THE OLD TIMERS WILL PLAY BALL

From Wednesday's Daily Citizen: Fred Goldsmith, the well known ball umpire, and years ago pitcher for the Chicago National club, concluded to remain in the city for the winter, and will probably get a position in the employ of the city at this place.

In conversation with many old citizens, since the fair base ball tournament, for which he officiated as umpire, he learned that a dozen or more of the old Browns base ball players, who went through season after season without a single defeat, still live in this city, and he proposed to get these old players for occasional five inning games, to be played just the new Browns, the proceeds to be derived from the extra receipts to the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society, or any other charitable institution which may be decided upon.

This morning he was introduced to J. Shink, the second baseman of the famous old time aggregation. Shink promptly agreed to a game during this fall. Shink was the leading batter of the old team, and was always sure of a home safe hit. It is true he had of hearing, but he gets there the same.

V. Y. Walton, who played first base, and was never known to let a drop in front of him without making an attempt to catch it, like Everett Monday afternoon last, was next to sign his name, and he is expected to shine on first base in the first game he played, or may be induced to play the twister, for in the previous games Goldsmith will do the thing.

The next signature obtained by Mr. Goldsmith was P. P. McCanna, who played out in the left garden years ago underneath the highest sky that all the professionalists indulged in to pull down the skyscrapers of the utmost ease. His greatest feat was in the game played years between the old Browns and a new aggregation of semi-professionals from Prescott. An athlete at the bat for the Prescotts; was the admiration of every lady who stood at the grand stand, as he stood at plate with bat in hand, and the picture of a gladiator, P. P. McCanna, of the Browns, mislabeled as a pitcher, and gave athletes a straight bat instead of a cushion. The wagon tongue against the ball like a pile of work on pillars of a bridge, the ball shot through the air as lightning. McCanna was going away out where the old stand of the race course then stood. He saw the ball sailing through the deep blue sky, and being what of a sprinter, made after it, over a mighty hit, but the ball set right in McCanna's hands. Not satisfied with his great catch he saw the ball with lightning speed. He played on first base, and scored a double play, and the plaudits of thousands of spectators.

Way back yonder before the floods of Scott Knight was considered the latest twister of delectable curves the Rocky mountain regions, and Trinidad in those primitive days led to mow down the opposing batsmen with startling regularity. It got that no club would play in the Trinidad team as long as he was pitcher, so the manager of the Trinidads put Scott in the right place. He got sour on the Trinidad

Joe Farr was the next old time player to sign Goldsmith's contract, and Joe, with his left hand bat, was noted in those early days as one of the safest batters in the city. He still has some ginger in his bones, and will make good.

"The next and ninth player will be a doctor," said Goldsmith, "for I really believe as will be needed, and understanding that Dr. J. F. Pearce used to play ball in his younger days, I asked him to play and he consented. Now this is my old time list of ball tossers, and as soon as I can get them together and arrange certain matters, I will then be ready to announce the day when the game will be played. I have already asked P. J. Weston to act as umpire."

SHE WILL GO UPON THE STAGE

Mrs. Murphy, divorced wife of former Governor N. O. Murphy of Arizona, once the picturesque Arizona girl whom the cowboys in admiration hailed as "Bronco Nell," and later a prominent and unique figure in the most brilliant social circles of the country, is going on the stage, says the Los Angeles Examiner.

She is now studying in a school of dramatic art in Los Angeles. The former governor is remarried and has just returned from a tour of Europe with his bride, a wealthy woman of Washington, D. C. When he settled a fortune on Mrs. Murphy after her divorce a year ago Mrs. Murphy's friends said christian science had something to do with the separation of a couple who had braved frontier privations and dangers and climbed together the ladder of fame.

Insolubly was the ground upon which she based her plea for liberty, for although the stately woman with a power of magnetism that had held fast many friends had at that time ambitions to become a healer in christian science, her influence fell short of demolishing the governor's thirst for the life of the bon vivant.

And the former executive, with the acquired taste that came to some men conspicuous as he has been in the halls of congress and in the lobby chambers, did not dispute the ground nor contest the suit.

manager for the change, because he was pitching then so as to get a berth in the National league, and left that town, coming to Albuquerque. His fame as a ball player had preceded him, and Manager McCright signed him for the old Browns. His arm, however, lost its cunning manipulations, and he was put in the right field. Today he consented to again enter the diamond field, and signed with Goldsmith.

Seeing Page B. Otero, the territorial game warden in the city, and learning that he was an old Browns player years ago, Goldsmith made his acquaintance, and Otero was persuaded to sign. He is an old time all-around player, and one of the hardest hitters in the business. It is an absolute fact, while playing years ago with the Browns against the Socorro Reds, he hit the ball so hard that Otero Potter, who was playing second base for the Reds, was knocked senseless, and did not recover until the return of his team to Socorro. It was a terrific line hit. The ball, in its speed, eluded a piece of the right ear of Pitcher Burlingame, of the Reds, and in an attempt to catch the ball, passed through Potter's hands, making a dent in his left side, and driving into his body two or three ribs. The players of the Reds crowded around the fallen player, and Otero scattered home with a home run hit to his credit. In his first game against the new Browns he will surely show the younger generation how to play ball.

Having five players and himself, and wanting three more, Goldsmith hunted up the records and discovered that he was giving newspaper pointers to one of the old boys himself. It was W. T. McCreight and Mac agreed to get in line for a few more stunts before he considered himself altogether out of the game. He gained his knowledge of the national sport on the blue grass commons of Kentucky—in those early days when "Long Pete" Browning, known as "The Gladiator," was knocking balls over the fence of the base ball park in Louisville. McCreight organized the first base ball team and Athletic association ever organized in the territory of New Mexico, and played ball in various towns of the southwest with veterans like R. E. Twitchell, A. G. Wells, W. B. Biddle, Beveridge Risque, John Sullivan, C. H. Morehouse, Dr. J. F. Pearce, Juan Hart and others. He has a few good games to his credit, especially one when he brought a team from Socorro as the pitcher, and at that time defeated the old Browns in the first defeat sustained by them for years.

Joe Farr was the next old time player to sign Goldsmith's contract, and Joe, with his left hand bat, was noted in those early days as one of the safest batters in the city. He still has some ginger in his bones, and will make good.

"The next and ninth player will be a doctor," said Goldsmith, "for I really believe as will be needed, and understanding that Dr. J. F. "Sal" when a young girl, and daughter of one of the brave but poor men who blazed the perilous trail. She lived almost in sight of the first capital of the territory. It was her hands that strung the crude, clothless tables, around which sat the cowboys, stage drivers, horny-handed miners and bewildered tenderfeet on a station on the road from Prescott out into the Crown King mountains.

As "Bronco Nell" she was met and won by "Gables" Murphy, who still a mere girl.

DR. HAROUN IN SANTA FE HIS WANDERINGS AND DEBERTATIONS SINCE HE LEFT DENVER.

Dr. William A. Haroun, who mysteriously disappeared three months ago, deserting his wife, and whose name was afterward linked with the name of the wife of a prominent Colorado Springs business man, has been heard from again. Information received from Santa Fe, N. M., is to the effect that he is practicing medicine in that city.

Dr. Haroun left his wife destitute. She disposed of the furnishings of his handsome home at 1229 East Colfax avenue, and his office in room 414 Temple court, but when the money he had contracted through his high living were paid there was nothing left. For a month Mrs. Haroun was in dire distress, and but for friends who came to her rescue would have become an object of charity.

Private detectives working on the case traced Dr. Haroun to Rollinsville. He was the physician of the Moffat road, and after leaving here, went to Rollinsville, where he remained a number of days. He then returned to Denver and after keeping under cover for three days, left for Chicago.

Detectives next traced him to New York. About two months ago he wrote to his wife, who was then stopping in the Carnegie in this city. Mrs. Haroun decided to return to her erring husband and over the protests of friends, who urged her to institute divorce proceedings she left for Chicago.

Since then Dr. Haroun and his wife returned to the city. They spent about ten days here, Dr. Haroun opening an office at 717 Twenty-seventh street. Creditors pushed him too hard, however, and finding Denver entirely too tropical, he again disappeared, and Mrs. Haroun followed him a few days later.

RESUME OF THE PECOS VALLEY FLOOD

The Entire Fertile Section Swept by Raging Torrents for a Few Days.

EDDY COUNTY LOSS, $50,000.

