REACH RATON IN SAFETY

Messrs. Miller, Ervien and Sparks Are Visiting the Scenic Highway

COST BONDS HAVE BEEN FILED

Captain Murray Reports to Governor—Inspection of Penitentiary.

Governor Mills yesterday afternoon made a thorough inspection of the territorial penitentiary and was much satisfied with the cleanliness and sanitation that prevail. Pig pens, corrals and other places of that kind have been removed from within the enclosure to the fields outside and everything looks as neat as a pin. A very large acreage has been put under plow and the amount of crops will be greatly increased this year. The new cell-house will be completed within two weeks, greatly enlarging the capacity of the penal institution which has been crowded. Warden Cleofes Romero is sending out as many convicts as can be spared to work on the roads in different parts of the territory, while those kept here are employed at various duties on the Penitentiary farm and at the brick plant, the demand for Penitentiary brick being brisk. In every respect, the institution is a model and is being managed very capably.

Twenty-five convicts were sent to Socorro tonight to work on the Blue Canyon road to Magdalena. Fifty more will go up the Santa Fe canon next week to complete the Scenic Highway to the Pecos. Warden Romero is planning agricultural and dry farming grounds.

Notary Appointed.
Governor Mills has appointed Thos. H. Long of Long, Roosevelt county, a notary public.

Jones is Arrested.
Mounted Policeman J. W. Collier (telegraphed this morning that he has arrested J. A. Jones at Taibain, Roosevelt county, for shooting Edward Gardner, whose injuries are pronounced fatal.

Filed Cost Bond.
The Farmers' Development Company has filed a cost bond in case No. 37 on their appeal from the decision of the board of water-commissioners. Jones and Rogers have also filed cost bond on their appeal No. 351.

Reported to Governor.
Captain Murray of the New Mexico Military Institute and recently appointed instructor of the New Mexico National Guard, will spend a week in the city conferring with Adjutant General Brooks. Captain Murray came here to report to the governor as ordered by the war department.

Gone to Las Vegas.
A dispatch from Las Vegas states: J. D. Merriweather, territorial good roads engineer, has returned from Silver City, where he had been supervising road construction. Mr. Merriweather will spend several weeks here looking after the construction of the Las Vegas-Mora road.

Business Dull.
The "business" in the territorial secretary's office has been very dull for the past few days and the scarcity of incorporation filings has been noted. It is wondered by officials if the excitement over statehood has caused corporation builders to forget their interests in the development of the territory.

Successful Trip.
The Santa Feans who are out on a good roads crusade, traveling per auto, have arrived at Raton in safety, even if they got a wetting in a heavy rain at Glorieta. Of their trip the Las Vegas Optic says:
"The scenic highway and the Mora road were visited today by Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller, Land Commissioner R. P. Ervien and I. Sparks, a commissioner of Santa Fe county. The men arrived in Las Vegas this morning on an automobile journey from Santa Fe to Raton. After visiting the highway and the Mora road near Sapello, the men left this afternoon for Raton. Returning they likely will spend a longer time in Las Vegas."

Miller is Hustling.
"Carrying out the wishes of Governor Mills, Territorial Engineer Miller is rushing work on good roads construction. He is visiting all the points where work is in progress and where roads are desired. His present trip is for the purpose of determining what improvements are needed in this part of New Mexico. The ultimate completion of the scenic highway from Raton to Albuquerque is one of the cherished ambitions of Mr. Miller as well as Governor Mills. Petitions are out for the construction of the road up the Chama to the top of the Continental divide there to connect with the road down the Canyon Largo. This will complete the highway from Santa Fe to Farmington."

Grading Outfit.
"According to Mr. Miller a grading outfit will be sent here at once and will be placed in operation on the Mora road between Las Vegas and Sapello. It was at the latter place the first work on the new highway was begun. Over three miles of road has been built and the climb up the Sapello hill has been made easy to negotiate. The entire Mora-Las

REPETITION OF BOISE TRIAL

McNamara Brothers Case is Similar to Haywood, Pettibone Affair

M'NAMIGAL HAS CONFESSED

He Will Be the Harry Orchard Scapegoat of Los Angeles Prosecution.

Los Angeles, April 28.—The true outlines of the great criminal case involving the McNamara Brothers and Orin McManigal began to assume form today. The all prominent feature is the confession which McManigal is purported to have made, first to Detective Burns in Chicago, and then in a more complete form to District Attorney Fredericks here yesterday. The case is assuming more and more the aspects of the Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone case at Boise in the trial for the murder of former Governor Steiensenberg. Even the "Harry Orchard" feature promises to be repeated, almost in duplicate. It is believed that the arraignment of the accused men will take place early next week. Job Harrison, one of the attorneys for the McNamaras said today that he intended to call upon McManigal again to ask him whether he had made a confession to District Attorney Fredericks and determine whether he wanted an attorney. The district attorney when told this said that Mr. Harrison will not be permitted to see McManigal.

REBEL OUTBREAK AT CANTON

Thousands of Residents Are Fleeing For Safety to Hong-Kong

ANARCHY AMONG THE TROOPS

Revolutionists Obtain Explosives and Are Fighting Desperately.

Hong Kong, April 28.—Only official messages are being received this morning from Canton, where a revolutionary outbreak occurred last night. These are disquieting. The revolutionists have obtained a quantity of explosives and the government has asked the steamship companies plying to that city to suspend service lest arms be smuggled in. Many arrests were made and fighting began when the soldiers arrested a revolutionary leader and his followers who were carrying arms and boldly proclaiming their purpose, surrounded the vicerey's palace and set it afire. The revolutionists armed with rifles and bombs, fought desperately. A number were killed on both sides. The soldiers finally got control of the situation and energetic measures to prevent another outbreak were taken. Thousands of residents are fleeing to this city. They say that anarchy is rife among the soldiers of Canton.

TAFT REFUSES TO PARDON RICH CATTLEMEN.

Sets a Good Example in Not Yielding to Pressure on Behalf of Wealthy Nebraskans.

Washington, April 28.—President Taft today refused a pardon to Bartlett Richards, William Comstock, Charles Jameson of Aquilla, a triplet of wealthy Nebraska cattlemen convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government of grazing lands along the Wyoming border. Judge Petit set Monday as the date for the hearing.

REBELS KEEP ON FIGHTING

Those in Central and Southern Mexico Are Not Observing Armistice

MAZATLAN IS SURROUNDED

San Blas and Fuerto, the Former Capital of Sinaloa, Are Taken.

Nogales, April 28.—News was received here that a large force of insurgents has surrounded the port of Mazatlan and has cut off the water supply of the city. Railroad communication with the beleaguered city has been suspended because of the dynamiting of bridges and the holding of trains. Wire communication also is cut and no news since the first battle just outside of the city a few days ago, when more than a hundred wounded were brought into the city, has been sent out.

San Blas Reported Captured.

Nogales, Ariz., April 28.—Well authenticated report has reached here that the Mexican rebels have captured the important city of San Blas, Sinaloa. This is about fifty miles below Fuerto, the former capital of the state, which was reported as having been captured by the rebels. The whole region appears to be overrun with rebels. The railroad for hundreds of miles is tied up.

Uncle Sam is Peeved.

Washington, April 28.—In an official statement today the state department takes exception to an interview given by Ramon Corral, vice president of Mexico, published in Diario de Mexico City, in which that official charged that the Mexican revolution is being fomented by Americans, with a view of forcing intervention. The matter was officially called to the department's attention by Ambassador Wilson.

Rebels Want More Guarantees.

El Paso, April 28.—The return of General Reyes makes it necessary that the insurgents insist that President Diaz give the rebels stronger guarantees of security and liberty than heretofore offered, according to a statement given out by Provisional President Madero today. In the minds of those familiar with Mexican politics says the statement the "order" which brings General Reyes to Mexico is bound to arouse questions as to the sincerity of the president in the present exchanges.

Diaz Appoints Commissioner.

El Paso, April 28.—General Madero was officially notified today that President Diaz has appointed a peace commissioner to complete the peace negotiations with a similar commissioner to be appointed by the rebel leader. The government commissioner left Mexico City last night. The conference will be held on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, midway between Juarez and Madero's camp.

Fighting Keeps Right On.

Tucson, Ariz., April 28.—The fighting between the rebels and federales has been resumed in the vicinity of Hermosillo, Sonora, and according to advices received here forty men were killed and wounded in a battle at Horcasitas on April 25th. Two hundred and twenty-five federales engaged a smaller number of rebels, who withdrew when their ammunition was exhausted.

ATTORNEY A. B. RENEHAN LANDS THE APPOINTMENT.

Is Selected Personal Attorney of Receiver Miguel A. Otero of the Albuquerque Eastern.

Attorney A. B. Renehan has been appointed by former Governor M. A. Otero as his personal attorney to look after legal business that comes before him as receiver of the Albuquerque Eastern railway.

Mr. Renehan is said to have taken no part in the recent New Mexico Central-Albuquerque Eastern law suit and his appointment was the result of Receiver Otero's desire to get a disinterested and able lawyer.

Speaking of Mr. Renehan's selection Mr. Otero said today: "I feel very fortunate in having been able to secure the services of Mr. Renehan and he will have full charge of all legal matters. I have known him for years and I have confidence in his ability to handle all the legal work that will arise during my receivership."

HEARING STILL DRAGS ALONG

New Mexico Statesmen Are Always Bound to Be Heard at Every Place

SOLDIERS' HOME FOR SANTA FE

Delegate Andrews Adds a Few More to His Two Hundred Fifty Bills.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, April 28.—R. H. Hanna, before the House committee on territories, pleaded for amendments to the constitution. He said that he was a Republican, but had not supported the Republican organization. Ralph C. Ely captured all in a convincing speech. Many Democrats said it was a pity that he was not a member of the convention. A. R. Fall concludes tomorrow.

