REVOLUTION IN MEXICAN BORDER TOWN PUT DOWN IN QUICK TIME

Juarez Is Quiet After the Sudden Revolt of the Garrison; 50 Revolutionists Still at Large.

MURGUIA RESPONSIBLE, GEN. MENDEZ STATES

Battle Lasts Two Hours and Disloyal Forces Are Put to Flight; Fiscal Guards Fight Bravely.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 30.—While loyal federal troops searched the hills around Juarez tonight for the rebels still uncaptured, the sudden revolt of the garrison this morning, reinforcements from the south were hourly expected, American and Mexican patrols on both sides of the line were waiting for the border to be reopened. It was reported that groups of revolutionists in El Paso were preparing to cross the boundary.

The town of Juarez was quiet, small groups of Americans visited the city. American customs officials announced the bridges would remain open until midnight at least.

"Murguia is responsible for this," General J. J. Mendez, commander of the Juarez garrison, declared. "I have reports that General Manuel Gutierrez was at the bottom of this, although Captain Valverde appears on the surface to be the leader."

Say They Are Loyal. "The Forty-third regiment had revolted, at quarter past four the general hurried to the military headquarters on Lerdo avenue where he found a captain and fifteen men of the Forty-third on guard duty."

"General, we are loyal," the captain declared. And they remained true to their word throughout the events that followed.

"I had received a tip in the meantime that a party of revolutionists would attempt to rush across the international bridge in automobiles from El Paso," the general continued. "So I immediately hurried to the bridge."

"The Forty-second cavalry quartered at the fort. When I found that they would remain loyal, I ordered 20 to guard the bridgeheads, while five more men on guard duty, while five more men on guard duty, while five more men on guard duty."

"Then the garrison consisted of not in touch with Captain Valverde by telephone."

"What is going on up there," he demanded.

"Well, general, we have decided to revolt," the captain replied.

"You know what that means. If you take this action you will regret it," the general warned the rebel leader.

"I don't give a damn what happens. I have declared a revolution," Captain Valverde declared.

The end of the conversation.

Communication Severed. "Cut off from telegraphic communication with Chihuahua City, General Mendez hurried to El Paso where he sent telegrams to Mexico City, San Antonio and General Eugene Martinez, commander of the northern military zone."

"You will find me in Juarez when you arrive. I will remain until death, if necessary," the general's message to the commander read.

As the rebels moved towards the customs house, machine gun fire was directed at the loyal force commanded by General Mendez.

The fight lasted for two hours. Despite the advantage they had in possession of the machine guns, the rebels could not dislodge the loyal army.

Federal forces poured a deadly fire into the ranks of the enemy from roof top and advanced positions facing the railroad yards.

Fighting of fiscal guards was especially spectacular, General Mendez declared.

"Some were mounted, while others were on foot," he said. "And how those boys used their guns was wonderful to behold."

RICARDO ALARID IS NAMED FOR SHERIFF BY SANTA FE G. O. P.

Santa Fe, Sept. 30.—Following is the list of candidates for the position of sheriff by the republican county convention:

ANOTHER GREAT WAR THREATENS EUROPE, STATES BORAH

Borah Declares the Situation Abroad Is the Result of Imperialistic Policies and Intrigue.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Another great war cloud hangs over Europe, United States Senator William B. Borah, of Idaho, declared today in an address before the Press club of Chicago. He declared the situation was the result of imperialistic policies and intrigue and said he was in favor of telling England and France that their policies were condemned by the conscience of the Christian world and that "you shall find no sympathy or succor in this quarter of the globe."

"We are now being deluged with statements by those who would have us put our soldiers behind the imperialistic policies of Europe," the senator said. "Haven't we codified Europe long enough? Europe needs to be told the facts and that is that she is the author of her own ruin."

After the world war, the senator charged, "the white race, the Christian race, began to shoot and kill and murder the people of Syria and Mesopotamia and Egypt and India and made ready to exploit their oil fields and their natural wealth." He declared it was a story of "treachery nowhere surpassed in the history of wars."

After promises of liberty and independence. The result, he said, was that all Islam was aroused, of which he said, "the Lord alone can tell the consequences."

"I think something can be done," he said. "I think the Christian world can raise its voice in behalf of justice to those people against whom we are now asked to prepare for war."

BOY BANDITS, 14 YEARS OF AGE, STAGE ROBBERY

Arrested in Clovis Shortly After Burglary of Store, They Describe the Plan of Warning.

Clovis, N. M., Sept. 30.—"Turkey in the Straw" time honored dance, served a new purpose here last night when the lookout of five boy bandits was to whistle the famous Arkansas song as a signal should any one approach while they were robbing Hunter's second hand store.

The lookout stood in front of the Hunter store while his four companions, none of them over 14 years old, broke a rear window and stole several automobiles, coats, guns, and money from the cash drawer.

Arrested within an hour of the robbery, all but one of the boys confessed and were placed in jail. The loot was recovered from a hiding place behind a garage. One of the boys was released from New Mexico reformatory about a year ago.

AMERICAN FLAG CARRIED BESIDE FLAG OF GREECE

Troops Believed the Stars and Stripes Would Bring Them Good Luck; Lean Towards a Republic.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (by the Associated Press).—An American flag was carried beside the Greek colors to every Greek division which took the field against the Turks, according to Alonso Wilson, national director of the Near East Relief, who has returned from a tour of Asia Minor which included Smyrna.

"I learned this from several prominent Greeks," said Mr. Wilson. "The troops carried the American colors for luck, and they had extremely bad luck. Nevertheless, their choice of a tallman indicated the men's respect for America and its republican form of government."

"The soldiers' leaning toward a republican form of government characterizes the majority of the Greek morale. Poverty and the low rate of exchange contributed to the discontent. The withdrawal of 50,000 troops from around Smyrna to Thrace, where I saw many of them, gave the Turks their opportunity."

"Infidel Smyrna" is the Moslem name for the city, because "three-fifths of its population are Christians, exclusive of the Near East Relief Smyrna," is the only survivor of the seven churches of Asia addressed in the book of Revelation. When I saw Smyrna last summer it was a beautiful city of 500,000 inhabitants.

It has been the principal trading port of the Levant. A short time ago nobody anticipated the disaster.

"Constantinople and several large cities of India are threatened by Moslem riots which may flame into an extensive 'holy war.' The only thing which will save the European quarter of Constantinople from a fate like Smyrna's will be the control of that city by the allies."

"Many of the 25,000 girls who were reported kidnapped at Smyrna were college-trained and as beautiful as American girls. Before they were taken to the Near East Relief life rescued 125,000 Christian girls throughout Turkey."

PAVING BLOCKED ON TWO STREETS BY CAR PROBLEM

Three Commissioners Refuse to Vote for Improvements Involving Assessment of City Electric.

Last night's paving protest hearing held by the city commission brought out three points of interest to the residents of Albuquerque.

First—The City Electric company is expected to enclose the city commission from placing liens against its property for the paving of the street car right-of-way on North Second street.

Second—At least three of the commissioners will vote against the paving of streets on which the street car tracks are laid until the courts have decided whether the City Electric company may be compelled to pay for the paving of its right-of-way.

Third—Should the paving of South Edith street be ordered, the stipulation that the street car company pay a part of the costs, it is more than likely that the tracks will be removed from that thoroughfare.

The meeting also showed that a large majority of the property owners on South Edith, West New York avenue, and the Luna circle want those streets paved, and if it were not for the vexatious problem of the street railway, the improvement could be ordered.

Swope Makes Statement. Commissioner Swope said he opposed the ordering of the paving on South Edith street until the courts had ruled on a legal action he declared the City Electric is going to bring to protest the issuance of liens against it for the paving of its right-of-way on North Second street. This action is to be brought, he said, "in about a month."

Despite the fact that the city has agreed to allow the asphaltic penetration mix type to be used between the rails instead of concrete, as first specified, this was a concession to the car company.

Commissioner Hughes declared he would not vote for paving on any more streets where car lines are laid for the reason that the City Electric company already owes so much for paving as he feels it should be allowed to owe. Mr. Hughes said the problem is not confined to Albuquerque alone, but has been met with in large cities, and in Denver, he declared, it broke the Tramway company. He said the company's books for 1921 showed a substantial loss, and that "it is not fair to ask the city to pay for one of our streets."

Commissioner Tingley said he would not vote for paving on any more streets where car lines are laid for the reason that the City Electric company already owes so much for paving as he feels it should be allowed to owe. William Wilcox, an interested property owner, said he had understood the City Electric had paid a dividend last year.

400,000 PEOPLE FACE DEATH IN THE NEAR EAST

Refugees, Crazed by Hunger, Throw Themselves Into the Sea; Situation Is Said to Be Desperate.

Constantinople, Sept. 29 (Friday by the Associated Press).—Wireless messages to the American embassy and reports received by the Associated Press from Smyrna, Saloniki, Rodosto and Chios show that thousands of refugees are in danger of perishing if assistance does not arrive promptly.

Conservative estimates place the number of sufferers at 400,000. The Greek revolution has resulted in utter administrative chaos and a complete breakdown of all the normal processes of life. A message from the American relief workers on the island of Mitylene says:

No Bread on the Island. "The situation is desperate. Refugees, crazed by hunger, are throwing themselves into the sea. The Greek troops there number 10,000, but 25,000 remain. They face a grave food shortage, coupled with an outbreak of typhoid fever owing to the polluted water supply. Thousands have left the city of Kavala and Saloniki. Two hospitals have been opened in Rodosto, but their meager accommodations are insufficient and there is a pressing need for medicines."

At Saloniki the conditions are deplorable. The city has been in ruins since the great fire in 1918 and affords little more shelter than Smyrna. The local Greek administration confesses its inability to cope with the tremendous problem presented by the presence of more than 100,000 refugees.

Refugees Arriving. Additional refugees are arriving here daily from Smyrna, the steamships Dotsch, Manhattan Island and Casey bringing in a total of 16,000 in the last two days. American relief workers are vying with the British officers and civilians in assisting to restore calm and alleviating the misery of the refugees.

The American relief officials fear that the $200,000 appropriated by congress and the $50,000 provided by Great Britain will be wholly inadequate to feed the sufferers and re-establish them in homes.

The announcement that the American navy department is sending a squadron of twelve destroyers to reinforce the eight destroyers now in the Near East was the most welcome news received by the Americans here since the beginning of the present anxious situation.

The warships will not only provide additional protection for American citizens and property, but also enable Rear Admiral Bristol to maintain ships for longer periods at Rodosto, the islands of Mitylene and Chios and other refugee centers and to establish better communication.

WYOMING UNIVERSITY LOSSES FOOTBALL GAME. Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 30.—Colorado College opened the Rocky Mountain conference football season today with a defeat of the University of Wyoming, 20 to 6. Only once did the local team have to kick.

All of the Tiger touchdowns were the indirect result of forward passes.

