LOTS OF WORK FOR MR. JAFFA

Superintendent Clark Well Im-

Schools.

The following were the land entries at the local land office yesterday. Ora P. Hester, Grant; Juan Vigil, Wagon Mound; Reese Biddow, Gallup; Charles A. Dilley, Willard; L. Carlos Lopez, Santa Fe; Porfirio Anaya, Pastura; Margarito Lucero, Pintada; William A. Moore, Vaughn.

Captures Horses.
The mounted police office here received a telegram this morning from Mounted Policeman J. W. Collier stating that a bunch of stolen horses had been located in El Paso and four men are held on the charge of stealing them from New Mexico. Further details are awaited here.

Company Dissolves.
Papers were filed in the office of the Territorial Secretary for the dissolution of the Pecos Valley Irrigation Company which was incorporated July 18, 1906, and which is owned by the Allison-Richey Land Company of Houston, Texas, who ask for the dissolution of the company.

Signing Checks.
Secretary Jaffa and his entire office is almost overpowered with work resulting from the recent constitutional election. Checks have to be made out and numerous documents signed over sums of $3 or more, to pay certain clerks of registration and other officials who took part in the election. There is an immense amount of detail connected with the work, and checks cannot be made out until the receipts from all the precincts in one county are on hand.

In Las Vegas.
Governor Mills left last night for Las Vegas to go on a three days hunting trip. He will be back Monday.

Visits Schools.
On Tuesday of this week, Superintendent J. E. Clark visited the schools of the city and town of Las Vegas, holding a teachers meeting in the town in the afternoon. He drove his car to Watrous on Wednesday morning, where he was joined by County Superintendent Blas Sanchez. The three teachers and the board of directors met with superintendents Clark and Sanchez in the afternoon for a profitable consultation.

In the town of Las Vegas, splendid work is being done, though another teacher is needed badly. The present teachers are conscientious and faithful, making the most thorough preparation for each day's work. The children in the Watrous schools are serious, interested and responsive. The chief difficulty that of inadequate quarters, will be removed in another year, as the directors are planning the building of a new house the coming summer.

Insurance Company.
Superintendent of Insurance Jacobo Chavez has received the notice of the dissolution of the Keystone Guard, a fraternal insurance company of Athens, Pa.

Opinion of Attorney General.
The following opinion of the attorney general is self-explanatory: Hon. Charles D. Miller, Territorial Engineer, Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Sir—I have your letter of the 22d instant in which you ask my opinion whether or not you may appoint an assistant for the purpose of representing your department as an inspector of the various irrigation projects now in process of construction.

I do not find in the statute direct and explicit authority for the appointment or employment of such an assistant or inspector, but it is plainly made the duty of the territorial engineer, when in his opinion it may be necessary, to inspect any work under construction for storage, diversion or carriage of water and require any changes necessary to secure their safety. It is manifestly impossible for the engineer in person to make all such necessary inspections of works now under construction, in various parts of the territory, and at the same time be able to give proper attention to the discharge of his numerous other duties both in the office and in the field, the most of which cannot be delegated to any assistant. It seems to be a matter of necessity that some portion of this inspection work, at least, should be done by other persons, and if you can obtain the services of a competent person, or persons, whose inspection and reports you can safely adopt as your own, I believe it would be a compliance with the statute for you to do so, provided that arrangements can be so made that no increased expense is put upon the territory.

It is so manifestly for the interest of owners of irrigation projects to have such inspection by a capable person during the progress of the work, that it would seem reasonably certain that they would be willing to pay each his share of the compensation and expenses of your inspector in proportion to the time required for each project and possibly in proportion to its size and cost. ## REBEL ATTACK STILL FEARED

Sentries Doubled and Activity of Mexican Soldiers Phenomenal.

El Paso, Tex., March 24.—The activity of Mexican troops at Juarez was continued today, sentries having been doubled last night in expectation of an attack by the insurgents, who are known to be near the city.

Jail Whitewashed.
In compliance with a request from Washington that the American prisoners in Juarez jail be given sanitary quarters, the municipal officials have had the jail whitewashed.

Peace Again Probable.
El Paso, Texas, March 24.—Minister Limantour's modified statement published here today created much satisfaction among the insurgent leaders. It was regarded as substantiating the hope, which has not been entirely abandoned, that some form of peace proposal will soon emanate from Mexico City. The insurgents fear, however, it was stated, that President Diaz will grant partial reforms, pertaining chiefly to Chihuahua state, which might have the effect of appeasing a large element without enabling Madero to achieve complete success.

Not Altogether a Picnic.
San Antonio, Texas, March 24.—The young man who had enlisted in the regular army, but who had not been assigned to a regiment previous to the mobilization of the United States troops at Fort Sam Houston has had some rare experiences. Some two or three hundred of the troops have been sent to this city in the past few days, and many of these have discovered that army life at a mobilization camp is not one continuous picnic. Squads of these men have been given from three to five hours a day in continuous drills in an effort to whip them into condition before they are assigned to the various regiments. Weather conditions have made no difference, they have been getting plenty of action and some real new information relative to the qualifications for soldiers.

The young man who had enlisted thinking that the regular army offered a kind of pleasure excursion has had his anticipations badly shattered. At the camp almost an hour of the day from sunrise to retreat squads of these men can be seen under direction of an officer going through drill formation and learning the art of appearing at their best all the time. It is but the fact, too, to say that many of them are getting some valuable information on sanitary conditions and all those things which teach men how to take care of themselves and be ready for service at all times. It can be truthfully said that the new recruits have been getting a number of things which they did not know were on the programme.

Uncle Sam is Investigating.
Washington, D. C., March 24.—The state department today instructed the United States Consular officers in the vicinity of Chihuahua and Agua Prieta immediately to investigate the report that four Americans had been shot to death, at each place by federalists. The consulate at Chihuahua was instructed to inquire into the report that John Dignowity and three other Americans were shot in the state of Chihuahua under orders of a Mexican court-martial, and the consul at Nogales will investigate the reported execution of Adams, Young, Howard and Shanley after having been captured with the insurgents at Agua Prieta.

Diaz is Partially Deaf.
Galveston, Tex., March 24.—President Diaz continues to enjoy good health according to Dr. George H. Lee, member of the faculty of the University of Texas, who returned today from Mexico City, where he had a long talk with Diaz a few days ago. Dr. Lee says the venerable president is in the possession of all his faculties and outside a slight impairment of hearing, due to advancing age, he is as hale and hearty as he was ten years ago.

War by May 1.
San Antonio, Tex., March 24.—With the new demand for six or seven thousand recruits, the issuance of an order by General Carter making provisions for a sudden move, should it be required and a statement by Dr. Carlierist, one of the dominant figures in the Mexican revolutionary junta, that the United States would intervene in Mexico unless there was a definite show of tranquility by May 1, the war cloud loomed large today.

KILLED HIMSELF BECAUSE OF HARD LESSONS.
Chicago, March 24.—Tired of trying to learn lessons that would not stay in his head, William Shiel, the fifteen-year-old son of a Lake Forest contractor, last night killed himself with a revolver, a gift from his father.

NO CHOICE AS YET FOR SENATOR AT DENVER.

TWO TRAINS
ARE HELD UPRobbers Adopted Modern Methods in Pulling Off
Their Stunt

THEY NETTED ABOUT $20,000

Took Plenty of Time So as to Make Sure That Job Was Well Done.

Coffeyville, Kans., March 24.—For two hours last night, six masked men held the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern passenger train, number 104, at a standstill on the prairie six miles south of this city. They blew up the safe of an express car, and escaped in two automobiles, carrying with them money and valuables which are believed to amount to $20,000.

Just after the train left Lenapah, just south of this city, over the Oklahoma line, Engineer Lynch heard the sharp cry "Hands up!" Turning, he saw a masked man on the tender pointing a gun at him. "I'm going to ride a little ways with you," said the man. "Drive on!" The engineer drove on.

About four miles out of Lenapah, the man compelled the engineer to stop the train at a small culvert near a clump of trees. Five more masked men took positions on either side of the train and began shooting in the air and along sides of the train. Then while two men stood on guard, the other four marched the engineer and fireman to the day coach and locked them in.

Modern Methods.
Three men then went to the express car, forced the two express messengers to jump out and stand where they could be covered with a revolver. After nearly an hour's work the men succeeded in getting a charge of nitro-glycerine into the safe, which was blown to pieces. The men made no haste. They were at least three miles from any habitation, and went over carefully all packages from the safe. Then two automobiles approached within a hundred yards of the train. The lights of the machines were extinguished, the robbers jumped in and the machines disappeared. The robbery was reported as soon as the train reached this city and the sheriff and his deputies immediately started on horseback in pursuit of the robbers.

RECALL FOR JUDGES.
GOOD SAYS ROOSEVELT.

His Presence Makes Junior Day at Leland Stanford University a Notable Event.

Stanford University, Calif., March 24.—Colonel Roosevelt is a guest of Leland Stanford University today, his visit making notable the celebration of the annual junior day on the college campus. He delivered a brief address and reiterated that the recall for judges would be a good measure for California.

He strongly indorsed the move for a shorter ballot, which, he said, was a move of first importance in the interest of popular government. He indorsed the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the recall of the judiciary of California, on the ground that there was no alternative to assure justice and fair dealing by the courts from the standpoint of the people in view of conditions existing in the state. The ex-President's attack on the senate and his implied criticism of the courts of California, which he indicated in his language justifying the use of the recall of judges in California—were received by the audience with vigorous evidences of approval.

HOLOCAUST IN MILWAUKEE CAUSES EIGHT DEATHS.

Roof of Factory Building Caves in and Firemen Are Buried Beneath It.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—Six firemen are dead, two others are dying, several others are suffering severe injuries, the result of a caving in of the roof of the building of the Middleton Manufacturing Company, wholesale hatters, on which the firemen were fighting the flames in this building this morning. Between fifteen and twenty men were on the roof when the walls of the four story structure collapsed, precipitating them all to the basement.

SHORTAGE OF $5,000 IN U. S. PAY OFFICE.

Vallejo, Cal., March 24.—Owing to the alleged discovery of a shortage of $5,000 in the accounts of the pay office on the United States receiving ship Independence, no one connected with that office is permitted to leave the vessel without the consent of the executive officer. The shortage is said to include both money and stores.

REPUBLICAN BOSS WINS COMPLETE LEGAL VICTORY

Cincinnati, March 24.—Attorneys for George B. Cox won a complete victory in a fight that has been waged in three courts here during the last four days, when the circuit court temporarily enjoined Judge Frank M. Gorman of the criminal branch of the common pleas court from proceeding in trying Cox on the charge of perjury.

WAR CLOUDS
IN CHINALloyd's Doubles Its Rate for Insurance Against Four Weeks' Risks.

CELESTIALS ARE OBSTINATE

Private Advances From Far East Received in London Are Disquieting.

London, March 24.—Private cables received by London business houses from representatives in the Far East today are very disquieting. They assert that it is expected that Russia will soon declare war against China. The rate at Lloyd's to cover risks on the outbreak of hostilities within four weeks jumped this afternoon from five to ten guineas per cent.

China is Obstinate.
St. Petersburg, March 24.—An official dispatch to the government from Peking today states that China remains obstinate regarding the question of the freedom of Russian trade in Mongolia, asserting that Russia is entitled merely to import non-Chinese goods and export local products.

Tension Has Lessened.
London, March 24.—On the other hand the latest advices from European capitals, indicated the general belief that the tension between the two countries has lessened.

CMPULSORY COMPENSATION LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

New York Court of Appeals Turns Down Legislation Modeled After British Measure.

