Reform School.

The trustees of the New Mexico Reform School at Springer, met last week, and investigated various charges among them charges made by inmates and by Assistant Superintendent Sampson, who recently retired. The superintendent informed the Board that a number of inmates had asked to be heard before the Board on some grievances. Accordingly, over 20 of the inmates appeared and presented either some grievance or made some inquiry relative to their confinement. Many of them said that they had no grievance in the way of mistreatment, others claiming severe punishment for bad conduct which had been inflicted by Assistant Superintendent Sampson; most of the grievances being rather trivial, and most all said they had made up their minds, when released, to quit committing crimes and be better boys. A number of them said they were learning at school, and learning to farm and do other work. One boy from Albuquerque, eleven years old, who had word that his mother was sick, the Board decided to parole. The charges preferred by Mr. Sampson against Mr. Kirkpatrick, were taken up and item for item analyzed as best could be done, the conclusion being reached unanimously that the charges were very general and not sustained by the evidence at hand, and the charges were dismissed.

MOMENTOUS CHANGE IS ORDERED IN CHINA.

Peking, May 8.—The long awaited edict abolishing the grand council and substituting a constitutional cabinet of ten members was issued today.

RAW WOOL ON THE FREE LIST

Democratic Way sand Means Committee Determined to Ruin Industry

NEW YORKERS HOLD CAUCUS

Investigation Recommended of Sugar Manufacturing and Refining Business.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, D. C., May 8.—That the House will put raw wool on the free list in revising schedule K, was declared to be practically certain today and resulted in a caucus of the Democratic delegation from New York at which eighteen members declared themselves in favor of free raw wool and four argued against it. All pledged themselves to abide by the decision of the full Democratic caucus.

Sugar Trust Investigation.
Washington, D. C., May 8.—Investigation of the American Sugar Refining company and all other concerns engaged in the manufacture or refining of sugar, to ascertain whether there has been violations of the anti-trust law, was recommended today by the House committee on rules.

Free List Bill Reached Today.
Washington, May 8.—The farmers free list bill will be reached by the House late today. Many Republican opponents of the bill, armed with amendments, have no hope of their adoption, but insisted that repudiation of their amendments should proceed in regular order.

Taft on Reciprocity.
Washington, May 8.—Charles M. Pepper, one of President Taft's commissioners in negotiating with Canada concerning reciprocity, has outlined the president's views on that subject in a letter to John M. Stahl of Chicago, legislative agent of the Farmers National Congress.

"No demand has been pressed more persistently and determinedly by the farmers of the country, and especially by the farmers of the middle west, than that for free lumber. It was frankly understood that by free lumber was meant lumber imported from Canada, since the Dominion is and must continue to be exclusively our source of foreign supply. The realization of this hope was deferred from time to time in our tariff legislation, but no change was effected in the popular mind. The demand continued unabated.

"The question of the means by which this demand should be satisfied became one of practical statesmanship. The negotiation of the reciprocity agreement with Canada afforded the opportunity. Free rough lumber, with heavy reductions on dressed lumber and on other lumber products, is a distinguishing feature of the agreement.

"Again, it is sometimes stated that while we are by this agreement opening our markets to farm products, our manufacturers are not asked to make any concessions. How untrue statements of this kind are is apparent from an examination of the actual terms of the agreement. When the commissioners came to discuss the benefits that would result from a mutually free interchange of dairy products they found that cream separators entering the United States paid a duty of forty-five per cent. This duty is abolished, and not only are dairy products free but all of the special equipment that enters into the process of dairy making is free. The same principle was followed throughout in the treatment of manufactured articles and they were either made free or the duties materially reduced.

"The president highly appreciates the conservative influence of our farmers. He knows how little disposed they are to follow leaders who seek self exploitation. He is fully satisfied that a year's trial will demonstrate how beneficial the reciprocity agreement is to all classes in the United States, and how unfounded are the fears that it will prove harmful to the farmers. He is entirely willing on his part to take the unbiased judgment of the farmers of the whole country on the results of the agreement after it has been in effect for a year."

FOR UNIFICATION OF METHODIST CHURCHES.

Representatives of Three Important Branches of Denomination Meet at Chattanooga.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8.—Envoys from the three great branches of Methodism met here today to lay a foundation for the unification of the divisions. The three branches are the Methodist Protestant, the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The federation movement was begun at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Memphis, Tenn., in 1894, when the commission representing that denomination was created. Later similar commissions were appointed by the two other churches and the three held a meeting at Baltimore in December, 1910.

At that time, a sub-committee of three from each commission was appointed to inquire into the cause of alienation of the three branches of Methodism and to formulate and present a plan for unification.

DESULTORY FIRING AT JUAREZ

Disposition of Insurrecto Leaders Not to Obey Command of Madero.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—A few shots were exchanged by the federal and insurrecto troops again today but orders were issued from headquarters to cease firing as an armistice was being arranged.

Madero Goes to Front.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—The firing was renewed at 11 o'clock. The federalists were said to have begun the shooting. General Madero left headquarters for the front to determine whether his orders had been disobeyed. It is believed his officers are taking advantage of his interim for the arrangement of an armistice, to begin the attack.

Watch Fight From El Paso.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—People crowded the roofs and house tops in El Paso and hundreds of people ran to the river side to watch the fighting.

Rebels Move Forward.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—About 100 rebels moved forward in readiness for the attack. The impression is that General Madero's orders have been disregarded and an engagement is imminent.

Rebel Advance Resumed.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—The insurrecto advance on Juarez was apparently resumed at 12 o'clock, although earlier it had appeared that the rebels were retiring.

Spectators Hit by Bullets.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—Antonio Garcia, watching the fight near the United States immigration station, was struck in the head by a bullet.

"The same bullet hit a woman in the arm, slightly wounding her. The V. I. S. public school in the Northwestern part of El Paso was dismissed for the day, but had not been hit by bullets. Several bullets struck the United States immigration station.

Diaz Will Resign.
Washington, May 8.—Official confirmation of the intention of President Diaz to retire was received today by Senator Zamacoena, the Mexican ambassador in the following delayed dispatch from Foreign Minister de la Barra, dated last night: "Tonight or tomorrow a declaration of General Diaz will be published in which he addresses the nation explaining the actual political condition of the country and the efforts made by the government to re-establish peace."

A president states therein the reasons which prompted him to refuse the demand of the insurrectionists to resign, conjointly with the vice president. These reasons are based on considerations having in view the welfare of the nation and the dignity of the government. General Diaz further affirms he will retire from power as soon as he is convinced that there is no fear of the country being plunged into anarchy by this fact. He finishes by making an earnest appeal to the whole nation to help toward the situation of peace. This manifesto is inspired by the highest sentiment of patriotism and sincerity."

Fighting at Tia Juana.
San Diego, Calif., May 8.—Fighting began in earnest at 10:45 this morning in the vicinity of Tia Juana, Lower California. The rebels advanced from the east and a detachment of federalists set out to meet them. Rebel bullets entered Tia Juana which is practically deserted with the exception of an armed force of about 100.

