DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE MOST CORRUPT IN YEARS.

Lobbyists and Important Witnesses at Columbus, Ohio, Have Promptly Faded Away.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Columbus, Ohio, May 6.—A number of important witnesses that have been subpoenaed in the legislative bribery scandal are missing, according to Prosecuting Attorney Torney, and have probably left the state. They include some well known lobbyists whose presence at the state house has been a subject of comment ever since the legislature convened. A well known official who has been connected with the state house many years is quoted as having said this legislature was the most corrupt in his experience. He will probably be given a chance to tell what he knows to the grand jury.

REVOLUTIONISTS THREATEN IMPORTANT CHINESE TOWN.

Canton, May 6.—The revolutionists are threatening Shekching on the East river, fifty-seven miles north of Hong Kong. Troops have been sent to intercept them.

FIGHT OVER SENATORSHIP

No Indication That Colorado Deadlock Will Be Broken Before Tonight

SPEER GAINS THREE VOTES

But Twenty-Eight Democrats Stand Firm in Their Opposition to Him.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Denver, Colo., May 6.—But one ballot was taken for U. S. senator at noon joint session in the Colorado legislature. This was unproductive of result and the joint session took a recess until 8 p. m. The ballot follows:

Democrats—Speer 33; Ward 33. Republicans—Waterman 29; Valle Necessary for choice, 51. Speer gained the votes of Tovey, Slattery, Durfee and McKenzie.

Rumors were thick this morning that an understanding had been reached between the Republicans and the anti-Speer Democrats, to force final adjournment some time between eight o'clock this evening and midnight. In the meantime the totally unexpected may occur and some man acceptable to the anti-Speer Democrats looms up as a senatorial possibility.

Last Day of Assembly.
Denver, Colo., May 6.—That the fight to elect a successor to the late U. S. Senator Hughes will be waged unceasingly today, until midnight, the hour of final adjournment of the legislature, with the probability that the deadlock which has lasted a hundred and twenty days will be found unbroken at the finish, are the indications at the beginning of the last day of the general assembly.

Efforts to bring the Democratic majority of the legislature to an agreement on the senatorship last night proved unavailing.

The caucus called by the chairman of the Democratic joint conference committee was attended by 36 of the 66 Democrats in the general assembly. Of these 33 voted for Mayor Speer of Denver. Another caucus called by the supporters of former Governor Alva Adams, admittedly for the purpose of preventing the attendance of a representative majority, 51, at the regular caucus, was attended by 28 Democrats.

The Adams forces signified their willingness to enter the regular caucus provided Mayor Speer withdrew as a candidate. This was refused. Later each caucus appointed a conference committee, which met without result. On the eve of the final struggle, 33 Democrats stand on a platform of "Speer or nobody" and 28 Democrats declare "Nobody rather than Speer."

M'NAMIGAL WILL NOT BE GIVEN IMMUNITY.

District Attorney Opposed to Admitting McNamara to Bail—Trial Begins June 1.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Los Angeles, Calif., May 6.—No further official acts of consequence are scheduled until Tuesday in the cases of John and James McNamara. They were arraigned yesterday on the charges of murder and dynamiting, with June 1 fixed as the time for them to plead. Judge Bordwell will confer with the prosecution and defense on Tuesday regarding the question of bail, in case he should decide to grant it to John McNamara on the charge of dynamiting the Jewell Iron Works which is a bailable offense.

The district attorney has already declared that as McNamara is also accused of murder, the question of bail cannot be considered seriously. Leo Rappaport, attorney for the defense, has gone to San Francisco to confer with labor leaders who are said to have given him evidence which affects the defense in a favorable manner. Orrie McManigal, who is said to have confessed and implicated the McNamara brothers, was also charged with dynamiting in yesterday's indictments, but he has not been arraigned and is not expected to appear in court before the trial of the McNamaras. The district attorney has declared that McManigal will not be given immunity.

NEED NOT REVEAL PRIVATE BANK ACCOUNTS

Circuit Court Upholds Writ of Habeas Corpus on Behalf of Tilden, et al., in Illinois.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Chicago, Ill., May 6.—Judge Telt in the Circuit court today declared that the Illinois Senate could not force the inspection of the private bank accounts of Edward Tilden. This decision upholds the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Tilden, J. V. Benedict and W. C. Cummings after they were arrested on charges of contempt for refusing to represent their accounts to the State Senator Lorimer investigating committee. Tilden was named by Clarence Funk of the International Harvester Company, as a person to whom he was directed to send a check for $10,000 to make up a fund of $100,000 alleged to have been used in electing United States Senator William Lorimer.

AGREEMENT ON STATEHOOD

New Mexicans on Ground Make Promise For People of New Mexico

REPORT GOES IN ON MONDAY

It Will Be Favorable to Immediate Admission of Both Territories.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, D. C., May 6.—Interest in the House was centered today in the forthcoming report of the committee on territories relating to statehood for Arizona and New Mexico, which will be the legislation next on the Democratic program to be considered.

The sub-committee to which the matter was referred, will report to the full committee Monday and it in turn will report to the House probably on Tuesday. Ratification of both constitutions will be recommended with the further suggestion that the question of the recall be resubmitted to the people of Arizona at an early date and that the people of New Mexico be given an opportunity to revise their constitution so that it may be more easily amendable. Representatives of all factions in both territories agreed before the committee that such recommendations would be carried out.

Ready to Report.
Special to The New Mexican.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—The ten Democrats of the House committee on territories today completed their plans for statehood for New Mexico and Arizona and will report to the full committee on Monday and to the entire committee on Tuesday providing that the New Mexico constitution be made more easily amendable and that in Arizona the recall of judges be submitted to a vote of the state admitted regardless of the result of the vote.

Congressman Palmer, Democrat of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to regulate the branding and labeling of all wool manufactured goods, the penalty for misbranding to be fine and imprisonment.

MONDELL WANTS WOMEN TO VOTE

Introduces Joint Resolution to That Effect in Congress Today

CANNON AGAINST FREE TRADE

Makes Speech in House in Which He Incidentally Whacks Publishers.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, May 6.—Universal women's suffrage was advocated in congress today in a joint resolution introduced by Representative Mondell of Wyoming. The resolution would amend the constitution to read: "The rights of citizens shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Cannon Against Free List.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—Former Speaker Cannon took the floor today in opposition to the Democratic Free List bill. He referred to it as the "Balm of Gilead" offered by the Democrats to the farmers because of the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill. Mr. Cannon demanded to know why live cattle, rice and other products of the South had not been put on the Free List bill, when these products of the northern farmer are deprived of protection by the reciprocity measure. He intimated that the southern members of the ways and means committee had kept the tariff protection on southern products.

"And you wool raisers of Montana and Wyoming are in a bad way," he added, "unless Texas comes to your rescue."

Renewing the attack on reciprocity, Mr. Cannon said: "I believe this secret agreement never would have been made if it had not been demanded by the great publishing interests of the country."

He predicted that the Democrats would be overthrown at the next election.

JOHN HAYES HAMMOND PRESENT AT BALTIMORE.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Baltimore, Md., May 6.—The final session of the National Peace Congress today was devoted to consideration of the topic "Interest Which Business Men Have in Peace Movement." John Hayes Hammond presided.

ARMISTICE IS DECLARED OFF

Fighting to Be Resumed Around Juarez and Intervention Probable

UNREST IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

Police Succeed in Quelling Riot However Without Shedding any Blood.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—The armistice was officially declared off by General Madero at 1 o'clock.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
El Paso, Texas, May 6.—Judge Carbajal, the federal peace envoy, at 10:30 this morning, declared he had not received a full answer yet to the propositions submitted by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., through his peace commissioners Thursday. He ascribed the delay to interruptions of the telegraphic facilities, informed Madero to that effect and suggested that the armistice which expires at noon today be extended. Madero said he would agree to the extension. At the Madero camp the opinion prevailed that Judge Carbajal had received part of the government's answer but not all of it. They are confident that the announcement of the intention of President to resign, will be made before the day is over and they are joyfully anticipating it.

