committee of arbitration. In the great coal miners' strike a few years ago, now in one case a miner was killed in a mine owned by a rich corporation, by coal falling on him; how the evidence showed that he left a sickly wife and four little children, one a boy of ten years who immediately went to work in the mine to support his mother and little brothers and sisters. This was in 1900 at which time his father's estate owed the company $44 for rent, and six years after it was shown that the company still held a claim of $42 against the family for the rent of a cheap house, which the company compelled the miner to live in for his job. It was shown that the company was still—feeling toward the little fifteen-year-old boy—and held him to pay that old rent bill.

Mr. Ferguson told of the suffering in Chicago, that 15,000 school go to school each morning without their breakfast, and this is shown by a report of the superintendent of schools of Chicago. He also showed that the laws are constructed to make the rich richer and the poor poorer; he showed how that the rich were taking so much laden that they are able to pay for their children from foreigners, thus saving their daughters

VALUE OF THE DRAG.

D. Ward King Asserts Split Log Variety Has Obliterated Mudholes.

"Missouri has today hundreds of miles of muddy mud roads, without a single mudhole to the mile," said D. Ward King in opening his speech on "Good Roads" at Troy, Mo., the other afternoon. "A muddy mud road without a mudhole," said he, "is a product of the King road drag. By no other system can mud roads without mudholes be made. The twenty-four hours of rainfall just past has of course made the mud roads muddy, but on my way from Mexico I saw from the car window into after mile of earth road on which in spite of the rain not a mudhole could be found. Near Martinsburg and Wellsville, on each side of New Florence and Waverly and at other points along the line are stretches that to the practical eye give evidence of the use of the road drag."

Mr. King went to Troy at the invitation of County Engineer F. A. Bailey and represented the state highway commission. He said that Missouri had made greater progress in solving the problem of better roads than any other state in the Union.

HOW TO HAVE GOOD ROADS.

Jersey Farmer Suggests a Scheme to Avoid Making Ruts.

A farmer at Enderne, N. J., writes as follows to the editor of the New York Evening Telegram:

I would like to call the attention of road masters and automobilists to a matter of consideration of which our part would confer a great benefit on the driving public.

On some of the roads of Long Island is posted a notice requesting persons driving not to combine their vehicles to a single part of the thoroughfare, thus producing two ruts, constant wear on which uses the roadway up in very short order. Compliance with the posted request on the roads mentioned keeps them smooth throughout their entire length and breadth and a delight to motorists and all others using them. Union avenue in this town (Enderne) is a favorite with motorists, and if the Long Island rule were posted and obeyed it would be a fine thoroughfare. Instead it consists of two long ruts of from one to six inches in depth, which require constant attention and repair.

Carlsbad Cotton Gin.

A Carlsbad dispatch of the 12th inst. says: The cotton gin at Carlsbad has been in operation. The citizens raised the money, among themselves, and built this gin this summer for the convenience of the cotton growers in the neighborhood of Carlsbad, the nearest gin being twelve miles away. It is a thousand-gin of the latest design, and is operated by electric power furnished by the Public Utilities Company. It is only within the last few years that cotton has been grown commercially in this vicinity, and this year there are 2,000 acres planted in cotton. The crop is looking out very well, and is expected to average nearly a bale to the acre for the entire season. Several hundred acres of cotton are grown around the town of Carlsbad, and the gin is expected to be in operation for several months. The gin is expected to be in operation for several months. Work on New Mexico Central.

A. L. Richmond, Jr., of the Houston Construction Company, arrived at Albuquerque on the 10th inst., for the purpose of inspecting the construction of the Albuquerque and Hagan branches of the New Mexico Central railroad.

Mr. Richmond brought his automobile and with him, Albuquerque his headquarters. He is in the building of the new and Mr. Richmond said:

We will begin construction as soon as our first summer. J. R. Farwell is making the permanent locations, which will probably be completed by next week. Five cars of construction machinery are now at Moriarty, awaiting to be sent out and twelve more are en route from Cleveland, our headquarters. We have one of the very largest steam shovels in the business. With this equipment we hope to have the Hagan line in operation by Christmas and construction begin on the Eastern. Mr. Richmond (in consulting engineer) thinks the first train and men are to be had in the vicinity of the route of the road. This will be of great assistance in the way of pushing the construction. It will save lifting labor in some of the places.