The Wyoming attack, consisting of off-tackle bucks with an occasional end run and an occasional pass, was not effective, only one first down being negotiated by the Cowboys.

WHEAT CROP IS SHORT. Paris, Sept. 30 (by the Associated Press).—France's wheat crop for 1922 is more than one-fourth short of last year's production and nearly one-third of the customary annual requirements, according to statistics prepared by the ministry of agriculture and published today. The crop also is insufficient to feed the population and much more abundant than last year.

TWO MEN ADRIET SIXTY HOURS IN WRECKED PLANE

Captains Tell Thrilling Experiences While Floating in the Bay of Bengal; Rescued by Launch.

London, Sept. 30.—Below us were sharks; near, the land crocodiles. Would we float near enough to ground our inverted top hamper and signal some one ashore, or risk swimming for it? . . . Their hopes were shattered, for an undercurrent, caught our submerged planes and fuselage, and faster than we could reach the land, we were pulled away from it. Quickly it faded and our hopes sank. . . . We were utterly helpless and at the mercy of the wind and the tide.

The above sentences are taken from the long and thrilling narrative which records the terrible experiences of Captain Norman Macmillan and Captain Mallins while adrift for 60 hours on a wrecked seaplane in the Bay of Bengal. They were engaged in a round-the-world flight organized by the Daily News.

Suddenly we saw an alteration in the trim of our craft," continues the narrative. "Round and round we plunged, water pouring over us, hanging on tooth and nail, and soaked by the repeated wash that broke completely over us. I don't know if we were in a tide whirl."

Perhaps the most impressive thing in the story is Captain Macmillan's account of their abandonment by a native big game hunter, who, when they were almost spent, "Mallins could hear beautiful instrumental music" writes Macmillan, "and I the sound of the pipes playing laments in the distance. We did not mention this to each other at the time. We were each afraid of that. . . ."

"Suddenly we saw a sail away down south. Was it coming up? Yes slowly."

"A whistling. Soon its yards appeared. Gradually it came along. Standing up we could see the hull. It was all we could do to remain upright."

"We waved our distress flag, signaling the international S O S. The brig was coming straight for us. She must almost run us down. S's could not fail to see us."

"Was she changing her course? Surely not, but she was slow."

"She turned off not half a mile away, and steadily passed us within half a mile, with two men looking at us from the poop."

"God, what humanity! Surely it could not be."

"Mallins frantically waving, slipped and fell half-overboard, struggling at his feet, catching the leg and crew, and writhing."

"Standing on our rocking float, I waved and hallooed and fired pistol shots."

"But steadily she swept past, a native brig. Two men on the poop ran forward as she was abreast of us. They saw us, undoubtedly, and were possibly terrified of ghosts and visions."

"But in mercy let them never know what we felt like."

The two aviators were rescued some hours later, and on their return journey, sent out in search of them.

FINAL SCENE OF 'HENRY AND ME' TO BE ENACTED

William A. White Faces Trial Next Month Charged With Violating the Kansas Industrial Law.

Emporia, Kans., Sept. 30.—The final scene in the latest episode of "Henry and Me" is scheduled to be staged in the district court here at the term opening October 3. This will pertain quite definitely to a "legal adventure" rather than one of a martial nature as was the original, book written by William Allen White, Emporia editor and author, concerning the experiences of his life-long friend, Gov. H. J. Allen of Kansas, and himself, in Red Cross service overseas during the world war. In the coming "adventure," Mr. White will be defended on a charge of violation of the Kansas industrial court act, sponsored by Governor Allen because Mr. White had written the story in his newspaper office a placard expressing sympathy for the striking railroad shopworkers.

If the case comes to trial, the issue of "free speech" involved may be legally decided. Mr. White contended that the order directing he and others to remove the strike sympathy placards was a violation of the privileges of free speech. Governor Allen has been asked to rescind that the question of free speech is not involved—that the display of the signs constituted joining a conspiracy to prevent men taking the places of the striking shopworkers.

Mr. White has been indicted by the grand jury of the district court, he agreed that pending determination of the validity of the act, the placard should remain down. Both the governor and Mr. White declare that this upshot of a "legal adventure" has not at all violated their long personal friendship which became firmly sealed by their "martial adventure" overseas.

AUSTRIAN TOTS FOND OF DANISH FOSTER PARENTS

Large Numbers of Children Have Been Spending the Summer in Denmark as Charity Visitors.

Copenhagen, Sept. 30.—Large numbers of Austrian children, particularly little boys and girls from Vienna, have been spending their summers in Denmark as guests of every class of the Danish community. But it has been distinctly understood that no child should be allowed to stay in Denmark more than six months unless special permission for a prolonged stay were given.

Many of these Austrian children have grown very fond of their Danish foster parents, and vice versa, and the leave takings at the railway stations, when these children are sent back to Austria have in many instances been poignant and pitiful. The youngsters did not hide their sorrow and despair at going away.

The pardon is conditioned upon the placing of the boy in a suitable home, where he will be cared for and given an education.

Doctor Says Newer Form of Iron Will Increase Strength of Many Delicate People 100% in 10 Days

In Many Instances—Persons Have Suffered Untold Agony for Years Doctoring for Nervous Weakness, Stomach, Liver or Kidney Disease or Some Other Ailment When Their Real Trouble Was Lack of Iron in the Blood—How to Tell.

New York, N.Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. Sauer, a New England Physician who has studied both in this country and in great European Medical Institutions said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron, and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run-down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some are fussy and irritable; some are skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance.

NOTE.—The above company is known to be thoroughly reliable. Over 4,000,000 packages of Nuxated Iron are sold annually, and it has been used and highly recommended by former U. S. Senators, Members of Congress, Judges of U. S. Courts and many physicians. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all and even greater benefits than you expect from Nuxated Iron, the manufacturer will promptly refund your money.

CHICAGO PREPARES FOR ITS "LITTLE WORLD'S SERIES"

Chicago fans haven't wasted much time bemoaning the fact that they were no pennant. Last spring they saw only last place for both clubs. But the clever management of Bill Killefer and

Kid Gleason and the "luck" of the scouts in landing brilliant rookies put both teams into the scramble and gave the Windy City some of the best baseball seen there in years. Now the town's all set up over the coming city series between the two clubs. The photo shows Commissioner Landis settling details of the series with officials of the Cubs and White Sox.

TOBACCO STORES IN SMYRNA ARE STILL BURNING

Refugees Are Searched and Robbed by Turkish Soldiers; Only Aged and Children Allowed to Pass.

On Board the Greek Steamer Promentis, With the American Relief Committee, Smyrna, Bay, Thursday, Sept. 28.—Seventeen steamers placed at the disposal of the American relief committee by the Greek authorities, are here endeavoring to complete the evacuation of 140,000 refugees by the Turks.

The shore is crowded with the completely demoralized population, encircled by Turkish soldiers who are constantly firing off rifles. There is continuous moaning and weeping by helpless women and children. The steamers along the railroad pier are taking aboard the refugees. All are searched and robbed by the Turkish soldiers, who only allow the aged and children to pass. Seven corpses are lying on the pier, the remains of persons struck by the butt ends of rifles. The embarkation of the refugees is being humanely conducted by American and British sailors alone, regardless of the difficulties and fatigue. A large French battleship is anchored in the bay but has offered no assistance.

The town appears utterly abandoned. No trade is possible. The large American tobacco stores located here are still burning. It is charged that many Christian girls were violated by the Turks. The American claim that nearly the whole of their population has been massacred.

'UNCLE JOE' CANNON WILL HIT THE TRAIL HE TRAVELED AS A BOY

Washington, Sept. 30.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon dug into his cedar chest today for some woolen things he will wear next week when he hits the same trail westward to Illinois that he and his parents took 33 years ago in emigrating from the North Carolina.

The early voyage was made in an old prairie schooner, out of the back of which Uncle Joe, then barely four years old, watched the shifting scenery and dreamed. Even now, as he approaches 87, he remembers the nights he played around the camp fire, the hardships, and the stars that peeked down at him as he slept. The veteran recalled today his earliest recollections of that trying trip and then talked of his coming trip over the same old pike—this time in an automobile.

"After March 4, next, I will make my last journey homeward as a member of the hero, Uncle Joe said. "So the trip by motor, delayed and delayed and delayed, will be made at this time, and on every foot of the road my heart will be with happiness as I think of the many honors that have come my way. I have decided I had better go now, for March is a long way off and I am growing old."

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Mr. DeNette said today that the vault at the federal building was filled with 30-30 rifles, ammunition, .33 and .45 caliber automatic pistols, saddles, bridles, blankets, canteens, horseshoes and field glasses, taken at the ranch when the officers arrested the men who are under detention. The munitions and equipment were hauled to the ranch from El Paso by one of the men arrested. Mr. DeNette said. The department of justice agents were watching every move made by the men now in custody for several days past and could have made arrests on several occasions, but waited until actual knowledge of the uprising was announced.

COURT DECLARES SOUTH BEND MAN IS NOT GUILTY

Poulin Is Exonerated on a Charge of Being the Father of Mrs. Tiernan's Child; Will Appeal Case.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—Henry Poulin, haberdasher, charged by Mrs. Augusta Tiernan with being the father of her third child, was found not guilty in city court here today.

Judge C. La Ducomb made it plain in his comment that he found the defendant "not guilty" in the strict sense of the word. He said that he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin. The fact, however, that Prof. Tiernan had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant.

Prosecutor Jellison and Prof. Tiernan announced after Judge Ducomb had rendered his opinion that the case would be appealed and carried to the supreme court of the United States if necessary. "The decision was a great surprise to me," declared Professor Tiernan. "It swept me completely off my feet."

Mrs. Tiernan, who fainted as she was leaving the court room and was taken to her home in a taxi cab.

No Reconciliation.

Prof. and Mrs. Tiernan will not become reconciled, according to plans announced by the professor today following the decision in the paternity case.

The beginning of a permanent separation will take place late today or Monday when Professor Tiernan will take his wife and three children to Bronson, Mich., where Mrs. Tiernan will make her home with her mother until she decides upon her future.

Mrs. Tiernan is being allowed to take the children with her, as Mrs. Tiernan, who fainted as she left the court room, is stunned over the decision, as is her husband.

"I believe," he said, "that had we disclosed the affairs of our household as they really have been during the last year, a different verdict would have been reached."

"We have been in a living hell," he said, "but this fact we withheld from the court and public."

Harry Poulin was brief in his statement: "Just what I expected," he said. "He would make no other comment."

SANDLER FAMILY TO BE ALLOWED TO QUIT RUSSIA

Nine years ago, Jacob Sandler, local shoe-repair man, arrived in America from Russia and came to Albuquerque. He left his wife and two daughters in Russia, expecting to have them join him after he was settled here. After getting his business started, he wrote for them to come, sending money for the trip.