Albany, N. Y., March 24.—The workman's compulsory compensation law, passed by the legislature last year, which provides for compensation to workmen injured in certain specified dangerous employments, regardless of the employers' negligence was declared unconstitutional by the court of appeals today. The decision was unanimous. The law is modeled on the English workmen's compensation act of 1897.

VELVET CUFFS FOR TROUSERS

Heigh-ho For the Latest Decree of New York's Customs Tailors

RIOTS MAY BE EXPECTED

Men's Coats Are to Be Picturesque Russet Brown With Narrow Shoulders.

New York, March 24.—The news of further street rioting, rivaling in ferocity the anti-harem trousers demonstration, may soon be expected. Customs tailors have decreed that it is highly proper for the college youth, who aspires to the very latest mode, to wear velvet cuffs at the bottom of their trousers. Also that the real "stylish" man will wear red-brown garments with narrow shoulders and shaped to the back.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA.

Chicago, Ill., March 24.—Arthur H. Wild, of Evanston, yesterday, decided to accept the presidency of the University of Arizona at Tucson. Mr. Wild is now assistant to the president, A. W. Harris, of the Northwestern University. He is 46 years old and a graduate of Harvard. The vacancy in the presidency at Tucson has existed for several months.

MISS CORDELLA MESEROLE COMMITS SUICIDE AT NAPLES.

Naples, March 24.—Miss Cordella Meserole of New York, aged 27 years, threw herself from the balcony of the Grand hotel and was critically injured. She was removed to a hospital where it was said she was rapidly sinking. Later Miss Cordella Vanderbilt Meserole died at the hospital. She was in Italy with her parents for her health.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYER DIES OF BLOOD POISONING.

Cleveland, O., March 24.—Stanley Robinson, owner of the St. Louis National League baseball club, died of blood poisoning at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank de Hass Robinson.

CONDUCTOR ROBINSON DIED THIS AFTERNOON.

Conductor W. L. Robinson of Cerrillos, who was crushed between two cars at the coal camp of Madrid, thirty miles south of here, yesterday, died today at the Albuquerque hospital. His funeral will be in charge of the Masons at Cerrillos. A wife and several children survive him.

JURY VALUES WIFE'S AFFECTIONS AT $10,000.

New York, March 24.—A verdict of $10,000 in favor of Percival L. Harden, a magazine publisher, formerly of Chicago, was returned last evening against William T. Hoops for the alienation of the affections of the now Mrs. Hoops, who before she obtained a divorce, was Mrs. Harden.

SEPTUAGENARIAN IS CUTTING A NEW MOLAR.

Greeley, Colo., March 24.—Although he is 77 years old and proud possessor of a white beard, Henry J. Bexfield of this city, is cutting a tooth—a third molar.

COURT HOUSE
DYNAMITEDDastardly Outrage Committed on New Building at Omaha, Nebraska

CONTRACTOR'S OFFICE WRECK

Evidently Plot to Ruin Builder of Magnificent County Structure.

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—Representatives of Coldwell and Drake Company, contractors of the new court house, this morning received a telegram from Thomas Wilson, secretary of the company, announcing the practical destruction of the home office at Columbus, Indiana, by a dynamite explosion last night. This is the only development this morning that seemed likely to furnish a clue to the perpetrators of the attempted destruction by dynamite of the new court house here last night. The attempt was made this morning and a posse is on the track of the miscreants with bloodhounds.

Two Explosions.
Omaha, Neb., March 24.—Two explosions in the basement of the new million-dollar courthouse at Eighth and Farnum streets at 1 o'clock this morning created considerable excitement and brought out the police reserves. Windows were shattered in buildings two blocks away and considerable damage was done. Two cement floors in the basement of the building were torn loose and an interior retaining wall was badly damaged, but the stone walls of the uncompleted building were not injured so far as could be observed.

AUSTRALIA WILL BE AT IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Several Men Interested in Reclamation Work Have Indicated Their Intention of Attending.

Chicago, Ill., March 24.—Australia will be represented at the meeting of the National Irrigation Congress in Chicago, December 5 to 9, writes Elwood Mead referring to the attendance of Hugh McKenzie, minister of public lands of Victoria, and himself at the last Congress. Mr. Mead, who is chairman of the State Rivers and Water Supply Commission of Victoria, was president of the Irrigation Congress in 1894 and 1900. He writes from Australia:

"The experience of Mr. McKenzie and myself was most enjoyable and the reports from the Australian press representatives who accompanied our delegation have given the Congress a standing in Australia which it did not before possess. Already several gentlemen interested in irrigation have indicated their intention of being present at the next meeting."

ANOTHER UNFORTUNATE WHO WAS WEARY OF LIFE.

Denver, Colo., March 24.—Her face covered with a rag and with a bottle containing a clear fluid by her side, a well-dressed woman was found in a thicket on the west bank of the Platte river near Virginia avenue and South Lipian street. A note found near her indicated she had planned suicide. The bottle, it is believed, contained chloroform.

"Thank you. I am glad you got me up. I had been lying down to take a rest," said the woman. Then she hurried away with the bottle. After she had disappeared Hannigan found the following note: "There is no one to identify me. Have no friends or relatives. Would like to have my body cremated if possible. I was told to move and I have made the last move there is to make." The woman is about 40 years of age and was well dressed. She wore a dark blue skirt and white shirtwaist, a black tight-fitting coat and a brown hat with red roses.

SOCIETY REPORTER MADE SERIOUS MISTAKE.

New York, March 24.—S. S. Hastings, executor of the estate of the late Grover Cleveland, and in charge of Mrs. Cleveland's personal affairs, issued the following statement last night: "The paragraph appearing this afternoon in one of the weekly society publications suggesting that there is an engagement of marriage between Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Professor West of Princeton is not only without the slightest justification, but is fully refuted by the fact that Dean West already has a wife living and their son now is a student in Princeton university."

Greeley, Colo., March 24.—"Left wife's hair in upper dresser drawer. Mail at once to Lincoln, Neb., to avert disaster. (Signed) H. Stimson." This is the hair-raising telegram received today by Manager George Morgan of the Camfield hotel. Investigation disclosed the hair in the place mentioned and it was done up in a package one foot square and sent to its owner. The couple stopped in Greeley a week ago and left hurriedly. The hair consisted of two heavy switches, a large mass of fluffy brown curls and a contraption or two the identity of which is still in doubt among the men who saw them.

MYSTERIOUS GERMAN BATTLESHIP IS LAUNCHED.

Kiel, Germany, March 24.—Germany's first turbine battleship, Kaiser, was launched yesterday, the birthday of Emperor William, and was christened by Empress Augusta Victoria, Emperor William looked on. In a christening speech Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg described the Kaiser as a ship of mystery, the admiralty, in accordance with its customs, withholding all details of construction and equipment, even to the matter of tonnage and the number of guns to be carried. It is thought that the vessel will have a displacement of between 21,000 and 24,000 tons and there is a possibility that she will be armed Kaiser was laid down on July 1, 1909, provision for her construction having been made in the German naval program for that year.

But He Will Have to Answer Another Charge in New Mexico When He Finishes His Term.

El Paso, Texas, March 24.—Robert Howe pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree when arraigned in the thirty-fourth district court yesterday on a charge of killing Customs Inspector Tom O'Conner, near Fort Hancock on January 30, last. Howe, who is but 20 years old, was wounded in a battle with deputy sheriffs and rangers the night of the tragedy, one bullet entering his right shoulder and the other his left leg, and he was brought to the El Paso county jail where he has been confined since.

Lived in New Mexico.
Robert Howe, his 18-year-old brother, Guy, and his 64-year-old father, Frank, were ranchmen near Abo, N. M., and were accused of stealing from freight cars. I. K. McClure, Santa Fe special agent, of Albuquerque, was sent to investigate, and his body was later found in a well near their home. A posse started after them and they were overtaken at Fort Hancock on the way to Mexico. Near Fort Hancock Inspector O'Conner and Justice of the Peace Myron R. Hemley attempted to arrest them. A pitched battle ensued in which O'Conner was killed. Hemley was slightly wounded, and Howe was wounded and later captured. Then followed a running fight in which several deputy sheriffs and rangers took part, and the father and brother were killed at midnight on January 20, of this year, after they had put up a stubborn fight. Howe's sentence was fixed by the jury at five years, but he will likely be tried in New Mexico for the murder of McClure after he finishes his term.

George Miller, the third member of this trio, was taken to Los Lunas last week, and where he pleaded guilty to blowing the safe of Becker Brothers in Belen with Grimes and Hart and received a three years' sentence and was taken to the penitentiary March 13. Miller was in the penitentiary with Hart and Grimes, having been sentenced for burglary in April, 1908, and was released in January, 1910.

Hart and Miller blew the safe at Coors lumber yard at Las Vegas last fall and then Hart and Grimes blew the safe in the postoffice at Dawson, getting about $500 to $600. Then they followed up their chain of safe-blowing, next showing up at Trinidad, blowing the safe of the Denver and Rio Grande, but receiving only $65 for their trouble.

They then turned a trick in Amarillo, Texas, but it is not thought that they got much money. Proceeding from there to their old haunts in New Mexico they showed up at Texico and blew the postoffice safe getting over $200.

But they were not yet tired of their business. They went to Fort Sumner, N. M., and blew the postoffice safe and got $400.

As a Trio.
About four weeks afterwards Miller had joined Grimes and Hart, forming a vigorous trio and this trio blew the safe of Becker Brothers at Belen getting $920, and a lot of watches and rings. They missed a large sum of money, however, which was concealed in the Becker vault, having broken the wrong door.

Hart is Caught.
Hart was caught the following day on train No. 3 at Las Vegas. About a month afterwards Miller and Grimes were also caught in Ogden, Utah.

Wanted Beer.
Grimes had been arrested as a suspected safe-blower, for he is said to have "looked the part." Miller at-

Hudson, Kas., March 24.—Five men blew up the safe of the Hudson State bank early today and after seriously wounding Max Rice, the watchman who attempted to grapple with one of the robbers, escaped with $4,600.

Curryville, Mo., March 24.—Safe blowers last night dynamited the bank of Curryville, wrecking the building and safe, and escaping with $4,000.

Lone Robber Holds Up Train.
Denison, Iowa, March 24.—A man last night compelled the engineer of the Chicago and Northwestern east-bound passenger train to go ahead in to the sleeper with him. There the robber held up two passengers, securing $49, a gold watch and a diamond ring. He then jumped off the train and escaped.

Secured Sealed Packages.
Little Rock, Ark., March 24.—Superintendent Johnson of the Pacific Express Company states that the men who held up the Iron Mountain train near Coffeyville last night, got no money from the express car and all the booty they secured consisted of a few "sealed packages" whose value was not great.

Two Yeggmen Wounded.
Gahanna, Ohio, March 24.—Five yeggmen, who yesterday blew the safe in the postoffice escaped in a running battle from a posse headed by Mayor W. P. Davidson. They carried two wounded companions with them.

A SPLENDID TONIC.

Corn, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic.
I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial.
Your druggist sells Cardui.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

Blessed Be Nothing.

Now, blessed be nothing! We don't have to dust it; it never wears out; the dampness can't rust it; it needs neither floor space nor room on a shelf; Naught else in the house takes such care of itself.

It will not get broken; we don't have to mend it; Children can't scratch it, and servants can't bend it; The poorest of all need not be without it; There's never a rule that one must know about it.

It's price never rises—it's always in season; You may hate it, or love it without rhyme or reason. Unless you say? Ah, there you mistake! For all minor ills 'tis the best drug to take;

It's the right repartee to an illustrated
sneer; The healthiest drink except water clear. So, blessed be nothing! When weary and sad, It oft seems that nothing can make the heart glad.