W. H. Andrews introduced the following bills: To establish a Soldier's Home at Santa Fe, also a fish culture station; an act to prohibit special laws, to approve certain laws, to prohibit laws to limit the territorial indebtedness, to construct a reservoir in Sandoval county, also in the Manzano mountains, to issue bridge bonds in Valencia county; also for the secretary of the interior to allow the lands in the Mescalero Indian reservation and to establish a national park; to add the Lincoln national forest to the Alamo national forest, to donate a quarter section to Bedford forest, an act of Confederate Veterans; also an act for the exploration and purchase of mines on private land claims.

Flood is Optimistic.

Washington, April 28.—The sentiment in the committee and congress is strongly in favor of the admission of New Mexico at this session. My opinion is that a resolution to this effect will undoubtedly pass. There is a strong sentiment for a few changes but if they are made they will not delay the admission of the state. (Signed) H. D. Flood, chairman of House Committee on Territories.

Judge McFie Stays in.

Washington, April 28.—Judge John R. McFie of Santa Fe, arrived here Wednesday and called on the attorney general. It is said, to secure a reappointment to the bench. R. H. Hanna, claiming to represent various attorneys of Santa Fe, however, has blocked the effort again by bringing forward the charges of "subversion" to political influence" filed over a year ago, and which charges, he says will be vigorously pressed if McFie's name is sent to the senate for confirmation. In view of the early prospects of statehood it is said McFie will likely serve until the first state election is called.

LaFollette Simply Protests.

Washington, April 28.—The expected fight against the Republican appointments on the Senate committees did not develop today. Senator LaFollette contented himself with reading a formal protest against the selections made by the regular Republicans.

McHarg May Have to Economize.

Washington, April 28.—Unless Ormsby McHarg, former assistant secretary of the department of commerce and labor, agrees to accept $6,000 instead of $12,000 a year, his present compensation, as his fee for representing the Choctaw Indians, his contract with that tribe will be terminated in six months. Walter Fisher, secretary of the interior, has written Mr. McHarg to this effect. This step was taken after a telegram was sent to the Indians asking if they wanted to retain Mr. McHarg's services. They replied that they did but at $5,000.

Berth for New Mexico Physician.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Earl Sprague Bullock of New Mexico has been appointed by President Taft a first lieutenant of the medical reserve corps, United States army. Lieutenant Bullock is a physician now living at Silver City, N. M. He will be notified today of the appointment.

Honor for Santa Fe Boy.

Washington, April 28.—Ernest Knaebel of Colorado, who has been connected with the department of justice for some years, more recently in charge of its public land division, was yesterday nominated by the president to be assistant attorney-general. Mr. Knaebel is a son of Judge John H. Knaebel of Santa Fe, N. M.

Denver, April 28.—There was no election in today's senatorial ballot.

BRITONS PRAISE PRESIDENT TAFT

His Peace Policy Has Inaugurated New Era in Civilization

MASS MEET IN GUILD HALL

Democracy, Rather Than Aristocracy, Favors Arbitration.

London, April 28.—Guild Hall today witnessed a mammoth meeting for the adoption of resolutions pledging the city of London to support Anglo-American complete arbitration. The meeting represented the democracy of England rather than its aristocracy. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Asquith spoke eloquently of the treaty first proposed by President Taft, declaring that it would mark a new era in civilization, but both pointedly declared that such arbitration treaty of the United States and Great Britain does not mean immediate reduction of armaments.

Arbitration Resolution Cheered.

London, April 28.—Resolutions welcoming the proposal of the United States favor a general treaty of arbitration with Great Britain and pledging the citizens of London to the principals of such a treaty, was moved by Premier Asquith and seconded by Balfour. They were adopted among great cheering.

J. R. WATSON ON EUGENICS

Lecture of Great Present Day Interest at Library Hall Tomorrow

WRITER ON NATURE THEMES

Dr. Gray Will Read and Miss Cheshire Will Sing at Entertainment

Professor J. R. Watson of the University of New Mexico, who will lecture at Library hall tomorrow evening on "eugenics," is an alumnus of Baldwin University and holds a master's degree from Western Reserve University. Previous to his coming to the University of New Mexico he was instructor in biology at Western Reserve University, Berea College and Rochester College. At present he is working toward a doctor's degree from the University of Chicago.

Some years ago, Professor Watson prepared an exhaustive bulletin on "The Common Flowering Plants of Bernalillo County" which was published and attracted wide attention. He has published also on "The Habits of New Mexico Shrikes," and in preparation an illustrated article: "The Plant Geography of Central New Mexico," for the Botanical Gazette of Chicago. Besides these and other studies, Professor Watson is ready to lecture on nature study topics—"Birds and Their Migrations," "Our Insect Friends and Enemies," "Animal Parasites of Man," and "Insects and Disease." During the coming summer he will lecture on these subjects at county institutes in the territory. His special life of study is on the insects of New Mexico. With all his research and lecture work, Mr. Watson is also daily inspector and city chemist for Albuquerque.

From the foregoing, it will be seen that the lecturer of tomorrow evening is well prepared to talk about life, heredity, growth and kindred topics in "eugenics."

Dr. McQueen Gray will read, and Miss Cheshire will sing at the lecture tomorrow evening.

MORE BREVITY AND DEMOCRACY

Those Are Grounds Episcopalians Urge for Change in Prayer Book

THE TREND OF THE DAY

Even the Church Must Get Away From Long-Windedness and Aristocracy.

Washington, April 28.—The revision of the book of common prayer was urged by Rev. Dr. Percy S. Grant of New York, in addressing the twenty-ninth congress of the Protestant Episcopal church in session here today. One reason he gave was that the "prayer book is stationary and aristocratic while the present trend of things is toward motion and democracy." He further held that there is a present day demand for brevity in everything. Rev. Dr. George W. Douglas, canon of the cathedral of St. John the Divine, of New York, expressed the opinion that the ten commandments should be restored "to what scholars are pretty generally agreed was the original and shorter form."

WILL MAKE THEIR HOME IN SANTA FE.

Charles M. Stauffer Given a Farewell Reception by Co-Workers in Big Business.

(South Bethlehem, Pa., Daily Globe.)
"Charles M. Stauffer, recognized as one of the leading figures in the wholesale grocery business in Pennsylvania, and his family left Bethlehem at 12:15 o'clock Monday on the Lehigh Valley Railroad for Santa Fe, New Mexico, where they will make their home. Mr. Stauffer, who resigned as Secretary and Treasurer of J. A. Eberts & Company, to become a partner in the New Mexican Printing company at Santa Fe, was tendered a farewell by fellow employees of the Eberts Company on Saturday. The salesmen from Allentown, Bangor, Scranton and the Bethlehem meeting at the local office for the fortnightly 'school session,' surprised Mr. Stauffer with the presentation of a solid gold Howard watch and a handsome fob, the latter representing Mr. Stauffer's standing in Masonry. In a happy presentation speech, J. A. Eberts, President of the company, sketched Mr. Stauffer's business career from his start, a score of years ago, in the Eberts company. For nearly eighteen years (Mr. Stauffer spent two years in Santa Fe, 1902-04) he was in the employ of the Eberts company, a stockholder, director, and Secretary and Treasurer upon the company's incorporation. Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer leave with the hearty good wishes of their many friends."

It may not be amiss to state that the beginning of that trail really started in 1804, when Mr. Morrison of Kaskaskia, Illinois, a merchant of that place, despatched a French Creole, named Baptiste La Lande with merchandise and money, hoping to open a trade with the Spanish possessions. La Lande neither returned to his employer nor accounted for the proceeds of his profitable expedition.

D. A. R. IN NEW MEXICO

Annual Report Presented at Washington by State Regent, Mrs. Prince

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED

Marking of Santa Fe Trail One of Important Features of Year's Tasks.

Madam President General and Members of the Twentieth Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

New Mexico has three well-developed Chapters and two in process of formation, one of the latter at Carlsbad, and one at Roswell.

Each one of the three Active Chapters, has undertaken a specific line of work.

The Stephen W. Kearney Chapter at Santa Fe, the first one formed in the Southwest, with wise judgment and keen foresight, after erecting several monuments to historic persons, areas early in its existence, decided to start a library of general genealogical information. It has collected nearly all of the volumes composing the New England Genealogical and Historical Register, Hayden's Genealogical Dictionary, and Colonial, Revolutionary and Civil War Records. In fact, it has made its library so useful to the general public that it is expected soon to be given the use of a room in the beautiful Territorial Capitol, where all those desiring to consult these genealogical books of reference may do so.

Silver City.

The Jacob Bennett Chapter at Silver City, is a marvel in its accomplished work. It owns and maintains a beautiful park in the center of the city. I also own a log house, the first one built in that section of the country. This is to be used as the Chapter House. The park has an iron fence, a band stand, trees, shrubbery, and velvety lawns, and is known as the D. A. R. park.

Less than three years ago, this chapter started a public library, which it maintains, and already it has collected over seven hundred volumes.

The Society of the Children of the Revolution, is under the direct management of this Chapter, which last year won its laurels when it received the loving cup for the largest donation, in proportion to its number, to the Children's Room in Continental Hall. This year, it has ordered a beautiful fountain for the D. A. R. park. It attends to many other civic matters, and is a recognized power in the community in which its members dwell.

Albuquerque.

The Lew Wallace Chapter, at Albuquerque, is doing both a noble, and a generous work, in purchasing and maintaining several traveling libraries, which are placed under the supervision of the Superintendent of Public Instruction for Bernalillo county, in which it is located. These libraries are eagerly sought and thoroughly appreciated. Each of these three chapters mentioned also has given a mahogany chair for use on the platform in this beautiful hall, of which we are all so proud, and Madam President General, I now embrace the opportunity accorded me formally to present these chairs with the good-will, unflinching loyalty and God-speed, of these Chapters from the far southwest.

I have called attention to the special work of each Chapter, which it never loses sight of, and have not dwelt at all on many social functions, the celebrations of historic anniversaries, etc.; in which all have participated, believing that a relation of these matters should be included in any report which a Chapter itself, may desire to make. Therefore, only the actual work along a specific line for the benefit of the community at large, has been referred to in this report.

Marking Santa Fe Trail.