Nothing was heard from them since that time, he has made repeated efforts to get into communication with them but without result until a few months ago when a letter from Mrs. Sandler passed the Russian frontier censors and was delivered here. It stated that both she and the children were well and wanted to come to America if it could possibly be arranged.

County Agent Lee J. Reynolds took up the matter with Herbert Hoover, who referred it to the secretary of state. Negotiations have been under way since that time and a wire was received yesterday from the state department, reporting that the American consul at Riga had located Mrs. Sandler and her daughters, and would take them in charge as soon as notified and if funds were sent for the passage to America, would see to it that they were allowed to leave Russia and were started on their trip.

The funds were wired immediately to the department of state, and in turn will be cabled to the American consul at Riga. It is expected that within a few days the wife and daughters who have been separated from the husband and father for nine long years, due to governmental trouble in Russia, will start upon their journey to America.

THREE GOLD VEINS
FOUND IN SANDIAS IN SAN PEDRO AREA

It is reported here that three gold strikes have been found recently by prospectors in the San Pedro district of the Sandia mountains, about twenty-seven miles from Albuquerque. J. Nieto, Mallette brothers of Bernalillo and Monico Aranda are stated to have found veins carrying gold leaf, and the discovery has created a small rush of activity among prospectors. Native copper and asbestos also are reported to have been located.

The San Pedro district was found to contain gold in 1828, according to Fayette A. Jones, mining engineer, who was questioned yesterday about the reported find. This was twenty years before the discovery of gold in California, and thirty years before the location of gold in paying quantities in Colorado.

Pablo Aranda, in 1828, then 12 years of age, was present at San Pedro on the first discovery, he told Mr. Jones some years ago. Much gold has been taken from this locality by the placer process in past years, and some from veins. The region has never been a steady producer.

Prominent Albuquerque business men are interested in the San Pedro operations, and are making an investigation, it was said yesterday.

MADMAN CAUSES DEATH OF 7 IN NEW YORK FIRE

People Fear That the Supposed Pyromaniac May Continue to Operate; Is Being Sought by Police.

New York, Sept. 30.—A madman whose mania for fires caused the death of seven persons—one of them a four-year-old child, thrown from a window by a terrified mother, early this morning—is being sought tonight by the police acting on information that an attempt was made to set the building next door afire shortly before the apartment house at 241 West 109th street burst into flames.

Other investigations, more or less random but sincere, are being carried on by the residents of the upper west side, where this morning's fire occurred. Fear that the supposed pyromaniac may continue to operate is aroused by the story of Henry Dent, the discovered a baby carriage ablaze in the hallway next door to the building which was burned. The carriage had been stuffed with rags and oil, and the strip of carpet along the hallway similarly saturated. Dent and his daughters extinguished the blaze.

FIRE DRILLS TO BE HELD AT THE SCHOOL HOUSES

City Fire Department Plans Active Week of Drills and Inspections in All Sections of the City.

Fire drill in which the city fire department and the city school children will participate will be held at every city school this week. The firemen will go through regular drills at each building and the children will be discharged from the buildings exactly as though there was a fire.

Following the drills, City Fire Chief Robert Henderson and other officers of the department will give special demonstrations and will talk to the children relative to fire prevention and what to do in case of fire. During the week, a fireman in uniform will inspect every store, office building, hotel and business house in the business district. Chief Henderson announced last night. In the residence district, all stores, large apartment houses and other large buildings will be inspected, special attention being paid to stoves, chimneys and fire hazards in yards and alleys. The object of the inspection is to reduce the fire loss in the city through making it possible to remove any hazards which may be found during the inspection.

$43,000 REFUNDING BONDS SOON WILL BE RETIRED BY COUNTY

Sale of the $43,000 worth of Liberty bonds, which have been held in the Bernalillo county sinking fund, has been completed and the money will be used at once to retire that amount of county refunding bonds of the issue of 1901. The transaction, which has been engineered by County Treasurer Ed Swope, was decided upon by the county commissioners, will net the county a considerable saving each year due to the difference in interest rate between the Liberty bonds and the refunding bonds. The Liberty bonds were purchased from sinking funds. As the purpose of the sinking fund is to meet the county's bonded indebtedness, it was decided to recall as many of the 1901 issue of refunding bonds as possible in order to eliminate the interest charge. The refunding bonds were issued for 30-year periods, but were made callable after twenty years. This period expired last year.

HIGHS PREPARE TO WIN GAMES-- SELL TICKETS

Will Open Football Season With St. Mary's Saturday Morning; Feel Chummy Over Practice Work.

The High school football team has become chummy, according to Coach Addison Moore, since it made two touchdowns against the University in practice last Tuesday. The coach believes if he can overcome this inflation, the team will have a good chance to make a good showing in the opening game of the season.

According to the schedule, St. Mary's is to be the High's opponent next Saturday. The game will be played in the morning, to allow the teams and their supporters to see the Varsity-University game in the afternoon.

The following announcement was made by the High school in regard to the season ticket sale:

"The football boys are undertaking to sell tickets in town for the football season, and if they are successful, it will mean that the athletic program for the year will go over in good shape. It will mean that Albuquerque High school can successfully finance games with other high school teams over the state. It will mean that the high school athletics can measure up in a degree to the growth and progress being made at present by the city."

"These tickets will be sold for $2 over the town by the boys Monday afternoon, starting at about 4 o'clock. These tickets will admit to five or more games in Albuquerque, three of them with outside teams. One of these games will be the big El Paso game on Thanksgiving day. In order to make this a success at least 500 tickets must be sold."

Heavy scrimmage is in line for the team for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Hurry! It's your duty! Each day you see a little more hair falling out and you are making no effort to avoid baldness. What a pity. Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair of men or women and cleans every particle of dandruff away, then the hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick, and long.

Danderine is delightful—not sticky or greasy. Go to any drugstore now and get a bottle, use it. Have healthy, heavy, beautiful hair and lots of it. —Adv.

THE MEN WHO WON PENNANTS FOR THEIR TEAMS

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
New York fans can thank two men for returning the Giants and Yankees as pennant winners and thereby again confining the series to 17 of New York. These two men are Joe Bush and Heinie Groh. Without Bush the Yanks would have trailed St. Louis. This once-back hurler, obtained from the Red Sox, won twenty-five games a his part in clinching the pennant.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

NELLIE TAKES HER NEW POSITION

Monday Nellie was up early and singing gleefully as she dressed, and set the breakfast on the table.

"One would think your job was in Philadelphia! What time did Mr. Robinson tell you to come to work?" Cora asked.

"Nine o'clock."

"And you get up at seven! Aren't you ashamed?"

"Not a bit! I want to leave things nice. It would be horrid to come home to messy rooms."

Miss Carter had done nothing for Nellie, she had taught her to be scrupulously neat.

"Well all help now," Gladys said with a yawn.

"I shan't need help if you'll get up, Miss Lazy!" Gladys loved to sleep in the morning. She often said it was harder to get up than it was to work.

They left the house together. The two older girls had a little further to go, and were expected earlier.

"If I were there before Grandpa does I'll get acquainted with the bookkeeper," Nellie told them.

Nellie found herself even earlier than the bookkeeper, and so she walked up and down the street until 9 o'clock, building air castles. Now that she had a start she would go on and on. She would do her work so well, be so careful about making mistakes, in spelling especially. She had no fear of her typing, and there couldn't be so much to do in that little office that the dictation would be too fast for her.

The clock struck nine, and she hurriedly entered the building. In the office she now found a man of about 50, tall spare, stooped, with rather tired looking eyes.

"Not much of a looker!" Nellie said to herself. To him: "Good-morning! I'm the new stenographer."

"Good morning. My name is Smith, John Smith."

"Mine's Riley. Nellie Riley. You wouldn't think I was French, would you?" she asked impudently, thinking she might have known his name would be Smith.

"The name isn't French," he replied slowly.

"No, neither am I! Irish to the back bone." It wasn't going to be any fun to tease the bookkeeper. He was too solemn.

"What time does the boss get in?"

"Any time now. Usually about 9:30 or ten."

"He keeps nice hours! That's one thing."

"Yes,—the—work—here isn't hard for the stenographer."

Nellie wondered why he hesitated so in his speech, and why he looked at her so queerly. But he said nothing more, and she hung up her hat, uncovered the typewriter which needed cleaning, and set about the job, muttering to herself:

"Must have been a sloppy stenographer to leave a machine like this! Maybe she was like that in her work and that's the reason I got her job."

Her mutterings were interrupted by her employer's entrance.

"Good morning, Miss Riley," he said brightly. "Good morning Smith," in a casual tone. "I see you have already found something to do," he stood over the desk where Nellie was cleaning the machine.

"Yes, this machine was all gummed up. It's better now, but I'll give it a real cleaning some day."

He sat down at his own desk and opened the mail. In a few minutes he was ready to give her dictation. Nellie trembled a bit but with perfect composure she sat beside him with pad and pencil. For an hour he dictated, slowly, carefully. Nellie had no trouble at all in making her notes, time enough to make them legibly, which meant she would have no trouble transcribing them.

"There, that will do. Bring the letters to me to sign when you have them finished. My mail is unusually heavy on Monday, so it will be a test for you."

He smiled kindly at her.

"Gee, but I'm in luck!" Nellie said to herself as she seated herself before her desk, and made ready to type the letters. "A nice man that to treat me like a lady, nor doesn't get fresh either. I'll work all right for him. I will, which she proceeded to do, by paying strict attention to the work before her.

The day passed quickly. At 4:30 Mr. Robinson said:

"I'm going now. There's no need for you to stay after 5, unless I give you work to do."

"You mean that unless there's letters to write I can go home when you do?" Nellie asked, amazed.

"Yes, I mean just that." With a smile at her eager question, he left the office.

FEMININITY IS DOMINANT NOTE IN BREAKFAST COSTUMES; NAUGHTY PAJAMAS ARE DISCARDED IN FAVOR OF RUFFLES

By ELISE.

Fashion, ever looking for new fields in which to show her skill, now concentrates on the negligee and breakfast coat. The smart negligee of georgette over satin, which resembles a ten gown in its elaborate draperies, is all very well for the woman of means, but there are those of us who need something less elaborate and more practical. And fashion, which is not always merciful, has designed many wraps of the practical kind.

The two breakfast coats shown here are made of lovely materials but they can be easily developed in less costly fabrics. One is a lace coat worn over a silk slip and trimmed with rose colored moire ribbon. With this coat the wearer prefers to bind her short curls by a lace bandeau.

The other coat is of chiffon of a soft orchid shade with a ribbon waist and a large collar. The deep ruffles give the desired feminine touch with no one need be embarrassed if caught unexpectedly in this informal wrap for it is not so intimate as the usual boudoir gown.

The smart little lace cap which boasts of a chin strap of satin ribbon speaks loudly of its Dutch origin. It is a peasant cap made of exquisite lace which is drawn across the forehead and tied at the sides with ribbon. How much more does one enjoy the early morning cup of hot chocolate or the midday chafing dish tidbit if arrayed in one of these negligees!