Montoya Rearrested—Constable Jose
C. Montoya of Raton, who was released on an order from the justice court, freeing him from guilt on the charge of having killed Jacob Casados last Saturday, has been rearrested on a bench warrant and reincarcerated at the county jail pending a hearing.

Marriage Licenses—The following marriage licenses were granted at Raton: Gundalpe Martinez and Felicia Leal, of Dawson; Jose E. Fernandez and Refugio Martinez of Sweetwater; Bonifacio Moya and Annie Johnson of Cimarron; Jose Ruiz and Clara Madrid, of Vanhoute.

Rebuilding the Tiptoe—Preparations are being made at Dawson, Colfax county, for rebuilding the tiptoes between mines Nos. 1 and 2, which were destroyed last week by fire. The loss of the tiptoe has caused the upper mine to be temporarily closed, awaiting the building of the new structure which will be much larger and more substantially built than the one destroyed by fire.

Came Near Drowning—F. A. Thompson of the E. H. Williams and Company came near drowning Sunday at the Haynes Pool at Roswell where he and his friends were spending a few hours. While in the water he was seized with cramps and had gone down three times when M. J. Mc-Donald grabbed him and held him above water until help could be gotten from the boys on the bank. Mr.
Williams was in seven feet of water.

Hunts Gasoline With a Match—
Bruno H. Totzek, Mr. and Mrs.
Percy Evans and Mrs. Roy H. Mook had just driven into the Cummins Garage the other evening to find out why their lights would not burn when Mr. Totzek smelled gasoline, and in trying to locate the leak with a match, took quite a set-back when a three-foot blaze struck out. In the endeavor to put it out M. Evans spoiled a Sunday hat, and Mrs. Tot-zek spoiled a blanket. The blaze was extinguished by hand chemicals.—

Gertrude Nunn of Roswell Killed—
T. H. Nunn and his daughter, Mrs.
P. J. Staggs of Roswell received word that their daughter and sister Miss Gertrude Nunn, had been killed by an auto in Los Angeles where she has been in college. No details have been learned. Mrs. Staggs left for Los Angeles to attend the funeral. The young lady who was killed left two years ago, after a residence of five years in Roswell. She was living with her brothers and attending a college at Los Angeles.

A Shifting of Saddles—A tragedy in two acts, wherein one Martin Brundidge of Raton sinned and retributive justice came with one full swoop, happened between the hours of midnight and 10 o'clock when the aforesaid was taken before the grand jury at Raton to await a hearing on the charge of having attempted to escape
the officers of Raton with a stolen saddle on his back. Brundidge was caught by the officers shortly after midnight while attempting to board the blind baggage of No. 2 with a saddle in his possession that he had

"appropriated" from the place of E.
R. Manning at Raton. The man gave all sorts of explanations as to how the property happened to be in his possession, stating that he had purchased it from a business firm in Trinidad. The stolen property was recognized, however, as belonging to Mr. Manning and the qualified candidate for the Ananias club called before Justice Bayne, who refused to have the man's straightforward prevaricating "saddled" upon him. The curtain rings down on the concluding act with the villain in custody and Miss Arline Manning in possession of her favorite saddle.—Raton Range.

Thieves Break Into Two Houses—
Thieves recently broke into the houses of Frank McCabe and R. McLelland several miles east of Moriarty, Torrance county, taking dishes, bedding,
and other articles.

Conductor Crushed—A special train reached Albuquerque at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon taking W. L. Robinson, of Cerrillos, a freight conductor on the Madrid branch of the Santa Fe railway, to the company's hospital. Robinson may die as a result of injuries received in Madrid, southern Santa Fe county yesterday morning.
He was caught between two cars in making a coupling and his abdomen and hips terribly crushed. According to railway men, who accompanied him, a freight crew was placing a car on a siding and Conductor Robinson attempted to make a coupling. In some manner, he fell between the couplers and was crushed. He was placed on a special train and record speed was made to Albuquerque. Robinson has a wife and several children.

NEAR VIEW OF THE HORRORS OF WAR.

Looking for a Loved One Among the Wounded in Temporary Hospitals at Richmond.

"We had come to the end of May,
when the eyes of the whole continent turned toward Richmond," says an article of reminiscences in the April Scribners. "On the 31st, Johnston assaulted the Federals who had been advanced to Seven Pines. It was so near that the first guns sent our hearts into our mouths, like a sudden loud knocking at one's door at night. The women left in Richmond had, with a few exceptions, husbands, fathers, sons, and brothers in the fight. I have never seen a finer exhibition of calm courage than they showed in this baptism of fire. No one wept or moaned aloud. All went about their tasks of preparing for the wounded, making bandages, scraping lint, improvising beds. Night brought a lull in the frightful cannonading.
We threw ourselves dressed upon our beds to get a little rest before the morrow.

"During the night began the ghastly procession of wounded brought in from the field. Every vehicle the city could produce supplemented the military ambulances. Many slightly wounded men, so black with gunpowder as to be unrecognizable came limping in on foot. All next day women with white faces flitted bareheaded through the streets and hospitals, looking for their own. Churches and lecture-rooms were thrown open for volunteer ladies sewing and filling the rough beds called for by the surgeons. There was not enough of anything to meet the sudden appalling
call of many strong men stricken unto death. Hearing that my cousin, Reginald Hyde, was reported wounded
two of us girls volunteered to help his mother to search for him through the lower hospitals. We tramped down Main Street through the hot sun over burning pavements, from one scene of horror to another, bringing up finally at the St. Charles Hotel, a large old building. What a sight met our eyes!
Men in every stage of mutilation, lying waiting for the surgeon upon bare boards with haversacks, or army blan-

LOCAL FIRM WILL CONTINUE VALUABLE AGENCY

The Capital Pharmacy of this city has just closed a deal whereby they will continue to be agents for ZEMO
—the well known remedy for Eczema,
Dandruff, and all diseases of the skin
scalp.

The extraordinary leap that this clean liquid external treatment for skin affections has made into public favor in the last few years proves its wonderful curative properties and makes it indeed a valuable addition to the fine stock of remedial agents carried by the Capital Pharmacy.

They have a limited supply of sam-

U. S. GRAND JURY AT ALBUQUERQUE ADJOURN.

Joaquin Lozano Acquitted of Charge of Breaking Into Santa Fe Freight Car.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 24.—In his maiden case in the district court, Attorney Raymond B. Ryan was yesterday successful in securing a verdict of acquittal for his client, Joaquin Lozano, a native of Old Mexico.
Lozano was indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of entering a Santa Fe merchandise car. The court appointed young Ryan to defend Lozano, who was unable to employ counsel. The case for the United States was presented by Assistant United States District Attorney Herbert W.
Clark. After being out for fifteen minutes, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal.

The United States grand jury was discharged yesterday afternoon after working for four days. But little business was considered by the grand jury and the session of court was an unusually short one.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.

EVER HAVE IT?

If You Have, the Statement of This Santa Fe Citizen Will Interest You.

Ever have a "low-down" pain in the back? In the "small," right over the hips? That's the home of backache. It's caused by sick kidneys. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Santa Fe people endorse this. Read a case of it. Hilario Baca, Delgado St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "About two and a half years ago I gave a public statement, telling of my experience with, and opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. They completely rid me of pains in my back which had troubled me off and on for months. When I stooped or brought any strain on my loins, I suffered severely and there were various other symptoms that my trouble came from disordered kidneys. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they brought prompt relief. I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills and it was not long before every symptom of my trouble disappeared. The fact that I have had no return attack, warrants me in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my re-endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WYOMING STRONG IN SENATE

With Less Than One Half New Mexico's Population It's a Power

SENATOR WARREN A LEADER

Only Three Members Have Had Longer Term Than He Has Had

By Victor Elliott.

Washington, March 25.—Wyoming is the most important state in the Union—at least so far as the United States Senate is concerned. This state, with a total population of less than 146,000 under the recent census, or fewer people than any other state, with the exception of Nevada and with a smaller number of inhabitants than there are in any one of scores of states in New York city, during the coming session of Congress will be more powerful and influential than any one of the other 45 states of the nation.

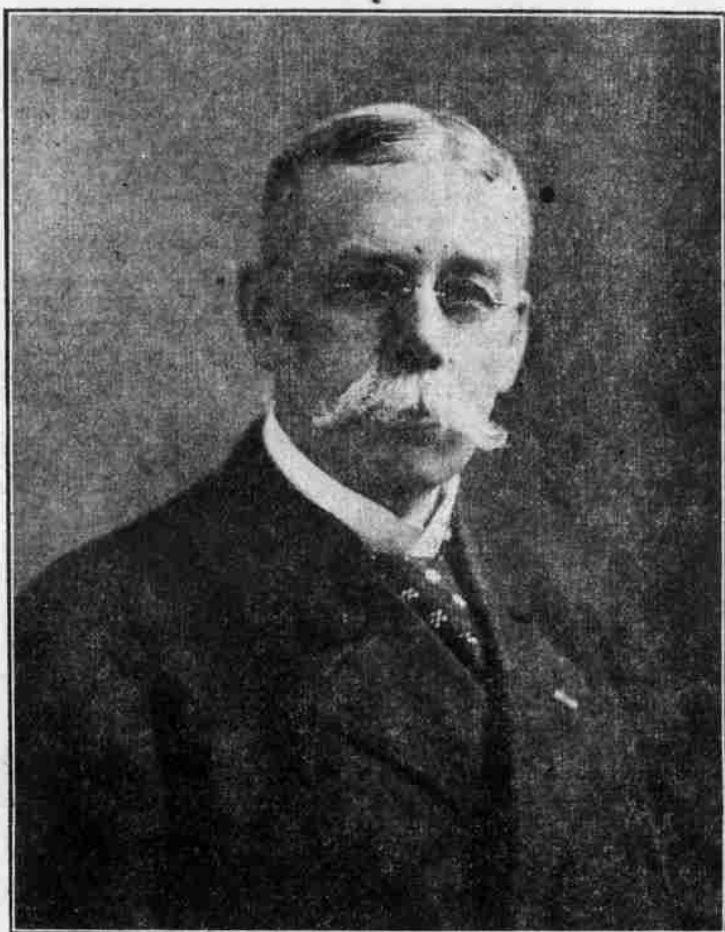

This is true for the reason that in the United States Senate length of service counts for more than the numerical strength of the state which a senator represents. In the Senate and Gallinger, of New Hampshire, with 29 years service. Frye and Cullom are old and feeble, and they do not aspire to the influence which will be Warren's. Gallinger's previous assignments to committees have not been as fortunate for him as have Warren's and, accordingly, in the few line-up he will not fare as well. Frye Cullom, Gallinger, Warren, Lodge, and Perkins only have served longer than Clark.

While Senator Warren will not be the actual leader of the Senate, that position going to Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, who will become chairman of the committee on finance, succeeding Aldrich and who like Warren is a good friend of New Mexico and Delegate W. H. Andrews, still he will be chairman of the next most important committee, that in charge of appropriations. While Senator Penrose's colleague, Senator Oliver, is a new member with only two years of service, and in consequence his influence is correspondingly small, Senator Warren's colleague, Senator Clark, has had 16 years of service, and will have important committee assignments, including the chairmanship of the judiciary, which he has held for many years.

Combined, the terms of Warren and Clark are far greater than the terms of any two senators representing the state. This serves to make the position of their state stronger than that of any other.

As chairman of the committee on appropriations, Senator Warren will have the disbursement of more than $500,000,000 annually, or one half of the total revenues of the government. In the last Congress he was all states are upon an equal footing without respect to their population, wealth or location, and the important positions go to those senators of the majority party who are longest in service, all other things being equal. In the second place influence comes from the ability, and natural and inherent qualities of leadership.