Fighting Near Juarez.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—One bullet fell in front of 400 South El Paso street, Antonio Garcia, who was shot in the head, died later. At 12:30 o'clock it looked as if the firing was about to cease. Madero had ridden out to the front. He had just said that he was agreeable to an armistice. The insurrectos chased some federalists out of their block houses toward Juarez and the insurrectos have sent to camp for reinforcements.

American troops are lined up on the river bank keeping all people on this side back as far as possible.

Bullets Singing in El Paso.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—The American shore was dotted with lighters. Refugees poured into El Paso from Juarez. Bullets sang through the air continuously, striking several buildings in El Paso.

Carbajal Without Instructions.
Mexico City, Mex., May 8.—Late today it was stated officially that Judge Carbajal had received no instructions yet as to the future. A high official believes that there will be a resumption of the conferences on the northern border.

Three Men Hit on American Side.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—A detachment of about 100 rebels overreached for a fight with the federalists left their camp secretly early today and accompanied by officers opened fire on the federal outposts at Juarez. Only a few shots were heard during the morning but about noon the firing was incessant. One of the mines in an adobe house on the outskirts of the city, was blown up by the rebels, who

REPORT ON TERRITORIES

Sub-Committee Presented It Today and It Goes to House Tomorrow

ARIZONA TO VOTE ON RECALL

People of New Mexico to Be Given Opportunity to Pass on Amendment Clause.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, May 8.—The house committee on territories today received the report of the sub-committee regarding statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. The report of the full committee probably will be made to the house tomorrow. It will recommend that statehood be granted both territories with the understanding that Arizona vote again on the recall provision and that the voters of New Mexico be given an early opportunity to change their constitution so that it may be more easily amendable.

Robbing Spanish Americans of Their Guarantees.
Special to The New Mexican.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The Democratic members of the house committee on territories today reported to the full sub-committee in favor of admitting New Mexico and Arizona to statehood on the terms of the enabling act. President Taft is to instruct the governors of both territories to include in their proclamations for a state election a call for a vote on the recall of the judiciary in Arizona, and a modification of the clause governing amendments to the New Mexico constitution. Upon the governors certifying the result of the election to the president, the proclamation admitting both territories to statehood is to be issued by the president. The New Mexico amendment is to provide that two-thirds of the legislature may submit any amendments to the constitution to be voted on six months after the adjournment of the legislature, and after four weeks publication in English and Spanish in one paper in each county. Only a majority of those voting shall be necessary to ratify such an amendment. For twenty-five years no amendment shall be proposed except by three-fourths of the legislature to make an educational qualification for the franchise, after that two-thirds of the legislature may submit such amendment or may call for a new constitutional convention or referendum. Section 5, is amended so as to read that the state shall never enact a law to restrict or abridge the right of suffrage on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The ballots in each case are to be "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment."

A prominent New Mexican at the capital said today: "The effect of this action will be to drive every Spanish-American of New Mexico into the Republican party."

McFie Confirmation.
The matter of the reappointment of Judge John R. McFie to the New Mexico supreme bench was referred today to a sub-committee of the senate consisting of Senators Sutherland, Dillingham and Overman.

A hearing has been set for Tuesday and as far as known, R. H. Hanna of Santa Fe, will be the only one to appear in opposition to the confirmation of Judge McFie.

MADERO SENDS HIS THANKS

Says People of United States Have Been Very Sympathetic to His Cause

TALKS WITH HON M A OTERO

Assures New Mexico's Former Governor That Diaz Was Not President Elected.

Stretching his hand across the line which separates Texas from Old Mexico to former Governor Miguel A. Otero, who stood with a party of friends from New Mexico, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., multimillionaire leader of the insurrecto forces and candidate for president of the republic of Mexico, expressed his warmest thanks to the people of the United States for their sympathy in the struggle of freedom waged by the revolutionists. "The people of the United States have been so sympathetic toward the cause we represent that we would indeed be deeply ungrateful if we did not appreciate the encouragement they have given us to fight for what we believe are our rights in the matter of freedom of the ballot and fairness of elections," declared Madero.

Cameras Click.
And as they stood talking the click of the cameras and kodaks was heard, and a cheer went up from the insurrecto camp which formed a living wall of defense, 3,000 rights arms

UNCLE SAM AND MEXICO

Relations of This Nation to Latin American Republics to Be Defined

WASHINGTON MORE OPTIMISTIC

Believes That Peace and Quiet Will Soon Come to Southern Republic.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—With a view to reassuring the people of Mexico, Senator Rayner of Maryland, today introduced a resolution defining the attitude of this country toward the Latin-American Republics in connection with the enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine. The resolution would declare it to be the opinion of the Senate that the United States has no right or purpose to interfere with or disturb the political integrity of any of the independent republics of western Hemisphere or to assume at any time any political protectorate over them. A second proposed declaration reads in part: "While we reaffirm the Monroe Doctrine and announce our adherence thereto, the United States hereby offers to these governments an assurance and guarantee that their territory shall not be usurped by the United States."

Peace Seems Certain.
Washington, D. C., May 8.—A distinct feeling of optimism regarding the Mexican situation pervades administration circles today. The intention of President Diaz to retire is believed to be an irrevocable step in the direction of peace.

Peace Negotiations Resumed.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—It was announced at the Madero headquarters that peace negotiations would be formally resumed at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the usual meeting place, half way between Juarez and the insurrecto camp.

One of the first things to be arranged is an armistice to cover the Chihuahua district and perhaps other sections.

Tranquility in Sight.
El Paso, Texas, May 8.—The residents of Juarez awoke today to find they had been spared a nightmare of real bullets which might have resulted in one of the bloodiest battles of the Mexican revolution. Creeping along in the thick of the night, the insurrecto army, supposedly on its way south because it was feared American intervention would follow if it attacked Juarez was about to deliver a blow at the federal stronghold last night when the Associated Press dispatch from Mexico City stating that President Diaz had announced his intention of resigning was carried to the front.

Like a governor's pardon to a victim on the gallows, the dispatch changed the situation from one of great gravity to one of festive hilarity. Today members of the Madero family are sending messages to President Diaz, praising him for his patriotism. It is the unanimous opinion of both sides that complete tranquility in Mexico is now in sight.

WHEAT OPENED WEAK ON CHICAGO MARKET.

There Was However Display of Considerable Bullish Feeling on Account of Drouth.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Chicago, Ill., May 8.—The belief that the government crop report would show a higher condition for wheat than last month made prices weak early today. The most popular estimate was that the improvement might reach four to five points over the April figures. There was a display of considerable bullish feeling due to dry weather northwest. Opening prices were a shade to half cent lower. July started at 88 to 88 1/4, a decline of a sixteenth to 1-16 3/8 and recovered to 88 5/8.

Selling by local speculators carried down corn but the market responded quickly when wheat turned upward. July opened 1-8 1/4 to 1-8 3/8 and rose to 52 1/8 to 52 1/4, and then rose to 52 1/2.

Oats were slow and steady. July started a shade off at 32 3/8, and later sold at 32 1/2.

Provisions advanced all around on account of a light run of hogs. First sales were 5 to 7 1/2 higher with July at 15.10 for pork; 8.12 to 8.15 for lard and 8.02 1/2 to 8.07 1/2 for ribs.

