PASSES UP MILLIONS TO STAY ON STAGE

MISS ANTOINETTE PERRY.

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.) Chicago, July 28.—I would rather be a second hand Perry than own all the riches in the world," is the statement of 17-year-old Antoinette Perry, a member of the "Mrs. Templeton's Telegram company," playing at Powers' theater, Chicago.

And, just as a slight indication that she means what she says, Miss Perry, by her decision to stay on the stage, relinquished all interest in her grandfather's estate, valued at $5,000,000.

He told her that if she went on the stage he would disinherit her and her mother, Mrs. Edna Hall Perry, a well known club woman of Denver, Colo. They are the only heirs.

"I think that God, when He put us on earth, gave each some talent that we were expected to improve," she said yesterday. "I feel that God has given me an especial talent for acting, and much as I would like to please my grandfather, I cannot give up the stage."

Miss Perry is decidedly pretty. Not only that, but she has a "manner," she was found ensuring the stage "smooth" from her chair at the close of an afternoon performance.

"I'm going to stay on the stage, but not because I have any great idea to become a star. I'm just an ordinary good little woman," she said, in her habitually serious voice. "I'm in love with my work and I'm going to stay in it as long as the public like me."

"Grandpa Hall is cruel to ask me to give up the stage. My work to me is just as important as his old gold mine is to him; and I'm sure I would not ask him to give up his gold mine."

Ex-Senator C. L. Hall, of Colorado, is rated the third wealthiest man in that state, his gold mine, the "Mammoth," being one of the richest in the west. From early youth he has had a decided opinion of the stage. His antipathy led him to the renunciation of a daughter because she had the temerity to marry an actor.

BUSIEST BIG CANAL ON EARTH AT "SOO"—TRAFFIC 30,000,000 TONS.

CELEBRATION AT SAULT STE. MARIE TO COMMEMORATE THE BEGINNING OF NAVIGATION BETWEEN LAKES SUPERIOR AND HURON 50 YEARS AGO—THE DEVELOPMENT FROM A SMALL CANAL—AN EXPENDITURE OF $12,000,000, WHICH HAS RESULTED IN GREAT RICHES TO MANY.

A BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF THE GREAT CANAL LOCKS AT SAULT STE. MARIE.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 28.—Fifty years ago navigation between Lakes Superior and Huron was made possible by the construction of a canal around the falls in St. Mary's river. It is now the highway for more ship traffic than any other canal on earth. The fifth anniversary of this important event is to be observed in the first week of August, with a celebration of international importance.

Men whose names are known the length and breadth of the continent will attend. Among them will be vessel owners, mine owners and capitalists, many of whom have great fortunes that were made possible by the canal. There will be engineers and a host of others interested in the waterway. Visitors to the number of 10,000 are expected. Charles T. Harvey, who supervised the construction of the first canal, will be here. The visitors will be at Sault Ste. Marie, summer resort hotels and the homes of residents of this city.

Congress and the state of Michigan have given recognition to this celebration by appropriating money for it. Congress gave $10,000, Michigan $15,000, and $25,000 was raised by the people of this section.

Hon. Peter White, of Marquette, is at the head of the commission having charge of the celebration. He is a son of iron mines and steamship lines.

An important feature of the affair will be the unveiling of a bronze monument, designed by Dr. Gaudens. The program includes the dedication and unveiling of this new monument, a review of the Third regiment of the state militia, and a reception to Governor Warner, on the first day, with a grand pyrotechnic display in the evening, a marine parade, speeches by Vice President Fairbanks, Senator Burrows, Peter White and others, on the second day, to be followed by another display of fireworks in the evening. Both fire works displays will be shown from an elevation on the outermost pier, in full view of the American shore of the river, where a grand stand large enough to seat thousands of people has been erected.

Facts About the Canal.

Originally freight and passengers were transported around the falls over a portage nearly three miles in length. The great ship canal constructed by Michigan in consideration of a government land grant of 200,000 acres, was completed June 4, 1855. It was a little over a mile in length, and cost $1,000,000. The year before the canal was built, 12,000 tons of freight passed over the portage. The year after the canal was opened showed a tonnage of 100,000. Since that time the annual increase has been about 20 per cent. During the season of 1904 the freight that passed through the canal amounted to $1,546,104 tons. The first canal served from 1855 to 1881, when the Wellst lock was built to accommodate the larger vessels of that period. It was made 515 feet in length and is still in use.

Between 1887 and 1894 the Poe lock was built on the site of the old state lock. It is 600 feet in length and has a chamber 100 feet in width, from end to end.

The canal since 1892 has been deepened to twenty-five feet. The Poe lock will accommodate vessels drawing twenty-one feet of water. The canal varies in width from 200 to 1,000 feet, and is more than one and one-half miles in length. The cost of the canal and locks since 1855 has been as follows:

State locks and canal of 1855	$1,000,000
Wellst lock	1,000,000
Poe lock	2,000,000
Widening and deepening of canal	5,000,000
Improving the channel through lower courses of St. Mary's river	4,000,000
Total	$12,000,000

Some Other Facts of Interest.

Hydraulic power from Lake Superior is used in operating the locks. A pressure of 200 pounds per square inch is secured in the machinery on the Poe lock.

The Poe lock can be filled or emptied in seven minutes. The Wellst lock is smaller, but requires as much time to operate.

Before 1881, when the old lock was controlled by the state of Michigan, a toll of 65 cents a ton was imposed to cover repairs and expenses of operating, but since the locks have been operated by the federal government there has been no charge.

Nearly 100 men are employed by the government in charge of the canal and the locks, or government grounds along the water front.

The total operating expenses for 1904 were $243,488.

Government engineers are making plans for another widening of the canal and a new lock, the total cost of which will be about $11,000,000.

LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF PRINCESS LOUISE, OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA.

Princess Louise, who has been sued for a divorce by her husband, Prince Philip, is the daughter of King Leopold of Belgium. She married Philip against her will under orders from her father, and the couple lived very unhappily.

A number of years ago she met Count Von Matschick-Kriegelstein, who is named as co-respondent. He was a colonel in the Austrian army. When their relations were discovered, Philip put his wife in a mad house, where she was incarcerated for the scandal of Europe for years.

Her lover made several sensational attempts to rescue her and finally succeeded a few months ago.

A ROUSING FAIR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

A most enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the New Mexico Territorial Fair association was held last night at the office of the president and secretary of the association, and much business of general interest to the approaching big fair was thoroughly thrashed out.

Due to the temporary absence of the president, Col. W. H. Greer, and vice president, George Arnold, the meeting was called to order by W. T. McCright, chairman of the executive committee.

The following gentlemen were noted down by the secretary as present: W. H. Greer, president; J. H. Herndon, treasurer; D. E. B. Sellers, secretary; W. T. McCright, D. N. Marron, D. A. Macpherson, M. Nash, F. J. Houston, D. H. Briggs, Felix Lester, George P. Leonard, M. W. Flournoy, Joseph Barnett, and by special invitation George L. Brooks.

Base Ball Tournament.

After much discussion, indulged in by Messrs. Marron, Brooks, Lester, Houston and McCright, the base ball tournament at the fair became a fixed feature. McCright moving the motion being seconded, that $1,500 be appropriated for said tournament, if six teams or more participate, the money to be divided into four money, and if four teams, or less, to be divided into three purses. The matter of arranging a series of entry, etc., will be left to the base ball superintendent, with the sanction of the executive committee.

Bucking Bull.

Mr. Barnett had just returned from Colorado Springs and he gave a graphic account of a bucking bull on exhibition recently in that city, and thought the attraction would be a splendid one for the approaching fair. It was moved and seconded that the secretary be instructed to write the secretary of the Colorado Spring Racing association, relative to the possible cost of securing this attraction.

Invitation to Governor.

A letter from J. H. O'Reilly, who is at Santa Fe, was read. It referred to Governor Otero and a suggestion made as to a section of the big trades parade being devoted to automobiles. The matter was fully discussed, and a motion prevailed, which was seconded, that the governor be invited to formally open the fair and that the automobile parade be left for consideration to the regularly appointed fair parade committee.

No Foot Ball.

The secretary was instructed to write to J. G. Miller, of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, declining the proposal for a series of foot ball games between the College and University teams, owing to the fact that the fair commences too early in the year to enable either team to get in shape for fast playing, and suggested a series of games for Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Superintendent.

The question of a good man for superintendent of the stock show, came up for discussion, and, at the suggestion of the president that he had his eye on a certain gentleman in the room, everybody looked toward George L. Brooks. The latter gentleman blushed at the prompt recognition, whereupon President Greer announced "I appoint George L. Brooks superintendent of the stock show."

It was then moved by McCright, seconded by Mr. Marron, that Dr. John P. Pearce be appointed superintendent of the speed ring, and the motion carried.

Horse Show.

On motion, duly seconded and carried, D. A. Macpherson was selected chairman of the committee to investigate the advisability of getting up a fancy horse show, none but New Mexico horses to participate. W. H. Dunn, C. E. Newcomer, Harry P. Lee and E. L. Washburn were selected as a committee to affiliate with Chairman Macpherson. All communications on this subject to be addressed to the chairman.

Fruit and Vegetables.

For a fruit and vegetable exhibit, $500 were appropriated by the committee.

Other matters were discussed, which will be acted upon later by the committee, or by the president and secretary. In any event, matters are shaping for a rousing fair the coming September, and everybody in the northwest will attend.

CORN CROP PROMISES IMMENSELY BIG YIELD

Washington, July 28.—While reports regarding the outlook for the wheat crop are considerably at variance, the reports concerning the corn crop for 1905 are nearly all to the effect that the outlook is favorable for a large crop. The total estimated acreage of corn this year is 94,236,000 acres, an increase of 1,500,000 acres over last year. The condition of the crop the opening of the month was said. The harvest will, of course, depend upon growing conditions the remainder of the season. Throughout the corn belt the crop has so far progressed nicely.

The oats crop gives every indication of being up to normal, under the slightly increased acreage. It seems safe to anticipate a yield aggregating in the neighborhood of 100,000,000 bushels, but this, of course, may have to be modified later. The rye and barley outlook is good.

POOL SELLING AND BOOKMAKING CHARGED

Jefferson City, Mo., July 28.—Quo warrant proceedings, prepared by Attorney General Hadley, were filed in the supreme court today, seeking to annul the charter of the Delmar Jockey club and to confiscate the property for the use of the state. Judge Marshall of the supreme court issued an order directing the respondents to appear before the supreme court October 19, and show cause why the charter should not be annulled and the property confiscated by the state.

The petition alleges the misuse of the franchise granted the jockey club since the law prohibiting pool-selling and bookmaking recently went into effect.

ALBUQUERQUE TO HAVE WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Within Ten Days This City Will Have Communication With Outside World Through the De Forest System.

Albuquerque will soon have communication with all parts of the world by means of the American De Forest wireless telegraph. A station will be installed within the next ten days in this city. Two locations have already been offered for the station. One is at J. H. O'Reilly's drug store and the other is at the cigar store of Stern, Schloss & company. No definite selection has yet been made.

C. P. LaMountain, the representative of the De Forest company in this city, was seen by an Evening Citizen reporter today, relative to the establishment of a station here, and he gave the following interesting information:

"Within the next ten days a De Forest wireless station will be located in this city. The station will be connected with all the stations in Colorado, California and the east, and it will be possible for a person in Albuquerque to send a message to London or Paris, or in fact, to any part of the world where the De Forest company has a station. The station will be put on the station at Trinidad, and when completed and in working order, Albuquerque station will be installed. It is the intention of the company to put in a station in every town in New Mexico and Arizona that can support one.

"The station in this city will be a sort of relay or headquarters, for all the stations in New Mexico and Arizona, thus making it very important. It will start with one operator, but should the business demand, two operators will be put to work, and perhaps more.

"There is one great advantage the De Forest system will have over the present telegraph systems in the country, and it is that it will send messages for just one-half the rate of the present companies. For instance, if it cost $1 to send a message from Albuquerque to Denver, the De Forest company will send the message for fifty cents."

Much interest has been manifested by the citizens of the city in the new enterprise, and many are anticipating sending wireless messages to their friends as soon as the station is in working order.

(From Tuesday's Daily Citizen.)

Washington, July 25.—Commander Lucien Young, who was ashore at the time the explosion occurred on the Benington in San Diego harbor, has had his share of hair-breadth escapes.

The one which is best remembered, although it occurred many years ago, was in connection with the wreck of the Huron. That was in the early '70s and Young was only a junior officer.

One evening in the late fall the old ship of war Huron put out from the harbor of Norfolk. It is said that she was not in condition to get to sea, and it is whispered about the navy department, that some of the officers had dined too freely of their judgment would have been better; but that was a long time ago, and the navy is full of gossip.