These two elements combined will make Wyoming, which is represented by Senator Francis E. Warren, and Senator Clarence C. Clark, the most important state in the Union so far as power in the United States Senate is concerned, in the next Congress.

Three members of the Senate have served longer than Warren. They are Frye of Maine, with 30 years to his credit; Cullom of Illinois, with 28;

chairman of the important committee on military affairs. With the retirement of Senator Hale, who was chairman of the committee on appropriations, Senator Perkins was left the ranking member of that committee. Under ordinary circumstances he would become chairman of the committee but he is too feeble to accept the responsibility and, further more, he is chairman of the committee on naval affairs, and desires to retain that place. Therefore, Warren, will go to the head of appropriations with all the power and influence which he place carries with it. By virtue of that chairmanship he will also be acting chairman of the committee on public expenditures, which was designed to have a sort of jurisdiction over all the appropriations of Congress. He is also a member of the State Department, irrigation and reclamation of arid lands, public buildings and grounds, and the committee on rules, which fixes the regulations governing the Senate.

Senator Warren, although 67 years of age, is a physical giant, and as active and robust as a man 29 years younger. He has had a long and varied career. Born in Massachusetts, he served as a private in the Civil War, and then went to Wyoming when Wyoming was a part of the territory of Dakota. He has been president of the territorial legislature of Wyoming, a member of the territorial Senate, a member of the city council of Cheyenne, mayor of Cheyenne, treasurer of the territory, and has been either on the state Republican committee or the national committee from Wyoming for nearly 30 years. He was appointed governor of the territory by President Arthur, and removed by President Cleveland. He was again appointed governor by President Harrison, and served in that capacity until the territory was admitted to statehood, when he was elected senator and has served as such ever since, with the exception of two years. He has such a hold on the state, that combined with the power he will henceforth wield in the Senate, he is likely to remain senator as long as he desires to do so. He is a farmer and stock raiser, and one of the few members of the Senate who is not a lawyer.

Senator Clark is at the head of the highly important committee on the judiciary. He is also a member of the committee on foreign relations, public lands, railroads, conservation of natural resources, and several other committees. He is a native of New York, and graduate of the University of Iowa, and has lived in Wyoming for 30 years. He has been associate justice of the Supreme Court of Wyoming and for several terms represented the state in the House before he first came to the Senate in 1895. He is regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in the Senate.

Combined, these two senators representing next to the smallest state in point of population, not only hold the most important places in the Senate, but are in position to wield the greatest power, certainly more power than is exercised by the senators from any other state.

DAN CUPID PLAYS MANY CURIOUS PRANKS.

Homer Davenport, the Cartoonist, Does Not Relish Humorous Side of Married Life.

Salem, Ore., March 24.—Charging that within two months after their marriage his wife called his father a "damned old fool," and other opprobrious names, Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, filed suit in the circuit court for divorce. Davenport says that his home is at Silverton, Ore., although he has lived in Sacramento, New York, and Orange, N. J., since his marriage. Davenport has three children, Homer, Mildred, and Florida.

Bartender Shoots Mistress. Colorado Springs, March 24.—W. H. Nostrum, a bartender of Colorado City, shot his common-law wife, sometimes known as Lattie Dillingham, and ended his own life. The double tragedy was the result of the woman's threat to have Nostrum arrested on a charge of attempt to murder.

Wants Her Two Children

Denver, March 24.—Pearle L. Moore, wife of Winfield S. Moore, president of the Great Western Drainage and Irrigation company, has applied to the district court for a writ to prevent the juvenile court from taking from her through dependency proceedings, her two children or to otherwise interfere with them during the pendency of her suit for divorce. The Moore case came up before Judge Allen three weeks ago. An order of court was made ordering Moore not to interfere with his wife.

Old Couple Should Know Better.

Denver, Colo., March 24.—Levi M. Smith, a former business associate of the late D. H. Moffat, aged 87, father of eleven children by three marriages, and Mrs. Luella Smith, aged 66, twice married and the mother of eight children, are the principals in a case which was taken up before a jury in Judge Riddle's division of the district court yesterday. Mrs. Smith is seeking to obtain $75,000 for separate maintenance and the annulment of a prenuptial contract wherein she, prior to her marriage to Smith in 1906, relinquished her legal right to share his property and left him free to dispose of it at any time he saw fit. The aged man seeks to perpetuate the contract and to obtain a divorce. Smith is one of Denver's old-time realty dealers. During the halcyon days of Colorado he was closely associated in land, mining and other ventures with which David H. Moffat was identified. He ascribes his present trouble to the influence of his wife's children, and declares they are endeavoring to obtain his money for their own use.

Didn't Know His Daughter.

Steubenville, Ohio, March 24.—Before being remarried to his wife, from whom he separated twenty-eight years ago, Leander Fisher, had to be introduced to his youngest daughter, who was a baby at the time of the separation.

Married Her Chauffeur. Pittsburg, Pa., March 24.—Jessie Henderson, said to be the daughter of a wealthy English squire of Kent, England, has married William A. Rand, a Pittsburg chauffeur, formerly in her father's employ.

Rifled Her Husband's Pockets.

Denver, Colo., March 24.—Basing her action on the assertion that her husband accused her of extravagance and of taking money from his trousers pocket, Mrs. Eldora Lockhart yesterday filed a suit for divorce from William C. Lockhart, asking that she be given $10,000 permanent alimony. Mrs. Lockhart says that within a few weeks of their marriage, June 29, 1910, her husband told her he hated her; that she had no sense and that either she or he would have to leave the house. She says that various times her husband brought home meat and eggs, which were eaten entirely by himself, and that he refused to allow her to partake of such luxuries. On one occasion, she states, her husband threw a cup at her, which was shattered to pieces on the wall when she dodged it.

Florence E. Anderson has filed suit for divorce from Ray E. Anderson, alleging non-support and desertion. They were married in 1902.

Make This Test How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness. It is because of what Rexall "33" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Fischer Drug Company.

CENSUS OF FISH INDUSTRY

Almost 150,000 Persons Making Their Lives From It

PRODUCT VALUED $54,000,000

Foreigners Are Gradually Crowding Native Men Out of Trade.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—A special report on the Census of Fisheries of the United States for the calendar year 1908, taken by the Census Bureau in cooperation with the Bureau of Fisheries, will be issued soon by Census Director Durand.

In his letter of transmittal to Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, the Director states that this census is the first complete enumeration which covers the same period of time for all sections of the country. The report presents statistics concerning the capital invested in the industry, the number and tonnage of vessels and boats employed, the character of the apparatus used in catching fish, the number of persons employed, wages and salaries paid, and the quantity and value of the different varieties of fish, crustaceans, mollusks, and aquatic animals. Statistics of this character are collected from time to time by the Bureau of Fisheries, and as far as possible the census data have been compared with those compiled by the bureau. The statistics were collected and the report prepared under the supervision of Mr. William M. Stewart, chief statistician for manufactures.

Scope of the Report.

The report contains comparative statistics for the United States, exclusive of Alaska, for the census of 1908, 1889, and 1880, together with a consolidation from the reports of the Bureau of Fisheries for three years from 1900 to 1904, and earlier reports.

A census of fisheries is attended with more difficulty than any other industry canvassed by the Bureau of the Census. Calling as it does for the number of persons employed and the investment in vessels, outfit boats, and apparatus of capture, both ashore and afloat as well as the quantity and value of all commercial products of the seas, lakes, and rivers, it requires that a return be secured not only from all proprietors and firms engaged in the industry but also from all independent fishermen who fish for profit.

The number of persons employed in the industry in the United States in 1908 was 143,881, the capital invested was over $42,000,000, and the value of the product was about $54,000,000. The total investment in apparatus of fish capture, such as nets, seines, lines, etc., was about $9,000,000.

Increase in the Industry.

The census for 1908, as regards the number of men and vessels employed and the amount of capital invested, shows an increase over the corresponding figures for the last preceding canvass, except that the number of fishermen for the period 1900-1904 exceeds the number for 1908; the number of vessels shown for 1889 exceeds that for either of the subsequent canvasses; and the tonnage of vessels shows a decrease at each succeeding canvass, as compared with the preceding one. The ratio between the capital invested and the value of products has progressively increased, the capital invested in vessels, boats, and apparatus of fish capture being equivalent to 63 per cent of the value of products in 1908, compared with 53 per cent in 1889. In other words, the value of products in 1908 was only $1.58 for each dollar invested in equipment, as compared with $1.90 in 1889.

The value of the fisheries of the United States for the year 1908 was the largest on record, amounting to over $54,000,000, with a total weight of almost 2,000,000,000 pounds.

The oyster product leads all other species in value, contributing almost 30 per cent of the total value of products. Salmon ranked next to oysters in the value of the catch, being the leading species of fish in this respect. The catch of cod is third in value, amounting to $3,000,000, followed by that of shad, lobsters, clams, and a great many other varieties of fish products.

The decline in the value of products of the whale and menhaden fisheries is marked, while large gains are shown for the value of products in the general fisheries and the sponge fisheries.

The oyster fisheries show a general increase in value of product, although a large value was reported for the period of 1900-1904 than for either 1908 or 1889.

Ranking Order of Sections and States. Fish proper formed over three-quarters, or 73 per cent, of the quantity and more than half the value, 56 per cent, of the entire products of the fisheries of the United States in 1908. The value of the products taken by the fisheries of the Atlantic coast is nearly double that of all the rest of the country combined, being 66 per cent of the total of the United States. The Pacific coast ranks next in the value of its catch, with 13 per cent of the total. The Gulf of Mexico, and the Great Lakes, and the Mississippi River with its tributaries contributed, respectively 9, 7, and 6 per cent of the total value.

The relative rank of the several leading states in order of value of fish products for 1908 was, Massachusetts, with a total of over $7,000,000, or 13

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

per cent of the value of the catch of the entire country; Virginia with over $4,700,000; New York with $1,549,000; Washington with $2,513,000; Florida with $3,359,000; Maryland with $3,306,000; Maine with $3,257,000; followed in ranking order by New Jersey, Connecticut, California, etc.

The trade with foreign countries in fisheries products for the fiscal year 1907-8 was extensive, amounting to a total of nearly $29,000,000, the exports being $6,106,193 and the imports $12,135,724.

The imports consisted mainly of herring, canned sardines, mackerel, and lobsters.

The export was composed mainly of salmon and oysters.

Fresh fish formed but a small part of either exports or imports, the product of the fish canning and preserving industry figuring most prominently in the foreign trade.

In 1890 the exports of fish exceeded the imports, but in 1895 the imports were more than the exports, while in 1908 the debit balance of trade in fish products were in excess of the total value of exports from the United States.

The report is designed to cover shore fisheries, the operation of small boats, and of vessels over 5 ton burden, the business of packing and canning fish, but does not cover operations of individuals fishing for pleasure or those dealing in fish as merchandise.

The Five Geographic Divisions.

For purposes of comparison, the entire country is divided into five divisions: The Atlantic coast, Gulf of Mexico, Pacific coast, Great Lakes and the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

The Atlantic coast contributed nearly two-thirds of the total number of persons employed in the fishing industry; also approximately two-thirds of the value of products and of the capital invested in boats and apparatus.

The prominence of the New England states is due principally to the deep-sea fisheries, while the Middle Atlantic states lead in the oyster industries, Chesapeake Bay being the most important on the Atlantic coast, the fish, oyster, and other products from that one district constituting more than one-fifth of all, along the Atlantic coast.

The number of persons employed in the industry in the two states of Maryland and Virginia alone, is over 35,000, with a total capital invested of almost $5,000,000; while in the New England states there are only 22,000 persons employed, but the capital invested is some $12,000,000.