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

HELPFUL CONTRIBUTIONS FROM READERS.

These splendid letters have come in to me containing directions which other column readers have requested:

Mrs. E. C.: "I saw in your column some time ago, a request for the following: Recipe for a lady's bedroom slipper. Cast one size smaller than the foot."

Two rows plain. Third row: Knit one, wind wool round finger and needle three times, knit as one stitch, knit one plain between each spot; four spots on row.

Three rows of spots of dark and light alternately, till you have six stripes of each. Sew ruche to slipper."

Mrs. J. C. H.: "Here are my directions for rose beads: Put through a food chopper (using the nut grinder) four quarts of rose petals and a broken up piece of copers as the size of a large nut; put this through nine times when it should be a pulpy mass, almost like butter and dark-colored. Now add to it a few drops of glycerin, to harden. Take a lump of this paste just twice the size you want the finished bead to be, and roll it in the palms of your hands till round. Half this bulk is allowed for shrinkage in drying. Place these little balls on plates to dry overnight; in the morning roll them again—this time on a plate, to obtain a perfectly smooth surface. The longer they are rolled the second time, the better the result, as it makes them shrink evenly. When finished rolling, insert a toothpick in each, to form the eye of the bead, then stick the toothpicks upright in something with the beads upon them. Before removing the beads let them dry thoroughly. Then string them on a thread, put in a small bar to rub and polish. When polished, let them stand in olive oil overnight and in the morning polish again. Restring and wear."

Mr. Q.: "Here are the directions for rose beads: Put rose leaves through the meat grinder several times morning and afternoon, and let them lie in an iron vessel between grindings, to make them turn black—which nothing but iron will do. After many days of this treatment, they will become a firm paste, like dough, and can then be moulded into beads, as follows: Have ready a clean, smooth board about one foot square, and plenty of pins. Break off a bit of the paste the size you want for a bead, and roll it in the palms of your hands till it is round. Stick a pin through it, taking care the head does not touch the board and so flatten and spoil its shape. Leave the bead on the pin till dry. If you wish to polish them, take a tiny bit of petrolatum in the palms of the hands and rub the beads until only a suspicion of the grease shows. Now take a bead from one of the pins and roll it between your palms until every particle of petrolatum has disappeared. If you wish a dull finish, however, leave the beads just as they are when taken from the pins. These beads are pretty when strung together with small gold-silver, or jet beads. Many women make rose beads from the roses in their bouquets, while others make beads of flowers given them on their wedding anniversaries or birthdays."

Rev. J. F. Selbert, D. D., of Chicago, representing the board of home missions and church extension, will be here in the interest of that board, and will give the anniversary address at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society, on Wednesday evening. Rev. J. F. Krueger, D. D., Ph. D., president of Midland college, Fremont, Nebraska, will speak on behalf of that institution, and give an address at the brotherhood banquet on Thursday evening. Dr. A. D. Crile of Roswell, N. M., is also expected to address the brotherhood.

The sessions will be held in St. Paul's English Lutheran church, of which Rev. A. M. Knudsen is pastor. At the opening service on Tuesday evening, Rev. E. W. Harner, of Denver, president of the synod, will deliver the synodical sermon, which will be followed by communion. The Women's Missionary society will hold its business session at the Presbyterian church. An auto tour covering the points of interest in and about the city is planned for Wednesday afternoon. These sessions are all open to the general public.

Representatives from Lutheran churches throughout the mountain region will be in the city this week to attend the thirty-second annual convention of the Rocky Mountain Synod of the United Lutheran church. Besides the forty or more ministers and laymen from Colorado, New Mexico, Laramie, Wyo., and El Paso, Texas, there will be present for the delivery of special addresses a few of the representatives of the various benevolent boards of the church.

NEW VARIETY OF ENTERTAINMENT IN ELKS' CIRCUS

Idea Began With Real Circus People, Members of Fraternity, and Grew to Mammoth Scale.

Lots of folks are wondering what the Elks circus is all about. Last winter B. P. O. E. No. 151 was in need of money to replenish its charity fund. Many circus acts were laying off in Chicago for the winter and several high lights of the lodge conceived the idea of assembling these acts in some large building and together with numerous side shows and home talent features to hold an indoor circus. Records show that this initial Elks' circus was a huge success. Thousands of people were turned away from the doors each night and on the last night people waited for someone to come out so they could get in. Since that

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Within less than four years after the close of the World War as many wars have taken place in Europe while the League of Nations has looked helplessly on. During the past month war has been raging between Turkey and Greece, with England and France, the two most powerful European nations as interested spectators, although they are both members of the League. Russia's posture is that of a snarling beast, with a standing army of over three million men, while China has been in a state of warfare for six months.

To the advocates of the League of Nations, which was to be the magic key that would open the door to universal peace and international understanding, the present situation must afford a hopelessly discouraging prospect. National suspicions and animosities, provoked by the outcome of the war, are asserting themselves with a ferocity that forbodes ill for the world. But unless England and France, who hold the key to the peace of Europe, exert their influence in behalf of a better understanding among their neighboring nations, their participation in the League is a farcical pretense. Where were the fifty nations which compose the League while Turkey was slaughtering Grecian and Armenian women and children? In conference!

History is repeating itself. Old world diplomacy, founded on greed and hatred, is again showing its teeth and threatening the peace of the world. And the League of Nations fiddles while Europe burns.

THE GASOLINE TAX

The proposal to impose a penny tax per gallon on gasoline should meet with hearty approval, and not opposition, on the part of users of motor vehicles. It is impossible to find any basis upon which to compute the loss to the city, county and state due to the disgraceful condition of their roads. Such a thing as a pleasure tour is unknown and traffic is reduced to the minimum of necessity. What is needed is a careful and scientific study, from an engineering viewpoint, for the purpose of devising a practical scheme of taxation to supplant the present antiquated method, one that will place the burden where it belongs, on those who use the roads. The automobile license tax, as well as the driver's license tax, are lower in New Mexico than in most of the other states. This source alone would produce a large revenue for road building purposes, while it would impose an almost negligible burden on individual users.

Good roads are the gateway to a state's prosperity and nothing will more certainly retard its growth than bad roads. It is a damning commentary on the state of New Mexico that its roads are worse than those of any other state in the Union. Yet no other state affords equally ideal conditions for touring by motor. But they are of no avail when the road conditions are such that the cost of wear and tear and breakdown makes traveling prohibitive. Any cost which may be imposed on upwards of thirty thousand motor vehicles would be a trifle as compared to the saving that would accrue to the owners. It would seem that some plan of organization would suggest itself for this purpose to dealers and users alike throughout the state.

INSPIRATION AND MANNERS

Almost any excuse seems to serve nowadays for a man or a woman to back out of the matrimonial yoke, so there is really nothing unique or startling in the reason given by the Ohio preacher for deserting his wife—and incidentally nine children—and going off with a younger woman.

The preacher had in fact two reasons, the first mentioned and presumably the greater offense being that his wife ate with her knife, and the second being that she was no inspiration to him.

If the proposed schools for fitting young men and women for matrimony should ever become facts, one of the best object lessons in whom to marry and what to avoid in matrimony might be taught by having the probationers eat at a common table, thus having opportunity to observe the table manners of their fellow students. Such discipline should eliminate the bad table manners desertion plea, but it must be admitted the second plea is a much harder proposition.

For inspiration is not so simple and definite a thing as table manners and it is easily conceivable that the same woman might be considered a great inspiration by a man before he marries her, and completely lose her power to inspire by the time they have nine children to care for. To the ordinary, garden-variety of men there is nothing quite so inspirational to effort as the fact that there are nine children at home to provide food and clothing for, but the deserting preacher seems to have been looking for something different.

WORDS AND THEIR ORIGIN

"How Forcible Are Right words."—Job.

Trivial. How many have seen people standing at the cross-roads, talking about the nothing of the day? Here we have the origin of 'trivial,' which means such talk as is carried on at the meeting of three roads, Latin, 'tres vias,' where idle loiterers gather together.

Legend. Annual commemorations of the faith of the Saints were once held and these were known as 'legends.' Therefore, anything that was worthy to read, from the Latin 'lego,' signifying to gather or to read, was legendary. Thus we speak of legends on medals or coins. The word now implies anything that is false, as belonging to the region of fable; and it derives this meaning from its German ancestor, 'legende,' or literally, 'lyings.' From the root 'lego' we also have 'legible,' that which is readable.

SENTENCE SERMONS

God wants as a present thing our hearts to be in tune with Him in everyday life.—Carl Armerding, of Gospel Hall.

Jesus Christ is the inspiration of every right desire, of every longing after purity, of every unselfish thought and deed.—Dean William B. Allen, St. John's Cathedral church.

Taste of the mercy of the Lord, and you will be glad to obey Him.—Carl Schmid, Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church.

If all our church buildings were demolished and every preacher crucified, it would not be a month until people would be congregating somewhere and selecting someone to lead them in worship and Bible study.—C. C. Higbee, Central Avenue Methodist church.

Christ lived his life in the world, yet his life was not of the world; even so he plans that his disciples shall live, interested in the world's life and still not controlled by it.—Willard A. Guy, Broadway Christian church.

The most alarming problem confronting the church of Jesus Christ today is the apathy of her adherents.—L. L. Gaines, Nazarene church.

If we knew what fierce battles some people were fighting, what weighty but unseen burdens they were carrying, our judgments would be tempered, and greater charity would be exercised.—A. M. Knudsen, St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The reason some people get so little out of their church is that they put so little into it; we do not work with much heart for anything if we are not conscious of getting some kind of help.—Hugh A. Cooper, Presbyterian church.

DAUGHTER OF OLD SPAIN IS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS ON G. O. P. TICKET IN NEW MEXICO

The following article regarding Mrs. Adelina Otero-Warren, candidate for congress on the republican ticket in New Mexico, appeared in a recent issue of the New York Evening Post, under a Santa Fe date line:

If red hair, freckles, and a disinclination to discuss state secrets are casual interviewers, but Calvin Coolidge next door to the White House, who shall say where Mrs. Adelina Otero-Warren, republican candidate for congress from New Mexico, will stop?

For, to be calmly arithmetical about it, Mrs. Otero-Warren has all that the Hon. Calvin has, more of it and more besides. She has more hair of a deeper, infinitely more Titian red. She has more and larger freckles—the kind which make a chic, girl-like woman, barely forty, look "cute."

When she tells you nothing, far from utilizing the method in vogue in the vice-presidential suite at the new Willard, Mrs. Otero-Warren "says it with flowers." That is, she backs up every reticence with the charming, laughter-coated vivacity with which clever and attractive women always back up reticence.