The fact remains that she put to sea in the face of threatening weather and with boilers which soon showed themselves inadequate to cope with the stress and strain of a northeast gale. In the course of the evening it became apparent that the boilers were not making steam, and before 10 o'clock the engines were quite helpless and the ship was drifting.

By this time the Huron had made way down the coast of North Carolina to a point near Kitty Hawk and the northwest storm had developed into a hurricane before which the ship was driving helplessly upon the breakers.

It was then that Lucien Young and a boatswain mate responded to a call for volunteers to man the life line. Taking a "chance," which is a species of life boat made for work in the surf, and the life line connecting with the ship, they sprang into the sea and swam for the shore.

It was a fight for their lives and for that of the crew. After what seemed an eternity to the swimmers, they reached the shore, more dead than alive.

But after a brief rest they went to work on the deserted beach, for their distress had not been discovered, and succeeded in rigging a line from the fast breaking up ship to a tree on shore. Over this line they operated the traveler life-saving device, and nearly all of the crew were rescued. Then Young made his way to the nearest telegraph station and made his report of the affair to the navy department.

This resulted in the first of his substantial promotions.

The next time Lucien Young was called upon to face death at close range was during the Spanish-American war, when he was in command of the Hiss, and it fell to his lot to enter the harbor of Manzanillo on the south shore of the island of Cuba, drive out the Spanish gunboats which were there and then cut the cables. This he accomplished under a heavy fire.

The Spaniards on shore proved very aggressive and poured a deadly fire into the cable cutters, and at one time Capt. Young, who personally commanded one of the cutters, was in the midst of a veritable rain of Spanish bullets. One ripped his sleeve and another touched him lightly on the shoulder.

An experience of a different nature which brought Lucien Young into the public eye occurred at the time of the revolution in the Hawaiian Islands. The insurrectionists had deposed Queen Liliuokalani and had raised the American flag at Honolulu. Their American war vessels had arrived in the harbor under the command of Admiral Erwin.

The latter ordered Young to go ashore and haul down the flag. Young declined. He told his superior officer that he would submit gladly to court-martial, but he never would have it said of him that he hauled down his country's flag.

He was not court-martialed.

After the Spanish war Commander Young was made captain of the port of Havana and while stationed there had an escape which is not chronicled in the official records. He was returning to his vessel in the harbor one evening after a day in town. As he was about to mount the ladder from his small boat, being a heavy man and the light not very good, he was backed backward into the waters of Havana harbor.

His bullies caught him by the heels as he went down and pulled him back into the tender.

IF CHINA WANTS TO BOYCOTT US LET HER COME AHEAD

(From Tuesday's Daily Citizen.)

Washington, D. C., July 25.—If China carries this new boycott policy too far, the United States is in a position to adopt retaliatory measures which will hardly fail to be effective.

It is not the desire of President Roosevelt to adopt harsh measures, and the United States will not begin throwing stones until it is found that throwing protests proves ineffective.

There are stores in Uncle Sam's pockets.

The United States is a better market for China than China is for the United States. Consequently, if it comes to closing markets, China has most to lose. Taking the figures for 1904 as indicating the current run of trade of late years, it appears that the United States sold to China $12,922,432, while our purchases from China in that year were $25,245,581. Even when Hongkong, which is British territory, but commercially, is part of China, is added, our sales to the Oriental market amount to but $22,320,986. If the United States should turn about and stop buying $23,900,000 worth of China's goods, the boycott might assume a new aspect.

The people in the United States who will suffer most by the Chinese boycott are the manufacturers of cotton cloths and of mineral oils. These two items, with flour and breadstuffs, constitute the largest part of our trade with China.

Again, taking the figures of 1904, which are the only complete statistics available, it is found that we sold the Chinese (including Hongkong sales), $7,250,552 worth of mineral oil, and in the same year, manufactured cotton cloths amounting to $4,100,000, and wheat flour and foodstuffs amounting to $1,400,000. In addition to the above articles there were some structural iron, wool, tobacco, clocks and maps sold in that market.

China sells to the United States, taking the year 1904 as typical, $29,310,881 worth of goods a year. The principal items in this trade are raw silk, tea, hides, opium and wool. The raw silk imported by the United States from China amounted in 1904, to nearly $10,000,000, the tea imported amounted to over $7,000,000, hides came up to $2,500,000, wool to $2,300,000 and opium to $1,194,000.

But the chief advantage of this trade to China—and the chief danger to China if the boycott continues—lies in the fact that it is all free of duty, with the single exception of wool. Out of the total imports of $29,310,881, which the United States gets from China, $20,679,247 are of goods which are on the free list.

Now a duty on raw silk or tea—even a small duty—would put a crimp into Chinese business with the United States which would make no change in Shanghai at all. And that is the remedy which is open to the United States if it appears that drastic measures are to be necessary.

There is no article which we buy from China which we could not get as well from other countries. Tea will come from India, silk from France and India, hides from the Argentine and wool from the same country and Australia.

Even the Chinese matting, of which we buy $1,000,000 worth a year, could as well come from Japan.

There was a time when fire crackers had to come from China, or the American boy would be at a loss to celebrate the glorious Fourth, but that day has passed, and the growth of American fire cracker factories is indicated in the regular decline of that item of import from nearly half a million dollars worth in 1907 to about half that sum last year.

Maynard Gansuel, of Albuquerque, who has been here for some time on business connected with the electric light plant, is a booster wherever he goes, says the Roswell Record. He will remain to assist in the work of installing the Elks' lodge of Roswell. He believes that the Elks here will be able to do enough to fill a hall, opera house and headquarters for the Commercial club, and he is talking it up. This is one of the kind of things the Elks do for the towns in which they have lodges. The building of the Elks at Albuquerque is one of the best things that Albuquerque has. Gansuel is one of the directors of the fair association at Albuquerque, and is interested in nearly every big enterprise of his home town, besides being a booster for Roswell, in which he has a large investment. He says Albuquerque has the best set of business men in the country working together. As an instance of what boosting can do, he mentions the fact that Albuquerque has a lumber mill with a pay roll of $1,200 to $1,500 a week, and yet it is 100 miles from where there is a stick of timber to be cut. He says that the mill is kept up by railroad by making a deal whereby the railroad will take and make up a bonus that has long since been more than paid back, the product of the saw mill can be placed on the cars at Albuquerque as cheaply as it could be loaded in the woods, and Albuquerque has the benefit of money that would otherwise be lost. It cost something, of course, to make the first arrangements, but the business men of that country do not mind advancing money or even going into debt for enterprises that will permanently help the town. Mr. Gansuel has been called the best town man to Albuquerque in the country, and thinks that with a continuation of the present spirit of enterprise and the settlement of the valley, Roswell may even surpass his home town. He is preparing to demonstrate his faith in Roswell by making extensive improvements in the electric light and power plant.

The deceased was an exceptionally bright young woman, and the daughter of a well known Ohio family. She graduated from the high school in Ashland in 1901, with high honors, and her death will come as a news to her many friends at home.

Undertaker A. Borders has prepared the body for shipment and it will leave for Ashland on the limited tonight. The remains will be accompanied on the last journey by the mother, Mrs. Brubaker, and sister, Mrs. E. A. McDowell.

INJURIOUS JOURNALISM.

William E. Curtis, the well known correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, who was in this city recently, in a recent communication to that paper, points out that the city of Denver has been greatly injured in its reputation by unwise newspapermen. He shows that the impression created in the east, that Denver is headquarters for sensationalism, political conspiracies, corruption, dramatic marriages, and divorces, is entirely wrong but that it is due to yellow journalism printed in the city itself.

These journals, he says, magnify everything. If somebody falls into an ordinary ditch he is represented as plunging headlong into a bottomless chasm; if some servant girl receives a legacy of a few thousand dollars from an uncle up in the mountains she is described as the heiress of millions. Everything that happens, no matter how trivial or commonplace, is magnified into a sensation. It has come to this that the people no longer rely on their papers. One young woman, according to Mr. Curtis, said recently: "One paper's just about as bad as the other. You can't rely on any of them; they are half full of lies and half full of exaggerations, and everybody knows it, so nobody's fooled."

That Denver and Colorado to a large extent suffer in their business interests on account of this misrepresentation of facts, is absolutely certain. It would therefore seem a wise policy on the part of business men to compel the newspapers in their respective communities—and this concerns our own business men, too—to discard sensationalism, by patronizing only the papers that show an honest desire to present facts and record events. The publications that live on fiction and never offer anything but distorted facts, injure the business interests in the long run. The crowds that feed upon such miserable mental pabulum are not the patrons of solid business places. Conservative business men should be alert to their own interests which are not different from the interests of the communities in which they live.

WE WAIT FOR ANSWER.

That $75,000 water plant and plenty of water at from 5 to 10 cents per thousand gallons, seems to be sticking in the craw of the Water Supply company's organ.

The Citizen knew that it would, but then it is better that one suffer than that the many should do so. The dilapidated water plant, with which Albuquerque is afflicted at the present time, has a bonded debt of $125,000, and the company is charging 35 cents per thousand gallons for water. No wonder the organ of the company squirms, and writhes, and writhes, like a scotched snake.

But it won't do any good. Here are the facts: Colonel Jastro, who put in a plant at Harkersfield, Cal., who is not trying to sell a worn out plant to the city, as the water organ is trying to do, who has no interest in the water question at Albuquerque, but who is a disinterested and practical expert.—Colonel Jastro says that a new and up-to-date plant, meeting all demands for the present and for many years in the future, can be installed in Albuquerque for approximately $75,000.

For the third time The Citizen publishes the following questions and calls on the water organ to answer them. The readers of The Citizen can make bets as to any odds that the organ won't answer. The questions are: "Will the water organ say that Colonel Jastro is not an authority on this question? That he does not know what he is talking about? That he is unreliable in his estimates?" Say so or shut up.

"THE CITIZEN ASKS ITS READERS TO NOTICE HOW THE WATER ORGAN WON'T ANSWER THE QUESTIONS HERE PROPOUNDED."

And they did not, and they won't.
At the time The Citizen published the statement that an up-to-date water plant, meeting all demands, could be installed for $75,000 approximately, it gave its authority for the statement. It has continued to make the same statement on the same authority, and the water organ does not dare to impugn that authority.

The surveyors representing the United States and Canada have completed the inspection of the boundary line between the Dominion and the United States at Richmond and North Troy. It is stated that they have made startling discoveries. These are that Richmond, East Richmond and Stevens Mills, which are a short distance within what has been considered the Vermont side of the border, rightfully belong to Canada, and steps will probably be taken to fix the boundaries so as to give Canada either a recompense or the territory stated. The strip of land is several miles in length and from one-half mile to a mile in width, and has a population of about 4,500.

Dr. Ed. H. Allen of Kansas City, has been in Albuquerque for some weeks. He represents the national government in the bureau of animal industry. Dr. Allen is an associate member of the American Kennel club, and has quite a fine collection of English and Irish setters and pointers, which he has entered at many bench shows, never failing to carry off the ribbons. Dr. Allen saw what The Citizen said last evening in advocacy of such addition to the territorial fair attractions, this fall, and he called at the editorial rooms of The Citizen this morning to urge that this premier advocate more largely the suggestion made last evening. Dr. Allen confirmed the statement of The Citizen that the addition of a dog show, would be comparatively inexpensive and would add a good deal to the interest of the fair.

For the twelve months ending with June, 1904, remarks the New York Sun, the average monthly output was valued at approximately $6,000,000. During that time the average number of men employed was about 12,000 whites and 61,379 Kaffirs. The output for February of this year was $7,000,000, produced by a force of 12,652 whites, 90,175 native blacks and 13,424 Chinamen. If the mine owners are satisfied, it is not for us to find fault, but a rough calculation from the figures available indicates that the monthly output per man for the opening months of last year was about $25, while for the same months this year it is about $40. We are unable to say whether this is due to the extraction of lower grade earth or to decreased efficiency on the part of the extractors.

Looking at it from an independent point of view as The Citizen is capable of, it looks as if the efforts of the office holders in both territories to keep the joint statehood question from being discussed, was about as well organized a conspiracy of silence as one ever saw. Well, a crowd that is afraid to discuss a question, or afraid to let the people vote on it, must be on the wrong side of that question. Every joint statehood man invites argument, every anti is afraid of argument.

The Lake Shore and New York Central interests, it is announced, will award a contract for the construction of a railroad between Franklin and Ulysses, Pa. The branch will connect the two roads and it will be about 20 miles in length, running through a portion of the Allegheny mountains, and touching a large coal and iron region that the Central has been unable heretofore to reach.

