that this kind of advertising does not pay.

The absolute lack of merit of this kind of advertising, whether backed by a prize winning guessing contest, sales ticket or trade mark savings schemes, is proven by the fact that it cannot be sold to the experienced advertiser.

In fact, this kind of advertising can seldom, if ever, be sold "to the same advertiser twice," unless that man is a peculiarly easy mark and only advertises to see his name in print and does not care to get results. The mere "collecting" of sales slips, labels, etc., by a "few workers" in a contest does not mean increased sales or development of new business, nor does it sell goods on their merit or create any permanent demand. It does not reduce the cost of selling, but on the other hand increases it. And remember this, before you "go in" for the next scheme advertising offered you, that the same "willing contest workers" will turn around and "work for your competitor" in the next contest just as quickly as they are "apparently" now boasting for you.

By big promises, the non-advertiser, the very man who needs the right kind of advertising help and the very man who, if handled properly, could be developed into a regular and permanent advertiser, is talked into the special page and scheme advertising, failing to realize from it. He is naturally "gun-shy" when approached with legitimate advertising plans and invariably states that he has tried advertising and found that while it is all right for some people, it does not pay in his business.

Which kind of advertising do you want... The kind planned to get results or the kind that is planned to get your money... THE HERALD has expert advertising men who are ready to help you with result-getting advertising.

The "get-the-money-advertising" along with dishonest advertising we have cut off the list.

If you, Mr. Merchant, are in a mood to talk over Advertising and want to use the columns of the EVENING HERALD a phone call will bring our solicitor to your office at once.

REMAINS MASTER OF THE UNCHARTED AIR

Associated Press Correspondent
Geneva, Switzerland, July 18.—For all the progress made by man in his conquest of the air, especially since the beginning of the European war, the birds are still the masters of the uncharted heights. The Swiss and Austrian mountaineers on the frontier of the Voralberg have just had a striking example of this brought home to them.

A farm worker engaged in cutting hay on the slope of the Camp Alp, a mountain some 6,000 feet high, near the Swiss-Austrian boundary line, brought his child to the field with him and placed the three and half-year-old youngster under a bush while he sat about his hay-making.

Some two hours later he returned to the place but could not find the child. He searched high and low, fearing he might have mistaken the bush in the shade of which he had left his offspring, but could find no trace of the infant. Beside himself with anxiety, he hurried to the nearest village and reported the circumstances to the police, who sent out a general alarm.

Several days later, some charcoal burners of the district, having learned of the loss of the child, reported that they had seen an eagle flying over them, carrying "something

Local Alpinists at once formed an expedition to search the mountain fastnesses, for traces of the eagle's nest. But notwithstanding their earnest efforts nothing has been discovered to indicate where the giant bird has his aerie or whether or not the child is still alive.

BLUE CANYON ROAD WASHED OUT AND IS NOW IMPASSABLE

The road through Blue Canyon, between Socorro and Magdalena, is impassable because of washouts, according to word received here today by Col. D. K. R. Sellers. This road was a very important link in the Ocean-to-Ocean highway and was one of the chief pieces of road of the whole state.

The washing out of the road will make it necessary, probably, to send transcontinental tourists south from Socorro to San Antonio and San Marcial and then up a very good road to Magdalena, lengthening the travel necessary to reach the western section of the trans-continental route by nearly a day. It is possible that tourists will be sent from here to San Antonio by way of the old road to Carthage and that some way of crossing the hills west of Carthage to the San Marcial-Magdalena road will be found which will cut down the time required.
