AMENDMENT NO. 4 SHOULD CARRY ON SEPT. 20.

Probably the most important subject considered by the Carlabad Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon at Crawford Cafe yesterday was Amendment No. 4 which will be voted on at the election September 20, and which provides that all exsolders, and sallors as well as nurses and those who served in the world-war and residing in the state of New Mexico will be allowed an exemption of $2,000 on their propexemption of $2,000 on their prop-erty before it is taxed by the state.

Major E. P. Bujac, who is always Major E. P. Bujae, who is always alert and keen to work for the interests of the soldler boys, was asked by the Bryan Mudgett Post of the American Legion of this city to present the matter to the Chamber of Commerce for their consideration. This the Major did in a most elo-quent speech which was also convincing. After relating the attitude of the people when the soldiers were feaving to take up the fight for lib-erty and civilization as against mili-tarism and world domination, promthey came back there would when nothing too good for them, the Ma-jor then followed them to France and onto the battlefields where the American boys brought unperishable glory to the stars and stripes. He said the people who staved at home said the people who stayed at home owe the soldier boys a debt which they can never pay and as this is the first thing asked by them from New Mexico the amendment should

The Major then touched briefly on of the arguments against the amendment, the main one being that Bros. e-6, 1-6. property would be transferred from the heads of families into the names of soldiers of that family in order to get the $2.000 tax exemption. He said a sure cure for this would be for the legislature to enact such laws as will prevent this and safeguard the interests of the state from such fraud. The speaker enumerated several states in the Union which has aiready given the ex-service men bonuses and said that in comparison the resumer for all the resumer. the request for aid from New Mexico is small, indeed. There are not many ex-soldiers who now own $2,000 worth of property, but the Major believes they should be encouraged in this way to become property owners.

Before the conclusion of the luncheon, Robt. C. Dow moved that the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce on record in favor of the Fourth Amendment allowing a tax exemption of $2,000 to ex-service men, which motion unanimously carried.

Bert Rawlins was the first speak-er on the program and he told about the activities and future plans of leaders of the Boy Scouts. He said Scout officials had abandoned their first plan of having the Scouts of Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexic congregate in one camp on account of the high cost of transporting Eaken on the ranch. The plan now is for Texas to hold an encampment together with Scouts of New Mexico. location for this encampment is now being sought and he explained that if it is held in Carlsbad the problem of securing enough water is the biggest one at present. He said the aviation field was being considered if water could be secured there, that their experience on Black River demonstrated the fact that the Scout tents should not necessarily be plac-ed under shade trees. The camp should be near the swimming pool 700 to 1,200 boys, which is the

OIL SPRAY SOLVES PROBLEM

Shifting Sand Dunes Form Seriou Obstacle to Improved Road Making in Northwest.

Shifting sand dunes which cover up a highway soon after it is com-pleted have formed a serious obstacle to improved road building in some parts of the country, particularly in the Northwest. To remedy the evil, the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has employed a more extensive application of the agency that has been used in the past to lay dust on ordinary highways-oil.

Fifty-three miles of construction of the Columbia river highway from Tho Dalles eastward lies through sandy country, in many places of a volcanic ash as light as flour. As fast as cuts are opened up and fills made in this light soil the wind whips out the fill slopes and sand dunes creep into rock completely blocking the road. Oil is the only agency yet found to stop the trouble. The equipment used to spray the crude oil consists of two supply tanks, or drums, in which the oll is carried from the storage tank at the railway siding, and a tractor, which draws the oiling rig and sup plies the steam through a hose to the compressor tank, which is carried or a trailer. The oil is heated by the steam and forced through a hose with a nozzle consisting of a half-inch pipe The steam atomizes the oil and sends It in a fine spray for 100 feet or more. depending on whether the spray is projected in the direction of the wind or against it. For obvious reasons spraying is usually carried on in the direction of the wind.

Where sufficient oil is used, this means of controlling the sand dunes is very effective, and it is believed that the cost will not be excessive. though exact figures are not obtainable at this time.

Firestone first made the low price of $13.95 on the Standard Non-Skid, May 2. Unusual purchasing power through big volume of business, and the great efficiency of its $7,000,000 Plant No. 2, manufacturing exclusively 30x3½ size, made this possible. #### THE LETTER.

CAN'T tell you, girl, how I love you—
If is something the woods never teach;
an is all the night and think of you, but I can't put the matter in speech—tit's love like the blue skies above you that around the whole universe reach.

