3 TO 3 TIE IS UNBROKEN WHEN DARKNESS FALLS IN TENTH FRAME

Pitching Duel Is Staged by Barnes and Shawkey in Second Game of the World Series.

EACH ALLOWS BUT EIGHT SAFE HITS

Nationals Have Lead During Most of Contest, But Americans Tie It Up in the Eighth.

New York, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—The Yankees and the Giants fought furiously but to no avail today in the second game of the world series. They had the score tied at 3 runs each at the end of the tenth inning when twilight, called an armistice. When hostilities broke out again tomorrow the teams will be in the same position as before today's game, the Giants having one victory and the Yankees none.

Tens of hundreds of the 27,029 spectators who had to see the thrilling encounter were angered when the umpires ruled it as a no-decision bout. They had come to see a knockout and as they swarmed over the field they searched their disgust to high heaven and to every person they encountered who was of any importance in baseball affairs. They told Manager McGraw of the Giants they wouldn't come back to his old Polo grounds again for anything in the world. They hurled mean words upon the umpires, saying that anybody who still light eyes could see they still light enough to keep on playing. Then they rushed to the box where Baseball Commissioner Landis sat with Mrs. Landis.

Leaders Bark Questions. The leading questions in the crowd barked questions and comments at the commissioner and the chorus behind them boomed them with vigor. To hear them it seemed they wanted to know the kind of an outrage the commissioner thought the Giants and the Yankees clubs could get away with.

Unmoved, Mr. Landis put on his big black hat over his flowing white hair and started to walk across the field to return to his hotel. The crowd surrounded him, hurrying taunts and insults. A dozen special policemen rushed in to clear the way for him and the commissioner sought to wave them away, saying he could get through any time he pleased.

Giants Rush Into Lead. They had seen the Giants rush into the lead in the first inning when Irish Meusel hit the ball into the bleachers for a home run with two men on bases. They had witnessed the dogged, relentless uphill climb of the Yankees, first cutting down the Giant lead to two, then to one run in the fourth when Ward lashed a home run over the fence above the left field bleachers. And finally with Bob Shawkey taking the bat from the Giants' hands, they had seen the Yankees tie the game in the eighth inning on two-base blows driven from bats of Scotty Ruth with his bare hand. It howled him over, but he came up with his grip still on the ball.

Once Heinie Groh, the Giants' third baseman, leaped over a crowd and grabbed it while sliding in the dirt. It was in the first inning, from the bat of Whitey Witt. Groh hopped up from the dust and threw Witt out first. This may have saved the Giants from defeat, for a moment later, through an error by Bancroft and a single off

FANS PEEVED BY UMPIRES ENDING GAME IN TENTH

Commissioner Landis Says Arbiters Had Right to Act; Total Receipts Go to Charity Fund.

New York, Oct. 5.—The entire receipts from today's world series game between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees will be given to disabled soldiers, and charities of New York City, Commissioner Landis announced tonight.

The total receipts amounted to $120,554, a record for a world series game. In a statement issued to newspaper men, who had been acting for his hotel room, Commissioner Landis gave no direct explanation for the decision. He referred, however, to the fact that "many spectators" were dissatisfied with the ending of the game. His statement follows: "Under baseball law the umpires are charged with the sole authority of calling a game on account of darkness in the exercise of this authority, today's game was called by them at the end of the tenth inning. Many spectators were of the opinion that the game might have continued.

"Of course, the umpires on the field are in much better position to judge conditions that affect play. But, regardless of any question whether this decision was erroneous, the umpires and their teams, have decided, with the approval of the commissioner, that the entire receipts of today's game shall be turned over to the funds for the benefit of the disabled soldiers and to the charities of New York City."

This will give the players, the clubs and the baseball commission a share in the next three games. The records made in today's game, however, will be included in the records of the series.

BOODIE; 6 TOWNS BURNED BY FIRE IN NORTH WOODS

Reports From Quebec State That Two Conflagrations Are Raging in Widely Separated Forests.

Quebec, Que., Oct. 5.—Although the fires which are burning in the Halabury district in Northeastern Ontario are reported checked, timber land in the St. Maurice valley in Quebec is ablaze tonight. Fires are spreading south and southeast toward the city and the villages lying north of Montreal in what is described as Canada's worst conflagration.

A death toll of more than 30 persons is certain, it is reported. From the brush and forest fires which are raging over two widely separated areas in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

MEN OF JUDGMENT TO BE PUT ON FACT FINDING COMMISSION

Washington, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—President Harding had practically completed the selection of the seven members of the fact-finding commission created by executive order to investigate the national coal industry with a view to suggesting means for the betterment of mining operations and the elimination of strikes.

The president has planned to make public the names of the new commission tomorrow and to direct that it proceed as rapidly as possible to a thorough study of both the anthracite and bituminous coal industries and the problems of production, distribution and employment. High officials represent the president as anxious to form a body of eminent citizens connected with the coal industry who can give to the investigation the broad point of view of business and professional men of wide experience.

LONDON WORRIED OVER NEWS FROM THE NEAR EAST

British Cabinet Holds Hurdled Night Session; Greek Attitude Is Subject of Discussion.

London, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—The British cabinet met hurriedly at 11 o'clock tonight and went into anxious discussion over the Near East situation. It is understood that unsatisfactory news was received from Constantinople, but the nature of the advice was not disclosed.

At the afternoon meeting of the cabinet, the irreconcilable attitude of the Kemalists on certain material points was under consideration. The Greek delegates were to join the situation conference today and it may therefore be supposed that the government's latest advice had reference to their attitude in today's session.

Late in the afternoon's cabinet council, the foreign office received a summary of the Ankara government's reply to the allied invitation to a peace conference. It was a long and somewhat evasive reply which caused ministerial misgivings, however, for the cabinet did not take the reply under advisement, leaving this matter for tomorrow's meeting of the cabinet.

The reply is practically what might have been expected. It thinks the allied power for the return of eastern Thrace and agrees to the proposed peace conference. The view expressed in official quarters is that Smyrna is too distant and lacks the conveniences necessary for an international conference and there certainly will be no proposals to the Ankara suggestion.

It is denied officially that there is any foundation for the reports that an arrangement has been made for British withdrawal from the Near East. On this point the government's attitude is unchanged. Kandra, which is reported to have been occupied by Turkish cavalry, is outside the neutral zone as established by the declaration of the allies in May, 1921. Kandra lies about sixty-five miles from Constantinople.

The dispatch arrived in a very imperfect state, the conclusion of it being altogether missing. It was sufficiently obvious, however, that a very unsatisfactory state of things had developed at Mudania, and the premier hurriedly summoned a late meeting of the cabinet. The ministers met at 11 o'clock and after a long discussion, decided that the Greek Harington's dispatch was too mutilated to allow of taking a final decision thereon. They accordingly decided to send an urgent message to him at Constantinople, where he had stated that he would remain in Constantinople pending receipt of further instructions. The cabinet then separated.

