WEDDING BELLS- EDITOR I. C. FLOERSHEIM MARRIES

Wedding Takes Place in Roy Saturday May Twentieth

Irvin C. Floersheim, editor of the Springer Times of Springer and Miss Vivian Smith of Fulton Missouri, were quietly married at the home of the groom's father, Mr. Jake Floersheim, in Roy Saturday evening, Rev. Homer F. Cooke of East Las Vegas saying the words that made the happy couple man and wife.

Only relatives of the family were present at the wedding which took place at 7 o'clock; Miss Etna Floersheim, sister of the groom acted as bridesmaid and Melville Floersheim was the best man, and little Bertha Floersheim, niece of the groom acted as flower girl. The Floersheim home in the east part of town was very tastily decorated for the occasion.

Mr. Floersheim, the groom needs no introduction to the people of this part of the state and especially Roy and Springer. He was a resident of Roy for a number of years and a portion of this time was connected with the Spanish-American with Irvin Ogden Sr. He is the eldest son of Mr. J. Floersheim of this place and is a young man of exemplary habits and one of the promising young business men of Springer. He was one of the boys of the late world war, having enlisted early in the war and is at present a member of the Springer Post of the American Legion.

The bride, Mrs. Floersheim, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Smith of Fulton, Mo., and came to Springer at the beginning of the last school term as one of the teachers in the Springer schools, and has been quite a success in her school work. She is an accomplished young lady and we are sure Mr. Floersheim has chosen wisely in the selection of future helpmate.

After the wedding a fine wedding dinner was served to those present by Mrs. Melville and Mrs. Edgar Floersheim and later all proceeded to the Community Hall where Mr. and Mrs. Floersheim gave a dance to the young folks of the town which lasted until late in the evening.

We can see in these young folks the making of a real home, the kind of a home that we need in America today and the Spanish-American extends to the happy couple all the felicitations that go to make life happy in such a home equal to or even greater than their expectations.

Mr. and Mrs. Floersheim will spend a few days enjoying a short honeymoon after which they will be at home to their many friends and relatives in Springer, where Mr. Floersheim is not only Editor of the Times but also manager of the Pastime Theater.

STATE CONVENTION OF THE R. F. D. CARRIERS TO BE HELD IN ROY MAY 30

The First Annual State Convention of the Rural Letter Carriers of the State of New Mexico will be held in Roy on May 30th according to an announcement made by R. L. C. Edgar Floersheim of this place.

Mr. Floersheim states that practically every carrier in the state will be present at the meeting. The purpose of which will be to perfect a state organization so that the Carriers can align themselves with the National R. L. C. Association.

Roy had the second Rural Route in the state and now there is a great number of routes all over the state. Mr. Floersheim is to be congratulated in having the first convention called at Roy and we hope the business of the town and the commercial club will not forget to give the boys in attendance the proper consideration.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. E. P. Brown left Monday noon for a few weeks visit with friends and relatives in Kansas City.

SENATOR MITCHELL TAKES CAR LOAD OF REGISTERED CATTLE TO HEREFORD SHOW

Senator T. E. Mitchell took a car load of his fine registered Herefords to Las Vegas last Monday to the Hereford stock show and sale which will be conducted at that place on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Mr. Mitchell had with him 10 fine one and two year old bulls, 2 cows with calves and 2 heifers, every one of which was a beauty.

Senator Mitchell is president of the New Mexico Hereford Breeders Association under the auspices of which the sale and show is held. Among the other breeders having Herefords at the show were: Hyle & Devine, of Watrus; the T. O. Ranch, of Raton, D. D. King of Sapello, C. F. The show and sale will be under the direct charge of the pres., Mr. Mitchell and the secretary, Mr. Bowman. The preliminary work will be under the direction of Mr. Shillinglaw.

All the cattle will be on display at the armory Tuesday, at which time judges will award the ribbons and on Wednesday the cattle destined for sale will be placed in the ring for auction.

The M. E. Missionary Society met with Miss Fender at the Geo. M. Ames home west of Roy Wednesday May 17, where they went through their regular routine of business and pleasure. In the entertaining of the guests, Miss Fender was assisted by her Aunt Mrs. Ames. Refreshments composed of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess which was enjoyed by everyone. Those present were: Mesdames A. Paxton, W. H. McCarger, M. McGuire, G. Kitchell, T. F. Self, Robert Holmes, W. E. Hooper, C. I. Justice, Shotwell, Al Davenport, N. E. Ames, V. H. Anderson, Wenzel, Swain, E. P. Brown and the Misses Cecil Lemon and Jesse Fender.

