THIRTIETH YEAR

THE CARLSBAD CURRENT, FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1922.

NUMBER 20.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS JULY 4TH CELEBRATION

Systematic advertising is responsible in the main for the crowd of ten thousand people who were present at the Fourth of July celebration pulled off the first three days of this week. People began pouring into town Sunday afternoon and evening, coming from as far north as Clovis, and from the south as far as Pecos and it was soon then that a large number might be expected. The rain of Sunday afternoon, at which time 57-hundredths of an inch fell, put the grounds in fine condition for the Rodeo, which to many was the chief attraction, and settled the dust. On all sides one could hear praises of the perfect weather, for this time of year. No celebration had been held in Carlsbad for fifteen years and none of this magnitude, nor any embracing so many novel features, has ever been pulled off here.

Many preparations had been made for the pleasure of the crowd, a rest room, with ladies in charge at different hours, being one of the best and most popular places for the ladies with young children. This was the room to be occupied later on by Gibson Brothers, as a dry goods store. The room had been furnished with rugs, rocking chairs, a divan and a baby bed and many a tired mother made her way there with her little folk and enjoyed the quiet room and accommodations provided for her comfort.

Plenty of ice water and sanitary drinking cups were placed at different places over town and the warm weather gave them a heavy patronage and appreciation.

The Information Bureau on the corner of Canyon and Mernod streets proved a necessity to the visitors and others, and Mr. Linn and his assistant, J. I. Penny, led a rather strenuous life for three days. A large amount of literature descriptive of the valley, her population, sales, imports and advantages was given out to information seekers, and will repay many times the outlay.

The city had been lavishly decorated with large flags and many windows in the different business houses bore witness to the artistic taste of the proprietors and of their desire to have everything attractive for their visitors. The prize offered by the Chamber of Commerce for the best decorated window went to the north window of the Pratt-Smith Hardware company which was decorated to represent a farm in the Pecos Valley, with its growing crops of grain, alfalfa and cotton, the water being supplied by a miniature windmill run by an electric fan. The south window contained a large star, used by the same firm in the celebration fifteen years ago. The prize for the most attractive front was won by the Giggly Wiggle. A beautiful scheme of flags and banners with an elaborate display of bunting called attention to this youngest of Carlsbad's business houses.

Beautiful and attractive windows were shown also by different firms, notably that of the American Express Company, whose window carried an express train in miniature and was further adorned by flags and bunting, with their slogan, "We express everything except your thoughts", prominently displayed. Joyce-Fruit's window represented a bathing beach and was much admired. The Roberts-Debarne Hardware Company had a unique window display showing an out-door camp, with all the paraphernalia for camp life, are ready to be lighted, and a luxurious camp bed which looked very inviting to the tired pedestrian. T. C. Horne had one of the most elaborate displays of flags and bunting both in the windows and on the front of the store. H. A. Gragg's jewelry store window had a fine display of flags and fireworks. A number of our merchants had their windows filled with exhibits prepared by the County Health Department, and these were the occasion of much flattering comment from different persons, and especially mothers of children, who are interested in the best things for their families. The list of windows used for that purpose was as follows:

Food for the Growing Child—J. F. Flowers. In this window were placed foods for children attractively arranged, having the table set for breakfast, lunch and dinner, for school children. The "Fly Exhibit" at the Corner Drug Store, east window, showed various kinds of destroyers of the pest that we are all trying to get rid of, including powders, traps and other like destructive agents, which if generally used would soon put Mr. Fly out of business in Carlsbad, at least.

An attractive display of baby clothing and bathing accessories, made the Peoples Mercantile Company window one of the best shown. Here was everything needed by the mother of an infant to protect the child from uncleanness and to give it a fair chance of being a healthy, happy child.

The window in Shelby's Grocery, showing school lunches, good and bad, was instructive and in connection with the Milk Window at Owen-McAdoo's Drug Store, and the Milk Modification and Baby Killers, in the north window of Roberts-Debarne Store, conveyed many lessons to the mothers who were most vitally interested in the exhibits.

Some fine exhibits were also seen in the court house and among others noticeable were the Sanitary privy and the iceless Cooler, both among the necessities, for people of moderate means, in this country. Information will be cheerfully given to any one interested if they will call at the court house during the next few days.

These exhibits were prepared under the direct supervision of the county health nurse and county physician, and were among the many interesting things shown to the public during the celebration.

A Sanitary Kitchen, by the Purdy Furniture Company, was a delight to the eye with its snowy white table and cabinet and other accessories. Many other attractive windows were shown, among others, the window in the Sellers Jewelry Store high as in colors appropriate to the day, as as the Sweet Shop window.

The band of sixteen members, furnished delightful music during the three days the celebration was in progress and on Wednesday rounded out the day by serenading the different business houses. The Current is happy to acknowledge a serenade from this aggregation, every member of which we are proud to call our friends. The new store white trousers and shirts and paper caps.

The barbecue was very successful fifteen beavers and twelve muttuns furnishing the meat, with plenty of bread, pickles and excellent coffee being served to five thousand persons. The entire number was served without confusion in fifty-five minutes. The meat had been cooked to perfection, J. D. Boyd and son being in charge of the work. "Nuff said." Over three thousand persons ate at the fish fry served at noon on the fifth.

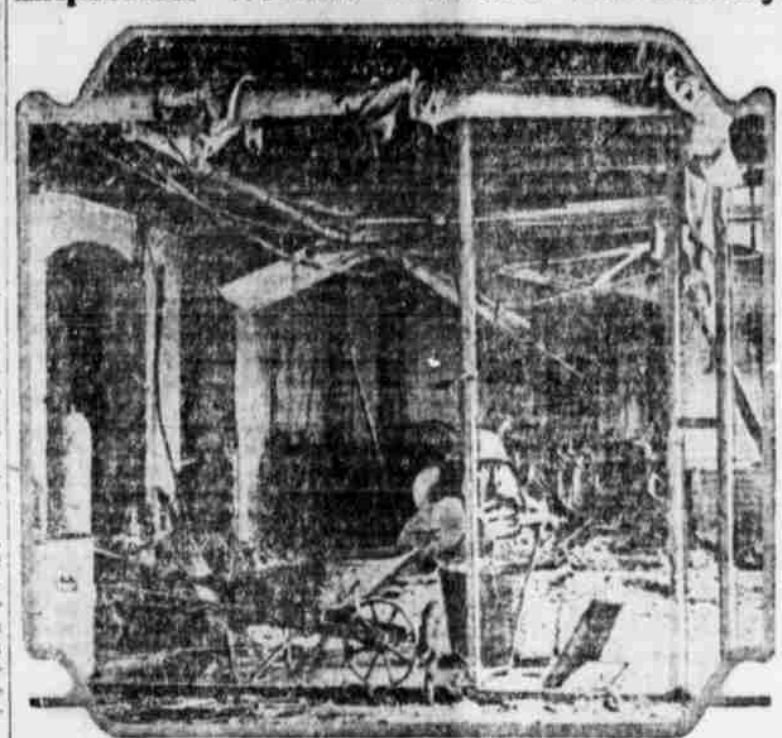

An added attraction was the two aeroplanes, which carried passengers for seven minute flights, from nine in the morning until six at night, the last two days of the celebration. Many of our people took the opportunity of getting a ride among the clouds at the reduced rate, and many more are wishing that they had had the nerve to do the same.

The concessions were all taken, and served many people with short orders, and the hotels and restaurants were filled. Every person was taken care of so far as we are able to learn, our hospitable citizens opening their homes to them and trying in every way to uphold the reputation of the city for real New Mexico hospitality. A better humored lot of people would be hard to find and during the three days there was no roudism, no fights, and no knocking.

The Rodeo Parade, consisting of all contestants, was a favorite number, the men riding two by two thru the streets to the grounds east of the river where the rodeo took place. But two accidents, neither of them serious, marred the event: On Sunday, Bud Colo, a cowboy in the employ of Buford Polk, was scored in the leg by a steer, as he was practicing bulldogging, preparatory to entering the contest, and Wednesday afternoon, during the horse racing, the horse rode by Albert Tinnin, of Toyah, fell with him and for a time it was feared he was fatally injured and also the horse. But Tinnin was only bruised and was able to continue on to his home yesterday morning.

Cowboys from all over the country were here to compete for the big purses offered in the different cowboy contests and the wild west show they put on was a credit to any celebration besides drawing one of the largest crowds ever seen in Carlsbad. The rodeo went off in an orderly manner under the direction of Huling Usery. Bob Dow and Richard Merchant, members of the committee appointed by the Fourth of July celebration committee to manage the rodeo. Only two minor accidents occurred during the three

New Mexico

What is there about it, I'd like to know,
What is there about New Mexico
That makes your heart sing within itself
And dance about like a fairy elf?

Do you know what it is, dear Tennessee,
That makes her so appealing to me?
Why do I love her more day after day
You know, I'm sure, please Tennessee, say.

You're nice, dear Tennessee, I know,
But still, you are not New Mexico.
I know how brightly your old sun gleams,
But not with New Mexico's golden beams.

You can look afar, and see, with the rest,
All of the states in the Golden West;
And I know you can tell, what's so plain to me,
That New Mexico's best of them all, Tennessee.

As you look across this big continent
What do you see that's different?
We both have our rivers, hills and our trees,
But tell me, Tennessee, tell me please.

This I pleaded with dear Tennessee,
And thus she answered me, patiently:
"You want to know why you love her so?
Why, just because she's New Mexico!"

days and both parties injured will recover. Over 50 cowboys participated in each roping event and there were on hand about twenty riders. In all, over three hundred cowboys were present for the show. Some fast time was made despite the fact that the track is sandy and a stiff breeze was blowing from the south part of time. All are proud of the way the rodeo was pulled off and an event of this kind may be looked for each year. The winners in the different event as follows:

SCOUT NEWS

At the beautiful camp grounds in La Huerta, about one hundred scouts are enjoying camp life to the fullest extent. A regular program of scout activities is now being gone through every morning, and the boys are awake to the advantages and privileges offered them. Scouts are present from Vaughn, Hazerman, Roswell, Carlsbad and Pecos, and more are expected in today from Fort Stockton, Texas, and from towns north. Every precaution is being taken to avoid any accident, the boys being looked after by Messrs. Breuneman and Dan Burrows of Roswell, Sewell of Vaughn, and Rawlins of Carlsbad.

