HE WAS A CHRISTIAN.
The last words of General Lew Wallace were characteristic of him. Closing his eyes in perfect resignation to his fate, he exclaimed: "I am ready to meet my Maker."

In the busy modern life, it is indeed a fortunate individual who can die calmly awaiting the end. Yet those words came more fittingly from even a man, for he was converted as a Christian by the interest he took in his great literary production, which has been one of the largest road books in the world, and which will stand a monument to the man and fill a spot in literature—"Ben Hur."

COAL OIL INSPECTOR.

The coal oil inspector law was first passed in this territory by a democratic administration, and was repealed by a republican legislature.

It was denounced by the people and the politicians were forced to get rid of the obnoxious measure. Its recent re-enactment was not at the demand of the people, but by order of Gov. Otero, who wished to create the office for one of his lieutenants and to provide funds for his kitchen cabinet. It is a measure that will cause the republican party a lot of trouble during the coming two years. The $5,000 salary of the inspector will be paid by the poor people of this territory and it is a burdensome tax to support one man in luxury.

THE LIBEL LAW.

The infamous libel law, just passed by both houses of the legislature, without investigation, consideration or debate, is practically the same as the atrocious law which brought discredit on New Mexico from 1889 to 1892. It was passed here in the first Cleveland administration, and even then Governor Ross, who was an honest man, vetoed it. It had to be passed over his veto (January 20, 1893).

It was recognized immediately as an attempt to muzzle the press and prevent any public denunciation of corruption in office. Governor Prince succeeded Governor Ross, and the officials then were of a character that feared no criticism, and the act was absolutely repealed, and the repeal bill approved by the governor February 8, 1895.

THAT FRANCHISE.

The Citizen, having obtained knowledge of a pending transaction, involving the sale of the properties of the Albuquerque Water Supply company, presumed that an extension of the franchise would be asked for only by one of the other to this transaction.

If no extension of the Albuquerque Supply company franchise is asked for, The Citizen will stand convicted of publishing a sensational rumor. If a franchise extension is asked for at the meeting this evening or at any near future meeting, the Journal will be convicted of malicious falsehood.

THAT ALLEGED BLACKMAIL.

The Journal thinks it has a hold on The Citizen because at one time several years ago the Water company paid $100 for articles in this paper. The business transaction has never been denied. That company wanted certain matter published. Their representative brought the articles and the bill was promptly received and a bonus of $10 was given to the water company's representative for securing the advertising. At the time the board health of this city had made an adverse report upon the water furnished by the company, claiming that it was foul and injurious to health. The water company denied and paid for the matter published in its defense in The Citizen.

WATER FROM CACTUS.

F. V. Colville, in the National Geographic Magazine, gives an interesting account of how the Indians of the desert obtain drinking water from the barrel cactus. It was among the desert hills west of Tucson, Mexico. The Indian cut the top from a plant about five feet high, and with a blunt stake of palo verde pointed to a pulp the upper six inches of white flesh in the standing trunk. From this, handful by handful, he squeezed the water into a bowl he had made in the top of the trunk, throwing the discarded pulp on the ground. By this process he secured two or three quarts of clear water, slightly salty, and slightly bitter to the taste, but of far better quality than some of the water a desert traveler is occasionally compelled to use. The Papago, dipping this water up in his hands, drank it with evident pleasure, and said his people not only were accustomed to secure their drinking water in this way at times, but that they also used it to mix their meals preparatory to cooking it into bread.

MONEY WELL SPENT.

A writer in the Earth remarks that as nearly as can be determined more than $200,000,000 has already been spent in the United States for constructing irrigation canals and reservoirs for the distribution of water and for preparing land to receive irrigation water. Over 10,000,000 acres are today being watered and something like 15,000,000 more can be watered by the ditches already constructed. The cost of this irrigation may seem large, but returns justify the expenditure. In fifteen states and territories the very existence of life depends upon the ability to use river and flood water for growing crops. And the farmers are not the only ones benefited. Cities like Denver, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake, Los Angeles, were created by and are dependent upon irrigation. And there are still millions of acres to be watered and numberless cities to be developed by the application of water to the soil of the west. The annual irrigation law in at work and many vast enterprises under way. Nearly $2,000,000 is now available for government irrigation works. Do not be impatient if results do not come as soon as you think they should.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD.

When the insolvency returns are very heavy in January, it usually indicates an unusual condition, and this is often followed by other months of readjustment, whereas, a low rate in January generally indicates continued absence of heavy failures, as in 1899.

set loss for January of any recent year, and the total liabilities for the entire twelve months were far below any year since 1891, when the nation was smaller and the mortality naturally lower.

During January in all manufacturing occupations, only 256 suspensions occurred, with liabilities of $4,679,000, against 271 failures last year, when the amount involved was $6,687,635; trading defaults numbered 939, with liabilities of $3,375,640, compared with 1,079 a year ago, involving $8,224,957; other commercial failures were 27 for $462,872, against 56 last year for $2,571,000, an aggregate of 1,222 failures and $10,417,505 liabilities, as compared with 1,406 in the corresponding month of 1904, when the defaulted indebtedness rose to $18,483,573.

While it is extremely gratifying to find that 1905 has started with a decrease of $8,000,000 in amount of liabilities, as compared with the previous year, it is still more cheering to carry the comparison much further back. Only one other January in the past decade made a decidedly better showing, 1899, while 1900 was slightly better, but every other year back to 1892 recorded a much heavier mortality.

Trade results in the second half of the year may be adversely affected by poor crops. The other elements of uncertainty are unusual speculative activity and inflation of prices.

TRUSTS IN DANGER.

The action of the state of Kansas in passing a bill to operate an oil refinery in opposition to the Standard monopoly sets an example that looks bad for the great trusts throughout the United States.

The Standard Oil people, with their usual tactics, incurred the wrath of the legislature and the result was speedy action. When the bill was put before the legislature, there was naturally a great deal of opposition to its passage, that opposition coming from the hirings of the Standard Oil people.

Without paying any attention to the lobbyists, however, the bill was sent on its passage, and came out a law. Now the refinery will be built, and the people of Kansas will be out of the clutch of the great oil concern that has a power to raise or lower the price of oil at will.

THE BRIBE-GIVER.

The bribe-giver is as much of a scoundrel as the bribe-taker, and in the eyes of the people a greater criminal in the community. The Citizen is willing to be called a blackmailer, when, in the line of its duty as a newspaper, it calls attention to a scheme to rob the people of a valuable franchise and to fasten upon them for several years exorbitant and unjust water rates. The bomb thrown into the office of the Morning Journal, owned by the Water Supply company, brought forth upon the editors and publishers of The Citizen the expected vituperation.

A MALICIOUS FALSEHOOD.

The charge made by the Journal that The Citizen tried to extort money from the Water company, or any one else, is false. No one having authority from The Citizen ever had any conversation with any one connected with the Water company concerning the proposed extension of franchise. The information was published that a move was going to be made to extend the franchise, and this paper published it is a matter of news and of interest to the people of the city.

THE CORPORATION ORGAN.

The Albuquerque Journal is always so fearful that the interests of the money sharks and of some Albuquerque blood-thirsty corporations, for whose interests it is battling, may be injured by legislation by the present assembly, that it has not even time to examine into facts.—New Mexican.

Roswell's New Industry.

The Roswell Commercial club has under consideration a proposition for a nursery to be erected in time for this year's fruit season. There is only one little matter in the way, and that is the necessity of the people of Roswell subscribing $4,250 toward the stock of the proposed enterprise, which, at first was to have included a creamery, but other parties have offered to erect the creamery now covers only the fruit canner. The Commercial club has elected a new secretary, J. A. Graham, to succeed W. C. Valentine, who resigned on account of stress of other business.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

(From Saturday's Daily Citizen.)

The theory that this is an arid region has received a severe jolt. Agricultural reports show there are in the United States 47,329,511 acres, valued at $288,000,000.

The New Mexican insists that the Journal's figures regarding the territorial printing are false in every particular.

New Mexico has once chance out of a possible million to secure statehood some time during the present century.

The Citizen has always opposed drastic legislation against the insurance companies and thinks that the creation of the office of insurance commissioner is a useless expense to those carrying life insurance policies in this territory.

Forty misadventures at Annapolis have been called upon to resign for failing to come up to the requirements in their final examinations. This is made necessary to maintain the discipline and efficiency of the world-renowned academy.

The controversy over the cost of the territorial printing for the past two years can easily be settled by the publication of the sums paid the public printer by the territorial treasurer and verified by the bills in the possession of the territorial auditor.

The Journal owes it to itself to make good its assertion that the printing has cost $46,000 during the past two years, which the New Mexican denies.

(From Monday's Daily Citizen.)

The need of that dyke north of this city will soon be evident.

The Journal may not be able to unload its old ramshead water company.

The first libel suits under the new libel law will probably be brought against the Journal of this city.

Poor old Santa Fe has met with an irreparable loss by a destructive fire. The best block on the plaza is a mass of ruins.

The old water company has been having a fling since last August to get its franchise extended and then to unload at an enhanced price.

Governor Otero has three weeks to enact some good legislation for the territory. Every bill so far enacted into law is detrimental to the people.

It would be well for the newspaper men of New Mexico to hold a convention in regard to the new libel law enacted by Governor Otero for his own protection.

Whenever The Citizen mentions the Water Supply company, and especially in the interests of the people, a howl goes up from the sanctum of the Morning Journal that it is blackmail.

Why should the present robber water company have its franchise extended. That cut-throat franchise will expire in a few years, when the city can secure a decent water company and reasonable water rates.

A careful reading of the libel law recently adopted by the territorial assembly shows that it may be all right, it is specially designed to catch the Journal of this city, which has been crying about Frank A. Hubbell and other people in a reckless manner.

