CROW TRIBE OF INDIANS
HOLDING BIG FAIR
Billings, Mont., Oct. 22.—Visitors and tourists in Billie, who never had an opportunity of seeing much of the western Indian on his native heath, and their curiosity satisfied never a visit to the Crow agency, 76 miles west of here, where the extensive tribe of Crows is holding a big fair. The people have come to the show from all parts of this and the adjoining states. The Crow Indians are probably the only tribe in the United States remaining enough to get up and have their fair grounds constructed on the lines of other associations. Besides an exhibition of all kinds of sports, for which the Indian is famous, there are exhibi-tables for which large prizes are offered. No gambling of any kind is allowed at the fair and the first man caught selling whiskey to an Indian will be very summarily dealt with.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR WILL VISIT TEXAS THIS FALL
Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—Baron Schack Von Sparreberg, German ambassador, has decided to postpone his trip to Texas until autumn. He find-he will not have time this year to make as long a visit as he desires.
Many changes have been made in German consular offices in Texas and the ambassador is anxious to have an opportunity to discover what part the newly established German line steam-

Restores Vigor in Old Age

Mrs. Eliza Scheirer, who lives at Macungie, Pa., and who has passed a very strenuous life, found at the age of 76 some of the old time vigor and energy lacking. She felt that she needed something to give her strength in her declining years. For over a year she has used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic-medicine and has found in it the very thing needed for one at her time of life.

She writes the following and cordially recommends Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to both young and old:

I would say that I am now in my seventy-sixth year. Here I have lived a very active life. About a year ago I began using DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY as a tonic, and I have found it to be a very valuable preventive for young and old. Mrs. Eliza Scheirer, May 6, '06.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

If you wish to keep strong and vigorous and have a pure tonic for the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions, and take no other medicine. It is the only pure malt whiskey ever made, and it is the only one that is made in this country. It is the only one that is made in this country. It is the only one that is made in this country.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist or grocer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal whiskey and is sold only in sealed bottles—never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price $1.00. Medical booklet and doctor's advice free. # WAY TO LIVE AND WORK NOT IS PECULIAR Singular Story of the World's Champion Crust Thrower As He Calls Himself.

68 YEARS OLD AND HAS BEEN IN JAIL 30 TIMES

Customs Service Admitted Racer at Valuation of $1,000 Which Has Won $15,000 Since.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Oct. 24.—Leon Lenoire, a distinguished looking but shabbily dressed vagrant, who is well known to the police and the Tomba magistrates as "Chianti" Lenoire, the crust thrower, has had his usual donation of justice noted out to him, and is now in the hands of the police. The result in all cases was that men and women reached for pocketbooks, and filled the old man's hand with small coins. After a successful performance of this operation women often shed tears, treated him very kindly and promised to get him some light work. But Chianti is adverse to work. On being searched after arrest he was always found to have money in his pockets equal to the weekly pay of a political district leader. "The world's champion crust thrower," as he styles himself, is 68 years old, the son of a distinguished French family. For twenty years he has been a familiar figure in the little cafes of West Broadway, where he was known as "Chianti Lenoire" owing to his fondness for wine of that brand.

Short Sermons are Popular.

It is to be hoped, for the benefit of mankind in general, that the sermon adopted by the Rev. Dr. Parry, pastor of the First Reformed church, Brooklyn, for the delivery of sermons, will be generally followed. At a service recently in his church the orator, "Creation," was rendered, and on succeeding the night Dr. Parry's sermon, which was possibly the shortest ever delivered in this country, was as follows: "Creation. I do not know very much about creation. All that anyone knows about it is contained in the Bible and what scientists tell us. I am satisfied that there was a creation and that it has been satisfactory." What a saying of valuable breath there would be if all public speakers adopted Dr. Parry's style.

Bowery Aristocrat Dead.

