"HOLY CITY" ACTORS WERE POISONED

AT GALLUP, WHERE THEY HAD EATEN HEARTILY OF HAM-BURGER STEAK.

Three of the troupe of the Gordon-Bennett, "Holy City" company, suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning at Gallup on Monday evening, says the Republican. It seems the three ate supper together and hamburger steak was a feature of the bill of fare, and each of the three was very sick, as the steak was impure.

The three were sick during the act of the play, but did their parts so well that no one would suspect that they were suffering acutely. After the play one of the leading men went into convulsions and Dr. Couderf was called and administered three hypodermics before the patient received any relief. The other two were not so badly poisoned. They were able to proceed on their way to Albuquerque, although they were in poor condition for travel.

RESULTS TELL.

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Albuquerque.

Kneel told the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of an Albuquerque citizen can be easily investigated.

What better proof can be had? Mr. J. Hall of 619 South First street, Albuquerque, says: "One of my daughters suffered backache for about eight months or a year. Sometimes it was so bad that she was completely prostrated for a day or so at a time. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in our Albuquerque newspaper and thought if they only performed half what they promised they might help my daughter, and we procured a box. In a remarkably short time the medicine took effect and a continuation of the treatment a little longer stopped the backache. We are pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBride Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

TRI-BULLION COMPANY MEANS BUSINESS

W. S. Traylor, head of the Traylor Engineering company of New York, owning and operating the largest mining machinery factory in America, is in the city.

Mr. Traylor arrived from the south this morning and expects to leave for the east tonight.

As chief engineer for the Tri-Bullion Mining company, owning large mining property in the Magdalena district, Mr. Traylor has been in the district for some time.

As the company's largest producing property is at Magdalena, it is more than likely that Magdalena will get the shiner.

"The plans we anticipate building will be no small affair," said Mr. Traylor at the Alvarado this morning. "It will be large enough to reduce to the real stuff all the ore that our mines in the district will produce, and all the rest of the mines in the district, too."

"We are now installing at Kelly, in our mine there, the largest ore hoisting plant to be found anywhere in the west. The Magdalena district is one of the most wide-awake camps in the country, and all it needs to make it boom is a shiner."

CHINESE GO INTO THE BANKING BUSINESS.

New York, Dec. 17.—Great activity prevails at the headquarters of the Chinese Reform association, during the last few weeks. At a largely attended meeting of Chinese in the city, the association, last night, announced that the association, known as the "Chinese Reform News," was a great success and it was decided to extend its operations and produce editions of it in all the principal cities in the states. It was also announced that the construction of the Chinese bank in Mexico was being rapidly proceeded with and that steps were being taken to open branches in all parts of the United States and Canada. The capital stock is $1,000,000 but over half of it has already been subscribed by Chinese merchants.

LONDON'S NEWEST TUBE RAILWAY.

London, Dec. 17.—The new tube railway known as the Great Northern Pictorial and Brompton, was opened for traffic today. It is the longest and most expensive tube line railway in the world. It goes from Finsbury Park to Hammersmith. Holloway to Kingscross, to Russell Square and Tottenham, where a spur line runs down to the Strand and Fleet street. Holloway to Leicester Square and Piccadilly; Dover street, down street (for the tube), Hyde Park Corner; Knightsbridge, Brompton, Earl Court, Barons Court and Hammersmith. By means of the new line it will be possible to get from Waterloo and Charing Cross to Kingscross under cover, thus saving the tedious omnibus journey that has hith

But Sanctity of Home Is Incompatible With the Custom Always and Everywhere.

Wobcholson tells us that among the Greeks "marriage is considered only as a temporary convenience, not binding on the parties more than one year, and the consequent finding that a large proportion of the old and middle-aged men, by frequent changing, have had many wives and their children scattered around the country are unknown to each other." Evidence of such practices is not confined to the Greeks, and considerable arrays are found among many of the other American Indian tribes on both continents.

In parts of Greenland six months is the trial dead line, husband and wife separating if the "two-horns" do not appear in the first three months of harmony. Marriages among the Holocondia, according to Keane, is of a purely temporary nature, "dissolved on the slightest pretext, or without any pretext at all, merely through love of change or caprice." In "Tahiti," says the same writer, "the marriage is a result to a succession of wives." In Samoa the wife's tenure of office is frequently limited entered into for a period of years, and throughout Africa it is the custom of many of the tribes to marry on trial for limited periods. In some cases the wife of the village of the husband to send away his wife as often as he likes. This custom is so widespread that the paternity of the children is generally unknown.

