BAND AND ORCHESTRA FOR FOURTH OF JULY DISCUSSED AT SPECIAL MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

"The Carlsbad Band and Orchestra, under the present leadership, cannot furnish the style of music required for the Fourth of July celebration and is unable to compete with out of town organizations unless jazz music is played," was the statement made by Henry Bock, manager of the Carlsbad Municipal Band and Orchestra before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting in the club rooms Monday night. Mr. Bock, Mr. Rawlins and Mr. Soliday were in attendance at the meeting for the purpose of placing before the Chamber of Commerce the condition of the band and orchestra in an effort to reach a definite settlement as to the Fourth of July music.

According to Mr. Bock who spoke for the members of the band, dissonance and dissatisfaction had arisen among the members because of the apparent inability of Prof. Trowbridge to direct such music as is required for the dances. Several dances have been attempted but proved flat failures since the music was not of the style that modern dancers could appreciate. There is no fault to be found with the present leaders ability as a musician and an instructor but he steadfastly refuses to furnish music that the public desires. The members have suggested that no renewal be made on the contract of Prof. Trowbridge and that his position be filled by Ray Soliday at his expiration. The members give assurance that an orchestra can be trained in time for the Fourth of July celebration under the leadership of Mr. Soliday that will meet with the complete satisfaction of the public. The collections are progressing very good and with slight assistance from the Chamber of Commerce the finances will be in excellent shape.

Mr. Soliday signified his willingness to take charge of the band and orchestra and stated that he was competent to build a first class orchestra out of the material of the present organization, and that he was willing to leave the entire matter to the judgment of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bert Rawlins followed with a few general statements as to the class of music required but was not qualified as a musician to judge of the ability of Prof. Trowbridge. He advocated a change if the present conditions were true.

R. M. Thorne spoke as a director of the Chamber of Commerce stating that the time was growing short for the building of an orchestra before the celebration and a local organization should have the preference over outsiders if they were able to furnish the class of music desired.

Mr. Morris and E. A. Roberts favored a change in leadership if harmony and cooperation could not be accomplished through the present organization.

Mr. Melvain spoke of the original agreement of the Chamber of Commerce relative to the band and orchestra. The leader was not hired by the Chamber of Commerce but by the members of the band. The Chamber of Commerce agreed to back the movement and to assist financially to an amount not to exceed twenty-five dollars monthly. Therefore it lies with the band members to make any change in leadership. Mr. Melvain suggested that Ray Soliday be at least appointed for the time being in order that the movement continue and if further change is desired this can be made at a later date.

A financial report read by Secretary Toffelmire showed that collections were considerably behind and nearly seven hundred and fifty dollars yet remained to be collected for the band.

Many important Fourth of July matters were postponed on account of the lights going out in the club rooms during the shower. Mr. Melvain stated that he had received word from the Santa Fe system that rates of one and one-half fare for round trips would be granted from all points between Clovis, Pecos, Roswell and Albuquerque. Mr. Linn has received the first shipment of advertising material and the advertising drive will be posted about May first. It is necessary that this be done at once as other towns are talking of celebrations and these must be forestalled.

A committee composed of Linn, Oliver, and Holt was appointed by President Hubert to wait upon the finance committee and determine their reason for attempting to hold up the celebration by taking no action toward finances. They refuse to attend meetings when they are aware that all other committees are awaiting their report before definite plans can be made.

A second special meeting is to be called early in the week.

CARD OF THANKS

To all friends who so kindly assisted in my nomination for the office of County Superintendent of Schools I extend my sincere gratitude and appreciation. I hope in a measure to repay you in the best service I may be able to render the office.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LUNCHEON WELL ATTENDED

Good Eats—Good Talks—Splendid Feeling of Co-Operation

Seventy-five persons sat down to the luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at Palace Hotel yesterday at noon. President Hubert presiding. A drawing was initiated, each guest writing a name on a slip of paper which was placed near his plate, and five slips being drawn out, the fifth name being awarded the prize. In this case the lucky man proved to be W. F. Melvain and the prize a box of Perfecto cigars, was given to him.

A fine bouquet of carnations and lilies adorned the place of the president Mr. Hubert, and emphasized the fact of yesterday being his birthday anniversary.

The program, after luncheon was over, was as follows:

Song by the quartette, "You Can Lead a Horse to Water, But Your Pencil Must Be Lead." In the quartette were Messrs. McCollum, Wells, Hudgins and Oliver, and the song with its original hits in regard to the Chautauqua and the Fourth of July celebration, brought forth hearty applause from the listeners.

Rev. W. J. Lockhart, who is conducting a revival effort here at this time, was called on and gave a talk so full of good suggestions that we would like to produce the speech entire. Among other things he stressed the necessity of friendship and cooperation in building up a town. He spoke of several things that go to make better citizens, and better business men, and a better town, and said that business interests must cooperate and competitors should be friends. That criticism must of necessity pull down where cooperation and fraternal feeling will help to build up. He and his singer, Mr. Brooks, have come to help, and will do all in their power during their stay among us, to make it harder to do wrong and easier to do right. At the close of his earnest talk he received hearty applause.

John Wells, as chairman of the local Chautauqua Association, made a very interesting talk along that line. He said that Carlsbad has been having the Chautauqua since 1917 each year. The association, has annually had to guarantee the organization $1600.00, and has enjoyed the time it was here from five to seven days, immensely, but the city had nothing to show for its outlay except the entertainment. This year Carlsbad wants it to pay it back. The Chautauqua will start from Carlsbad, spending a week here, and going out from here to the various places on their schedule. In consultation with the advance man, Mr. Aydelotte, a "Farmers Day" was decided upon. 1000 complimentary tickets will be provided and given to the farmers of the community, and if necessary, more will be provided. The part of the citizens is to see that all farmers are notified that May 19th is their day, and they are invited to come in on that day as guests of the Chamber of Commerce. Plans are making to the end that the courtyard be put in shape and used for a picnic ground and that as many of the townspeople as possible join their friends from out of town at the dinner hour. A "Bargain Day" is urged by the committee, and that everything Carlsbad has for sale, be shown at that time. There will be at least sixty-five people belonging to the Chautauqua in Carlsbad on that day, and it has been suggested that the city make a special effort toward entertaining their visitors by showing them every thing that will be of interest to a stranger.

Troop B is to be asked to do its Sunday clothes and act as mounted police or traffic cops. Redpath-Horner Company will advertise Carlsbad in 189 towns on its circuit. Mr. Lowry suggested the appointment of reception and entertainment committees, which was put in the form of a motion and seconded by Mayor Hudgins, and carried by a rising vote.

Cecil Brooks, the gospel singer, who is assisting in the Union revival services now being held, said he had enjoyed the splendid talks and while his business is not to talk but to sing, he made a splendid appeal for cooperation of all with the meeting and ended by praising the people of Carlsbad for their enterprise, incidentally telling a funny Indian story which brought down the house.

Mr. Linn, chairman of the advertising committee for the Fourth of July being detained, W. A. Craig took his place and spoke along the line of advertising the Fourth of July celebration. He said that it was up to the Chamber of Commerce to make its bluff good and collect donations for advertising and other expenses at the point of a gun if necessary. He advised every one not to ask questions but to hand over what they had. At 8:30 each morning the committee will start out and continue their work from day to day. Mayor Hudgins made the assertion that the river banks would be lined every day. A number of posters have been received and more will be had and an intensive campaign of advertising will be carried on through the papers and otherwise.

The time having expired, President Hubert thanked the C of C for the flowers, and the meeting adjourned.

LOCKHART WATCHING THE EFFECT OF ONE OF HIS BROADSIDES.

HELL AS CERTAIN AS SIN. So Declares Evangelist Lockhart in Big Army Meetings.

Below is a short resume of the sermon delivered last night in the Armory before a large audience by Evangelist Lockhart:

"You ask me if there is a real Hell, and I answer you that Hell is just as certain as sin and as real as sin. For sin is Hell in embryo and sin plus eternity is the Hell the Bible describes. This is an awful truth. I wish I could tell you there is no Hell and you need not concern yourself about it. I do not enjoy preaching about hell, and neither would I enjoy running into your home and telling you your house was on fire. But if your life was endangered by a fire I would in duty be bound to warn you. And knowing well as I do what the word of God teaches on the subject of the punishment of sin I come as a friend to warn you of the awful consequences of the rejection of Jesus Christ and the continuing in sin.

"Some people try to reason away hell by saying a just God would not create his creatures and then punish them in Hell and that after all sin is not real but only a sort of a negative idea. In the first place God does not send men to hell. They send themselves there. There are men in hell right here in old Carlsbad and God did not put them there. They put themselves there. Man is a free moral agent and he has the power of choice. If he chooses to live in sin it is not God that brings the punishment upon him. Oh no, you do not need to get out of Carlsbad to find hell, and in this sermon I am not going to get very far away. Wherever homes are broken up and divorce cases are pending, wherever men and women prostitute their manhood and womanhood, wherever men are dishonest and blasphemous, and drunken, wherever men sin, that is where hell begins.

"There are those who would say hell is a mere negative idea. Well if you can get to the place of believing that sin is a mere negative idea then perhaps in your distorted reasoning you can conclude that hell also is only an idea. If you can come to the place of saying that when a beastly murderer like that colored Williams of Des Moines who went out and dragged the beautiful school teacher Barbara Thornsedale to the thickets of Des Moines river and killed her and you call that only a negative idea, if when men steal and lie and damn it is only a negative idea, then perhaps you can reason away hell. But as long as sin is sin, then hell is hell.

"I know there is a hell because of what the Bible says. Jesus Christ over and over again, as did all the sacred writers, warn men of the punishment even eternal that would come to those who continue in sin. (Here the evangelist read for some ten minutes from the Bible passage after passage on hell, concluding each with the words: "He that hath ears to hear let him hear.")

"Hell is indicated by all experience and observation. One thing is absolutely certain and that is that it is the tendency of character to become fixed. After a man lives a lifetime and gets his habits of thought and life fixed it is mighty hard to change him. Now the reasonable mind will draw but one conclusion: If all along the journey of life he observes that sin brings its own punishment here, and that is that in the continued life beyond death sin will continue to bring its own punishment.