Killing Big Bears.

Gregorio Barco, an employee of the Tabo-Vent Mercantile Company, at Chiricahua, shot and killed a large black bear, three miles west of the Valley ranch on the upper Pecos a few days ago, says the New Mexican.

Bustos found fresh bear tracks early one morning while searching for strayed stock. He followed them for several hours and was rewarded by overtaking him. He succeeded in wounding the bear but it bit him an all day chase. While following the wounded bear he managed to kill another bear, which he jumped. The wounded bear made good its escape.

This is the second bear that has been killed within the past ten days on the upper Pecos. The grizzlies are reported to be unusually plentiful in that section this season, several old bears and a half dozen cubs being seen by ranchmen living there.

Notaries Public Appointed.

Four new notaries public in various parts of the territory have been appointed by Governor George Curry. They are as follows:

Alberto Ortiz of Pasturas, Guadalupe county.
Annie E. Williams of Malaga, Eddy county.
William Evans of Fruitland, San Juan county.
Vincenzo Romero of Puerto de Luna, Guadalupe county.

Daughters of American Revolution.

At Albuquerque, during the week ending October 10th, the Daughters of the American Revolution held their first territorial convention.

Delegates from three chapters were present, namely, Stephen Watts Kearney Chapter of Santa Fe, Jacob Bennett Chapter of Silver City, and Lew Wallace Chapter of Albuquerque. The convention was called to order and presided over by Mrs. L. Bradford Prince of Santa Fe, state regent. The beautiful ritual of the order was then exemplified which concluded with the usual salute to the flag and the singing of the national anthem "America."

Mrs. H. B. Ray, vice regent of Lew Wallace Chapter of Albuquerque, made a heart and patriotic speech of welcome which was eloquently and very sincerely responded to by Mrs. Prince, the state regent. Mrs. Prince said in part:

"In the city of Albuquerque there are now being held a series of meetings of organizations such as have seldom been concentrated into a single week, even in the largest cities of our land."

"In addition to the great National Irrigation Congress, there are gatherings of industrial pursuits, the cattlemen, and the sheep men, meetings of educational and professional organizations, a good roads convention, and various commercial cycle societies, benevolent and social meetings as well as those for municipal betterment, but the only meeting of a purely patriotic nature is that assembled here in this building."

In fact, with the single exception of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is the only association that maintains a territorial organization in New Mexico.

While the many societies are legion—those commemorating revolutionary days, such as the Cincinnati and the Sons of the American Revolution, those telling of the earlier period of our country's history, like the Society of Colonial Wars, the Mayflower, etc., and those of more days, such as the War of 1812 and the Mexican war, and while there are corresponding societies of women, such as the Colonial Dames, and various sister societies, yet not one has an organization or has ever held a meeting in New Mexico except the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. J. P. Victory, regent of Stephen Watts Kearney Chapter of Santa Fe, reported that the chapter was making good progress, was in a flourishing condition and was accumulating a fine library consisting of rare books of history of the United States, Indian lore, ethnology and ethnology of New Mexico.

Mrs. R. F. Asplund, of Lew Wallace Chapter, wife of Professor Asplund of the University of New Mexico, reported that that chapter had secured a circulating library of over 100 volumes for the territorial chapter, public schools and suggested a "New Mexico Day" for the public schools of the territory, a proposition which was seconded and unanimously adopted by the ladies.

The next territorial convention will be held in Santa Fe the day to be announced by the territorial regent.

After the business session the visiting delegates from the various chapters were entertained at a reception given by the members of Lew Wallace Chapter. This was an elegant social affair and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

New Mexico has eight thousand square miles of coal lands representing wealth of which figures can convey no adequate idea to the mind. However, it is not only in themselves that the coal lands are holding such great undeveloped resource, but the industries to which they will some day serve as the foundation, represent still greater promise, says the New Mexican. The future of New Mexico is assured, but it is nothing else to fall back upon its coal, but the territory is so infinitely blessed in many other respects that it is bound to become one of the most important states of the Union industrially, in population and in wealth.

