SOWED TAGS TO REAP WARRIORS

Astonishing Explanation of Queer Man's Act at Rowe, N. M.

One Blue-Eyed Texas Queen Asks If New Mexico Has Statehood.

Governor Mills has appointed Geo. R. Roberts of Albuquerque, Bernalillo county, a notary public.

A postoffice has been established at Vernon, Colfax county.

For the Treasury.

Territorial Treasurer M. A. Otero has received the following sums for the treasury: $2,814.43 from Eugenio Romero, treasurer of San Miguel county; $2,252.29 from the interest on five per cent proceeds of the U. S. land sales.

Judge McFie Sworn In.

Judge John R. McFie was sworn in this morning as judge of the first judicial district by Assistant Secretary Edwin F. Coard in the office of the territorial secretary. The judge spent the forenoon hearing a case in chambers.

Mr. Safford Back.

Former Territorial Traveling Auditor C. V. Safford returned last night from a trip to the northern part of the territory and today he laid down the work at which he has labored so faithfully for ten years. He will attend to some business here before going to Albuquerque.

Horses Had Strayed.

A dispatch from Sheriff Julius Meyers of Estancia states that the horses supposed to have been stolen from there have been found. They had run away. The mounted police have received word, however, that a bunch of horses have been stolen from the famous Bartlett ranch.

Water Application Approved.

The application of H. S. Arnold of the upper Pecos for the waters of Soldier Creek was in San Miguel county, was approved today by Territorial Engineer Charles D. Miller upon Arnold filing his bond. The project contemplates the irrigation of 1,000 acres. The diversion works are to cost $4,000.

New Company Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the territorial secretary's office by the People's Lumber Company naming Helen as the place of business, and B. Jacobson as the agent. The company is incorporated at $25,000 consisting of 25,000 shares for $1 each. The incorporators and the number of shares subscribed are: B. Jacobson, 3,498; Jay Witherspoon, 1; and Sarah J. Witherspoon, 1.

School Teachers at Capitol.

A bevy of pretty school teachers from the New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas, called on Governor Mills this morning, and were cordially received by the chief executive who appointed a "clerone" to show them around the capitol. One of the teachers, a blue-eyed Texas queen asked if New Mexico had not yet obtained statehood. The guide scornfully answered "Not yet nor soon."

Letter From Senator Warren.

Governor Mills has received a letter from U. S. Senator Francis E. Warren, chairman of the committee on appropriations. The letter is in reply to the post card sent out by the governor June 22, and says:

Dear Governor Mills:—I am in receipt of your attractive post card invitation to visit Santa Fe, and I trust that I may have an opportunity to come very soon and that when I do, Santa Fe will be the capital of the state not of the territory of New Mexico.

Very sincerely yours, FRANCIS E. WARREN.

Wanted an Army.

The mounted police have received word from Rowe that more shoe-maker tags and tools have been found there, as also a receipt made out to the Rev. G. Scott Anderson, which may be the name of the peculiar person who has been seen sowing tags in the sand before his horse and buggy were in collision near Lamy. It is said that Anderson is a itinerant minister of the gospel; that the parrable about sowing teeth in order to raise a mighty army of warriors had preyed on his mind and that he sowed shoe-maker's tags to raise an army to fight for prohibition. This strange man got on the train at Albuquerque and had bought a ticket for Albuquerque but his whereabouts are not known. He will doubtless be examined for his sanity when he is found.

JOHN W. SPRINGER IS GIVEN DIVORCE.

Denver Bar Room Murder Breaks Up Family of Leading Financier.

Denver, July 1.—John W. Springer was today granted a divorce from his wife, Isabella Patterson Springer. The charge was mental cruelty. The divorce is the outcome of the shooting of Sylvester Von Paul by Harold Frank Henwood in the Brown Palace Hotel bar room last May.

IS HARD TO KILL.

Chicago, July 1.—Because a girl who had typhoid three years ago was allowed to wash milk cans on her father's farm, there is an epidemic of the fever in Englewood, Ill. This unusual case was discovered by the health department and made public today. Thirty-four persons taking milk from the girl's father are ill. The girl, Rose Boorana, seems perfectly healthy, but was ordered to a hospital. She is what is known as a "carrier" of germs. The longest instance of "carrying" is said to have been found at Washington, D. C., where the victim carried the germs for eighteen years.

TYPHOID FEVER GERM.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND FAMILY AT BEVERLY.

Beverly, Mass., July 1.—President Taft and family arrived here from Washington this morning and went at once to the President's new summer home, Paramatta.

Judge Mann Appeals—Judge Ira A. Abbott has denied to E. A. Mann a motion for supersedeas but allowed an appeal to the supreme court. This puts in George W. Klock as district attorney. The costs have been put upon Mann.

THIRTY CENTS WORTH OF BOOZE BREAKS UP FAMILY.

Denver, Colo., July 1.—Because he spent 20 cents of his pay before giving his earnings of a month to his wife William Kelsch got into a family quarrel last night. His threat to cut his throat landed him in jail. Kelsch had yielded to the temptation of drink and when he entered his home, 2140 Champe street, his helpmate, Annie, voiced her objections. Shouting that he would kill himself, Kelsch grasped a razor and put it to his throat. Mrs. Kelsch caught the blade and her right hand was badly cut. Neighbors called the police.

WARRANTS OUT FOR ALLEGED DYNAMITERS.

Scotland Yard Still Insists That David Kaplan and Milton A. Schmidt Are Not in London.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) London, July 1.—At the request of the American department of state the magistrates of Bow street court, today issued provisional warrants for the arrest of David Kaplan and Milton A. Schmidt charged with complicity in the dynamiting of the Times building at Los Angeles, California. Kaplan has been under surveillance for several weeks.

MIDLAND BRIDGE CO. GETS THREE CONTRACTS.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Chairman I. Sparks of the county commissioners announced that the Midland Bridge Company of Kansas City, had been awarded the contracts for the three county bridges. The bridge at Galisteo will be 76 feet long; at Cerillos 150 feet long and on Canon Road, Santa Fe, 60 feet. All of the bridges will be of steel with concrete abutments.

BIRD MIGRATION.

Some remarkable facts regarding bird migration have been brought to light recently by the Natural History Department of Aberdeen University. That swallows, lapwings and other summer visitors are confirmed wanderers is well known, but Aberdeen University has been trying to learn something concerning their methods. With this object in view, rings were placed on the legs of a number of birds. In one case, that of a wide-winged duckling, which was marked in Suberlandshire in 1909, the bird was caught in a duck decoy in Holland, in the following year. Last summer six chick lapwings were marked in north-east Scotland, and in the early winter four were shot in different parts of Ireland, and two in Portugal. The most striking instances of bird migration.

EXPRESS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Most Sweeping Probe Ever Undertaken by Interstate Commerce Commission

ALL COMPANIES ARE INVOLVED

Accounts, Methods of Doing Business and Profits to Be Included.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., July 1.—A sweeping investigation of all express companies of the United States was today ordered by the interstate commerce commission on its own motion. It will be one of the widest in scope ever undertaken by the commission and will not only be conducted as to rates, but will include practices, accounts and revenues of the various companies.

"BOOK OF TRUTH" APPEARS TO BE PLAGIARISM.

Portions of It Are Declared to Be Forgeries—Manuscripts Had Been Stolen, Declares Witness.

Chicago, July 1.—That portions of Evelyn Arthur See's "bible" was forged, after the manuscripts had been stolen from See's safe was the allegation made by Attorney Cantwell, of the defense, in the trial of Evelyn Arthur See.

"Portions of the books were forged, parts underlined and additions made," the lawyer told Judge Honore, while the jury was excluded.

Charles de Woody, a federal investigator, who investigated the "bible" with a view to prosecution of See in the United States court, said there were interrelations in the book when it came into his possession, but he knew of no changes or additions being made.

Two letters alleged to have been written by Stephen Bridges were introduced by the defense. In one Bridges told Mrs. W. J. McKeown, that if her daughter had escaped unscathed from See it was through no fault of the latter. Another letter was to Mrs. Bridges in which Bridges told his wife he was just beginning to understand her.

"I feel that some day you will throw a light on the world, that the people do not now know," the letter ran. "I think you are the chosen one to redeem the world and all others will sit back and take notice. God must send someone and you are that one."