UNION CASE BROUGHT AGAINST PLANE MAKERS

Richberg, Attorney for Shop Crafts, Says Action in Pressing Injunction Case Is Unfair.

Chicago, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—Appearing before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today, Donald H. Richberg, attorney for the railway shop crafts, accused the department of justice of lack of good faith in the proposal to expedite final disposition of the injunction case against the rail strike leaders.

Mr. Richberg declared that he and associate counsel had "held a very unsatisfactory conference" with Solicitor General Beek after a futile attempt to see Attorney General Daugherty in Washington with reference to an early final hearing or a review of the interlocutory injunction handed down by Judge Wilkerson on September 25.

In connection with his statement to the court, in which he recalled that Judge Wilkerson had notified the government it should hold itself in readiness to go to trial at an early date, he suggested that the government's course attempt to agree on a trial program. Mr. Richberg delivered to the court a copy of a letter to Solicitor General Beek severely criticizing the position of the government attorney.

After stating there were delays and disappointments over the October 2 appointment with the government attorneys, Mr. Richberg read the letter and urged that the solicitor general asserting the position of the department of justice be as follows:

"First—If it were practicable to have the judges hear the case, that proceeding would not expedite, but delay it.

"Second—That the department invites counsel for the defendants to consider agreeing on a statement of facts and asking consent for the defendants to submit such a statement of facts.

"Third—If an agreed statement of facts is not practicable, then two courses are open: "The first is to stipulate to submit the case on the affidavits with leave to either party to offer additional testimony.

"(B) A trial of the case largely on the affidavits, with the United States' except where a stipulation of facts may dispense with formal proof."

In the letter in reply to Solicitor General Beek, Mr. Richberg stated: "There are two matters which the defendants desire to have expedited: First, a review of the interlocutory injunction, and second, a final hearing on the merits. Such suggestions affect only the second matter and practically ignore the matter of probably greater importance to the defendants."

The shop crafts attorney said he would "seek to obtain protection of the rights of the defendants through orders which the court may enter and through a procedure which the court may adopt. "Safeguards protecting the view of the attorney general to the entry of any order or the adoption of any procedure which will protect the defendants from the abuse of official power."

Mr. Richberg's summary equity to obtain a tentative conviction of 400,000 men of criminal conspiracy upon evidence found solely in an undigested mass of disparate affidavits reeking with hearsay and hearsay, which made the means of depriving these men of liberty and property so long as the interlocutory injunction remains in force," the letter said.

"Safeguards protecting the view of the attorney general to the entry of any order or the adoption of any procedure which will protect the defendants from the abuse of official power."

Mr. Richberg characterized as a "waste of time" the trip to Washington which he and his associate counsel had made at the suggestion of the court and the assistant solicitor general.

ARIZONA OFFICIAL ACCUSED OF TAKING PART IN CONSPIRACY

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 5.—M. H. Simms, former secretary of state and a democratic candidate for governor in 1920, is charged with conspiracy in an indictment returned here by a special grand jury. It became known when Simms appeared before Judge R. C. Stanford in the criminal division of the superior court, and petitioned for a separate trial. It is said that four other prominent men are named in the indictment, but county officials refuse to disclose their identity.

The indictment is the outgrowth of a loan made by the state farm loan board on about 12,000 acres of land near Maricopa.

FORMER GOVERNOR WINS NOMINATION

Believe Executive's Power to Adjust Tariff Schedules Will Prevent Unreasonable Raises.

Ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York after a spirited contest with William Randolph Hearst, publisher, Smith's nomination finally was made unanimous.

New York, Oct. 5.—The allied delegations to the United States and German reparations and settlement of these problems as they may affect the industry and commerce of the United States, were the outstanding topics of interest at the third and closing session of the convention of the American Bankers' association here today.

While Sir Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the British exchequer, in an interview said that he believed the tariff law would increase the prices in this country to such an extent that foreign merchants would be able to leap the tariff barriers and remain in the United States market, the bankers expressed the hope that "the president will not hesitate to make use of the power granted him by the new tariff law to make such adjustments in the schedules as may be necessary from time to time for a restoration of our international commerce."

Wants Debt Suspended. Suspension of the debts of France, Italy and other European debtors of the United States for a period of ten years was recommended by President Alvin W. Kroch of the Equitable Trust company as a means of taking the allied debt out of the market for a definite period and creating an atmosphere of judicial gloomness in which the subject might be approached.

Any cancellation of Europe's debt to the United States at the present time would not assist either France or Italy in collecting reparations from Germany, he asserted. America must and will keep faith with Europe, he concluded, but Europe must keep faith with herself.

Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, in a defense of the Kansas industrial relations court, said that it should not be extended every time a new contract is to be made between the miners and coal operators or between the railroad workers and railroad heads. That the contract should be the basis of a vicious and costly civil war upon the helpless public.

Henry Morgenthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey, in an outline of the situation in the Near East, called the British forces at the Dardanelles under Sir John Harington as the saviors of the civilization of the world in the last two weeks.

There is a festering boil which must be destroyed," he asserted, "before there can be peace in the Balkans."

It was evident that the allied camp was divided against itself, and that the situation had become more serious than it had been for some time.

The British and Italian delegates conferred together for a moment, then asked that the conference be adjourned until the following day.

Constantinople, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—Abruptly, although not unexpectedly, the Mudania conference came to a halt this afternoon. When it will be resumed is a matter of conjecture.

General Harington, commander of the allied forces and head of the allied delegation, returned this evening on the battleship Iron Duke, and the Italian delegates, General Harington, and General Mombelli, suddenly raised the question, at the afternoon conference, of the evacuation of Constantinople. It is understood that the allied generals will go into conference with the high commissioners on certain serious differences which have arisen at Mudania.

General Mombelli, of Italy, supported General Harington, but the French delegates, General Harington, commander of the allied forces and head of the allied delegation, returned this evening on the battleship Iron Duke, and the Italian delegates, General Harington, and General Mombelli, suddenly raised the question, at the afternoon conference, of the evacuation of Constantinople.

NATION GRIPPED BY DRY AND HOT WAVE; BIG LOSS

Crops Not Badly Damaged, But Farmers Are Hampered in Plowing; Forests Are Blazing.

Washington, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—The weather elements just aren't acting right. That is the only explanation the United States weather bureau can make for the protracted drought which grips a great portion of the country. Meteorologically speaking, the winds and the barometric pressure are acting contrary to what they should be.

ARMY MONOPLANE GETS INTO AIR CARRYING A 10,300 POUND LOAD

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 5.—The huge monoplane T-7, in which Lieutenant John A. MacLennan and Oakley Kelly started today to make a new record for sustained flight after four had balked them temporarily in their attempt to fly to New York without a stop, will be circling over San Diego today.

