NEAR EASTERN SITUATION ASSUMES GRAVER ASPECT; BRITISH MARSHAL FORCES

Kemalists Are Insisting on the Right to the Immediate Occupation of Eastern Thrace and Give the Allies a Time Limit for a Reply on This Question; France and Italy Reported to Be Supporting Turks.

Constantinople, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Italy has ordered General Mombelli, its representative at the Mudania conference, to support the Turkish claims.

London, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Despatches received here tonight give even a graver aspect to the Near Eastern situation than that of earlier in the day. The Kemalists are insisting on the right to the immediate occupation of eastern Thrace and have given the allies a time limit, expiring this evening, for a reply on this question. The Turks have refused to accept the proposal for allied occupation of Thrace or any allied control, and apparently they are supported in this stand by the French and Italian governments.

Everything seems now to depend on the British cabinet reply to the report. Brigadier General Harrington, which was said to be anxiously awaited in Constantinople this evening. It was expected that General Harrington would ask of the Turks an extension of their time limit for the occupation of Thrace until tomorrow morning, when he hoped to be in possession of his government's instructions. In the meantime General Harrington had proceeded with the other allied representatives back to Mudania in the hope of renewing the conference.

The fact that Mr. Franklin-Bouillon, the French envoy, again has accompanied the French delegates to Mudania, is interpreted in official circles here as a bad sign, as he is regarded as supporting the views of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Turkish nationalist leader, although it is not definitely known whether the French government actually is backing him in his attitude.

Apparently Venizelos, the former Greek premier, is putting no obstacles in the way of Turkish occupation of Thrace and is advising the Greek government against a military attempt to retain the province. Venizelos even is said to be willing to agree to a rectification of the frontier of Thrace on the line of the 1914 frontier.

In the meantime the British are making strong efforts, both naval and military, in the Channel region of Atlantic Turkey.

One Constantinople dispatch represents Mustafa Kemal Pasha as being tired of the delays incident to the negotiations and as wanting some understanding in writing from the allies.

ALLIED PROTOCOL IS REJECTED BY TURKS

Constantinople, Oct. 6.—Ismet Pasha, the Turkish nationalist representative in Mudania, definitely rejected the allied protocol for the occupation of Thrace by 1,000 allied troops. He also declined the establishment of allied control commissions in Thrace. The Turkish demand is for immediate occupation of Thrace, without foreign control.

General Harrington, Admiral Mombelli, General Sharple, the allied military representatives, with Hamid Bey, the Turkish delegate, and M. Franklin-Bouillon, the special French envoy, left here for Mudania at 2 o'clock this afternoon. General Harrington is expected to see the Kemalists note by reply to the allied note by wire.

Three additional British dreadnaughts arrived before Chanak today, bringing the strength in first class battleships up to nine. The British are making extensive naval concentrations in the neighborhood of Ismid.

COURT INTERCEDES; RECONCILIATION OF COUPLE IS RESULT

Chicago, Oct. 6.—When Mrs. Isabelle Mattison appeared in court today to charge her husband with neglect, Judge Morgan told her:

"In my estimation you are a hundred times more beautiful than your husband's alleged affinity. I don't see why she should be able to out you out."

"I agree with you, Judge," said the husband, Gerald Mattison, who previously had been accused by his wife of indulging in a "two-mile kiss" while riding in a taxicab with another woman.

The intercession of the court resulted in a reconciliation, Gerald being cautioned to devote more time to his wife.

VETERANS AT BAYARD WANT BETTER MAIL SERVICE FROM DEMING

Fort Bayard, N. M., Oct. 6.—Sylvester City, Fort Bayard, Santa Rita and all towns and rural routes on the Santa Fe branch northwest of Deming, N. M., will be served with a morning delivery of mail at an early date, if plans of the Chester L. Thompson Post No. 23 of the American legion are carried through to a successful conclusion.

At the meeting of the post Wednesday evening a resolution was adopted petitioning the post office department, and congress if necessary, to inaugurate an auto mail route through this territory, leaving Deming at about midnight, and bringing up the big mail deliveries brought in by the evening and night trains from all sections, which now lie over at Deming 12 or 15 hours before being delivered to the residents of this section.