At 12 M. the flag should be raised to the top of the mast or pole and left there until sundown when it should be lowered and taken down.

ROY WINS ANOTHER GAME FROM LORETTA

Last Sunday the Roy Base Ball Club motored to Dawson to meet the Loretta Team in a return game, and while the trip is considered about 90 miles from Roy, naturally it looks that the other team would have the best of it, but it proved to be on the adverse, for Roy trounced them again to a score of 15 to 7.

The game was started about 3 P. M. and as usual, Roy scored two runs in the first inning, three in the second and every inning thereafter except the fourth and fifth. Loretta boys were unable to reach the first sack until the fourth with two scores, three in the sixth and two in the ninth. Roy received 13 hits and Dawson 6. It was not a case of luck on the Roy side but they just simply out hit their opponents from the start to the finish.

L. Williams pitched a very good game, and with the support of Justice the catcher and the rest of the players, he had the Loretta team at his mercy. Williams scored another clean home-run in the eighth, and Baker was four times up with four hits to his credit, Hester scored Baker in the second inning with his three base hit and McCargo followed up with the same stunt in the sixth scoring two men.

Managers Paxton and Floersheim report that it was one of the cleanest games they played this season, and that it is a pleasure to meet up with a team like that where every player is satisfied with the results. The Roy team will go to Springer next Sunday, which that game promises to make it interesting for everyone. Springer and Roy have been rivals for years as far as base ball is concerned, and every time that they would meet a good crowd of followers was with them, so you are urged to be present at this game and help the home team win again.

E. R. McBroom and Arthur Sparkes left for the Cuba country Wednesday, where they will spend a few days looking over some of the land that is offered to homesteaders. If it appeals to them they will file on some of it and probably make their future home there.

The strong Logan team at the Roy base ball park and in the evening the Ball Team will give a dance at the Community Hall; everybody is invited to these programs.

GENTRY BROS. CIRCUS IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Receipts at Roy Greater Than Those of Many Larger Towns

The Gentry Brothers circus has come and gone and many a person that had never seen a real circus can truthfully say that "I have seen the elephants, lions etc."

The circus arrived at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and the barking of the car load of dogs and noise of the wild animals soon awakened the sleeping public and in a few minutes a large crowd of kids and several older ones too were down at the yards watching the numerous wagons etc., unload from the train. In all there were 16 cars.

People began arriving in town by 8 o'clock and by noon when the large parade was scheduled to start the town was crowded with people. The parade, a dandy too, was held at 12:30 and the show started immediately after the parade reached the grounds; the large tent was erected and filled with people from all over the mesa. The evening performance was nearly as well attended as the afternoon matinee. Gentry Brothers, while not being classed as among the real large shows, yet they have some of the best trained animals of any of the shows on the road today and the acrobatic work and clowns did themselves fine.

The town near the entrance door had the pleasure of giving many a sweet kiss to numerous men present and to the delight of the wives of several prominent men of the mesa.

Mr. Dahi, manager of the show told a representative of the S. A. that the attendance of Roy had exceeded the attendance at the last five places shown previous to Roy, and that Roy was the smallest of the 6 towns shown in.

The Baum Bros., who have conducted the Roy Tin Shop the past 10 years, but retiring from the business about a year ago have decided to go back to the same line again. They will open their shop on or about the 1st day of June in the new Baum building with a full line of the farmers needs.

Sylvan Floersheim and wife and babe were down from Springer attending the Floersheim-Smith wedding nuptial last week.

News was received in Roy last Thursday afternoon that Mrs. Cipriano Lujan, wife of Cipriano Lujan of Sabinoso had passed away at 11 o'clock that morning after only a few hours illness. Mrs. Lujan had given birth to a little daughter the evening before and death resulted from this cause.

She was among the widely known ladies of eastern San Miguel county and had spent practically all her life in and near Sabinoso where she was born and reared and later married to Mr. Lujan.

Mrs. Lujan's maiden name was Miguelita Martinez and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Martinez of Sabinoso. She was born near that place on August 29th, 1876, and on December 12th 1888 was married to Cipriano Lujan and to this union were born 13 children, three of which have preceded her to the Better Land. She leaves besides her sorrowing husband six sons, Frank, Juan, Candelario, Miguel, Charlie and Santiago and four daughters Mary, Anna, Navorcita and the little baby. She was a kind and affectionate mother and dearly loved not only by her husband and children but by the whole community in which she was reared and her death will be a great loss to the Sabinoso community. Mrs. Lujan lived in Roy a few years ago and her death was received with much sadness in this place.

