MOVING PICTURES ON SUNDAY

Attorney General is Asked if They Are Violation of the Law

STATUTE WAS BADLY DRAWN

Cannot Be Enforced Without Aid of Public Sentiment Says Mr. Clancy.

Governor Mills has appointed the following notaries public: Guy A. Reed, Carlsbad, Eddy county; Emilio G. Martinez, Sena, San Miguel county; Oscar O. Gragg, Nara Visa, Quay county; Charles S. Erickson, Pecos, San Miguel county.

Here From Belen.

Mounted Policeman Rafael Gomez arrived today from Belen where he arrested a man and a woman, the latter having run away from her husband at Galtito. He took the prisoners there, where their case will be heard.

Opinion on Moving Pictures.

Attorney General Frank W. Clancy has rendered an opinion on whether moving picture shows violate the Sunday law, in reply to a question asked by District Attorney Frank J. Wright of Silver City, and the attorney general admits he feels to see that the conduct of such shows "is a work of necessity, charity or mercy" at the same time he adds that the law cannot be enforced unless public sentiment is in favor of enforcing it.

His letter is as follows:

Albuquerque, N. M., June 5, 1941.

Mr. Frank J. Wright, District Attorney Silver City.

Dear Sir—I have been so occupied that I have been unable to sooner answer your letter of the 29th ut, relative to the question as to whether the conduct of moving picture shows is a violation of the Sunday law.

Like you, I am unable to see that the conduct of such shows is a work of necessity, charity or mercy, but I do not see that the clause about "instruction" to which you refer would have anything to do with the subject. The statute is very badly drawn and I think was originally intended not to accomplish its ostensible purpose but to open the door for the disregard of the sabbath, but our supreme court settled this question by its decision in the case of Cortez vs. Territory 6, N. M. 682. You will notice however, that the clause, "excepting for religious worship or instruction," merely refers to the next preceding clause about "attending any public meeting, or public exhibition." That is the attendance of meetings except for religious worship or instruction is made an offense, but no reference is made to the conduct of public exhibitions unless that subject is covered by the next clause about being "engaged in any labor." Practically I have found that such a statute as this one, and this one in particular in New Mexico, cannot be enforced unless public sentiment is in favor of enforcing it. Public sentiment has in the last ten years grown sufficiently to demand the enforcement of the Sunday law against retail liquor dealers and as far as I know that class of people do not now violate the law, at least do not do so openly. As to many other things such as the sale of candies, newspapers, ice cream, soda water, public sentiment would not support an attempt to prevent this kind of labor, and any course that is rigid and indiscriminate about enforcement of the law would almost certainly result in its general disregard. This is a practical question, worthy of careful consideration by officers who like you are concerned in the administration of the criminal laws.

As to the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, in this class of cases, it is quite clear that he cannot try a case nor impose any penalty as the conviction must be before a district court, but I decline to the belief that under the 5th subdivision of section 3232 of the compiled laws he could cause accused persons to be brought before him and take bond for their appearance before the district court.

Yours truly,

FRANK W. CLANCY,

Attorney General.

DEMOCRATIC INCONSISTENCY

Charge Taft With Hedging and Then Hedge on Wool Themselves

ENEMIES OF SHEEP MEN

Democratic Members of Ways and Means Committee Are Real Funny.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., June 6.—The long expected wool tariff revision bill was introduced in the house of representatives today by Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee and debate on it will begin in earnest tomorrow. The measure was accompanied by a lengthy report from the Democrats of the committee, in its favor, while the Republican members, headed by Representative Payne of New York, unanimously reported against it. Indications are that the passage of the bill will be stubbornly contested but no intimation has been given as to the time to be granted for debate.

Harrison Did Not Sign.

Washington, June 6.—The committee states that there is no sufficient reason for continuing the complicated and troublesome system of classification of raw wools, characterizing it as a "great burden and annoyance to the customs service and adding to the expense of the collections of duties on raw wools."

All the Democratic members of the ways and means committee with the exception of Francis Burton Harrison of New York signed the report.

An Inconsistent Report.

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Sharply criticizing President Taft, the Republicans and the tariff board, the report on the Underwood wool bill was submitted to the House of Representatives today by the Democratic members of the ways and means committee. Quoting President Taft's addresses after the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill, in which he declared that "The woolen schedule is indefensible and I propose to say so." The report says: "Had the president made these public admissions earlier while the tariff of 1909 was under consideration by Congress, his declarations would have been of real service to the people and would have enabled them to protest against the betrayal of the public welfare to private greed. The president's silence at that time and his approval of the act of 1909 made it impossible for him to evade his full share of responsibility for the failure of revision which he now admits."

The report deals at some length with the attitude of the administration in not communicating to Congress data on the "steel trust" and other industries now being investigated and failure of the tariff board to communicate data on the woolen industry.

The report maintains that any further delay in the revision of the wool and woolen schedule would be objectionable to the public. In explaining the determination of the committee not to put raw wool on the free list, but to reduce the present duty to 20 per cent ad valorem the committee insists as the Democratic caucus did, that the "duty is not to be construed as an abandonment of any Democratic policy."

"The present situation of the treasury," the report states, "following a long course of unwarranted extravagance by the Republican party, and the appropriations already made by the Sixty-first Congress, which the Democratic minority could not limit, require that the revenue from customs duties in the immediate future be maintained at approximately the total of the fiscal year 1910."

Would Ruin Great Industry.

Washington, D. C., June 6.—The minority report is signed by Representatives Payne, Daisell, Needham and Longworth.

"For purely political reasons," it says, "this cold-blooded measure is brought forward. If it could become a law it would slaughter sheep as in 1894 and close the mills much more universally."

The minority report charges that the Democrats give the need for revenue as the real reason for the introduction of the measure.

It characterized the Democratic statements with regard to the condition of the treasury as "absolutely false" and presents treasury statements purporting to refute the Democratic charges of Republican extravagance in expenditures.

JOHN BIGELOW IS REPORTED SERIOUSLY ILL

Although Aged 93 Years Old He is Actively at Work on Volume of Memoirs.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) New York, June 6.—There is some concern over the condition of John Bigelow, the veteran diplomat and author, who is ill at his home at Highland Falls, with a recurrence of an old malady, which is serious on account of his age.

John Bigelow, United States ambassador to France during the Civil War, lawyer, editor and historian, was 93 years old November 25 last. Despite his age, he has remained actively at work on his book of Memoirs part of which has already been published.

AMENDMENT FOR RECIPROCITY

Despite President Taft's Wish Committee Will Tinker With Treaty

IN SESSION ALL SUMMER

It Now Seems as If Congress Would Not Adjourn Until In August.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., June 6.—Hopes of the administration that the finance committee would report the Canadian reciprocity bill unamended were dashed away when after a brief executive session of the committee it was learned that the Root amendment to the paper and wool pulp section probably would be adopted in modified form.

It was said that in addition to seven Republican members of the committee, Senators Bailey, Simmons and Johnson, Democrats, would vote for the amendment, while Senators Penrose and Cullom are declared to be with the three Democrats in opposition, thus presaging the adoption of the amendment by a vote of 10 to 5.

Final consideration of the measure will be begun by the committee tomorrow.

The amendment offered by Senator Root provides that the paper and wool pulp section of the bill shall "not be" in force until the president "shall have satisfactory evidence and shall make proclamation that such wool pulp, paper and board, being the products of the United States, are admitted into all the provinces of Canada free of duty."

It is contended by its opponents that the amendment, raising the question of the Dominion government's jurisdiction over the provinces, will endanger the measure, a contention that is refuted by those who believe in the provision.

Modification of the amendment may have an important bearing on the situation.

Secretary of State Knox was supposed to appear before the committee to explain the agreement between the two governments but was prevented, he went word, by important engagements. The secretary said he had forwarded to the committee a communication setting forth his views.

The committee endeavored to agree on a day for a vote on the measure. It was apparent that the members favored July 15 and a recommendation probably will be made to the senate to this effect when the bill is reported. Senator Bailey suggested that July 20 be set aside for a vote on the free list bill and that the wool schedule be acted upon early in August. No definite agreement was reached, however.

AFTER DECK OF MAINE IS NOW VISIBLE.

Pumping in Cofferd Dam Was Resumed This Morning But Was Suspended Tonight.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Havana, June 6.—The work of pumping the water out of the cofferdam which was built around the wreck of the battleship Maine, was resumed this morning. The greater part of the after deck is now clearly visible, showing the confused masses of wreckage covered with marine growths.

The forward part of the ship on which the greatest force of the explosion was exerted is still submerged.

It is the intention of the army engineers to proceed slowly with the pumping until five o'clock this afternoon, and then suspend operations until the arrival of the board of the American army officers tomorrow, after which the work will proceed rapidly.

Present indications are that some weeks must elapse before a complete examination is possible. The lowering of the water level this afternoon merely gets a clearer view of the afterdeck than has been possible heretofore showing it to be encumbered with barnacles and other marine growth.

The most important feature of the removal of the water so far is the strong indication that the main coffer dam will fulfill all expectations of the army engineers by resisting the tremendous water pressure from the outside.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Columbus, Ohio, June 6.—Representative Owen J. Evans of Stark county, who yesterday confessed to receiving a bribe from one Akron, Ohio, loan agent in connection with the Salary Loan Bill before the legislature the past session, afterward going before the grand jury, today resumed his sensational testimony before that body.

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWDS GREET MADERO AT LEON.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Leon, Mexico, June 6.—Enthusiastic crowds greeted General Francisco I. Madero, Jr., who arrived here on a special train this morning. Madero is being closely guarded and is expected to reach the national capital safely tomorrow.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF CARDINAL

President Taft and Ex-President Roosevelt at Gibbons' Celebration

NO POLITICAL CONFERENCE

Members of Cabinet, United States Senators and Ambassadors Attend

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Baltimore, Md., June 6.—Distinguished men of this and other nations will gather here today to pay tribute to Cardinal Gibbons as a man and a citizen at a popular civic demonstration in honor of the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the cardinalate and his golden jubilee as a priest. The affair will be entirely non-sectarian.

Addresses will be made by President Taft, Vice President Sherman, former President Roosevelt, Chief Justice White of the U. S. Supreme Court, James Bryce, the ambassador to Great Britain; Speaker Champ Clark; Senator Root of New York; former Speaker Cannon; Mayor Preston and the Cardinal.

Members of the president's cabinet, United States senators, congressmen and diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, have signified their intention to be present.

Governor Crothers will be president at the exercises, which will be held in the Fifth Regiment Armory, from 4 to 6 p. m.

No Political Conference.

Washington, June 6.—President Taft will make a quick trip to Baltimore to speak at Cardinal Gibbons' jubilee celebration this afternoon.

The president will spend about two hours in Baltimore and practically all of that time he will be on the platform in the Fifth Regiment Armory where the jubilee exercises are held.

