

6-2-1906

Albuquerque Weekly Citizen, 06-02-1906

T. Hughes

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/abq_citizen_news

Recommended Citation

Hughes, T.. "Albuquerque Weekly Citizen, 06-02-1906." (1906). https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/abq_citizen_news/620

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the New Mexico Historical Newspapers at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Albuquerque Citizen, 1891-1906 by an authorized administrator of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

FRESH NEWS
DIRECT FROM LONDON TOWN

Police Get Angry Because Motorists Escape
Their Trap.

EJECTED FROM OWN HOUSE

Longworths Will Visit London
in Height of Social Season.

Special Correspondence.

London, May 29.—Motorists are jubilation over a recent decision of the Croydon bench, which dismissed the prosecution charge of obstructing the police in the execution of their duty which was brought against a gentleman named Little.

The charge was based on the fact that Mr. Little warned a number of motorists that they were approaching a police trap, the consequence being that they slackened their speed over the measured distance so it was impossible for the officers timing them to say that the statutory limit had been exceeded.

No doubt it was a disappointment to the police to be deprived of what they had looked upon as their prey.
But, after all, the first duty of the police, themselves, is to prevent the law being broken, and not to lie in ambush for the capture of poachers.
transgressors, and it is surely the height of absurdity to suggest that a citizen who is really helping them in the performance of that duty is guilty of obstruction.

If this prosecution had succeeded,
we might not have heard of someone being charged with obstructing the police because he counseled a drunken man to go home quietly. We might even have witnessed the prosecution of a clergyman on the ground that his work in recruiting and reforming bad characters interfered with the proper business of the police!

AMERICANS THROW OWN
OUT OF HIS OWN HOUSE

Baron Deichman, whose name has lately come before the public in connection with a tragedy in his ser-vant's hall in London, and who is one of the best judges of a horse in the United Kingdom, has a grudge against Americans.

Returning to London rather unexpectedly from his beautiful castle on the Rhine, he found his house occupied by a party of Americans, who resented his intrusion, and pitched him out into the street. Investigation developed the fact that his butler,
who had been with him for years,
and whom he trusted blindly, had opened the house, cellar and all, to a rather "rapid" American family, never dreaming that his master would depart from his invariable custom of remaining four months at his place in Germany.

Since that time no made attendant ever has been tolerated in the baron's house, and butler, second butler,
groom of the chambers, and footmen,
are all members of the fair sex.

The baron is easily recognized at the coaching meets by his extraordinarily shaped high silk hats, which are built with heavy visors, so as to shade his eyes, or rather, his remaining eye, for he lost the other one while hunting with the Bicester hounds. It is perhaps due to this infirmity that this most hospitable and kindhearted of men has become so crabbed and irritable in his old age.

JACK KNIFE CAUSES
LOSS OF VESSELS

Searfaring men at Grimsby are at loggerheads just now with their masters, and the cause of the trouble is most extraordinary. There have been numerous wrecks of fishing boats for some time past, owing to inexplicable errors of the compass. This led the underwriters of craft sailing from Grimsby to make investigation, with the result that they discovered defections of the compass were due to a special type of knife clasp which was not even carried by the men.
The method of tempering the knife
in the course of manufacture causes upon it magnetic properties that are so powerful that when it is in a wheelman's pocket, it deflects the needle two or three points, and as the man moves the needle vibrates in the odd manner. These knives were recognized as dangerous, and the skippers forbade anybody entering the bridge house with one of them. It was found almost impossible to ef-force this rule, however, and now the defect has gone forth, and the result is not even carry knives of this pattern. As sailors like to choose their own knives, much argument has been indulged in.

ABOUT SNAKES WHICH ARE THOUGHT TO FLY

At a recent meeting of the London Zoological Society, R. Sheldrake, late of the Barnack Museum, volunteered
some facts on what he termed "flying" snakes. These snakes are climbers, and a wonderful provision of nature has been made for them to break their fall in case of accident
at a height from the ground.
They have a sort of hinge-joint in the skin, on either side of the body,
and by muscular contraction the ventral surface of the reptile is drawn in so as to become quite concave and

DEATH TAKES AWAY TOUCH
OF THE MASTER HAND

REMOVES ONE
WHO WAS A KING IN World of Newspaperdom.

Jas. E. Scripps Passed
From Life Today.

REMARKABLE CAREER
OF REMARKABLE MAN

MR. AND MRS. LONGWORTH
WILL VISIT LONDON

Representative and Mrs. Nicholas
Longworth, who were Miss Alice Roosevelt, will be in London in the height of the season, and plans are already making for their entertainment. Ambassador and Mrs. Whitehead will lead off in a series of smart functions in their honor and Mrs. Oden Mills and the Misses Mills, who will also be in London, will participate in these special festivities.

AMERICAN PUBLISHES BOOK IN ENGLAND

Anglers are interested in the forthcoming volume on fishing from the pen of Charles F. Holden, the American publisher of the Evening News of this city, now combined with the Tribune
and Detroit News, and a former director of the Associated Press, died
at his home today, after a long illness,
aged 71 years. Myelitis, or inflammation of the spinal cord, from which he had been suffering for a year, was
the cause of death.

SOME STATISTICS ABOUT GREAT LONDON CITY

Some of the curious facts about the great city of London have been put into an interesting form by Consul General Wynne, the former postmaster general and Washington correspondent. Mr. Wynne finds that the city and a half million people in Great London live in 2,435,000 houses.
The population one hundred years ago
was just one-fifth what it is now.

Though the number of births was nearly double the number of deaths
in 1904, the birth rate is steadily declining. The postal figures show that in 1903 there were 1,925 postoffices
in London, and 243 public telephone working. The total imports at London in 1904 amounted to $449, 000,000, and the total exports $462,
200,000. Some idea of London's wealth is conveyed in the following statement of the assessed income tax values in 1904: Householders, $125, 264,000; traders and professionals, $384,600,000; profits of companies and other interests, $698,000,000; salaries (corporate bodies), $15,000,000; salaries (army and navy), $102,000,000.

In 1905 there were 2,993 motor cars
and 1,852 motor cycles in London.
Licenses to drive were granted to 8,059 people, the fees received amounting to $38,000.

NEWS ABOUT THE POSTOFFICE SERVICE

POSTOFFICE DISCONTINUED—A STAR ROUTE ESTABLISHED—POSTOFFICE TO BE MOVED.

The postoffice at Aconita, Valencia county, has been discontinued. Mail addressed to that point will be sent to Seama.

Postoffice Name Changed.
The name of the postoffice at Joseph Socorro county, has been changed to Aragon. Cornelius Aragon has been appointed postmaster.

Star Service Established.
Star service has been established
from Fort Sumner, Guadalupe county, to Tular, Roosevelt county, a distance of sixteen miles, trips to be made three times a week. The contract for carrying the mail was awarded to J. C. Scruggs, of Fort Sumner, at $420 a year.

Postoffice Not to Be Moved.
P. S. Trotter, assistant superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances of the postoffice department, who recently investigated the complaint that the postoffice at Raton
is located in an undesirable district of the city, has reported in favor of retaining the postoffice at its present site, but also recommended that the premises be enlarged and additional equipment be installed by the insurance company to give the Raton postoffice to give the Raton postoffice to be one of the best equipped in the territory.

THEATRICAL MANAGERS
AGAINST POSTER TAX

Ottawa, Ont., May 29.—The Canadian managers are holding a convention here for the purpose of effecting an organization with a view of protecting themselves against the unjust tariff tax on theatrical printing, which amounts to 15 cents a pound,
and is considered wholly unjustifiable.
An appeal was made to the tariff commission last fall by Mr. Tuton, who submitted a petition signed by nearly all the theatrical managers,
and the commission promised to consider it, but nothing has been done since then. Nearly all the Canadian managers are represented in the convention, which met here today and will last three days. It is expected that during the convention a delegation of managers will wait on the government and urge the reduction of the tariff on show printing.

The interior of A. J. Malor's grocery store is being treated to a new coat of paint, and other improvements.
The store counters have been refaced
and varnished.

DEATH TAKES AWAY TOUCH
OF THE MASTER HAND

REMOVES ONE
WHO WAS A KING IN World of Newspaperdom.

Jas. E. Scripps Passed
From Life Today.

REMARKABLE CAREER
OF REMARKABLE MAN

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—James E.
Scripps, founder, and for many years
publisher of the Evening News of this city, now combined with the Tribune
and Detroit News, and a former director of the Associated Press, died
at his home today, after a long illness,
aged 71 years. Myelitis, or inflammation of the spinal cord, from which
he had been suffering for a year, was
the cause of death.

James Edmund Scripps was born in London, Eng., March 19, 1835, of thoroughly English ancestry, which exhibited in several generations preceding his birth the gifts and tastes which distinguished his long, active life.
About the middle of the eighteenth century, a Scripps rebuilt the famous dome and lantern of Ely cathedral,
and four generations later James E.
Scripps viewed the work of his ancestor with unqualified admiration. One of the cathedral repairer's sons emigrated to America in 1791, and settled at Cape Girardeau, Mo., while his brother remained in England and edited the London Daily Sun and the Literary Gazette, the latter being the first of his class to be published in England. A son of this pioneer publisher became a book-binder, and was the father of James E. Scripps.

Young James' father followed his brother to America, and after a long journey, their farm near Rushville in Schuyler county, Illinois, was reached, and the hard conditions of American pioneer life were imposed on young Scripps when he was 9 years old. His tenth year was spent entirely in the hard labor of the new farm, in his eleventh winter, and until he was 15 years old, he was according the meager advantages of short winter terms in a country school. Before he was a man in years,
he had taught school two winters,
while he continued to labor on the farm in summer.

Early in 1857, at the age of 22
years, he made his way to Chicago,
and prepared himself for commercial work by taking a course in a business college.

His first employment, which lasted
only a few months, was to keep books or a lumber company. His rule was to save half his salary, a rule he so scrupulously followed that within five years he had accumulated enough to purchase a small interest in a business.

Leaving the lumber company he made his entrance into newspaper work. He was collector, proof reader and general utility man about the office of the Chicago Tribune. His capacity and industry soon secured for him an appointment as commercial and marine reporter. Leaving there,
he went to Detroit the following year
to become commercial editor of the Daily Advertiser, to the duties of which position were soon added those of news editor. This was speedily followed by a partnership in the business.

He had determined early that he would not marry until he had an assured income of at least $1,000 a year, and as this was now realized, he took up his affairs a life partner, Miss Harriet J. Messenger, of Detroit, with whom his domestic life has been a singularly happy one.

In the same year, 1862, he brought about the consolidation of the two republican papers of Detroit, the Tribune, an afternoon paper, and the Advertiser, the morning paper, and became business manager and later
managing editor of the new enterprise.
From his time forward the business was highly successful. In February 1873, he founded the Evening News.
Success with this encouraged him to similar enterprises elsewhere. In 1878
"The Press" was established in Cleveland; in 1880 the Chronicle in St. Louis, and in 1881 the Post was purchased and re-organized in Cincinnati. From that time on newspapers founded on the Scripps idea and by men who were associated with the News, were established in many of the principal cities of the country.
Perhaps no better idea of the extent of Mr. Scripps' influence and enterprise in the newspaper world can be given than in this list of newspapers and kindred enterprises which are the direct result of the foundation venture made on August 23, 1873: The Detroit News, the Detroit Tribune,
the Cleveland Press, the Cincinnati
Post, the St. Louis Star-Chronicle,
the Covington (Ky.) Post, the Akron (O.) Press, the Toledo News-Free, the To-

JAMES EDMUND SCRIPPS.

ledo Times, the Columbus Citizen,
and Rapid Press, the Bay City Times, the Baltimore World, the Indianapolis Sun, the Kansas City
World, the Omaha News, the St. Paul News, the Des Moines News, the Minneapolis News, the San Diego Star, the Los Angeles Record, the Seattle Star, the San Francisco News,
the Tacoma Times, the Spokane News,
the Sacramento Star, the Fresno Tribune, the Denver Express, and added to these, the Scripps-McLure Press association and the Newspaper Enterprise association.

By these newspapers and news associations almost the whole territory of the United States is embraced, and there is hardly a community, large or small, in the whole country that is not more or less subject to the influences which originated with Jas.
E. Scripps' venture with the Evening
News thirty-three years ago.

In his home life Jas. E. Scripps found his chief pleasure. He remained extremely simple in his personal habits. "Old friends are the best,"
he would say, and the companions

of his earlier years, though they might not have achieved as great success as he, were always welcome at his home.
The frivolities of society he eschewed.
He measured his associates by their discreetness and sober by their position or wealth. His old age came with its increasing burden, he more and more sought rest at home or in travel,
and when at last the end came he met
it calmly, reasoning, as he had a right to do, that he had discharged his duties, tasted much of the sweet and bitter of life, filled up his cup of experiences and advice his fellow men as he had light to do it. One of the last philanthropic acts he performed was to give ground for a public park at Trumbull and Grand River avenues, which the city is grateful recognition
named Scripps park.

His monuments are his character,
his papers, his beautiful home and his numerous gifts to the city. Freely
he had received, freely did he give.
And one who knew him intimately
said:

"Such a life needs no commentary.
It supplies its own."

MILITARY MEN SHOW
INORDINATE JEALOUSY

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Someone has attempted to make a sensation out of the routine announcement that Major General F. C. Ainsworth will act as Secretary of War during the temporary absence of both the Secretary of War and the acting secretary. It was said that this was a direct slap at Brigadier General J.
P. Bell, the chief of staff. The detail is by no means unusual, however, or out of the ordinary in any way.

On the contrary, had General Bell been designated to act as Secretary of War
instead of General Ainsworth, there would have been no occasion for element of wide spread interest. General Ainsworth is the highest ranking officer on the active list on duty in Washington. General Bell is the senior Brigadier General, and comes next in the relative list of army officers on duty in the War Department. Should General Ainsworth be absent from the city at the same time as Mr. Taft and Mr. Oliver, General Bell would become Acting Secretary of War by virtue of his position. The fact that General Bell is chief of staff has nothing to do with the case, and there is no reason to suppose that any army officers over the contrary, published reports to the contrary notwithstanding. It is recalled that General Ainsworth was until 1892, a surgeon in the regular army, and a surgeon just below Major General Leonard Wood, who was a regular surgeon until 1898. General Ainsworth still has ten years of active service before reaching the retiring age.