Occupational Statistics. Of the total number of persons engaged in the industry in the United States in 1908, about 25 per cent were employed on fishing and transporting vessels, 73 per cent in the shore and boat fisheries, and 2 per cent as shoremen directly connected with the catching of fish.

The Atlantic coast fisheries were by far the most important in the United States, giving occupation to 66 per cent of all the persons engaged in fishing in this country.

The next in importance of the fisheries districts was the Gulf of Mexico where 11 per cent of the total number was employed.

In New England the vessel fisheries predominated, a fact which was not true of any other group of states.

A vigorous campaign is planned.

Fishing on the Great Lakes gave occupation to fewer people than in any other of the main geographic divisions of the country.

According to the statistics of the report, the Atlantic coast states including Florida, reported 11,172 fewer fishermen than in 1889, but 15,647 more than in 1880; while the Pacific coast states in 1908 reported a total which is 3,169 more than in 1889 and 8,135 more than in 1880.

Slightly more than one-half of the persons engaged in the fisheries of the United States in 1908 were proprietors and independent fishermen and nearly two-thirds of this class were reported from the Atlantic coast.

Wages of the Fishermen.

In regard to the wages of the men employed in the fishing industry of this country, in many cases remuneration is not wholly in money, but consists either altogether or in part in a share of the catch, the share being given usually as 50 per cent of the catch after certain expenses are deducted.

In some sections of the United States there have been some great changes in recent years in the nationality of the fishermen. It is asserted that along the coast of Maine, for instance, the native fishermen are being driven out of the business by the Italians, while in some sections of the New England coast a great number of the deep-sea fishermen are Portuguese, and in certain localities the shore fisheries are passing into the hands of not only the Italians but of the Greeks. On the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic coasts there has been comparatively little change in the nationality of the fishermen.

The Different Kinds of Fishing Craft.

The classification of vessels and boats employed in the fisheries industry according to means of propulsion, is of special interest as showing the extent to which power crafts are used. The vessels reported under the head "steam and motor" are mainly steam vessels, and the boats so reported are principally gasoline and naphtha launches.

Of the $21,075,000 invested in vessels and boats, not including outfits, 55 per cent represents the value of crafts propelled by engines, 39 per cent the value of sailing boats and vessels, 4 per cent the value of row boats, and 2 per cent the value of other boats and vessels.

Steam and motor boats of the Atlantic coast district, although forming only 16 per cent of all boats in number, contributed 60 per cent of the total value of boats for that district.

The Pacific coast ranked next in the amount invested in vessels, outfits, and boats, although it reported only 14 per cent of the total for the United States. The average tonnage of vessels engaged in the fishing industry was slightly over 18 tons, the average for steam vessels being 16 tons and for sailing vessels 20 tons.

WOMEN DECIDE TO CLEAN UP KANSAS TOWN.

Hunnell, Kan., March 23.—Because they believe the men are running the city as a "wide open" bordertown, the women of Hunnell have decided to take a hand in the city government.

At a caucus of women held yesterday Mrs. J. E. Wilson was nominated for mayor and Mrs. G. A. Osborne for police magistrate.

A vigorous campaign is planned.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

Roswell is complaining because it will have to fight over again the question of Prohibition vs. the Saloon. The people thought they had it settled but because of the initiative and referendum which may be invoked in local affairs, the weary taxpayers must make the fight every year and such fights cost money as well as other things more intangible but just as important. The question is raised this time by a petition for the commission form of government. Now a commission form of government adapted to local circumstances in each case, is a good thing. It means a more business like form of government, if nothing else. But even the commission form of government is only a temporary solution of municipal problems, as the following comparison of city government in Germany and in the United States, in the April Scribner's, demonstrates:

The German city is a cross-section of Germany just as the American city is a cross-section of America. The city cannot be divorced from its setting or studied apart from its historical environment. The German city is a part of the traditions, the sense of the Fatherland, the universal efficiency, the far-sighted outlook, the paternalism vitalized by patriotism of the German people. The American city, on the other hand, has no traditions. There is no sense of responsibility. It is efficient only in spots. It has no vision beyond the present. It reflects the extreme individualism and license which characterizes the nation. It is democratic in form, but hardly in reality. And measured by the service rendered, or the sense of the paramountcy of the State, it is far less democratic than the German.

The most obvious thing about the German city is its orderliness. The most obvious thing about the American city is its disorderliness. The American city is an accident, a railway, water, or industrial accident. It has its birth in the chance location of a body of settlers. The German city, on the other hand, was either a fortress, a Hauptstadt, or an industrial community, like the cities of the lower Rhine in neighborhood of Essen, Elberfeld, or Barmen. Berlin, Munich, Dresden, Cologne, Mannheim, Düsseldorf, Hanover, and Strassburg were the seats of kingdoms, principalities, or bishoprics. Frankfurt, Hamburg, Bremen, and Lübeck were free Hanseatic towns, owing allegiance to no one—proud of their medieval traditions and jealous of their freedom.

Much of that which we admire in the German city is traceable to age. All of these cities were enriched with valuable heritages from the past. Rulers embellished their capitals in imitation of Paris. Some, like the kings of Bavaria, were themselves artistic and in love with things Hellenic. They erected palaces, art galleries and museums. They laid out parks and palace gardens.

The German city has no mayor. It has an Oberbürgermeister, who corresponds roughly to our mayor. His legal authority is far less than that enjoyed by the patriarchal executives of New York, Baltimore or Boston. In desperation over our inability to watch a hundred men we decided to watch but one. In order to escape from a troublesome council we threw ourselves into the hands of an all-powerful executive. But we did not insist that the despot should know anything more about the government of a city than the council which we discarded. He need only be an active politician, an ambitious business man or an aggressive leader.

The head of a German city is an expert. Both the Oberbürgermeister and the assistant Bürgermeister make a profession of their callings. Nobody knows to what party they belong. And nobody really cares. They are like the managers of a great business concern and are employed by the city council for that purpose, much as they might be employed to manage a railroad. The present mayor of Berlin was a lawyer in Breslau. He was elected to the council of the latter city, became interested in city administration, and determined to make city administration a profession. He was chosen for a subordinate post and made such a success that he was called to the mayoralty of Berlin, where he has been for many years. Dr. Adickes, the Oberbürgermeister of Frankfurt, has occupied that post for a quarter of a century. Few men in Germany can point to a life of more conspicuous achievement than his. He recently declined a post in the Interior Department of Prussia. Oberbürgermeister Wilhelm Marx, of Düsseldorf, came to that city from a smaller town twenty years ago. He is a man of independent wealth. He rose to his present position and for twelve years has been mayor of the city. During these years he has built as did Pericles in Athens and the Medici in Florence. And he has made Düsseldorf one of the most finished cities in the world.

Tenure of office is permanent. If a mayor is re-elected, after his first term of twelve years, he holds office for life.

The Denver Times views the same subject from another angle when it says:

The experienced newspaper man of today may have a powerful influence quite apart from which he may exert through the columns of his paper. Newspaper life brings a man into close contact with most phases of life. In time he becomes valuable as an adviser. This principle was recognized by Mayor Darius A. Brown of Kansas City when he appointed to a place in his cabinet James E. Craig, a member of the editorial staff of the Kansas City Star, and president of the Kansas City Press Club. This was done notwithstanding the fact that the Star was opposed to the election of Mr. Brown. Mayor Brown's cabinet, according to Leslie's Weekly, is in itself an innovation. With it the mayor discusses all matters of importance to the city and each member is expected to have a voice in the discussion. Mayor Brown has still further manifested his confidence in the newspaper men by ordering that all correspondence of the office shall be submitted to the city hall reporters of all papers. If premature publication would spoil some important matters the mayor requests the reporters not to use the story, and his request has never been disregarded."

SUPERVISE IRRIGATION WORKS.

With the increased activity in the construction of irrigation works in New Mexico, the commonwealth must give some thought to supervision of construction. There should be an inspector of technical ability, whose business it would be to visit irrigation works under construction and pass upon the sufficiency of construction, this as a matter of protection to promoters, investors and settlers. It has happened not only in Colorado and California, but right here in New Mexico, that dams have washed out, and in giving way, dealt out ruin and destruction and even inflicted death.

Those who put up the money for the construction were losers, the people who had settled under the project were losers, the promoters were losers unless they had pulled out in time, and the commonwealth at large was a loser, for one instance of that kind awakens distrust in other projects, in fact, in the entire matter of reclamation. New Mexico as a commonwealth is more or less responsible in the matter. It invites capital, it grants water rights, it has a certain control over the appropriation of waters, it asks people to settle under irrigation projects, and it should see to it that dams are strong enough to withstand the water pressure and all extraordinary demands upon them. The New Mexican is pleased therefore that Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller and Attorney General Frank W. Clancy agree as to the duty of the commonwealth in this respect and have decided upon a method that inflicts no new burden on the general taxpayer and at a slight cost to the irrigation projects themselves, gives them such insurance as will not only benefit them directly but will inspire confidence indirectly, and thus attract investors and settlers who otherwise feared the uncertainty of irrigation works caused by the prevailing notion that irrigation dams as a rule are unsafe and cannot withstand an ordinary flood.

THE SANTA CRUZ ROAD.

The New Mexican is pleased to note that the board of county commissioners is enthused in the cause of good roads and is taking hold of the project to place in good shape the road from Santa Fe to Santa Cruz. This is not only a scenic highway of great attractiveness but is also of considerable consequence commercially, for a comparatively large population of farmers and orchard growers must haul their products to market over it. It will connect with the road to Taos at the Rio Arriba county border and with the road to the Cliff Dwellings near San Ildefonso. It is part of the great system of roads planned to bisect the county from north to south and from east to west and which will make Santa Fe famous as a tourist and automobile center. No time should be lost in constructing it, especially since it does not mean building a new road, but simply grading down some steep hills, filling in a few stretches of sand and eliminating some unnecessary curves in order to make it one of the finest scenic highways in the Southwest.

Congress adjourned on March 4 but the Congressional Record is still coming. Even so voluminous a publication as the Record must have weeks to catch up with the eloquence of Senators like Owen of Oklahoma and Beveridge of Indiana.

EXPECTING A HARVEST.

The New Mexico Publicity Association is feeling the touch of the material uplift in the territory and expects 1911 to be the greatest year for prosperity in the history of New Mexico. In its latest bulletin it says:

"Reports from almost every section of New Mexico during the past week indicate that we have ahead of us a year in which every element will favor prosperity. This is particularly true of the dry farming districts, where there has been considerable moisture and where the farmers are most hopeful. The homesteaders who have left their claims on leave during the past year, owing to unfavorable conditions, are returning in considerable numbers and the prospects are for the largest acreage in actual cultivation we have ever had. Our dry farmers, moreover, are better equipped than ever before and during the past three years of slight rainfall they have learned a great deal about dry farming and dry farming crops. The result of these conditions should be a season of unusual success and profit."

"With natural conditions in our favor and with statehood but a short time away it seems that this coming year should be the period in which we should put forth the greatest effort to attract the attention of the right kind of people to New Mexico. The work of the Publicity Association will be crowded during the next six months and will be upon a scale we have not attempted before. We believe the time for results has come and we will make every possible effort to get them. We want all the members in the Publicity association we can get. Talk to your friends about the work. Then put us in touch with them."

THE TRAVELING AUDITOR.

