CARLSBAD WOODMEN VISIT ARTESIA

Last night, July 13th, over fifty Woodmen from Eddy Grove Camp No. 5 went in cars to visit Walnut Camp No. 26 of Artesia where a large parade was put on and seven candidates initiated.

Promptly at five o'clock cars and Woodmen members intending to make the trip assembled at Woodman Hall and left about five-thirty for Artesia. The trip was made with very little car trouble and at seven-thirty o'clock the big parade started. Carlsbad band together with a couple of Artesia players furnished excellent music and the candidates to be initiated that night were dressed in various costumes and furnished occasion for many a laugh for the large crowds on the sidewalks witnessing the spectacle. One candidate was dressed as a policeman, another as a convict, another in the garb of a woman with abbreviated skirt, another with a barrel to protect him from the gaze of the crowd and others in various ways showing that much time and pains had been given in securing appropriate and comical costumes for the parade. Seventeen candidates in all took part in the march and they certainly were a game bunch and acted well the parts assigned them. Just as the parade came to an end the convict tried to catch the woman (?) and the policeman tried to arrest the convict, the three running down the sidewalk in double quick time to the amusement of everyone. Artesians were loud in their praise of the show, several remarking that it was the best ever seen in Artesia.

After the parade all assembled at Woodman hall where the candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Woodcraft. This work was put on by the Carlsbad degree team assisted by the orchestra. The team presented a most pleasing appearance in their new uniforms and as every regular member was present they went through with the many drills without a hitch of any kind. District Deputy D. M. Jackson of this city worked up this large class of new members and was foremost in making the parade the success it was. He promises to have a similar one in Carlsbad at no remote date. Interest in Woodcraft at Artesia has taken on new life and with the help of Mr. Jackson many more members are expected to be added to that order in Artesia.

After initiation and side-degrees the Consul Commander asked Judge Jackson of Artesia to thank the Carlsbad delegation for their part in the evening's program. Judge Jackson graciously and eloquently responded. Among other things said that Carlsbad was always ready to visit Artesia and assist in entertaining them with the best exemplification of the work of Woodcraft initiation. He has ever witnessed and in return pledged that his camp would do everything in their power to assist the Carlsbad lodge in any of their programs.

Junior Past Head Consul Miller whose home is at Hagerman, of the Ari-Mex jurisdiction, was present and favored the audience with a very instructive speech. He called attention to the fact that Woodcraft is now among the largest insurance fraternities in the United States and at the present rate of growth it will be the largest in a short time. He said the principle of the protection of the widow and orphans of the man of modest means is one of the greatest services possible to render humanity. He said efficient and full uniformed degree teams were scarce in New Mexico, although they were numerous in Arizona, but was pleased to note that Carlsbad is taking the lead in correcting that condition and now has one of the best teams in the state.

Sovereign Miller was followed by Sovereign Leck, of Carlsbad, who the former said was slated to be the next Head Consul of the Ari-Mex jurisdiction. Sov. Leck now holds the second highest Head Camp office in this jurisdiction. Sov. Leck said Woodmen should not forget that along with their fun there is a serious side to Woodcraft and went on to explain what the different emblems of the order represented. His talk was instructive and was appreciated as evidenced by the applause.

Just before leaving for home all were served with sandwiches and ice cream and cake. Visitors were present from Hope and Hagerman as well as other places. The trip home was made in quick time, only one car meeting with an accident, that of Bert Rawlins with Glenwood Jackson driving. The radius rod became disconnected, causing the driver to have no control over the car and naturally it ran into a ditch which fortunately was a sandy one and no one was hurt beyond being shaken up. Altogether the trip was an enjoyable one and almost everyone is complaining with sore sides this morning from the effects of too much laughter.

Many a man has fought his way to the top of the ladder only to have the blamed thing collapse.

CARLSBAD 4, ROSWELL 0.

One of the best ball games of the season was witnessed at Fireman's park, this city, last Sunday, when Carlsbad and Roswell played without the visitors being able to make a single run during the entire game. Roswell heretofore has been a hard team to beat and the result was pleasing to local fans in that it shows that our team is rounding into one of the best teams in this section.

Rarey hurried for Carlsbad and allowed only four hits which were scattered, and Gibson, third baseman for Roswell, getting two of those. Eight hits in all were pounded out by the locals, Rarey, Stewart and Welpton getting two apiece. Our players are hitting the ball harder this season than for some years and Stewart seems to be especially handy at getting hits or late. Farrell, playing right field, made a beautiful catch of a hard fly ball from the bat of Neil.

The next game will be played here Sunday, July 16, at Fireman's park, between Carlsbad and Loving. Loving has a strong team and a good pitcher and has defeated the locals more than once this season, so a good game may be expected. Manager Oliver tells us that the next game after the one with Loving will be played Thursday, July 20th, at Roswell, and it is expected many fans will make the trip from here.

The score for the Carlsbad-Roswell game follows:

Raton.—Placing the responsibility for New Mexico's high taxes upon the shoulders of Republican administration, State Chairman George H. Hunker, state chairman of the Democratic party, has called upon Colfax county Democrats to help make this year in which economy is voted into the capital.

In a letter to County Chairman Carter, read at a meeting of Democrats here, Mr. Hunker urged that every precinct be thoroughly organized. Referring to the address of O. L. Phillips, Republican chairman, at an Albuquerque meeting, Mr. Hunker said:

"And, speaking of matters here in New Mexico, I cannot help referring to the speech of Senator Phillips in regard to what the Republican party had accomplished here in the state. The issue this fall is going to be 'high taxes and economy and efficiency in the management of our state affairs.' Even the Republican papers in the State are now becoming imbued with the idea that our taxes are entirely too high; that New Mexico as a state is bound for the rocks unless something is done, but as usual these Republicans argue that the only way this can be accomplished is through the management and control of our state affairs by the Republican party. I have been in New Mexico for the last twenty-two and a half years and the Republican party has been in control of this state with the exception of the executive office for a few years, ever since I have been here. Haven't they had ample time in which to accomplish something, and to lay the plans to reduce these taxes, instead of laying plans to increase them as they have done?"

"Every tax article that you can read bearing on affairs here in New Mexico, shows that our taxes have increased at an alarming rate, and it has thus increased under Republican administration. Will the voters of New Mexico again return power in this state, the party which has produced these results? If they do, then I am mistaken in my judgment in regard to the situation."

Arthur Linn came in the first of the week from Washington, D. C., and will remain here with his father's family for a month or perhaps longer, depending on business conditions. He has already gone to work as consulting auditor and persons having difficulty with the intricacies of the Internal revenue tax, are utilizing his services.

Frank Matney left Monday for a month's needed vacation which he will spend at Palomas Springs, endeavoring to obtain relief from rheumatism.

Until the brawny young officer of the Muskegon came to the aid of the pretty Russian girl in the Turkish seaport of Constantinople, she had been earning a living among the theaters and cafes of the Black Sea cities by dancing. She tells thrilling tales of her escape from the Bolsheviks.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT HAS BEEN AFFIRMED IN THE BUJAC CASE

Santa Fe, July 11.—The federal circuit court of appeals has affirmed the judgment of the United States district court at Santa Fe in the case of Major E. P. Bujac, of Carlsbad, against Madame Bertha Pauchet. This was a suit in which Major Bujac sought to collect approximately $25,000, alleged to be due for legal services rendered and expense incurred. This total included pay for the services of Marroa and Wood of Albuquerque, and Judge C. R. Brice of Roswell, the latter a law partner of Bujac prior to his election to the district bench.

Judge Colin Neblett, presiding, allowed a judgment of approximately $12,500, when counsel for the defendant appealed the case.

Madame Pauchet, a resident of Spain, was the daughter of Madame Mathilde Cardoner, who died in Albuquerque in the fall of 1913, leaving a large estate. Albuquerque Journal.

Visitors' Day at the Boy Scout Camp north of town, took several Carlsbad ladies and gentlemen out of the camp, Monday, to eat dinner with the scout and witness their scout work while in camp. Dinner was served at noon, and was a good dinner of spaghetti, frijoles, corn, bread and fine coffee, helped by townspeople who carried out pies, cakes, jellies, salads and other good things and a good meal was spread. The scouts had a fine time although there were not enough townspeople to take an interest in the scouts, to give them one day or part of a day to encourage them in their work. Citizens should back the Scouts as there is no other movement doing so much for the future men of the town as is this organization. Camp was broken Tuesday and the boys from the towns north returned to their homes on the evening train. The boys from Carlsbad as well as the visitors, conducted themselves as gentlemen remembering their vow to "do a kind deed daily," and a person present could not help thinking that the country would be safe in the hands of the next generation, who are being taught lessons of patriotism and devotion to country and home, as are the scouts.

While out to the camp Monday, camp inspection was made, and in every instance, the camps were kept in such order as to call forth praises from the visitors.

Monday night the boys were brought to town in a body and were the guests of the management of the picture show, Mr. Linn, with his usual liberality offering them this courtesy, a compliment much appreciated by the scouts themselves and those who had them in charge.

Mention should also be made of the pictures of the scouts and their camp which were taken and which give a better idea of the size of the camp and the number of scouts than can be had in any other way. Old Glory occupied a prominent place in the camp.

A card to the reported of the Current from Cecil L. Brooks, singer for the Lockhart meetings held here recently, locates them in Wichita, Kansas, where Mr. Brooks is taking a course in singing with a teacher from New York City. In August they go for a month to Winona Lake, Indiana, for a month's schooling for singers. He gives the gratifying (?) assurance that he will surely be broke when he starts to work again in the fall. Mrs. Brooks is with him and they send their best regards to Carlsbad people, whom he says they will never forget.

Good roads are only possible under good officials. Watch your vote as well as your step.

LOVING NEWS

Sam Montgomery of Carlsbad is at Loving with a crew of movers to move the Loving Gin up by the Oil Mill to be built up and enlarged.

Link Stamp left for San Simon Tuesday morning to cook for a round-up.

Memora Rose, C. P. Pardue and Wright and families went fishing on Black River Tuesday evening.