IN INTEREST OF NUT
GROWING IN TEXAS

Austin, Tex., May 29.—Several hundred nut growers and others interested in the growing of nuts are assembled here in compliance with a call sent out by E. M. Kirkpatrick, with a view of forming the nut growers of this state into a permanent organization. The conference will last two days, and is expected to be of great importance. Many prominent agricultural and other distinguished men are in attendance, and some highly interesting addresses will be delivered during the two days of the conference. The session this afternoon will be devoted to the task of organization. Then a number of important subjects having direct bearing upon the growing of various kinds of nuts will be discussed. At the meeting tomorrow the question of affiliating the new organization with the Farmers Congress will be considered.

REFORMED PRESBYTERIANS
MEET IN NATIONAL SYNOD.

Belle Center, O., May 30.—The annual meeting of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod of North America opened here today with a sermon by the Rev. J. W. Coleman, the moderator. The meeting is of considerable importance, as some matters of considerable weight will come up for consideration and decision. One of the questions will be that concerning the adoption of the revised psalter. The synod includes the ministers of the denomination from all parts of the United States, Canada, Alaska, Mexico and Central America, and every one of the districts is well represented. A strong caucus will be made to secure the election of the Rev. D. B.
G. Shaw, of this city, moderator, to succeed Dr. Coleman.

FAIR FOR BENEFIT OF THE BAYONNE HOSPITAL

Bayonne, N. J., May 30.—The great street fair, arranged for the benefit of the Bayonne Hospital opened here this afternoon and, judging from the enthusiasm shown and the extensive preparations made, it will be one of the most gigantic entertainments of this kind ever undertaken in the east.
The preparations have been going on for more than a year. There will be a pure food show in connection with the fair.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS
HAS BEEN POSTPONED.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 30.—The tent annual conference of the National Congress of Mothers, which was to have been held in Los Angeles
last month, but was abandoned on account of the earthquake, has been definitely given up for this year. This has been decided by the officers and board of managers, which met here today and will be in session until tomorrow. It is expected that the time and place for the next year's session of the National Congress will be fixed at this meeting.

DON'T GET MARCH PHYSICS.

The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's Regulator. They operate easily, tone
the stomach, cure constipation.

AMBASSADOR CHOATE
IS ILL AT HOME IN NEW YORK

New York, May 31.—Joseph J.
Choate, former ambassador to England, is ill at his home in this city.
The nature of his illness is not made public, but it is said that it is not serious.

WORLD WIDE
PEACE TAUGHT LAKE MOHONK

Cardinal Gibbons Delivered an Address on Triumph of Peace.

THE WESTERN FEDERATION
Of Miners Do Little--Trial of Moyer Party Continued
By Prosecution.

LAKE MOHONK, May 31.—The address of Cardinal Gibbons on "The Triumph of Peace" was the leading feature of the third session of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today.

FEDERATION OF MINERS HEAR REPORTS CHIEFLY

Denver, Colo., May 31.—The morning session of the Western Federation of Miners was taken up in reading
reports from three of the seven members of the executive board and in the introduction of amendments to the by-laws.

INFAMOUS TRAVESTY
OF SO-CALLED JUSTICE.

Caldwell, Idaho, May 31.—When the cases of Moyer, Haywood and Pot-tione came up in the district court today, the counsel for the prosecution, acting upon the suggestion made on Tuesday by Presiding Judge Frank Smith, filed a formal motion for continuance on the ground that the defendants are still pending, and that the proceedings in the state courts, until decision shall be rendered, by the federal supreme court. Judge Smith granted the motion, and exceptions were entered by the defense and allowed. The counsel for the defense renewed their motion to admit the defendants to bail, but this was denied,
and the prisoners will remain in the county jail at Idaho Falls. The present outlook is that the accused cannot be brought to trial before December
next.

WILL ORGANIZE NATIONAL BANK AT TAOS.

News from Taos is to the effect that the organization of a national bank, to be located in the county seat of Taos county, is in progress, and that it will soon be an accomplished fact.

Among the promoters of the plan are C. N. Blackwell, president of the First National bank of Taos, and S.
Flores, a local merchant. There will also be several Taos subscribers, among them the mercantile firms of Bond, Gasford & McCarty, and William M. Adair; Dr.
T. P. Martin will likely take stock and so will Alexander Gasford. The papers are now being prepared and will be sent to Washington very shortly.
The bank will start under very favorable auspices as a financial institution of the kind in northern New Mexico has been greatly needed for years and as it will do a profitable business from the start.

MRS. SARAH MURPHY
IS AGAIN A BRIDE.

News has been received in Phoenix
of the marriage at Los Angeles last week of Mrs. Sarah Murphy, formerly of Phoenix, to Arthur H. Hise, of San Francisco. Mrs. Murphy is well known in Phoenix. She was the first wife of former Governor N. O. Murphy, and up to the time of separation was a resident of Arizona, and is well known in the territory. The groom, while not known in Phoenix, is presented in the Golden Gate city. He is a large hardware dealer. Mrs. Hise is Miss Nellie Banghart, married former Governor Murphy twenty-five years ago in Prescott, and obtained a divorce from him about two years ago. After the separation she took up her residence in Los Angeles, and it has been said she was studying in Europe for a career on the stage.
She met her present husband about a year before the marriage. Mrs. Hise's father was one of the pioneer citizens of Yavapai county. She has one sister, Mrs. E. W. Wells, of Prescott.

COURT DECIDES TERRITORY HAS RIGHT TO TAX WELLS.

The 409 owners of artesian wells of Elddy and Chaves counties were jointly fighting the artesian well act of February 22, 1905, attaching the constitutionality of the law, but the supreme court of the United States has decided in favor of the law. The case was argued before the court by William H. Pope, justice of the supreme court, and judges of the fifth judicial district court, territory of New Mexico.

The validity of the law taxing artesian wells to defray the expense of inspecting and supervising was upheld
on the ground that such was a valid exercise of the police power of the territory.

Some well owners claim that the special tax of $5 per year on each artesian well is "illegalized robbery," and the case will be fought to the supreme court of the United States.
Eligible lawyers have been retained by the Artesian Well Owners' association. The territory was represented by James M. Harvey.

ST. LOUIS WOOL.

St. Louis, Mo., May 31.—Wool market steady and unchanged.

BIG MERGER
OF ARIZONA PROPERTIES

New $20,000,000 Copper Corporation Has Been Arranged For.

TEXAS NUT GROWERS MEET

Introduction of Power Boats
Has Destroyed Productive Fishing Grounds.

LONG ISLAND FISHERIES
INJURED BY MOTOR BOATS.

Eastport, L. I., May 30.—The fishermen in Great South Bay, which has heretofore been one of the best and most productive fishing grounds around Long Island, complain that their business is practically ruined,
as there does not seem to be any more fish in the bay. They say that the introduction of the power boat
on the Great South Bay has gradually driven away the great schools of edible fish which at this season formerly swarmed in this section and afforded the native fishermen a profitable field of employment.

Not in the history of these waters
has the fishing been so unsatisfactory
as this year, the catches of carp, silversides and minnows not being one-fifth as large as in other years. Many fishermen, who recently bought expensive nets and boats, have disposed of them because of the failure of the fishing. The constant churning of the water by the rapidly revolving propellers of the numerous power boats, playing in the bay, it is believed, have disturbed the fish to such an extent that they have deserted the waters of the bay. For other parts of the coast of Long Island similar reports have been received and the fishermen entertain no hope of improvement in the future.

ENGLISH WEDDING IN HIGH SOCIETY CIRCLES.

London, May 30.—Preparations are being made for the coming wedding of the Hon. Michael de Courcy, only son of Lord Kingsale, and Miss Constance Woodhouse, daughter of Colonel Woodhouse of the royal army medical corps. The future bride is a very handsome woman, but not much known in metropolitan society. Mr.
de Courcy is an officer in the Irish Bike, and is present quarters in India. He is heir to one of the most ancient peerages in the three kingdoms. His father, Lord Kingsale, is premier baron of Ireland, and thirty-third holder of the title. His forebear, Lord Kingsale, was created Lord Kingsale for some deeds of valor, and his family received the privilege, their first obse-quies being paid, of remaining covered in the presence of their sovereign.
This right is said to have been exercised by the twenty-third baron in the presence of William III, and by the twenty-fourth peer at the courts of George I and George II.

MICHIGAN LEAGUE OF TRAP SHOOTERS.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 30.—The great annual state tournament of the Michigan Trappers' League opened yesterday under the most favorable auspices. The number of entries is unusually large and the attendance larger than at any previous meet. The state championship prize will be shot for, this being the first time that these trophies have ever been competed for in this city. Besides these prizes, which number three, there is a special prize, which the amateur, big game prize, will be contested for. Among those attending the meeting are some of the most famous shot gun experts in the United States.

The prizes in the individual championships are all diamond medals, which must be won three times by the same individual before he becomes owner of the trophy. The tournament is held on the range of the Consolidated Sportsmen's Club, which are in excellent condition and among the best in the country.

ENGLISH PILGRIM SOCIETY ATTENDED BY BISHOP POTTER.

London, May 30.—The Pilgrim Society of Great Britain will give a dinner at the Savoy Hotel, this evening,
in honor of Bishop Potter, president of the Pilgrims of the United States.
The Archbishop of Canterbury will offer the toast to the guest of honor and Field Marshal Earl Roberts, the president of the British Society, will preside at the dinner.

ASSOCIATION COLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Thirty First Annual Track and Field Combination of Games.

SIX HUNDRED NEN ENTERED

Under Auspices of Association of Amateur Athletes of America.

Cambridge, Mass., May 25.—Today is the opening day of the thirty-first annual track and field games of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America, which will be held today and tomorrow in the new Harvard Stadium on Soldiers' Field. Some six hundred men have entered in the various events, which are fully two hundred more than ever before. There is great satisfaction in New England athletic circles over the fact that the annual championships are finally to be held in the new Harvard Stadium, which is considered an ideal place for such an event, instead of on the grounds of the Pennsylvania University, where they have been held for several years.

The admission of Dartmouth into the association has added to the number of entries for this year, and all events are well filled up, which means that many heats will have to be run off. Harvard, Pennsylvania, Yale, Cornell and Princeton are well up among the leaders in the number of entries.

As is usually the case, there were more entries in the 100-yard race than in any other event. It is a high class race, including some of the best sprinters, like L. P. Dodge and P. C. Lockwood, Harvard; R. B. Squires, Yale; R. E. Young, Syracuse; C. A. Gould, F. C. Wallis and R. Tindall, Cornell; J. T. Cartwright, W. D. Dean and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; R. R. Castleman, Colgate; D. S. Torrey, T. Lowe, R. Twitcheil, and G. M. Butler, Yale; R. A. Gamble and L. H. Simons, Princeton; E. F. Reed, Amherst, and Swasey, Dartmouth.

There should be a pretty race in the final heat of the 120-yard hurdle race, which has among its entries: P. R. Castleman, Colgate; L. Ashburner, Cornell; O. F. Rogers, Harvard; F. M. Fuller, Syracuse; R. E. Ambley, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

Seventy-two men are entered in the quarter-mile run. Some of those who have finished before were: J. D. Whitman, Harvard; K. B. Squires, Syracuse; N. J. Cartwright and J. D. Whitman, Pennsylvania; W. H. Eales and R. Hill, Yale; W. M. Armstrong, Princeton; J. H. Hubbard, Amherst, and M. D. Griewood, Williams.

REMINISCENT ALBUQUERQUE VISITS EL PASO

A few days ago a visitor from Albuquerque dropped into the police station to shake hands with several officers who were old acquaintances of his. For an hour the visitor talked with Greet and Mitchell and Dwyer and others and then he saw a police badge which reminded him of something. "Who is it?" he began in a questioning sort of way, "that used to wear a diamond badge down here?" "How's that?" said Mitchell. "I was just thinking," the visitor resumed, "of a beautiful badge that I noticed some time ago in a pawn shop window at Albuquerque. Well, sir, it was a beautiful thing—a solid gold star with a great big diamond in the center. It had an inscription on it something like this: Chief of Police, El Paso, Texas; and it had a sign attached to it that read something like this: 'Inscription will be changed to suit purchaser.' Whose was such a badge down here?" he inquired. Several of the boys smiled and one somebody said: "Let's go take a drink." And they did.—El Paso Times.

BORN ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY.

Cambridge, Mass., May 25.—The Rev. William Howe, the well known Baptist clergyman of this city, is celebrating his one hundredth birthday today. He received a large number of letters and telegrams of congratulation from friends in all parts of the country and many handsome presents arrived at the residence of the centenarian yesterday and today. In spite of his great age and the fact that his eyesight and hearing are failing, Dr. Howe possesses a mind still active and keen, and every day he comes to Boston alone. Dr. Howe has lived in Boston and Cambridge for seventy years. He was the founder of Tremont Temple, and was for many years pastor of the Broadway church at Cambridge. He retired from the ministry about thirty years ago. Dr. Howe is said to be the oldest Baptist clergyman living.

GRANDSTATION RAILROAD STATION IN WORLD.

New York, May 25.—Plans filed with the building department by the architect of the new Grand Central station, show that September 1 will witness commuters on the New York Central and the New Haven railroads arriving and departing by electric trains from a new station established in the Grand Central palace, in Lexington avenue. Changes to be made include the two lower floors of the building, leaving undisturbed the upper floors and assembly halls.

In the establishment of waiting rooms in the Grand Central palace the architects have not assigned less space than that in the present quarters for passengers in the Grand Central station, and the new station will be 100,000 feet in dimensions. The main entrance to this will be in Forty-third street, off Lexington avenue. In the Lexington avenue side will be a women's parlor and a men's smoking room, and near the entrance will be ticket office, a parcel room, and a baggage room.

Already excavation for the nine or ten tracks to be occupied by suburban trains is completed. The commuter will ascend from or descend to the trains from a concourse 200 feet long at the head of the tracks where once was East Forty-fourth street. The tracks will be twenty feet below the grade of Lexington avenue, and there will be separate stairs and inclines for incoming and outgoing passengers.