If the friends of joint statehood in the territory desire to keep their cause, they can do so by writing short letters to their local newspapers expressing their views. When such letters are received by the editors in any considerable numbers, the editor will no doubt begin to treat the subject editorially.

Roundabout passenger rates have been cut another $2, the new schedule of $14 from Chicago to New York, which has been made by the Grand Trunk, going into effect July 26, or two days later than the Michigan Central's $16 rate, it is believed that the Michigan Central will meet the cut.

The American geologist, Wetlie, has made a report to the effect that there are excellent coal mines at Rio de Sul and Santa Catalina, Brazil.

Elephant Butte Reservoir.

For the information of the general public, we are requested to state that the cost of the proposed Elephant Butte project including maintenance and operation for ten years, will be $7,200,000. As the reservoir will store sufficient water to irrigate 160,000 acres of land, the cost per acre will be $45.

This amount is required to be repaid to the government without interest, in ten equal annual installments, the first payment to be made when the first crop is harvested after the works are complete and the water turned on. The public should bear in mind that the works will probably not be completed for five years, during which time, however, the money required to construct the works will be expended and put in circulation, a large part of it in this immediate vicinity.

Furthermore, as heretofore stated, in these columns, as soon as the requisite acreage is pledged to the main project, it is expected that work will be commenced upon the diverting dam near Fort Seiden.—Rio Grande Republic.

When Carnegie gives a town a library he insists that a certain amount of money must be spent every year for books for the building he has paid for. When Rockefeller gives a college a lot of money he insists that as much more shall be raised from other sources. The Grant county commissioners have adopted the millionaires' scheme. They have offered Lordsburg and Central $100 each if the citizens of these towns will put up enough more to build a jail. The citizens of Lordsburg are willing to adopt the Carnegie plan. If the county commissioners will build a jail here the citizens will furnish occupants.—Lordsburg Liberal.

Valuable Mining Property.

A car load of machinery arrived here Tuesday for the Sater Copper company consisting of two large engines and considerable other machinery. This makes about six engines that this company has on its works, and this with the out put of the shaft, convicts us that it is no pipe dream, but a copper mine in reality. The next step must necessarily be a railroad leading to the copper belt before much ore can be handled. One of the promoters of the Colorado while in Clayton last week stated to us that some of their men were in the east now trying to direct the attention of some railroad to these mines, and if they failed the Colorado and Sater companies would probably put in a narrow gauge from Clayton to the mines.—Clayton Enterprise.

Barbecue and Melons.

Dalhousie's celebrated fall festival, known as barbecue and melon feast, will be held this year on September 1 and 2. Arrangements are already under way to eclipse all former efforts. Special attention will be given to agricultural and garden products for which good prizes will be given for display. Arrangements have been made to place these products in the east where they can be viewed by the citizens of states who are skeptical of the productiveness of the celebrated "staked plains."—Dalhousie News.

Another Green's Smelter.

W. C. Greene is erecting a smelter at Guaymas, a valuable copper ore. This smelter will fit a long felt want as there are many mines in the vicinity of Guaymas and along the coast that cannot be worked to a profit because of the distance from a reduction plant. The new Green plant will be in operation before long and this fact has caused renewed activity in the district.—Miner.

Mighty Good Advice.

The rains of the past week have put the ground in excellent condition for furage crops and every man who has a plot of ground as large as a city lot should have it prepared the coming week and put in some corn, cane, haffer, corn, rye, bages, millet, or some quick maturing crop. It is quite probable that there will be sufficient rainfall from now to mature such crops, and they will be a source of considerable profit in saving feed bills.—Otero County Advertiser.

A New Jersey judge makes the following comments on Judge Taft's speech concerning the jury system in this country. He says:

"I agree with your paper that the jury in criminal cases in this country should not be abolished, at least during the present time. The morality of the jury box is about the same as the morality of the public at large, and we still have faith that the morality of the public at large is such that if cases are clearly presented and properly tried there is no trouble about the jury coming to a righteous verdict. The trouble is in the procedure, and criminal procedure in this country has become a hazing and a byword. The protection thrown around the defendant in the way of absurd challenges to jurors, in the way of exceptions to rulings upon evidence and to the charge of the court, in the way of appeal and writ of all the tendency of upper courts to order new trials where a single mistake has been made in the court below, have made the prosecution of criminals almost impossible. The trouble is not with the jury, but with the procedure. New Jersey is celebrated for its administration of the criminal law. It is just as much unsatisfactory here as in many of the other states in the union."

"In the first place, the statutes exempt from jury duty physicians, druggists, members of the national guard, persons over 65 and others that I do not just now recall, which is a process by which many of those competent to serve are eliminated. Challenges by the defendant may be made for all sorts of reasons and for no reason at all—a further process of elimination of the best men. Any slight material error made by the trial judge in the admission or rejection of evidence, which nine times out of ten has no influence upon the result, brings about the reversal by the court above. The case a year or two afterward is sent back for trial, when the witnesses are either dead or have departed. The thing has become stale and conviction impossible. The lawyer for the defendant can have the case reviewed by taking a general exception to the charge in the court, and if any material error at all is found the case is reversed and sent back for a new trial. Counsel for the defendant can have the case reviewed in this way, upon any exception, while the prosecutor has no appeal. The court sometimes unconsciously resolves all doubts in favor of the defendant on the admission or rejection of evidence and in his charge, for fear of being reversed by the court above."

"In homicide cases in New Jersey even the expenses of a review are paid by the county, upon the application of the defendant. When the jury has convicted the prisoner the defendant may be admitted to bail, except in homicide cases, and is at liberty until the court above affirms the conviction below. When the convicted one has money enough to have the case reviewed (in cases less than homicide) his chances are good to escape entirely. As Mr. Taft says, the administration of criminal law in Great Britain is much better than ours. There are no appeals allowed from the trial in the first court unless the sufficient importance to be reviewed. In the United States a similar method should be adopted. There should be an appeal, and if the court above then finds that substantial justice has been done there should be an affirmation of the verdict below. There should be a speedy review of all criminal cases, and every person convicted should not be admitted to bail, and should be in custody until his case is disposed of by the court above."

Arizona at the Fair.

Citizens of Salt River valley and others who visit the Portland exposition will find much to interest them in the Forestry-irrigation annex to the government building.

Here are large relief models of the Salt River and Yuma irrigation projects, showing the government works in actual operation.

Receipts of Alaskan gold from June 13 to July 17 amount to $6,000,000. Tin, Copper and Fairbanks will probably turn out $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 this season. The Nome output will be over $5,000,000.

TERRITORIAL TOPICS

TO OPEN THE TOWN.

THE NEW OWNERS OF THE DAWSON FUEL COMPANY WILL THROW DAWSON OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

Since the establishment of the coal camp of the Dawson Fuel company, in Colfax county, the town of Dawson has been conducted as an exclusive company concern. No one has been allowed the privilege of purchasing property there or establishing their own business. In fact, intrusion for any purpose, had to be secured from the management. Political, religious or business freedom has been unknown in Dawson, so great has been the corporate conservatism. The Phelps-Dodge syndicate purchased the entire interests of the El Paso & Northeastern, which included the Dawson branch and the Dawson mines. This syndicate, largely interested as they are in the southwest, did not attempt to control the rights of their employees, and their employment is only optional with those in their employ as well as their own supplies.

It has just been given out that the town of Dawson is to be surveyed into town lots and sold to the public, the company reserving a sufficient amount of ground for operating purposes and all other rights on the $2,000 acres of land they own. There will then be opportunities for business men to enter Dawson.

The opening of Dawson will be a fine thing for Colfax county in every way, and the town will be received with pleasure by all its people.

TRAVELING OVERLAND TO SILVER CITY.

Messrs. Augustine, Sampay and Miller started out from Lordsburg for a trip across the country to Silver City. They have a big wagon, drawn by a couple of mules, plenty of provisions and fuel. They intend to make a camping trip of it, and probably will see a good deal of it before returning.

CHRISTENING CEREMONY AT LAS VEGAS.

The church of Our Lady of Sorrows Sunday afternoon was the scene of a pretty christening ceremony, conferred on the baby girl of Mrs. and Mr. M. C. Green of the west side, by the Rev. Father Florentino Meyers. The baby was named Malva Cristina. The Rev. Father Florentino Meyers officiated in a very impressive style. After the ceremony the party were driven to the residence of the parents where a dining repast was served, and the enjoyable time had by all those present for the rest of the evening. The baby is destined to live long to gladsome remembrance.

EDITOR KEDZIE NOW SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

H. L. Gaudin has resigned his position as school trustee, and Superintendent White has appointed D. H. Kedzie to fill the position for a year. Mr. Gaudin has served as a school trustee for many years, and it will be a distinct loss to the district for him to leave the board.

ETHNOLOGICAL EXHIBIT FOR NORTHERN FAIR.

Colonel R. M. Twitche, president of the Northern New Mexico fair, at Las Vegas, is negotiating for an ethnological exhibit that will be of much interest to the visitors to the fair. He expects to acquire a band of twenty-five Tano Indians who will exhibit their dances, their characteristic dress, their customs and arts. The exhibit will be one of the most thoroughly attractive that can be secured.

ENFORCING SUNDAY LAW AT LAS VEGAS.

Vincent Trinder, of Las Vegas, was arrested and fined for keeping his place of business open on Sunday. He paid the fine and promised not to offend again. It is evident by the promptness with which the violation of the law was punished that the proper officials were on the lookout, and the community will warmly commend their efficiency in the matter.

SANTA FE HAVING ITS SHARE OF BAD FIRES.

Early Tuesday morning the old government granary on the Fort Marcy addition in Santa Fe, was totally destroyed by fire. The granary was an immense frame structure and was an old landmark in the capital city. At the time of the fire it was being used as a warehouse, and contained six car loads of fine hotel furniture.

The building and furniture was owned by Mrs. Betach, and he estimated his loss at $5,000, partially covered by insurance. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin, as the building was on a large vacant lot, far away from any other building. This is the third destructive fire to occur in Santa Fe within the last few months.

ALGODONES NOTES

Special Correspondence.

Algodones, N. M., July 22.—The wheat crop has been harvested and did not come up to the average of former years, neither did the first cutting of alfalfa.

Grasshoppers and army worms have disappeared and corn will be all right so will garden truck. Fruit is good. Some peaches, plums, apples and cherries are ripe.

Juan Arribas and Guadalupe Montoya were married at Bernalillo July 17th. The bride is from Bernalillo and the groom from Algodones.

Jefferson Allen of the Indian school was a pleasant visitor here last week. He was at San Felipe Pueblo on business with the Indians.

STRONG HINT TO STAY WITH HOME PRODUCT.

A man in the neighboring town of New Mexico, who secured his wife through a matrimonial agency, is trying to secure a divorce. Just another instance of finding that mail order bargains are not justly represented, and that a much better grade of the same article could have been obtained at home. Good enough for him! He ought to patronize home industry. The home grown article is usually the best.

TREATING TIES BY A NEW PROCESS.

The treating plant of the Alamogordo Lumber company has been recently undergone a change of process in the treatment of timbers, says the Alamogordo News. Heretofore after the proper preparation of the wood by steaming to expel the natural sap, the timbers were first treated with a solution of zinc-chloride as a preservative, and then as a protection from moisture they are treated to a solution of glue and tanning which serves as a waterproof. By a recent change the zinc-chloride solution is omitted. Practically all of the timbers being treated are for the El Paso & Northeastern and associated lines and in the arid country where they extend the theory seems to be that the glue and tanning is not necessary. It is conjectured that the local preserving plant will in time change to the crocodile process. Crocodile is an important by-product of coke ovens and the company will possess all of its raw materials.

BUYING BURROS FOR NEVADA GOLD FIELDS.

An agent of a Los Angeles firm was in Prescott to make inquiries about burros. He stated that it is his intention to buy a carload of them in Yavapai county and ship them direct to Los Angeles, from where they will be sent to points at which prospecting parties will outfit during the late summer and fall at Tonopah, Goldfield, Bullfrog and other mining camps in Nevada.

JEROME HAS A BURRO WHO DRINKS BEER.

Jerome, Arizona, boasts of a burro who is quite a "lush" for he is very fond of his beer and will come to the El Paso restaurant for his drink. He drinks about two wash basins full if he can get it and after his drink he feels very jolly. He will run in every direction with his head in the air and occasionally he takes a notion to chase some one. The boys enjoy this very much and when he is on his spree it is nothing unusual to see a dozen or two boys chasing him, who have all sorts of fun.

FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIANS.