Quiet at Mexico.
Mexico City, May 6.—The city was quiet this morning. An announcement of the government's attitude toward the rebel demand for the retirement of President Diaz is not forthcoming as yet, although the cabinet meeting, which lasted late into the night, was followed by another today. None of those concerned would say that the President was ready to resign.

There is no truth in the report circulated in the United States that rioting occurred in this city yesterday. The only street activity was described accurately in these dispatches last night.

Americans in this city are not in danger, nor will they be unless intervention should provoke anti-American feeling on the part of the populace. There is, however, no indication of any such sentiment at the present time.

Cipher Message May Halt War.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—At one o'clock a long cipher message from Minister Limantour addressed to Senator Braniff reached here. It is inferred that it contains private assurances as to the attitude of the government. Senator Braniff was at the Madero headquarters three miles from here when it came. It probably will not reach him for at least an hour, but the fact that it is on its way may deter the rebel leaders from taking any action.

Insurrecto Outposts Near to Juarez.
El Paso, Texas, May 6.—The armistice expired at 12 o'clock and the insurrecto outposts moved closer to Juarez as if making ready for an attack. An answer from General Navarro was said to be on its way to the Madero headquarters by messenger.

Ready for a Scrap.
El Paso, Texas, May 6.—General Blanco, Colonels Garibaldi and Villa, stationed themselves at the head of their commands ready to receive the word from General Pascual Orozco at headquarters. A detachment of federal left Juarez scouting for any insurrecto advance.

Riots in Mexico.

Washington, May 6.—The officials of the administration are watching closely developments in the situation at Mexico city where Americans are reported to be alarmed for their safety. The only dispatch received by the state department on the subject confirmed the press dispatches. The statement said that some rioting occurred in the capital yesterday but was quelled by the police without difficulty or loss of life. An order, the dispatch added, has been issued that all shutters of businesses be kept closed.

Diaz Is Hesitating.

Mexico City, Mex., May 6.—The attitude of President Diaz's minister make it appear probable that an announcement of the President's resignation announcement, if such were determined on, would be transmitted to Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the revolutionary leader, before it is made public in the capital.

Sensational reports regarding Diaz's health were in circulation today, being based on the postponement of the reception of the Chilean minister which had been set for today. These reports are unfounded and it is practically admitted officially that the real reason for the postponement was the pressure of business in connection with the peace negotiations. The relief fell over the fact that as the holiday passed without disorders has given place to new apprehensions regarding the attitude of Washington. Recent dispatches from the American capital are interpreted to mean that intervention may be considered imperative if the peace negotiations fail.

Danger of an attack on the capital by the rebels appears remote. Gen-

SANTA FE GETS SEMINARY

Territorial Episcopal Convocation at Roswell Endorses Project

OFFICERS FOR YEAR NAMED

Three of These Are at Santa Fe and Make Their Headquarters Here.

Santa Fe will get the seminary, probably a young ladies' seminary, that will be conducted under the auspices of the Episcopal church of the southwest. The Episcopal convocation for the territory, which has been in session at Roswell this week, endorsed the project unanimously. There is a promising future for such a school, the need of which has been keenly felt not only in New Mexico and Arizona, but also in northern Mexico, and there are many parents in the East who would have liked to send their grown up daughters to school in New Mexico.

The annual convocation of the Episcopal church in New Mexico was held in St. Andrews church at Roswell, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Among the clergy present were Bishop J. M. Kendrick, Rev. W. E. Warren of Albuquerque; Rev. Henry Easter of El Paso, Rev. Hunter Lewis of Mesilla Park; Rev. F. W. Pratt of Carlsbad; Rev. E. L. Bullock of Roswell; Rev. A. S. Carver of Marfa; Rev. F. W. Carroll of Bolet; and Rev. H. P. Silver of St. Louis, who is the secretary of this department. Among the lay delegates were Hon. L. B. Prince and F. C. Wilson of Santa Fe; C. H. McLennan of Carlsbad; A. F. Morrisette of Belen and others.

There was a preliminary service with confirmation on Tuesday evening and the business fully occupied the next two days. A recess was taken on Wednesday afternoon to accept an automobile ride through the famous farms and orchards surrounding Roswell tendered by the Mayor of the city, including a brief call at the residence of ex-Governor Herbert J. Hagerman at Spring Springs; and on Thursday for a dinner provided by the businessmen of Roswell.

On Thursday evening there was a missionary meeting addressed by Secretary Silver, Mr. McLennan, and Governor Prince. The following are officers for the next years, most re-elected:

Secretary, Rev. Jesse S. Moore; chancellor, Hon. L. B. Prince; district treasurer, Major R. J. Palen; convocation secretary, William J. Johnson; standing committee, Rev. H. Easter, Rev. W. E. Warren, J. S. Porcher and D. P. Holland; registrar, Dr. W. S. Harroun.

The project of a seminary in Santa Fe was unanimously endorsed.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTER SHORT $23,360.

Peculations Extended Over Ten Years and Were Covered By Falsifying Books.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Cheyenne, Wyo., May 6.—Joseph H. Kingham, assistant postmaster of Cheyenne, was arrested this afternoon on the charge of embezzlement and locked up. He is short in his accounts $23,360, alleged to have been taken during the past ten years and covered up by a system of bookkeeping. The postmaster here ordered his arrest.

General Huerta, with a force of federals, has left for Cuernavaca, capital of Morelos, with the intention of clearing the district of rebels which, he says will be a task of only a few days.

It is believed the train service between this city and Cuernavaca will be restored today, though the rebels are still in numbers along the line. Trains from Laredo are running by way of Tampico. Railway and telegraphic communication between San Luis Potosi and Saltillo remain impossible.

Insurrectos Build Trenches.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—The federal troops have returned to the trenches in front of Juarez from which they withdrew when the armistice was begun. The insurrectos were reported to be building trenches directly opposite the union station at El Paso.

Juarez Safe Today.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—At 1:30 o'clock General Madero announced that while he would not consent to a renewal of the armistice he would not attack Juarez today.

Crowd Got Too Gay.
Mexico City, May 6.—Last evening the day's festivities wound up with the usual illuminations, fireworks and band concerts. The only incident approaching disorder was due to the holiday exuberance of the crowds, several hundred men and boys gathering in the garden of the Zoológico in the Plaza Mayor, shooting and amusing themselves with good natured bantering of the police, of whom a large number were on guard in the park. Eventually, when the sky-lark promised to develop some excitement, the police rode through the crowds, dispersing them. A dozen persons who objected to being sent home, became obstinate and were taken in charge by the officers.

GLORIOUS TIME IS PROMISED

Fourth of July Celebration in Santa Fe to be Unique and Historic

DE VARGAS IN THE PAGEANT

Convention of Commercial and Automobile Clubs and City Builders.

Santa Fe has started something. It will have a Fourth of July celebration that ought to become historic and the forerunner of an annual historic pageant that will be in the same class as the Mardi Gras celebration at New Orleans or of the Velled Prophet at St. Louis. Santa Fe is peculiarly adapted, historically, climatically, seasonally, for a mid-summer festival that would eventually draw thousands each year not only from the surrounding country but long distances.

An executive committee on which were represented the Chamber of Commerce, the city government and the Automobile Club, met last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Samuel G. Cartwright, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided. There was a lengthy discussion of tentative plans and this is the outline of the program decided upon, subject of course, to change.

Monday, July 3.
Territorial Convention of Automobile Clubs.

Territorial Convention of Commercial Clubs.

Territorial Convention of Municipal Officers.

Territorial Good Roads Convention.

In the evening there are to be bonfires, a grand illumination, and either a Plaza Fete or a Booster's Banquet.