Another of the Bowery "aristocrats" has passed away in the person of old Isaac Reuben, aged 83 years, who for the past twenty years sold peanuts up and down the Bowery. Old Reuben during all that time occupied a room in the Bowery lodging house, and was called an aristocrat on account of a certain dignified manner and a tendency to mind his own business. During the long winter nights, after darkness had fallen, he would release his steps to the Bowery.

place his parcel of unsold pencils and parcels of his supper of dry eye bread, and small beer. If he had a long reverie not to be broken unless the proprietor of the Bowery, who was Schenck's only friend, came along. During these sad reveries tears would often trickle down his face, but to no one did he ever breathe his trouble. A few glimpses of his early life, which had been a brilliant young Hebrew, a dreamer, a philosopher, who had been through a great university and knew all about the stars, who was educated for high church honors, but who failed to marry the woman he loved because her parents made her marry a man more practical. He prayed often and fasted much, sometimes of necessity, and when found dead was in an attitude of prayer.

Busy Over a Race Horse.

By attempting to estimate the value of a race horse the treasury officials are preparing a pretty good bit of trouble for themselves. An English steppelander brought into this country and appraised at $1,000, when the import duty was paid, has since $150,000 in money and plate since his arrival in New York recently. The customs officials are perplexed in consequence, and in view of the seeming undervaluation, are preparing to exact from the importer a much higher sum than was paid for the duty on the horse. It is announced that two will be done when the "real value" of the animal is determined, but it is plain that by the time this is determined the cause of the controversy will have long since departed to the house where no horse has returned. A Manhattan mind of the treasury officials will be as muddled as the man who made the famous call that "plan is pie." Last spring a steppelander could not be bought for $200,000. A few weeks later his skeleton was being made ready for the Museum of Natural History, and in the meantime he did not place one penny to his owner's credit. The owner paid $250,000 for a steppelander which has never since earned a cent, as the treasury should make themselves ridiculous in trying to solve the real value of a horse aside from the market price of its hide and bones.

Children Not Rejected.

One New York house owner at least has a soft spot in his heart for the children, for he has opened an apartment house in Harlem, which he has aptly named the Roosevelt House, and has announced his intention of not letting in childless couples. The protests of women that children will be a nuisance to be rejected by their husbands, the owner says he doesn't care whether twins, triplets or quadruplets are brought into the building. Kanule has four children, and when he went to look for a husband, he found that all through searching parrots, monkeys and vicious dogs were admitted, children were not allowed in the better class apartment houses. This set him to thinking, and the result was that he concluded to build a house, and not only that, but would relieve the necessities of others similarly situated.

Pretty Hard on Police.

The discovery that an Italian child, whose parents believed him to have been kidnapped, was kept three days in the room of the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, while detectives searched high and low throughout the city for him, discloses a curious failure in the police system. The society's managers seem to have been blundering in the matter. The child was found on the Brooklyn bridge and taken to a police station full of men who had been specially instructed to look for him. After the most formalities he was sent to the society's refuge. The superintendent of the institution, Mr. J. J. Connelley, told the police to bring to him a child for whom they were in search. His failure to learn who the child was is perfectly natural. The police are in a different case. Their plight would not be so humiliating if a great hubbub had not been made over the boy's disappearance and large rewards offered for his discovery. A considerable number of police had been detailed specially to the hunt and every patrol and the department had heard the general order of interest. The force to watch for him. That he was actually taken to a police station and recognized, and that no policeman ever attempted to identify him as the lost child is to say the least of it, remarkable.

Doctors Act Disgracefully.

The ruthless scrubbing on the part of ambulance surgeons in the case of injured persons requiring treatment has greatly hurt the feelings of the sufferers and their friends many a time in the streets of New York. A distressing case occurred the other day, where a man lay dying in the Chinese quarters, in Pell street, with three bullet wounds in the back, surgeons from two hospitals struggled to take possession of him. Several of his friends took a hand in the affair, and when the ambulance started to drive away some one seized the wounded man and dragged him nearly out of the vehicle. Police officers finally arrived, and directed the removal of the wounded man to a hospital. He was in great pain all the while, and no effort was made during the scrimmage to relieve him in the slightest degree.

Manicures in Street Car.