"You ask me, is there a hell, and otherwise.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Union Revival Meetings Still Occupy the Minds of the People—Interest Increasing—Great Sunday School Movement on Hand.

Attendance at the meetings in the Armory, under the auspices of the different churches of Carlsbad, continues to increase, and deep interest is manifested as the days go by. The Armory has been well filled each night in spite of other attractions which have been very numerous since the meeting began. The evangelist and singer are making a place for themselves in the hearts of the people and the meeting is the most talked about of anything that has taken place in the city for years, if at all. Reverend Lockhart is a minister of the type that we seldom meet with in these days—telling the truth about sin and its consequences without fear or favor. His sermon Wednesday night was on "Backsliding" and was listened to with deep interest by a large audience, while the sermon on "Hell" delivered last night, brought out the largest congregation of the week, the Armory being crowded. Many have pronounced this sermon the best of the week.

The large choir under the direction of Cecil Brooks, is a great aid in the conduct of the meetings as is also the Junior choir which assists each evening. The meeting for school children each afternoon at 3:30 has increased steadily in numbers and yesterday there were present about one hundred and fifty children from the Grammar grades. Bible drill is to be given at the close of the meetings. Cottage prayer meetings are being held in different parts of the city, and the campaign is on in earnest. A drive is being made in the interest of the different Sunday Schools, in an effort to have $800 at all the schools next Sunday morning. Workers have been divided into two classes—red and green and tags of those colors are seen on coats and dresses everywhere we go. The meetings will continue for two weeks longer.

The reception given the visiting ladies at the home of Mrs. J. F. Joyce last Monday night was one of the delightful features of the Federation meeting and was attended by over one hundred persons, club members and visitors. The rooms were lavishly decorated with cut flowers, great bowls of sweet peas, and carnations adding their beauty and fragrance to the other pleasures of the evening. A program was rendered, Miss Johnston giving two piano numbers, Mary Frances Joyce a number, Mrs. Corbin and Mrs. Yates, of Artesia, and Mrs. McKim, of Carlsbad contributing vocal solos and Miss June Joyce a reading. Refreshments were served. Mesdames Hemenway and Bell pouring and other club ladies assisting in the dining room. A bevy of young girls served the guests and everything passed off in a very pleasant and informal manner.

Mrs. Charity Green who had a slight stroke last Friday at Eddy county hospital and whose death was thought to be but a question of a few hours, has rallied and is considerably better at this time.

I turn the question back at you. Go to that home in which sin has entered and ask the deserted wife if there is a hell. Go to the man who has now lost all self respect and tenderness and love and with hardened heart and empty soul is making his way down the sinful road of life and ask him if there is a hell. Go to the drunkard who has lost manhood and home and ask him if there is a hell; go to the murderer behind the bars; the poor woman with disheveled hair and blanched face as she makes her way down the street of shame and ask her if there is a hell and sin is its beginning.

"You ask me is hell a physical place of burning fire. I answer that hell is spoken of as a fiery furnace and it is also spoken of as a place of outer darkness. It could not be both. Hell is spoken of as a lake of fire and as a bottomless pit. It could not be both. What is my conclusion. These are figures of speech used to describe hell. A figure of speech may not literally be true but is the strongest language that man knows how to use to describe a thing. I say: "that automobile went by like a flash." That is a figure of speech that is not literally true. The automobile did not go by with fire flashing but the automobile did go by very rapidly. So back of the figures of speech used to describe hell is the awful fact that there is a hell. The figures do not make hell less real. They make it more real.

"Hell is a place of insatiable and tormenting desires that shall never be gratified. Hell is a place of shame. Hell is a place of an outraged and dishonored conscience. Hell is a place of vile companions."

Next Sunday afternoon will be a great meeting for men only when the evangelist will speak on the subject: "Men's Sins." This is one of the great services of the campaign and men leave the men's meeting as excited as they do a big ball game or a political rally. Every man in Carlsbad is expected at this meeting.

CARLSBAD CHAUTAUQUA ASSOCIATION MEETING

The directors of the Carlsbad Chautauqua Association held a short business meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Club rooms Wednesday evening.

John Wells, president of the Association reported that the tax exemption had been approved by the internal revenue collector and that the tickets had been received and counted.

The question of the form of entertainment for the opening day was discussed and many valuable suggestions offered. It is the purpose of Redpath-Horner to make this opening day the greatest of any season. Carlsbad has an opportunity of a great advertising scheme in as much as this day will be printed in the Chautauqua paper and mentioned from the stage in one hundred and eighty towns during the season.

It has been suggested that this be "Farmers Day". All the farmers will be invited to attend as the guests of the town. There will be a dinner, and a parade. The Cavalry and Boy Scouts will turn out as traffic officers and handle the serving of cold drinks. The merchants can make this a sale day, offering some special article for this day only.

Committees are to be appointed soon to work with the Chamber of Commerce to work out the details for the day.

Frank Kinkle, chairman of the ticket committee appointed W. G. McAdoo, H. I. Braden and Milton Smith as members of his committee.

Following adjournment the meeting attended the revival.

P. E. O. DINNER

The P. E. O.'s of Roswell who were in attendance at the Women's Club Convention, were guests of Chapter A, New Mexico, Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Fred Wilson.

At six o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served to the thirty ladies present. The setting of the table was unusually effective by the lights gleaming from yellow capped tapers and large bowls of yellow roses dotting the snowy linens, furnished the decorations in the P. E. O. colors, yellow and white, which colors predominated throughout the entire menu.

When the conversation was at its height, uninvited guests suddenly surrounded the tables, who proved to be none other than the Carlsbad B. I. L.'s. However, they were heartily welcomed when it was found that their mission was to present each lady with a corsage bouquet of Marguerites.

At the close of the dinner, Mrs. Wilson, as toastmistress, rose and gave a greeting of welcome to the visitors. This met with response from Mrs. W. V. Fall, president of Chapter B. Talks pertaining to P. E. O. activities were also given by Mrs. J. T. McClure, Miss Edith Geyer and Mrs. C. C. Lewis.

Those participating in this most delightful social function were Mesdames H. V. Fall, Sylvester Johnston, W. C. Buchly, G. W. Zink, D. N. Pope, Ford Geyer, E. M. Spencer, E. Morris, C. C. Martin, W. CARLSBAD TO BE CENTER OF OIL DEVELOPMENT IN NEAR FUTURE

Results of Work Done in Past From Santa Fe and Roswell To Pecos Places Carlsbad In Center of Formation And Structures.

Three years of wildcat oil well developments giving New Mexico a play from Santa Fe on the north to Pecos, Texas, across the line on the south has produced some interesting and valuable data.

During this time the lease peddler and the purely promotion outfits have departed and left the field to the legitimate companies who have been honestly going after oil and gas. The Toltce people began operations in Pankeys Pasture near Santa Fe and drilled a string of four wells extending southeast to within sight of Roswell. None of these wells have produced or shown any oil. The National Exploration Company have drilled deep tests all around Roswell and have abandoned the field unless it be the Orchard Park well which begins to have some showings. Coming on south towards Carlsbad the Illinois Producers have put down two wells with good oil showings. The Illinois Producers No. 1 is about 20 miles north of Carlsbad, was shot in a black lime sand at a depth of about 1082 feet. This well is still flowing a good grade of oil over the top of the casing.

Coming on south toward Carlsbad about 10 miles a government report shows that in making a test they encountered a live oil sand on government domain, fifty feet thick at a depth of about 945 feet.

This brings us up to the limestone dike running east and west just north of Carlsbad which shuts off the Artesian waters. No artesian flow has been found south of this formation and all deep wells north of it have encountered this water. Just on the south rim of this dike and upon the apex of structure Los Angeles people started a small test well called the Hackberry, which is located upon the J. D. Boyd lease. This well soon encountered inextinguishable water coming through creviced time formation and much money has been spent trying to locate and shut off leaks. With this water standing almost to the top an oil sand was encountered at 390 feet but on account of water no test has been possible. Considerable interest attaches to the fact that the black lime tips up to this apex location so that it was found at about 260 feet. On account of the shallow depth here it has been decided to drill another hole so as to be able to carry casing entirely below the water seepage. Continuing south the Big well of the New Mexico Petroleum and Refining Company, popularly known as the Bluebird No. 1 is just 4 miles south east of the Hackberry. In this well the Black lime was encountered at 1730 feet. In the lower part of this time an oil showing with gas was found 17 feet thick. It is thought that if this could be shot it would be a producer. This might have been done but the drillers dropped a string of ten inch casing weighing forty tons which telescoped to bottom and a year of time and expense has been put in by one of the most courageous companies ever in this field trying to reconstruct and clean out this wreck.

This has been done but the casing shuts out this showing. The hole was carried on down striking salt water a few feet below. Drilling continued and another sand 34 feet thick was found above white shale. It has finally been decided by this company to case all this off to get rid of salt water and go on down for another sand below the white shale. It is believed that Carlsbad can watch out for this well when this plan is carried out, and it will be as soon as casing arrives from the mills.

R. H. Nix of the two last named companies has carefully watched all this and recently directed his local representative Scott Eitter to acquire the property of the Kansas Carlsbad Oil Co., ten miles south of Bluebird by outright purchase.

This well is down 1326 feet with a 12 inch hole just entering the Black lime. Twenty Thousand acres of state leases were acquired with this well. This shows the Black lime about four hundred feet more shallow than in Bluebird well and when this well is finished, knowledge obtained in drilling Bluebird will avoid much delay and expense.

Now the interesting part of this article is developed when we go on south to the state line just below the Black River to location and find the Bell No. 1 locating the Black lime at about 2731 feet with eight million feet of gas below. The Pinal Dome found Black lime around 4009 feet. All of which tends to show that from Carlsbad to Black River is the general apex of this long structure.