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.) Little additional news has developed from the flood conditions of last week further than appeared in the Carlsbad Argus of last issue. The waters gradually receded until within a few feet of their normal condition by Saturday evening when they again took a sudden rise, occasioned by additional heavy rains in the upper waters of the Rio Grande, about the middle of the week, and which by the time it reached Carlsbad caused the river at this point to rise only about four feet.

At Roswell, the condition, caused by this second flooding, was even more serious than the first. The water rose to a height of from two to four feet in the streets, and to about eighteen inches in the stores. More serious damage resulted to buildings from the second inundation than the first. Some six or eight adobe buildings crumbled and fell, doing much damage to furniture and fixtures. In some instances the buildings were occupied as small stores, in which event the entire stock was lost. The electric light company was unable to operate its plant, leaving the city in total darkness.

The loss to Roswell and vicinity will amount to many thousands of dollars, any definite estimate of which is unobtainable at this time, estimates varying from $50,000 to $150,000.

Carlsbad being more fortunately situated on higher ground relative to the river, fared much better than our sister city. Protected by high bluffs immediately north of the city, and broad lowlands extending over many square miles in area, a few miles above, places this city in practically an absolute safe condition, except in the most extreme instances. This was put to the most severe test last week. A few miles above the flood, nature has provided a dam made by two immense hills formed of solid rock, between which passes the channel of the river. Through it it is impossible for only a certain amount of water to pass. Below is a broad, flat area, over which the water is allowed to spread, and at the lower end is the immense concrete flume, a veritable solid rock, as a final safe guard to the city. Its inextinguishable strength from a structural standpoint, supplemented by its immense weight, makes it a Gibraltar of firmness and durability. Beneath its expansive arches the water is again permitted to pass in measured quantities, which prevents the town below from being submerged. It is only by a paradoxical condition, contrary to the law of nature, when water runs up hill, via: back water from below, that any danger or damage can result to the city.

The recent high water was the first since the building of the flume, about two years ago, to establish these facts. It was the danger resulting from a failure of these structures to stand, and the reports that the dam and flume were going out that created the fear and excitement here causing the exodus to the hills. The water which rose in the lower end of Canyon street to a depth of about three feet, was caused by back water from Dark Canyon.

The Woodman building, which has long stood in a tottering condition, was the only one to be affected. The water caused its foundation to settle, throwing it out of plumb by about twelve inches. It has been condemned by the city authorities and will be torn down.

The upper dam, which was recently put in by Mrs. Mary E. Tansill at an expense of $10,000, remains intact and uninjured. The water cut a channel around its end, leaving this wall of solid masonry undisturbed in the center of the stream.

The Ramsey company have erected a building near their former site, just east of the railroad tracks, and will be prepared to operate their gin by the 20th inst., the exigency of the cotton crop making it imperative for them to rebuild immediately and prepare for the caring of the crop, a large portion of which is now picked and ready to be ginned.

The county commissioners have under advisement the rebuilding of the two bridges which were swept away. At a meeting to be held not later than November 12, some definite action will be taken.

The railroad company is straining every effort to repair the road bed between this city and Pecos, to rebuild the bridge across the Pecos river about one mile north of this city, and thus re-establish train service, which has been at a standstill for the past ten days.

Only one mail has been received at the post office within the period of a week. The first to reach this city, after the congestion, at the upper end of the road, was last Tuesday. After making three transfers, once across the Canadian river and twice across the Pecos, a car load of mail was received to gladden the hearts of many, and bringing the first news from the outside world.

A total estimate of the losses prepared by the conservative business men of the city at a meeting of the Commercial club was placed at $50,000. An itemized table of losses adopted at this meeting is as follows:

McMillan dam.....	$ 2,500
Erdon dam.....	15,000
Canal.....	2,500
La Huerta bridge.....	3,000
The Heights bridge.....	2,000
Power house.....	1,000
Cotton gin.....	1,000
Power dam.....	2,500
Farms.....	1,500
Total.....	$31,000
R. R. property and live stock.....	19,000
Grand total.....	$50,000

PROCLAMATION FOR NEW MEXICO AT THE WORLD'S FAIR AT ST. LOUIS.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.) Whereas, New Mexico, by an act of the legislature, approved March 19, 1903, created a commission for the purpose of exhibiting the resources, products and general development of the territory at the Louisiana Purchase exposition or St. Louis world's fair, in the year 1904, and provided means for the carrying out of these objects; and

Whereas, said commission has carried out the intent of that law with great energy and success, and has prepared and arranged a most creditable exhibit from the territory at the great exposition by the banks of the Mississippi, which compares favorably with that from other states and territories, and has also erected an artistic and convenient building for the purpose of entertaining our people and those who visit us; and

Whereas, in conformity with a request from the management of the exposition a day was named "New Mexico Day" by a proclamation, but later it was found necessary to postpone the date originally selected, on account of the complete interruption of railway traffic by the floods, and the management of the exposition has now requested that a later day be set apart distinctively as "New Mexico Day."

Now, therefore, I, Miguel A. Otero, governor of the territory of New Mexico, in accordance with such courteous request, and the desire of the territorial commission, do hereby designate Friday, November 18, A. D. 1904, as New Mexico Day at St. Louis, and will urge all our people who may be in that city on that day to attend the exercises at the New Mexico building on that occasion; and that all citizens who intend visiting the great exposition may make it convenient to attend at the time of these exercises, in order that the people of the states may not only view our material resources, but see us personally, and assist in making New Mexico Day an event worthy of our great territory and of the greatest exposition ever held, which commemorates the most momentous civil event in our national history.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the great seal of the territory to be affixed at Santa Fe, New Mexico, this 18th day of October, A. D. 1904.

(Signed) MIGUEL A. OTERO, By the Governor, J. W. RAYNOLDS, Secretary of the Territory.

POLICE COURT A PAIR OF $250 TROUSERS CASE WAS TRIED BY JUDGE CRANFORD THIS MORNING.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.) A pair of $250 trousers occupied the attention of Judge Cranford this morning for more than an hour. A Jap at the Alvarado had lost a pair of trousers and a native had a pair of just such trousers as those, which were missing.

He told the police that the pants which the native wore were stolen from him and the native was promptly arrested. This morning the Jap identified the trousers as his. They were of the same cloth and fit him snugly. This was found out by his putting them on for the pleasure of the court, but yet the case against the native, who gave the name of Padilla, was not without room for doubt. Padilla said that he purchased the trousers at the Boston store, of Las Vegas, in July. He too, donated the apparel in question for the pleasure of the court, and they were so large that they fit swaddling, but yet the court was in doubt as to the ownership, and the case went over until further evidence can be secured. In the meantime the trousers are locked up at the city building.

W. H. Herrick, son of the late Prof. Herrick, is in the city from Socorro.

M ATINEE AND BASE BALL AT THE FAIR GROUNDS SUNDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 23.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.) Umpire Goldsmith and a sum of horses got together for last night and conferred relations to a meeting and a base ball game at the fair grounds Sunday afternoon, October 23.

Mrs. Goldsmith stated that he had re-organized the old Browns (those who were written up in The Citizen yesterday afternoon) and that he was confident the new Browns would be willing to give them a game. He was equally confident the match would prove interesting and would be a drawing card.

The horsemen then suggested a free-for-all race, to include such famous names as Stranger, S. O. Young and Shocum, and the owners of the horses consented. Driver Frost will handle the reins over Young, and Jacob Levy over Shocum, and there will be two other horses in the race that afternoon equally as interesting, and the match will prove all right. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

SENATOR ANDREWS AT LAS CRUCES

From Monday's Daily Citizen.

Special Correspondence.

Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 15.—Donna Anna county will undoubtedly give Senator W. H. Andrews a heavy republican majority in the forthcoming election. This fact was evident from the harmony and good will which prevailed in the republican county convention this afternoon and the great attendance and enthusiasm at the month-long road meeting during the evening.

When Governor Otero, Senator Andrews and party reached the flourishing city of the Mesilla valley late in the afternoon, a huge cheering crowd, headed by the Las Cruces band, awaited their arrival. The party immediately entered carriages and proceeded by the hand started for the New Mesilla hotel. Before two blocks had been traversed over five hundred loyal republicans voters had formed four abreast and were marching in regular order as an escort to the guests. The procession included all the delegates to the convention and the more prominent republicans of the city proper. It was a sight that could not but be of good cheer to any candidate, for it showed that the people of Donna Anna county were in hearty accord with the action taken by the territorial convention.