The spectacle of a woman manicuring her own fingers while attracted the attention of all the passengers of the car on the elevated train on which she was traveling the other day. She was a handsome woman and was busy as if to keep a dinner engagement. Her manicure was done in a very efficient manner, and she was very much pleased with the result. The car was very crowded, and the woman's manicure was a sight to behold. The passengers were all looking at her, and some were even smiling. The woman's manicure was a sight to behold. The passengers were all looking at her, and some were even smiling.

MARKET LETTER

Special Correspondence.

Kansas City, Oct. 22.—There is a big reduction in little receipts today as compared with recent Mondays.

17,000 head here today. The market stood steady all of last week, and is steady to strong today. Grass steers from Kansas and Oklahoma pastures are getting pretty well run out, resulting in a shortage and prices are being paid 25 to 40 cents more for them than two weeks ago.

This condition is encouraging to Colorado and other western shippers, from which about 75 per cent of the stuff still remains to be moved. Country buyers are taking hold freely, and prices on that class remain firm.

Very few cattle from the range are here today, and not many are expected this week, and the market should be good the balance of the week.

CUBAN GENERAL JUST ONE DAY

AMERICAN DRUMMER WAS TO RAISE REGIMENT FOR PALMA IN KANSAS—BUT TAFT ARRIVED AND THAT ENDED IT—GOT BIG PAY.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 21.—Had Secretary Taft, long away from Cuba, Chas. M. Mosher, 62, would now be a picturesque Cuban general at the head of a regiment of rough riders. As it is, he was a general for one day only, and without getting foot outside.

He secured a force of 100 men, and made the chief officer of the territory. He was governor, mayor and superior in all that concerned the population of the island, which is almost wholly American, and he was the guardian of the property interests amounting to many millions of dollars. Aside from Americans the inhabitants include only officials and a small number of native Spaniards.

To secure a force of 100 men, or government the Americans on the island appealed to Taft and Mosher. They asked that the United States settle the existing dispute as to the ownership of the island by taking possession of it, and that the United States requested a government having at least some suggestion of good order and justice.

The island is about thirty by forty miles in dimension. It is rich in natural wealth. It is sixty miles from Cuba, and the population of the island is about 700,000. It is a small island, but it is a very important one.

Members of the island commission who came over to confer with the provisional government, stated that the investments of Americans on the island exceeded $25,000,000. In value, they said, the property on the island was about 700,000, and in water nearly 2,000. They made the point, too, that many other Americans are interested as property owners and that they will go to the island and develop their lands as soon as they are secured the benefits of a government.

According to these men, Cuba has treated the island very much as Spain formerly treated Cuba. Heavy taxes have been levied and the money has gone into the national treasury. A large and expensive force of officers and soldiers was added on the island. No improvements were made. Official power was exercised in an arbitrary and unjust manner.

Case of oppression cited by the islanders included that of an American who filled a lot in the road in front of his property and was arrested for trespassing on public domain. They said $10,000 was appropriated for the education of the few children on the island. There were four schools. One teacher was paid an average of one cent a day, but the others were paid somewhat less. Attendance, American, was sought to take a census of the island were placed under arrest. An attempt was made this year to raise one man's tax from $45 to $625. Threatened and fearful protests on his part led to the cancellation of the proposed increase. It is charged that exorbitant fees have been exacted by officials and that the tax laws have been construed unfairly to the property owners in order to produce the largest possible amount of revenue.

Cuba administered government in this small community at a cost of $37,000 a year. Some of the officials and the salaries they received per month were: Mayor $175, captain of the port $100 and four clerks at $50, $45, $40 and $35, respectively. The salary to the mayor $70, treasurer $35, assistant treasurer $25, special policeman $40 each, judge $150, interpreter $50, stenographer $100, interpreter $50, one deputy at $50, and two others at $25 each. All of this to the island of less than 500 people.