They had a fine display of fireworks last night which all enjoyed. Monday will be "Visitors' Day" and the interested people in this city are asked to bring a picnic dinner to the boys at that time. Dinner will be served at noon and all parents and friends are invited; there will be a special program on that day. The Current hopes to have a fuller report of the camp life for next week's paper.

J. R. Linn, who never forgets a friend, recently wrote to Arthur O. Quinn, at Natchitoches, Louisiana, and asked him to come to Carlsbad for the celebration, and was given to understand through other parties that there was a probability of his coming. However, a letter received from Mr. O'Quinn Wednesday night, stated that owing to matters that had come up unexpectedly in the office, he found it would be impossible for him to come here. The letter also conveyed the news that the children were both well and that they were doing the best they could. That he is working hard, and found work a great panacea for loneliness. He could not begin to be any more disappointed at not getting to come than his friends here are at not getting to see him. In an especial manner he has put his impress on this town and will never be forgotten while any of the old timers remain.

The Vacation Bible School will open Monday morning at nine o'clock in the Presbyterian church. All children between the ages of four and fourteen inclusive will be received. The work will be in charge of Mrs. Dillard as principal and a corps of competent teachers. The material for use in the classes has been secured, and along with Bible study and devotion there will be craft work and music. A good opportunity is furnished for improving some of the vacation hours, and our young people are encouraged to reap the advantage. It has been decided to use the various central churches for class rooms.

ATTENTION WOODMEN

On Thursday, July 13th, at 5:00 P. M., the members will leave for Artesia, for the purpose of initiating a large class of Woodmen at that place. Other Camps of the valley have been invited and will participate in the street parade. Don't fail to make this trip; each member is requested to be at the hall promptly at 5:00 P. M. COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Herman Wertheim and children, of El Paso, Texas, are guests at the home of Joseph Wertheim in Carlsbad.

Third, Edd Eddings, 15 3-5 seconds. Purse, $13.00.
Fourth, Milt Goode, 15 3-4 seconds. Purse, $10.00.
Day Money, July 5, on Goats:

Fourth, Milt Goode, 26 2-5 seconds. Purse, $15.00.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

During all three days of the big celebration, tennis players and spectators witnessed and participated in that sport. Walter Browning of Pecos won the loving cup given by Carlsbad for the singles champion of the Pecos valley. This cup must be won three years by one player before it becomes the permanent property of anyone. Browning was picked beforehand as the probable winner and we know of no one we would rather see get the trophy outside of Carlsbad, as he is a good sport and a fast, clean tennis player. Engraved on the cup will be "Carlsbad Singles Trophy" and under that "Walter Browning—1922".

Browning and Brank, also of Pecos, won the two rackets offered for doubles champions. Some fast tennis was played in both singles and double matches and improvement can be noted over the games played in the tournament here last year. All players went away well satisfied with the tournament and all promised to be on hand next year for another try at the cup. Stonhill, of Clovis, played some exceptionally fast games for a man of his weight. The following is the score by games in singles:

Stonhill of Clovis defeated Lang of Carlsbad, 6-2, 6-4.
Brank of Pecos defeated Gragg of Carlsbad, 6-1, 6-1.
Perry of Carlsbad defeated Oscar Fowler of Oklahoma City, 6-0, 6-1.
Morris of Carlsbad defeated Stephenson of Carlsbad, 6-2, 6-3.
Hicks of Pecos defeated Westfall of Carlsbad, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3.
In the semi-finals in singles Stonhill of Clovis defeated Brank of Pecos, 9-6, 13-11, 6-1.
Browning of Pecos defeated Perry of Carlsbad, 6-2, 7-5.
Morris of Carlsbad defeated Hicks of Pecos, 6-0, 7-5.
In the singles finals Browning defeated Stonhill, 6-4, 8-6, and Morris, 6-2, 7-5, which ended the singles and gave Browning the cup for 1922.

The score by games in doubles was as follows:

Losey and McCormick of Hagerman defeated Kerr and Hicks of Pecos, 6-1, 6-2.
Perry and Westfall defeated Mansfield and Stephenson, 11-9, 6-3.
Brank and Browning of Pecos defeated Birdsall and McConnell of Roswell, 6-2, 6-4.
Morris and Lang defeated Etter and Stonhill, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3.
In doubles, semi-finals, Perry and Westfall defeated Losey and McCormick 7-5, 8-10, 6-3; and Brank and Browning defeated Morris and Lang 7-5, 6-3.
In the doubles finals Brank and Browning defeated Perry and Westfall 6-2, 9-7.
Two tennis rackets were given Brank and Browning of Pecos, Texas, as double champions.

Interest centered in the Water Carnival, entrance to which was free and the bathing beach was thronged with bathers from early in the morning until the sun got too warm for comfort, and again in the evening.

LESSON FOR JULY 9

DANIEL INTERPRETING NEBU-
CHADNEZZAR'S DREAM

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of His Christ; and He shall reign forever and ever.—Rev. 11:17.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Isa. 9:5, 7:12, 14:47, John 1:3-5.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How God Answered Daniel's Prayer.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Daniel Reveals the King's Dream.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Daniel Met a Severe Test.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's World-Kingdom: Its Nature and Method.

I. Nebuchadnezzar's Dream (vv. 1-13).

This dream made a tremendous impression upon the king's mind, but he had forgotten its content. He urgently demanded of the wise men that they make known the dream and its interpretation. Because of their failure the king was very furious and commanded all the wise men of Babylon to be slain.

II. The Revelation of the Dream (vv. 14-25).

When the decree was in process of execution Daniel was sought out to be slain. He sought an interview with the king and obtained time. Note:

1. The prayer meeting in Babylon (vv. 14-18). Daniel was the leader in that prayer meeting. He called his fellows together and most definitely prayed to God. Their lives were at stake; their need was great.

2. Daniel's ascription of praise to God (vv. 19-23). God heard their prayer and Daniel responded in lofty strains of praise to God.

3. Daniel before the king (vv. 24-28). Because he had been with the Lord and had obtained wisdom, he was confident before the great king.

4. The content of the dream (vv. 29-35). Daniel made known to the king that in his dream he had beheld a great image with a head of gold, breast and arms of silver, belly and thighs of brass, legs of iron and feet of iron and part of clay. He beheld the image smitten by a stone and the stone became a great mountain.

III. The Interpretation of the Dream (vv. 36-43).

1. The head of gold represented the Chaldean monarchy with Nebuchadnezzar as its head (vv. 37, 38). With the accession of Nebuchadnezzar to the throne, the times of the Gentiles began.

2. The breast and arms of silver represented the Medo-Persian power (v. 39). The Medo-Persian empire was a kingdom inferior to the Chaldean.

3. The belly and thighs of brass represented the Grecian empire under Alexander the Great (v. 39).

4. The legs of iron represented the Roman empire (vv. 40-43).

(1) The two legs represented the eastern and western divisions of the Roman empire. (2) The feet of iron and clay represented the two elements of human government, which inhered in the Roman empire and are present today in all forms of government, namely, absolutism and socialism, or imperialism and democracy. These elements have no coherency.

5. The stone cut out of the mountain (vv. 44, 45). This is the kingdom of heaven so graphically set forth in the New Testament, for the kingdom of heaven is the kingdom which the God of heaven shall set up. (1) The stone is Christ (Isa. 28:16; Matt. 21:42-44). (2) When did the stone strike? The impact of the stone was upon the feet of the columns (v. 34). This shows that it did not strike at Christ's first coming, for the Roman empire was a unit at that time; not even the division of the empire as represented by the two legs had taken place as yet. The stone smiting the feet shows that the stone will strike when the Roman empire shall have been divided up into ten kingdoms. (3) The kingdom of heaven is thus seen to be brought into realization through a great catastrophe. The end is not by gradual and peaceful extension through preaching the gospel, but by a crushing blow. The stone does not fill the earth by crowding the colossus out, neither by securing its submission to God, but by destroying it. Gentile dominion shall end in a crash; upon its ruins shall be built the kingdom of heaven. The action of the stone is of judgment, not grace. The text plainly says it is "after" the stone has done its smiting work that it becomes a great mountain and fills the whole earth (see Isaiah 2:2, 6; Zech. 14:1-9). Just as the first part of this dream was literally fulfilled, so shall the last part be fulfilled. Messiah's kingdom shall be a real and literal kingdom.

News Spreads of Miracles.
Jesus went over the sea of Galilee and a great multitude followed him because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.—John 6:1 and 2.

Forgiveness of Sins.
Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.—Romans 4:7.

Influence.
Influence is the exhalation of character.—W. M. Taylor.

VALLEY POULTRYMAN PRO- DUCE LAYERS IN LESS THAN FOUR MONTHS

From the Arizona Gazette, a paper published in Phoenix, Arizona, we take the following regarding the poultry farm of Stephenson Brothers sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stephenson of Carlsbad. The venture was at first regarded in the light of an experiment, and the Current is glad to note the unqualified success which has rewarded the efforts of these industrious young men, Clyde and Dwight Stephenson, both of whom are well known in this city.

One of the most remarkable achievements in the history of the poultry industry has been made this spring on the Stephenson poultry farm located at Twelfth street and Osborn road. On the 26th day of January this year the first hatch for the season was taken off. The chicks showed remarkable development and a very surprising lack of sickness. They grew very fast with little if any loss. In fact, after they were three weeks old there was not a single bird lost. C. W. Stephenson states that he has had absolutely no loss this season in any of the later hatches after the chickens had passed through the three weeks starting period. The chicks were properly housed given plenty of range and fed with right feed in the right quantity. In exactly three months and twenty-five days after hatching two of the pullets laid small perfect eggs, which so far as the writer knows is a world's record for early production. There is nothing freakish about these pullets. They show perfect development and the whole flock is uniform. The cockrels show the same development as the pullets.

The Stephenson poultry farm has been built up in two years from a start with 300 hens to a flock of 2,500 pullets which will be full-fledged layers next fall. This poultry farm is equipped as well as any of the California poultry plants and the housing problem has been handled with wonderful results. It is well worth any poultryman's time to make an inspection of this plant to get the correct idea of housing alone—a feature of poultry-keeping that has been woefully neglected. The proper amount of range is maintained and fresh running water is always available. The pens are so arranged that feeding takes up little time and very little effort.