The campaign party remained at the hotel until evening, awaiting the completion of the work of the convention before politics were discussed.

After seeing to the comfort of the guests the convention then reconvened, having taken a recess, and Chairman Albert Fountain declared nominations in order.

Democrats in Donna Anna county, as everywhere else, had predicted great things for this convention. Just to show the opposing party, probably that it was not one of the republican ones to assist the dissatisfied party in any such way, the county voted in union throughout, not one delegate having reasons for criticizing any action taken on the floor of the convention. Men who have participated in numerous conventions of a similar character in Donna Anna county state that never before in the history of the county has a convention been held where all worked with such enthusiasm and toward one common end as was the case this afternoon.

The present office holders were unanimously renominated, the convention pointing toward their records as suitable reasons for a good majority on re-election. R. N. Schmittman, candidate for commissioner from the first district, is the only nominee that did not succeed himself.

The following are the members of the Donna Anna county ticket for the coming campaign:

Chairman—Jose R. Lucero.

Collector—Oscar Lohman.

County Clerk—Isidoro Arnujo.

Assessor—Theodore Bonaldi.

Probate Judge—Marcel Valdez.

County Commissioners—R. N. Schmittman and Francisco Jaramilla.

Superintendent of Schools—Albert J. Fountain.

Surveyor—George Lynch.

River Commissioners—Esteran Benito, Antonio Lucero, Jose M. Ramirez, E. Rosales and W. N. Hagen.

The convention adopted resolutions by acclamation showing faith in the territorial administration and pledging its undivided support to the regular republican nominee for delegate to congress.

At 6 o'clock the convention adjourned to gather again in the evening at the grand mass meeting. The court house being inadequate to meet the demands of those who had arrived in the city from the outlying districts, it was decided that the rink should be used for the rally.

Rousing Mass Meeting.

An hour before the evening meeting the great hall began gradually to fill. The Las Cruces rink is the largest auditorium in New Mexico, but it became early apparent that it would prove sufficient to meet the demands that would be made upon it. When Governor Otero, Senator Andrews, the members of the campaigning party and the committee appointed by the meeting to call at the hotel to escort the guests, with the Santa Fe band marching in front, entered the hall, over two thousand people rose to greet the candidate and bid welcome to his party. Three hundred on the outside vainly scrambled for entrance, but the capacity was already overtaken and they were obliged to remain at the doors, catching fragments of the speeches and listening to the band.

Hon. W. B. H. Dewolfe presided over the mass meeting, introducing Governor Otero as the first speaker, as a governor who had done more for this territory, decreased the territorial debt and the only man who had succeeded himself on appointment to the head of New Mexico's government.

The governor made one of his dignified speeches, talking over half an hour to an appreciative, attentive audience. He spoke for a few moments on national affairs, called attention to the condition of the territory and ended by introducing Senator Andrews in a manner that brought a cheer from each member of the audience.

Governor Otero is plainly the most popular governor New Mexico has been sufficiently fortunate to secure. Whenever a meeting is held Governor Otero receives ovation after ovation, until the accounting becomes simple redundancy.

Senator Andrews was received with such noise as can only be caused by two thousand supporters meeting their candidate on common ground. His speech touched upon that subject of unflinching interest to any Las Cruces audience—irrigation. He told something concerning what was being done by the Santa Fe Central in railway building and ended in a promise to secure for New Mexico these improvements so badly needed.

Judge A. L. Harrison spoke for three-quarters of an hour on national issues of importance. He called particular attention to the conditions of the wool market when the democratic administration was in control of affairs. He showed how it was due to the tariff that wool is now worth 18 cents while in the policy adopted by the democrats and endorsed by George F. Money, candidate for the opposition for delegate to congress, it had been worth simply five cents. Judge Harrison's speech was well received, ending with a short review of what Senator Andrews was doing for the territory.

Alexander Read, candidate for council from Rio Arriba, San Juan and Taos counties, spoke in Spanish, much to the gratification of the native portion of the audience. Mr. Read touched upon the live issues of the local campaign. In referring to the Rocky independent talk he said he could not bring himself to believe that the present delegate would allow his name to be used to assist the plans of the democrats. If the rumors should ever prove correct he said that in his country all support would be given to the regular candidate and many cried out from the audience, "Same here."

Judge A. J. Abbott, of Santa Fe, was the next speaker, talking briefly upon the question that had been tendered the candidate in the two counties already visited, equalled only, he said, by that given in Las Cruces. Judge Abbott took occasion to refer to the necessity of the democratic platform, spoke concerning the merits of the two candidates for delegate to congress, showing how Senator Andrews with his wealth of experience and acquaintances was far better fitted for that important position than a man young and lacking all experience in such duties.

When H. O. Burson, chairman of the republican central committee, told the people of Las Cruces that in the near future it was very possible that Las Cruces would have another railroad, built by Senator Andrews, the crowd went simply wild. "Mr. Andrews is building railroads in New Mexico," said the speaker. "He is going to build a railroad to El Paso and probably Las Cruces will be in receipt of some of the direct benefits of this capital our candidate is bringing constantly to this territory." "Hurrah," cried every loyal citizen of Las Cruces, who, when they began to realize in earnest what this man was doing for New Mexico. Mr. Burson touched on what had been done by the administration, represented by Governor Otero, quoting figures to show that the territory's debt had been decreased and that the increased taxation was going back to the states in improvements needed for years.

Major Jewell closed the meeting with a few remarks concerning Senator Andrews' personality. "Some one asked me today," shouted the district attorney, "if I liked Mr. Andrews. I told him 'No.' I don't like Senator Andrews—I love him. Gentlemen, when I was ill, this man came and assisted in nursing me and gave me many kind words from Cuba money to return to New Mexico. Why should I not love him? Mr. Andrews does not tell you of those things. He is too modest. But I am not placed in his position, I can and I will tell you."

The chairman then dismissed the meeting, all standing up and cheering the candidate and then crowding about to shake him by the hand.

The party immediately boarded the special train and left for El Paso from which point they were transferred on the El Paso & Northeastern to Torrance, where another special was waiting to carry the party to Santa Fe. Thirty miles from Santa Fe the locomotive broke down, delaying the arrival in the Capital City until nearly 9 o'clock Monday morning.

At Torrance George P. Money was not awaiting his train. Senator Andrews courteously offered the use of the special to convey his opponent to Santa Fe. Mr. Money, however, could not arrange to accept the offer, preferring to remain in consultation with certain members of his party who were at the platform.

PERILS OF LAND AND SEA.

Captain Willmet's Remarkable Escape Shows What to Do in Time of Trouble.

For many years Captain Willmet, says the Times of Gloucester, Mass., was one of the best known seamen in the Gloucester fleet. The catastrophic troubles with which he suffered for fifteen years made him dread the nights at sea, being unable to lie down and sleep on account of the constant catastrophic dropping.

Captain Willmet went to two different hospitals for treatment, but could get no lasting benefit. He constantly raised yellow and green phlegm and his trouble became so unbearable and nauseating that he was ashamed to get out in company. When despairing of ever getting relief, his wife purchased a Hyomil outfit for him, and trying it before going to bed, he enjoyed the first whole night's sleep for ten years. Captain Willmet says: "I have used less than two bottles of Hyomil and have been cured by the remedy."

Hyomil kills the germs of Catarrh and makes healing and permanent cures. J. H. O'Reilly & Co. sell Hyomil under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not give instant relief.

Richard Grace, Jr., of Bay City, Michigan, died Saturday night, after a short illness from tuberculosis. Grace came here about three months ago, and went direct to the St. Joseph's sanatorium, where he died. The remains will be shipped to his home in Michigan for interment.

RAILROAD TOPICS

From Saturday's Daily Citizen.

A new course of instruction in railway transportation has been arranged by the Pennsylvania Railroad company in its West Philadelphia branch of the Y. M. C. A.

Free expert medical attention will be given hereafter by the Baltimore & Ohio to the families of employees, according to an announcement by the general staff of physicians and surgeons of the road.

The railway traveler in Japan buys a first, second or third class ticket; or, if he wishes to go cheaper still, he can get a ticket entitling him simply to stand on the platform. Many of the cars can be entered either from the side or the end.

Any one who wants to hire a special train from New York to Chicago can do so by putting up $1,644. A gentleman who did this lately made the trip of 822 miles in 17 hours and 57 minutes.