It is love that is wide as the arches of stars from the east to the west;
It is love that is long as the marches of sustrine to sunvet and rest;
It is love that is strong as the larches that mount to earth's uttermost crest.

In the woods we are rougher than others you know in the pariors of town; To the wolf and the wild we are brothers, we are kin to the creatures of brown; It is long since we crept to our mothers and slept on our pillows of down.

For we steep in the huts of the humble and we live on a sturdier fare; And the music we hear is the rumble of thunders of earth and of sir Where the pine and the tamarack tumble and the pathway of progress pre-

Yet this land is the land of the lover, the place for a love such as mine; Oh, sweet is the scent of the clover, but strong is the heart of the pine; Love's cup in the town hubbles over, but here it is purple as wine.

here on a mightier scale; To the north and the night we are neigh-bor, we are kin of the star and the gale; The lightning it threats with its sabre, the northwind it stings with its hall,

And the heart of the man is made strong-er with the strength of the thing that he fights. And the love of his heart is made longer by the length of the ioneliest nights— For the lover whose heart is a-hunger longs most for a lover's delights.

The fellow away from the city the tricks of the city forgets.
He can't say the thing that is witty; be can't breathe his soul in regrets.
He can't say the thing that is pretty to piense the pink ear of coquettes.

For the bigness of life is about him, the bigness of heaven and star; Though the city runs onward without him, forgetting the forest afar, When he speaks let no cleverness doubt him, for he speaks of the things as

And this is the love that I bring you, the love of the man out-of-doors; this is the song that I sing you, the song that the nightingale pours, song that the nightingales fling you from eventide's musical shores.

The shepherd boy carols his meter, and follows the feet of the herds;
The same of the skylark is fleeter because of the absence of words;
Is the language of mortals the sweeter, more sweet than the music of birds?

My lips they may tremble to say it, however my pulses may beat; The tale that I tell you may weigh it and find it a tale incomplete—
But here is my heart, and I lay it, all voiceless and mute, at your feet.

I can't tell you, girl, the old story, em-bellished with city-bred lies. The tale that a planet grown hoary still hears with the olden surprise— But the night is all starshine and glory because I have looked in your eyes.

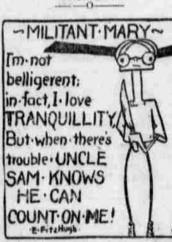

The night is all starshins and splendor up here in the tamarack lands.

The night is all mounlit and tender because of the touch of your hands—

And your eyes they may widen with wonder, but I know that your heart understands.

HISTORY BOOKS ARE WRONG

Documentary Evidence Concerning Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech.

The Declaration of Independence wasn't signed on July 4, 1776. Abraham Lincoln didn't dash off his famous Gettysburg address on an old envelope as he rode on the train to Gettysburg. Most likely, George Washingtoo never chopped down the cherry tree. The manuscript division of the library of congress isn't sure about the cherry tree episode, because George didn't write a letter about it, but it holds documentary evidence regarding the other two Binsions of our school days, so the history books that we studied so trustfully were wrong.

The manuscript division has the two original drafts of the flettysburg speech, one carefully written on official White house stationery, partly in pencil, and the other in ink, both displaying Lincoln's well-known handwriting. The first draft and the revised copy differ slightly from the address as it was finally delivered.

As for the Declaration of Independence, the official journal of the Coptinental congress for July 4, 1776. shows that on that day congress adopted the declaration by vote, 'ut the signing, which we make so much of was deferred as animportant. Most of the decrease in the method is a menth later, within to 1781, five years larer, some other congressment who were not in only a later with their signatures, thereby gaining importality,

FROM ASIA TO EUROPE.

LESSON TEXT-Acts 16:5-18.
GOLDEN PEXT-And they mid, believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt se saved, and thy house.—Acts 16:32. REPERENCE MATERIAL-Rom 18:16-

PRIMARY TOPIC-A Wonderful Dream. JUNIOR TOPIC-Paul Crosses Over Into INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC Beginning Work on a New Continent. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC Paul Carries the Gospei to Europe.

I. Forbidden by the Holy Spirit to Preach the Word (vv. 6-8). We have here a lesson on divine guidance. The inclination of Paul and his companions was to tarry in the provinces of Asia preaching the word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. They might is have reasoned "What difference would so the Gospei is preached?" Though seemingly small, the question as to whether the Gospel should be preached among the people in the East or in the West has determined the entire history of the church. Had they preached among the people in the East, Christianity would never have become worldwide. On the other hand, by laying hold upon the Grecian intellect and combining with it the push and energy of the Romans, it became worldwide. In the guidance of the Spirit we find Him just as active and as faithful in closing doors as in opening them. "The stops as well as the steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord." We ought to as truly recognize God's hand to the "shut-ins" as well as in the "openouts.