The results obtained this year are due, Mr. Stephenson says, to careful selection of a flock of the highest type hens, for breeders, and careful selection of the proper feeds for starting and development. Eighty-five hens were picked out to breed from. Only large well-formed hens, meeting in every detail the exacting Homan test, were chosen. The results were all that one could wish.

Studebaker Bodies Don't Rattle or Squeak

The Special-Six chassis frame is 7" deep. It tapers from a width of 29" in the front to 41" in the rear, so that the sides of the body fit perfectly without overhang. Five cross-members prevent the distortion that eventually causes bodies to squeak.

Studebaker bodies rest squarely on the chassis frame—not on the body sills. The body and the frame form a rigid unit that successfully resists the rack of the road.

Studebaker bodies are built in Studebaker shops by men, many of whom have been building vehicle bodies for Studebaker for upwards of 30 years—and their fathers before them. Studebaker has been building fine bodies for seventy years.

Studebaker Special-Six bodies, because of their quality and soundness, weigh more than those of other cars around the Special-Six price. You cannot skimp in material and build a body that will not rattle.

Freedom from rattle or squeak is just another of the fine-car refinements that emphasize the extra value of the Studebaker Special-Six.

Daddy Heard, who is spending the week in Carlsbad has had a letter from Mrs. Heard who is with her mother, Mrs. Newcomer, in Midland, and who she says is not improving much, which will necessitate a longer stay for Mrs. Heard.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaytor Sandefur, and Mrs. P. W. Sandefur, of Dallas, Texas, are visiting Mrs. Chaytor at the Palace Hotel, they being a nephew and wife and a sister-in-law, respectively, of Mrs. Chaytor.

Washington, D. C., June—Shortly before the election of president Harding, Senator Lodge, Judge Hughes and some twenty-nine other men, whose names were thought sufficiently impressive to make the people believe an otherwise improbable tale, issued a statement in which they said that the way to get into the League of Nations was to vote for Harding. It is far from the province or the intention of this writer to fall afoul of those who may have their own views on that momentous question, but it is healthful and harmless to laugh and to rejoice at having been born a Missourian, with all of the inborn incredulity of that race of Disciples of Aristotle. For was it not that great Greek philosopher who said that "Incredulity is an source of all wisdom"? How Lodge and Hughes and the other twenty-nine must chuckle at the gullibility of the average voter! Thousands fell for it. Thousands are now falling for that other great piece of bunkum, the President's claim to great economies in the administration of the government. When this session of Congress adjourns alone in the Dog Days of August, or later, it will be found that the appropriations for the support of the government will be fully as large as for the previous year, and that saturnalia of extravagance was also a Republican financial debacle.

HOPE

(By Noel L. Johnson.)
Business at Hope for the week ending June 30:

Banking better than for several weeks. Money loosening up to some extent. Corn doing well. Cotton growing nicely. Alfalfa being harvested, but very little demand just now for hay. About 3 percent of the sheep have been sheared and wool stored in warehouses. Have been offered from 30 to 35 cents a pound, no sales as yet. Some steers sold for $22.50 for yearlings, others holding for $25. Retail and wholesale trade slow. Collections good considering amount available. Very few tourists, weather dry, need rain. Irrigated land in good condition. Native grass needs moisture. Livestock doing well. Quite a lot of early fruits such as apricots, peaches, plums, cherries and garden truck being harvested, and selling at prices that are gratifying. Warm days, cool nights, crops struggling with heat, but beginning to put on growth.

John Weissmuller of the Illinois A. C., swimming marvel of the age, smashed another world's record for swimming 100 yards in a pool at Columbia University, New York. Diamond Squibs

The more home runs Babe Ruth knocks, the sicker he will be when he pays his income tax.

The trouble seems to be too many pitchers in the spring and not any along about June.

St. Louis has won the soccer championship, but that won't get the Browns or Cardinals anything.

Dick Kerr, holdout pitcher of Chicago Americans, will play with a semi-pro team in Chicago this season.

Japan has no professional baseball teams, although the game is spreading.

Frank Shanahan, former Northwestern High third baseman, may be given a tryout by Chicago White Sox in 1933.

Charles Deal, former third baseman of Chicago Nationals, has been signed by the City Hall team of the Mid-West Baseball league.

Christy Mathewson, former National league pitcher, has been unanimously elected president of the newly formed "B club" of Bucknell university.

Infielder Marty Krug of the Seattle Pacific Coast league team has been sold to the Chicago National league club for the sum of $7,500.

Looking at a picture of Frank Frisch playing golf, and more specifically using a midiron, we would infer that his forte is playing baseball.

What John McGraw says about members of the Giants who follow the bright lights would make your radio sizzle.

Hobby Roth has at one time or another been a member of all the American league teams, except Detroit and St. Louis.

Pat Moran expects Pete Donahue, the young college pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, to be the sensation of the National league.

That eye specialist who says a green quietest the nerves has never treated a big league manager who was weeding out his "bushers."

Dick Kerr may be causing Gleason a lot of trouble this spring, but he surely caused some American league hitters some consternation last summer.

The alleged best golf player among the baseball players is said to be Arnold Stutz, the Cubs' outfielder, purchased from Los Angeles for $120,000 or the equivalent.

Catcher Johnny Zinn, brother of Jimmy Zinn, the pitcher, has been signed by the Muskogee Southwestern league club. Last year he had a brief trial with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Galveston club has sold pitcher Harry Lee to the Kansas City club. Lee has been with several Texas league clubs in the past two or three years.

The New York Nationals have acquired the services of Arthur Seydler, an eighteen-year-old right-hand pitcher, from a Texas military academy team.

The appointment of Derrill Pratt as field captain of the Red Sox for this season has been announced. He succeeds Everett Scott, who was traded to New York.

George Hughes, last year with Wichita in the Western league and formerly manager of the Moine club in the Three-I league, has been signed to pilot the Cairo team in the Kitty league.

GETS LOBERT'S GOAT

John Lobert, third baseman in years past for the Reds, Phillies and Giants, lives in Philadelphia in the off season. There is not a more genial soul in the world than John, but there is one sure way to make his choler rise. That is to recall one of the few bonehead plays in which he was ever implicated.

He was playing third for the Phillies, and he tagged out Bob Bescher, who tried to steal the bag. It was the second out in the fifth inning, but both Bescher and Lobert decided simultaneously that it was the third. John threw off his glove, and started for the bench; Bob trotted out into left field.

And it took almost physical violence on the part of Red Dohn and Joe Tinker to convince them that they were wrong.

BIG POLICEMAN FIRST TO HURL NO HIT GAME

Hale and hearty at sixty-seven, as clear-skinned and bright-eyed a warrior as ever retired on righteous laurels, Washington Bradley, a Philadelphia policeman, stands forth as the first man in major baseball to pitch a no hit, no run, no man on first game. This feat came as a climax to four straight shutouts on four straight days. The great event took place on July 15, 1928. At that time Bradley was a member of the St. Louis team. In the forty-six years of its corporate existence, baseball has known but five of these games to dot its annals and to add sparkle to its history.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XXXVII.—NEBRASKA

THE Indian name for the Platte river was Nebraska, meaning "shallow water," and from this came the name of the state. A nickname for the state is the Blackwater State.

Of the early Spanish explorations little is known, except that Coronado probably reached the great plain of this region in 1541. More than one hundred and twenty-five years later Father Marquette noted the Platte river on his trip up the Missouri. In the beginning of the Nineteenth century the Lewis and Clark expedition skirted the boundaries of the present state and in 1805, Manuel Lisa established the first known settlement which was a fur trading post at Bellevue. This was just after the Louisiana Purchase had brought Nebraska into United States territory.

Omaha was established as a post of the American Fur company in 1825 and Nebraska City the following year.

With the California gold rush in 1849 many pioneers passed through Nebraska and some stopped and settled there although there was a law forbidding settlements among the Indians. The real colonization boom, however, started with the passing of the Kansas-Nebraska act in 1854, which arranged that these two sections should become free or slave states at the dictate of their inhabitants. The Nebraska territory was then organized and reached from the fortieth to the forty-ninth parallel. In 1861, the region north of 43 was made into Dakota territory. The Idaho territory was also created, which reduced Nebraska to its present size of 77,520 square miles, except for a slight addition in the Northwest which was made in 1882.

In 1867 Nebraska was admitted as the 37th state over the president's veto. It has eight presidential electors.

FEDERAL AID IS EXTENDED EVERY COUNTY IN N.M.

State's Total Length of Public Roads Has Now Stretched To The Amazing Total Of 47,000 Miles

Santa Fe, N. M.—Every county in the state has participated in the state highway commission's road building program, in which the federal government is bearing the costs to $6,295,062. The federal aid roads which have been completed cost more than $3,000,000, while those under construction and for which contracts have been let, bring the total of federal aid projects to $6,295,062. The federal government already has paid into the state treasury of New Mexico $2,148,201.92, which has been applied on the cost of the program. Under the present federal aid road act the federal government will pay 38.8 per cent of the total cost of all projects contracted for since June 30, 1921, and which are subsequently to be contracted for.

New Mexico's road problem is far from easy or simple, both as regards finances and difficulties of construction and maintenance. The state's total length of public roads has now stretched to the amazing sum of 47,000 miles nearly 14 times as great as the distance from Boston to Los Angeles. Far from easy for a state which last year showed a total property valuation of $365,000,000. However, if products are to be carried to market, and if the state is to preserve its growing reputation as one of the foremost outing and recreation places of the world, and continue to attract annually hundreds of thousands of automobile tourists, roads must be built and maintained, whatever the difficulties of mountain or plain.

The state highway commission apportions the road fund to each county in proportion to its assessed valuation and tax collections. The invariable policy is to consult the board of county commissioners upon each road that is proposed. Every county then has the privilege of designating the roads which are most needed and will serve the greatest number.