Old man Burke, editorial writer on the Journal, is in California. He had better rush home and stop Danny from making foot breaks. That young idiot, whose only merit is that he is the nephew of his late uncle, is better fitted to carry a hod than to fill an editorial position.

If we have statehood in any form, there will shortly be a warm election for state officers under the constitution. The new libel law is intended to prevent any allusion in that campaign to the corrupt practices and illegal acts of the present territorial officers, if any should be candidates.

Under the new Otero libel law, any person printing or publishing or circulating a statement that any candidate or official has been guilty of some act rendering him unworthy of office, can be fined $2,000 and imprisoned two years; and there are only four instances in which he can show that the charge is true as justification.

The slanders on the Journal are hired by the week by the Water Supply company to do the dirty work of that grinding non-resident corporation, which is sapping the people of this city with exorbitant water rates.

It is not worth anything in protest, it is the duty of the Journal to resist it by making lying charges against the newspaper or individual who objects to being robbed.

All the states are following Kansas in the fight on the Standard Oil monopoly.

It is expected that the legislature will waste two or three more net of this week.

The United States has 129,817 Sunday schools, or more than half the number in the world.

The statehood bill is so dead that the optimistic Delegate Rodey is forced to admit that it is dead.

It is charged that Hon. Thomas B. Catron has changed his mind on the question of libel since 1893.

There are eight thousand pages of typewritten evidence in the Peabody office for governor of Colorado.

Southern New Mexico will be made the garden of the south when the Elkhartch Butte dam is built.

The invariably cry of a corporation when criticized is that an attempt is being made to blackmail the concern.

The fire at Santa Fe was not so extensive as first reported. The total loss is only $20,000, and nearly covered by insurance.

The Albuquerque Water company will soon change ownership, and its control will be in the hands of resident business men.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to prevent disease among bees, and the office of bee inspector will probably be closed to more silver money than those of any country in the world. Last year Mexico shipped several million silver dollars to China.

The Roswell Record says: "While Congress and the states are investigating the oil trust and endeavoring to restrain it, New Mexico is passing laws favoring it."

Island, cut off from the rest of the world save for slow mails, is to be linked to other countries by means of wireless telegraphic connection with the Shetland Islands.

Mexico and the United States furnish about 75 per cent of the silver output of the world, while British India and China take about two-thirds of the total in an average year.

Mrs. Roosevelt will wear a silk gown at the inauguration ball, the material of which has been woven at Paterson, N. J., one of the centers of the American silk industry.

The Ellis of Albuquerque are, naturally, the most largely represented and the bowlers from these two cities are coming upon carrying away many prizes. But all the way was from New York the cities have sent in delegations, and Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Erie, St. Joseph, Kansas City and St. Louis men are here, anxious to compare their skill with that of the better bowlers players. The slatted alleys are new, fresh pins are to be set up daily, and none of the competitors have been allowed to practice upon the tournament alleys. While these conditions will militate against high scoring, it is expected that some records of the American Bowling Congress will go by the board before the tournament is concluded next Saturday.

Seasons of the American Bowling Congress, controlling organization of the game, will begin next Monday. That the session this year are to be of much importance is shown by the general demand for revision of certain rules and a general shaking up of the congress so that it may become a worthy governing body of so important a sport as bowling. The feeling that the commercial side of the sport should be forced into the background is the consensus of opinion among the delegates here. Just what will be done cannot be stated definitely but it is certain that an effort will be made to amend many rules, among them the eligibility rule, which is conceded to be altogether undesirable by those who have tried to organize bowlers for the national tournament.

Secretary Langtry of the Milwaukee Bowling Tournament company has drafted a rule which he will present to the delegates, as follows: "To qualify as a contestant in an annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, each bowler shall become a member of the American Bowling Congress at least five days prior to the date of the closing of the entries in accordance with rule 5 of the by-laws."

To bowl on a team entered in the annual tournament, each individual bowler must be a bona fide member of the American Bowling Congress and pay annual dues of 25 cents at least five days prior to the date of the closing of entries for an annual tournament.

"A bona fide member of the American Bowling Congress, may bowl on any team he may enter with, providing the other members of the team are bona fide members of the American Bowling Congress, but each individual bowler must bowl in one five-man team, one two-man team and once in the individual contest of each congress."

The salient point of this proposed amendment is that individuals and not clubs become members of the American Bowling Congress, and the cumbersome and unnecessary city bowling associations are done away with, following the lines of the Amateur Athletic Union and the League of American Wheelmen.

Statistics collected by a North Carolina legislative committee show that during the last ten years 98,000 of the total population of the state have resorted to the cities, with the result that 19,000 farms are depopulated.

The present number of words in the Old and New Testaments is 773,052, and by reading something like ten minutes a day at the pace of 200 words a minute, one could read the Bible through in a year.

If this is not the irony of fate we confess to an ignorance of the meaning of the term. A woman inmate of the Minnesota insane asylum won the prize offered by a magazine for the writing of a short story on an assigned subject, the prize being a trip abroad. She applied to the board of control for permission to accept the prize, but the board did not think it safe to allow her temporary liberty.

Among the bills "railroaded" through the legislature along with the coal oil inspector graft was a little measure increasing the fees of Secretary of State. It slipped through along with the bigger grafts and was not noticed.

The statue presented by the state of Illinois to the gallery which adorns the capitol of the United States was well chosen for no person in the country has rendered a more excellent or fruitful service to the uplifting of mankind than Abraham Lincoln.

The first lesson a man is given to learn when he enrolls in the school which qualifies for success is to put by part of his salary every week. The "trust" friend in times of adversity is the bank account and the surest foundation upon which to build a fortune is the accumulated savings of months and years.

The St. Louis Star says: "Could a consensus of opinion of the whole people of the United States be had, it would undoubtedly favor the immediate admission of Oklahoma and the earliest possible careful consideration of the claims of New Mexico and Arizona."

OLD PEOPLE NEARLY FROZE IN BINDING STORM.

A Mr. Lockhart, who resides in the mountain district, accompanied by his wife, started Saturday for Carlsbad, with a load of wood, says the Argus.

Mr. Lockhart is 82 years old and his wife is 75. When they left home, the weather was clear and bright, but they soon encountered the snow storm of last Saturday, and wandered from the road. Finding themselves lost, they unhesitatingly turned back, and each mounted one started, blindly, for a place of shelter, finally getting to the ranch of Miles Stone, near Carlsbad.

Mr. Lockhart was blind and nearly frozen, while his wife could see a little, but was almost blind. If the old people had not found shelter, they would have been frozen to death in a short time. They had to be lifted from their horses and carried to the house where every attention was given them.

On account of their age, and the danger to life in case they should have a severe illness, if nothing worse results.

Jim Gould Arrested.

Sheriff W. C. Kendall of Hillsboro, Sierra county, was at Alamogordo for the purpose of serving a warrant on Jim Gould on a charge of theft of horses, says the News.

The horses were driven or taken from the Hillsboro vicinity some time ago and Sheriff Kendall has been working on the case ever since with the result of the charge of theft of horses being lodged against Jim Gould. Gould worked or lived at Hillsboro last year and was under an indictment for holding up the store of the Lake Valley Mining company at Hillsboro and was out on a $1,200 bond. Oliver Lee, who was arrested Monday, when Gould was arrested Monday, Mr. Lee withdrew from the bond. While a deputy has been working on this horse stealing case for some weeks yet Sheriff Phillips located Gould and rode 125 miles to bring him back to Alamogordo and here turned him over to the Sierra county sheriff, Mr. Kendall, last Monday night with his prisoner for Hillsboro.

Broke Collar Bone on Slide.

John Jackson, the jolly porter at the Shelby hotel, Roswell, whose voice is one of the first things visitors hear upon arriving in Roswell, is laid up with a broken collar bone, and Dolb Harris is taking his place at the hotel, says the Register.

While attending to a "slide" like the usual boys on the Elkhartch Butte dam, he fell on his elbow and shoulder with the result that the bone under his collar was broken. The injury was very painful, if not dangerous, and John has the sympathy of many friends.

Rev. Father Kell, a Catholic priest of Bernalillo, on the road, has gone to Bernalillo, Union county, where he recently stationed, and after remaining there for a few days he will continue to Minnesota, being assigned to a parish in that state.

ANARCTIC EXPLORATION.

It is feared that the French Antarctic expedition in charge of Dr. Jean Charcot, which sailed in the steamer Fraucalis in the fall of 1903, has been lost, as nothing has been heard from it since April last, when it encountered a terrible storm in the South Polar seas. Dr. Charcot's original plan was to endeavor to reach the North Pole, but four expeditions—English, Scottish, German and Swedish—having sailed in the latter part of 1903 for the Antarctic, he changed his plans and decided to attack the South Pole from Alexander I island, which is located almost due south of Cape Horn.

School House Damaged by Fire.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week fire broke out in the Central school building at Hato and burned out all of the rooms on the south side of the structure. The damage can be repaired with an expenditure of $400, but the school children will have to take an enforced vacation of considerable length.

Of the 864 votes cast by Adeline, Kan., at the recent election, the canvassing board threw out 256, or 30 per cent, as defective.

BIG BOWLING CONTEST IN PROGRESS

Milwaukee, Feb. 18.—Individual and team bowlers from all over the country are gathered in the Croston City to take part in the annual meeting and tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which begins in the Exposition building this afternoon. From New York, Philadelphia and Washington in the east to Anasoda, Denver and several Pacific coast cities in the west the alloy men have swarmed here to compete for the $10,000 in prizes, and to enroll themselves as guests of the Milwaukee Bowling association, host for the championship tournament.

Experts at the game predict the hottest kind of competitions in all the events, five-men, two-men and individual. Chicago and Milwaukee are naturally the most largely represented and the bowlers from these two cities are coming upon carrying away many prizes. But all the way was from New York the cities have sent in delegations, and Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Erie, St. Joseph, Kansas City and St. Louis men are here, anxious to compare their skill with that of the better bowlers players. CHARACTER HINTS.