Master Walter Smith, Jr., is able to be back to his home, from the Hospital at Carlsbad. He has been there on account of his foot, having stepped on a nail.

Miss Margaret Hilton of Carlsbad is spending a week with Miss Lillian Nicholson of Loving.

We made a mistake about Ward Lackey's baby being a nice big boy, but instead it is a nice big girl.

Mr. Edison will leave Saturday for Lake Arthur.

Miss Margaret and Kathryn Morrison left for Pecos to visit their grandparents Monday.

Mrs. N. R. Martin, the principle of the Loving schools, who has been attending summer school at Las Vegas, came home Thursday night.

The county doctor and nurse spent Thursday afternoon at the White Hall at Loving examining the babies.

Last Friday night, Loving had a severe wind and rainstorm. It blew buildings over and hay barn roofs off, and blew one corner of the seed house roof off.

Miss Leona Allinger is visiting friends in Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Rosson, Mr. and B. L. Narremore, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wyman and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickson enjoyed a delightful turkey dinner at Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Sunday.

"NICKEL SALE"

J. F. Flowers is putting on a sale that will be unique in the history of Carlsbad. It is called a "Nickel Sale" and many articles will be sold for two nickles, three nickles, etc. In addition to that, there will be specialties that will be sold for actual cost and in some instances below cost. These specialties will only be sold on certain days, and will all be of aluminum. The sale will begin next Wednesday and continue for ten days, and we predict the largest sale of household and other goods ever seen in this city. The idea is new and is allowed to only one store in a town or city. Watch the windows of J. F. Flowers' store for special bargains.

"THE THREE MUSKETEERS"

This, the newest of Douglas Fairbanks productions, has been secured at a high price by Mr. Linn for his patrons at Crawford Airdome, next Monday and Tuesday, July 17 and 18. This most enchanting story is truly a picture for everyone and as one has said: "from it the young can learn frankness, kindness, valor and generosity; the old may find forgetfulness of trouble and taste its antidote for sorrow." The price of this wonderful production has been placed at 25 and 50 cents, and the Airdome should and doubtless will be filled the two nights mentioned, in order to show appreciation of Mr. Linn's enterprise in securing this show, and to enjoy the wonderful "Three Musketeers."

Mrs. Roy Martin, principal of Loving school last year, and re-elected to the same position for the coming school year, returned from Las Vegas Thursday. She had been in attendance at the State Normal but had to give up her studies because of a serious indisposition. Her friends in Carlsbad as well as in her home town, are anxious for her complete recovery.

LAKEWOOD LOCALS

A. C. Crozier is the busiest man in town; he is laboring every day getting the cannery in shape for the reception of the big tomato crop, which at this time promises to be the best ever raised here.

Mrs. Mart McDonald and children came in from Lordsburg some days ago to join her husband who has been here for some weeks. They are now living in the Walter McDonald house in the east part of town.

Gabe Choate of Flagstaff, Arizona, came in Tuesday night for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Lewis Howell, and other relatives and old friends.

P. E. Jones, wife and baby, are spending most of their time at the W. T. Arnold ranch west of town. Uncle Lefe McDonald departed one night recently for Optima, Oklahoma, where he will spend the remainder of the summer with his son George, and family.

James Cunningham, Jr., came down from Portales and spent several days here, taking in the Fourth at Carlsbad, with old friends.

Miss Clara Scott who spent some time before and since the Fourth at Carlsbad, is at home again.

Jasper Fanning and family moved during the past week to Bluewater ranch in the Sacramento mountains, owned by W. C. Bates.

Mrs. Josie Plowman and baby, who have been staying with her mother and other relatives for some time, returned to her home at Malaga Wednesday.

Mrs. B. L. McAlister, daughter, Miss Mabel Robinson, and master Robert Wilcox motored to Elk, in the Sacramento mountains on business Wednesday.

Garden truck is getting to be rather plentiful now, being brought in from the local gardens almost every day.

Grant Kneppie and Doc Garber are both summer widowers, their wives being gone to visit in other states, and if either one of the gentlemen are tired and lonesome as he looks, he must be suffering severely with ennui.

Will Truitt and Jim Howell took some cattle from the river to the ranch west of town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Lee, son Al, Bert and Butch Lindsay went to Artesia on business Wednesday.

F. G. Tracy of Carlsbad, was a business visitor in Lakewood last Saturday.

Nat Camp gave a neighborhood barbecue at the Millman ranch last Saturday, which was attended by a few Lakewood people, and all report a fine time and plenty of eats.

Whichever Angel and father returned one day recently from a business visit to Vaughn, New Mexico.

Alex McDonald and bride departed on the first for Electra, Texas, where they will reside.

Miss Mabel Robinson and mother, and Luther Wilcox, motored to Last Chance on business last Sunday.

Lee Donald, Mrs. John Murrah and two smaller children, Mrs. Will Murrah and little daughter, all of Carlsbad, were visitors here Sunday.

BABY WEEK

This week has been designated as "Baby Week" by the County Health Department, and the work of examining the babies of the town went on without interruption Tuesday and Wednesday. The children are given a thorough examination as to weight, height, and general physical condition; their throats, ears and eyes and teeth, carefully gone over and recommendations made to their mothers. Twenty-four babies were examined the first day and almost as many the second, and the recommendations made cannot fail to be of benefit through the mothers to the children, if acted upon. It certainly speaks well for Carlsbad that this work can be done, as it is only recently that it has been taken up outside of the large cities. The same work will be done at Loving and Malaga.

William Balz has recently installed an eight inch centrifugal pump on his place three miles south of Malaga which is doing fine work pumping water on the fine forty acres of cotton, the water being taken directly from the river. The soil is excellent, and the cotton is now about two feet high. Mr. Balz has in the tract, 320 acres and all of it capable of cultivation and irrigation. He has owned the land for about fifteen years, but never developed it until this year. His success shows what may be accomplished by intelligent, systematic endeavor. What has been accomplished by Mr. Balz, may be accomplished by others, with the same amount of pluck and stick-to-it-iveness.

Mrs. George Zangleine, whose husband recently died in this city, left Monday for Detroit, Michigan. She expects to return later on, and says she will make her home with us. She appreciates to the fullest extent all the kindness she received at the hands of Carlsbad people, since the death of her husband. Mrs. Zangleine has been stopping with Mrs. Chris Walter.

51 SCOUTS ARE HOME—BIG OUTFEET

Roswell News, July 13th.

Fifty-one of Roswell's Boy Scouts with four scout officials, returned from the Carlsbad scout encampment yesterday where they had spent a full week enjoying one of the best scout camps that has ever been held in this part of the country.

The scouts made the trip to Carlsbad and back in trucks provided by the camping committee of the local scout council of which Ernest Malone is the chairman. Dr. H. V. Fall and Colonel F. W. Thompson are the other members, leaving Roswell at 4:40 the morning of the Fourth and reaching Carlsbad at 9:55 with no mishaps of any kind to mar the trip.

The camp was located about two miles north of town on the F. G. Tracy farm in a meadow covered with clover and Bermuda grass and surrounded by mulberry and orange trees—an ideal spot close enough to the Pecos to make the river easily accessible for swimming and far enough away to make mosquitoes very scarce indeed. The scouts were sheltered by squad tents loaned by the state highway department, and sanitary conditions were the very best.

The Fourth and fifth were days of celebration in Carlsbad and the scouts were allowed to join in the fun, taking full advantage of the finest swimming place in New Mexico, the lake formed by the Carlsbad Light and Power company's dam across the Pecos, and doing full justice to the barbecued beef provided for the thousands of visitors in the city on the Fourth and the fish fry on the fifth. A huge city truck was furnished to haul the scouts to and from town.

Thursday, with the celebration over, camp life began in earnest and enough work was intermixed with play during the three following days to keep scouts from becoming sluggish, instruction in scoutcraft alternating with hikes and swims. On Sunday morning religious services were conducted in camp by the pastors of three of Carlsbad's leading churches, Reverend Lowry, Reverend Mahan and Reverend Sellers, and in the afternoon the scouts were given liberty to go and come as they chose.

Monday was "visitors' day" and never were visitors more welcome than those who visited the scout camp for they came heavily laden with good things to eat. There were pies and cakes and jelly rolls and fried chicken and a dozen kinds of salad and candies, and peaches, and apples, and other goodies too numerous to enumerate. "Dutch" Eccles, the cook, an "A" rated an extra good dinner and visitors and scouts ate together in picnic fashion. When dinner was over eighty odd scouts were literally too full for utterance, but when supper time came appetites had returned and the huge freezer of ice cream provided for dessert was scraped clean in record time. All the scouts in camp attended the Crawford airdome as the guests of the proprietor, Mr. Linn, and none who heard the fifteen rials for Linn at the end of the show doubted that Mr. Linn's guests were appreciative ones.

Roswell scouts broke camp at 4:30 Tuesday morning, trucks were soon loaded, breakfast was eaten in a hurry and the homeward trip begun at 5:30. The journey home was made in good time with no mishaps, scouts arriving home about noon, tired and sunburned, but happy.

About eighty scouts were in camp the number being made up in addition to Roswell scouts of about twenty from Carlsbad, four from Vaughn, two from Hagerman, and two from Pecos. The camp was in charge of Bert Rawlins, scoutmaster of Troop 1 of Carlsbad. Other scout officials in camp were Assistant Scoutmaster Ray Davis of Carlsbad, Scoutmaster Wilmer White of Carlsbad, Scoutmaster Otis Brennan of Roswell, Assistant Scoutmasters Carl Bird and Joe Spencer of Roswell, and Acting Scout Executive Dan Burrows of Roswell.

MARRIED AT ROSWELL

Earl Bowers and Miss Christine Kroeger were married at Roswell, Wednesday, July 12, at 10 A. M. They were accompanied to that city by Lee Donald and Mrs. Ruby Murrah, sister of the bride, who were the only witnesses of the ceremony, which took place in the office of the justice of the peace.

Mrs. Bowers is the young daughter of Mrs. Rosa Murrah, and her father, deceased many years ago, was Mr. Kroeger, of Black River, one of the old-timers in the valley.