The laws of the ancient Persians, Greeks, Hebrews, Romans, and the Arabs, and the nations of the East at the close of the Roman republic and in the palmy days of the republic divorce was a scandal of colossal proportions. Divorce was often considered sufficient grounds for divorce, which was regarded as a crime. In ancient Persia the leutas used to exchange their wives for food, and in Tonga a husband divorces his wife when dissatisfied with her by simply telling her to go. In Yunnan a man might divorce his wife for the most trivial reasons.

Among some peoples custom has limited the right to separation after trial marriages. Among the Kuku

In eastern Central Africa, if the husband neglects to sew his wife's clothes, she may leave him, and among the Garo people a wife may leave her husband any time she cares to do so.

Among the more advanced nations the wife, as in ancient Mexico, could sue for separation as well as the husband. In Guatemala the wife could end the matrimonial venture upon even as slight grounds as could the husband. China refrains the wife a legal defense, and the law of the Hebrews gave her certain causes upon which she could secure divorce. The ancient Hindus and Teutons would allow the wife to leave her husband only in certain exceptional circumstances, but among the Saxons and Danes in England, according to William of Malmsbury, a wife could be dissolved at the pleasure of either party; the wife, however, being obliged to return the price paid for her if she left her husband without his consent. In most of the Christian states of Europe today the wife is given the same rights as the husband, but in many other countries a judicial adultery must be proved against the husband, and similar conditions are labor, for they recognize that the problem of what the country is going to do with millions of children in the emergency dispositions of life, health, and education, is such a serious, and a very serious one. Professor H. S. Melendy stated that an urgent case for the organization of the national committee came from the south which was the greatest sufferer, and Georgia was the last state to pass a law prohibiting child labor. The law, however, was a very sorry affair, did not go far enough, and although interested in the matter, Governor Folk's statement that President Roosevelt was giving the association his active co-operation elicited prolonged applause. The Hon. J. H. Morum, Inspector of workshops and factories said the labor unions were who were their chief allies. Dr. Felix Adler, who is leader of the society for ethical culture, and professor of social and political ethics in Columbia university, delivered the annual address. His subject was "the child in history." The evils of child labor and the power of the public to prevent it," was the subject of an extremely interesting address by Governor Folk. Mr. Miss a shock by his many friends and followers, for although it was known that he had been ailing for the past three or four years, his brother thought he was convalescing. Death came at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning while mass was being said in the chapel of the Jesuit Fathers.

Rev. Father Joseph A. Hart, D.D., was born in Italy, January 1, 1839, and joined the Society of Jesus in the year of 1857. He came to New Mexico about thirty-four years ago and has spent them all in Las Vegas. This is the only town in the diocese to which the Rev. Father Catholics, a Catholic publication, and was a genius in the typographical art.

It is said by those he employed in the printing department that he would find a place for everything and everything was kept in its place.

He was a familiar figure on the streets of Las Vegas, always dressed in the regulation robes of the order and was well known to all who referred to him as a saintly man; always good and kind and willing to lend helping hand to those who were good" in all respects. Each member of the cast was seen in spectacular, a high order, and there was not a disgruntled dancer in the company. The club's owners, who had no previous experience, granted much favorable comment, and the theatergoers understood the meaning of "what's one loss is another's gain." On occasion of a warehouse fire, the company had to leave the city in a hurry, but the club had made arrangements to remain here and present a high-class vaudeville show at the Dorrie apartment. Instead of "laying off" Victor, the club had a new attraction in the form of his newly musical act. Clyde Long will be seen as well as his band in an eccentric wooden shoe dance and will be assisted by the talented up-to-date actress, Sally O'Connell.

Brothers, H. C. Turner will offer up-to-date monologues. Leon and Bertie Allen (the latter the whimsical sophisticate with the company), present another sketch fully the equal of its predecessor. The club's management have been attracted and the program will conclude with the laugh-producers "Strings and Springs," making a

Mr. Josiah Zeitlin, 74, died old July, 1900, his daughter, M. Brooklyn.