Wall Street.
New York, May 8.—The opening quotations on the stock exchange today reflected an uncertain tone in the trading, a number of advances being offset by declines elsewhere. Western Maryland gained 2; Canadian Pacific 1 3/8; International Harvester 3 1/4 and Missouri Kansas & Texas 3 3/8.

Trading was of a listless character throughout the morning, a few specialties were in demand but the market became dull after the price advanced slightly from the opening level. American Canadian rose 1, the preferred 1 1/2 and American Snuff 2.

New York, N. Y., May 8.—The market developed a sagging tendency after 12 o'clock and the close was heavy. Western Maryland lost most of its advance on profit taking. Bonds were dull.

EXPLORER HOME; TALKS OF TRIP

Expedition to Central America Has Proved Successful Says Dr. Hewett

RAINY SEASON RETARDED WORK

Plans For Summer Session of Archaeologists Are Being Made.

Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the School of American Archaeology, author of numerous papers on American archaeology, anthropology, sociology and education, and well known as a lecturer and explorer, is back from Central America where he directed the exploration of the Mayan ruins by a party of scientists.

An extensive report covering the results of the work will be given to the public through the Associated Press in a few days. Speaking of the expedition Director Hewett said that on the whole it has been quite successful despite the fact that the rainy season lasted this year a month longer than usual and retarded the work.

With Mr. Hewett were Messrs. Morley, Nussbaum and Adams, and all of the three were taken down several times with the malarial fever. Dr. Hewett escaped however, as he did on former expeditions.

Messrs. Morley and Nussbaum have not been seriously ill, however, and are expected to leave for this country the middle of the month and their friends here may expect to meet them at the end of the month. Mrs. Morley is with Mr. Morley and has also had an attack of the fever.

Dr. Hewett has been back in the United States about three weeks and while in New York city and Washington he delivered several very interesting addresses before large audiences on the Mayan ruins and other topics of interest. The lecturer illustrated them with many slides made from photos by Mr. Nussbaum, the camera artist of the expedition.

Upon his return here Mr. Hewett plunged right into work early this morning before many other people were beginning their breakfast. He was seen in the school's rooms in the Old Palace and did not show any trace of the severe strain of living in the tropics and undergoing many hardships in the interest of science.

Asked the plans of the school he said that joint work with the bureau of ethnology will begin soon in the Jemez country.

Summer School.
He said also that the summer session of the School of American Archaeology will be a feature this year as in the past year and that it will be held in the Rito de los Frijoles canon during the month of August. A large number of visitors are expected, including many of those who were here last year. Miss Olga Nethercole, world famed emotional actress, will attend the school next year, but many others equally famous but in other roles, will be here this year.

The summer catalogue of the school will soon be ready for publication and is awaited with interest by all those who have visited this romantic canon which has become the mecca for scientists as it will prove to be for tourists when its wonders are heralded to the corners of the earth.

CUNNINGHAM ALASKAN COAL LAND CLAIMS.

Hearing Today Before Secretary of Interior Fisher and Commissioner Dennett.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, D. C., May 8.—After having been out of the public eye for some time, the Cunningham Alaskan Coal Land claims, which brought about the Ballinger-Pinchot congressional investigation, today approached determination. Attorneys for the Cunningham claimants appeared before Secretary of the Interior Fisher, Land Commissioner Dennett, and members of the board of law review of the general land office to argue their case. Commissioner Dennett will render the decision. Secretary Fisher, however, sat at the hearing to save time in case appeal is made to him.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS UNBARRERED OLD JERUSALEM.

Was a City That Flourished Two Thousand Years Before Reign of King David.

London, May 8.—Captain Montague Parker, a brother of the Earl of Morley, who headed a party of British explorers in Jerusalem who have been charged with despoiling the mosque of Omar, and carrying away sacred relics hidden from the Romans, has returned to England, and gives an account of the excavations. He says: "Unfortunately, although the work from a scientific viewpoint was of extraordinary interest, we were unable to discover any Hebrew writing. But we found definitely the spot where the city of David, and the Jebusite city, which preceded it, had existed. The latter, undoubtedly, from the pottery we discovered was in existence 2,000 years before David captured the city."

Captain Parker adds: "I cannot say anything about the rumors in connection with the mosque of Omar until the Turkish commission of inquiry has presented its report."

"THE TRAGEDY OF MACBETH"

Dr. Gray Sees In It Difference of Character of Men and Women

CAUTION VERSUS IMPULSE

Once Committed Crime Makes Man Calloused; Women, Remorseful.

A wonderful genius and true reader of the human heart rather than a mediocre playwright who shows lamentable weakness in depicting character, as Tolstoi has described Shakespeare, was the Bard of Avon, shown to Santa Fe Saturday night by Dr. E. McQueen Gray, president of the University of New Mexico.

Dr. Gray's lecture was on "The Tragedy of Macbeth," and this work of Shakespeare's as treated by Dr. Gray was a convincing proof that Shakespeare is, after all the great man most Shakespearean students proclaim him, even the great Tolstoi notwithstanding.

This was the last lecture in the series given here in the University Extension Course, and Library Hall was filled with well known Santa Feans. Professor Rupert F. Asplund presided.

Preceding the lecture, Miss Ross of Albuquerque recited in her happy style and greatly pleased the audience. The Ladies' Quartet of this city sang and furnished the musical part of the program which was evidently appreciated. Mrs. Rapp accompanied on the piano.

Dr. Gray then began his lecture on Shakespeare's great tragedy and for nearly two hours held the close attention of admirers of the world's greatest interpreter of human life.

The lecturer recited passage after passage from the great tragedy and then commented on them.

Of chief interest, no doubt, was Dr. Gray's comparison of the two leading characters, Macbeth himself and his wife, Lady Macbeth. These two characters in themselves show the remarkable difference in the character of man and woman.

Before the murder, Macbeth shows signs of timidity; his bump of caution is in evidence. His wife, on the other hand, shows the mailed fist, the iron nerve and the dominant character which overcomes Macbeth's fears. She is the instigator and well did the lecturer imitate the hissing, viper tones of Lady Macbeth egging him on.

"To many readers of Shakespeare it seems strange," said Dr. Gray, "that Lady Macbeth should appear so calloused while Macbeth, the soldier and strong man, should go to pieces at the very idea of murder. But this merely shows the psychological difference between a man and a woman in regard to crime and brings up the code of honor. This, of course, is a delicate subject to treat, but it is safe to say that he main idea of honor, virtue and probity is largely bound up in society. Honor grows in a man as belonging to the law-making and the law giving sex. In an act of this kind a man loses the respect of his friends; he risks all that a man can risk, for his very standing in the world is at stake. A man feels he is a part of society; more than that, that he is the very pillar of society. In the history of crime we find, as a rule, there is a long hesitation and a gradual breaking down of the barriers before the deed is done.

Not So With Women.

"With a woman, on the other hand, there is a great difference. A woman has at the bottom of her mind a great contempt for law. It is quite natural that she should have. If we look at the history of women in the past ages we find that she never had any share in law making and it is quite natural that she should look with disfavor on laws with which her sex had nothing to do. We see that attitude even in our day. This is a natural thing in the custom house regulations. Women seem bent on breaking these laws and feel no twinge of conscience in so doing. This is a natural position, for a sex not consulted in making laws cannot be hoped to lend aid to preserve them. A woman can commit a crime without the slightest thought of the consequences or how her social position will be affected. Man, on the other hand, premeditates because of the two he is most cautious. A woman is naturally impulsive but her femininity protects her, that femininity, that delicacy, that natural shrinking from wrong doing is intuitive, but once refinement is broken down then she goes ahead with an abandon that is startling.