Mr. Bowers has not been a resident of the county very long, but his bride has many friends to wish them both a long and happy married life together. They will make their home in Roswell.

The most insignificant person can easily attract attention by anorling in church.

The building is north of the R. C. Toffelmire home, which is one of the prettiest residences in the city, and will consist of four rooms and bath and glassed-in sleeping porch. When completed, Carlsbad can boast of one more beautiful home, it being built in the well-known Toffelmire style.

ROAD BUILDING

PROBLEM OF SKEWED BRIDGE

Methods Used for Calculating Stresses and Proportioning Are Not Approved.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Methods of calculating the stresses and proportioning the size of skewed concrete-arch bridges which have been considered good practice in the past may be incorrect and result in the collapse of the structure, according to engineers of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. A skew bridge is one in which the center line of the bridge is not perpendicular with the abutment on which the bridge rests, and is used when a bridge crosses a stream or railway track diagonally. The bureau is jointly responsible with the several state highway departments for the correctness of the design of all structures on federal-aid roads, and for this reason the problem is being carefully studied.

WIDER HIGHWAYS WIN FAVOR

Originally Engineers Considered 10-Foot Roadway Adequate—Now Urge 20 Feet.

Former Superintendent of Illinois Highways S. E. Brant of DeKalb, Ill., who has done much to boost the good roads movement in his state, says engineers originally considered a 10-foot highway adequate to meet the needs of traffic between populous centers.

Then they learned the folly of this contention and boosted the width. It was finally made 16 feet. Roads are being built 18 feet in width and now come prominent engineers advocating a 20-foot highway.

The shoulder maintenance is a prominent factor entering into this problem. The upkeep of a shoulder usually exceeds the original cost of the extra two feet of pavement, it has been learned by experience. For this reason highway experts are going on record advocating the wider pavement for trunk line highways. The upkeep of shoulders is very high, especially where there is heavy truck traffic.

PAVED ROADS AND DAIRYING

As More Improved Highways Are Constructed Milk Routes Are Being Extended.

Paved roads and dairying go hand in hand. As more improved roads are constructed, milk routes are extended and the farmer farther from the city is provided with a market for his milk. Over unimproved routes requiring wagon delivery, the longest route possible is only approximately 15 miles while over paved highways, traveled by motortrucks, routes covering as high as 40 miles are established. Large areas of prospective dairy country are waiting only the construction of more hard surfaced roads. When these are built, many more farmers, now cut off from their market, will receive the benefit of the economical and rapid transportation made possible by the motortruck and the paved highway.

HIGHWAYS ON PACIFIC COAST

Various Western States and Government to Spend Immense Sum for Road Improvements.

Twenty million dollars, the largest amount of money expended in one year on the Pacific coast by the federal government on state highways and post roads, is to be spent during this season. The western states, Washington, Oregon, California, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico will expend the same amount. Many of the roads will be 20 feet wide and of concrete six inches thick, much heavier than highways built by the states heretofore.

Benefits of Good Roads.
Good roads in the country will do more to lower the high cost of living and more for the prosperity, comfort, culture and happiness of the people than things fought over in 12 presidential campaigns.

Good of Motortruck Lines.
The establishment of motor truck express lines in every farming community will stimulate the production of more food, reduce the cost of living and probably will make public markets successful in American cities.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS OF NEW MEXICO

Compiled by Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., Expenditures.

Washington, D. C., June 5, 1922.—The Department of Commerce issued today a census report showing the costs of government for the state of New Mexico for the fiscal year ended November 30, 1920. The total amounted to $5,458,119, which was a per capita cost of $15.09. In 1917 the per capita cost was $8.17, and in 1914, $4.06, the totals for these years being $2,873,390 and $1,384,824, respectively. The per capita costs for 1920 consisted of expenses of general departments, $9.22; payments for interest, $0.53; and for outlays, $5.33.

The total revenue receipts in 1920 were $5,884,714, or $16.27 per capita. For the fiscal year the per capita excess of revenue receipts over governmental costs was, therefore, $1.18.

Sources of Revenue.
Property and special taxes constitute the greater part of the revenue in a majority of states. In New Mexico they represented 38.3 per cent for 1920, 49.1 per cent for 1917 and 55.1 per cent for 1914. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 4.9 per cent from 1914 to 1917, and 100.4 per cent from 1917 to 1920. The per capita property and special taxes for the three specified years were $6.23, $3.20, and $3.14, respectively.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 12 per cent of the total revenue for 1920, 14.5 per cent for 1917, and 4.4 per cent for 1914.

Business and non-business licenses, which in previous years included receipts from liquor licenses, constituted 5.2 per cent of the total revenue for 1920, 5.3 per cent for 1917, and 1.6 per cent for 1914. Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, while those from non-business licenses comprise taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges.

Indebtedness.
The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of New Mexico is increasing, being $8.83 per capita for 1920, $7.96 for 1917, and $3.61 for 1914. Assessed Valuations and Tax Levies.

In nearly all states the property subject to the general property tax varies in the reported basis of assessment, though in most instances the law requires that property be assessed at full market value. For this reason the best measure of cost to the property owner is the per capita tax levy. The per capita levy for New Mexico for 1920 was $6.14.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS

The last examination for teachers in our public schools will be held July 21st and 22nd. This will be the last examination to be held this year, and teachers desiring to take such examination should bear it in mind.

Applicants for certification by examination should notify the county superintendent as early as possible. GEO. M. BRINTON, County Superintendent of Schools.

Firestone GUM-DIPPED CORDS -and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Steele, aunt of Eugene Little and Mrs. J. I. Penny, who has been visiting at the home of her niece and nephew in Carlsbad, for the past six weeks, left for her home at Corsicana, Texas, Saturday morning.

J. N. Hervay of Corsicana, Texas, left for his home last Saturday, leaving his family in the city. They are occupying the Grantham residence on Green Heights.

The family of L. D. Poteet left this week for points in California, south of San Francisco, where they will make their home. The Current unhesitatingly commends this splendid family to the citizens of whatever place they may decide to locate, and greatly regret their leaving.

Mrs. Pete Hoover returned the second of this month from a visit to friends near Houston, Texas, and was sick when she got off the train. A physician was called at once and she was found to be suffering from a light attack of diphtheria, and the premises were at once quarantined. Pete missed all of the glorious Fourth of July celebration, and was only allowed his freedom the first of this week. Mrs. Hoover is getting on nicely at this time, but says she does not want to make any more visits to Texas for awhile, at least.

George Brantley, wife and son, Draper, left Sunday on their vacation trip to points in Texas, where most of Mrs. Brantley's relatives reside. They will probably be gone a month or more and made the trip in their car, going in leisurely fashion and stopping along the road at their own sweet will. An ideal way of taking a vacation.

Mrs. S. T. Gilmore, of Sonora, Texas, left for her home Saturday after a pleasant visit at the home of her brother, W. T. Reed and her sister, Mrs. Mary Reed Miller, of Carlsbad. Mrs. Gilmore received numerous social courtesies during her stay in town, she being one of the early residents of the city.

TYPHOID FEVER

Typhoid fever is more prevalent in the Summer and Fall months. There is no section in the U. S. which is entirely free from this disease. There is an unquestionable relationship between flies, surface toilets and typhoid fever. We must fight the fly and eliminate the unsanitary privies but even then we will have a few cases of typhoid fever unless we make use of another very important factor in the elimination of this disease. Remember there is such a thing as being immunized against typhoid fever.

Do you come in contact with Typhoid Patients? Do you live or travel in the Country?—Do you eat food prepared in an unscreened kitchen? Is your food served in an unscreened Dining Room? Do you drink unboiled water from an open Spring or from surface streams? You should be immunized against Typhoid. It costs about three dollars to be vaccinated. The average cost of a case of Typhoid is one hundred and seventy-five dollars.

Be immunized by your Physician. For further information concerning immunization against Typhoid Fever address or see your family physician or the County Health Officer.

COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Eddy County.

Mrs. Otis Jones, of El Paso, a sister of Mrs. Archie Nelson, of this place, left for her home Tuesday morning, after spending a week in this city. She visited relatives in Roswell over Sunday and left the little daughter, Gwendoline, in that city with relatives, for a longer visit.

Cecil Matkins was arrested last week in Carlsbad, charged with skipping his bills, and was taken to Roswell to answer the charge. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Rector, of that city.

Edwin Stephenson, wife and Miss Grace returned last Friday night from their trip to Hot Wells, this state, where they spent ten days very pleasantly and profitably, but are glad to be at home once more.

L. H. Perry, of Spur, Texas, and his son, were guests of the J. E. Lavertys last week during the celebration, and left for their home Friday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Laverty, who will spend a short time at Spur on a visit. They went through in an automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nuffer, the lady a sister of Mrs. Harvey Fisher, left for their home at Lawrence, Kansas, last Wednesday. They made a pleasant visit although a short one, and had the privilege of seeing the little town at its best, during the celebration. Friends here are hoping for a longer visit next time from these genial young people.

Mrs. M. E. York returned to Roswell, Monday night after spending a week with her son and family in Carlsbad.

Uncle Walt's Story

THE DIFFERENCE

"I SAW you coming up the street and standing at the gate with Mr. Honeybug and Mr. Playfair," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "All three of you were laughing so the whole neighborhood could hear you. I wonder why you do all the laughing with your friends, and do nothing but grumble and scowl at home. I haven't seen you laugh in the house in five years, as you laughed out there with those men."

"There's nothing in this house to laugh at," replied Jamesworthy. "Jim Honeybug is a good story-teller, and he was telling us a bully yarn, and for a brief season we forgot the burdens laid upon us, which are greater than we can bear. If you could tell a story as well as Honeybug does, I'd fill these ancestral halls with silvery laughter, but you never try to say anything amusing, Mrs. Jamesworthy. You do tell stories, but they are of a gloomy and tragic character."