The work done by the State Regent in the matter of completing the marking of the Santa Fe Trail through New Mexico, has been far from easy. She has always worked with the knowledge in mind that the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution would receive the credit for this great achievement. She labored unceasingly during many years until the legislature of the Territory, two years ago, appropriated $600 to aid this undertaking. She has procured beautiful granite Markers, one to be placed every ten miles on this historic trail through New Mexico, and with pardonable pride she states that all of them are made, paid for and delivered, and will be placed in position as soon as the State Regent returns to her home.

It may not be amiss to state that the beginning of that trail really started in 1804, when Mr. Morrison of Kaskaskia, Illinois, a merchant of that place, despatched a French Creole, named Baptiste La Lande with merchandise and money, hoping to open a trade with the Spanish possessions. La Lande neither returned to his employer nor accounted for the proceeds of his profitable expedition.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

The Clime of Santa Fe.
(By Charles S. Rawley.)

Last fall the muse came waving a good-bye word or two To the Santa Clara Canyon in its autumn-colored hue But in tribute to its climate, where December's sweet as May It behooves a grateful body to en- thusiase o'er Santa Fe.

I have lived in many portions of this United States In the lands of freeze, or icy breeze, or where grow figs and dates But of all the spots for climate, most perfect, I should say, This little place has won the race, this little Santa Fe.

I've lived upon the coast of Maine, where salty sea congeals I've lived in San Francisco, with its Golden Gate and seals; Key West and old Havana, some years I had to stay But none of them for climate can equal Santa Fe.

Some seven years in Boston, many sojourns in New York Where sweltering heat, or blizzard's beat spasmodically uncork; Atlanta and Savannah in Georgia, far away But not one has ever shone a patch to Santa Fe.

The Keystone and the Empire State from the "Black Diamond" Express, Niagara and Lehigh Valley look pretty in June dress, And Michigan's a marvel, I've lived there many a day But I'd rather be a pauper and live in Santa Fe.

The place was never built can boast of any better clime The Jersey hills with wood and rills, or Utah's peaks sublime, Arizona comes the nearest, pride of the boundless West But Santa Fe, most any day is better than the best.

So let me pay my tribute to the oldest little town That for climate, sun and weather has everything done brown. Maybe in heaven 'tis better, golden gates and streets, they say, But for an 18-carat clime, just give me Santa Fe.

Wedding and Dance—Miss Maraquita Armijo and Jose D. Mares were married at Las Vegas. A dance and reception in honor of the newly married couple was given.

Another Murder Unavenged—Apparently the officers have so far failed to locate John Higgs, charged with killing J. D. Middleton, April 10, on the sheep range of the latter, southwest of Roswell.

Alleged Kidnapper Released—Ascension Archuleta, charged with kidnapping the two American boys, Converse and Blatt, was released at El Paso, the boys being unable to identify him as their abductor.

Came to El Paso in Boat—Faustino Armendariz, a merchant of South Campbell street, El Paso, made application Wednesday for citizenship papers. Armendariz says he came to El Paso in a row boat, crossing the Rio Grande on December 31, 1884. He is perhaps the first settler to apply for citizenship who used a boat to get to El Paso. He has 10 children, all of whom will get citizenship through him.

Must File Inventory of Estate—Probate Judge Roman De La O at Las Cruces has ordered that Francisco J. Amador, as administrator of the estate of Refugio Ruiz de Amador, deceased, shall render an account showing the condition of said estate, file a complete inventory of the property which came into the possession of the said administrator and account for all moneys and personal property received by him which the deceased held at the time of her death.

Arrested 25 Times for Drunkenness—John O'Brien, arrested last night for drunkenness, paid a fine in police court of $5 this morning. Jose Alvarez, in default of a similar sum to pay a fine assessed for the same charge, was put in jail for five days. Carlos Griego, an aggravated case of habitual drunkenness, was remanded to the county jail for an indefinite term. This is Griego's case in a nut shell and today was the twenty-fifth time by actual count, that he has been known to have been carried "in" by an officer.—Albuquerque Herald.

Fatal Bite of Rattle Snake—In an extremely critical condition as the result of the bite of a rattlesnake, Gus Holstrom, a well known resident of Tucson, was brought into that city and entered as a patient in the emergency ward of St. Mary's hospital. Holstrom had been working on the extension of the Twin Buttes line and was aiding several other men in placing a rail. In doing so he came close to the rattler, which he did not notice until the reptile had struck him in the right arm, just above the elbow.

Big Centipede After Albuquerque Man—F. H. Reinhart, of Albuquerque, is exhibiting to his friends a giant centipede, safely enclosed in a glass jar. He awakened suddenly from a deep sleep some time before midnight to find a centipede crawling toward him, then being only a foot away. What happened when Mr. Reinhart saw the thousand legged insect making for him is better imagined than described. Finally the centipede was captured and bottled.

Damages Given—In the case of Mary L. Coe vs Holaway, Mathew & Dyer, which has been occupying the attention of the district court at Las Cruces before Judge Parker for the past five days, judgment has been rendered for the plaintiff for 20 tons of hay valued at $200. This is the case from Anthony in which the land changed hands before the lease expired, the new owners removing the hay which was claimed by the lessee.

Good Time at Other People's Expense—Retribution has at last overtaken Reese White, who left Las Vegas for parts unknown about a year ago after having gathered to himself by means of forged checks about $150. White was arrested about three months ago in Springfield, Mo. After a trial, which resulted in a speedy conviction, he was sentenced to eight years in the Missouri penitentiary. In that institution he will pay with the sweat of his brow for the good times he had with his ill-gotten money.—Las Vegas Optic.

Begins Shipping Ties—Margarito Romero has begun shipping ties for the fulfillment of his contract with the Santa Fe. The ties are being loaded on cars on the Hot Springs branch. In the present shipment there are 6,000. The ties were cut in Mr. Romero's timber reserves at El Porvenir, where he has had a large force of men at work for several months. Mr. Romero's men and saw mill likely will be at work the greater part of the summer preparing the ties called for in his contract. The ties are hauled in wagons from El Porvenir to the Hot Springs, a distance of about fourteen miles.—Las Vegas Optic.

Three-year-old Disappears—Apprehension was caused at Albuquerque by the disappearance of Frank Stortz, Jr., from his home at 715 West Gold avenue. The young man, 3 years of age, was found after several hours near the electrical house of M. Nash.

PHYSICAL VALUATION OF THE RAILROADS.

Hiram Glass, Texas Counsel for Many Lines, Agrees With Senator LaFollette.

Austin, Texas, April 28.—While Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, owing to his well established views relative to railroad corporations, is not so popular with railway managements that he might be presumed to have passed over all the lines of the country, he finds at least one supporter among the railroad class in Texas. Hiram Glass, counsel at Austin for all the principal roads in this state, agrees with Senator LaFollette on at least one contention, and that is as to the method of arriving at a true valuation of the railroad properties of the country. Mr. Glass contends there has not been any correct valuation of Texas roads made by the railroad commission. By agreeing with Senator LaFollette, Mr. Glass may prove to be the man who will cause road managements to understand that the Wisconsin senator's plan is the best for all concerned.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Santa Fe.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Locario Lopez, Agua Fria St., Santa Fe, N. M., says:

"I have had no severe return attack of kidney trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago. Now and then I have suffered from backache but at such times Doan's Kidney Pills have given prompt and positive relief. For a long time I was made miserable by attacks of kidney complaint and my back was often so lame and painful that I could scarcely do anything. I did not sleep well and no matter whether I was lying down or standing up, the trouble was in evidence. The kidney secretions annoyed me both day and night by their irregularity in passage and there was a heavy sediment in them. After several remedies had failed to help me, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they lived up to all the claims made for them. I never hesitate to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills when opportunity occurs."

NEW MEXICO POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Republicans Are Sensible.

Arizona Republicans are overlooking a bet. They should be there in force to ask for the amendment of the proposed constitution, but no; they abide by the decision of the people at the polls however distasteful to their palates.—Raton Range.

Can You Blame Them?

Statehood seems to have gotten a number of the Republican newspapers in New Mexico in fighting trim, and they are calling each other all sorts of bad and naughty names. This doesn't help the case a bit, gentlemen.—Cofax County Stockman.

Some Consolation.

The Republican papers in the Territory should not become so enraged over the loss of statehood—many of the members of their party are holding down fat jobs that would go to Democrats under a state form of government. Bear that in mind, and keep happy.—Roswell Daily Record.

Help! This is Awful!

No wonder New Mexico is sick. To have had J. D. Hand as such a lemon would make anybody but a Jones and that breed can stomach anything a while can. But, as we say in Cherman: It will be a long time already before the voters have Ferguson. Nix-old-son!—Raton Range.

Editors Who Are Aristocratic.

The Las Cruces Republican owns a new 30-horse power Regal automobile. We'll bet the Republican a year's subscription to the Appeal to Reason that our Studebaker can beat their Regal on a mile stretch, test to be made in Artesia at any time the Republican will name.—Pecos Valley News.

Not All Things Are What They Seem.

Politics should not be blamed with everything. Politics was given as the reason that Judge Mann joined his ability to Cofax county capitalists' money in the purchase of the late Tribune-Citizen and it now develops that this is all a mistake. The leading editorial of the Evening Herald recently is entitled "Caring for Baby."—Rio Grande Republican.

Used to the Bumps.

An item is floating around to the effect that "last Monday Delegate Andrews introduced 250 bills." If each of those bills should meet the wings and arrows of outraged fortune that New Mexico's statehood bill is bumping against, there will be lots of trouble on the old man's mind.—Fort Sumner Republican.

Valor vs. Discretion.

The Raton Range will soon have its hands full if it keeps on getting into scraps with other papers. It now has the Albuquerque Journal and the New Mexican after it. But the latest is the controversy between the Taos News and Questa Gazette as to which is the leading paper of Taos county. Cut it out, and print spring poems.—Cimarron News.

Company Knows What's Good for Them.