An eminent authority recently gave vent to some very interesting pointers on what to do and how to do it. Among other things he had the following to say:

When you go out of doors, draw the chin in and carry the crown of the head back, and fill the lungs to the utmost; drink in the sunshine; greet your friends with a smile, and put your soul into every hand clasp.

Do not fear to be misunderstood, and never waste a minute talking about your enemies. Try to fix firmly in your mind what you would like to do, and then without violence of decision you will move straight to the goal.

Keep your mind on the great and splendid things you would like to do, and then as the days go gliding by you will find yourself unconsciously seizing upon the opportunities that are required for the fulfillment of your desire, just as the coral insect takes from the running tide the elements it needs.

Picture in your mind the able, earnest, useful person you desire to be, and the thought you hold is hourly transforming you into that particular individual.

Thought is supreme. Preserve a right mental attitude of courage, frankness and good cheer. To think rightly is to create all things come through and every sincere prayer is answered. We become like that on which our hearts are fixed.

SHIPMENT OF ANGORA GOATS.

M. S. Valentine, alias "Virginia Jim," this week made a shipment of Angora goats, horses, ponies and burros to Virginia, says the Hillsboro Advocate. Among the goats were fifty animals bred from Kingston Lad, whose Mohair sold for 25 per pound, these fleeces netting his owner $60; there were also 250 other high grades. Altogether he shipped over 500 goats. "Virginia Jim" will introduce the burro in the coal mines of his state to take the place of mules now generally employed in the mines. If the burro proves a success in the mine, the new and excellent mule for the week and patient ass will eventually be created and ere long the state of Virginia will resound with the musical song of that noble beast.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New York, Feb. 18.—The Sada Yacco robe, the latest expression of the height and a kind of the long, popular kimono, is bidding fair to lend its inspiration to the tea gown and house jacket as well as to the lounging robe in which it first originated. AMONG THE CHURCHES

The religious revivals in England, which have now reached London, have given strong impetus to the churches in this country. In some sections the established church has, through its bishop, recognized and taken part in the awakening, but it is to be recognized for the majority of the established clergy that they have either held aloof or have openly criticized. Special questions enter into church questions in England, however. Statistics of the Free churches, not published, show a large increase in membership, great progress in chapel building, and big addition to the number of Sunday school teachers and scholars, and a general deepening of the spiritual life. The English spirit has been for half a dozen years pessimistic, but the events of the last half year have changed the feeling. Revivals have now become general throughout England and Wales, and are said to be extending into Scotland. The spirit is crossing the Atlantic and predictions are made that the spring season, with its increasing observance of Lent, will see conditions in England duplicated here. The head of the London movement, the Rev. R. A. Torrey, was long a friend of Mr. Moody and calls Chicago his home.

Summer Conference Dates.
Dates for summer conferences in the east are being fixed. The student conference at Northfield will be earlier this season than for some years. Its dates are June 23 to July 1. There will follow a Young Women's conference, and the general conference will follow, as usual, the first half of August. The Young People's Movement with new quarters on Lake George, announces July 21 to 30 as the dates of its conference for leaders of young people. This movement is made up, in great part, of officials of mission societies, and the conference will be held at the residence of the Rev. R. A. Torrey, who will co-operate with the national organization. Churches are asked to send delegates. The list of speakers shows how largely the officials are represented. It includes the president of the American board, the head of the Student Volunteer, a secretary each of the Presbyterian, Baptist and home boards and of the Presbyterian board, south, the general secretary of the Christian endeavor, the editor of the young people's Methodist periodical, and secretaries of Episcopal, Congregational, Methodist, Baptist, United Brethren and Reformed church mission societies. The aim of these conferences is, indeed, to bring these secretaries and their corps of workers together. Other conferences are to follow at Silver Bay, including a Y. M. C. A. and a Y. W. C. A. meeting.

Richfield Springs Dates.
Dates for the Episcopal conferences at Richfield Springs have been fixed as follows: A woman's auxiliary con-

SECRETARY BARNES CORRECTS ARTICLE PANIC AS BULL CRUSHES MATADOR

RECENTLY PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER ABOUT CATTLE STEALING CASES.

To The Citizen.

Your article regarding the recent cattle stealing cases at Gallup, was so entirely wrong in every way that I would like to correct it.

First, they were not "more irregularities of the law" and second, the court did not hold "that the hides were not out of their possession as long as they were in the hands of their agents," quite to the contrary.

We had a number of cases on which to base trials but except for the one charge, that of not keeping the hides the required thirty days, we preferred to let the rest come before the grand jury and district court.

On the trial for not keeping the hides all the parties agreed to plead guilty if we would agree to the minimum fine. Later on we agreed to allow three prosecutions to be dropped on this charge and only one man was to be tried.

This he did and thereupon our attorney, Mr. Spies, and myself asked the court to allow this to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty be entered in order to give them a chance for an appeal and not to prejudice their cases in the district court.

He was thereupon fined $25 and costs and the entire four placed under bond to appear before the district court.

Regarding the claim that the hides were still in possession of the defendants have only to point to the fact that the fifteen hides in question are now and have been for some time the sole property of the Cattle Sanitary board as we purchased the hides of the Albuquerque hide dealer in order to hold them as evidence.

Moreover, we had one of the hides at the trial and displayed it on the floor of the court room with a hole two feet square cut out of it where the brand had been.

The rest of the hides were likewise mutilated and any fair minded person must admit that the brand was cut out for one purpose—to hide a crime.

Who cut out the brands, we do not say. All we know is our inspector found the hides bearing tags showing the arrested persons to be the shippers—they admit they did ship them, admit they were slaughtered in their slaughter house, but claim to know nothing of the brands being cut out.

There was a blue ink lot that had been off the animals more than ten days, at the furthest when first found in Albuquerque.

"See the time comes the Cattle Sanitary board will prove who originally stole these cattle and who cut out the incriminating brands in an effort to hide the crime."

Secretary Cattle Sanitary Board, Las Vegas, Feb. 18, 1905.

WILL C. BARNER.

LOCAL NEWS

Three trains of soldiers who have been in Kansas, passed through the city last night on their way to the city last night bound for the government presidio at San Francisco, where they will be enlisted in regiments bound for the Philippines.

Thirty-six Swedes passed through the city last night on route to Arizona, where they are being shipped by a dining company. Unless a widespread rumor is true, no more of the contract labor laws of this country are being violated with flagrant frequency.

John A. Logan Circle No. 1, Ladies of the Grand Army are making elaborate plans for an entertainment commencing the birthday of Washington and Lincoln. The affair will be given on February 22 at Old Phillips hall and all friends of the Grand Army are welcome to be present.

Levi, the forty days and forty nights of fasting in preparation for the Easter feast, will begin this year March 8th and will end April 22d. During this period, which is celebrated by the Catholic, Greek, Oriental and African communities, church and school will practice strict self-denial.

Charles Kelly, the self-confessed mad man, is at last behind the bars and will be there till the territorial grand jury meets at least. Kelly was arrested by Deputy Sheriff M. O. Chaudron and Sheriff H. Payne, officers of the Albuquerque prison, who found him for several weeks, have been committed in Old Albuquerque recently. Some of the missing goods were found in his possession, and when presented with the evidence, he confessed. He was bound over to the grand jury charged with stealing from a residence.

John H. Harper, superintendent of irrigation for the Zuni Indians, and who has charge of the construction of a mammoth reservoir on the Zuni reservation, is in the city buying supplies. Mr. Harper says that work on the reservoir has been retarded some by the cold weather, but he hopes to have some, and now, to have irrigation systems in operation within a year from this summer. The Zuni irrigation project is the largest ever undertaken in New Mexico and when completed will reclaim a large body of heretofore vacant land and put the Zuni Indians on a self-sustaining footing.

John E. V. Chavez returned this morning from a business trip to Socorro.

The free band concert which was scheduled for Sunday afternoon has been postponed.

As a duck hunter Al. McDowell is not a success. He was out all day today, returning just before dark, and could produce only one duck. Boys at the White Elephant surprise that McDowell did not even kill a lone duck, and give credit for the failure to the weather on his trip.

If this kind of weather—The Citizen means such as is being enjoyed today—continues much longer the baseball fans will commence agitating the organization of a baseball club for Albuquerque, so as to get an early start for the summer games between teams yet to be organized at Santa Fe, Las Vegas, Gallup, El Paso and other southwestern towns.

F. J. Ford, assistant to D. J. Hogan, secretary of the democratic central committee of Illinois, with headquarters at Chicago, arrived in the city and will remain until the weather moderates. Mr. Ford, during the months of last winter in Albuquerque, he says that the snow was two feet deep in Chicago on Sunday night, when he left home, and it was still snowing and sixteen below zero.

William H. Morris and Miss Christy Hershberger, came all the way from Cripple Creek to Albuquerque to be married by Justice Clegg of precinct 26. It was the new judge's first marriage and it is hard to tell which were the more agitated, the bride couple or the officiating magistrate. Mr. and Mrs. Morris are on their way to Globe, Arizona, where they intend to make their future residence.

EX-GOVERNOR ROSS AND THE PRINTERS

A few days ago, through the efforts of Delegate B. S. Roder, a small pension received by Edmund G. Ross, of this city, was increased to $50 per month.

The pensioner is now about 80 years old, and resides with his son, Pitt Ross, the well known city engineer and surveyor. He is noted as the ostracized United States senator who, with several other republican senators, stood out against the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson, and when he returned to his home at Lawrence, Kansas, from Washington, he was harassed by many indignities, heaped upon him by the Kansas people. He lost his printing office, and wherever he made application for work he was branded as a "rat printer."

Finally, in 1882, he came to this city and called at the old Journal (now conducted by different people than now), for work. He found that the contract labor laws of this country are being violated with flagrant frequency.