The outlook for the building of some six hundred to eight hundred miles of railroad in New Mexico during the year 1906 is bright. If this railroad construction should occur, and the probabilities all favor it, New Mexico will experience a very prosperous year.

Tenth Season of the California Limited.

Ten years ago this fall the Santa Fe started the California Limited train on the initial run across the continent. Many improvements have been made in that long decade. Today's coaches and engines are much heavier than those of 1894. Millions of dollars have been spent on the track alone—some of it for oil-sprinkled (dustless) roadbed and oil-burning (smokeless) engines. The time is faster, too.

Daily service of the California Limited will be resumed Sunday November 13, for the tenth season, superseding the present semi-weekly schedule. This is now an all-the-year-round train between Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco, running through the southwest land of enchantment. The time, Chicago to Los Angeles, is about sixty-eight hours, which is fast speed for the 2,265 miles traveled, considering that several mountain ranges are crossed.

The democrats are appealing to the railway workers to vote for their ticket on the ground that their condition would be bettered. The employees of transportation companies have a vivid recollection of what occurred when the democratic party gained power in 1892. That event was followed by an enormous reduction of the working forces of the railroads of the country.

RAILROAD CLUB.

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY KNIGHTS OF THE RAIL BAND TOGETHER FOR AMUSEMENT AND SELF-IMPROVEMENT.

A railroad club with 350 members has been organized at Alamogordo. The following officers have been elected: Edward Hennessy, president; F. H. Burleigh, vice president; C. J. Finger, secretary; F. Walker, treasurer; Frank Simmons, George Majors and D. Sullivan, trustees. The club will maintain a reading room and amusement hall as well as a philharmonic society. A reception will be held next week and a concert some time this month.

Marshall P. Wilder at the Grand Canyon.

Everybody knows Marshall P. Wilder. His genial presence and funny stories make him welcome in every newspaper office. On the stage he creates several laughs a minute. His magazine articles have been smilingly read by millions.

Wilder sails from San Francisco in October for a trip around the world. On the way he plans to spend a few days at the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

With a twinkle in his eye he remarked when a friend suggested the incongruity of a funny man appreciating so solemn a thing as this century-old world wonder: "It's only a strip, you know, from the sublime to the ridiculous. If it don't make the spirit of the canyon smile to see Marshall P. Wilder astride of a white mule straggling down the trail it will be because the said spirit is blindfolded, or else it doesn't know a joke when it sees one on the trail."

If anyone attempts to describe the Grand Canyon ever exists mirth, why should not the sallies of the humorist interest the sober-minded? Anyhow, what Wilder writes about the Titan of canyons will be well worth reading and will be read.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Albuquerque Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most times 'tis the kidney's fault. Backache is really kidney ache.

That's why Donan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Albuquerque women know this.

Read what one has to say about it.

Mrs. J. Hall, of 519 South First St., says: "One of my daughters suffered from backache for about eight months or a year. Sometimes it was so bad that she was completely prostrated for a day or so at a time. I read about Donan's Kidney Pills in our Albuquerque newspaper and thought if they only performed half what they promised they might help my daughter, and we went to the Alvarado Pharmacy for a box. In a remarkably short time the medicine took effect and a continuation of the treatment a little longer stopped the backache. We are pleased to recommend Donan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

CRUCKSHANK'S DEATH

An article Dealing with Life and Death of this Distinguished Doctor.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.)
San Marcial, N. M., Oct. 15.—The grief of the people of this little city was truly pathetic when the news was spread at 1:30 a. m. last Sunday that Dr. C. G. Cruckshank had been summoned to the world beyond.

For several days previous to the dreaded event the prospects of his recovery grew more discouraging. On the morning of his death the doctor dreamed and moved about his residence as had been his custom for several days, but suddenly the grasp of death was upon him, and in a few moments he had joined the great majority.

Surrounding the death bed were Mrs. Cruckshank, and a number of close friends who watched with bated breath the last short struggle of the sufferer from a longer lease of life from the dread malady, Bright's disease.

Dr. C. G. Cruckshank was born in the province of Quebec, Canada, about fifty years ago. He removed to Michigan when quite a youth, and eventually took up the study of medicine and surgery, graduating from Ann Arbor university with distinction. About twenty years ago he came to San Marcial and soon began the practice of his profession. He became noted all over the southwest for his skill as a surgeon, and was soon in the enjoyment of a wide practice.

Dr. Cruckshank was a progressive, wide-awake, energetic citizen. To him more than to any other man San Marcial is indebted for its steady growth, its excellent rating in the way of schools, churches, etc. He was always ready with his time, his money and good counsel to help along progressive movements. With money or without it you could always receive his professional attention, and thousands of people throughout Socorro county owe him lasting debts of gratitude for help given in periods of distress and uncertainty.

He was a faithful member of the A. O. U. W. lodge of this place, and for several years—in fact, ever since the organization of the New Mexico-Arizona jurisdiction, he has held the position of supreme representative of the new district. He was also prominent in Odd Fellowship, and had just completed his first term as grand master of the order in this territory. In this line of work he took great interest, and was exceptionally well fitted as a guiding spirit in fraternal advancement and organization. When the Spanish-American war broke out he received a commission as lieutenant of the New Mexico volunteers. He was on active duty for several months in the coast camps, and when the trouble settled down to the governing of the island by his troops, he attached himself to the chief surgeon's staff and fought the hardships of disease among the troops until ill health compelled him to resign from the service.

That experience was the beginning of Dr. Cruckshank's long spell of sickness. He manfully and heroically fought the advance of the disease, but the best medical skill and visits to favored localities availed nothing, and he returned to San Marcial to make his final stand for recovery among old friends and associates.

The funeral took place yesterday at 2:30 p. m., and despite the muddy condition of the streets, was largely attended. From outside points friends came to pay the last tribute of respect to their old friend. Among them were Dr. Bacon of San Antonio, Dr. Reicher of Socorro, Mr. C. R. Alaire of San Antonio, Judge W. E. Kelly of Socorro. Services were held at the residence conducted by Rev. Given, pastor of the Methodist church. The arrangements were in charge of the Odd Fellowship society, and they turned out in a body. Embedded in floral offerings from the fraternal lodge and friends, the body lay in state in the large parlor of the residence. A choir sang appropriate hymns at intervals. The hundreds who were present viewed the remains in single file, and the manifestations of grief on every face told plainly the depth of the love and friendship entertained, and by our citizens for the strong man suddenly laid low.

At the cemetery the metallic casket was lowered away following the burial services of the Odd Fellows. Impressively read by Judge W. E. Kelly, and the singing of three beautiful and appropriate hymns by the choir. After the benediction the large assembly dispersed with the consciousness and weight of the community's great loss resting heavily upon them.

Until recently the doctor, while skilled much beyond and confining to religious subjects, had never made a profession of any particular faith, but he was able to understand that a few days before his death he experienced a very complete and sweet conversion, which enables his family and friends to any with thankful hearts.

His death, where is the friend? O strange, where is the victory?

The following were the pall bearers: S. G. Hanna, W. J. Hanna, W. G. Lane, A. L. Phillips, H. Bonem, Francis Wilson.

H. H. HOWARD.

which occurred on Sunday, the 16th day of October, 1904.

Dr. Cruckshank was a pioneer in the founding of San Marcial, a charter member of this lodge, grand master of the order in New Mexico, was loved by the brethren and the entire community, and highly respected by all who knew him, and

Whereas, it has pleased the Grand Master of the Uniform to remove from among the craft our beloved brother, Charles G. Cruckshank, and Whereas, it is most that this lodge pay a befitting tribute to his memory, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Cruckshank the fraternal has lost one of its most useful and exemplary members, his family, a kind and true protector, and our little city its most progressive citizen.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, a copy for publication to The Albuquerque Citizen, the El Paso Herald, and a copy to the Socorro Chieftain.

Respectfully submitted,
H. H. HOWARD,
W. D. HITCHCOCK,
H. BONEM,
Committee.

SAN JUAN DEMOCRATS.