H. F. Lovett, who runs a general store at Wilcox, Arizona, was fined $50 by Judge Wilson Thomas for selling liquor to Indians. Deputies happened to be riding past the store and saw three Indians riding away, one of them carrying a sack. A search of the sack disclosed three bottles of beer and the shirt front of another Indian. The Lovett was fined $50. The excuse of the defendant, that the Indian said he was sick and needed the whiskey, did not impress the judge.

PELPHREY'S MILL TURNING OUT MACARONI BOXES.

The S. E. Pelphrey plant mill finished up a contract for 27,000 macaroni boxes for an El Paso factory Thursday. They have recently finished substantial orders for packing boxes for the Swift and Armour companies in El Paso. The Pelphrey mill is well equipped and is usually kept quite busy.

BROWNS PROBABLY WILL GO TO ALBUQUERQUE.

It is very likely that the El Paso Browns will be the team that will represent El Paso in the base ball tournament at Albuquerque during the territorial fair, as the Colts have given the matter no attention.

The base ball fans of Albuquerque have suggested that the best players from both teams be selected, but this will not be done as Manager Fisher has positively declined under any consideration, to allow his team to be divided. He has also stated that so far the Colts had not even considered the Albuquerque tournament.—El Paso News.

WORKS FOR FISH AND GAME WARDEN.

Page H. Otero, territorial fish and game warden, has received a number of communications from residents along the Chama river, asking that he take steps to prevent the contamination of the water in the river by the sheep men, says the New Mexican. The solutions used in the dipping tank at Chama have been allowed to run into the river and the people say that it can be noticed five miles below the town. Warden Otero has instructed the sheep men to dig filter beds for the reception of this material, the beds to be placed far enough from the river to enable the dipping solution to become thoroughly purified before entering the river.

IMMENSE CATTLE SHIPMENTS FROM SOUTH.

Cattle shipments from the territory during the past few months have been enormous. The shipments from Deming alone during May and June amounted to 45,781 head, the value of which was at least $1,000,000. Owing to the inability of the Santa Fe to furnish cars, all the Grant county shipments were made from Deming, and are included in the above number. Last year the shipments from the territory amounted to 177,000 head, the year before in 185,000 head, and the year before that in 150,000 head, but this year they will be almost twice that number.

PHOENIX TO SELECT A MAJOR.

PLACE MADE VACANT BY RESIGNATION OF ADAMS, TO BE FILLED.

A dispatch from Phoenix says: The city council has decided to call a special election to fill the office of mayor, which was made vacant by the recent resignation of J. C. Adams. The council has authorized the city attorney, Hoy S. Greider, to draw up an ordinance to this effect, to be presented at the regular meeting of the city fathers, August 7.

At the same meeting in which this action was taken, the council refused the certified check of W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati, who had $200,000 for water works bonds. This is the second check from Todd which has been refused, and the council expressed the opinion that the Cincinnati brokers are not acting in good faith. Other bids are now being sought.

LARGE AREA OF LAND WITHDRAWN.

RINCON MOUNTAINS AND TRACT ALONG COLORADO TO BE MADE PART GOVERNMENT PROJECT.

Two important telegrams have been received at the Tucson, Ariz., land office. They were from General Land Commissioner W. A. Richards, of Washington, D. C., notifying the land office that the Rincon mountains are temporarily withdrawn from entry save under the mineral laws, and that the land in the vicinity of Yuma, along the Colorado river, was temporarily withdrawn from entry. This is the purpose of the government to use the land in the Rincon mountains for the establishment of a big forest reserve. There are hundreds of fine trees in these mountains and it is the intention of the government to preserve them.

The forest rangers who had been stationed in the Rincon mountains were withdrawn some time ago. They will likely be maintained there now and additional rangers allotted to this reserve. About 150,000 acres are included in the Rincon reserve.

The Yuma reservation, which is a part of seven townships, whose combined area is 365,000 acres. The withdrawal was made in the interest of the Yuma irrigation project. It is likely that the lands will be opened to entry later.

The withdrawal was undoubtedly made to step aside the lands in the lands which will be entered in the irrigation project.

Instances are quite common where land was filed upon and relinquished several times. This land will be very valuable when the irrigation project is completed, much of the land has already been filed upon and proved up.

RAINS AND WASHOUTS DISAPPOINT ROSWELL ELKS.

The plans of the local Elks to have their lodge instituted here today have been spoiled by the rains and washouts. District Deputy Renshaw and ten Elks from Albuquerque and Santa Fe had started for Roswell via Torrance and the automobile line, when they had to change their plans and come by rail on account of the muddy automobile road. They went to El Paso and had gotten as far north as Pecos, when they heard of the washing out of the Pecos bridge. They then telegraphed to the Elks in Torrance and the local Elks told them to go around by Delhart and Amarillo and come in from the north. This is a two-days' trip, so they cannot get here before Thursday evening. It is now hoped to start the lodge work on Thursday night or Friday and have the banquet Saturday night.

Judge William H. Pope, who is a member of the Santa Fe lodge, has been secured to deliver the address of welcome. He was called upon this morning by a committee composed of General Bell, Dr. Raschbaum, L. K. McCreedy, E. A. Caboon, Captain W. C. Reid, and Maxman. General and Judge Pope will perform the part imposed upon him.—Roswell Record, July 23.

ALBUQUERQUE AT SILVER CITY.

Mrs. Butts, sister of Mrs. Mary Lucas, is here visiting her sister and other relatives. Mrs. Butts is a teacher in the Albuquerque public schools and her work in the primary department ranks perhaps the highest in the territory.

Adolf F. Witzel and wife were arrivals on Sunday's train from Albuquerque and immediately went out to Santa Rita, where they expect to spend a few days. Mr. Witzel is the general salesman of the Lemp Brewing company and has a large number of friends in this county, where he and family formerly resided, who are always glad to greet him on his periodic trips here.—Independent.

ROBE AND HEAD-RESS OF A KLU-KLUX KLAN.

W. Price has presented to the Historical society, at Santa Fe, a robe and head-ress used by the Klu-Klux Klan of the south during the reconstruction period after the Civil war. This clan was similar to the White Caps and committed many crimes. The trophy is of black cloth, studded here and there with patches of white. The head dress consists of a tall, pointed shaped crown, and a long black wig, in which are holes for the eyes and mouth. The society is grateful to Mr. Price for this donation.

TWO LOST IN THE WOODS.

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY FOUND THE NEXT DAY BUT AGED CITIZEN STILL ABSENT.

W. F. Baker, who has for some time conducted a butcher shop at Cloudcroft, is reported missing, says a telegram from Alamogordo. Some days ago he was seen going out of town in his chair, however, but it was thought he was looking after business matters. This was the last seen of him and it is feared that he has met with foul play or has died somewhere in the pine forest near Cloudcroft. He is very old and this fact adds to the suspicion that he may have died while alone. It is reported that he has relatives at Carlsbad, N. M.

Walter Wilkerson, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilkerson, who reside on a ranch near Alamogordo, was sent out Tuesday to drive up some horses. Night came on, and the little fellow failed to return. A search was planned, but the child nowhere could be found. The recent heavy rains has caused every ditch and gulch to be filled with water and it was feared the boy had fallen into a deep hole and drowned. The night was very stormy and heavy rain fell, which made the search very difficult, as well as to add horror to the thought of the lost child. Today, just after noon the little fellow came in sound and safe. He says that when he found his horses he was six miles from home and as night was coming on a neighbor took him to his home and kept him until day. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson were almost crazed over their failure to find their boy.

A NEW MAIL REGULATION.

DECISION OF POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT THAT IS OF CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE.

A decision has been made by the postoffice department which at this time is of special local interest. The decision referred to announces that the postoffice officials and carriers are not responsible for the non-delivery of any letters or packages if the wrong street number or address is given.

At the same time it is the policy of the department to attempt to deliver all mail to the persons for whom it is intended, and great trouble and expense is given to this end in view. But if this cannot be accomplished, efforts are then made to return all letters and valuable packages that are not called for, to the sender. But often the latter fails to give his address or name.

The ruling rendered is in accordance with the approved regulations of the postoffice department, and came up in connection with several cases where the street numbers in some of the eastern cities have lately been changed by the municipal authorities.

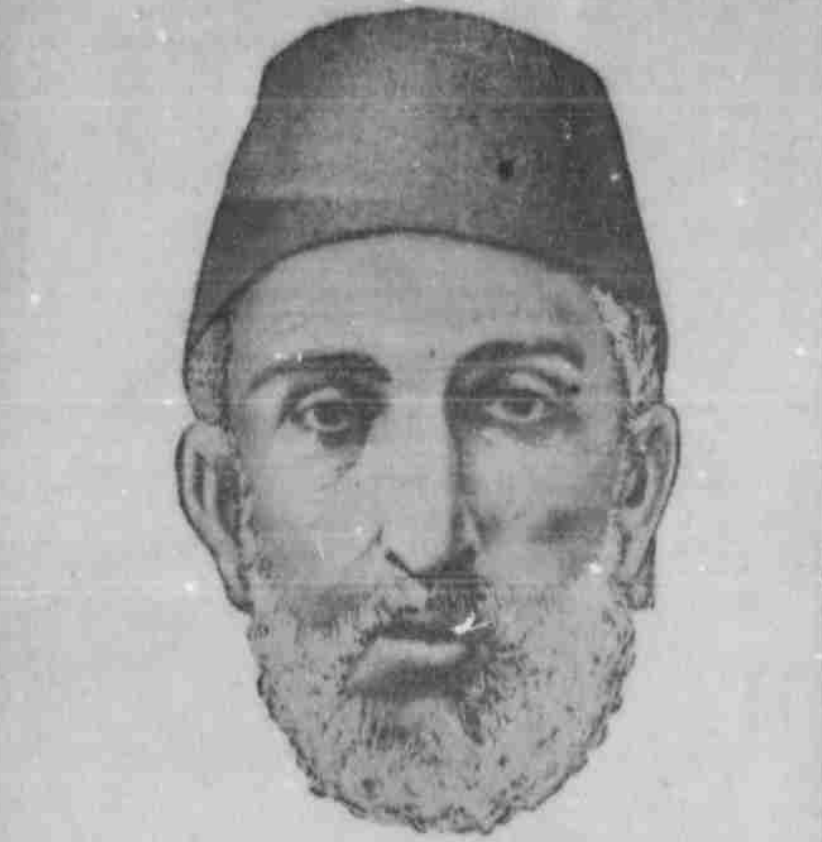

According to this opinion, all property owners, where the number of their residences have been officially altered, will have to see that the figures are properly changed on their houses if they desire to be sure of having their mail promptly delivered. According to a recent decision rendered by the higher court of New York, the same rule applies regarding telegraph messages.

IMPORTANT INTERVIEW ON JOINT STATEHOOD

Colonel W. H. Greer, president of the Albuquerque Traction company, and several other valuable local enterprises, returned to the city last night from California where he had gone several weeks ago on business and pleasure, accompanying Mrs. Greer to Los Angeles.

Colonel Greer was met at his Second street office this morning, and the following interview on joint statehood took place between him and The Citizen representative:

"During my trip to California," said the gentleman, "I came in contact with prominent leaders of the bar and others, and was pleased to find that Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas are radical advocates of joint statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, and both gentlemen stated that 95 per cent of the attorneys of Arizona were heartily in favor of that kind of statehood. They state those opposed to it are actuated by personal commercial motives, and that the city of Phoenix would be almost unanimously in favor of it if the bill provided for that capital, thus leaving one in that portion known as 'Arizona.' Colonel Greer claimed that they have no argument against the joint statehood, other than that the capital would be removed from that territory, which would affect Phoenix commercially."

"Colonel Greer," continued Mr. Greer, "is the general solicitor for all the Phelps Dodge interests in Arizona, and his remarks would indicate that the statements are persistently made by the anti-joint statehood people that the large mining interests of that territory would oppose joint statehood are not reliable."

"My personal observation leads me to believe that the people of Arizona would easily accept a joint statehood constitution, and in five years from the birth of the new state that it would be impossible to create a sentiment to separate. It is generally conceded by the Arizona people, whom I met on the trip, that the joint statehood bill would pass."

Makes Comparisons.

"The city of Los Angeles," continued Mr. Greer, "is growing like magic. It recalls to my mind the first time I went to that city, eighteen years ago, when Los Angeles was not a town as Phoenix is today. It has increased in population since that time, 130,000 souls. This is an indication of the possibilities of our own little city, and I predict a remarkably healthy growth here in the next five years. And again, Arizona, a town as Phoenix is today, compared with our Rio Grande valley, it being hot and humid in the City of Angels, and it is needless to say I am glad to get back home."