The Pecos valley is planning to send a representative exhibit to the Texas fair at Dallas. The exhibits from the various towns in the valley that won so much admiration and praise at the Interstate Exposition and Territorial Fair at Albuquerque will be used as a nucleus. The Eddy county exhibit was awarded the Hearst Trophy for the best county exhibit in a competition in which California, Arizona, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico and Chaves county got second place. These exhibits were complete in the way of farm and orchard products. The matter of preparing the exhibit for the Dallas fair is being considered by the Commercial clubs of Roswell, Artesia, Carlsbad and other towns in the valley.

JAPAN GREET'S YANKEE FLEET

WONDERFUL PAGEANT OF AMERICAN AND JAPANESE VESSELS IN HARBOR OF TOKIO.

BRIGHT WITH BUNTING

THOUSANDS OF SPECTATORS WITNESS INSPIRING SCENE AFLOAT AND ASHORE.

Yokohama.—Sixteen American battleships, constituting the Atlantic fleet on its peaceful cruise around the world, are riding at anchor today in the bay of Tokio occupying the post of honor in front of a number of Japanese men-of-war, the hulls of the American vessels making strong contrast with the somber-lined ones of the Japanese.

In the bay, alive with bunting, gaily decorated tugs and steamers, loaded with sightseers, are steaming to and fro, and launches from the shore and the war vessels are bearing uniformed officers on their official visits of welcome.

It was in the gray hours, before dawn Saturday morning when the battalions of America's great white battleship fleet were duly discerned maneuvering off the entrance to Tokio bay, while sixteen warships, the pride of Japan, in somber color swung at their anchor bays outside of the breakwater encircled by low purple hills.

From thousands of flagstaffs and buildings and every point in the big city floated the stars and stripes and the entire lengths of miles of streets were almost walled with intertwined American and Japanese emblems. The bay itself was fairly aflame with bunting where tugs and steamers, richly decorated with streamers and pennants, lined the wharves awaiting thousands of excursionists who were going out to meet the fleet.

Even the early hours made it apparent that all expectations of great crowds and an enthusiastic welcome to the American fleet would be exceeded and that all records of the outpouring of popular sentiment would be surpassed.

The enthusiasm of the people was evidently sincere, though mixed with the natural curiosity to see the big fighting ships from America, the long and successful cruise of which has marked a new epoch in naval history.

As the sixteen battleships rounded Honmou point and came through the entrance to the bay they were accompanied by the Japanese cruisers Soya, Magami and Tatsuta, commanded by Rear Admiral Murakami. Passing up the coast off Yokosuka, the first note of real welcome was sounded when a fireworks salute was fired by the "American Legends," comprised of Japanese who had assembled at Muri Kuribama on the site of Perry's monument. The fleet responded by gracefully dipping colors.

When it came closer in the fleet was met by seven big ocean liners chartered by the prefecture of Kanagawa, carrying 7,000 persons, including many foreigners. The air was filled with bursting bombs, sent up from various points, and the roar of voices was heard even in the city of Yokohama.

When the fleet rounded Honmou point and came into full view of the city of Yokohama, the sixteen assembled Japanese warships began firing the salute to the rear admiral in command of the American fleet. The roar of the guns, the bursting fireworks, the shriek of the steam sirens, with the drone of the deep notes of the liners, filled the air with overwhelming sound. Ashore, bedlam broke loose, and words fail to describe the enthusiasm of the assembled thousands.

When the American fleet finally came to anchor, it presented an imposing spectacle. Thirty-two great warships occupied four long columns of eight each, the Americans taking place of honor in the forefront, the Japanese immediately behind them and heading due north.

As soon as the fleet came to anchor a reception committee from the Japanese government, representing every department, and attaches of the various foreign embassies and legations and the mayor of Yokohama put off from shore for the flagship Connecticut.