"I say, therefore, in this scene in which Lady Macbeth appears the hardened murderer rather than her soldier husband, there is nothing excessive. Lady Macbeth is troubled with no thought except to have her husband crowned king. Her towering ambition dwarfs into insignificance thoughts of the deed and its consequences."

Dr. Gray then added that if we can consider the tragedy in this way the reading of it is more agreeable.

The speaker then went over scene after scene, finally focussing the at-

WRINKLES OF THE HEART.

(Nanno Woods in Los Angeles Express). Often as I saunter slowly through the city, great and vast, As I watch the men and women old and youthful walking past, Oh, the many wrinkled faces, faded eyes of brown and blue! And I wonder, as I saunter, if the hearts have wrinkles, too.

Time is merciless, relentless—neither face nor form doth spare, Time is every hurrying onward spite of agonizing prayer, And the wrinkles of his making come unsought to me and you, But the face is deeper furrowed if the heart has wrinkles, too. Youth is beautiful, alluring, but with age comes deepened thought, And the heart mature and mellow is with richer insight fraught, And Time's wrinkles bring a beauty if the soul be brave and true, But old age has lost its glory if the heart has wrinkles, too.

Sorrows come to all, and heartaches; fortunate is a fickle god, Thorns a plenty 'mong the roses strew the path our feet have trod. So, all honor to the wrinkles when the soul shines steadfast through, And all pity for the furrows when the heart has wrinkles, too.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN GOOD AND BAD HIGHWAYS.

On Former Heavy Truck Made 112 Miles a Day and on Latter Only Three Miles.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 8.—"The stretch from Albuquerque, N. M., here has been one of the sharpest possible contrasts," says A. L. Westgard in a dispatch. Mr. Westgard is piloting a four and one-half ton truck across the continent and as this is the first motor truck to carry a load across, it has been nicknamed the "Pioneer Freight-truck." The start was made from Denver, March 1st, the southerly route through Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Globe, Phoenix, Fresno and Los Angeles, being followed.

"It took us almost eight days to cover the forty-two miles between Springerville and Cooleys, Arizona," says Mr. Westgard, "only averaging three miles a day as the result of twelve to fourteen hours hard work for five days in succession, while yesterday we drove one hundred and twelve miles from Globe to Phoenix in eleven hours. For forty or fifty miles we were on a mountain plateau, at an elevation of ten thousand feet, and the late spring snows are very heavy and wet. It was nothing unusual to have the rear wheels sink clear to the hubs three or four times in a few hundred feet and it is scarcely to be wondered at that we did not go over three miles a day under such conditions. Progress was so slow that our provisions gave out before reaching a town and many miles before we got to Black river we were met with discouraging reports as to its height.

"It had subsided somewhat before we got there but the water was up to the radiator cap at that, and ten cavalry men, six army mules and a heavy block and tackle from Fort Apache were necessary to get us across and up the opposite bank. Captain Hayne, commanding the fort, gave us every assistance. The three hours' submergence did not bother the truck a bit and we made forty-three miles the next day in four and a half hours. The immediate prospect ahead of us is excellent. Our route lies via the recently completed Roosevelt dam and is over fine government roads so that we will make fine time as long as the good conditions last.

"The pleasantest part of the trip has come from the enthusiastic reception accorded us at every town. Interest in the performance of the 'Pioneer' is everywhere.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

ONE CENT POSTAGE.

New and novel methods of prosecuting a campaign for the passage of a congressional measure are to be followed by officers of the National One Cent Letter Postage association at next fall's session of congress when a bill providing for the lowering of the rate on first class postage matter, including all letters, from two cents to one cent, will be introduced.

Instead of maintaining an expensive lobby at Washington, to "gum shoe" among the legislators and to seek by corrupt means or otherwise to secure the reform which is sought, the officers of the association expect to bring sufficient pressure to bear from "home interests" to induce a majority of congressmen and senators to approve the bill.

The association now consists of hundreds of members, located in nearly every state in the Union. For the most part they are prominent heads of big manufacturing and mercantile concerns who realize that they are entitled to a one cent rate on ordinary letters.

From the association's headquarters in Cleveland these influential businessmen will be asked to swing their representatives and senators into line for the passage of a one cent rate bill. Letters and telegrams will pour into Washington by the hundreds from men whom the legislators cannot afford to ignore. Delegations will back them up. In this thoroughly business-like manner the officers of the association expect to conduct their campaign.

To enable them to bring the necessary pressure to bear when needed, the officers of the association are now busily engaged in building up the membership. Business men particularly are being interested in the saving they will realize, when a one cent letter rate is inaugurated. Some firms in the large cities of the country pay as high as $40,000 and $50,000 a year for the first class postage. With a one cent rate this expense would be cut exactly in half. There is not a concern in the country which would not receive direct benefit from such a reform.

Last year the postoffice department realized a profit of about $60,000,000 from the carrying of first class mail matter, most of which consisted of letters. At the existing rate business houses are paying $1,680 a ton to the government for carrying letters.

On an average of forty-two letters are carried to the pound, which makes the rate about 84 cents. This for short hauls, and city delivery as well as for long distance service. An enormous amount of first class mail matter never leaves the city where it originates and the profit is particularly large on this class.

The first batch of letters carried to Circle City, Alaska, cost the government $450 a piece though carried by the two-cent stamp. But there are only a few letters of this sort carried and conditions throughout the United States are entirely different. There are 92,000,000 people in the country by the new census. Vast cities exist by scores where important business concerns are spending millions per annum to make their wares known to the world. The people are entitled to postal service at cost, and the government can carry letters at a one-cent rate and still clear expenses. It seems right and just, therefore, that such a rate should be established.

The Democratic Colorado legislature adjourned Saturday without having fulfilled its platform pledges or having filled the vacancy in the U. S. senatorship. This is characteristic of Democratic. Let it be remembered, also, especially by those senatorial candidates in New Mexico, who speak disdainfully of the power of the press and publicity, and who rely on coin rather than on principle to secure the toga, that it was publicity given of his record by one newspaper in Denver, that defeated Mayor Robert M. Speer of Denver from becoming a senator. R. M. Speer is a believer in the wide open policy, and even Democracy gagged at him after that one newspaper had told the truth about him. A newspaper may not be able to elect a man senator but it can always keep an unworthy man from being elected senator if its own motives are above suspicion.

IT'S ALWAYS THE SAME.