"Last night, when I came home, you told a dramatic story to the effect that you had callers all afternoon, and hadn't a chance to cook anything for me, and so I had to eat canned salmon and soda crackers, and wash them down with water, and I insist that when a husband comes home from his arduous labors in the clanging mart, so empty that his watch chain makes a clanking sound when it flaps against his spine, he should have warm victuals, something he can consume with pleasure and pride. The fact that you had an invasion of callers is a cheap excuse."

"My sainted mother never would have permitted any callers to interfere with her management of the cook-stove. She realized that her old man kept the shebang going, and that he should have the right of way. If any old hens happened to be in the house when grub time approached, my mother would request them, firmly but respectfully, to chase themselves, and if they didn't like it they could lump it. When my father came home from his work, the hay was always in the manger for him, and he never had to wait five minutes for a meal."

"The day before yesterday, when I came staggering home, faint and weary from my herculean efforts to make both ends meet, you told me another story. It was to the effect that you had been downtown sizing up a shipment of new spring hats, just received at the millinery foundry, and you were so interested you forgot the lapse of time, and didn't get home in time to cook anything. But you flashed a winning smile at me, and said it wouldn't take you ten minutes to warm up a can of beans, and there was some cold coffee left from breakfast, and you had plenty of smoked herrings on hand."

"Doubtless I should have burst forth into boisterous laughter over this entertaining anecdote, but somehow it didn't appeal to my sense of humor. I was so busy that day I hadn't time to eat anything at noon, and all the way home I was hoping you would have a porterhouse steak about three inches thick, and a raft of boiled potatoes, and perhaps a slab of mince pie as an epilogue."

"The day before that, when I came home as hollow as a bass drum, and fairly gnashing my teeth with hunger, you related a humorous story to the effect that your club didn't adjourn on time that afternoon, and you didn't get home until late, so I would have to get along with a pickled-up supper. If I would be patient a few minutes, you said, to make the story seem more spicy, you would boil an egg for me, and there was cold corn bread in the cupboard."

"Such stories, Mrs. Jamesworthy, may seem highly amusing to an innocent bystander, and I have no doubt they would make a great hit if written up and printed in London Punch, but there is something wrong with my sense of humor, or I am at the wrong end of the stories. Anyhow, I can't gurgie over them as I do over Honeybug's yarns."

FARM ANIMALS

BLACK COLOR IS HEREDITARY

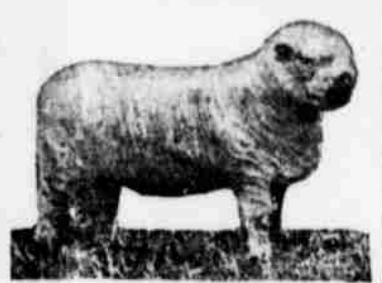

Feeding and Management of Sheep Have Nothing to Do With Appearance of Black Lambs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The appearance of black lambs in a flock made up entirely of white sheep has been for ages, and is still, a cause for wonder and the basis of superstitions. But the study of the laws of breeding and heredity has explained the reasons for the sporadic appearance of these off-color specimens. In a letter to a farmer who reported 25 black lambs from a flock of 175 purebred Shropshire ewes, all white, and who considered certain feeds the cause, the United States Department of Agriculture gives a clear statement of the principles involved.

Feeding and management of sheep, says Dr. Sewall Wright, specialist in animal genetics, have nothing to do with the appearance of black lambs. The black color is hereditary even though it may be transmitted by ordinary white sheep. The black color in such a case is what is called a recessive character. White sheep which transmit this character at all transmit black in 50 per cent of their reproductive cells (ova in the case of ewes and spermatozoa in the case of rams) and white in the remaining 50 per cent. Thus, such white sheep mated with blacks (which can only transmit black) produce 50 per cent black lambs and 50 per cent white. All of these white lambs can transmit black.

White sheep which transmit only white, mated with blacks, produce only white lambs, but all of these lambs can transmit black. When both ewe and ram are white, but both transmit black, about 25 per cent of the lambs are black, 50 per cent are white, which transmit black, while the remaining 25 per cent are true-breeding whites.

A Shropshire Sheep.

In this case it is an even chance that a given ovum will transmit black and an even chance that it will be fertilized by a male cell which transmits black, making one chance in four that both transmit black, which is necessary for the production of a black lamb.

With 25 black lambs appearing in the flock, it is indicated that about 100 of the 175 ewes transmit black, assuming that all of the rams used transmit it. If not all the rams transmit this color, then it is probable that an even larger number of ewes transmit it.

Department of Agriculture Bulletin 905, Principles of Live Stock Breeding, contains a detailed discussion of this problem. It may be obtained from the superintendent of public documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., for 15 cents.

DRY BRAN GOOD FOR HORSES

Better for Animals Easily Purged Than Warm Mash—Easy on Digestive Apparatus.

In cases of horses that are easily purged, it is better to give dry bran than a warm mash, and good clean bran may, with benefit, always form a portion of the dry food of all sorts of young horses, as the mineral constituents will be available as bone-forming material. In most cases of illness a bran mash may with safety and benefit be given, as it does not overtax the digestive apparatus, but when there is evident irritability of the bowels, as in diarrhea, etc., it is better to give bran in a dry state than in the form of a mash.

A warm bran mash is, however, of great service to horses that are working hard and receiving a large amount of grain. It should be given on the Saturday night, or any other time when the horses are resting the following day, as it has a decidedly laxative effect on the bowels. Bran in a dry state is an astringent, but in the form of a mash it is a laxative. If given once a week it will counteract the feverish symptoms which are supposed to result from high feeding, but this should not follow if a proper system of feeding is adopted.

EXCELLENT FOR YOUNG PIGS

Pasture Supplemented by Limited Grain Allowance Is Fine—Animals Kept Thrifty.

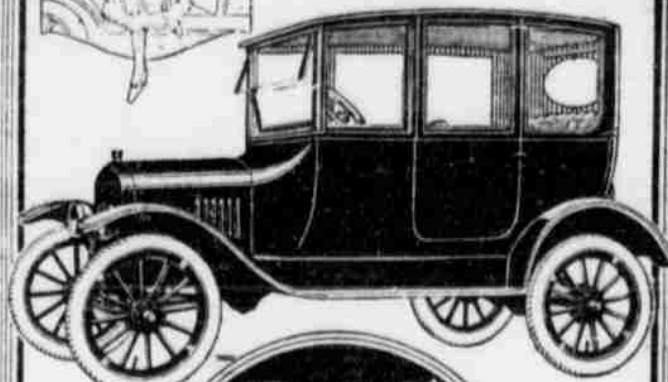

Good pasture supplemented by a limited grain allowance is an excellent ration for young pigs. The pigs on pasture not only make cheaper gains, but the succulent feed and exercise they obtain aids in keeping them thrifty.

Government chemists are now working out a means of producing a cheap fuel for motor cars from corn cobs, and are said to be meeting with gratifying success. It is doubtful, however, if it will ever be placed on the market where the users of motor cars can take advantage of it at reduced cost. The oil and gasoline interests are too rich and powerful to ever allow such disastrous competition with their industry to exist. Periodically we hear such reports, and motorists become enthused over the possibility of cheaper fuel for their engines. Then the project goes the way of its predecessors—possibly through stratagulation—and the public continues to line the pockets of the oil barons.

Even the Washington Post, whose editor deserted the party of his fathers to enjoy the social entree at the White House, can see no good in the performances of the present Congress. In reading the following extract from a Post editorial, it is well to remember that there are sixty Republican members of the Senate: "The situation in the Senate at this moment constitutes an indictment of the good sense of the Republican party. At this moment, when Congress is under the fire of criticism, and the record of the Republican party is under scrutiny, when millions of voters are making up their minds on the evidence presented, the Republicans of the Senate are making a record of absenteeism and neglect of public business that will surely return to plague them. On Saturday, when a call of the Senate was made, only 36 Republican senators answered to their names. Possibly each of the absentees had a good excuse for his absence; but in the list appeared the names of several who have been habitually absent, although they are reported to be in good health and anxious to serve their country as senators. So anxious are some of them, in fact, that they have deserted the Senate chamber for the stump where they rely upon their eloquence to convince the voter that this is the best Congress that has ever met."

DEATH OF PETER ROCKINBAUGH

The death of Peter Rockinbaugh who expired Monday, July 10, at Sisters' Hospital, while not unexpected, cast a gloom over the city, where he was so well known and where all who knew him counted him a friend. His illness was of five weeks duration, and the five weeks were filled with such agony as man is seldom called upon to suffer. From the first it was seen that the battle was a losing one, his strength having been undermined by hemorrhages at different times, until nature could no longer hold out. Always a brave man, his bravery was manifested on his sick bed, when he put up such a heroic fight against a man's last enemy, Death.

Peter Rockinbaugh was born in Millersburg, Indiana and would have been fifty years old this coming October. He was married to his bereft widow, who was Miss Mary Creekmon, sixteen years ago and to them were born two children, one of whom preceded the father to the other shore and the other, Paul, remains to comfort his mother in her loneliness. Mr. Rockinbaugh was a great traveler, and had been in every state in the Union with possibly two exceptions. He had also spent some time in the Klondike and a couple of years in Cuba. He had been a resident of Carlsbad for two years, coming here from Fort Bayard, New Mexico, where he had been under treatment for tuberculosis which he contracted while in the United States army, he having been in the service over twenty-eight years. At one time in his life he quit the army and fired an engine for about a year on a railroad in Indiana, but later re-entered the army. He was discharged therefrom for total disability just previous to the time he came to this city.

He leaves besides his wife and son, his mother, two sisters and two brothers, who all live in the vicinity of Millersburg, Kentucky.

Peter Rockinbaugh was everyone's friend. If he had an enemy it was some one from out of town. While condemning wrong wherever he found it he was charitable to the wrongdoer and always had an encouraging word for anyone in poor health or who was "down and out" or battling against adverse circumstances.