Tuesday, July 4.
Forenoon.

DeVargas Pageant and dedication of Santa Fe Trail Marker in the Plaza.

Afternoon.

Races, baseball games and other sports in the afternoon and band concert.

Evening.
Fireworks and grand ball of Queen Isabelle and Her Court.

A Miracle Play.
If possible, a miracle play, such as the Pastores, or Los Comanches, or a play written for the occasion with De Vargas as the hero, will be presented at the Elks Theater, if it can be prepared in time. If not, steps will be taken to assure such a presentation at future celebrations.

From the above, it will be seen that the celebration is to be out of the ordinary, safe and sane, and far above the ordinary hubbub, screech and scream eagle time, that characterizes Fourth of July celebrations. In the DeVargas pageant there will be places for the Boy Scouts, for the firemen, for civic and military organizations, for automobiles. In fact, it will be in part a flower parade and prizes will be offered for the most beautifully decorated vehicles. The DeVargas pageant will probably have at least one float with Queen Isabelle and her court, while the DeVargas cavalcade will consist of Conquistadores, Indians, monks, etc., in historically correct costumes. These costumes will be stored in the fireman's hall, to be used each year in the pageant, as well as in the presentation of the miracle play that is to make Santa Fe as famous some day, as Oberammergau. They will represent a permanent investment for the city.

All Should Help.
To put through this program will require co-operation. No one should stand aloof and let the other fellow do it all. It will require hard, unselfish work. It demands last but not least, financial support. It will require at least $2,500 and every one should take a pride in contributing. It is figured out that the soda water fountains, the hotels, the restaurants, the saloons, will reap immediate returns from the crowds in the city and that they ought to give most liberally of all therefore, but that not a single businessman or property owner or public-spirited citizen should refuse to contribute, for the permanent benefit and pleasure are to be for the entire community. The New Mexican will be pleased to acknowledge all receipts. A committee will be appointed to solicit funds, and if Santa Fe really has the spirit that other cities lately ascribe to it, that committee will meet a ready welcome and all of the encouragement possible. As a starter, the few men, who were at the executive committee meeting last evening, and who are also giving their time and energy, subscribed the following:

Santa Fe Water and Light Co., $50; N. Salmon, $25; Seligman Bros. Co., $25; H. B. Cartwright & Bro., $25; New Mexican Printing Company, $25; Santa Fe Telephone Co., $25. At that rate, it will be seen, the $2,500 needed, ought to be raised in good time, for the committee has determined not to proceed with the work unless the necessary amount is raised in full, so that the worry of finances will not interfere with the work that is mapped out.

Birdie Was Arrested—Birdie Carlton, captain of a female baseball team, was arrested at Carrizozo, for taking a trunk of a member of her team, Lena Monroe.

THE LITTLE BOY AND THE TROUT

(By J. W. R.)

You've been braver an' braver and all full o' sass, an' I wager you're bigger.

'N a Mexican bass. You're dashin' around an'.

'N you thinks you're big, 'n you jump out'n the water.

'N you eat like a pig. You know there's law.

An' it's all on your side, but just wait awhile.

An' then, blame your hide!

If I don't get you it won't be my fault, an' then.

Ma'll have you fryin' with butter and salt!

It'll all be because you've been acting so smart.

But wait till the fifteenth, and then, you little wart, I'll git out my rod an' my.

String an' my hooks.

An' I'll git some o' that fish dope over to Zook's.

Lambing Fine.

Ninety per cent of the lambs are being saved by the sheepmen in central New Mexico this year according to Victor Sals who has just returned from his ranches in Socorro county. Mr. Sals says this percentage is believed to break all records and the outlook for the sheepmen, with plenty of grass and water is better than for many years. On the other hand, part of the purpose of Mr. Sals' trip was to arrange for storing a large volume of wool at Victor, Valencia county, because of the present low price offered for the commodity.

Suit for Usury.

Change of venue from Quay county to San Miguel county has been granted in the case of A. A. Blankenship against W. J. Hittson and Mrs. H. C. Hittson. Blankenship charges the Hittsons with demanding of him an usurious rate of interest on money he borrowed from them nearly three years ago. He asks for the recovery of $2,514, the usurious interest alleged to have been collected, and is suing also for judgment for $5,029, as penalty for its collection. According to law the penalty for collection of usurious interest is double the amount collected, to be paid to the person from whom the interest was exacted.

Pumping for Irrigation at Moriarty. Charles W. Sawyer three miles southeast of Moriarty, Torrance county, has a well 75 feet deep that will irrigate 160 acres. The water boils out of the top into a pit 11x9, ten feet deep. Mr. Sawyer has a 2 horse power gasoline engine and with a No. 2 centrifugal pump, pumps the water out of the pit in four and a half hours at the rate of 120 gallons a minute. It is estimated that 35,000 gallons of water flow into this pit every twenty-four hours. The six individual pumping plants near Moriarty will demonstrate what can be done on a small scale. None of these wells is much more than one hundred feet deep.

Tried to Wreck Central Train. The south bound New Mexico Central train between Estancia and Willard, ran over a spike, which had been driven near the rail, and caused quite a little commotion as well as making the engine crew feel a little uneasy for a while. On returning the train met with the same accident. Thinking it a little strange that the same thing should happen at the same place the second time Mounted Policemen J. W. Collier started out to investigate. After looking around, he noticed foot prints, and following them, went to the home of Floyd Sandusky, and, after inquiring around he found that the little eleven year old son of Sandusky was the guilty party. Collier reprimanded the boy.

Women in Las Vegas Saloon. A. F. Reed, a railroad man at Las Vegas was charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon Mrs. Anderson Taylor. The assault was alleged to have occurred at night in the Cabinet saloon on Railroad avenue, Las Vegas. Mrs. Taylor asserted she had entered the saloon to remove her niece, whose name is Mable Span, from the place. She said she found her niece, Reed, a native boy and some other men in a wine room. Mrs. Taylor said Reed called her vile names and she "cussed him back." Then, according to her story the man struck her. She thinks he used "brass knucks" as her face was cut deeply.

Federal Court at Las Vegas. It is not expected that the May term of the United States court for the Fourth judicial district which will be opened Monday morning in the San Miguel county court house at Las Vegas, will be a particularly busy one. There are not a great many criminal cases to be tried, although the grand jury is expected to be kept busy investigating a number of cases. A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Santa Fe People. Ache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Santa Fe.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

Miss Adela Arias, 106 Griffin St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "There is no praise too strong for me to give Doan's Kidney Pills. The splendid results I obtained from their use several years ago has been permanent and for that reason, my confidence in them has increased. I suffered from a dull, heavy ache in the small of my back and was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. I always felt tired, had no ambition and was poor in health when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. It did not take them long to cure me and from that day to this, I have been free from kidney complaint. I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in January, 1907, telling of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills."

AMERICANS ARE TOO CONSERVATIVE

They Are Afraid of Making Changes Declares Woodrow Wilson

AGAINST JUDICIAL RECALL

Not So Much Conflict of Parties as Contest of Ideals.

(By Special Licensed Wire to New Mexican) Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was the guest of the Knife and Fork club at its banquet last evening. He said in part:

There can be no mistaking the fact that we are now face to face with political changes which may have a very profound effect upon our political life. Those who do not understand the impending change are afraid of it. Those who do understand it know that it is not a process of revolution, but a process of restoration, rather, in which there is as much healing as hurt. There are strain and peril, no doubt, in every process of change, but the chief peril comes from undertaking it in the wrong temper. It lies not in the change itself so much as in the method of some of those who promote it. It is a noteworthy circumstance that in proportion as the people of the country come to recognize what it is that renders them uneasy and what it is that is proposed by way of reformation they lose their fear and take on a certain irresistible enthusiasm.