The aviators had announced that they would try to remain in the air until 4 a. m. tomorrow, or later, to capture the sustained flight record.

Officers Rockwell field said that when the great machine went into the air at 5:56 a. m. today, its total weight was 10,300 pounds, more than ever had been carried up before by an aeronautical motor.

It was reported at Rockwell field that if possible the two aviators would remain up in the monoplane until tomorrow evening, making a flight of about 36 hours.

Small Crop Damage. Although the present dry spell is making somewhat of a record for territory covered and length of time, agriculturists and meteorologists declare it has been marked by an exceedingly small amount of crop damage. The main trouble, from the farmers' point of view, is that winter wheat is being retarded by inability to get the ground in condition.

Cotton in Texas and Oklahoma was slightly damaged several weeks ago in the early stages of the dry spell.

While farmers have not been bothered greatly over crop damage, great loss has been done by forest fires in the dry sections and grave fears have been expressed in this country and Canada for inhabitants of forested areas.

Many Are Homeless. In Northern Ontario, 5,000 persons have been rendered homeless, an undetermined number are feared to have perished, three towns have been wiped out and at least four others partially destroyed. Tentative estimates of the property loss amount to millions. With no prospect of rain, it is said the forest fires will have to burn themselves out.

In Northern Minnesota, an area about 100 square miles is burned in many places, and 100 fires having been reported. While it is thought no lives have been lost in that state, several towns have been reported destroyed and others damaged by the fires.

Because of the danger of fires, Governor Baxter of Maine has ordered the hunting season closed.

The drying of streams and reservoirs in many sections of the country has been reported. Wells have failed and farmers and small town residents were forced to haul water long distances.

Weather bureau officials can see no relief from drought and also from the general attending high temperatures in any section of the country, except where local showers are reported. From nine cities throughout the middle west have come reports of temperatures higher than any ever before recorded for this time of the year. For at least 24 hours fair and generally warmer weather is predicted.

WAR THREATENS IN NEAR EAST; TURKS DEMAND TO HAVE THRACE

Conference of Allies With Nationalist Leaders Is Broken Up When Critical Situation Arises.

Constantinople, Oct. 5 (by the Associated Press).—The question of the evacuation of Thrace was the cause of the rupture in the Mudania conference, it was announced at a late hour tonight. The attitude of the Turks and the Greeks was very bellicose, threatening the success of the conference.

Ismet Pasha, in a fiery mood upset the conference today. He declared that the Turkish army must enter Thrace immediately and his tone was determined and defiant. The Greek delegates were startled by reason with him after the fashion which had proved to be effective in dealing with minor preliminaries, but Ismet was adamant.

To some, it appeared tonight that the conference was at an end, but there is expectation that the diplomats will make a strong effort to smooth out the difficulties tomorrow.

Turkey has set her heart on Thrace and must have it immediately, said Ismet. "We will have it peacefully if possible," he added, then paused for a minute to make more effective his next deliberate phrase, "but, if not peacefully, we have the means to enforce our administration. And we must do it, and shall do it."

Ismet's position was completely at variance with the terms of the allied notes, which demanded the negotiations. General Harington explained, partly to the Turkish leader and partly to the allied associates.

General Mombelli endorsed and supported the British general statements forcefully, when suddenly a new bombshell was thrown into the gathering by General Charpy, the French representative, who announced abruptly that he had been instructed by his government to support the Turkish demands.

It was evident that the allied camp was divided against itself, and that the situation had become more serious than it had been for some time.

The British and Italian delegates conferred together for a moment, then asked that the conference be adjourned until the following day.

STOCK SHIPMENT RATE WEST CUT BY THE RAILWAY

Santa Fe Company Grants Reduction of 35 Per Cent for Range to Range Shipment to California.

A reduction of 35 per cent has been granted by the Santa Fe railway company on shipments of livestock from ranges here to ranges in Arizona and California. It was announced at the office of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association yesterday. The rate became effective yesterday and will be in force until October 31.

While there is not a very large movement of cattle from New Mexico to Arizona, the fact that that state is available for such shipment, it is expected that many state growers will take advantage of the chance to ship to the green ranges in southern California at the reduced rate. Reports from southern California have reached here to the effect that the range is in very good condition and is not stocked in capacity at present.

With the granting of the reduced rate to Arizona and California, cattle shippers can now ship their stock to good ranges in all directions out of New Mexico at the reduced rate. All railway companies operating in the southwest are co-operating in the effort to enable the state stockmen to send their cattle to better ranges at a reasonable price.

MINISTER READY FOR ELOPEMENT, SAY DETECTIVES

Rev. Mr. Hall Had Fund With Which to Take Mrs. Mills to Orient, Investigators Allege.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 5.—Authorities investigating the double murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Elizabeth Reinhardt Mills, today claimed to have discovered the secret "postoffice" used by the couple in exchanging love notes. This proved to be an old packing box, musty and dirty, in the cellar of the church of St. John the Evangelist.

Finding of the box came almost simultaneously with discovery of letters written by Hall to Mrs. Mills. County Detective David pointed out that these letters were the first which showed the minister had replied to love notes from the woman and proved that he reciprocated her affection.

Besides the secret "postoffice," detectives today announced they had discovered an elopement fund, which investigators believe the minister intended to use to finance a trip to the Orient with Mrs. Mills. The detective said they had found untrue reports that the pastor's private safe deposit vault contained only $19,000, inherited from his mother-in-law, and a $1,000 insurance policy naming his mother as beneficiary. Cashed away in the vault, the investigators said, were $20,000 in securities convertible at short notice.

Detectives working on local clues indicated that one or more arrests might be expected within forty-eight hours. They called reporters to Prosecutor Stricker's office and read extracts from one letter written by Mrs. Mills and found in Hall's pockets.

"I love you so much," it read. "I love you, I love you so much."

His friends say he has been suffering under a mental strain. He was former adjutant of the El Paso post of the American legion and scoutmaster of two troops.

SANTA FE CUTS FREIGHT RATES ON STOCK FEED

Railway Company Makes Reduction of One-Half in Tariff in Order to Enable Growers to Ship in Food.

As a further measure of relief to the livestock industry of New Mexico, the Santa Fe railway has announced a reduction of one-half in the freight rate into the state on cattle feed such as cotton seed cake, meal, hulls, corn and articles taking the same rates from Santa Fe line points in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and St. Joseph, Mo. The exact date on which the reduction will be put into action has not yet been announced, but it will continue until December 31.

The date when the reduction in the freight rate will become effective will be announced from the local office of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association as soon as the company officials have completed preliminary arrangements for handling the shipments.

With the Santa Fe railway taking the lead in the movement to aid the stockmen in drought areas of the state, it is expected that other lines will co-operate and will also grant a reduction on this type of shipment. The effect of the cut will be that a large number of growers will be able to afford to purchase feed to winter their stock and will be relieved of the heavy expense of shipping to other ranges, although reductions on the freight rate for range shipments have also been made by the railway companies, the Santa Fe taking the initiative in the decision to grant the lower rate.