Every vernacular newspaper in Yokohama and Tokio printed special illustrated editions, containing enthusiastic articles with reference to the coming of the American fleet. The entire circulation of these newspapers will probably reach 1,000,000.

LIVES LOST ON BURNING TRAIN

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY CAUSED BY FOREST FIRES IN NORTH-ERN MICHIGAN.

FIFTEEN DIE IN FLAMES

RELIEF TRAIN DITCHED IN BURNING WOODS AND HELPLESS REFUGEES MEET DEATH.

Alpena, Mich. Fifteen people lost their lives Thursday night in the burning of the Detroit & Mackinac railway relief train, which was carrying the inhabitants of the little village of Metz, twenty-three miles north of here, to safety from the forest fires, which were sweeping away their homes.

The ill-fated train was ditched by spreading rails at Nowicki siding, a few miles south of Metz, and the terrified refugees were forced to abandon the cars and rush for safety either down the track with burning forests on either side, or into the abandoned fields about the siding.

Eleven of the victims were women and children who were unable to escape quickly enough from the gondola car when they were sleeping. Their charred bodies were found there next day when rescuers reached the scene. Two of the dead victims were members of the train crew.

Four additional fatalities occurred in the neighborhood of the wreck Thursday night. Mrs. and Mrs. Fred Wagner died from heat and exhaustion on their farm near the scene of the wreck and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nowicki, Jr., lost their lives in their burning house near the siding where the wreck occurred.

When the news first closed in Thursday about the little village a special train of three empty box cars and two gondolas were rushed to Metz in charge of John E. Kinville, conductor; William Foster, engineer; Arthur Lee, fireman, and William Harrison, brakeman.

As rapidly as possible the people and their goods were loaded into the cars. Some refused to abandon their goods or the train might have left earlier and have reached Alpena in safety. When the train finally started there were about 100 frightened people aboard. The flames were already sweeping through the village. Engineer Foster shifted his train for Alpena. Nearing Nowicki siding he saw blazing piles of cedar ties on both sides of the track.

Opening wide the throttle, he tried to dash through at full speed, but the heat had loosened the rails and they have spread and the train left the tracks. Blazing piles of ties surrounded it and in an instant the cars caught fire.

The terror-stricken people caught by the peril from which they were fleeing, jumped from the cars and rushed down the track. Three mothers and their little ones were not quick enough. They were cremated in the gondola car where they were caught.

Brakeman William Harflett sprang into the water tank behind the engine only to be literally boiled to death as the flames swept over it. Engineer Foster and Conductor Kinville fled down the track through the fire and smoke and were the first to reach the village of Posen, report the wreck and ask for assistance from here.

Behind them struggled a burned and wounded procession of refugees from the wrecked train. It was a fearful march over the hot ties with the flames from the burning woods on either side of the track roaring and snapping in their faces. Engineer Foster was terribly burned about the head and face, but it is thought that he will survive. Conductor Kinville was badly scorched. James White was totally blinded by burns. John Nowicki, Sr., and his wife and Mrs. Albert Hardies and her young son were also seriously burned. Many more of the refugees are suffering from painful burns.

Taft's Daughter Hazed.

Philadelphia.—Helen Taft, daughter of the Republican candidate, and freshman at Bryn Mawr, was hazed in great shape by the college sophomores, Sunday evening, according to revelations made later. Among the things Miss Taft was forced to do and to which she gamely submitted were these: Had to eat supposed chocolate cream, filled with lard; forced to sweep the floor of her room, holding the broom in her teeth; obliged to mount a table and make a rip-roaring speech for Bryan, her hearers all the time crying "louder! louder!" and walked through the halls of the dormitory and made to give three cheers for Bryan on penalty of being thrown into the campus pond.

The government has petitioned the Supreme Court to review the case of the United States against the executors of the Winfield Scott Stratton estate in Colorado. In 1899 Mr. Stratton executed a deed in which the consideration named was $1,850,000. He affixed stamps to the value of $1,850. Some years later the government ascertained that the true consideration was $9,733,000, requiring $1,483 more in stamps, which had not been affixed. A suit to recover that amount was decided against the government by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit and the United States District Court of Colorado.