The funeral took place at the Sabinoso Church last Friday and burial followed in the cemetery close by. The entire family have the sympathy of their many friends in their great loss of their mother and wife.

We want to especially thank the Sabinoso Literary Society for their willingness and aid and all your kind words and help will do so much to lighten the grief that we must bear.

May God bless each one of you. Cipriano Lujan and children.

SCHOOL CLOSES

The Solano school closed last Friday with the largest enrollment in its history.

Friday night a program was rendered which was enjoyed by all present. Prof. Hendricks of Roy made the Graduating Address and presented the Diplomas.

The patrons expressed themselves very plainly, thanking the teachers for the many efforts and kindness shown the children.

Many of the patrons feel that the school term just closed is one of the best schools ever held at Solano and the patrons are highly pleased with the progress made by the pupils during the term.

There were ten graduates from the eighth grade this year at Solano and the high school will have an enrollment of from 15 to 20 the coming school year.

The contract for the new school building will be let on next Monday and should be finished in time for the beginning of the next school term.

Solano school is coming to the front very rapidly and we expect to see another good school year in our sister town to the south the coming year.

Mr. H. H. Mayberry of north of town, who has been visiting friends and relatives in the east the past few months, returned to Roy Tuesday. Mr. Mayberry states that crop conditions in the east don't look much better than they do here.

Mrs. J. W. Mackey and daughter, Cecil, and son Corral spent the latter part of the week at the Marion Conner home.

We carry a complete line of above, also embroidery threads, crochet cotton etc. There is no better quality.

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. # Ramsey Milholland

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Company

DORA YOCUM.

Synopsis.—With his grandfather, small Ramsey Milholland is watching the "Decoration Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youngster with the significance of the great conflict, and many years afterward the boy was to remember his words with startling vividness. In the schoolroom, a few years afterward, Ramsey is not distinguished for remarkable ability, though his pronounced dislikes are arithmetic, "Recitations" and German. In sharp contrast to Ramsey's backwardness is the precocity of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denominated "Teacher's Pet." In high school, where he and Dora are classmates, Ramsey continues to feel that the girl delights to manifest her superiority, and the vindictiveness he generates becomes alarming, culminating in the resolution that some day he will "show" her. At a class picnic Ramsey is captured bag and baggage by Milla Rust, the class beauty, and endures the agonies of his first love. Ramsey's parents object to Milla and wish he'd taken up with Dora Yocum. Ramsey kisses Milla. Then Milla suddenly leaves town.

CHAPTER VII

He never saw her again. She sent him a "picture post" from Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, which his father disengaged from the family mail, one morning at breakfast, and considerably handed to him without audible comment. Upon it was written, "Oh, you Ramsey!" This was the last of Milla. Just before school opened, in the autumn, Sadie Clews made some revelations. "Milla did like you," said Sadie. "After that time you jumped in the creek to save her she liked you better than any boy in town, and I guess if it wasn't for her cousin Milt, up in Chicago she would of liked you the best anywhere. I guess she did, anyway, because she hadn't seen him for about a year then."

"Well, that afternoon she went away I was over there and took in everything that was goin' on, only she made me promise on my word of honor I wouldn't even tell Albert. They didn't get any wire from the uncle about the touring car; it was her cousin Milt that jumped on the train and came down and fixed it all up for Milla to go on the trip, and everything. You see, Ramsey, she was turned back a couple of times in school before she came in our class and I don't know how old she is and she don't look old yet, but I'm pretty sure she's at least eighteen, and she might be over. I didn't think such a great deal of this Milt's looks myself, but he's anyway twenty-one years old, and got a good position, and all their family seem to think he's just fine! It wasn't his father that took in the touring car on the debt, like she said she was writing you; it was Milt himself. He started out in business when he was only thirteen years old, and this trip he was gettin' up for his father and mother and Milla was the first vacation he ever took. Well, of course she wouldn't like my tellin' you, but I can't see the harm of it, now everything's all over."

"All—all over? You mean Milla's going to be—to be married?" "She already is," said Sadie. "They got married at her Aunt Jess and Uncle Pury's house, up in Chicago, last Thursday. Yes, sir; that quiet, little Milla's a regular old married woman of this time, I expect, Ramsey!"