NOTICE OF THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES OF CARLSBAD, NEW MEXICO

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of The Associated Charities of Carlsbad, New Mexico, will be held on the 5th day of May, 1922, at the hour of 8 o'clock P. M. in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. All members are requested to be present. All officers and chairman of committees will make their annual reports.

FRANCIS G. TRACY,
Chairman, Executive Committee.

An unusual express shipment passed through here Wednesday morning for the oil mill at Loving. The shipment consisted of two huge cylinder heads and four pistons and weighed 4200 pounds. It was shipped from Anderson, Ind., on April 22nd and arriving at Loving on the morning of the 26th, shows the record time in which it was handled, again demonstrating the service which the American Railway Express Co. renders on the hurry-up shipments, whether large or small. This machinery was installed Wednesday by two experts from the factory and the mill was again ready to run Wednesday night.

Murray Johnston, who has been spending a few days here from El Paso, accompanied Joe Johns to Roswell Wednesday. He saw many of his old time friends there with whom he formerly mingled when he was a resident of the valley.

Mrs. Alice Halbert, who lived in Carlsbad until the death of her husband, three years ago, moving then to Roswell, where she has since resided, has accepted a position in a dental office at Jopha, Missouri, leaving the first of the coming month to take up her duties there. She has many friends in this city and in Roswell who will greatly miss the brave little woman and who wish her success in her struggles to make a livelihood and secure an education for her two children.

Blythe McCollum has secured a position with the Redpath-Horner Chautauque people, and will begin work with that organization when the company reaches Carlsbad the 19th of May. The position is a good one and Blythe is a good man for the position and the current wishes him unbounded success. His territory embraces much of Texas and part of Louisiana and Colorado.

LOCAL NEWS

Will Ward is spending the week in the city, at the time he left the ranch there had no rain fallen, but from what we hear he has had a good rain on his ranch.

C. O. Swickard continues quite ill at his home west of town and is under a physician's care. He is suffering from a very severe case of influenza and does not seem to recover as he should having been sick for about two weeks. His adopted son came in the first of the week and is with Madam Swickard which greatly relieves her many friends in town who feared she might break down with the unaccustomed work.

Twenty Boy Scouts were in attendance at the meet held at Roswell last Saturday, entering the various events, as will be seen by the report of the affair in another column of the Current. On the way home in the evening the car driven by Frank Barnett was overturned and the occupants spilled along the road. No one was seriously hurt, however, altho one of the fellows said he was so frightened that he could not tell his mother until the next morning.

J. B. Morris, L. S. Perry and wife and Mrs. John Nevenser, were visitors to Roswell last Saturday, spending the night in the upper valley metropolis and returning to their homes in this city Sunday morning. Messrs. Morris and Perry played tennis with a team from the N. M. I. while in Roswell and were defeated, and in a return game played on the court at the High School Tuesday afternoon, the experience was repeated.

Mrs. Schultz received word of the serious illness of her father, in west Texas, Sunday morning and left on the first train for his bedside, reaching there a few hours before he passed away.

Tam Love moved his family to the ranch the latter part of last week, where they will spend the summer months, bringing the children back and forth to and from school.

DROUTH BROKEN

A delightful and copious rain fell on this section of the country, the first showers falling last Saturday afternoon and continuing at intervals until Wednesday evening, at which time the heaviest rain of the season fell. Forty-eight hundredths of an inch of rain fell in the space of ten minutes. Altogether up to Wednesday afternoon two and six-hundredths of an inch of rain has fallen. This means everything to the stockmen and farmer as well, as in the former case, the spring grass will be helped and in the case of the farmer the land can be put in better condition for the cotton planting and also the planting of small grains. Let us give thanks where thanks are due.

The picture show and a part of the town was plunged in darkness Monday night during the storm and an effort was made to find out the trouble without success until Tuesday morning when the efforts of the Public Utilities Company were rewarded by finding that some person had either by accident or design, thrown a wire over the light wire in the alley in the rear of the Breeding residence in the south part of town, thus making all the trouble. The flash was seen by many, but as it was lightening at the time, no notice was taken of it.

Mrs. Mable Kincaid and daughter, Miss Flossie, left for El Paso, last Saturday morning in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of her sister at that city, the wire stating that she was in an extremely dangerous condition and that the presence of Mrs. Kincaid was vitally necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nye are visiting with friends in their old home town, Belen, going up the latter part of last week.

First to establish the $10.90 price—"Usco"

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3 1/2 'Usco' is $10.90." The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is

IN LOVING MEMORY

OF FLEM TULK

Who gave his life in the World War, on the fields of France, just two days before the signing of the armistice.

By a friend who knew and loved him.

Oh! soldier boy, we knew you well Before all ties were riven, Before you went to France, dear Flem,

Where your life for us was given.

We saw you proudly march away, Filled with a purpose daring. The bravest of our loyal boys Our banner proudly bearing.

You went away without regret Freely you gave your all; Straight to the front to do your bit Where death was taking toll.

And there upon a field of gore, With comrades falling fast; Death found you staunchly at your post, Faithful unto the last.

You answered the last great roll-call You could not stay to know; That you helped to bring a world wide peace When you vanquished the deadly foe.

We could not bear that an alien flag Should wave above our dead, So't has been decreed that New Mexico Should be our soldiers' bed.

Gone, but not forgotten Flem, The heroic life you gave; Will stand to us as a monument Lasting beyond the grave. —M. Q. M.

LESSON FOR APRIL 30

ISAIAH'S SUMMONS AND RESPONSE.

LESSON TEXT.—Isa. 6:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT.—Isa. 6:1; send me.

REFERENCE MATERIAL.—Gen. 12:1-4; Ex. 24:1-11; Josh. 24:1-10; Matt. 10:5-20.

PRIMARY TOPIC.—God Calls Isaiah to Help Him. JUNIOR TOPIC.—A Young Man Who Was Ready. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—Our Response to the Call for Service. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.—The Service to Which God Calls Us.

I. Isaiah's Vision of Glory (vv. 1-4). So definite was this vision that the prophet remembered the very time of its occurrence. It meant so much to him that he could ever look back to it as a day when his ministry took on a new meaning.

1. He Saw the Lord on His Throne (v. 1). Though the death of Uzziah left Judah's throne empty it was made clear to the prophet that the throne of God was occupied. The Lord was high and lifted up, showing that He is above all kingdoms. This was a peculiar preparation of Isaiah for his work. The one who has really seen God can never be the same again; life has a fuller meaning ever afterward.

2. He Saw the Seraphim Above (v. 2). Just who these beings are we do not know. The word signifies "fiery," "burning." They were glorious beings whose business was to wait upon the Lord, to go on errands for Him. They had six wings—two for flight; two to cover their face, showing reverence; and two to cover their feet, showing humility. These three pairs show that reverence and humility are of equal value before God, with activity. The song of the seraphim shows that they saw holiness as God's supreme attribute. The thrice "holy" perhaps refers to the Trinity. The first choir sang, "Holy, holy, holy," and the second choir responded to this by saying, "The whole earth is full of His glory."

3. The Manifestation of Majesty (v. 4). "The posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke." The smoke, no doubt, signified God's wrath against man's sinfulness (see Psalms 18:8; 74:1). II. Isaiah's Conviction of Sin (v. 6). The vision of God brought the prophet to see himself. It is only in the light of God's holiness that we see our unholiness. When Peter got a glimpse of who Christ was he begged Him to depart from him, saying, "Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord" (Luke 9:33). The prophet not only realized that he was a sinner, but that the nation was a nation of sinners. What the world needs today above all things is a vision of God.

III. Isaiah's Cleansing From Sin (v. 6, 7). The taking of the coal from the altar shows that it was connected with sacrifice. The fire that consumed the sacrifice was holy fire. When a sinner gets a vision of God in Christ, the Holy Spirit applies the merits of Christ's shed blood and cleanses from all sin.

IV. Isaiah's Call (v. 8). Immediately following his cleansing came the call. Men must be cleansed from sin before they shall be called to God's service. Though God has many angelic beings who willingly go on errands for Him, yet He has errands upon which only cleansed human beings can go. The only ones who can really declare the gospel of God's grace are those who have experienced its saving power. God is asking this same question of men and women. Isaiah readily responded to his call by dedicating himself to the task. He said, "Here am I; send me."

V. Isaiah's Commission (vv. 9-13). 1. The Sending (vv. 9, 10). He had a most discouraging task before him. He is assured that the people will hear his message, but be unmoved by it. They will even increase in blindness and deafness to the divine warnings—they will neither be converted nor healed. Such a hopeless task would only be undertaken by one who had had a vision of God.

2. The Encouragement (vv. 11-13). Facing this discouraging outlook the prophet raised the inquiry, "Lord, how long?" The Lord in His reply assured him that it would not last forever. The land would be desolate, the cities without inhabitants, and the houses without occupants; but as the oak retains its vital substance even long after it has been cut down, so from Judah shall a remnant be saved. The holy seed is the substance which shall constitute the basis of the kingdom which shall come when David's son shall be king.

Must Look to Jesus.

If I want to repent, if I want to change my mind and get more and more determined to be good, I must look at Jesus Christ. I must notice how perfectly faultless, perfectly loving, perfectly patient, perfectly ready to spend Himself in the service of others, He is.—The Bishop of London

The Deceitful Tongue.

For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.—Micah 6:12.

"CLEAN GROCERIES"

It is no longer necessary to buy an expensive automobile in order to obtain the essentials and comforts of the costly car.

Studebaker has settled that. You can now buy a LIGHT-SIX for only $1045, f. o. b. factory, and get a car that rivals the higher priced ones in every advantage that goes to make up permanent satisfaction.

You want a serviceable car. The LIGHT-SIX has a 40-horsepower motor which is powerful, flexible and is practically free from vibration because of Studebaker's method of machining the crankshaft and connecting rods.

You want good looks. You get good looks in the LIGHT-SIX.

You want a comfortable car. The LIGHT-SIX has a roomy, comfortable body, mounted on long, substantial, semi-elliptic springs; and deep, restful cushions upholstered in genuine leather.