Mr. Zeitlin was a business man in Poland, 1882 he returned to his country.

He says Malt Whiskey saved his life, and he wants to restore it to the old people.

He writes:

"Although I am 74 years old now, I still feel like a young man. I was born in Poland, and after a lengthy business career I came to this country. I found my daughter, Pure Malt Whiskey, and it very soon helped me to live to be the very man I am now. I restore their fallacy."

—Josiah Zeitlin, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Zeitlin is a man of great energy and vigor. He is a native of Poland and was one of the first to come to this country. He has been a successful business man and a prominent member of the community. He is now 74 years old, but he still feels like a young man. He attributes his health and vitality to the use of Pure Malt Whiskey. He believes that this drink is a great tonic and a restorative for the aged. He wants to see it restored to its former popularity among the old people.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic, builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the brain, strength and elasticity of the muscles and enriches to the blood. It brings back to all the vital forces and enables you to get from the food you eat the nourishment it contains. It is invaluable for overworked and nervous people, for it is a food, really distilled. It is essential for the system, and a promoter of health and longevity keeps the young strong. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fuel oil and is the only whiskey that is so pure as to be medicinal.

Bold by all druggists and grocers, or direct, in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Price $1. Insist on "Old Chemical Trade-Mark" on the label. Beware of refilled bottles and spurious malt whiskey substitutes. Beware of cheap imitations. They are positively harmful and will not cure. Medical booklet and doctor's advice free. Write for it. Address: Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Wm. Rockefeller's Big Private Park Chokes Life Out of Brandon Town

STORY OF OLIVER LAMORA, WHO BUCKED THE MILLIONAIRE IN THE HIGHEST COURTS OF NEW YORK — FORTY-ONE ARMED GUARDS CHASE TRESPASSERS OFF 52,000 ACRES OF POSTED LAND.

(By Maren E. Pew.)

Brandon, N. Y., Dec. 15.—The death knell is in the throat of poor, ramshackle Brandon. This desolate little American village, high up in the Adirondacks, once the heart of bustling activity, is fast preparing to give up the ghost, thus ending a five-year feud with Wm. Rockefeller, one of the world's richest men.

The court of appeals at Albany, handed down a decision the other day in the case of Wm. Rockefeller, plaintiff, vs. Oliver Lamora, defendant, sustaining the opinion of the supreme court that Oliver Lamora had thrice been guilty of setting his rheumatic feet upon a few yards of Wm. Rockefeller's 52,000 acres of Adirondack this is the way he told it to me:

The Veteran's Lament.

"I left the army an invalid and a few years later the government gave me a pension of $34 a month which I still receive, never having been able to work. I set up my home here in Brandon, this very house that we now occupy. This became the liveliest lumbering town in the mountains. We have seen good and happy times here.

"Seven years ago, in the midst of our prosperity, Wm. Rockefeller came into these parts and bought property around Bay Pond. He extended his holdings to our town line, and before we knew it, he had bought out the lumber camp. Business ceased. That "There is no justice in this verdict against me, Rockefeller's property being the forest preserves owned by the state of New York. Streams that run through the state preserve also run through Rockefeller's so-called 'private park.' Rockefeller's superintendent put salt blocks all over the preserve to attract the deer from the state land. The fish I was catching when I was arrested in Rockefeller's place were propagated in hatcheries that the state operates at the interest of sportsmen, at a cost of $25,000 per annum.

Dismantling a Village.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Dec. 15.—Three learned judges of the Appellate division of the supreme court have been called on to decide the case of a deceased man on his "wake." Joseph McCullough, the legatee, under his uncle's will, objected to an item of $71.25 for the "wake." But counsel for the executors argued that a wake was a funeral custom, and that the custom of a wake is so well established that it should be allowed as proper funeral expenses. He added that the custom of a wake is so well established upon the authority of standard authorities and books of reference, "Webster's International Dictionary" defines a wake as "a sitting of persons with a dead body often attended with a degree of festivity," and Lever and all other well known Irish writers vented ridicule on the custom, however, without effect. There is no death in Ireland, even in the most poverty stricken families, without a wake.

Black Hand Extends Operations.