New Mexico prides itself on the fact that it has not had a single bank failure in many years. But that has been entirely due to the ability and watchfulness of Traveling Auditor and Bank Examiner Charles V. Safford. Those who keep in touch with the trend of financial conditions in New Mexico know that the past year has been a severe test for a number of banking institutions in the dry farming country. Some of them had very close sailing and would have gone under had not the Traveling Auditor taken hold in time and adjusted affairs before they had reached a point at which failure would have been inevitable. The most recent instance was the taking over of the bank of Roy Mora county, by a Tucumcari bank. But for the prompt intervention of the traveling auditor there would have been a financial crash in that section. However matters were quickly adjusted, the bank was enabled to keep open, every depositor received all that was due him and the bank is now prosperous and on a firm footing. The New Mexico banking law is not as perfect as it should be in some respects, especially as to the determining from the very start the character of the new banks. Neither does it give the bank examiner as complete power as he should have to compel the making good of impairment of capital stock in times of stress and stringency, but taking it altogether, if not the law, then its administration by Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford, has been productive of gratifying results.

Few people have any adequate idea of the importance of the fishing industry in the United States. According to a report of the Census Bureau made public today and published on another page, something like 150,000 persons are steadily employed in it, who with their families make a total population equal to that of New Mexico. The value of the product of the industry is about $54,000,000 a year, or more than seven times the value of all manufactures in New Mexico. There are whole communities that owe their existence to the industry and it is due to their energy that fish in many parts of the United States are much cheaper than other meats. What the public range is to the stock industry, that the ocean is to the fisherman, and as the briny deep will never be homesteaded, there is no likelihood that the supply of food it furnishes for millions of tables will ever fail.

The bank guaranty plan in Oklahoma is falling of its own weight. To date, honest bankers have had to whack up $887,000 to pay for the delinquencies of dishonest bankers, and another one per cent levy on all deposits is now due to pay off a half million dollars that has gone up lately in wild-cat speculation. There is no law that can make dishonest men honest, or will pay for losses of gamblers and speculators unless it be out of pocket of those who do not gamble or speculate. The millenium will never be a legislative product.

Two sensational train hold-ups, two bold bank robberies and two dynamite outrages, all in the west, reported by the Associated Press within two hours this morning, makes one feel that civilization is still in a raw state when all the perpetrators of these deeds of violence manage to escape and go unpunished.

Aeroplanes are to take the place of horses on the great Belmont tracks in New York, because the New York law has forbidden gambling on horses. To the man who is fool enough to gamble, it will not make much difference whether it is race horses or an airship on which he is losing his money.

A few days after ex-President Roosevelt denounced the recall provision in the Arizona constitution, he declares publicly that it is just the thing for California. It is sometimes very hard to follow the vagaries of genius.

BANK GUARANTY LAW

IS COMPLETE FAILURE.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 24.—A reaction has set in against the organization of state banks in Oklahoma. This has been occasioned by the unsatisfactory administration of the law covering the guaranty of bank deposits. Up to March 14 this year the state bankers paid $887,000 into the guaranty fund and another assessment of one per cent on the total deposits, made March 7, is being paid in. When this assessment is met the bankers will have paid approximately $1,387,000 into this fund.

Since January 7, 1911, 80 applications have been made by Oklahoma state banks for national bank charters. Of this number 15 have been issued and 75 are pending before the controller of the currency in Washington, D. C. The scramble of state bankers for the privilege of conducting a business under auspices of the national government is explained in this manner by Governor Lee Cruise:

"A rumor was spread among the bankers that an emergency assessment of two per cent on all deposits would be made to meet liabilities assumed by the state banking board in connection with certain banks in Oklahoma City and elsewhere within the state. The large state banks are endeavoring to avoid meeting this assessment by being converted into nationals."

So burdensome have been the operations of the state bank guaranty law that an average of more than one state bank a day is clamoring for relief. Virtually all state banks which have deposits in excess of $200,000 threaten to nationalize. The Oklahoma City bank of this place has nationalized within the last month, thereby saving itself $1,200 that it would have been required to pay into the bank guaranty fund under the recent assessment. Former Governor Haskell transmitted a message to the state legislature on January 7, 1911, showing that the total net collections of the guaranty fund up to December 31, 1910, were $818,740, while the total cash in the fund on that day was $75,626. This proved that the state banks of Oklahoma, in a little less than three years, had lost $743,115, or an average of about $250,000 a year, through payments into the fund. This loss is estimated as approximately two per cent per annum on the entire capital and surplus of the banks.

Fund Has Dwindled. What has been done with the money paid into the guaranty fund? The state bankers are attempting to answer that query and in their anger are making charges that would be difficult to prove. That the fund has been depleted in a rapid and startling manner is apparent.

A committee of the state bankers' division of the Oklahoma Bankers' association has completed an audit of the accounts of the state banking board, but it is probable that the findings will not be made public "because it is of such a nature that uneasiness may be caused."

From bankers who read the report of the auditing committee it was learned that of the $887,000 paid into the guaranty fund up to March 1, approximately $506,495 was disbursed in connection with the failure of the Columbia Bank and Trust company of Oklahoma City, which closed its doors on September 27, 1909. The other disbursements were in connection with these banks, that were either closed or reorganized: The First State bank of Kiefer, the State bank of Ochelata, the Oklahoma State Bank and Trust company of Sapulpa.

Board Controls Three. Governor Cruise said that at this time two state banks in Oklahoma City, because of their unsatisfactory financial condition, are virtually in charge of the state banking board, and that the affairs of a bank in Muskogee also are being directed by the board.

Reliable bankers supplemented this information with the assertion that either two or three other banks that are insolvent are being upheld by the banking board and that a large part of the levy of one per cent for the guaranty fund made on March 7 will be required to meet the obligations of these unstable banks. The five impaired institutions are open and conducting business.

Political influence and political favoritism seem to have been factors in the administration of the bank guaranty law. Bankers here dominate the Columbia Bank and Trust Company, a "political bank." By following the windings and twistings of this defunct institution, it will be discovered that, as Oklahoma City bankers put it, "the bank guaranty law is built on sand."

CITY SCHOOL MARM

IS TO BLAME.

Chicago, March 24.—The city teacher in the country schools is what is the matter with the country, according to Joseph Chapman, Jr., vice president of the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis. Chapman left Chicago rather hurriedly today after voicing his sentiments on this point, for they aroused indignation among the teachers and teachers-to-be. "The city girl who goes into rural communities to teach is a menace to the agricultural future of the nation," said Chapman. "She strikes at the backbone of the country's prosperity."

"From her position on the rostrum of the little red schoolhouse the teacher from the city turns the thoughts of her boy pupils into other channels than those leading to the raising of cattle and corn."

WATER POWER BY

TURBINE FIRST CHOICE.

Chicago, Ill., March 24.—Stephen O. Jayne, United States irrigation expert, stationed at Spokane, Wash., in a lengthy paper on pumping for irrigation, makes the following observations:

Water power by turbine wheels is first choice. Electric power, when it can be obtained reasonably, is second choice.

A cord of seasoned fir or tamarack wood is about equal in fuel value to a ton of Rock Springs coal. It requires about one pint of gasoline per horse power per hour in gasoline engines, and distillate is probably about 30 per cent cheaper.

It requires at least a pound of coal per horse power per hour for the best steam engines obtainable, and about four and a half pounds per horse power per hour for common engines. I would add at least 50 per cent to these amounts of coal to make good in practice.

Centrifugal pumps are not recommended for lifts much over 100 feet. Where centrifugal pumps are used, more power must be provided to do the same work than with plunger pumps.

Large pumping plants are proportionately more economical than small ones.

It requires 1.71 theoretical horse power to raise sufficient water 100 feet high, (and other elevations in proportion) to cover 10 acres one foot deep in 80 days, and this theoretical power should be doubled to give satisfactory results in practice or say about three and a half horse power.

The cost of attendance and incidentals must be considered, bearing in mind that turbine water wheels and electric motors need but little attention.

BOXING BOUTS IN DENVER

Denver, Colorado, March 24.—Jimmy Gardner and Johnny O'Keefe, who boxed for six rounds Tuesday night at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Denver Press club, were arrested by Deputy Constable Dan Delaney, taken before Magistrate C. J. Gavin and placed under bonds of $200 each for appearance before the magistrate at 10 o'clock this morning. The arrest of the principals, who are charged with engaging in a prizefight contrary to the statute, will bring about a thorough test of the law. Those who handled the go of Tuesday are determined to make a final test, if necessary, and the Christian Citizenship union, which brought about the arrests, says it will fight the case to a finish. Later, Judge Gavin discharged Gardner and O'Keefe, saying that no case had been made against them.

FORTY AUTO PERMITS HAVE BEEN ISSUED.

Motorists Are Observing the Law and Examiners Are Well Pleased--More Suggestions.

The board of examiners appointed to see that motorists and riders of motor-cycles comply with the city ordinances in regard to speed, procuring a license, etc., is said to be well pleased with the manner in which Santa Feans are running their benzine vehicles.

Very little complaint is heard these days about the ordinances and it is a noticeable fact that the arrests for speed violation are becoming scarce indeed. Forty auto and motor cycle permits have been issued.

The examiners make it a point now to require something more than a written examination. There is to be a practical demonstration of what an applicant for a license can do with his or her automobile, motorcycle, etc.

A young lady was granted a license not long ago because she demonstrated her ability to run a car, and a pretty good sized one too.

Said one of the examiners today: "There is still some complaint about the way automobiles and motor cycles come around that corner described as San Francisco street and Don Gaspar avenue. It has been suggested that full stop be made before making that turn in order to avoid danger. No doubt this would be a good thing. We do not mean such a long stop as would require the re-cracking of the machine or the dismounting of the motorcyclist but we do mean turning off the power and looking ahead. This dashing around that corner, where the space is so narrow, is a public menace not only to pedestrians, carriages and wagons but to other cyclists and automobilists."

SOUTHWEST RIDING ON A WAVE OF PROSPERITY.

Farmers Are Pouring in and Settlers Are Reclaiming the Arid Range of Eastern New Mexico.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 24.—Business conditions in the southwest have not been too promising as at present for the past three years. Several things have conspired to bring about a situation that is most helpful in every particular. Primarily the action of large financial interests in shaking out promoters of uncertain quality was a step in placing development and those activities which mean advancement on a basis that has stimulated confidence. Following this came weather conditions with an abundance of rain that have put the ground in a better condition for cultivation than it has been for a number of years. Other factors which have entered into and helped to make the hopeful situation are that of investors from the north and east, and a stream of homeseekers which have poured into this section almost since last November. One of the results of this rapid settlement is the great demand for building material, particularly that of lumber. All the great lumber concerns report the greatest trade since the panic of 1907. Millions of dollars have been spent in the past few months for building material that has gone into farm improvements and those things essential to developing agricultural areas. Returns from shipments of a great many vegetables have been most satisfactory and have given farmers ready cash for improvement purposes. The report of the financial condition by the banks show that instead of the usual decrease in deposits at that season when the great agricultural interests are planting the crop, many of the banks show an increased deposit. This of itself gives a clearer notion of easy conditions than that suggested by the great amount of building going on in the agricultural section. Taken as a whole the south west is entering an era of prosperity and progress unparalleled in the past history of the state. Hopefulness is aident among all classes of people. The man with a legitimate undertaking finds employment abundant at a salary that means good living and something to lay by for "the rainy day."

TEN THOUSAND DRUGGISTS

Unite in Their Own Opinion Regarding a Certain Medicine.

Druggists should know better than any one else the value of every medicine.

Therefore, when over ten thousand recommend Vinol, the cool liver and iron tonic, without oil, over their own signatures as the greatest tonic reconstructer and strength creator—and offer to return the purchase money in every case where it fails to give satisfaction, it must indicate that Vinol is a pretty reliable medicine.

We could publish columns of such testimony as the following:

C. A. Potterfield, the leading druggist of Charleston, W. Va., says he used Vinol for every member of his family and has never been disappointed with the results.

Mr. J. F. Bradley, druggist, of New Brunswick, N. J., says, "Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine. He has proved it from personal experience."