You want service. The LIGHT-SIX is built complete in Studebaker plants. It is not an experiment. Thousands of owners have found it dependable in every kind of service.

And you want refinements. Standard equipment on the LIGHT-SIX includes cowl ventilator operated from the instrument board; cowl parking lights at base of the windshield; inside and outside door handles; large, rectangular plate glass window in rear curtain; ignition lock and a thief-proof transmission lock, reducing the rate of insurance to LIGHT-SIX owners 15 to 20 per cent; and cord tires.

You can pay more and not get the satisfaction the LIGHT-SIX will give. But you can't get, for the same price, a value that is even comparable to the LIGHT-SIX.

Studebaker has been building quality vehicles and selling them at fair prices for 70 years.

SWAT THE FLY.

Have you noticed the advent of our regular summer visitor, the house fly, into your midst during the past few days? In a very short while we will find them multiplying by the thousands. As Walt Mason has expressed it:

"Oh every fly that skips our swatters, Will have five million sons and daughters And countless first and second cousins; Of aunt and uncles, scores and dozens, And fifty-seven billion nieces; So knock the blamed thing all to pieces."

That flies spread disease and are otherwise a source of harm as well as a nuisance is assumed to be generally accepted. For several years past there has been much agitation concerning the fly. It would be difficult to find any intelligent man, woman or child who does not know something of the dangerous character of the fly. These campaigns of agitation and education have done much good; but they have not been as practical and far-reaching in their results as they should have been. And because this is true, every town and every community still has its share of the disease breeding fly. People talk about the fly, tell you how dangerous it is, and utterly ignore the manure piles and other accumulations of filth that furnish their breeding places.

It should be clearly and definitely settled that as a fundamental in the ridding of a community of flies, the places wherein they breed must be destroyed. These removed and kept removed there can be no flies.

Fly swatting may be a popular pastime. It has been much talked about, but so far has not proven effective. The well-meaning housewife applying a swatter continuously, kills the flies one at a time. The removal of the contents of one horse stable will swat millions of them. Education is a good thing, but education without action accomplishes little. It is a fine thing for people to screen their homes to keep the flies out, but it is a far better thing for people to remove near-by filth and make their neighborhood so clean that there can be no flies and little or no necessity for screens.

In fact, taking another view of it, the presence of flies in a community should be taken as a warning that there is filth present in that community. Filth and flies go together; no filth, no flies. About the only good thing you can say of the fly is that when you see him it should stimulate you to hunt up the place where he was born and destroy it, so that it may breed no more of his kind.

"Clean Up and Starve the Fly." Eddy County Board of Health.

RELIABLE RATTLESNAKE BITE REMEDY

Continued reports of fatalities from snake bites in Texas calls forth protests from D. N. McCree, the well known old time citizen of Lometa, because he says these deaths are entirely unnecessary. After trying a very simple remedy for the past forty-two years in Lampasas County and seeing it bring positive relief every time out of forty or fifty trials, Mr. McCree has every reason to believe the remedy a positive one. He has seen it tried on persons, on cattle, horses and dogs, and it always cured in a very short while. The simplicity of this remedy should appeal to every one. It is: When bitten eat a piece of alum about the size of an ordinary English pea, and then rub some of the pulverized alum on the wound. That is all there is to it, but it is evident that the poison is neutralized in some way by action through the stomach.

Mr. McCree says he has not been and it never fails to work. Without a chunk of alum in his pocket for 40 years. He is entirely reliable and this remedy should be given wide publicity.—Lometa Reporter.

Mrs. L. E. Ervin came home from Sierra Blanca, Texas, bringing with her mother, Mrs. Scaife, who has been very ill from pneumonia. A brother, Howard, accompanied them on their journey, and another brother, Fletcher Scaife, came in this week. Mrs. Scaife continues very ill at the Ervin home on Canyon street, although there is a slight improvement this morning.

HARRY J. LOOSE

How Would You Like To See a Real Detective

Don't expect Harry J. Loose to take the time to ferret out crimes or criminals in your town, but in his most extraordinary lecture, "Crime, Its Cause and Prevention," Mr. Loose will bring a vital message to your town.

This lecture is dramatic and entertaining but don't get the idea that it is purely entertainment. He will grip the hearts of every man and every boy in the audience. "They never get away," says Harry Loose, and then he proceeds to prove his statement. He shows the fallacy of crime and criminal tendencies.

Mr. Loose is not a "has been." He is one of the big detectives of the Chicago Police Department. He was associated with Jane Adams in welfare work for years. He is connected with some of the largest welfare institutions of the country. Mr. Loose will bring with him a very remarkable array of equipment and implements of all kinds that he has accumulated in years of detective work.

His lecture in connection with this display will be as interesting as a detective story and as useful as a sermon. As a matter of fact, it will prove to be both.

A MILLION ACRES OF FARMS

Perhaps the average casual reader, who perused the statement that New Mexico's share of the Colorado river waters should be enough to irrigate a million acres, has but a vague idea of what a million acres of irrigated land means.

Irrigated wheat, for instance, should average 25 bushels to the acre. Twenty-five million bushels of wheat is some wheat. Oats on such land should run 75 to 100 bushels to the acre. Seventy-five or a hundred million bushels of oats would assist to put New Mexico on the agricultural map. Alfalfa should run five tons. Contemplate the spectacle in your mind's eye of five million tons of alfalfa and grass. Corn should produce forty bushels to the acre. Consider 40,000,000 bushels of corn.

A carload of wheat is about 1,200 bushels. Twenty-five million bushels of wheat would require about a thousand trains of 20 cars each. Think nearly 114 miles of trains.

Intensive crops like fruit and garden truck would show a high average per acre; the number of milch cows, hogs, chickens, ducks, and geese and turkeys that might be raised on a million acres staggers the imagination.

Twenty-five hundred new farmers on irrigated land in New Mexico could support a tremendous population outside their own households. Four hundred thousand horsepower of electrical energy would absolutely revolutionize conditions in New Mexico.

All of which shows, when you come to think about it, that when we talk about the addition of a million acres of irrigated land to New Mexico's total we are talking about something literally stupendous. We are so accustomed nowadays to talk lightly in terms of millions that a million acres means little until we begin to look into the possibilities of such an area of farmed land.

Pioneers of the Pecos valley would never in their wildest moments have imagined what is now the reality in that great garden spot—all accomplished by water. In the course of time it is reasonable to expect that this million acre addition to New Mexico's wealth will become a reality. But it will take time, it will take years of hard work, it will take vision and vigilance, and above all, it will take able, far-sighted, masterful leadership.—New Mexican.

Charley James and wife came in from the ranch the first of the week and made a brief visit with friends in the city.

A SAFE SYSTEM FOR SOUTHERN FARMERS

The Entire South Is Aroused To The Necessity of Basing the System of Agricultural Credits on Cows, Sows, Hens and Feed

(By John Fields)

(We are indebted to L. P. Poter for the following interesting article he being a great believer in diversified farming and says it has been his observation that the farmer who raises several different kinds of crops and keeps hogs, poultry and livestock, is in better condition financially than the one cropper cotton farmer. This condition prevails everywhere in the United States as well as in the Pecos Valley.)

Arkansas bankers have quit asking for more acres of cotton as security for loans. I stopped between trains in Little Rock about a month ago, to visit a few minutes with a banker-planter friend and found the following displayed prominently on a big poster.

Our Credit Policy
While this bank is vitally interested in and affected by the crop plans of this community, we do not presume to have the right to direct the farm plans of this locality.

We feel that we have the right, however, to determine the fundamental policies that are necessary in order for this bank to give farmers credit.

No money will be lent to farmers for the purpose of buying feed. No money will be lent to merchants for the purpose of buying feed to be sold to farmers.

This bank will lend money to farmers only when their crop plans provide for ample acreage necessary to produce food for the persons and feed for the animals on the place.

This Policy is necessary to protect the interest of our depositors, whose money we are lending. This policy has proved safe and sound.

A suggested basis for feed acreage is as follows: Corn 5 acres; hay crops, 2 acres for each animal; and ample acreage in feed and hay crops and pasture for the cows, hogs, and other animals on the farm.

This bank will do all it can to aid farmers who are entitled to credit in the purchase of milk cows, hogs, and poultry necessary to provide milk, meat and eggs for family consumption.

A farmer with hay in the barn, corn in the crib, meat in the smoke-house, and with poultry, eggs and cream to sell, is usually in good standing with this bank.

These principles are in conformity with policies as adopted by the farmers in convention in Little Rock.

Play safe! Don't gamble! My friend told me that virtually every bank in Arkansas, especially where cotton is grown, is displaying the same poster and that all will adhere closely to the credit policy stated on it. Being largely responsible for the unpleasant fix in which Arkansas farmers and business men now find themselves, thru having made cotton almost the sole basis of credit to farmers, bankers propose hereafter to do what they can to help farmers get out of debt and stay out. If they will adhere to this policy for three years, farming in Arkansas will make a greater solid advance than it has in the previous 30 years.

Safe Farming for 1922
A little later, I met J. A. Evans of the United States Department of Agriculture, who was spending the week attending farmers' meetings in Arkansas. He gave me a circular just off the press, issued by the Arkansas College of Agriculture, written by Dean Bradford Knapp. Here are a few extracts from what Dean Knapp said:

"The freight rate depreciates our home products when we go to ship them out and increases, correspondingly, the price of products which we need when we have to ship them in."

"When you go heavy on cotton acreage in 1922, you are betting that you can buy your food, which you do not produce, cheaply. You are betting that by some miracle European buying power will immediately be restored."

"On the average the thousands of farmers in Arkansas who have produced gardens, potatoes, sorghum, corn, hay and forage, chickens, eggs, some hogs, and have a milk cow for family use and possibly some milk to sell are today in the best financial condition of any farmers in the state, especially where they are farm owners operating their own farms."

"Safety requires that not all the labor and capital be risked on the production of one crop. A sufficient number of acres of the farm should be planted in living and feed crops to supply the feed of the family and livestock, including the necessary poultry, hogs, and milk cows for the family. There are too many farmers in Arkansas without poultry, without a garden, without a cow, without a field of corn, a pasture or a hay crop."