The field of operations of the "black hand" is extending. Where formerly only Italians were victims, Americans are now daily complaining of the attentions of the "black hand" gang. Quite recently a prominent broker in the city received a demand for $20,000 and the broker who accepted the letter was very suggestive, and was, no doubt, the work of an Italian artist. The sketch is that of a bird flying in its beak an oblong object upon which was written "20,000," and the bird was holding a box in its talons. The broker is directed to deposit the money demanded. Around the bird are rows of daggers to indicate its fate if it does not leave the pocket of money in the box. The police now state that in blackhand cases, successfully worked in the city about which a report is never made. Detective Sergeant Petrosini, of the Italian detective staff, says the laws of the city make convictions almost impossible in blackhand cases. The blackhanders have their lawyers, and when one gets into trouble, money, the best legal advice, and a horde of men ready to perform themselves on the witness stand are prepared in his defense. They live on blackmail first as their food. At the time the Boston Kings ruled in southern Italy. To strike at the Italian religious festivals, and they are legion, would be to strike at the root of the "black hand" gang. When the feast day of a saint comes on, the "black hand" gang come out and make every Italian give five cents for the shrine and altar, and they cost, say $10.00 and keep $9.00. In any other city in the world, but an American such gang of criminals would be rooted out in twenty-four hours.

Here Who Died in Poverty.

Cavale McManus, a young Irishman and hero of the Sluagh district, has been saved from burial in the pauper's field by some poor Irish friends of his. At the time the Sluagh was buried she was an attendant in the hospital at North Brother Island. She had just come off duty and was walking along the sea wall when the burning steamer came up the river. When women and children were hurled into the water this brave girl ran to the end of the island. She was a strong swimmer, and as she braved the choppy waves, she saw a child sink. She dove and brought the little one ashore where others cared for it. After saving seven persons in this manner she fell exhausted and had to be taken to the hospital herself. For several days she was in a critical condition but recovered. Her body was laid upon her for bravery. Mayor Hendon gave her a certificate for heroism and Congress voted her a bronze medal. Testimonials from foreign rulers were also received by her and one of them, from the Emperor of Germany, was found in the hospital in which the poor girl died. But this great attention soon died out and she was forgotten. Two weeks after the disaster she married James Craig, a "stevedore Jack." Later she became ill and all Craig's earnings were spent in doctors' bills. The end came when she died in the hospital. There were very few at her funeral and her history and gallant deeds are already forgotten.

Beggars Try Many Tricks.

The New York police mendicancy squad have again been restored and not a bit too soon for a quarter of the population seems to be living by begging and panhandling. Two thin, old, hunched men came marching and the other three years, and both shivering with cold, were the ragged with which a woman beggar worked on the sympathy of the people in a fashionable street the other day. The suffering little ones excited sympathy. Hour after hour the woman walked up and down the street, the little ones crying in the biting wind, and occasional snow flurries. Children's society agents spoke to her and she commenced a trade of abuse against them. They took her to the police station and there satisfied the minds of the indifferent persons who followed to protest at the arrest by taking almost a handful of silver and copper from the woman's pockets. She had no less than $4.50 in small change and admitted that she "rented" the children for begging purposes. The police are now determined to clear the streets of all classes of mendicants and especial watch will be kept in the great shopping districts during the coming holiday season. James Purkes, who is in charge of the mendicancy bureau of the charity organization society states that during the past week the number of beggars in the city has increased by four hundred per cent.

Destitution Rapidly on Increase.

Mendicancy conditions have assailed the city and the outlook for the very poor is anything but pleasing. All the east side tenements are largely overcrowded, rent high and food supplies more expensive than ever. To help to mitigate the sufferings of the poor during the coming dark days the New York association for improving the condition of the poor is working with a will. The work last year was the largest in its history. According to the president, R. Fulton Coffin, in order to relieve distress due to sickness, accident, death, loss of work, and similar causes, 2,927 families, representing 11,909 individuals were given prompt and adequate aid in their homes. In addition, 2,697 homeless men and women were helped largely through the collection application bureau. Fresh air relief was given to 23,000 over-crowded of those most run down, receiving an average of ten days rest, good food and stimulating change. The great and important service, not only to the individual, but for the city, is a wholly nonsectarian and dependent upon voluntary gifts. The association deserves all the help it asks for and it is to be hoped the appeals will not go unanswered.