The American people are naturally a conservative people. They do not wish to touch the stable foundations of their life; they have a reverence for the rights of property and the rights of contract which is based upon a long experience in a free life in which they have been at liberty to acquire property as they pleased and bind themselves by such contracts as suited them. No other people have ever had such freedom in the establishment of personal relationship or property rights. They do not mean to lose this freedom or to impair any rights at all, but they do feel that a great many things in their economic life and in their political action are out of gear. They have been cheated by their own political machinery. They have been dominated by the very instrumentalities which they themselves created in the field of industrial action. The liberty of the individual is hampered and impaired. They desire, therefore, not a revolution, not a cutting loose from any part of their past, but a readjustment of the elements of their life, a reconsideration of what is just to do and equitable to arrange in order that they may be indeed free, may indeed make their own choices and live their own life undominated, unafraid, unsuspicious, confident that they will be served by their public men and that the open processes of their government will bring to them justice and timely reform.

What we are witnessing now is not so much a conflict of parties as a conflict of ideals, a struggle between those who, because they do not understand what is happening, blindly hold on to what is and those who, because they do see the real questions of the present and of the future in a clear, revealing light, know that there must be sober change; know that progress, none the less active and determined because it is sober and just, is necessary for the maintenance of our institutions and the rectification of our life. In both the great national parties there are men who feel this ardent of progress and of reform, and in both parties there are men who hold back, who struggle to restrain change, who do not understand it or who have reasons to fear it. Undoubtedly the present moment offers a greater and larger opportunity to the Democratic party than to the Republican party, but this is not because there are not men in the Republican party who have devoted their whole intelligence and energy to necessary reform, but because the Democratic party as a whole is freer to move and to act than the Republican is and is held back by a smaller and weaker body of representatives of the things that are and have been.

We generally sum up what we mean by the reactionary forces by speaking of them as embodied in the interests. By that we do not mean the legitimate but the illegitimate interests, those which have not adjusted themselves to the public interest, those which are clinging to their vested rights as a bulwark against the adjustment which is absolutely necessary if they are to be servants and not masters of the public. The chief political fact of the day is that the Republican party is more closely allied with these interests than the Democratic party. This circumstance constitutes the opportunity of the Democrats. They are free to act and to move in the right direction if they will but accept the responsibility and the leadership. The Democratic party is more in sympathy with the new tendencies than the Republicans. Its free forces are the forces of progress and of popular reform.

Both parties are of necessity breaking away from the past, whether they will or no, because our life has broken away from the past. The life of America is not the life it was twenty years ago. It is not the life it was ten years ago. We have changed our economic condition from top to bottom, and with our economic conditions has changed also the organization of our life. The old party formulas do not fit the present problems. The old cries of the stump sound as if they belonged to a past age which men have almost forgotten. The things which used to be put into the party platforms of ten years ago would sound antiquated now. You will note moreover, that the political audiences which nowadays gather together are not partisan audiences. They are made up of all elements and come together, not to hear parties denounced or praised, but to hear the interests of the nation discussed in new terms—the terms of the present moment.

We have so complicated our machinery of government, we have made it so difficult, so full of ambushes and hiding places, so indirect, that instead of having true representative government we have a great inextricable jungle of organization intervening between the people and the processes of their government, so that by stages, without intending it, without being aware of it, we have lost the purity and directness of representative government. What we must devote ourselves to now is not to upsetting our institutions but to restoring them. Undoubtedly we should avoid excitement and should silence the demagogue. The man with power, but without conscience, could, with an eloquent tongue, if he cared for nothing but his own power, put this whole country into a flame, because the whole country believes that something is wrong and is eager to follow those who profess to be able to lead it away from its difficulties. But it is all the more necessary that we should be careful who are our guides. The processes we are engaged in are fundamentally conservative processes. If your tree is diseased it is no revolution to restore to it the purity of its sap, to renew the soil that sustains it, to re-establish the conditions of its health. That is a process of life, of renewal, of redemption.

There is no ground for alarm, therefore. We are bent upon a perfectly definite program, which is one of health and renewal.

Let us ask ourselves very frankly what it is that needs to be corrected. To sum it all up in one sentence, it is the control of politics and of our life by great combinations of wealth. Men sometimes talk as if it were wealth we were afraid of, as if we were jealous of the accumulation of great fortunes. Nothing of the kind is true. America has not the slightest jealousy of the legitimate accumulation of wealth. Everybody knows that there are hundreds and thousands of men of large means and large economic power who have come by it all perfectly legitimately not only, but in a way that deserves the thanks and admiration of the communities they have served and developed. But everybody knows also that some of the men who control the wealth and have built up the industry of the country seek to control politics and also to dominate the life of common men in a way in which no man should be permitted to dominate.

In the first place, there is the notorious operation of the bipartisan political machine; I mean the machine which does not represent party principles of any kind, but which is willing to enter into any combination, with whatever group of persons or of politicians, to control the offices of localities and of states and of the nation itself in order to maintain the power of those who direct it. This machine is supplied with its funds by the men who use it in order to protect themselves against legislation which they do not desire and in order to obtain the legislation which is necessary for the prosecution of their purposes.

The methods of our legislatures make the operation of such machines easy and convenient, for very little of our legislation is formed and effected by open debate upon the floor. Most of it is framed in lawyer's offices, discussed in committee rooms, passed without debate. Bills that the machine or its backers do not desire are smothered in committee; measures which they do desire are brought out and hurried through their passage. It happens again and again that great groups of such bills are rushed through in the hurried hours that mark the close of the legislative sessions, when every one is withheld from vigilance by fatigue and when it is possible to do secret things.

When we stand in the presence of these things and see how complete and sinister their operation has been we cry out with no little truth that we no longer have representative government.

Among the remedies proposed in recent years has been the initiative and referendum in the field of legislation and the recall in the field of administration. These measures are supposed to be characteristic of the most radical programs, and they are supposed to be meant to change the very character of our government. They have no such purpose. Their intention is to restore, not to destroy, representative government. It must be remembered by every candid man who discusses these matters that we are contrasting the operation of the initiative and the referendum, not with the representative government which we possess in theory and which we have long persuaded ourselves that we possessed in fact, but in contrast with the actual state of affairs, in contrast with legislative processes which are carried on in secret, responding to the impulse of subsidized machines and carried through by men whose unhappiness it is to realize that they are not their own masters, but puppets in a game.

If we felt that we had genuine representative government in our state legislature no one would propose the initiative or referendum in America. They are being proposed now as a means of bringing our representatives back to the consciousness that what they are bound in duty and in mere policy to do is to represent the sovereign people whom they profess to serve and not the private interests which creep into their councils, by way of machine orders and committee conferences. The most ardent and successful advocates of the initiative and referendum regard them as a sobering means of obtaining genuine representative action on the part of legislative bodies. They do not mean to set anything aside. They mean to restore and influence, rather.

The recall is a means of administrative control. If properly regulated and devised it is a means of restoring to administrative officials what the initiative and referendum restore to legislators—namely, a sense of direct responsibility to the people who choose them.

Against Recall of Judges. The recall of judges is another matter. Judges are not lawmakers. They are not administrators. Their duty is not to determine what the law shall be, but to determine what law is. Their independence, their sense of dignity and of freedom, is of the first consequence to the stability of the state. To apply to them the principles of the recall is to set up the idea that determinations of what law is must respond to popular impulse and to popular judgment.

It is sufficient that the people should have the power to change the law when they will. It is not necessary that they should directly influence by threat of recall those who merely interpret the law already established. The importance and desirability of the recall as a means of administrative control ought not to be obscured by drawing it into this other and very different field.

The second power we fear is the control of our life through the vast privileges of corporations which use the wealth of masses of men to sustain their enterprises. It is in connection with this danger that it is necessary to do some of the clearest and frankest thinking. It is a fundamental mistake to speak of the privileges of these great corporations as if they fell within the class of private right and of private property. Those who administer the affairs of great joint stock companies are really administering the property of communities, the property of the whole mass and miscellany of men who have bought the stock or the bonds that sustain the enterprise. The stocks and the bonds are constantly changing hands. There is no fixed partnership. Moreover, managers of such corporations are the trustees of moneys which they themselves never accumulated, but which have been drawn together out of private savings here, there and everywhere.

