DEPOSITS RECEIPTS IN LOCAL BANKS

Station Agents Directed to Keep Their Receipts in Local Banks for Home Circulation.

SANTA FE RAILWAY SYSTEM

Adopts This Conservative Policy
During the Financial Stringency—A Commendable Act.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 20.—Since the financial stringency throughout the country set in, the Santa Fe railway, to insure the prompt payment of its employees along the line, monthly, and to maintain public confidence, has caused its agents to deposit their daily receipts of cash and checks in the local banks. The usual rule is for the treasurer of the company to collect the money daily, by express delivery, the local banks using the pay checks as exchange and getting the cash back later. But this took the money away from home, and if followed during the stringency, would have kept it away indefinitely; and so, November 7, E. L. Copeland, secretary and treasurer of the Santa Fe, notified the local banks and station agents that, until further orders the agents would keep all receipts in banks at home. In consequence, the money has been kept in circulation at home; the merchants cashing the pay checks in settlement of accounts as usual, and the banks meeting them with the Santa Fe's own money. The effect of this has been to take care of employees promptly and also to inspire the public with added confidence in the local banks.

The monthly payments at the larger divisions and shop points are $25,000 to $60,000; in Topeka $200,000. Naturally this money, going into the local banks daily, inspired renewed confidence and kept the money in circulation at home. Following the first pay day, November 15, the effect was instantaneous. Instead of withdrawing their money, the larger patrons of the banks continued to deposit. Following the second payment, December 15, the smaller patrons renewed their daily deposits and now normal conditions have returned.

In Oklahoma, during the week bank holiday, the agents followed the same special rule of exchanging with the banks, cash and checks, daily; the company making a special arrangement for the banks to issue sight exchange to the agents in return. In this way, the money was kept at home and business went on as usual.

Speaking of the incident, today, Treasurer Copeland said: "It simply is following out the Santa Fe's long established policy of helping the country which our lines traverse, from Lake Michigan to the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Ocean. Our prosperity depends on the prosperity of the country which supplies us with traffic, and so we stand by our people. Besides that, we having custody of a share of the currency of the country, for the protection of the local banks and merchants, felt it to be our duty to keep that money at home where it might be kept in circulation and where it has been kept in circulation."

Continuing, Mr. Copeland said: "I am receiving information daily that the banks along the line are 'taking off the lid,' and the result is that they are increasing their deposits daily, and the withdrawals are the minimum. The Santa Fe is only a forerunner of what other great corporations are going to do. Even the United States government has come in with five million dollars in Oklahoma to help the relief. The Santa Fe is paying this week in Kansas a million dollars of state and local taxes, half of which will not become due until June, 1908. In Missouri we pay this month. In New Mexico we paid last month. So, from one source or another, the currency of the country is getting back into the hands of the local business men, and soon the lid will be off all over the land."

MEXICAN MURDERED

Juan Gualinda Murdered While Asleep in Bed Near the Home of Francisco Pompa.

ANDREAS GOMEZ ARRESTED

Gualinda Was An Exceptionally Good Mexican, Being Honest and Always Employed.

Juan Gualinda, the best Mexican hereabouts, was murdered by an unknown enemy Monday night about eight o'clock, while asleep near the home of Francisco Pompa on Main street on the south side of town, it being the second house north of Lee street.

Gualinda was sleeping in his bed which he had placed inside the top boards of his wagon bed over which he had placed the bows and stretched the wagon sheet, his bed being on the ground.

Francisco Pompa heard a shot between seven and eight, and supposed it was some one shoot-

Gomez was arrested charged with the murder of Gualinda and is now in jail.

When the body of Gualinda was found, in his right hand he held a revolver which on examination showed it had not been discharged. Whether this was placed in his hand or that he held it there to use for protection in case of attack, is not known. The trail of the murderer showed that he ran to the alley and then to the street where all sign was obliterated by other foot prints.

An inquest was held over the remains the result of which is as follows:

"We the undersigned justice of the peace and jury who sat upon the inquest held this 21st day of January 1908 on the body of Juan Gualinda found in Precinct No. 1 of the county of Eddy, Territory of New Mexico, find that the deceased came to his death by reason of a gunshot wound on the head inflicted between the hours of seven and eight o'clock p. m., Jan. 20, 1908, committed by parties or party to the jury unknown.

Gualinda was an exceptional Mexican, being sober, saving and reliable. His bank book showed a balance, at the First National, of $204.00 while another showed $69.00 in the Bank of Dayton and another a balance at Pecos. The remains were embalmed and held by Undertaker Thorne, awaiting the disposition of his relatives, if he has any.

A Lucky Railroader.

Conductor W. J. Gossett and wife and little daughter, Violet, of Carlsbad, came up Saturday morning and visited friends until Monday night, as the guests of Agent J. W. Cunningham and family.

They visited their fine tract of land a few miles west of town and viewed the spouting gusher which has recently been brought in. This is one of the best wells in the valley, the pure, white, crystal water mounting to about forty inches above a 6 1-2 inch casing.