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)
The democrats of San Juan county nominated the following ticket: Treasurer and collector, W. C. Black; probate clerk, L. G. Olson, surveyor, C. F. Holly; superintendent of schools, Dr. C. D. Smith; assessor, Richard Hendricks; probate judge, Frank Mir; sheriff, Boone C. Vaughn; commissioner from the first district, J. V. Lujan; third district, F. M. Pierce; for representative, W. A. Hunter. The following central committee was named: M. Garcia, Charles S. Bailey, M. W. Hunt, P. L. Noel, J. C. Hubbard, Val Planch, B. Arnold, W. T. Mulhally, J. T. Jaquez, and William Pieper. Lengthy resolutions were passed, favoring the consolidation of territorial institutions, denouncing the present jury law, abusing the territorial administration, favoring the election of district attorneys, the enactment of a fence law, and denouncing the efforts of the republicans to split the democratic party in San Juan county.

CANNOT STAND DEFEAT.

THE COMMENTS OF SANTA FE AND LAS VEGAS PAPERS ON BALL GAMES.

The Santa Fe ball team returned last evening from their visit to the territorial fair. The local ball players feel very bitter toward the umpire who officiated at the games of the tournament, and they say he deliberately caused their defeat in the game against Las Vegas and Albuquerque by unfair decisions. At the tournament closed the season, there will be no more games in this city until next year.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

Blues Deserve Credit.
The Las Vegas base ball boys deserve the greatest credit for going to combat the game with Albuquerque yesterday without making a fuss and turning the game into a jawing match. The rules of base ball give the runner the benefit of the doubt in a close point. This was carefully observed by the umpire when Albuquerque's interest was at stake and as carefully ignored when Las Vegas was running. Moreover, it would seem that the etiquette of the situation might have allowed Las Vegas to enjoy some of the benefits of the doubt in the close points. Not so with Mr. Goldman. He evidently wanted Albuquerque to win, and he seized every opportunity by the forelock in every case.

Nevertheless, it was a splendid exhibition of base ball in which, so far as the two teams were concerned, the excellent spirit manifested left nothing to be desired.—Las Vegas Optic.

Notaries Public Appointed.
The following notaries public have been appointed by Governor Otero: Juan B. Aguilar, Wagon Mound, Mora county; Louis J. Marras, Logan, Union county; The latter resigned his commission in Leonard Wood county and was appointed for Union county.

RAILROAD NOTES

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)
After a pleasant visit of a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fennor, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Records have returned to their home at Espanola. Mr. Records is the popular master mechanic of the Santa Fe Central.

W. M. Williams, who has been an Engineer on the El Paso & Northwestern for the past year, and before that time a fireman in the same service for some time, received his discharge last week, and will leave for Los Angeles, Cal. in the near future.

The Telegraph of Durango says the Denver & Rio Grande railroad does not seem to be unduly excited over the railroad surveys going on in San Juan county, this territory, and says that perhaps part of the steel rails being turned out in Pueblo are intended for the short cut from Durango to Creed.

Worth Smyer, conductor on the Santa Fe, by a sudden lurch of his train up near Shoshone canyon the other evening, was violently thrown from the train to the ground, severely bruising him on the shoulder but fortunately breaking no bones. An engine was attached to a way car, on which he was brought to Batoon early Sunday morning, and his injuries were attended to by Dr. Shuler.

Accident insurance policies have taken a sudden boom among railway passengers.

Wm. Brown, who has been out of train service for some time, has returned to his old job of switching cars in the Gallup yards.

Col. Hoot Randolph, who is president of all the minor corporations of the Southern Pacific in Arizona, was in Lordsburg the other day.

The profits of the Pullman company showed an increase of $991,009 in the last year. Perhaps the company found some way to make the poorer divy.

Santa Fe Engines at World's Fair.
All the world knows a locomotive. There is something lifelike about the iron monster that whisks us at a mile a minute past across the country. It seems to me a person, not a thing. The crowds who have been recently watching the test of Santa Fe Engine No. 507 in Baldwin of 175 tons weight in Machinery hall, World's Fair grounds, St. Louis, will testify to this feeling. Not merely the size, but the wheels going around, the throbbing steam—oh, all these and more. The engineer at the throttle and the fireman at the furnace door share the general admiration.

Thelast week conclusively that the prime type used by the Santa Fe in building its latest passenger engines represents the best achievement of modern engine building.

Arthur Sheeth, the Silver City express agent, was ordered to report to Albuquerque to resume his run between that place and La Junta. Owing to the washouts on the Santa Fe he was compelled to make a detour by way of Maricopa, Phoenix and Ash Fork, traveling over 1,000 miles to reach a point 256 miles distant.

Contract for La Junta Shops Let.
The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has awarded contracts for its La Junta shops to Charles A. Fellows, Topeka, Kansas. An official of the road is quoted as stating that the entire plant will cost about $500,000, and that it is hoped to begin operations in November 12. The company will erect a machine shop 150 by 100 feet, a blacksmith shop 75 by 150 feet and a power house 75 by 150 feet, together with 125 by 125 feet, which will have electric plant of its own, a brick store house 75 by 100 feet, with a platform 50 by 100 feet. There will also be a telephone brick of house and an addition of eight stalls to the coachhouse. The brick endcarriage at the power house will be 35 feet high. The building will be of substantial construction and the entire plant will be equipped with electric power. The contract will also include the yards in the vicinity of the shops.

GIRLS OF INDIAN BLOOD.
SUE SANTA FE ROAD

Ask for Damages Because They Are Locked Up in a Coach for Long Distances.

Following the suit filed by Hugh Mackay, the Indian agent, against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company for damages, owing to the alleged ill treatment, while traveling from El Paso to Albuquerque, two similar suits have been filed in Judge Grosvenor's court by (1) Peck and Hazel Peck. The girls are minors, and the suits are brought by their next friend, Donald Peck.

These girls were members of the party which was being taken to Indian Agent Hugh Mackay to Lawrence, Kan., to enter school there.

They claim that the conductor locked the door of the coach in which they and some seventeen other children of the party were riding, and that the door was not unlocked until they reached Albuquerque.

Lack of water, the complaint was made, added greatly to the suffering and discomfort of the girls, and in the absence of both the conductor and the brakeman, they were subjected to indignities by the presence of a man whose conversation manifested them.

The company is accused of negligence in having no conductor or brakemen in charge of the car. Damages are claimed in the amount of $5,000. It is said that other similar suits are in follow.—El Paso Herald.

Boards of Directors of Rio Grande Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the Denver

& Rio Grande stockholders in the general offices at Denver partook of the nature of a Quaker meeting. It was strictly routine and there was not a move to disturb the peace and harmony. The proxies for 641,000 shares, representing 93 per cent. of the entire stock, was represented by Joel P. Valle, general counsel; J. B. Andrews, assistant secretary; J. W. Gilluly, the treasurer of the company, and M. D. Thatcher, a Pueblo banker.

The old board of directors was re-elected as follows: George J. Gould, Mortimer L. Behl, Edward H. Harlan, Winslow S. Pierce, Arthur Coppell, Edward T. Jeffery and Edwin Gould, of New York; Charles H. Schincks and Edward O. Wolcott, of Denver. The directors will meet in New York soon and re-elect the old officers.

The articles of incorporation were amended so that the two feeders, one up Howard creek from Howard, and the other from Sargent to Tomichi, both in Colorado, could be built.

R. I. MANN SAYS THE COMPANY TREATED DELAYED PASSENGERS PROPERLY.

A Rock Island railroad passenger representative given out the following statement at El Paso, Texas, in regard to the story that his company did not treat flood delayed passengers in a fitting manner.

"I saw every one of the 150 passengers who were on the washout train and with five or six exceptions all of them told me they had been treated handsomely by the Rock Island people. Those who complained were traveling on papers. Our train was caught in between two washouts at Dallart, and the railroad company paid for the passengers' meals while there. They were sent over four different lines to get them around through Oklahoma to Fort Worth and El Paso, and they were detained by floods on the other roads, but still the Rock Island officials paid for their meals."

"At Fort Worth each passenger was given the cash in pay for his or her meals as far as California. When they reached El Paso we took them to the Grand Hotel and paid their bills while they were there. More than that the railroad agent of our road, instead of turning back here, went on to San Francisco with the passengers to see to it that they were properly attended to."

"Of course the Rock Island company was in no way to blame for the floods, and it was impossible for our people to provide against them. Still, we had promised to deliver them at a certain point, and did so at a cost of four or five times as much as the passengers and for their transportation. There was no complaint and most of the passengers told me that they enjoyed the delay and enjoyed the sight of getting out of the flood."

THE MACHINISTS' STRIKE

Discussed in the Annual Report of President Ripley.