What is necessary in order to rectify the whole mass of business of this kind is that those who control it should entirely change their point of view. They are trustees, not masters, of private property, not only because their power is derived from a multitude of men, but also because in its investments it effects a multitude of men. It determines the development or decay of communities. It is the means of lifting or depressing the life of the whole country. They must regard themselves as representatives of a public power. There can be no reasonable jealousy of public regulation in such matters, because the opportunities of all men are affected. Their property is everywhere touched, their savings are everywhere absorbed, their employment is everywhere determined, by these great agencies. What we need, therefore, is to come to a common view which will not bring antagonisms, but accommodation. The programs of parties must now be programs of enlightenment and readjustment, not revolutionary, but restorative. The processes of change are largely processes of thought, but unhappily they cannot be effected without becoming political processes also, and that is the deep responsibility of public men. What we need, therefore, in our politics is an instant alignment of all men free and willing to think and to act without fear upon their thought.

This is just as much a constructive age in politics, therefore, as was the great age in which our federal government was set up, and the man who does not awake to the opportunity, the man who does not sacrifice private and exceptional interests in order to serve the common and public interests, is declining to take part in the business of a heroic age. I am sorry for the man who is so blind that he does not see the opportunity, and I am happy in the confidence that in this era, men of strength and principle will see their opportunity of immortal service.

I am not one of those who wish to break connections of the past, nor am I one of those who wish changes for the mere sake of variety. The only men who do that are the men who want to forget something, the men who filled yesterday with something they would rather not recall today. Change is not interesting unless it is constructive, and it is an age of construction that must put fire into the blood of any man worthy of the name.

ALBUQUERQUE DOING ITS OWN SEWER BUILDING. Contractors Gave It Up as Bad Job and Municipal Authorities Are Cleaning Up.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 6.—A rapid transformation has taken place in the streets of the city in the past week, following the taking over of the sewer construction by the city. Street Commissioner Martin Tierney was turned loose and has filed up nearly every gaping hole in the thoroughfares left by the contractors months after they might have been filled up. The big holes left around the manholes all over the city have been unceremoniously abolished; the eyesore at the corner of New York and Twelfth streets around the big pumping pit has been eliminated by the filling up of the hole to the street level and the commissioner will get busy at once doing the same thing at the corner of Twelfth street and Central avenue.

The best piece of work has been done on Tijeras avenue which like the rest of the streets was left in frightful condition by the contractors. It has been graded and rolled until it is practically as good as before the work started and when it is wet down and rolled again it will be better than ever. Appreciative property owners on that street this week voted Mr. Tierney a vote of thanks. Kent avenue has been gone over with the grader and will soon be rolled and work will start immediately on the grading, surfacing and rolling of north Twelfth street which has for many weary years awaited such action. This will make one of the handsomest streets in the city when finished as many commodious new dwellings have been erected between Central and New York avenues in the past year.

The work on the sewer under direction of City Engineer Gladding is progressing rapidly and systematically and what work can be done with the money on hand will be done.

Warning to Railroad Men. E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." For sale by all druggists.

Colonel Himmion Rhodes, Indian agent at the Mesalero Apache agency, and D. M. Eastman have been in the city for several days.

At Denver—The New Mexico delegates will come to Denver's Commercial Congress in a special train and a daylight ride is promised them over the great scenic route. New Mexico will be well represented on the occasion. By a combination between the business men of that territory and of Denver they ought to be able to establish closer relations between the two sections.

The territorial superintendent of public instruction, Hon. Amado Chavez, is working hard, intelligently and energetically to establish the public school system of New Mexico upon proper, efficient and correct basis. He is making excellent progress. The wisdom of appointing him is being manifestly demonstrated every day.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

A NEW DEMOCRATIC PLANK.

An article in the latest issue of the National Monthly, official organ of the Democratic party, or rather that wing of it representing Tom Taggart, Fingy Connors, Tammany and William Jennings Bryan, indicates that Democracy is about to embody among its tenets, woman's suffrage. Says the Monthly:

"The judiciary committee of the Assembly and Senate in New York fail to inform themselves as to the facts in regard to the growth of woman suffrage in modern nations. They bury their heads in the sands of prejudice and ignore the question. The treatment accorded the suffrage bill year by year, has been an insult to the women of the state, and a commentary on the lack of statesmanship in the legislators. The suffrage bill brings before the Legislature a serious proposal dealing with the next step in the development of Democracy. Albany sneers or ignores the measure. We ask the legislature to give thought to a question which is being carefully and favorably considered by the parliaments of the world. Albany sneers or ignores the subject. During the years that have passed since that Seneca Falls convention, in 1848, the Legislature of New York has sneered and ignored, while other governments with comprehension of the meaning of our aims, have conferred one political right after another upon women.

"Throughout the years that the women of New York have been patiently arguing their cause, and legislative committees have been impatiently ignoring the women's claims. Great Britain has given women every local vote, for school and poor law officers, for county councils, for city governments; Australia, New Zealand, Finland, Norway have conferred suffrage on women on the same terms as on men. While the Legislature of New York sneered and ignored, one of our high mountain states gave women the vote. While New York ignored and sneered, Colorado seeing the good results of woman suffrage across the northern boundary line in Wyoming, made women part of the body politic. Utah, touching Colorado on its eastern boundary, and Idaho, bounding Utah on the north, linked themselves in the chain of true Democracy, while New York continued to hug its government based on sex aristocracy. In 1910, while the Judiciary Committee of the New York Assembly was playing a game of football with the suffrage bill, members voting for it one day against it the next, the Legislature of the State of Washington was passing a suffrage measure on to the voters. In November, 1910, by a popular vote, standing two to one, Washington gave its women political freedom. The answer to the scorn of the Legislature of New York for women, is the faith in women shown by that chain of states, linked each to each, reaching from the high Rockies to the Pacific Ocean."

THE NEW RADICALISM.

Conservative thinkers wonder why it is that the direct legislation movement has gathered such force, why it is so rapidly accepted by a people who have been taught to look upon the Constitution of the United States and the representative form of government as the very acme of perfection. The answer is easy to make after reading the following criticism of Colorado's Democratic legislature by Colorado's leading Democratic paper:

"Fifty thousand dollars is a conservative estimate of the money that has been spent upon entertainments by the legislative lobby during the session in the effort to win over members of the legislature. This money has been handled by benchmen, many of whom are drawing city salaries while working exclusively for the mayor. Who supplied it must be left to inference. The money has been used in playing on the appetites and passions of members in efforts to entangle them or win them over. Senators and Representatives unused to the ways of the city have been led down the sensuous road of a thousand lights, where the combination of wine, women, and song—and the aching head—is found. Early in the session word went out: 'Take 'em down the line. Take 'em anywhere. Give 'em plenty of rope. Whoop 'er up, for there's nothing too good for the man who can be tempted to forget the people.'"

As a Republican newspaper, the New Mexican would like to say that this is true only of Democratic legislatures, and it is a fact that the large cities in Democratic hands are the most wide-open, and Democratic states are the most corrupt, but corruption knows no politics and there have been Republican legislatures, yea, even here in New Mexico, that have disregarded the wishes of the people and have listened to interests that were not primarily interested in the welfare of the commonwealth. It is those things which have turned men to vote for the initiative, the referendum, the recall, and other things which seem strangely out of harmony with the form of government that has thus far prevailed in this country.

IRRIGATING THE ROADS.