Mr. Gossett intends to make an ideal country home of the place. The land is as fine as can be found, all under a good wire fence, and there is now fifteen acres in alfalfa, and a young orchard of something like 400 trees and Mr. Gossett is arranging to begin the erection of a commodious dwelling in a short time.

Mr. Gossett and his estimable lady are much pleased with the outlook and are already planning for their future residence upon their splendid home.—Lakewood Progress.

Fine Winter Lambs.

Down on the Bolles farm six miles south of Carlsbad can be seen a sight worth going miles to see, especially if the sight-seer is a breeder of that useful animal, the sheep.

Early in the fall Manager Bryant sowed several acres to turnips, rape, rye, oats and other forage stuff, so as to have green feed of a juicy kind all winter. Then about a month ago he had 300 old toothless ewes, which were brought in from the Plains during the summer, put on the green feed where they commenced dropping lambs, of which 150 have already come, are from a day to a month old, and there are 150 more ewes to lamb. The month-old lambs are as large as some two-month-old lambs raised on the range. Twenty of the ewes brought twins, while one brown one has dropped her third set of triplets and every lamb was saved, making 173 lambs from 150 ewes, or over 120 per cent so far. Mr. Bryant offers a prize of $10 for a tooth found in the bunch of 300 ewes. On account of the age and size of the ewes they are exceptional milkers and the lambs are gaining about one pound each day. The lambs will be fattened for the spring market and the ewes will be put on green alfalfa in the spring and sold for mutton later on.

As will be remembered Mr. Bryant secured the first prize for fat lambs at the Chicago fat stock show, and will undoubtedly top the market with his early spring lambs.

To Build Reservoir.

F. L. Hopkins of Carlsbad was here this week looking over his splendid place four miles west of town, and was so well pleased that he withdrew it from the market, and decided to make substantial and lasting improvements.

There is already a fine flowing well on the place, and Mr. Hopkins arranged to begin the work of putting in a large reservoir, in order to increase the facilities for irrigating purposes, and to put the entire place in a high state of cultivation.

We think that Mr. Hopkins has taken the right view, and feel sure that he will be abundantly successful.—Lakewood Progress.

Accidentally Shot.

Wednesday afternoon while a party of hunters consisting of Geo. W. Needham, Dick and Charlie Nelson and Carson Ratliff, were hunting in the foot hills about 35 miles southwest from town, George Needham received a painful shot in the right right leg and foot by the accidental discharge of a shot gun held by Charlie Nelson.

The men were walking a little distance apart looking for small game, when in some manner the gun held by Charlie Nelson was discharged and the load struck George Needham, who was something like forty yards away, in the right leg and foot, eighteen number five shot taking effect.

A runner was sent in for Dr. C. M. Jones Wednesday night, who went out and dressed the wound and assisted in getting him to his home a few miles west of town. The doctor reports Mr. Needham getting along as well as could be expected, and thinks that nothing serious will result from the accident.

ing at a dog. It did not occur to him that it might be Gualinda's enemy, and Pompa did not know Gualinda was killed until Tuesday morning when he went to awake him and found him dead with a bullet hole through his head.

Gualinda had been working up at Avalon dam under Foreman Tom Pope and was drawing $2.00 per day, living in a shack and batching. Last week, Monday, Gualinda found that his shack had been broken into and a rifle taken. He at once accused a Mexican named Andreas Gomez and his compadre. Gomez and his partner then got angry and threatened to kill Gualinda. Gualinda then told Tom Pope he must quit work for they would kill him he having sworn out a search warrant and put the officers after Gomez. After quitting work he said he would go to Texas and get away from Gomez and the others.

Francisco Pompa went up to the dam with Gualinda and secured all of his personal effects from the shack and Gualinda intended to get out of the country for he said he knew he would be killed if he remained.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

The citizens of Artesia are said to have held an indignation meeting concerning the action of the county board in turning down the petition to call another election to vote bridge bonds, and the News has the following to say about the matter:

