NEW YEARS - A. D. 1892.

Last week we dilated at some length on Christmas. The date of our next paper will be January 2, 1892. We think it meet to doff our hat b. t. to departing and incoming guests.

Another year is about being numbered with and added to the memorable past, and we are reminded that our allotted time for accumulating earthly treasure, of gaining political distinction, training the intellect, cultivating genius, displaying eloquence, or other pursuits or purposes of life generally, will soon expire with us, and be transferred with a new lease to those who will come after us and take our places.

The evidences of the flight of time are so numerous and striking that the lessons they are designed to teach should not be lost upon us. As the leaves of flowers fall one by one, so do the members of communities, some when just putting on the garb of beauty, others when in the meridian of their glory, and still others live until the cold breath of fall and winter withers and destroys them. In the spring-time, the streams and rivulets go bounding with life and issue melody as they glide along their beds to their destined course. But soon the bed ways are dry, and drop by drop the waters percolate or evaporate. True, the roses again blossom, and the streams and rivulets again gush with renewed life, but such revivals only indicate a new generation.

We again stand upon the threshold of another year. Soon the sun will cast its rays upon an expiring year—1891 will meet 1892 and then pass into eternity leaving us to reflect that that is but the precursor of hidden life beyond this rule, the long green to prepare for ages, the shadow of a never ending future, the death which kindles an eternal flame, the season for gaining favor with the Creator, for exercising the holy influences of faith, benevolence and love.

How many of us will be privileged to see 1893 supersede 1892? Perhaps all of us—perhaps several of one reader together with the spouse of this reader will be denied the privilege. Ergo, we should so live as to be enabled to glide from life as noiselessly and fearlessly as the years, nor fear the terrors of that sleep which knows no waking, but is so apt to fall upon the eyelids and pulse at any time.

But, a true to mortal gale opining. It has been ordained that all men shall die, but mirth only renders life a living death and invites dreaded dissolution rather than death. As the unclouded sun inspires within the human breast a sense of cheerfulness which radiates all surroundings, so a sunny temperament in man and woman becomes contagious and renders life more worth the living. Then when death does claim us our kindred and friends will not be haunted by the remembrance of our vinegar visage and fretful disposition. No, the motto of every mortal should be—“Dum Vivimus Vivamus,” which, translated from dead Latin into live English signifies, “While we live let us live.”

Every paid up subscriber to the LEADER should be happy, and we believe is, and in conclusion we wish each and all of them—
A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

CONSUMPTION CURE.

An old physician, refined from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India merchant the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for consumption, he sold it to the proprietors of a New York City newspaper, who named it Shiloh's Cure, and all through Europe, America, and all three and four continents, also a positive and sudden cure for nervous disorders and all nervous complaints, especially consumption, and in thousands of cases, has fit it his duty to make it known to suffering sufferers. Assisted by this motto and a desire to relieve human suffering, I have sold the rights of this cure to the New York firm of Frazee Brothers, with full directions for preparing and using, sent by mail, addressed to all doctors, reading this paper.

The passing away of the whale is beginning to attract attention just as the extinction of the buffalo did, and it is a great deal of regret from the scientists and the common people partial to buffalo robes a few years ago. The big whale, that formerly disported themselves in the northern waters in immense schools are becoming so scarce that the industry is practically ruined in spite of a steady increase in the price of the product. The whalers are now turning their attention to the Anti Arctic ocean where the big whales are thought to be still numerous. It requires two months to reach the proposed fishing ground, but as both summer and winter can be utilized for the work there may be money in harpooning in those waters, despite the distance. If it is impossible to supply the market from that direction it will be found necessary to reconstruct woman's clothing on a basis that requires no whalebone.

Something for the New Year.
The world renowned success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and their continued popularity for more than a third of a century as a stomachic, is concerned with a new discovery that creates the annual appearance of Hostetter's Almanac. This valuable medical treatise is published by the Hostetter Company, and is used under their own name and supervision, employing 60 hands in that department. They are running about 11 months in the year on this work, and the issues of same for 1890 cost more than $1 million, printed in the English, German, French, Italian, Portuguese, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian, and Spanish languages. Refer to a copy of it for valuable and interesting reading concerning health, hygiene, and the treatment of diseases, on the one hand, and to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the other. The Almanac for 1890 can be obtained free of charge from druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the country.