One would imagine, that in a country like New Mexico, where water is so valuable a commodity, that none of it would be wasted, and yet, even when irrigation water is scarce, one can see large and deep pools in the roads and streets. Not only is it the waste of water that is reprehensible but the injury to the highways that is detrimental, while worst of all, the exhibition of lack of civic spirit is deplorable. No wonder that the Albuquerque Journal says today:

If there is one law that sadly needs enforcing in this country, it is that regarding the flooding of the public roads by persons using water for irrigation. With the beginning of the spring season this old time evil has come again into reprehensible evidence and something ought to be done about it vigorously and promptly by the county authorities.

Part of the new road south of the city on which the public spirited farmers recently labored so arduously has been flooded by water allowed to flow into the highway by some criminally careless irrigator. Here is one specific case, upon which the proper officer ought to get busy at once. There is no hope of having good roads in this valley as long as this thing is allowed to continue. It ought to be easy to stop. A few inspiring examples made of these farmers ought to have a most salutary and helpful effect. The practice of flooding the roads is one that is general and widespread and if a freshly repaired highway is at the mercy of every careless or indifferent irrigator there is little use trying to do any improvement work. The law in this regard should be no respecter of person and it is high time that it was strictly and impartially enforced. Not only does a pool in the road make it impassable while the water is there but it leaves an ugly mudhole for weeks afterward."

SANTA FE'S ANTIQUITY.

This is an age of iconoclasm. Even old Santa Fe has suffered from the arguments of the doubter. For years and years, Santa Fe has spoken of itself as the oldest town in the United States, as having the oldest church, the oldest house, the oldest Palace and the oldest bell in the United States. But the serpent of iconoclasm has entered this garden of ancient things and has through well known methods of historical criticism injected doubt even in the minds of those who were loyal to the antiquities of the city, so that the more critical residents have been compelled to point to the cliff dwellings when it came to talking about things that are "real" old. But, nevertheless, Santa Fe should preserve its antiquities, should cherish them, for they are invaluable assets. It is a truism, that the traveling public wants to see something new, but paradoxical as it may seem, the oldest things that are so plentiful around here are "new" to the tourist, and will attract him hitherward when the new things of the big cities pull on him. It is refreshing therefore to read two little circulars printed by the Christian Brothers of St. Michael's College, telling with simplicity and child-like faith of "The Oldest Bell," giving dates and data, to show that it was cast, without doubt, 555 years ago in Spain, and similarly proving that Santa Fe was settled in November, 1540, by Coronado's men, including Tlaxcala Indians from Mexico, who found here an extensive Pueblo Indian settlement, at least several hundred years old, so that Santa Fe's antiquity extends to 1200 A. D., and even earlier. It is just as easy to believe this, as it is to believe the statements that Santa Fe was not settled until 1608 by Espejo.

Game Warden Thomas P. Gable has asked Delegate Andrews to set in motion the federal machinery which will transport from the Jackson's Hole Country in Yellowstone Park in Wyoming, some of the elk which are starving, to the eleven million acres of National Forest in New Mexico, where the elk would have ample feed and protection. Outdoor life for May has graphic pictures of herds in that section of Wyoming, herds which are dying out because of starvation. The Wyoming state law forbids the exportation of elk, but since the animals are on a federal reservation, according to the recent Supreme Court decision, the state law would not apply.

Roswell, which has about the same population, has already collected $1,116 in poll tax thus far this spring. Santa Fe has not collected one-half as much. What is the matter with Santa Fe's poll tax collection, and why is the money collected only from some citizens and not others? Why are not suits brought against those who have refused to pay? Who is neglecting his or their duties and why?

MURDER MUST BE AVENGED.

"The assassin of Bob Scammon will never be discovered, and his murder will be unavenged, according to present indications." The above is a news note from district court at Mora and emphasizes what the New Mexican has been trying to impress, that not sufficient effort is made in New Mexico to hunt down murderers. Such assassinations, like that of the late Colonel J. Franco Chaves, have remained unavenged and the efforts of counties, communities and the territory to detect the murderer, have not been sufficiently energetic and persistent. A community is justified in hiring detectives to work a year, if necessary, to track the slayers of men like Chaves and Scammon, who met death because they sought to enforce the law. The people owe a peculiar duty to those who meet injury or death while seeking to protect the people against law breakers. The mere question of cost should not stand in the way, for the first duty of a law-abiding community is to hunt down without mercy and without let-up, individuals who have arrayed themselves against the law and therefore are waging war upon civilization and humanity. It is not a good advertisement for New Mexico to let it get abroad that murders remain unavenged and that officers of the law may be killed with impunity.

TIME FOR CLEAN UP AT LAS VEGAS.

The horrible conditions in a Las Vegas saloon revealed by a news item in the Las Vegas Optic which tells of the antics of women in the saloon mentioned, is bad enough, but the discharge of the saloonkeeper for want of evidence seems worse and indicates that territorial laws may be violated with impunity. For some time, the Optic has been publishing item after item, which indicates the laxness with which saloon regulation laws are regarded in the Meadow City, for it seems liquor is sold freely to minors, the saloons keep back doors open on Sunday and in some instances, even permit women to congregate there, and gambling is permitted with brazen disregard of law. By what the New Mexican knows of District Attorney Charles Ward and Judge Clarence J. Roberts, the Meadow City is about due for a moral clean-up that will strike terror into law-breaking saloon keepers, owners of gambling joints and habitués of the Red Light district. Conditions like those at Las Vegas would not be tolerated in Santa Fe for one minute.

The conference of men interested in San Juan county irrigation projects, which has been called at Santa Fe for next Monday, by Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller, is of much importance and should provide a solution for the entanglements caused by conflicting water rights filings and claims in that county. It seems that San Juan county has ample water for the reclamation of several times the area now under cultivation but that irrigation construction work has been held up by these rival claims through no fault of the territorial engineer's office, or of the territorial water commissioners, but through the unwillingness or inability of rival claimants to water rights getting together on some compromise proposition that would do justice to each and at the same time guarantee the speedy completion of the much desired irrigation works. If the conference does not result in such a consummation, then San Juan county must lay the blame where it belongs but certainly not at the door of the territorial irrigation department.

Santa Fe business men propose to have a Fourth of July celebration that will lay the foundation for a permanent historic pageant that will help to attract tourists and will incidentally advertise the delightful summer climate of Santa Fe. It is a praiseworthy undertaking and will benefit the entire community, and therefore no one should stand back when it comes to extending help, financial and otherwise. The New Mexican knows that there are many demands upon local businessmen, that those who can least afford it often make the most generous contributions, while those who reap the most immediate benefit of a public movement of this kind are at times the very ones who refuse to contribute or help in any way. But that is the rule not only in Santa Fe but in many larger and much richer places where the spirit of local patriotism has been replaced by a spirit of selfishness, graft and grab.

Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, recently president of Princeton University, and prospective Democratic candidate for the presidency next year, in an address at Kansas City, last evening, laid down facts and doctrines, to which even Republicans subscribed after the partisan view is eliminated. He declared firmly against the recall applied to the judiciary, for being a sensible man, he believed in a judiciary uninfluenced by the passing whims of the day or the dictates of partisan prejudice which may prevail in any community for a short or long time. Of all the candidates thus far in the field on the Democratic side for the presidency, Woodrow Wilson is the most dangerous to Republican success, for like Taft, he has the judicial poise, the clear thought and the desire to do what is right irrespective of partisanship or political greed.

The University extension lecture tonight in Library hall, will be the last, and in many ways, the most entertaining and interesting of the series given under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Trade, and there should be a large attendance. At the previous two lectures, the attendance was slim on account of counter attractions, but tonight, the evening seems to be free and the assembly room should be crowded, not only for the sake of the Woman's Board of Trade and its unselfish work, but because the entertainment will be well worth while and it will be of a nature that should be encouraged and fostered.