The gang holding the power in Eddy county and masquerading under the name of "Democrats" would be a libel on any party and the decent democrats of Artesia express themselves in no uncertain terms concerning Heard & Co. When a faint and mild protests goes up from the northern part of the county they howl that a rotten republican legislature forces them to graft as they are now doing. This gang is made of a bunch of men who are traitors to their oaths of office, the "principles" of their party and the precepts of common decency, and the two democratic members of the board of county commissioners have done everything in their power to hurt Artesia and the northern part of the county. The bridge propositions from Artesia and Dayton, which were submitted to these gentlemen at their last meeting, were voted down in direct violation of the Territorial law in spite of everything Commissioner Turknett could do to the contrary. A few weeks ago the News predicted that Dayton would get no bridge unless they had something to offer Carlsbad in return and the result shows that we were right. This decision will result in banding the people of the two towns closer together and if we cannot secure our rights in Eddy county, we will in Artesia county. The petitions were correct, the law provides for calling a special election for such public improvements, but Commissioner Heard willed it otherwise and now the people of Dayton and Artesia must ford the two rivers at a danger of life and limb because an ignorant churl has set himself up to be greater than the rights of the people and the laws of New Mexico. This is the way that Carlsbad has treated Artesia and the northern part of the county all along. They claim as their politics Jeffersonian Democracy when there is probably not one of them who knows the principles advocated by the Sage of Montecello. They howl about "economy," that is what the gang wants; is it economy to have thousands of dollars worth of property washed down the river every year because a narrow minded political boss refuses to build a bridge according to law and has no reason to offer except that his hangers on in another part of the county does not wish it so? Pure Democracy? Better say "Pure mockery." If such things as this will make a dead man turn in his grave, the bones of Thomas Jefferson must be spinning like tops. We will not say that the memory of Allen Heard will go down in history a few shades blacker than that of Benedict Arnold; neither will we remark that besides this Eddy county animal, Judius will look like a snow white lamb, for these things are well known already, and we don't publish stale news. But the day of reckoning will come, whether it bring with it a political defeat or the more practical method of tar and feathers and each dirty little trick of the Carlsbad gang only makes it more certain. There is another denizen of the lower valley whose career Artesia will watch with interest, and when he passes from this place to a hotter one, whether they bury him, or just "pour him back in the jug" Artesia will sing his requiem and be bighearted enough to try and raise money to buy him an asbestos winding sheet.

Probate Judge Evans of Chaves county has refused the proposed nomination of delegate to congress to again run for probate judge. This is a very great condescension in the judge to throw up a seat in congress that Chaves county may have a good probate judge.

Owing to the large amount of precipitation during the fall and late summer throughout this section we may expect a very dry spring, and those who are contemplating dry farming should by all means get ground plowed deep this winter, for there is still sufficient moisture to enable plowing to be done well. Then harrow and plank so as to form a spongy thick coating of the soil. Seed should be planted in this section about May 1st for Kaffir corn or milo maize, and it should be good seed. Take no chances on the seed question. Then if planted about four inches deep it will germinate and make a strong root even though when coming up may look delicate. Then should rain come later it will make a strong and vigorous plant and a good crop can be expected.

The Roswell Register-Tribune last week contained under the head of "Valley and its Makers" a picture of Fred J. Beck the genial city clerk, of Roswell, that would lead the close observer to believe the publisher had some serious and awful secret of Fred's in his possession and thought against his will Fred consented while weeping to face the camera for his face is really painful to behold. Then in the write-up of Fred's life, a reference is made to Sherlock Holmes and it is again evident the Tenderfoot, must surely have something up his sleeve concerning Fred, all of which taken together accounts for the pain so plainly visible in the city clerk's countenance. Again the Register Tribune has proposed Mr. Beck for assessor of Chaves county and being a republican paper, it has probably made Fred weep to consent to such an awful calamity as being posted among republicans. This should be a warning to our Eddy county candidates of the terrible and awful consequences of announcing in a republican paper for the people need only to look at Fred's picture for evidence of the great pain it costs a democrat to do it.

Chaves county politicians are all out and the Record now has seventeen announcements. In Midland there are more, and nearly every county in Texas has from a dozen to forty out after the offices. No doubt Eddy county candidates have been scared by talk of low salaries and the wind jammers of Artesia. The executive committee should meet and set a date for primaries, for early primaries have always proven best.

DRINK HABIT AMONG WOMEN ON INCREASE

GROWTH OF DANGEROUS EVIL IS SEEN

Prof. Quackenbos and Dr. Parkhurst Join in Deploring Present Conditions—"Common Among All Classes," Declares the Former Columbia Professor—Testimony of the Present Superintendent of Bellevue Hospital.

NEW YORK.—According to Prof. John Duncan Quackenbos, specialist in nervous and mental diseases, member of many American and foreign medical societies, and formerly of the Columbia university faculty, the drink habit is spreading at an alarming rate among the women of New York. To a representative of the Sunday World he said:

"It is with real alarm that I note the rapid growth of the drink habit among women in New York city. I have been in a position to watch that growth closely and I can say with full knowledge that ten women drink to-day where one drank a dozen years ago.

"The growth of the habit has been among women of all classes, the rich

"School maîtres and college girls in great numbers are among the throng of women drinkers. A case was pointed out recently of a luncheon given here in New York at which 24 debutantes drank 36 bottles of champagne, and 15 of them smoked seven dozen cigarettes.

"As everyone knows, the punch bowl figures largely in the growth of the drink habit among women of New York. It is found at all functions, and many a girl has got her first taste of liquor by a dip into it. The punch bowl, however, is not to be blamed entirely. Many women dip into it and may do it many times without acquiring the drink habit, but many get their start there. It does give them the taste of liquor and then, with many of them, the taste for liquor.

"Now, the tendency of the American woman is to go to extremes, and in drinking she over-drinks. It is dangerous for her to touch liquor at all. This is particularly true of the New York woman, because of the added excitement of life in New York.