FOREST SERVICE ROAD IN TEJANO CANYON IS NEARING COMPLETION

The five miles of forest service road on Tejano canyon, a stretch of the Ellis Loop road, which has been under construction during the past summer, is nearing completion. The road crew will finish its work about October 15, according to J. C. Karciner, supervisor of the Mangano forest.

The new road, a stretch of four miles, lies between the village of San Antonio and the Tecolote saddle. It is a first-class dirt road with frequent turn-outs. The additional mile is a down-grade road through a public camping grounds which has been fitted out by the forest service for picnic and park purposes. Work has been in progress since April 10.

GOVERNMENT TO FILE SUITS TO COLLECT ON MANY WAR CONTRACTS

Washington, Oct. 5.—The suit entered today by the government against the Dayton Airplane company, formerly the Dayton-Wright company, is one of several which is in course of preparation by the department of justice, based upon either alleged fraudulent collection under war contracts or on alleged illegal over-payment of certain items in those contracts in cases where no specific fraud is to be charged.

Other suits will be filed, officials declared, as each case is completed, if the facts in the government's possession seem to warrant recourse to the courts.

COUPLE ACCUSED OF HACKING TO PIECES A MAN NEAR PHOENIX

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 5.—Charged with the murder of Walter Steinbrook at Turkey Creek, Yavapai county, in December, 1920, Frank LaGrange and his wife arrested yesterday at Globe, today were taken to Prescott by Sheriff Joe Dillon of Yavapai county. The LaGranges were brought to Phoenix late last night and held in the county jail here until they were turned over to the Yavapai county sheriff.

The murder of Steinbrook, according to the authorities, was a crime of revolting ferocity and brutality. The LaGranges and Steinbrook were neighbors. It is stated. One day Steinbrook announced that he was going away. He told all his friends in the neighborhood good-bye. He had in his possession, Sheriff Dillon said, about $1,000. That was December 26, 1920. Not long after Steinbrook had left Turkey Creek, the police say, the LaGranges' wife disappeared. In June, 1921, Steinbrook's body, literally hacked to pieces with an axe or a hatchet, was found in an old abandoned shaft. The arms, legs and feet had been cut off and wrapped in an old gunny sack.

A search of the farm where the LaGranges had lived followed, and according to the officers, in a pile of ashes were found buttons and bits of a man's trousers, which, it was asserted, had been worn by Steinbrook.

The arrest of the LaGranges at Globe yesterday, Sheriff Dillon said, ended a search that had been started over a year ago.

MINNESOTA FOREST FIRES DYING OUT

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—Conditions throughout the eastern portion of the northern Minnesota forest fire district were much more encouraging tonight, according to reports to the state forestry department.

No reports from the Baudette country or from any other points in the western part of the fire zone had been received, but forestry officials were inclined to believe the situation there was likewise improving.

At Moose Lake, Meadow Lands and Park Rapids a feeling of optimism existed. The wind had diminished while the weather had cooled considerably. The fires for the most part in these districts were under control and before morning it was expected they would all be well in hand.

Three bad fires were still burning in the Park Rapids district, the worst one extending from a mile south of Rice Lake to Twin Lakes, a distance of approximately twelve miles.

WISCONSIN FIRE SITUATION IMPROVES

Superior, Wis., Oct. 5.—A north-west wind which came up last night is driving the forest fires in the Foxboro region of Douglas county back over the burned-over area and the situation there was regarded as much improved today.

FIRE BUG SETS ANOTHER BLAZE IN THE CAPITAL

Catron Building Is Target for Incendiary Operating in Santa Fe; Law Books Damaged.

Santa Fe, Oct. 5.—A dangerous looking fire, discovered in the Catron block on the east side of the plaza, was extinguished by the volunteer fire department early this morning, after a hard fight. The principal damage was by water, and was to the law library of the firm of Catron and Catron, on the second floor, and to the White House, a department store, on the first floor. Officers say the fire was of incendiary origin. This adds another to the long list of the daring attempts of the city's firebugs.

CALOMEL IS A DANGEROUS DRUG

Next Dose may Salivate You, Loosen Teeth or Start Rheumatism

Calomel is mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Adv.

BABE RUTH AND MEUSEL MAY BE BOOKED IN CITY

Two Yankee Outfielders May Be Seen in Action Here During Their Post-Season Tour This Fall.

Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel, star outfielders on the New York Yankee team, may be seen in action in Albuquerque this fall if negotiations now under way between Dan Padilla, manager of the Grays, and E. E. Allison, of Kansas City, who is planning a tour with the two stars, are successfully completed.

Under the leadership of Allison, it is planned that Ruth and Meusel will make a tour of several western and southern states this fall and winter, each taking a position with an opposing team for one game in each city. It is believed that this would not be against the league rules which prevent a player playing post-season games on another team under regular contract.

If the two stars are booked for Albuquerque, it is possible that a game will be arranged between the Grays and a combination of the Santa Fe and Belen teams. In this case, Ruth would play on one team and Meusel on the other.

The proposition which has been put up to Manager Dan Padilla is that the two stars will get the first $2,000 received at the gate, the management will get the next $1,000 and the remainder of the gate receipts will be split even. Padilla believes that there are enough fans in the city to make the game a success and stated yesterday that if the players were booked, he would extend the grand stand and bleachers to take care of several thousand more fans. The tickets, as stipulated in the contract submitted by Allison, must be sold at $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10 for the three grade seats.

RATON LIBRARY SERVES PEOPLE OF THE COUNTY

Works in Connection With the Schools and the St. Louis Rocky Mountain Railway Company.

Raton, N. M., Oct. 5.—The county board of education has an arrangement with the library whereby any school in the county may have a collection of books for the school year. The books may be kept as long as needed through the year which closed for a different collection. The books are sent only on the request of the teachers, as the benefit derived from the library depends on the teacher. During the past school year twenty-one county schools availed themselves of this privilege. There were 634 volumes used during the year, with a reported circulation of 1,154.

The library also maintains branches through the county for the use of the older people, and this service is much enjoyed. The year which closed the first of August showed that there had been sixteen different branches of thirty-three different collections. Five hundred sixty volumes were sent out, and the reported circulation was 1,402. In addition to this work the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific company has a contract with the library to place collections of books in each camp community house. This is arranged that any person in Colfax county who really is interested may have the use of the library. Books are also sent direct to readers at distant points, and the parcel postman also acts as library messenger.

A course on "The Use of Books and Libraries" is offered by the library of the public library this winter. This course consists of some eight or ten lectures on the arrangement of books and various points that will be of help to anyone using the library. The lectures will be given on Saturday evenings and an assignment of work will be given for each lecture. There is no fee for the course. Any teacher, club woman or library patron who would be interested in taking it, may register with the librarian. The course will probably begin within the next two weeks if enough persons desire it.