Reports that there would be a political conference between Mr. Taft and former President Roosevelt in Baltimore were denied by White House officials.

POLO MATCH IS AGAIN POSTPONED.

Northeast Rainstorms Continue in New York—Second Match May Be Played Tomorrow.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) New York, June 6.—The International Polo Match at Westbury, between England and America, was again postponed today on account of continued northeast rainstorms. The match which is the second for the cup, will be played tomorrow if the weather permits.

MURDERERS OF PERALTA MAKE A CONFESSION.

Special to the New Mexican. Estancia, N. M., June 6.—Eduardo Trujillo and Juana Peralta and step daughter Isabella Maldonado confessed in open court here today to the incidents of the killing of Juan Peralta, husband of Juana Peralta, at Tallique on Sunday night, May 28. Trujillo, it appears was in love with Miss Maldonado, and he quarreled about her with Peralta, finally attacking Peralta with a club. All three persons were held without bail.

Much credit is due Captain Fred Fornoff, Mounted Policeman J. W. Collier and Sheriff Julius Meyer for the quick manner in which a chain of evidence was obtained and which led to the confession by the trio.

BAILEY ON JEFFERSON DAVIS

Texas Senator Declares Truth of History Was With Confederacy

SHAKE HANDS WITH OLD NEGRO

Held Declared to Know Hiding Place of Seal of President of Secession

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., June 6.—Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, addressing a gathering of Confederate veterans last night, in observance of the birthday of Jefferson Davis, said Davis was less responsible for the conflict between the states than any other man and was the last man in all the South to abandon the hope of a reconciliation.

"The truth of history was with the Confederate people," said the senator. "The fathers would never have formed this union if they had not believed that it could be dissolved for cause. If the posthumous people believed they could not remain in the Union with honor and safety, they had a right to secede."

Senator Bailey presented an aged negro, James A. Jones, who served as Mr. Davis' body guard. "He is the only man living," said Senator Bailey, "who knows where the seal of the Confederacy is and he won't tell."

Many shook hands with the old negro, who had Jefferson Davis' cane with him.

GOVERNOR SHAFROTH VEToes TUBERCULOSIS BILL.

It Would Have Required All Consumptives to Register With State Board of Health.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Denver, Colo., June 6.—Governor John F. Shafroth last night vetoed the so-called tuberculosis bill passed at the recent session of the legislature which provided for the registration of all tubercular persons with the state board of health and which gave the health authorities supervision over buildings that had been occupied by persons afflicted with the disease in the matter of ordering disinfection and repairs.

REBELS SEND BULLETS AFTER PATHFINDER.

Unexpected Greeting Given by Socialists to Second Pathfinder by Mexican.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Yuma, Ariz., June 6.—As the second automobile pathfinder in the annual Los Angeles to Phoenix road race was passing Mexicali this afternoon it was fired upon by a band of Socialistic insurgents still camping near that border town. The driver put on full speed and drove by followed by a shower of bullets. The bullets struck the car but no one was hit.

Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa has been ill with a severe cold at his home on East Palace avenue but he has been able to sign letters and checks sent him from his office. LEOPOLD DREYFUS KILLS HIMSELF

Chicago Merchant Confesses He Was Party to Burning His Store

PROFESSIONAL INCENDIARIES

Men Who Offered to Fire Buildings For a Consideration of $5,000.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Chicago, Ill., June 6.—Leopold Dreyfus, of the firm of L. Dreyfus & Co., committed suicide today after having confessed, the police declare, that he was a party to the burning of his place of business in Market street last Saturday afternoon.

The confession, is regarded by the police officials as evidence of the existence of an organized band of incendiaries who, for a stipulated price, offer to set fire to business houses.

The confession, in substance, the police say, was that two men approached Dreyfus, and his brother about a week ago and offered to burn the building, fixing $5,000 as their price. Dreyfus is declared to have agreed to $2,000.

Dreyfus and his brother were arrested yesterday afternoon and after the confession Leopold Dreyfus was permitted to go to his home in the custody of a policeman. While in another room today, Dreyfus shot himself through the head.

PRICES SAGGED ON STOCK AND GRAIN MARKET

Wool Is Quiet and There Seems an End to Feverish Speculation for Present.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Chicago, Ill., June 6.—Showers over quite a wide territory took the starch out of the price of wheat today. Hardly second as a bearish influence was the fact that fair prospects for the passage of the reciprocity bill soon were said to exist. Commission selling was general but resting orders to buy at a decline had a steadying effect. July started at 92 5/8 to 92 7/8, a loss of 1-4 to 1-2 and fell to 92 1/8.

The close was steady with July at a net loss of 1 3/8 to 1 1/2. Corn closed weak, 3-4 net lower for July. Sealing led by a prominent local house weakened corn. The chief incentive was the declining tendency of wheat. July opened 1-4 to 3-8 cents lower at 54 1/4 to 5-8, touched 54 1-4, and then dropped to 54 1-8 to 54 1-4.

Cash houses were the principal sellers on a weak oats market. July started 1-8 off at 37 3/8 and kept near the lower level.

Provisions became firmer with hogs. First sales were a shade to 2 1/2 to 3 cents higher with September delivery 8.25 for lard and 7.95 to 7.97 1/2 for ribs. There was no trade in pork.

Wall Street.

New York, N. Y., June 6.—Few important changes occurred during the morning on the stock exchange. The market was inclined to say but sufficient support was offered to prevent any extended losses and speculation seemed to have reached a deadlock. The copper stocks were almost the only ones to show sustained strength.

On the curb, American tobacco, which had declined about 120 points since the supreme court announced its decision in the tobacco cases, advanced 24 points to 423. Near mid-day the strength derived from the movements in special stocks were off and United States steel and the principal railroad shares sagged to the lowest.

Bonds were irregular. The market closed heavy.

The Wool Market.

Boston, Mass., June 6.—Owing partly to the holiday the wool market has been quiet during the last week. While a few mills have reached fair orders on heavy weight goods, improvement in the goods market is far from general. Principal interest at present centers in the new clip. During the week, territory half bloods sold at 21 cents.

POWER TO SUSPEND FREIGHT RATES.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., June 6.—Power to suspend a reduction in freight rates is vested in the interstate commerce commission by law. This was the determination of the commission in a decision announced today in the Fort Worth, Texas and Oklahoma City packing house case. The application for a suspension in the case was denied.

FOUR TEACHERS TO BE SELECTED

Miss Dysart, Mrs. Elliott, Prof. Bowlds and Miss Sweet Have Resigned

HOW ABOUT A FIRE ESCAPE?

This Matter Is Referred to a Committee For Consideration.

There will be four new teachers in the high school building next school year. This was made known last night at the meeting of the school board at which the resignations of Miss Belle Sweet, Mrs. Gertrude Elliott, Professor Fleming J. Bowlds and Miss Anna E. Dysart were accepted.

Miss Sweet taught the fifth grade; Professor Bowlds taught Latin and Science in the high school; Mrs. Elliott taught the eighth grade and part of the seventh and Miss Dysart taught English and History in the high school. Mrs. Elliott attached conditions to her acceptance in regard to the classes she would teach and the board did not wish to accept these restrictions.

All of the members of the board of education were present except Commissioners Sloan and Nicanor Baca.

It was decided that the teachers' committee should meet this afternoon to make appointments to fill the vacancies created. It is said that applications of several very fine teachers now are on hand.

The board decided to raise the salary of Miss Virginia Bean, music teacher for her efficiency.

The sidewalk on Federal street was ordered and the matter of laying it referred to the building committee.

Fire Escapes.

The question of fire escapes was then brought up and referred to the committee on buildings and grounds as it seems desirable to provide the building with these modern safeguards.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of over $1,300 in the treasury. The building and grounds committee was instructed to take some desks from the first ward school to the second ward school and make other necessary repairs in the second ward school. Also to install a drinking fountain in the second ward school so that all the pupils may carry out the mandate of modern physiologists to drink much and often of pure water. As there are no pupils for the first ward school, it was decided to rent the building if opportunity is offered.

Four New Teachers Selected.

At a meeting of the Board of Education this afternoon, the following were elected to fill the vacancies in the teaching force caused by the resignations: Miss Iva N. Ashton of Boone, Iowa, in Miss Sweet's place, Miss Sweet going to Raton; Miss Elsie Staly of Oklahoma to succeed Principal Bowlds of the high school who goes to Raton; Miss Daisy B. French of Anderson, Indiana, who succeeds Miss Dysart; Miss Ora Wade of Ellsworth, Kansas, who succeeds Mrs. Elliott.

DEATH OF MRS. ANNA ARNOLD BURKE.

Mother of Congressman James Francis Burke of Pittsburg and of Postmaster E. C. Burke.

The death yesterday of Mrs. Anna Arnold Burke, aged 66, mother of the Honorable James Francis Burke, member of Congress, though not altogether unexpected, caused profound regret among the many friends she had made during her life in this city, and also among many prominent in the political field, with whom she had become acquainted through the active interest she took in her son's political life.

Mrs. Burke died early yesterday morning at her home, 802 Maryland avenue, after an illness of several months. A number of prominent physicians, who were recently called in to diagnose her case, gave her family notice of the inevitable, and since that time the members have been in almost constant attendance at her bedside. Mrs. Burke had been a resident of Pennsylvania almost her entire life and had resided in Pittsburg for the past 33 years. She always evinced a more than ordinary interest in public affairs, owing largely to her eldest son's public career.

Three sons, Honorable James Francis Burke, John J. Burke, president of the National Store Front Company, and Edward C. Burke, recently appointed postmaster at Santa Fe, N. M., survive. The funeral will take place from her home, 802 Maryland avenue, tomorrow morning. A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated by Rev. Francis Keane, at the Church of the Sacred Heart, at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be private in Calvary cemetery—Pittsburg, Pa., Dispatch.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE CARRIES PORTLAND.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Portland, Ore., June 6.—Although complete returns from yesterday's municipal election have not been received, it is evident that the plurality of A. G. Rushlight, regular Republican nominee for mayor, over former United States Senator Joseph Simon, independent Republican, his nearest opponent will be between 3,000 and 3,500 votes. Most of the 23 initiative and referendum measures voted upon were defeated.

A HOPEFUL MESSAGE TO SCALP SUFFERERS AND MEN WHO'S HAIR IS THINNING

Dandruff now—bald later. The same is true of scalp diseases. In fact baldness is a scalp disease. The trouble with the greasy salves and lotions, the so-called dandruff and scalp cures you have tried so far is that they don't do anything but temporarily relieve the itching and cake the dandruff so it doesn't fall until its dried out again. Nothing can cure—really cure such troubles but a real scalp medicine that will kill the germs causing dandruff and scalp disease.