There will be no charge for these lectures, but a collection of course will be taken up.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes Catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membrane lining the stomach and expose the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Bottles sold at 10, 25, 50, and 100 cents. The trial size, which lasts for 30 days, prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.

For sale by all druggists.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes Catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membrane lining the stomach and expose the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)

J. A. Peterson, who left Albuquerque some time ago, is expected to return to this city. He will be succeeded at Las Vegas by a Mr. Arnold, who went up to that town yesterday from this city.

Freeman Hayde, who has been off duty for some days on account of the serious illness of his child with bronchial pneumonia, has been assigned to a switch engine at Las Vegas, permitting him to be at home at night, George Bryan taking his turn in the passenger service.

The Wood, Hancock & Doty construction gang has been doing reconstruction work on the Silver City branch, 100 men strong, passed through the city this morning en route to Mora canyon, near Silver City, where the Santa Fe contemplates other improvement work.

C. A. Fellows, the contractor, is moving his headquarters from Las Juntas to Amity, Colo., where he will commence work this week erecting a stone depot, 50 by 40 feet in dimensions, for the Santa Fe. When that job is completed he will go to Argentina, Kan., where he will erect a $500,000 elevator for the Santa Fe.

J. H. Bailey, one of the best known and thoroughly competent engineers on the coast line running west from this city, is laid up for a few days at his home, No. 306 West Coal avenue. He is suffering with a severe cold, contracted while being exposed at the recent wreck near Laguna. Mr. Bailey has him under his care, and hopes to put him in good shape for work in a short time.

Hamilton Hayner, U. S. depot master at El Paso, has returned to that city from Fort Worth, where he was called by the death of his sister, Mrs. J. H. Hayman. The funeral occurred Tuesday. Mrs. Hayman was prominent in the organization of that city, being president of the Daughters of the Revolution, and of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She was also an active club woman.

The Las Vegas Optic says: The Santa Fe officials at Albuquerque ought to take a little better care of their men, even though the company has had bad luck. This city has received no mail from the south for thirty-six hours, and when No. 10 came this afternoon everybody of course supposed the mail car would be brought on from El Paso with the southern mail. Instead it was left at Albuquerque and will not leave whenever No. 2 happens to get here.

John T. Morrow, one of Colonel Greene's right hand men; Henry Lee Wiley, chief engineer of the state geological survey of California; and H. W. Cullen, a New York journalist, left El Paso Sunday morning for the Mexican Central. They are to investigate the district in which Colonel Greene has mapped out his extensive development projects, striking out into the undeveloped district from Mianca. They expect to spend several weeks in the Sierra Madre before returning.

New Trinidad Depot.

W. R. Williams, of Las Vegas, superintendent of bridges and buildings for the Santa Fe, left Sunday afternoon for Trinidad, Colo., where it was thought that the work of driving the piling preparatory to the erection of the handsome new Santa Fe depot would commence at once, and the work will be rapidly pushed to completion.

The new depot will be a handsome structure two stories high, of Spanish masonry design, resembling the Cardenas hotel there. One of the important features of the new depot will be a covered walk connecting the depot and the Cardenas hotel, so that passengers will not be inconvenienced by the weather. It will take several weeks to complete the work of driving the piling and preparing the foundation for the masonry work.

RIDGWAY TO GO WITH THE RIO GRANDE

On March 1, according to unqualified information given out last night, A. C. Ridgway, general manager of the Moffat railroad, will go to the Denver & Rio Grande as general manager, says the Denver Post. It has been twenty-one days since the Baltimore and Ohio railroad has operated any trains north of Clarion.

The Williams News says: It was rumored around this week that word had been received from Los Angeles that F. O. Dodge, conductor on the Canyon run, was a very sick man and would be in that city, and it could not be told when he would be able to return home.

Having been discharged from the Galveston & Houston shops, an El Paso railroad man has secured a position with the United States government at Panama, and will draw a salary of $250 a month. He was laid off in the El Paso shops when the forces were cut down.

B. J. Dell, the section foreman at Roy, died recently and his remains were taken to Tucuman where he was buried in the lodge cemetery Thursday under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias lodge. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. P. T. James at the Baptist church.

Rock Island engines rendered useless by alkali water in Texas and New Mexico, have been going through Kansas City the last two weeks on the way to the general repair shops at Moline, Ill. There new boilers will be given them. The Rock Island has built a number of treating plants for water, but has none that effectually removes alkali.

RAILROAD BROTHERHOODS FIGHTING LEGISLATION

A Chicago special, dated February 21, says: That the railroad companies all over the United States are calling on their huge army of employees to assist in fighting President Roosevelt's plans for a law empowering the Interstate Commerce commission to regulate freight rates as admitted by members of the railroad unions in Chicago tonight.

It was declared that managing officials of the various lines had been discussing this feature of the campaign for more than a month, and it already is beginning to bear fruit. The men are signing petitions circulated from the various lodges, or acting as individuals, and are expected to keep this up until congress meets again.

Then all of these petitions are to be presented in Washington as voicing the opposition of the men directly affected by the reduction in the earning power of the railroads, which the men believe would be the direct result of the proposed freight rate regulation.

There are 1,400,000 railroad employees in the United States, says a railroad brotherhood man, "a rather formidable army. All have been taught that any reduction in the earnings means reduction in pay, and when it is proposed to 'regulate' freight rates, the chief earning power of a railroad, it only means this power is to be upped the difference.

"Not only will our pay be cut, but thousands of men will be laid off to reduce the operating expenses.

"On the system where I am employed there are 1,500 handcar and section crews. If the earning power of the road is cut, one man less will be needed on each crew. This is only one department, and the others will fare a similar way.

The necessity of assisting officials are said to believe that the balanced compound is still in its experimental stage, and therefore the investment by the Santa Fe of nearly $1,500,000 in this type of engine occasions widespread interest. Largely by way of experiment, the Burlington recently purchased five of the balanced compounds. The tests which have been made have proved highly satisfactory.

The locomotives are said to be exceedingly speedy and to run as smoothly and with as little vibration as a sewing machine.

Some Freak Figures.

Some interesting statistics have been compiled showing how trifling articles count up in a year on the Santa Fe system. In the 400 stations between Chicago and the Pacific coast are slot machines containing gum. Into these machines last year were dropped 1,150,000 pennies for gum, the sum amounting to $11,500.

The pins used by officials and employees of the Santa Fe system last year weighed 3,600 pounds. To keep the depot and offices clean 25,000 brooms were used. The lead pencils used, if placed end to end, would make a line over 325 miles long. Fifty barrels of ink and 400,000 pens were used.

From what is known as the "scrap heap" company realized last year $1,500,000. This included almost everything from a shingle nail to a worn out locomotive. Over $5,000 was realized from the sale of waste paper alone.

It is also shown that the company used 3,000 pounds of rubber bands and fifteen carloads of printed blanks. The engine burned 3,250,000 barrels of oil and 2,000,000 tons of coal.

Mrs. Stewart will be remembered as Miss Adelaide Stewart, who was here for several months a number of years ago, as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Burke and Mrs. E. H. Dunbar.

Train No. 1 was a little late last night, but the Santa Fe knew not how much the delay meant to two persons. One was a young lady hurrying to Albuquerque and the other was a dark young man who stood impatient on the station platform awaiting the arrival of his Illinois sweetheart. She alighted from the train to be clasped in fond embraces. After a hurried conversation she entered a cab and ordered the "cabbie" to drive to Justice Craig's court on Third street.

The young man produced a marriage certificate and the records show that Miss Hazel Pearl and Warren E. Marvin were married on the 24th instant.

This afternoon, at her handsome home on West Coal avenue, Mrs. Frank A. Hubbell is serving dinner to quite a number of her lady friends in honor of Mrs. J. W. Crumpecker, who is here from La Porte, Indiana.

Miss M. J. Marmion is in the city from Laguna, the guest of friends.

Don't miss seeing Florence Roberts in "Zaza" at the opera house tonight. She is a sight.

C. I. Frazier, trainmaster on the Rio Grande division, was an Albuquerque visitor yesterday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anaya, of East street, a girl. The young lady is reported as weighing eleven pounds.

The spectacle which presented itself at the grown-up people's children's ball at the Commercial club last night was unique enough to please the most fastidious physiognomist of diversions in social functions. Dressed in the clothing of mere "kids," sodate Albuquerque society indulged in juvenile amusements with easy grace in a manner without precedent. Professional men and merchants and wives and daughters, married women and old maids, played at games like rlap-around-the-rosy and "tangle, you're

NEW YORK NEWS LETTER

New York, Feb. 18.—A stringent stock corporation law, based upon the English and the German acts, may be passed upon the statute books of the state of New York. A professor in the New York university, whose specialty is corporation law, is the author of the measure, and it has been approved by several civic organizations of Greater New York. It promises to be one of the most important bills to come before the legislature at this session. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, which would make a repetition of such corporate scandals as the shipbuilding trust impossible.

According to its terms, every newly organized corporation, consisting of association of individuals, shall place 10 shares for sale to the public which is a prospectus which shall show the names and addresses of the promoters, their compensation and the extent of the interest of the directors in the organization. The estimated amount of the corporation's capital, and whether there is to be a bonus of any kind to any person; the names and addresses of persons from whom the property is to be acquired; a description of the property and the consideration to be paid; and the dates of the annual meetings. The prospectus relating to a corporation must also be set forth. There is a provision which penalizes directors, promoters and incorporators for any misrepresentation, either directly in the prospectus or indirectly by the omission of information when such omission might tend to mislead the public. The bill is upon the lines of recommendations made by the United States industrial commission.