Discussing the Machinists' strike in his annual report, President Ripley of the Santa Fe says:

"Certain unreasonable demands made by the International Association of Machinists having been declined, that organization declared a strike at all shops of the company effective May 2, 1904, which order was still generally observed on the western territory of the system as well as in a large number of employees on the eastern divisions. No difficulty was experienced in filling the places of those who left the job."

H. M. Woods, a telegraph lineman with the Santa Fe at work near Las Vegas, has been in the hospital up there the past two weeks under treatment. He is reported improving, and expects to be back at work by November.

L. R. Overhills, the local boss engineer, is at Las Vegas by business and pleasure. He will return to the metropolitan city.

Inland Empire Teachers.

Pendleton, Ore., Oct. 15.—The Inland Empire Teachers' association began its annual meeting in Pendleton today with a large attendance. The association is composed of teachers of western Oregon, eastern Washington and western Idaho.

Elephant Butte Dam.

ENGINEERS DECIDE ON THIS SITE AND THE GOVERNMENT WILL CONSTRUCT IT.

Plans have been completed for a regulation dam to be located at Engle, N. M., which will conserve the waters of both the El Paso and Mesquite valleys, says the El Paso Herald.

Assistant Chief Engineer Davis of Consulting Engineers Sanders, of the United States reclamation service, arrived in this city tomorrow evening, and accompanied by B. M. Hall, supervising engineer of the Rio Grande project, they will make a trip over the ground which is to be taken into consideration in the proposed dam.

These three engineers comprise the consulting board for the Rio Grande project, and their report will go to Chief Engineer Newell of the reclamation service, and to the secretary of the interior.

According to the plans and estimates which have just been brought to completion by Mr. Hall the dam will be located just below the old Elephant Butte site, opposite Engle station, of the Santa Fe road.

At this point the largest storage capacity is possible. From this point, as stated, water can be supplied to the entire Mesquite valley, from Leachman station, at the upper end of the valley, and to the entire El Paso valley in addition.

The proposed dam would have a storage capacity of 2,500,000 acre feet and would store sufficient flood water independent of what is generally used to supply 175,000 acres of land, would hold water to a depth of 100 feet. The dam would be 250 feet above bed rock. At this point the rock is 95 feet below the river bed. There is no point lower down the river where bed rock is nearer to the river. The dam would be curved, with a crest of 1,150 feet at a bottom measurement of 200 feet. The bottom it would be 180 feet in thickness, and at the top twenty feet in thickness, with a roadway fourteen feet in width, and parapets five feet in height.

"To El Paso," said Mr. Hall, "the Mesquite valley is as important as the El Paso valley. These plans provide for supplying the Mesquite valley as well as the El Paso valley with an abundance of water. The results to El Paso would be as great as from the proposed international dam at this point, while the results there would be far greater. The international dam proposed to cover up 25,000 acres of good land with water and backwater would destroy 15,000 additional acres. Altogether 40,000 acres would be destroyed in order to irrigate 40,000 other acres of land. We propose to use the 40,000 acres of land which would be destroyed and the 40,000 acres which the international dam would irrigate."

It is now stated that there is most authority for the statement that there will be no important changes in the directors of the Santa Fe system at the next annual meeting of stockholders, to be held in Topeka a week from Thursday. The directors whose terms expire this year are Edward Bernard, H. D. Keena, B. Sumner Hays and A. C. Jones. It is stated they will be re-elected, and that neither action nor standard interests will have representation.

view of the company. The shops have continued to operate without interruption, the motive power is in better condition than before the strike, and the shop labor is more efficient. Some expense has been incurred in protecting the new employees from assaults by the strikers and their sympathizers.

Mr. Ripley calls attention in the report that since 1888 more than $10,000,000 of surplus net income has been expended in bettering the system. It is added that additional capital should be obtained in the next few years for development and enlargement of the company's properties.

RAILWAYS KILLED 3,787 PEOPLE.

Interstate Commerce Commission Says Danger of Railroad Travel as Shown is Alarming.

A report issued by the Interstate commerce commission shows that the total number of casualties to persons on railroads in the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, was 3,787, comprising 3,787 killed and 51,343 injured. This shows a large increase.

The total number of collisions and derailments was 11,219, involving 29,383,077 of damage to cars, engines and roadways. This is an increase of 645 collisions and derailments.

The casualties were an increase of 223 killed and 3,266 injured over the preceding year. Four hundred and twenty of those killed were passengers, and 3,267 railroad employees, and of those injured 3,077 were passengers and 42,266 railroad employees. Included in these figures are the statistics for the last three months of the year, which show a total of 667 killed and 11,418 injured, a decrease from the preceding quarter.

These figures do not include casualties at highway crossings, trespassers or persons walking along the track. In such cases from the railroad or to employees was actually on duty, and no trifling accidents to employees which did not prevent them from performing their accustomed service for more than three days. In the aggregate during the ten days immediately following the accidents. The report says:

"As the accident statistics are issued to furnish the public with facts, this exhibit of the dangers of railroad travel is an exhibit which the most non-sensational must agree should be formed, and will not be made the subject of comment in this place; but it will be proper to observe that each successive bulletin adds material to the mass of evidence going to enforce the observations and recommendations which were made in the last annual report of the commission."

Cures Winter Cough.

J. E. Gower, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Henshaw's Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stop the cough, and she is able to go to bed and sleep." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by J. H. O'Reilly & Co.

SLASHED BY WOMAN.

The El Paso Times, in a lengthy article, gives an account of a recent affair in El Paso, in which Ed Dixon was slashed by a razor in the hands of a woman who has been living with him, and gave her name as Mrs. Ed Dixon. Dixon is proprietor of the gambling tables at Ziegler's El Paso. The two got into a bitter quarrel, and the woman used the razor. A physician examined the wound, which developed that Dixon had sustained a dangerous cut, extending from the neck to the lower part of the abdomen on the left side. The attending physician stated that while the wound was not necessarily fatal, still it might easily prove so. The woman said that Dixon attacked her with his fists, and that she then used the razor.

TRAINS FROM EL PASO.

From Saturday's Daily Citizen.

The Montezuma train, which was delayed by the Alvarado last night, was a brilliant affair. New Mexico society was represented by one hundred couples, and a most splendid gathering of beautiful women, in dress, jewelry, and hairdressing, was never before witnessed in this city.

The Montezuma train scene was quite a beauty and occurred with out a hitch or mishap in the well-arranged arrangements. The couples were gorgeous to the extreme.

The procession, led by Montezuma, entered from the lobby and made two circuits of the large dining room, which had been transformed into a profusely decorated ball room.

The court and the accompanying dignitaries, the courtiers and dancing girls, followed on train, the latter with graceful movements keeping time to the music, which was played by a band of the rich costumes were heavily laden with jewelry, and diamonds and costly gowns sparkled from the heads and throats of the ladies.

All this grandeur was brought into pretty effect by the mellow light shed by the opalescent electric lights playing over the scene.

The characters of the scene were: Montezuma, W. H. Gower; Queen Tola, Miss Maile Hunt; Princess Neotoma, Miss Josephine Walton; Alvarado, Felix Lester; Guatemalito, W. W. Wood; Yotema, Miss May Haseldine; Jancito, Miss Lou Haseldine; Flora Hartman, Helen Rodey; Mabel Strong, Lolita Hunning; Rebecca Pearce, Ada Campbell and Hattie Knapp, waitresses; Messrs. Raymond Stamm, Will Pratt, Ward Anderson, Kirk Bryan, L. G. Wilson and Thomas Helcher, Jr.

The patronesses of the ball, among whom are included the ladies of the committee of arrangements, follow:

Mrs. Nora Hild, Mrs. W. V. Walton, Mrs. Ira B. Bennett, Mrs. D. A. Macpherson, Mrs. Benjamin S. Baker, Mrs. Solomon Luna, Mrs. W. H. Grover, Mrs. David Weisman, Mrs. Frank A. Hubbell, Mrs. Owen N. Marston, Mrs. Felix H. Lester, Mrs. Edward J. Medler, Mrs. Joseph H. O'Reilly, Mrs. Mabel Stevens-Himes, Mrs. A. H. McGaffey, Mrs. Matthew W. Flournoy, Mrs. Ivan Gronsfeld, Mrs. Maynard Gussell.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

J. W. Davidson, Winnet, Ky., writes June 13, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Food has saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Food. The first application gave me great relief; two days later I was able to get up and walk. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by J. H. O'Reilly & Co.