We are indebted to Maj. W. H. II. L. Lewellyn, Secretary, for a pamphlet containing the laws, rules and regulations of the World's Columbian Exposition, department of New Mexico. It contains the Act of Congress creating the Territorial Board of Managers for New Mexico, the rules and regulations for the government of the Board, classification of exhibits and names and addresses of officers and members of the Territorial Board. Persons desirous of securing a copy can do so by addressing the Maj. at Los Cruces.

ENTION TO MATHERS.
We are sorry to inform our readers that the prescription of one of the most popular physicians in the United States, and has been used for fifty years, has been sold by the author. Dr. John Mather, of Boston, has sold his practice, including his valuable library and his collection of manuscripts, to Dr. George W. Ladd, of Boston, who has agreed to continue the old name, "Mather's," and to publish the old works, and to add to them new ones.

It is to be hoped that the new physician will be equally successful in his practice.

Distinguished Dead.

With the passing of 1891 there have gone over to the silent majority many of the eminent or conspicuous ones of the earth.

The list includes Bancroft, Loring and Kinglake, the historians;

Parnell, Balmaceda, Boulangier, ex President Grevy, ex Vice President Hamlin, Sir John McDonald, Secretary Wisdom, William Henry Smith, Gov. Hovey, of Indiana, ex-Governor Stafford, of Arizona, in politics; Lowell and Winchell, in general literature, Lawrence Barrett, Marie Wiltzmann Abbott and W. J. Flora ence on the stage; Sherman, Von Moltke, Joseph E. Johnson, soldiers; Geo. Jones, the editor; and Kalakana, Karl I. of Wurttemberg, Prince Jerome Napoleon, and the Amir of Afghanistan, kins.

Many years ago Hanson lived a next-door neighbor to the late William Alexander, a prominent lawyer of Paris, whose wife was a niece of Jefferson Davis. Mr. Hanson seldom raises his head or looks to the right or to the left in the walks of life—in fact, he usually keeps in the middle of the road, and hig-hew f tobacco (if he uses it) in the middle of his mouth. Going to his dinner one day he turned into his neighbor Alexander's gate, thinking it was his own, and in his straightforward unassuming way walked to the dining-room, ate his dinner, not realizing that he was not in his own dining room, nor looking at the lady before him. When he had finished he put on his hat and left with the remark; "Eva, you had a d— poor dinner today."

There is a rancher in Wyoming who is very anxious for a wife. In his advertisement he says that he is not particular about her looks, her age or her fortune, and she need not be a good cook as he is something of an artist in that himself. Then what in thunder does he want a wife for?

The Daily Tribune, published at Jackson, Tenn., recently published the following remarkable paragraph:

“Rev. J. H. Felts, pastor of the West Mission Church, delivered his farewell sermon this conference year, Sunday. This is the first year Rev. Mr. Felts has had charge of West Jackson Church, and by uniting zeal and social qualities he has made many women friends among his congregation who will be glad to see him return.”

Doubtless “warm” was written instead of “woman,” but it is no two to one that the mistake was not a bull’s-eye shot.

It has been figured out that the Prince of Wales has cost the people of Great Britain $30,000,000,000 since he attained his majority. Wales is about an average as Princes go, but he does not give promise of ever being worth what he cost.

The Kansas City Star deprecates the attempt made to discredit football because a promising student at Lawrence died from the effects of a game the other day, and recalls the fact that only a week ago a woman in Illinois died from heart failure caused by excitement at a gospel meeting.

As a matter of course that ends the debate.

The lumberman will split with his best friends.

If is not the coming man but the going man who gets there.

It is noticeable that the man who owes money does not enjoy a living business.

A good story is told by the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat on Col. Richard Hanson, of Bourbon county, Ky., Master Commissioner of the Bourbon Circuit Court, illustrating his extreme absent-mindedness:

“Many years ago Hanson lived a next-door neighbor to the late William Alexander, a prominent lawyer of Paris, whose wife was a niece of Jefferson Davis. Mr. Hanson seldom raises his head or looks to the right or to the left in the walks of life—in fact, he usually keeps in the middle of the road, and hig-hew f tobacco (if he uses it) in the middle of his mouth. Going to his dinner one day he turned into his neighbor Alexander's gate, thinking it was his own, and in his straightforward unassuming way walked to the dining-room, ate his dinner, not realizing that he was not in his own dining room, nor looking at the lady before him. When he had finished he put on his hat and left with the remark; “Eva, you had a d— poor dinner today.”