Hon. E. J. Niles, prominently identified with the upbuilding of Los Angeles, accompanied Colonel Greer to the city, and will remain here a few days. He is looking into the present and future business prospects of the city for himself and a party of Los Angeles capitalists, and may become financially interested in the Duke City before returning to southern California. The gentleman was introduced at The Citizen office this afternoon by Colonel Greer, and he also stated that in conversations with Arizona people who visit Los Angeles, he is convinced that only a small per cent of them are opposed to joint statehood.

Mrs. W. H. Greer was left at Los Angeles, where she will soon be joined by her father, Colonel H. A. Jastro, of Bakersfield, Cal., and sister, Mrs. M. O. Chadbourne, of this city, after which the party will proceed to Portland and take in the Lewis and Clark expedition for a couple of weeks. Mrs. Chadbourne expects to leave for Los Angeles in a few days.

AS VEGAS COMING SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Manager Houston, of the Browns, today completed arrangements for two games with the Las Vegas Blues to be played in this city Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Manager Houston of the Blues, has sent word that the Las Vegas team has been greatly strengthened, having taken on our new men for the infield, including Jack, a pitcher from the Western league. If this is the case the coming games will probably be fast and furious.

The Browns will play a return series of two games with the El Paso team on August 5th and 6th. From El Paso the team will go to Clifton, where the schedule there will consist of six games, three with Clifton and three with Moreland. This trip will be the last long one of the local team has for this season and the outcome is expected with a great deal of interest. These games will be of the kind that will show up the weak places in the Albuquerque team.

It is expected that a series of games with the Santa Fe team will be played in this city in the near future. The Santa Fe club has changed managers and is now controlled by Frank Owen, manager of the Santa Fe Water & Light company, and an old time base most general use in South Africa, where it might be said there would be no gold industry were it not for the cyanide process.

Mr. MacArthur is a world-wide traveler, having mining interests in all parts of the world. He stated to a reporter for The Evening Citizen that he was very much impressed with New Mexico and believed that it would some day establish the world as a mining and industrial center.

BAILES REQUIRED TO PAY LICENSE

County Clerk Will See That Statute Governing Same is Enforced.

WILL INCREASE COUNTY REVENUE

Probate Clerk James A. Summers, of Bernalillo county, acting upon instructions from the board of county commissioners, is preparing a circular letter instructing all justices of the peace outside the city of Albuquerque, to see that the law providing for the collecting of licenses from any person or persons, conducting a bullfight, fandango, etc., for profit, and whose liquor is sold, is rigidly enforced.

A glance over the criminal records of Bernalillo county shows that a large per cent of the crimes of violence committed, have originated at dances where liquor is sold. The enforcement of this law, which also provides that a proper person shall be deputized as a peace officer, to see that perfect order prevails, will result in much benefit and the payment of the proper license will also increase the revenues in the county treasury.

The circular letter is as follows:

Sir—I am directed by the board of county commissioners to call your attention to the fact that licenses are required for bullfights, as you will see by the following:

Section 6 of Chapter 12, of the Compiled Laws of 1905 is as follows:

Section 6. It shall be the duty of every person who shall give a bullfight or fandango to apply to some justice of the peace or judge of probate for license, who are hereby required to grant the same, but if, in the judgment of the justice or the judge of probate, the person applying such license is not a competent person, it shall be his duty to so state to the applicant in order that he may present some person able to act as an officer of police during said bullfight or fandango, to whom he will administer an oath that he will faithfully proceed as a police officer, with the power of a sheriff, in keeping good order during said bullfight or fandango.

Of the foregoing section, the first clause down to the words "grant the same," is still in force, the remainder of the section being substituted by section 1393 of the Compiled Laws of 1907.

The seventh paragraph of section 2901 of the Compiled Laws of 1904, fixes the amount of the license, and is as follows:

Seventh—All persons who allow in their houses or upon premises under their control, any dance or fandango, kept or held for profit, or where, or in connection with which liquor of any kind is sold, shall pay $10 for each day or night on which such dance or fandango is kept or held.

The above paragraph has never been repealed, and it is your duty to see that the law is enforced in your precinct, and that the license money reaches the county treasurer. Respectfully, J. A. SUMMERS, Probate Clerk.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER FIFTH

The board of education held a regular meeting last night for the transaction of routine business. It was decided that the fall term of school should be opened Tuesday, September 5, which is somewhat earlier than usual.

The various buildings have received the necessary repairs and everything is in readiness for the fall semester. The members of the board are of the opinion that the coming year of school will be one of the most successful in the history of Albuquerque.

The board let a contract last night to James McCord, for the construction of cement sidewalks in front of the First ward school building and the Central school. The bid was $761.50, and the construction of the sidewalks will be begun at once.

Two new teachers have been added to the quota of instructors. They are a teacher of art and a teacher of music. They are to be selected in the near future and will be graduates of well known colleges.

A communication was read from Dr. J. C. Clark, of Holland, Mich., who is to be the new superintendent, stating that he would arrive in Albuquerque with his family the middle of next month and prepare to enter upon his duties as superintendent.

FLOODS IN CREEKS TAKE OUT BRIDGES

The homes of W. C. Marble and Messrs. Yeargin and Lutton, on the Penasco, near Dayton, Chaves county, were washed away Monday night by the flood and totally destroyed. The buildings were substantial ones and the loss is considerable.

Added to the loss of the railroad bridge over the Penasco, is the loss of the railroad bridge over the Felix. This bridge was washed out Monday night, and also the county bridge a mile west of that of the railroad. The county bridge was first to go and its debris struck the railroad bridge and knocked it from its fastenings.

Roswell will be the terminal of the Pecos Valley & Northeastern lines for southbound trains until the bridge can be rebuilt. The train went north from Roswell Tuesday morning. It will take some days to repair the bridges.

An immense quantity of rain has fallen but no danger is anticipated from another overflow. The water is now higher in the Honda than it was during the flood last fall, but large sums of money have been spent in the meantime in protecting against overflows, and the damage will not be so heavy.

HIS WHISKERS WERE THE JEST OF ACTORS

Andrew J. Gilligan, 63, known to practically every actor in America as a good friend of the profession and as one of the old set folks in the country, is dead.

He was an intimate friend with most of the great stage favorites of the last half century. Known all over the United States as a confirmed "first nighter," he was the subject of many a joke on the boards, the jests mainly taking the form of a remark about his whiskers, which were long, abundant, and his wife, "Andy" used to laugh as heartily as any of the audience when references were made to his "Whiskers."

He was a barber whose place was the resort for actors, and he boasted of one of the most complete collections of stage favorites of the last century.

TEXAS JUDGE IN FAVOR OF SUNDAY BASEBALL

Will Soon File Written Judgment Holding That There is No Law on the Statute Books to Prevent the Game.

A Waco, Texas, dispatch says: Judge J. A. Scott, of the Nineteenth district, has declared that there is no law against Sunday baseball playing or having a park for this purpose. The decision was given in a habeas corpus hearing in which H. Pabian, manager of the Waco base ball team, was the applicant. Pabian had been fined in the justice court in two cases, the charge being keeping a place for amusement for this purpose. An appeal was taken and this decision was sustained.

A habeas corpus hearing was applied for before Judge Scott and the hearing was given Saturday. Judge Scott gave the above decision verbally, and stated that he would soon file a written judgment.

When the last Sunday game was played in this city, all of the Waco players were arrested on the charge of working on Sunday. Subsequently the charges were withdrawn, with the understanding that they may be re-arrested again. It is believed that the decision of Judge Scott will put an end to these and that Sunday ball will continue to be played in this city.

LARGE ADDITION TO GILA RESERVE

ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON ADD ALMOST ONE MILLION ACRES.

Superintendent McClure, of the Gila forest reserve, received a message from the department at Washington last evening, stating that nearly 1,000,000 acres of land lying to its east and south of the present Gila reserve had been added to that reserve. The present area of the Gila reserve aggregates nearly 2,500,000 acres, and with this enormous addition it will be one of the largest in the United States. The area which is added will include Fort Bayard, Pinos Altos and considerable country lying in and around Bear creek and the Black range, and will extend south to Kingman. The present force of rangers employed on the Gila reserve, which numbers twelve, will be increased to twenty-five, which number will be necessary to look after this large tract of land.

MARKET LETTER

Special Correspondence.

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—A total of 41,000 cattle, including 6,000 calves, were received here last week, which proved too much for the market, in view of heavy receipts elsewhere, and prices dropped 10 to 30 cents as a result. Grass cattle are beginning to move freely from Kansas, Oklahoma, and Panhandle pastures, but the unsatisfactory market of last week cut down receipts today at all points, and the market is strong to 10 cents higher on all kinds. The runs are bound to increase, however, and a steady market is about all that can be expected for the near future. Very little stuff from Colorado is moving, a few shipments of feed stuff from around Rocky Ford making about all the stuff direct from the west, received. These steers sold at $4.50 and weighed $12.50. Panhandle grass cows sold at $2.25 to $2.50 monthly, one grove of extra good ones from Higgins, Texas, at $3.15. Calvers in the same shipment at $3.25. Calvers are higher, at $2 to $2.75. The steers and feeder trade has been dull lately, with prices seeking a lower level, but it is feared that a revival will occur shortly, in view of the excellent corn prospects all over the corn belt. The bulk of the Panhandle steers and feeders sold at $3 to $3.60, one or two droves of heavy feeders at $2.50 and stock calves around $2.

The excellent sheep market we have been having took a turn for the worse last week, on Thursday. Prices are off 20 to 30 cents on about everything since then, including a 10 cent loss today. Receipts here have not been excessive, but mutton markets must become badly demoralized early last week, resulting in a break at all the western points, which, however, was not altogether unexpected. The supply today of 10,000 head here includes Idaho yearlings, 50 pounds, at $5; New Mexico wethers, 95 pounds, at $4.65; Arizona spring lambs, 65 pounds, at $6 and New Mexico ewes, containing a few wethers, at $4.40. Numerous inquiries are being received, and prospective buyers of this class of stock are being advised that the price will be from $3.25 to $4, with very little available.

GREAT SHAM NAVAL BATTLE

NATURAL LAKE AND HILLSIDE AT LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION MAKE POSSIBLE REALISTIC WARFARE—EVENT SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 2.

Portland, Ore., July 26.—What promises to be the largest and most realistic sham naval battle ever projected is scheduled as a free attraction at the Lewis and Clark exposition on Wednesday, August 2. The circumference of the exposition having as its grand basin a real lake 220 acres in extent, makes it possible for the fair to hold a bigger, and better naval fight than any ever before attempted, and no effort will be spared to make the show correct in detail.

Just west of the exposition grounds, the foothills of the Cascade range reach down to the shore of Guild's lake, and here will be a fort, with real looking guns spitting harmless, but deadly looking fire. The attacking fleet of miniature vessels will make an assault upon the fort on the hillside and an ironclad in the harbor near it. From the Bridge of Nations, which spans Guild's lake, spectators may see the ironclad disabled by the attacking fleet, and watch every operation. A mosquito fleet of torpedo boats will add to the excitement, and several torpedo boats will blow up a floating craft. One of the men of war presently will be disabled and a crew of Uncle Sam's life savers who are giving daily exhibitions at the fair, will take forth and rescue the unfortunate in true life-saver style.

SUDDEN AND HEAVY INCREASE IN THE FAMILY OF EUGENE REILLY AND WIFE WAS A STARTLER TO THE TOWN OF LA MOURE, N. D., BUT IT RALLIED QUICKLY AND BORE GOLD TO THE PARENTS—WHAT THE FATHER HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)

La Moure, N. D., July 26.—Quads came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Reilly, Yes, quads, four babies, bright as any that ever gladdened the hearts of parents.

That town lost so much of a mother in a very short time, to all the inhabitants, caused great excitement. In fact, one newspaper says that "La Moure was shaken from center to circumference," and another that "this town was thrown into a panic" by the event. Folks gathered to the house to see the newcomers and congratulate the parents. Incidentally, they presented Mr. and Mrs. Reilly with fifteen $5 gold pieces in appreciation of what "the recipients are doing for this town and the commonwealth."

Reilly doesn't readily find words to express his surprise and delight. To his friends, who asked him how he felt to be the father of four, he said: "I declare, I didn't know what to make of it. When the doctor announced 'twins' I was considerably startled. So far as I know, there have never been twins born in my own family or that of my wife. I was just mulling this over in my mind, when—Ah, triplets!—exclaimed Dr. Stough. Then I was stunned. I was just beginning to get my bearings clear when—but there is no use trying to tell you what my sensations were when the physician issued his fourth proclamation."

He is hailed by his fellow-townsmen as one among hundreds of thousands. Dr. Stough, chairman of the reception committee when the babies arrived, is a recent graduate from a Chicago medical college.