The library has recently received the gift of an interesting pamphlet on "Constitutional Limitations and Social Justice" by S. T. Hodson, who is the leading attorney for the Santa Fe system. The pamphlet was presented to the library by E. L. Goff. The pamphlet file of the library is a valuable collection of material. It is arranged by subject and is easy of access by the public. Many libraries make a feature of the museum exhibits. The first such venture by the Raton public library is the splendid collection of butterflies that was exhibited at the fair by Carl Schwachheim. This case has been lent to the library for an indefinite period and will be on display. The library also has books on butterflies which anyone interested may borrow. The Columbia phonograph, which is the property of Camp Raton, has been placed in library for the winter. A short program of music will be given on the machine every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is hoped to build up a lending collection of records some time in the future.

"IF TRIS ISN'T IN IT I DON'T CARE TO SEE IT," SAYS TEXAN

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—If anything worth while is going on in baseball—the world's series, for instance—Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Americans, ought to have something to do with it, in the opinion of Charles W. Harrison, an oil man from southwest Texas, who came here yesterday to see Speaker play in the world's series.

Harrison, not a dyed-in-the-wool fan and not a reader of sport pages, decided to go to the world's series this year.

"Who is Speaker with now?" Harrison asked a Texas friend.

"Still with Cleveland," he was told. So to Cleveland Harrison came yesterday to see the world's series," he announced. "Where is it?"

Told that it was being played in New York, that and Speaker had no part in it, Harrison registered but mild disappointment. "Well, if Speaker isn't going to play it can't be much," he concluded.

Mrs. Harrison, who was with him, admitted he was quite right.

ST. PAUL MAKES IT EVEN SERIES WITH BALTIMORE CLUB

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—Mainly because of some wonderful pitching by Rube Benton, former big league southpaw, the St. Paul club evened up the series with Baltimore by capturing the second game this afternoon, 2 to 1. Benton held the hard-hitting International league crew to three hits and after McCoy had driven in Baltimore's only run in the second inning with a short single to right, was never in danger.

Opposed to Benton was Lefty Groves, who fanned 12 players of the New York Giants in an exhibition game last week. Groves fanned nine of the Saints today, but was wild and his bases on balls and two errors back of him were responsible for both of St. Paul's runs.

DENVER U COMES PREPARED FOR A HARD STRUGGLE

Will Arrive Tonight With 26 Football Warriors for Tomorrow's Game With the Lobos.

Denver University griders, 26 strong, will arrive in Albuquerque at 7:30 o'clock tonight, ready for tomorrow's game with the Lobos.

According to all reports, the Parsons are invading New Mexico loaded for Lobo, with the avowed intention of carrying the Lobo scalp back to Denver. However, the Lobos have no intention of tamely submitting to such humiliation, and tomorrow's gridiron battle is expected to go down in football history as one of the most terrific struggles ever witnessed in Albuquerque.

Another change was made in the Lobo lineup yesterday afternoon, Tom Popejoy, halfback on last year's team, who has been playing end this season, has been placed in his former position at right half and his place at end will probably be taken by Kelly, Hammond, or Canteloni. Kelly, who played half on Roswell high school's championship team last year, has been showing up well at end in practice.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

NELLIE MAKES A NEW ACQUAINTANCE.

Chapter 16.

Enthusiastically Nellie thanked Mr. Robinson for the pleasure he had given them, and made him laugh heartily at some of her comments. As she turned to her desk she caught the bookkeeper's eyes fixed upon her face, a strange warning sort of look in their depths. But with a shrug she started to work.

"The poor nut," she said to herself. "He never wants anyone to smile or talk. He should be in an undertaker's place, or the morgue; his sour face makes me shiver." But soon she had forgotten the thin, serious-faced man. Her work was going well. She was happy.

About this time Cora, who had not been very well, lost her position. Not because she was not competent but the firm's business had fallen off to an appreciable extent. Cora, being the last stenographer hired, was the first to be let go. They gave her a good reference and dismissed her with words of regret. It was a blow, a hard one. She had spent quite a bit on Nellie, more than she could quietly at home a few days before she tried for another position.

"You must take a week and rest," Mrs. Thompson said kindly. The girls too urged her to remain quietly at home a few days before she tried for another position.

"Nellie and I can pay the expenses for a week, I guess," Gladys said and Nellie, her arms around Cora, begged her to stay in bed and let them wait upon her. But Cora was obstinate. She went at once to Miss McBride's agency, and with only one day lost found a position with a good firm, and two dollars a week advance. But the work was much harder. Of this she, however, said nothing. She must work. What was the use of grumbling?

"They aren't particularly kind. We are just machines, like our typewriters. But they are fair to those who do good work. They wouldn't keep me or any other girl a minute who didn't. There's no sentiment. They want what they pay for—and more."

"But think of getting $15 a week!" Nellie said. "I wonder if I will ever be worth $15 of anybody's money?"

"Of course you will, if you keep on trying to improve," Cora encouraged. "You type as well as I do, and if you work at your shorthand, look out for your spelling, you will soon get a raise."

"I think it would help Nellie, if you'd talk in a more lady-like way," Gladys broke in. "In some offices your kidding would lose you your job. Save it for us, and that boy who walked home with you the other night. Who was he anyway?"

"Just an office boy in the building. He lives near here. You weren't thinking that kid was a beauty, were you?"

"He's as old as you are, ain't he?"

"Maybe—I guess so! But boys like him don't know nothing. They're just silly kids. He said a funny thing, though," she frowned.

"What?" The girls weren't really very curious about each other's affairs. They were, however, intensely interested.

"Why he asked me where I worked, and when I told him he whistled, then said:

"The old guy keeps changing doesn't he? He has a new girl offener than anybody in the building. Must be hard to work for."

"I told him he wasn't! Not a bit, that he was as kind as could be. Then he whistled again, and said:

"Look out for him! Them old fellows ain't being so awful kind to their stenogs for nothing—and what does his girls leave him for if he's so kind?"

"I told him they wasn't good stenogs most likely, but he didn't say nothing to that, just whistled again and then we was here. I wonder what he meant by them whistles? I'm going to ask him if I see him again."

Cora looked troubled. "She had begun to feel a little uneasy about Nellie. Often she brought home flowers Mr. Robinson had given her, lovely blooms from the florist. The two girls had once given her theater tickets, and once he had taken her to lunch. It was all innocent enough—but Nellie was so pretty, so bright and winning in spite of her impudence. "I won't say anything more," Cora said to herself. "I won't put ideas into her head. She needs the money dreadfully and if she leaves he might not give her a reference." Tomorrow Cora visits Dr. Robinson's Office.