Learning from leading fellow druggists throughout America that they had found a whirlwind cure for dandruff, eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp, the Capital Pharmacy on proving to the laboratories compounding the treatment that it is the most prominent drug store in this city secured the agency for the remedy. This remedy is ZEMO, the clean, liquid preparation that kills the germ of disease and ZEMO SOAP to wash the scalp or skin clear and clean of the dandruff or scale and by its antiseptic qualities soothe and heal.

Sold and guaranteed by druggists everywhere and in Santa Fe by The Capital Pharmacy.

THE BRIDE.

The orange blossom crowns her The bridal satin gowns her The happy anthems ring; Girlhood's gay reign is over She goes to meet her lover While Eden's voices sing.

The marriage vow is spoken The wedding bread is broken With blessings and with tears; These two set out together Through storm and sunny weather To journey through the years. Fate send your choicest dower Great joy and plenty shower From blue and kindly skies; Earth's music and its laughter And gladness ever after And love that never dies!

So life goes on forever Hands join no more to sever The roses crown the June! And now the aisle is swinging We hear the angels singing A joyous hymnal tune.

Joy Ride and Bootlegging.

C. J. Byars of Portales, J. M. Wilson, Thomas Preston and Roscoe Graves, were arrested at Roswell for bringing into the city from Dexter, to which point they had a joy ride, a case of beer and two bottles of whiskey. Byers, the principal, was fined $25 and costs, and the others $5 a piece and costs. Another bootlegging, joy-ride party broke down and the team which hauled the liquid refreshments ran away, all the bottles being broken and the liquids spilled.

Cupid Gets Busy.

Apparently just waking up to the fact that June had arrived Cupid got busy Saturday afternoon and brought three couples to the Las Vegas court house to procure marriage licenses. These were Mamie Rott, aged 26, and Richard Case, aged 22, of East Las Vegas; Anna Stickle, aged 21, of Dayton, O., and Arthur Lewis, aged 24, of East Las Vegas; Amalia Barela, aged 22, and Tranquillina Baca, aged 25, of Agua Zarca. The first couple was married Saturday by Judge Vigil at the court house. Miss Stickle and Mr. Lewis were wed yesterday afternoon, and the Barela-Baca wedding was solemnized yesterday in the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows. Mr. Baca is the son of Serafin Baca, a prominent resident of West Las Vegas.

Boy Scouts Homeward Bound.

The Las Vegas Boy Scouts reached the Puye cliff dwellings on Saturday and are now homeward bound expecting to reach here today and Las Vegas on Thursday.

Tramp Run Down.

John Martin, who was riding in a freight car of the Santa Fe, was found at Springer, with a pile of rails that had fallen on his legs. One of the legs was fractured just above the ankle. He was placed in the hospital at Las Vegas.

Santa Fe Should Get Busy.

Elks of New Mexico are uniting in an effort to induce the grand lodge of the order, which will meet next month in Atlantic City, to locate in this territory the proposed national sanatorium. In Albuquerque the Elks are working on the proposition and are boosting Colonel R. E. Twitchell of Las Vegas as the proper man to represent New Mexico Elksdom before the grand lodge. Las Vegas lodge will take up the matter at the next meeting and undoubtedly will back up Albuquerque in the endorsement of Colonel Twitchell, who has been a member of the Las Vegas lodge for some years. Colorado will make a stiff fight for the sanatorium, Colorado Springs being a strong bidder for the institution.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood. In the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes.

cheers of hundreds of members of the Touring Club and follows the progress of the car through New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and on west, the last installment leaving Westgard and party safely in New Mexico. The article will be invaluable to the motor world furnishing complete data as it does on the road across the continent to the "Sunset" over what Westgard has officially marked as the "Sunset Trail." The many illustrations show graphically the beauties and difficulties of the country through which the pathfinder passed. There are many illustrations in northern New Mexico showing the picturesque wonders of New Mexico and her cities and towns and particularly her roads. While some of the pictures, where the car has been jammed in an arroyo or otherwise come to grief speak poorly of certain conditions, the illustrations show many magnificent stretches of New Mexico road and the whole article will be a splendid advertisement for the motor attractions of the southwest.

REAPING BENEFIT.

From the Experience of Santa Fe People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Santa Fe residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Albino Ortega, College St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I am very grateful for the benefit I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. For several years I had trouble from my back and kidneys. It was hard for me to do work on account of pains in my loins and any sudden movement aggravated my trouble. My rest was disturbed by a too frequent desire to void the kidney secretions and the passages were scanty and painful. Public statements given by local people who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit, induced me to try them. I found relief at once and by the time I had used one box, my back was free from pain. My kidneys are now normal and I feel better in every way. I have great faith in the curative powers of Doan's Kidney Pills."

FASTEST TALKER IN COUNTRY

Auctioneer H. B. Throop Sold
Hundred Horses at Stock
Yards in One Hour.

Chicago, June 6.—Sound and un-sound fraternal insurance now are on diverging paths as result of the legislative sessions in many states reported to the Chicago headquarters of the committee of fraternalists which has been aiding the "Mobile bill" of the insurance commissioners. That safeguard of law relating to eight billion dollars of insurance has been enacted in a dozen states, including such pivotal states as New York and Ohio, and in twelve other states new laws adopted give the insurance departments the right to demand such information from fraternalists as they may deem necessary to determine the issuing of a license. Under this provision in most of the states where the Mobile bill is not passed the commissioners will demand valuations as a precedent to releasing. Under the Mobile bill the fraternal societies are given several years in which to prepare for this work, but under the regulatory powers of the departments they can demand it at once should they deem it necessary. It is expected that the issuance of such powers will lead to the adoption of the Mobile bill by most of the legislatures which meet next year. There are now over twenty-five states in which no new fraternal insurance society can be organized hereafter with rates lower than those of the National Fraternal Congress. In recent years the organizing of such societies by promoters has become an alarming evil.

For the Nabobs.

From Lake Forest to Chicago society is engrossed in a new and dazzling dream of creating an archipelago along the shore of old Lake Michigan which shall supplant boulevards and country roads by motor with aquatic mazes by boat. Instead of dusty motoring to business the nabobs are to go by yachts. Venetian water canals are the hot weather substitutes proposed for polo, golf and tennis, and bathing beaches, island picnic groves and quiet inlets galore are pictured by the sponsors of the plan. The project produced astonishment for the city and all the drives have been so cut off from it that the big lake almost has been forgotten except by a coterie of adventurous yachtsmen who had no available shelter when a squall came up. The first step proposed is a harbor at Lake Forest. The Harold McCormicks are enthusiastic and the colony at Lake Forest could summon the millions needed for the engineering, dredging and filling as easily as most suburbs could the pay of the weed cutting crew. One who pictured the possibilities of the scheme said: "To polo, hunting, motoring, swimming, golf, and tennis can be added yachting, motor boating, sailing, rowing, canoeing, and other methods of navigation. The islands which will grow up, if enough encouraged by enterprising villages, will be delightful places for picnics, grateful and breezy refugees on hot summer days. They can be built with bathing beaches, with open air sleeping lodges, and any other attractions. Water festivals can embellish the days and illumine the nights. For three generations the lake has been neglected as a source of enjoyment, except for a small band of irrepresable yachtsmen. There it has lain, calling us to come to it for rest, refreshment, sport, and diversion. But we have usually sold our birthright for a mess of pottage, so that there are a few public bathing beaches along Chicago's twenty-five miles of lake front, and the pleasure drive, which should run right on the edge of the bluffs between here and Milwaukee, is made impossible by private ownership of this land that overlooks the lake."

The Fastest Talker.

The fastest talker in the country is in Chicago in the person of H. B. Throop, an auctioneer who holds the record of selling horses in the stock yards horse market faster than six hundred in five hours—better than 100 an hour. Nowadays horses are almost legal tender at the stock yards market, for buyers and sellers from every state in the union meet there and as a result the speed required of the auctioneer has steadily mounted until his talk is one uninterrupted clatter like that of a gatling gun for hours at a stretch. Throop, a veteran buyer and salesman, now holds the long distance record for plain and fancy talking and his friends are backing him against a Coney Island speller, a Mississippi river steamboat mate or a Pacific coast booster. Recently he sold 540 horses in five hours, and was just turning to go when he was told that sixty more head had come in for sale. In the open market, called the "bull ring," the horses, all numbered and labeled, are sent past the auctioneer at a run, whips cracking, bidders yelling and above it all the high staccato of the auctioneer rattling like hail on a tin roof, bids and sales following so fast at times as to keep three clerks nearly crazy to record the deals. When the placard "sold to be sound" is up the guarantee is made good but otherwise shrewd buyers run their chances, having examined the horses before they were brought to the ring. It is fast work, horses which were in plow traces in Iowa on one day being bought there two days later at the high prices now prevailing.

Twenty Thousand Homeless Men. Premature summer in Chicago has found 20,000 homeless men, most of them young men from the country who have failed to find a "city job" in the cheap lodging houses which the recent investigations have shown to be fire traps and penhouses, many being damp cellars where the "sleeping accommodations" are bare boards between which the water rises when stepped upon. Hundreds of these homeless ones have been sleeping on the docks along the river and in the parks since warm weather came, each one lying on a newspaper. Some of the hobos are old hands at the life but each year there are about a quarter of them who are new at it, accepting its discomforts and hardships with a wry face. Chicago has three types of lodging house. Most common is the cell or stall house. Three or four floors of a store building are divided into about ninety stalls, each about four by six feet in size. Partitions are of wood or corrugated iron, up to within three feet of the ceiling. Over the top is mesh wire to keep out intruders. Rates for this accommodation run from 10 cents to 25 cents. A second class is the "flop." Chicago has three flops. Two of these are dark, unventilated basements. The lodger flops on the floor for 5 cents. There are no beds. He sleeps on a newspaper and is expected to furnish his own paper. A third class is the bed lodging house. The floor is open, with beds in close rows without partitions. There are lockers for the lodgers' clothes. Lodging house rates read "15 cents and up." The "up" refers to the bed bugs. Soap, when found at all, is claimed fast. As many as 100 men are sometimes expected to use a single washbowl and a single towel.

"Neighborhood Theater." The "neighborhood theater" has broken out all over Chicago, whether at a saving of millions or at an expense to the public no one yet knows. Theatrical attractions have been made as readily available as ice cream with a saving per performance but with an increase in theater going which in many cases amounts to mania. Time was when all the good "shows" were in the loop district, with ten playhouses to choose among, but now it is all quite different. But it is a close race whether the expense and loss of sleep chargeable to the old regime was not to be preferred to the proximity of the alluring theater lights which makes theater going so much easier. There now are 30 of the "neighborhood" playhouses, an investment of millions for their cost has ranged from $100,000 to $300,000. What many people believe to be the most beautiful theater in Chicago is in one of the most sequestered neighborhoods of the North Side. Probably not one Chicagoan in 100,000 outside the immediate vicinity of the playhouse has seen it. At all the "family theaters" of course, the prices are low. At those whose principal attraction is vaudeville—mighty good vaudeville at that—the usual scale is 20 and 10 cents. That makes a deal of difference to the young man with slender salary. In the old days "taking the girl to the show" meant:

Car fare 20
Theater tickets 4.00
Supper 3.50

The evening 7.70
George spent about five times as much as he could afford, and lost so much sleep that he never was promoted to that better job, and so you decided to marry Jack. The change has become epochal.