Novel Way of Advertising.

A novelty in the way of "window men" has been seen around Times Square during the past week. The "professor," as he calls himself, parades Broadway in evening clothes and an opera hat. His dress shirt is a brilliant white, which shows a spotless white bosom when at rest. In a crowd, however, the professor presses a cuff button which shoots an electric sign in red which shows through the shirt bosom.

BRUTAL MURDER OF NEWSBOY IN THEATER

Chicago: Angered because a newsboy sitting behind him vigorously applauded an act not to his liking, John Dunne, aged 50, said to be a state trooper, tonight jabbed the chest of a little boy, aged 10, the newsboy, and killed him.

The tragedy was enacted in the gallery of the Majestic theater while comedy reigned in the stage down in front.

The victim, suffering most intense pain, was hastily taken to the county hospital, but died as he was being lifted from the ambulance.

The steel point of the umbrella had penetrated the brain.

Koma, the newsboy, was of Jewish extraction and small for his age. He had enjoyed the vaudeville performance immensely and was generous with his applause to the extent that he annoyed Dunne very much.

The latter warned Koma once or twice to be more moderate in his applause and the third time turned and swiftly poked the umbrella in the boy's back. There was a gasp of horror and the injured boy was hastily removed by the ushers.

The audience thought it a small quarrel and the play went on without knowledge that murder had been done up in the dimly lighted gallery.

Dunne was arrested by Officer Howard Wacker and taken to the theater. He said the boy annoyed him by applauding a "turn" he did not approve of and to chastise him he jabbed him with the umbrella.

The ferrule was sunk into the boy's left eye to the depth of three inches, piercing the brain.

FEMALE SUFFRAGISTS CAUSE MORE DISTURBANCE

London: The female suffragists made another attempt Thursday to hold a meeting within the precincts of the house of commons, and as a result five women and one man were arrested after an exciting fight with the police.

The gathering was arranged by the women workers of Manchester and East London. The police were taken unawares, and some women got within the entrance to the house before their object was detected. When the police finally barred the entrances, the women tried to hold their meeting in the palace yard. Constables were summoned to eject them.

The women fought wildly, scratching and kicking the officers, but were eventually compelled to give away. Those who persisted in relating were carried screaming to the nearest police station. A contest raged between Great Britain and the United States is signed.

GOOD ADVANCE IN LEAD AND COPPER

New York: Lead prices were advanced Thursday from 3 1/2 cents a pound to 6 cents a pound. This is the highest price in many years.

Notices of the advance in lead prices were received by the American Smelting and Refining company.

Copper prices were also advanced fractionally and the highest price for electrolytic copper since the Secre corner was reached. Electrolytic copper sold yesterday at 23 cents a pound and sales at that price were made.

COLORADO HORSE PROVES GREAT EUROPEAN WINNER

Denver: A couple of years ago, Olin Bolton of this city sold the Silver Throne horse, Kirkwood II., to Italian owners. Since that time the Colorado horse has been winning regularly in European races. His latest victories are told in the following: Kirkwood Jr., 2:10, won two more races recently at Milan, Italy, Nov. 8, he beat Olin 2:10, 2:10, and Olin 2:10, in the Premio Torino, and on Nov. 15, he beat Olin 2:10, 2:10, and Olin 2:10, in the Premio Roma. In the former he trotted heats of 1:50, 1:50, and 1:50 (about 37 yards) over a mile in 2:10, 2:10, 2:10. Contrary

KID MCCOY TO CHANGE HIS LINE OF BUSINESS

New York: Norman McCoy, who is known as "Kid McCoy," has found that the diamond and jewelry business is not to his taste, so it was announced today that he has retired from his position as president, director and stockholder of the Norman Selby company, which last year opened a store at No. 1503 Broadway. It is added that he will soon enter the automobile trade, probably at Decatur.

IRRIGATION COMMISSION HOLDS SESSION

Members at Work on a New Law—Other Matters of Interest.

The territorial irrigation commission met yesterday pursuant to adjournment from Thursday, Chairman A. N. Pratt, of Corvallis, presiding. The other members present were Arthur Peigman and David M. White, of Santa Fe; James E. McCarthy, of Farmington, and Higinio Chavez, of Roswell, commissioner of the Public Lands. A. A. Koon was at his post as ex-officio secretary.