BOAT TRAFFIC IS DEALT HARD BLOW BY RULING

All Vessels Are Prohibited From Having Intoxicants Aboard in American Territorial Waters.

Washington, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—All vessels, American and foreign-owned, are prohibited from having liquor on board in American territorial waters under an interpretation of the prohibition amendment and the enforcement act handed down today by the department of justice. Moreover, the transportation or sale of intoxicants on American craft, wherever operated, was held to be prohibited.

American territorial waters were concerned in the ruling, not only within the three-mile limit of continental United States, but also those within the same limit of the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Alaska. The law would not apply in the Panama canal zone, as that zone is specifically exempted by the statute itself.

So far as American ships are concerned, the sale or transportation of liquor will cease at once, or as soon as those vessels reach their home ports. In the case of foreign ships the decision will become operative as soon as the necessary regulations can be prepared and promulgated by the treasury department.

Court Action Foreseen.

Court action looking to a final determination of the application of American drug laws to foreign ships entering American ports was foreseen by both Attorney General Daugherty and Chairman Lasker of the shipping board. Mr. Daugherty said he already had been advised that a case was about to be filed which would bring the issue to the supreme court.

Chairman Lasker was of the opinion that the first move of foreign lines would be to seek an injunction restraining the government from enforcing the law. He said it was reasonable to suppose that the courts would grant such an injunction with a result that foreign ships would continue to arrive with liquor on board until there was a final decision by the highest court.

The attorney general said his department would cooperate in every effort to expedite a ruling by the supreme court. Publication of the opinion of the department of justice followed a White House conference, to which President Harding summoned Mr. Daugherty, Secretaries Hughes and Mellon and Chairman Lasker. Various phases of the situation were discussed, including the possible results of enforcement upon the international relations of the United States.

Must Enforce the Law.

High administration officials explained that there was no course for the executive branch of the government except to enforce the law as interpreted by the legal department. The interpretation was based upon recent decisions of the supreme court in a case involving the authority of the United States to interfere with the transfer of a liquor cargo from one foreign ship to another in American waters.

In a divided opinion the court confirmed the authority of prohibition agents to prevent such a transfer, and in the view of the attorney general, went as far as to hold that the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act repealed a prior existing treaty with Great Britain.

Chairman Lasker predicted that enforcement of the law would operate to an immediate disadvantage of the American merchant marine and would make more necessary enactment of the ship subsidy bill, if the American flag was to stay on the high seas.

The third question is why Mrs. Hall failed to make any declaration of the large sum of money found in Hall's home, and the fourth is why neither she nor Mills, in their original questioning by Somerset county authorities, made any statement of the close friendship and interest which the rector and Mrs. Mills had shown in each other.

The most important new discovery, which was made in the systematic questioning of members of the church choir and persons living near the church today was the finding of what detectives called the "love fence." This was a special chicken and barbed wire fence which Hall ordered Mills to build about a shed in the rear of the church. Detectives said they were informed by persons living near the church that on an occasion they had seen Hall and Mrs. Mills leave the church separately, by a rear door and go to this shed. The barbed wire barrier, the detectives said, prevented anyone from approaching the shed from the rear.

Colonel N. A. Swarcops, commander of the New Jersey state police, for the first time today participated in the investigation. Besides Phillips, the authorities questioned Mrs. Benjamin Vogt, one of the women who have reported hearing two automobiles racing along Easton avenue after the shooting is believed to have occurred.

"We know something about these automobiles," was the only statement which Prosecutor Stricker would make after the questioning of Mrs. Vogt.

ALLIED ENVOYS ARE OPTIMISTIC AS TO OUTCOME

Constantinople, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Although no definite news has yet been received from Mudania, the allied envoys here are optimistic as to the outcome of the negotiations.

CHINA MAY GAIN AN ADDITIONAL INCOME BY HIGHER DUTIES

Peking, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—China will gain an additional annual income of between $15,000,000 and $17,000,000 by increased import duties, if the findings of the tariff commission, which has been sitting for months at Shanghai, are approved by the interested nations.