The following is the standing of federal aid roads by counties:

Bernalillo, 17, $484,722; Chaves, 50, $335,780; Colfax, 96, $526,848; Curry, 28, $193,181; De Baca, 9, $38,675; Dona Ana, 23, $533,445; Eddy, 53, $165,085; Grant, 54, $569,897; Guadalupe, 18, $146,288; Lea, 89, $148,299; Lincoln, 16, $159,094; Luna, 44, $230,160; McKinley, 22, $168,575; Mora, 28, $302,964; Otero, 28, $132,697; Quay, 22, $270,575; Rio Arriba, 13, $169,291; Roosevelt, 11, $106,902; Sandoval, 8, $43,848; San Juan, 15, $582,548; San Miguel, 63, $453,442; Santa Fe, 22, $170,396; Sierra, 10, $56,908; Socorro, 39, $188,482; Taos, 10, $63,436; Torrance, 50, $71,300; Union, 110, $168,423; Valencia, 56, $323,024.

The man who attempts to stand upon his rights against the speed mania generally finds his principal support in crutches.

Deeds and creeds sound much the same, except when put into practice.

Extravagance has become the ruling passion of officials now in power in New Mexico, according to all indications. The latest example of disregard for the often voiced need for economy was in the last term of court in San Juan county. At that session in Aztec, the court permitted payment of $167.98 to an interpreter for fifteen minutes work.

The payment of such a sum of money, besides the stirring indignation of the citizens of the county, gives rise to the thought that those now in power are trying to see how much of an "organization" they can build at the expense of everyone. However, there is a flareback that will make itself felt in the fall election. With a record for performances such as this, it will be a difficult matter for the Republican party to go before the voters in any vigorous opposition to the avowed object of the Democrats to bring about an administration with economy as its big aim.

It is hard to understand the character of service that should be remunerated at such a scale as the San Juan interpreter received. It is even harder to comprehend when Republicans fail to condone such spending. In a mass meeting, Republican voices were strongest in denouncing this waste, which hits them with other party members. Officials with the vision to grasp the needs of the people and the inclination to bring about conditions meeting those needs are the demand of the day. The Democratic ticket this fall will carry these men.

Laws are made for the protection of the people who live under them. If a law is a good one it should be enforced. No favor should be shown either to the rich or the poor, to the powerful or to the insignificant. If it is not a good law it should be repealed. We have too many laws that are dead letters. They are only resuscitated when some crusty ass wants to satisfy a grudge, or some prosecutor wants to make a safe splash. At other times they are disregarded with impunity. This condition is well-known to the public, and even to the younger generation just emerging into manhood. It is not conducive to respect for either law or order. It is a breeder of evasion and is the father of contempt. We need fewer laws, but we need good ones that are enforced.

MAKE IT FIFTY-FIFTY

A well known labor leader advocates the elimination of strikes and strong arm tactics in the settlement of disputes with employers. He remarks, justly that the public is tired of them, and that when an organization gets in touch with the people it is in a bad way.

The laborer is worthy of a just hire—no more, and no less.

The brain that directs is worthy of a just compensation—no more and no less.

Neither side has a right to assume a "dog in the manger" attitude, nor have they the right to rob the buying public to fatten themselves.

The only effective remedy for this condition of affairs lies in the hands of congress and the government.

There are too many swollen incomes in this country. This condition is made possible by combinations in restraint of trade and by profiteering in the form of extravagant price boosting.

These matters should not be in the form of fines. The guilty should be sent to jail.

And in order that punishment may be swift and sure, the public official who fails to prosecute should himself be sent to jail for shirking his sworn duty.

These may seem like harsh measures, but they are the only ones that will prevail.

Labor leaders will continue to gouge the public and put all of the spoils in their own pocket.

Eliminate gouging and strikes a fifty-fifty basis of settlement and strikes will be a thing of the past.

Every man who walks on two legs is a stockman. At least he has a pair of calves.

Judging from press reports, the radio has made wonderful strides in the last few minutes. In an hour or so we ought to be receiving election returns from Mars.

And still, we can hardly blame some people for not telling the truth. Life is anything but comfortable.

Cheer up. There's plenty of work ahead of those who hate to see their wives do the hoeing in the garage.

Not a bit of it! Charity doesn't always begin at home. The boot-legger often gets the first crack at it.

The truth should always be told, but sometimes it is safer to let the other fellows do the telling.

Join the profession, even if you can't do anything more than swing onto its cantails.

FARM LIVE STOCK

IMPORTANT WORM DISCOVERY

Zoologists Find That Carbon Tetrachloride Is Effective in Destroying Parasites.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The toll exacted from the live-stock industry by internal parasites such as worms is enormous, and because of this drain on the herds and flocks the zoologists of the United States Department of Agriculture keep up an unflagging search for chemicals and treatments that may be used to combat these organisms. Recently they have discovered that a certain chemical once used in medicine as an anesthetic and now used variously as a fire extinguisher, cloth cleaner, insecticide, and solvent for fats and gums, is very effective as a destroyer and expeller of intestinal worms. The name of this chemical is carbon tetrachloride.

The effectiveness of this chemical against certain round worms has been announced by the department, but what may be the most beneficial use has just been brought out by tests on animals infested with hookworms. In the case of sheep the minimum effective dose has not yet been determined, but all the doses used, from 12 cubic centimeters to 48, in each case given in two courses of castor oil, removed all stomach worms and all hookworms. It has been equally effective for hookworm in dogs and foxes, and has been used with success against some of the various kinds of worms that infest the digestive tract of pigs.

The fact that a species of hookworm also affects man makes this discovery of the efficacy of this chemical against hookworms in various animals of interest to medical men as well as to veterinarians and live-stock growers. Medical men are now trying it out at several places as a possible cure for hookworm disease in man, and it gives promise of success. As a result of the work so far completed, scientists in the bureau of animal industry consider that this drug will prove of special value in the removal of the various kinds of blood-sucking worms in domestic animals.

FEED FOR FATTENING STEERS

Corn and Corn Silage With Cottonseed Meal and Alfalfa Favored at Iowa College.

That corn and corn silage, supplemented with cottonseed meal, alfalfa hay and salt make the best ration for fattening steers was shown to Iowa farmers recently. Steers fed this ration made substantial gains in experiments at Iowa State college and although they were ordinary steers they made $13 per head. This indicates that the feeding business, properly handled and where good-quality steers are started with, will pay the farmer a profit.

Other roughages, such as clover hay, corn stover and mixed timothy and clover hays were experimented with. The red clover ration made a good showing but the other roughages lost money.

Cottonseed meal was used to an advantage in these experiments and made a fine balance for the ration. In speaking of the use of this protein feed for steers the animal husbandry men say that during the last 12 years it has been used in experiments at the rate of three pounds to 1,000 pounds of steers. It was fed for a period of one to six months with corn silage and good results were obtained.

Cottonseed meal, however, as a hog feed has caused some doubt as to its value due to toxic qualities but the Iowa steers have found that when fed in rations where cottonseed meal is used at the rate of one part to four parts of ration no harm has resulted.

OBSTACLE IN RAISING SWINE

Round Worm Is One of Greatest Cause of Loss—Many Remedies, But Prevention Is Best.

One of the greatest obstacles encountered in hog production is the parasites which are found where hogs have been raised for a number of years. Probably the round worm is the one which is most numerous and causes the most losses. There are many worm remedies but the best cure is prevention.

THE POSITION NOW OCCUPIED BY SENATOR JONES

Senator Jones is one of the Nation's really big statesmen. He towers high above many others who are continually in the limelight. This is in the judgment of A. D. Fairbairn, a Washington, D. C., newspaper man who is enjoying a brief vacation in New Mexico. The visitor from the East has been acquainted with Senator Jones from the time he was appointed assistant secretary of the Interior and has watched his progress in the Senate since he took his seat when former President Wilson convened Congress in extraordinary session in April, 1917.

"Leaders in these stirring times immediately recognized the splendid intellectual qualities of the statesman from New Mexico," said Mr. Fairbairn. "They showed their faith in him by assigning him at once to the Committee on Finance. It was the duty of this committee in concert with the Ways and Means Committee of the House to provide the funds necessary to win the greatest war that history has any account of."

"The necessity for putting strong dependable and resourceful men on this great committee at such a stage in the world's history was immediately seen. The Great Southwest was entitled to representation on the Finance Committee but the leaders began to inquire whether the needed material for such an enterprise could be found in this section of the United States. Then somebody said, 'What's the matter with Jones?'"

"His career in the Department of the Interior was looked into and taken in connection with other known qualifications Senator Simmons, the then chairman of the Finance committee and his associates, determined that New Mexico was able to supply the man so urgently needed by the Senate and the Nation. President Wilson and his cabinet were particularly anxious that the Finance Committee be manned by the ablest statesmen that could be found in the United States Senate."

"It was no light task even in a country like ours to provide the mammoth sum of twenty-five billion dollars to finance an enterprise to which the present generation had been a stranger. Republicans and Democrats alike were deeply concerned and even distressed. They felt that if the leaders 'guessed wrong' on the personnel of the committee the cost to the Nation would be disastrously augmented."

"Although a new man is so important a connection, members of that historic committee, representing the two great schools of political thought, told me the New Mexican statesman made a magnificent contribution to the success of the terrible enterprise on which this country had embarked. Nobody connected with the Finance Committee has ever even suggested that the senior Senator from this great southwestern Commonwealth played politics with his position."

"On the contrary, he voted with the Republicans when he thought they were right and against his colleagues of his own political faith when he believed them to be wrong. Though a loyal Democrat, always ready to help the party in its struggles for success, Senator Jones is in no sense a narrow partisan. His depth of thought and broadness of vision make it possible for him to do profitable team work with members of the opposing political party."

"When he accepted the membership on the Finance Committee he determined that he would work as an American, not as a Democrat and did all in his power to make the bill providing the means necessary to finance the war the product of the entire committee. In this he very nearly succeeded. There was a minority report, but the bill itself was the expression of an overwhelming majority of members of both political parties associated with the greatest of all Congressional Committees."

Mr. Fairbairn said most men in public life in Washington regard membership on the Finance Committee of the Senate as a prize of inestimable value. The Finance and Appropriations committees of the two houses in reality govern the Nation and Senator Jones occupies an important place on the two big Senatorial Committees.

"If I were a New Mexican, regardless of what my political faith may be, I would be impelled by a sense of state pride to keep the able Senator in Washington," continued Mr. Fairbairn. "It must not be forgotten that the position Senator Jones occupies on the Finance Committee belongs, in reality, not to him but to New Mexico. If by any unfortunate circumstance the Senator should change public office for private activity New Mexico would lose place on the two most important committees of the United States Senate."