GOVERNMENT EXPERT HERE.

N. H. DARTON EXPERIENCED SOME TROUBLE IN REACHING THIS CITY.

It was intended that the United States Geological Survey should be represented at the irrigation congress by several of the government engineers and experts who are engaged in work in the territory, but with a single exception these delegates were prevented by the floods and obstacles from reaching Albuquerque. This exception was Mr. N. H. Darton, who, after much delay and divers expedients, reached Albuquerque from Denver the other night.

Mr. Darton is a geologist and is in charge of the western division branch of the United States Geological Survey, which studies the conditions of underground waters and their availability for practical use. As this arduous water may be used for irrigation as well as for domestic purposes, this branch of investigation is of peculiar interest to New Mexico. Mr. Darton and his assistants are devoting much attention to this territory. Already examinations of the famous Roswell artesian basin and of portions of the Rio Grande valley have been completed, and reports dealing with areas in New Mexico are being prepared. Had the congress been held as originally planned, much would have been learned as to the methods pursued by these government experts, as well as to the work now being done in this territory. As the meeting of the irrigation promoters was called off, Mr. Darton left by Friday night's train for points in northern New Mexico.

THE BEST DOCTOR.

Rev. H. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Texas, writes, July 19th, 1899: "I have used in my family Ballard's Food, Liniment and Horsehead Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. A DENIAL.

SENATOR ANDREWS SAYS GOULD HAS NOT PURCHASED SANTA FE CENTRAL.

Senator W. B. Andrews, when shown the article in the Denver Republican that the Gould syndicate had purchased the Santa Fe Central, said: "As president of the Santa Fe Central I should certainly have an inkling of the above if it is a fact, but I haven't. It is an old story in a new guise that has been floating about ever since the Santa Fe Central was built, and which was revived by the resumption of construction work on the Albuquerque Eastern, and the survey of extensions from Torrance to Roswell and El Paso, and from Albuquerque to Durango, Colorado."

There will be no meeting of the Esplanade tonight.

SPLENDID EXHIBIT.

DISPLAY FROM ESTANCA VALLEY A SURPRISE TO ALL WHO SEE IT.

One of the surprising features of the territorial fair is the display of garden products from the Estancia valley in the new county of Torrance, especially surprising to those who know the conditions under which the products were grown. Turnips weighing ten pounds as first year and during the dryest season in the history of New Mexico is pretty good even for this favored section.

Along some time last March, while the wind was blowing a gale and the dust from the Rio Grande hid the Manzana mountains behind a cloud that seemed to forebode only ill for the pioneer settlers in this valley, a few of the women folks who know and appreciate the value of a good garden began to talk about farming to their husbands, but met with little encouragement. The ground was dry as a bone and getting dryer, with no prospect of rain, and the outlook for successful gardening was anything but promising, but with the faith that moves mountains they persisted, until finally one at a time the "men folk" consented to do a little plowing, and that was the beginning of the development of what now promises to be one of the garden spots of the summer-to-be sunshine state.

Like many of the other exhibits, this display was unfortunately delayed in transit and reached here yesterday, after having been on the road almost a week, in bad condition, but it shows what the country will produce and that is all that it was intended to do. Most of it was planted late and planted so thick that it had but little room to grow. The root which was too dry to pulverize, making cultivation practically impossible in other words, the products exhibited are the result of water on this unrelenting soil without the aid of cultivation, and is a revelation to all, but to no one more surprising than to those who produced it. To Albuquerque visitors, whose acquaintance with the Estancia valley is confined to the excursion over there last spring, a look at this exhibit is worth the trip to the fair grounds.

In spite of the unfavorable season and closing and the unfavorable conditions following in its wake, new settlers are coming into this valley and those who are coming now are bringing some money with them. The most of them have money enough to build comfortable homes and improve the land, which now promises good returns for the labor expended in its development.

The completion of the Albuquerque Eastern will again put Albuquerque into close touch with the Estancia valley and its development will be closely watched by those whose knowledge of New Mexico's possibilities enable them to realize its future.

PILL PLEASURE.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Blue Pills for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not grip, sicken or weaken, but pleasantly give tone and strength to the liver and organs of the stomach, liver and bowels. H. W. Briggs & Co. and S. Vann & Son.

GRAND PARADE OF PONIES AND DOGS.

From Saturday's Daily Citizen.

Related visitors and pleasure-seekers who reached the city this morning were given an opportunity to see the Gentry Brothers' big family of animal actors in their outdoor display, for the dogs and ponies came down town at 10 o'clock, all dressed up in the height of animal fashion and wearing their best clothes. They looked bright, clean and sleek, and sat upright in their tiny chairs of red and gold with a discipline that would have done credit to a primary school room. The canines had each received his daily bath of cold water and passionate soap before taking his honorary seat in the tiny vehicles. They were all instructed, before leaving for the downtown parade, to pay no heed to the taunts of roving street dogs, for some of them were hungry little wags themselves at one time. It rested with "Barney," the principal clown dog, however, to intrude upon the rules this morning. His patience had been sorely tried by a man who had insisted upon following "Barney's" chariot and keeping up an incessant howl. When near the Citizens office the famous clown dog leaped suddenly from his padded carriage to the street. He was immediately followed by his numerous associates, for the actor dogs are wise enough to know that "in union there is strength." After the "hey-rube" was over each leaped back into his cushioned perch, while the troublesome street dog scampered in an adjacent alley howling with pain. Before starting, however, the badly whipped car was seen to throw himself directly in front of a traction car with the evident intention of ending his misery, but was rescued by a Citizen newboy who had been friendly during the movie to the under dog.

Another large audience saw the trained animals in the big tents last night, and many expressions of genuine satisfaction were heard as the people filed out. The last act of the show, in which little "Chico," the tiniest horse in the world, is unexpectedly introduced, set the crowd wild with delight. The Klamuras, famous Japanese foot jugglers, were in a happy mood, for their brothers and fathers in the far west, fighting for the mickado, had just gained another big victory, and the news had just been read to them by the interpreter of the show train, little "Chico," the smallest of the troupe, proved his claim to being the smallest and most wonderful Japanese acrobat living as he went through a maze of whirlwind feats on the up-turned heels of his older associates, and seemed to make a friend with every revolution of his body.

There will be two more performances before the Gentry Brothers say farewell to the territorial fair—one tonight at 8 o'clock and one to-morrow (Sunday) night at 8. Doors will be open an hour earlier. Preceding each performance the Gentry concert band, which, by the way, is one of the finest ever heard here with a circus, will render a fine program inside the big tent, beginning at 7:30. It is expected that the attendance to-night and to-morrow night will be record breakers. It being understood that the Gentry show will be the only attraction open Sunday evening. Late that night the show leaves for the west over the Santa Fe.

NINTH DAY OF FAIR.

From Monday's Daily Citizen.

The twenty-fourth Territorial fair will close this evening.

For nine days it has been in progress under the most favorable conditions as far as the weather is concerned.

The visitors have been well entertained, and there is no feeling of regret among them.

The base ball tournament was the best ever organized for a territorial fair, and the races were the best yet.

Not a single accident has occurred to mar the pleasure of the festivities. The wild west features of this fair were excellent to the extreme, and the merchants have enjoyed a good trade.

Why hasn't this been a successful fair?

The program of the closing day is fully as good as the program of the first day, and a good many of the old-time visitors have remained over to enjoy it. Several good races are scheduled to be pulled off, and wild west features of the best sort are in progress.

This evening at 7 o'clock the ancient fire dance by the Navajos will be given at the fair grounds in front of the grand stand.

The carnival will be open as the sun sets, and the "big dogs" will then begin.

Only one regulation will be exacted of the maskers, and that is that they remove their face masks on entering the saloons.

GREAT GAME OF BALL.

THE ALBUQUERQUE BROWNS WON FIRST MONEY BY DEFEATING THE LAS VEGAS BLUES.

A crisp breeze blew in from the west yesterday afternoon, but it dampened not the enthusiasm of the 2,500 people who filled the grand stand. Two notable features—the deciding ball game of the tournament, and the Hamilton-Brown show—$1,500 stake race—were to be pulled off, and the anticipation of these events had brought increased interest. A large number of the stores closed during the afternoon, and the employees of these helped to swell the crowd.