THREE CASES IN DISTRICT COURT AT ALBUQUERQUE.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 6.—Judge Ira A. Abbott sitting in chambers yesterday afternoon overruled the motion to quash the alternative writ of mandamus sued out by the school boards of the city and county, against the board of county commissioners, and the county treasurer of Bernalillo county, in the matter of the controversy between the school boards and the commissioners over the existence of a sum alleged to be in the neighborhood of 5,000 in the general deficiency fund, which they claim should be in the general school fund.

The court notified the respondents that he would give them until next Monday to file an answer to the general and special facts alleged in the petition for the alternative writ of mandamus, and in default of answer he will issue judgment accordingly. Judgment was given yesterday morning to the Hedges, Atkins, McGree Supply Company against the Standard Plumbing and Heating Company of this city for $142.10, the same being given on a bill for goods, wares, and merchandise sold and delivered to the Standard Company.

NEW PUBLICATIONS OF LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

Select List of References on Boycotts and Injunctions in Labor Disputes and Reciprocity.

The library of congress has published a "Select List of References on Boycotts and Injunctions in Labor Disputes." The subject has aroused the greatest interest and has been widely discussed in popular magazines and the publications of labor organizations. These two classes of publications, consequently, have furnished a large part of the references, and especial pains have been taken to present as completely as possible those writings in which labor leaders have expressed their attitude toward the question. Another main source of information has proved to be the legal literature of the past twenty years. This has been freely drawn upon, though without citation of particular cases. The list, however, points out where such citations may be found.

Certain cases have aroused so much interest that they have been widely discussed outside of the legal profession. References to these discussions have been included and they will be found brought together under appropriate headings in the index at the end of the list.

Two features have been introduced into this list which will prove of special interest to librarians. When printed catalogue cards exist for any work entered in the list, the library of congress card number is printed immediately after the entry at the left. On the same line to the right the class mark, where determined in the new classification, is printed in heavier type.

The "Select List of References on Boycotts and Injunctions in Labor Disputes" will be distributed free to depository and all other libraries on our mailing list, while individuals desiring copies may purchase them from the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., at 10 cents each.

The library of congress has published a list of "Additional References relating to Reciprocity with Canada," which supplements a section on Reciprocity with Canada in the general "List of References on Reciprocity" published last fall.

The additional references include parts of books which have appeared recently and articles in periodicals down to the beginning of April, this year. Speeches made during the third session of the 61st congress are included, and some indication is given whether the speaker was in favor of, or opposed to the reciprocity agreement. Lastly, special stress has been laid on the government publications dealing with the subject, issued by the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The additional references are confined to the present reciprocity agreement. Those desiring material relating to the previous reciprocity treaty with Canada, the results which grew out of it, and the causes which led to its abrogation, are referred to the general "List of References on Reciprocity" mentioned above, pages 51-81.

The list of "Additional References relating to Reciprocity with Canada" will be distributed free to depository and all other libraries on our mailing list, while individuals desiring copies may purchase them from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, this city, at 5 cents each.

EDITORIAL FLASHES

A Mere Habit.

Why is it that when the mounted police find a murder case the victim has nearly always been hacked to pieces with an axe and then burned? Pretty soon it will get so that a man must have a license to carry an axe.—Albuquerque Herald.

The Pot and the Kettle.

The esteemed El Paso Times comments upon the lawlessness of bootleggers in Roswell, whereas the wickedest city in the southwest is El Paso and it has been so long since a murderer was hanged there that none but old timers can tie a proper necktie.—Albuquerque Herald.

Another Editor Nailed.

Governor Mills is a man of activities. He has long been recognized as an able jurist: is now an able executive: is right in line to be an able senator.

Besides, he is an able humorist. He is qualified as the latter, at the Tucuman banquet last week telling about a man named Potts, who was so popular at one time in Pennsylvania that three towns were named after him: Pottsville, Pottstown and Chambersburg.

That settles it, governor. You get our vote for senator.—Obar Progress.

Bill Brogan Blushes for the Ladies. In his sermon Sunday Rev. C. O. Beckman of the First Methodist church severely censured the manner of dress of some of the women on the streets of Albuquerque. It is true that in many of the fashionable centers the wearing apparel of our women would pale into insignificance by comparison, but some of the dresses worn on the streets of Albuquerque are, to put it mildly, rather extreme. The good old-fashioned night shirt that mother used to wear is modest and artistic by comparison with some of the street gowns of the present season. Probably the effect of the minister's censure will not be apparent by a sudden reformation of dress in Albuquerque, but if he simply desires to state the facts the minister has not strayed far from them. Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection even it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2 and 3 burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

MINES AND MINING

Mogollons.

The steam hoist on the Maud Mining Company's property at Mogollon, Socorro county, was placed in commission for sinking a 2-compartment shaft which has attained a depth of some 50 feet by use of windlass. Upwards of 15 men are now employed. On the Deadwood mines, the clean-up last week amounted to 2,350 troy ounces gold and silver bullion. The week's tonnage of ore crushed was 280, with 15 sacks concentrates. Good progress is being made in installation of air compressor for mine service. It has been necessary to patch old boiler used in operating air shift, which has delayed unwatering of 3rd level. Ore is furnished the mill from slopes above the level. On the Ernestine Mining company, the ore treatment of 780 tons last week was the largest ever crushed in a like period in the history of this company, with a concentrate product of 64 sacks. Clean-up for second 10-day period of May was 7,685 troy ounces gold and silver bullion, with six tons high grade concentrates. On the Socorro mines the third level west is still in good ore. This is the level from which a profitable shipment of high grade ore was made some time ago. The mill is treating better than 150 tons daily, operating on a good average grade ore. The cord wood costs at Whitewater are said to have been very materially reduced. On the Iron Group the owners of this property on the Whitewater slope have finished this year's assessment work and report the same as very encouraging to the extensive development of the group, plans for which are already on foot. On the Oaks company the tunnel has been advanced 15 feet under cover, with an open cut of 15 feet. About one-half of the crew's time is spent in grading road leading to the site. Portal of tunnel will be timbered with square sets as soon as the material can be delivered. It is the intention of the management to install a gasoline compressor plant at no distant date.

Hereafter, ladies, you must wear more than a pleasant smile while promenading down the busy thoroughfares.—Albuquerque Herald.

Klinefelter Never Saw a Tadpole.

Will somebody who knows a lot more about frogs than we do, please tell us where in thunder all the frogs came from that showed up last Monday evening after the rain. A million of them serenaded us with an open air concert down in the hollow back of Dove House. We hope they will understand that we enjoyed the performance. They were singing when we fell asleep and when we woke up they were still on the job—no, they were on the job but not still. The way they work overtime, it is clear they don't belong to the Musicians' Union. But where do they come from? Nobody ever sees a frog in these parts except after a hard thunder shower and perhaps the thunder brings them in some way and our original inquiry above, is strictly pertinent.—Obar Progress.

Push It Along.

There is no better indication of the spirit which actuates the people of New Mexico than the hearty and enthusiastic response which has met the proclamation of the governor ordaining the call of New Mexico day. The idea has appealed strongly from the jump-off to every city and commercial organization in the territory and every community, newspaper, commercial club or board of trade and thousands of individual citizens have announced that they will boost "Post Card Day" for all it is worth. Already orders have been given for the publication of tens of thousands of special boosting post cards to be sent out on June 22. Dozens of newspapers will issue either special editions or publish special feature articles; many papers will distribute free thousands of copies on the condition that they are to be mailed to persons outside of New Mexico who may be interested in knowing about her advantages and opportunities. Hundreds of thousands of people in every part of the country and the globe in the last week of June will receive postcards or other literature reminding them that there is a brand new state-in-the-making in the southwestern empire and that the "Last West" is calling for volunteers to go to the front and push back the last frontier.

The idea of "Call of New Mexico Day" grows bigger the longer you think about it. It will be by all odds the greatest single advertisement New Mexico has ever had. If you have been indifferent, get the contagion of the enthusiasm which is sweeping over New Mexico. Buy a bunch of post cards and boost. Even if you don't think it will do any good to New Mexico, you may at least have the knowledge that it will help Mr. Hitchcock swell the postoffice surplus.—Albuquerque Journal.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, gain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing, water on the lungs or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alternative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcotics nor alcohol.

The ingredients, as attested under oath, are Stone root (Collinsonia canadensis), Bloodroot (Sanguinaria canadensis), Golden Seal root (Hydrastis canadensis), Queen's root (Sillingtonia sylvatica), Black Cherry bark (Prunus virginiana), Mandrake root (Podophyllum peltatum), with triple refined glycerine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that no druggist could imitate. This tonic contains no alcohol to shrink up the red blood corpuscles; but, on the other hand, it increases their number and they become round and healthy. It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing. Stick to this safe and sane remedy, and refuse all "just as good" medicines offered by the druggist who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do you half as much good.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE STATEHOOD SITUATION.

It is certain, had it not been for the trip of four New Mexico Democrats to Washington to delay statehood, that New Mexico would at this time be in the midst of its first state campaign. These four patriots succeeded in securing delay, but how long that delay only time will tell. Delegate Andrews and his friends are working assiduously to counteract the propaganda of these four Democrats who somehow secured the support of the Democratic majority of the House and spiked the statehood guns. But President Taft yesterday assured several representatives, Delegate Andrews and ex-Governor Curry, that he would sign the House resolution even though it is a direct slap at him and the Republican party.

Thus one stumbling block on which the four Democrats had relied to put off statehood after the next presidential election is out of the way. The entire proposition is now up to the Senate, which unfortunately is equally divided between progressives and conservatives, and there is the ditch in which the reactionary Democrats will make their last stand against statehood at this time.

The Albuquerque Morning Journal, like the New Mexican, has been consistently for statehood. The New Mexican has fought for it for 50 years, the Journal for the last 25 years and it echoes the opinion of the New Mexican previously expressed, that statehood is the issue and that statehood with any sort of a condition is preferable to no statehood at all. Says the Journal:

"For over 25 years the Morning Journal has fought the good fight for statehood for New Mexico. The Morning Journal has fought for statehood in season and out of season, through good report and evil report, encouragement and discouragement. A thousand anxious phases of the question have come up; it has been befogged and complicated in a thousand various ways through the past quarter century in which the Morning Journal has been on the firing line; but we have never lost sight of the main issue, the star of statehood whose rays have illumined with steady gleam the rocky and thorny path through which the people of New Mexico have struggled upward for year after year, in the face of insult and rebuff and evasion and equivocation, delay and quibbling and brutal denial.