Advocates of a law that would prevent "wildcat" incorporations assert that New York and other states could not do better than follow the English and German systems. The German law requires that all the work of the promoter shall be done in the open, and that the intending purchaser of shares shall have full information as to the method by which the promoter has arrived at his conclusion regarding the value of the properties combined. It is required also that the contracts for the purchase of different properties by a holding company shall be filed in the office of the public registrar of joint stock companies, where they can be examined by the public. Inaccuracy of statements is penalized.

The German law is as strict on the subject that the promoter, as he is known at present in the United States, does not appear prominently in connection with the organization of industrial combinations. Under the German law all the profits of the promoter must be made public and the public record. Stock watering is said to be practically unknown in Germany, owing to the stringency of the law against over-capitalization.

In the present cold weather a dozen or so of the homeless have been taking refuge every night in the post-office, where the air is cold and damp. Though showing the pangs of hunger and exposure, they seem generally to be of a better class than the hoboes who flock to the city lodging house. There is a sort of shabby respectability about their make-up.

The wave of crime that is sweeping over New York, general civic demoralization, police corruption and the falling off in attendance at the churches have convinced prominent clergymen that the moral crisis is in need of a religious awakening, and they have planned a series of revival meetings to be held during Lent in Madison Square Garden and the Carnegie Lyceum on a scale which has never before been attempted in this country. Among the New York clergymen interested in the movement are Dr. MacArthur, the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. George Pentecost and the Rev. Dr. James Hughes. It is announced that the services of every noted evangelistic worker in the country is to be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the preachers say it has fallen.

A story explanatory of the evident disinclination of the republican leaders to order a legislative investigation of the gas situation in this city is given in the rounds in political circles. Years ago, it is said, Governor Oden made a deal with Richard Croker by which the party of the first promise that there should be no more state investigations of New York city, and there has been no more since the MacBane. It is said that after the election of Oden as governor Richard Croker wanted to have an understanding over some machine nomination for legislative committee and made known his wishes. They were legitimate and were granted. During the negotiations Mr. Croker called attention to the fact that he had not permitted any visitation of Oden during the campaign. The governor acknowledged the fact, and expressed his wish to reciprocate in kind. Mr. Croker said he wanted the Albany government to keep its hands off New York city. Mr. Oden consented, and is keeping his promise to this day.

Into the office of a big stock exchange firm, where even the boys at the quotation board dress in the latest fashion, walked a man the other day who would have been looked upon with suspicion in a Bowery lodging house. The office manager, however, with never failing politeness, inquired what he could do for the visitor. The man reached into the pockets of his patched trousers and produced a roll of bills of such size as fairly to overcome every one in the room. He wanted to buy something or other, to which to one paid any attention. When the order had been executed he left. He has not been back since, but his purchases show a profit of thousands of dollars.

Another effort is to be made to prevent wealthy New Yorkers from escaping payment of a personal tax by taking up a legal residence outside the city. A bill has been introduced in the legislature which compels non-residents to file a detailed list of all personal property in this state, to be taxed in the district where it is located. At present non-residents cannot be taxed on personal property. The courts have held that while the state has no jurisdiction over non-residents, it has jurisdiction over their property, and the bill is drawn on those lines. It will reach wealthy citizens of New York who claim a residence in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states for the purpose of evading taxation.

CHARGED WITH WHOLESALE ROBBERY OF MAIL BOXES

The robbery of mail boxes in Tucson, Arizona, which has given the federal inspectors much trouble the last few months, has been traced to a territorial, the inspectors think, by the arrest Wednesday of Antonio Lopez, of Tucson. Postoffice Inspector McKee, of the Denver department, was notified of the arrest yesterday.

Lopez is a Mexican. For several months, it is alleged by the federal officers, he has been robbing the mail boxes of the government. When arrested he had checks aggregating several hundred dollars in his possession. The prisoner was unable to furnish bonds.

Grave Trouble Foreseen.
It needs but little foresight to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had nervousness, indigestion and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by all druggists at 50c a bottle.

Man Found Freezing.
A young man in a frozen condition was found at the Elgin Hotel school house, Chaves county, by William Ballard, a cowboy, who was out on a patrol. He was completely frozen by the cold and attempted to fight off his rescuers, saying that he wanted to sleep. Ballard took him two miles and the young man was thawed out, but would not give him name or any account of himself.

Fraud Exposed.
A few confidence men have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit through stealing the reputation of a remedy which has been successful in curing disease for over thirty years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. Anniversary of Pythianism.
Washington, Feb. 18.—Tomorrow the order of the Knights of Pythian rounds out its fortieth year and members of the order throughout the land are preparing to celebrate the anniversary in an appropriate manner. They believe they have good cause for jubilation in the rapid growth and development of the order. Since it was founded by Justine H. Rathbone in this city four decades ago the fraternity has spread to every state and territory of the union, to Alaska, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands and several of the Canadian provinces. The Uniform Rank and the Rathbone Sisters, the women's auxiliary, have likewise enjoyed a phenomenal growth. The present supreme chancellor is Charles Shively, of Indiana, who will hold office until the next biennial convocation which is to be held at New Orleans in September, 1906.

Golf Tourney in Mexico.
City of Mexico, Feb. 18.—The golf tournament which opens here tomorrow on the links of the San Pedro Golf club, the first international contest of its kind to take place since the game was introduced in Mexico, promises to be a notable success. A number of noted American amateurs who have been playing in the winter tournament in Florida and southern California are here to take part. The program provides for competitions among both professionals and amateurs. There is a five list of cups and medals as prizes, besides the title to the winner of amateur championship of Mexico. The professional tournament will be for $500, the money value of the United States open championship, and the division of prizes will be the same as in the annual American open championship tournament.

Starting but True.
People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number, or over 3,000 people, died every year in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have ward off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter Laura of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia."—W. D. Wilson, Logan, New York. Sold by all dealers.

Simpson to Talk in Chicago.
Hon. Jerry Simpson left for Chicago to deliver an address at a banquet which will be held on February 20 on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the publication of Henry George's book on single tax, "Progress and Poverty." DESEPTED BRIDE ENDS LIFE WITH ACID

Heartbroken because she had been deserted by her husband of three months, Mrs. Harry Graham swallowed two ounces of carbolic acid and was dead when found, says the Los Angeles Examiner.

Six weeks ago the young bride and groom came to Los Angeles from Yuma, Ariz. The groom is 18 and the bride, 23. Shortly after her arrival here Mrs. Graham went to work as waitress at the Hotel Rosslyn. The husband did nothing. Three weeks ago he left without telling his wife, and since then she has been growing more and more despondent. The whereabouts of young Graham is not known. That she had given up all hope of his ever returning was shown by a note she left.

"I can see nothing better in the future than there has been in the past," she wrote. "My life has been nothing but trouble and hard work. I have been an orphan girl since two years of age. I have never found but one whom I thought I could love and trust. That was my husband, but I cannot say where he is or what was the matter. But I never expect to see eyes on him again and can see nothing in the future to live for."

She asked her husband's mother to be notified, but neglected to state to her the whereabouts of her husband. The heartbroken girl had made every preparation for death. The trunk had been packed and strapped. The little room in which she lived so happily for a few short weeks was put in perfect order. Mrs. Graham then wrote the farewell note and placed it on her dresser.

Afraid of Strong Medicines.
Many people suffer for years from rheumatic pains, and prefer to do so rather than take the strong medicines usually given for rheumatism, not knowing that quick relief from pain may be had simply by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm and without taking any medicine internally. Rev. Amos Parker, of Magnolia, North Carolina, suffered for eight years with a lame hip, due to severe rheumatic pains. He has been permanently cured by the free application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by all dealers.

Sick at Lincoln.

Bids for the Tonto Dam.
Bids for the completion of the Tonto dam, near Phoenix, Ariz., will be opened in that city on February 23. The contractors were to have been opened on February 12, but owing to the severe weather on the railroads the department of the interior ordered the opening of the bids postponed ten days. Construction work must begin sixty days after the contracts are let and must be completed within three years. The total cost will be $2,000,000.

Meeting of Irrigation Commission.
The irrigation commission of New Mexico was in session at Santa Fe yesterday forenoon at the capitol. There were present: G. A. Richardson, of Roswell; Arthur Saffman, of Santa Fe, secretary and treasurer; Charles E. Miller, of Anthony, and Carl A. Dallas, of Belden, members. A bill prepared by Mr. Richardson providing for the creation of the office of irrigation engineer and of an irrigation commission in the territory was read before the members, carefully examined and approved. It will be submitted to the assembly for enactment.

Articles of Incorporation.
The following articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of Territorial Secretary J. W. Raynolds: Peasance Mining company, incorporated March 17, capital $100,000; Charles E. Miller, of Anthony, and Carl A. Dallas, of Belden, members. The term of existence as given in the articles of incorporation is fifty years and the principal place of business is Mayhill, Otero county, N. M. The capital stock consists of 2,000 shares of a par value of $100 each. The directors are three and those who will manage the affairs of the corporation for the first three months are the incorporators.

Navajo Police Judge.
Six Navajo children arrived at the United States Indian industrial school, Santa Fe, accompanied by Judge Vincent Heagay, who is the police judge of the Navajo nation. The parents of the children live near Fort Defiance, Arizona. Judge Heagay is one of the leading men in the Navajo nation and a loyal supporter of the government. During the Indian campaigns in this territory from 1875 to 1883 he secured Navajos who were enlisted as scouts to serve with the regular troops. This was especially the case in the campaign against Victorio from 1878 to 1880. Judge Heagay will remain a guest at the Indian school for several days.

ITC—RINGWORM.
E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes, April 25th, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as 'ringworm.' The itching was most unbearable and had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely. 25c, 50c and $1 bottle. Sold by J. H. O'Reilly & Co."

GALLUP GLEANINGS.
From the Republican.
Mrs. J. M. Carman anticipates a trip to the city of Mexico in the near future.

"The Worst Man in Town" will be the subject of the Congregational church next Sunday evening. Elmer Wilson left for Ottumwa, Iowa, his old home where he was called by the serious illness of his father. He was met at Trinidad by his brother Ben who accompanied him on the trip.