It is said that 80 employees of the Santa Fe railway company at Clovis, New Mexico, are to be discharged for entering one of the saloons in that town. The rules of the company prohibit the entering of saloons by employees and the ever industrious spotter was on hand long enough to catch that many of the employees breaking the rule.—El Paso Times.

A Cotton Ball State.

The acreage devoted to cotton in the Carlsbad section of New Mexico is being greatly increased this year as a result of the planting of last year yielding a profit of from $50 to $60 per acre. More than 2,000 acres were planted last year, and it is believed the crop this year will be nearly double that of last season. The staple produced in the Pecos valley is said to be of very fine quality.—El Paso Times.

In the Procession.

In Carlsbad, 50 blocks of city streets have just been graded, and this will add very much to the appearance and convenience of one of the most attractive little cities in the territory. Carlsbad has had some rough experiences in the past, and it is gratifying to note that the progressive citizens still have on their fighting clothes and are determined to maintain their reputation for progress.—El Paso Times.

New Mexico's Granary.

Farmers in the Mesilla Valley of New Mexico are going back to the production of wheat this year, about 2,000 acres have been planted within a radius of five miles of Las Cruces. The average yield per acre is about 30 bushels, and the grain will be ready for cutting about June 1. The mills at Las Cruces ground 12,500 bushels of home grown wheat last year, and the management is greatly pleased with the present prospects.—El Paso Times.

Killing Habit Too Prevalent.

The attempt to assassinate Edward Gardner, constable at Taiban, N. M., by shooting him through a window while he was sitting near his little daughter, a crime which happened at 8 o'clock last night according to a special telegram to the Evening Herald today, is but another demonstration of the fact that the habit of killing for trivial causes is becoming too prevalent in New Mexico. It is to be hoped that the officers will run down this case and that the man who fired the cowardly shot will meet with due process of law.—Albuquerque Herald.

Should Have Statehood.

Statehood has another chance, according to the reports from Washington. These chances have come often but always there has been something that came to the fore to interfere with the actual realization of the hopes of the people of Arizona and New Mexico.

The citizens of the two territories now have assurances from leading members of the two Houses of Congress that they will get favorable action at the present session. Neither party can afford to procrastinate any longer. Both pledged themselves to give statehood to the two territories; President Taft has urged statehood for New Mexico, and there should be nothing in the way.

Very little objection can be raised against the New Mexico constitution and none against the manner in which it was framed and passed. The convention was a representative one and an intelligent one. There are some objections to the Arizona constitution that may result in keeping it out of the Union for a time. But New Mexico has done all that Congress asked of it and has done its work well. The constitution is modern without any of the fanaticalisms in it, and the people of the territory should be admitted at once.—El Paso Herald.

Oh, It's Just the Democratic Way.

What can be the object of the New Mexico Democrats in Washington is attempting to hinder the passage of statehood for New Mexico? We understand that the Democrats and Republicans alike wanted statehood and that after the fight in Santa Fe both sides were willing to abide by the result and pull together for the one thing everybody wanted, to-wit, statehood. Now, behold, comes the leader of the Democrats at the last minute and tries to block our progress. And he is on record as having said that he was willing to abide by the will of the majority.

Our guess is this: The national body of Democrats is larger than the New Mexico body of Democrats. The former has visions of the future in Washington and has given instructions to those New Mexico puppets to act as they are acting. Regardless of personal reputation they must sacrifice it at the beck and call of the boss.

That's politics. There's going to be a day of reckoning.—Bard City News.

Mark Smith to the Rescue.

The visit of Hon. M. A. Smith to Washington may or may not contribute to the securing of statehood for Arizona, but it stands out as about the only intelligent move made recently in the interest of statehood. In the shape into which things have been thrown, there is not other Arizonian who could go so far toward bringing order out of chaos. There is no other Democrat who has so large an influence with the Democratic members at the Senate where the first obstacle is likely to be encountered. How serious the obstacle may be is a matter of conjecture. There is no other Democrat in Arizona who could so strongly appeal to the President for a modification of the attitude he is supposed to have assumed toward the proposed constitution.

If the situation should become such that there should be need of conciliation between the Congress and the White House there is no other man, Democrat or Republican, who would contribute to a greater degree to conciliation.

At no stage and in no phase is the House likely to obstruct statehood proceedings. There would be no serious objection there to the ratification of the constitution in its present form. Nor do we think that the House would oppose at the last moment any modification of it that would insure statehood.

In the Senate there is an entirely different situation. There will be vigorous objections to the constitution as it now stands and there would be vigorous objections to any essential change in it to meet the views of the President.—Arizona Republican.

Let Them Come.

A rumor is afloat that the game of Ferguson et al is to have a congressional committee appointed to visit New Mexico and investigate the TRUE conditions. Feel of our pulses look at our tongues, thumb our chests and see if we will do for the REGULAR army, or are only fit for home guards. Of course, the committee would have to be mostly of Democrats and "insurgents" or their expense bills would not be O.K'd. They would come here on the representation of the "little four," so that, "if you keep 'em out a little longer WE democrats can bag the whole cheese," and if they so sized the situation their report would be that we were "not quite ready yet" for the great boon.

If they should come they will see and hear much that they are not looking for. They would learn the real situation of Hand, Jones, McGill and Ferguson with the majority of New Mexico Democrats—and that would hurt.

They would learn the New Mexican sentiment toward Owen, La Follette, Bourne, Beveridge et al, and be astonished at our lack of their sort of progressiveness. They would meet representative men of the world who could make them look like third cents in a logical argument on any vital subject of the day. They would meet A PEOPLE who know what they want, and their right to it. They would see the finest country out of doors, bristling with possibilities that only need the magic touch of statehood to convert into glorious realities. Then they might wish us kept back until they and their friends could GET IN RIGHT, for any man who can see the sun when it shines can see that it's a moral cinch.—Raton Range.

AID FOR PROGRESSIVES FROM CORPORATION MEN.

Standpat Congressmen Who Have Fought Battles of the Interests for Years Astounded.

Washington, April 28.—The "let the corporations alone" arguments of the "standpatters" are being rattled from unexpected quarters, by firing from the rear. Some of the heads of big corporations themselves recently have astounded the politicians who for years have blindly fought the corporations' battles, as they supposed. They are wondering what has happened.

New England, the stronghold of conservatism, is turning its guns on the standpatters and beginning to take sides with the West on the platform that the people are the partners and not the prey of the great corporations, and that there should be public supervision and control of the public from corporate abuses.

The standpatters have been fighting the progressives along this line for years, with varying success. When, however, well aimed shots began to come from the ranks of the corporations the old leaders realized it was time to rush their reserves to the front.

When Theodore N. Vail, of Boston, president of the Bell telephone system, in his annual report, advocated control and regulation of public service corporations by permanent commissions, the "standpat" leaders smiled.

"Just a sop to the stockholders to keep them in good humor," they said, and to the public to keep them from keeping up the fire."

When George Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, the second largest in the country, fired a second shot and declared that national supervision "is inevitable and necessary," that if the big interests have abused the public's confidence, such practices must be stopped, the smiles were not quite so confident.

Then followed in quick succession, similar statements by Stuyvesant Fish of New York, and Henry U. Mudge, president of the Rock Island railway lines. The smiles had changed to sickly grins by then, but the "old guard" tried to comfort themselves by saying, "Fish is disgruntled because he was forced out of the presidency of the Illinois Central, and Mudge is simply making a play to keep the people of the west friendly towards his road."

Then came another cannon shot from conservative New England. Charles E. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway system, speaking before the Boston Chamber of Commerce, indicated plainly that he considered the business of big corporations as a semi-partnership affair with the people. Advocating a municipally owned and operated harbor for Boston he said: "This is all in accordance with modern thought and practice."

The concern of which Mellen is the head, operates many steamers, freight and passenger, and owns some of its docks. For years it has steadily pursued the policy of controlling everything in the line it is interested.

The old leaders are beginning to wonder whether Wall Street is about to desert to the enemy and ask Uncle Sam to regulate it.

ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Baltimore, Md.—Mrs. W. H. Ison, at 1419 East Madison street, writes, "For several years, I suffered, off and on, from female troubles, until finally I was taken down and could do nothing. The pains I experienced, I shall never forget. I lost weight till I was only skin and bones. I believe, I would have been in my grave, if I had not tried Cardui. I shall praise it as long as I live." Many women, like Mrs. Ison, are weak and discouraged on account of some painful ailment. Are you one of these sufferers? Cardui will help you. Try it today. Any druggist.

CASH GOES WITH DISCARDED HOSE.

Woman Carelessly Tosses Stocking With $1,500 in Toe From Train, and Money is Recovered.

Los Angeles, April 28.—While traveling to this city, Mrs. Frances Held of Danbury, Conn., inadvertently threw a pair of stockings out of the window of a fast Santa Fe train a few miles west of Albuquerque.

Soon afterward she discovered that she had left a roll of $1,500 in bills in the toe of one of the stockings, and she appealed to Conductor Milo Thompson for help to recover.

At the next station Thompson wired back to the agent at Albuquerque.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE UPPER PECOS.

With the opening of the fishing season only a little more than two weeks away, the upper Pecos is calling. To those who have been there before, the call is insistent, almost irresistible. And by the upper Pecos, is meant the entire Pecos National Forest, beginning a few miles out of Santa Fe and extending to the gateways of Las Vegas, east and west, and from Pecos town to the Taos county boundary south and north. A more beautiful trout fishing ground exists nowhere in the world. The scenery is sublime and has so many varied aspects, from forest depths to mountain heights, that its moods are illimitable. The rush of the breeze in the tall pines, the roar of the larger streams and waterfalls, the chatter of the many brooks, the songs of birds, the carpets of brilliant blossoms, the wild animals not so shy as to escape all observation, and above it all, the peerless New Mexico sky and sun. These thoughts are emphasized by the receipt of a superb booklet on the Valley Ranch, the headquarters for so many fishing and touring parties. The publication is a work of art, and the New Mexican says without reservation, that it is the most attractive book of the hundreds of its kind that have passed over the editorial table for 12 or more years. The pictures, and there are scores of them, are so alluring as to beckon one away from desk and home for a tramp over the trails that thread the reserve and which all lead to the upper Pecos, except one, the grandest of them all, the Scenic Highway, which stops a few miles this side of the splendid stream, but which it is hoped, the present Goods Roads Commission with Governor Mills at its head and Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller and Land Commissioner R. P. Ervien upon it, will permit much longer to come to a sudden and blind end at the edge of paradise. When the Scenic Highway is completed to the Pecos, that section will become the playground of the southwest, and it is sufficiently vast to accommodate all those who may come.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

Kansas City like Santa Fe has medical inspection of the public schools, but as in Santa Fe, the idea is a new one and the practice is only on the threshold of its complete development in the future. This leads the Kansas City Star to say:

"When a child begins going to school he is expected to begin bringing home the common diseases of childhood. That even the milder ones, like measles and whooping cough, aren't so harmless as is generally supposed is shown by figures cited by Dr. F. C. Neff before the Jackson County Medical Society and printed in the Star yesterday. The trouble is due chiefly to avoidable complications, but the complications do follow in very many instances.