"I think See was the one to tell you, but that's all. He has nothing to do with it more than I. As you get more of it you will go to the people of the world with your message and the people will stop and listen. See is a baby to you. To the great enlightenment you have."

Mrs. Felicia Rees, mother of Mona, testified for the defense. She said her daughter came to Chicago to enlarge her knowledge of "Absolute Life," and spent her first night in the city with Mr. and Mrs. See who were then living together. Witness said she and Mrs. See wrote parts of the "Book of Truth."

GIRLS IN REFORM SCHOOL IN REVOLT.

Because Incurable Girl Was Handled With Roughness, Other Inmates Arouse Neighborhood.

Los Angeles, July 1.—Following a day of uproar at the Whittier state school, a reformatory institution, seven girls, all inmates of the school, were brought here last night and locked up in the county jail.

Search for knives and hatchets, with which some of the girls had armed themselves, is being conducted at the institution.

Most of the guards have been withdrawn from the boys' department of the school, to reinforce those assigned to watch the girl inmates, and seven deputy sheriffs have gone from here to increase the boys' guard.

Trouble started when Rose Driscoll, declared to be an exceptionally incorrigible inmate, escaped. Thursday night and was brought back. Upon her return, other girls declaring she had been handled with unreasonable roughness by Night Watchman F. M. Bartley, started a demonstration, arousing the neighborhood with cries and howls, which continued until today midnight.

Today the girls became unruly again. Windows were smashed, the dishes in the girls' department were broken, and the kitchen range was reduced to scrap iron. Watchman Bartley resigned.

STRIKE HAS CAUSED FAMINE

Condition Close to Anarchy Exists at Hull and Other British Ports

PRICES ARE SOARING SKYWARD

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Hull, Eng., July 1.—Hunger is seriously aggravating the seamen's strike situation, and the piteous appeals of women and children for food would have precipitated a condition approaching anarchy before now but for the masses of police that have been sent here from London and other cities.

Flour is so scarce that the price has jumped beyond the reach of the poor. All Hull flour mills are closed and efforts are being made with police protection to bring in supplies from other points.

Strike Settlement Next Week.

Liverpool, Eng., July 1.—After an interview with the chairman of the Cunard board today, Tom Mann, strike leader, informed a mass meeting of strikers that the dispute will be completely settled by Monday or Tuesday.

Union Recognized.

It was officially announced this evening that the Cunard, Star and other "combine" lines and the Harriman line had agreed to recognize the dockers' union and will attend a conference within a month for the settlement of the question of wages and conditions of employment.

NO LEGISLATION UNTIL AFTER FOURTH OF JULY.

Promise of Statehood in Time for National Holiday Proves to Have Been Iridescent Dream.

Washington, July 1.—The Canadian reciprocity situation cleared to a marked degree yesterday and a canvass of the situation in the Senate was in every way reassuring to the friends of the measure. With not more than a dozen set speeches in prospect and with eight hour sessions of the senate on the program, many of the Senators count upon a vote before the end of July.

When the Senate adjourned after three hours of anti-reciprocity speech making by Senators Gamble and Cummins, there was an understanding that there would be no further effort at legislation until after July 4, and that when business resumed there will be no cessation until final adjournment. There will be a brief session of both houses Monday, but only to meet the constitutional inhibition against either body adjourning for more than three days at a time without the other's consent. "The recess will continue until July 5."

The most formidable speech still to be made is that of Senator LaFollette. He will present his long promised tariff amendment to the reciprocity bill and will talk for three or four days discussing the tariff even more than reciprocity. These amendments will be in the nature of a substitute for all other tariff suggestions.

The only speeches promised in support of the reciprocity bill will be made by Senators Stone, of Missouri, and Burton of Ohio. In addition to Senator LaFollette, Senators Clapp, Bristow, Gronna, Nelson, Bailey, Simmons and others will be heard, but none except LaFollette and possibly Bristow will talk at great length.

With reciprocity disposed of, it is not believed that the session will be greatly prolonged. The standpat Republicans are disposed to concede a vote on the wool and free list bills. The Democratic Senators have said from the beginning they would be satisfied with a roll call on the two tariff bills and there are indications that the standpat Republicans will let these go to vote without much debate in view of the threatened presidential veto of both bills.

SQUAWS WILL RIDE PONIES JULY 4.

And There will Be Many Fine Races With $200 in Gold For Prizes.

The committee in charge of the racing program for the Fourth of July has practically completed arrangements and will announce the program in the New Mexican Monday.

It has been decided to hold harness races, by heats, best two out of three; 2:30 pace, Salmon's mare vs. Marcelino Ortiz's horse. Also a "Free for All" trot and pace race in which "Albertus" owned by Romulo Lopez and "Shecam" by Jake Levy, will be entered.

There will be a squaw pony race, six pony races and a Santa Fe derby. Of course, the races will draw a big crowd and much interest already is being manifested in them.

THIRTY CENTS WORTH OF BOOZE BREAKS UP FAMILY.

THRILLING FLIGHT OVER NEW YORK

Aviator Circles Tower of Singer Building and Other Skyscrapers

WALL STREET IS AMAZED

Trip Was from Connecticut Shore to Aviation Field on Long Island.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) New York, July 1.—One of the most spectacular flights of American aviation ended at Governor's Island this morning by Harry N. Atwood with a wonderful circle near the Singer tower, almost grazing the roofs of the craggy sky scrapers below. The baffling cross currents from canyons and cliffs of lower Manhattan island had hitherto daunted all American aviators.

Atwood ascended from New London, Connecticut, at seven this morning with the intention of flying down the Connecticut shore and crossing Long Island Sound to the aviation field at Mineola. When he got into the air he found his motor humming so steadily and the air currents so favorable that he turned inland off Mount Vernon, crossed the river near Williamsburg bridge and flew over the city at a low altitude, mounted again, circled near the Singer tower, deflected his course past Trinity church and eastward to Wall street and hovered in smooth spirals for a moment over the amazed brokers in Wall street. He then resumed his southward course, descended within easy sight of the starting passengers of the moving train, circled the train three times and flew to the landing place.

TRAIN ROBBERY NEAR ERIE, PA.

Job Was Done in Approved Wild Western, Dime Novel Style

MAIL MESSENGER BADLY HURT

Passengers Subjected to a Storm of Bullets from Rifles of Bandits.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Erie, Penn., July 1.—Hundreds of farmers, every available police officer, county and state police are searching today for the train robbers who last night held up and robbed the west bound passenger express train on the Philadelphia and Erie branch of the Pennsylvania lines in the most modern "wild west" method.

The train was bound from Philadelphia to Chicago. It was brought to a stop against ties and telephone poles piled on the track at Westerville, five miles west of this city. The bandits rifled the mail and express cars before they escaped. The mail clerk was shot and seriously wounded. The conductor was struck with a stone and badly hurt. Many passengers had narrow escapes from a storm of bullets from the rifles of the robbers. There is no information of the amount of booty secured.

NO STATEHOOD REPORT UNTIL NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Sensor Nelson Offers Amendment to Canadian Reciprocity Providing for Duty on Farm Products.

Special to the New Mexican. Washington, D. C., July 1.—There will be no report on statehood prior to Wednesday, if then, on account of the holiday.

Sensor Nelson presented an amendment to the reciprocity measure for duty on wheat of 12.1-2 cents; barley 15 cents; oats 8; potatoes 15; cattle, one year, $1 if value is not more than $14 and $2.50 if more and 20 per cent ad valorem; horses, valued at $150 or less, $20; if more 20 per cent ad valorem; sheep less than one year 50 cents, older, $1; other live animals, 20 per cent ad valorem; butter and cheese, four cents a pound.

WIRELESS IN PACIFIC.

Sir Joseph Ward, premier of the Dominion of New Zealand, while attending the imperial conference has been telling the English public something of the plan by which New Zealand has undertaken to connect the Pacific islands by wireless telegraphy. Two high and five low power stations are to be established in the Dominion. With the former New Zealand will be able to communicate with Melbourne and Sydney at all times. Stations will also be established at Fiji and some of the other Pacific islands, and Sir Joseph is hopeful that a chain of stations linking up all parts of the Pacific will be completed.

WIRELESS WEATHER REPORTS.