"It is not my object to preach a sermon, and the fact is New York women do drink, or rather too large a percentage of them drink, and drink to excess. If one doubts it let him go to any of our large hotels and restaurants any night and look about him. On every hand you find them and their sister visitors to New York drinking. No one thinks anything about it, and the women think they are simply doing the proper thing. Many of them drink just because they do think that way and many of them drink because they like the liquor.

Do Not Want to Be Cured.

"I have treated in the last eight years 700 cases of alcoholism, with a large percentage of women, and I found in many cases where the patient was a woman that she did not, deep down in her heart, want to be cured of the habit. This fact is true especially in the case of the rich so-her and drink the wine. But she found that she could not lift the glass from the table. You see, she did not really and honestly want to be cured and wasted but little time in rushing into temptation.

"Conditions might not be so bad, however, if women or men drank real, pure whisky, real, pure wine and real, pure liquors of all sorts, but they don't. They think they do, but what they are really drinking is a deadly poison and one swift in its execution. I feel safe in saying that out of 100 drinks sold in New York city as whisky not more than one is the real article.

Counterfeit Whisky.

"But so cleverly is whisky counterfeited to-day that club connoisseurs cannot detect it, as was shown in an experiment made recently by Dr. Darlington of the board of health. Dr. Darlington went around and collected a number of samples of whisky from saloons of all classes, took the samples to his club, where he had several of the members test them, and much to his surprise the cheap im-taken excessively, is not harmful, but I do say that a man could drink the pure article in moderation all his life and not be hurt by it. Why, 15 drinks of pure whisky would not do a man the harm that one drink of this vile stuff they sell for whisky in New York would do him.

Poisoned by Vile Liquor.

"I know a man who left his office one evening all tired out dropped into a saloon of the best class and took only two drinks of their bar whisky and was lost for four days. I was called in to help find him, as he was a friend of mine, and when we found him he was in a pitiable condition, his mind was clouded, he could not remember where he had been or what he had done after leaving that saloon. He only remembered that he had taken two drinks of whisky.

"The beer drinker, if he gets real beer, is handed a glass of the beverage which, to meet the demands of trade, is put out too new and improperly fermented. Beer should be kept in the keg for six months before being sold to the drinker.

"A case was pointed out recently of a luncheon given here in New York at which 24 debutantes drank 36 bottles of champagne, and 15 of them smoked seven dozen cigarettes."—Dr. Quackenbos.

tations of whisky were judged to be the real thing.

"It stands to reason, of course, that the great proportion of the liquor sold is counterfeit, when it is known that the consumption is far in excess of the ability of distillers and brewers to produce the genuine product. Adulterations and criminal counterfeits must be resorted to in order to meet the demand. I will wager that there have been inmates of Bellevue's alcoholic ward who have never tasted a drop of real whisky in their lives. They just think they have been drinking whisky, and if they had been drinking real whisky the chances are they would never have been in Bellevue. I don't say that real whisky, if "It is rather surprising how many of our school children have become beer drinkers, especially those of foreign birth, and the habit is making them mentally sluggish to a degree that is attracting the attention of educators and philanthropists.

"Another habit which is getting control of our shop girls particularly is the cocaine habit. This habit has grown in the last few years with such rapidity that to-day thousands of young girls as well as mature women and men are held in its clutches. The effect of the habit is noted in the dull, sunken eyes and pinched faces, and the continuance of the use of the drug leads to nervous wreckage, delirium and insanity."

Dr. Parkhurst Says "It Is a Fact"

WHEN a representative of the Sunday World read portions of Dr. Quackenbos' article to Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst he said:

"It is undoubtedly true, and a deplorable fact, that the drink habit is growing rapidly among the women of New York.

"I have not made a real investigation, as Dr. Quackenbos has, but one does not have to investigate; it is a fact which stares you in the face, it is all on the surface, and one cannot overlook it.

"A chief reason for this increase in the number of women who drink is, I believe, that there has been too much prosperity. Of course, just now we are passing through a period of 'hard times,' so to speak, but before the

to what they could see and eat and drink. "I suppose the growth of the drink habit has been principally among the women of the richer classes. It is at least reasonable to believe so, as they have the money and time to indulge in such laxity. Idleness is usually dangerous.

"Another phase in the drink question is the quality of the liquor. Dr. Quackenbos points out the shameful adulteration in whisky, but let me ask you it is tolerated? Where is our pure food law? Why, it is in our statute books, but it isn't in the hearts or minds of those in authority or in the hearts or minds of the people who put those men in authority. If it were, the law would be enforced.

"The growing tendency of the American people is a disrespect for laws. We have plenty of good laws, but they are not enforced. That is the whole trouble. The men who should enforce them do not do it, and the people who elect those men to office do not make them do it, and they keep on electing men who will not do it.

"Our mayor is sworn to be active in the enforcement of the laws, but is he? He is not. Well, if the mayor is inactive can you expect those under him to be otherwise? He is the man to whom the lesser officials look, and if he sets such an example, what is the result? Inactivity all along the line and our laws become mere printed matter.