The many years that Vinol has been on the market has served to strengthen its popularity, and proved by continued tests that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not build up your strength and give you an added interest in life. The Capital Pharmacy.

NEW MEXICO POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Another Richmond—Now that the subject is agitated, Tucumcari would seem to be a very desirable place for the state capital.—Rock Island Tribune.

Senator Easley, How's That?—While down on a visit last week General Easley paid our office a friendly call and met many homesteaders with whom he is very popular. In fact it looks like the general might soon be U. S. senator from New Mexico.—McIntosh Homestead.

Give the Ladies a Chance—That lady county commissioner of Denver Colorado, wants to be shown before she signs any bills that seem tainted. A few more like her in official life may be able to clean the Augean stables of political graft.—Rock Island Tribune.

The Way It's Done in Danville. Reading of the unsuccessful attempts to convict the election corrupters at that dear old Danville, the editor feels under the painful necessity of admitting that he is glad that he left such a rotten place in time to be thoroughly grounded in the innocence of New Mexico. We have our little election eccentricities out here, but they are lily white compared with Danville, where the grand jury says the sheriff and his officers are in cahoots with the vote buyers and everybody mostly is a rascal, a remark that seems to have considerable justification.—Roswell Register Tribune.

The Amende Honorable. In a recent editorial the Santa Fe New Mexican takes the Range to task for a sin we never committed—certainly not with malice aforethought. To quote:

"The Raton Range protests against giving chairman H. O. Bursum and National Committeeman Solomon Luna any credit for the present satisfactory status of the Republican party, and its achievements in the past few years. * * * The New Mexican knows that Messrs Bursum and Luna have many a time borne the financial burden of a campaign on their shoulders and have neither ASKED NOR EXPECTED to receive RETURN or REWARD."

It was the New Mexican that mentioned the names of these distinguished citizens. The Range article referred to was purely impersonal and directed partly at a class of men who have already been sufficiently honored by the territory, or counties in New Mexico.

The personality of Messrs. Luna and Bursum never once suggested itself to the Range, for the very reason that they have been so self-sacrificing, so self-effacing—"neither asked or expected to receive return or reward."

The Range editorial was mainly aimed at professional office-seekers and those who had records that had better be buried, as it distinctly stated.

The gentlemen referred to by the New Mexican—not the Range—have kept so conspicuously in the background that the Range had no intimation that they were even receptive candidates for any office. The Range has not hesitated to praise the efforts of Mr. Bursum as chairman, * * * and Mr. Luna * * *. We would not detract one iota from the credit due to any citizen for well performing his part.

As we pointed out in the original editorial which so evidently disturbed the bile of the New Mexican; if the people wish to honor still further the men who have served them faithfully during territorial days they have the voices and the votes with which to express themselves—it is the people's business.

It does not require the wisdom of a Solomon, for Mr. Luna to comprehend that the aim of the Range was at a very different target.

But the New Mexican evidently wishes to misconstrue the article in question and misapply it to certain individuals for the purpose of drawing censure upon the Range.

They shouldn't order have did it, but we cherish no malice.—Raton Range.

Plays AND Players

At the Elks' Theatre next Wednesday night, Olga Nethersole, an actress whose standing requires no particular comment, is to pay her first visit to Santa Fe since becoming a Liebler and Company star. As is usual, this splendid actress will have a novelty of importance to reveal; this time "The Redemption of Evelyn Vaudray," a new and powerful drama by Henri Bernstein, author of "The Thief," and "Samson." It has been adapted for our stage by no less a man than Louis N. Parker, author of "Pomander Walk," and "Disraeli." Parker has a particular bent for adaptation, and was entrusted with the task of preparation of "L'Aiglon," Cyrano de Bergerac, "Chantecler," and other important French dramas for the English speaking stage.

Of the new Bernstein piece very little is said in advance. Its French title is "La Bercel," which means, literally, "The Fold," and it was produced at the Gymnase in Paris with great success.

She is a woman of refinement and culture, married to a brute of a man who is totally absorbed in his business. A novelist appears upon the stage, and, much to the disgust of the husband, he appears to understand his wife, to sympathize with her in her moods. A crisis is reached and the husband casts his wife adrift, giving her a year in which to lose what he calls her illusions. Her illusions are shattered quickly enough and her mother love asserts itself in all its power. She steals back to her home to see her child. Her husband finds her there and a reconciliation follows. The separation has done them both a world of good, the husband has found consolation in the books he used to despise his wife for reading, the wife has discovered the emptiness of some of the qualities she wished for in her husband.

Master of Technique. Bernstein has a wide reputation as a master of dramatic technique. It would seem that in the present play, he is not to be charged with theatrical trickery, his most obvious fault hitherto. In fact, its rugged simplicity, is urged as one of the play's most pleasing attributes.

Miss Nethersole will have a good company composed of partially English and partially American players. Ben Greet, distinguished for his production of "Everyman" and his Shakespearian company, represented Liebler and Company in the staging of the play, and personally superintended the production. Walter Edwards, Franklin Roberts, Wallace Erskine, Margaret Campbell, Mrs. George Barnum, Maude Hosford and Nellie Malcolm are the leading actors mentioned for Miss Nethersole's support.

SIX LIVES STAKED ON GAME OF SOLITAIRE.

New York Mechanic Who Wanted to Kill His Family Has Disappeared.—Man Was Despondent.

New York, March 24—Six lives were staked on a game of solitaire played by a despondent mechanic at his home on West Fifty-sixth street, according to information which is in the hands of the New York police today. The mechanic, who had laid his plans carefully, it appears, for the killing of his wife and children, appeared, and it is believed that he may have committed suicide. The missing man is Michael Cribben. He was seriously injured some time ago in stopping a runaway and for some time, according to his wife, has been acting peculiarly. Last Saturday he wrote a letter to a cousin which the latter has just turned over to the police. The letter is as follows: "Dear Jim: I am going to kill myself, my wife and all the children. I have something pressing on my brain that makes me want to kill them. I must do it. I can't help it. The only way I keep from doing it is by playing solitaire. I've been playing it all the time at home so I won't kill them. Now I am going to play just one more game tonight and if I beat it, I won't kill them, but if I don't make it, I will."

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE KILLS EIGHT HOUR BILL.

Denver, March 24—The men's eight-hour bill was killed in the Senate. Senator Bellesfield, the father of the measure, made strenuous effort to secure its passage, but it was voted down, 14 to 12. The bill provided for an eight-hour law for men employed in mines, smelters, cement works, blast furnaces and around coke ovens.

S.S.S. THE BEST SPRING TONIC

Spring is the season when the blood is weakest, and our systems least responsive to the demands of nature. It is the time of fickle appetites, poor digestion, lack of energy, bodily fatigue, and many other systemic disturbances which warn us that we need a tonic. A great many so called tonics are mere nerve stimulants, often producing exhilarating effects, but acting with decided injury on the system later. If your system is weak and depleted you can only tone it up by supplying an increased amount of nourishment, and this can come only through pure, rich blood. S.S.S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers; and it is the one medicine you can rely upon to supply the system with the best tonic effects and at the same time thoroughly purify the blood. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened it could not resist disease, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of debilitating sickness. S.S.S. is nature's ideal tonic, made entirely of healthful roots, herbs and barks. It tones up the stomach and digestion, aids and improves the appetite, and in every way contributes to strong, robust health. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache do not neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

ANOTHER JAIL BREAKER IS APPREHENDED.

Emiliano Gallegos, One of Ten to Escape, Caught in His House at Alameda.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 24.—Eight of the ten prisoners who escaped from the Bernalillo county jail in a wholesale jail delivery early Wednesday morning, are still at large, and the prospects for rounding them up are not overly bright.

Emiliano Gallegos, one of the ten, was captured yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Fidel Apodaca in a house in Alameda, nine miles north of Albuquerque. Gallegos offered no resistance. He is accused of stealing a horse and buggy and is being held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny.

A dozen deputies are still in the country surrounding Albuquerque looking for the eight escapes who are still at liberty. The officers are making a detailed hunt for James Grimes and Dennis Hart, United States prisoners, who are accused of robbing the postoffices at Belen and Fort Sumner. Grimes and Hart, it is said, were the ringleaders in the delivery and were assisted in planning and executing the break by Will Stevens, a "hop" fiend.

Hickson, the prisoner who escaped with the gang, and who surrendered himself at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, did not leave the city limits while at liberty, spending the time at his wife's home. Hickson is charged with deserting his wife and four small children.

BRIBE WAS OFFERED IN SPRINGFIELD SALOON.

Springfield, Ill., March 24—Ill at ease and nervous, former State Senator Daniel Holstlaw of Iuka, who has confessed to having received $2,500 from State Senator John Broderick of Chicago for his vote for William Lorimer for the United States Senate, was the chief witness for the prosecution in the circuit court against Broderick.

Broderick, who is charged with bribery, listened closely to the testimony of Holstlaw and several times his face clouded and his jaw set with a snap as the witness told how he had received the alleged bribe from Broderick in the latter's saloon in Chicago. "I intended to vote for Lorimer all the time if the opportunity offered," said Holstlaw, "and I was surprised when I was told by Broderick that there was $2,500 for me in it."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The teachers are meeting today to draft a program for Arbor Day which is next Friday. It is thought that many trees will be planted on this day.

The High School has a baseball club now and Thomas Closson is its captain while Harold Stephens is its manager.

The tennis courts are all but ready. A good, heavy roller is needed on them. It is hoped to have these courts rolled soon, as tennis will soon be popular.

The receipts from the entertainment given recently for the Athletic Association were not very heavy but as the evening was greatly enjoyed and the lecture of Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts was highly interesting, the boys and girls as well as teachers do not regret their efforts.

Dillman Kinsell and Edward Cartwright of the high school, are down with a sick attack of German measles.

ITALIAN LODGE MEMBER MURDERED IN DENVER.

Denver, Colorado, March 24—A quarrel between two alleged agents of an Italian secret organization resulted in the death of one from a pistol wound and the arrest of the other on a charge of murder. Although the police worked hours they failed to throw any light on the mystery. Philippine Droppella, 30 years old, is in jail. Antonio C. Puro, an Italian journalist, is the victim.

Her friends were largely among the married couples of the town though, not two weeks ago, Patricia had entertained a young woman in her home and the taste of gay young life once more had brought back her own bright girlhood.

Corinne Jamerson—the young girl who had been Patricia's guest—had won no end of admiration from the town's young men; and she, having come from the city with her attractive, if frivolous, manners, found it not a little interesting to add notch after notch to her beau stick.

As Patricia thought over the stay of her young guest she recalled several instances in which the young woman had flirted with the acknowledged beau of one of the town's own girls. Perhaps—in fact as Patricia recalled it all now, she was sure—there were many uneasy hearts since her departure.

"I'll have a party on February twenty-second!" Patricia almost said it aloud.

She closed the magazine with a bang and sat alert. "I'll ask all the girls and boys to come and bury the hatchet. We'll have a formal ceremony of it and—oh, her cheeks glowed as the plan unfolded itself in her brain—"we'll wear powder and patches."

Suddenly her face clouded again and her eyes took on the reminiscent shadow.

"But—" she said, half aloud.

Then, as if fearing she would go back on an impulse she knew intuitively was good, she rushed to her desk.

Sitting down, she wrote the first of her invitations in almost breathless haste. In it, she asked one George Washington to dress as George Washington, and come to her party to help to bury the hatchet.

She folded, sealed and addressed the note without so much as rereading it. It seemed, when she stopped for even an instant to think, such an awful offense against her family pride.

In due time she wrote the other invitations and not a single one was refused.

"It looks as if every one was anxious to bury the hatchet," she thought, as she read an acceptance from one young person whom she knew had strayed from the side of his sweetheart to worship at the shrine of her young guest, Corinne.