Headlines: To Mrs. Otero-Warren's candidacy is attached whatever piquant curiosity inheres in being descended without a single foreign strain from blue-blooded Spanish aristocracy which has ruled New Mexico, socially, officially, and politically for nearly three centuries; which ascends beyond that, through the line of the Count de Luna, to the original Visigothic conquerors of Spain, who in the sixth century brought Mrs. Otero-Warren's Titian hair (and, no doubt, freckles) with them from the German forests into Castile.

"I am a Castilian." To see a charming woman's bright brown eyes flash with pride as she declares, "I am a Castilian," is something new in American politics. Something not without vote-getting possibilities, too, one discovers, noting the admiring reaction to this fact among representatives of New Mexico's 60 per cent of more or less Spanish-blooded voters.

And that Mrs. Otero-Warren has received her political training as the favorite niece of one republican "boss" of New Mexico, Solomon Luna, and as the sister of another one; that she is of the machine, believes in the machine and plays machine politics with the skill of a veteran and yet with a cleanliness well above the average; that she has a record for promoting progressive health and educational legislation she was interested in. To be sure, she declared herself in favor of all the reclamation appropriations consistent with intelligent economy. But definite reclamation projects were not part of the commitment.

Was she for the recognition of Mexico?—a big and disputatious matter down this way. "Now"—with a genial coyness which made it a positive pleasure to be refused—"that's something I just won't talk about. Think how the Mexican situation could change before I could take my seat in Congress, if elected. And I don't want to embarrass the administration."

"Then you approve the Administration?" "I am" enthusiastically and plainly enjoying it—"a republican!"

She led in Women's Campaigns. Yet, though shrewd enough to take full advantage of her favorable circumstances, Mrs. Otero-Warren's record has been full enough of courageous and intelligent support for the measures she has endorsed. As a member of the legislative committee of the Federated Women's clubs she led successful flights for suffrage, for equal guardianship for women, for health laws, against opposition deeply rooted in the native conservatism of a predominantly Spanish people.

As superintendent of the schools of Santa Fe County she has in the last six years entirely eliminated the second and third grade certificate teachers, often against strong local political opposition. As chairman of the State Bureau of Public Welfare, embracing the work of public health and child welfare departments, she has been an effective evangelist of modern sanitation among the rural Mexican population.

Characteristic of her courageous side was the interview she was just finishing when your correspondent arrived.

A group of Mexicans from a small mountain town in Santa Fe county were there to protest against the removal of a second grade certificate teacher from their town school. An outsider, possibly neither of Spanish blood nor of the Catholic faith, Castilian and Catholic, informed the visiting delegation with emphasis that the first and only consideration was the good of their school.

Something was said about voting the town for the democratic congressional candidate. "All right," said the republican candidate, her brown eyes snapping, "vote as you please. But you'll get the best teacher I can send you just the same."

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Jones!" exclaimed Mr. Brown. "What a coincidence, meeting you. I ran into your husband an hour ago."

"How funny!" replied Mrs. Jones. "And how did you think he was looking?"

"Pretty poorly."

"Well, I'm surprised to hear you say that. Everyone says he is looking much better lately."

"Well, he looked bad enough an hour ago," said Mr. Brown.

"I wonder why that was," said Mrs. Jones.

"Oh, I can tell you that," said Mr. Brown. "I was in my car when I ran into him."—Farm Life.

"Miss, may I have a spoon?" "Not with me," said the pretty waitress. "I'm busy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A young man informed John L. Duval, president of the Marion County State bank, recently, that he wished to start a savings account for his little son. Mr. Duval, seeing the smile on the man's face, guessed that it was a new baby and offered his congratulations, which the patron smilingly acknowledged. The account was opened in the regular way with the father as trustee for the child. Several days later the young man entered the bank and approached Mr. Duval.

"Say, Mr. Duval," he said, "I'd like to change the name on that account. I've opened for Arthur a couple of weeks ago. Make it Dorothy."—Indianapolis News.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BANKERS TO OPEN ON MONDAY

Seven Thousand Representative Financiers From All Over the U. S. Expected at Convention.

New York, Sept. 30.—Seven thousand representative bankers from all over the United States, will gather here tomorrow at the opening of the 48th annual meeting of the American Bankers' association. The gigantic machinery necessary to handle so great a gathering has been under way for months, with 100 hotels, 500 local bank employees, and a committee of 100 prominent bankers cooperating. The meeting is the first to be held by the association in New York for 17 years, and in addition to matters of a strictly business nature, adequate entertainment has been arranged for the visitors, including private fashion shows and shopping tours for women guests.

Notable among the speakers who will place first hand information in regard to the financial problems of the world, is the Right Honorable Reginald McKenna, former British exchequer, Mr. McKenna is known as one of the chief figures in European finance, and his addresses on inter-allied debts, reparations, and the other problems that buffet Europe are of international interest.

Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and company, who recently returned from the financial conference in Paris, and who has been active in studying American financial affairs in Europe, Mexico and China, will also address the bankers.

Financial problems purely local to the United States will not be overlooked in the work of the delegates, but because of the intricate relationship of our affairs with the larger phase of international conditions will be the keynote of the convention work. In banking and financial circles, the convention is considered the most important business conference of the year.

BELEN-GRAY GAME IS CANCELLED BY BELEN

The Belen-Gray game which was scheduled to be played this afternoon at Barelas field was cancelled last night by Belen, due to several of the Belen players having left that city.

The Gray team is still intact and negotiations are under way for a trip south, probably this week end. Manager Dan Padilla stated last night that the Grays might invade Mexico or Texas. The Grays are undefeated champions of the state, having played every high ranking team and completed the season with a record of 28 games won and only six scattered games lost.

AMERICANS HAVE A TENDENCY TO TIP LIBERALLY

Their Liberality in This Respect Is Criticized in London; Recipients Count Themselves Lucky.

London, Sept. 30.—These early September days are witnessing the departure from London of large numbers of American travellers for their homes across the water. From all over the continent they have come, and the boat trains for Liverpool and Southampton bear them away on the last lap of their summer's journey.

Observant Londoners see in them much that is different from other tourists, and notable among the exceptions is the tendency to give big tips. Says the London Evening News:

"Miles of shiny black brass-bound luggage, women in tortoise shell rim spectacles, carrying bouquets and wearing shoes with heels as low as those of a porter's boots, and 'largesse' for porters."

"These are the outstanding features of the busy scenes at Waterloo just before the special trains for Southampton leave with their hundreds of American passengers who are returning home."

"The porters to whose lot it falls to handle the luggage of Americans are somewhat at a loss to count themselves lucky."

"Porters received each 10 shillings for handling one American's pile of luggage," says the reporter, "and two porters who found seats in the train for the returning pilgrims earned more than 20 shillings apiece."

"Ten pounds each in tips is the weekly record of these two men, and apparently they are not kings at the game."

"There is a man here," one of them told the reporter, "who will make eight or nine pounds today. You may get one shilling, two shillings, five shillings or one pound in a tip," he added. "Hotel porters who bring the luggage here often receive three or four pounds."

It is almost always Americans who give such extravagant tips, and some English folk who are not given to squandering money in this way, do not like them any the better for doing it.

COUNTY TEACHERS ARE URGED TO BOIL WATER FOR USE IN SCHOOLS

At a meeting of the county school teachers yesterday at Old Town, all teachers were urged to boil the water which is to be used at the school. Dr. O. C. West, county health officer, stated that while in many communities in the county there is no doubt as to the purity of the water in the vicinity of the school buildings, the boiling process was a safe step in the right direction and should be taken.

He also urged that teachers see to it that all of their pupils were vaccinated against diphtheria, which is prevalent in several communities and threatens to gain a foothold in others. Dr. West stated that in cases where the parents could not afford to purchase the serum, the health department would make an effort to obtain it for them free, or at least at wholesale cost, and would take care of the vaccinating at no cost to the children or their parents.

THREE MEN SEEK THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE AT DEMOCRATIC MEETING

With the instruction of the delegates from Precinct 12, Albuquerque, to vote in the democratic county convention on October 4 for Antonio Ortiz for sheriff and Ed Swope for county treasurer, it has developed that at least three names will be presented for the nomination for sheriff. Mr. Ortiz, the present sheriff, will be a strong contender for renomination. He will be opposed, apparently, by Felipe Zamora and Rafael Garcia. No name has been mentioned as being likely to be presented in opposition to Mr. Swope.

B. P. O. E. HAS 850,000 MEN ENROLLED IN 1,465 LODGES AND ORDER GROWS STEADILY

By GEORGE H. HIGGINS.

The current year promises to be one of exceptional activity in the annals of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The 25th annual session of the grand lodge of the order was held in Atlantic City July 11 to 13, with a representative attendance of 1,465 members representing 1,465 lodges and 850,000 members.

Among the many interesting reports submitted was the report of the National Memorial committee. For the sum of $375,000, they have purchased a plot of ground in Chicago 295x250 feet at Lakeview avenue and Diversey Parkway overlooking the Lincoln park and the lake, for the site of the Elks' national memorial of the great war.

After a competition, entered into by seven of the most prominent national architects, the committee accepted the design of Ezeron Swartwout of New York. Contracts have been signed and a beginning will be made this summer in the erection of a magnificent white marble edifice, to cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, as a lasting memorial of those heroic members of the order who, at the call of their country, gave their lives in the great war for the safety of democracy and the honor of the flag.

Another report of great interest announced the birth of the Elks' Magazine, a monthly journal designed to be a channel of communication between the order and its members. Three numbers have already been issued, from these it may be predicted that nothing but the best will satisfy the demands of the editorial staff. Its record of Elks activities is edifying, its literary stand in excellent work of its artists and printers is praiseworthy in large degree.

It is unique, at the very beginning, in that it has 850,000 paid-up subscribers. The charitable activities of the order are worthy of mention. In the period between 1911 and 1913, the order spent in practical charity, $2,800,285; from 1914 to 1920, $5,541,145; in 1921, $2,044,220. The total expended in charity from 1889 to 1921 exceeded $13,800,000.

The report of the committee on social and community welfare furnishes interesting data. Christmas 72,300 dinners were provided for children and 26,909 individuals received baskets containing seasonable food and gifts. Twenty-six lodges are caring for crippled children; 78 lodges provided fuel and clothing for distressed families; 72 lodges paid the rent of 218 families; 28 lodges have provided Elks fields for public playgrounds; 79 lodges interested in juvenile courts and detention homes, have supervision over 50,000 delinquents.

Many other phases of welfare work are enumerated, such as cooperation with the Salvation Army, and the adoption of troops of boy scouts.

PLAINTIFF IS GIVEN VERDICT IN CASE OF ELAM VERSUS LAND CO.

Special to The Journal

Santa Fe, Sept. 30.—Under instructions from Judge Colla Nebbett, a jury in the United States district court this afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the case of J. H. Elam versus the San Mateo Land company.