"We also send incompetency to our legislative bodies in Albany. We have done so for years and probably will keep on doing so. We know that we are doing it and have little or no respect for a large majority of the men we send there, so how can we have respect for the laws they make? We cannot have respect for those laws and we have not."

times, so to speak, but before the panic for a number of years the country was most prosperous, everybody had money, and life became too easy. When life is made too easy we are in a danger zone and more prone to give way to temptation. That long period of prosperity made us too material, also turned the desires of many only

Rapid Rise.

"Pa," said Mrs. Hardapple, as she opened the letter, "the man who ran over our old crippled cow with his automobile wants to know how much she was worth."

"Tell him about $6," drawled Hiram Hardapple. "Let me see, it was that poor village doctor, wasn't it?"

"No, Hiram, it was a city feller."

"Was, eh? Well, by heck, tell him she was a first-class critter and worth every cent of $50."

"And, come to think about it, Hiram, his automobile was almost as long as a steamboat, with glass windows, six lights and a horn that you could hear five miles."

"What? Then write and tell him the cow he killed was a genuine imported prize-winning Holstein and worth $500, and if he doesn't settle up every cent in cash I'll put the law on him."

Deserved Only a Nickel.

A prominent charity worker of New York said the other day about Miss Gladys Vanderbilt:

"When this good and charming girl goes to Hungary as the Countess Szachenyi, I know of a certain hospital ward where she will be missed."

He paused and smiled.

"But let me tell you," he said, "of an incident that befell Miss Vanderbilt last year. There was a children's hospital which she visited regularly, bringing fruit and flowers to the little patients, and in a certain ward a boy was pointed out to her one day as a very bad customer.

"Oh, he is incorrigible," sighed the nurse.

"Miss Vanderbilt talked a while with the little chap and when she rose to go she said:

"See here, I have heard bad reports about you. Now, I want you to promise me to be good. If you are good for a whole week, I'll give you $1 when I come again next Thursday."

"The boy promised to try to be good. This promise, though, he did not keep. On her next visit Miss Vanderbilt, going to his cot, said:

"I shall not ask the nurse how you have behaved this last week. I want you to tell me yourself. Now, what do you think—do you deserve that dollar I promised you, or not?"

"The boy regarded Miss Vanderbilt with a troubled frown. Then he said:

"Gimme a nickel."

In a low voice:

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

MICROSCOPE AS DETECTIVE.

A Most Effective Agent to Reveal Adulterations in Food.

The microscope is becoming more and more a commercial tool. Its value in the recognition of adulterated vegetable substances, especially foods, in the shape of fine powder, is very great. This appears clearly from an article contributed to the Revue Scientifique by Eugene Collin. This writer points out that the growing custom of buying certain products in the state of powder, which compels merchants to procure substances in this state, has given rise to the new industry of pulverization, whose exploiters, in order to make use of their personnel and plant, are now furnishing in pulverized form a host of natural products that were formerly sold only whole. Nothing, he remarks, could better serve the interests of the adulterators than the development of this business. The detection of fraud in cases of this kind must evidently be made by chemical methods. Chemistry, the writer goes on to say, enables us to prove the presence of certain well-defined organic compounds such as gluten in flour, quinine in cinchona, caffeine in tea, etc., but generally it is able to give no precise indication of the nature of the various mixtures that we may wish to test. Microscopy is thus the more delicate method, and it has been greatly facilitated by the observations and experiments of scientific men during the past 50 years on the anatomical structure of various vegetable products. The writer continues:

"The microscopic determination of a vegetable powder demands of an analyst a profound knowledge of all the anatomical elements composing the vegetable organ that furnished this powder. It is not enough to know the characteristics of the organ as seen in a transverse section. These, which are generally the only ones mentioned in the courts, the magazines, and the various treatises, may be useful in recognizing vegetable debris that may be cut with a knife, but they are quite insufficient for the examination of a powder, whether coarse or fine, in which the

How to De-Magnetize a Watch. Hang the watch to a string and twist the string so as to rotate the watch rapidly near the pole of a strong magnet. While it is whirling, gradually take it away from the magnet. This will produce the desired effect, says a correspondent in Southern Machinery. The method used for de-magnetizing with alternating current consists of a coil of wire with a hole in the center large enough to admit a watch, the coil being connected to a source of alternating current, and when the watch is dropped in and pulled out, it is de-magnetized.

The Passimist.

"The highest clouds are only ten miles from the earth's surface, and are composed of minute particles of ice," said the professor. "And those are the farthest away, are they?" asked the sour-looking man. "Yes; why?" "Oh, I always thought the clouds with the silver lining were the farthest off."—Yonkers Statesman.

elements *** rarely show a cross-section, but usually appear in tangential or longitudinal section. To know these it is absolutely necessary to have seen them and compared them with preparations similarly made from the vegetable organ supposed to be the source of the powder under examination. *** For one familiar with this kind of observation it is extremely easy to say whether a vegetable powder comes from a root, a bark, a seed, or a leaf; the difficulty is greater when the exact botanical origin is required. ***

"When seeds are pulverized while still covered with all their envelopes, the determinative elements are made up especially of the debris of their various teguments. Thus pepper, the most important and valuable of our spices, and also that which has most excited the cupidty of the authorities *** is sufficiently characterized by the debris of its kernel and the nature of the constituent starch-grains, but the precise evidence furnished by the fragments of the various envelopes enable us to tell whether the powdered pepper has been prepared from the kernel alone, like the fine Cerebos pepper, or with the partly decorticated seed, as in white pepper, or with the whole grain, as in the black pepper."