The great room of Patricia's home was lighted with severe-looking Colonial candlesticks with straight, unshaded candles, when the Colonial dames began to arrive. Men in satin breeches with large buckled slippers and heavy white wigs soon talked sedately with dames in sheer white fichus and voluminous skirts.

Patricia, herself, was a beautiful young Martha Washington as she stood to greet her guests in the same costume she had worn on a night not so many years ago.

As the evening wore on, each male guest was presented with a hatchet. He was told that outside in the conservatory in tubs and flower boxes hidden away were numbers corresponding to the ones on the handles of the hatchets. It was his duty, so Patricia told each one, to seek the proper girl and with her find the number in the conservatory. Together, they were to bury the hatchet with whatever ceremony they found most fitting for the time and place.

When every man had found a girl, Patricia sat alone in the great sitting room, the candles burned to half their original size. One guest had not come and Patricia was the odd girl.

Presently a replica of George Washington stood in the doorway. He had entered, unannounced. His apologies to Patricia covered his emotion as he held her little hand in his own, letting the soft lace of his sleeve fall over it. His excuse was his desire to wear the same suit he had worn on a night they both remembered—and his difficulty in getting into it.

Patricia laughed to cover her own embarrassment.

Burying the Hatchet

By DOROTHY BLACKMORE

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

Patricia Woodkirk sat idly turning the leaves of a current magazine. She felt particularly indolent; her attitude was almost lazy. Nothing on the pages before her brought so much as an alert glance from her eyes.

Presently, she turned back a leaf to look again at the likeness of a man. The face was none other than that of George Washington.

Patricia stared at the face, and as her eyes remained on the likeness they gathered a reminiscent expression. Not that Patricia had known the illustrious general; for though she was known in Meadville by the very young set as an old maid, she was, in reality, in her very early thirties.

But the birthday of Washington had been chosen, once upon a time, by Patricia Woodkirk as a night for a Colonial dance. Her guests had come in wigs and with powder and patches, while she herself had been dressed as Martha Washington. And there had been a George, too. Patricia had quarreled with him bitterly on that very night after the last dance and had been too obstinate ever since to admit it either to George Washington or to any one else.

Patricia continued to live in the old homestead and it was in the very room in which she now sat that her merry party of young folks had congregated a few years ago. Most of them were married now and scattered.

Her friends were largely among the married couples of the town though, not two weeks ago, Patricia had entertained a young woman in her home and the taste of gay young life once more had brought back her own bright girlhood.

Corinne Jamerson—the young girl who had been Patricia's guest—had won no end of admiration from the town's young men; and she, having come from the city with her attractive, if frivolous, manners, found it not a little interesting to add notch after notch to her beau stick.

MAN ASKED, LOOKING DOWN AT HER.

Patricia's head dropped. She dared not reveal to him her joy at hearing the old name once more.

"Haven't we had the hatchet out long enough?" he asked, leading her to a settee near the log fire.

Still she did not speak.

"Can't you tell me, Patsy," he persisted. "Shall we not bury ours, too? Don't you want to?"

"I cannot tell a lie, George," she said laughing. "But—suppose we burn it instead of burying it—then it can never, never be unearthed. We'll cut all discord this minute," she continued, waving the hatchet in the air, "and burn the weapon before our very eyes."

Together, they knelt before the open fire and laid the wooden hatchet on the flames.

"A pretty ceremony, dear, and with a world of meaning," he said, as they took their places once more on the settee to await the return of the others.

SHADOWS THAT ARE LASTING

Peculiarity Noticed in the Crude-Oil Producing Regions of California.

"In the crude-oil producing regions of California there are scores of large ponds of this mineral," writes J. Mayne Baltimore in the Scientific American. "After being pumped to the surface the petroleum is emptied into depressions in the earth, where it remains for a time. These oil ponds are known as 'sump holes.' There is one very peculiar thing about these 'sump holes' and that is in the way of producing what are known as 'freak shadows.' These are real shadows, but, notwithstanding this fact, they are decidedly 'freaky.' If the sun is brightly shining and a person stands for a few moments on the margin of the 'sump hole,' so that his shadow falls on the surface of the petroleum and he then quickly changes his position, the dim shadow remains just where it was originally cast. In other words, the shadow does not follow the substance. The instant a person shifts his position his shadow is again cast in a new place, yet the former shadow remains unchanged. The longer a person stands in one particular spot the longer will the former shadow be visible.

"Hundreds of experiments have been made and every time the same results have been produced. The simple explanation for this phenomenon is that under the hot sun gas is being constantly generated down in the body of the petroleum and it rises to the surface in the form of minute bubbles. So very small are these bubbles that they are scarcely visible to the naked eye. Millions of these wee bubbles are rising to the top all of the time, when the bubbles break and the gas is liberated, passing into the air.

"Both the gas and bubbles are so very supersensitive to the temperature that even one's shadow cast for a moment across them is affected. The temperature is lowered. Whenever the substance quickly changes position the shadow remains until the rays again warm up that spot and the shadowy outline slowly fades away. The 'freak shadow' may be seen for only a very few seconds."

The Story of Truthful Bill.

Bill Flint was a mute, inglorious Edward Payson Weston, with a dash of the Wandering Jew, and, like George Washington, his veracity baffled the world. He was a Massachusetts farm hand, but about once in every two or three years the wanderlust would hit him, he would pack up his old knapsack and disappear down the dusty road, for three, six, or sometimes twelve months. His last disappearance had spanned eleven months to a day. It was September when he returned, picked up a cutter and began to reap the corn.

"What you bin, Bill?" asked the farmer, who always took him back.

"Bin to Florida," said Bill.

"Walk all the way?"

"No," said Bill, "I can't honestly say I did. You see, 'bout ten miles south of Charleston a feller came along in a waggon an' offered me a lift. Couldn't seem to see why I should walk of I didn't have to, an' he was pretty insistent, like them southerners when they set out to be hospitable. So I had to climb in, an' I rode him quite a spell—maybe two miles."—Everybody's Magazine.

Modernizing Jerusalem.

David Yellin, a member of the municipality of Jerusalem, says that the authorities in the holy city are considering the provision of an adequate water and the installation of a modern system of drainage. People in Jerusalem are beginning to realize that a greater influx of tourists, on whom the inhabitants principally depend for their livelihood, can only be expected if things are made comfortable for them by the provision of proper accommodations, the lighting and paving of the streets, the freeing of the city from dust and improvement of travel facilities.

Less Than Entire.

"Man wants but little here below," As prices go, we guess, That he has got the price to buy A darned slight less.

Barely Possible.

Even as the long-haired man with the bundle of manuscript turned to go, after a brief interview, there was a gleam of triumph in his eye.

"You don't have to publish my stuff if you don't want to," he said, "but, by Jupiter, you can't keep me out of the magazines!"

Naturally.

"That man over there, talking to the policeman, is one of the light-fingered kind."

"You don't say so. He and the policeman seem very friendly."

"That's nothing. He's an electrician."

Tame Affair.

"Here is an account of a hotel fire out west."

"Any exciting particulars?"

"No. It seems that there was no young woman in pink silk pajamas who had to be rescued."

INSPECTION OF IRRIGATION DAMS

 est of the public equally requires that such inspection should be made and I have no hesitation in recommending that you put the proposed system in operation and that you make arrangements or have some understanding with the various owners as to their proportionate payments of the cost. It is difficult to imagine that any one could ever object to anything of the kind unless it were some dishonest contractor.

Mr. Hiram M. West, Sr.,
 Moriarty, New Mex.

Dear Sir—With reference to the use of the public school for dances the superintendent of public instruction has ruled that in view of the fact that the law allows the use of the school house
 for certain purposes, by implication its use for dances is forbidden.

Yours very respectfully,
JAMES E. CLARK,

Territorial Superintendent Public Instruction.

 officers are allowed for the maneuvers at San Antonio, Texas, however.

BIG OIL FIELD NEAR RIO GRANDE VALLEY.

Crowther, Texas, March 24.—The great oil field in the vicinity of Crowther where eighteen wells have already been sunk gives promise of being one of the greatest oil strikes so far discovered in this state. For the past few days John Thomson of Quebec, Canada, president of the Boston-Texas Oil Corporation, has been in that locality and it is understood that additional strings of tools have been ordered and that a number of other wells will be sunk in the near future.
 This oil field is directly on the line of the new railroad which will be built from San Antonio to the Rio Grande valley.

 er, here. Death was due to a nervous breakdown caused by an accident a year ago. The body was taken to Hanover, Indiana, for interment.

DESPERADOES WORKED IN TRIO.

tempted to hold up the jailer at Ogden and release Grimes, but the opportune arrival of other officers spoiled that plan and Miller himself was taken into custody and turned over to the New Mexico authorities.

It is said that Grimes was staying at a boarding house and might have escaped detection had it not been that one evening he grew thirsty and walked out for a bucket of beer which he got, but he also was arrested.

How They Did It.

A man who has had a good deal of experience ferreting out crime discussed the methods used by this trio of safe blowers today saying: "It appears that Grimes, Hart and Miller were modern safe-blowers, as the police understand the term. They knew how to take off a door of a safe and without making too much racket. I am informed that their process was to soap the cracks of the door of the safe thus excluding air. They left but one little place at the top of the safe, and into this they squirted nitro-glycerine, using an atomizer of exquisite make. Some times as much as half a pint would thus be shot into the crevices of the door. Then they would attach a fuse and cover
 the safe with a wet blanket, the latter being a safeguard against a loud explosion. When the fuse had eaten its way to the nitro-glycerine, there would be a dull thud and all was over.
 Strange as it may seem, these explosions were not so loud as to wake many people and I am informed that at Belen when they blew open that safe, a man was sleeping upstairs and was undisturbed."

It is said, however, that one of the trio was upstairs at the moment the explosion occurred, and pistol in hand was ready to put the sleeper asleep in case he was aroused by the explosion.

TWO NEW COTTAGES WILL BE BUILT.

One on Marcy Street and Another on
 New York Avenue, and Both
 Will Be Very Comfortable.

A contract was awarded to A. Reingardt for the building of a modern,
 six-room cottage on Marcy street, between Washington avenue and Bartlett street, to be erected by C. F. Mc-Kay. The cottage will be built of brick and will be a bungalow. The estimated cost is $3,000.

Marcy street seems to be budding forth as a prominent residence street, for trees are being ordered for both sides of the street and the street will be macadamized and rendered thoroughly up-to-date.

A contract has also been let to A.
 Reinhardt by Sheriff Closson for the erection of a modern seven-room cottage on New York avenue. It will be built of brick, with all modern improvements. The estimated cost is said to be about $3,000.

Work begins on these two buildings

tomorrow. Mr. Reinhardt has lately built a score or more houses in the city.

PRIZE BULL DOG "BOBBY'S" CLOSE CALL.

Jumps Out of Window and Hangs
 From Chain When Rescued By Fred Muller and N. King.

Only the prompt action of Major
 Fred Muller and Captain Norman L.
 King saved the life of Bobby, the handsome and valuable prize bull dog of former Governor M. A. Otero this morning.

It appears that the dog has been running around too much at random lately and Governor Otero decided to put a chain on his collar. The governor is staying at the sanitarium but Bobby spent last night at the governor's residence on Washington avenue.

 The animal has a fine disposition but being held by a chain seemed to get on his nerves and this morning he spied a window partly open and made for it. His great strength evidently assisted him in pulling the chair or box to which the chain was attached to the side of the window and out he jumped. But the chain was not long enough to let him reach
 the ground and there he dangled.
 Soon his weight cut short his wind and as he was coughing what seemed his last cough, Major Muller and Captain King happened to hear him and rushed to his assistance.

A Mother's Safeguard.