There was a boy and three girls babies. The boy and one of the girls weighed four pounds each. Each of the other girls weighed something of a pound less. They were perfectly formed and their lusty cries seemed to indicate a good state of health. The boy, though, could not endure the strenuous life of La Moure. Perhaps the great number of sixteens had a bad effect upon him. However the cause, though, it is certain that the boy after a day went to the place where all good babies go. The girls are robust and thriving.

Mrs. Reilly is 34 years old and is now the mother of ten children.

The incorporators are Arthur G. Ellett, Thomas C. Ellett, Benjamin F. Ellett, Alfred W. Ellett and Irene Ellett, all of Kansas City, Mo. The purposes for which this corporation was formed are to conduct and carry on the business of buying, selling and manufacturing boots, shoes and footwear of all kinds, and leather and rubber goods, wares and products, and other articles of every kind and nature usually made or dealt in by persons engaged in the wholesale and retail shoe business. The capital stock is $200,000 divided into 2,000 shares at $100 each. The term of existence is fifty years, and the principal place of business is Kansas City, Mo. The number of directors shall be five and those who will manage the business of the company for the first three months are the incorporators.

UNSURPRISING INDECISION

FORGER PRESIDENT CLEVELAND HAS NOT FULLY DECIDED TO CONTINUE AS TRUSTEE OF THE EQUITABLE LIFE-NEWS ITEM.

ANOTHER SAVING

IN THE COUNTY

The $70,400 refunding bonds of Bernalillo county, which have been advertised in The Citizen the past few weeks, were this morning awarded to N. W. Harris & Co., of Chicago, they agreeing to take bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest.

All the other bids, which had been submitted, called for 5 per cent bonds.

This is a good sale, and places Bernalillo county on a very low interest basis, the saving to the county on this sale alone amounting to over $1,000 per year.

The board of county commissioners did well to accept the bid of the Chicago bankers.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his living expenses for every dollar saved. This being the case, he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying stocks for his children, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by all dealers.

DID LIDKE INTEND TO BLOW UP THE HIGH LIFE?

What is believed to have been a well laid plan to blow up the High Life saloon in Old Albuquerque, which resort was forced to close down a few weeks ago, has just been discovered by the finding of a rapidly constructed bomb under the floor of the building formerly occupied by the saloon.

The bomb was in the nature of a beer bottle, filled with giant powder. The cork was driven into the neck of the bottle and a fuse, constructed of a piece of lamp wick, soaked in oil, extended through a small hole in the cork and under the powder.

Although the bomb was not of such a powerful nature that it would have blown up the building, it is believed that it would have set fire to the structure and destroyed it. The finding of this infernal machine at the High Life, leads many to believe that the fire which recently destroyed the building occupied by the Southwestern Liquor & Cigar company, Lidke's former place of business on North Third street, might have been of incendiary origin.

Lloyd C. Henning, manager and editor of the Window Mail, is on the trail of a printer named W. M. McClintock, and has written this office to ascertain if he (McClintock) was here. Mr. Henning says that McClintock obtained some money from him in a manner that he does not approve of. The printer wanted, arrived in Albuquerque about ten days ago, solicited work at this office, and after receiving a permit to work from the local typographical union, the having no card, flew the town, although he positively agreed to show up for work. It is understood from the local printers, that McClintock has gone to Roswell.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

SLEYSER BACK FROM CALIFORNIA JAUNT

B. A. Sleyser, the real estate and fire insurance agent, who spent his vacation on the Pacific coast, principally at San Diego and San Francisco, returned home last night, and when met by a Citizen representative this morning, said:

"I had a bully time—one of the best of my life, and regret that I could not stay longer."

At San Diego he made a record for himself as a fisherman, this fact having been announced to the public in The Citizen the other day. He says Henry Brockmeier, formerly of this city, is doing well as a seller of real estate at San Diego, and that ex-Underliaker J. W. Edwards is making money as a groceryman at National City. SHE TOUCHED OFF 50 TONS OF DYNAMITE

WHAT THE GREAT BLAST AT PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY WILL DO FOR NAVIGATION IN THAT HARBOR—SEVENTY THOUSAND TONS OF ROCK SHAKEN OUT IN A BREATH—GREATEST OF ITS KIND EVER PULLED OFF.

MISS EDITH FOSTER.

SUPT. O. A. FOSTER.

(From Monday's Citizen.)
Portsmouth, N. H., July 24.—When Miss Edith Foster touched the button that let loose enough dynamite to kill an army of men at Henderson's point, an engineering feat was accomplished which was the greatest of its kind the world has ever known.

The point which was removed in a breath is at the end of Seavey's island, in Portsmouth harbor. The point was an obstruction to deep sea ships, and the work to remove it was commenced in August, 1902.

For three years the Massachusetts Construction company had had a force of men employed above and below the water surface at Henderson's point. Over 500,000 tons of rock had been removed, and it was determined to shake out the remaining core of 70,000 tons in one great, gigantic blast.

For weeks and months the drillers had been working little tunnels through the rock until finally fifty tons of dynamite had been stored away and connected so that the one big shoot-off would be simultaneous.

When all the broken rock is dredged out and the job completed on January 1, the river will have been made 400 feet wider at its narrowest point and there will be a depth of 35 feet at low water.

The total cost is estimated at $749,000.

Miss Edith Foster, who touched the button that exploded the 50 tons of dynamite, is the daughter of Supt. O. A. Foster, of the contracting company which carried this project through.

NEW MEXICO TOWNS

CRIPPLE SCHOOLS IN SIERRA COUNTY

The last legislature passed a law prohibiting the sale of liquor in villages of less than 100 population, and under its operation new licenses cannot be issued in such localities, says the Hillsboro Advocate.

From a prohibition point of view, the law may have some good features but its effect upon the schools in the rural districts is decidedly disastrous. It is a well known fact that the revenue provided for a maintenance of such schools comes mainly from liquor licenses granted to retail liquor dealers in such localities, and to cut out the licenses will leave many school districts without the means to keep up their schools. In Sierra county, nine out of seventeen licenses will be cut out, and the school districts most seriously affected are Chloride, Fairview, Eagle, Shandon, Andrews and Bonito. These districts will be hard hit, with two or three others in doubt as to population. Had the late legislature paid more attention to educational matters, instead of extravagantly creating new offices and additional salaries, the members of that body would have received the hearty thanks and appreciation of all of the people of New Mexico. At this period education stands first, and the tolling bread winner and tax payer, will, if necessary, pay, without grumbling, an excessive tax for school purposes, and to cut off the principal sources of revenue without making any provision whatever for the loss, is an unparalleled act on the part of the legislature, and we hope the next legislature will remedy the new inadequate financial resources of the common schools in the territory.

THE SCHOOLS OF SOCORRO COUNTY

Here are a few important facts concerning Socorro county's public schools, that every good citizen ought to have in mind, says the Chieftain.

The school census for the year ending July 1, 1905, showed 4,450 school children in the county. The total enrollment for the year was 2,942, or less than 50 per cent, and the average attendance was only 1,195. The total enrollment in the schools of the city of Socorro was 296, and the average attendance 156, a trifle over 50 per cent.

The total revenue for school purposes for the year was $8,369.14. Of this sum, $3,063.60 came from appropriations, $1,151.10 from poll tax, $1,040.54 from school levies, and $2,173.50 from liquor and gambling licenses. The balance on hand, July 1, 1905, was $3,468.23. The balance on hand in the school fund of the city of Socorro on the same date was $1,096.46.

HILLSBORO

From the Advocate.

J. W. Zollars, president of the Sierra County Bank, left for California. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy left for California and the Portland exposition.

A big flood came down South Pecos Friday evening. The new dyke protected the town from being badly flooded. At Kingston, Charles Wain's barn and another building were washed away. A. J. Hanger's saw mill near Kingston was washed out and 10,000 feet of lumber carried away.

County Clerk Webster is busy these days making description and maps of all water rights in Sierra county. He is doing this in compliance with a law passed by the last legislature. When the work is completed the matter will be sent to the territorial engineer. The work will cost the county in the neighborhood of $200.

SOCORRO

From the Chieftain.

It is reported that the Graphic mine has put on twenty-five additional men this week.

The epidemic of fever in the Kelly camp still continues. The fever has proved fatal in many cases.

Two of the Sisters of Loretto from Mt. Carmel convent, will be employed as teachers in the public schools of this city.

H. G. Putman, of Fairview, a recently appointed member of the mounted police force, has been in the city for several days. Mr. Putman expects to make Socorro his home for himself and family in the near future.

J. L. Leeson has returned from Magdalena. Mr. Leeson says that he found his mine, the St. Vincent, which had a 187-foot shaft, a 90-foot drift, and two crosscuts, filled to the brim with dirt, cross cuts and weeds, by the cloudiness of three weeks ago.

SANTA FE

From the New Mexican.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and daughter, of Albuquerque, arrived in the city and are guests at the Santa Fe Hotel.

Miss Ida Antler, sister of Charles W. Antler and Dr. G. H. Antler, of this city, arrived from Cincinnati. Miss Antler will make Santa Fe her future home.

Edward C. Tatro, formerly of this city, but now of Jerome, Ariz., arrived in Santa Fe. He will remain here for about two weeks, and will then take his family to their new home in the sister territory.

Twenty-four Indian boys, pupils at the United States Indian training school, who have for the past two months been at work in the sugar beet fields in the vicinity of Mosley Ford, will reach Santa Fe this evening. The boys will return with about $1,200 to $1,500 in wages, made during the time they worked in Colorado.

Tuesday, a party composed of Mrs. Burr and daughter, of Boston, Mass., Miss Beatrice Hild and Miss Ruth Hild, of Albuquerque, and Mrs. Marie, Miss Maasie, Miss Stash and Dr. C. D. Jeffries, of this city, spent the day picnicking at the mill of the Yellow Pine Lumber company in the Tesuque canyon. Appropriate refreshments were taken and a delightful time was had.

GLORIOUS AMERICAN VICTORY AT SEA

Commodore John Paul Jones Meets the British Off Their Own Coast.

TERRIBLE LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT WITH COMMODORE JONES'S SQUADRON, THE FOLLOWING HIGHLY INTERESTING DISPATCH—IT WAS FORWARDED BY OFFICIAL COURIER FROM THE TEXEL TO DR. FRANKLIN, OUR AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, AND THENCE BY A SWIFT PACKET TO PHILADELPHIA, WHERE IT WAS FIRST PLACED IN THE HANDS OF HIS EXCELLENCY SAMUEL HUNTINGTON, PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS, WHO IMMEDIATELY TRANSMITTED IT TO OUR OFFICE—THIS IS THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THE GLORIOUS NEWS, WHICH HAS REACHED US IN THE UNPRECEDENTEDLY SHORT TIME OF THIRTY-TWO DAYS.

By Cyrus Townsend Brady, Special Courier From Our War Correspondent With the American Squadron.

On board the U. S. Ship Serapis, at the Texel, October 17, 1779.

The pride of Britain has been most thoroughly humbled by the unexampled victory achieved over one of her finest frigates, the Serapis, 44, by Commodore John Paul Jones, in the U. S. Ship Bonhomme Richard, after nearly three hours of the most desperate fighting ever seen on the narrow seas.

The events of the cruise up to the middle of September, which has been brilliantly successful, in spite of the continued insubordination of the captain, have been previously despatched to you. Early in the afternoon of Thursday, the 23d of September, the Richard, the Pallas and the Alliance sighted the British merchant fleet off Flamborough headland under convoy of two ships of war, one of which, it was discovered, was a two-decker. The Richard and the Pallas at once crowded sail to close with the enemy, and the battle recommenced, the enemy and the convoy dying in great confusion for the shelter of Scarborough harbor. The Alliance, whose captain, Landale, has been most mutinous and disobedient throughout the cruise, was hauled down to the leeward and paid no attention to signals.

The wind was light and variable; and it was not until 6 bells in the second dog watch (7 p. m.) that we got within hail of the larger ship waiting for us about two leagues

COMMODORE JOHN PAUL JONES.

The Victory of the Great Naval Battle off Flamborough Headland.

From the headland, the Pallas, Captain de Cottineau, which was edging seaward, and Alliance, was still far astern, leaving us alone to engage our enemy, for which we were not unwillingly, indeed, very eager. The sea was smooth as a mill pond, the light wind scarcely affording stearage way in the strong tide. The full moon in a clear sky gave plenty of light for our bloody work.