North of the concourse and over the suburban tracks will be a cab stand 100 feet square, reached by a short flight of stairs. The concourse has exits to both Lexington avenue and Depece place. It is planned that the waiting rooms shall be situated in the Grand Central palace building for two years.

EQUIPPED FOR BOTH SAILS AND STEAM.

New York, May 25.—Designed to fill a gap between the steamship and the sailing craft, the R. C. Rickmers, a German built, five masted bark, with auxiliary steam power, is on her maiden trip to this port from Bremen.

Square rigged on the fore, main, mizzen and jigger, and schooner rigged on the aftermost, the vessel has enormous spread of canvas sufficient to drive her through the water at a good seventeen knot speed when favorable winds are fresh. When these fall or become adverse then comes the triumph of steam. The vessel then gathers in her cloud of canvas, sails down under her auxiliary engines, couples up her propeller and becomes a plain steamship for the notice, independent of sails, through which her auxiliary engines are capable of driving her at a five knot gait.

Likewise when winds come out but she may have a reverse and instead of the old long thrasher to windward, the steam power of the vessel can keep her as true on her course as the compass points. Another distinctive advantage is that her auxiliary engines will enable her to leave at any time without the employment of towboats.

This vessel is one of a trio of big sailing vessels which have recently been sent about from German shipyards. The other two, the Pruesen and the Polaris are now engaged in the nitrate trade.

CORNELL TAKES PENNANT OVER OLD HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., May 25.—The Intercollegiate boat race between Harvard and Cornell, which had originally been set for tomorrow, will take place on the Charles River this afternoon. The change was made so as to avoid a conflict with the final event of the intercollegiate field and track meet, which begins in the new Harvard Stadium this afternoon and will reach its conclusion tomorrow. As this is the first time that the intercollegiate track and field games are held in the new stadium, it was desirable to secure a good attendance. As it is the boat race interferes to some extent with the track meet, but not to a great extent, as the events in the stadium today are more of a preliminary character, while the important finals will come off tomorrow.

The race this afternoon will begin at 2 o'clock. Harvard and Cornell will row on the Charles River over a one mile and seven-eighths course between the Union Boat Club and the Longwood bridge. Both crews are heavier than usual and represent the best rowing material that Harvard and Cornell command. Both crews approximate very closely to those which will represent the two colleges at New London and Poughkeepsie.

Harvard men are extremely confident of the victory of their crew. Seven of the eight men are the same who rowed last year, and it is said that their work is better than ever before.

WILL RESUME WORK AT BLAND

Navaho Gold Mining Co. Preparing to Resume Operations on Lone Star.

(Friday, May 25.) A very important meeting of mining men connected with the Navaho Mining company, operating at Bland, in the Cochiti district, was held at the Alvarado hotel last evening, at which were present Percy K. Harbour, general manager of the company; R. W. Young, interested in the company, and the company's general superintendent, R. M. Thomson, who brought with him an agreement, signed by all the property owners of the town of Bland, agreeing to allow the company to run an aerial tramway through the town from their mines, to the site of a proposed mill, that is soon to be erected.

Today the petition was being circulated among the Albuquerque residents who own property at Bland, for the purpose of securing their signatures, and as no one seemed to object to the granting of this concession to the Navaho Mining company, the petition will be started in the very near future.

The Navaho Gold Mining company's properties at Bland have been idle for some time, working having been suspended some five or six years ago in that entire district, owing to the closing down of the Cochiti Mining company's properties, but plans are now under way that include the opening up of that district and the active resumption of work by the Navaho Gold Mining company, on their properties, the mine on which work will be started at once being the "Lone Star."

The superintendent of the company stated that the work of clearing the tunnel and timbering the mine will be started at once, preparatory to extensive operations. Percy Harbour, the manager of the company, will be in charge of the mine, and the superintendent will return to Bland tomorrow to start the work.

The plans of the company include the building of a large mill for the purpose of handling the ore, and as the mill is to be located at the upper side of Bland from the mine, it was for this purpose that the concession granting the company the right to construct an aerial tramway to serve the ore from the mine to the mill, was secured.

When seen at the Alvarado by a reporter, Mr. Harbour, who spent the day here, said: "The Navaho Gold Mining company was forced to suspend operations when the Cochiti Gold Mining company went into the hands of a receiver. The two companies were interested jointly in several matters, which left the Navaho in a very complicated position, and to protect its interests they bought from the court at receiver's sale, all the property and machinery of the Cochiti company, but this machinery has been used to continue the Navaho company for the money they advanced the Cochiti company."

"These various matters having been straightened out, the Navaho company is considering the resumption of operations at their mine. It is in this mine means new life to Bland, which has been dead for several years."

"The Navaho company owns the Lone Star mine above the town of Bland, and a stamp mill below the town. It is proposed to run an aerial or bucket cableway from the tunnel to the mill, crossing the upper part of the town, and the transportation of their ore. This tramway will be about 1,000 feet long, and will carry over 100 tons of ore per day."

"The company is now busily engaged in securing a right of way for this aerial tramway from the owners of the property crossed by it, and in every case the owners have eagerly given the privilege asked for, which will in no way cause any damage or injury, as it merely means the right to suspend a cable high above the ground in question. All the owners have given their consent, and the work of securing the right of way is now being pushed forward."

"Mr. R. M. Thomson, a New York engineer, who recently returned from work on the Panama canal and who is now operating in Leadville, Colo., is assisting him, and will take charge of the engineering and underground operations, just the minute sufficient assurance of the co-operation of the property owners of Bland is secured. The work of the company will be two shifts at work underground next week if the other matters can be settled up in the next two days."

CARLSBAD OFFICE-HOLDERS DEFEATED

The democratic primaries for El Paso county resulted in almost a clean sweeping out of the old county officers. M. G. Stewart, who has held the office of sheriff for four terms, was defeated by Jim Christopher, a former deputy, now a wealthy citizen of Artesia, made rich by the boom in real estate in that little city of three years growth. Will Merchant, a prominent man himself and a son of Capt. W. H. Merchant of Abilene, one of the weathered cattlemen in west Texas, was nominated over W. J. Barber. John O. McKee was nominated for clerk of the court over John L. Emerson, the present incumbent. B. A. Newyer, who has held the office of county surveyor for many years, was defeated by a mere youth, Joe Cunningham. The republican convention will meet on the 26th and it is rumored that the republicans are likely to endorse the democratic candidates.

A Mountain of Gold

Could not bring as much happiness to Mrs. Lucia Wilke, of Carlsbad, N.M., as did one box of Dr. Cassell's Kidney Pills, when it completely cured a running sore on her leg, which had tortured her 23 long years. Greatest antiseptic healer of Piles, Wounds, and Sores. 25c at all druggists.

WILL RESUME WORK AT BLAND

Navaho Gold Mining Co. Preparing to Resume Operations on Lone Star.

SECURING TRAMWAY CONCESSIONS

(Friday, May 25.)

A very important meeting of mining men connected with the Navaho Mining company, operating at Bland, in the Cochiti district, was held at the Alvarado hotel last evening, at which were present Percy K. Harbour, general manager of the company; R. W. Young, interested in the company, and the company's general superintendent, R. M. Thomson, who brought with him an agreement, signed by all the property owners of the town of Bland, agreeing to allow the company to run an aerial tramway through the town from their mines, to the site of a proposed mill, that is soon to be erected.

Today the petition was being circulated among the Albuquerque residents who own property at Bland, for the purpose of securing their signatures, and as no one seemed to object to the granting of this concession to the Navaho Mining company, the petition will be started in the very near future.

The Navaho Gold Mining company's properties at Bland have been idle for some time, working having been suspended some five or six years ago in that entire district, owing to the closing down of the Cochiti Mining company's properties, but plans are now under way that include the opening up of that district and the active resumption of work by the Navaho Gold Mining company, on their properties, the mine on which work will be started at once being the "Lone Star."

The superintendent of the company stated that the work of clearing the tunnel and timbering the mine will be started at once, preparatory to extensive operations. Percy Harbour, the manager of the company, will be in charge of the mine, and the superintendent will return to Bland tomorrow to start the work.

The plans of the company include the building of a large mill for the purpose of handling the ore, and as the mill is to be located at the upper side of Bland from the mine, it was for this purpose that the concession granting the company the right to construct an aerial tramway to serve the ore from the mine to the mill, was secured.

When seen at the Alvarado by a reporter, Mr. Harbour, who spent the day here, said: "The Navaho Gold Mining company was forced to suspend operations when the Cochiti Gold Mining company went into the hands of a receiver. The two companies were interested jointly in several matters, which left the Navaho in a very complicated position, and to protect its interests they bought from the court at receiver's sale, all the property and machinery of the Cochiti company, but this machinery has been used to continue the Navaho company for the money they advanced the Cochiti company."

"These various matters having been straightened out, the Navaho company is considering the resumption of operations at their mine. It is in this mine means new life to Bland, which has been dead for several years."

"The Navaho company owns the Lone Star mine above the town of Bland, and a stamp mill below the town. It is proposed to run an aerial or bucket cableway from the tunnel to the mill, crossing the upper part of the town, and the transportation of their ore. This tramway will be about 1,000 feet long, and will carry over 100 tons of ore per day."

"The company is now busily engaged in securing a right of way for this aerial tramway from the owners of the property crossed by it, and in every case the owners have eagerly given the privilege asked for, which will in no way cause any damage or injury, as it merely means the right to suspend a cable high above the ground in question. All the owners have given their consent, and the work of securing the right of way is now being pushed forward."

"Mr. R. M. Thomson, a New York engineer, who recently returned from work on the Panama canal and who is now operating in Leadville, Colo., is assisting him, and will take charge of the engineering and underground operations, just the minute sufficient assurance of the co-operation of the property owners of Bland is secured. The work of the company will be two shifts at work underground next week if the other matters can be settled up in the next two days."

CARLSBAD OFFICE-HOLDERS DEFEATED

The democratic primaries for El Paso county resulted in almost a clean sweeping out of the old county officers. M. G. Stewart, who has held the office of sheriff for four terms, was defeated by Jim Christopher, a former deputy, now a wealthy citizen of Artesia, made rich by the boom in real estate in that little city of three years growth. Will Merchant, a prominent man himself and a son of Capt. W. H. Merchant of Abilene, one of the weathered cattlemen in west Texas, was nominated over W. J. Barber. John O. McKee was nominated for clerk of the court over John L. Emerson, the present incumbent. B. A. Newyer, who has held the office of county surveyor for many years, was defeated by a mere youth, Joe Cunningham. The republican convention will meet on the 26th and it is rumored that the republicans are likely to endorse the democratic candidates.

A Mountain of Gold

Could not bring as much happiness to Mrs. Lucia Wilke, of Carlsbad, N.M., as did one box of Dr. Cassell's Kidney Pills, when it completely cured a running sore on her leg, which had tortured her 23 long years. Greatest antiseptic healer of Piles, Wounds, and Sores. 25c at all druggists.

TWO MURDERERS EXPIATED CRIMES AT RATION TODAY

John Medlock Was Executed First, Followed by David Arguello—No Hitch Marred Awful Proceedings of the Law.

MEDLOCK WAS STRANGLED ARGUELLO'S NECK BROKEN

Raton, N. M., May 25.—David Arguello and John Medlock arose at a very early hour this morning. Medlock was in good spirits, and wholly resigned. He had retired an hour later than Arguello, who retired at 12:30. Both slept well the remainder of the night.

Breakfast was served to the men shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. Medlock ate a good breakfast, but Arguello spent the time in prayer, and ate nothing. Medlock whistled and sang about the cell, as he washed up and put away the dishes from his morning meal.

Both men seemed nervous last evening as the setting sun marked the close of their last day. They had been told of Governor Hageman's message to Attorney Crampton, and both realized that there was no respite from the fate which awaited them.

Given Good Advice. During the evening John Moss, colored, called upon Medlock. Moss was raised by Medlock and came here from Tennessee with him several years ago. The parting of these friends was very affecting, and Medlock broke down for the first time during his confinement. He said to Moss, as they clasped hands for the last time: "John, beware! Do not follow in my footsteps!" Medlock then broke down and wept bitterly.

After Moss had gone, Medlock paced his cell desperately for some minutes. He remained his customary and talked with Sheriff Little and the guards.

At 1:30 this morning Medlock gave out his last statement and retired. In his statement he confessed his crime, said that he regretted it, warned young men against bad company and drink. He thanked Mr. R. L. Jacobs for his kindness and spiritual advice, and closed with a prayer from the Lutheran church.

Arguello also gave out a statement. Shortly after 9 o'clock the Rev. Jacobs entered the death cell for the condemned. The 300 words of consolation with the condemned.

At 10:05 the death warrants were read to the men, and everything was placed in readiness at the scaffold for the hanging of John Medlock, who was to be executed first.

Rev. Jacobs called to them: "Abide With Me." The 300 words of consolation were interrupted at this last line by the clang of the bells, as the cell door was swung open, and Sheriff Little, Sheriff Howe, Sheriff Romero, of San Miguel county, and City Marshal Howe, of Bland, entered the cell.

Medlock was very calm, as he walked between the officers to the enclosure and ascended the steps. "Be strong in the Lord, John, and in the power of His might," were the words of consolation softly spoken by Rev. Jacobs.

Both men had requested that Sheriff Little bring the trap which was to be used to hang them. Marshal Howe adjusted the noose, and Medlock swung off at 10:15. His pulse continued for thirteen minutes after the drop, but there was no struggle, not even a tremor. His body was cut down at 10:35. His neck was not broken, but strangulation was perfect.

Arguello was brought from the cell at 10:45, and his bearing was as calmly as that of Medlock. The trap was sprung at 10:52. Arguello's pulse continued for seven minutes, and he was cut down at 11:05. His neck was broken.

Medlock's Statement. John Medlock made a statement, which was read from the scaffold, thanking the sheriff for kindness during his imprisonment, thanking the Rev. Jacobs for religious consolation, and affirming repentance for his crimes and his hope of heaven. His statement contained a warning to young men to shun bad company and abstain from liquor, and attributed his condition today to these influences. His statement closed with a prayer from the Lutheran service.