Congress will be asked this winter to decide the question whether the island belongs to Cuba or to the United States. Three years ago President Roosevelt submitted to the senate a treaty giving full title to the island to Cuba. It was negotiated on the ground that both politically and generally the island is properly a part of Cuba. The senate, as the result of a vigorous movement of opposition, however, has not yet acted on the treaty of Major J. E. Raker has refused from ratifying the treaty.

It is contended by the islanders that the treaty of Paris ended to the United States the title of Palma just as it did to the United States. They claim that McKinley, Hay and the war department recognized the island as a part of the United States. It was included in the large map of the United States issued by the interior department. The military department in its customs declaration declared that the island was not a part of Cuba. The plan amendment in 1902 held out the question of the sovereignty of the island for settlement by congress at some future time. Military Governor Wood was ordered to continue the military government in the island of Palma, which left Cuba, but he did not do so and control of the island lapsed to Cuba.

Now the Cubans insist upon holding it. The administration feels that it is right to belong to Cuba. Under the treaty, however, it belongs to the United States. Americans have bought and settled the island, and they are anxious to give them American government.

THE BED-ROCK OF "REFORM"

TO THE VOTERS:
IN COMMON WITH EVERY FREE-BORN AMERICAN CITIZEN, YOU ARE INTENT ON SECURING FOR BERNALILLO COUNTY CAPABLE ADMINISTRATION OF COUNTY OFFICES AND INTELLIGENT REPRESENTATION IN THE TERRITORIAL LEGISLATURE WHICH MEETS IN JANUARY.

THERE ARE TWO TICKETS IN THE FIELD—THE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN TICKET, REGULARLY NOMINATED, AND A SO-CALLED PEOPLE'S TICKET, REPRESENTING THE BOLLING AND DEMOCRATIC ELEMENTS. IF YOU ARE A REPUBLICAN, IF YOU BELIEVE IN THE PRINCIPLES OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT, AND THE POLICY OF UPHOLDING THE EFFORTS OF OUR REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS IN HIS EFFORTS TO SECURE RECOGNITION FOR NEW MEXICO IN NATIONAL COUNCILS, YOUR SYMPATHIES WILL NATURALLY AND LOGICALLY BE TOWARD THE SUPPORT OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

YOU ARE, HOWEVER, COGNIZANT OF THE EXISTENCE OF A SECOND TICKET. YOU MAY HAVE READ ITS LITERATURE AND BEEN APPROACHED BY ITS LEADERS. AS A FAIR-MINDED UNBIASED CITIZEN, YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF AND THE COUNTY TO CONSIDER BOTH TICKETS—TO TAKE THE LISTS OF CANDIDATES HOME WITH YOU AND MAKE YOUR OWN COMPARISONS.

THE PSEUDONYM "PEOPLE'S TICKET" HAS A CAPTIVATING RING. THE SLOGAN OF REFORM, ANTI-GRAFT AND PURE POLITICS IS PLEASANTLY SUGGESTIVE. YOUR EXPERIENCE, HOWEVER, HAS TAUGHT YOU THAT BEFORE ELECTION MOTTOES ARE ONE THING, AND AFTER ELECTION EXECUTION ANOTHER. THAT TALK MAY REPRESENT EITHER GOOD INTENTION OR BLATANT DECEPTION, YOU ARE WELL AWARE. IN A FAIR COMPARISON YOU WILL LAY ASIDE AS SUPERFICIAL, TITLE AND PROMISE, AND DELVE BENEATH THE SURFACE—TO THE PERSONNEL OF THE TICKETS—THE RECORDS AND THE METHODS OF THE MEN FOR WHOM YOU ARE ASKED TO VOTE.

YOU HAVE, NO DOUBT, ALREADY GIVEN THE MATTER YOUR ATTENTION. YOU HAVE SPECULATED MORE OR LESS AS TO YOUR DECISION AT THE POLLS. IF YOU HAVE BEEN INFLUENCED BY "GLITTERING GENERALITIES" MORE THAN BY DETAILED PERSONAL INQUIRY, YOU WILL NOT YET CONSCIENTIOUSLY PLEDGE YOUR VOTE.