The central bureau of meteorology announces active studies in the development of the wireless telegraphy in the collection and distribution of weather bulletins. Already in Europe wireless is used to great advantage. Gibraltar for example, sends every morning to London, weather observations of the Mediterranean. These messages are copied in transit by the French post of the Eiffel Tower and immediately transmitted throughout France.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS.

The movement in France for the prevention of cruelty to animals has been extended in the direction of attempting to stop the bull-fights which are now held in French cities nearest the Spanish frontier. Bull-fights exist at Bayonne, Toulouse and Nimes where in the summer large crowds applaud Spanish bull fighters in their picturesque struggle in the ring. A deputy from southern France, claiming that bull-fights are attended by excessive cruelty to horses therein engaged, has introduced a bill in the chamber under which bull fights would be declared illegal.

American visitors to Paris this summer have been struck often with the printed signboards hung across electric light posts in the centre of the boulevards, which contain the words, "Be kind to animals." Recently the number of these signs has been increased throughout the city, and an alert society of humane people, founded along the lines of the American society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, keeps an active eye on public cabmen or other drivers of horse-vehicles to see that horses are not wantonly punished.

The Paris cabman in the past has often been complained of for mercilessly whipping his tired, slow horse, but since the new campaign of education and prevention has been instituted the evil of horse whipping has greatly diminished.

BOTH DOCKETS ARE CLEAN

Judge McFie Disposed of All Civil and Criminal Cases at Tierra Amarilla

THREE BIG MURDER TRIALS

Eleven Prisoners Will Go to the Pen and One to Reform School

The civil and criminal docket of Rio Arriba county has been disposed of by John R. McFie who returned home last night from Tierra Amarilla. As a result of his visit there eleven prisoners will go to the penitentiary and one to the reform school.

The other court officers, District Attorney E. C. Abbott, Assistant District Attorney E. P. Davies, District Clerk Edward L. Safford, Court Stenographer Mrs. G. F. McNitt and several attorneys also returned home yesterday, tired after the long session but pleased at the amount of business disposed of.

There were three murder cases which were in the limelight. One of course, was the Juan Cruz case and the fact that he was set free on the ground that the court had no right to try a federal officer, has been published.

Another murder case was that of Arthur H. Gossett who was tried for the alleged killing of a man named Conover at Leyden. The men quarrelled and it appears that Gossett shot Conover through the neck, alleging that Conover attacked him with a wagon spoke. Fatal defects were found in the indictment and it was dismissed, but the prisoner was promptly rearrested and bound over, under $5,000 bail, for the action of the grand jury.

The case of the Territory vs. Juan P. Andrez, charged with killing his father-in-law resulted in Andrez being found guilty of murder in the second degree and being sentenced to 50 to 99 years in the penitentiary. Andrez is an Apache Indian and married a squaw who would not live with him. He beat her and her father-in-law interfered. Then instead of beating him, Andrez shot him down from ambush. That act appears to have settled his marital troubles, but new ones at once sprung up.

TAX SUITS.

District Clerk Safford stated this morning that all tax suits had been disposed of, either dismissed or judgment was entered.

An interesting feature of the term was the attempt of a man to bribe a witness. The news came to the court and he was promptly held for the action of the grand jury on the charge of subornation of perjury.

"It was the common opinion of court officials," said Mr. Safford, "that both the grand and the petit juries were the best Rio Arriba county ever had. The petit jury brought in a conviction in every case."

All of the court officials were much pleased at the hospitality shown them in Tierra Amarilla and evidently the officials enjoyed several very pleasant outings judging by the healthy tan seen on their faces. They were all too busy today however, to discuss rival fish claims.

And heavens of mercy and truth,
Are they not bending o'er it?

O bird of the morn and the Spring,
"Tis God through thy carol is giving
Command that His children shall sing
At the mere joy of living.

Only eighteen marriage licenses were issued at Las Vegas during the month of June. The last for the month was issued to Maria Romana Lobato and Jose Venceslao Quintana, each 19 years old, of Casa Colorado.

Smugglers Sell Horses to Sheriff.

Tomas Montes, and his partner Viescas who are wanted in New Mexico on the charge of smuggling, will be taken back to Las Cruces from El Paso, to stand trial for disposing of two smuggled horses, if Sheriff Felipe Lucero, of Las Cruces, can have his way.

New Las Vegas Grant Board.

Judge Clarence J. Roberts has appointed K. D. Goodall, E. G. Murphy, Eugenio Romero and Felix Esquilbel trustees of the Las Vegas grant board cutting the membership of the board from five to four, their annual compensation from $300 to $150 and of their attorney from $150 to $75 a month.

Broke Wife's Collarbone.

Elvira Castillo de Lopez Thursday filed suit against her husband Guillermo Lopez and his surety Clemente Castillo at Albuquerque, for $500 damages. The husband who was under peace bond broke his wife's collarbone and shoulder blade when he resumed his custom of chastising her which it was thought a peace bond had cured.

Killed Twenty-six Coyotes.

Crus Hidalgo, a sheep herder who has a small bunch of sheep in the San Andres mountains about 45 miles north of Las Cruces, has killed 26 coyotes since May 20. The animals are very numerous in that section of the country and have killed a large number of goats, kids and calves on the ranges in that vicinity. Hidalgo shot 18 of those he killed, poisoned five and trapped three.

Held for Burglary.

Miguel Chavez and Alfredo Alvarez were arrested at El Paso and lodged in the city jail on a charge of burglary. The men are held in connection with the burglarizing of the store of Luis Goodman on February 26, for which crime Luis Mendoza was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The grand jury returned two indictments, one against Jose Morales charging burglary and one against Francis McGowan, on the same charge.

Double Wedding.

Jay T. Conway of the Raton Daily Range and Miss Ada Meyers were married at Colorado Springs at the home of Mrs. Ada M. Bullock. At the same time and place, Miss Alice M. Meyers became the wife of Robert M. Wheeler of Denver. Rev. Samuel T. Magill of the Presbyterian church at Raton officiated. Miss Marion Blackwell was maid of honor for both brides and Miss Ruth Wheeler was bridesmaid, while Raymond Meyers was best man for both of the benedicts.

Has Any One Seen Fenter?

Mrs. R. T. Fenter, of Kingsley, Kansas, writes to the New Mexico papers to make inquiry for information as to the whereabouts of her husband who was last heard of in this vicinity about June 20 last, having been here and at Grants and Laguna the early part of the month. "I cannot hear anything about him," writes his wife, "and am afraid something has happened to him." The missing man is described as five feet eleven inches in height, with dark hair and complexion, and blue eyes and wearing a navy blue serge coat and grey trousers.

Scarlet Women Leave Duke City.

Says the Albuquerque Journal Democrat: "In spite of the fact that the notice of the appeal of Kite Ritter was given at the district court yesterday evening many of the women who were depending upon a favorable decision for the redlight district, are quietly moving out. It is also understood that the 'parlor houses' will also close down, possibly the proprietresses staying by the property since they claim the houses as their homes, but with the understanding that they will no longer be used for the foul purpose that has characterized them for many years past."

Billy the Kid.

Billy the Kid, outlaw of unsavory memory, was slain by a posse of outraged citizens near the present village of Taiban, New Mexico, on the Belen cut-off of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway. Billy got his in a prairie shack, which still stands half a mile west of Taiban, on the south side of the track. It is a point of interest to travelers, and every day trainmen are asked to point out Billy's house. It is said that the shack has not been occupied since the late but not lamented Billy fought his last battle. With the passing of Billy the Kid, and the construction of the Santa Fe railroad, New Mexico rose in its might and put an end to the hold up and gun business which long had flourished in the territory. New Mexico now is as orderly as Vermont, and the people of the territory will forget the Bad Man and his days, so soon as the magazines will permit them to do so.—Topeka State Journal.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child.

HAPPY RESULTS.

No wonder scores of Santa Fe citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Santa Fe by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Toribio Rodriguez, 110 Johnson St. Santa Fe, N. M., says: "Two and a half years ago I gave a statement for publication in regard to my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. Today I am stronger in my praise of this remedy than ever. I suffered greatly from disordered kidneys, the pains in my back being so acute at times that I had to stop work and sit down. The trouble steadily grew worse and I rarely knew what it was to be free from an ache or pain of some kind. Soon after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, my pains and aches disappeared and my back became strong."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WESTERN STYLE OF RIDING AT THE ELKS.