Arguello's Statement. David Arguello made the following statement, which was also read: "I feel that I am getting ready to meet my God today. I am not sorry that I am being hung with me today. I am only sorry for breaking the law of God. I am also sorry for my past sins, and pray that God will be merciful to my immortal soul, for Jesus' sake. I am thankful to Rev. L. Jacobs for his prayers in my behalf, and for the comfort he has given me through Jesus Christ, my Savior. Goodbye to all."

(Signed) DAVID ARGUELLO. Arguello also made a short prayer in Spanish before the drop was sprung. The arrangements for the execution were perfect and there was not the slightest variation from the plan arranged. The execution was witnessed only by officers of the law, physicians and members of the press.

Story of Arguello's Crimes.

On Thursday, July 24, 1908, Arguello murdered Mrs. Celia Darsart, a pretty half-breed Mexican woman, less than twenty years of age, at Bowen, Colorado. Arguello had been living with his family at Bowen for some time, when the Darsart family moved there. He had borne a good reputation and was well known as a good husband and father. He had inherited a religious life, and was regarded as an especially inoffensive man. The Darsart family moved to Bowen, Colo., because of a house near that of Arguello and family. Arguello met Mrs. Darsart and was immediately infatuated with her, and in a short time made known his affection, which she repulsed. His attentions to her became constant, and growing tired of repulsing him, she finally told Mrs. Arguello of her husband's behavior. Early on the morning of the crime Arguello had gone to the Darsart home. The Darsarts were living in house No. 5, directly across from the Bowen saloon. His attentions were again repulsed, and again Mrs. Darsart sent word to the wife of Arguello's actions. When Arguello returned it is said his wife upbraided him for his actions and struck him over the head with a big sugar bowl in the presence of Mrs. Darsart, who had come in to witness the quarrel. Arguello became enraged, and procuring his pistol, left the house. Mrs. Darsart returned to her home and a few minutes later Arguello followed her into her home. He was seen by the people across the street in the saloon, to open the front door, go inside and close the door behind him. In a few minutes three shots were heard and Arguello came outside and walked off into the hills.

Mrs. Darsart's brother ran to the house and found his sister lying on the floor quite dead, with a bullet wound through her heart. The woman had evidently turned to run into a back room and was shot down in the doorway as she was lying on her face, and the bullet had entered her back.

An armed posse started out in pursuit of Arguello, keeping him in sight for several miles, but he was well armed and was able to stand off with a fusillade of bullets, himself being unhurt. He was followed by a posse of about 20 men, and was finally got away and became a fugitive from justice, living in remote places, under assumed names, and working as a sheep herder, ranch hand or anything which afforded employment. During this time he assisted in the support of his family, and was with them a portion of the time. More than two years were spent in this way, Arguello evading arrest all this time, although the officials of Las Animas county, Colorado, were constantly on the watch for him. A reward of $500 was offered by the county for his capture, dead or alive, and it was known he was a fugitive from justice. The husband of the woman, too, offered a reward of $300 for his capture.

Early in October, 1905, Francisco Garcia informed Sheriff Davis of Trinidad that he believed he could discover the murderer of Mrs. Darsart. He tried to make the arrest. He found that the family of Arguello had been living for a year or more east of John's mesa, near Raton, and that Arguello had worked for some time as a sheep herder for Jerome Troy. On Thursday, October 13, Garcia called at the Floyd ranch, on Johnson's mesa, and found Arguello there. Garcia was not prepared to arrest his man at this time, being unarmed. Arguello shot him after a short scuffle. In his dying statement Garcia stated that he had not expected to find Arguello at the Floyd ranch, but had come there on other business. It is probable that he only sought to locate his man and intended to return later with assistance. Medlock swung off at 10:15. His pulse continued for thirteen minutes after the drop, but there was no struggle, not even a tremor. His body was cut down at 10:35. His neck was not broken, but strangulation was perfect.

Medlock's Life and Crime. John Medlock was born in Tennessee, and came to New Mexico some years ago. He was engaged as a miner at Gardner at the time of his crime. Celia Darsart, who was killed, was Garcia's daughter. Garcia was a ranchman, and Medlock began paying attentions to her. After some time she left McKinley and went to live with Medlock. The woman proved fickle and left Medlock after a few weeks. The murder occurred at the saloon in Bowen, where the woman was stopping, and falling to gain admittance left that night he found her at the saloon and without warning shot her. As she fell some one attempted to lift her up, Medlock exclaimed, "Let her alone; I want to see her drop." Several persons were in the saloon at the time, and Medlock cleared the room, waving his pistol in a threatening manner. When the room was cleared he rushed out and occupied in the darkness. Search was made for him and every effort was made for his capture. He was located at Oklahoma, there, in a short time he was arrested for the attempted murder of another woman, tried, convicted and sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for three years. At the expiration of his sentence he was brought to Raton to answer the charge of murder. Last July Medlock in company with a number of minor prisoners, sawed out of the jail, which was then badly overcrowded, and until for desperate prisoners, and escaped. He was traced to Pueblo, and there captured and returned by Sheriff Little. His case did not come up at the September term of court, and he has therefore been in jail at Raton for more than a year. In a mine explosion some years since, Medlock suffered the loss of one eye, and this peculiar mark rendered his identification easy.

Scotica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture. For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3323 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism, why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by all druggists.

COMMISSIONER LEUPP OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

IN THE TERRITORY. EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO ON BUSINESS.

Hon. Francis B. Leupp, commissioner of Indian affairs, arrived in Santa Fe Thursday evening from Washington, and was the guest of Superintendent Clinton J. Randall, of the United States Indian Training school in that city last night.

Commissioner Leupp is en route to San Francisco, where on July 2 he will be present at the opening of bids to furnish Indian supplies on the Pacific coast, and in the western states and territories for the coming fiscal year. On his way to San Francisco he is making an inspection of Indian agencies and reservations, as well as Indian schools in New Mexico, Arizona and California, and in going home he will inspect such in Nevada and Utah on his way to Washington.

A representative of the New Mexican in New Mexico and Arizona, said that on the trip on which he started yesterday morning he proposed to visit the different pueblos between Santa Fe and Taos, namely, Tesuque, Nambe, San Ildefonso, Santa Clara, and the San Juan pueblo. He proposed to visit the pueblos on his trip, and would not have time on this trip to visit the Jicarilla reservation. Upon returning, he will remain a day or two at the United States Indian school at Santa Fe, thence go to the pueblo south of Santa Fe, and thereafter to Albuquerque. He may also take a trip to the Mosero Apache reservation. From there, the pueblo north and south on the line of the Santa Fe Pacific railroad will be called on, whereas he will make stops at the pueblos lying north and south of and along the line of the Santa Fe Pacific railroad. He will also visit the pueblos in Acama, Isleta, Laguna, Zuni, Mogul, the Navajo reservation, and others along his route in Arizona and southern California. As said before, he plans to reach San Francisco by July 1. He expects to return to Santa Fe from his tour Monday evening next. A good team and a strong light wagon were used by Commissioner Leupp and Superintendent Randall, and as the latter knows the country, the roads and villages between Santa Fe and Taos intimately, a quick and comfortable trip is expected.

TRINIDAD BOY CONVICTED OF MURDER

LEMEREAUX IS HELD FOR KILLING A RANCHMAN WHILE OUT HUNTING.

A dispatch from Trinidad, dated May 23, says: Voluntary manslaughter was the verdict rendered by a jury against Arthur Lemerreaux, the 14-year-old boy who with Raymond and Roy Robinson, were tried for the murder of John Parham, an Italian rancher, near Hastings, May 7. The verdict of the jury was a surprise, as an acquittal was confidently expected. Owing to Lemerreaux being only 14 years old, he will probably be sentenced to the reform school. The trial lasted two days. Wednesday morning shortly after court convened, the attorneys for both sides agreed that the charge against Roy Robinson, who is only 8 years of age, would be dismissed as there was nothing to show that he took an active part in the killing of John Parham.

The trial of the three boys aroused considerable interest on account of their age, and the courtroom was crowded all day, there being many women in the audience. The parents of the three accused boys were in attendance at court during the two days.

While out rabbit hunting the three boys were attacked by a dog owned by J. Italian. Raymond Robinson shot and killed the dog. According to the evidence of the three boys, they were attacked by the Italian, who fired a shot at them. The Italian was running through the hat of Roy Robinson, the 14-year-old boy. As the Italian was preparing to fire another shot, the Lemerreaux boy dropped him with a bullet from his rifle.

HOT GUN PLAY AT FAIRBANK

Word reached Douglas of an exciting gun fight in the little town of Fairbank the other evening, says the International American. There is no officer at that place, and when an obstreperous Mexican started to stir up a rough house, Justice of the Peace Morrison bucked on his gun and laid forth to arrest the disturber.

The Mexican, whose name is Ramon Escudero, saw the judge coming and opened fire on him. The judge drew his gun and returned the fire, both of the men being wounded. The Mexican was down with a bullet through his foot, while the justice of the peace came out of the fray unscathed. He took his prisoner to the justice office and bound him over to the grand jury.

REPRIMAND FOR THE COUNTY PRESS

On application for change of venue in the Campbell case at Tomlinson, it was made to appear to the court that the case had unduly progressed through the various stages of the county press, causing Judge Down to call attention to the infraction upon justice, his manner of expostulating carrying the conviction that the jurist was tired of the gratuitous procedure inaugurated by the knights of the quill in their frontal onslaught on the county and convict; defend and acquit, says the Prospector. While we sympathize with the boys, we will stay by the court and await the deliberation of the jury.

WILL PROBABLY CHANGE THE NAME OF LAS VEGAS

The following special from Las Vegas to the Denver News of recent date can be taken with several grains of allowance: The people of the city of Las Vegas are extremely indignant because the postoffice department has renamed their postoffice East Las Vegas and there is much talk of a movement to change the name of the city from Las Vegas

Local Happenings

(Tuesday, May 29.)

Rev. George J. Julliard was in the city from Gallup yesterday.

President W. R. Johnson, of the American Lumber company, has been called to Cleveland, Ohio on business.

J. A. Sullivan, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Development company's coal mines at Hagen, is in the city on business.

Miss Mabel Sweeney, who has been playing soprano parts with the Berger-Gross company at the Casino, left this morning for Denver.

Mrs. Harvey Moore, wife of Chief Clerk Moore, of the local Santa Fe office, left last night for an extended trip to Denver, Kansas City and other eastern cities.

Mrs. Fred Lewis of Silver avenue, left last night for Denver, four days' visit to her friends, Mrs. McMillen, Mrs. Lewis will be absent from the city a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Schwenker have moved into their new home, No. 215 West Roma avenue, where they will be pleased in the future to see their many friends.

David Weiler and Leon Herting, two of the boys who have a store in half the business blocks of the city, returned home last night from a trip to the fatherland.

Chester Doherty, Nicolas Armijo and James and John Doherty, four other young men who were cadets at the Russell Military academy the past winter, are home for the summer.

The Hinton Reporter says: Mrs. Jake Schumacher and children have gone to Albuquerque, where they will make their home. Schumacher is having accepted a position in that city.

One admission fee to the two games of baseball at Traction Park tomorrow afternoon. The ball players from Santa Fe will arrive this evening and be in good form for the two games tomorrow.

Only one victim showed up in police court this morning, he being Donaleno Trujillo, charged with being drunk and disorderly. "Donny" was given $5, or the equivalent on the chain gang.

Lawrence Hild and Hugh Bryan went to Santa Fe this morning. The young men are students of the university, who intend delving into the historical archives of the Ancient City for knowledge.

F. O. Paine, manager of the J. H. O'Reilly & Co. drug store, was joined yesterday by his wife and baby, who arrived from Fort Worth, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Paine have taken apartments at the Casa de Ora.

All banking houses of the city will be closed all day tomorrow, the probate clerk's office and other offices of the court house will be closed all day, and most of the stores of the city will be closed during the afternoon and evening on account of Decoration day.

Ex-Mayor A. G. Gibson of Santa Fe, well known in this city, is now in the real estate business at Los Angeles, Cal., in partnership with C. H. Lafont, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., and known in Santa Fe, where he has visited several times.

There were 248 convicts in the territorial penitentiary yesterday morning according to the morning report of the institution. Six of these are employed on the construction of the scenic highway in the Santa Fe canon and 265 are within the penitentiary walls.

F. H. Strong and A. Borders, of this city, and Dr. W. D. Rudolph, of Belton, went to Santa Fe on train No. 2 this morning to attend a meeting being held in the Capital City today for the purpose of organizing a new Mexican association of undertakers.

Undertaker Adams was unable to go on account of the illness of his wife.

Mrs. Silva, who conducted a saloon in Tijeras canyon in the Santa Fe mountains, was in the city today, purchasing supplies. Since the recent fire, which destroyed considerable property for Mrs. Silva at the resort, the lady has fixed up again and is now ready to serve all callers from the city with all the cheer of a hostess.

Last Sunday afternoon at Magdalena the base ball teams of Socorro and Magdalena met on the diamond field, but our correspondent down south failed to send in the score of the game. It is understood a big crowd was present, and much excitement manifested over the game, as considerable rivalry exists between the two towns.

Deputy Sheriff Montoya got out his trusty rifle this morning and put it in good shooting condition. He will leave tomorrow for the Zuni mountains, where he will conduct a conservation of the game, and will be in the mountains for the purpose of arresting four Navajo Indians, whom it is claimed, have been causing much trouble to the sheep raisers of that section of the country. They are accused of stealing sheep and committing other depredations.

The attention of Superintendent Payne, of the Traction company, is called to the condition of First street, between Railroad and Gold avenues, since he raised the track. Superintendent Payne did a fine piece of work as far as he went, but it is to be regretted that the contractors, in the purpose of shortening the cut-off, have caused much trouble to the sheep raisers of that section of the country. They are accused of stealing sheep and committing other depredations.

The attention of Superintendent Payne, of the Traction company, is called to the condition of First street, between Railroad and Gold avenues, since he raised the track. Superintendent Payne did a fine piece of work as far as he went, but it is to be regretted that the contractors, in the purpose of shortening the cut-off, have caused much trouble to the sheep raisers of that section of the country. They are accused of stealing sheep and committing other depredations.