Mrs. Ellen Quinn returned home from an eight months visit in St. Louis, New York City and other eastern points. Mrs. Quinn has resided in Gallup the past twenty years and this is her first absence from the city in all that time.

Don't forget St. Patrick's ball by the Gallup Base Ball association, March 15. This organization is expected to give you plenty of amusement during the spring and summer months. Don't forget them, in their preparations for your entertainment.

"Mollie Dream" Ore.
Christ Yanger continues to develop fine ore in the Mollie Dream, says the Lordsburg Liberal. A recent assay showed it carried an ounce and a half of gold, 23 ounces of silver and 10 percent copper. Slave having this assay made he has developed ore which looks much better than that which was assayed.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.

A "Trusty" Thief.
A young 20 year old fellow doing 30 days in the county jail and enjoying the privileges of a trusty, recently went into a residence and swiped a $10 bill, a pocket knife and a box of candy, says the Hillsboro Advocate. He was soon relieved of his plunder by the jail officials who returned the goods to the rightful owner.

Poisons in Food.
Perhaps you don't realize that many pain poisons originate in your food, but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Dr. King's New Life Pills are guaranteed to cure all sickness due to poisons of undigested food—or money back. 25c. at all druggists. Try them.

Catching Mountain Lions.
C. W. Fisherbeck captured two mountain lions near his ranch last Tuesday morning, says the Farmington Herald. Coyotes were thick and anxious. Mr. Fisherbeck set a couple of small steel traps Monday night and was surprised to find a lion caught in one of them next day. He dispatched both the mother and the cub. The mother lion measured 7 1/2 feet from tip to tip. The smaller one was about the size of a coyote.

Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store.

COLORADO REPRESENTATIVES WANT STATEHOOD

A special dispatch from Washington dated February 18, to the Denver Republican, says:

Colorado's representatives in the house favor separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, but rather than see all statehood measures go by the board, will support the senate bill, which provides for New Mexico, leaving Arizona as a territory, or if not feasible, they will support the bill as it passed the house, providing for joint statehood.

Representative Bonyne is a pronounced advocate of single statehood for New Mexico. This is the reason he assigns for not voting for the special rule in the house this week. He says he wanted an opportunity to vote for the senate bill, as that proposed to admit New Mexico independently. If the situation shapes up so that he can vote for single statehood for New Mexico, he will do so, but in case all other plans fail, and the house compels the senate to pass the double statehood bill, he will support it. He believes New Mexico ought to have statehood in some capacity and believes combination with Arizona is preferable to the present condition.

Representative Brooks, while he voted for the house rule, believes like Bonyne that the senate bill is preferable to the double statehood plan of the house. He says, however, that the senate bill cannot pass.

"We are under obligations to New Mexico to allow it to become a state," says he. "We have long been under the implied promise to give this territory statehood, and the development of western New Mexico fully warrants it."

"I intend to vote for the house bill, not because I believe it is the best bill, but because it seems to be the only measure that can pass that will give New Mexico statehood."

Representative Hogg, who made the vigorous speech in the republican caucus in advocacy of separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, is disposed also to accept the inevitable and support the house bill in the event parliamentary tactics against the senate bill render it impossible to have it endorsed in the house.

It is the general belief that unless the house bill should be adopted, there will be no statehood legislation at this session.

Senator Teller today presented in the senate a memorial of the legislature of Colorado in the form of a joint resolution protesting against the admission of Arizona as New Mexico as one state, and requesting the Colorado senators and representatives to prevent the passage of the bill for joint statehood and secure admission of each of the two territories as single and separate states.

Several senators who supported the amendment for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one and New Mexico as another, but for the territorial division of Arizona, have consented to a plan for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory alone. A number of senators who supported the senate bill providing for the admission of two states to be comprised of the four territories, also favor the compromise movement.

FULL TEXT OF THE LIBEL LAW

Recently Passed by Almost Unanimous Vote in Both Houses of the Territorial Assembly.

An act to define the offense of libel and affix the punishment therefor. Be it enacted by the legislative assembly of the territory of New Mexico:

Section 1. That any person who, with intent to injure, make, write, print, publish, sell or circulate, any malicious statement affecting the reputation of another in respect to any matter or thing pointed out in this act shall be deemed guilty of libel.

Sec. 2. If any person be guilty of libel, he shall be punished by fine not less than $100 nor more than $2,000, or by imprisonment in the territorial penitentiary not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court trying the case.

Sec. 3. If any person with intent to injure the reputation of another shall publish or circulate a writing purporting to be the act of some other person, and which comes within the definition of libel as given in this act, he shall be punished in the same manner as if the act purported to be his own, and the rules with respect to libel apply also to the making and circulation of such false writing.

Sec. 4. He is the maker of libel who actually composes and either circulates it himself by writing, printing, engraving, painted or dictated or caused or procured it to be done by others.

Sec. 5. He is the publisher of libel who, either by his own will or by the persuasion or dictation, or at the solicitation or employment of him or another, exercises the same in any of the modes pointed out as constituting a libel, but if any one by force or threats is compelled to execute such libel he is guilty of no offense.

Sec. 6. He is guilty of circulating a libel who, knowing its contents, either sells, distributes or gives, or who with malicious design reads or exhibits it to others.

Sec. 7. The written, printed or published statement to come within the definition of libel must convey the idea, either:

1. That the person to whom it refers has been guilty of some penal offense; or

2. That he has been guilty of some act or omission which, though not a penal offense, is disgraceful to him as a member of society, and the natural consequence of which is to bring him into contempt among honorable persons; or

3. That he has some moral vice or physical defect or disease which renders him unfit for intercourse with respectable society, and as such should cause him to be generally avoided; or

4. That any person in office or a candidate therefor is dishonest and therefore unworthy of such office, or that while in office he has been guilty of some malfeasance rendering him unworthy of the place.

Sec. 8. A libel may be either written, printed, engraved, etched or painted, but no defamation comes within the meaning of a painting, engraving or caricature unless it must clearly appear therefrom that the person said to be defamed was in fact intended to be represented by such painting, engraving or caricature.

Sec. 9. In order to render any manuscript a libel it must be circulated or posted up in some public place; provided that typewritten matter shall be considered manuscript within the meaning of this act.

Sec. 10. If the libel be in printed form and issues or is sold in any office or shop where a public newspaper is conducted, or where books or other printed works are sold or printed, the editor, publisher and proprietor of such newspaper, or any one of them, or the owner of such shop, is to be deemed guilty of making or circulating such libel until the contrary is made out on the trial.

Sec. 11. No person shall be convicted of libel merely on evidence that he has made a manuscript copy of a libel or has performed the manual labor of printing it, unless it be shown that such person was actuated by a malicious design against the person defamed. But the person for whose account or by whose order it was printed or copied shall be presumed to have known the intent of the publication.

Sec. 12. It shall be sufficient to constitute the offense of libel if the natural consequences of the publication of the same is to injure the person defamed, although an actual injury to his reputation has been sustained.

Sec. 13. The intent to injure is to be presumed if such would be the natural consequence of the libel, though no actual proof be made that the defendant had such design, and in all trials of libel the court shall be the judge from the facts proven relative to the malicious design of the defendant as to what penalty ought to be imposed under the restrictions herein prescribed.

Sec. 14. It is no offense to make true statements of fact or expressions of opinion as to the qualifications of a candidate for any office or public place or appointment.

Sec. 15. It is no offense to publish statements of fact as to the qualifications of any person for any occupation, profession or trade.

Sec. 16. It is no offense to publish any criticisms or examinations of any work of literature, science or art, or any opinion as to the merits or demerits of the author of such work.

Sec. 17. To constitute libel there must be some injury intended to the reputations of persons living or dead, and no publication as to the government or any of the branches thereof, as such is an offense under the name of seditious writing or any other name.

Sec. 18. It is no libel to make publication respecting the merits or demerits of any particular religion, system of morals or politics, or of any particular firm of government.

Sec. 19. It is no libel to publish any statement respecting any legislative or judicial proceeding, whether the statement be in fact true or not, unless in such statement a charge of corruption is made against some person acting in legislative or judicial capacity.

Sec. 20. The word malice is used to signify an act done with evil or mischievous design, and it is not necessary to prove any special facts showing ill feeling on the part of the person who is concerned in making, printing, publishing or circulating a libelous statement against the person libeled thereby.

Sec. 21. No statement made in the course of a legislative or judicial proceeding, whether true or false, although made with intent to injure and for malicious purposes, comes within the definition of libel.

Sec. 22. In the following cases the truth of any statement charged as libel may be shown in justification of the defendant:

1. Where the publication purports to be an investigation of the official conduct of officers or men in a public capacity.

2. Where it is stated in the libel that a person has been guilty of some penal offense, and the time, place and nature of the offense is specified in the publication.

3. Where it is stated that the libel that a person is of a notoriously bad or infamous character.

4. Where the publication charges any person in office or a candidate therefor with want of honesty or having been guilty of some malfeasance in office, under any of the titles of the place. In other cases the truth of the statement in the libel cannot be inquired into.

Sec. 23. In all cases of libel the jury shall be the judges of the facts under the direction of the court, and of the intent with which a libel may have been published or circulated, subject to the rules prescribed in this act, and in rendering their verdict they are to be governed by a consideration of the nature of the charge contained in the libel, the general reputation of the person said to be defamed, and the degree of malice exhibited by the defendant in the commission of the offense.

Sec. 24. This act shall regulate the law with regard to libel when prosecuted as a penal offense, and shall have no operation upon the subject so far as relates to civil remedies for the recovery of damages.

Sec. 25. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall be in force from and after its passage.