Little was done at yesterday's session excepting the transaction of routine business such as the auditing of accounts. The meeting adjourned yesterday afternoon, whereupon the committee appointed to draft a new irrigation law was organized. This committee has been authorized to meet from day to day until the bill which it is proposed to have enacted into law at the coming session of the legislative assembly has been completed.

Attorney Charles F. Easley appeared before the commissioners yesterday and submitted the formal application of H. C. Abbott for the location and selection of 3,280 acres of land on behalf of the territory, located in township 25 north, ranges 24 and 25 east. He requested that this be substituted for the application which has been pending before the territorial irrigation commission for some time and not yet passed upon, and that the rate offered per acre be changed from 15 cents, as stated in the original application, to 1 cent.

At Thursday's session the secretary also submitted to the board a communication from the commissioner of public lands transmitting the application received from H. C. O. Burns in proper form for the location and selection of land on behalf of the territory of 6,240 acres of land in Socorro county, stating that if said application met with favorable consideration he would be pleased to recommend to the United States land commission the selection of said land as being valuable land for the territory to acquire and own in years to come.

On motion it was decided that all applications pending for the location and selection of land be deferred until the next meeting in order to allow the secretary ample time in which to prepare an abstract of all applications as heretofore authorized. The following resolution was then adopted:

Inasmuch as there is doubt as to whether this board has an authority to act in the recommendation of the selection of land for leasing, persons granted to the territory by act of congress of June 21, 1898, for the improvement of the Rio Grande in New Mexico, and for water reservoirs for irrigation purposes, that any action on the part of this board be deferred until its next regular meeting, and that the secretary of this board be and is hereby instructed to request an opinion from the honorable attorney general of New Mexico on the point involved.

The following is the financial statement of the territorial irrigation commission as submitted by Secretary Koon:

Balance on hand as shown by two balances of the meeting of June 15, 1905, to credit of water reservoirs for irrigation purposes, income fund, $2,891.10.

Less vouchers numbered 24 to 26, inclusive, ordered paid at meeting of June 15, 1905, $2,895.73; total, $2,305.37.

Less vouchers drawn by David M. White, territorial auditor, for salaries, and on file with and paid by the territorial auditor, from June 30th to September 30th, 1905, inclusive, $1,159.44; total, $1,445.33.

Less 10 per cent of all moneys derived from lands granted to the territory of New Mexico for water reservoirs for irrigation purposes and for the improvement of the Rio Grande in New Mexico, credited to the "Rephand Butte Water Users' Association of New Mexico," in accordance with chapter 57, laws of 1905, from March 13, 1905, $153,300 total, $366.33.

Amount deposited with territorial auditor by the commissioner of public lands, $793.

Amount on hand to credit of water reservoirs for irrigation purposes, income fund, $60.

Improvement of the Rio Grande in New Mexico income fund, $62.32.

Improvement of the Rio Grande in New Mexico permanent fund, $1,922.84.

The secretary stated that there was on file with the No. 50) cashier's check of the First National bank of Santa Fe, No. 6726, $300.

PLANS FOR THE PHILIPPINE ASSEMBLY.