C. H. Elmendorf, manager for the Socorro company, arrived from the south this morning and is a guest at the Alvarado. As the result of the extensive irrigation works the Socorro company is doing on the Rio del Apache grant near the station of Elmendorf, on the Santa Fe, and the number of people who are bringing to the place, the government has given Elmendorf a postoffice. A townsite is being laid out at the station in real city style.

Joe Padilla, saloon keeper and deputy sheriff in the Zuni mountains, was here yesterday, and is to depart for his home last Sunday morning at Ketter. Two brothers got into a racket with Superintendent Bellamy. The men were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Padilla, and taken to Los Lunas, where they were placed in jail. One of the men was a log loader and the other night boiler, both in the employ of the Zuni Mountain railway of the American Lumber company.

The great special sale now on at the Traction store, Dr. H. R. Rostrop, proprietor, has attracted many buyers. This morning shortly after the doors opened on the special sale, the store began to fill up with buyers and all day long has been crowded to suffocation with shoppers who are taking advantage of the exceptionally low prices on goods, as advertised in Saturday's Evening Citizen. The sale will continue for several days, and it is expected that Albuquerque shoppers will be a barometer when they see it advertised, judging from the crowded appearance of the store on this, the opening day of the special sale.

(Wednesday, May 30.)

If you want to be entertained, see Frank at the Casino tonight.

J. A. Sheridan has returned from a business trip of a couple of weeks to Mexico.

Samuel Neustadt, of the Ernest Meyer company, returned this morning from a business trip to Apache county, Arizona.

Col. and Mrs. W. H. Greer, who have been to Chicago on important business matters, will return to the city tomorrow night.

Charles V. Safford, the efficient, availing auditor of the territory, who was here on business, returned to Santa Fe this morning.

United States Marshal C. M. Foraker and family returned last night from a visit to Mrs. Foraker's parents in the Indian Territory.

A party of forty young people enjoyed a plunge at the First Street natatorium last night. Mrs. E. G. Millenbach chaperoned the party.

Miss Winifred Hilday of Topeka, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bittner, left last night for El Paso to visit Pass City friends.

After three months' sojourn, and several days of strenuous work, the firm of Weiler & Benjamin will be ready to open for business in their new home in the Martin building tomorrow.

W. W. Arnold, president of the Silver State Clear company of Denver, Colo., is in the city calling on local cigar dealers, introducing the Brown Palace and Silver State cigars.

An important business meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow, (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Miss Hattie Crawford and Miss Minnie Craig left this morning for an extended visit in the east. The former will spend the greater part of the summer with friends and relatives in Boston, and the latter will visit relatives at Jersey City, N. J.

I. O. O. F. hall, South second street, was crowded to the doors last night in honor of the ninth anniversary of the Woodmen's Circle, the ladies of which celebrated the event by entertaining a large number of friends with music and refreshments. Mrs. Carl Hopping delivered the address of welcome.

The Santa Fe base ball boys came down from the Capital City last night, accompanied by a very small crowd of rooters. Gallages, owing to some poor management on the part of the Browns, contracted by telephone last night to pitch for Santa Fe. Albuquerque had expected him to pitch one game for them, but no arrangements were made with him to that end.

The second concert of the Coronado Tent City band will be given at Robinson's park. The band this evening will be the same as last night, the music beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until 10 o'clock. The concert last night was a disappointment owing to the inability of the people to hear on account of the poor acoustic properties of the Alvarado grounds. A large number of autos are on the program for tonight.

John Heub, the engineer, is having a hard time of it, these days. He has just returned from the San Jacinto hot springs of California, where he was sent to take the baths and drink the mineral water for rheumatism. He will be the local railway physician and surgeon tells him, if he wants to get well, he must go to a lower altitude, hence he will leave in a few days for Los Angeles, where he will enter the railway hospital there.

Louis O'Bannon is on the invalid list these days. Several months ago he accompanied a party of prospectors from this city to the Mogollon mountains, remaining there several weeks and made some locations for Albuquerque men. On the return to this city and within a short distance of Gallup, the wagon handled by O'Bannon ran down into an arroyo, and in the fall-up O'Bannon was tossed to the ground. His back was badly sprained and he still suffers as a result of the accident.

The Citizen has received a communication from Gallup, the writer heading his article, "Territory State of Affairs at Gallup." If he says true, and a bad state of affairs exists at Gallup, but the communication will not be published because the writer fails to send in his correct name. This paper, however, suggests to the writer that he and other citizens and taxpayers of Gallup surely could not afford to redress the wrongs inflicted on that town by applying to Judge Abbott or District Attorney Clancy.

Chas. Vorhes, right hand man for the Lantry-Rharp construction company on the Santa Fe cut-off, is in the city from Belen to transact business and incidentally take in the ball game. Helen has a ball team this year that is hard to beat. Next Sunday the Belen Cods will play the Magdalena Miners at Magdalena. The following Sunday, they will play the Socorro Bohemians, and an effort will be made to have the Albuquerque Grizzlies down to the cut-off town for a game on the Sunday after that. An extra coach will be attached to the morning south bound freight train for the accommodation of any one who wishes to go down for the same.

(Thursday, May 31.)

Percy E. Barlow of the Navaho Gold Mining company, operating in the Cochiti district, is in the city on one of his periodical trips.

M. L. Stern, of the firm of Stern, Schenck & Co., returned today from Denver, where he was called a few days ago by the death of a sister.

Mrs. F. F. Trotter, who has been at Long Beach, Cal., on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, will return to the city tonight or tomorrow morning. Mr. Bell is now associated with H. S. Munson in the fruit business at Long Beach.

There will be no special meeting of the city council, as reported, but the franchise matter for a line on the Highlands will come up for action at the regular meeting of the council next Monday night.

Steel rails and ties are now straw-along the entire extension of the Traction company, from the corner of Second street and Railroad avenue to New York avenue, thence to Twelfth street and north to the lumber mills. Work, it is understood, will now be pushed rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Schenk of 223 North Fifth street, expect to leave tomorrow morning for a visit to Mr. Schenk's parents at Mascoutah, Ill. After a short visit at Mascoutah, they go to Earlton, Kas., the home of Mrs. Schenk's parents. They expect to be absent from the city about a month.

J. P. Silva, school superintendent and deputy collector and treasurer of Sandoval county, is in the city today, and this morning deposited $6,740.34 of Sandoval county funds in the bank here. Mr. Silva is preparing to move from Bernalillo back to his country home at Los Corrales, the season for collecting taxes being about over.

Mrs. T. E. Wheeler, who has been keeping house here for her brother, Conductor Jack Mulhern on the run between Santa Fe and Alamosa, expects to leave in a few days for Chicago, where she will visit relatives and friends for a few weeks. Another brother, Conductor Tim Mulhern on the run between Winslow and Bellevue, is now enjoying a lay off of a few days.

The membership of local Typographical union No. 204 have been advised that Thomas D. Pennessy, of Los Angeles, a well known printer throughout the western country, has been elected a trustee of the national printers' union at Colorado Springs, Colo. Pennessy was sent out to actively solicit votes, every printer in Albuquerque, so it is understood, cast his vote for Pennessy.

James D. May, who sticks by the Cochiti mining district as close as a tick to a cat's ear, returned to the city last night and is today engaged in telling the local mine owners of the district the many good things in store for the camp in the near future. He says the Navaho company will soon begin work on contemplated improvements and the company hopes to have its tramway project in operation in a few months.

R. G. Adams of the wool commission firm of Brown & Adams, Boston, left this morning east bound, after a short visit to A. Vandewert, his local agent. Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

Mrs. George Nebel and two sons, Frank and George, left this morning for the summer home at Santa Fe. They will stay at the residence of Mrs. H. W. D. Bryan.

Mr. Adams was here for the purpose of studying the wool market and the local wool growers. He said that the wool market is holding its wool too high. The price being asked by the sheepmen is so exorbitant that it is out of the question for the middle man to handle it at a profit.

PRESIDENT DELIVERS ADDRESS BEFORE THE ARMY AND NAVY UNION

Makes Story of the Past the Basis of Demand for Highest Excellence in all Individual Effort Today.

BEST OF CITIZEN IS THE DEMAND OF THE HOUR

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—Never in the history of the city did the celebration of Decoration day attract so enormous a crowd of visitors from the surrounding districts as this year. This was due to the fact that President Roosevelt had consented to the extension of the Army and Navy Union, in the Naval hospital cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Loom and several personal friends, arrived here this morning, on board the Mayflower, and landed at the pier of the navy yard. The children of the city were in the great stand, from which he received the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which was occupied by the school children of the town. They received the president with cheers and the waving of little flags. The president stopped and briefly addressed the children, and then proceeded to the cemetery, where he was met by the members of his staff were there to receive the president. After the exchange of greetings the president and his party were driven through the city to the Naval hospital cemetery grounds at Tidewater. In front of the Portsmouth court house, which the president passed on his way to the cemetery, a grand stand had been erected, which

E. E. BURLINGAME & CO.
ASSAY OFFICE AND CHEMICAL LABORATORY
Established in Colorado, 1866. Samples by mail or express will receive prompt and careful attention.
Gold & Silver Bullion
Refined, Melted and Recycled
OR PURCHASED.
Concentration Tests—1/100ths, or over load lots.
Write for terms.
1736-1738 Lawrence St., Denver, Colo.

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

(Continued From Page 1)

Perfecto Arriaga, committing prisoners, etc., $109.25.

J. A. Summers, salary and expenses for quarter ending December 31, 1905, $325.50.

Water Supply Company, water for quarter ending December 31, 1905, $67.85.

Golden Rule Dry Goods Company, supplies for prisoners, $105.75.

J. Michael Chavez, J. of P. fees, $31.25.

It is ordered that the clerk procure a license expiration register for the sheriff's office and a bond register and books of account for the clerk's office.

Adjourned to Saturday, April 28, 1906, at 10 a. m.

(Approved)

ALFRED GRUNSFELD, Chairman.

(Signed) A. E. WALKER, Clerk.

Adjourned Regular Session.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 28, 1906.

Present: Hon. A. Grunfeld, chairman; M. R. Springer, commissioner; A. E. Walker, clerk.

The board convened as per adjournment.

It appearing that there is $2,220.11 in the bridge fund, it is ordered by the board that a warrant be drawn on the bridge fund for $2,000 to apply on note at State National bank, dated July 3, 1905, for the sum of $1,500.

Comes now R. D. Lusted and J. E. Matthews and makes complaint to the board as to the inaccuracy of the road ordered opened by this board on November 18, 1905, which said road is east of the United States government Indian school; and it appearing to the board that said complaint is not in due form and according to law, it is therefore ordered by the board that the clerk be instructed to notify said parties to bring the matter before the board in accordance with Chapter 124, Sections 4 and 5, Acts of the 36th Legislative Assembly.

W. R. Childers appears before the board in behalf of T. S. Hubbell in relation to a claim of said T. S. Hubbell in regard to a voucher of $255.00 for boarding prisoners for the month of September, 1905, and which said voucher was on the 3d day of January, 1906, approved for the sum of $250.00 by this board. Thereupon, the following resolution was read and adopted, to-wit:

"In the matter of the account of Thos. S. Hubbell, for feeding prisoners for twenty-nine days in the month of September, 1905, submitted to the board for approval and payment $250.00 of said amount, the total amount being $255.00, having been allowed and ordered paid by the board on the 3d day of January, 1906, and no formal order having been made as to the remainder of said account. It is now ordered that the balance of said account for the sum of $255.00, and the same is, hereby disallowed and disapproved. To which action of the board in disapproving the balance of said account, the said Hubbell hereby appeals to the district court."

Mr. Klock appears before the board in behalf of Frank Wilson and William Farr, and asks that a public road connecting Williams street, 150 feet south of Bell avenue, with the public road at north line of lands of Rafael Garcia, be opened by this board. Whereupon, the board is of the opinion that the clerk be instructed to notify said parties to bring the matter before the board in accordance with Chapter 124, Sections 4 and 5, Acts of the 36th Legislative Assembly.

Moved by Mr. Springer, seconded by Mr. Grunfeld, that a warrant be drawn for approved accounts as follows:

- Felipe Romero, services as road surveyor in Precinct No. 4, $40.00.
- Jose Ma. Pahl, same, Precinct No. 34, $45.00.
- Marcelino Crepin, same, Precinct No. 23, $19.50.
- Venceslao Griego, same, Precinct No. 7, $45.00.
- Isabel Griego, same, Precinct No. 2, $45.00.
- Ramaldo Montoya y Apodaca, same, Precinct No. 3, $24.00.
- Feliciano Sanchez, same, Precinct No. 28, $51.00.
- Primitivo Candelaria, same, Precinct No. 35, $45.00.
- State National Bank, to apply on note of $4,536, dated July 3, 1905, $2,000.00.

It is ordered by the board that G. L. Brooks and Herman Blusker be appointed delegates to the Campbell Dry Farming convention to be held at Las Vegas, N. M., May 5, 1906, and that the clerk be instructed to notify said appointees of their appointment.

It is ordered by the board that the chairman be authorized to sign a note for $2,500.00, to be used for the repair of the Barreles and Corrales bridges; and a note for $4,500.00, to be used for the payment of dyke work.

Adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

A. GRUNSFELD, Chairman.

(Signed) A. E. WALKER, Clerk.

Called Meeting.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 5, 1906.

The board convened this day pursuant to the call of the chairman.

Present: Alfred Grunfeld, chairman; M. R. Springer, commissioner; A. E. Walker, clerk.

The report of D. J. Rankin, county surveyor, was filed, which report is as follows:

Albuquerque, N. M., April 28, 1906.

Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Bernalillo county, N. M.: Gentlemen—I have to inform you that the work on the Atrisco dyke, including the fence contracted for by Mr. M. C. Westbrook, is completed, according to the specifications furnished your board, and I recommend that the same be accepted.

Respectfully,

JOHN J. RANKIN, County Surveyor.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 4, 1906.

Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Bernalillo county, N. M.: Gentlemen—I have to inform you that the work on the dyke north of the city, contracted for by W. L. Trimble & Co., has been completed, according to the specifications furnished your board, and I recommend

SHABBY TREATMENT RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS

Owing to Extra Work, With No Pay, Competent Clerks Are Resigning.