The funeral was held at 5 o'clock, Tuesday, with a very large attendance, and Old Glory, whom he held in the greatest love and reverence, was draped over the casket. The Masons, of which order he was a member and had been for many years, had charge of the services at the graveside, where the beautiful and impressive ritual was given, Joseph Wertheim, Worthy Master, presiding. "Asleep in Jesus, Blessed Sleep," and "In the Sweet By-and-by," were sung, Mrs. Harry McKim, Frank Kinkel, Bill Hudgins and J. S. Oliver being the singers. The pall bearers were all brother Masons, ex-service men, and friends of the deceased: Messrs. Guy Reed, Chas. Montgomery, Fred Wilson, E. H. Weaver, Pence, and Farrell.

After the committal service, a firing squad rendered the dead soldier military honors and Dibble Pate sounded Taps, and the mortal remains of Peter Rockinbaugh, devoted husband and father, heroic soldier of his country and faithful friend of us all, were laid to rest in the little cemetery to await the summons of the Resurrection morn. "He sleeps his last sleep, he has fought his last battle. No sound can awake him to glory again."

May the life of Peter Rockinbaugh and his devotion to duty, inspire us all to nobler aims and higher ideals.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish through the Current to extend our thanks and appreciation to the citizens of Carlsbad, all of whom we count as our friends, for their many kindnesses to us in our late sorrow and bereavement. To the Masonic Lodge for their assistance during the illness and at the burial of our husband and father, and to the friends, and for their beautiful flowers. Our grateful thanks are due and our prayers are offered for God's blessings upon all. MRS. PETER ROCKINBAUGH, PAUL ROCKINBAUGH.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. Lurie

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"I SEEN HIM."

FREQUENTLY we hear a person say, "I seen him do it," and it is not always a person who has not been educated in the proper use of English. In the language of the grammarian, the speaker does not make proper distinction between "saw," the preterit, or past, form of the verb "see," and the past participle of the same word. The principal parts of "see" are as follows: Present, "see"; past, "saw"; imperfect participle, "seeing"; perfect participle, "seen." Therefore, the sentence should have been worded, "I saw him do it," not "I seen him do it." We hear a person say, "I have saw" or "I would have saw." In those cases, of course, the expressions should be, "I have seen," "I would have seen," since "seen" is the participle to be used after any form of the auxiliary or helping verb "have."

The Marvin Livingstons spent the week end with friends from El Paso, who have a camp in the Guadalupe.

At a recent examination of applicants for licenses to practise medicine in New Mexico, held at Santa Fe, Dr. H. P. Oliver and Dr. Eneals received licenses.

Mrs. Barney Hopkins and son, Barney, Junior, are both under the doctor's care this week. Mrs. Hopkins from lumbago and the little boy having some throat trouble which has weakened him greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dow and daughter are camping near the Thayer ranch in the mountains this week. Mrs. Dow's uncle and her sister, Mr. and Miss Henderson, of Fort Worth, are with them.

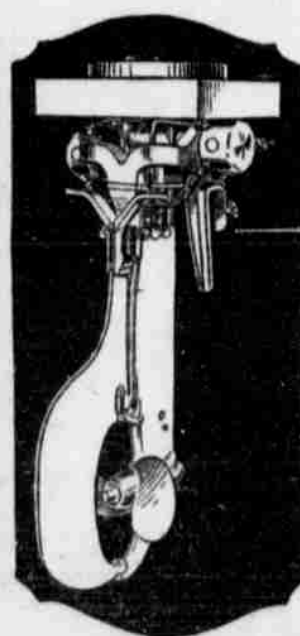

Mrs. York will leave for Roswell Saturday night, where she will accompany her little daughter Eloise Lennett, who will remain with her grandmother in that city. Later the little girl and her grandmother will go to the White mountains for a two weeks outing.

Dorris, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Perry, met with an accident last Tuesday that might have been serious, but as it happens was only painful. While playing on the sleeping porch in their home on North Canal street, a window cord broke, letting the window fall on her head. A physician was summoned and the cut sewed up and aside from the pain, no serious results are expected.

Mrs. Sam Helmick returned from Roswell last Wednesday, where she had been called to attend the sick bed of her son, Frank Moritz, who however, was much better when she returned.

DEATH OF A SOLDIER

Benjamin Rodriguez, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Rodriguez, died at Sisters Hospital Tuesday afternoon, from tuberculosis, and was laid to rest Wednesday morning, from St. Edwards Catholic church, after the celebration of a requiem high mass, he having become a convert to that faith during his illness, and while being cared for by the sisters at the hospital. He received Christian baptism a few hours before his death.

The deceased has been a resident of Carlsbad for about two years, coming from his home in Louisiana, for the benefit of our fine climate, he having contracted tuberculosis while in the service. He enlisted September 5, 1918, at Oak Grove, Louisiana, and was discharged April 11, 1919, from detention Camp Bowie, Texas. His reputation while in camp was excellent, no A. O. W. L. was marked up against him. He was born January 25, 1897, and was consequently 25 years, 5 months, 17 days of age.

He leaves to mourn his loss a father and mother, three brothers, and four sisters, besides a large number of friends in this city, who have been interested in him and cared for him and now sorrow with the family.

He was born at Pioneer, Louisiana, his father's family joining him here some months ago and remaining here with him until the end, which came suddenly and peacefully Tuesday afternoon.

Father Gilbert, the priest in charge of St. Edwards, preached a beautiful sermon, taking for his theme our Saviour's words, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, but unto God the things that are God's." His address was replete with beautiful thoughts and lofty expressions of duty to country, and home and friends, and also to the Giver of all Good. Standing in front of the casket, with its flag draped covering, he said that in the midst of sorrow, there should be a feeling of pride on the part of the dead man's parents and friends that he had so nobly performed his duties and given his life for his country, altho no blood had been shed by him on the field of battle. That at the call of country he had known but the one home and that home was anywhere under the flag. He was no coward or traitor, the flag under which he sleeps is proof of that the wreath of victory crowns his casket today. He was as true a hero as any who shed his life blood on the battle field, and his name will not be forgotten.

After the sermon the casket was carried to the Catholic Cemetery, members of the Legion acting in the capacity of pall bearers, and were Frank Kindel, John Bogel, Lowell Warren, W. H. Gossett, Claude DeMoss, and Horace Hutchins. A firing squad accompanied the remains to the cemetery and gave him a soldier's honors. Dibrill Pate playing "Taps".

The family is entitled to and is receiving the sympathy of all who know them, in the death of the son and brother, and from the fact that a daughter, is lying very low with the same disease contracted it is thought by her devotion to her brother.

"Oh, who but must pine in this dark vale of tears, From its clouds and its shadows to go? To walk in the light of its glory above, And to share in the peace, and the joy and the love, Of the Land which no mortal may know."

Where things are new

The Chamber of Commerce luncheon was held at the Crawford Hotel this week, and Mrs. Boatman, now in charge, had prepared a fine spread of baked chicken and other seasonable things to tempt the appetite of the forty who sat down to lunch there yesterday.

After the meal was finished speeches were made by L. G. Hepworth, of Topeka, Kansas, who spoke of the alfalfa interests, and of the benefit to be derived from an alfalfa mill. He advocated the feeding of cattle and sheep at home in order that the farmer might not be absolutely dependent on markets in the east for the amount received for his hay. Mr. Bloom, of Texas, Arkansas, a cotton mill, talked from the standpoint of the necessity of cotton warehousing, and advanced several arguments in favor of housing the staple until it is sold. Mr. Bloom has been here in other years and has a wide acquaintance among our business men.

Francis G. Tracy spoke for the Cavalry troop, and suggested that a dance be given for their benefit every Wednesday night after the drill. He thought that might be an incentive to the members of the troop to attend.

A party of congenial friends, eleven in number, honored Mrs. J. Kircher and children, visitors at their old home, from Los Angeles, by a picnic at Dark Canyon Wells, last night. The party motored out and had a delightful time, roasting weenies and cooking bacon over a real campfire.

The worst of our worries are over things that never happen.

A wire received in Carlsbad yesterday announces the death of R. R. Hanson, father of Mrs. Clarence Richards, and also of Earl Hanson, deceased. His death occurred at Villa Grove, Illinois, July 10th, from pneumonia. No particulars were given but the current hopes to have more news for our next issue. Mr. Hanson was a resident of Carlsbad for years, moving to Illinois a couple of years ago.

The family of Will Purdy and his sister, Mrs. R. L. Hailey left this morning for California, where they will make a lengthy visit with the parents of Mr. Purdy who now reside in Long Beach. The young ladies, Misses Catherine and Elizabeth, will enter school at Los Angeles, in the fall.

Reverend Failer, the Sunday School man, came down from Roswell yesterday and expected to continue his journey to Last Chance where Reverend Terry and Burnett are conducting a protracted meeting at this time.

Bennett Hill of Carlsbad is in the city visiting with his family for a few days. He reports conditions much better in Eddy county following the recent rains.—Roswell News

The following prominent workers in the Mexican Mission have left for Los Angeles, California: Antonio Chavez and wife, Gregoria Chavez, Abel Chavez and wife, Luis and Gonzales Marichalar. Luis Marichalar is to enter school in September in El Paso, Texas.

At the home of the officiating minister, Rev. D. F. Sellards, July 3, 1922, H. J. Haralson, of Roswell, was married to Miss Ruby Howell, of Hope. The young people will make their home in Roswell, and are now receiving the good wishes and congratulations of many friends.

Miss Frankie Howell left Saturday night for the Adirondack mountains, out of Utica, New York, where she will spend the remainder of the heated term with a friend who has a lodge in that cool and picturesque locality.

The Evening Bridge club will meet at the Eddy House, in La Huerta, tonight with Mrs. Frank Tracy as hostess.

SANTA FE ADJUSTS CHARGES

The Chamber of Commerce has just received word that it has convinced the Santa Fe railroad of the necessity of making certain changes in railroad rates, which the organization presented to them during the past few months. At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and apple growers, the Chamber of Commerce promised to do everything in its power to get better rates on apples, and the growers promised to produce better fruit than ever before.

This was decided after a special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce last January had gone into the apple marketing situation, saw the difficulties ahead for this year, and made certain recommendations.