Something like thirty cars filled with asparagus, passed through Lamy the past few days on their way East from California. These cars had to be led at Albuquerque and yet, it pays California farmers well to raise and ship asparagus. Santa Fe and its immediate vicinity have soil that is peculiarly adapted to raising asparagus and that raised locally beats in tenderness and flavor anything that can be produced in California or elsewhere. The Santa Fe and adjoining valleys could and should raise all the asparagus needed in the east, saving those consumers 1,200 miles of freight and the cost of several icings.

El Paso will this year manufacture 300,000 barrels of Portland cement. This is an industry which ought to thrive at Santa Fe, for this immediate vicinity can furnish the raw material used in the manufacture of Portland cement, and there are enough irrigation works planned or under construction in this part of New Mexico to take all the product that can be produced. At present Santa Fe imports cement from Kansas, pays a high freight rate, which makes cement and reinforced concrete construction much more costly than it should be.

W. Harry Olcott, a special agent of the Census Bureau, is spending a week going over the finances of the City of El Paso. Wonder what he would think if he went over the financial records of Santa Fe and sought to find out from them, what proportion of the city's money is being spent for specific purposes, how much each particular improvement has cost the city, and all those other details of a financial investigation such as one could gather from the periodically published financial reports of modern cities.

"Democracy is making good!" shouts Norman Mack's National Monthly. If that is true, then may Providence pity the people, for whenever Democracy made good in the past, it meant bank failures, panics, soup lines, strikes, misery and poverty throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"I'm going to a club smoker tonight, Mrs. Jones."

"Well, stop for me on your way home; our club is going to have a chewer."

The Fisherman.
In but a few weeks more he'll sit for hours on the bay,
And when he gets back home, admit:
"The big ones got away."

His Profit.
Bacon—This paper says that sugar alone will sustain life for a considerable time.

Self-Preservation.
"So you have sold your pair of horses and bought an automobile?"
"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "I have concluded that it is better to be the cause of a runaway than to be in it."

Corned All the Sugar.
"Well, how do you feel since you have got engaged to that delightful little Miss Peachy?"
"Say, I feel like I had put one over on the sugar trust!"

More Than Mere Superstition.
She—They say that to scratch a match at the wrong end is a sure sign of disappointment. Do you believe it?
He—Certainly—if you expect it to ignite.

Not Certain.
"On what plane would they put an aerial army corps?"
"Hard to say. They might decide on an aeroplane, and then again, they might prefer a biplane."

Ample Proof.
"I see where a veteran newspaper man did the other day who had founded 157 country weeklies."
"A great old trouble maker, wasn't he?"

Proud of Him.
"My cousin Ernest," Mrs. Lapelling was saying, "always attends the reunions of the Harvard graduates. You know he's an alumnus of that university."

EAGER TO SEE.

"I have a poem here entitled, 'Along With Nature,'" said the sallow young man with the long hair and the frayed trousers. "It is a personal impression."

"Is it?" replied the editor, as he hastily glanced at the opening lines. "Have you ever been alone with nature?"

"I have, and, oh, it is glorious—glorious!"

"Here's a dime. Get on a trolley car and ride as far as you can. Go back to nature and spend another hour or two alone with her. You say you plucked the hazel blossoms by the stream. If you are able to find any place where you can do that let me know. I want to watch you while you do it."

Success for Sorrow.
The millionaire dame had just missed her ruby studded tiara. "A month's income gone!" she groaned with great bitterness. "Cheer up," her secretary advised. "Do not forget that your portrait will immediately appear in 7,366 daily newspapers, 2,974 weeklies and that the combined printed columns devoted to your wealth, your beauty and your taste in dress will, if pasted together, reach from Weehawken to Winnipeg." Whereupon the lady chirped up considerably.

Hurt His Feelings.
Gunner—The senator from the far west is offended.
Gayer—What is the trouble?
Gunner—Why, the reporters wanted to know if he intended having any mounted police at his daughter's wedding and he gave them to understand that his guests were gentlemen and would never think of drawing their guns at his daughter's wedding.

One Condition.
"It's all very well," said Grouch, "to talk about forgiving your enemies, but it's not easy to do."
"You're right," replied Dudley, "we shouldn't be expected to forgive our enemies except when they freely admit that they don't deserve our forgiveness."—Catholic Standard and Times.

BE A HERO.

Baby-bye,
See the fly!
Let us swat him,
You and I;
Let us fold
A paper flat
And just smash him
Where he's at;
See him scrape
Germs from his legs!
He will lay
Ten million eggs
In the coming Days if we
Do not swat him,
You and me;
Let us creep up
Where he's at
And together
Smash him flat!
If we swat
And smash him thus
Carnegie
May notice us.

Quite Different.
The Chauffeur—If you don't pay a taxicab bill in this town you can be arrested. Do you know that?
The Load—I'll accept your word for it, old chap. And while you're taking me 'round to the police station, I'll have a nap. The way you drive it will be a matter of two hours, at least.

ONE DIFFERENCE.

One of the differences between duty and a taxicab is that duty is generally so easily evaded.

Political Influence.
Although my sentiment is strong for simply mindin' my own biz, some office-seeker comes along insistin' on my mindin' his.

Less Highly Favored.
Floorwalker—I overslept myself this morning.
Ribbon Counter Girl—Well, it's mighty mean of you to brag about it; you know I can't afford to oversleep!

Modern Romance.
"Yes, I was fascinated by a golden curl."
"And did you marry the owner?"
"Oh, no. I found I could buy one like it for a dollar."

Paradoxical.
"It sounds kinda paradoxical."
"What does?"
"What I heard a girl say yesterday. She said that men who love the hard act the softest."

Garrison, wife of the president of the Agricultural college, and Mrs. Daniels, dean of women at the institution, issued cards for an "at home" at the home of Mrs. Garrison at Las Cruces on Thursday afternoon, May 4, from four to five o'clock. Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince is home from Roswell where he attended the territorial Episcopal convocation. He was much impressed with the beauty, progress and prosperity of the lower Pecos valley. He says Roswell is parking its wider avenues and is forging ahead so rapidly that Santa Fe will have to hurry to keep in the same class with the enterprising and rich metropolis of the lower Pecos Valley.

The Wallace Club is not meeting this afternoon.

Miss Mary Porce is visiting her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Joseph at Ojo Caliente.

The Saturday Card Club is meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Seligman. Mrs. Britton of Cleveland, Ohio, is a guest of the club.

E. E. Van Horn passed through yesterday on his return to Santa Fe from a trip through eastern New Mexico in the interest of the Cattle Sanitary Board.—Estancia News.

The Thirteen Card Club is meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leroy O. Moore. Besides the members of the club the guests are Mrs. Bard-shar and Mrs. Wheelon.

Adenago Chavez passed through Estancia yesterday morning en route to his home at Progresso from Santa Fe, where he has been attending the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb.—Estancia News.

Ex-Governor W. G. Thornton of New Mexico, who has been spending several months in Old Mexico for the benefit of his health, stopped off during No. 1's wait here this morning for a handshake with old friends, before continuing on his way to Santa Fe. The governor was compelled to make a detour through Texas in getting home because of the embargo now existing along the Mexican border immediately south.—Raton Range.

Former Governor Miguel A. Otero, Receiver of the Albuquerque Eastern, M. S. Cunningham, Roadmaster of the N. M. Central and H. R. McGibbon of Santa Fe, were in town Saturday checking up the machinery and material of the Eastern in and around Moriarty. The party left Sunday for the Hagan coal fields and will continue the tour of inspection on into Albuquerque. The genial governor called at the Messenger office and spoke enthusiastically of the Farmington, Roswell and Gulf project and of the benefits such a road would be to the Estancia valley. Mr. Otero will be a candidate for governor under statehood and incidentally made a number of friends during his short stay.—Moriarty Messenger.