When he got over the shock, which was not until the next day, one predominant feeling remained: It was a gloomy pride—a pride in his proven maturity. He was old enough, it appeared, to have been the same thing as engaged to a person who was now a Married Woman. His manner thenceforth showed an added trace of seriousness and self-consideration.

Having recovered his equipoise and something more, he entirely forgot that moment of humble admiration he had felt for Dora Yocum on the day of his sitting in the classroom, smiling brightly up at the teacher, the morning of the school's opening in the autumn, all his humility had long since vanished and she appeared to him not otherwise than as the scholar whose complete proficiency had always been so irksome to him.

"The good ole class of Nineteen-

Fourteen is about gone," he said to Fred Mitchell, who was still his most intimate friend when they reached the senior year. "Yes, sir; it's held together a good many years, Fred, but after June it'll be busted plum up, and I hope nobody starts a move to have any reunions. There's a good many members of the ole class that I can stand and there's some I can't, but there's one I just won't! If we ever did call a reunion, that ole Yocum girl would start in right away and run the whole shebang, and that's where I'd resign! You know, Fred, the thing I think is the one biggest benefit of graduating from this ole school? It's never seein' Dora Yocum again."

This was again his theme as he sat by the same friend's side, in the rear row of the class at Commencement, listening to the delivery of the Valedictory. "Thinks she's just sooblime, don't she?" he whispered morosely. "She wouldn't trade with the President of the United States right now. Never mind! Just about a half-an-hour more and that's the last of you, ole girl! Yes, sir, Fred; one thing we can feel pretty good over: this is where we get through with Dora Yocum!"

Ramsey and Fred had arranged to room together at Greenfield, the seat of the state university, and they made the short journey in company the following September. They arrived hilariously, anticipating pleasurable excitements in the way of "fraternity" pledges and initiations, encounters with sophomores, class meetings, and elections; and also, they were not absolutely without interest in the matter of girls, for the state university was co-educational, and it was but natural to expect in so broad a field, all new to them, a possible vision of something rather thrilling. They whispered cheerfully of all these things during the process of matriculation, and signed the registrar's book on a fresh page; but when Fred had written his name under Ramsey's and blotted it, he took the liberty of turning over the leaf to examine some of the autographs of their future classmates, written on the other side. Then he uttered an exclamation, more droll than dolorous, though it affected to be wholly the latter; for the shock to Fred was by no means so painful as it was to his friend.

Ramsey leaned forward and read the name indicated by Fred's forefinger. DORA YOCUM.

When they got back to their pleasant quarters at Mrs. Meigs', facing the campus, Ramsey was still unable to talk of anything except the lamentable discovery; nor were his companion's bustling efforts to console him of great avail, though Fred did become serious enough to point out that a university was different from a high school.

"It's not like havin' to use one big room as a headquarters, you know, Ramsey. Everything's all split up, and she might happen not be in a single one of your classes."

"You don't know my luck!" the affrighted boy protested. "I wish I'd gone to Harvard, the way my father wanted me to. Why, this is just the worst nuisance I ever struck! You'll see! She'll be in everything there is, just the way she was back home."

He appeared to be corroborated by the events of the next day, when they attended the first meeting to organize the new class. The masculine element predominated, but Dora Yocum was elected vice president. "You see?" Ramsey said. "Didn't I tell you? You see what happens?"

A distant glimpse of her on one of the campus paths, her thoughtful head bent over a book as she hurried to a classroom. This was bearable; and in the flattering agitations of being sought, and even hunted, by several "fraternities" simultaneously desirous of his becoming a sworn Brother, he almost forgot her. After a hazy month the roommates fell into the arms of the last "frat" to seek them, and having undergone an evening of outrage which concluded with touching rhetoric and an oath taken at midnight, they proudly wore jeweled symbols on their breasts and were free to turn part of their attention to other affairs, especially the affairs of the Eleven.

However, they were instructed by the older brethren of their Order, whose duty it was to assist in the proper maneuvering of their young careers, that, although support of the "varsity" teams was important, they must neglect neither the spiritual nor the intellectual by-products of undergraduate doings. Therefore they became members of the college Y. M. C. A. and of the "Lumen Society."

According to the charter which it had granted itself, the "Lumen Society" was an "Organization of male and female students"—so "advanced" was this university—"for the development of the powers of debate and oratory, intellectual and sociological progress, and the discussion of all matters relating to philosophy, metaphysics, literature, art, and current events." A statement so formidable was not without a hushing effect upon Messrs. Milholland and Mitchell; they went to their first "Lumen" meeting in a state of fear and came away little reassured.