"If the world will not or cannot buy your cotton because you produce too much of it, no system of marketing or distribution will get you a good price unless the crop can be marketed and carried long enough to spread that surplus over the future years of less than normal production. I am strong in favor of commodity marketing associations. But they will not solve all of their problems."

The legislature was in session when I was in Jackson, Miss., but the senate adjourned so that cotton planters, bankers and merchants might consider plans for working

RAY SOLADAY TO BE NEW DIRECTOR OF CARLSBAD BAND.

A committee of several members of the Carlsbad band met Monday night with the Chamber of Commerce to decide whether or not to retain the services of Mr. Trowbridge as director of the band. After some discussion, it was voted to leave the matter up to the band members, who, we understand, decided among themselves not to renew the contract with Mr. Trowbridge.

However, the band will continue as an organization, and Ray Soladay will take charge as director, according to information furnished this office. We hope that the band will continue to be a successful organization, and although we will regret to lose Mr. Trowbridge, who has proven himself to be a very genial gentleman as well as a good musician, we sincerely trust that Mr. Soladay will continue the work so ably begun.

I wish to publicly express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the interest and support extended during my candidacy for the office of county assessor. I assure every taxpayer and citizen of Eddy county that they will be shown every consideration at my hands and I will endeavor to discharge the duties of my office in an impartial manner endeavoring to assess all property on a fair and equitable basis, which was the policy I tried to pursue the past two years.

their way out to solid financial ground. After confessing their agricultural sins of long standing, they unanimously approved the resolutions adopted by the cotton convention held at Memphis, Tenn., last December. They are exactly in line with what is being done in Arkansas. Here is the program:

"That every farm produce the feedstuffs necessary to care for the livestock on the farm, and that the acreage planted to feed be based on the minimum production of a bad year and not on the maximum production of a good year."

"That every farmer be urged to make an independent home living thru utilizing the products of at least one cow, one sow, 2 dozen hens and a rooster, and by producing on his farm all foodstuffs that climatic and soil conditions will permit."

"That farmers, after allotting ample acreage to foodstuffs and feedstuffs, plant such cotton acreage as can be cultivated properly and economically but under no circumstances and in no instance should the total acreage planted to cotton exceed that planted in 1921."

"That bankers, credit merchants, and land owners be urged to insist on this plan and pledge their aid in obtaining its adoption by giving liberal credits to assist needy farmers to purchase cows, sows, and hens and to grow food and feed crops, and by cooperating with farmers and farm organizations in every possible way to procure fair cash markets for all farm crops and farm produce as well as for cotton."

"A new crop of more than 10 million bales would be risky."

"Do not increase cotton acreage. The acreage planted last year would have produced in an average year not less than 10 million bales. In a bumper year, such as 1914, it would have produced not less than 12 million bales."

"There is still too much cotton in the world and the world's ability to buy is too small for a new crop of more than 10 million bales."

"It is better to be safe than to be sorry."

"Let's have no cowless, sowless, or henless farm."

The breeders who attended the convention of the Southern cattlemen's association at Knoxville, Tenn., see great possibilities for better agriculture in the change in the credit policy of landowners, bankers and merchants throughout the South.

Instead of discouraging livestock as has been the custom too generally hitherto, the policy of insisting that every farmer must have at least one cow, one sow, 2 dozen hens and a rooster, and of lending funds for their purchase opens up a great field for lenders who have been waging an uphill fight for so many years.

Big Opportunity for Stockmen
And what a field it is! When the livestock vacuum is filled with any kind of cows on the 769,639 Southern farms without any cattle now, and with any kind of sows on the 723,434 farms without any hogs now, the number of prospects for the sale of breeding stock will be vastly increased. And there need be no scrapping between breeds and types. There are not nearly enough purebred cattle now in the South to put one purebred on each farm where there are no cattle at all; neither are there enough purebred hogs in the Southern states to start each hogless farm off with a purebred. But as these cowless, hogless, farmers learn the uses of cows and sows the feeling of contentment which comes from the daily assimilation of their products, the demand for better cattle and better hogs will grow. Then livestock breeding will be a safe business instead of a risky game.—The Oklahoma Farmer.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop 1 lost the track meet, at Roswell, last Saturday, by a final count of 22 to 19. Failure on the part of our boys to practice is the only cause for defeat. Our boys won in every athletic event but were lacking in skill at scoutcraft and uniforms. The next meet will be in Carlsbad during the encampment.

Every scout who attended the Roswell Track meet came home singing praises of the Roswell scouts and scout officials. In every event our boys were given the very fairest decisions and the Roswell lads showed themselves thorough scouts and true sports. Winning or losing they were the same gentlemanly fellows. The entertainment accorded our boys by the Roswell scouts and Chamber of Commerce could not have been better and will long be remembered by our boys.

Parents are requested to aid their boys in getting uniforms. The cost is not much and it is the most practical suit for boys.

Yes, the lads had a little wreck on their return from Roswell, but no one was hurt and the accident was unavoidable. True scouts never complain and so you will hear very little about what happened.

Scouts Eaker, James Wallace, and Kenneth Davis, of Troop 2 rendered splendid service in the events of the Roswell meet.

Let's get Artesia in line. With such a splendid bunch of young fellows our neighbor town should have a good, live scout troop. Let us hear from you, neighbor.

The Scout band of fifty-four members from El Paso will visit us this summer. Just think, fifty-four live wire boys all in uniform putting forth good music. Won't that be a gala day for Carlsbad?

Ray Davis is going to be a live scout worker. Watch other boys come and soon we will have another troop.

Scouting is taking hold in every town in the U. S. A. Great things are ahead for boys. Scout Bill Phillips, of Troop 2, Roswell, was a guest of John Owen Eaker this week.

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY AT ROSWELL WEDNESDAY

Wednesday the 103rd anniversary of the founding of the order of Oddfellows was observed by the Pecos Valley Association at Roswell. A number of members went from here to that place for the annual meet. It was at first thought that the trip would have to be given up owing to the heavy rains that fell Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday morning, but the brethren are not of the kind who give up easily and the sun coming out at the right time, the trip was made. Among the ladies who left here were Mesdames Webb, Brinton, McCord, Miss Inez Jones and Miss Pauline Johnston. Six cars were required to carry the team and others who wished to attend, the following being members of the degree team: Bert Lack, Captain; Marvin Livingston, J. J. Grubbs, H. R. King, Ed Kirkpatrick, H. M. Brinton, John Prickett, L. R. Regnier, Joe Andrews, J. F. Flowers, Ray Davis, J. W. Stephenson, T. C. Horne, M. R. Smith, Elmer Webb, Henry Collins, E. S. Wynn, Carl Herring.

A royal time was enjoyed by all who were courageous enough to make the trip, despite the bad weather. Those who went in the morning, arrived at Roswell in the afternoon, while those who left here about 2 o'clock in the afternoon arrived in Roswell at about seven at night, in time to take part in the festivities of the evening. The Third degree was exemplified by Artesia and Carlsbad Lodges, and true to expectations, the local lodge was awarded the prize for the most excellent work, which prize was a set of banners, four in number, which are on exhibition in the windows of the Corner Drug Store. Those going from here speak in highest terms of their reception by the Roswell lodge, and were greatly pleased at the arrangements made for their entertainment. The last load of the travelers came in yesterday afternoon.

The elections of officers resulted as follows: J. B. Leck, president; J. F. Flowers, vice-president; Victor L. Minter, secretary and treasurer. The selection of the place for the next meeting was left to the officers, but it will in all probability be Carlsbad.

E. A. Rose, of Roswell, was down from there on a business mission last Tuesday.

LOCAL NEWS.

A guest Wednesday at the John Lewis home, was Mrs. H. V. Fall, of Roswell, who had been in attendance at the Club meeting held in this city, and stayed over a day.

H. B. Ramsay and wife and M. C. Stewart were passengers to Roswell the first of the week.

J. D. Hudgins went up to Roswell Tuesday and spent the day there in conference with other representatives of the Ford automobile distributors.

Tom Runyan, John Wake and Mrs. Sam West are among Carlsbad folk who came up Monday night on the train to spend several days here.—Roswell News.

Sheriff George Batton and his son, Cecil, left the latter part of last week for Santa Fe, having in charge the Mexican who was sentenced at the last term of court, to a term in the State penitentiary. Mrs. Batton and Miss Dorothy accompanied the party to Roswell where they remained until the return of the men from Santa Fe. They report a strenuous trip from Roswell to this city caused by the recent heavy rains, arriving home Tuesday.

Dave McCollum brought in a load of mohair, 2200 pounds, getting in ahead of the rain Wednesday. He is much in hopes that when he arrives at the ranch in the mountains, he will find that his ranch and the surrounding country has been blessed with a bountiful rainfall.

Miss Adelle Bujac, who has been attending the El Paso school for girls, at El Paso, Texas, came in from there Wednesday night for a short visit with homefolks.

Regular meeting of Chapter A of P. E. O. organization, met at the home of Mrs. McLennan Wednesday. This was a business meeting and in addition to the members present, the ladies had for guests Mesdames Pope and Fall of Roswell, whose visit to the chapter was greatly appreciated. A light luncheon was served during the afternoon.

Mrs. William McLendon, of Clovis, came down from there Tuesday afternoon and left for El Paso, Texas, the next day, being called there by the death of her sister, Mrs. Ray Wilson, of that city, who departed this life Monday. Mrs. Wilson will be remembered by many Carlsbad citizens, as a beautiful young woman of a kindly nature and always ready and willing to do a kindly deed to any one around her. She leaves a husband, two sisters and several nieces to mourn her loss, besides many friends.

While playing on the Grammar school grounds Tuesday after the rain, one little girl had the misfortune to have her dress splashed and in retaliation threw a stone with such force that James Craft was struck on the side of the head and a cut made which required the help of a doctor to close. James did not wait for the return of his mother, who was attending the club meeting at the Presbyterian church, but promptly visited a physician and had the wound dressed before word was taken to his mother.