BRAKEMAN MILLER SUES THE SANTA FE RAILROAD

W. C. D. Miller, ex-passenger brakeman on the Santa Fe between this city and Albuquerque, through his attorneys, Judge J. D. Bryan and R. V. Bowden, has filed suit in the district court against the Santa Fe in the sum of $125.00 for defamation of character, resulting in his inability to obtain railway employment, says the El Paso Railway Journal.

The story of the plaintiff is that he is 46 years of age, twenty-three of which have been spent in the employ of the Santa Fe in the positions of brakeman, freight clerk, messenger, Kansas, Texas and Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. After thirteen years with the first, he left of his own accord and entered the service of the Santa Fe in New Mexico, July 11, 1904, and remained with the same till December 6, 1904, when he was summarily discharged. The complaint says that on October 21 at Rincon, while assisting in the transfer of baggage and express, his left hand was pierced by a protruding nail in an express box, the iron entering the palm of the hand at the base of the thumb, resulting in his being poisoned and his lying off from November 6 to December 6. He further alleges that the company secured from him a release of all claims for damages on condition that he should have his old rank again on the passenger between El Paso and Albuquerque. He took his run December 7, and on reaching Albuquerque December 8 was discharged, 254 miles from home and under the necessity of paying his way to get money enough for his return fare. When he demanded his service card he retained the statement that he was discharged for violation of rule G, which forbids drinking while on duty, habitual drunkenness or frequenting places where liquor is sold. With such a card railway employment is impossible, and the falsity of the charge he vehemently asserts. The charging of the charge is a surprise to all who know Mr. Miller.

PRICES WILL BE KEPT DOWN

BOOT AND SHOE MANUFACTURERS OF COUNTRY ORGANIZE FOR THE ANNOUNCED PURPOSE OF PREVENTING FURTHER INCREASES.

A special dispatch from New York, dated February 22, says: Recent increases in the price of shoes and a general unsettled condition in the trade resulted today in the formation of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association of the United States. The organization was effected at a meeting of representatives of 80 per cent. of the shoe factories of the country.

It is denied by the promoters of the organization that they have joined to systematically sanction the increase in prices of shoes. On the contrary, it is asserted that the association of the manufacturers is for the purpose of reducing the cost of shoes and other materials and remedying the abuses of the trade, so that the cost of shoes can be kept down.

Many retail dealers have recently raised their prices on the cheaper class of shoes. This has fallen particularly hard upon the poor. The association is now being affected by a trust—the boot trust—and it is to free the industry from the influence that the manufacturers are organizing.

In forming the new organization it is explained that there will be no attempt to adopt any of the trust methods. It is said that the manufacture of shoes is now being affected by a trust—the boot trust—and it is to free the industry from the influence that the manufacturers are organizing.

John Hagan, of New York, was elected president; Edgar P. Reed, of Rochester, and John H. Cross, of Lynn, Mass., vice president; George Scherer, of Philadelphia, treasurer, and Sol Weil, of Rochester, secretary.

TO SHOW ORIENTAL TREASURES

DISPLAYS FROM PERSIA, TURKEY AND EGYPT AT LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION WILL BE MOST VALUABLE EVER EXHIBITED AT A WORLD'S FAIR.

Portland, Feb. 24.—The treasures of the Orient will be shown at the Lewis and Clark exposition in the most complete collection of exhibits from Persia, Turkey and Egypt ever gathered for a world's fair. The exhibit will be in charge of Gaston Akon, special commissioner from those countries, and will occupy one-third of the space in the Oriental building, one of the largest buildings on the exposition grounds.

The central feature of the exhibit will be a sandalwood temple, the erection of which required the services of twenty-five men for seven years. It is valued at $15,000. The temple stands 35 feet high, and is elaborately carved and inlaid with mother of pearl, ivory and gold and silver. It is rich in perfume and will scent the whole Oriental building with its fragrance.

A collection of antiquities valued at $250,000 which has been kept for years in the Bank of France, at Paris, its owner considering it too valuable to be exhibited, will be shown for the first time at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The collection will comprise the most valuable exhibit at the fair.

A collection of Persian and Turkish rugs will form a most interesting and valuable feature of the display, the collection being valued at the same amount as the Persian and Turkish rugs. One of the rugs is valued at $25,000 and there are a number which are worth from $5,000 to $20,000.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A man can't be too careful not to injure his wife will stand from him what others will.

No matter what happens to a girl you can make her feel better about it by telling her it will not spoil her beauty.

When a good many women play with fire and burn their fingers they seem to think the way to soothe the pain is to burn their whole arm off.

CHASED AFTER PRESIDENT

UNKNOWN MAN'S QUEER ACTIONS IN PHILADELPHIA CAUSE TROOPER IN ESCORT TO STRIKE HIM WITH A SABER.

A Washington dispatch, dated February 22, says: The president returned from Philadelphia tonight in a private car attached to the regular train, and a crowd had gathered at the station to greet him. The president was accompanied by the German ambassador and Baroness Stenberg, and the others who went from here and Senator Knox came back with the party.

The president apparently was not annoyed by an incident which occurred in Philadelphia while he was driving from the Academy of Music to the army, where he was the guest of the City Troop at luncheon.

Before the presidential party reached the City Troop armory an unknown man dashed into the street and got within eight or ten feet of the president's carriage. There he was struck with the flat of a saber by one of the four troopers who surrounded the president's carriage, and checked by the force of the blow, he staggered back and was lost sight of in the crowd.

The man appeared to be a laborer about 45 years of age. Those who witnessed the incident believe that he merely sought to shake hands with the president.

He had run parallel with the carriage for over a block, and Secret Service Agent Tyne, who rode with the president, had ordered him to get out of the way. Tyne finally called to a trooper, who quickly drew his saber, and as the man refused to stop struck him a sound blow on the back.

CONNECTS TEXAS AND COLORADO

According to a special to the Denver News, Frank D. Heath, president of the Canyon City & Great Western Railroad company, which was incorporated about a year ago, has announced that he has secured enough backing to build a railroad from Florence, Colo., to El Paso, Tex., a distance of 260 miles.

It is estimated that the cost of the line will be in the neighborhood of $7,000,000. The primary object in building this line is to secure a market for the company's coal production and more equitable freight rates. The company owns vast coal lands in Fremont county, Colorado, as well as in the southern part of the state. Agents are now in the field negotiating for rights of way and a preliminary survey of the road may be run next month.

NEW LA JUNTA SHOPS

BIG JOLLIFICATION MEETING HELD AND SPEECHES MADE BY PROMINENT RAILROAD OFFICIALS.

The new Santa Fe shops just completed at La Junta opened Wednesday night with a ball given by the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. The new shops are the second largest on the Santa Fe system and will give employment to 1,500 men. The company expended about $1,400,000 in making the improvements.

The machine shop is 158 by 40 feet, with a transfer table in front 40 by 400 feet. There are 18 pits over which the engines stand while being repaired and overhead are large electric traveling cranes capable of lifting many tons as easily as a child would lift a toy.

There are 22 electric motors which furnish power and light for the plant and yards. The blacksmith shop is 80 by 140 feet and is fitted up with big steam hammers and all the modern appliances. The boiler room, 46 by 56 feet and 40 by 70 feet, form a separate building with a smoke stack towering 130 feet above the ground. There is a store house 50 by 170 feet, a lavatory 26 by 50 feet, an oil house 24 by 36 feet and the large round house, containing 22 stalls, eight of which are new and were constructed for the larger type of engines.

The company plans the erection of a large car shop in the near future for repairing all kinds of cars. Most of the kind of work is now done elsewhere. All the work for three divisions of the road will be done at this point. The company also has a large hospital at this point for the benefit of its employees, where they are cared for when injured.

Last night citizens and business men of La Junta celebrated the completion of the improvements with a banquet under the direction of the La Junta board of trade. Many Santa Fe officials, particularly those who directed the work here, will be guests of honor. Mayor Corbin welcomed those who came to the city to attend the banquet and Rev. Conrad of the Presbyterian church was the toastmaster. Toasts were responded to as follows:

"The Santa Fe Railway," H. U. Madge, general manager of the Santa Fe.

"The Western Grand Division," D. E. Cair of the Western grand division.

"The New Shop," C. M. Taylor, mechanical superintendent of Western Grand Division.

"The Western Division," G. A. Ayer, superintendent of Western Division.

"The Panhandle Division," L. W. Morris, superintendent.

"The Colorado Division," C. H. Bristol, superintendent.

"The New Mexico Division," F. J. Easty, superintendent.

"The Rio Grande Division," J. P. McNally, superintendent.

"The Ladies," Dr. J. P. Kaser, chief surgeon.

Feil Dances the Stairs.

Barnes Defends Association.

The last number of the Breeder's Gazette publishes an able defense by W. C. Barnes of Las Vegas of the action of the American Live Stock association in seceding from the National Live Stock association this winter. The editor of the Gazette has been much opposed to the new organization, but after publishing the Barnes argument he admits that there is room for doubt as to the correctness of his own position, and concludes that only time can tell.

Crushed to Death.

The Madrid mining camp was saddened last Saturday afternoon by the death of Juan Doyero, an Italian miner, one of the steady workers of the camp. He was working alone in a room, and when found was under a pile of rock, badly crushed, death apparently being instantaneous. A coroner's inquest was called last Tuesday evening. After examination of the evidence, a verdict was rendered that the cause of death was purely accidental.

MORE EVIDENCE.

It is Coming in Rapidly in Albuquerque.

Evidence on the following subject will prove of interest to every Albuquerque reader. So many people go through the same experience daily. This public statement should be proof positive to every wavering doubter. Read it carefully.