"I couldn't get up there," Ramsey declared, "I couldn't stand up there before all that crowd and make a speech, or debate in a debate, to save my soul and gizzard! Why, I'd just keel right over and haf to be carried out."

"Well, the way I understand it," said Fred, "we can't get out of it. The seniors in the 'frat' said we had to join, and they said we couldn't resign, either, after we had joined. They said we just had to go through it, and after a while we'd get used to it and not mind it so much."

"I will!" Ramsey insisted. "I couldn't any more stand up there on my feet and get to spoutin' about sociology and the radical metaphysics of the metaphysical bazoosium that I could fly a flyin' machine. Why, I—"

"Oh, that wasn't anything," Fred interrupted. "The only one that talked like that, he was that Blickeys; he's a tutor, or something, and really a member of the faculty. Most of the others just kind of blah-blahed around, and what any of 'em tried to get off their chests hardly amounted to terribly much."

"I don't care. I couldn't do it at all!"

"Well, the way it looks to me," Fred observed, "we simply got to! From what they tell me, the freshmen got to do more than anybody. Every other Friday night, it's all freshmen and nothin' else. You get a postal card on Monday morning in your mail, and it says 'Assignment' on it and—and—then it's got written underneath what you haf to do the next Friday night—oration or debate, or maybe just read from some old book or something. I guess we got to stand up there and try, anyway."

"All right," said Ramsey. "If they want me to commit suicide they can send me one of their ole 'Assignments.' I won't need to commit suicide, though, I guess. All I'll do, I'll just fall over in a fit, and stay in it."

And, in truth, when he received his first "Assignment," one Monday morning, a month later, he seemed in a fair way to fulfill his prophecy. The attention of his roommate, who sat at a window of their study, was attracted by sounds of strangulation.

"What on earth's the matter, Ramsey?"

"Look! Look at this!" Fred took the card and examined it with an amazement gradually merging into a pleasure altogether too perceptible:

TANLAC KEEPS HIM FIT, SAYS McGRAW

Has Used It for Years With Splendid Results—Fine for Run Down Condition.

"For four years Tanlac has kept me in the pink of condition as I take a few doses of it every time I feel a little run down and it always builds me up again," said Wm. A. McGraw, 207 Beach Place, Tampa, Fla.

"I began taking Tanlac first about four years ago when I was in a very bad state of health and had been run down for several years. I was always taking laxatives, too, but I believe they did me more harm than good.

"Tanlac made me feel like a brand new man in a very short time and I have never had a return of any of my old troubles. The reason of this I am firmly convinced is that I always have Tanlac handy and take a few doses every time I feel a bit under the weather."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Fish Stories.

Representative Merrick was talking in Oklahoma City about a fish speculator who had made millions during the war.

"It's a good fish story," he said, "and fish stories are popular. In fact, they've been a popular ever since the days of Jonah.

"In the days of Jonah the fish swallowed the prophet and the people swallowed the story, but nowadays the people swallow the fish and somebody also swallows the profit."

There are no postage stamps on the envelope. It bears only what were known as postmaster's stamps, requiring payments of 5 cents overseas postage and the collection of another 5 cents postage from the addressee on delivery. No street address appears because such letters could be received only by calling in person at the post-office. The practice was discontinued about the time of the Civil war and specimens have become so rare that Lutteken asserts the one he holds is, in his belief, the only one extant.

THE MENACE OF TAXATION BUDGETTING DOWNWARD

Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific System, in discussing present day conditions and the menace to business and prosperity from excessive taxation says:

"The greatest damper upon business revival and the greatest menace to the return of prosperity in this country is taxation. I am sure people generally do not realize the seriousness of this aspect of the situation. Business is carried on for profit; men undertake new enterprises, employ labor and take the risk, for profit; it is largely the surplus wealth invested in enterprises carried on by others, that afford most employment for labor outside of agriculture.

"The country ought to take its bearings before some of its vital interests go on the rock. How unfortunate is the delusion that we can make the rich pay all the taxes. I agree that taxes should be paid in proportion to the ability of the taxpayer, but we have added to that principle a progressive ratio that is economically ruinous, and the danger is that we as a people will become very poor and economically weak and emaciated before we correctly diagnose our case and find out what is the matter with us. It is hard for those of us who haven't much, to believe that we can suffer from the gouging of a rich man by the government. We ought to ponder Bismark's statement, that Socialism can make rich men poor, but it can never make a poor man rich."