ELECTRIC SUNBURN.

Effect Upon the Skin of Powerful Radiations from Electric Currents.

Cases of injury from exposure to intense radiations are becoming more common as a source of such radiation are more numerous. Not long ago the sun itself was practically the only source of the kind; now, not to speak of such forms of radiation as the X-rays and that due to radioactivity, we have many powerful sources of light, such as the various types of electric arc, that are able to do injury when their intensity is great. We quote from a note on this subject from Cosmos. Says this paper:

"On board a cruiser recently under repair at Portsmouth, England, it became necessary to make a hole in the shutter of a turret. The mechanical processes commonly employed for work of this kind are so slow that an officer asked permission to melt the hole by using the electric arc. . . . This operation, although well known, attracted many curious spectators, from the captain down to the sailors. All went well, and the solid steel, under the action of the current, flowed like melted glass.

"But on the morrow every one who had witnessed the operation was either half-blinded or horribly burned. The officer who had directed the work had the skin of his face completely scorched and of a deep copper color; it gave off a serous liquid like that from a burn. Several sailors who were at some distance from the turret had their vision so affected that they were sent to the hospital, and it was feared that they might lose their sight.

"The electric arc, rich in chemical rays, especially when it is formed between certain metals, may produce, as we have seen above, results of the same kind. Hence the necessity of protection during exposure to a powerful arc or to a mercury vapor lamp in quartz glass. The ordinary glass used in the Cooper-Hewitt mercury lamps absorbs the dangerous chemical rays to a sufficient degree. If one has not the advantage of being a negro, it is necessary to cover the face and hands with appropriate mask and gloves. In any case such intense sources of light must not be looked at directly unless the eyes are protected by colored glass."

In the Rush Lunchroom.

"Did you hear that, Silas?" queried Mrs. Ryetop, as she ate her pumpkin pie with the sugar tongs. "The man at this table called for floats and the other man called for sinkers."

"Floats and sinkers," echoed Mr. Ryetop, in surprise. "By gosh, I reckon next they will call for fishing lines."—Chicago Daily News.

Gives Poetry for Poultry.

Evansville, Ind.—A chicken thief broke into the henhouse of James B. Elmore, carried off half a dozen chickens and tacked on the door a paper with the following verse:

Christmas time is drawing near; Thought I'd get my chickens here. Elmore is one of the largest poultry raisers in Indiana.

Finance.

"He's one of your milk-and-water fellows, that chap Streeter." "You surprise me. He seems such a rugged character."

"Understand me, I mean that when he takes a property to finance, he milks it first and then waters it."—Puck.

Not Worrying.

Mrs. Yeast—Did your husband get nervous over the late trouble in Wall street?

Mrs. Crimmonbeak—Not a particle. "Did he attempt to draw anything?" "Why, he didn't even try to draw a sober breath!"—Yonkers Statesman.

PET DOGS CHECKED IN HOTELS.

Careful Provision Made for Their Comfort.

New York.—With the growth of the large hotels and restaurants in popularity for small and informal social gatherings, especially teas and luncheons, official recognition has been given in these places to society's dogs, and provision has been made for their comfort and also for their safety.

Many women make it a practice to drop into these places with friends in the afternoon, some of them with dogs. In such a case the dog cannot be ignored. He has been out for his accustomed spin in a carriage or automobile, and he is always a well-bred dog. At the hotel he can be checked the same as a coat or umbrella is checked, and this is what is done with him. Waiting patiently at the stand he is always complimented upon his dignified bearing, which, whether he be collie, bulldog, fox terrier or toy bull, is as if he realized he had a reputation to maintain.

Kennels below stairs for dogs are also kept at all of the larger places, such as Sherry's, Cafe Martin, the Waldorf-Astoria, the St. Regis, the Plaza and the Hotel Astor. There the dog can be thoroughly comfortable during the long luncheon or dinner of his owner, and he is always under the eye of an expert in the care of animals.

GETS LIVING FROM THE WIND.

Buffington, Ind., Man Collects Cement Dust and Molds It Into Blocks.

Chicago.—John Kelly of Buffington, Ind., once was a truck farmer, making a bare living. Now he is an opulent manufacturer of cement blocks with an income of $25 and little outlay.

All this is due to the fact that the wind happens to be blowing Kelly's way, and it is not an "ill wind" either. Kelly's home is two blocks from the cement works of the Illinois Steel Company at Buffington, where a $3,000,000 plant grinds slag and converts it into Portland cement. When the wind blows off the lake clouds of cement-laden dust envelop the Kelly home and the Kelly truck farm.