IF YOU HAVE INVESTIGATED THOROUGHLY WHAT HAVE YOU LEARNED? IS IT NOT THIS: THAT THE REGULAR REPUBLICAN TICKET STANDS FOR RATIONAL PRINCIPLES, INTELLIGENT SERVICE, FOR STRENGTHENING THE PARTY IN COUNTY AND TERRITORY AT A TIME WHEN A STRONG REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IS ESSENTIAL TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE TERRITORY, AND OUR RECOGNITION BEFORE A REPUBLICAN CONGRESS?

IS IT NOT THAT: THE CANDIDATES ON THE PEOPLE'S TICKET IN REALITY POSE IN ONE ROLE AND ACT IN ANOTHER? THAT THEIR ARGUMENTS OF PURITY AND REFORM BEAR THE BRAND OF INSINCERITY? THAT THEY ARE ENDEAVORING TO WORK YOU WITH AN ACKNOWLEDGED HOAX TO SELFISH ENDS? THAT THEIR PREVIOUS RECORDS AND PRESENT METHODS CANNOT BE RECONCILED BY ANY INTELLIGENT MAN WITH THEIR CLAIMS TO RECOGNITION? THAT TO VOTE FOR THE PEOPLE'S TICKET IS TO WEAKEN A NEEDED REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN THE TERRITORY, AND TO BE DUPED BY FALSIFIED, EASILY CONCOCTED PRE-CAMPAIGN BILLINGS-GATE?

THE MORNING MUDSLINGER'S DAILY OUTPOUR

THE MORNING MUDSLINGER CONTINUES ITS DAILY OUTPOUR OF FILTH AND FALSEHOOD.

THE MUDSLINGER AND "HE ORATORS" OF THE ARMIJO-ROMERO-MARRON COMBINE SPARE NEITHER THE LIVING NOR THE DEAD.

JUDGE CRUMPACKER, DECEASED, WAS NOT PASSED BY, AND JUDGE BAKER COMES IN THIS MORNING FOR HIS SHARE.

TO BE ABUSED AND VILLIFIED BY THIS SHEET IS A DECLARATION OF HONOR TO THE LIVING. I WILL CERTAINLY NOT HARM THE DEAD, HOWEVER, INDECENT IT MAY BE.

MR. CHILDERS IS TAKEN TO TASK FOR BEING THE FRIEND OF JUDGE BAKER. O. N. MARRON WAS AS ACTIVE AS W. B. CHILDERS OR ANYBODY ELSE IN PROTESTING AGAINST THE REMOVAL OF JUDGE BAKER WITHOUT A HEARING ON A LOT OF TRUMPED UP STUFF WRITTEN PRESUMABLY BY F. W. CLANCY AND SIGNED BY J. F. SULZER AND PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL OFFICE.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, AS IS WELL KNOWN, REVERSED HIS ORDER AND AS FAR AS HE COULD DO SO REINSTATED HIM IN OFFICE. ALL THIS GOES FOR NOTHING WITH THE JOURNAL.

MR. CHILDERS AS A LAWYER DOES NOT NEED THE COMMENDATION OF THE MUDSLINGER AS A CITIZEN, A MAN AND A REPUBLICAN, ITS VITUPERATION IS HARMLESS TO HIM.

HIS INDEPENDENCE OF ACTION AND CHARACTER ARE TOO WELL KNOWN TO THE PEOPLE OF THE TERRITORY. WHY AND WHEN HE BECAME A REPUBLICAN IS EQUALLY WELL KNOWN.

HE NEVER COULD BE DRIVEN, COAXED OR PERSUADED TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE JOURNAL CROWD, CLANCY AND THE PSEUDO REFORM CANDIDATES TO ASSIST THEM IN THEIR PERSONAL SCHEMES TO OBTAIN AND RETAIN OFFICE IN BERNALILLO COUNTY.

EVERYTHING AND ALMOST EVERYTHING CONNECTED WITH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN NEW MEXICO HAS IN TURN BEEN BETRAYED AND BELIED BY THE MUDSLINGER.