When the New Mexican criticizes the Democratic party, the Democrats sneer and say that the comment is inspired by partisan prejudice. When, however, their own papers haul the party over the coals, there certainly must be some truth in the assertion that the Democratic party generally manages to make a donkey of itself, when given the barest excuse for so doing. The Democratic Roswell Daily Record, the New Mexico Democrat, the Clovis Journal, the El Paso Times, have been as severe as the New Mexican in condemning the action of Democrats in New Mexico, and in Colorado, the Democratic Rocky Mountain News as well as the Democratic Times are seeking in this way representatives of the party for which these papers stand. Says the last named, for instance:

"Why the Democratic party of Colorado should behave in such a way whenever it gets a working majority in the Legislature we do not know; but it always does behave in this way whenever it gets a majority in both houses of the Legislature; and we don't see how it can be expected to behave like it under similar circumstances until its representatives learn that the party, the duties and responsibilities of the party, are greater than the responsibilities of its individual members and a common agreement is reached as to the meaning of the term Democracy. In the present legislative session some members of the Democratic majority are Democrats within the original definition as Jefferson understood it; some of them are Populists, the residuum of a spent political craze; some of them are socialists, with the vaguest perceptions of Socialism; and some of them, we admit with sadness, are out for what there is in it for them as the fathers of families who are hard pressed to buy shoes for the kids and yearn for the possession of an automobile rated at sixty. But, as a coherent, responsible body of political opinion the Democratic party does not exist in this state, and, for the amelioration of that condition, we suggest the calling of a special convention, not for the adoption of another 'platform' but for a settlement of basic political principles."

LET THERE BE LIGHT!

Santa Fe county and Santa Fe city are taking in greater revenues than ever before; the New Mexican believes that these revenues are economically expended, but why not let the people know the details of the expenditures? It is true, the people may go to the official records and dig out the data for themselves, but that is not the way it is done in modern communities. Monthly reports should be published in the press and annual reports should be printed. The officials should be the first to adopt this method for their own protection and to answer in the best and frankest way any criticisms, any rumors, any false charges that may be set afloat by political enemies, and what official is there that does not have such enemies and does not occasionally suffer from reports that are unfounded? Let there be light and publicity in public affairs, especially when it comes to the tax payers' money.

THE REMEDY OF PUBLICITY.

The new mayor of Butte, Montana, a Socialist, by the way, proposes that all habits of the Red Light district be unforgotten; that every visitor to its places register in a book open to the public at all times and to be published weekly so that wives, mothers, daughters, sisters, might know whether one of their menfolk has been a worshipper at the shrine of Phryne. Applying this idea of publicity to the red light district, is a new and potent idea, and if disregard of its mandate were to be punished with heavy penitentiary sentence, then it might prove a permanent cure, for no matter how much a man may deny the existence of the red light district, he does not want his women folks to know that he is a patron of its habits. It is certain, the business could not continue to exist in Santa Fe if the register at such a place were published each day like the hotel registers. Yet, how can a traffic, that hides from publicity, find defenders even among officers elected to enforce the law?

The Democratic Colorado legislature adjourned Saturday without having fulfilled its platform pledges or having filled the vacancy in the U. S. senatorship. This is characteristic of Democratic. Let it be remembered, also, especially by those senatorial candidates in New Mexico, who speak disdainfully of the power of the press and publicity, and who rely on coin rather than on principle to secure the toga, that it was publicity given of his record by one newspaper in Denver, that defeated Mayor Robert M. Speer of Denver from becoming a senator. R. M. Speer is a believer in the wide open policy, and even Democracy gagged at him after that one newspaper had told the truth about him. A newspaper may not be able to elect a man senator but it can always keep an unworthy man from being elected senator if its own motives are above suspicion.

As graphic an example of the economy of highways, as any, is that given by the heavy truck that passed through Santa Fe recently. It is over in Arizona now on its way to San Francisco. Its chauffeur writes that on bad roads it made three miles a day, while on the good road from Globe to Phoenix it made 112 miles a day. To cover the three miles on the bad road took more labor and was greater wear on the truck than it was to travel 112 miles over the good road. What holds good for a truck is also true for any other kind of vehicle. Towns that are connected with good roads are neighbors, even if a hundred miles apart, while tributary country only a few miles away if it can be reached only over bad roads, might as well be a hundred miles away as far as trade, business and social intercourse are concerned.

As the days begin to lengthen, the statehood prospects seem once more to strengthen.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

There has been no response thus far to the appeal of the New Mexican for a gift of $100 to equip with up-to-date juvenile literature the children's reading room which will be furnished at the Public Library by Postmaster E. C. Burke, except that two men have offered $10 each toward this object. But their names will not be given until eight other similar pledges have been received, or a single gift of $100 makes the ten pledges for that purpose unnecessary. The New Mexican is confident of securing the entire amount that it has asked, for a city that can raise $2,500 for a Fourth of July celebration will have $100 for juvenile literature for the children's reading room at the Public Library, only the New Mexican had hoped that some one else would do as Postmaster E. C. Burke has done, volunteer to give the amount without being asked.

It must not be forgotten that 70,000 acres are already under cultivation in the area to be covered by the Engle project which is to furnish a steady water supply for the irrigation of 180,000 acres. Last year, 15,000 bushels of wheat passed over the Canutillo bridge into El Paso, and this year, it is to be 100,000 bushels, which gives some idea of the marvelous agricultural growth of the Rio Grande valley south of the Engle dam. The same possibilities exist in the northern Rio Grande valley and along its tributaries. The day is not far distant, when a million acres will be under cultivation in the Rio Grande and tributary valleys.

Florida is about to try drastic regulation of the saloon, on the theory that while prohibition laws do not prohibit, regulation laws will regulate. Under the new law the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards is rigidly prohibited. The law requires saloons to close at 8 o'clock and not to open until 7 o'clock the following morning, abolishes all screens and forbids music or games in saloons. It further provides that not more than one-fourth of a pint of any intoxicating liquor shall be sold to a customer, this to be in a sealed package.

It is to be hoped that the Good Roads Commission will not delay much longer in throwing a force of convicts into the Santa Fe canyon to do vigorous work on the Scenic Highway. As long as that road remains uncompleted to the Pecos, it will be a standing reproach to the commonwealth. Nothing is to be gained by delay, while early completion of the road, will net the territory $100,000 worth of free and effective advertising, not to speak of the practical benefit to Santa Fe and the people of the upper Pecos.

Republicans and Democrats alike will acknowledge that the city is being given a first class municipal government. Progress costs and those who do not accommodate themselves to its ways, occasionally are hurt, but it is the many who are benefited, even though temporarily a few may be inconvenienced. Santa Fe and Santa Feans like progress and they are just as ready to stand by a municipal administration that is progressive as are the people of other wide-awake municipalities.

Congressman Mondell of Wyoming on Saturday introduced a joint resolution in the House providing for universal suffrage for women. It will not be passed at this session, but the time is much nearer, than many politicians figure, when women will have the right to vote. What is right is right and will prevail and no one any longer denies that anything but expediency is keeping the ballot from women in some sections of the country.

Albuquerque expended $300,000 for a sewer system and it does not completely cover the town. Santa Fe is so advantageously situated that one-sixth of that sum would give an adequate, modern, sanitary sewer system for every dwelling in the city. A sewer system is the first municipal improvement that will come when statehood lifts from the county its railroad bonded indebtedness.

Wagon Mound is early in the field for county seat honors in Mora county even though the state constitution makes a change of county seat more difficult than heretofore. Mora will have to modernize and reach out for a railroad if it desires to retain its place as county seat many more years. The world do move and those who do not move with it are apt to be left by the wayside.