Hands, Arms and Whole Frame "Rose Into the Air" For There Was Nothing Tame.

Easterners who have their ideas of horsemanship, the keeping of the hands and shoulders "immobile" while riding, and so forth and so on, must have been rudely shocked when they saw the moving pictures of the world's greatest broncho busters at the Elks Theater last night in a series of moving pictures which held the spectators almost breathless with interest.

The dashing riding exhibit on was from the Fritter Life celebration held at Cheyenne, Wyoming, last fall and Dick Stanley cowboy, and Goldie St. Clair, "cow girl" both world champion riders, were the twin star attractions. It is sad to relate that both have since been killed in exhibitions such as seen last night. They rode horses, cows and buffaloes, with and without saddle and bridle. They seemed to be wizards in maintaining their equilibrium. Dick Stanley also gave a funny exhibition of how a drunken man rides a horse and this very exhibition is what cost him his life in Los Angeles not long ago, for the horse fell with him and killed him.

The other pictures were of the opening of the Roosevelt Dam in Arizona, and of the Insurrectos. Of course Mr. T. R. Roosevelt was very prominent in the dam opening picture and while Teddy's political stock is said to have depreciated somewhat since he failed to carry his own precinct at a memorable election held in the fall, still there are many western admirers of the man who was a real westerner, himself.

The pictures are being exhibited again tonight by R. R. Roubleday of Cheyenne, Wyoming, who is one of the greatest moving picture photographers of the southwest and who has come here to take the De Vargas parade pictures July 4th.

RENEWED MINING ACTIVITY IN ORGAN MOUNTAIN.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 1.—The Philadelphia Mining company has purchased a quantity of machinery and will move to the company's claims on the east side of the Organ mountains. The purchase includes a 50 horse power hoist, an 80 horse power boiler, and an air compressor. As soon as the outfit arrives at the mines. It will be installed and active work will be started on the property, 50 men are being put to work. Paul H. Davis, superintendent of the Philadelphia mining company's property in the Organ mountains mining district, was in the city in conference with his attorneys. There is now a big deal pending which it is thought will result in the opening of the Girard group of mines belonging to that company, and also the Jarilla region. L. B. Bentley, the Organ merchant and mine operator, was in the city buying supplies. Mr. Bentley has a number of men at work on his various claims, but at present is doing little but development work. However, he has his property in such condition that he can immediately put a large force of men at work as soon as conditions in the Organ camp warrant the same.

RIO GRANDE IS FALLING AT SELDEN.

Las Cruces, N. M., July 1.—Engineer Earl Patterson reports from the Leasburg diversion dam that the river has fallen considerably during the past ten days, but there is still a large volume of water at the dam, plenty going down the river after the government canal has been filled. Reports from the north country state that a rise may be expected in the next few days as there have been heavy rains all along the valley. The work of keeping the river in its new channel at the horseshoe curve near Selden, in proceeding slowly, owing to the amount of water passing in the channel. It will take several weeks more of hard and steady labor, however, before he will consider the work sufficient to be permanent.

DRIVEN INSANE BY EATING TOO MUCH CANDY.

Colorado Springs, July 1.—Craving for sweets, which, when gratified, usually resulted in his having an epileptic fit, so unbalanced the mind of Nelson Franz, aged 21 years, that he was adjudged insane in the county and ordered taken to Pueblo. The boy's father testified that for several years Nelson had been in the habit of stealing articles, which he sold. With the proceeds he bought candy, which, it is believed, caused him to have fits and to lose his mind.

MIGHT BE DEAD TODAY.

Garden City, Kas.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hamner, of this city, she says, "I firmly believe that I would not be alive today, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable? If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and acts gently but surely, without bad after-effects. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

NEGLECTED FIELD OF FORESTRY

City Tree a Stepping Stone to Conservation on a Larger Scale

BROOKLYN PARK DEPARTMENT

Each Municipality Should Have Official Looking After Planting.

Trained foresters often consider city tree problems too small to deserve their skilled attention. That all rests with the forester himself. He can make it small or he can find a field even more varied and of as high a standard as the work of those connected with the national forests.

The city tree is the natural stepping stone to the broader problem of national forest preservation. If forest legislation is to be affected at all, then the interest of all citizens must be enlisted. The average man acquires his first lesson in forest conservation from the trees around his own home in which he is naturally most interested and which have to him a definite meaning. The forester in his plea for the saving of national resources, unless the public has been taught some phases of the question in terms of local conditions, will fall to convert as many to his way of thinking on forest policies as he would had more attention been paid to city trees and their relation to forestry.

The ordinary problems of the city forester are planting, extermination of insects and disease, and protecting the street trees from accidental or willful injury, such as cutting down of trees by shopkeepers whose stores they may slightly screen; protecting the trees from injury by public service corporations and private promoters, and guarding them against gnawing horses, house movers, and street graders. There are different ways of doing even this work. There may be the old-fashioned erroneous way or the way of the modern scientific forester. There are very few trained foresters in this country in charge of park and street trees and the old-fashioned methods or rather no methods still prevail.

But there are bigger problems in city tree work. The city forest park idea affords a chance to establish a model forest right in the city and to lay the principles of conservative forest management right at the threshold of every citizen. The parks of our cities have hitherto been looked upon in most instances as store houses for elaborate buildings, ornamental cut stone and floral designs, so that today the common conception of a city park is the usual costly and ornamental park found in almost every city. People usually do not think of the possibility of having bits of woodland or miniature forests in the city. There are only a few forest parks in this country and while the cities are still young, it is possible for them to set aside small tracts of woodland in their suburbs at a small cost, and within a few years they will find themselves the possessors of ground not only worth many times the original cost, but also of inestimable value to the health and development of the citizens.

The people of Brooklyn and Queens have set aside a tract of 536 acres of woodland in the heart of the city for a forest park and they are not a bit sorry for it now. There have as yet been no funds designated for the development of this tract, but we succeeded in establishing there a forest nursery of 80,000 seedling trees at a cost of one and one-half cents per tree, including the planting. This, too, is a novel feature in city tree work and offers unlimited opportunities to the city forester. Citizens and school children come to study this nursery and they are beginning to realize that tree planting is not so expensive after all. Even where we have been obliged to buy larger trees for our park planting, we have this year purchased five hundred oaks and many other hardy trees two inches in diameter at two dollars each, instead of resorting to the usual method of buying larger trees at ten and twelve dollars each. The younger trees will take better to the soil, can be planted at a considerably smaller expense and in the end will catch up in growth with the larger specimens.

The city forester can make his influence strongly felt. He is constantly in touch with citizens helping them to solve their local tree problems. He meets them in their homes, he lectures to them in the public schools and to civic and social organizations, he writes for the local papers, magazines, and school journals.

The city forester can bring the parks and boulevards in closer touch with citizens. He can teach them to know the common trees by labeling prominent specimens in the parks and along the boulevards. He can issue guides to the trees for those desirous of more detailed study; he can have exhibits showing the various phases of tree planting and care. In Brooklyn we have had four exhibits of this sort in the past year. He can form tree clubs among adults and among school children and designate to them definite problems in the planting and care of the trees in their locality.

We already have several such tree clubs in our schools and the adult club idea is spreading with equal rapidity. Several have been recently formed in Brooklyn where the residents of certain streets got together for the purpose of planting trees co-operatively on their street. This method insures uniformity of species, form, and age in the trees and considerably reduces the cost. It has also brought out innate civic pride of the club members, and instead of stopping short with the trees, they invariably went

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE RECONQUEST OF SANTA FE.

Yesterday, the New Mexican quoted from the diary or report of De Vargas as translated by Hon. B. M. Read from his history. Today it prints the story of the reconquest as it will be told at the Plaza by Probate Clerk George W. Armijo, who will appear as De Vargas in the pageant on next Tuesday, and as it appears in the recent history of Mr. Read, Historiador de Nuevo Mexico.