The Chamber of Commerce has already made good on a large part of its effort and it is understood that practically all the growers are making good on theirs. The principal difficulty with the rate situation, according to the report, was in the rates to New Mexico and Arizona points, and between New Mexico points on fresh fruits and vegetables. This latter provision has been a bone of contention between shippers and the railroad for several years and former efforts of the shippers were not successful.

However, T. B. Gallaher, general freight agent, has just advised the Chamber of Commerce that he has issued instructions for new tariffs, to carry the provision providing for three stops for loading or unloading in transit on fresh fruits and vegetables. He also advised that reduction below the general 10 percent reduction will be made to a number of New Mexico points. The Arizona rates are still under discussion, the Arizona carriers not having made their decision yet.

The concessions are made at a time when the tendency of all railroads is to reduce rather than increase such privileges and is a clear indication that the Santa Fe is eager to do everything possible to help in the development of markets for Pecos Valley products. In the event favorable decision is made on the Arizona situation—and it is believed the rates will be lowered—the Chamber of Commerce, with the hearty cooperation of Santa Fe officials, will have accomplished considerable for the apple and vegetable industry in the Pecos Valley. —Koswell News.

DIED AT SISTER'S HOSPITAL

A sad death was that of Mrs. Marguerite Harrison, who passed away from earth and its toils and sorrows Monday at Sister's Hospital.

Mrs. Harrison came here about three weeks ago, joining her husband who had been here for several weeks, and who is himself a sufferer from the same disease, from the ravages of which she died, tuberculosis. By this death, three little children, the eldest six years and the youngest two years of age, are left motherless. The deceased was but twenty-five years old, and her home was in Louisiana.

Her funeral occurred from the Catholic church at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, after services at that church, and interment was in St. Francis cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for the husband, now confined to his bed, and for the little children.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON FOR JULY 16

THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL.

LESSON TEXT—Dan. 5:1-31.
GOLDEN TEXT—God will bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.—Eccl. 12:14.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Gen. 19:1-3; Exod. 14:21-31; Ezek. 12:1-14; Acts 12:3-22.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Daniel Tells the King of His Wrong-Doing.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Belshazzar's Feast and Fate.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Judgment Against King Alcohol.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Enforce the Judgment Against Strong Drink.

I. Belshazzar's Impious Feast (vv. 1-4).

1. Who attended (vv. 1, 2). Belshazzar, his wife and concubines and a thousand of his lords.

2. Behavior thereof (vv. 3, 4). (1) They drank wine; they engaged in revelry. (2) They committed sacrilege. In their drunken revelry they drank wine out of the sacred vessels which had been taken out of the temple, of the house of God, which was at Jerusalem. When men are under the influence of intoxicating liquors they lose all regard for sacred things. (3) They worshiped idols. They prayed to gods of gold and of silver, of brass, of iron, wood and stone.

II. The Handwriting on the Wall (vv. 5-16).

1. The time of (v. 5). It occurred in the same hour in which they were engaged in their drunken revelry.

2. The effect upon the king (v. 6). He was greatly disturbed; he was seized with consternation. "The joints of his loins were loosed, and his knees smote one against another."

3. The king's behavior (vv. 7-16).

(1) He called forth astrologers and soothsayers, offering rewards of gold and position (v. 7-9). Their utter inability to interpret the writing left the king even more perplexed. (2) Daniel brought to the suggestion of the queen (vv. 10-16). The queen here was perhaps the wife of Nebuchadnezzar who remembered Daniel's service in interpreting his dream. For that reason he was sent for and promised great reward.

III. Daniel Interprets the Writing (vv. 17-28).

1. Daniel's address to the king (vv. 17-24). He brushes aside his proffered gifts (v. 17). He would not have his speech limited by the king's gifts.

2. The interpretation of the writing (vv. 25-28). (1) "Mene" means "numbered" (v. 26). "God hath numbered thy kingdom and finished it." (2) "Tekel" means "weighed" (v. 27). "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting." (3) "Peres" means "divided" (v. 28). "Thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians."

IV. The Judgment Executed (vv. 29-31).

In that night was Belshazzar slain and Darius the Median took the kingdom.

The Chaldean dynasty ended with Belshazzar. So we may interpret this whole scene as pointing to the conditions at the close of the times of the Gentiles and as adumbrating the prevailing conditions. Let us note:

1. The stupidity of men. They, like people today, would not learn by example. Nebuchadnezzar's fate should have deterred Belshazzar from such frivolity.

2. The magnificent splendor. This great feast was characterized by pomp, display, parade. How characteristic of this age!

3. Luxury. The famous hanging gardens of Babylon were a noteworthy example. Signs of luxury today are on every hand.

4. Licentiousness. The king with his wives and concubines. This is notoriously prevalent today.

5. Blasphemous sacrilege. And may not the sacrilege of today be in excess of theirs, expressing itself in (1) a profession of religion for pecuniary gain, social and political preferment; (2) use of the pulpit and of the ministry for display and notoriety, even for the propagation of false doctrine; (3) uniting with the church, attending the communion, so as to cover up secret sins; (4) the use of the Word of God to give point to a joke; (5) denying that the Bible is God's Word, making it a book of errors, myths and legends; (6) sneering at the Virgin birth, repudiating Christ's deity and setting aside His vicarious atonement. 6. Drunken carousals. The handwriting is on the wall. God will not endure this forever; His judgment shall fall. Conditions in the world indicate that the time is drawing near. Are you ready?

Aspiration.

What we truly aspire to be, that in some sense we are. The mere aspiration, by changing the frame and spirit of the mind, for the moment realizes itself.—Mrs. Jameson.

Binds Volume of the Week.

Sunday is the golden clasp that binds together the volume of the week.—Longfellow.

Injuries.

Slight small injuries and they become none at all.—Fuller.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL.

The vacation Bible school opened Monday at the Presbyterian church, with a good attendance, which increased as the week advanced. About one hundred children between the ages of four and fourteen are expected to register. The school will be in charge of Mrs. Willard and will convene each morning at nine o'clock and continue until about a quarter after eleven. The idea is to utilize in the best possible way some of the leisure time of the children, and at the same time give them instruction in the Book of Books. The work, along the same lines has proven very beneficial in other cities. At the close of the five weeks session, a pageant, festival or picnic will be held for the participants.

NATIONAL PARK BILL FOR NEW MEXICO O. K.'D BY SENATE.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 6.—United States Senator H. O. Bursam, of New Mexico, telegraphed from Washington, D. C., to H. H. Brook, chairman of the executive committee of the Southwestern All-Year National Park association, here yesterday, "I am pleased to advise you that the All-Year National Park bill passed the senate today."

At his headquarters in the temple of agriculture, Mr. Brooks said that Senator Bursam is to be congratulated upon getting speedy action, adding: "The Bursam bill, creating a public playground on the Mesquero Indian reservation, Elephant Butte lake and dam, and such portions of White Sands and Malpais as are needed, will now go before the house. There is every reason to believe the measure will be enacted and become a law by President Harding's full approval."

Miss Edna Calvani was operated upon a few days ago for appendicitis, at the Slater's Hospital, and reports from there are that she is doing well at this time.

Rupert F. Asplund, director of the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico, was a business visitor in Carlsbad from Santa Fe, Tuesday, and paid this office a call while in town.

R. O. Cox left Monday morning for Winters, Texas, to remain for the future.

Mrs. Hugh Gage was the guest of friends in this city the first of the week from her home at Hope, N. M.

Mrs. M. K. Ward, mother of Mrs. J. B. Leek, came in to surprise her children here Monday evening, from her home at San Angelo, Texas. Mrs. Ward has visited in Carlsbad several times and has many friends here who are glad to welcome her once more.

Studebaker

BIG-SIX SPEEDSTER

THE new Studebaker Four-Passenger Speedster is mounted on the Big-Six chassis with the same dependable 60 horse-power motor that made enthusiasts of thousands of owners during the most critical buying period in history.

Every item of its complete equipment and finished detail suggests ultra style and riding comfort.

The front seat is tilted at the correct angle for comfortable riding. An upholstered armrest divides the tonneau into two individual seats which provide the comfort of an overstuffed armchair.

The touring trunk at the rear, with tray and suitcase compartments, is easy of access, because the two spare disc wheels are mounted on each front fender.

These disc wheels, complete with cord tires and tubes, are furnished without extra cost.

This latest Studebaker creation reflects Studebaker's seventy-year-old reputation for building fine vehicles.

In addition there is a handsome set of nickel-plated bumpers front and rear, a courtesy light on the driver's side, a built-in, thief-proof transmission lock which is operated by the same key that locks the ignition switch and tool compartment in the left front door. Ask for the Studebaker "Yardstick," a measure of the greater value that Studebaker offers.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Ruth C. Miller, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, who is connected with the State Department of Education, was in the city Thursday and Friday of last week, on business.

Mrs. McCallin, who have been in Carlsbad some weeks for the benefit of one of the lady's health, left last Saturday night for their home in Cleveland, Ohio.

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, who are living in one of the King summer cottages Friday of last week. The very best wishes of many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, made during their short residence among us, are offered the baby. May she be a great blessing to her parents and their friends.

R. E. Taylor, prosperous cattle, sheep, and goat raiser of the northern portion of Texas and the southern part of New Mexico, was a business visitor in Pecos on the Fourth. He had recently been to San Angelo in attendance upon the big convention of Sheep and Goat Raisers—at that place.—Pecos Enterprise.

Miss Veda Harrison, of Pecos, a sister of Dewey Harrison, of the Western Union, who spent several days in the city last week, left for her home last Friday evening.

Mrs. W. C. Bates and daughter, Turah, left Tuesday morning for Buffalo Gap, Texas, where they went to visit their mother and grandmother, respectively. Mrs. Bates, who has frequently visited in this city and is well known to many here, Mr. Bates went to his ranch the first of the week and Miss Wardle is stopping with Mrs. Shafer during the absence of her parents and sister.

Rev. T. C. Mahan returned Friday from his trip to Memphis, Tennessee, where he went on church business and spent a week visiting sundry and various relatives in different parts of the state, while he was away, and returned, rested and ready for more strenuous work than ever.