Annual expense of the national government is reported to have been cut three thousand six hundred million dollars $3,600,000,000.)

This reported to have been the result of the application of the budget system that has been enacted by Congress—too good to be true.

General Daws, assisted by thirteen prominent business men serving at one dollar a year, are credited with having accomplished this.

A start in the right direction has been made. The states may follow suit, Cities and counties may catch the fever and economize a little.

The budget so far as it draws the assistance of mere taxpayers into the game making and cutting estimates will prove a Godsend.

Budgets made up of the demands of those who get or spend the money will never reduce the overhead cost of the government perceptibly.

When the budget committee is made up fairly of both taxpayers and taxpayers then some results may be expected—but not before.

State budget laws that merely assemble the aggregate demands of all the aggregated bodies of spenders and officials are a farce.

MOSQUERO WEDDING

News has been received in Roy that two prominent weddings took place in Mosquero the first part of the week.

On Sunday afternoon Herman Hill and Anna Turjillo a prominent young couple of the town hunted up Judge McGlothlin and had him say the words that made them man and wife. The groom Mr. Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill of northwest of Mosquero and the bride is the sister-in-law of Mayor B. F. Bitwn of the County Seat. We understand the young couple will make their home with the grooms father Mr. Walter Hill for the present.

The second wedding took place Monday evening when Rev. Burnett said the words that made Dr. D. C. Daniels and Inez Ross Cates man and wife. Both Mr. and Mrs. Daniels are well known on the mesa and were residents of Roy for a while.

The groom Mr. Daniels is one of the prominent physicians of the county and manager and owner of the Mosquero Hospital and has a fine practice. He came to Roy from Clayton and later moved to Mosquero with the establishing of the county seat at that place.

The bride Mrs. Daniels is one of the early homesteaders of the mesa and came to the west in 1907 and for a number of years with her father the late Dr. Cates of Solano had charge of the Solano hotel. She has a fine homestead near Solano. for the past several years she has been a practicing nurse and after the establishing of the Mosquero Hospital became head nurse in this institution and at which place the romance started that has ended so happily.

They will be at home to their many friends in Mosquero on and after June first.

The Spanish American extends congratulations to these couples and wish them all the joys that go to make life one continued round of bliss.

Why do women like pipe smokers?

We asked many women. One said: "Because a man who thinks things out, does them and goes all the way through with anything he starts generally smokes a pipe if he smokes at all—and nearly always he does smoke."

Another replied: "A pipe smoker is more of a home man, it seems to me. There is no better picture of contentment than a man smoking a pipe in his home after the day's work is done."

"He is more honest, more reliable, more manly," said another—but she was rather young.

"Pipe-smokers are not so jumpy and fidgety, so nervous as non-smokers. They're more easily contented," was the opinion of one woman.

There were many reasons given by the fair ladies; some of them not very powerful from a logical viewpoint. The significant feature of the questionnaire was that the great majority of the women admitted that they do like pipe smokers.

And just to show that woman is not the only illogical of the two sexes, we asked a number of men why they liked the tobacco they smoked. One said it was strong enough for him. Another said it was mild enough for him—and they were smoking the same brand. All of them had some more-or-less indefinite reason for liking a certain tobacco, but putting that feeling into words was difficult. Even our old Edgeworth smokers—our best friends—have difficulty in telling why they like Edgeworth.

"It is a friendly, friend-making tobacco that just suits me," said one. "There's the whole thing. But Edgeworth doesn't suit everybody. Out of every hundred pipe-smokers there may be one or two who couldn't get supreme satisfaction out of Edgeworth."

Nevertheless, we would like to send any pipe-smoker free samples of Edgeworth, and we are sincere when we say that we would rather send samples to a man who thinks he will not like Edgeworth—for he may find he is mistaken and then he will be the best friend for Edgeworth that a smoker could be.

If you will send us your name and address on a postcard, we will forward samples of Edgeworth, Ready-Rubbed and Plug Slice, and there is no tag attached. "Send money if you like it." The samples are free and postpaid. Address your card to Larus & Brother Company, 600 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Planet Without Oxygen. According to the spectroscopic studies made at the Mount Wilson observatory of the light received from Venus, no oxygen-absorption lines are found. This indicates that there is no oxygen or water vapor in the outer atmosphere of Venus, and furthermore that the reflected light of the sun must have penetrated to a considerable depth.