"Onate was the conqueror who established the first settlement in New Mexico in the year 1599. The country remained under the rule of the Spaniards until the 23rd day of August, 1680, when the Spaniards under their Governor, Don Antonio de Otermin, after a terrific battle and siege (here where the city stands) which lasted five days, were expelled from New Mexico. With this expulsion of the Spaniards nothing remained of the conquest; the Indians destroyed everything, churches, buildings, and farms, and in order to do away with the religion they had received from the Spaniards they washed their bodies in the river so as to destroy the effect of the Christian baptism they had received at the hands of the Franciscan priests.

"From 1680 to 1692, nothing of a permanent nature was achieved by the Spaniards although several efforts were made to reconquer the country. Otermin, himself, made a second effort in 1681. Accompanied by 200 soldiers he reentered New Mexico coming as far as the Pueblo of Cochiti, but accomplished nothing. Don Domingo Petriz de Cruzat, who succeeded Otermin, made several efforts to reconquer the country, but failed also. Don Pedro Reneros de Posada succeeded Cruzat and made an armed expedition in 1687 to New Mexico as far as the Pueblo of Santa Ana, but had to abandon the undertaking after a fierce battle with the Indians of Santa Ana, in which nearly all the Indians perished and their pueblo was destroyed by the Spaniards. In 1688, Cruzat was again reappointed, this time as successor of Posada, and undertook the year following to reconquer the country but failed again. This time he had to fight his way from the time he left El Paso del Norte (Ciudad Juarez now) until he reached the Pueblo of Zia, fighting with Apaches and with the Pueblo Indians. He reached Zia the first day of August, 1688, where he met the strongest force, and the fiercest battle which lasted one whole day, was fought in which Cruzat lost several soldiers and the Indians lost 600 killed. Cruzat returned to El Paso only to learn that Don Diego de Vargas Zapata Ponce de Leon had been appointed his successor.

"De Vargas left El Paso del Norte on August 21, 1692, accompanied by a small escort of soldiers, 80 in all, and three priests, Fathers Corvero, Alonzo and Nunez. On the 13th day of September, De Vargas reached Santa Fe and on the next day, the 14th, after several peaceful efforts had been made to subdue the Indians, he was allowed to enter the village which had been fortified by the Indians, accompanied only by six unarmed soldiers and the Father Presidente, Father Corvero. In the center of the square the Indians erected a large cross. De Vargas, with Father Corvero and the six soldiers, marched to the place where the cross was and after stating to the Indians that his coming was not for the purpose of punishing them, only to retake possession of New Mexico for his Majesty Charles II, King of Spain, demanded submission to the King. The Indians obeyed and received the promise of absolute pardon from both De Vargas and Father Corvero. De Vargas then commanded his ensign to unfurl the royal banner and in a loud voice took possession of New Mexico, saying: 'The village of Santa Fe, capital of the Kingdom of New Mexico, and with all her provinces and pueblos, I take possession of for his Catholic Majesty, the King of Spain. Our Lord Senor Carlos Segundo, whose life may God prolong for many years for the protection of his subjects and kingdoms.' Long live the King, long may he live, long may he live that we all may serve him!' answered the soldiers and priests.

"De Vargas and the soldiers then knelt before the cross and Father Corvero sang the TeDeum Laudamus. This done, the gates of the fortification were thrown open and the rest of the Spaniards were allowed to come into the village. The next day, September 15, some of the Indians were baptized. On September 17 mass was celebrated on an improvised altar. De Vargas then, accompanied by Luis Tupatli, Governor of the Pueblo of San Juan, who had come to render obedience, visited the other pueblos and returned to El Paso del Norte on the 20th day of December, 1692, accompanied by the three priests and the soldiers.

"Then came the second entry of De Vargas and the final and permanent conquest of New Mexico. On October 13, 1693, at sunrise, De Vargas, accompanied by 100 soldiers, 70 families, and 17 Franciscan Fathers (making 800 persons in all) left El Paso del Norte to re-settle New Mexico. Arrived at Santa Fe on the 16th day of December, entering the village with only a few of his soldiers and Father Custodio, Father Salvador de San Antonio, and with the banner unfurled by him the year previous unfurled, marched to the center of the village at which place he caused the Indians to erect a large cross and took formal and solemn possession of the province," as stated by him in the report, a translation of which was published yesterday.

"After the official act of taking possession, Father Salvador de San Antonio sang the Te Deum, the litanies of the Holy Mother of God and the hymn Benedictus. The hour of the day being far advanced and De Vargas not wishing to dislodge the Indians without giving them time to leave, ordered his soldiers and colonists," as he says, "to pitch camp in the northwestern suburbs of the village, near the place where now stands the Chapel of Our Lady of Rosario, where they remained until the 29th of December, when De Vargas, having discovered a conspiracy on the part of the Indians in the village and surrounding pueblos to annihilate the Spaniards, marched to the village and demanded the surrender of the place which was defiantly refused. De Vargas then made the attack, laying siege and cutting off the water supply. The Indians fought fiercely all day. The next day, December 30, 1693, at daylight, the Spaniards stormed and took the village, thus consummating the conquest for good, the permanent reconquest of New Mexico consequently dating from December 30, 1693."

WHAT IS LACKING?

Said a thoughtful man yesterday, who has the interests of Santa Fe at heart: "Santa Fe is the best advertised town in the United States, and that means in the world. I have no patience with those who declare that the old town lacks publicity. If nothing else, every freight and passenger car that has 'Santa Fe' in large letters on its sides is an advertisement that the Ivory Soap people would pay a million dollars to have. The article by Miss Agnes C. Laut that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post recently descriptive of Santa Fe and its attractions, was read by five million people and could not have been bought for $10,000. The thousands of folders for the National Educational Meeting at San Francisco distributed by the Santa Fe, featured the free side trip to Santa Fe. Space in that folder could not have been bought by any town for love or money. Every other folder of the great railroad system carries not only the word 'Santa Fe' many times but most of them devote considerable space to this town. The Denver and Rio Grande railroad has published a most artistic booklet on the Cliff Dwellings. Magazines and newspapers give more space and attention to Santa Fe than they do to other towns. Santa Fe itself has advertised freely, abundantly and persistently, for the past fifty years. Scientific, archaeological, historical and professional publications from time to time laud Santa Fe, its climate, its history, its attractions. Surely, no town could reasonably ask for more advertising, and yet, the tourists pass by Santa Fe. What is the reason and what is the matter?"

The subject is one that deserves study, that should be analyzed. It seems that the people who really travel to see things leisurely, are very few, comparatively speaking, and generally turn their faces toward Europe where they delve in the byways. It is certain also, that the great horde of so-called tourists who pass westward each year are not of that class of travelers who possess the real travel spirit. The teachers who are scurrying across the continent at this time are men and women of small means who have saved a year or two to raise the money to go to the Pacific coast. They are not the kind that will stop along the way, they merely follow the beaten paths of travel and see as much as they can from the car windows. Take it the other way. Of the people in Santa Fe who go to New York or Washington, how many stop off along route to view French Lick Springs or some historic or prehistoric place? Isn't it their custom too, to hurry across the continent as rapidly as possible, making stops only in the large cities or at the seaside resorts?

It must be remembered that a thousand other places claim to have the best climate in the world and the most attractions for the tourist. People place little stock in superlatives nowadays for superlatives have been used too much and too thoughtlessly. After all, it is the choice few, the men and women who study, who think, who have sentiment, or have means, that are attracted to a place like Santa Fe and they do not hurry through between trains. To attract these, requires more than the ordinary advertising. To them, a booklet describing soberly, accurately in detail, the mural paintings, the archaeological treasures, the history of the Old Palace, for instance, will prove more of a lure than a gaudy pamphlet telling them in general terms that Santa Fe has the best climate in the world, is the most beautiful city on earth and the most historic settlement on this side of the waters.

But this is only one phase of the problem. The tourist travel of the future will be by automobile, and the town that has the best roads, the most sanitary conditions, the finest hosteleries, will attract the crowds. An automobile road to the Cliff Dwellings, or to the upper Pecos, will count more for Santa Fe's future than anything else that can be thought of. For the fact that Santa Fe was not on the main line of the Santa Fe railroad was a drawback, in the future, it will be a distinct gain, providing the surrounding mountains, canons, resorts, attractions, are made available by "Scenic Highways." Commercial highways, the automobilist finds everywhere, but it is the "Scenic Highways" to out of the way places, off from the main lines of travel, that will attract them and that will pour millions of dollars into New Mexico as soon as the Good Roads Commission awakens to that fact.