A communication to a friend in this city from Miss Eleanor Flowers, who is spending the summer in different parts of Tennessee, her native state, located her at Clarksville. She left last Friday for Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, where she will visit that wonderful piece of natural scenery, which has been denominated one of the seven wonders of the world. Miss Eleanor is fortunate.

Mrs. Smith, who taught one of the grades in the Grammar school last year, left for Brooklyn, New York, last Friday night, taking with her her baby daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Smith will not return to Carlsbad, a fact which is regretted by all who know of her excellent work in the schools. Her charming personality and devoted Christian character made her a host of friends in this city, and she will be greatly missed by all, but her parents living in Brooklyn, made it better for her to take up her residence with them than to be so far away.

Walter and "Buster" Knowles are home on a vacation from the State Institution for the Blind at Alamogordo, where Walter has been in school for ten years, and where he will be graduated next year. Little Buster has only attended one year, but made two grades during that time. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon of Artesia, went after the boys, and attended the closing exercises which were pronounced wonderful. Mrs. O'Bannon is a sister of the boys, and they are sons of R. B. ALL INTERESTED IN ZONING Matter in Which Every Citizen and Property Owner is Concerned, for Many Reasons.

Zoning, which has proved advantageous for a number of American communities, notably, it is said, for the city of New York, has lately been proposed for other towns, large and small, of the United States. A constitutional movement, zoning seems to seek that equipoise of relations between the people and the state, between one group of citizens and another, and between one individual and another which the growth of industry has disturbed. Primarily a land question, zoning is declared to make for stability of investment value to owners, and stability of tax values to the town.

More intimately, as described in a pamphlet issued by the Cambridge (Mass.) planning board, Prof. William F. Harris, former chairman, zoning is a question of a man's right to be protected in the occupancy of the place where he lives or where he conducts his work. Particularly, it is a question of his being able to enter his premises without having to stumble over obstructions put in his way by neighboring proprietors, to breathe the air of his garden without annoyance from the fumes of mill chimneys, and to look out of the windows of his house without having unsightly objects imposed on his view.

SELECTING SITE FOR HOME

Prospective Builder Should Remember That Value of the Land is Highly Important Point.

After it has been decided that a certain site meets the requirements reasonably as to location, the next consideration is that of cost. The cost of an article, whether it be real estate or merchandise, is relative. A piece of land, the price of which appears to be very fair for its location, may increase the cost of building to such an extent that it is in the end expensive, and had this been foreseen would have prevented its purchase. On the other hand, the reverse is often true; the natural characteristics may be such that the construction is facilitated, thus saving to a greater or lesser degree the excess on the initial cost of the land, writes Gordon Robb in the House Beautiful. It is difficult to estimate with any degree of accuracy just how much can be gained or lost, but the following rule is a good one to follow. It is a generally accepted theory that the cost of the land should be from 20 to 25 per cent of that of the house. The investment is safer when the land bears the higher proportion. It is comparatively easier to dispose of property and the banks will lend money more readily on a home-building project when the land has "value."

The City and Its Builders.
The picture once painted or the poem once sung, it stands henceforth by itself; the artist can do no more for it. It must live or die without further help from him. But the city is never thus entirely separated from us, its builders. It remains tied to us by the visible cord of nourishing passions. It grows with us or it dies with us. It is in a more real and personal sense a part of us, as we are of it. It becomes then the reflex of the lives and aspirations of the people who dwell in it. So that a city—its streets, its highways, its buildings, its public places, as well as its business and life—is an embodiment of ourselves. It is this living spirit that may hearten and inspire us; that may delight and enchain us; and that may also break and destroy us.—Temple Scott.

Select Shrubs.
Now is the time to select those shrubs that you are going to set out around the house and around the borders of the lawn in the spring. Just allow your imagination to work a little and remember how the premises looked last summer and how the appearance could be improved. Then get a nursery catalog and make your selection of plants.—Farm Life.

Fordville.
Henry Ford says he will build a city 75 miles long in the Muskegon Shores region. It will be a chain of small towns.

Ford is looking ahead 20 years, when factories will get out of the cities so that workers will not altogether lose that great joy of life—contact with the open country.

Size doesn't make a town. The best American city is the village.—Chicago Evening Post.

Chinese Tongues.
Chinese tongues are societies of many kinds. Some are composed of the men of a province, much like state societies; others are fraternal. In the early days of Chinese on the Pacific coast Chinese who were not members of strong families, or clans, organized a tong to protect themselves against the aggressions and impositions of the four families. Later there were many tongs and Chinese tongs were organized as easily and readily as any fraternal society of white men.

"BAT" MASTERSON'S REVENGE ON THE CHEYENNES

One December day in the early seventies a young buffalo hunter down in the Texas Panhandle was busy skinning a buffalo when five Cheyennes of Chief Bear Shield's band rode up, saluted him with a grave "How!" and sat on their ponies idly watching his work. Although the hunter's Sharps rifle was lying some distance away, he was not worried, for the Cheyennes were supposed to be peaceful at that time.

Presently one of the red men dismounted and picked up the Sharps as though to examine it and, as he did so, another reached across and whipped the pistol from the holster in the hunter's belt. Instantly the first Indian struck the white man a murderous blow across the forehead with the rifle and in broken but emphatic English told him to "git." The hunter was outnumbered five to one; he "got."

The victim of the Cheyennes was "Bat" Masterson. William Barclay Masterson was his name, but his success as a buffalo hunter had won him the title of "Bat," as a worthy successor to Baptiste Brown, "Old Bat," a mighty slayer of game in the old days. Masterson reached his camp in safety.

That night he rode stealthily into Bear Shield's village and "cut out" 40 of the old chief's ponies. As he worked he came upon another rider engaged in the same occupation. It proved to be Billy Tighman, a fellow buffalo hunter who later became a famous deputy United States marshal.

When in 1874 a war party swept down upon the Adobe Walls, the buffalo hunters' headquarters, some of Bear Shield's warriors rode with it, and one of the defenders of the little stockade was "Bat" Masterson. Then and there he obtained revenge for the blow which the Cheyenne had struck him.

After the Adobe Walls fight, Masterson enlisted as a scout for General Miles and served with him until the southern plains tribes were subdued. A few years later he was elected sheriff of Ford county, Kansas. Dodge city, the county seat, was one of the toughest cowboy towns in the West, but when Masterson resigned in 1881 it was one of the most peaceful. By his courage and his skill he had established a record second only to Wild Bill Hickok as a tamer of "bad men." Then he left the West never to return, and today "Bat" Masterson is a high salaried writer on a New York newspaper.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XLII.—IDAHO

The year 1880 saw the stars in our flag increase from thirty-eight to forty-two, for four states were added to the Union in that year. In 1890 two more states were admitted, the first of which was Idaho, so that during these two years the manufacturer must have been kept busy turning out new flags with the proper number of stars.

Idaho is very mountainous and the name is derived from the Shoshone Indian word meaning "gem of mountains."

The first white explorers were undoubtedly Lewis and Clark on their memorable trip in 1804-5.

Idaho was a part of Oregon territory, which was jointly occupied by British and Americans until the Treaty of 1846 definitely turned over to the United States the country south of the 49th parallel. In 1863 Idaho was organized as a territory, with an area three times the size of the present state, as it included Montana and part of Wyoming. The next year Montana was set off for a territory by itself, and in 1898 Wyoming was organized so that in 1890 when Idaho was admitted as the forty-third state of the Union, its area was reduced to 83,888 square miles. Even so it ranks as the eleventh state in size.

The rapid settlement of Idaho was due to the discovery of gold, the same cause which so rapidly built up the adjacent states. It was in 1882 that gold was found at Coeur d'Alene in the northern part of the state, and miners immediately flocked to the state in great numbers.

There was serious labor trouble in the Coeur d'Alene section in 1892 and again in 1893, when martial law was established until peace between the miners and mine owners was effected.

Idaho is fifth from the end in the list of states according to population, and accordingly has but four presidential electors. But the state is developing rapidly.

W. H. Gossett and Heilis Watson, both of Hope, were in town Monday. Mr. Gossett remained here when Mr. Watson returned to Hope, he having been appointed deputy sheriff, by Sheriff Batton, recently and coming to take up his duties among us at that time.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A FOOD AND MILK COOLER (ICELESS)

United States Public Health Service cooperating with the New Mexico State Bureau of Health, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The lower valley was visited by a fierce wind storm Thursday night of last week, which seemed to reach its greatest fury on the farm of Wilson Gossett. At that place, the big barn which was only recently moved about half a mile from one location to another, was blown over and completely demolished. Other sheds on the same farm were also blown away, and much damage resulted to residents in that section, although fortunately no loss of life resulted.

Take a good box which has an inside measurement of at least one foot each way. Leaving one side open. Tack 2 thicknesses of burlap, (or clean sack) (gunnysack) on the outside of the top, back and 2 sides of the box. The burlap at the back and sides should overlap the top by one inch and should also overlap on the corners and edges.

To make a curtain for the open front of the box, cut 2 pieces of burlap or sack wider than 1 inch longer than the front of the box. Tack the upper edges of these 2 pieces to the top of the open front of the box, letting the top of the burlap overlap at least one inch on the wood. This forms the curtain. It is weighted down and held in place by a thin strip of wood attached to the bottom edges of the 2 pieces of burlap, letting the curtain swing free.

Now take a 1 gallon coal oil or gasoline can and clean it well by boiling it with soap suds to take away the smell. Punch eight very small holes in the bottom of the can placing two holes near each edge, about 4 inches apart.

Put the burlap covered box in a shady place, if possible where there is a breeze or draft. Put the can on top of the box. Fill the can with water and keep it filled all the time. The burlap on the box soaks up the water, which evaporates as it runs down the sides of the box, because of our dry climate and high altitude. This constant evaporation from the burlap keeps the box cool inside.

If you wish to do so, you can put a shelf in the middle of the box, giving you more storage room.