A man who drinks to the point of intoxication, is a back number at this day and hour, and this is particularly true of a judge on the bench. The public is realizing this and it is no wonder to hear, therefore, that in North Dakota a district judge is being impeached for drunkenness, and that in Seattle, the recall is to be applied to a judge who is guilty of excessive drinking.

The Rio Grande Republican calls attention to the fact that Clayton and Folsom introduced manual training in the public schools before Santa Fe thought of it. This is true, and yet, the fact that Santa Fe, has launched a manual training department sets an example, that other New Mexico towns will be swift to follow.

If Santa Fe people work together, they can make the Fourth of July celebration here this year the talk of the Territory, and eventually the talk of the entire country, so that the day will come, when the most natural answer anywhere to the question: "Where will you spend the Fourth," will be: "Why, at Santa Fe, of course."

The Democratic legislature of Colorado on Saturday night passed one hundred bills in 51 minutes. Is it a wonder that the people in Democratic

"JINX" ROOSTED ON SECOND

Middle Bag Was Hoodooed Sack in American League in 1910, With Exception of Philadelphia.

Second base was a hoodooed sack in the American league in 1910. What all players call the "jinx" roosted regularly on second—everywhere but in Philadelphia.

Eddie Collins was the only man in the league who escaped. That brilliant young player had the best season of his career and is one of the few players in the majors who ever engaged in a world series without injuring his reputation. Collins played above his form in the series with the Cubs. But while Collins was the star of the team that won the world's championship, Johnny Evers, second baseman and star of the Cub outfit, was walking on crutches. Evers had his ankle fractured in Cincinnati a few weeks before the season ended.

Jim Delehanty of Detroit did not finish the season. In a game in Cleveland Delehanty wrenched his ankle and hurt his knee; he was forced to quit. It required several months of careful attention and nursing to bring the ankle back to condition.

Nap Lajoie had a big year, finished one point behind Ty Cobb in the official batting averages, but could not escape the hoodoo. On the last day of the season Lajoie became mixed in a scandal that for a time threatened to do a heap of damage to baseball.

McConnell of Boston found himself in a few scrapes and the final outcome of his troubles was a trade to Chicago in which he was one of the principals.

Herman Schaefer was the man at second base in Washington, but Herman injured his arm and had to quit second. Wade Killifer was also played there, but Wade's showing was of such a nature that Washington sold him.

Gardner and LaPorte played second for New York. LaPorte has already lost his job. He will try to out "the jinx" raising ceremonies—National and American leagues and world's series.

Outfielder George Anderson of the Boston American League team, has been purchased by the Providence Eastern League club. Anderson went to the Boston Americans last year from Duluth by draft.

IT SOMETIMES HAPPENS.

"Do you remember that little, watery-eyed, lazy chap we had here three or four years ago?" asked the head of the firm, "Binks, I think, his name was. I discharged him for incompetency."

"Binks?" the assistant manager replied; "oh, yes, I remember him well. He came in to see me today."

"Did he? He went from here to New York, didn't he? I suppose he was wearing a silk hat and an overcoat with a fur collar."

"That's the funny thing about his case. I can't understand it. He was all run down at the heels and wanted to know if I would give him 50 cents."

Counter Diplomacy.

"I think you will like this goods, madam," urged a salesman in a dry goods shop. "It is just the thing for a stout, middle-aged lady."

"Sir!" squealed the customer in a rage. The clerk saw his faux pas and recovered himself quickly.

"Pardon me," he smiled, "I mistook you for the young lady who was here yesterday looking for something for her grandmother. Now that I look at you again, I see that this was an older person. Now, if you are buying for yourself, we have something over there that—"

Amputated.

It is said that two eminent surgeons had a quiet interchange of views the other day, and among other things, traded secrets.

Said one to the other: "What did you operate on Mr. Smith for?"

Said the first: "For $600."

Said the first: "No, I mean what ailed him?"

Said the other: "Oh, he strained himself holding on to the $600 and I cut him loose."

Of Course Not.

"Is it true that you punched Johnny on the nose?"

"Yesum, but it was his own fault."

"And how was it his own fault?"

"He ain't got no business bein' smaller'n me."

Not for Charity.

Smythe—Yes, we had a good day's sport yesterday. Juggins got a big bag and sent it to the hospital.

Brownie—Oh, yes, what did he get?

Smythe—A gamekeeper.

Still Talking.

"Does Miss Gabby show much observation in conversation?"

"I don't know about the observation, but she is generally observing something."

BARELY POSSIBLE.

make good with the St. Louis Browns. Rollo Zelder started out like a whirlwind for Chicago at second, but was replaced by McConnell and will have to fight with seven or eight recruits for the position of shortstop this year.

St. Louis tried several men on second. The "jinx" got every one of them and Bobby Wallace is now searching for a second sacker for his club.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Gene DeMontreville has announced that he will not play ball this season. Felix Chouinard seems to be able to fill in for infield as well as outfield positions.

The Boston Nationals have already closed a deal to train at Augusta, Ga., next spring.

Mullin, the new American league umpire, succeeding Colliflower, comes from the Western league.

Qua Dudson, former Coniskeyite, has signed with Lincoln in the Western league. He will be used as utility infielder.

Judge E. R. Wright last week, in opening district court at Carrizozo, complimented Lincoln county, on the fact that it has not had a murder since the last term of court, and the day has come in New Mexico when such a state of affairs is noteworthy and unique. However, during that period there were several "near" murders in Lincoln county and it was not for lack of intent that there were no killings. The carrying and flourishing of deadly weapons is almost as prevalent in Lincoln county today as it was in the days of "Billy, the Kid."

Judging from newspaper reports in that section.

MOVEMENTS OF UNCLE SAM'S TROOPS.

They Will Scatter Over Eastern Texas During Next Few Weeks of Maneuvers.

Houston, Texas, May 8.—With the lull in the Mexican situation through advances for peace from both the Mexican government and the insurgents, the United States troops massed upon the Texas border for emergency use should threatening activities suddenly break out across the Rio Grande, are to be given a taste of an actual campaign through extensive maneuvers over south Texas.

The brigades concentrated at Fort Crockett on Galveston Island and at Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio will participate in these activities, the center of which will be in the vicinity of Houston.

For six months previous to the sudden massing of troops on the Texas border officers of the United States army have been in Texas securing topographical maps of the Texas coast country and this work has only recently been completed. The value of these maps in an actual campaign is now to be demonstrated in the movement of nearly all the troops in rendezvous along the Texas coast and frontier.

The first movement probably will be the brigade at Galveston, which will move across Galveston bay to Virginia Point and "hike" 25 miles overland to Houston. The bridging of the bay will be made in a military manner if possible, over pontoons if enough pontoons for the span of two miles of water can be secured. Otherwise the troops will be transported in trains over the wooden viaduct, the only connection between the mainland and Galveston Island.

No previous orders will be promulgated concerning the movement, but the entire camp will be moved in a night with all artillery, wagons and equipment and the dawn of the following day will find them on the mainland prepared for the march to the interior. Camp will be pitched in the vicinity of Houston and the maneuvers conducted from there.

Simultaneously, part of the command at Fort Sam Houston may be moved eastward to meet the incoming Galveston command, under Brigadier General Mills. This is believed to be the object of the movement for these two armies, one of the blue and the other brown, to meet. The campaign then may last a fortnight, after which the commands will return to Galveston and Fort Sam Houston.