In December, 1919, Elam, a resident of Wichita, Kan., made a contract with the land company to purchase 20,000 acres of land, on the condition that before the payment of the balance of the purchase price of $2 an acre, the company was to furnish an abstract showing clear title.

Elam's suit was to recover the $5,000 which he had paid on the contract. The court held that the abstract did not show clear title and instructed the jury to return a verdict ordering the company to repay the $5,000, with interest.

KIWANIS JOIN INDIANS IN THE GALLUP FIESTA

Local Delegation to District Convention Reports Big Time Around Club Campfire.

Ten tribes of Indians and ten tribes of Kiwanians from all over the southwest joined last week in Gallup for one of the greatest powwows ever held, according to local club members who have just returned from the annual district convention. The club meeting was held at the same time as the Indian inter-tribal fair.

The session of the convention began on Thursday morning at the City Club. Lieutenant Governor Blair of El Paso presiding in the place of Governor H. M. Bowers of Albuquerque, who was unable to be present. Of the twelve clubs in the district all but Nogales and Roswell were represented.

The Gallup Kiwanis jazz orchestra furnished music at the luncheon on Thursday. In the evening a big banquet was held at the Harvey house. This was attended by about 200 Kiwanians, visiting members and their wives. The principal after dinner address was made by L. M. Hendry of Pasadena, vice president of Kiwanis International, on the subject of "Possibilities of Kiwanis."

Business sessions were held on Friday, a large share of the time being devoted to a discussion of classification of members. A plea for better business relations between America and other countries of the world was made in an address by Mr. Hendry. Among the diversions offered the visiting Kiwanians were a trip through the Gallup American coal mine and a visit to the Indian fair.

Those who attended the convention from Albuquerque were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Faw, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Redding, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stutz, Homer Ward, Fred Fisher, Henry Mitchell, Sidney M. Well, Richard Guest and H. E. Robinson. The next district convention will be held at Tucson.

"BEAR CAT" BACK TO WAGE BATTLE FOR LIGHT WINE

J. W. Glenister greeting American friends on arrival in New York.

Athens, Sept. 30 (By the Associated Press).—The prefect of police has issued orders to all residents to bring any arms in their possession to the police depot; all violators of this order will be severely punished.

The manner in which the revolutionary committee has insured order in Athens has excited the admiration of all citizens and foreigners. Men Grow Old Men are often useless as they grow old, and are mighty apt to boast of past prowess, but the age of a dollar never counts against it, and even though it might have a little shine on the side you call "heads" (just as the man).

A hundred cents may be a hundred years old and yet be as full of pep as some brand new bill that never did anything wrong in its life.

Our point is this—if you have any old shop worn currency that needs exchanging just bring it to us and we will give you full value in a suit, hat, underwear, shoes or anything in this store.

The Perfection of Over 60 Years of Stove Building

Moore's Firepot Burns the Gas, Smoke and Soot.

U. S. government reports show that soft coal contains 38 per cent of volatile carbon or gas.

In ordinary stoves it has never been possible to burn this gas and the greater part of its heating power has been lost. Moore's Firepot is constructed specially to burn the gas, the smoke and the soot.

Narrow perpendicular slots extend from the bottom to the top of the firepot. These slots are connected to much larger flues on the inside which draw the air from the outside draft door.

The air which is admitted through the draft door is drawn up these flues and discharged through the slots against the sides of the coal; the heat takes the gas from the coal, which immediately mixes with the air and bursts into flame. The smoke passing out of the chimney is white, showing that all the heat-giving qualities in the coal have been consumed. The fire burns from the outside in, gradually consuming the coal toward the center. There are no ashes between the fire and the pot so that a great heat radiates through the oven.

In ordinary stoves the fire burns from the bottom and center toward the top and outside; the gas is driven up the chimney and wasted, and the ashes and fuel prevent heat radiating to the oven.

Through the invention and use of Moore's Firepot the heating value of soft coal or slack is nearly doubled. The cheapest grades of slack coal can be used with success as well as the best grade of lump.

Outclassed and Outweighed, Indians Put Up Game Battle at Varsity Field; Individual Playing Good.

Fighting gamely every minute of play, the Indians went down to defeat by a score of 33 to 0 before the onslaught of the heavier Lobos on varsity field yesterday afternoon in the first football game of the season.

Varsity kicked off first and recovered the ball on the Indians 25-yard line, then hammered the Indian line for a touchdown in the first four minutes. Harrington carried the ball over and Jones kicked goal.

Jones carried it over for the second touchdown at the end of a little over eight minutes of play. During the remainder of the first quarter the Indians gained possession of the ball but twice.

FOR RENT Nicely furnished room in connection with sleeping porch. Convenient to bath in modern private home. Employed lady or man and wife preferred. No children, no sick. 492 South Walter.

The wire referred to follows: "It must be apparent to all interested that the willingness of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor to make settlement on individual roads as stated in press reports indicates that there is a realization at once the leaders that the strike of the shommen is lost. On the Santa Fe the men at work have organized an association representing all of all classes with whom the company has executed agreement and settlement with the American Federation is now an impossibility. The Santa Fe has 84 per cent of normal shop forces, and is hiring substantial numbers of men daily. My chief concern in the circumstances is that as many of our shommen who are on strike, for whom there may be room, some of them out on strike against their will, shall get back on their jobs while the getting is good."

Pre-Nuptial Parties and Sorority Affairs in Abundance

The September marriage month has withdrawn into past history. It is just as well. October is going to put its predecessor's history quite in the shade anyway and November will see the wedding of two of the most prominent society girls in the city. December will do its bit also, and for that matter, the whole year around serves pretty well for somebody. We do have to admit, however, an unusual epidemic of engagements during the past season.

Today is sorority bid day at the university. The three weeks' period of suspense will be over this afternoon when the rushers will present themselves at the several sorority headquarters to be pinned with the ribbons of their choice. Open house will be held for the friends of the sororities for the exchange of congratulations, and tomorrow the state university will settle down to its prescribed curriculum.

And now another circus. The Elks are starting an endurance contest between themselves and the public to see which can have the most fun for the longest time. The Elks have a reputation as fun makers and the city will have to go some to keep up. The circus will begin on Tuesday night.

MISS WEILLER IS FETTERED AS A BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Florence Weiller, whose marriage to Walter Block will take place in November, is being widely fettered as a bride-elect. A number of affairs have already been given in her honor and several more are planned.

Mrs. N. F. LeSueur entertained eight tables of bridge in Miss Weiller's honor at her home at 305 North Twelfth street on Friday afternoon. A color scheme of lavender and yellow was carried out in the decorations and luncheon.

Those present were Mesdames Sol Weiller, Harry Weiller, Dave Weiller, David E. Weiller, Mike Mandell, Frank Mindin, Jerry Haggard, R. L. Hust, B. F. Copp, R. F. Pettit, Charles Watlington, Charles Benjamin, Harry Benjamin, Julius Mandell, Max Nordhaus, Sidney Rosenwald, Albert Stern, Sol Benjamin, Sigfried Kahn, Louis Hyman, Julius Dreyfuss, H. O. Strong, Harold Abbott, O. T. Wood, Misses Weiller, Hazel Hawkins, Grace Stortz, Mildred Harris, E. Howden, Mary MacArthur, Ruth Levy of Chicago and Miss Hester.

Mrs. O. T. Wood entertained at an informal bridge party on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Weiller. Her guests were Mrs. H. H. Weiller, Sol Weiller, Roy Strome, Edward Lighton, Antonio Otero, Howell Faw, Harold Abbott, and Misses Weiller, Jeffie Short, Katherine Angles, Bernice Buehler, Gretchen Van Vleck, Daphne Cobb and A. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Berthold Mansbach will entertain the members of the Weiller family at dinner at her home at 1923 West Central avenue today. Miss Mildred Harris will give an afternoon bridge on Saturday. Among the affairs to be given next week for Miss Weiller are a luncheon on October 19 by Mrs. Dave Weiller, a tea on October 11 by Mrs. David E. Weiller, and a dinner on October 15 by Mrs. Dave Weiller.

KAPPA GIVE TEA DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB

A pretty afternoon tea dance was given on Friday at the country club by Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority in compliment to their rushers at the university. The club room was festooned with balloons and blue ribbons which suspended a myriad of golden sunflowers from the ceiling. Sunflowers were also used in mass decoration around the rooms.

Dancing was enjoyed from five to seven o'clock. Mrs. Jerry Haggard and Mrs. T. E. Whitmer presided over the tea table which received continuous patronage throughout the afternoon. The guests of honor received old-fashioned corsage bouquets and favors of hand-painted handkerchiefs containing a dainty handkerchief design. The programs were in two shades of blue, bearing the sorority crest in gold.

Those present were Mesdames and Messrs. Guy L. Rogers, Thor Kolie, William White, Harry H. Ackerson, Allen Bruce, Jerry Haggard, T. E. Whitmer, Mrs. Edward Lighton, Misses Edna Mosher, Josephine Milner, Margaret Smithers, Katherine Otero, Finley Burton, Pearl Burns, Barbara Nell Thomas, Ruth Burns, Lorena Burton, Wilma Snyder, Mollie Culpepper, Helen Stowell, Mary Wilson, Elizabeth Shepherd, Ruth McDermott, Claire Bureau, Norma Williams, Helen MacArthur, Margaret Lee, Hazel Hawkins, Louise Bell, Anita Hubbard, Irene Boldt, Messrs. TEA FOR MISS STORTZ BEAUTIFUL AFFAIR

A charming affair was the "at home" given yesterday in compliment to Miss Grace Stortz, a November bride-elect, by Mrs. R. Fred Pettit, Mrs. R. L. Hust and Mrs. B. F. Copp. The reception was held at the home of Mrs. Pettit, 893 West Twelfth avenue, between the hours of three and six.

The guests were greeted by the three hostesses and the guest of honor who stood in a receiving line. The living room was decorated with roses in the library, where the punch was served was attractive with flowers and candles of blue and bronze, and the dining room was lovely in orchid and pink. An elaborate centerpiece of snapdragons and gladioli on the tea table was encircled with pink candles in silver sticks tied with orchid tulle bows.

THIS TRIO OF HATS SHOWS WHAT'S NEW FOR FALL

This is the season for "first hats," a trying time, indeed, for women whose first hat must do for most of the winter season, and perhaps the entire winter. It is difficult to buy a hat now which will go with the winter suit or coat to be purchased a month or two hence. If one intends to indulge in many hats, however, the "first hat" is always a pleasure for one can risk anything since it is worn for such a brief period.

SKIN PLAYS IMPORTANT PART IN ELIMINATION OF POISONS FROM BODY, AIDING KIDNEYS AND LUNGS

Should Be Kept Clean So That Pores Will Have Opportunity to Work and Safeguard Against Cold and Heat; Daily Output of Perspiration Is Three and One-Half Pints.

By DR. O. C. WEST,
Health Officer.

The skin is made up of a complex structural architecture. It must be regarded not only as a protective covering for the body, but as an important link whose proper functioning is essential to health and life.