As we came alongside, the commodore having skillfully got to windward, the enemy hailed: "What ship is that?" Ordering the helm to starboard, the commodore, to gain time, answered: "I don't understand you." The enemy hailed again, with a threat to fire, which we answered with a broadside. The response was prompt, and for the next few minutes we drifted along side by side, a cable's length, (500 feet), apart, exchanging a most terrible fire, when a most lamentable catastrophe took place on our ship. Two of the six 18-pound-a little, the commodore tried to lay her across the enemy's forefoot, but he, having put up his helm, we ran him aboard his port quarter. Before the ships could be lashed, he drew away and we lay in line ahead, and no guns bearing, the combat quieted for a little space, until the Richard, forcing ahead, and the enemy back, we got alongside once more, only closer, and the battle recommenced, we giving and receiving terrible punishment. Finally, about 5 of the clock, we were within pistol shot of her, when the enemy heeled ahead, enabling the Richard to blanket the enemy. At this point the Alliance ranged along our windward side and opened fire on us, to our great astonishment and horror. We cried our name and signaled to her, but to no avail. It was impossible she mistook us for the enemy, for the Richard was a black ship, the other a white one. After killing twelve men by her fire, including Mr. Caswell, she left us, thanking God for her departure.

The enemy having lost way, the Richard drew ahead and the commodore promptly laid her astern, the other's heave. The enemy now heeled, but only succeeded in swinging into us as we ranged along his starboard side. His bow anchor caught in our mizen chains, grapples were also thrown, and in a minute she was fast to us, the commodore with his own hands, passing the lashing. The enemy made desperate efforts to cut the anchor fastenings in the hope of swinging clear, but man after man who tried it, was shot down, the commodore himself using the muskets of the marines with great effect. The two ships remained locked together and the fighting recommenced again.

Below the enemy had it all his own way. Our gun deck was swept by shot, so that the sides of the Richard were literally broken to pieces, and presently their shot sped harmlessly out to sea. Above, however, we had things our own way. Our French musketeers and soldiers, of which we had a great number, led by the commodore in person, poured a terrific musketry fire upon the star decks of the enemy, which soon drove the survivors to their crew below.

Now the Alliance again made her appearance. We were in hopes that she would fall upon the other side of the enemy, and thus end the battle, but no; she deliberately sailed by her and raked us again with her broadside into our quarter, adding to the terrible damage we had suffered below. She then drew off again and approached us no more until after the battle.

The condition of the Richard was deplorable. She was making water fast and was on fire. Some 200 British prisoners in the hold were now released by the mate-at-arms, under the impression that we were attacking. They at once rushed for the hatchways. The gunner became panic stricken, and gained the quarter deck, crying, "Quarter." The commodore knocked him senseless with the butt of his pistol, and when the enemy's captain, hearing the gunner's cry, sawed if we had struck, the commodore answered him: "I have not yet begun to fight." Whereat, those of us who heard, cheered mightily, and went at it again.

Meanwhile Lieutenant Richard Dale, than whom no commander had ever a better or a braver second, with incredible presence of mind and resource, had got the British prisoners to man the pumps and keep the Richard from sinking. In this, the commodore seconded him, and the orderly had to shoot one of the prisoners before they would obey and get to the pumps. This left the Richard's men free to continue the fighting. By the commodore's direction, the unhurt nine-pounders on the quarter deck, were now shifted over and their fire concentrated on the enemy's mainmast, which was soon tottering.

There had been smart fighting aloft among the topmen since we grappled, and our fellows had cleared the enemy's tops. The commodore, observing this, and seeing nothing escaping him in that hot action, ordered grenades thrown on the enemy, which was most skillfully done by Midshipman Fanning. One grenade, falling through the after hatchway, kindled a pile of cartridges, which blew up, producing a great explosion and loss of life and terror among her people.

The enemy was now seen to be on fire, and our ship was trim, lacking and sinking at the same time. The case of both was desperate. There was no thought of striking on our part, however. The men were crazy with fight, especially the Frenchmen, the Americans being more steady, but not less resolute, and every man and boy, imbued with the desperate determination of their commander, Midshipman Mayrant, although suffering from a second wound, was now ordered to board the enemy, which he did most gallantly at the head of some two score men. He was wounded a third time by a glancing shot, as he leaped on the rail, but shot 'em dead that did it.

The enemy's captain now practically alone on his deck, struck his flag with his own hand, shortly after 4 bells, and the battle was over. Lieutenant Dale, who was also wounded, at once took charge of the prize.

which proved to be (formerly) H. B. M. S. Serapis, 44, Captain Richard Pearson, a ship outclassing the Bonhomme Richard by about five to three. Above 200 men of the Serapis' complement of over 300 were killed or wounded, and we lost of our own brave fellows near 150. The sufferings of the wounded were most terrible, and many died on the run to this place, notwithstanding the skill and devotion of both the British and American surgeons. Full lists of the killed and wounded will be transmitted later.

It is with great regret that I chronicle the further melancholy fate of our noble ship. It was so cut up and wrecked, that in spite of every effort it was impossible to save her, and the second morning after the fight she sank, going down howebeit, with the fine silk American colors under which she fought, flying from her gall end. The commodore left the dead in her, vowing they could sink no better coffin. The prisoners say they never met such desperate fighting in which our men agreed. They say they could sink us, but not conquer us. 'Twas America, never will be conquered by Britain.

The course of the Alliance is much concerned in the squadron, and it is believed that her captain will be court-martialed for cowardice and treason and receive the fate he so richly merits. Had he been disinclined to fight he yet had the helplessness conveyed at his mercy and would have sunk, instead of captured dead at will. The Pallas, which somewhat over matched her, took the other British ship, which proved to be the Countess of Scarborough, after a smart action of an hour and a half.

Captain Pearson is much chagrined to be the first British captain that ever struck to an inferior force in a single ship action. From this immortal, Commodore Jones will be remembered as a Scotman by birth, a native of Virginia, appointed to the navy from North Carolina. His successful ending in the Providence and the Ranger is not forgotten. Last year he was killed at the battle of Trafalgar, after a brilliant action. All here are enthusiastic for him, and hope to see him fly his brave pennant over a fleet or ship of the line, to which his merits and achievements entitle him. Then let Britain beware.

I must close this brief recital, promising a more detailed account by the regular mail, these accounts could depend upon these statements, however, as I was able to the commodore, and never left him during the action.

CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY.

BIGGEST RESERVOIR IN THE WORLD

Uncle Sam has Built it Above St. Paul and it Feeds the Great Mississippi, Keeping Navigation Open in Summer.

St. Paul, Minn., July 25.—Some of the great public works have received more advertising, but the fact stands that Uncle Sam has established at the headwaters of the Mississippi the largest reservoir in the world. It is a connected system of five lakes.

Its capacity is 93 billion cubic feet of water. A cubic foot of water is commonly regarded as the head of possible navigation of the Mississippi. A United States engineer said today that the big river is navigable for 400 miles above this city. To one having only an outsider's knowledge of the map of Minnesota, the statement is surprising. It is official, though, and must be correct.

The reservoir insures excellent navigation to St. Louis at all seasons of the year. Water is stored during the months of heavy rainfall and released during the hot dry months, when navigation under natural conditions would be uncertain, if not impossible.

Traffic handled by a regular line of steamers is not less. There is a railroad on each bank of the river, and some that are further away, but still within the river freight zone. These lines, after the manner of their kind, scoop in nearly all the freight in sight. They have to carry it, however, at reasonable rates. To do otherwise would be to cultivate river competition.

There are people in the country north of St. Paul who do not think well of the dams. One class would like to get possession of the land around the lake reservoirs that is overlooked in the flood season. Some of these men sold to the government overflow privileges on their land. If the dams should be removed these people would have the use of their land without damage by water. Speculators are also said to have secured control of overflow lands that are worthless now, but would be valuable if the dams should be abandoned.

There have been heavy floods in all the country heretofore this summer. People living below the reservoir lakes claim that the floods that threatened them were aggravated by the dams. Near Atlanta 300 persons were rendered homeless. Their crops were destroyed and many lost their cattle. Others drove their cattle into towns and sold them for the beggary prices shippers, taking advantage of their misfortune, were willing to give. These victims all declare that the fact that Uncle Sam impounded water in the spring added to the extent of the flood.

The United States engineers affirm that the reservoir lakes greatly reduced the size of the flood, and the news.

Sunday afternoon, at El Paso, three native boys lunched each other for a swim across the Rio Grande to Juarez and return. The going was made without any mishap, but on the return and almost within touch of the American side the boys got into a whirlpool and two were drowned.

KOMURA THE SILENT

JAPAN'S PEACE PLENIPOTENTIARY IS A MAN OF VERY FEW WORDS.

(From Friday's Daily Citizen.)
Seattle, July 28.—Baron Jutaro Komura, chief peace plenipotentiary of the Japanese government, who arrived in Seattle a few days ago, well deserves the title, "The Silent Man of Nippon." If the diplomatic efforts of half a score of Seattle newspaper men to coax a satisfactory interview out of him are any criterion, if Russia gets no more satisfaction out of him in the coming peace talks, than the newspaper men have so far, she won't get much.

Two men succeeded in getting one positive statement each out of Komura.

BARON KOMURA ON THE REAR PLATFORM OF HIS CAR AS IT IS PULLED OUT OF SEATTLE.

public expected moderation from Japan in her peace demands, it is interesting to the Japanese plenipotentiary, it is evident that Japan will "have to be shown," and that she will demand the full pound of flesh.

To the other newspaper man, Komura remarked: "How can we talk of what the result will be? We must first listen." A more diplomatic and non-committal response could scarcely be conceived. The statement might mean that the Japanese plenipotentiary will listen to the deliberations of the peace delegation before giving the public any statement.

Komura is nothing but a marvelous brain that never rests, equipped with only enough of body, blood and muscle to supply fuel for the powerful mental machine. Barely five feet in height, he looks as if a puff of wind might carry him away, and is one of the most commonplace and uninteresting looking men, save for his eyes, that one could imagine. His eyes are large and searching, cold, harsh and calculating. Sentiment, romance or emotion are foreign to his glance as well as to the character of the man, though he is said to be delightfully entertaining in all capacities save when affairs of state are on tap.

Komura cancelled the dozen or more functions arranged for him in Seattle and when Consul Hiramson handed Komura more than 1,000 cablegrams, official documents and letters aboard the Minnesota, Komura cut short the toasting, retired to his suite and for next nineteen hours he gave those matters his personal attention and his staff of secretaries were given as little rest.

Crossing the continent Komura was the guest of the Great Northern railroad, President J. J. Hill having turned his private car over to the distinguished statesman for the transcontinental trip.

ISLAND EMPIRE IS HOST TO AMERICA

Minister of War Entertained Taft and Party of Two Hundred and Fifty Guests at Garden Dinner.

Tokyo, July 28.—General Teranishi, the Japanese minister of war, entertained Secretary Taft and party today at a luncheon and garden party, in the famous gardens surrounding the arsenal. The elder cabinet statesmen and many officers of the army and navy were present. The party numbered 250. A number of toasts were drunk, including one to President Roosevelt and one to the Mikado. Secretary Taft, in toasting the Japanese army and navy, dwelt chiefly on its record in the Chinese war, and the boxer uprising, and on the questions connected with its organization and leadership. He did not refer to the present war.

ANOTHER STEPS DOWN AND OUT

Employed in Department of Agriculture, His Wife Sold Fertilizer

WHICH HUSBAND RECOMMENDED

Washington, July 28.—George T. Moore, physiologist and biologist of the department of agriculture today tendered his resignation to Secretary Wilson and it was accepted. Its acceptance is the culmination of a hearing at the department yesterday at which it was alleged by two representatives of agricultural publications that Moore's wife sold stock in a company manufacturing culture for soil inoculation, while Moore, who had charge of the preparation and revision of bulletins regarding the enrichment of farms, directed farmers to the concern in question for their supplies of culture.

RAILROAD NOTES

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.)

C. J. Laney, of the Laney-Sharpe Construction company, was in Albuquerque a few hours this morning on business and returned to the cut-off town on a southbound freight at noon.

George Fraser, formerly foreman of the Santa Fe blacksmith shop at this point, after spending a few days in the city on a visit to friends, left last night for a short trip to El Paso. Fraser is now working for the Santa Fe at Topoka.

Dr. W. D. Radcliffe, chief surgeon for the Santa Fe on the Helon cut-off, was in the city between trains this morning on his way to Williams from Helon, where he goes on professional business.

It's up to the Rock Island employees to settle all their bills now that more rigid rules have been handed down. The second installment of an employee's wages means his dismissal from the company.

Fourteen cars were wrecked the other afternoon in the yard of the Southern Pacific at Benson. The cars were being shifted to a siding when they got away from the men in charge and ran down the grade wild. They jumped the track, running at a high rate of speed, and were piled in a heap. Six of the cars were turned over and ground into broken pieces.