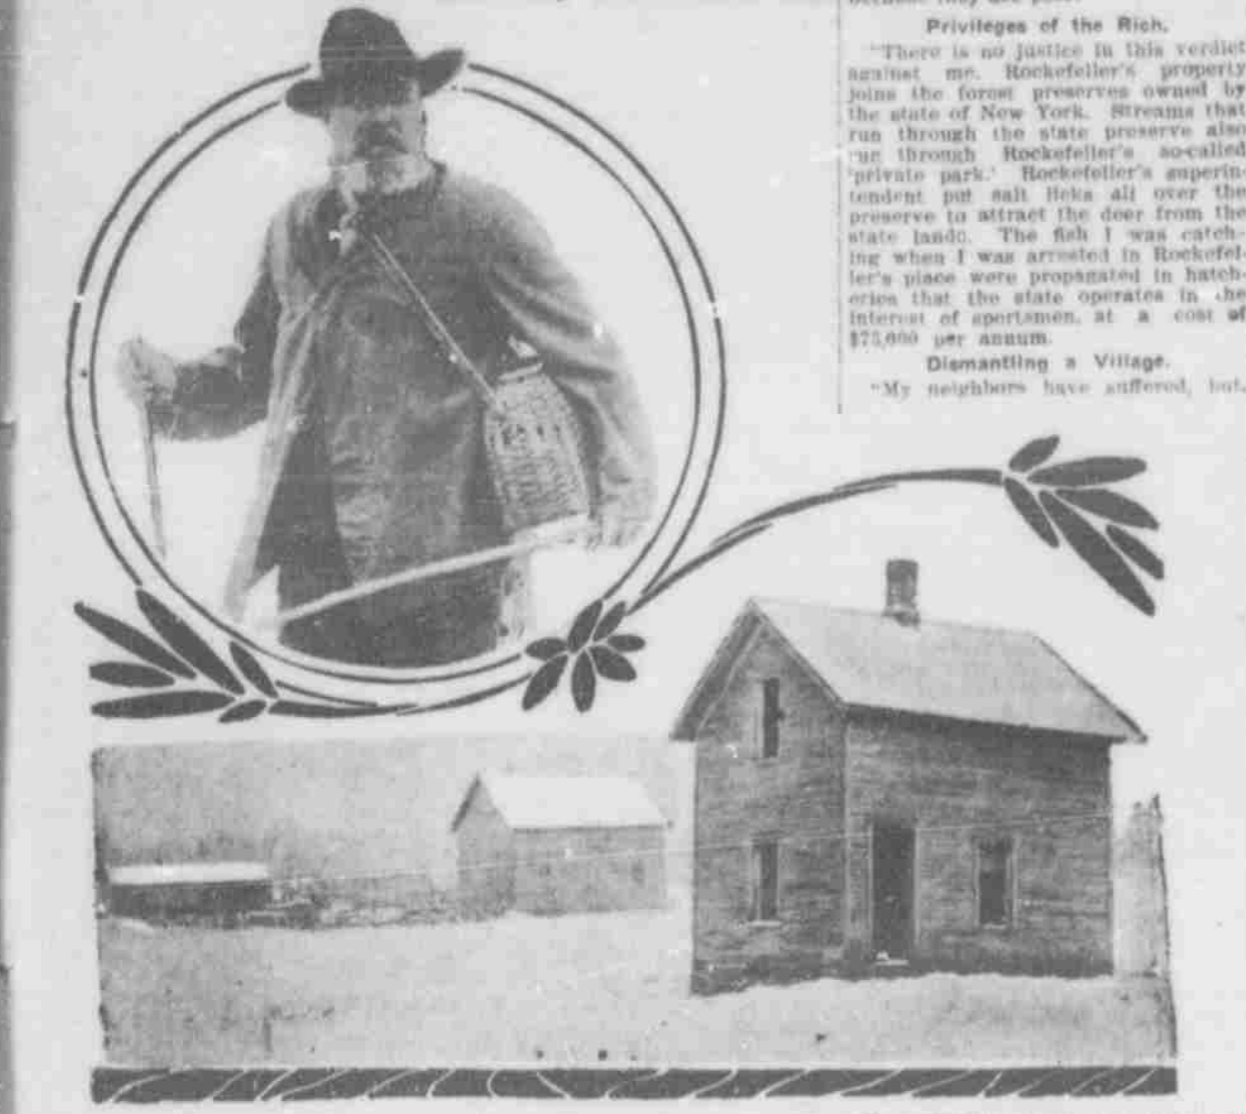

Washington, Dec. 17.—According to the proposed election law the coming Philippine assembly will consist of eighty-one members, each representing a population of 30,000. Today it was announced that the election would be held on July 1, 1907, and that the assembly would convene ninety days after the election. The delegates will be granted constitutional immunities and can hold an office. The assembly will make its own rules and elect a speaker and recorder.

property, and that said Oliver Lamora was therefore, liable to forfeit to Wm. Rockefeller the sum of 15 cents, cents for each offense and pay the costs of the action.

No one in Albany paid much attention to this apparently trivial action. What are 18 cents lost or gained by Wm. Rockefeller. But the decision caused a panic in the town of Brandon. It spoiled awful defeat in the minds of those long-tongued people.

The Deserted Village.