The skin exercises the following functions: a protective covering for the body, an indicator of heat and cold, supplies the tactile sense, is an organ of secretion and elimination. Of all of these functions perhaps the greatest and most important is that of elimination. This process of elimination by the skin is accomplished through the activity of the sweat glands. These little glands number over two million and are scattered all over the body, being numerous in certain parts, as, in the palms of the hands, soles of the feet, and on the forehead. It is said that the daily average amount of perspiration thrown off from the body in adult life is over 3 1/2 pints.

The great importance of the skin as a means of throwing off body wastes and poisonous substances is evidenced by the fact that after extensive burns, where over two-thirds of the skin surface alone is destroyed, death will almost invariably result from the retention in the body of these poisons and loss of its protective characteristics. The skin also acts as a great protector, by its power to neutralize the effect of outside infective germs which enter through minute scratches and abrasions. The inner layer of true skin is well supplied with blood vessels and is constantly being bathed by fresh blood swarming with its protective corpuscles. These corpuscles will wash off any ordinary pus producing infection and all we have is a simple local collection of pus or abscess.

Lets who treat skin diseases always endeavor to first locate the exact entrance of the infective agent and arrange their treatment so that their medicinal applications readily reach the location of the infection.

Powder Is Harmful.

The excessive use of talcum as well as other toilet powders serve to block these minute openings. Cosmetics, such as the various greases, face waxes, and massage creams, will fill the pores of the skin and unless well rubbed out after applying will cause more harm than good.

Many skins are sensitive to sudden changes in the weather and exposure to sun or cold will injure the texture and thereby reduce the body resistance. Overindulgence of rich and greasy foods will often tax a healthy skin beyond its power to eliminate and crops of pimples result. A muddy eruptive skin can often be improved by simply regulating the diet.

Freckles are presumed to be caused by the action of the sun's rays on the iron constituents of the blood in the skin; in other words it is merely an oxidation or rust of the blood cells. Freckles are usually associated with healthy robust people, and is an evidence of clean lungs and rich blood.

WOMEN ADORNED WITH TITLES ARE WORKING IN RELIEF OFFICES

Moscow, Sept. 30.—Higher education having been the privilege of the comparatively well-to-do, in Russia, the offices of the American Relief Administration here are crowded with princesses and occasional countesses. For the A. R. A. needed a numerous staff of translators and found them among the educated young women of the city, many of whom were adorned with titles.

They did well, for the English governesses who went out to Russia in the old days before the war were conscientious young women, and worked hard. But a translator often has his own point of view as to what is worth translating, and sometimes also amusing errors creep in. One young woman, a countess, whose duty it was to translate the Moscow papers, invariably added a list of the current theatrical entertainments. Based on her previous training, this was her idea of real news. One of her notes recorded that "The Shaver of Seville" would be given in Moscow that night.

The largest sum ever won by an owner in the course of a single racing season in England was won by the Duke of Portland with his two horses, Donovan and Ayshire. The amount was in excess of $345,000.

Make It With Ribbons

It is no longer a question of the popularity of the ribbon vogue; rather it is a question where to leave off. We are displaying this week in the ribbon section some most attractive novelties.

Among them you will find vanity bags, powder puffs, lingerie sets, garters, girlish, sashes, bows for infants' robes, robes, and other articles especially desirable for showers and bridge parties. We shall be glad to show you how these are made and tell you the cost of necessary ribbons.

When you think of all there is to do before Christmas, the time is all too short. Make out your list right now and count up the people who would just love a gift of ribbon. And there is always that personal touch about a gift made by the donor's hand.

CO-OPERATIVE FINANCING BY BANK AND MANUFACTURER WILL TRIPLE UNITED STATES AUTOMOTIVE EXPORTS

Automotive exports will increase three-fold if stimulated by financing facilities based on collateral value of motor vehicles, deposit by foreign dealer, insurance of credit risk and provision for co-operative disposal by bank and manufacturer of any rejected shipments, according to G. P. Bauer, foreign trade secretary of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who addressed the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' association convention at Buffalo, N. Y., recently.

"Motor vehicles represent definite collateral value, just as much as cotton, grain or securities. Recognition of this collateral value has been taken as far as domestic trade is concerned. A recent indication is the erection in Chicago of a warehouse, where motor vehicles may be stored by a dealer as collateral, on which loans are issued.

"In export financing, however, the collateral value of motor vehicles is seldom considered. A draft is discounted only as firm's standing warrants, regardless of the value of motor vehicles is seldom considered. A draft is discounted only as firm's standing warrants, regardless of the value that may be represented in the shipment.

"This attitude is probably because of too little co-operation between the manufacturer and the bank and lack of understanding as regards each other's problems. Any improvement is, therefore, possible only in a plan that proves satisfactory to both. To the manufacturer, it must offer protection from undue recourse; to the latter, sufficient collateral and guarantee that the goods will not be thrown on hands of banker alone for disposal.

"Negotiations are now on between the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and certain bankers to devise a plan of this kind that will prove satisfactory all around. Based on co-operation between bank and manufacturer, it would provide this:

1. Dealer puts up as guarantee of good faith 25 per cent of value of shipment.
2. Manufacturer discounts draft for 90 per cent of face value, leaving other 10 per cent standing until transaction is completed.
3. Bank insures itself against credit risk and charges premium of about 1 per cent for six months to manufacturer.
4. Interest on credit extension is charged to foreign dealer.
5. Control of vehicles as collateral.

EXPORT FEATURE IN TARIFF BILL FAVOR AUTO TRADE

"The newly agreed upon export features of the United States tariff, assuring equality of treatment in non-manufacturing as well as in industrial countries, will stimulate American automotive trade abroad," according to J. Walter Drake, chairman of Foreign Trade Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"Under the general export feature the newly lowered automobile rate of 25 per cent, if conditions warranted, could be increased by a maximum of 27 1/2 per cent. If some manufacturing country were unwilling to allow a duty as low as 25 per cent on American vehicles in return for an equally low rate on its automobiles brought into the United States, steps could be taken to have a higher rate up to 27 1/2 per cent apply.

"In the extension of our trade with non-industrial countries, the general export feature of the tariff will also prove helpful. Finland is one of these countries. At the present time American manufacturers are at a handicap there, because French exporters pay a duty of 10 per cent compared with 49 per cent assessed on United States automobiles. With means now being provided, such a discrimination would be discouraged either by concessionary or higher duties on paper and other products imported into the United States from Finland."

MONUMENT ERECTED TO MORNING GLORY

Tokio, Sept. 29.—Amateur cultivators of the morning glory have erected a monument to that flower. It was recently unveiled with full Buddhist ceremony at the Goto Temple at Mita, Shiba, Tokio. The members of the Tokyo morning glory society, who erected the monument, strive to produce the largest and most beautiful flowers and in doing so have to cut out the less promising plants. The monument is their atonement for the killing of these weaklings.

"SAFETY SEASON" NOW ON AND AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION MEMBERS SHOULD SIGN THE "PLEDGE OF CAREFULNESS"---SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOULD ENTER CONTEST

Officials of the American Automobile association are asking their members throughout the country to sign the "Pledge of Carefulness" issued by the Highway Education Board of Washington in connection with its safety program for 1922 and the national safety essay contest for elementary school pupils. The pledge follows:

"Realizing my responsibility as an American citizen to secure the safety of others by careful conduct on the streets and highways, and:

"Realizing that the accident and death toll of my nation, state and city can best be reduced by thoughtfulness and carefulness:

"I pledge myself to be considerate of the rights of others while on the streets and highways; to learn and observe traffic rules and regulations to the best of my ability; to cooperate in a campaign of carefulness, either as a pedestrian or as a driver of a vehicle, and I will, by precept and example, endeavor to assist others in making streets and highways safe."

The Highway Education board conducts each year a safety program which includes the "safety season," from September 10 to December 16, a national safety essay contest among elementary school pupils, the national safety essay contest among elementary school teachers and the observance of "Seven Days for Safety," which this year will be from October 8 to October 14, inclusive, and the A. A. A. is cooperating in all these plans.

The national safety essay contest last year drew responses from thousands of school children all over the country and the A. A. A. believes that this participation by school children is one of the greatest factors for safety, both future and present, that is conducted in the United States today, as it educates the future citizen of the country in safety methods.

The endeavor of the association through distribution of safety posters and literature, talks in the schools, motion pictures in the various theaters and other means of propaganda is to reduce the toll from traffic accidents. With the ever increasing number of automobiles using the highway safety precepts are becoming an increasingly important part of every school curriculum and automobile owners all over the United States are taking a constantly greater interest in measures designed to make the highways more safe.

"Every automobile club connected with the A. A. A. will, I am sure, cooperate in making this 'safety season' a success," said George C. Diehl, president of the American Automobile association. "Our members throughout the country are intensely interested in any measure that tends to making the highway more safe for automobilists and pedestrians alike."

The subject for the safety essay contest this year will be, "My share in making the highway safe." The essays are not to exceed 500 words. The contest is open to pupils of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades, fourteen years old and under. The essays must be submitted not later than December 4th. The contest embracing the practical lesson teaching safety on the highway, not to exceed 3,000 words is open to all elementary school teachers and this contest, like that for the students, closes on December 4th.

PRICE OF A DRINK OF SODA WATER WEEKLY IS SOUGHT BY CHURCH

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—The price of a drink of soda water each week from each member of the Methodist Episcopal church will more than pay for the $2,000,000 Centenary fund, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston said in an address here tonight.

This amount is being sought to forestall a curtailment of activities both at home and in foreign fields. "There is no dramatic and spectacular way of doing our work," he said. "If we wait for magic, we shall wait in vain. Nor can any of us transfer responsibility."

"In this period of nervousness and reaction following the war, Christ in a peculiar sense is tolling up Golgotha once more, and he is calling for many partners of Simon of Cyrene to bear the Cross for Him a part of the way."

"Years ago when a three per cent cut was made on all the foreign missionary appropriations of our church, Adna B. Leonard wept like a child over the tragedy. Only the awakening of our people to the sense of a crisis now will prevent the horror of a thirty per cent reduction for all our foreign missions."

WAR SECRETARY CUTS EXPENSES; CLOSES DEPOTS

Fifty-Eight Cantonments and Various Other Stations Eliminated From Lists of Military Posts—

Washington, Sept. 30.—Fifty-eight army cantonments, flying fields and depots have been eliminated from the lists of military posts administered by the war department. Troops have been moved from them to permanent stations and the properties soon will be either sold at public auctions or turned over under revocable licenses to states which have applied for them for use of the national guard.

Closing of the various stations, the war department announced today, was decided upon as a necessary step in the reorganization of the army and the reduction of its enlisted strength to 125,000 enlisted men. It also was explained that, in many instances, the buildings and temporary quarters which were occupied by troops during the war have deteriorated to a point where their maintenance is now prohibitive from a standpoint of economy.