The Aztec Index says: George Osborne, foreman of construction and extension of telegraph lines for the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, started the work of building the line to Aztec and Farmington Tuesday morning along the route of the new railroad. There will be two wire strands, one for the service of the railroad and the other for the Western Union Telegraph company. In a short time Aztec's citizens will hear the click of the telegraph instrument.

Run Over and Killed.
Refugio Segura, employed on an extra section gang on the Santa Fe, was killed Tuesday night near Phoenix. The unfortunate man was supposed to have been walking along the track and was run over by a northbound freight train and either killed or seriously injured. The accident was not discovered, and another freight train, following close behind the first, caught the man and ground his body into bits. It was exceedingly difficult to gather the remains and place them in a coffin. This is one of the most horrible accidents that has ever occurred on the Santa Fe in New Mexico.

Fatal Freight Train Wreck.
A double-ended freight train on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, going from Durango to Chama, was derailed Tuesday morning about a mile west of Boca, a small station on this side of Durango. The cause of the wreck was the spreading of the rails, both engines and several cars being thrown from the track and scattered along the bottom of the embankment. H. Smith, of Salda, engineer of the forward engine, was caught under the engine and crushed and scalded to death. E. M. Allison, of Chicago, fireman of the same engine, was also caught in the wreckage and scalded to death. All efforts possible were made to release the two men, but to no avail. Engineer Cuthbert and Fireman Koshack, of the rear engine, escaped by jumping. Cuthbert sustained a broken leg and severe bruises about the body, while Koshack was seriously cut on the side of the head. Edward McCallister, head brakeman, was also badly bruised by jumping. The engines are badly damaged, and several of the cars are beyond repair.

Announcement was made by General Manager J. M. Herbert, of the Colorado & Southern railroad, that George F. Cotter has been appointed to succeed Frank T. Dolan as general superintendent of the Fort Worth & Denver City railway, with headquarters in Fort Worth. Mr. Cotter has been superintendent of the Colorado & Southern on the Trinidad & New Mexico division for a number of years and is well fitted for the new position. The vacancy created by the promotion of Mr. Cotter will be filled by the appointment of G. D. Delch, chief clerk in the office of the superintendent of car service of the Colorado & Southern. George Taylor is slated to succeed Mr. Welch as chief clerk. He has been his assistant for some time.

RUEB'S JERSEY COW BOTHERS HIM

The railroad boys are telling a good story on John Rueb, an engineer on the Santa Fe Pacific, and claim that he is considerably agitated, in fact, mentally affected, over the condition of a small Jersey cow which he purchased about a year ago from J. B. Nipp. Since last March the cow has shown signs of abnormal proportions, which should have disappeared before this, but which do not diminish in the least, although remedies have been judiciously applied by Mr. Rueb. He reported his fears to a party of railroad associates, and they have suggested cancer, tumor, and even "calf," but the feverish Rueb spurns all these suggestions and intends to consult a veterinary surgeon. If an operation is performed the report of the surgeon will be watched with interest by the local railroaders.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC GIVES PASSES TO OLD EMPLOYEES

To employees of long service, the Southern Pacific will give annual passes, beginning August 1. Notices to this effect have been sent out from the office of Vice President Fay. The employees to be benefited are train dispatchers, station agents, conductors and engineers. Those who have served more than 15 years will be given passes good over the division on which they are employed for themselves and their wives. Those who have served more than 20 years will be given annual passes over the division on which they are employed which are also good for the dependent members of their families.

The railroad boys are telling a good story on John Rueb, an engineer on the Santa Fe Pacific, and claim that he is considerably agitated, in fact, mentally affected, over the condition of a small Jersey cow which he purchased about a year ago from J. B. Nipp. Since last March the cow has shown signs of abnormal proportions, which should have disappeared before this, but which do not diminish in the least, although remedies have been judiciously applied by Mr. Rueb. He reported his fears to a party of railroad associates, and they have suggested cancer, tumor, and even "calf," but the feverish Rueb spurns all these suggestions and intends to consult a veterinary surgeon. If an operation is performed the report of the surgeon will be watched with interest by the local railroaders.

The Michigan Central will not take the initiative. It will develop upon either the Pennsylvania or the Baltimore & Ohio to do so. When the feeling remains as it is today, however, it is very doubtful if even the executive officers could arrange upon any course of action that would prevent the rate war from spreading.

(From Friday's Daily Citizen.)
Officer Charles Main, of the Santa Fe, stationed at El Paso, was in the city today on a visit to friends.

The Santa Fe Central will run an excursion train from the territorial capital to Estancia and return on Sunday.

H. W. Gardner, of the Santa Fe offices at Topoka, is spending several days in Albuquerque on railroad business.

J. W. Cashion, of the Grant Bros. Construction company, after spending yesterday in the city on railroad business, left this morning for Torrance, where he will take a trip over the Rock Island to look after some contracts his company has on this road.

Traffic on the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe was tied up yesterday afternoon by a freight wreck near Socorro. Several cars went into the ditch and it required the services of a wrecker to clear the track. No one was injured and the damage was slight.

The Santa Fe Central is handling a large amount of construction material for the Santa Fe from Kennedy to Willard, for use on the Eastern railway of New Mexico, which is building at that place. Steel ties and other necessities are being rapidly shipped to Willard and shows that the work is not lagging.

A. C. Bird, vice president and traffic manager of the Gould lines, passed through the city last night in his private car. Mr. Bird was accompanied by his family and was on his way to California from St. Louis, where he goes for a much needed rest.

Paul Nelson, known to every old railroad man in this city, says he made his home many years ago, while the Atlantic & Pacific was being built to the coast, died recently in San Francisco. During his residence in this city, Nelson was superintendent of construction of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, now a part of the Santa Fe coast line.

GRADING WORK IS AT TEMPORARY STANDSTILL

Work on the ballasting and grading of the southern end of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe is at a complete halt for the present. The steam shovel, which has been used in handling ballast, is out of commission, and has been sent to Albuquerque for repairs.

about sufficient quantity to cut away a large portion of the soft earth at the point opposite the Warren property where the blasting has been in progress for some time in the effort to straighten the channel. Enough of the projecting point was washed away to expose solid bed rock clear across the bottom for twenty-five or thirty feet in width, and as the exposed surface of the rock appears to have an upward slant on both sides, the present center of the channel at this spot probably marks the extreme depth the arroya can attain from the upper bridge to its northern end. How much deeper it can get between the upper bridge and the site of the old dam is merely conjectural and likely depends on the depth of the bed rock entirely across the ditch just above the electric light plant.

No damage was done by the running water except a cave-in of the bank in the rear of the Silver restaurant, where the water evidently preferred cutting out the west bank instead of the less valuable part on the east side.

Quite a number of people stood on the edge of the arroya to witness the "first of the season," but owing to the very light rain in town a great majority did not suspect that anything had happened.

DEEP MINING IN JEROME DISTRICT

SINKING OF A THOUSAND-FOOT SHAFT ON BLACK HILLS PROPERTY OPENS UP NEW ERA.

The Jerome, Arizona, News contains the following regarding deep mining in that district:

The fact that the Black Hills Copper company has commenced the work of sinking a 1,000-foot shaft on its property would indicate that an era of deep mining had been started in the Jerome district.

This shaft is being sunk on what is locally known as Mineral Hill, in what is supposed to be the heart of the Jerome mineral belt.

Near to the Black Hills group are the Deatur, the United Verde Junior and a number of others on all of which there has been no exposed.

Like the Bisbee district, the Jerome has gone through years of shallow development work upon which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent without any satisfactory results, and for this reason it has been almost impossible during the past two or three years to get capital with which to continue work in the district.

However, money has again commenced to come in, but with the understanding by those who are putting it in, that it shall be used in deep mining.

With that understanding the Black Hills, located south of the United Verde mine, the Pittsburg-Jerome, southwest, and the Jerome Mines Development company with property north of that great mine, have been successful in raising abundance of capital with which to develop their properties.

If any one of these companies succeeds in opening a pay mine the future of the district and the city of Jerome is assured.

BROWNS ARE READY FOR THE FRAY

Saturday and Sunday Games With Las Vegas Will be Fast.

BLUES ARRIVE THIS EVENING

(From Friday's Daily Citizen.)
The Las Vegas Blues will arrive this evening and will play two games tomorrow and Sunday with the Browns at Tracton park. Manager Blood of the Blues, has written that he has a new infield and that he intends to spring a surprise on the Albuquerque fans.

As near as can be learned today, Atkins will pitch tomorrow's game for the Blues and Fanning will do the twirling Sunday. For the Browns, Starr will pitch tomorrow and Gallen Sunday. The local team is in tip-top condition, having been hard at practice every night this week at Tracton park.

Captain French and other members of the home team are not at all worried about the new players the Blues have. "I only hope that the boys will put up a better game than they did the last time they played us," stated French today.

Helweg to Make Southern Trip.

Ben Helweg, the Browns' old reliable shortstop, who has been out of the game for a month with a crippled arm, which he hurt by throwing it out of place in a game at Las Vegas, is rapidly improving, and Manager Houston states that the gritty little shortstop will accompany the team on its southern trip the first of the month. Randall will hold down the second base, and the trip, as it will be impossible for Kutz to accompany the team. The fans are rejoicing, however, in the fact that Randall is to take care of the position on the team.

Bed Rock Reached AT UPPER BRIDGE

SUNDAY'S FLOOD DETERMINES DEPTH OF ARROYA AT THAT POINT.

The first flood of the season came down from Bear mountain and Pinos Altos Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock, and indicated a fairly heavy rainfall on the mountains in the vicinity of the two points named, though secretly more than a light drizzle fell in Silver City, says the Independent.

PAPA, THE GOV., IS A PROHIB, BUT SHE MUST USE A BOTTLE OF FIZZ

MISS HOCH WILL BREAK CHAMPAGNE OVER THE BATTLESHIP KANSAS WHEN IT IS LAUNCHED—SHE WAS BROUGHT UP IN A STRONGHOLD OF TEMPERANCE ADVOCATES.

Topoka, Kansas, July 27.—Crude oil which the Standard declined to buy, water from the spring of John Brown, corn juice made from kernels ripened in the sunflower state have all been passed up by the navy department in planning for the christening of the battleship Kansas at Camden, N. J., next fall, and Miss Anna Hoch, daughter of the prohibition governor of Kansas, will handle for the first time in her life a bottle of champagne when she officiates at the ceremony. It is probable that Miss Hoch, who is the youngest daughter of the governor, has never seen a bottle of champagne, and it is certain that she never tasted it. She is a Kansas girl from the ground up and has spent almost all her life in Marion, celebrated as a stronghold of temperance advocates. Miss Hoch attended both grade and high schools at Marion and graduated from both with honors.

OPENING UP THE GREAT NEVADA-UTAH DESERT

A Citizen Correspondent, with His Little Cane and White Necktie, Traveled Over the Arid Plains.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.)

Special Correspondence.

Salt Lake City, July 27.—Senator Clark did two things when he built his Salt Lake route from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles. He accomplished a great feat in crossing the Nevada-Utah desert, and opened this mountainous waste to the prospectors' pick. Its vast possibilities can hardly be imagined by one never through this country, and this has been brought forcibly to your correspondent's mind in a trip over the road. These states are not nearly as well developed, (though stated they be), as New Mexico and Arizona. But Senator Clark has taken one long stride toward this development in the building of his road.

We think it is hot in New Mexico, the desert west of the Colorado river from that of the east side. There is an absence of that heavy chaparral, which abounds in New Mexico, and a heavier growth of cacti. So great do these plants grow near the California border that they resemble a forest. On leaving the pass in the mountains near the Utah border, the route drops down to a valley as level as a table, and resembling very much the Estancia valley of New Mexico. The soil is a light loam, and the agricultural possibilities of it, with the aid of artesian water, would be very great. A heavy growth of mesquite suggests the richness of the soil.

JUDGE FREEMAN PRAISES THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

A meeting was held at Carlsbad Wednesday night to consider an opportunity that has been presented to that city to secure a sisters' academy. In the course of a speech during the meeting, Judge A. A. Freeman said: "No matter how we may disagree with the dogmas of the Catholic church, it must still be admitted that it is the greatest institution on earth. Go where you will, from the torrid to the frigid zone, and you will find the church, and everywhere it is at work. It is the priesthood and sisterhoods encircle the globe and all its work is for good and for charity. Though we have faith to move mountains, if we have not charity, we are sounding brass and tinkling. And why the sisters are so well versed in their work I cannot say; I only know it is a fact."