The owner, in the hope of saving his garden greens, recently constructed an immense shield of the billboard type at the rear end of his lot, facing the cement plant. When the cement dust comes his way it strikes the board and falls in a pile at the base of the shield.

After that all that Kelly has to do is to scoop up some gravel, mix it with the cement and mold the mass into blocks, for which he finds a ready market.

MAXIM INVENTS MOTORITE.

New Explosive to Replace Steam and Gasoline in Driving Ships.

New York.—A new motive power known as "motorite," which is expected to revolutionize torpedoes and torpedo boats and possibly in the future replace steam as a motive power for ocean-going vessels, has been invented, it is announced by Hudson Maxim, the inventor. It is said that Mr. Maxim has already made extensive tests with models of torpedoes and torpedo boats and has notified the government of his invention. "Motorite," the new motive power which is the basis of the torpedo and torpedo boat, is said to be a combination of certain powerful explosives and by means of it torpedoes and torpedo boats are propelled through the water at great speed. Mr. Maxim says that an ordinary-sized torpedo can be sent through the water at a speed of 60 miles an hour, while the best of the present gasoline-driven projectiles do not travel faster than 35 miles an hour. Maxim's new model torpedo boat, which is practically submerged, can be propelled, the inventor says, at a rate of from 55 to 60 miles an hour.

STARTS FOREST FROM SEED.

Oklahoma Now Has 80,000 Catalpa Trees Growing on Sand Hills.

Pond Creek, Okla.—J. W. Bird's venture in starting a catalpa forest has proved very successful for the first year. He bought raw land in the sand hills just east of the town for his project and broke it up last winter and spring.

He planted about 300,000 seeds, expecting to get about one-fourth that number of plants. He now has between 80,000 and 100,000 vigorous, healthy young trees. Next spring he will transplant and if the trees come through the winter well expects to have about 60 acres in trees.

As an illustration of what remarkable growth the tree will make in this soil and climate Mr. Bird has in his office a tree cut by W. H. Farmer, who lives one mile from the former's catalpa farm. Last April Mr. Farmer cut back a two-year-old seedling, and since then the tree has made a growth of ten feet six inches.

SIMPLE BUT CHARMING LITTLE DRESSING SACQUE.

Dainty Garment Presents No Problems to the Home Dressmaker—Silk or Figured Challis the Best Material to Use.

As a rule matinees and breakfast jackets are difficult to copy. They have few lines to follow, it must be confessed, but their very shapelessness is rendered artistic only by the skill of a professional. In the accompanying sketch is shown a charming little dressing sacque, or matinee, which is the essence of simplicity and so easy to put together that it ought to prove a temptation to every woman to try to fashion one like it.

The material used may be of silk or figured challis. The one illustrated was made of white challis, with large delicate pink roses scattered over it and stripes of pale blue forming a sort of trellis for the flowers. About four or four and a half yards are needed for an average size matinee made in this style. The back is in two pieces, with a bias seam down the center; the front is in two, while each sleeve is in one piece. To make the matinee, cut a piece of the material in the shape of the diagram marked with the letters D, E and B, laying D on the straight edge of the material. Then cut out another section like the one marked A B C, with the line B on the straight edge of the material.

The diagram A J G shows only half of the kimono sleeve, the fold of the material coming on the side marked with the letter J. The dotted line forming a triangle on the shortest of the four sides of this piece shows how to shape the ends of the sleeve for the back. The front side is left like the pattern and the back sloped on the dotted line. In putting the matinee sections together great care must be taken to get them in the correct order. It is best to start with the backs and sew the bias seam running down the center. If the material is of fairly light weight this may be managed successfully by a French seam, but if it is at all heavy, then the seam should be covered with silk binding and pressed open.

The sleeve section forms the yoke both back and front, and for a certain distance it is joined to the back and front of the jacket, and then the two edges of the sleeves are put together to make the kimono effect. For example, A, which marks the top of the back joins A, the yoke end of the sleeve. These two pieces are sewn together to a distance marked by a line in the diagram. Then the other side of the sleeve, which is now shown in the cut, but which corresponds to A, is joined to the line designated E. This is the upper part of the front, and fits to the yoke part of the sleeve. When the yoke is sewn to both backs and fronts there should be the same length of material left at G, and its corresponding side of the sleeve.

Pale blue ribbon was used for the matinee finish in the above sketch, but any color may be chosen to harmonize with the prevailing shade of the material. Dainty lavender and white matinees made after this style sometimes have lavender ribbon scalloped, and again they are finished with white.

BRIDAL TRAINS AND VEILS.

Princess and Empire Models Most in Favor This Year.

Very long and full and extremely graceful is the wedding train of the present year. The princess and empire models are about equally in favor just now, while court trains, separate from the dress itself and falling gracefully from the shoulder, are seen once more on many of the handsomest bridal gowns. Rich ivory satin is always preferred by the conventional bride, but white embroidered panne or chiffon velvet with a court train of satin is beautiful, trimmed with lace and worn with a long lace veil.