Las Vegas was also liberally represented by rooters for the boys in blue.

As the afternoon lengthened the wind increased and some anxiety was felt as to whether it would interfere with the sports. However, the ball game was finished and the race was pulled off satisfactorily in the desire of the spectators, excepting, probably, the fans from the city on the hill.

Albuquerque was fair and square. The Browns had two runs and the Blues one, but none were earned. Each team made two errors, but the errors made by the Blues were more costly than those made by the Browns and here hangs the thread of the story of defeat.

In the first inning each team got a man as far as third base, and Albuquerque succeeded in getting a man on third in the third inning and with but one man out, but fast work on the infield prevented a score.

Gallegos pitched for the Browns and won his game, making both of the two runs scored by the Browns. Strange to relate, Fanning, who pitched for the Blues, made the only run on that side.

Gallegos got a hit deep into the center field, and stole second, while French and Fluke struck out. Ortiz got a hit to short, advancing Gallegos to third. He was caught off his base, but after tugging up four or five Blues between third and the home plate, gained the run on a muff by Leason.

In the sixth inning Gallegos drove a two-bagger into the center meadow. He advanced to third on a sacrifice, and scored on a clutch play by Flood, who threw the ball away over third. The Blues seemed to have little sympathy on this play, and the grand stand went wild. Gallegos retired the Blues in the last half of the ninth inning by striking out Flood, Gross and Randall, and thus closed the best ball game ever witnessed at Athletic park.

W. L. McFADDEN SUICIDES

FIRES THREE SHOTS AT HIS OWN HEAD AND THEN CUTS HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

News reached Socorro this morning of a sensational suicide at Magdalena. Wednesday evening, W. L. McFadden fired three shots at his own head, each shot being diverted by a wife's struggles to prevent a crime.

He then got possession of a razor and cut his throat from ear to ear. The remains were buried at Magdalena yesterday.

Trustee for Miners' Hospital.

M. M. Dawson, of Raton, has been appointed by Governor Otero to fill the vacancy in the board of trustees of the Miners' hospital of New Mexico, at Raton, caused by the death of F. A. Manzanera, of Las Vegas.

NEW MEXICO TAKES PRIZES.

The following dispatch received by Governor Otero from Superintendent M. W. Porterfield, of the New Mexico exhibits at St. Louis, is self explanatory, and should be read by every patriotic citizen of New Mexico with great pride and much satisfaction:
"World's Fair, St. Louis, Oct. 15."
"In competition with the world, New Mexico takes the silver medal on educational exhibit; gold medal on mineral collection; grand prize on ethnological exhibit; gold medal on natural history; gold medal on other awards. Congratulations to all on the board." M. W. PORTERFIELD, Superintendent of New Mexico Exhibits.

Canning Factory.

The canning factory has been handling a large lot of tomatoes and pears. The force has been handicapped by not being able to get sufficient cans. Between hundred cases of tomatoes were turned in one day in an eight-hour run. The machinery and everything in the factory is in first-class shape, and were it not for the fact that the jambo firm was unable to furnish the cans as needed the factory would be turning out at least 2,000 cases a day of preserved fruits and vegetables. The factory itself is an entire success and will prove one of the largest industries that has ever been established within the borders of San Juan county—Farmington Times-Herald.

JOE MULHATTON

LATTER DAYS OF THE POOR OLD STORY FELLOW.

Poor Joe Mulhaddon, once famous as the corner of Mulhaddon's, or in other words, break yards, is in jail in San Francisco, charged with stealing a cow. In his day he was one of the best cowboys in the country with a $15,000 draw down from a Louisville hardware firm, and no annoying questions about expenses, and also a friend of every way back reporter who wanted a startling story with all the minute details put in a rain of frogs through the roof of a distillery, or a man from Mars down to investigate the manufacture of safety pins, it was all one to him. And the yarns were always told with a diabolical cleverness that took them past the hardest hearted and most cynical editor. In a few years he and his stories were national in their reputation, much to his advantage and profit as a drummer, but unluckily he addicted too much to Louisville's male product and put in his spare time fighting the whiskey imp with the usual result. Since then he has been in a censure, in the Salvation army, and now is a fake phrenologist involving dope dreams about a client's possibilities at 50 cents per. It was while lecturing in this latter capacity that he unluckily put on another man's coat and walked off with it; and still more unluckily the coat happened to contain a pocket watch. Still, it may have been a mistake; his friends think so, anyway, and they are working for him on that hypothesis.

PROF. CHAS. LONGUENARE.

HIS DEATH IN EL PASO—WELL KNOWN THROUGHOUT NEW MEXICO.

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)
One of the grandest old pioneers of El Paso county passed peacefully away at the Hotel Dieu yesterday morning, says the El Paso News. The deceased is Prof. Charles Longuenare, who in his time was a noted mineralogist and geologist, and whose able scientific articles twenty years ago attracted wide-spread attention throughout the world.

He came to El Paso thirty-five years ago from the east, where he had already acquired an enviable reputation as a writer. He was identified with the mining industry and newspaper business, and at one time through his indefatigable energy and unusual abilities accumulated a comfortable fortune. However, through the dishonesty of business partners and unfortunate investments he lost heavily, and of late years was not so successful. About eight years ago the professor's health failed and he retired from active business life, since which time he has lived quietly at home enjoying the society of his wife and children, the latter having been well started in life and daily justifying the expectations of their parents.

Along in the seventies Professor Longuenare published a mining journal on San Francisco street, which had the largest circulation of any similar periodical outside of New York city. His office was always sought by tramp printers and newspaper men, who never went away hungry.
Several of the professor's articles have been incorporated in scientific works, including one of the volcanic regions of New Mexico, and another on the mineral resources of Chihuahua. His writings attracted special attention, as he wrote in a very pure and simple style that even the uneducated could thoroughly understand. He was of a lovable and gentle disposition, a reformer and friend to humanity, who won the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact.
Professor Longuenare was 74 years of age at the time of his death. He leaves a widow and four children in El Paso, namely, Noel, a valued employee at the El Paso smelter; Carl, who has worked his way up to a position of trust in the El Paso water works company; Misses Marie and Helen Longuenare, two young ladies highly respected in social circles in El Paso. Besides a married daughter by a former marriage, who married an officer in the army and now resides in Nashville, Tenn.

Meeting of Irrigation Commission.

The Irrigation Commission of New Mexico was in session last Friday and Saturday at Santa Fe. There were present G. A. Richardson, of Roswell, president; Frank Springer, of Las Vegas, and Arthur Seligman of Santa Fe, secretary and treasurer. A great deal of routine business was transacted, and a number of leases were examined and approved. Settlement was made with ex-treasurer G. W. Knaebel, and the accounts due from the said treasurer to the funds of the commission were ascertained and fixed. The funds for their settlement have been paid in and the matter is now closed. The bond of the new secretary and treasurer, Mr. Seligman, was fixed at $5,000, which was furnished and approved by the commission. The commission adjourned to meet again at the call of the president.

Western Catholic Union.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—The Western Catholic Union began its twenty-eighth annual convention in Springfield today with several hundred delegates present. Considerable business is scheduled for transaction, and various matters of importance will receive attention, among other matters being a proposal to increase the insurance rates of the organization. The reports of the officers show the Union to be in a flourishing condition, both numerically and financially.

School Population Increases.

The school population of Chavez county for the year 1904 has just been taken and shows an increase of 190 over that of last year. The population last year was 2,474, and this year it is 2,664. The greatest relative increase was in the districts of Hagerman and Dexter.—Roswell Herald.

WASN'T IT THE BIGGEST AND THE BEST YET?

The twenty-fourth New Mexico Territorial fair which closed last night was the biggest and best yet, when one takes time to consider what happened and when the amusements of the late fair with those of last year are compared.

President McElfater and Secretary Gualand had a slogan.

"The biggest and best yet," and this slogan has been stuck by with the utmost tenacity.

The horse races, the bass ball, the parades, the Montezuma ball, the Indian exhibit—could they have been better?

Today the office of the fair association is a bee hive. All is bustle and bustle. Clerks are busy going and coming, and accountants are busy summing up the receipts and the disbursements. Mr. Gualand said this morning that he was hopeful of coming out even, which is very encouraging.

The fair was the "biggest and best yet," and had the railroad been open so that the people could have gotten here, there is no doubt but that there would now be a nice balance on the right side of the association's bank book.