Sham Battle By Troops.

San Antonio, Texas, May 8.—In a sham battle participated in by the entire army division here under the command of Major General Carter, every branch of the army service gave a splendid account of itself. Theoretically, a command of the army was cut off, isolated at Leon Springs, twenty miles to the northwest. Not only was this command cut off and in imminent danger from the enemy intervening, but the infantry was out of ammunition. There was no way to supply this division with ammunition except by the air men. Those in charge of the flying machines distinguished themselves by making many trips to Leon Springs, carrying from 250 to 400 pounds of ammunition each trip, turning the north flank of the supposed enemy in doing so. Both the Wright and the Curtiss machines covered the distance to the Springs in twenty-four minutes and at places where the wind was in their favor showed a speed of sixty-five miles an hour. In addition to this weight of ammunition, the Wright's machine carried two men and encountered a thirty-five mile wind on two of the trips. But notwithstanding this, the flights were perfectly successful in every detail and demonstrated beyond question the utility of the flying machine in time of actual battle. While theoretically the enemy was defeated, the real victory of the various departments of the service was that won by the air men.

MADERO SENDS HIS THANKS.

strong around the little man who has risen to dethrone "Czar" Diaz, dictator of the rich republic for so many years, but whose reign is at an end.

Governor Otero returned today from El Paso where he held the memorable interview with Madero and he expressed the keen pleasure it gave him to meet the man whose name now is on many tongues. "It was through the great courtesy of Felix Martinez, the newspaper publisher of El Paso, that I was enabled to meet Mr. Madero," said the governor today, "for Mr. Martinez gave me a letter of introduction which brought Mr. Madero out of his camp and up to the line where we were enabled to talk. I had been told that if I crossed the line I would have to return to El Paso through some port, such as Juarez, and the trip might have been a troublesome one."

"Madero and his counselors were then discussing the proposed armistice, for it was on Saturday I saw him. Orozco Was There."

which the question of continuing the war was being so ardently discussed stood P. Orozco, the crack shot and famous insurrecto, at one time the leader of the forces in the field. Orozco had on a pair of riding breeches, a blue serge coat, cow boy hat and two belts of cartridges around his waist. He was a striking figure and judging from his talk he was ready to strike against for freedom. Peace with Diaz still as president seemed to be impossible from his view point, and he did not mince words in discussing it. Madero, while contending that Diaz was not elected president of Mexico, said he hoped for peace if it would bring fairness at the polls.

Big Mining Deal.

Governor Otero said that he and his friends went to Juarez afterward and saw the fortifications of the city.

While in El Paso, the governor attended to some private business and conferred with a number of mining men who are said to be interested in mines of both Old and New Mexico.

tention of the audience on the conduct of Macbeth and Lady Macbeth after the murder. There was a vivid contrast. The man, having broken through the first barrier, now grows reckless and is ready to commit a dozen or more murders to bolster up his cause. He is the calloused one now. Not so with the woman. Remorse is written in bright letters on her forehead. She was so strong before the deed was done, now, loses sleep over it; she grows weak, nervous, despondent. "Again does Shakespeare show his wonderful knowledge of human character," said the lecturer, "display his ability to look into the human heart of both man and woman and tell what he reads there."

At the conclusion of the lecture Dr. Gray was warmly applauded and it was evident that the conclusion of the series of lectures given in the University Extension Course, was accompanied by a sigh of regret from Santa Feans, who greatly enjoyed all of them.

FOUR CROPS SINCE MARCH THE FIRST.

Lower Rio Grande Valley is Already Shipping Canteloupes to Eastern Markets.

Brownsville, Texas, May 8.—Express shipments of canteloupes have been going out of the lower Rio Grande valley, particularly from the vicinities of Mission and Brownsville, for the past eight days, the first shipment having been made on May 1. While it is not unusual for that section of country to ship canteloupes to the northern market by the first of May, there is something unusual in the fact that the land on which some of these were grown is actually producing its fourth crop since March 1, 1910. The crops in order were as follows: Sweet corn, beans, fall vegetables taken from the fields in December last, and canteloupes. It is said by those familiar with the melons shipped that the production is as fine as the famous Rocky Ford and is brings the highest price in the larger cities of the north and east. Last year the valley was in the market early in May with watermelons and one resident boasted of roasting ears the first Sunday in May. This year the roasting ear record has been broken and several localities in the valley have been shipping this table delicacy northward for the past ten days, where it retails at the fancy price of sixty cents a dozen. The same price prevails in this city for valley grown sweet corn and it is offered for sale at all the market stalls. Just south of this city a melon farmer who has made a specialty of the business for a number of years says that prospects justify the belief that he will net $100 per acre on his crop this year. Shipments will begin in the next ten or fifteen days. Early berries such as black berries and dew berries have been on the market for the past two weeks and it is said that Texas has never seen such a crop of the wild variety as is present this year. Many of the large ranches, particularly those to the southward, are clouded in places with the ripening berries and hundreds of Mexicans, both men and women, are employed to pick them. Many car load shipments have been sent northward, but it is estimated that the crop is so large this year, due to abundant rain, that at least one-third of it will go to waste.

PROMINENT DENVERITES KILLED IN AUTO SMASH.

Denver, Colo., May 8.—Edmund F. Richardson, a prominent attorney of this city, who was one of the counsel for the defense in the famous Moyer-Haywood trial in Idaho four years ago, and Horace Granfield, New York, a wealthy mining man with large interests in this state, were killed near Louisville Junction, twenty miles north of here when an automobile in which they were riding plunged down an embankment. Both men were crushed under the heavy machine. Granfield was instantly killed. Richardson died on a train on which he was being brought to Denver.

HAVE FAITH IN ADVERTISING

Leading Cause of Big Profits Made by Mail-Order Houses—Example for Country Merchants.

One of Chicago's big mail-order supply houses cleared, in profits, in 1910 $7,000,000, so it will be seen that they are not in business merely for the accommodation of the public, but listen:

How do these houses reach the people?

Isn't it by advertising?

Yes, you will have to admit or expose your ignorance.

Country merchants will frankly admit that this is the way it is done, and yet, withhold their advertisements from the local paper, which stands between them and the mail-order house, and allow the big concern to talk to their customers in print day in and day out through the magazines and farm and family journals, and never say a word in their own defense or in support of their goods or prices through their medium, the home paper, which is as eagerly read by their customers as are the magazines carrying the advertisements of the mail-order houses—continually.

When country merchants wake up to the fact that every dollar's worth of goods sold by mail-order concerns is the direct result of continuous advertising, then take up the same methods, systematically and persistently, they will soon be selling the goods used by the people in their territory and the M. O. concerns will be forced to quit business for lack of support.

Country merchants have a system of dropping it out, usually with a little "give" ad., absent of prices, often a list of goods out of season at "cut prices," while the mail-order concern will carry a liberalized advertisement, prices and goods reasonable; the journal carrying the advertisement finds its way to the homes of the local men's customers and is there compared with the advertisement in the home paper, if any, and right there the decision is made of whom to buy. The M. O. house has a new and tempting offer every time the journal is received; but the home merchant allows the home paper to enter the same homes and his store not represented only occasionally.