"This newspaper, as always, is for statehood first, last and all the time; under any conditions short of absolutely being hog-tied and throttled; and our position remains the same. A condition has come about now, through methods of the opposing party which we have consistently and steadily denounced, which must again be faced. There is the best authority for believing that if the Flood resolution passes the Senate of the United States, the president will approve the proceeding as regards both New Mexico and Arizona and both new states will be admitted.

"With assurance of the approval of the president, the Morning Journal is in favor of the passage of the Flood resolution by the Senate. We do not approve of the Flood resolution nor the Democratic politics which tied New Mexico helpless to the cause of Arizona; we can however, swallow a more bitter dose than that if it means statehood for New Mexico.

"It is the conviction of this paper that the people of New Mexico at large, irrespective of politics will gladly accept statehood under the Flood resolution if its passage means statehood.

"There is another graver side to the matter pointed out by Judge A. B. Fall in an interview in this paper yesterday. The advocates of statehood for Arizona; the bitter partisans of the recall for judges, the men who will move heaven and earth to admit Arizona as a radically progressive state; if defeat for Arizona stares them in the face, they will wreak revenge on New Mexico and a combination of the Democrats and progressive Republicans as pointed out by Judge Fall might easily and probably would pass a resolution affirmatively disapproving the constitution of New Mexico and again throw us clear outside the breastworks, to lose every bit of ground we have gained and begin the whole disheartening fight from the ground up again.

"With New Mexico it has been always the choice between not two evils, but half a dozen or more. It has never been a matter of getting what we want, but of taking what we can get.

"The people of New Mexico showed this when they voted to accept the fantastic and chimerical proposition of joint statehood with Arizona. Beside that proposition statehood with the Democratic sting tied to it is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

"The Morning Journal faces the facts, however, unpalatable they may be; President Taft indicates that he will save the day and the pressure of the entire citizenship of New Mexico should be immediately brought to bear on the Senate to pass the Flood resolution. By shrewd political maneuvering which regards New Mexico merely as a pawn in the game, the Democrats have put it squarely up to the president. The provision for a reconsideration of Arizona's recall will enable Taft to save his face and save New Mexico."

New Mexico's plea was well put in a speech made by Congressman Sulzer of New York, when he said:

"I am a friend of the people of Arizona and of New Mexico, and I want to do all I can to protect their rights and promote their general welfare. For years these good people have been knocking at the doors of Congress for justice, for relief, for their rights, and the Congress has turned to them a deaf ear. They are American citizens, and they want the rights of American citizens."

"The people of New Mexico and Arizona want to govern themselves. They want statehood, and they should be admitted as states. The people of Arizona and New Mexico want to make their own laws. They should be admitted as states. For 40 years they have been begging Congress for this fundamental right, and for 40 years Congress has closed to their appeals the doors of opportunity, of equal rights, of justice, and of statehood. How much longer must they wait? The refusal of Congress to grant them statehood is a substantial denial of constitutional rights, and contrary to the spirit of our free institutions."

"Let us stop treating Arizona and New Mexico like conquered provinces. Let us grant them the rights they demand. Let us permit these territories to come into the Union, so that they can govern themselves and make their own laws. The people of these territories are as brave, as honest, as intelligent, and as patriotic as any other citizens in our land. They want to govern themselves. They want home rule. They demand statehood. Let us be true to ourselves and grant them all the rights and all the privileges enjoyed by all the rest of the citizens of the state of the Union. New Mexico must be a state. Arizona must be a state. Now is the time to grant them this sovereign boon."

"The people of Arizona and New Mexico want the right to govern themselves, and sooner or later it must be granted to them. I know something about that vast domain. I know something about the sentiment of the people who live there, and I stand here and declare, with the confident knowledge that I can not be successfully contradicted, that the people of these territories—the people who have gone there, and who have lived there for years, and intend to stay there during the rest of their lives—I know what they want, and I declare there that they want what every other territory has received, and that is statehood. They want the right that every other state in the Union has—the right to make their own laws, to levy their own taxes, to regulate their own internal affairs, and to spend the money gathered by the tax collector for their own use, for their own schools and for their own charitable institutions. Should this substantial right to these territories longer be denied by Congress?"

"Why not give Arizona and New Mexico statehood and let them govern themselves. The principles of self-government are dear to the American heart. They constitute the cornerstone of the Republic. The people in Arizona, the people in New Mexico are entitled to home rule, are entitled to self-government, and the only way they can get it is through the agency of statehood."

"Hence, Mr. Chairman, I shall vote for the pending bill to admit these territories of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood, and I indulge the hope that the day is not far distant when they will be states in the Union with all the rights and all the privileges of all the other states under and by virtue of the federal constitution."

THE POSTAL CARD CAMPAIGN.

Secretary H. B. Henning of the New Mexico Bureau of Immigration has devised an effective weapon in the postal card campaign. It is a postal card with proper blanks and explanatory wording which can be slipped into an envelope by businessmen with all their correspondence. Whatever inquiries it brings go directly to the secretary of the Bureau of Immigration upon whom is thrown the burden of answering and sending literature in reply. Thus thousands will be brought in direct touch with New Mexico who otherwise might never have given the territory any thought. The idea is fruitful and clever and fits well into the Postal Card Day idea which cities like Albuquerque, Carlsbad, Deming are taking up with vigor, only that Secretary Henning's plan makes a Post Card Day of every day in the year. A supply of blank cards may be had from him upon application, but applications must go in soon for the idea is taking like wild fire and businessmen are beginning to use the cards in large numbers.

"Las Cruces has Albuquerque worrying," declares the Las Cruces Citizen editorially. Over what, pray? Mosquitos or the heat?

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

The announcement that the postal savings bank will be established at Santa Fe by Postmaster E. C. Burke on June 27, is merely in accordance with the policy of the post office department to establish such banks in every second class post office in the land. By July 1, practically every large town in the territory outside of Albuquerque, which is in the first class, will have such a bank. First class offices will not be given banks until congress makes an adequate appropriation for it is felt that the amount of business done at first class offices will necessitate the employment of additional clerks, while at second class offices no extra clerical help is needed for the present. The establishment of these banks in places like Santa Fe will have no appreciable effect on the banking or other business except in time to inculcate habits of thrift from which all banks and all business will profit. The two per cent interest offered will be no inducement to small depositors to draw their deposits out of the banks which pay from three to five per cent for time deposits. According to last reports, the postal savings bank at Raton, the one first established in New Mexico, has only about $900 on deposit although Raton has a large payroll for coal miners and railroad men. In towns like Santa Fe, where a number of healthseekers and transients, with prejudices against banks, keep their little surplus money in the shape of money orders, these will probably be converted into postal savings certificates, but as to deposits by wage earners there will be none in this city, for Santa Fe has no coal mines, no railroad shops, no factories and the bank deposits come from businessmen, officials, stockmen and will continue to be made in the regular banks. There was no crying need for a postal savings bank in Santa Fe, but as long as it will be established anyway, it should be the means of inculcating habits of thrift among people who heretofore have never thought of laying by a penny for the proverbial rainy day.

NO MILITARY CASTE IN AMERICA.

The hearts of the American people will warm up to President Taft for his recent rebukes to snobishness. That class of people in each community that calls itself "Society" with a capital "S," is in the small minority and generally consists of those without whom the country could well exist. But even among exclusive "Society," snobishness is disappearing these days and it seems to have found its last resort among the officers of the army and navy, who patter after European precedents, imagine themselves a social caste above that of men of brawn and brains. It is one of the reasons why there is a prejudice against army and navy among common people and why Socialists find too ready ear when they rail against military establishments. There is less room for exclusiveness among officers of the army and navy of a republic than there is in any other occupation and the sooner these rigid barriers are broken down the better for the efficiency and popularity of service in the army and militia. Americans will never become lick-spittles to any caste, even though that caste wears brass buttons and epaulets.

An event of the Taft administration which deserves more than passing notice is the wiping out of the deficit of the postoffice department. Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, as the New Mexican had predicted when he assumed charge of the department, has placed it on a paying basis, the only department that makes more than running expenses. Considering the service it gives, the achievement is remarkable. When a department can carry a letter from New York to Alaska or to the Philippines for two cents and still show a profit it is an indication that the people are getting all and more than what they are paying for. Postmaster General Hitchcock has made an intimate study of the postal systems of the world and together with a few men in Europe is one of the authorities on international postal affairs. The progress that the postoffice department has made under his direction has been great and unprecedented and places it at the head of the international postal systems.

Minnesota has been considered the granary of the northwest. For years it has had the largest flour mills in the world and it is therefore not astonishing to have the census-bureau today declare that the wheat crop of Minnesota in one year equals the total assessed valuation of New Mexico and that the entire cereal crop in the census year was worth $140,807,611, an enormous sum. In addition, Minnesota raised almost $5,000,000 worth of potatoes, $26,723,699 in forage crops; more than $6,000,000 worth of other grains and crops, so that the total of the crops was worth more than three times the total assessed valuation of this commonwealth. But who can deny, that New Mexico is rapidly forging ahead to the point where it will rival Minnesota in the value of the production of its farms?

Lord Justice Vaughan Williams goes ex-President Roosevelt several better and declares that there are 45,000,000 descendants of Ananias in Great Britain at the present time. He declares that every one in the British Isles has fallen into the habit of lying and that few would recognize the truth if they met it. He declares that he met only one man who doesn't lie and that man in consequence, hasn't a friend in the world. That being true, the Anglo Saxon world will have to revise some of its standards of virtue.

What have the local Sunday schools and Christian Endeavor Societies done to entertain the two large Sunday school excursions, one from Boston and the other from the south, which will each spend six hours at Santa Fe next Tuesday and Wednesday? In other places, where only an hour will be spent, arrangements have been made to make the stay of the visitors a pleasant one and certainly Santa Fe should not lag behind in hospitality.

EASY TO ANSWER IN BOSTON

Difference Between Answer to Problem in Trigonometry and Watering Standard Oil Stocks.

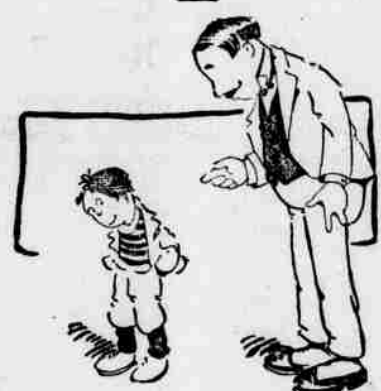

"Mr. Backbeigh, I shall ask you to tell me the difference between evolving the correct answer to a problem in trigonometry and the successful watering of Standard Oil stocks."

"I am unable to differentiate between the two, Mr. Kahmun; will you be kind enough to inform me what is the distinction between evolving the correct answer to a problem in trigonometry and the successful flotation of Standard Oil securities not representing a corresponding increase in the assets of the corporation?"