THEY HAVE A RIGHT TO A KICK

(Friday, May 25.)

A serious problem confronts the railway mail service, and unless present conditions are remedied the service gives promise of becoming depleted of competent railway mail clerks.

It is known that reliable railway mail clerks are resigning, that their places are being filled with men of a lower standard of ability, and the class of men who formerly sought admission to the service will not now enter it because of existing conditions.

That men are resigning, that some of the present force are being worked overtime continually, without pay, that there are no substitutes to fill the places temporarily of men taken ill, is admitted.

In view of the fact that the clerk who lays off because of illness is deprived of his pay and the clerk filling the place of the former employee receives no pay for his extra services, Postmaster General Clegg is accused of depriving the clerk who is ill, of money rightfully due him.

The service in this division is a "dead rabbit" state. What grinds worse than anything else is the order issued by the postmaster general to the effect that clerks cannot be paid for extra duty. From personal acquaintance with many of the clerks running in and out of this city, the following will illustrate conditions that now prevail on the line running west:

Clerks leaving on No. 7 report for work at 11 p. m. and cover a distance of 400 miles to Williams, Ariz., the end of their run. When trains are on schedule time, which does not average over three months in a year, it is impossible to obtain more than three hours of rest. When late, no rest is had. They then are required to double back on train No. 2, having been continuously on duty for thirty-two hours, and covering 400 miles, an instance on the line of railroad referred to, there are four clerks. When one clerk is sick, the other three are ordered to keep up his run, but they must do so without pay for the extra time put in, and the sick man's pay stops. The result is that the postoffice department sends out men's pay every time a clerk gets sick.

ELEVEN MILLION DOLLARS TO SAVE HALF MILE.

Bein, Cut-Off Reduces Great Obstacles to Santa Fe Fast Service.

When two or three years ago it was announced generally through the medium of the daily press, that the Santa Fe system was about to make an expenditure of some $11,000,000, for the purpose of saving half a mile, it aroused a variety of speculation as to the value of half a mile to a railroad, says the Railway Age. It has been then been stated that the half mile to be saved was to be measured vertically and not horizontally, to gain which half mile in elevation it would be necessary to build 270 miles in a more or less horizontal plane. The "Bein" cut-off, as it is known, is from the Texas state line, to Rio Puerco, N. M. The distance saved is about eleven miles, but the feature which justifies the expenditure is the saving of grades. Raton and Moriata summits have long been the greatest obstacles in the line between the Texas and Santa Fe. Though quite half a mile, the saving of 1,116 feet of elevation at Raton, and of 923 feet, as compared with Moriata, taking also into consideration, that the approach to these summits involves grades of 2.5 per cent, while the new routing is 0.6 per cent, the result is a total reduction in operating expenses over the division. Hereafter it has been necessary to break up long trains into sections at each of these passes. The curvature is also materially improved. The work has progressed well toward completion, and there are fair prospects of road being in operation by September next. When to the benefits derived from the opening of this cut-off are added those that will accrue from the revision of line from Florence to Texas, via Acoma, and the new line from the Santa Fe to the Pacific coast somewhat shorter than its present line and with reduced curvature, which should enable a saving of at least one day in the fast freight schedules and considerable improvement in the time of the California limited, should it eventually be decided to make this its main passenger line.

ORGAN MOUNTAIN AND EL PASO RAILROAD.

The Organ mountain railroad, which has filed a charter at Austin, Texas. The object is to build from El Paso northward, fifteen miles, to the boundary of New Mexico, and thence it is stated, to the Organ mountains. The New Mexico portion of the line was incorporated some time ago and a right of way has already been secured. The government has already granted the concern permission to cross the reservation of Fort Bliss, and arrangements have been completed for some time for terminal facilities near the fort, with the New Mexico investment company. The company will build a concentrator in El Paso and run a narrow gauge line from El Paso to mines in the Organ mountains. J. W. Eubanks, of El Paso, surveyed the road. The incorporators are Harris Walshall, D. Y. Hays, A. B. Cox, L. M. Walker, A. B. Paul, W. S. Cronin, A. S. Jackson, J. W. Eubanks, all of El Paso, and N. O. Streeter, of Philadelphia and A. A. Jones, of Las Vegas. Mr. Streeter is the promoter.

NEW RAILROAD SURVEY IN SAN MIGUEL COUNTY.

Charles E. Henning, in charge of a surveying corps of the El Paso & Southwestern railway, last week completed a survey through La Cinto canyon, San Miguel county, for the proposed new line from Dawson to Santa Rosa, says El Hispano Americano, published at Ros, the principal town on the Dawson line between Dawson and Tucuman. "The route down La Cinto canyon was found impracticable. The company will there-

Local Happenings

(Friday, May 25.)

Mrs. F. H. Clute of 211 Marquette avenue has gone to California for the summer.

David Weiler, who has been abroad on a pleasure trip, is expected home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Fillmore will leave today week for a short visit to Mr. Fillmore's old home in Joplin, Mo.

Regular meeting of Harmony lodge, No. 10, I. O. O. F., tonight, business of importance to transact. James J. Volney, secretary.

W. B. Childers yesterday transferred to R. P. Hall, for consideration of $1,200, lots 6 to 12, block D, of the Union depot frontage.

John Lee Clarke of the Benham Indian Trading company left on the fly of this morning for the Navajo reservation to trade with the Indians.

Kirk and Hugh Bryan and Lawrence Hild, who spent several days at the Eliza ranch in the Santa mountains, have returned to the city.

Mrs. J. B. Downey and children, family of Manager Downey of the Albuquerque Gas Electric Light & Power company, have gone to California for the summer.

W. H. Forbes, deputy United States marshal, returned last night from Las Vegas, where he has been attending the session of the United States court held the past week in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanks of South Third street, are enjoying a visit from Mr. Hanks's mother and brother, Mrs. Hanks and Otis Hanks, who arrived last night from Topeka, Kansas.

Mayor McKee left last night for a brief visit to Socorro, taking with him his two oldest sons, whom he will place on a ranch for a summer's outing. The mayor expects to return to the city Saturday.

C. Bennett, city salesman for Gross, Kelly & Company, was thrown by a fractured horse on south Broadway last evening and received bruises which will lay him up for a few days. Fortunately he was not seriously injured as a result of the accident.

Hon. O. N. Marron will leave tomorrow night for New Haven, Conn., as a delegate from New Mexico to the meeting of the National Council of the Knights of Columbus. Before returning to the city, Mr. Marron will visit his sister at Fort Henry, N. Y.

Mrs. B. F. Corp is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. A. Abraham, of Silver City, who arrived this morning from a three months' sojourn at Los Angeles. Mrs. Abraham expects to remain in the city a day or two, and then continue her journey home.

Frank W. Hall, the well known hardware merchant of Winslow, is here on business. Mrs. Hall and children, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Iowa the past few weeks, are expected to arrive tonight, and will accompany Mr. Hall back to Winslow.

Percy Barbour, manager of the Navajo Gold Mining company, in the Cochiti district, arrived in the city last night on business connected with the company he represents. Mr. Barbour states that the outlook for prospecting mining operations in the Cochiti district is excellent.

LEGAS ASPECTS OF LATE ELECTION CONTENTIONS.

Denver, Colo., May 25.—In the criminal court today District Attorney Sheriff, Sheriff Nisbet and Coroner Reuter, returned to the city the other day and will leave tonight to examine and report on some properties in the Grants Gap country of southeastern Grant county, which they are expected to examine about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hild, who left Albuquerque a few days ago for a trip to the old country, sailed from New York on Thursday on the steamship the Kaiser Wilhelm II of the German Republic company. Mr. and Mrs. Hild expect to be absent from the territory for six or seven months.

A Japanese laborer, sick with consumption, died on the incoming No. 2 passenger train from the west this morning. The body was turned over to O. W. Strong's Sons, undertakers, from the car and placed in a casket with headquarters in San Francisco.

Mrs. C. H. Campbell and grand-daughter, Miss Florence Harrison, left this morning for their home at St. Louis, after a visit of several weeks' duration in the city with Mr. and Mrs. George H. Campbell, of 221 North Seventh street. The former is the mother and the latter a niece of Mrs. Campbell.

The G. K. Warren Post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic, will, with the auxiliary societies, meet at the Congressional church on Sunday morning for the annual memorial Sunday service. Suitable decorations will be made for the occasion. E. L. Washburn, with Mrs. Raymond Lester as organist, will have charge of the service. Rev. J. W. Barron will give the address on "Liberty, the Pride of the Nation." At 7:30 the annual children's service will be held; a splendid program will be rendered by the members of the Sunday school.

F. E. Scully and W. O. Scott, day and night clerks at the Alvarado, leave tomorrow for the east, the former for his old home in New York, and the latter on his summer vacation. F. H. Miller, secretary of Scully & Scott, will be held; J. Magnuson, recently of La Junta, will relieve Mr. Scott.

J. W. Barnes, the vaudeville artist and song writer, left for the east last night accompanied by Mrs. Barnes. During the summer Mr. Barnes will make his headquarters at Cincinnati, where, while there, he also has much ability as a song writer, will open a publishing house for the purpose of putting before the public some of their original work.

Contractors are rushing laborers to the best fields of Colorado. Train No. 7 this morning carried three carloads of Mexican men consigned to Rocky Ford. Forty-one Indian boys from the Navajo reservation, also left, destined to stop at the same place. The latter were in charge of a government agent.

Victor Bain returned yesterday to the city from his sheep ranges in the Oscura mountains in Socorro county. He reports having saved about 65 per cent of lambs, and has completed shearing his flocks. He wool arrived in the city this morning and local buyers are looking at the clip. The highest bidder will secure the output of the season.

Miss Clara Gleason, private secretary to Governor Hagerman, is here for a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. E. V. Chavez. She is accompanied by her niece, Miss Lulu Cornwell, of Idaho, who has spent the last month as a guest of Miss Olsen at the san-

Local Happenings

(Friday, May 25.)

Mrs. F. H. Clute of 211 Marquette avenue has gone to California for the summer.

David Weiler, who has been abroad on a pleasure trip, is expected home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Fillmore will leave today week for a short visit to Mr. Fillmore's old home in Joplin, Mo.

Regular meeting of Harmony lodge, No. 10, I. O. O. F., tonight, business of importance to transact. James J. Volney, secretary.

W. B. Childers yesterday transferred to R. P. Hall, for consideration of $1,200, lots 6 to 12, block D, of the Union depot frontage.

John Lee Clarke of the Benham Indian Trading company left on the fly of this morning for the Navajo reservation to trade with the Indians.

Kirk and Hugh Bryan and Lawrence Hild, who spent several days at the Eliza ranch in the Santa mountains, have returned to the city.

Mrs. J. B. Downey and children, family of Manager Downey of the Albuquerque Gas Electric Light & Power company, have gone to California for the summer.

W. H. Forbes, deputy United States marshal, returned last night from Las Vegas, where he has been attending the session of the United States court held the past week in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanks of South Third street, are enjoying a visit from Mr. Hanks's mother and brother, Mrs. Hanks and Otis Hanks, who arrived last night from Topeka, Kansas.

Mayor McKee left last night for a brief visit to Socorro, taking with him his two oldest sons, whom he will place on a ranch for a summer's outing. The mayor expects to return to the city Saturday.

C. Bennett, city salesman for Gross, Kelly & Company, was thrown by a fractured horse on south Broadway last evening and received bruises which will lay him up for a few days. Fortunately he was not seriously injured as a result of the accident.

Hon. O. N. Marron will leave tomorrow night for New Haven, Conn., as a delegate from New Mexico to the meeting of the National Council of the Knights of Columbus. Before returning to the city, Mr. Marron will visit his sister at Fort Henry, N. Y.

Mrs. B. F. Corp is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. A. Abraham, of Silver City, who arrived this morning from a three months' sojourn at Los Angeles. Mrs. Abraham expects to remain in the city a day or two, and then continue her journey home.

Frank W. Hall, the well known hardware merchant of Winslow, is here on business. Mrs. Hall and children, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Iowa the past few weeks, are expected to arrive tonight, and will accompany Mr. Hall back to Winslow.

Percy Barbour, manager of the Navajo Gold Mining company, in the Cochiti district, arrived in the city last night on business connected with the company he represents. Mr. Barbour states that the outlook for prospecting mining operations in the Cochiti district is excellent.

LEGAS ASPECTS OF LATE ELECTION CONTENTIONS.

Denver, Colo., May 25.—In the criminal court today District Attorney Sheriff, Sheriff Nisbet and Coroner Reuter, returned to the city the other day and will leave tonight to examine and report on some properties in the Grants Gap country of southeastern Grant county, which they are expected to examine about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hild, who left Albuquerque a few days ago for a trip to the old country, sailed from New York on Thursday on the steamship the Kaiser Wilhelm II of the German Republic company. Mr. and Mrs. Hild expect to be absent from the territory for six or seven months.

A Japanese laborer, sick with consumption, died on the incoming No. 2 passenger train from the west this morning. The body was turned over to O. W. Strong's Sons, undertakers, from the car and placed in a casket with headquarters in San Francisco.

Mrs. C. H. Campbell and grand-daughter, Miss Florence Harrison, left this morning for their home at St. Louis, after a visit of several weeks' duration in the city with Mr. and Mrs. George H. Campbell, of 221 North Seventh street. The former is the mother and the latter a niece of Mrs. Campbell.

The G. K. Warren Post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic, will, with the auxiliary societies, meet at the Congressional church on Sunday morning for the annual memorial Sunday service. Suitable decorations will be made for the occasion. E. L. Washburn, with Mrs. Raymond Lester as organist, will have charge of the service. Rev. J. W. Barron will give the address on "Liberty, the Pride of the Nation." At 7:30 the annual children's service will be held; a splendid program will be rendered by the members of the Sunday school.

F. E. Scully and W. O. Scott, day and night clerks at the Alvarado, leave tomorrow for the east, the former for his old home in New York, and the latter on his summer vacation. F. H. Miller, secretary of Scully & Scott, will be held; J. Magnuson, recently of La Junta, will relieve Mr. Scott.

J. W. Barnes, the vaudeville artist and song writer, left for the east last night accompanied by Mrs. Barnes. During the summer Mr. Barnes will make his headquarters at Cincinnati, where, while there, he also has much ability as a song writer, will open a publishing house for the purpose of putting before the public some of their original work.