"He is credited with knowing more about affairs that come within the authority of the Department or the Interior than any living man. This is one of the reasons for his selection for membership on the sub-committee on Department of Interior affairs, of the Appropriations committee. If in two years from next fall the Democrats should capture the Senate, the distinguished New Mexican would be chairman of this sub-committee, an organization of vast importance to any state which derives most of its substance from the soil."

"Moreover, should the Democrats win the Senate it is more than likely that Senator Jones will be the chairman of the Finance Committee. It is something to rise from the position of Mayor of the pretty little city of Las Vegas, to the chairmanship of a committee which talks in billions of dollars. At present he is in command of the tariff bill for the Democrats. Senator Simmons is not strong and John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is about to quit public office.

MORE HAY GROWN AND USED THAN TEN YEARS AGO

The hay business is not a thing of the past, and there is no indication from statistics of several Government agencies that it is going to pass. While transportation difficulties, high freight rates, and high marketing costs may depress the hay business temporarily, and motor vehicles may displace horses to an appreciable extent, the figures show that there is just as much hay being produced and consumed as there was ten years ago, and that the only change which has taken place in the hay business is the re-direction of the product through new marketing channels into new market centers.

Since 1910 the annual production of both wild and tame hay has increased according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture. The 1920 crop was larger than the 1910 crop by approximately 25,500,000 tons. The 1921 crop is estimated as less than the 1920 crop, but 12,000,000 tons larger than the 1910 crop.

Certainly, so far as production alone is considered the hay business is a long way from being a thing of the past, unless more hay land is being devoted to pasture.

In the absence of figures showing the consumption of hay, the agencies of consumption—the horses and cattle in the United States—are the only available indices as to consumption. In 1910 there were approximately 35,500,000 horses, mules, milk cows, and other cattle on farms. By 1921 the number had increased to a little over 31,000,000. Of horses and mules on the farms there were 1,139,000 more in 1921 than in 1910. There are more milk cows and the number of cattle incrased from 41,178,000 in 1910 to 42,879,000 in 1921.

In the cities where large quantities of timothy and mixed hays were formerly consumed, there has been a large reduction in the numbers, dairy cows and other cattle herds of horses, but the number of has materially increased.

According to the Bureau of Public Roads, the number of motor vehicles licensed in 1910 was approximately 500,000 while in 1920 the figure was 9,231,941. The bureau of the Census estimates that on January 1, 1920, there were on farms 139,169 motor trucks, 246,129 tractors, 2,146,512 automobiles, but despite the great number of automobiles on farms there are more horses and mules and there were ten years ago. Of the total number of farms in the United States on January 1, 1920, only 2 per cent had motor trucks, 3.6 per cent had tractors and 30.7 per cent had automobiles.

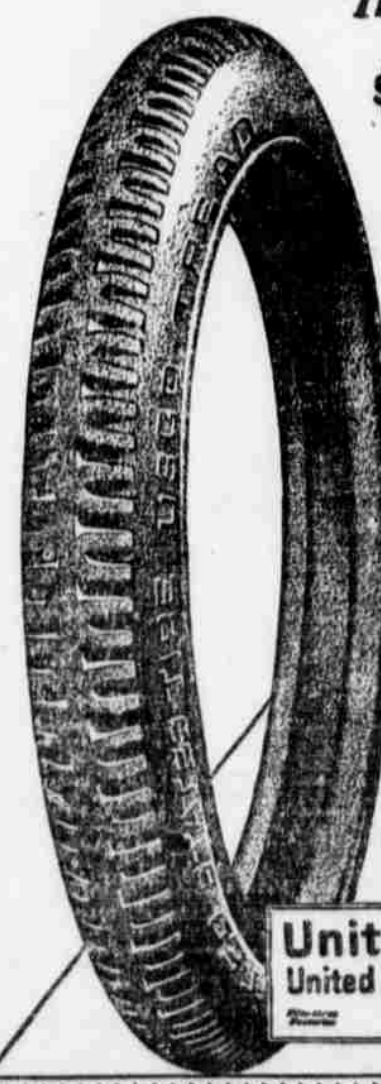

The reduction of nearly 1,500,000 horses in cities has unquestionably been caused by the enormous increase in the number of motor cars over a ten-year period, and this situation is reflected in commercial receipts of hay in cities where demand is largely for local consumption. At the five markets—Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago—the combined receipts of hay in 1920 totaled 430,053 tons, as compared with 978,312 tons in 1910, or a falling off of about 54 per cent in the ten-year period.

It is variously estimated that only 15 to 20 per cent of the hay produced enters commercial channels. On this basis, between 16,000,000 and 18,000,000 tons of the 1921 crop were marketed commercially. This is about 5,000,000 tons more than was marketed commercially in 1910, if it is assumed that the same percentage of production in 1910 was marketed.

But if consumption during 1920 in the large consuming markets was 55 per cent less than in 1910, what became of the increased marketable surplus? Estimates by various agencies do not show any material reduction in the quantities of hay entering commercial channels, and it, therefore, appears that the quantities formerly going to city markets are being absorbed at interior markets. Statistics from two of the distributing markets in the Central West seem to substantiate this premise. Receipts at St. Louis for the calendar year 1910 were 242,481 tons while in 1920 they had increased to 260,542 tons. At Kansas City receipts for 1910 were 301,448 tons and in 1920 were 559,860 tons. If conditions respecting receipts at these markets are representative of conditions at other distributing markets the explanation is that, while consumption has fallen off in cities it has increased in rural consuming sections. The increase in the number of hay-feeding animals on farms would tend to confirm this conclusion.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. Baker, of Artesia, spent the week in Carlsbad.

Mrs. Tom Green and Mrs. Harris Garrett spent the Fourth in town, guests of Mrs. Bert Rawlins.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kimbrough, of Lovington, spent several days in Carlsbad this week.

Thomas Pickens and family are in town from Last Chance, where Mr. Pickens taught school the past year. He expects to teach the same school the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardcastle and young daughter, of Canyon City, Texas, have been visiting at the home of their daughter Mrs. Richard Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thayer and their five boys were in this week from Queen helping celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lamb helped Carlsbad people celebrate this week, coming from their home in the upper valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dublin, of Jai, were in this week from their home.

Mrs. Julia Adams and children came in from their home in Texas, and are visiting relatives here and at Queen, where Mrs. Adams lived until she was grown, she being a daughter of Mrs. C. H. Thayer.

Fred Leck and family and Fred Nymeyer and family, and little Mary Belle Leck came in from the Plains near Eunice, and spent the Fourth.

Frank Fessler had the misfortune to sprain his ankle while playing in the baseball contest and is now going on crutches as a result.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bell and Donald Bell and wife, all magnates from Pecos, were in town for the celebration.

Jack Blackwell of Fort Bliss, is a visitor at the home of Henry Jones where he boarded before going to Fort Bliss, and which place he calls home. His furlough will expire next Saturday and he will be here until that time.

Some hides spread on the grass at the courtyard attracted much attention from the many visitors to the city this week, especially when it was learned that they were bear skins, and that the animals were killed in the Guadalupe. Joe Plowman caught them in traps, but had to shoot them before he could get them out. The skins were of four small ones and one large one.

Wright Carlton, a son of Rev. Carlton, was in town, coming for the Dexter this week, from his home at Dexter.

Mrs. R. M. Patterson and children, Miss Eleanor and Wilson, left Wednesday night for Denver, Colorado, to make their home, the husband and father having preceded them to that city and located there. Many good wishes accompany them that they may find health and happiness in their new home.

Mrs. W. E. Smith, Mrs. T. C. Mahan, Mrs. Nellie White and her son, Wilmer, left yesterday for the Baptist Assembly, which is in session at Las Vegas. After a stay of two weeks in that place they will extend their visit to Flagstaff, Arizona, with the exception of Mrs. Smith, who will go to Winslow, that state, to visit a sister, Mrs. Nori Bailey whom she has not seen for twelve years.

The eight-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Lovington, was brought up to the Sisters Hospital the last of the week, suffering from an injured foot, caused by running a rusty nail in it some days ago. The child was very ill for some days, and the services of a trained nurse were necessary, but she is getting along nicely at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shannon, of Clovis, were house guests at the F. M. Hatfield home in this city this week.

Mrs. Arthur Hoose and four little girls came down from Roswell Wednesday afternoon and remained in the city until last night before leaving for their home. While in the city they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ferris.

Members Lee Hanson and Charles Montgomery left last night for Roswell, on a business visit to that place for their firm, the Joyce-Fruit company.

Over 12,000 bottles of soda pop were consumed during the three days celebration this week.

Miss Hattie Watkins was operated on for appendicitis at the Eddy County Hospital the first of the week. She is getting along nicely at this time and indications are that she will soon convalesce.

R. P. Turner came in from Breckenridge, Texas, Wednesday night, and is still in the city and rather plans to locate among us.

C. J. Shorrett and wife, parents of Mrs. George Brinton, spent the week in town from their home at Artesia. It is pleasing to note that Mr. Shorrett has entirely recovered his health after his severe operation performed a few months ago.

Fred Schermeyer after a month spent in Eddy County Hospital, where he underwent a serious operation, was discharged from that institution Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Claude Nelson will leave for Pomona, California, tomorrow, and the likelihood now is that Claude will follow as soon as he can put his affairs in order. The Nelsons have lived here all their married life and are well known to all our people. Mrs. Nelson was previous to her marriage, one of our best beloved teachers in the Grammar school and many friends regret their leaving.

Ben Hughes, of Roswell, came down from there the first of the week according to the Roswell News to ramrod the big fish fry given Wednesday. Rev. is a past master in the art of frying fish.

The senior Mendors, who was indicted, jointly with his son, for the murder of Asa Rawls, will be tried at an early date in Glasscock County, Texas, instead of Pecos, as had been expected, the presiding judge seeing fit to grant him a change of venue. The case will probably come to trial at the November term of court.

The sermon Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church will have "Ismael" for its subject. There will be church school at ten o'clock, and with prayer meeting Wednesday evening at seven-forty-five there will be study of the twentieth chapter of Revelation.