BUTTONS, BUTTONS; THIS HAS PLENTY

By ELOISE

There is no need to ask the classic old question, "button, button who has the button," for one glance at this frock and it is plain to be seen that this young lady much have most of them on her frock. From neck to hem a row of shiny black buttons are kept in place by fancy white buttonholes which form practically the only trimming on this black satin frock.

A dainty white lace collar and long side panels are interesting features of the model. The fact that it is satin in this hour of crepe supremacy is another interesting fact. The short sleeves which are slashed and turned back in a novel manner are faced with white satin. It is one of those comfortable frocks which can be slipped on quickly to make the wearer ready for any occasion of the day.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

PLANNING YOUR HALLOWEEN PARTY.

The following splendid letter was sent to me by a reader to help other women who are planning a Halloween party for their sons or daughters, and indeed it will be a help, I am sure.

"The following party was given by a high school girl to her friends: When the guests arrived they found the house lighted only with jack-o'-lanterns (later on, however, we turned on the lights). Three boys, wrapped in sheets, received the guests; one of them stood at the front door, another, the well-dressed, and with low bow and sweep of his arm, to point silently to the second boy, who stood at the foot of the stairs; this second boy pointed up the stairs where the third boy was stationed. And, of course, the third boy pointed the girls to one dressing room and the boys to another.

The ghostly atmosphere was further sustained in this way: The girls' dressing room a little girl was hidden under the bed, to reach out and pinch the legs of the girl guests; this, of course, brought screams and laughter. Another girl was hidden in a closet of an adjoining room, where she groaned in the most terrifying fashion!

When all the guests were gathered in the living room, lemonade was served at once. We had put a tripod from which hung a large iron pot. Under the pot was a red light, for a flame, and kindling, and the girls were told to look at the pot. Two girls, dressed as witches, came into the room singing a double, double, toil and trouble," and one of them stirred the lemonade for a few minutes. Then sheeted glasses were produced and everybody was served with the drink.

The lights were then turned on and games played. One of these games we made up ourselves, as follows:

Halloween fortunes: We had bought some thin writing paper and cut it into short strips which were not much wider than between the lines of ruled writing paper; on these strips we wrote original predictions which might apply to either sex. We cut two slips in each little paper and pushed the end of a hen feather through them. On the evening of the party, a boy mounted a chair, announced that everybody was to scramble for a fortune-paper, and requested any guest who happened to pick up more than one to give one of the slips to a guest who had none (as there were only as many slips as there were guests). Then, still on the chair, this boy scattered the fortune-papers.

At the supper hour we matched up the couples in this way: Each boy was given a bow and arrow. On a sheet which hung over a blackboard, we had pinned pieces of paper cut in the shape of bats (the animal, not a baseball bat). On the under side of each paper bat was written a girl's name. The boys took turns shooting at these bats and someone stood near enough to the sheet to see which one was hit. Of course the boy took to supper the girl whose name he found written on the under side of the paper bat he had hit; as we had a buffet supper, he filled the girl's plate as well as his own."

AROUND THE COURT HOUSE

OIL AND "GAS" ARE THE CAUSE OF MANY FIRES

Fire Chief Urges Albuquerqueans to Exercise Great Care in Handling Either of These Products.

"Gasoline, oil stoves and oil rags and mops are some of the most common causes of fires," City Fire Chief Henderson declared yesterday when discussing the educational campaign being carried on in every city of the United States this week, which is designated as Fire Prevention Week.

"People should never take the slightest chances with gasoline, as it is one of the most dangerous materials in common use," Chief Henderson stated, and added that it should never be kept in glass bottles or jars but should always be stored in an approved metal container which can be kept with the stoppers well adjusted.

"People who clean clothing with gasoline or other similar products should be very careful not to get near a spark or fire until the fluid has completely evaporated," he advised, and said that such cleaning should never be done in the house or in a room. "That sort of cleaning should be done out of doors," Chief Henderson declared, "and the things should be left out of doors a reasonable time to give the fluid a chance to evaporate." He declared that in case of a gasoline fire, the blaze should be extinguished with a chemical or smothering agent, unless buried in sand.

Great care should be exercised in filling oil or gasoline lamps and stoves and this operation should always be done in the open. Gasoline should never be kept in large quantities unless buried in the ground. Oil lamps and stoves should be cleaned at least once a week, Chief Henderson claims, as it is the accumulation of grease and bad wicks which causes smoking and explosion in most cases.

"Oil rags and mops should never be kept in the house or in the garage," the chief stated, "for aside from the danger of their becoming ignited by sparks or from a match, they may also ignite if they undergo spontaneous combustion. If they must be kept in the house or in the garage, they should be kept in a metal container. This includes the rags used for polishing furniture, automobiles, floors and also any old clothing which has become greasy from working around an automobile or other machinery where oil and grease is used freely."

BURLINGTON TO BUILD $2,500,000 SHOPS

Chicago, Oct. 5.—New locomotive, car and general repair shops to cost approximately $2,500,000 are to be built by the Burlington railroad in Denver, Colo. It was announced today. The appropriation has been approved and all plans for the huge plant have been made in the company's headquarters in Chicago, and work will be started at once.

The rapid development of the trans-Missouri river country, the Wyoming old fields and Colorado particularly, were given as the reasons why the Burlington management of the road to decide upon the erection of what will be one of the largest plants of its kind west of the Mississippi. The shops, when finished, will employ several thousand men, will have an annual payroll of $1,700,000, and will also take care of all the work for the Colorado and Southern road, which is owned by the Burlington.

The shops, with auxiliary tracks, will cover an area of 330 acres. All machinery will be electrically driven. The work will be completed in about one year.

WOMAN'S LONG FLIGHT

She will leave shortly after daylight tomorrow morning for the second day's flight, accompanied by four mail planes from here,

CHIEF OF KLAN INDICTED ON A GRAFT CHARGE

E. Y. Clarke, Imperial Wizard, Said to Have Appropriated Part of Funds to Bond Other Officers.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—E. Y. Clarke, imperial wizard pro tem of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was indicted by the United States grand jury here today on charges of using "the mails to effect schemes to defraud." He was released on bond of $500.

The charges against Mr. Clarke, who yesterday announced his resignation as pro tem, head of the Klan to take temporary head of the Klan to effect Nov. 10 are based, according to the true bill rendered by the grand jury, on alleged use of the mails in collecting money from certain members, subordinate officers and employees of the Ku Klux Klan on the pretense that such moneys would be used to pay premiums to surety companies furnishing bonds for these Klansmen.

The indictment alleged that the sums collected were in excess of the amount required to pay such premiums, and that this excess was converted to the personal use and benefit of Mr. Clarke.

According to allegations in the memorandum accompanying the charges, Mr. Clarke used the mails to collect money on the following plan:

Grand gobins were required to be bonded in the amount of $5,000, for which a fee of $25 was required to pay premium to bonding company; king kiegates were required to furnish bonds of $2,500, for which a fee of $12.50 was required for premium; and kiegates were required to furnish $1,000, for which a fee of $5 was required for premium.