Be careful not to make the holes in the bottom of the can too big, as the water will then run out too fast.

CARLSBAD INSPIRES A ROSWELL OBSERVER

Joseph Bush in Roswell Evening News

Editor Evening News:—As one of the several hundred of Roswell people who went to Carlsbad to spend the Fourth, I want to tell the business men of Roswell of the wonderful affair Carlsbad pulled off and try and urge that we get ourselves in a position to have a celebration even better than Carlsbad did, either this Labor Day or next year on July Fourth.

The program started on the third with a band concert at 8 a. m., followed by a parade of the wild west riders and at 10 a. m. the rodeo started and those who wanted to see an exhibition of that kind were entertained royally until noon, or if they preferred they could enjoy the swimming contests at the beach at the same hour.

In the afternoon there was a rodeo, horse racing, swimming contests, aeroplane flights, and a ball game, followed by two big dances in the evening.

On the Fourth and fifth the program was practically the same as was on the third, with the exception of a well cooked and served barbecue on the Fourth and a fish fry on the fifth.

In other words, there was something doing all the time to make you enjoy yourself and the business people of Carlsbad are to be congratulated on having such a successful picnic.

There were several things noticeable by their conspicuous absence which we will do well to profit by in any future picnics and among the things I might mention were long drawn out speeches by local talent, and trying to assemble a crowd of merry-makers to listen to a sermon or line up a bunch on the courthouse lawn and open a celebration of that kind with a yard long prayer.

These things Carlsbad did not have and I think the crowd appreciated it.

MARRIED

J. C. Fessler, of Muskogee, Oklahoma, and Miss Kathryn Waller, of Roswell, were united in marriage Wednesday of last week, at the parsonage of the Christian minister Rev. D. F. Sellards, this city, that minister reading the solemn words that made them husband and wife, in the presence of only the necessary witnesses. May their lives be happy and useful.

The rain of Wednesday night, seven tenths of an inch, gave some relief from the unprecedented hot spell, in which the thermometer ranged around 103 degrees. The rain fell so gently that it nearly all went into the ground, very little running away, and the benefit to the pastures, cotton fields and gardens is incalculable. Prospects are excellent for more rain the next day or so.

E. F. Little, county road supervisor, reported two cases where water was being wasted, and trial was had in justice court this week which resulted in conviction in both cases. This was not a pleasant thing for the roadman to do, but nevertheless he had to do it, and the result may be salutary in other cases.

JONES FINDS REASON FOR TAX ON SAND

(From Commerce and Finance, New York, June 28.)

Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey has proposed an import tax on sand. Senator Jones of New Mexico, good honest soul, has been endeavoring to discover the reason for such a tax and believes he has found it. The Congressional Record reports what he told the Senate of the course of reasoning he took to discover it:

Mr. President I have been trying to discover the reason for the proposed duty on sand. We never heard of sand coming into the United States prior to the war. There is no assurance that there has been built up any general traffic in the importation of sand. So I have been racking my brain to try to discover what the real reason for the imposition of the duty is. I am inclined to think that I have finally discovered it.

I am regretful that the genial and active Senator from New Jersey is not now present. He has a constituent in New Jersey who has been digging sand. That constituent has doubtless been pondering as to just what this great tariff bill means to him. He has looked over his business project. If he hauls his sand in a wagon, he realizes, first, that the wagon itself is highly taxed. Not only the wagon, as a finished vehicle, is taxed, but practically every separate part of it is taxed. The tires on the wheels, the bolts in the wagon, the nails in the wagon, the hoop steel that cover the side boards are taxed. The rivets are taxed; the grease that makes it easy for the wheels to turn, is taxed. Every piece of metal, iron or wood in that wagon is taxed. He looks at the harness on his team, and he discovers that this bill imposes a tax on the leather in harness. Every rivet that is used in the manufacture of the harness is taxed, the twine is taxed; the wax that is used upon the thread which sews it together is taxed.

The machine which does the sewing is taxed. Even the oil which lubricates that sewing machine is taxed. All the metal, the nickel, the iron or steel in the sewing machine is taxed. The shoes upon his horses' feet are taxed. The spade with which he digs the sand is taxed. The gloves which he wears upon his hands in shoveling the sand are taxed. The clothing which he wears in the humble occupation of digging that sand is taxed. It is proposed by this bill to tax the shoes and socks upon his feet and the suspenders which hold up his overalls. The buttons upon his overalls, the knife which he has in his pocket, the pencil with which he makes out his bill, the paper upon which the bills are written are taxed. If he uses a pen, the pen point is taxed; the little penholder is separately taxed, whether it is metal or rubber. The ink which he uses is taxed. If he transports his sand with an automobile transfer vehicle, everything about that is taxed. If he has his horses in the barn, the barn is taxed. If it is made of brick, it is proposed to tax the brick which goes into it. The lime and the mortar are taxed. The shingles upon the roof are taxed. If the barn is of tile or concrete, those materials are taxed, if, perchance, it is built of concrete, the cement which goes into the building is taxed.

This poor fellow digging the sand, looks into his home and finds that practically everything there is taxed.

The bottle which his infant uses to obtain nourishment is taxed; the cradle is taxed; every garment which goes to keep the infant warm is taxed. He looks at his wife and children and finds that everything they wear is taxed; nearly everything they eat is taxed. He looks at the little toys that he brings home to his children; they are all taxed. No wonder that this humble constituent of the Senator from New Jersey, digging sand, is wondering where he is going to come out.

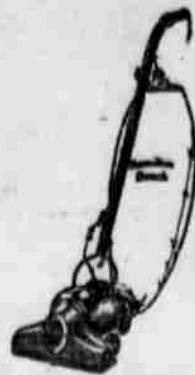

It is true that nature has provided him with his material; it is a simple process to eliminate the impurities. He has never had any competition before; but because a foreign ship can not find some sort of merchantable commodity to bring over to the United States as ballast that ship has brought over some sand; and this constituent of the distinguished Senator from New Jersey has thought that perhaps here he might have an opportunity to recoup in some manner this great number of taxes which he is paying through this bill.

So now I can understand why this distinguished Senator from New Jersey proposes to impose a duty upon sand. He probably says, "It has never been done before; but there is that constituent back there who is taxed whichever way he turns and has nothing for himself, so, whether he will ever benefit from it in the future or not, I will give him some encouragement and I will give a tax upon sand."

After the business of installation had been concluded, it was decided to give an ice cream fête in the near future, and also to arrange for a benefit night at the show, in order to have the means at hand to carry on the benevolent work planned by this every benevolent institution. After adjournment the members of the lodge visited the Sweet Shop and indulged in ice cream.

Las Vegas, July 12, 1922—Early predictions that the strongest material in the state would be forthcoming for the Democratic ticket in the fall are beginning to be borne up.

Several of the leading citizens of the state have been actively mentioned in the last two or three weeks as possible candidates for governor. Among the most recent names mentioned is that of Judge Bratton, the Clovis jurist who has attained an enviable reputation over the state. Judge Bratton has not indicated whether or not he would be a candidate, but his name is being mentioned frequently in political conversation.

Democratic state headquarters declared the mention of Judge Bratton's name further encouraged efforts to organize the Democrats of the state in a campaign for better government at less cost.

There are many good Democrats who want the nomination for governor. All seem willing to concede the nomination for the Senate to Senator Jones, but there is a marked interest in the state campaign and that is an improvement over the rest, it was pointed out.

A swimming party Tuesday night at the beach was much enjoyed by all who attended. The party of congenial friends swam, sang and enjoyed orchestra music, and talked until a late hour, when they returned to the city. In the "bunch" were Mr. and Mrs. McKim, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kindel, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ed Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore, Mrs. Gordon Simpson, J. S. Oliver and sister, Mrs. Johnston, Miss White, and Bill Hudgins.

Wednesday night, Mesdames John and Lige Merchant entertained at a "Bridge Tea" honoring their house guests Mrs. Morse of California; Mrs. Fred Baker and Miss Jean Medaris, of Abilene, Texas; Mesdames Vickery and Rutledge, of Dallas; Mrs. Tom Pearson, of Roswell, and Miss Elridge Hobert, of Iowa.

Fifty-two persons played bridge. Mrs. Rickman making high score and Mrs. R. L. Halley low. Ice cream and cake were the refreshments served at this beautiful party.

Ira Stockwell and wife had a number of guests at their home during the recent celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, of El Paso; Messrs. Gilson and May, also of the Pass City; Messrs. Firestone, of Roswell, and Messrs. Elliott and George Skinner of Lawrence, Kan.

Markets show little change from a week ago. The rains and general bad weather at the producing points has interfered with the harvesting and proper curing of the crop and very little new hay is arriving at any market this week. This has caused a general cleaning up of all accumulations and a steady to strong feeling is reported in consequence. Most of the new hay this week has been hot and damaged and this has had little sale as a decided preference is shown by buyers for best quality only.—Hay Trade Journal.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raiser's Association held its annual convention and sale at San Angelo June 27th to 30th inclusive. At this meeting a name for the flesh of the Angora goat, which is delicious when properly prepared, was adopted, and hereafter Angora goat meat will be known as "chevon". Just as we know that beef is flesh of the cow and pork the meat of the hog. A concerted effort will be made to bring chevon to the place that it deserves on the menus of the country, ignorance and prejudice having done much to keep this really meritorious article of food from taking the place it has long been entitled to hold. The word chevon was suggested by a Mrs. Hardgrave, of Sanderson, Texas, and she received as a prize for her suggestion an Angora buck for which she refused one hundred dollars.

Eddy county was represented by R. E. Taylor, who brought back a nice lot of ribbons won by his fine Angoras. W. R. Hegler, of Frijoles, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Mohair Growers Association, was in attendance in the interests of his organization, and incidentally purchased two Angora bucks, one of which he sold on his return to Selby Cox of El Paso Gap. Both are good animals, the one Mr. Hegler kept being of exceptional quality.

Dr. J. A. Leeman and his daughter, Mrs. Frank Mitchell and her two children, left this morning for Pecos, after a two weeks visit with the family of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matney.