Dan Wade, of Plainview, Arkansas, is visiting among the former Arkansas families in the lower valley, with a view to purchasing property here if he finds something to suit him. Mr. Wade is a man who stands well among his friends from his old home and they are showing him a good time.

A wire was received here Wednesday telling of the death of John L. W. Tennes, father of Mrs. F. E. Hubert, at the advanced age of 84 years. The death occurred at the family home at Greensburg, Kansas. Owing to a delayed message, and the necessity of making several changes en route, Mrs. Hubert was unable to attend the funeral, which was held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with interment at Greensburg. The wife, at the age of 82, survives her husband. Had Mr. Tennes lived until the last of this month they would have been married 59 years, a wonderful instance of longevity. Friends who know and knowing, love, the bereaved daughter, Mrs. Hubert, are extending their sympathies.

BASEBALL GAMES DURING CELEBRATION

Carlsbad and Pecos played baseball three days during the big celebration and all three days were full of excitement for the fans as the scores were large each game. Both teams were hitting the ball hard and it was a job for the pitchers to keep from being knocked out of the box. Three home runs were knocked during the series by Carlsbad players, Stewart, Boyle and Fessler getting one each. For Pecos Brownling and Hicks were the Babe Ruths of that aggregation, Hicks getting two in one game. Pecos took two games and the third was a tied score of 12 to 12 and the game was called on account of darkness.

Last Sunday afternoon, July 2, Carlsbad and Loving played one of the prettiest and fastest games of baseball seen at Fireman's Park this season. Up until the latter part of the game no scores were made. The game had to be called on account of rain. Morris for Carlsbad pitched air tight ball and produced the first no-hit, no-run game seen here for several years. The score was as follows:

ROSWELL PLAYS BASE BALL HERE SUNDAY

Manager Oliver informs us that there is a game of baseball scheduled between Roswell and Carlsbad for next Sunday, July 9th, to be played in Fireman's park. Rarey will be in the box for the home boys and judging by the showing he made as a pitcher in the three games during the celebration, the home team should be the winner of Sunday's game. Also the boys who were out of the last few games on account of sprains should be able to play, which will strengthen the team.

CELEBRATES SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Lois Perry celebrated her seventh birthday in approved style at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Perry, on North Canal street Thursday afternoon. The little folk had a fine time playing games in the yard and were later called in the house and treated to ice cream and cake. The little girl has many friends and relatives to wish her many pleasant returns of the day. The guests of Thursday were, Virginia Yates, Mary Frances Dow and her little cousin from Roswell, Genevieve Gragg and her little sister, Mary Jane, Evelyn and Mary Kathryn Kieher, Loudale and Ruth Zimmerman, Margaret and Julia Rogers, June Carter, Jeannette McFarland and Geraldine Hart. Misses Thelma Nevecker and Evelyn McFarland assisted Mrs. Perry, and the honoree was further honored by the presence of her two grandmothers, Mrs. J. S. Perry and Mrs. John Nevecker, and her aunt, Mrs. Fred Zimmerman.

LOCAL NEWS.

Tom Gray and wife, from the Black River section, spent the Fourth in town.

Charles May of Santa Fe, state engineer, was in the city overnight on business, Saturday.

Walter Glover and family came in from their ranch to attend the celebration held here the first of the week.

Mrs. Bob Dow had for house guests Miss Frizzell and Miss Elinor Hedell, both of Roswell, who stayed at the Dow home over the Fourth.

Messrs. Monroe Kerr, Johnston and Barney Hubbs, of Pecos, were among other visitors from that city who attended the celebration, leaving for their home Wednesday. Mr. Hubbs is editor and proprietor of the Gusher, the live little weekly paper published at Pecos, and gave the office a pleasant call before leaving for home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Heising, son

Noel, and twin babies, Catherine and Elizabeth, Datto Talmadge, and

Austin Porter, motored down from Roswell to spend the Fourth and to visit Mr. Heising's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Cantrell.

Many visitors were down from Roswell to take part in the celebration and among others we noticed

Charley Shepherd and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, L. O. Fullen and wife, Judge Brice, Mack Wilkinson, Misses Gertrude and Olivia Wilkinson.

HONOR GUESTS

Mrs. J. C. Wilson delightfully entertained Thursday evening of last week, June 20th, in honor of her guests, the Misses Eunice Herring and Louise Moore of Carlsbad, New Mexico. The diversions were games of "42" played at five tables. Delicious apricot ice cream and cake were served as refreshments. The following is the personnel of this delightful hospitality:

Misses Eunice Herring, Louise Moore, Mary Stine, Dorothy Slak, Eva Richburg, Frankie Wilson, Robbie Dowie, Virginia Runnels, Lucile Prewitt, Mary Catherine Heard, Calie DeRaney, Mabel Bryan, Margie Thurston, Anna Mahala Murray, Catherine Dean, Estell Hicks, Winnie Duncan and Viola and Julia Ward.—Pecos Enterprise.

"Red" Stevenson, came in this week from Dalhart, Texas, and will visit here awhile before returning to his work in that place.

Keep in touch with the world if you don't want to be "touched."

Home Town Helps

LEADERS REALLY MAKE TOWN

Even as Few as Half a Dozen Public Spirited Citizens Can Build Up Community.

Most of us must have wondered at one time or another what it is that makes towns differ so greatly from each other in character. They may be built on the same soil in the same state, do the same business, suffer the same losses, vote the same ticket and live in the same sort of houses. Yet one town is friendly and cordial. The town radiates kindness. Its neighbor is crusty and suspicious and gruff.

I have just discovered why towns differ.

About six men make them different. One needn't name names. But I have a town in mind which has a very notable civic development. The presidents of 43 clubs which are interested along various lines in public welfare meet weekly at the club presidents' round table. The needs of the town and its citizens come before them. If boosting is needed they have their organization at hand to boost.

"Let us make out our committees and get into the campaign," the 43 presidents who make up the round table say.

Each president furnishes his committee. In an hour after the campaign has been decided on it is under way. They furnish that yeast of good fellowship and kindness and energy that leavens the mass. The city's charities are fed by them, each getting the share it ought to get of the city's giving. The town is being made a beauty spot through them. As one walks through the doors of the union station one realizes that, somehow, this town is different. It is kept sanitary and sparkling and bright. It is progressive, too, and square dealing is a rule its merchants live up to.

I asked questions about it. This is no growth of a moment I have been describing. It has been brought about by the work of years. But in each past year there has always been a group of half a dozen men who gave their time and energies and thought to the city. The groups shifted from year to year, but always the inspiration seems to have centered in a group of six or seven men. And—explain it as you will—each of the six or seven seems always to have prospered. Each had time enough to make his own business pay and still give a share of himself to the common good.

If I were going to build a new town I'd pay any price for six of such men.—John Pilgrim in the Chicago Daily News.

Advocate Home Ownership.

Real estate comes the closest to the people of almost any other business or activity. Many—indeed, I think most—of the great social revolutions of the past have involved in one way or another the question of real estate or the ownership of real estate, and President Edwards has wisely said that the matter of home building and home ownership is of vital consequence. I hope the real estate board will have a home of its own, and I hope that, through the activities of the members of your board home ownership will be extended as widely as possible among our people, because no other thing can contribute so directly to good citizenship as the extension of the number of home owners.—Governor Nathan L. Miller, at the annual banquet of the real estate board of New York.

Thoreau as "Tramp"

What made Thoreau attractive? He was a tramp. Any man who goes to jail because he won't pay taxes must be. If he'd been content to live in Concord in a house, fleece his neighbors and pay his share of the tax levy he would have been looked up to by them. But he wasn't. He built a hut near Walden Pond, bathed in the cooling waters of the lake at sunrise to the chorus of awakening birds, hoed his own beans and probably stole apples from the orchards of close-fisted Yankee farmers to eke out an existence. Thoreau lives today, but the farmers are as dead as the breed of politicians that he refused to support.—Exchange.

Western Paper—Gossip is a humming bird with eagle wings and a voice like a foghorn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba and has caused more trouble than all the fleas, ticks, mosquitoes, coyotes, rattlesnakes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, gout and indigestion that this United States has known or will know when the universe shuts up shop and begins the final inventory. In other words, it has got both war and hell backed up in a corner yelling for ice water.—Boston Transcript.

MARRIED

We learn this week of the marriage of Miss Wardie Lee Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wood of this place to Mr. Homer Robert May of Sweetwater, Texas.

It seems they had been sweethearts for a number of years, his former home having been in Abilene. So when the heavy rains at Sweetwater last week made him think the roads would be too bad for auto travel he wired her to come on the train and she left last Tuesday and they were married Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

They left immediately for Abilene where they will visit his people and Buffalo Gap where they will visit her people before returning the following Monday to Sweetwater where he has a position with the express company. Her many friends here wish them much joy and happiness.—Livingston Leader.

C. M. T. C. PERIOD EXTENDED TO JULY 10TH

By a special arrangement an extension of the original orders applying to the Citizens Military Training Camp which opens at El Paso on July 20th, will allow an opportunity to attend the camp to a number of additional young men. They must apply before the 10th, the following time being necessary for the required examination and preparations.

Otherwise the arrangements for the camp stand as first made. All expenses are paid by the Government—clothes, eats, fare—and the special training work will last for thirty days. This should especially appeal to the number of young men and boys about town who are not employed, as attendance at camp does not carry with it any obligation for enlistment or military service.

HAY TRADE CONDITIONS OF THE WEEK

Most markets are showing an easier tendency this week, under heavy receipts and a light demand. Buyers are expecting lower prices to prevail with the appearance of the new crop and are holding off, only taking what is necessary for the current needs. Where the offerings are smaller, the feeling is quite strong and a firm market is reported with everything except the low grades moving off at fully steady prices.—Hay Trade Journal.

A camp meeting, under the direction of Reverend Terry, will open at Queen, New Mexico, the Wednesday before the first Sunday in August, which will be the second day of August. In addition to Reverend Terry, other ministers will be J. C. Allison, B. L. Nance, the Sunday School man, R. H. Burnett, of Hope, and Fales, of Roswell. These meetings have been carried on year after year for several years, and have always served to bring a great many people together, and created interest among the people residing in the mountains and Carlsbad folk, as well, and this year, there will likely be the same amount of interest shown.