"The one is a solution and the other is an emulsion."

"Ladies and gentlemen, the eminent lecturer and essayist, Prof. Ticklowell, will proceed hereupon to read a few excerpts from his latest work, a brochure on Emerson's exultant and inspiring declaration, 'Sooner or later that which is now life shall be poetry, and every fair and manly trait shall add a richer strain to the song!'"

MEAN MAN.

Dentist (engaging boy)—You seem to be a likely looking boy. How are your teeth?

Boy—Fine. You kin look fer yer self.

Dentist—Then you won't do. I want a boy who will take part of his wages in dental work.

What?

"What is the object of your primary elections? Inquired the foreigner in search of information.

"To determine who shall be the nominees of the various political parties for any given office," said the native.

"I see; then the candidate who carries a primary election gets the solid vote of his party when the real election comes."

"Not necessarily."

Not on the Market.

"I suppose it is costing you a good deal to bring up your twins?" a neighbor remarked to Mr. Brombers, a recent victim of a double blessing.

"Yes," he acknowledged, "but the cost isn't bothering me any; what grates on my nerves is the annoyance. Last week, after I had chased all around the city, trying to get a suitable high chair for the kids, I found that the only thing I could do was to get a chair for each."

The Unexpected.

"Charley Sappington and Willet Piffle had a falling out last night at the club."

"Any damage done?"

"I should say so! They used billiard cues and both are now in the hospital."

"Well, well! And I thought you were going to tell me they slapped each other on the wrist."

The Ruling Passion.

"A man died last week in one of our suburbs who caught a trolley car to town every morning for 20 years."

"A fine record."

"Quite so. And his dying request was that his alarm clock be buried with him, so he would be sure to get up early on judgment day."

Going Back.

"Who was that man who just went out?"

"That was a magazine scout."

"Eh! What did he want?"

"He's working up an article which will prove that the grandfathers of plutocrats are usually undetected criminals."

Light on a Dark Subject.

Gen. Sherman was protesting.

"What I really said," he insisted, "was that 'war is cruelty.'"

"But, general," they assured him, "the other is better."

"With much difficulty they persuaded him to let it go at that."

Prefers Money Now.

"You used to say," said his boyhood friend, "that you would be willing to starve in an attic if you could have fame."

"Yes, I know. But I've changed my mind I've tried starving in an attic."

A Catastrophe.

Gayly she joined in the may dance, And woefully to her hurt.

Bitterly she regretted the step! For it burst her hobble skirt!

Neither.

Seymour—Is Register's hotel conducted on the American or the European plan?

Ashley—Neither, I should say; judging from the appearance of the cooks and the waiters, it's conducted on the African plan.

BERNALILLO COUNTY TURNS LIQUOR LICENSE APPLICATION.

Suit of the Albuquerque School Board Will Be Fought to a Finish if Necessary.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 6.—The board of county commissioners meeting in regular session yesterday morning in the court house at old town, with a full attendance, notified the district attorney that should the present suit now being prosecuted against them by the school boards of the city of Albuquerque, result adversely to the board, he was to immediately prosecute an appeal to the New Mexico supreme court.

S. Gonzales filed an application for a license to conduct a saloon on North Fourth Street, and the Duranes road. He alleged that the village of Duranes in which he wished to have his saloon had more than one hundred people in it.

The evidence was not however satisfactory to the board and the application was denied.

Jose Chavez de Arellano appeared before the board with the claim that the public road leading west from Padilla, had been closed. He wanted some action taken. The road overseer in that precinct was ordered to investigate in connection with the county surveyor and report back.

A petition was filed asking that road work be done on the public road west of the river. The matter was taken under advisement.

The clerk was instructed to send to every justice of the peace in the precinct a printed statement of the road law, especially that section which refers to the flooding of the road, in order that they should be fully apprised of the law and know how to handle the cases when they should be brought up.

The board then adjourned itself into a board of equalization and began an inspection of the tax rolls, and schedules with a view of arriving at the tax levy for 1911.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep my mind. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare I had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATER, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

GEORGE POPE IS SWIFTLY VINDICATED.

He Did Not Swipe Two Rocky Mountain Canaries That Allan McGilivray Had Lost.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 6.—"I am not after publicity but when a man is described in the papers as a burro thief it is at least ought to be corrected," said George Pope of this city yesterday. A small item in the Santa Fe correspondence of this paper yesterday said that Pope had been arrested by Collier of the mounted police for stealing burros. A copy of an Estancia paper of Thursday shows that Pope was arraigned charged with appropriating two Rocky Mountain Canaries belonging to Allan McGilivray the sheep man; but that Justice Howell found no evidence to that effect. It did not appear that Pope had seen the burros or had them in his possession and the costs were assessed against the plaintiff. According to Pope's story some sheep men camped on his 320 acre homestead near Estancia while he was away and burned up his dugout. It appears that this is an outcropping of the old enmity between the sheep man and the homesteader which has characterized the advent of the farmer into the southwestern range. Pope who now makes his home here declares it was a case of malicious prosecution and said yesterday he was going to consult a lawyer at once regarding a counter action on this charge. "Anyhow," said Pope yesterday, "you can tell 'em I am not a horse thief or even a burro thief."

When you find a town where merchants are advertising liberally you find a town where they are doing a good business. The advertising will sell the goods.

BERMUDA ONIONS IN THE RIO GRANDE VALLEY.

Eagle Pass, June 2.—While the Eagle Pass district has not been considered a Bermuda onion producing section in the past, this year that quality comes to the front with the best grade of onions shipped from the state and upon the whole, the most profitable yield. The production at this point proves that the entire Rio Grande valley and the valleys of tributary streams are the best Bermuda lands in the world and that the production of this vegetable will increase annually in value. While the crop this year was several hundred cars greater than last year, the demand for Texas grown Bermudas has been sharpened and prices have ruled higher than in 1910. Farmers in the Eagle Pass district are much elated over their success and are already declaring for a larger area next year.

KANSAS WOMAN HELPLESS

Lawrence, Kas.—Mr. J. F. Stone, of this city, says, "My wife suffered for ten years from womanly troubles, during two years of which she was totally helpless. She was examined by many physicians, some of whom gave her up to die. Finally she began to take Cardui, and since then has greatly improved in health. The tonic, strengthening, and restorative effects of Cardui, the woman's tonic, on the womanly constitution, are the most valuable qualities of this popular medicine. Cardui acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Half a century of success proves that Cardui will do all that is claimed for it. Try it for your trouble."

ADVICE ON VALUE OF ADVERTISING

By Wm. C. Freeman.
An advertising booklet was dropped on my desk recently. I cannot recall now from whence it came, for I would like to give due credit to its author for the following gem which I clipped from its pages:

"No-advertising is NOT a game—'Nor is it A GAMBLE.' 'It is the powerful essence of selling which, when handled in a practical, SANE manner, creates MORE BUSINESS, lowers SELLING COST, eliminates the time-wasting introductory work of your salesmen."

"Shorn of the mystery that many attempt to put about it, advertising without waste and extravagant theories is your greatest trade builder."

"Forget the idea that it takes big money to advertise."

"SWEEP ASIDE the awesome veil that makes a valuable trade builder seem a mystery."

"INVESTIGATE advertising as you would investigate the claims of a big salesman covering the wide world as his territory."

"Then you'll be starting on the right track."

"You'll see that judicious advertising is PRACTICAL AND PROFITABLE."

This is sound doctrine. And let me add to the above the following from MR. JOHN WANAMAKER:

"If there is one enterprise on earth that a 'quitter' should leave severely alone it is advertising. To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to STICK like a barnacle on a boat's bottom."

"ADVERTISING DOES NOT JERK; IT PULLS. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power."

What's the use of people talking foolishly about advertising?

IT ALWAYS PAYS WHEN IT IS DONE RIGHT.

Why should not every man who has something to sell advertise?

And don't forget that advertising creates a market for brains as well as for things to eat and to wear.

Professional men will advertise some day—just as successful MERCHANTS do today.

CURING A SICK BUSINESS

Same Principles Needed to Put It Back on Profitable Basis as If Treating Human Ills.

The manager of a store put up an advertising proposition to his board of directors, which meant the expenditure of nearly $10,000 more in the year than they had ever spent before.

One of the directors, with very decided views, opposed carrying out the plan to the extent proposed, on the ground that it represented TOO MUCH MONEY, and wanted it cut down about half.

The manager, fortified by the other directors, fought hard to have his plan approved. Finally, in desperation, he said to the objecting director:

"IF YOU WERE SICK YOU WOULD CALL ONE OF THE BEST DOCTORS YOU COULD GET."

"Now, I have employed the BEST ADVERTISING DOCTOR in the country, who has submitted this plan."

"To me it is INTELLIGENT and will cure our business ills. Just at the present time our business is sick."

"Now if a doctor prescribed for you, and you went to a druggist for your medicine, would you say to the druggist:

"I don't want to spend more than $25.00 on that prescription—just WEAKEN THE PARTS ONE-HALF, and I will pay you $2.50 for it!"

"If you did this THE MEDICINE WOULD NOT BE EFFECTIVE and you would not get well."

"The same PRINCIPLE applies to this advertising plan of ours. It has got to be a whole cathartic instead of a half one."

This presentation of the matter brought round the objecting director. He withdrew his objections and the advertising will be put out as planned.

When you find a town where merchants are advertising liberally you find a town where they are doing a good business. The advertising will sell the goods.

The Difference.
C. E. Brett, an advertising man of Buffalo, says:

"Advertising is essential to selling goods. Take the case of a department store which opened in a nearby town not long ago with the avowed intention of succeeding without the aid of newspaper advertisements. For a time all seemed to go well; but it was a mushroom growth, and that store has failed. And the reason for this is that the newspaper tells its story to half a million persons, while the salesman talks to a dozen."

Small Words.
Never use a big word when a small one will do the work.

Work along the lines of least resistance.

Small, simple words are understood by the masses.

Make your advertising simple.

The advertiser who can state the most facts in the fewest words is the most successful.

It's meat which counts—Commercial Union.

There is too much "foolin' around" on this statehood proposition. What New Mexico would like to see is an election for state officers and not so many "caucuses, conferences and reports."—Albuquerque Herald.

WHERE ROMANCE IS

By M. J. PHILLIPS

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Excuse me, ma'am, but was you lookin' for somebody?"

The trim, little eastern person looked up at the representative of the untrammelled west. "Yes," she replied; "I am looking for the conveyance to Mr. Danforth's ranch."

"That's me, ma'am. Least ways I do the drivin' of the conveyance. Where is your check?"

While the man was securing her trunk and strapping it to the back end of the buckboard near the little station, Otle Pierson looked about her disapprovingly. So this was the west she had dreamed about!

It was all very disappointing and she turned to the vanishing train, which could again link her with civilization, almost wistfully.