It therefore appears necessary to attribute the great brightness of Venus to some other cause than that of high reflective power of water-vapor clouds, and this apparent absence of oxygen must be considered in connection with speculations as to the conditions of the planet.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Memorial Day Gift

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Richard Peckham was a veteran of the Civil war. He always marched in the Memorial day parade. The parade was much larger than it had been for a number of years back. The men of the World war now marched, too.

Richard had always been a very active man, and he had taken part in many a celebration in the town. By day he sold cigars and cigarettes and fruit at the little stand in front of the small house where he and Mrs. Peckham had lived for so many years. But at night, oh, so often, he would dress in his best fireman suit or in his Civil war uniform as special town constable.

Richard could remember so many years back. He could remember when they had no such fire department as they had now, for example. Now they had a splendid firehouse too, above which was a clubroom for the firemen. What a magnificent place that was. They subscribed to several magazines, always there were some papers lying about on the great shiny table they had bought for the center of the room—to make it cozy and club-like, they had said.

How good it was to talk over the old days. There were some of the present men of the fire department who had remembered the old days. How they had pulled the hook and ladder up the great surrounding hills!

"I remember one cold night," Richard Peckham would begin a tale of former days, and so the story would be continued, a story of fighting against great odds, mighty hills, frightful cold and water that froze. They had motors now.

The new hook and ladder was new. It was a handsome hook and ladder. Richard Peckham admired it. Now he was merely an honorary member of the fire department, but a picture of him hung on the wall in the club and over it was the word "Hero." Oh, yes, Richard Peckham had had a splendid life; useful, brave, and the remembrance of it gave him great happiness.

The past was not the past with him. It was the present, too. It was always along with him, nudging him, as it were, and saying:

"Do you remember so and so?" And then Richard would smile at the thought. He was often smiling at his thoughts.

But since there had been these great improvements in the fire department they decided that they had no room for the old hook and ladder.

"We'll have to sell it to the junk man," they said. "He may give us ten dollars for it."

Richard had missed that meeting. Wasn't that just like a lot of young men with no sentiment, no feeling? They would sell that splendid hook and ladder which had been pulled up many a hill and which had saved many a life! It was sacrilege, sheer sacrilege.

"They're goin' to sell the old hook and ladder," he told Mrs. Peckham the next day. "Yes, ma, they're goin' to sell it. I wasn't at the meetin' last night, but I've heard how they've made all arrangements. If I only had room—" he broke off then, and his eyes filled with tears. Mrs. Peckham knew what it meant to her husband. It was almost something alive to him. Sell it for junk? It would break his heart.

Richard Peckham was getting dressed for the Memorial day parade. He was ready ahead of time. He knew that he would be.

"Richard," she came toward him, "before you start for the parade I want you to take a look in the yard. I've a little Memorial day present there for you—a real Memorial day present."

His heart was bending happily, joyously, as he hurried along. But no, she couldn't have meant that. No one really knew how he loved it except himself. And besides the yard was too small. He had thought of that himself.

But there, in the yard, just squeezing in, as though it knew it was its only chance and had to do it, was the old hook and ladder. There it was and there it would be, not as junk but as having found a home.

"Oh, ma, ma," Richard cried, "I—I just can't say what I feel!"

As a result of the special election held at Aztec, N. M., one of the most modern school buildings in the northern part of the state is soon to be erected. A feature of the structure will be a swimming pool and an auditorium which will seat 500 people.

Sent to restrain County Treasurer Vernon S. Wright from paying a $2,500 warrant drawn to the order of A. P. Harter as a member of the entertainment committee for the recent good roads convention at Phoenix, was filed in Superior Court at Phoenix by County Attorney Shepherd. W. C. Frazier is dead with four bullet holes in his body, and George C. Herrill, a former soldier, is in jail in connection with the killing, which occurred near Clovis, N. M., recently. According to the story Herrill is said to have told the sheriff, the two men were riding together in an automobile when a discussion arose over domestic affairs. He recently paid a visit to the mines, which are in Chispas, near Arispe, and said that a force of 150 men is now at work at the property. Only a few cars of ore a week are sent to El Paso for smelting, but each carload is so rich that one-tenth of the value pays for the labor and all overhead expenses of the mine.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Massive Silver Set Ordered by Napoleon I Put on Exhibition at New York.