H. Called to Macedonia (vv. 9-12). A vision was given to Paul of a man from Macedonia pleading for help. This was the solution of the mystery of closed doors about them. There is a negative and a positive side to the Spirit's guidance. If we will note both we shall be able to determine with a surety the proper course of action. In order to be led aright we must be sure that we are willing to be led, pray definitely for leading, and then render willing obedience as fast as the light comes. As soon as the divine way was known they rendered immediate obedience.

III. The First Convert in Europe

The missionaries went to Philippi, The Jewish element in this city was very insignificant; so much so that they could not afford a synagogue; therefore the devout people were accustomed to worship at the river side. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women gathered there. A certain woman from Thyatira believed his message, and was baptized. Lydia was a woman of wealth, culture, and wide experience, and yet she had need of Chirst. The steps in Lydia's conversion are worthy

1. Attendance at the place of prayer (v. 13). This is the case with most copie who are saved.

2. Listened to the preaching of the word of God (vv. 12-14). The instrunent used by the Holy Spirit in the conversion of sinners is the word of God. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom.

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14). Regeneration is a supernatural work. When the Gospel is preached the Spirit of God makes It living and active, opening the sinner's heart for the reception of Christ, 4. She was baptized (v. 15). It is natural for the one who believes in Christ to desire to be baptized. 5. Her household also believed (v. 15). Thus we see that her's was a typical conversion.

IV. A Spirit of Divination Cast Out (vv. 16-18).

As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gains from her sooth-saying. This act of the woman became a great annoyance to Paul who, in the name of Jesus Christ, commanded the evil spirit to come out. Here is a case of a spiritual medium. a fortune-teller, being freed from de-maniacai possession. Many men to-day are making money by the degra-dation of womanhood, and they re- nt nil efforts to destroy their infernal business, even try to destroy those who interefere with their business. Here as everywhere Satan blocks the way as the Gospel of Christ is curried into new fields, but the Lord is

WESLEY BAKER Kfi.ED.

A telegram received here Sunday by the clerk of the W. O. W. Lodge, S. L. Myers, conveyed to friends in this city the news of the death of Wesley Baker, formerly of Carisbad, but who left here with his mother for Douglas, Arizona, about a year ago. From what we can find out, Wesley was in Los Angeles, and was injured in a railroad smash-up in that city, living several days after the accident. The wire to the lodge Bere said plans were to take the body back home, but whether that was Carlabad or Douglas is not known. The wire was sent from 202 West 27th street, Los Angeles.

Wesley was well known here where he attended school and later grew to manhood. He was the sole support of his widowed mother, and she is now absolutely glone in the world. One daughter, Hettle, is buried in Carlsbad cemetery. A good son, who ever looked after his mother, his end death is keenly regretted by a

Farm Talk No. 6

We are not convinced yet that corn cannot be profitably raised in the Carlsbad project.

We were in a field recently that produced some excellent corn, but it was not uniform. One stalk would have two big ears and many other stalks would have one small ear.

Marshall Brickey, one of the most successful corn raisers in Illinois, whose farm is located at Prairie du Roscher, in the rich bottom lands near the Mississippi River, conceived the idea a number of years ago that with proper selection of seed, one hill of corn ought to be just as good as another, if not better. He went through the field before gathering time and selected the choicest ears and had them thoroughly dried before cold weather. He then made a testing room. (We will tell you just how it was made if you will call.) Before planting time, he selected five kernels from each ear. He numbered the ear and the space in which he planted this corn. It all sprouted and looked fine; he thought he had perfect seed now, but at the end of ten days five per cent of the sprouts were either weak or dead. In another five days five per cent more showed defects. Wherever these defects appeared the ear of corn from which they were taken was used for feed. He saved 75 per cent for seed. From corn raised from this seed he repeated the process the next year and has continued to do so. When he began selecting seed his average corn crop for a period of five years was forty-five bushels per acre. After perfecting his seed his average corn crop was eighty-five bushels per acre.

The difference between poor seed and good seed may mean the difference between profit and loss.

Come and discuss this matter with us.

ONE HIGH SCHOOL A DAY

Twenty-Eight Years That Has Been the Record This Country Has Made.