A soft satin silk may be more becoming than heavy satin, in which case the train may be of heavy satin or brocade. A hat bordered with a deep band of lace gives much the same effect as a lace veil and is preferred by many as being more possible to arrange becomingly. If the flat arrangement of the veil on the hair that is so much in vogue at present is not becoming, a wreath or cluster of orange blossoms will give the necessary height if placed like a coronet or tiara in the hair.

The average bride would as soon dispense with the Lohengrin or Mendelssohn marches as she would be married without a spray of orange blossoms on her gown or in her bouquet. Unfortunately, the natural orange flower is too perishable to even form a bouquet, but real flowers can be combined with the artificial variety for trimming on the gown or veil and can help to make up an attractive bouquet with lilies of the valley, gardenias, orchids or whatever white flower is carried. Care must be taken that orange blossoms are purchased, not lemon flowers, which look so nearly the same and which grow so much more luxuriantly and are, consequently, far less expensive.

BAG FOR THE JEWELRY.

Convenient Little Receptacle—Easy to Put Together.

Jewelry, if left lying about on a dressing-table, is always liable to get tarnished or mislaid, and it is a great convenience to have some little receptacle for it, into which it may be easily placed. We therefore give a design for a small bag lined with wash-leather for hanging at the side of a looking-glass. It can be made out of any small piece of silk, satin or brocade in the shape shown in the sketch, stitched at the edge to give it greater firmness, and embroidered either in a floral design, or with the initials of the owner. The flap which turns over is edged with buttonhole-stitching worked in thick silk, and the bag is finished with ribbon bows and a long loop of ribbon by which it may be hung up. Such a bag as this might hold a good number of brooches, rings and bracelets.

From Carlsbad, N. M.

I will try to answer J. L. Fletcher's letter in The News of Dec. 31 about land ten or fifteen miles south of Carlsbad, N. M.

I have lived eight miles south of Eddy for six years. The land is all deeded land and under irrigation. Water is furnished by the United States Reclamation Service. It was graded as first-class by Government experts and I suppose it is, as farmers that never planted cotton before in their life, made over a bale to the acre on it.

Lambs from our alfalfa got first money at the Chicago Fair the last two years. Our Keifer and Bartlett pears grew heavy crops for two years without irrigation after our dam washed out and before it was replaced with concrete. Our peaches bring a better price in Colorado than California peaches do. Our eggs are 35c per dozen.

The Government only allows each party to hold 160 acres, so all surplus land is held at $30 for raw land, one-sixth cash; $40 per acre for improved land, one-fifth cash, balance on or before eight years from date of purchase, with interest at 8 per cent on deferred payments, payable annually.

As to wire, I paid $3.60. We haul our cedar posts from the mountains, twenty or twenty-five miles. I plant green cottonwood poles for posts and they grow and make my wood. We have plenty of mesquite wood.

Lumber $30 to $40 per 1,000 feet. We have a Water Users' Association, a Horticultural Society, a rural free delivery and The News, the best paper on earth. — H. H. Clark, Carlsbad, N. M., Jan. 4. — In Dallas News.

THE NATIONAL LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION

Holding a Session in Denver this Week — President McKenzie Delivers Opening Address

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21. — President Murdo McKenzie, who has declined in advance to stand for re-election, delivered the annual address at the opening session of the National Live Stock Convention today. His address was devoted largely to criticism of the treatment of stockmen by the railroads. He favors a law by which railroads could be punished for failing to give reasonable speed to live stock in transit, and suggested that the Interstate Commerce Commission should be given power to enforce this law. The railroads, he said, should be required to furnish cars for the shipment of stock when wanted. He stated his belief that the Interstate Commerce Commission should be given authority to decide whether an advance in rates was just before such rates could be put into effect. The tariff schedules fixed to suit eastern manufacturers were attacked by President McKenzie. Commenting on the grazing policy of President Roosevelt, Mr. McKenzie said: "If the members of this Association are still of the opinion that the administration should be endorsed, a resolution similar to that of last year should be passed."

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21. — By a vote of 178 to 116 the annual convention of the Colorado Horse and Cattle Growers' Association went on record last night as opposed to the Federal administration's policy of public land control, and will carry the fight against the system into the annual convention of the American National Live Stock Association which assembled here today.

As the executive committee of the National Association has approved the report of the Forest Reserve and Grazing Lands Committee in favor of the Burkett bill for government control of grazing lands, with the addition al provision that all unreserved and unappropriated public lands shall be divided into grazing districts, a warm contest over the question is promised when this report is presented in the convention tomorrow.

Denver Colo., Jan. 23. — A telegram from President Roosevelt was received, expressing the President's pleasure in the passage of the resolution yesterday afternoon supporting his policy regarding the leasing of public lands. Many members of the Colorado Cattle and Horse Growers Association are dissatisfied with the resolution passed by the National organization yesterday. Members of the Colorado Association declare that the vote by which the local organization declared against the leasing system was obtained by delegates violating their instructions. A serious fight is on in the ranks of the Colorado association, and it will result in a split unless patched up.