Miss Agnes C. Laut, the well known writer, who has been in Santa Fe the past two weeks, left for the East today. Her charming personality has made many friends and admirers in Santa Fe who will look forward with zest for her contributions to literature in the future. She has gained fame as a serious writer and has entire to the leading magazines of the country, for which she is preparing special articles in which Santa Fe and surrounding country will be featured. Miss Laut speaks with enthusiasm of the manifold and unexpected attractions that she found in and about Santa Fe.

Card Party.
In a characteristic style of gracious hospitality, Mrs. E. C. Abbott entertained at bridge Tuesday afternoon in her pretty home on Cerrillos Road, complimentary to Mrs. A. Seligman's aunt, Mrs. Britton of Cleveland, Ohio. The floral embellishment of apple blossoms so artistically arranged in Japanese style, lent the atmosphere of a balmy garden to the room, and the afternoon sped all too quickly to the day's close. Tally cards were passed in little May baskets filled with fragrant apple blossoms which proved quite a novelty. They also adorned the dining room table where a buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Samuel G. Cartwright assisted.

There were five tables and Mrs. Seligman and Mrs. Moulton captured the prizes. Besides Mrs. Britton those present were the Mesdames Mills, Jaffa, Cartwright, A. Seligman, J. Seligman, Stauffer, Spitz, Fischer, Palen, Moulton, Brookes, Bergere, Brown, Ervin, Sloan, Fiske, Schuman, Rolls, and Renehan.

EXTENSION OF CARLSBAD PROJECT IS PLANNED.

Homesteaders and Land Owners Have Had Several Meetings This Week for Purpose.

Carlsbad, N. M., May 6.—The homesteaders and landowners above the southern canal of the Carlsbad project have had several meetings the past week and discussed methods for securing water for their lands. About ten thousand acres of land have been represented at the meetings. A permanent organization was perfected this week, with W. H. Merchant, president; Samuel Hughes, vice president; C. R. Jones, secretary and treasurer; and L. G. Ryan, A. R. O'Quinn, Miss Effie V. Hart and Mr. Wallis, directors. An assessment of 40 cents an acre has been agreed on to cover the investigation of the plans by the reclamation service. As these lands are above the canals of the project, water can only be secured by pumping. The engineer J. W. Lewis, employed by the landowners has made a preliminary survey and his figures indicate that the plan is feasible. It is proposed to come in with the second unit of the Carlsbad project, that the government now has under consideration.

When the reclamation service took over the Carlsbad project in 1906, the funds available at that time did not permit immediate construction to take care of the available land. The first construction only provided water for the first unit of twenty thousand acres. It is proposed to extend the project and utilize the entire water supply appropriated and efforts will be made to have the second unit undertaken at an early day. The lands to be watered in the second unit will be selected from the lands subscribed to the project.

The band under the leadership of A. C. Bunch has become the pride of the town. It consists now of twenty-seven pieces. In addition Mr. Bunch has organized a fine orchestra of seven pieces. Band concerts have become the usual thing, a stand has been placed in the spacious court house grounds for this purpose. It has taken six years to educate the people to the advantages of a good band. G. E. Benson organized the first band six years ago. Though he worked hard and patiently, the support from the public was small, but little by little the interest grew in the band. Since Mr. Bunch took charge eighteen months ago the public has given the band generous support, until today it has become a fine organization.

Company B of the New Mexico National Guard is working hard. Target practice and drills are the order of the day. Though the company during the year last many members, recruits have come in to take their places. The interest in the work is as keen as ever.

The peach growers are busy thinning the fruit. The trees are so loaded with peaches that the fruit would be small if it is allowed to remain on the trees. It is estimated that the hundred acre orchard of McLenahan and Tracy in La Huerta will produce 20,000 boxes of commercial peaches. The present outlook is that the Carlsbad project will have at least 50 car loads of peaches to ship.

Socked It to Drunken Witnesses and Jurymen.

Attorney Stanley A. Foutz returned from court at Mora last week, and is loud in his praise of Judge Roberts. "Off the bench, Judge Roberts is friendly and pleasant to everybody. But on the bench he has no friends, no favorites. I don't believe he would know his own brother if he was brought before him in court. Everybody is exactly alike to Judge Roberts."

"The way he went through that old docket was a surprise to the county officers and attorneys. Cases that had been standing for years were brought to light, and either dismissed or set for trial. A fall term of court is promised, something unknown in this county. Judge Roberts is waking things up."

"The way he handled drunken witnesses and jurymen was a delight to lovers of law and order. Judge Roberts is the right man in the right place, and Mora county is fortunate in having him hold court here."—Wagon Mound Pantograph.

FANS ARE READY FOR GREAT GAME.

A great ball game in Albuquerque tomorrow. That is what local fans are looking forward to and tonight they will fix their alarm clocks at 7 a. m., so as to catch that 8:10 train from the Santa Fe depot, and then to take the Limited from Lamy.

The rate will be $4.60 to Albuquerque and return. Those who go on this ticket must of course return home with the leader of the party, and he will start at 7 from Albuquerque arriving here shortly after 11 p. m.

The trip will likely be worth the trouble and expense, for a great game will be witnessed and all Albuquerque with its fairest maidens will be in the grandstand to cheer both teams. Manager Clancy of course, will accompany the team of which he is one of the star players, and Treasurer William Farah will also likely go.

The Santa Fe team is as follows: George Parsons, William Parsons, Geastra, McCarthy, Lopez, Ekberg, Berardinelli, Alarid, L. Anderson, D. Anderson, Frye, Koch and Clancy.

BREAK IN THE PRICE OF MAY WHEAT.

Report of Rain in Canadian Northwest Party Responsible for Decline—Corn Was Firm.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Chicago, Ill., May 6.—A break of 4-1/2 cents a bushel in the price of May wheat today was followed by withdrawal of support by leading bulls. Trade, however, was only scattered.

Other months weakened with May although the latter delivery made a quick rally of 2-3/8. Rain in the Canadian northwest was partly responsible for the decline. Opening figures here were 3-4 cents lower to 1-8@1-4 cent up. July started at 88-3/4@7-8 to 88-7-8, dropped to 88-3-8 and closed easy at 88-1-4@3-8; lightness of country offerings tended to make corn firm but the break in wheat more than offset this. July opened unchanged to 1-8 higher at 52-5-8@5-4, and closed 1-8@1-4 lower, at 52-3-8@1-2.

Good buying by a local house gave some stiffness to oats. July started unchanged to 1-8 higher at 32-5-8 to 32-3-4, and steadied at 32-1-2@5-8.

Higher quotations for hogs lent help to provisions. First sales were unchanged to 5 cents higher with July Pork at 14-8-1/2; lard at 8-02-1/2 to 8-05; ribs 7-87-1/2 to 7-90.

Wall Street.

New York, N. Y., May 6.—The opening quotations in the stock market today showed few changes of importance from yesterday's close. The widest change was in Canadian Pacific which lost 5-8. Variations in other stocks were almost equally distributed.

ed between small gains and small losses. The market adopted a generally declining tendency with considerable pressure against the coal stocks. United States opened 3-1/4 down on liquidation inspired by the unfavorable annual report. Canadian Pacific lost 1-1/2, Chesapeake & Ohio 1-1/4 and Lehigh Valley 1. The market closed steady. Later strength was shown by Western Maryland and Northern Pacific, the former advancing 2-1/2 points.

ASK IMPEACHMENT OF TWO GOVERNORS.

Labor Unions Have Grievance Against Democratic and Progressive Republican Executives.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, May 6.—The impeachment of Governor Johnson of California, Governor Marshall of Indiana, and Judge Collins of Indianapolis, is demanded by the Citizens and Trade Union leaders of Duluth, Minn., as a result of the arrest and extradition of J. J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. Representative Miller of Minnesota, filed the petition in the House today. It protests against "this high handed outrage and flagrant violation of constitutional rights." The protest was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Rio Grande is Falling—Three thousand second feet was the flow of the Rio Grande over the Leasburg dam in Sierra county, yesterday. It was 4,000 second feet the day before.