Medical inspection, with the limited funds available in Kansas City, can affect only the fringe of the problem. It can be of great service in discovering adenoids, enlarged tonsils, deafness, eye-strain and the like. But it ought to be made more thorough and be accompanied by a follow-up system of nurses to see that children with infectious disease are properly isolated at home. Until such a system is devised and supported by public sentiment, the schools will continue to spread disease."

ALTITUDE AND LONGEVITY.

The Colorado Springs physician who announces that one of the beneficial effects of altitude upon consumptives is that it increases the marrow in the bones, is not the first to prove that altitude has the direct effect of increasing the white corpuscles of the blood, the corpuscles that fight disease. It was some years ago, that the experiments at the Hadley Climatological laboratory at Albuquerque demonstrated the same effect, and since then, at Paris, France, balloon ascensions to an altitude of 7,500 feet altitude have been recommended for those afflicted with tuberculosis. It is certain, that the healthseeker coming to Santa Fe, with its altitude of 6,391 feet, receives benefits from the altitude in addition to those from the equitable, sunshiny, dry, invigorating, climate and pure air. Altitude, instead of being a detriment, as some people have been led to believe, is a benefit. It is a fact, often noted, that people in high altitudes are much longer-lived than those at sea level, and the highlands of New Mexico have more centenarians in proportion to population than have the low lands of the coast.

Socialist Victor Berger followed up his petition for the abolition of the federal army with a bill to abolish the United States Senate, to deprive the President of the veto power and to take the right of reviewing legislation from the courts. That is covering considerable ground in one step and Uncle Sam might as well adopt the Bushmen's or Moro form of government with one fell swoop.

NEW MEXICO'S LEADING INDUSTRIAL TOWN.

Albuquerque's manufacturing industries, which include railroad shops and lumber mill, distribute annually $500,000 in wages and salaries in the Duke City, according to a census report issued today. The average number of hands employed during the census year was 671. The number of establishments is given as 31, and the capital employed as $817,000. No need saying that Albuquerque is the leading manufacturing city of New Mexico, for the value of its products is $1,255,000, or more than one-sixth of the manufactured products of the entire commonwealth. The Bureau of the Census at the same time issues the manufacturing statistics for Montana, which offer a basis for comparison. In Montana, 13,000 people are given employment in manufacturing industries, but it is owing to the copper smelting and refining industry, that this number is so large and the annual product reaches the enormous sum of $80,168,000. The number of manufacturing establishments in that state is 680 and the capital employed $4,596,000. When once the copper mine resources of New Mexico are fully developed, it too, will make a showing in manufactures, comparable with that of Montana.

AN EDUCATIONAL PLATFORM.

The New Mexican Journal of Education, of which Rupert F. Asplund of this city is the editor and publisher, has mapped out the following educational program for New Mexico:

1. Better supervision, including systematic and accurate reports.
2. Better school houses, equipment and environment.
3. Better preparation and better pay for teachers.
4. Greater co-operation among teachers, school officers and parents.
5. Consolidated schools, graded wherever possible.
6. High school privileges for all desiring.
7. Larger local levies.
8. School libraries for all schools.
9. County unit organization.
10. Community use of the school plant.
11. Physical education and health instruction.
12. A socialized school curriculum.

It is a splendid program and every newspaper and public spirited citizen should make an effort to effect its realization.

TOO MANY DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

Since New Year, nine killings in New Mexico, have been by officers of the law. The impression is gaining ground that the deputizing of sheriffs is too promiscuous, that very often a man seeks a deputy sheriff's commission merely to be permitted to carry a weapon, and a man who carries a weapon anticipates using it. Too often, a weapon is used by an officer of the law, when it is unnecessary. This is a common experience. For that reason even the clubs were taken away from New York policemen. It is currently reported, that in one of the most advanced counties of the territory, one-half of the saloonkeepers are deputy sheriffs and carry weapons. There is need for legislative and administrative reform in that respect and grand juries might make it their business to probe into the actual causes of the many murders, felonious assaults and promiscuous discharge of fire weapons. The gun toter must go in New Mexico!

"The leased wire is working!" Those were the joyful tidings that flashed into daily newspaper offices this forenoon from El Paso, Texas, to Cheyenne, Wyoming, and from Roswell to Amarillo, one of the longest and most novel leased wire circuits in the world, for the wire will at the same time carry telephone and telegraph messages for others than the newspapers, owing to a marvel of modern invention that permits a dozen messages to be sent over one wire simultaneously. To the dozen or so evening newspapers strung out along that wire, it means, beginning with Monday, the complete Associated Press report, as complete as it is furnished during the same hours to the Denver Times or the New York Herald. That is going some for New Mexico evening dailies but the western newspaper has a habit of going the limit whenever it comes to serving the public and giving full measure in return for advertising and subscriptions.

Eighteen beet sugar factories are to be built in the west by the Oxnard and independent sugar interests. Santa Fe should rustle to secure one of those factories for the Espanola or even the Santa Fe valley. The chief condition, it seems, is a pledge that so many thousand acres will be devoted to sugar beet growing for a certain number of years. Given that pledge, the sugar millionaires will see to the rest. It is a condition that is easy to meet if there is co-operation among communities, farmers and land owners, but impossible of accomplishment in sections where every one pulls for himself and co-operation is unknown.

Governor Shafroth yesterday had to call the Democratic legislature of Colorado to time as a teacher would naughty school boys. The utter incapacity and irresponsibility of the Democratic party to administer the government of a state or of the nation, has been demonstrated again and again. The reason is very easily understood, the policy of the Republican party having been from its inception constructive while the Democratic party's has been destructive. Both policies have their place in a republic but the party of destructiveness will never make a success in administering the government. Thus, the Democratic legislature of Colorado, although it has been in session 23 days longer than any session preceding it in thirty years, has not yet placed on the statute books a single piece of constructive legislation and as Governor Shafroth, himself a Democrat, declares, has ignored each and every platform promise.

On another page appears an advertisement for the summer school of the University of New Mexico, which will open on June 5. This summer school is another demonstration that the University is reaching out to make available its advantages to all of the people of the Territory. There will be special courses for high school instructors in vocal and instrumental music, in addition to instruction in General History, English Literature, Physics, Chemistry, Zoology, Classics, Modern Languages and other branches that underlie a broader culture. The school will be in session six weeks and nothing more inspiring and pleasant can be imagined than a course of this kind among congenial surroundings and under competent and scholarly instructors, during vacation season.

The farms of Ohio are worth $1,650,000,000, says the Census Bureau, or thirty times the assessed valuation of New Mexico. Ohio, like this commonwealth, is an agricultural section and is one of the greatest sheep raising states of the Union. Although only one-third as large as New Mexico, it has 20,000,000 acres under cultivation, or almost ten times the cultivated area of New Mexico. And the day is within sight when New Mexico will be as rich in its farms as Ohio is today, for there is this difference, New Mexico is rapidly increasing its area under cultivation, while in Ohio, according to the Census, the area is decreasing.

The New Mexican calls attention to the annual report of Mrs. L. Bradford Prince, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which she presented in person at the annual gathering of that noble and patriotic society at Washington, D. C., last week. It shows incidentally the great work that each chapter is doing in its community in New Mexico and also the aims and ideals of the order as a whole. The marking of the Santa Fe Trail, is a monumental work, just accomplished by the society, and it is but due to Mrs. Prince, to ascribe to her unselfish work the fact that the Daughters of the American Revolution are so great and creditable a factor in the social and historic work in this commonwealth.

In Washington they advocate giving ten years in jail for the third case of drunkenness on the part of boozers. In Albuquerque yesterday, they arrested a man for the 25th time for being drunk, and he got off with a fine of $10 after he had sobered up in jail. In reality, drunkenness is a disease, a pestilential disease, that justifies the authorities placing every man who becomes intoxicated in a Keeley cure until he has completely recovered. Thus many a man might be saved for a life of usefulness to himself, his family and the community.

Soil analysis can be made an important aid in selecting crops for different sections of New Mexico. The Estancia Herald, for instance, says: "The editor of the Herald received a letter from his father, who on returning home from a visit to this part of the country, took with him a box of soil from J. P. Porter's ranch. He states that he had the soil analyzed by an expert fruit man of the east, who says that the soil is the best he has examined for a long while for the production of apples, and will produce the best colored apples and also good for peaches."

The National Guard Magazine for May, as its leading article has an article on the National Guard and its Armories of New Mexico, written by H. B. Henning, secretary of the New Mexico Bureau of Immigration. The article is strikingly illustrated with half-tone cuts of the six armories recently built at Santa Fe, Las Cruces, Las Vegas, Albuquerque, Roswell and Silver City, at a total cost of almost $150,000. The article is a splendid advertisement for the Territory and a testimonial to its patriotism which must have a good effect wherever the magazine is read.

The New Mexican is in receipt from the Weather Bureau Service of the climatic summary for the Rio Grande valley for January. The bureau should have put off sending it until July 4, when reading of zero temperatures will have its compensations.