It is charged that the National Surety company of New York was designated in the literature sent through the mail by Mr. Clarke as the bonding company, and it is further charged that the premium rates of this company for $5,000, the amount of a grand goblin's bond, was only $25, and that the difference in this amount and the fee collected of the grand goblin were converted to the personal benefit of Mr. Clarke, and that proportionately smaller differences on the lower bonds were handled in a like manner.

In a statement tonight concerning the indictment, Mr. Clarke termed it "another effort on the part of the enemies of the Klan to hurt the Klan by discrediting me."

MEN BLIND TO WOMAN'S SUFFERING

How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain endured by women in their own household, and often without a murmur? They have no patience when the overworked wife and mother begins to get pale, have headaches, backaches, faint spells, or is melancholy and cannot sleep. There is help for every woman in this condition, as evidenced by the many voluntary letters of recommendation which we are continually publishing in this paper for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to give it a trial.—Adv.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

EARLY RISING

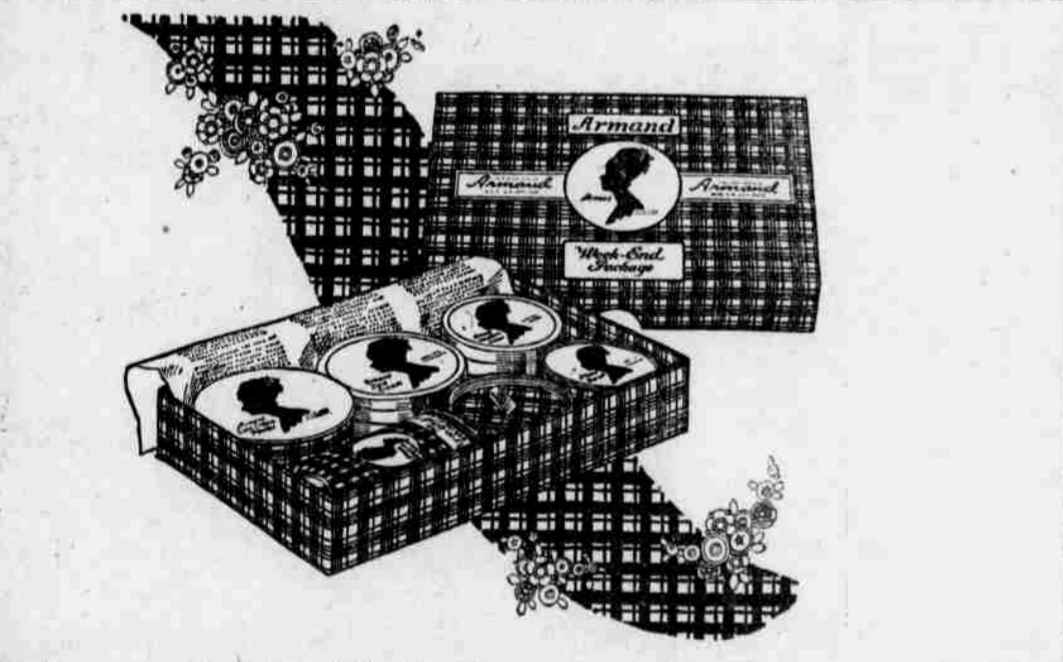

My rude forefathers used to say, "If you expect to grow and thrive, at nine o'clock you'll hit the hay, and you'll get up at half past five. In daylight hours you'll strive and strain, and in the night you'll calmly snooze; the early bird," they would explain, "rakes in the worm that sluggards lose." Through all the younger years of mine, the course prescribed was fairly run, and I was sound asleep by nine, and up a-cooing with the sun, and now that I am growing old, my sorrel whiskers streaked with gray, the ingrown habit keeps its hold, and I am up at break of day. And when the clocks are striking nine, and darkness veils the wind-swept sea, I say, "That downy couch of mine, up near the roof, looks good to me!" When I consult the village vet, who doctors me when I am ill, he says, "You're good for long years yet—you do not need the leech's skill. It's wonderful how blithe you skip beneath the burden of your years; while other graybeards lose their grip, you're husky as a yoke of steers!" The wise old maxims of our dads in modern days don't always thrive; but still some bright precocious lads retire at nine and rise at five.

MR. BRYAN AS A PINCH HITTER.

Nobody will gainsay that William Jennings Bryan is welcome wherever he goes. His genial presence never fails to radiate good humor, in spite of the Cross of Gold that has lain so heavily on his shoulders for many years. He continues to be the leading attraction on the democratic circuit. He rarely fails to provoke tears when he talks on the bible or laughter when he discusses politics.

Mr. Bryan is always at his best in denouncing special privilege. He has been doing it for nearly thirty years. Who else could have displayed the same verbal skill in condemning the republican party for the repeal of the excess profits tax? "An excess tax," said he, "is an excessive tax and an excessive tax is profiteering and profiteering is stealing."

The Federal Reserve Board was likewise condemned as an organ of special privilege. Mr. Bryan dwelt on the fact that the board was composed of bankers and lawyers and that agriculture, labor and business had no representation, but he failed to remind his hearers that this same board was created by the democratic administration of which he was a member.

A democratic administration would have found ways and means for passing a soldiers' bonus bill, but it would have taxed the ingenuity of the great Commoner to tell his audience by what means seven billion dollars could be raised. He is opposed to taxation of any sort.

Mr. Bryan spoke seriously and to the point when he said that the people did not send a representative to Congress to think for them. "When you send a senator to Washington, you send him to speak for you and do the things you want him to do."

MAIN STREET—THEN AND NOW.

One of the oldest institutions in the world is Main Street. There is not a town, village or city that does not have its Main Street. It is traversed by all sorts of people; it is a composite picture of human nature wherever people dwell.

A FALLACIOUS THEORY.

When Charles Dickens first visited America in 1842 one of the things he most desired to see was the Shaker community at New Lebanon in Eastern New York. It was then at the height of its material prosperity, but the novelist was repelled by the gloom of its doctrines and he also clearly perceived the economic fallacy which was destined to bring about its downfall.

had more of those communities than any other country in modern times, but it is well to remember that communism itself is most ancient and was a condition of primitive man. As the world progressed it discarded the communist idea. As men accumulated property they asserted their rights of ownership. The opportunity to own property became a powerful incentive to endeavor and thus man recorded new achievements that made life more comfortable and pleasant for all.

There are intelligent persons who still hold that in a perfectly ordered world the communistic scheme would be feasible. But this is a practical and not an ideal world, and except in its earliest times, communism has not worked. It has been tried and found wanting.

TODAY'S BEST THOUGHT

Do not keep the alabaster box of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier. The kind things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffin, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my body, I would rather they would bring them out in my weary and troubled hours and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin without flowers, a funeral without a eulogy, than a life without the sweetness and love emanating from sympathy. Let us learn to anoint our friends while they are yet among the living. Post-mortem kindness does not cheer the burdened heart, flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way.