PLAIN BUT SIMPLE LUNCHEON.

Simple, Inexpensive Dishes That Are Easily Prepared.

It is often puzzling to know just how to plan a luncheon menu that shall at once be inexpensive, dainty, and easily prepared. Here is a suggestion:

Tomato Sauce
Boiled Salmon with Lemon Sauce
Steamed Chicken
Peas
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Salted Fruit (Apple, Orange, Cheese)
Custard
Cream
Sugar
Wafers
Cafe Noir

For the tomato sauce put one-fourth of a pound of butter in a saucepan, and when it is melted add the contents of a can of tomatoes with a cupful of cooked rice, a cupful of white broth, and salt and pepper. Cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour, then remove from the fire, pour through a sieve, and cook again for ten minutes, when it is ready to serve. The boiled salmon may be served cold. The lemon butter sauce is made by adding the juice of a lemon to a plain butter sauce.

Candied sweet potatoes are made by placing rather thick slices of cold boiled sweet potatoes in a frying pan with a liberal supply of butter, after rolling them well in sugar. Fry a deep brown.

Custard cream is a delicious dessert. Whip until stiff a pint of rich cream, and add a third of a box of gelatine dissolved in water. Dip a glass serving dish in cold water, then line it with currant jelly, and cover with a layer of grated macarons, and this in turn with a layer of whipped cream. Repeat the order until the dish is filled with the last layer of cream. Place a single rose in the center.

TO CLEAN SATIN SLIPPERS.

Rubbing with Stale Bread is Perhaps the Best Method.

If you wear satin slippers last winter and find upon taking them out this season that they are soiled it is well to clean them at once.

Never leave off the work of freshening and renovating party things until the day you are invited to go out. One always has an unexpected invitation, and finds to her misery that all her party finery needs two or three days' work on it.

So get out your evening slippers now and see that they are thoroughly cleaned and ready for wear.

If the satin is but slightly soiled, get some pieces of stale bread and rub the surface gently with it. This takes off all small discolorations.

Kneaded rubber will do the same work, although some women do not like it because it crumbles off on the satin.

If the slipper is still soiled looking after this treatment rub the entire surface with the thread. Remember not to go against the grain.

White flannel should be used—a clean piece—dipped in spirits of wine. If this rubbing is done gently and evenly over the surface the effect is excellent.

Making Butter Balls.

The reason so many women find it a trouble to make butter balls is that the butter is not of the right consistency and the paddles are not cold enough.

Butter should be soft enough to mold easily, but far removed from the melting stage. The paddles should be dipped into ice water, so they do not stick.

Serving butter in this form, besides being daintier, is a decided economy. In helping oneself from a slice men and children are apt to do it too liberally, and a large part of it is wasted.

Keep the butter balls on the ice until just before serving.

Ginger Cake.

Two cups of dark brown sugar, two eggs, one cup butter and lard mixed, one cup of sour milk with one teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful each cinnamon, allspice and ginger, two and one-half cups flour with one teaspoonful baking powder. Bake slow.

Hermits.

One and one-half cups of sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half cup sweet milk, two and one-half cups of flour, one cup of raisins, floured, one teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and allspice, three eggs, and add last one and one-fourth teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little hot water, adding soda after balance is mixed. Have two large bread pans greased and floured and drop the hermits in, a teaspoonful for each, leaving one-half an inch space for them to spread. Bake in a hot oven.

Grape Mousse.