The Albritton family left yesterday afternoon on their trip going in their car and expecting to remain for a month or six weeks. They went by the way of Roswell and from there to Fort Sumner, Las Vegas, Raton and will also visit the beautiful Taos country, which is engaging so much attention from tourists and others at this time. They will go into Colorado at Trinidad, and visit many of the most important summer resorts in that state, continuing on to Yellowstone Park, where their journey will end.

Miss Nettie Tullis, who has been attending school at San Antonio, Texas, came in about a week ago, and was joined here by her parents, who came down from the ranch to take in the Rodeo and other forms of Fourth of July celebration, leaving yesterday for their ranch home.

LOCAL NEWS.

J. F. Bush came up from Orla Saturday to take in the celebration.

Steve Edine, wife and child, old-timers, spent the celebration in town from their ranch on the Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. George Needham were among the many Artesians in the city the first of the week.

The George Williams family spent the Fourth in Carlsbad going out to the ranch at the close of the celebration.

Mrs. R. D. Bruce and son Harry, were among the many citizens from the lower valley who took in the celebration Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith and their three interesting children were in from the ranch on Black River, to spend the Fourth in the city.

Mrs. L. W. Brown left Wednesday night for Fort Sumner, where Mr. Brown has proceeded her and where they will make their home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adams and young son, came in Sunday from their home in Chicago, and will be here for two months or more, visiting with homefolks and friends.

Grant Mann, of El Paso, spent the week with the families of Henry Tipton and W. F. Melvin, of this city, joining his wife and daughter, Barbara, who have been in town for some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson and family came up from Orla to spend the Fourth. Mr. Carson is superintendent and general manager of the Toyah Valley Sulphur Company, and is a fine man to meet.

Dr. L. F. Diefendorf had as guests during the celebration, his niece, Mrs. Charles Diefendorf, of Missouri, and the lady's daughter, Miss Aline Diefendorf. They are spending the summer in Roswell and came down from there Monday night. The ladies are much pleased with the valley and its people.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Vinson, who have been visiting here for the past two weeks, left Saturday morning for Roswell, to take the train for New York, where they will make their home for the next two years, while Mr. Vinson is attending Columbia University.—Livingston Leader.

Mrs. Filson will be remembered as Miss Wilma Nutt, who lived in Carlsbad and was a graduate from our schools with the class of 1914. Both Mr. and Mrs. Filson have volunteered for missionary work in Japan and are now pursuing their preparatory studies to that end.

Mrs. T. J. Kindel and children have been spending a month in Globe, Arizona, returning Saturday night. John Leslie says they had a good time, some car trouble, but not enough to hurt much, struck some bad roads, but altogether he is glad they went, and glad to get home, too.

Miss Mollie Culpepper returned from her visit to friends in Roswell in time to enjoy the celebration.

Mrs. W. T. Scott and daughter, of Lakewood, made one of their very infrequent visits to Carlsbad this week, motoring down from their home.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," they say, but telling it often gets a fellow into trouble where he has to resort to fiction to squeeze out.

Success come to him who earns it, grabs it, and holds onto it.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Montgomery had as house guests during the celebration, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cawley, of Roswell.

Among many out of town people present to enjoy the celebration was V. F. Marek of Cement, Oklahoma. Mr. Marek is mayor of his home town and is also in the hardware business. He is taking his vacation and wisely concluded to spend thirty days in the famous Pecos Valley.

Stanley Blocker is spending the week at home from El Paso, where he is a member of the military, he having secured a furlough for the celebration. Stanley is a Carlsbad boy in whom we are all interested, and we are glad to know that he finds army life so interesting and profitable.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neuffer, of Lawrence, Kansas, are in the city coming last Sunday from their home and are visiting at the Harvey Fisher home below town. Mrs. Neuffer being a sister of Mrs. Fisher, and this being their first visit to the valley. The Fishers are showing them a good time taking them to the dam and the flume and showing them the various places of interest in and around Carlsbad.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay and niece Carrie Lee East, who have spent most of the summer in Carlsbad, left for their home at Tehuacana, Texas, yesterday, accompanied by Miss Essie Perry, a sister of Mrs. Kay, who will spend the remainder of the summer with relatives in the Lone Star State.

Mr. and Mrs. George McClure, of Roswell, spent Tuesday with their relatives, the Reagan Middletons, and had an enjoyable time, returning to their own home Wednesday. Mr. McClure is conducting a bakery at Roswell.

RADIO

MARCONI REALLY
FATHER OF RADIOStory of the Gifted Italian's
Work in Development of Air
Communication.

While experiments along the line of radio really started as far back as 1827 and hundreds of scientists were interested in solving the problems involved for many years, it was not until 1896 when Senatore Guglielmo Marconi took out his first patent that the mastery of air communication got its first great impetus. His life history is to all practical intents the history of radio communication.

Senatore Guglielmo Marconi, G. C. V. O., L. L. D., D-Sc. M. I. E. E., was born in Bologna, Italy, April 25, 1874. His mother was Irish, while his father was of a family whose mechanical ability was marked. After an education at Leghorn and Bologna, the young man interested himself in the problem of wireless telegraphy, starting his research in 1895. He went to England and in 1896 took out the first patent ever granted for a practical system of wireless telegraphy, by the use of electric waves. His early experiments in England were made at Westbourne Park. Shortly afterward Marconi saw W. H. Preece and at his request made some experiments for officials of the postoffice. Some further experiments were made in May, 1897, in the Bristol channel, wireless communication being established between Lavernock and Breacon Down, a distance of nine miles.

On the invitation of the Italian government Marconi afterward went to Spezia where a land station was erected, which was kept in constant communication with two Italian battleships working from a distance of 12 miles. For this success the Italian government conferred upon Marconi the honor of knighthood. After a return to England further experiments were conducted and on July 20, 1897, the first radio company was formed and two permanent stations erected. In 1898 wireless reports of yacht races in Kingston were made and proved the usefulness and adaptability to which the system lends it services at the disposal of King Victor and was given the rank of lieutenant in the Italian army. He was employed on important military missions to England by the Italian government and after this service was transferred as temporary commander in the Italian navy. Marconi visited the United States in 1917 as member of the official mission sent by Italy. In 1919 Marconi was appointed plenipotentiary delegate to the peace conference at Paris, and in this capacity signed the peace treaties with Austria and Bulgaria. He was afterward awarded the Italian military cross.

This very important figure in the wireless world, who has received about all the honors possible for the scientific world to bestow upon him.

Guglielmo Marconi.

Including the Nobel prize, has not given up active work, but is even now engaged in radio telephone experiments.

Radio enthusiasts have increased tenfold within the last few months, it appears from a survey conducted by the Associated Press and covering the central west, Kentucky and Texas. At virtually all points from which reports have been received, there are thousands of radio sets, particularly for purposes of telephony, where at most there were hundreds before.

While the sets are used chiefly for pleasure and experience, they are being put to practical uses in many cases. Numerous farmers are receiv-self to commercial purposes. In December, 1898, Marconi installed apparatus to provide communication between the South Foreland lighthouse and a lighthouse on the south coast. In 1899 Marconi read a paper on "Wireless Telegraphy" before the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London.

Early in 1901 telegraphic communication was established between two points more than 250 miles distant and at the end of that year Marconi transmitted signals from Poldhu, in Cornwall to St. Johns, Newfoundland. In 1902 he received on board the steamship Philadelphia in the presence of the officers, good messages on the tape when at a distance of over 1,500 miles from the transmitting station and signals at over 2,000 miles. In December, 1902, the station established at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, under a contract with the Canadian government for transatlantic wireless telegraphy, was put into communication with the Cornwall station at Poldhu and inaugural messages were transmitted to the King of England, the King of Italy and to the London Times. In October, 1903, the steamship Lucania published a daily wireless bulletin from messages received from the Marconi stations. A powerful station at Clifden on the west coast of Ireland was opened early in 1907 for the establishment of commercial relations with the American continent at Glace Bay.

Mr. Marconi's work has been recognized by many governments and seats of learning; he has been decorated by the King of Italy and the late ex-Czar of Russia as an honorary doctor of many universities, including Oxford, Glasgow, Aberdeen, Liverpool and Pennsylvania, besides having received the freedom of the principal Italian cities. In 1914 he was elected a senator in the Italian parliament. He also holds many scientific awards granted by various societies and institutions.

Upon the declaration of war by Italy, Senatore Marconi placed his ing market and weather reports, and police are receiving bulletins. Sermons, concerts, health talks and style talks are transmitted. Universities and professional operators are co-operating.

Approximate figures are reported from various states and centers indicating the present number of radio sets. According to A. L. Benson of St. Louis, division manager of the American Radio Relay league, about 90,000 radiophones are used in four states as follows: Iowa, 23,000; Missouri, 25,000; Nebraska, 22,000; Kansas, 20,000. In St. Louis alone there are some 2,300. The radiophones chiefly carry concert music, but in many localities farmers have installed them to receive market reports.

Correspondence from Texas reports 293 stations in Dallas, ranging in size from 1/4 K. W. to 20 watts, and almost equal numbers in other cities of the state.

Cleveland, Ohio, reports probably 15,000 radio enthusiasts, 1,000 sending stations in greater Cleveland, virtually all amateur, and 10,000 receiving sets used almost nightly. These estimates exclude commercial sets. Cincinnati reports 500 sets.

Indiana has 4,500 amateur radio sets and Indianapolis 1,000 radiophones. Wisconsin has nearly 1,500 stations and the number is said by Malcolm P. Hanson, University of Wisconsin operator, to be increasing at the rate of five a day. Nearly 1,000 sets are reported in Milwaukee and vicinity.

North Dakota has a number of receiving stations and a few fairly powerful telegraph and telephone sending stations. The North Dakota Agricultural college is planning to install a 100-watt service for farmers. The vacuum tube is displacing older equipment in the state.

Marked growth is reported at Omaha, Neb., by two radio clubs which have been in existence only six months. The University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan, co-operating, send to amateurs in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Colorado and Kansas.

CENTRALIZING RESPONSIBILITY IN ALBUQUERQUE GETS RESULTS, HE TELLS KIWANIANS

The city manager plan in Albuquerque—what is known as the "Dayton plan," has proven highly satisfactory after three different city manager administrations, City Attorney William A. Keleher of Albuquerque, himself a Kiwanian, told the Santa Fe Kiwanis club at its luncheon.