The Democratic legislature of Colorado had to be outdone by its Illinois Democratic brethren in investigating charges of bribery. A Democratic legislature without attempts at bribery is a tame affair.

Artesia has voluntarily imposed upon itself a tax levy of 25 mills for its public schools. That is the kind of a community that is worth while.

FANS WILL MEET TONIGHT AT THE BEAVERS.

Now is the Time to Form a Baseball Organization That Will Make All Others Take Notice.

All persons interested in the organization of a baseball team, and for the financing and managing of the same are invited to meet at the rooms of the Beavers at 8 o'clock tonight. Now is the time for the formation of an organization that will make every other town in the southwest take a back seat. The material is here and with some encouragement Santa Fe will have a winner.

The small town of Gallup has already raised over $1,100, with a promise of almost as much more, while Roswell, Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Raton, Belen, Socorro, Silver City and other towns are coming to the front with the players and the cash. Raton will maintain a straight out professional team during the season, every player being under salary. Santa Fe cannot afford to hide its light under a bushel. On Sunday, at 3 o'clock, the proposed team will play the victors at the College grounds, and every fan should be on hand to look over the situation, and see just what we have in the shape of ball-players. It is the intention to have the team open the season at Albuquerque with Dan Padilla's Grays on May 7th, a return game being played in Santa Fe on May 14th.

Put in an appearance at the meeting tonight.

Arthur Seligman, Leo Hersch, Fred Fornoff, Fritz Muller, H. S. Clancy, Nathan Salmon, L. A. Hughes, J. B. Wood, Frank Owen.

BURGLARS AT WORK IN CAPITAL CITY.

Early Morning Prowler is Scared Away as He Tries to Break Into Goutchey Home.

Burglars this morning at 1:30 o'clock tried to break into the house of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Goutchey on Lincoln avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Goutchey had just come home from the dance at the Palace hotel and were quietly talking when they heard a noise at the rear door. Mr. Goutchey rushed the rear door and was just in time to see a fleeing figure making haste to get out of sight. Against a rear window, a plank had been propped at such an angle, as to permit the intruder to walk on it up to the window. There, a piece of wood whittled to a sharp edge or wedge, was used under the window pane to lift it. A number of suspicious characters have been noticed loitering about town and householders should exercise some care, as it is believed that several professional crooks are in the city. The police should be especially alert, in ordering all suspicious characters to leave town.

HUSBAND SMOKED IN PARLOR

Visitor is Finally Enlightened on Reason for Breach of Discipline—Coat Was Afire.

The visitor sniffed.
"Excuse me, dear," she said, "but what a smell of smoke there is in this room! You surely don't allow your husband to smoke in the drawing room?"
"Well, not as a rule," replied her hostess, "but this morning—"
"My dear," exclaimed the visitor, "you should never make exceptions in cases like this. I never do. My Freddy never smokes in our drawing room on any consideration whatever."
"Yes," began the young wife, "but—"
"Nonsense, darling! There are no 'buts' at all! In the first place, it's for the sake of discipline. In the second, the ashes absolutely ruin one's carpets. And as for the thick air—Poo!"
"I quite agree, sweet!" exclaimed the lectured one, spiritedly, getting in a word at last. "But this morning my husband simply had to smoke."
"Indeed!" said the visitor, raising her eyebrows. "And why?"
"Because," retorted her hostess, "his coat was on fire!"

Higher and Fainter.
"How much is a lower berth?" asked the man in front of the Pullman office window.
"Five dollars," replied the man behind.
"And how much is an upper?"
"Four dollars."
"Then the higher berths are lower?"
"Yes, sir."
"And the lower berths are higher?"
"Exactly."
"Well, I'll take a lower berth if they're higher."
"I'm sorry, but I have no lower berths left."
"Got an upper?"
"Yes."
"But these are lower?"
"Sure."
"Well, then, the higher the fewer."

"Yes, ma'am."
"And those hyphosphites?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"And the magnesias?"

"Yes, ma'am."
"And cold compress on his chest?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"And he's no better?"
"No, ma'am."
"How strange! I think we had better send for the doctor."

PERSONAL MENTION

L. O. Moore, chief of field division of the land office passed through here last night on his way to McIntosh-Estancia Daily Herald. He has returned to Santa Fe.

W. D. Shea, freight and passenger agent for the Denver and Rio Grande railway with headquarters in Santa Fe, is in Albuquerque on a short business trip.—Albuquerque Herald. Mr. Shea returned this noon.

Assistant Territorial Traveling Auditor Rankin left this morning for Bernalillo on official business. Mr. Rankin has been in Albuquerque for some time auditing accounts.—Albuquerque Herald.

County Commissioner I. Sparks telephoned this morning that he and Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller and Land Commissioner R. P. Ervin had reached Raton on their good roads trip without a single mishap. Marcos Gonzales, clerk of the school directors at Kennedy, southern Santa Fe county, is in Santa Fe on business with County School Superintendent John V. Conway. Mr. Gonzales reports that the last term of school at Kennedy was a most successful one.

R. T. Hynd manager of the Madrid Supply Company store at Madrid, Southern Santa Fe county, was in Santa Fe yesterday on business with County School Superintendent John V. Conway and Superintendent of Public Instruction J. E. Clark. Mr. Hynd being the clerk of the Madrid school board.

Former Governor M. A. Otero has received cards announcing the engagement of his niece, Miss Alleen O'Brien to Alfred Bachens, both residents of Paris, France. Miss O'Brien is the daughter of Mr. Otero's sister Mrs. O'Brien, who has many friends in Santa Fe, where she formerly lived.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Conway, accompanied by Mrs. D. D. Stewart of Arkansas City, will visit the "Tano" Indian Ruins on the ranch of Hon. B. F. Pankey, 25 miles south of Santa Fe. They will go overland in a few days and remain long enough to explore the beautiful "Picture Rocks," and old Indian ruins.

Colonel W. S. Hopewell, vice-president of the New Mexico Central and a party of capitalists from the east are now in the Hagan coal fields looking over the situation. We have been unable to ascertain the names of the parties or what interests they represent, but it is to be hoped that it means an early consummation of the long-hoped for sale of this property as it would mean much to the development of this valley if some of the trunk lines would take hold of this property and utilize the great natural resources which lay along its right of way and land grant.—Willard Record.

Hon. Nestor Montoya, editor of La Bandera Americana, former speaker of the legislative house and member of the constitutional convention was a business visitor from Albuquerque today. He is much gratified over the building of El Camino del Real from Albuquerque north, the completion of the sewer system in the Duke City, the contemplated paving of the city streets and other improvements which mean so much for the growth of a city, and at the same time cannot hide his disgust at the antics of one of Albuquerque's citizens at Washington in opposition to the constitution. Judge Ira A. Abbott of the second judicial district is in the city. He is on his way to Taos to hold court there Monday.

Former Governor Otero has received a letter from Carl Lotave the Swedish artist who is doing special work in the Paris art galleries and who is expected back in this country at the end of the year. Mr. Lotave is in good health, is working hard and is doing splendidly.

dition, but settled at the end of the trail, in Santa Fe.

In 1895, James Pursley a carpenter by trade, who was born at Bardstown, Ky., and who, by the way, was a Revolutionary soldier, entered that region. To him should be given the credit of the discovery of the first gold in that section of the country, presumably in Colorado, but he refused to give this information to the Spaniards; saying that the United States ought to own all that territory, and therefore, that the United States alone should have the benefit of his knowledge. When he reached Santa Fe he made a home there for himself and was so charmed with its beautiful location, its historic associations, its clear skies and wonderful sunsets that he never left that place; but with unflinching loyalty to his native land he died with his secret untold, and his remains now repose in the beautiful Military cemetery in that far-away city, under the shadow of the magnificent Sangre de Cristo range of mountains over which he passed in the early days of our Republic, not heeding the vast herds of buffaloes, the dismal howling of the wolves, and other wild animals, or the danger from savage Indians.

It was not, however, until the year 1822, that the Santa Fe Trail was regularly established. It started at Independence, Missouri and ended at Santa Fe. It was nearly 1,000 miles long, and over this then almost barren region, passed semi-annually the slow caravan formed of wagons drawn by mules or teams of oxen, which conveyed the mail and carried cargoes valued at as much as $200,000, as well as the lumbering stage coach, which brought passengers, merchants and soldiers of fortune to the Ancient City of the Holy Faith.

The traversing of this road or trail was one of the most remarkable and important achievements of modern times, for by this means was established a highway across the vast plains to the shores of the blue Pacific.

With the presentation to Continental Memorial hall of this picture of a Trail Marker placed on a lonely spot on that historic highway, with the coyotes prowling at its base, the youngest daughter in the national galaxy of states and stars, presents its last report as a Territory.

This was received with much attention and given generous applause.

Vegas road should be completed with rapidity as much of the more difficult part of the work has been accomplished. Territorial Good Roads Engineer J. D. Merriweather today again took charge of the work, having returned from Silver City, where he had been engaged in similar work. He will remain until the road is practically completed.

To Widen Highway.
"Engineer Miller's visit may result in the widening of the scenic highway in the Gallinas canyon. A number of Las Vegas residents, who use the highway frequently with autos and other vehicles, are anxious that additional work be done so that the road will be wide enough for vehicles to pass at every point. Governor Mills is said to be in favor of such action. On their way to Las Vegas the party examined closely the work that is being done on the improvement of the road between Santa Fe and this city. Grading will be done in places where such work is necessary and a few new bridges will be put in. This will make the overland trip to Santa Fe a much more pleasant journey and will prove of great value to the motorists and farmers.

FIVE TON TRUCK

REACHES PHOENIX.
The five ton truck, covering the "Trail to Sunset," the southern transcontinental highway, surveyed last fall by A. L. Westgard, has arrived in Phoenix, after a record breaking run from Globe, of 112 miles in one day.

Mr. Westgard, who represents the U. S. office of public roads, the Touring Club of America and the Automobile Blue Book, and who has traveled in an automobile probable more extensively than any other man in the country, reports that the roads and scenery between these two Arizona cities equal any that can be found in the most famous touring centers of Europe.