Cantonments to be leased to states for use of the national guard include Camp Pike, Ark.; Camp Lee, Va.; Camp Jackson, S. C.; Camp Grant, Ill.; Camp Dodge, Iowa; Camp Funston, Kans.; Camp Kearney, Calif.; and Sherman, Ohio, already have been turned over to the veterans' bureau.

Ports Abandoned.
The program of the department also calls for the abandonment of Fort Dade and De Soto, Fla.; Camp Shannon, N. M., and Camp Hidalgo, Tex. Fort Apache, Ariz., will be transferred to the interior department.

Quartermaster depots to be abandoned include Atlanta, Ga.; Seattle, Wash. (except one covered pier); Omaha, Neb.; New Orleans (except for reserve supplies); Port Newark, N. J.; Norfolk, Va. (7,200 railway cars sold to Poland to be removed in 12 months); Boston, Mass.; Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Hawthorne race track, Illinois.

Ordnance plants to be sold are the Erie, Pa., Howitzer plant, the Rochester (N. Y.) gun plant, and the Chicago Storage depot, while the following reserve ammunition depots will be abandoned and 45,000 tons of material salvaged: Morgan, N. J.; Seven Pines, Va.; Annapolis, Md.; Tullytown, Pa.; Toledo, Ohio; Woodberry, N. J.; Penniman, Va.; Sparta, Wis. (to be used for agricultural department in preparation of explosives for highway work for probably six months); Middletown, Pa. (transferred to air service).

Air Service Plants.
Air service plants at Chapman Field, Miami, Fla.; Love Field, Dallas, Tex.; American Depot, Calif.; Island Depot, N. Y.; Richmond Depot, Va., and the Curtis Elmwood plant, N. Y., will be sold. The following air fields will be retained with care taking detachments only: Parkfield, Tenn.; Carlstrom Field, Fla.; Dorr Field, Fla.; Southern Field, Ga.; Ross Field, Calif.; Ellington Field, Tex., and Montgomery Depot, Ala.

Of the great war time cantonments, those to be retained under caretakers as corps area training camps with only non-perishable supplies on hand are McClellan, Ala.; Devens, Mass.; Dix, N. J.; Meade, Md.; Lewis, Wash.; Knox, Ky., and Custer, Mich.

It is not contemplated to expend funds on the buildings (at the above named cantonments) retained but to make use of them as long as possible in order to save tentage, the department's statement said.

KITCHEN CABINET TO BE AWARDED AS PRIZE TO WINNER AT GOLF
Louisville, Sept. 30.—Samuel W. Coons, president of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, and "Spike" Cline, 13, will tee off in the Audubon Country club golf tournament to be held in the near future, with a kitchen cabinet as the trophy.

"Spike," whose real name is Hugh, wears short trousers. He is the son of Thomas Cline, former county treasurer. He learned to play golf while serving as a caddy and for several years has been able to talk intelligently of such things as a "mashie," "putter" and the like.

While Mr. Coons has not announced any plans for disposal of the enameled kitchen cabinet—if he wins it—"Spike" already has made arrangements to present it to his mother.

Cardinal Woolsey always held interviews with a cat by his side.

THRILLER WHEN ST. LOUIS SAW "LITTLE WORLD'S SERIES"

Dugan scoring on Pipp's sacrifice fly in the third inning of the first game. Dugan had led off with a single. Ruth's single sent Dugan to third. Ruth can be seen off first, next to Sisler. A second later Shocker nipped Ruth off first with a quick throw.

If St. Louis fails to break into the real world's series through the Browns or Cardinals there will have something to talk about for some time anyhow. For the "little world's series" between the Yanks and Browns there produced baseball of a better caliber from all angles than many world's series. The Yanks took the first and third games—and series.

YOU CANNOT GO LOWER THAN THE BOTTOM FOR TIRES

Tires and the cost of them is a pretty important question for about one family in every three in the United States. So, national importance was lent to the fact that recently the standard makers of tires reduced prices to a new low level; lower, indeed, than has ever been reached in the history of the industry. Naturally this reduction was closely followed by the smaller companies.

Analysis of business conditions are today one of the most important functions of big manufacturers. In the rubber trade, one of the oldest rubber companies, of Akron, Ohio, maintains an extensive corps of investigating operatives the result of whose researches makes clear, not only the causes that have brought cord tires to the lowest level of prices ever attained, but also how plain it is that the present marks the turning point, so that the year 1922 will long be known as the year of the buying opportunities. Cotton and rubber are the two prime factors in the cost of cord tires and an authoritative analysis of conditions since the year 1913 have resulted which shows how closely tire prices follow the up and down movements in these two commodities. For ten years, the report shows, how the trend of tire prices followed the price of these two raw materials, until today they are in almost perfect alignment.

Rubber has reached such a low level of price that already many rubber plantations are being abandoned until more profitable operation can be restored. "That this resumption will be soon no one who realizes the ever-increasing demand for rubber in the arts and manufactures, can doubt. That the other raw material, cotton, is also ready for an increased demand and therefore an increased price is clear from the fact that the present season's cotton crop is far below normal and that the carry-over from the 1921 crop is exceedingly small.

With very few exceptions all automobiles today are originally equipped with cord tires. This has helped in bringing about a fuller realization of the economies afforded by this type of construction, so that there is an ever increasing demand. In face of this steadily increasing demand on the part of the consumer and the fact that cord tires were never before priced at lower levels, it is entirely reasonable to suppose that a further decline in consumers costs is highly improbable.

The third factor in the manufacturing cost of cord tires is labor, and so far as the rubber business is concerned this is still on a semi-peak basis. It is tempered, of course, by tremendous increase in production made possible by more efficient manufacturing methods and by greatly improved tire-building machinery. All three of the prime factors of cost, then, in the making of cord tires are bound, in the very nature of things, to rise; and as these rise on the comparative cost chart, it is incredible that the line signifying the cost of cord tires shall lag behind.

Sailors are very superstitious regarding cats. To throw a cat overboard means an invitation to bad weather, and when a ship's cat is frisky, heavy gales are foretold.

INTERESTING TOPIC ON SIZE AND TYPE OF SOLID TIRES

When solid tires have not given service, rather than apply new tires assuming that the old tires have failed due to some manufacturing fault, it would be well to investigate the service the truck is being operated in. If the load the truck is called on to carry is found to be in excess of the normal rated capacity of the truck or exceeds the maximum carrying capacity of the tires the more satisfactory course is to change the tires for a size or type that will meet the conditions as found.

The limitations of each size and type of solid tires are pretty well established, and if these limitations are exceeded a larger size or a different type of tire will quickly correct the faulty service and an improvement in the mileage will soon be noted.

The service rendered by solid is largely dependent on three factors: The speed at which the vehicle is driven, the load transported and the type or condition of the road over which the vehicle operates. When determining tire sizes for original equipment, these three items are usually given careful consideration by the truck manufacturers and the correct tire size is carefully estimated. The original tire equipment as fitted to vehicles is thus usually of ample size to meet the average user's requirements and will give satisfactory service as long as the vehicle is operated and loaded to its normal rated capacity. If either the vehicle speed or its load exceeds this normal rate some change must be made in tire equipment; either a change in tire type or an increase in the size to take care of the extra demands made on the tires.

If it is just as important that the speed at which the vehicle is operated be carefully checked as it is to see that the loads do not exceed the maximum limits as recommended for the size of tire used.

General road conditions should come in for a fair amount of consideration for if they are generally poor the impact forces generated by the load suddenly dropping into road depressions and operating over road obstructions will tend to lead to early tire failure unless the vehicle is amply tired to withstand such increased impact loads.

More solid tire trucks fail due to over-loading or over-speeding than from any other cause. When the tire mileage is not up to expectations there is reason for assuming that the vehicle is being operated in a service in excess of the maximum capacity of the tires being used.

SOMEBODY CORNERING DIAMOND SUPPLY OF THE WORLD, IS CLAIM

London, Sept. 30.—Somebody is cornering the diamond supply of the world, according to British importers of the stones. All over the world the best and largest diamonds are vanishing, and London dealers are scouring the continent in the attempt to obtain stones to satisfy the demand which has suddenly sprung up for the finest gems. But they have small success for a mysterious shortage exists at a time of unprecedented demand. "Diamonds will soon become the currency of the world if money continues to depreciate at the rate of the last few months," one dealer said recently. "Rich Americans are buying all the stones they can secure. There is an unlimited demand for two-grainers up to the six-grainers from America, and Japan is buying largely. Fine small stones are also very scarce."

"The Germans are hanging on to their diamonds like firm death. They will not sell at any price, and regard their diamonds as the only real security left them. The same spirit obtains in other countries."

The trouble about the public debt is that the private individual has to pay it.—Washington Post.

Its known value inspires confidence in Cadillac Owners

THE supreme confidence with which Cadillac owners regard their cars is a logical outgrowth of at least four definite factors.

In the first place, Cadillac dependability has been demonstrated over a period of years. This dependability is something more than is generally included in the meaning of the word. It embraces a degree of constant, unimpaired performance that has placed Cadillac in a distinct and separate class.

Secondly, Cadillac owners realize that in every new model this Cadillac dependability finds an even fuller expression. Type 61 represents the highest attainment Cadillac has thus far achieved.

Then, again, they know that leading automotive engineers in Europe and America have stated without reserve that Cadillac stands supreme as the world's leading motor car value.

Lastly and of equal importance to Cadillac owners is the fact that the American public by an overwhelming majority has conceded leadership to Cadillac. More Type 61 cars have been sold this year than all other cars combined selling at the Cadillac price or higher.

In view of these known facts, combined with their personal experience, could it be expected that owners would have other than the deepest confidence in their Cadillacs?

COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE

Nothing has contributed more to the growth of the American city than the community spirit—the getting together of the people for a common purpose. Out of this spirit grow civic centers and schools, libraries and churches; yes, whole cities. It is the spirit of co-operation.

Albuquerque needs more of it. During the past week we have witnessed the spectacle of a total stranger inaugurating a "merchants' exposition" in our city. The idea is an excellent one and should be an annual affair. But why could not such an exposition have been initiated by our local merchants? The answer is simple. Nobody thought of it. And as a community, little, if any, interest was displayed in it.

During the past two weeks two circuses have visited Albuquerque and were visited by more than twenty-five thousand people, who spent about thirty-five thousand dollars to see them. That is more money than the city commission requires for the purchase of the proposed Rio Grande park, an out-of-door playground for the people of Albuquerque. We need circuses and expositions, but we need more of the spirit that makes them possible in affairs of local interest.

Such a spirit is to be seen in the carnival which the Elks are going to provide this week for the benefit of Albuquerque. It is going to be a community affair in the best sense of the word. It is the result of local enterprise. The air is aflicker with it. Let the whole community turn out and make it a rousing success and others will follow.