The completion of good roads to the upper Pecos across the Pecos forest and to the Cliff Dwellings, will also bring visitors from nearby. What difference does it make to Santa Fe whether a thousand visitors come from China or whether they come from Albuquerque? It is certain that if the Palisades were located in Wyoming only a few people would visit them annually, but lying close to New York, hundreds of thousands view them each month. The Adirondacks located in Montana would not attract one-tenth of the people that they do now by reason of being near to populous centers. Santa Fe should make more effort to attract people of nearby towns and nearby states, for people from nearby are more liable to come than those from a long distance, and visitors from Las Vegas and Estancia are just as much good and as desirable as visitors from Chicago or New York. Santa Fe has many things to attract that surrounding towns do not possess, and with good roads into its mountain fastnesses and to its cliff dwellings it would not vainly invite people to visit it. That is another phase of the problem. Santa Fe must not expect in this age of specialization to accomplish city building without effort, without study, without system. Haphazard advertising like haphazard effort no longer counts in business or in any other activity and certainly not in city building.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

There was a time when it was the boast of the average Santa Fe resident that he could leave his house without locking his doors, that no one ever stole fruit or implements out of his garden. This is no longer true and petit larceny has increased to an annoying extent. Is this because stealing is forbidden by law?

Five years ago, the New Mexican declared proudly in its editorial columns that there are fewer murders in New Mexico than in any other state. Today, it admits shamefully that New Mexico the past twenty months has had more murders per thousand inhabitants than any other state in the Union. Is this because murder is forbidden by law? Anarchists say that law is the cause of crime and they want to abolish all law and give absolute personal freedom to every individual to do as he pleases and as his instincts prompt him. Yet, there are people who are neither natural born fools nor anarchists who really believe and solemnly assert that Prohibition increases drunkenness. It is freely asserted, although the New Mexican has not seen convincing proof of it, that more intoxicants are consumed in prohibition states than there are elsewhere or than there was before Prohibition. If the assertion is true, the cause is much deeper than the Prohibition law, just as the cause for the increase of larceny and of murder lies much deeper than the laws against stealing and against murder and must be sought in a common disregard of restraint and of law and order that is not complimentary to civilization nor to American patriotism.

The Albuquerque Commercial Club has 300 members; the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce has about 50; the Albuquerque Commercial Club will increase its membership to 500; the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce is not taking in new members. The members of the Albuquerque Commercial Club pay $2 dues a month and the dues are collected promptly so that with 500 members the annual revenue will be $12,000. The Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce charges $1 a month, but only a few of the fifty members pay it, and the club is in arrears with its rent and current bills. What is the matter with Santa Fe business men and property owners?

Some times events can be gauged more accurately from a distance than from nearby. The New Mexican's correspondent at Washington, D. C., an old timer by the way and well posted on affairs political, persisted in predicting that New Mexico would have statehood by next Tuesday, July 4. The editor, more than two thousand miles away, was convinced on the other hand that statehood would not come until summer of next year. As a matter of fact no one at Washington or in Santa Fe really knew or really knows the exact date of the admission of New Mexico and one prophecy on the subject is as good as any other.

"The International" declares that the temperance agitation is an invention of Baptist and Methodist ministers to help all their churches. This is equal to saying that the Jews invented the Ten Commandments to keep their followers from straying among the Philistines. Neither Father Matthews and the million or more members of the Catholic Total Abstinence Societies, nor Emperor Wilhelm and his recent temperance notions can, however, be accounted for in such offhand manner.

If it is true, as asserted in print, that Prohibition increases the number of violators of the law, this is no reflection on Prohibition but on the American people, just as it would be if laws against stealing increased larceny.

An Albuquerque paper stated this week that a jail prisoner suspected of insanity was chained to the floor of a small cell in jail. The New Mexican hopes that this intimation at barbarism in the metropolis of New Mexico is not based on fact.

GIRL MAINTAINS SHE WAS KIDNAPPED.

Thirteen Year Old Cecilia Jackson Tells Weird Story to Police

El Paso, July 1.—With tears streaming down her face, little 13 year old Cecilia Jackson sat in the office of the chief of police and strenuously denied the accusations of her parents that she had attempted to run away from home, or that she wanted to leave home. Time and again were attempts made to entangle the little maiden in the story she had recited, but at every recital she repeated word for word the same story.

Says She Was Kidnaped. The little girl stated that she was in the northeastern part of the city attempting to sell some raffle tickets, and that seeing a woman sitting in an automobile on the corner, she went up to her and tried to dispose of her wares. The woman said she did not want any but that a block down the street she had some friends who would buy a lot of the tickets and asked the little girl to get in the machine and she would give her a ride for a block.

The little girl, noticing that she had been riding over a block, asked the woman to put her down, stating that her mother would be uneasy as she was waiting for her. The girl says the woman then told her that she had no children of her own, and that she wanted to take her home and educate her. "I told the lady," said the little girl between sobs, "that my mother would educate me, and that I wanted to go back home, but she wouldn't put me down."

Left Alone in Desert. After she had been quieted, the maiden resumed her story which was to the effect that when she saw the woman would not put her down, or bring her back, she began to scream and fight, and that somewhere out in the desert on the other side of Ysleta she was put out of the machine. She then walked until she came to a ranch house, where she says she spent the night, and that the woman with whom she stayed was named Mrs. Moon, who had informed her she was living at Socorro. The little girl says that on Monday morning, Mrs. Moon showed her the road back to Ysleta and that she started homeward. She was overtaken by a man in a wagon, who gave her a ride as far as Ysleta. Here she met up with a man in an automobile, who she says, gave him his name as Mr. Miller, and that upon request he brought her to El Paso letting her out at the Sheldon hotel, after which she went to her home.

Was Not Going to Douglas. The girl strongly denies that she has ever asked anyone the direction to Douglas or that she talked to a street car conductor, or that she was seen by the milkman on the mesa at 4 o'clock Thursday morning, all of these three reports having been made to the police by different parties. "How could I talk to a milkman when I was asleep in bed on Mrs. Moon's ranch?" questioned the girl in reply to the question that had been asked her, and there the questioning of the girl stopped.

Raffled Her Bracelet. The mother then told the chief of police that often her daughter had wished to go to New York where she has relatives, and complained of being poor. In order to raise money, the girl has asked her mother to let her raffie her bracelet to which her mother consented. "But," continued Mrs. Jackson, "I am a sick woman and I had to use her money for the doctor and I think she got mad and wanted to run away."

At this point of the mother's narrative, the little maiden broke into tears again. "Why, mother, you know that is not so. I do not mind being poor and I want you to use my money if you need it," she sobbed.

Read of Travels. Chief Jenkins then took the maiden into his private office, but there she related the same story as she had told before to the reporter. While she was gone, the mother told a reporter that some time ago her daughter read in a story book, how a little girl had traveled a long way without any money, and that after reading the story her daughter asked her if she could not get to New York that way. The mother says she told her no, but that she believes the little girl thought she could accomplish it anyway.

"I wish I could believe her story," said the father, "but I am sorry to say that she is such a big story teller, that it is hard for me to believe what she is telling now. She is a smart child and has read a lot and has a wonderful imagination, and I think she is making up her story."

The officers of the law believe the little maid has suffered from a lapse of memory, and does not know what has really happened but nothing they can say or do can break the child's narrative. She can give no description of the woman who took her automobile riding Wednesday, neither can she furnish the number of the car, although she says she tried to get it, but the machine drove away too fast.

LAS CRUCES NATIONAL GUARD COMPANY ACTIVE. Las Cruces, N. M., July 1.—Company A of the New Mexico national guard was given a hard drill at the armory, which will be followed by two more before the company leaves on July 18 for the encampment at Las Vegas. Company A will leave here with about 60 enlisted men, under the command of Captain P. E. Dessauer. Second Lieutenant Haley will also accompany the boys, but First Lieutenant Baker will be unable to leave his duties at the Elephant Butte dam. The encampment will last until July 30.

DORIS.

Down the lane and across the fields Dorris and I were walking. Fast bulging stacks that the harvest yields. Dorris and I were talking.

"The man I wed," said Dorris fair (Dorris did most of the talking), "must be a multi-millionaire."