In a pamphlet on high schools in this country, issued by the federal bureau of education, it is stated that the total number of these schools in 1917-18 was 13,951. The mailing list of the bureau includes the names of 16,300 high schools. The number of these schools has increased over 452 per cent since 1890. This means that one high school has been established in this country each day in each calendar year since 1890-a high school a day for 28 years.

In 1800 60.8 per cent of the high schools were under public control, but in 1918 the public-controlled high schools were 87 per cent of the whole. The average size of a city high school is 653 students and of a rural school 59 students.

In 1890 only 312 persons in each 1,000 population were enrolled in publie high schools. In 1918 the corre sponding number was 15.6, or almost five times as great a proportion, California leads in high-school education, with 27 persons out of each 1.000 in the population. Kansas is a close ond, with South Carolina at the bottom of the list, with 5.3 persons.

The Yellow World.

It is easy to see why China's im perial color is yellow, writes a cofrespondent from Yangste river, Her rivers are yellow, her long plains are yellow-especially in a famine year such as this, and as for her seas-the boundaries of her world-so desert-yellow is their color that a string of camels crossing them would look more in keeping than a string of junks And so one can understand why the very heart of the heart of China, the imperial city, should lie like a shimmering take of golden tiles within her latus besieged walls. Even against the evidence of my own eyes I cannot be-fleve that the Great Wall is built of solld ordinary stones laid one upon the other. Rather it seems moulded out of the stuff of which the mountains themselves were made, long ago when the world was plastic and empty of all save possibilities. There never was so sinuous a thing as the Great Wall built by men, I think, so sinuous and so aspiring.

GRAINS FOR POULTRY FLOCK

Corn and Wheat Are Bost and About Equal in Feeding Value—Scratch Mixture is Good.

Corn, wheat, oats, and barley are the principal grains fed to poultry; kafir corn and backwheat are used al-so, but are not so generally available and usually cost more. Corn and wheat are the two best grains and are about equal in value as poultry feeds, although wheat can be fed alone better than forn, which is inclined to be fattening. Onts and barley, on account of their hulls and higher fiber content, are not so good as corn or wheat. Rye is not well relished by fowls and is fed. If a poultry rather does not produce any grain and keeps a comparatively small number of fowls, it is often better for him to buy commercial mixed feeds. The average farmer, however, should feed home-grown grains, supplemented with ill feeds and ment scrap, and large poultryman usually can mix his own fords to best advantage. When two or three kinds of grain are raised. and ground or intil feeds are not read tly available, good results can be tained by feeding only the grains, ing and giggling as though they were provided they are supplemented with meat scrap or milk.

Good Mixture May Be Made by Using Corn, Wheat, Peas and Vetch

Many varieties of grains are used in feeding pigeons. A good mixture may be made of equal parts by weight of small whole corn, hard, dry wheat, peas and vetch, with a small quantity (about five per cent each) of hemp and millet seeds added during the molting period.

Other grains which may be substituted for or added to these are pea-puts, dried garden peas, cowpeas, clipped outs or hulled outs, buckwheat, Egyptian corn, and mile maize, while a small quantity of stale bread, rice. rape, millet, canary or sunflower seed may se fed for variety. Peas are expensive, but seem to be casential to the best results, espe-cially during the breeding season. Psanuts, cowpens and dried garden peas give quite good results and some-times are used in place of field peas when the latter are high in price. Soy beans do not seem to be so well liked by pigeons. Center green feed, such as freshly ent clover, alfalfa and chard, lettuce, plantain leaves and chickweed may be fed, but is not essential.

OPPORTUNITY FOR FEW HENS

Whether They Prove Profitable or Not in Back Yard Bepends on Care

The smallest back yard affords an opportunity to keep a few hens. Whether the occupant of the premises can keep these few hens to advantage depends upon whether he or she can of will give them the necessary care

LD Singlefoot is going to cete-OLD Singleton is weating to morrow," said the assessor; "we are planning to give him a surprise party, and would like you to go along. "You couldn't drug me there with a team of government mules." plied the village patriarch. "About the meanest trick you can play a man is to spring a surof course the majority of surprise parties are fakes. The victim has been informed in advance that he, is going to be ambushed upon a cermakes his preparations accordingly. Then when the visitors arrive at his abode he pretends to be tamensely astonished, and says he never decaused of such a visitation; but the fact that he is wearing his Sunday shirt, and has his bair parted in the middle, gives the lie to all his protestations. "There is no serious objection to a surprise party when the victim is warned in advance, atthough, as I have shown, it encourages skullduggery and hypocrisy, for no man can be ther-oughly honest who pretends thinksenent over a visit he has been plan-

"But the genuine surprise party is in outrage, and people who report to it should be severely punished. There's aothing more humiliating to a selfrespecting man than to have a whole "When I am at home I sacrifice sverything to personal comfort. I make off my shoes and solar and neck-lie, and roll up my shirtheves and slip my suspenders down over my light if I am arms. I don't care how I look if I am feeling at ease. If I am expecting visitors. I go to my boudoir and fix myself up so I look like a bridegroom.