Rev. J. C. Jones came down from Roswell to be present at the meeting now in progress at the Armory, and regrets that necessity compels him to leave soon for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he will be engaged in the sessions of the general conference for some time.

Mrs. J. S. Johnston is rejoicing over the visit of her son, Murray, and also her daughter, Mrs. Kirkley, and the latter's children. Murray is in government employ at El Paso, and Mrs. Kirkley is residing at present at Pecos. The week end was pleasantly spent at the old home in Carlsbad.

DIED AT HOSPITAL.

E. W. Beckwith, of Lovington, died at Eddy county hospital Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock after a long illness from an internal cancer. His death had been expected for some time physicians giving no hope from the first. He was about fifty-eight years old and a native of Ohio, where he has two sisters living at this time and as far as known these are his only surviving relatives. The body was taken to Lovington for burial, leaving here Wednesday morning. Mr. Beckwith was well known in the plains country, having been manager of the Public Utilities Company of Lovington, for some years and a prominent business man in that section.

BORN:—This morning at the family home south of town, a nine pound son came to bless the home of W. C. Bindel and wife. This is the eighth child in the family and the sixth son. May a successful life be the portion of the little one.

Mrs. W. C. Buchly and Mrs. Harry Andrews, both of Roswell, have been guests at the V. O. McCollum home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Brown and baby were in town over night Tuesday and left the next morning for their long contemplated visit to Kansas points where they had planned to go for a month's stay previous to the time of Mr. Brown's illness. They will return to this city at the close of their stay in Kansas, and it is hoped they may remain with us permanently.

A case was tried this week, Monday, in District Court, wherein W. H. Horschheimer sued the State National Bank. The action grew out of the sale of cotton which Horschheimer had consigned to the bank for sale, he claiming that the bank had sold the same for a lower price than he ordered them to. The case was tried before a jury which was unable to agree and was discharged by Judge J. W. Armstrong, who heard the case as Judge, court being in session in Roswell and Judge Brice being unable to be present.

Vince Baler, owner of the D ranch, was in from his home the middle of the week and reported the rain not as heavy on the ranch as in other parts of this section of the country, although some rain has fallen even as far west as that ranch.

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Swearingen, of Roswell, were in town from their home last Saturday, the doctor coming on professional business and Mrs. Swearingen accompanying him. They were guests of the Crawford while in town.

Mrs. Lesseffa, the county health nurse, is hard at work this week looking after the health of the school children and making recommendations in many cases along that line. She expects to outline her work at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association to be held soon when a number of committees will be formed and the work taken up in a systematic manner.

The week from May 1st to 6th inclusive has been set apart by the post office department as Postal Improvement week, and a concerted movement on the part of all employees of the post office department is on foot, to make a record during that time, in handling all business of the postal department.

The post office is an institution operated for the sole purpose of giving service to you, and if you want to better that service, your local postmaster would appreciate any constructive criticism, or suggestion that you may offer.

Mrs. Earl Kendal of the lower valley, after a major operation at Eddy county hospital, will be allowed to return to her home tomorrow, she having convalesced to that extent.

Trav Humphreys left for his ranch at Orange, New Mexico, yesterday after spending a couple of weeks in town getting acquainted with his new daughter, Mrs. Humphreys and children are at the home of her sister, Mrs. Morrison.

THE PHYSICAL CARE OF RURAL SCHOOL CHILDREN

An Officer connected with the recruiting station of the United States Marine Corps, New York City, has been quoted in a recent publication to the effect that only 316 of 13,612 applicants for enlistment in this branch of the public service were up to the required physical standard. Furthermore, it has been noted by observers in other countries that, in the case of volunteers for military service, rejections because of physical unfitness were in direct relation to the number of years spent in the school. Although it is not claimed that these observations hold true for all sections of the country, they do serve to draw attention to the fact that large numbers of individuals in the country have not attained the highest individual efficiency, and that the schools might be responsible in a measure for such lack of development. This is all the more evident when it is recalled that the greatest number of rejections for enlistment on account of physical defects were due to abnormalities of physical development, defective vision and hearing, heart disease, faulty teeth, and postural defects. These defects are in a large measure preventable, or at least controllable, depending upon their prompt recognition during childhood, the period in which so many of them have their origin. It is for this reason that the health supervision of school children is so necessary.

Intensive studies of rural school conditions conducted by the Public Health Service have revealed a special need of health supervision of rural school children because: (1) They constitute 60.7 per cent of the total school enrollment of the country; (2) they are largely denied the medical attention of specialists such as may be had in hospitals and clinics in cities; (3) they can not be protected en masse by health laws as is the case in urban communities; and (4) they are more unduly affected by endemic diseases which diminish vital resistance and exercise an injurious influence on physical and mental development.

The needs indicated for the physical care of rural school children are quite plain. The first of these is to increase vital resistance through measures designed to promote physical development. A large proportion of the hampering physical defects observed in later life had their origin in childhood at a period when their early recognition gives greatest hope of correction, however, it must be known how the child grows what are the laws governing physical development, what are the physical averages of the sexes for the different age periods, and how these averages are modified by racial and environmental influences in different communities. Finally, the school itself should be made a place in which the healthy child may grow in a normal manner, and where the best development of the weakened child may be secured.

Physical defects among rural school children are potentially of more serious consequences than those among children in cities. This is due to the limited medical facilities in most rural districts and in part to poorly constructed and equipped school buildings. Many examples illustrative of this observation have come under our personal notice. Witness the case of a small child between 6 and 7 years of age who, figuratively speaking, was standing on the edge of a threatening volcano, so far as life was concerned, by reason of a neglected inflammation of the middle ear. The otoscope revealed a slit in a very congested ear drum through which pus was oozing in great quantity. Neglect of this condition leads to deafness and not infrequently to death. The parents of this child were unaware of its dangerous condition. Cases like this and many similar cases occurring in rural schools remain unrecognized through the lack of medical supervision until too late to prevent destructive changes.

The faulty illumination so frequently observed in rural schools is largely responsible for much of the impaired vision encountered. Recent measurement of the desk illumination of an eight-room school on a cloudy day showed that the illumination of more than half of the desks in a number of the classrooms was less than one-third of that demanded by the lowest minimum standard. The effect of such faulty illumination is to promote eyestrain and to increase nearsightedness. The illumination of these classrooms could have been doubled by the proper tinting of refracting surfaces; but the school authorities were without competent advice in this important detail of school construction. The need of such advice is largely responsible for many of the undesirable features of rural school life.

Furthermore, a number of rural school children were badly in need of glasses and had never been refracted. The rural school child can not step around the corner to an eye clinic and secure the free services of a specialist. These children are frequently found wearing glasses entirely unsuited to them, as was a girl with one eye hyperopic and the other myopic, who was wearing a farsighted lens in front of the nearsighted eye.

The rural school child is greatly in need of instruction in the care of the teeth and in need of adequate dental services. This is shown by the fact that in a recent school survey 49.3 per cent of the children had defective teeth, 21.1 per cent had two or more missing teeth, and only 16.2 per cent had dental attention.

Furthermore, 14.4 per cent of these children never used a toothbrush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent used one daily. It is now well recognized that defective teeth are responsible for a number of the bodily ills which materially reduce physical efficiency. Due attention to the care of the teeth in childhood will prevent their early decay in later life. Our investigations have revealed the highest percentage of children with defective teeth among boys from the fifth to the eleventh year of age, and among girls from the fifth to the tenth year of age.

The investigations of the Public Health Service show certain problems of rural school life which require special consideration. For example: What is the remedy for the conditions just enumerated? How can the physical efficiency be increased? How can hampering physical defects be avoided? How is the control of communicable diseases to be brought about? These things can largely be brought about by establishing an efficient system of health supervision of school children.

The interest of rural communities in this matter can best be secured through intensive school surveys. The value of this procedure lies in the fact that, by calling attention to unsuspected physical defects in their children and school conditions requiring attention, the necessity of some form of health supervision is brought home to parents. We have had practical experience of the educational value of such investigations through reports of an increased number of children seeking relief following surveys of this character.

No system of health supervision will be effective without the cooperation of the parents. This can be secured through the employment of tactful public health nurses to do follow-up work. The practical application of the principles of sanitation by an efficient nurse in time of sickness will do much toward educating parents regarding measures for safeguarding the health of their children. In addition, the cooperation of social workers and the formation of civic leagues and of home and school improvement associations among rural children tend to a better understanding of good citizenship and of the obligations of the individual to the community, which in time should bring about improved social conditions and an increased efficiency of the individual.

EDDY COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH.

TO EVERY VOTER OF EDDY COUNTY:

I take this method at this particular time to especially express to my many friends my sincere thanks and appreciation for the valiant assistance rendered me in securing the nomination for County Clerk.

And to those of you who for reasons wholly your own saw fit to tender your support elsewhere, may I say to you in all friendliness that I retain nothing but the kindest feeling toward you, and that in the future I hope to number you among my closest friends.

An attempt to satisfy every one is entirely out of the question, but an attempt to make and retain your friendship shall be my constant aim. Respectfully submitted, G. W. SHEPHERD.

C. C. Durden and Mrs. Durden were Carlsbad visitors to relatives from El Paso. An especial interest attaches to their visit from the fact that Mr. Durden is a linotype operator and Mrs. Durden was formerly Miss Gaby Lovett, music supervisor in the public schools of this city.

Sickness costs the United States $1,100,000,000 every year. It doesn't cost as much to keep well as it does to be sick.

WILLIAMS WINS CASE AGAINST CARLSBAD BANK IN THE FEDERAL COURT

R. E. Williams, who bought 260 shares of capital stock of the State National bank of Carlsbad, won his case in the federal court here when U. S. District Judge Colin Nebbett ordered the bank transfer the shares to Mr. Williams on their books. In injunction proceedings instituted in the federal court here recently, Mr. Williams alleged that the bank had refused to make the transfer, although he had purchased the stock which had a par value of $100 a share, or $26,000, from the Peoples Loan & Trust Co. at Carlsbad and from J. W. Sherman. Mr. Williams alleged that the directors of the bank had refused on the ground that they had agreed to a liquidation and wished to transfer the bank's assets to the National Bank of Carlsbad. Attorneys Rehman and Gilbert, of Santa Fe, represented the petitioner.