"He must be a Yale man, too. Isn't it lovely walking?"

"Now I am poor and my hair is brown (I never was much at talking) And I came from Harvard in Cambridge town (I'm really quite good at walking).

But I slipped my arm around Dorris sweet (She suddenly stopped her talking), And I hugged her nearly off her feet. 'Twas really a help to walking."

And I said, "I'm sorry I don't suit you." (Somehow we'd stopped our walking). But, "Oh," said Dorris, "I guess you'll do." For Dorris was only talking. — Clarence S. Harper in Harvard Lampoon.

How It Happened.

"Aren't they rather old to be getting married?"

"Rather."

"Sweethearts in youth, I suppose?"

"Yes, loved one another dearly."

"How did they come to fall out?"

"They didn't fall out. He proposed to her by letter and she replied accepting him, but she gave the letter to her father to mail, so he just received it last week."

Had Three Accomplishes.

"How did the burglar escape?" inquired the detective.

"Well," replied the guard with the damaged eye, "he sort o' nicknamed himself out."

"What do you mean?"

"First he pried open the cell door with a jimmy, then he knocked me down with a billy and then he sallied forth."

Language of Love.

"You appear to be greatly interested in your daughter's love affairs."

"I am so," said the professor. "I have been listening intently for some time now, and that young fellow seems to have a vocabulary of only eight or nine words. I intend to write a monograph on the subject."

THE BEST MAN.

"Who were the best man at the wedding last night, Sam?"

"I think it were Pete Smith; he done got $5 to be preacher and only got him one."

WORST OF MALADIES

Homesickness a Most Real Physical Ailment.

Excellent Scientific as Well as Sentimental Explanation for It—Has Been Known to Take Form of Raving Madness.

If you doubt that homesickness is a real disease, to whom the most sturdy and self-sufficient mortal may be subject physically, it is evident you have not traveled widely.

Homesickness, to the grown man, seems like a disease for susceptible children, a mental trouble which, if experienced, must not be revealed, for fear of ridicule; it seems like an ailment for the timid and shrinking. It is no such thing.

There was never an army recruited that did not suffer, to a man, with a more or less intense attack of the disease, though few soldiers will admit it, and physicians in the field have frequently found men mere physical wrecks, with no apparent organic trouble, who were simple victims of what is scientifically known as nostalgia.

There is a scientific explanation for it as well as a sentimental, and in scores of cases the least sentimental people have suffered vitally from a disease which no one could diagnose, and which, in fact, was no more than common homesickness, such as children suffer when away from the parental abode.

There is no organ in the body which may not be affected as a direct result of nostalgia. Indigestion is the commonest symptom of all. Blood disturbances give place to apoplexy, and sudden death often ensues. The brain is at a tension and is swelled with blood. Sometimes it takes the form of a raving madness.

Soldiers who have acquired mysterious, incurable diseases in the service, which seem to be killing them by inches, frequently recover at once when taken into their home country or into an environment that is similar.

The worst feature is that the ailment feeds on itself. The sufferer finds nothing more painful, and yet nothing sweeter, than nursing his own heart pangs, recalling the scenes of his fondest associations and reveling in the tears and agonies of mind that come from such reflection.

The disease is a physical one in its manifestations, but there is only one physical cure—return to the spot of attachment.

Senate a Place of Peril.
The United States senate is a pathetically good thing for the doctors. Being a senator is one of the most wearing jobs that a man could well find. If the truth be told about it the reason so many senators have died in the last few months is that being a senator is a deadly occupation.

During the last weeks of the tariff session a census of the senate was made by two of its members, who reported that over half its members were regularly under the care of physicians. Bad nerves, bad stomachs, loss of sleep, overwork, close confinement in offices and ill ventilated senate chamber constituted the basis of the trouble. The average senator rises to big responsibilities, important committee places, etc., at about the age when other men are laying down the most onerous demands on their time. The burdens grow heavier as the men become less able easily to bear them.

But there will continue to be plenty of comfortably fixed old gentlemen applying for the toga just the same.—Washington Times.

Pretended Autobiographies.
An autobiography used to be a biography written by oneself. There was always of course the possibility of a novelist writing an autobiographical novel, a novel illuminating in regard to himself, or conceived in the autobiographical form.

Nowadays autobiography means simply a life, or romanticized biography, written in the first person. In this sense L. C. Alexander of Holly Lodge, Putney, S. W., is the autobiographer of William Shakespeare. This volume is nothing if not specific. It even tells just what books Shakespeare took with him to London when he "came up from Huddersley"—some thirty of them.

He fell upon lean times and sold them one by one and fed upon the proceeds, "and most sparsely too." Later he played women's parts upon the stage, and took to writing certain plays on his own account. The "autobiography" breaks off, none too soon, with the planning of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." There is ingenuity here, however, and any one in doubt as to the date of the composition of various plays has only to open this volume to learn the very truth.—The Independent.

All But That.
"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is a peevish old millionaire."

"Never mind. He may ask you to marry him."

"Yes, he may. He has about run out of other requests."

Collaborators.
"I understand your wife collaborates with you."

"Yes, her work aids me immensely. I don't believe I have ever seen any of her writings."

"She doesn't write; she prepares my meals."—Houston Post.

Keep on Side of Newspapers.
"Keep in touch with the newspaper men," is the advice of Rev. C. F. Reiser, a New York pastor.

"It is a great mistake for clergymen to keep aloof from newspaper men and refuse to be interviewed," says Dr. Reiser. "Everybody reads the newspapers and if you want to get your interests before the public, you must advertise in this important agency. They will always treat you fairly if you give them reason for doing so. I never could get a correspondence in my New York church did I not get the newspapers on my side."

OLDEST ODD FELLOW IN UNITED STATES

When Captain John M. Carnes of Provincetown, Mass., celebrates his ninety-eighth birthday next July he will have the honor and distinction of being the oldest living Odd Fellow in the United States if not in the world, the oldest survivor of the gold rush to California in 1849, the oldest whale fisherman in New England and the oldest resident of Cape Cod.

In his quaint little home in the eastern part of Provincetown he is spending the last years of his life quietly and peacefully.

Born in Boston July 14, 1813, he moved to Provincetown with his parents when he was but six years old. The little country school house was not in session at the time, and Captain Carnes at once busied himself familiarizing the methods of the fishermen. When summer came he went fishing just for the fun, but when the cold weather set in he had enjoyed the fishing so much that he pleaded with his mother to let him ship for a trip.

He went, and for years after followed the sea for a livelihood. He fished with men now many years dead, in dories, sloops, schooners and Grand Bankers. When a mere lad, hardly tall enough to look over the side of the vessel he shipped for a voyage to the Grand Banks as a cook and provided for a crew of twenty-two men during the entire cruise.

When the gold craze struck the east in 1849, Captain Carnes purchased a vessel, secured a number of men, anxious to seek their fortune, as passengers, and started on the trip around the Horn.

On several occasions the passengers during violent storms and high winds threatened to kill Captain Carnes if he did not put into port. He kept on, however, and brought his ship safe and sound through the Golden Gate, months after she had passed Boston Light.

Captain Carnes remained in the west about two years and returned to Provincetown a wiser, but not as he had expected, a poor man. He resumed whaling, and for years continued to spear the monsters of the deep in southern and northern waters.

Two years ago he drove a horse out to his cranberry bog. The horse became frightened while he was busy at work and ran away. Three hours afterward he startled the natives by walking the distance, four miles, to town.

Even now when he is nearing his one-hundredth birthday he is in good health and is a remarkably well-served man. He takes his daily walks, reads the papers and magazines and is well posted on current matters.

He never failed to vote at election time if he was on land, and in recent years the aspiring politicians consider it an honor to send a team for the aged man.

At the last town election a candidate for selectman drove up to carry Captain Carnes to the town hall. On the way he told the old sea captain how he should vote.

Captain Carnes voted and rode back home with the candidate, but after he had gone turned to his housekeeper and said: "I fooled him fine; he thought I was going to vote for him, but I voted for the son of my old shipmate and I did the right thing at that."

IS MAID OF HONOR AT CONFEDERATE REUNION

Miss Kathleen Mulligan, maid of honor for the Kentucky division at the Confederate reunion at Little Rock, Ark., is the youngest daughter of Judge James Hillary Mulligan, ex-consul to Samoa, and Genevieve Morgan Williams Mulligan, a famous southern beauty and a member of the Morgan family of Tennessee, who gave to the Confederate cause 14 of its bravest commissioned officers.