Contractors are rushing laborers to the best fields of Colorado. Train No. 7 this morning carried three carloads of Mexican men consigned to Rocky Ford. Forty-one Indian boys from the Navajo reservation, also left, destined to stop at the same place. The latter were in charge of a government agent.

Victor Bain returned yesterday to the city from his sheep ranges in the Oscura mountains in Socorro county. He reports having saved about 65 per cent of lambs, and has completed shearing his flocks. He wool arrived in the city this morning and local buyers are looking at the clip. The highest bidder will secure the output of the season.

Miss Clara Gleason, private secretary to Governor Hagerman, is here for a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. E. V. Chavez. She is accompanied by her niece, Miss Lulu Cornwell, of Idaho, who has spent the last month as a guest of Miss Olsen at the san-

MADDER IS BOUND OVER IN SUM OF $5,000

A telephone message from The Evening Citizen's special correspondent at Bernalillo, received at 4 o'clock this afternoon, states that at the preliminary hearing of the case of J. Madden charged with the killing of O. P. Hovey, at Angostura, one mile from Algodones, last Tuesday, Madden was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, his bail being fixed at $5,000.

District Attorney Clancy, who, with Comr. Stenger and Harry P. Owen and Nestor Montoya, official interpreter, went to Bernalillo this morning, conducted the investigation.

It was shown at the hearing, which lasted the greater part of the day, that Hovey went to the house wherein the defendant made his home, in his official capacity as deputy marshal, to serve some papers upon one Gonzales, owner of the house, and that after a fight with defendant, the latter shot Hovey as he was returning to the attack.

The verdict of justice of the Peace, Justice Mondragon, came as a decided surprise to the inhabitants of Bernalillo, who had looked forward to the acquittal of the old veteran on the ground of justified homicide.

Up to a late hour this afternoon Madden had not succeeded in securing bondsmen, and is still confined in the Bernalillo jail.

The gentle furnishing house of Miss Mandell, on West Railroad avenue, has had several improvements made within it of late that improve the interior appearance of the store wonderfully. In place of the former benches on which were displayed the suits, now run laces silver plated bars, half the length of the store, on which the clothes, about 300 suits, are effectively displayed by being hung thereto.

The Colorado Telephone company is last proceeding with the work of placing their overhead wires under ground, especially in the crowded down town districts, although it will probably take a month's time to complete the work. About 15,000 feet of conduits are to be dug in the city, which will practically place all of the Colorado wires under ground. Several of the machines have already been installed and the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

(Monday, May 28.)

Attorney Summers Buchanan is in Bernalillo today on legal business.

N. V. Cloutier and bride are spending a few days with friends at Lamy.

Miss Katie Horn has returned from a visit to her parents at San Marcial.

The river is lower today than it has been at any time within the past three weeks.

Dr. P. F. Gaines, the dentist, has closed his office at Bolen and gone to his home at Raton.

The Traction company hauled 7,500 people yesterday. That is not so bad for one day's business.

Joseph Price, prominent banker of Socorro, returned home last night from a brief visit to the city.

The West bowing alleys opened this morning, and the alleys have been kept busy all day long.

Harry W. Kelly, of Las Vegas, spent last night in the city and secured to the Meadow City this morning.

Mrs. Leon B. Stern, and son, Bertie, will leave the middle of the week for a brief visit to Socorro relatives and friends.

The Varsity students who were the guests of Miss Rodgers Haining at Lee Laras, over Sunday returned home this morning.

Mrs. K. Mandell will leave the latter part of the week for a visit of a few weeks to the Mandell home in New York City.

Mrs. Chas. Clay returned to the city yesterday from an extended sojourn at Long Beach, Cal. Her health has greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Nell B. Field have returned from their Peeco river summer cottage, where they have been the past week or ten days.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Hadley was in the city Saturday from Santa Fe on route to the Agriculture college at Mesilla Park.

Miss Clara Olsen, who visited her sister, Mrs. E. V. Chavez, here, has returned to her duties at Santa Fe as private secretary to Governor Hagerman.

Capt. W. C. Reid of Howell has arrived at Santa Fe. He will be appointed attorney general of New Mexico on June 1, to succeed Col. G. W. Friedman, resigned.

Hon. J. W. Raymond, territorial secretary, has gone to Boston, where he will attend the tenth annual reunion of his class at the Boston Institute of Technology.

Mrs. J. E. Harley, wife of the general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, at Topeka, is enjoying a visit from her sister, Miss Maggie Bucher of Las Vegas.

C. A. Hudson, the painter and paper hanger, was a passenger for Bernalillo this morning. Mr. Hudson has a contract to paint Fred J. Otero's country house at Bernalillo.

Ex-Governor Otero and son have finished their travels in Italy and have gone to Vienna, Austria. From there they will visit the large and interesting cities in Germany and thence go to Paris.

Attorney D. J. Leahy was a visitor in the city Saturday night for a short time en route to Alamogordo, where United States court opened today with Judge Mann presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Hall returned to their home at Winslow last night, after a pleasant visit in the city to friends.

Mr. Hall is the leading plumber of the Arizona town.

Mrs. A. M. Callahan of Topeka is visiting Mrs. Pitt Ross and Mrs. Wilson, for a few days, on West Railroad avenue. Mrs. Callahan is en route home, having spent the winter in Mexico.

A car labeled "Provision from Jamestown, N. Y., April 25, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for San Francisco sufferers," spent several hours in the local Santa Fe yards yesterday. This is one for the Eagles.

Mrs. W. A. Louden and Mrs. H. W. Warner were among the Santa Fe visitors in the city yesterday. Mrs. Warner is the widow of the late Santa Fe, and was the Santa Fe New Mexican's representative on the excursion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Nowell and baby left yesterday morning for Santa Fe, where they visit for a week, and attend Decoration day exercises at the Capital City Wednesday. Mr. Nowell is the chief spokesman of The Citizen office.

Mrs. Ed. Otero, accompanied by Miss Irene Williams, her guest, leave tonight for Colorado Springs, from where they will return to the city to friends, after a few weeks' visit. Mrs. Williams will return to her home in St. Louis, Mrs. Otero returning to Albuquerque.

Col. E. W. Dobson returned last night from a ten days' trip to the eastern part of New Mexico. He attended the commencement exercises of the Russell Military academy, and speaks of the work being done by the institute in the complimentary terms.

G. A. Galles and Frank Quier, buyers for the Colorado Telephone company, returned yesterday from Las Lunas, where they spent three days stringing a wire across the river between Las Lunas and Peralta to replace one which was cut down a couple of weeks ago with the Los Lunas bridge.

Isidro Sandoval, the South Second street grocery merchant, says that this has been the greatest year in the history of his experience with sheep. His flocks held in Valencia county show an increase of 110 per cent gain in lambs and are yielding an unusually large clip of wool. This wool is ready to be placed on the market now.

Major W. H. H. Jewell, the United States attorney for New Mexico, who visited Washington on business, was at Las Vegas last Thursday and Friday attending district court in session there. It is understood, while at the national capital, he received full assurance that his course in the Tallmadge land fraud cases and the Peeco Valley & Northwestern railway rebate case is approved and endorsed.

W. H. Adams, who succeeds W. H. Cheatham, manager of the Alvarado, arrived from Hutchinson, Kansas, yesterday morning and this morning relieved Superintendent John Stein, who has been in charge of the big hotel since Mr. Cheatham left the early part of last week. Mr. Adams is one of the oldest managers in the employ of the Harvey system, and his promotion from the Hutchinson house to the Alvarado, which is the most important house owned by the company, is a compliment that comes to only the most able of the Harvey managers.

Albuquerque Weekly Citizen

Subscription Rates.
Weekly Citizen, per year $2.50
Daily Citizen, per year 6.00

Albuquerque Outlook

The Citizen has full faith and confidence that the Albuquerque Eastern railroad will be built, that work will begin upon it in a reasonably short time, and that its construction will be by the present owners of the Santa Fe Central. This paper has two solid foundations for its faith in this matter, either of which would be sufficient in itself, but the union of which makes doubt absurd.

The first of these is the repeated assurance of the management and chief promoters of the enterprise. These gentlemen have repeatedly and emphatically declared not only that they intend to construct the road, but that all arrangements, heretofore have been completed. These two things they assert as positive facts; and they repeat these facts as often as some one for sinister purposes attempts to undermine the financial standing of the Santa Fe Central or to announce its purchase by other parties.

The statements of these gentlemen would be accepted by all who know them, on any matter concerning which they were competent to speak, and any assertion of theirs concerning questions of fact would carry conviction to any mind. If this be true in reference to ordinary affairs, it must also be true in reference to a transaction as important as the construction of the Albuquerque Eastern, where they have every motive for being exact and where deception could only work detriment to their enterprise, as well as to their own individual reputations. Hence it must be concluded that they know whereof they affirm, and that when they say that they will complete the Albuquerque Eastern, and that all arrangements have been made to that end, they mean exactly what they say—no more, no less.

The second argument is that the Santa Fe Central and the Pennsylvania Development company need the Albuquerque Eastern fully as much as, if not more than, Albuquerque needs it. There are millions invested by the two companies, and neither company can realize its fullest measure of prosperity without the Albuquerque Eastern. It is doubtful today if there is another projected road, in the United States, of so short a length, of so small a construction cost, and which will be so valuable to all the parties concerned, when once completed and in operation, as this same Albuquerque Eastern. Its value to this city, The Citizen has already discussed. Its value to the Santa Fe Central and to the Pennsylvania Development company, in completing the connections of the first and in making available and successful the enterprises and enterprises of the latter, The Citizen need not attempt to state in detail. They are recognized by all, and the very fact of their existence is proof that the owners of the two must and will complete the connecting link.

Financial Conditions

In speaking of the fact that the Pennsylvania company made its $10,000,000 loan, a few days ago, in Paris, Henry Clews tells us that "apparently there is more surplus capital seeking investment in Paris than in any of the other foreign markets. France is not only a very wealthy nation, but her wealth is remarkably well distributed." In the same connection Mr. Clews says that "our short time foreign obligations already amount to somewhere in the neighborhood of $400,000,000, and a considerable portion of these will soon be due."

It seems that the telegrams sent out immediately after the San Francisco fire, to the effect that the insurance companies would pay their indebtedness at once, without quibbling or claiming the sixty days time granted them in their policies, were either issued without authority or were sent forth merely for buncombe. Mr. Clews says: "Both American and foreign losses will be settled gradually. A small percentage has already been paid, but no demands are really due until sixty days after the fire. Subsequently payments will be distributed over a long period because considerable time will be required to make adjustments, settle losses and satisfy conflicting claims."

The demand for railroad bonds, says Mr. Clews, continues disappointing. This he explains partly by the condition of the money market, and partly by the fact that large amounts of such bonds are still held by syndicates awaiting purchasers. Both this declaration concerning the placing of railroad bonds and the fact that the Pennsylvania company was compelled to place its bonds in Paris, are confirmatory of the statement made by The Citizen yesterday, when giving probable reasons why the Albuquerque Eastern management had not secured the funds for finishing that road as soon as had been expected.

Mr. Clews further refers to the fact that "it must now be recognized that the great life insurance companies, with their large surpluses, are no longer available, in the placing of stock and bonds." "A year or two ago," he adds, "the Pennsylvania would not have been obliged to go to Paris for its loan. The entire $50,000,000 would have been readily taken in New York City by some of the once powerful syndicates," the latter being manipulated by the life insurance companies.

Government Service

Secretary Shaw's address to the grand sitting class of the Revenue Cutter service was in bad taste, if not, indeed, unparliamentary and unnecessary, coming from a member of the cabinet.

When a number of young men have completed a course of study more arduous than that of most of our universities in order to fit themselves for the service of the government it is abundantly for a high officer of the government to tell them that that service is thankless and not stimulating to ambition.

It is true that pay in government service is not high. But the tenure of office in the army and navy is for life—a fact which justifies something of the meagerness of the pay. And there is leisure for outside work and facilities for pursuing it.

In the revenue service, to the young novitiates in which Secretary Shaw was speaking, we know of one officer who has made himself an international authority on ordinance, who is a lecturer in demand all over the United States, whose articles command place—and price—in every periodical.

The services of the United States government—whether civil or armed—are honorable and not without possibilities for true success. A cabinet officer who denies this ought to be sent back to his country bank, where money is the only measure of accomplishment.—Los Angeles Examiner.

Arizona Silver Belt: In the first half of the month of May the expenditures of the national government exceeded the revenue by $2,000,000, and this in spite of the fact that the receipts were heavier than those for the first fifteen days in May of either 1905 or 1904. This excess of expenditures for the current month brings down the surplus of the fiscal year to date to a little over $2,000,000 so that it is probable that the whole fiscal year will show no marked surplus or deficit. With a month and a half yet to go, Uncle Sam has expended $511,387,000 in the fiscal year 1906.

There is a town in Peru called Paita, says the Four Track News for June, where it is said, there has not been a drop of rain in thirteen years. When the country begins to look dry and dusty this summer, thing of Paita.

Las Vegas Optic: Las Vegas will fittingly observe Memorial day. The day is one which both north and south now delight to commemorate. Nearly all the bitterness of the great struggle has died out, the wounds are healed though many scars remain. Memorial day is yet a day of mourning to thousands, whose husbands and sweethearts and brothers "wrapped their colors round their breasts on a blood red field" of death. Not until the generations of '65 have all heard the call of the last trumpet, will the sadness of the great struggle be obliterated and only the glory remain.

Ever Living Dead

Every year, in the full tide of spring, at the height of the sympathy of flowers and love and life, there comes a solemn pause, and through the silence the nation hears the lonely cry of death. Year after year lovers wandering under the apple boughs and through the clover are surprised with sudden tears as they see black-veiled figures stealing through the morning to a soldier's grave. Year by year the comrades of the dead follow, with public honor, procession and commemorative flags, and funeral march—drifting from us who have inherited a nation's glory to the broad who gave it. As surely as this day comes round we are in the presence of the dead. But not all the associations of this day are sad; some of them are triumphant, even joyful. We want to hear the funeral march become a psalm. Our heroic dead will live for us, and bid us think of life, not death—of life to which in their youth they lent the passion and glory of the spring. Memorial day may and ought to have a meaning beyond mere honor to the dead. It celebrates and solemnly reaffirms from year to year a national act of enthusiasm and faith. It embodies in the most impressive form our belief that to act with enthusiasm and faith is the condition of acting bravely. To fight out a war men must believe something and want something with all their might. So must they believe and want to carry out anything else to an end worth reaching.