My wife has theories, similar to mine, and doesn't believe in being arrayed in purple and fine linen all the time. But she wouldn't slovely for anything. "Some months ago my wife casually remarked to a neighbor that my birthday would occur on the following Wednesday, and that neighbor, being a confirmed busybody, got busy and organized a surprise party. I never received the faintest hint of the scheduled catastrophe, and on the or twelve products.

A Jarge number of commercial mixtures, both of scratch grains and of ground grains, are prepared for poulme. My wife was wearing an old wrapper, and was popping corn on the kitchen stove. There was nobody eise in the house, and we had no idea visttors would come, for it was a bad night. "About eight o'clock, just when I was thinking of going to bed, there was a knock at the front door. My wife thought it was some boy on an errand so she went to the door with a stovehook in one hand, and the corn popper in the other, and she gave a shrick of anguish when she saw the mass meeting on the front perch. The minute the door was open all those egates pushed themselves in smilorder in twenty years. It looked as though a couple of amateur teams had been playing hasketball in it. My wife and I began apologizing and ex-plaining as people will do under such conditions, although they know that nobody will believe what they say; right, but I could see them squinting around and making mental notes for future reference, and inside of a week the story was all over town that our house was a fright, and no respectable cow could live in it.

"That was the most miscrable even ing I ever spent, my friends, and I have never forgiven the people who took part in that uprising. And you may be sure I'll never treat another man as I was treated."

Lost Note Redeemed.

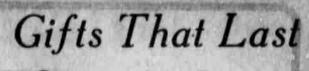

A soldier presented himself at the commonwealth treasury in Melhourne, Australia, and said, "I am a 20-pound note and want to be cashed." He stated that he had swallowed the note at Fleurbaix when he expected to be captured. He remembered the number, dud the note in question turned out to be the only one missing from a particular basic which had been recalled.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XIII.—RHODE ISLAND

RHODE ISnot really the name of this state. As can be seen from the state seni, name is the "State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." It originated from two distinct settlements. The first was made by Roger Williams in 1636. He was the pastor of a church in Salem. As he advocuted radical reforms he was ordered to return to England, but fied to the Nagragansett tribe of Indians. From them he obtained a tract of land and called the town which he established Providence, in token of God's mercy which had so far provided for him. About the same time Mrs.

Anne Hutchinson and her followers were expelled from Massachusetts on account of a theological dispute. She made her way to the island of Aquidneck, which she purchased from the Indians for 40 fathoms of white The name of this island was changed to the Isle of Rhodes, probably after the famous Greek island in the Mediterranean. By common usage it became known as Rhode Island. In 1602 Churies II gave Rhode Island a very liberal charter, and this remained in force until 1841, when a new state constitution was adopted by mass conventions, and two years later another new constitution was legally voted. The change in constitutions caused what was known as Dorr's rebellion.

The entrance of Rhode Island into the Union in 1700 completed the list of the original thirteen states. Though Rhode Island is the smallest of all the states, with only 1,248 square miles, it is very thickly populated and has five; presidential electors, which is more than those of a number of states of much larger

NOTICE TO SCHOOL BOOK BUYERS

We wish to inform our customers who will have children attending school this fall of the existing conditions regarding school books. There will be several changes in texts and as most people will expect, the prices will be some higher. To explain this advance the books you bought last year were contracted for in 1915 and this contract expired last year, so it was necessary to make a new contract beginning this year. We must take into consideration that paper is still about two and one half times higher than 1915, printers and bookbinders wages are nearly three times as high, and freight rates are about double. In making this explanation we wish to state that, as formerly, we must sell the books at a contract price on a stipulated margin, and in addition we were forced to pay for the books in advance, so take this method of informing the buyers that no books will be sold on credit. Kindly save us as well as yourself any embarrassment by being prepared. to pay for your books when taken out.