Mrs. W. C. Wood, wife of W. C. Wood, employed in the Santa Fe railroad shops, residence 720 South Broadway, says: "When on a visit to Fall River, Mass., I learned that Doan's Kidney Pills had been a household necessity in that city for years. Naturally when a person has backache themselves, and friends, acquaintances and relatives continually insist that a particularly remedy shall be tried, you at least consent to take a course of the treatment. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped an aggravated attack of backache, only one of the many which had occurred in the past. When I came west I brought with me a dozen boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills long before they were so extensively known in New Mexico, as at present. I have not the slightest hesitation in publicly stating that I know from experience as well as observation that this remedy can be absolutely depended upon in all cases of kidney complaint causing backache, lumbago and other symptoms which follow in the wake of that far too prevalent annoyance."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Second Furnace Blown In.

Furnace No. 2 at the Silver City Reduction Works was blown in on a trial run the other day and the experiment was entirely successful. Owing to the bad condition of the roads, the ore supply at the smelter has been cut short for a few days, and until the weather permits it will not be put in commission. The new 200 ton furnace has been shipped and should arrive shortly. During the last week the foundation was laid for the new engine which will run the blower, lately received.

SAD CASE OF INSANITY.

Joseph H. Franklin, who for the past several years had been the manager of the company store at Dawson, arrived in Alamogordo about two weeks ago on business with Mr. King's office. He had transacted some of the business when very suddenly his mind became vacant and he could no longer recognize even his friends.

He was taken to the hospital where he received the best of treatment and at times seemed to be reasonably rational. His father who resides at Buffalo, N. Y., was notified of the son's condition and arrived several days ago. Wednesday he left for home accompanied by the son.

The form of dementia he was afflicted with has its inception in several causes and may result from mental worry or overwork. In the case of Mr. Franklin the symptoms were somewhat aggravated and he may not recover after a long rest or he may not. It is stated that Franklin gave no hint of losing his mind before he left Dawson and left all accounts and the books of the concern for which he was manager, in splendid condition.

Dr. Kirkpatrick, of La Luz, accompanied the Franklins as far as Chicago.

BUILDING SITE FOR A NEW CITY BUILDING

The city council met with a full attendance last night. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. It was an extension of the regular meeting which was to have been held on Monday night. Nothing of extraordinary importance came up for action, and on the whole it was a very uneventful session, with but one exception. And the subject of this discussion, which came near the close of the meeting, was the building site for the new city building.

The new 200 ton furnace has been shipped and should arrive shortly. During the last week the foundation was laid for the new engine which will run the blower, lately received.

SAD CASE OF INSANITY.

Joseph H. Franklin, who for the past several years had been the manager of the company store at Dawson, arrived in Alamogordo about two weeks ago on business with Mr. King's office. He had transacted some of the business when very suddenly his mind became vacant and he could no longer recognize even his friends.

He was taken to the hospital where he received the best of treatment and at times seemed to be reasonably rational. His father who resides at Buffalo, N. Y., was notified of the son's condition and arrived several days ago. Wednesday he left for home accompanied by the son.

The form of dementia he was afflicted with has its inception in several causes and may result from mental worry or overwork. In the case of Mr. Franklin the symptoms were somewhat aggravated and he may not recover after a long rest or he may not. It is stated that Franklin gave no hint of losing his mind before he left Dawson and left all accounts and the books of the concern for which he was manager, in splendid condition.

Dr. Kirkpatrick, of La Luz, accompanied the Franklins as far as Chicago.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN.

Rains continue to fall in southern New Mexico almost incessantly. The government gauge of the amount of water fall at Fort Bayard, nine miles east of Silver City, demonstrates that 25.50 inches since the latter part of last July, which is more than the usual fall in twelve months for many years previous.

During December, January and February, when there usually is very little moisture of any kind in southern New Mexico, the Fort Bayard gauge has recorded 8.7 inches, which is the largest amount of moisture to fall in that section, as far back as any one here can remember, during that period.

The ground is soaked for many feet down and the roads in all directions are so muddy that it is impossible to haul any loads over them. Nearly every draw is running a stream of water steadily and springs have sprung up from the ground in many localities.

Undoubtedly the coming year will be a bumper year for the stock raisers as well as for the miners. Lack of water has always been the great drawback to all such enterprises in the southwest.

MARKET LETTER.

Special Correspondence.
Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 20.—The total supply of cattle last week was 25,000 head, as against 24,000 head the week before. Conditions made good railroad service out of the question, and it was hard to get cattle to shipping points. Prices averaged 22 per cent. higher during the week on killing cattle, and on Wednesday the market showed more improvement. Prices of beef cattle dropped a few cents after the run began to improve, and with 11,000 cattle today the market shows only a little better than last Monday. Cows and heifers held their gain better than steers, and range 25 to 35 cents higher than two weeks ago. Best steers sold at $17.75 to $18.50, majority of beef droppers at $15.50 to $16.50; best western feed steers were sold at $14.25 to $14.75. Two trains of cattle from the pea country in the San Luis valley arrived Thursday and sold as follows:

Two-year-old steers, 740 pounds, at $4.15; yearlings, 675 pounds, at $4.10; stock calves, 465 pounds, at $3.90; calves, 160 pounds, at $3.40; bulls, $2.80, andanner cows, $2.50. The supply today at all points is heavy, and the market is steady to 15 cents lower, only the best beef steers and good also sell steady. Stockers and feeders are quiet, and of some of the winter calves, but no participation in fluctuations affecting killing cattle last week.

Lamb prices weakened on Thursday and Friday of last week, but sheep held up to the high point to the end of the week. Receipts were 30,000 last week, and the market was 20 to 25 cents higher than the previous week. $5 was paid for lambs, $4.50 for yearlings, and $3.50 for ewes. Receipts today are 10,000 head; market to 15 cents lower; top lambs today $7.75, top yearlings $6.50, ewes $5.30, wethers $5.15. The market has shown remarkable element of strength all along the line of the high range of values, and an occasional weakening is no more than can be expected. Sentiment seems to favor a somewhat weaker lamb market, but wethers and ewes should hold up better.

Architect Wallingford, representing J. P. Luthy, appealed to the council for permission to erect two iron posts in front of No. 105 South First street where a new building is about to be constructed. The request was granted.

The city clerk reported licenses collected for the month of January, $968.25.

The city marshal's report was read.

LONG TRAINS AND ACCIDENTS.

Discussion in the Indiana legislature on a proposition to limit the number of cars in a train to fifty developed diametrically opposite views on a simple problem of railway operation. The author of the proposed bill maintained that by limiting the number of cars the principal causes of train wrecks would be eliminated, following this by the statement that nearly 49,000 employees of railways were killed and injured during the last year. Per contra, the host speaker declared that railway accidents are principally caused by a multiplicity of trains, not by their length, and that the proposed law would tend to increase the number of casualties. The majority of the house seemed to take this view, as the bill was defeated by a vote of 48 to 55. That an increase in the number of trains and consequently of trainmen, as well of course as in the frequency of train movements, tends to increase the number of accidents, is hardly debatable. Of the 49,033 casualties to employees reported for 1903, the great majority occurred from causes which adding to the number of trains being handled, and the number of trains, switches, contact with bridges and other structures, falling from cars and engines, etc. While big engines and long trains have naturally tended to reduce somewhat the number of trainmen and engines required to move a great tonnage, they should be credited with decreasing the number of train cars and switch movements, and thus with decreasing the number of casualties compared with the traffic handled. Legislation prescribing the length of trains, without regard to capacity of engines or road or to the necessities of the traffic, seems to be unwise interference with commerce.

Second Furnace Blown In.

Furnace No. 2 at the Silver City Reduction Works was blown in on a trial run the other day and the experiment was entirely successful. Owing to the bad condition of the roads, the ore supply at the smelter has been cut short for a few days, and until the weather permits it will not be put in commission. The new 200 ton furnace has been shipped and should arrive shortly. During the last week the foundation was laid for the new engine which will run the blower, lately received.

CATTLE MUST BE FED OR DIE ON RANGES.

The cattle raisers of Colfax and Union counties are losing as much stock as a result of the last week's storm that they have perditioned the Santa Fe railroad to bring in alfalfa from Kansas at the rate of $1 a ton. Unless this concession is granted, it is said, cattle will die by the thousands, as it is still several weeks before the spring range will be available, and some stockmen say they can better afford to let their cattle die than pay a big price for hay.

In Two Fires.

Five years ago Dr. C. N. Lord, one of the sufferers in yesterday's fire, was burned out in Schenectady, N. Y., while conducting a dental office with his brother. A few days ago he received a letter from his brother stating that he had suffered again from fire. Last night Dr. Lord telegraphed his brother and told him that he could sympathize with him, as he had his office ruined by fire on Sunday—New Mexico.

BELL MAY LOSE SIGHT OF ONE EYE.

George H. Bell met with a deplorable accident while out on a camping trip on the Pinyon in southern Grant county last week by which he may lose the sight of his left eye, says the Silver City Enterprise. One evening Mr. Bell was standing with his back to the camp fire warming himself and facing one of the boys who was chopping wood. A sharp pointed splinter flew up and struck Mr. Bell squarely in the left eye, penetrating the ball and cutting the iris for a short distance. The pain was intense and the next morning in company with W. D. Dwinell, one of the members of the party he left for El Paso where he consulted an eye specialist. The latter thought there was no immediate danger unless complications ensued affecting the optic nerve in which case he might lose the sight in the eye.

Barring this untoward accident, so unusual in its character Mr. Bell says the outing was a most enjoyable one. The other members of the party are expected to arrive in a few days. They are Harry Dohlsied, Charles Lindsay, Eddie Bell, Ed. Wisdom and Mr. McCullough of Lordsburg.

Coming Back to Raton. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Smythe, who have spent the past three years in England, and Miss Oris Doty, who has been visiting them for several months past, writes they will sail for the United States this month and will again make their home in Raton.

Aged Mother Dead. W. E. Gorman, of Las Vegas, has received a dispatch from Goshute, Ind., informing him of the death of his aged mother. It will be remembered that last year Mr. Gorman's parents celebrated their golden anniversary.