As the People View It

Editor Morning Journal: About two months ago I was told by a specialist that I must take my son to a high dry climate. I happened to know a young man who had come to Albuquerque and recovered his health and on the strength of this five weeks ago we started to what we imagined the Land of Nowhere.

I had no definite picture of Albuquerque—just a hazy idea of a desolate dreary place, sleepy and listless, where I would be desperately homesick. My son begged to stop in Colorado Springs but I insisted that we come on to New Mexico, saying that we were coming for a purpose that we could well afford to sacrifice for.

We got here in the night and the next morning we started out to get a look at the city. We were delighted to find that we had come to a better city than we had left. The climate was all we had hoped for and before we had been here a week we had decided to make Albuquerque our permanent home.

True, the profuse vegetation, vegetable gardens and fruit laden trees that we left behind are not seen here except in irrigated areas. Instead we have bright, health-giving sunshine and picturesque scenery.

I do not believe that the charms of Albuquerque and the wonders of New Mexico have been sufficiently advertised and was much pleased to see that the Chamber of Commerce is advertising in The Literary Digest.

A land of sunshine and pure air. Of the picturesque and quaint. Of natural wonders great and rare. And colors no artist but nature can paint.

A LITTLE LAUGHTER

Present Punishment A negro pastor coming upon a group of his parishioners playing African golf, reproached them and demanded: "Don't go! all know it's wrong to shoot craps!"

"Yes, pahson," admitted one culprit, "an believe me ah's payin' to mah sins."—Boston Transcript.

Great Game "You seem to be very fond of golf."

"Great game," exclaimed Senator Sorghum. "It gives a man a chance to get out under the broad, blue sky with a friend and talk confidentially without a chance of being overheard."—Washington Star.

Merely Bad Memory Professor Nonat was very absentminded. One morning he drifted into the barber's shop to be shaved. After the operation he continued to occupy the chair, and the barber, thinking he had dozed off, gently reminded him by saying: "Asleep, sir?"

The professor started. "Bless me, not!" he exclaimed. "I am not asleep, but I am terribly short-sighted. When I took my glasses off I was no longer able to see myself in the mirror opposite, and naturally I supposed I had already gone home."—Answers-London.

Dead Loss "Can you gaze at these lofty, snow-capped peaks and not be thrilled by Nature's handiwork?"

"Not a thrill," replied the practical person. "What good is a mountain without a hotel on it?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Embarrassing Mr. Peet, a very shy young man was introduced to a fascinating young woman who, misunderstanding his name, addressed him constantly as Mr. Peters, much to his distress.

Finally summoning up courage he remonstrated. "Oh, don't call me Peters—call me Peet."

"Ah, but I don't know you very well," Mr. Peters said the girl, blushing as she withdrew behind her fan.—Mobile Register.

MINING MAN DEAD. Los Angeles, Oct. 5.—Charles E. Ayer, manager of the San Francisco office of an Arizona mining company, operating at Dos Cabezas, was found dead in a berth on a train when it arrived here today.

He was on his way home from the annual meeting of directors of the mine at Dos Cabezas.

quotations at Liverpool counting as a bullish factor, together with renewed difficulties about peace with the Turks. The close was unaltered at gains of 1/4 to 1 1/4. According to some authorities, the Liverpool advance, which came as something of a surprise to most traders here, was due largely to scantiness of offerings from this side, a circumstance growing out of transportation difficulties, especially east of Liverpool. In connection with the Liverpool advance, however, much notice was also taken of the fact that for the first time the direct approach to Constantinople was being menaced by Turkish cavalry and that the signing of an armistice was being delayed.

JONES ASKS PRIORITY IN GIVING CARS TO STATE'S CATTLE MEN

Socorro, N. M., Oct. 5.—Senator Jones and James F. Hinkle, democratic candidate for governor, appeared here tonight.

It became known here that while in Belen this morning, Senator Jones sent an extensive telegram to the interstate commerce commission, urging that body to act in behalf of the livestock men crippled by the drought. The senator suggested to the commission that priority rule be made to permit cattlemen to obtain railroad cars ahead of other industries so that stock may be moved to pastures where there is grass. The senator further suggested that the government grant the use of the reservation lands in Arizona for pasturing New Mexico cattle and sheep.

"The railroads in the state, it was learned, have indicated a willingness to co-operate in the move."

MOTION IN THE MAGEE-M' MILLEN SUIT IS HEARD

Ruling of the Judge Will Be Handed Down This Morning; Case May Come to Trial in Court Today.

C. C. Magee's motion seeking to make Joshua Reynolds indemnitator for him in the $50,000 libel suit brought against him by A. B. McMillen, was given a hearing in the district court yesterday afternoon and was taken under advisement by Judge M. E. Hickey until this morning.

In an affidavit attached to the motion filed by Magee, he alleges that in the deal for the transfer of the Morning Journal made between Magee and Sidney M. Well, acting as agent for an unknown purchaser, it was agreed that the purchaser should either secure the dismissal of the libel suits brought against Magee by McMillen and Reynolds, or that the purchaser should stand as indemnitor. This contract, it was claimed by the defendant, was approved by McMillen. He also alleges that the unknown principal in the purchase has proven to be Joshua Reynolds. In answer to these allegations contained in the affidavit attached to the motion filed by Magee, the plaintiff, A. B. McMillen, denied that he had entered into an agreement with anyone for the dismissal of his libel suit against C. C. Magee and also denied that Sidney M. Well acted as agent for Joshua Reynolds in the purchase of the Morning Journal, but contended that Well acted as agent for Magee in the transaction.

If the motion of the defendant is overruled, it is probable that the case will be tried on its merits in the district court this morning.

LUTHERANS WANT MORE MINISTERS FOR THE CHURCH

Meeting of Synod Here Begins Effort to Interest Young Men in Preaching the Gospel.

The meetings of the Rocky Mountain synod at St. Paul's English Lutheran church closed with a banquet of the Lutheran Brotherhood last evening. Two addresses featured the evening; one by Dr. J. P. Krueger, president of Midland college, Neb., on "Men for the Age," and the other by A. D. Cella of Tooele, on "Lutheran Contributions to Society."

The women's missionary society elected the following officers at the morning session: President, Mrs. I. L. Martz, Denver, Colo.; vice president, Mrs. R. B. Wolf, Colorado Springs, Colo.; recording secretary, Mrs. O. F. Weaver, Boulder, Colo.; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Robinson, Denver. Mrs. A. M. Knudsen of Albuquerque was made a life member of the general society.

The sessions of the day were devoted to the hearing of reports and discussion of plans for future work. Financial support was assured Midland college. An effort will be made to secure more men for the Gospel ministry to meet what the synod calls "the distressing shortage of candidates for the ministerial office."