The car negotiated the thousands of sharp turns on the serpentine road through the canyons and towering cliffs with the greatest ease and safety, and preventer of fire sliding. The route was via Roosevelt dam and through the Fish Creek canyon, fast becoming famous for its magnificent scenery.

The party rests in Phoenix for a couple of days and will proceed to Los Angeles via the Phoenix, Roca Route, crossing the Colorado river by ferry into California at Ehrenburg, then across the desert past the north end of the Salton sea, 200 feet below sea level, and across Beaumont pass into the orange country at San Bernardino and Riverside, whence a magnificent oiled boulevard will carry them to Los Angeles, where they will arrive about May 6th.

Mr. Westgard today had a conference with Governor Sloan and Territorial Engineer Grand, and received the assurance of their appreciation of the importance of improving the transcontinental highway through Arizona, and also of the pioneer work done by him.

The places on the route where improvement was most needed were marked on maps and steps taken to secure estimates of cost looking towards better conditions at once. It may with justice be said, however, that Arizona has already so many stretches of excellent road that the miles scheduled for improvement are relatively few.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL TELEGRAPHIC INVENTION.

It Will Do Away With Necessity of Code in War and Navy Department.

New York, April 28.—In the presence of prominent representatives of the army and navy, distinguished scientists and the country's foremost inventors, a demonstration was given here yesterday of an invention designed to prevent foreign spies from tapping government wires and learning the secrets of the War, Navy and state departments, either in times of strife or peace.

The demonstration which possessed an added interest because of the frequent reiteration of future trouble with Japan and the uncertain conditions prevailing along the Mexican border, was held under the joint auspices of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

For half an hour messages were exchanged by the military men and scientists present in the two newspaper offices 1,000 miles apart. In their judgment, the invention solves one of the most important military problems with which the army has had to contend ever since the introduction of the telegraph as an auxiliary of modern warfare.

The invention is the work of Patrick B. Delaney, inventor of the telepost automatic telegraph system, the multiplex, the anti-pulse relay and other improvements to the telegraph and cable. It breaks up the dots and dashes forming the letters of the telegraph code and requires the use of two circuits, traversing widely separated territory. One went to St. Louis by way of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis and Terre Haute and the other by the way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago.

The two wires were controlled and operated from an ordinary single Morse key and the message was received over a single receiver at the end of its journey in the same manner as a regular communication.

Each alternate dot or dash traveled over one wire and the other dots and dashes over the other. Though the way of one route was hundreds of miles longer than that of the other each impulse reached the receiving instrument in its proper sequence.

By tapping either wire all that the secret service agent of an enemy would have gotten from it would have been a series of meaningless cabalistics of no value to them. Parting company at the sending key the two parts of the message, separated by miles throughout their flight across country were only reunited at the receiving, rendering the tapping of either wire during the transit of the message of no use whatever.

The mechanical device that accomplishes this is very simple, requiring no special skill to operate, and can be used in any combination of two circuits of which the telegraph is susceptible. It makes the coding of confidential government messages unnecessary, thus saving hours of valuable time in periods of urgency when minutes are vital to the success of a movement and will defy the ingenuity of a foe to extract from the wires anything that can be made of service or profit to it.

Delaney presided at the demonstration in the World office on this end, where it was witnessed by Thomas A. Edison, Hudson Maxim, General A. L. Buffington, U. S. A., Major J. B. Reeder, U. S. A., Chief Signal Service Officer of the Department of the East, stationed here, officials from the Brooklyn Navy Yard and signal officers of the Atlantic fleet, Admiral Setaon Shroeder, commanding, now in port.

In the Post-Dispatch office in St. Louis, were army officers from the Jefferson Barracks, and a number of prominent laymen.

EDITORIAL FLASHES

Good Thing to Talk About.
We devote much of this issue to the schools but make no apologies. The schools are the community's best asset and ought to get more attention than they do.—Olar Progress.

Come to Santa Fe.
Roswell, a city of 9,000, with hundreds of winter resorters, and hundreds of tourists and investors sight-seeing, all the year round, has no rest park for visitors.—Roswell Register Tribune.

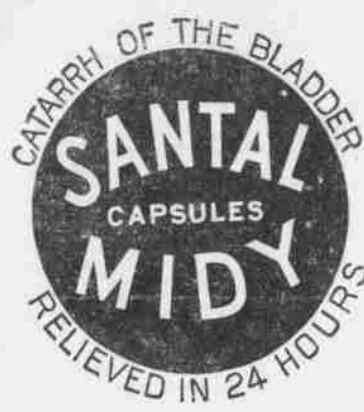

Bootleggers.
We heard a man say that "Prohibition made bootleggers and that bootleggers are hypocrites." No, friend, Prohibition never made either bootleggers or hypocrites; the animals made themselves.—Roswell Daily Record.

Found Elsewhere.
If it is true that trachoma has obtained such a foothold in Santa Fe, isn't it about time that the Roswell schools were putting on that physical examination? Such a condition in Roswell would be unthinkable.—Roswell Register Tribune.

Cleaning Up.
My goodness! what has been going on in Colfax county? Twenty-one sentences by Judge Roberts at the close of the spring term of the district court last Saturday. That is awful! Let us try to do better.—Colfax Stockman.

Wide-Awake.
Eighteen blocks of new cement sidewalks are to be put down in Silver City, and that is a mark of progress that speaks volumes for that bustling little city. Good sidewalks are a valuable asset in any city or town.—El Paso Times.

Moriarty Wins.
Once more the iconoclast gets a jolt in the short ribs. The postoffice department has refused to change the name of Moriarty to Garden City or some fool thing like that. The attempt to change it was even a more outrageous piece of foolishness than trying to hitch "Springs" onto Carlsbad.—Roswell Register-Tribune.

Natural Ambition.
It is the ambition of Charlie Taft to land a place on his school baseball team and he is serving his apprenticeship as a water carrier. His distinguished father is a frequent visitor at the ball park in Washington and his uncle for whom he is named is the owner of the "Chicago Cubs," so that the boys come naturally by his love of the game.—Tucson Citizen.

Democrats Responsible for Delay.
One McGill of La Lande, stated to the territorial committee of the house yesterday that he is "one of five men appointed by the territorial Democratic Central Committee" to appear before the committee. Thought they were volunteers, but it seems they are regulars, so the Democratic party organization of New Mexico will have to stand for them and their acts—as well as talk, unless real Democrats will go out in force and repudiate them.—Raton Range.

So Sad and Solemn.
The lid is on, the slot machine is turned to the wall, and if there is a poker game going on in the county it is a very quiet affair and behind closed doors. The district judge and the district attorney are determined, they are in cahoots as to the enforcement of the law, and you had better look out. This is no idle josh, pun or an attempt at wind-jamming, it is a straight tip.—Colfax County Stockman.

Why Don't You Tell It Now?
When New Mexico gets statehood the election is ordered and the campaign opens we will furnish the political ring leaders of the county some very interesting reading matter in regard to the political relations existing between Union and Colfax county in the matter of detailing the manipulations of the campaign and particularly those of the election, also some past events that are not at all flattering to those that participated.—Clayton News.

Two Kinds—The Real and the Fake.
The real Democracy of Chaves county last Tuesday night wired to Washington their indignant denial of any responsibility for the statements and actions of Harvey B. Ferguson. The brethren are to be congratulated. They have sins enough to answer for without being held as sympathizing or authorizing any such stunts as that which Mr. Ferguson pulled off at Washington last week. With all their faults they are neither anarchists or fools.—Roswell Daily Record.

A Gutta Percha Constitution.
So far as can be learned, a constitution which can be amended at will by the minority in the pursuit of its ward politics is what Mr. Ferguson and his friends want. The present constitution, as the Morning Journal has shown a hundred times, can be amended two years after the constitution goes into effect, by a MAJORITY VOTE of the legislature and by a MAJORITY VOTE of the people. The latter majority need only be 40 per cent of the entire vote cast at the election.—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

"Watch Dog" of the Treasury.
For ten years Mr. William G. Sargent has been Territorial Auditor of New Mexico and has scrutinized every cent of the expenditures of the Territory, and the fact that the finances of the Territory have been in "A No. 1" condition for the past ten years is due, to a large extent, to his watchfulness. He is one of the sturdy Republicans of the territory and was county treasurer of Rio Arriba county before he was appointed Auditor by former Governor M. A. Otero. Mr. Sargent will be an important factor in the new state.—Estancia Daily Herald.

Had Met Him Before.
Messrs. Ferguson and J. D. Hand, self-appointed representatives of the Democracy of New Mexico, are in Washington opposing the New Mexico constitution. Mr. Ferguson is well known to us and we have had a vague and shadowy notion that Mr. Hand was not to us entirely unknown. But until now we have not been able to "place" him. It all comes back. He is the gentleman who, some years ago, offered a team of mules as a premium for the best exhibit of wheat at an interstate fair at Albuquerque. The prize was won by a Salt river valley farmer but on some pretext was withheld for at least a time. As we now recall there was some sort of a compromise.—Arizona Republican.

The Bridge Party

By Jane Ludlum Lee

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

OME along, Emily, we promised to go over early and help Kate fix the tables for the club meeting this afternoon, and you know how she always leaves everything for the last minute.

"I'll be down in a jiffy, Flora, but such luck as I am having. One side of my hair is as straight as a poker and the other I have burned off with the curling iron. This talk about its being a woman's duty to make herself as beautiful as possible don't go in the summer time."

Emily appeared in a few minutes, adding the finishing touches to her toilet.

"You see this skirt? Well, it don't meet by four inches. I have been taking that obesity cure for the past month and I'll wager I've gained a pound a day—that's why I have tied this pink ribbon around my 35-inch waist-line. But what do I care for that crowd? Come, let's hurry along."

They hurried down the dusty country road until they reached the outskirts of the village and soon came to a little cottage with rose bushes rambling over every shutter on the lower floor. They turned into the path that led to the house, but no sign of life was seen or heard. It was one of those still, sultry afternoons in August when even the singing of the robins seems to far on the quiet of the atmosphere.