Her mental picture of cowboys was of tall, intellectual young men, with Greek profiles, who wore becoming broad-brimmed hats and two revolvers, the balance of their makeup to match.

But even her guide—he was quite presentable looking so far as features went—was weakly conventional, like the rest. He wore a vest—and suspenders!

"The west isn't as I imagined it," she said, with a touch of severity, when they had started on their 15-mile drive to the Danforth ranch.

"No, ma'am?" encouraged her companion.

"No. In all that crowd at the station there wasn't a real cowboy."

"Oh, ma'am!" said the pained driver.

"Well, not over two, anyway. There was a tall man, with a blonde mustache, and a beautiful, fit-brimmed gray hat."

"Willey Platt," broke in the other; "he's no cowboy; he's a tin-horn."

"A what?"

"A tin-horn, ma'am—a gambler. He wore that rig to catch the tenderfeet. Willey couldn't ride a close-horse."

"But that shorter man, with a leather band on his hat, and leather trousers—"

The driver shook his head sadly. "His name's Coon; he lives in Brooklyn. Sells blankets to the Indians."

"That's what I said," declared Otle, switching back to her original assertion. "Here we are, in the midst of the west, and not a cowboy in sight."

"The platform was full of cowboys," returned the other, stoutly. "Did you happen to notice that fat citizen with the hard-boiled hat?"

"The what?"

"The derby hat and red undershirt? That's old Pap Wilber. He's punched cows for 30 years; take you a day to ride around his ranch. Most of the boys back there work for him. Didn't you see their ponies?"

"Yes; sad little things with no spirit at all. And every one of those men was chewing tobacco. Do you?"

"Why, no, ma'am, I don't allow to," returned the driver, meekly, swallowing a wad of "fine cut" that would have ruined the digestion of an ostrich.

"You haven't told me your name," she suggested presently.

"William H. Brown," he answered, with a touch of self-consciousness.

"The 'H' standing for Henry, ma'am."

"There!" cried Miss Pierson, turning a pretty face upon him; "could there be any better proof that the romance of the west has gone? A few years ago everybody had nicknames out here; didn't they?"

"Yes, ma'am," said William Henry. "Really this western country is disappearing. If it wasn't for seeing Nellie—Mrs. Danforth is my cousin—I'd be sorry I came!"

Mr. Brown, who was known and respected in half a dozen counties as Bad River Bill, smiled discreetly.

Miss Pierson's opinion of the west did not improve with time. There was no beauty and no interest, and, worst of all, no romance about it.

Her search for romance was professional, no personal. She was a short-story writer who believed that she had exhausted eastern types. She had followed the setting sun to find a stimulus to her imagination and creative powers; but they remained dormant.

Even the wooing of William Henry Brown did not move her—or at least she would not admit to herself that it did.

"He's been lovely, Nellie," she complained afterwards to Mrs. Danforth. "He's as thoughtful as a man can be. And really he's clever. But I can't marry him, can I?"

"Why not?" asked Mrs. Danforth, a trifle sharply.

"Why, because he's neither one thing nor the other. If he were dressed in eastern clothes, like the men back east, really I should love him. And if he'd wear one of those nice flat-brimmed hats instead of that old slouch thing, and a flannel shirt open at the neck, and corduroy trousers and a belt, and throw away that horrid old vest, he'd be a perfect western type. I wouldn't let him out of my sight."

"But he dresses like a tramp, even on Sunday. I don't believe the man ever owned a white shirt in his life."

"You can't tell, Otle," replied Mrs. Danforth. "Some of these men came from good homes back east—escaped. I've heard Bad River call it. They wanted to get away from too much conventionality."

The moon was low as Bad River Bill rode home in leisurely fashion from town. Ever and anon he raised his voice in the nasal strains of "The Cowboy's Lament."

There was a ridge a mile or so from the Danforth ranch buildings. Just before reaching it the foreman ceased his vocal efforts to seek the solace of tobacco. He rolled a cigarette deftly and was searching the pockets of the despoiled vest for a match, when the pony, ears pricked forward, topped the ridge.

Sundry sights and sounds before him caused the match to burn itself out against Bad River's fingers. There was the glow of a fire to assume his eyes, and a volley of short, sharp yelps, punctuated by rifle shots to assail his ears.

The foreman put both "hooks" into operation at once; and the urgent howls nearly lifted the cow pony out of his skin. He leaped into the air like a surprised cat; and then, belly to the ground, he fairly flew toward the scene of the disturbance.

In Bad River Bill's cool brain cause and effect fitted themselves together like a scroll saw puzzle. Danforth and every employee of the ranch were away. Mrs. Danforth and Otle were there alone.

Coon of Brooklyn, in addition to his blanket trade, carried firewater as a side line and sold to the Indians on the sly. He had been at the reservation only yesterday and here were the results of his visit.

Wiley Otle, in whom liquor bred craft, had probably slipped away with a half-score cronies to attack the ranch, knowing the women were unprotected. It was a trick that Otle had played before when drunk.

The Indians had no guns; but they did have bows and arrows, made for souvenirs and dangerous in skilled hands.

No doubt it was Mrs. Danforth using the rifle; he was still in time.

So engrossed were the Indians in their pastime that they neither saw nor heard the charge until the pony and his vengeful rider were among them. The foreman leaped clear off the saddle while the sweating horse was still under motion. He had no weapons, and he needed none.

Directly in front, his squat form turned away from the raging Bad River, was Pontio himself. The cowboy took three prodigious bounds and brought his right foot into play with a viciousness and energy remarkable.

Pontio fell forward on his hands and knees from the force of it, uttering a loud grunt of surprise and anguish as he did so. Still in this undignified position, he peered over his shoulder, just as Bad River kicked him again, zestfully.

The second assault rooted the chief's aqualine nose into the soil. He did not stay longer. Scrambling to his feet he dashed away, like the arrant old coward he was.

Bad River turned his attention to the demoralized braves that were left. He fought like a catamount.

The Indians tried to rally and fight back, but the white man's civilization had robbed them of courage and endurance, and they had neither gun nor knife. In three brisk minutes it was all over and the besiegers were hurrying back to the reservation, much more silently than they had come.

Bad River Bill walked up to the front door and entered the living room. The unlighted cigarette was hanging from his nether lip.

Nellie Danforth, clutching the rifle, stood by the window, a veritable Mollie Pitcher. Otle was beside her, frightened but courageous.

"Bad River, you sure can fight!" said Mrs. Danforth.

"Thanks," he drawled. "Didn't mean to interrupt your party, but I guess they've plumb gone. You stood 'em off well, Miss Danforth."

"I hope she hit some of them!" cried Otle, spiritedly.

Bad River shook his head. "Fraid not; they all seemed able to run." He grinned at the recollection of the panic-stricken retreat.

"Would you mind gettin' the butcher knife and cuttin' out this arrow?" he continued, extending his right arm. "One of 'em let me have it as he skipped."

His tone changed suddenly. "Catch her—quick!"

Otle had fainted.

Bad River Bill and Otle sat on chairs very near each other on the veranda. Bill's right arm was bandaged; but he seemed to have retained the use of his hand, since it had closed comfortably about both of Otle's.

Punctuating the pastime by frequent oscillation, they were planning the rosiest future.

"I have a hundred and sixty-five acres over by the new irrigation ditch," said William Henry. "When the water comes it'll sure be a bonanza. We could put up a shack and live there, if we stay."

Insensibly his accent and his grammar changed. "I don't imagine you care much about the west, though. We can go back east and do practically as well."

"Father and my oldest brother are architects in Rochester, and there's a place waiting for me in the firm. I tried the game for a year after I finished college, and liked it. Then my health gave out, and I came west."

"But there's nothing to keep me here, now, if you don't want to stay. I can sell that quarter-section tomorrow for good money. So, honey, we can go back east to be married."

"Go back east?" Otle looked at him out of indignant and reproachful eyes. "Go back east! We'll do nothing of the kind! We'll live on that quarter-section."

"Why, there's no excitement and no room and no true friends in the east. And there's no love or romance, either! We'll stay right here in our own west!"

Too short.

"You're not going to put up the big office building you are talking about?"

"No; the land deal fell through."

"What was the trouble?"

"The owner of the lot refused to sell it outright. All he'd agree to do was to lease it to me for 999 years—and I wanted to put a permanent structure on it, you know."

Regretted the incident.

"Naw, what has become of your hat?"

"I left it sticking in a masher's arm an hour or two ago."

"My, my! What an unpleasant experience you must have had!"

"Indeed it was. It was my most expensive hatpith."

News to Her.

"Are you not glad to set foot on terra firma?" asked a lady of an old friend who had just landed from an American liner.

"Terra firma?" was the response.

"Dear me! I thought this was Queens-town!"—Tit-Bits.

THE SCRAP BOOK

LASSOED THE GATLING GUN.

"At the beginning of the Mexican rebellion hundreds of Texas cowmen enlisted in the insurrecto army," N. H. Kirkpatrick, a mining engineer of Denver who has recently returned from Mexico, said at the Hotel Baltimore, according to the Kansas City Star. "These men joined the revolutionists more for excitement than for glory, and they gained their end. At the beginning of the war two parties of federals surprised a number of insurgents and surrounded them. This incident occurred in Chihuahua, near a mine I was examining. The federals had a rapid-fire gun, mounted on a fence, that could be swung around an arc of ninety degrees. It greatly annoyed the insurgents."

"A Texas cowboy, a member of the revolutionaries, detailed himself to save the day. Armed with a lariat and a sack of tobacco he rode under cover close to the gun. Then, seeing that he was outside the quadrant commanded by it, he leaped across the intervening space and, before the amazed gunners knew he was there, roped the Gatling gun and dragged it to the revolutionary camp. It was turned against its former proprietors and the federals were defeated."

SPEED OF THOUGHT.

"As quick as thought," is an expression much used to denote the acme of speed in action, but, like so many popular expressions, this one is misleading. Thought, or at least the mental registering of a sensation, is not an exceedingly speedy process, the thought impulse moving at the comparatively slow speed of 110 feet a second, or 75 miles an hour. Sound travels nearly ten times as fast and light nearly nine million times as swiftly. Thought would be hopelessly beaten in a race with a motor car, or even a flying machine operating under favorable conditions.

Perhaps a good illustration of the comparative slowness of thought waves is to assume that a man had an arm 75 miles long and that, when he was not looking a friend should grasp his hand. Before the owner of the long arm became conscious that his hand had been touched the friend would have released it and had time to walk four miles or eat a very extensive dinner.

OLDEST CHURCH ORGAN.

The Swedish Island Bothland, a mecca for students of early Gothic architecture, lies in the Baltic sea, 40 miles from the mainland. In Wisby, the principal town of the island, may be seen the ruins of no fewer than ten churches, some of which date from the eleventh and twelfth centuries.