TO ESCAPE SUCH A SHOWER WOULD SHOW THAT CHILDERS WAS NOT WORTHY OF THE SUPPORT OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY. THIS IS TRUE OF EVERY CANDIDATE ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

A Valencia county deputy sheriff arrived in Albuquerque this morning. W. L. Trimble & Co., dropped dead with a heart attack. The sheriff, who in his stall at the station on North Second street this morning, the receipt of a telegram to Chief of Police McMillan. Giffey is wanted for obtaining goods under false pretenses and the deputy will return with him this evening.

FANCIFUL ETON

In a smart two-piece frock of black velvet, the little coat is a fanciful eton. The front is cut in round scallops, and the back shows the same outline. Below the front scallop depend two deep points of heavy moire in white, embroidered in black and gold soutache. The cape sleeves are held in place by velvet bands.

SMART DRESS

A smart street toilette in mauve with a pinkish hue is made of French lady's cloth. The blouse is trimmed with handsome lace banding and mauve satin. The latter is new in the high grade and is of a deeper tone than either the mousseline or the cloth.

The skirt is mauve and the corset reaches well above the waist line. The panels are heavily stitched and are decorated with the satin and banding. This trimming is repeated on the full puffed sleeves.

Worn with this is a hat of the same subdued mauve tone. It is a small round sailor shape and made of satin. A single rose is set at the front of the crown to hold an immense black feather.

FALL HAT

One of the new fall hats, in deep apple green, has a rounded indented brim, the center front, making a very short brim, which, however, reaches far out behind. Large roses of silver gauze are massed under the brim at the back. A large knot of green mirror velvet set in front holds two dove-colored wings which lay flat against the hat, one on each side.

"BAD MAN" UNDER ARREST FOR SHOOTING. Ramon Sandoval, notorious bad man from the San Juan, was brought to Alameda Tuesday last by deputy Sheriff Pedro Quintana, of that county, charged with having shot at the town of Rosa last Saturday, shooting at everything that came his way.

New York Fashion Letter

New York, Oct. 25.—We women must bow to the law of trimness and style in business and all places where we make a public appearance; therefore, it is all the more pleasurable to feel that we may relax when we enter our own home or room, and at the same time be prettily and becomingly dressed. In fact, some women are really more charming in a house dress or negligee than in a tailor-made costume. As one looks forward to the long evenings and gas-lit breakfast room each evening, one's mind is immediately attracted to there is something about a house dress that makes them especially appropriate, and one is glad to "make one's self easy" after a hard day's work.

Early in the morning is one of the hardest times for the majority of women to look their best therefore much attention must be given to those dresses to be worn in the morning. As a rule they should be bright in color, fit to perfection and of course be in the best of condition. It is a fault of many a woman to think everything will do in the morning and especially the housewife for they argue that they must go housework or look after the same as soon as breakfast is over. Now it is not necessary that these dresses be elaborate but they should be chosen and arranged with great care if made from left-over. Just now when two materials are so popular for use in a costume it will be possible to use two old dresses in making the morning house-gown. Such dresses should be fairly short if the owner has work to do about the house, otherwise it may be trained.

Each woman should give a little attention to her type of complexion and her morning necessities; and if she be pale, choose, or dye the old goods a warm bright color or trim with something that will add color. Again nothing seems to suit many women as a bit of creamy lace about the throat. A pretty gown for the morning was developed from a broken check in a warm colored brown mohair finished with a cream lace chemise. The skirt has seven gores and was laid in two tucks at the join of the seams, which were attached down almost to the knee in "V" and the hips at the back, and machine stitching gave a neat finish to the bottom of the skirt. The waist was made over a fitted lining, with two tucks from the shoulder seam to the waist line; it opened in front with a V finished with a broad lace edging with fancy galleon, and collar edged with fancy galleon, and a pretty Windsor tie of green silk was added of which material was the belt, fastened with a gold buckle. Inside of the V was a cream lace chemise. The sleeves were large and full at the top to follow the elbows giving plenty of room for use of the arms, and a deep cuff finished the bottom. If liked better for work purposes the cuff could be dispensed with and a simple hand edged with galleon could be substituted.