ROSWELL BOY SCOUTS DEFEAT CARLSBAD IN MEET

Roswell Scouts won Saturday's field meet from Carlsbad by a score of 32 to 19. Roswell started out with Adolph Wilson winning the knot tying contest in 26 1-5, but Carlsbad took the next three events making the score 9 to 3 in their favor.

Then Roswell won the staff throw and the tent pitching, evening the score. After the eleventh Roswell's favor, but from there on event the score stood 17 to 16 in everything went Roswell's way, the final score standing at 32 to 19 in favor of the Roswell Scouts.

Throughout the meet, the most excellent spirit of sportsmanship was exhibited on both sides, in keeping with the principle of Scoutcraft. Roswell's Scouts deserve a great deal of credit for winning the meet because Carlsbad has for some time enjoyed the reputation of having the best Scouts in New Mexico.

The following is a summary of the meet:

Knot tying contest, Roswell; Paul Revere race, Carlsbad; Standing broad ump relay, Carlsbad; Patrol staff relay, Carlsbad; Staff throw, Roswell; Tent pitching, Roswell; Tug of War, Carlsbad; Military drill, Roswell; Wig way signaling, Roswell; Running broad jump, under 100 pounds, Roswell; under 120 pounds, Roswell; over 120 pounds, Carlsbad; First aid, Carlsbad; Semaphore signaling, Roswell; Rescue race, Roswell; Three legged race, Roswell; Water boiling, Roswell; Scout pace, neither team qualified; Skin the snake, Roswell; Tennis, Carlsbad.

After the meet the winning or handsome bronze shield mounted on organization was presented with a ebony, the prize offered by the Roswell Council to the winners. D. N. Pope, Commissioner of the Roswell Council, made the speech of presentation, and the trophy was received by Minor Huffman, Scoutmaster of Troop 2, for the Roswell organization. Ray Davis Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 1, of Carlsbad, expressed the appreciation of Carlsbad Scouts for the sportsmanlike manner in which they were treated during the meet.

Each Carlsbad Scout was the guest of a Roswell Scout while here and Carlsbad Scouts were the guests of the Roswell Council at the Captain theatre Saturday night. Carlsbad Scouts were unanimous in expressions of their appreciation of the treatment accorded them in Roswell.

Roswell scouts are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the Scout encampment which they will attend in Carlsbad next July.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dublin, after a few days stay in town the latter part of last week, left for their home at Jal Sunday morning accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Caley, who with her young son, will make a short visit at the ranch.

The class taught by Mrs. M. L. Davis at the Methodist Sunday school was entertained at her home west of the city Friday night. A supper was spread on the lawn in front of the house and the fourteen girls and their assistant teacher, Miss Shepherd, enjoyed the delightful occasion immensely. Games of different kinds had been provided by the hostess and after playing a while the guests enjoyed some fine music on the Pathe, and later returned to their homes remembering another happy evening at the home of their beloved teacher, who has had charge of the class for eight years, and whose home is always open for their pleasure.

MANY CATTLE ARE DYING IN WEST TEXAS

Ft. Worth, Texas, April 14.—"Hemorrhagic Septicemia" is killing many cattle in West Texas, following the recent heavy rains, according to reports received. The state livestock sanitary commission is sending agents into the infected areas to investigate the new disease. Water holes are a source of infection it is believed.

A. J. Havell, father-in-law of W. R. Allen, came in from Clayton, New Mexico, where he had been on a business mission, arriving Monday afternoon. He remained at the home of his daughter, until Wednesday morning when he left on the southbound train for his home in Cisco, Texas. Mrs. Allen accompanying him for a short visit.

CAL LUCAS HERE

Cal Lucas, who formerly made his home in Roswell returned Thursday from an extended visit with his parents in St. Joseph, Mo. He will visit in Roswell a few days and will then go to Carlsbad where he has a position with the Peoples' Mercantile Company.—Roswell News.

MOVING TO CARLSBAD

Ira M. Hawkins, and family, who have been living on East Bland, are moving to Carlsbad. They came to Roswell from State College two years ago.—Roswell News.

The Hawkins family alluded to above have taken the Stephenson home on the land adjoining the townsite on the west. Mr. Hawkins is an experienced dairyman and with Harry Stephenson will have charge of the Sanitary Dairy this summer.

The daughters of R. O. Cox came in from Oklahoma, Wednesday afternoon and with their father, will keep house in the Arlie Nichols home in the north part of town. BURLESQUE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Study Hall at the High School was the scene of an hour of merriment last Friday morning when a mock commencement was presented before the student body and visitors. No burlesque was ever more complete in detail and to the senior class who originated the idea goes additional honors to their name as the latest graduating class finishing in Carlsbad.

The stage was set with the typical arrangement for exercises while in the back was hung the class motto, "Me For A Diploma." The class came upon the platform marching to the strains of the wedding march and dressed to represent a country graduating class. The girls wore white frocks and throughout held the "sweet girl graduate" attitude. Virgil McCollum was the class valedictorian and gave the Salutatory, dressed in Palm Beach and "hobnails" and reading the speech from a huge scroll. Glenwood Jackson, as the professor, read the numbers from an exaggerated size program, and dressed in typical costume, of frock coat and "Prof. Vittero" wig and whisker. Herbert Hiteon gave the graduating address, representing a graduate of the Otis University and took for his topic "Life."

An orchestra was featured on the program and rendered several selections. The instruments ranged from a ukulele to a bass horn, and the efforts of Leader Jackson are worthy of merit.

Following is the complete program:

Opening number by orchestra. Salutatory, Reginald Algernon McCollum.

Essay, Miss Sophronisba Bathsheba Thomas.

Instrumental Duett, Miss Hazel Nutt Purdy and Percival Alphonso Kersey.

Essay, Miss Wilhelmina Wistaria Williams.

Selection by Orchestra.

Address to Graduating class, State Supt. of Public Instruction, professor Publius Virgilius Caesar Cicero Hitson, Ph. D., Q. E. D., C. O. D.

Vocal Duett, Miss Angelina Samantha Dilley, and Theophilus Ebenezer Oliver.

Essay, Clementine Araminta Flowera.

Presentation of Diplomas, Ezekiah Eliphalet Jackson, A. B. C. D. Grand Final, Orchestra.

J. C. and A. C. Reid and W. C. Rogers, a trio of business men from Kansas city, spent the first of the week in town.

DIED IN ALAMOGORDO

Walter J. Ralph and son, Billy, were in Carlsbad a couple of days this week, returning to Alamogordo from their sad errand to Aexarkana, where they laid the body of their beloved wife and mother, to rest in the cemetery at the old home. Mrs. Ralph had been in poor health for some months and for the past two years had been living in San Diego, California, hoping that the change in altitude and scene might benefit her, but she failing so rapidly, and being desirous of again joining her husband, who had in the meantime been transferred to Alamogordo, she was brought to that city, and after two days there, death came and she yielded to his embrace.

Frances Piner was born August 26th, 1889, and was united in marriage to Walter J. Ralph about eighteen years ago. They came to Carlsbad from Texarkana, in 1913, where Mrs. Ralph soon became the center of a circle of admiring friends. A lady of culture and refinement, a fine musician, she was frequently in demand at social affairs, her skill as pianist and singer being recognized and prized by our people. She led the Methodist choir at one time and was afterward organist at Grace Episcopal church. Intensely patriotic she urged upon her husband that he enter the service of his country at the time of the World War, and it was during this time that her health began to fail. Mrs. Ralph was a consistent Christian woman and has left a good example of Christian patience shown during her long and painful illness. She died peacefully and quietly saying to her husband, a moment before death, "Let me sleep a little," and without struggle sank into rest. With her at the time of her passing were the husband, sons, mother and sister, and to them the sympathy of all who knew the lovely character of the deceased extended.

The body was taken to the First Methodist church at Texarkana and the service appointed for such occasions was read by the pastor, a solo being rendered by one of the pupils of Mrs. Ralph, and although they had been away from the city for eight years, the church was filled with friends desirous of paying the last tribute of respect to one whom they had known and loved for many years. Many beautiful tributes of flowers were sent and covered the casket. May her rest be sweet.

HAY TRADE CONDITIONS OF THE WEEK

Eastern markets continue firm on light receipts but prices are practically unchanged from a week ago. The demand in the West was less urgent but prices are steady and markets are fairly active. Lower grades in all markets are weak with prices averaging lower. River barges are expected to compete with the rail receipts and this will affect the market in the East, particularly on the poorer hay.—Hay Trade Journal.

Mrs. F. E. Little and young son, Edwin, left Tuesday night for Roswell, to visit a specialist for the benefit of the little boy's eyes, returning Wednesday.

Judge and Mrs. Osborn, and Judson, Junior, of Roswell, motored down from there Monday, and Mrs. Osborn remained to be in attendance at the District meeting of Women's Clubs, the judge and Judson returning to Roswell after a few days stay in the city.

Mrs. M. R. Smith will leave next week on an extended trip going first to the home of her parents, at Athens, Tex., and after a visit there will be joined by her sister and brother-in-law and will take a steamer at Galveston, and go on to New York, expecting to be gone at least a month.

June Tulk came in the first of the week from the big Tulk sheep ranch, east of Roswell, and remained a couple of days looking after men to assist on the ranch during the lambing season. He tells us that his father, James Tulk, will be able to make the trip in a few days.

About fifty big mules were unloaded at the city wagon yard Monday night and on Tuesday were taken out to the road east of the city for use in doing the hauling and other work on that highway between Carlsbad and Lovington. They were taken off of the work just south of Roswell.

Ed Reemes moved his family to Artesia the latter part of last week where he has a position with the Ice company.