When business becomes dull the M. O. house jumps into the journals with larger and more attractive ads. than at other times; when business gets dull the home merchant drops out all his ads. in the local paper, leaving it all to the mail-order fellows and his customers.

Not one man in ten in business in small towns knows the value of advertising, or how or when to do it, and why—simply because they do not give this most important matter any attention, and just as long as they do not, just so long will the mail-order houses prosper and pile up their millions in profits and sell their goods right under the nose of the retailer, and 95 per cent. of the latter go broke annually.—H. F. Broadbent, in the McClouth (Kan.) Times.

Your advertising can be original, clever, different, without being freakish. Freak advertising attracts attention to its peculiarity and not to the goods it advertises.—Brains.

Queer Japanese Ads.

Some Japanese advertisements quoted in the new review, Japan et Belgique, possess a wealth of imagery unknown to the western advertiser. A Tokyo draper announces that "our goods are sent to customers' houses, with the speed of a shot from a rifle." A grocer proclaims his vinegar to be "more bitter than the gall of the most diabolical of mothers-in-law." And a large multiple store displays a poster inscribed: "Why not visit our shops? We can satisfy every possible want of yours. Everyone of our assistants is as complaisant and obliging as a father who seeks to dispose of a dowry-less daughter. You will be as welcome as a ray of sunshine coming after a day of ceaseless rain."—London Chronicle.

Printers' Ink Pays.

Sedan, way out in Chatauqua county, Kansas, has a population of only 1,000, but that didn't prevent J. H. Edwards, the leading merchant, from spending $2,200 in advertising last year. Mr. Edwards went to Sedan a few years ago with practically nothing, and now owns a big store, a new home, a farm, automobile and a fine team, and claims the success of his business was made possible by liberal advertising, mostly in the newspaper.

Silence Often Valuable.

Some of our modern advertising writers hardly appreciate the value of an occasional silence. Shakespeare understood this, and you will note in "Macbeth" after the king is killed how effectively these silences are used. But some actors forget these silences just as some ad. writers forget to leave enough white paper.

Plainness and Simplicity.

Plainness is appreciated everywhere not abrupt plainness, but clean cut, well put together, simplicity, which is welcomed by the intellectual because they are always simple, and by the ignorant because their understanding can grasp it.

Remember This.

Great every customer as soon as he comes in. If you cannot wait on him at once, at least find out if possible what he wants so as not to keep him waiting needlessly.

Following the Seasons.

Some grief for a joy that is lost. We'd trade, as each season discloses. In summer we're sighing for frost and in winter we hanker for roses.

Perplexities of History.

Lady Godiva was in despair. "I'd be perfectly willing to do it," she cried, with wild, staring eyes, "to please my cruel husband, if I were only sure that Laura Jean Libbey would approve." Still she took that memorable ride, and all mankind applauded.

truck for carrying the hose of the fire department has been ordered and will valued at a million dollars, is the es-

one that will set a new record for suc-

Recent Arrival—"May" Armijo, the first born of her kind in Santa Fe, so named on account of being born on May day, is only a little Shetland pony 21 inches high. She is as black and the E. M. F. car manufacturers who of the cars to those who are unfamiliar with the machines.

Mosquitoes Got This Fan—Although
a fan, he could not or did not "fan" sufficiently to escape the horde of mosquitoes which visited the hall grounds at Albuquerque yesterday when the opening game of the season between the Duke City and the Santa Feans was played. One Santa Fean complains that the "skeeters" punctured his neck in many places and that he did not know anything about it until after the deeds were done. Santa Feans may feel grateful that mosquitoes so far have not seen the propriety of visiting this city.

other charges Oscar White with the larceny of cattle.

PRESIDENT DIAZ WILL RESIGN.

pushed forward and forced the federals to flee for their trenches. The trenches soon were abandoned and the insurgents took possession with wild shouts of joy.

In the meantime, General Madero, himself, rode to the front and persuaded most of the rebels to turn back. Some, however, had ventured so close to Juarez that they hardly could be reached. The insurgent loss was reported at headquarters as two wounded, while three federals were known to fall early in the fire. Three men on the American side of the line were reported to have been hit, one of them Antonio Garcia, dying
an hour later.

The American troops were lined up along the American shore, but several times were ordered by their officers to get under cover of the high railroad bed near the shore. The firing practically ceased about 1 o'clock and all was quiet at the Madero headquarters.

Insurrectos in Juarez.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—While a flag of truce messenger was approaching the fighting army, the insurrectos had got into Juarez and a force of them surrounded the bull ring. The federals came out to meet them and exchanged shots in the heart of Juarez resident section. The federals returned to their quarters, leaving two dead or wounded in the street.

Rush for Juarez Jail.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—The messenger bearing a white flag from Madero's camp was shot from his horse as he neared the fighters, and the insurrectos then made a rush in the direction of the Juarez jail.

Many Bullets in El Paso.

El Paso, May 8.—The firing was renewed for a few minutes at 1:45 o'clock and several houses in El Paso were struck. One woman sitting on a porch had a close call, a bullet passed through the window, less than a foot away. Bullets struck many buildings in the residence section.

Several Americans Killed.

El Paso, May 8.—At 2:15 o'clock it was reported that several persons on the American side of the line near the U. S. customs house had been killed.

Truce Bearer Shot Down.

El Paso, May 8.—The truce bearer of the insurrectos was shot from his horse apparently by insurrectos who wished to continue the fight. The insurrectos repulsed a small band of federals who sallied from Juarez. The federal mines under the adobe houses on the outskirts of Juarez were blown up to prevent the insurrectos using them as a barricade. A second truce bearer was sent from the insurrecto side.

Field Piece in Action.

El Paso, May 8.—A field piece was brought into action by the federals and fired twice but without effect.

WINTER'S BUICK BREAKS ANOTHER RECORD.

Made Trip to Edge of Rito de los Frijoles and Looks Upon House of the Ten Alders.

The following lines are taken from a leaf in the diary kept by Judge and Mrs. A. J. Abbott at the Ten Alders, Rito de los Frijoles:

"T. Z. Winter and his excellent wife and daughter, Helen, accompanied by Miss Elsie Jacobs and E. H. Brooks as guide, broke the record today by dropping in upon us in Mr. Winter's automobile. It is the first time that an automobile has made the trip from Santa Fe to the canon del Rito de los Frijoles. It is needless for us to record in our diary the pleasure we have experienced from this visit of our good friends and the delight of having an automobile penetrate the wilderness and stand upon the cliff overlooking the house of the Ten Alders.
Mr. Winter is certainly entitled to great credit for the courage exercised in making the trip, and from what we have learned there was no one in the company that did not use pick, shovel or sledge hammer to remove obstructions from the path and knock the high centers out of the highway. It was a veritable case of "hitting the high places" and opening the way for other cars that may be jealous of the record made by Mr. Winter's Buick."

MR. HOOVER BUYS. MR. PRATT'S INTEREST.

W. G. Hoover is the new manager of the Capital City Pharmacy. This was made known today when W. D.

regret to see him depart, but at the same time they will welcome his successor.

Mr. Hoover is a native of Chicago and is a young businessman of promise. He has been for some months in Raton as manager of the Schroeder commended.