For a house dress constructed from two old gowns one woman used an old green and brown check silk skirt in combination with a second skirt of darker brown; and as these colors in combination are extremely fashionable just now, the result was exceedingly successful. The skirt was in two parts, the upper green skirt, coming to the knees, was developed from the cloth and tucked round of the silk was added. The waist was made in blouse style, loose, with tucks from the shoulders to the bust, full elbow sleeves—all of the cloth, while a front band, a yoke collar, cuffs and belt were of the silk, and the stitching gave a pretty finish where they were applied, and a cream silk tie embroidered in green gave just that touch of completeness.

Often two old skirts may be better arranged as separate skirt and waist. A long black skirt turned and made shorter, and from some fancy material that once served perhaps as an evening skirt will make a pretty blouse.

Many an old dress may be made over, with the addition of some of the very pretty new plaids in either silk or woolen goods now so popular and so easily obtained at any of the shops.

There is one garment that should be in every woman's wardrobe, a long gown, for there is nothing so useful in fit for the tired creature who has tramped the streets all day or been in the street of business since early morning, and it is even to put a little money on it given even if it may be used only a few hours before dinner or even a few moments while one has thrown the body down for a needed rest. It is further rest to know that one looks well even in resting; and more, you are ready for any emergency.

The materials have struck me as particularly appropriate for this garment, figured chilla and the wool batiste, the latter being very inexpensive. A pretty tea gown was developed from blue chilla figured with small dots and dashes in red and green. It had plaids laid in the back from neck to below the hips and stitched tuck-width, and tucks set in the front at the surplus fashion from left to right.

A broad sailor collar is applied to finish the V neck which has inside a lace chemise. Full sleeves come to the elbow where they are finished with a lace band edged with tiny lace frills. A ribbon belt and long tie ends give a finishing touch in a darker shade of the blue.

Embroidered wash voile, lace insertion and edging were the elements that went into the construction of another tea-gown. The fronts which were mounted with a lining, were gathered to a square neck, while the back was closely adjusted to the figure by underarm and side-back gores and a center-back seam; and a rolling collar mounted on a hand finished the neck. The sleeves were full and gathered into the arm-holes, they were also short and having cuffs that turn back over the sleeves were added. The cuffs were in median shape, with a deep bow-headed flounce, and a ribbon gathered the fronts closely to the figure. This mode would be pretty developed in rainy weather, with a yoke of steel lace uniting the material of the wrapper and lining, with a contrasting color, the cuffs should be of the same material, and silk bands might decorate the bottom of the skirt and the waist be drawn in Princess style with a simulated corset of tiny points up and down bands of the same, but in this last arrangement the wearer must be long waisted. An empire finish could be given this same model by arranging the yoke more like that of a bolero and having the gown light fitting except in front.

A house dress suitable for Monday afternoon when none but the family friends are to be present consisted of a skirt and matinee, or jacket. The matinee front and back were gathered to under yoke, which was seamed on the shoulders, as well as under the arms and at the center of the back, which yoke was then covered with a lace bolero of empire style. The rather low neck was finished with a deep pointed collar and a ribbon ran through a belt section of heading at the back drew the fulness in at the waistline. Flowing sleeves having undersleeves of lace were stylish and a change from the usual bishop or elbow variety. The five-gored skirt was slightly gathered at the top and when the straight flounce was used the material should be cut away beneath it. The length of the skirt should just touch all around but it may train slightly if liked better. The model from which this description is given was olive green, cashmere, yellow Irish cricket lace and insertion and black velvet ribbon.

There is a liking for fur bands on the dressy house gowns and one seen last week was developed from dark lavender chiffon lady's cloth with a band of brown fur around the bottom and bands of the same over the tops of the shoulders making a fine contrast against the cream bolero, and fur bands were around the elbows where the lace cuff joined to the full upper sleeve set into the armhole with several rows of gathers.