The Young Folks Study Club met at the home of Miss Wardie Bates, Thursday night of last week, going out in cars from town to the pretty country home where a delightful and profitable evening was spent and refreshments were served at the close. It has been thought best owing to the fact of the nearness of the Chautauqua and also the Commencement of Carlsbad High school and other exercises incident to the closing of school, to discontinue all meetings of the club until the Fall months when the work will again be taken up.

ART TEA A SUCCESS.

The studio tea given by the art department of the Carlsbad Womans Club at the Eddy House in honor of the Federation visitors, on Monday afternoon from five to six was one of the most artistic, in setting, arrangement and appointments ever given in Carlsbad. On the walls of the spacious, well lighted north room of this historic house were hung nineteen beautiful canvases by seven of the foremost artists of the Santa Fe Art Colony. It is by far the finest exhibit ever sent out to this section of the country,
the actual valuation being $2000,
and was personally selected by Mrs.
J. G. Osburn, of Roswell, chairman of Arts of the third district of the F. W. C.

After the guests had assembled,
Mrs. F. G. Tracy, in a most interesting manner, told something of the history of the Eddy house and the pioneer days in which it was built.
His talk was followed by a brief address on art by Mrs. Osburn, in which she elucidated some of the basic principles on which good paintings of the academic school are built, comparing these principles, or lack of them illustrated by the work of the modernists. She pointed out that this exhibit of paintings contained work of the modernist of the more academic artist and of that group of painters who while not abandoning sound principles, yet applied modern treatment.

She concluded her talk with an earnest appeal to the Womens Club of the Third District to launch a propaganda of education and appreciation of the work which the new museum at Santa Fe is doing. She called attention to its archaeological societies, its school of American Research, its wonderful collections, and the famous men and women at Santa Fe and the vicinity, working along the lines of research, of art, literature and music, challenging the attention of the nation.

The hundred guests who called were served with tea or coffee and delicious sandwiches, mints and bou-bons, from a most exquisitely laid table, at which poured Mesdames Tracy and Joyce. Mrs. Dopp, chairman of Art of Carlsbad Womans Club, and Mrs. Bujac assisted in serving.

Ed Scoggins, of Hope, came down from there Friday, and was detained in the city because of the heavy rains, until yesterday. He was accompanied by his son and daughter, and on the return by his sister, Mrs. Smith, who is in the vicinity from her home at Los Angeles, California.

To the Tax Payers and Voters of Eddy County:
I wish to thank all my friends
for their assistance during the primary election, knowing that they did so from a business standpoint and not through charity or friendship.

I assure all that at no time was I in any combine or collusion with any other candidate or clique; neither did I lay down the fight or sell out for the purpose of strengthening the support of any other candidate, but made a fair and honest campaign, relying on the business judgment of the voters, as I could have been of untold assistance to the tax payers of the County.

I am not asking for any public office now, but do ask for a least a part of your abstract work (at a greatly reduced price) in order to protect my home and remain a tax-paying citizen of Eddy County.
Anyone desiring to save money on their abstract work or the preparation of any kind of legal papers, will find me at the Court House.

TWO PLAYS THIS YEAR

Premier Circuit Chautauqua to have "Friendly Enemies" and "Turn To the Right."

Charles F. Horner is presenting to the patrons of the Premier Circuit this year two plays instead of one as heretofore. Either of these would prove of tremendous success, but in offering two plays to Chautaqua patrons Mr. Horner has taken a step that has been unheard of heretofore in Chautauqua business.

"Turn to the Right" has been called the greatest comedy ever produced in America.
"Friendly Enemies" made an impression in England which equalled that created in America and it is without doubt the greatest comedy drama produced since the beginning of the War. It is not a War Play.

Louis Mann and Sam Bernard appeared in the original cast of "Friendly Enemies" at its first production in Washington, when the President of the United States was in the audience and made a speech following the play, in which he commended it to every American.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED

May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day, and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would die of dry rot. Sectional hatred or prejudice only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness thrive.

It is the biggest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to the innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or sharply; no church reaches into so many souls, flutters so many pulses, has so many human beings dependent on its min-istrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, by the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion pictures, advertisers, and the entire organization of 326,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in this country-wide campaign of interest in postal improvements.
Your help is vital. Address your letters plainly with pen or typewriter.
Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back) and always look at your letter before dropping in the mail to see if it is properly addressed. This care in the use of the mails is for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster.
He has instructions to investigate them and report to the department.

COURTESY

It sticks in human relations like postage stamps on letters. The POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT expects it to be used by its postmasters and employees in dealing with the public.

Help them in its use beginning with POSTAL IMPROVEMENT
WEEK, May 1-6, 1922.

THANK YOU

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS
YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED
AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived.

Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

Trinidad Col.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk
to know whether you mean Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado?

ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat, Mr. Postmaster. Straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer. Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr.
Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back, bringing you business. Start these with "POS-TAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-6.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THIRD DISTRICT FEDERATION OF WOMAN'S CLUBS.

The third annual meeting of the Third District Federation, of New Mexico Womens Clubs, was held at the Presbyterian church last Tuesday. The meeting was distinguished by the earnestness which characterized all the papers and talks, and the amount of business transacted
during the comparatively short time
the Federation was in session.

The church where the meetings were held looked very pretty in its lavish adornment of cut flowers and pot plants, flowers being on the window ledges, the piano, and the bank of ferns back of the speakers coming in for a share of admiration from all.

Mrs. Mark A. Corbin of Artesia, president of the Third District Federation, presided at the meeting which convened Tuesday morning, and was opened by the registration of delegates and visitors. Music by the Carlsbad Ladies Quartette was the first number on the program. Mrs. Hemenway, as president of Carlsbad Womens Club, gave the welcoming address, which was responded to by Mrs. C. H.
Shannon, of Clovis.

Reports of officers and chairmen followed, these being very interesting dealing as they did with the four branches of the work which the club women of the district are sponsoring. Mrs. Eaker of Roswell, Federation chairman of the department of Thrift, reported for that department; Mrs. J. G. Osburn spoke on the Art work, Mrs. W. W. Phillips, on Health, and Mrs. Daniel on Music.
Most of the clubs in the district have these four departments. There are twenty-one clubs in the Federation, a new club, that of the Womans Club of Cottonwood, having been added the last year.

Mrs. Harry McKim greatly delighted the visitors by her beautiful rendition of Ave Marie, and responded to a hearty encore. Various reports and recommendations were reported and approved, before the adjournment for lunch which was served by the Presbyterian ladies in the chapel, and proved very informal and pleasant, most of the ladies embracing the opportunity to become better acquainted.

The federation convened at 1:30
and the Artesia Ladies Quartette rendered the lovely Spring Song by Mendelssohn. Later the song, "Oh, Fair New Mexico" which was composed, both music and words, by Miss Elizabeth Garrett, the blind poetess and musician, was given,
Miss Higgins leading.

All through the meeting the idea of "Americanization" was stressed, and a practical demonstration along that line was held, about forty Spanish-American children from the various grades of the school taking part. Their songs and recitations were given with a vim and pep that delighted the visitors. One feature of the demonstration was the quiz conducted by the leader of the class in "Americanization" work, Mrs. T.
E. Williams. The teacher asked them a long list of questions which were answered promptly and correctly, showing the results of their systematic training along the line of history and kindred topics. Mrs.
Lee Hanson gave a reading and was rewarded by the close attention of her auditors and a hearty encore at the close.

The Vesper music, at the close of the day, was in charge of Mrs.
Daniel of Roswell, the district chairman of the department of music.

A tea was given at the Eddy Club House in La Huerta, but many of the delegates did not attend, news of the heavy rainfall in the northern hasten to their homes.

Part of the valley causing them to Clovis, through its delegate Mrs.
C. H. Shannon, having extended an invitation to the Federation to meet there, it was voted that the annual meeting of the Federation be held in that city next April.

The following visitors and delegates to the meeting were present:
From Roswell—Mesdames Grae-
T. Bear, John Tweedy, E. H. Skip-with, W. W. Phillips, C. A. Baker, Roy Daniel, Geo. M. Slaughter, E.

ing after the million dollar rain.
From the looks of things, we should be able to slide along all right now for some time without any more precipitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith motored to Roswell in their new Ford last Monday, returning Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Scoggin, little daughter and Mr. Scoggin's father, from Hope, visited the De Witz family last week-end.

Why didn't Mr. Johnson notice his Loving friends in Carlsbad last Sunday? Perhaps the new "jitney" had something to do with it.

Last Sunday the Loving baseball team—Morrison's Wonders—sallied forth to Carlsbad to finish the thing they had started the Sunday previous when they held Carlsbad to a 1 to 1 tie in five innings. At that time Carlsbad decided not to finish the game out on account of "wind" (?) after Pitcher Montgomery had whiffed 11 out of 15 men who faced him. Sunday's was an excellent game considering the one-sided score of 3 to 0 in favor of Loving. Loving hit both Carlsbad pitchers hard and practically every Loving man got a hit while Carlsbad only made three hits off "Buck" Montgomery and he struck out 16 batters. How could they hit his slants when they couldn't even see them?

Catcher Bill Nymeyer had the Carlsbad base stealers at his mercy throwing out the speedy Moore at third and nipping the fleetfooted Feiler at second by twenty feet.

Loving sure is proud of its wonderful little nine and are now awaiting May 12th (Rodeo day) when they expect to see them play at home.

There are several bunches of sheep in the valley on feed from El Paso Gap.

Richard Donaldson is sputtering around in a new Ford. Now who is the popular guy?

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Ross are grieved to learn that they are moving to El Paso. Mr.
Ross has been there for several days while Mrs. Ross expects to leave here next Saturday while Miss Ethel will go to Carlsbad. A host of good wishes go with them from the Loving community that they may find much happiness in their new location.

Miss Wardie Bates, president of the Epworth League, of this city, announces a meeting of the Leaguers
to be held at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock next Monday night. This will be the regular meeting for the election of officers and a full attendance is requested and desired.

Bible school will be held Sunday at the Presbyterian church, beginning at the special hour of ninethirty, and there will be young people's meeting at seven. For the rest the people will unite with the other churches in the meetings at the armory.

We weld. Don't forget it.