The plan of a city commission which appoints the manager and then holds him personally responsible for city administration through the various departments which he organizes, is found, he said, to eliminate the factional deadlocks of the aldermanic plan; the commissioners are chosen "at large" and hence view the city's interest as a whole; and the rolling is eliminated, Keleher said. "The plan is general in spreading rapidly over the country and growing in favor," said Keleher. "People are getting further and further away from the old aldermanic system, as the merits of the new are demonstrated." His description of the workings of the commission-manager plan was most interesting to Santa Feans anxious to get the city government here on a plane of efficiency; and his talk was decidedly timely and helpful.

Success At Carlsbad

Francis G. Tracy of Carlsbad, declared the best way to beat hard times is to do as they do at Carlsbad. The business man and farmers get together and build their own prosperity. We can do that everywhere if we quit waiting on Europe, or Wall Street or Congress, in the opinion of Mr. Tracy, who gave specific instances of what Carlsbad has done. Cotton growers brought $600,000 into the town, he said; a $65,000 cottonseed oil mill has been financed, fifteen blocks are being paved and a new city hall is to be built—all without outside aid of any kind. "All a matter of getting down to cases," said Tracy. He said U. S. Reclamation is a success as demonstrated by the Carlsbad project, which cost $1,990,000 with $700,000 repaid by the water users; 25,000 acres are irrigated and 30,000 more are to be watered. "We will double our project in twelve months," he said, "and we are making our payments. One advantage is that the government attends to all repairs and charges them up."

Mr. Schwartz the new health officer, made a brief talk.

Two can never like as cheaply as one, though many find it necessary to do so.

In Kansas the people are sweating under many burdens, one of which is the heavy load of state taxes in addition to the heavy Federal taxation. The people are holding county class meetings to try to devise means of relief from the county and state taxes. They would look across the state line and study the history of state and county taxation in Missouri. For about fifty years the Democrats controlled that State, and Democratic ideas prevailed: the State became a fine exhibit of the State debt, saddled on the commonwealth by the Republican carpet-bag administration at the close of the Civil War, was wiped out, as were the debts of nearly all the country though some of these latter were never built. Missouri while steadily reducing her tax and assessment rates, not only cleared off these debts, but built up the largest cash per capita school fund of any state in the Union; she built up a splendid state university, including schools of mining, medicine, law, pedagogy, etc., five great normal schools capable institutions for the deaf the insane, the blind. She got the State tax rate down to 15 cents on the hundred dollars valuation and the assessment down to where it did not, in actual practice, average more than 20 per cent. of the value of real property. For all purposes a farmer paid about $15 per year on a well-improved farm of 160 acres. But the evil days came, and they came with the advent of a Republican State administration. About one hundred thousand Democrats either stayed at home on election day, 1920, or went to the polls and voted the Republican ticket. They did not know that they were well off. That performance brought the Republicans into full control in Missouri for the first time in fifty years; they had the Governor a man named Hyde (and his hide will be probably be nailed to the wooden door when the voters get a crack at him) and both Houses of the Legislature. One of the first evil fruits of this Republican control was an increase of taxes. It was done by raising the assessment rate and it runs all the way from 50 to 100 per cent in the various counties of the state. And worst of all there is absolutely no improvement or benefit which the people receive for the extra drain on their pocket-books—a drain coming at a very bad time, when the whole country is suffering from a severe case of bad administration.

For Kansas as well as Missouri, the moral is very plain; they can clean house and put in force those policies and principles which made Missouri the least taxed and best governed state in the Union.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

Western Newspaper Union

FORSYTH'S SCOUTS, THE ORIGINAL "ROUGH RIDERS"

This is the story of 51 scouts, instead of just one, for together they won undying fame in one of the fiercest battles ever fought with the Indians on the frontier. They were Forsyth's Scouts, the "Rough Riders of 1868." Gen. George A. Forsyth was their leader—"Sandy" Forsyth, he had been called in Civil war days.

The scouts left Fort Wallace, Kan., in pursuit of a band of Dog Soldier Cheyennes who had been raiding in western Kansas. Early one September morning while they were camped on the Arickaree river in eastern Colorado the Indians appeared and tried to stampede their horses. As the scouts prepared to mount and give battle, Sharpe Grover, their guide, touched Forsyth on the arm. "Oh, heavens, general!" he cried, "look at the Indians!"

In the next instant the surrounding hills and valleys were alive with savages, who charged down upon the scouts, but were driven off by a few volleys. Surrounded and hopelessly outnumbered, there was but one thing for Forsyth to do. In the center of the stream was a little island on which grew a few small trees. "Make for the island, men!" shouted Forsyth. "It's our only chance."

They reached the island just in time. While Indian riders along the banks of the stream poured in a hot fire, a picked body of 500 warriors led by the Cheyenne chief, Roman Nose, charged down upon them, intending to ride over Forsyth's band in one red wave of destruction. The Indians were beaten back, they settled down to besiege the scouts.

Twenty-three of the 51 scouts had been killed or wounded when evening came. Forsyth was suffering from three wounds and Lieut. Fred Beecher, the second in command, had been killed, as had the only surgeon in the command.

For nine days, in spite of hunger and wounds, the little band of scouts beat off the Cheyennes, until two of the scouts managed to slip through the Indian lines at night and guide a force of cavalry to their rescue. Once Forsyth gave the unwounded scouts a chance to try to escape, leaving him and the other wounded to their fate, but they refused. "We've fought together, and we'll die together, if we must" was their heroic answer.

The island was named Beecher's Island, in honor of their lieutenant, and today a monument stands on it to mark forever the place where Forsyth's Scouts fought so bravely.

Some people are not led astray by temptation. They follow blindly.

A still tongue is not always a wise one. Sometimes the judge considers it contempt of court.

If it is true that we can talk with departed spirits why not ask them how it is down there? It might induce us to change our mode of living.

GOOD ROADS

PROPER CONCRETE MATERIAL

Just What Kinds Are Best and Proportions for Mixing Made Subject for Experiments.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Experiments to determine just what kinds of materials are best for concrete, and in what proportions to mix them so that they will wear well in a road are being made by engineers of the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture. An apparatus will be used that consists of heavy steel wheels which, guided by a mechanical arrangement, roll continuously back and forth over the pavement.

More than 40 different sections of concrete pavement, each ten feet long, will be laid. Materials from many different parts of the country are being shipped to the government experiment farm at Arlington, Va., near Washington. They will be mixed with varying quantities of cement and water to determine which is best. Experience has shown that there is a measurable amount of wear of the surface of a concrete road each year.

REINFORCED CONCRETE ROAD

Experiments Conducted in Suburbs of Washington to Determine Strength of Foundation.

How a reinforced concrete road holds up under heavy traffic is to be determined by the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, through experiments to be conducted on such a road now being built in the suburbs of Washington in co-operation with Arlington county, Va.

The road is being reinforced with many different arrangements of wire mesh and round steel rods embedded in the concrete. The joints will be either a crack left in the road, to be filled with tar, or simply a sheet of corrugated metal set on edge with the concrete poured around it. Some sections are to have joints running along the middle of the road, some across it, and some will be built without joints.

Of especial interest is the construction of ribbed sections. Instead of placing the concrete on a nearly flat subgrade, trenches will be dug in the subgrade running parallel to the edges of the road and also across the road. These trenches will be filled with concrete, giving the slab downward projection of concrete, and presumably strengthening it. Experiments also will be conducted to determine the strengthening effect of treating the earth under the concrete. On one section the earth for a depth of 6 inches will be mixed with cement, using 1 part of cement to 20 parts of earth. In some places where there is a grade a trench under the concrete will be filled with gravel. These trenches will slope toward the edges of the road and drain away any water that might otherwise accumulate under the surface.

BUILD ROADS IN WISCONSIN

Predicted That State Will Experience Greatest Period of Activity During 1922.

The state of Wisconsin for fifteen years has been considered a good roads state. Highway building activity has added vast sums of wealth to the state. However, it is predicted that the state will experience its greatest period of road construction in 1922. Information emanating from the state highway department of the Badger state indicates that the construction of concrete roads in Wisconsin will probably surpass that of 1921.

Mud Road is Passing.

The whole nation has been aroused to the necessity of road building and nearly all communities are awake to the necessity of getting good roads and by good roads is meant roads of the durable variety. The day of the mud road is passing.

Blight of Poor Roads.

The long-existing blight of poor roads must be wiped out. The active development of a better, modern system of road construction bodes well for the future.

THE HOUSE FLY AS A CAUSE OF DISEASE

By ADRIENNE CODY.

"I am a fly. I'm not very old, and am just learning where to find the best things to eat. My favorite places are in the spittoon, in the sitting room and the uncovered garbage can on the back porch.

"Of course some flies would be bothered about having to go out of doors to get to that can. But it does not worry me. In the house where I live there are no screens, so I can fly from the garbage can to the spittoon in perfect safety. I often stop on the way through, to get in the sugar bowl or crawl over any eatables that are handy.

"There's a baby in this house who annoys me very much. Every time I leave the spittoon and crawl into that baby's mouth it cries and spits me out. Of course I leave a few tuberculosis germs in its mouth, but it doesn't seem like that would hurt the baby.

"It seems to me like people don't know what is good to eat. At least the people in this house don't. Why, they throw away all the good things. They put them in the garbage pail. I am endeavoring to show them what good things are, however, for I get my feet all sticky in the garbage can, and then go and wipe them on the bread. About a hundred of my companions are doing the same thing. I really believe that the people are beginning to like it, for they never trouble us any more. We wipe our feet on the bread in peace and quiet.

"I heard the woman across the way say that she believed flies had something to do with the man in this house having consumption. I wonder if he got it from the bread.

"The woman across the way is losing all her flies. They're all coming over to our house. She won't give them anything to eat. She covers up her garbage pail, has tight screens on all her doors, and is a terror to flies in general. Her children are such happy, hearty youngsters, while the children in this house are always cross. They never get an afternoon nap. The flies won't let them.

"There's a very great deal of illness in this house. Two of the boys have diphtheria and the father is never well. I heard the mother say to the woman across the way, 'I really do not know what to do for all this sickness. It drives me distracted.' What do you think that woman said? Why, 'Swat the Fly' of course. At which I ducked. Oh Yes! The baby has the typhoid."