The work of tunneling 5 miles through the main range of the Rocky Mountains for railway and wholesale gold and silver mining purposes, goes on day and night, and this without state or government aid. More than 6,000 feet of the distance is already driven, and 25 veins of gold and silver ore already crossed. The Denver & Western Railroad to connect Denver with Salt Lake City at saving of 250 miles of distance by using this tunnel, has agreed for its use for twenty years, and to pay one dollar for each passenger and fifty cents per ton for a ton of freight taken through it. The large illustrated 22-page pamphlet sent to all who send two cents thereto to Mark M. Pomroy, General Manager, Room 46 Pulitzer Building, New York City is wonderfully interesting instructive and suggestive reading material, telling as it does what men are now doing day and night, where they are working more than 2,000 feet perpendicular below the surface of Mount Kelso. Nearly 5,000 men, women and children are now financially interested as owners of the Atlantic-Pacific Railway Tunnel and all the properties of the Company.

“My wife’s a Democrat,” he said, “and I’m a Republican, and now we’ve got a third party at our house.”

“Indeed?”

“Yes, a boy born last night.”

“What is he—Republican or Democrat?”

“I guess he’s a mangwump, for he doesn’t seem to know much.”

The motto of business men is push. It is also that of business men’s doors.

HAPPY New Year.

G. A. R. Monday night.

SHERIFF Roberts spent a day in town this week and a very agreeable hour in the LEADER office.

THIS week Col. T. W. Heman received the appointment of Deputy U. S. Marshal and took the oath of office.

OUR thanks are due friend Jno. R. Patton, chef of the Carrizoan ranch, for a pretty and toothsome New Year's loaf of bread.

S. B. Elkins is now Secretary of War. He was long a citizen of New Mexico and our Territory has now as influential friend in the Cabinet.

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the new Albuquerque Democrat office on the 26th inst. Were it possible we would certainly be there as nothing gives us more pleasure than to rejoice over journalistic success.

The World Published.
The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Vicks was first produced the world was enriched with the most perfect laxative known, as it is the comeliest which is truly pleasant and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

WHEN the Old Abe was discovered to be a boomerang there were those here who prognosticated that the find would soon pinch out, that it was but a pocket, etc. Since then the issue has been penetrated to a depth of several hundred feet and instead of pinching out signs the same widen and is much richer than it was above, leading the beholder to believe that there is enough of the vein to stuff in that mine to pay the National debt.

WHEN near the post-office the other day we were amused at a saw two yahoo friends meet and said one to the other:

"Say, Jim, do you know—here I can get a pair of spectacles?"

"Yes, I have a pair."

"Be you goin' to use 'em for three or four days?"

"No, just after Sunday."

"Well you lend 'em to me then?"

"Cest."

"Bully; I'll 'a' ty you gonna' home and get 'em."

We wish everybody indebted to the LEADER on any account, subscription, advertising or job work would make it a point to square accounts between now and the new year. Dear delinquent reader, don't forget us.

AUTOMATIC SWINGING MACHINES

Prices reduced. Every family now can have the best Automatic Swinging Machines in the market at reduced prices. For particulars send for our new Illustrated Circular with samples of stitching. Our Illustrated Circular shows every part of the Machine perfectly, and is worth sending for even if you have a Machine. Kruse & Murphy Mfg. Co., 615 and 617 West 20th Sts. N. Y. City.

NEXT week, like unto this, we will go to press on Thursday instead of Friday, with a full sheet and the paper's print as glory. But eating turkey on New Year's day hits our appetite better than working press.

THE LEADER has for sale a piano, an organ, 2 wagons, 2 carriages, 2 carts, 3 type writers, a watch, a soda fountain, a shot gun, a stove and range, 2 bicycles, one for a lady and one for a gentleman—also a first class sewing machine. Calvin Fisk is our agent for the sale of any or all of the above—See him and secure bargains.

Salt was the ordinary money of the Abyssinians.

The Carthaginians used stamped leather currency.

Shad scales are used as money in many of the North Sea Islands.

In parts of Scotland nails were formerly used to pay for ale and food.

The Burmese, Karen, Hengess and Ghans use lead and silver in bullion.

In the interior towns of China slips of mulberry bark serve as money.

Dried fish was formerly and is still to some extent a medium of exchange in Iceland.

Leather coins with a silver nail driven through the centre were issued in France by King John the Good in 1306.

There's a screw loose some where when a steamship has lost its propelling power.

There is no use in people undertaking to trade even. It is a bootless task.