A director in a German musical institution, who was especially interested in the study of medieval organs, visited 53 churches in Bothland, and in a village called Sundre came upon the remnant of what is unquestionably the oldest known organ in existence. The case alone has survived the fret of seven centuries, and its exterior is adorned with paintings dating from about the year 1240.

When this ancient instrument could no longer serve its original purpose, it was used as a sacristy, and for the safeguard of holy vessels and vestments was kept in careful repair; hence its excellent preservation to our day.

SEVENTH SON IN BELGIUM.

In the early days of the reign of the late King Leopold of Belgium a seventh son was born to a Brussels woman, and when the king heard of it, was told that the boy was the seventh successive one and that no girl had come to the family he asked to be the baby's godfather.

Ever since then every seventh son born in Brussels has had the same honor, and the mothers have received gifts in keeping with their station in life. King Albert, in carrying out the old usage a short time ago had some difficulty because the seventh son was twins. He could not stand for both boys, because that would give the family two Alberts. The remedy was found by Queen Elizabeth, who suggested that her little son, the duke of Brabant, be the godfather of the eighth boy, who consequently received the name Leopold.

JOHNSON AND CLEAN LINEN.

Dr. Johnson may be numbered with those who maintain a cheerful indifference on the subject of personal cleanliness, says the London Chronicle. "I hate immersion," he remarked to Wickins—a Lichfield draper, who expected Johnson to admire his bath. One remembers, too, his original defense of Christopher Smart, the mad poet. "Another charge was that he did not love clean linen; and I have no passion for it."

WAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

I am often asked what is my narrowest escape. Perhaps the following is the closest shave I have had. I was superintending the dispatch of some animals at the railway station in Hamburg, when a half-grown elephant, which was standing in one of the trucks with its legs chained, suddenly turned round and tried to pin me to the wall. I was at that moment examining a cage containing monkeys. When I entered the car I knew the elephant was cross and should have kept my face towards him. Instead of turning so I turned my back to him, and at that moment the brute went for me. He tried to pin me to the wall; but fortunately for me his tusks were too wide apart for him to properly grip me. The tusks just grazed my skin on each side of my back. One of my men rushed to the rescue and pulled me down between the animal's head and the wall. Then they stood me on my feet to see if my back was broken. With the exception of torn clothing and a grazed skin, I was all right—Carl Hagenbach in the Wide World Magazine.

HISTORIC MAINE TAVERN.

The historic colonial home of Edward E. Pierce, which was burned in Belfast, March 7, was built in about 1805 by Col. Thomas Cunningham, who came to Belfast in 1802 from Peterboro, N. H. The house was known as the Sun tavern. During the War of 1812 it was in its height of popularity. Many distinguished guests were entertained and eminent judges and officers of the supreme court of Massachusetts, when traveling the eastern circuit, were accustomed to leave their carriages here and journey to Castine by water. It is said that British officers were entertained there. It was also a popular place for social affairs and many dances and assemblies were held there in bygone days. The house was painted a bright yellow, in keeping with its name. Sun tavern, and at one time, when the landlord became unpopular, his house was called "Pumpkin tavern."—Lewiston Journal.

INN NAMES.

Scattered throughout England are some curious inn names, but Germany probably keeps the record for out-of-the-way signs and fantastic names. The most absurd results are usually obtained. The Comfortable Chicken and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (in Westphalia), and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lame Louse is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thirsty Pelican. The Dirty Parlor, the Gory Bones, the Musical Cats, the Four-hundredweight Man, and the Boxers' Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Straw Bag in Leipzig. The Open Bungalow is in Stettin, in the Palatinat, and the Shoulder Blade in Jerichow. The Last Tear is a landlord's notion for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners, and is of frequent occurrence throughout the Fatherland.

FIRST APPLE TREE OF NORTH-WEST.

The oldest apple tree in the Pacific northwest, planted 85 years ago, by the early officers of the Hudson's Bay company from seeds carried in their vest pockets from England, has been discovered by A. A. Quarberg, district horticultural inspector, and positively identified. The tree is in front of the chief commissary's office. Originally there were three trees which grew from seeds, but the other two have disappeared.

FEATS OF SMOKERS.

Hundreds of spectators in Vienna recently followed with interest a grand smokers' competition. There were forty entries, the champions of various smokers' clubs which bear names such as Mont Pelée, the Calumet and the Joyous Foghorn.

In one contest the winner was he who kept his cigar, one of medium size, alight longest. The record was achieved by a man who kept his Virginia alight for 2 hours 33 minutes, no relighting being permitted. He gained a money prize.

There was also an ash contest, and this was won by the competitor who kept the longest ash on his cigar. He was able to take a mahogany smoker's table home after succeeding in keeping a length of ash intact of 72 millimeters or nearly three inches.

SHIP'S STRANGE DILEMMA.

Many strange reasons have been given for a vessel's disappearance, but the loss of the English schooner J. C. Strawbridge is a quite exceptional story. The vessel was bound for Nassau, in the Bahamas, with a cargo of ice. The J. C. Strawbridge ran into the warm temperature of the Gulf stream, and instead of ice as cargo she was presently battling with a hold full of water, which kept her bobbing about like a mechanical toy. All hands were ordered to the pumps, and for four days the crew pumped the melted cargo into the ocean. Their efforts, however, were in vain. The crew had to take to the boats, and a few hours later the schooner foundered.

It is a BUSINESS MAXIM universally accepted that advertising pays. That is, if it is done right.

PEOPLE READ ADVERTISEMENTS. Let the "New Mexican" place in its most obscure column that you are selling sugar at one cent a pound and your store tomorrow will not hold its customers. Advertise calico at one cent a yard and you will have to telegraph to your wholesale house for car-load lots.

YOU CAN STIMULATE BUSINESS BY ADVERTISING. Today no business will increase permanently unless by some method of advertising. The fool in his heart will say that there is no virtue in advertising but the wise man knows that the fool is deceiving himself.

AN ADVERTISEMENT in the "New Mexican" DRAWS LIKE A POROUS PLASTER. It cannot fail if it advertises the right goods at the right price.

CONVICTS DIG UP INTERESTING SILVER COIN.

It Bears Face of King Ferdinand VII of Spain and is Dated 1815.

While paving San Francisco street in front of W. N. Townsends store on the plaza, the territorial penitentiary convicts dug up a silver coin which is of unusual interest. It is about the size of our silver dollar, and bears an excellent likeness of King Ferdinand VII of Spain and underneath is dated 1815 which can be easily seen. The rumors that the date is 1515 are unfounded. Ferdinand the Fifth then was upon the throne.

Ferdinand VII of Spain lived from 1784 to 1833. He was the eldest son of Charles IV by Maria Louisa of Parma. In 1808 he was crowned at the rising that overthrew Godoy and caused the dissensions in the royal family that gave Napoleon a pretext for the Peninsular war. By the forced abdication (afterward retracted) of his father on 1808, Ferdinand became king but by the cunning of Bonaparte he was enticed across the frontier to Bayonne and kept prisoner at Valenay at Bayonne. Ferdinand returned to Spain in 1814. He is noted for having repealed the Salic law to enable his daughter Isabella II to succeed him. During Ferdinand's reign Spain lost the greater portion of her possessions in North and South America.

The coin's discovery recalls once more the old maxim that "kings never die" for in many ways their memory is kept alive.

David L. Miller, custodian of the capitol building, purchased the coin and has added it to his collection.

One wonders if the convict who picked up the coin realized that King Ferdinand VII himself had been a prisoner?

ANOTHER NEW MEXICO NUMBER OF THE EARTH.

H. B. Holt Has an Article on the Mesilla Valley and Roy Bedichek on Luna County.

Scenes in the Mesilla valley of New Mexico form the cover illustrations of the June number of "The Earth" the Santa Fe development magazine and the issue is filled with New Mexico articles and illustrations almost all the way through, forming another substantial addition to the enormous total of advertising given this territory by the Santa Fe Company in its literature.

H. B. Holt of Las Cruces, contributes an extended illustrated write-up of the Mesilla Valley and the Elephant Butte project. Roy Bedichek of Deming, has a profusely illustrated story of the waters of the Mimbres valley and what they are doing to make the desert blossom; D. J. McCann has a good article, with pictures all about Fort Sumner on the Pecos; C. O. Fisher, secretary of the Barton Commercial Club, tells of the "Kingdom of Colfax"; and C. B. Case, chief engineer of the Maxwell Irrigated Lands Company of Maxwell, Colfax county, describes what irrigation is accomplishing on the old Maxwell grant. There are many other short contributions from various citizens of New Mexico on the advantages of their various districts. The Arkansas and San Joaquin valleys come in for a few pages at the last end of the magazine but it is distinctly a New Mexico number all the way through.

SOCORRO INSTITUTE RETURNS GREETINGS OF SANTA FE
Socorro, N. M., June 6.—The Socorro County Teachers Institute began yesterday with the largest first day attendance and most enthusiastic interest ever known in this county. The gathering was called to order by County Superintendent J. A. Torres to whom is largely due the increased interest this year in educational matters in Socorro county. Mr. Torres welcomed the teachers and complimented them on the interest which brought out so many on the opening day. Telegraphic greetings from the Santa Fe county institute were received and will be answered in kind. Professor W. D. Sterling of Albuquerque, who is to conduct the institute was not here today but will arrive tomorrow and take full charge, ably assisted by Miss A. J. McGibbon of Santa Fe. The prospects are for a splendidly profitable session.

The Socorro county teachers' association met this afternoon and elected officers for the year and attended to other business.

LAS VEGAS SCOUTS BACK FROM SANTA CLARA.

Las Vegas Boy Scouts, who were here four days ago, returned last night to the Free and Ancient City on their way home and today called on Governor Mills at the capitol. They also visited the executive mansion and were then shown around the city. The scouts looked well and seemed to have greatly enjoyed their trip.

Scoutmaster George Fitzsimmons stated today that the boys abandoned their trip to the cliffs but visited Santa Clara pueblo where the Indians gave a special dance in their honor. This courtesy was doubtless due to the presence among the scouts of Chief Cajete, who also got the boys all the milk they could drink and without cost.

This evening the boys, who are in camp near the Palace Hotel, will feast on ice cream sent them by Governor Mills who is a resident of Las Vegas.

"We shall proceed home in a leisurely manner," said Mr. Fitzsimmons "as the boys are pretty tired and one of our horses is almost fagged out."

The scoutmaster said that he and the boys feel very grateful to Santa Feans for the cordial welcome extended them.

PRESIDENT DECLINES ANTI-HORSE THIEF INVITATION.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Washington, D. C., June 6.—An invitation was received by President Taft today from the Anti-Horse Thief Association of Kansas and Oklahoma to come to Arkansas City, Kansas, to address its convention July 19. The association, the invitation said, numbers about fifty thousand. Horse thieves are not so plentiful in Kansas and Oklahoma as they were once, but the association still exists largely for social reasons. The President was compelled to decline the invitation.