Peace calls for its patriotic devotion, no less than war. And, stripped of the direct associations which gave rise to it, this is a day when by common consent we pause to become conscious of our national honor and to rejoice in it, to recall what our country has done and is doing for us, and to ask ourselves what we can do for our country in return. The great French soldier, De La Tour d'Auvergne, was the hero of many battles, but remained by his own choice in the ranks. Napoleon gave him a sword and the official title "The First Grenadier of France." When he was killed, the emperor ordered that his heart should be entrusted to his regiment—that his name should be called at every roll-call and that his next comrade should answer, "Dead upon the field of honor!" In the keeping of this nation are the hearts of many heroes; we treasure them in consecrated ground, and when their names are called we answer in flowers, "Dead upon the field of honor."

Force of Fashion

It is evident, says a telegram from London, that the great city is not in sympathy with the Church of England clergy, who a week ago made such a violent protest against the marriage of Princess Ima to the king of Spain, for the town is becoming rapidly enthusiastically Spanish.

Costumes modeled after the Spanish fashion have begun to make their appearance in the shop windows, while the high jeweled comb and glittering aquina, beloved of the haughty peasant girl, are meeting with a ready sale, while Spanish lace in enormous quantities is stocked in all the fashionable shops.

Black is the favorite color as far as the sales have gone, but natural shades of cream and soft pastel tints are also in great demand.

One Oxford Street shop made a specialty of hand-made Spanish mohair shawls for theater wraps, which are selling rapidly, and women are having tea gowns and negligees modeled on the national dress of Spain. Of all the Spanish modes the most picturesque is the high dressed evening culture, which is being adopted enthusiastically, while every hatter and jeweler is selling beautiful Spanish combs.

Not only is Spanish dress in fashion, but Spanish furniture, pottery, leather, old silver and pictures are being eagerly sought. Even the Spanish language has become popular in the city, as well as at court. At the Berlitz school in London the language is being taught to earnest pupils seven hours daily. Princess Maurice and Leopold of Battenberg are among the pupils, while there are also many society women and many clerks from the city.

Delay Is Dangerous

The Optic says that the people of Santa Fe are making a determined effort to secure the Mary James Mission school for boys, which will mean the expenditure of at least $50,000 in judgments alone. It is necessary for the capital folk to get up $10,000 to make sure of the school.

Mrs. Trunkay of Pennsylvania, prominently identified with the woman's home missionary work of the Presbyterian church—of which work Mrs. James has long been the head and in whose honor the proposed school has been named—recently spent a couple of months in Albuquerque. Just before leaving she stated to a representative of the Optic that the board is becoming weary of the delay upon Santa Fe's part, in securing the necessary grounds for the institution, and that a considerable feeling is growing amongst those having in hand the construction of the school, to place it at Albuquerque, where the church has ample grounds in connection with the Menaul school.

Albuquerque has taken no steps to cultivate the feeling referred to, because the offer was first made in Santa Fe, and only when that city confesses inability to comply with the conditions would it be at all proper for Albuquerque to intervene in any way.

The increase in imports for the ten months ending with April amounts to about $6 million dollars, and is about equally divided between manufacturers' materials and manufactures, the total figures for the nine months of which the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics has completed the analysis, indicating a gain of about 44 millions in manufacturers' materials, and 51 millions in the two classes, manufactures and luxuries, while there is a decrease of about 20 millions in food-stuffs. In exports there is for the ten months an increase of 215 millions, and the nine months' figures, now completed, show a gain of about 136 millions in agricultural products and about 50 millions in manufactures.

New Mexican: Every incorporated city and town in New Mexico has grown considerably as shown by the vote in the April elections. Several towns have incorporated and others are getting ready to incorporate. Since the census of 1900 six counties have been brought into existence and have been organized. Many new towns have been located and are today flourishing communities. New national banks and banks under territorial charter have been organized and there has not been a single bank failure since the 1900 census. The financial conditions of the territory and its twenty-five counties have greatly improved in every particular.

Las Vegas Optic: The dry farming experiments on the mesa are going on swimmingly, and the big tract under control of the Campbell company is being rapidly broken up. Many Las Vegas citizens continue to go out on the mesa to observe the progress of the work. There seems to be every prospect that Las Vegas will get the Phelps-Dodge road. There is no reason to doubt the published statements that the chief engineer has been ordered to withdraw his surveying corps from the Dawson line with a view of completing the Las Vegas survey. Private citizens have received advice to the same effect.

John Burroughs lays down a rather broad demand when he thus tells what style a writer should employ on certain designated subjects. He says: "In treating of nature, or outdoor themes, let the style have limpidness, sweetness, freshness; in criticism, let it have dignity, lucidity, penetration; in history let it have mass, sweep, comprehension; in all things, let it have vitality, sincerity and genuineness." The foregoing is for the benefit of newspaper writers exclusively, especially those of them who write under the fastest speed rate for daily papers.

Globe Silver Belt: The company boring for oil near Indian Hot Springs struck an enormous flow of artesian water at 307 feet, and the well has since been sunk to 370 feet, the flow of water having increased and being now estimated at 800,000 barrels in twenty-four hours. The water is boiling hot as it issues from the well and remarkably clear and tasteless. The drill passed through nine feet of shale at 317 feet and A. E. Zierath, manager of the company, is confident that oil will be struck at greater depth.

ANNUAL PROGRAM OF SENIOR CLASS

At A. M. College, Rendered Amid Plaudits of Those Attending.

CALL OF 1906 MOST PROGRESSIVE

Special Correspondence.
Mesa Park, May 29.—The annual program of the senior class was given today and a more interesting program has never been given by any preceding class. The program was held in the new hall, in which class day took place, was elaborately decorated by the junior class, the stage was draped with flags and bunting and presented a very pleasing picture. The program was the result of the energy and untiring efforts of the class and the class of 1906 will long be remembered as the most independent and progressive body that has ever been graduated from the Agricultural College of New Mexico. To participate upon the numbers would be an injustice but the address by Mr. A. A. Brown, the class history by Mr. Graham, the class ode and prophecy by Miss Merie and John Blinn respectively were well appreciated by the large audience. The musical numbers showed careful selection and diligent training. The vocal solos of Miss Peet and C. D. Miller were well received and well rendered, the piano solo of Miss Ruth Coleman was most highly accomplished, a good example of 1906 progressional spirit. The class quartet distinguished itself by singing Bartholdy's "Departure," with decided taste.

THE PROGRAM.
Address A. A. Brown
Class History E. A. Graham
Vocal Solo—Song (Reverie) F. Schira
Miss Bertha Peet
Class Poem Miss Merie Blinn
Class Philosophy J. F. Blinn
Piano Solo
(a) Bagatelle Sharvener
(b) To the Evening Star, War-Low
Miss Ruth Coleman
Last Will and Testament, G. C. Given Vocal Solo—Let Me Dream Again
Sullivan

Presentation of Flag—Miss B. Peet
Quartet—"Departure"—Bartholdy
Miss Bertha Peet, Miss Merie Blinn, Mr. J. F. Blinn, Mr. C. D. Miller
Presentation of Spade—J. W. Bontz
Class Song Class
It is not to say that the people that attended felt well repaid and the seniors received many congratulations upon their entertainment.

PECULIAR NAMES OF ARIZONA TOWNS

MANY ARE HISTORIC AND ROMANTIC—A CHINAMAN HONORED.

Despite the fact that this was originally Spanish territory and still has many Spanish speaking residents, there are less than twenty postoffices in the territory with Spanish names, and there are but two beginning with S, which means Saint, says the Tombstone Prospector. There are San Carlos and San Simon. True, there is St. David, St. John, St. Joseph and St. Michaels, but these are all Mormon settlements and were named by Mormons.

The majority of the towns bearing Spanish names are named because of special significance, such as Agua Caliente, meaning water, and Canyon Diablo, meaning Devil's canyon. There are many odd names, such as Arizona, an abbreviation of Arizona and Maricopa, which is said to be a colony of Maricopa.

Kymo is an abbreviation of Missouri and Kentucky, and it is settled by people from those two states. Kofa is for K. of A., meaning King of Arizona, and derives its name from a miner of the same name. The other of the odd names are Snow Lake, which is said to have been christened after a good old game of seven up. Snow Lake is named after two Mormons, and not because there is a great abundance of the beautiful there.

Cain honors a Chinaman, it is said, and Calabazas, a Spanish name, meaning pumpkins—the Town of Pumpkins.

There are some that sound as odd. There is a Humble Bee and a Big Bug. Arizona has a Paradise and an Eden, and the latter place has the name of being the home of the neighborhood quarrel. There is a Globe and a Planet and a Tombstone.

How this famous camp got its name is an interesting story in itself. It was named by the map who discovered the Tombstone mines. He had often been told that the only rock he could find in these hills would be his tombstone.

Though there is a Pima county, Pima is in Graham county and Maricopa is not in Maricopa county, but in Pinal county.

Skull valley was named from the great abundance of skulls found there from a fight between soldiers and Indians.

SHAKE IT OFF.

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens. Albuquerque Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens. Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary. Get rid of them. Don't let your kidneys cure bad backs; cure lame, weak and aching backs; cure every form of kidney ills. Lots of local endorsements to prove this.

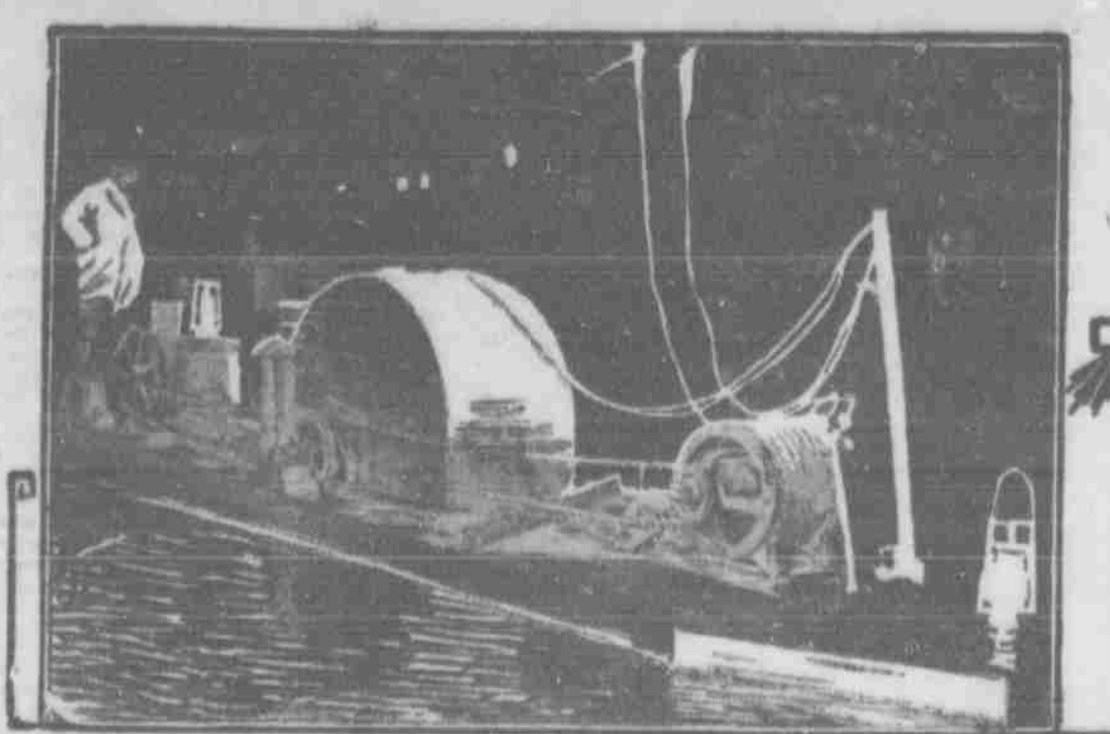

C. A. Hall, machinist in the round house of the Santa Fe shops, residence 204 Atlantic avenue, says: "I have had attacks of pain just across the part of my back immediately over the kidneys, some of which lasted an entire week. When they occurred there was no let up in the aching, and naturally I was on the outlook for something to check the trouble if not radically dispose of it. The last medicine I tried was Doan's Kidney Pills procured at a drug store. To say that they are worth recommending feebly expresses my opinion of them. They quickly removed the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mrs. Oscar Goshel of Boise is spending the day in the city visiting and shopping.

BIGGEST JOBS IN THE BIG CITIES

NEW YORK

AN ELECTRIC TOWING MACHINE IN TUNNEL UNDER EAST RIVER.

Special Correspondence.
New York, May 29.—In the construction of a huge net of tunnels, subways and bridges, colossal in their conception and honeycombing the land and waters of this city, the stupendous sum of almost $100,000,000 is to be expended to meet the rapid transit requirements of New York.

New York, with her 4,000,000 people, has found her greatest problem the task of transporting her vast army of daily workers, larger than the combined standing armies of America, Great Britain and France.

The big Manhattan subway, which has only been in operation nineteen months, is found to be utterly inadequate. It will be completely dwarfed by the new undertakings.

An extension is now building from Battery Park, at the lower extreme of Manhattan Island, under the East River and to the heart of Brooklyn, one and a half miles.

Two proposed subways, larger even than the one now in operation, are to extend the full length of Manhattan and into the Bronx, dipping under the Harlem river and paralleling the Hudson river.

Another proposed tunnel will run from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.

from the Grand Central station, Forty-second street, which is being rebuilt, under city streets and the East River to Blackwell's Island, and to Long Island. This will be a part of the present so-called Belmont subway.

Two wonderful new bridges over the East River will relieve the congestion of the Brooklyn and new Williamsburg bridges. The Manhattan bridge will be 10,000 feet in length.

The second bridge will run from the Manhattan shore to Blackwell's Island and then across to Long Island.