In the case of using the new sling sleeves the bands of the sling were outlined with bands of fur, indeed the sling sleeve gives more chance for a fancy development than any for some that has been designed.

Aprons are fashionable again and are made with all the care, distinction and decoration that is given to other pieces in my lady's wardrobe. For real work a model showing an empire cut in use, and finished with fancy stitching while serving aprons are they afford just enough to keep the sewing materials from becoming saturated from the color of a dress, and full of little pockets for the various spoons, silk, etc.

CATHERINE MANN FAYZANT.

A ROUND HAT

A round hat with large round crown and drooping brim is made of folds of soft yellow flannel used like brain. Around the brim are set large roses in delicate shade of yellow. A huge feather, shading from cream color to deep yellow, lays along the right side of the crown and falls almost, if not quite, to the shoulder.

STUNNING HAT

For dress occasions as soon as the cold weather begins, a stunning hat of brown velvet with yellow brown plumes has been imported from foreign shores.

The drooping rim is of the mushroom variety, while the crown is the ever popular and becoming tan. The material of the hat is a soft cashmere velvet, the tone being a brown with a decidedly purple tinge. Yellow roses surround the crown, and two immense plumes are set at the left side and are draped well out over the back. These shades from the purplish brown to a delicate creamy yellow.

To be worn with this hat is a full ruche of sulphur yellow maline.

CATTLE RUSTLER IS FOUND GUILTY

A verdict of guilty was handed yesterday by the jury at Las Cruces in the case of the territory vs. Sam Newberry, charged with cattle stealing. This trial has occupied the past three days of court and the jury was out all night. Sentence will be imposed at once. This was the last case on the docket and court adjourned in the evening.

SLATED FOR THE SUPREME COURT

JUDGE H. H. LORTON, OF TENNESSEE, NOW OF THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT, SLATED FOR THE SUPREME COURT TO SUCCEED JUSTICE BROWN.

SOME NEW SLEEVES

Here are some brand new things in sleeves. No. 1.—The short baby puffs are plaited into the armhole and have a full flounce of handsome lace. The long, close-fitting cuffs fall quite to the thumb and are of delicate lace.

No. 2.—A three-quarter length sleeve for a dressy short coat. Effective in pale tinted cloth, with enamel or jeweled buttons. The underpiece is barred in bold squares with black velvet and is edged with a lace frill.

No. 3.—Showing original long coat sleeve, with velvet trimming and square velvet-covered buttons.

No. 4.—Seven-eighths sleeve for use with evening or carriage coat. Shired into arm-hole, drapery drawn into full gold buckle, heavy embroidery cuffs and embroidered under sleeve.

No. 5.—Dainty little arm daisies for evening gown. The upper and lower puffs are held in place by heavy lace insertion and trimmed with tiny bows of ribbon velvet.

LOOK OUT FOR THE NEW WHITE DERBY

King Edward of England and the Prince of Wales are endeavoring just at present to introduce a new fashion in hats for men. They appeared in public in London a few days ago wearing perfectly white derby hats, with black silk bands. The new fashion caught on instantaneously, as every fashion introduced by King Edward invariably does, and London hatmakers are now being swamped with orders for the white derby.

When the present king was Prince of Wales he was always looked upon as the "first gentleman of England," and as such he was responsible for the varying fashions in men's clothes. The royal Britishers faithfully followed his example in the matter of dress, even to the tying of the royal shoelaces and the trimming of the royal beard. Since he became king he has not been too busy to maintain his position as the leader of fashion in the British empire, and everything now introduced by him becomes instantaneously popular.

SNAKE NECKLACES ARE ALL THE RAGE

The woman who would be correct when wearing a desolate gown must wear a golden snake coiled comfortably around her neck, with its head flashing with emerald eyes, rearing exultantly to the hollow of her neck.

And the dictator of fashions is kind to women in the matter of jewelry nowadays, because mock jewels are just as allowable as the real thing. Imitation emeralds and amethysts are the rage now whether worn in barbarous strings about the neck or strutting hair combs or broad tracelists of intricate design.