Cook enough grapes so that when strained they will make one large coffee cup of pure juice. Stir this into a pint of very heavy cream. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and enough sugar to sweeten. Whip this with cream whipper until very thick and pour into a mold. Pack in freezer, covering with salt and ice, letting it stand four or five hours. Replenish the ice if necessary. Turn out on platter to serve and sprinkle nuts over the inverted mold.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

BY RAYMOND W. PULLMAN
STORY OF CHISHOLM, THE MINNESOTA TOWN
THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAVED

RUINS OF CHISHOLM

THE NEW BUILDING, SEVERELY DAMAGED, TURNED INTO A RUIN

RUINS OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The people in the section around Chisholm, Minn., say that it is the driest year that they have ever known. The woods and the brush growth on cut-over land are as dry as tinder and fire can be seen in as many as a half dozen places at one time, starting from what no one knows. The natives give various causes of how the flames start, the most popular of which are sparks from engines, lanterns, and campfires, careless brush-burning by homesteaders and incendiaries. One man even advanced the theory of spontaneous combustion and did not seem to like it when I told him that I thought this was hardly the case. In many sections up here the ground is of peat bog formation and a spark may burn for weeks after it finds a lodging before it is fanned into a flame.

It is hard and practically impossible to figure losses accurately at this time, and it will be weeks before even an approximate estimate that is final can be made. Contractors will have to be sent over the burnt-over areas before close figures can be obtained and the timber owners say that it is absolutely useless to do anything in this line until a heavy rain comes and the end of the fires is assured.

Putting the losses low, to be on the safe side, they are commonly agreed to be $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. The majority of people say about $5,000,000. This is considered a conservative estimate by those who have been over most of the ground. At five per cent interest the amount of capital lost would yield $250,000 a year. This is worth contrasting with what the state forestry board now has to spend for protection. It has an appropriation of $11,500.

The burning of the prosperous little town of Chisholm on the Mesabi iron range is the item of loss which figures most prominently in conversations with all who have anything to say about the forest fire destruction to date. The people in this country are used to fire, and with the fire of home-burned they are the worst of fools in the art. Even the natives burn a town or a very small town of timber, but they are rarely indifferent to the danger.

A warning exhibition of this danger about Chisholm was given on the day of the Chisholm fire, the losses in which are now conservatively estimated at $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, including real property, stocks of merchandise, and every other item of direct loss. The same fire that destroyed the town had been burning in the forests up to for more than a week. It was at last checked in the afternoon that the fire entered the city in the clutch of a rube from the northwest and laid the ruins in ruins in less time than it takes to tell it. Up to within a half hour before the flames caught the town, the people were confident that there was no danger.

When the fire came all were panic-stricken and grabbing the few things nearest at hand, which in numerous cases were not articles of the great use or usefulness, fled the town, many looking for the iron mines near by. That original panic-stricken scene taken even as late as the forenoon of the fire, it is said that the place could have been saved. As it was, all that was spared by the flames were the two churches, the beautiful $125,000 high school, the grammar school, and two blocks of dwellings on opposite sides of town, which were saved because of a peculiar shifting of the wind.

One of the fortunate things about the fire was that it struck Chisholm awake in the afternoon instead of at night after all were asleep. There was no loss of life as it was, but had the flames come in the dark the loss would have been most horrible, for there is no telling what part of the 5,000 people would have been cremated in their beds so quick were the flames, or what would have happened to the fleeing panics taken people and their children who might have been awake.

Many of the people of the city were hard hit by the fire financially and some lost practically all they had. The same dauntless spirit that impelled large cities like Baltimore and San Francisco to arise from the ruins of the and rebuild is in the people of little Chisholm and already there are about 50 new stores and dwellings nearly completed. When I saw the people going about their work in such a cheerful go-ahead way, I was surprised, for one can hardly expect such quick action from a small town.

The wonderful gaseous streamers which we call a comet's tail increase in luminosity as the comet approaches perihelion—that is to say the point in its orbital travel when it is nearest the sun. This cometary matter is of varying but enormous length. Indeed, we must think of comet's tails in terms of millions of miles. Donati's comet of 1858 reached a length of 6 degrees, and swept as a broad curve