"Looks more like a funeral to me than a party," remarked Emily. "Where do you suppose Kate is?"

"They rang the bell, rang it again, and still no answer. They looked at each other and then rang again a third time."

"I'll go round to the back door," said Flora; "they must all be in the kitchen."

And then in a few moments Flora's voice could be heard calling:

"Emily—Emily, come on around—here she is."

"Oh, girls," exclaimed Kate, "I'm so glad you came. I've fussed to death. Mother's gone to the missionary meeting, and the hired man cut his toe off last night and has not been able to do a single chore for me. Here, Flora, you take this duster and fix up the parlor, and Emily, turn up that dress of yours and get busy squeezing lemons for the punch."

"Kate, I Have Finished the Punch, but I Can't Find Any Glasses."

"Kate Price, you are the worst girl I ever knew. Don't you know the girls will be here in a few minutes and you have not a thing ready?" With this, off came the pink sash ribbon. "What have you been doing all morning?" With this she loosened her collar. "Just supposing we hadn't come around." Up went the skirt and a big pin held it well above all danger.

"Oh, Emily, you wouldn't be so mean. Like a good girl, go ahead and do what you can, and I'll run upstairs and dress. I'll be done in time to make the sandwiches."

Emily proceeded to squeeze one lemon with her hands while she rolled another with her foot, while Flora dusted like a machine. For a few moments no sound was heard in the house. Presently Emily appeared in the hall and called up to Kate:

"Kate, I have finished the punch, but I cannot find any glasses. Tell me where they are and I'll set them on the table."

"Mercy me—whatever shall I do?" responded Kate from upstairs. "I loaned them all last night for the minister's donation party and they have not sent them back. Please go ask Samuel if his toe is not well enough for him to step over and get them."

"I'll do nothing of the kind, Kate Price," said Emily as she flounced back to the kitchen.

"Kate—Kate," wailed Flora. "I've dusted the room and fixed the tables, but I can't find the cards—where are they?"

"Brother Tom was going to get home on the two o'clock train and bring some new ones, but he hasn't come yet—oh dear, what shall I do?"

"Where are the old ones?" suggested Flora.

"Why, I brought one of Rover's little pups in the house last night and while I was not looking it chewed the whole pack up in tiny bits."

Before Flora had time to express her inward feelings, the front door putting their shoulders against it and pushing. All to no avail.

"Kate Price, come down here this minute and let the girls in—we can't budge this door."

Kate appeared as fresh as you please in a dainty white dress, and as she came down the stairs her face plainly showed a whole expression of contentment.

"Oh, we had that door painted yesterday and I suppose it has all stuck fast." Her pretty brown head appeared at the front window as she called, "You will have to come in the back way, girls, the door is stuck."

They all turned and came around to the back door, where Kate let them in with the air of a well-trained hostess.

"Just look at my dress, all green paint—I won't have a thing to wear to the hop." "Dear me this organdie is ruined—it won't wash," were just a few of the greetings she received.

Kate rose supreme, however, to all such trifles, and she had soon managed to pacify all of the girls, and they were seated around the tables, when the bell rang again. Out of the window went Kate's head, and the minister's voice was heard to say:

"My dear Miss Price, I've run over with the glasses that you sent last night, and Mrs. Perkins asks you please to accept these few goodies that were left over from the donation."

A large, substantial-looking basket was handed in the window.

"Oh, Mr. Perkins, do come in and meet the girls, and have some lemonade. Will you climb in the window or come around the back way?"

"I'm coming in, Miss Price, just long enough to preach a sermon to one of your party. I met Tom down the road sitting on a rail fence in a most dejected frame of mind, and, by the way, here is a package he gave me to deliver. Now a rail fence on a hot afternoon is no place for a young man to be sitting with a broken heart, and I propose to send Miss Emily down to tell him so."

"He can sit there till the fence gives way," snapped Miss Emily. "I'm not going."

"Oh yes you are, Miss Emily. Tom told me all about it, and it's quite your own fault. Sam did cut his toe. You are wholly to blame, so go tell him so before he succumbs to a sunstroke."

It took the combined pleadings of Mr. Perkins and the club members, but after much persuasion, and even threats, Emily started for the rail fence that ran around the orchard. She diplomatically approached from the rear. There Tom sat, hunched up like a blackbird in the rain.

"Tom!" called a rather weak voice. "Emily, darling!" and with a bound he was at her side.

"I'm sorry I didn't let you in last night, Tom, but you see I thought you stopped in to see Lucy Wright and that made you late."

"No, dear, I told the truth. Sam did cut his toe off with the wood cutter, and I had to go for the doctor."

"I know it now," admitted Emily. "Mr. Perkins told me, and then, besides, I've seen Sam." Then with a shy little glance she stole up to Tom and said:

"I know where Mr. Perkins is now, Tom."

"Emily, can it be? Will you really be mine today?"

"Yes, Tom, today, if Mr. Perkins thinks I've atoned sufficiently for my sin."

Tom took her in his arms for just a moment, and then together they started for the house. They found Mr. Perkins prying open the front door in order that the club members might at least make a proper exit, and the two told everybody of their plans.

There was a quiet little wedding in town that night, and the club attended in a body. Sam recovered sufficiently to drive the bride and groom to the station, and to this day the members of the Bridge club have always contended that Emily won the prize at their last meeting.

She Called Him Down.
"Twice the last twilight interview. She, swinging in the hammock on the veranda, and he sitting submissively at her feet, with his legs dangling from the porch.

"How refreshing at the closing hour of day," he gently remarked, "to thus in sweet companionship await the rising of the stars that will soon flicker the cerulean dome of heaven with spangles of silver! I would ever thus, with thee at my side, revel in the glories of the azure—azure, as sure as—"

"What exquisite language!" said she, with a sigh. "How can you afford it on six dollars a week?"

The young man was not quite "as sure" as he had been, and stepped down from the porch to the yard, scaled the fence, and was seen no more thereabouts forever.

While They Detect.
"Every criminal is sure to leave a number of clues behind him."

"Yes," replied the old police officer, "I suspect that some of them leave as many as possible so as to keep the detectives theorizing while they catch a steamboat."

An Innuendo.
Stage Manager—Sir, if you will just stand where I indicate, you will be in a most appropriate position as far as I am concerned.

Author—Why so?

Stage Manager—Because that is where they locate the "tormenters."

Too Much.
"Your wife has received some sudden shock. What has happened?"

"I don't know, doctor. I came home early last night—"

"Ah, that probably accounts for it."

Lesson in Economy.
Mrs. Muggins—Don't you ever try to save any money?

Mr. Muggins—Sure. I saved $4 to day. Borrowed struck me for $5 and I only let him have $1.

Not to Be Blamed.
"That man seems to be a regular iconoclast. Nothing is sacred to him."

"Well, you can hardly blame him. When he was a boy, he was badly gored by a sacred cow in a circus."

TALL MEN UNDER HANDICAP

Moriarty of Detroit Declares Elongated Infielders Seldom Make Good—Wagner Excepted.

George Moriarty of the Detroit Tigers believes that a tall man has no business trying to play shortstop or second base in the major leagues, on account of the natural handicap which his height imposes on him.

"It is an advantage to be tall if a man intends to play first or third, but a handicap at short or second," said the custodian of the Tigers' hot corner. "A fellow who is built close to the ground can make plays that would be impossible for a six footer, simply because he doesn't have so far to stoop, and can get low down when running."

"Look at the way Owine Bush goes over the ground. No tall man could scurry and make the plays the little Tiger pulls. He is in a position to handle the ball while on the dead run, while a taller man would have to reduce his speed in order to get down low enough to pick up a grounder on a short bunt."

"There are a few tall men who are good shortstops, I admit. Honus Wagner is a while, but he is built in such a peculiar way and has such bowed legs and long arms that he can get down to the ball just like a short man. George McBride is tall and is a fine player, but there are mighty few other lengthy boys who are making good either at short or on the key-stone sack."

"I like a tall first baseman, for a big fellow gives the infielders confidence in their throwing. Take Ross."

TO TRY FOR ENGLISH DERBY

John E. Madden Ships His 3-Year-Old, Adam Bede, to Enter Great Turf Classic.

Adam Bede, John E. Madden's great 3-year-old colt, a son of Adam and Grace Gumberts, was shipped for London on the Atlantic transport liner Minnewaska the other day. He will be entered in the Derby, and those who watched his career closely as a 2-year-old predict that he will be a worthy American representative in that greatest of turf events.

It is a bit remarkable that the Adam filly Basht, for which Harry Payne Whitney paid $30,000 last summer, has been sent to England to take a shot at the Oaks, and now a son of the same sire will have a try for the Derby.

Andrew Miller and Thomas Welsh of the Newcastle stable, under whose colors Adam Bede appeared last season, both consider him a remarkable colt. His English career will be watched with a great deal of interest by all the racing public of America.

YANKEE FIGHTERS GO ABROAD

Dan McKetrick Leads Exodus of American Pugilists to London—Matches Already Arranged.

Dan McKetrick left New York the other day for London on board the Adriatic of the White Star Line, taking with him a group of fighters for whom he has arranged matches in England. Among them were "Willie" Lewis, Frank Moran and "Sammy" Smith. Moran is a heavyweight, who has been participating in many bouts in New York clubs during the last few months. Lewis, the middleweight, is signed to meet George Gunther, the Philadelphia boxer, on the other side. This bout is scheduled for twenty rounds. Smith hopes to meet Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion.

Change Charter Oak Stake.
At a meeting of the Connecticut Fair association the purses for the Grand circuit harness meeting at Charter Oak park in the fall have been decided upon. The Charter Oak $10,000 purse for trotters was changed from the 2:05 to the 2:14 class. The chief events will be: Charter Oak $10,000 purse for trotters, 2:14 class; the Boulevard $2,000 purse for pacers, 2:30 class; the Nutmeg $2,000 purse for pacers, 2:16 class; the Park $2,500 purse for trotters, 2:08 class, and the Hartford $3,000 handicap trot.