On what used to be the main street of Brandon, Oliver Lamora, a decrepit veteran of the civil war, who stood with his back to the street, and his head bowed, and his hands clasped in prayer, was seen Lee surrendered, lives with his family in a neglected and weather-beaten house. Stretching away on every side are the hulks of the houses that once made Brandon a prosperous and pretty village. To the south are the decayed remnants of the old Baptist church. The school house is rotten at its foundations. The Catholic church looks as if it would tumble in. Louis Robit laid still runs the Brandon hotel and tavern, but his trade is small and he is in debt. The depot is closed and boarded up. Seventeen persons, the last of the inhabitants of a harassed town, continue to inhabit the half dozen little cottages they purchased years ago with their savings, or built with their own hands.

Desolation reigns.

Lamora knows the whole story and was a blow, for many people left the town.

"One fellow, who said he was a lawyer, came to me. He said: 'Mr. Rockefeller doesn't want any people living around here. What will you sell your property for?'

"I said: 'I want to live here, but I will sell for $1,500.' He took an option for three weeks. When he returned he said the price was too high. I asked him to bid. He refused and then said: 'You had better make a reasonable price or we will law you out.' I told him to go ahead and I would give him the right of his life. I then raised my price to $500.

Arrested For Trespass.

"One day I went down to the St. Regis river for trout, walked along a trail which had been an open highway for thirty years until Rockefeller bought the property. Rockefeller had armed guards patrolling his place. One of them came up to me and ordered me off. I refused to go. I was arrested, charged with trespassing. Three times I went on this land and three times I was arrested.

"When the case came up in the justice court I was dismissed. Rockefeller had New York lawyers to push me to the wall, but I had my savings from my pension. Then Rockefeller appealed to the county court and I beat him again. Then he carried the case to the supreme court and I was commanded to pay him not more than

MIERA WILL ANSWER CATRON'S CONTENT NOTICE.

Councilman elect E. A. Miera, of the Sixth district composed of Santa Fe and Sandoval counties, whose seat in the legislative assembly is being contested by T. R. Catron, has filed his answer to the notice of contest with Mr. Catron, and testimony will be taken before Justice of the Peace Jose Ma. Garcia, at Santa Fe. The hearing had been set for yesterday but was postponed until today at the request of Mr. Catron. Miera in his answer asserts that he was legally elected to the position of councilman, and charges the contestant with collusion in altering republican ballots in Santa Fe.

having no income, many of them have had to submit. Rockefeller has paid his own price for their homes and they have been driven out. He paid as low as $150 for houses that I don't suppose could be built today for $1,000. He tried to buy the Catholic church, but the priest refused. He tried to close down the school, but we have kept it open, even if there are only a few children to attend. He tried to have the hotel keeper refuse a liquor license, but had no ground upon which to base his objection. His agents try to trick the hotel proprietor into violations of the liquor laws. He now threatens to change the course of the railroad, so that this town will be cut off."

Rockefeller Shuns It.

When Rockefeller journeyed to Bay Pond in his special car the army of guards are drawn up about the lodge. They keep guard night and day over the millionaire, or two years, after the mysterious murder of his millionaire neighbor, Orlando P. Dexter, who was shot through the back by an unknown assassin as he was leaving his hunting lodge. Rockefeller did not visit the Adirondacks. For him self he gets very little out of his great possession, but he frequently sends parties of friends up to the mountains. Young Poor Rockefeller spends a good deal of his time on the magnificent place.

PROMINENT HORTICULTURIST DIED IN MISSOURI.

News has been received in the territory of the death of John P. Wilelandy, a former well known resident of Santa Fe and at one time state horticulturist of Missouri. Mr. Wilelandy died on December 6 at St. James, Mo.

The deceased lived in Santa Fe for about ten or twelve years. He established the fruit ranch near that city, which was purchased from him about a year ago by David L. Miller. At the time of his demise he was 76 years of age. He was a native of Germany. There survive him two sons, Paul J. Wilelandy and Frank H. Wilelandy, and Miss Ella Wilelandy. The sons are prominent business men of St. Louis, officials of the Blackwell-Wilelandy Book and Stationery company.

Mr. Wilelandy left Santa Fe soon after disposing of his fruit ranch. His son went to Corpus Christi, Texas. From there he returned to St. James. He was an authority on matters horticultural and was a frequent contributor to newspapers and horticultural magazines.