What if Mother Earth came into collision with one of these peripatetic objects from out the depths of space? More than 200 years ago Halley pondered over this very possibility. "May the great good God," said he, "avert a shock or contact of such great violence that this most beautiful order of things be entirely destroyed and reduced into its ancient chaos." In 1819 (and again in 1843) our orb actually did move through a comet's tail. No one, however, experienced the least shiver of apprehension. Notwithstanding this, a quite different state of affairs is conceivable so we are told Prof. W. H. Pickering of Harvard College observatory, remarks in this connection that were the earth to strike the nucleus of a large comet, like that for instance of 1858 (donation), it would be impossible to foretell what might happen; in all likelihood the temperature and shock would be such that within several thousand miles of the point of contact there would be a cessation of organized life.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING AND FIREMEN'S BANQUET

ed. The story about Andrews obtaining appropriations is another fake, for Mark Smith, a democrat, obtained as much for Arizona, even in the matter of getting appropriation for schools.

As for that appropriation for Irrigation Congress; it was the Western governors and congressmen that secured it and not Andrews.

Mr. Fergusson then gave a short resume of the life of O. A. Larrazolo whom he knew for 25 years and told how Mr. Larrazolo was educated in the United States and was elected as prosecuting attorney for the counties of West Texas while residing in El Paso and 90 per cent of the people who voted for him were Texas democrats, and what is good for Texas democrats is good enough for us.

Mr. Fergusson mentioned the name of Wm. J. Bryan, and the audience went wild. He compared Bryan to Jefferson, in statesmanship, to "Old Hickory" Jackson in firmness, and to Abraham Lincoln in kindness. He eulogized the great commoner in a way that left no doubt as to his sincerity and convictions in his admiration for the head of the ticket. His closing was an earnest appeal to the voters to turn out and vote, that Eddy county may take its proper and rightful place in the matter of representation in the constitutional convention and, in the event of statehood, to receive its just dues in the matter of judge of the district and in the other various offices.

After the address of Mr. Fergusson which lasted about an hour and a half Mayor Richardson of Roswell was introduced and told the people some things about his old friend George Curry whom he campaigned with in 1886 and every following campaign for twelve years, but, he said, it has come to the passing of the ways when such a man as George Curry will "throw in" with an admitted rascal and grafter as old "Bull" Andrews.

After the speaking the audience crowded around Mr. Fergusson to grasp his hand and congratulate him on his wonderful effort, many saying that they had never before heard such convincing argument or so plain a presentation of the political issues of the day.

At about 10:30 p. m. the firemen and their friends repaired to the Legal Tender Cafe where a sumptuous banquet, such as is well known that only Dick Bates can spread, was awaiting the guests and firemen. Mr. Bernard Ruppe was appointed toast master, being the ranking fireman in the assemblage and well did he acquit himself in this important function. Mr. Fergusson, who responded to the toast, "The Firemen" was a masterly elucidation of the value of a good well contented fire department, and the response of Ex-Mayor O'Quinn to the toast, "The regulations of a fire department and a city council" was a fine explanation of the necessity of cordial relations between their respective bodies. The ex-mayor's address was one of the best he ever made and was highly applauded. Others also responded to toasts and the banquet was dismissed by Mr. Ruppe with a very fine oration on the pleasure of the visit to Carlsbad which he characterized as one of the brightest spots in his life. Mr. Ruppe accompanied his friends and joined

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains—caused by weakness and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary spots or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable dreams from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cure. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle wrapper and are tested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regarding health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

with him in thanking the firemen and others in Carlsbad for the courtesies extended. They were taken to the big dam and flume and Carlsbad Spring Sunday afternoon in the big bus of the Schlitz and were accompanied by a jolly crowd. Monday Mr. Ruppe went out shooting with Chief Ohnemann of the Carlsbad fire department and when he returned in the evening he found the firemen and many others wearing fine satin badges, inscribed: "When Ruppe Comes to Town." This act of courtesy by the firemen to their territorial president was probably the most unique and the only one of the kind ever given a visitor to Carlsbad, and Mr. Ruppe showed his appreciation by thanking the firemen many times over and promising to do all in his power to bring a big delegation of territorial firemen to Carlsbad next September to the Territorial Tournament which will be held here and will be attended by sixteen companies of eighteen men each besides their friends and families. The Ruppe left on the early train Tuesday with the best wishes of many friends.