Miss Mulligan is small and petite and a great favorite in society. Two years ago, at the Memphis reunion, she was maid of honor for the southern division, and although but a school girl at the time, was one of the most admired and popular of all the maids and sponsors.

Miss Mulligan has many relatives in Arkansas, she being the great granddaughter of Col. Willoughby Williams, one of the largest land owners and cotton planters in that state, and a granddaughter of Dr. Robert N. Williams of Bankhead Place, Ark. She is also a cousin of Maj. Alex. Nichol and William Nichol of Pine Bluff.

Couldn't Do It Too Soon.
"If you don't marry me," he cried desperately, "I shall kill myself!"

"And write a note telling all about it," queried she.

"Yes."

"And hold my photograph in your hand?"

"I had thought about it."

"Well, just wait a minute," she said, "and I'll borrow pa's pistol for you. My! Won't it be romantic?"

Immense Wrist Bags.

New wrist bags of black velvet are raved at Nice, by smart women are of an immense size—really larger than anything of the sort ever seen before.

Walking, they would wear a real burden; sitting in one's carriage, laid on the lap, they are highly ornamental. Flats, and mounted with velvet-covered fittings, they are suspended from a chain of fine cut steel; so slender, it seems quite inadequate to their size; cut steel is woven into the velvet in a deep border and old Gothic designs, trimming both sides alike.—Vogue.

Lace Millinery

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

THE keynote of fashionable headwear for women is lace, as shown in the photograph above. The hat should be of dark straw so as to form an effective background for the delicate tracery of the lace, which may be Irish, Cluny or better still of Nacrame. In this instance, the hat is of dark blue straw, trimmed and rimmed with babe Irish lace. A pom-pom of fluffy white feathers completes the confection.

LIGHT CLOTH WALKING SUIT GOOD USE FOR EXTRA SCARFS

May Colored Material Most Effective for This Peculiarly Jaunty Costume.

Hay-colored cloth is used here, with trimming of wide black military braid; the narrow skirt has a strip of the braid taken down the left side of front.

The coat is cut so that the braid corresponds, the right side of front.

May Be Made into Blouse by Any One at All Clever With the Needle

If you have an extra scarf in the Paisley, Dresden or Parisian design and want to have a blouse to match the scarf which you wish to retain, for scarfs still have wide fashion, the idea of turning the extra one into a blouse is one you can snatch up and put to good use.

Scarfs, mufflers and kerchiefs of these silky crepe materials are easily cut up and made into neat and becoming blouses by the home needleworker who takes advantage of the innovation.

Almost invariably the middle possesses a figure design, while the border is also composed of figures with a band of white or light color between these two figured portions. Make it a point to use these strips of material for the lower part of the blouse or the inside of the sleeves, and in thus utilizing the plain strip a bolero effect is secured.

One must choose for oneself according to the largeness of design whether to set in the figured parts lengthwise or crosswise, the lengthwise effect being assumed generally only when the figure is very large.

These with smaller figures can so well be arranged in a series of crosswise bars that it would hardly be becoming in the lengthened effect.

These crepe scarf waists are draped under sheer veiling, to which they adapt themselves readily without any nerve jarring aspect that attend some of the innovations that are executed in such an off-hand manner.

For the Traveler.

The traveler who is fastidious about the boiling of her eggs should invest in one of the egg-shaped boilers of copper, small enough to pack in a trunk. It will cook four eggs.

This lamp is like a huge egg, has an alcohol lamp beneath and a tray with four compartments to hold the eggs erect in the water and make removal easy.

For the girl in an apartment who likes to do light housekeeping such a cooker could be utilized for making cup custards and other dishes cooked in water.

Survival of the Kimono Sleeve.

It is strange how faithful Dame Fashion is to the kimono sleeve, which still appears on the latest models, and we have gone back to the very high waist effect. In most of the new skirts there is a loose pleat at the back, which hangs down to varying lengths, but generally reaches the hem. This has a charming effect, and takes away the extreme severity of the plain, tight skirt. The train which has made its appearance is either cut quite square or is very narrow indeed.

APPREHENSIONS.

A comet came some time ago.

We feared some deadly stroke.

The days went safely by and, lo!

The comet is a joke.

The trusts we used to grimoily vow

Disaster would provoke.

But those predictions strike us now

As something of a joke.

They used to say the railways would Leave everybody broke.

But they are trying to be good.

Our fears are but a joke.

Each terror that looms up immense,

All wreathed in superstitious smoke,

We always find, a few months hence,

Was nothing but a joke.

Advertising Talks

BUSINESS MEN OF TWO KINDS

The "Live" Merchant and the Drone—Good Advertising Means More Than Newspaper Publicity.

As a rule, if a newspaper prints a talk on advertising, the reader takes it for granted the newspaper is "boosting" its own wares, its advertising space. Newspaper advertising, although the most far reaching, is not the only successful means of advertising and the subject of advertising one's business can be profitably discussed without laying too much stress on the newspapers as the proper medium.

Over fifty per cent. of the business enterprises started in this country fail. This assertion may seem astounding, but look back over the history of nearly any city for the past five years. As you go down the street try to remember what business occupied this and that room a few years ago. You will be astonished by the results of your investigation.

Of those business establishments that manage to survive only about half do a really profitable business. This does not mean that business has been slack. It simply means that business men, like those of all other cities, are divided into two classes, the drones and the workers. The worker's place is known throughout the country, whereas the drone's place of business is known to only a few friends of the owner. The live business man has a neat display window, well lighted, and keeps the freshest stock on display there. When you come inside the door you will find everything neat. It does not cost money to keep the place looking spick and span—just a little work. When he shows you his stock you are convinced that his window display and his newspaper assertions have not lied to you, and you trust him. Also, his service is of the best. His clerks are well dressed and courteous. He pays them good salaries for he can afford to do so. You see this merchant's name on bill boards throughout the county, he sends you a letter every now and then calling attention to his stock in trade and every day he tells you his story in a neat looking newspaper advertisement.

The drone, on the other hand, although he may be able to make a living, records no growth in his business as the years go on. His display window is dusty and the goods he displays have been seen there for months. His store is dark and has hardly enough business to keep one clerk active. Outside the name on the front, you know nothing about his business. He may have many things that you want, but he has never told you so, for advertising costs too much, hence he has not got your trade and has but little chance of getting it. He may spend a dollar or two now and then on a newspaper ad, but if his store is not filled with customers the next day he tells you that he can see no good in advertising.

John Wanamaker took in $24.97 on his first day in business. He kept the 67 cents and spent the balance in advertising the next day. Wanamaker was no reckless schemer. He simply had enough business acumen to realize that you cannot get business without publicity.

Advertising is the life-blood of business and when this blood stops circulating business stops. Modern business depends for earning its expenses, consisting of rent, taxes and wages for help, and then of a fair remuneration for invested capital, on means for reaching the largest number of customers as quickly as possible.

Two Ways of Saying It.

THIS
"It's the constant drop of water
That wears away the stone.
It's the constant exerciser
That develops all the bone.
It's the constant advertiser
That brings the bacon home."

AND THIS
The constant drop of water
Wears away the hardest stone;
The constant gnaw of Towser
Vanishes the toughest bone;
The constant cooling lover
Carries off the blushing maid;
And the constant advertiser
Is the one who gets the trade.

Ad Pointers.
"A man who advertises a business properly is a distributor and helps to economize for the consumer."—Arthur Brisbane.

"Newspaper advertising is the cheapest channel of communication ever established by man. If there were anything cheap rest assured that the greatest merchants in America would not spend individually sums ranging up to a half million dollars a year and more in this form of attracting trade."—Brisbane.

"Calculating on the basis of a number of copies of an advertisement produced and distributed newspaper ads are less expensive than any other medium."—Mail Order Journal.

RESTRICTED.

When things go wrong
In this old life,
A married man
Can blame his wife,
And as he sits
Has done before,
Can kick the cat
And slam the door.

The bachelor,
Alas, cannot
Thus vent his spleen
When very hot.
If dear he blames
He gets a call,
And he dares not kick
The cat at all!