The massive silver set of 919 pieces ordered by Napoleon I, during the hundred days, delivered after his abdication to Louis XVIII, and used by the French royal family at Tulleries palace from 1815 to 1830, has been placed on exhibition in New York. Two bullet holes in the soup tureen bear evidence of the revolutions it has passed through. Each article bears the Bourbon coat of arms, the fleur de lis surmounted with the crown and is stamped with the official government mark, the mark of the chief craftsman and of the guild. Napoleon I ordered this set of silver from Biennais on his return to France from his first exile on the island of Elba. It was made during the hundred days of Napoleon's second reign, but before it could be delivered Napoleon was forced to abdicate and was again exiled this time to end his days on St. Helena. Louis XVIII, his successor, paid Biennais for the silver and had the Bourbon coat of arms placed on it. The set of silver passed finally to the heirs of the duc de Chambord and through them has come to North America.

Fad Recently Adopted by Those Freed From the Marital Tie by Court Proceedings.

From time immemorial woman has worn on the third finger of her left hand a plain band of gold as a symbol of her honored position of wifehood. And when death takes from her the partner of her life she signifies her loss and grief by wearing appropriate garb. But in what a different manner today the widow of the present, that is, the one who by the sanction of the courts, has resigned her job as wife, makes known to all the world her renewed state of single blessedness. For the grass widow of today has adopted the latest of fads, the "divorce ring." The jeweled symbol of the severance of the marital tie takes the place of the former gold band. It is made of gold or platinum on which is mounted a broken Cupid's bow at the end of which is set a jewel to represent a divorce. Should the wearer once more embark on the matrimonial seas and again come to wreck then another jewel is added to indicate the second divorce, and so on.

"How many wives have you had?" demanded the examining judge. "Six, yo' honah," was the reply. "Why couldn't you get on with them?" "Well, suh, de fust two s'pelled de white folks' clo's when dey washed 'em; de thu'd worn't no cook; de fo'th was ject nacherally lazy; an' de fifth—I'll tell you, jedge, de fifth, she—" "Incompatibility?" This dam will bring under irrigated cultivation 3,000,000 acres of farming land now idle. It will run a swarm of factories, mightier than the pyramids. Ancient way of conquering a territory was to enslave the inhabitants. Modern man's great conquests harness nature's forces and free human labor.

When Hungry Little Muscles Say, "Please Help Me"

DID you ever stop to think who it really is that's talking, when childish voices raise a clamor, "Mother, I'm hungry?"

It's really muscles and bones and nerves and cells worn in the stress and strain of play—that are calling for rebuilding material.

What kind of an answer? The right thing, or just anything? It makes a big difference.

Grape-Nuts, so deliciously crisp and appetizing to taste, and so quick and convenient to serve, is a splendid food for rebuilding young bodies. All the wonderful nutriment put in wheat and barley by Nature, including the vital mineral elements, is there—and Grape-Nuts digests easily, quickly and completely. Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is exceptionally nourishing.

"That's splendid!" says appetite. "That's just the need!" say the hungry muscles, nerves and bones.

Ready to serve right from the package—always crisp and fresh. A favorite dish with all the family. Sold by grocers.

H. L. Boyd returned Thursday from Oklahoma City, Okla., where he has been on business. Mrs. Emma Seaman who left here about two years ago has returned with the intention of again making her home in this sunny clime. She still owns her half section of land here and will soon be at home on same.

Mrs. T. E. Silver accidentally fell off the cement platform in front of the church last Sunday evening, a distance of three feet and painfully injured and bruised her shoulder considerably. We are glad to say that no bones were broken and she is slowly recovering.

Mrs. L. H. Brock of Mosquero was in Mills Tuesday on business.

Several from here attended the circus at Roy last Saturday. The Mills school closed last Friday and the "Kidlets" are rejoicing over their vacation. The teachers departed for their home Saturday. They have done good work here and it is hard to say good bye.

Last Saturday evening Miss Ruth Toalson and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Martin entertained the pupils and patrons of the Meiteno school district at the home of the latter. Games of all kinds were indulged in by both young and old until they were interrupted by the hostess serving a delicious lunch which consisted of two kinds of cake and lemonade. About 40 guests were present, all departed for their homes before midnight declaring that they had been royally entertained.

Miss Martha Albertson who has been attending school in Stafford, Kansas, the past term returned home Saturday. We were glad to see her and her little Sunday School Class gave her a welcome such as grown folks cannot show. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Holmes, who will remain for a short visit here.

We wish to postpone our quarrel with the "devil" for a while at least until we have more practice along that line.