The commission, with the latitude accorded China at the Washington conference, has finished its work of revising the tariff and has recommended an increase to five per cent to go into operation December 1 next.

It is understood the proposal will be submitted for approval without delay to the different countries that participated in the Washington conference.

SPECULATION IN GRAIN DEFENDED BY N. Y. BROKER

Livermore Says He Does Not Think Operations of Individuals Influences the Prices of Commodities.

New York, Oct. 6.—Jesse R. Livermore, stock and grain market operator, appearing as a witness before the federal trade commission investigating speculation in the grain market, declared today that he had never known of any "manipulation" in the commodity markets and stated that he did not think the operations of any individuals influenced market prices of commodities.

He declared that the grain market was an institution beneficial both to the farmers and to the consumers, stating that a market for futures was necessary to allow farmers to dispose of their grain, but that for the market, he stated, three or four large elevator corporations would control grain prices at their will.

Explaining his operations, Mr. Livermore said that in the grain market are just like those in any of the other markets, 1 figure and guess at future supply and demand by judging by similar events in the past and by studying the present statistical position. The only time a speculative investor makes money is when he forecasts the future correctly, when he sees probable future conditions and judges future prices.

Mr. Livermore defined a speculative investor as a man "who sizes up" future conditions and who trades on the basis of his conclusions. He declared that both speculator and gambler who took short flying chances, were stabilizers of the market.

"Short buyers," Mr. Livermore declared, "were the saviors of the market at critical moments when all boundary matters, was a point of view, he described some of his transactions in the stock and commodity markets to illustrate his point. On one occasion, he said, he purchased 7,500,000 bushels of wheat in 29 minutes without affecting the price. He held the wheat for several weeks until the market had recovered from a slump and then sold.

AIRPLANE SETS NEW RECORD FOR STAYING IN AIR

Machine Carrying Two Lieutenants Remains Aloft 35 Hours, 18 Minutes, 30 Seconds.

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 6 (by Associated Press).—Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly, who had been flying over San Diego since 5:56 a. m. yesterday in the great monoplane T-2, landed at Rockwell Field soon after 5 p. m. today, having broken all known records for sustained flight in the heavier-than-air flying machine. They were in the air 35 hours, 18 minutes, 30 seconds.

The aviators were well tired out, but willing, they said, to have continued their flight except for their desire to reach the ground before darkness should make landing more difficult.

The landing of the big plane was the signal for a night chorus of whistles from the vessels in the harbor. When the aviators circled down to the field, a small army of spectators including the Rockwell Field force and many civilians was waiting to greet them.

Captain R. G. Erwin, commandant of Rockwell Field, soon after the flight ended gave out the time the aviators had been aloft as 35 hours, 18 minutes and 30 seconds. The official time of departure yesterday was set down in the field records as 5:56 a. m. instead of 5:55 a. m., as unofficially given out, and the time of the landing today was given officially as 5:11:30 p. m.

Death Follows a Fight With Elroy Lucero, a Fellow Workman at the Belen Ice Plant.

James Johnson, foreman and engineer at the ice plant at Belen, died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home, the result, it is claimed, of a blow on the head which he received at the hands of Elroy Lucero, also employed at the ice plant. Lucero was arrested by Sheriff Tondre, of Los Lunas, shortly after the death of Johnson.

Johnson had engaged in a fight at the ice plant and Lucero, after knocking Johnson down with an ice pick which it is said he took from Johnson after having struck him, went to the justice of the peace and swore out a warrant for Johnson's arrest. When the officer went to serve the warrant, it was learned that Johnson had staggered home and died a few minutes after dropping unconscious on the porch.

Lucero claims that he went into the engine room of the ice plant to fix a hose connection and that Johnson started quarreling with him, claiming that he had no right in that part of the plant. Lucero says that after some words, Johnson assaulted him with the ice pick, but that he dodged the blow, receiving only a slight wound on his head, and then took the pick away from Johnson and in the fight which followed, struck him over the head with it. Johnson then started home and Lucero went to the justice of the peace to swear out a complaint.

Lucero will be given a preliminary hearing Monday morning at Belen.

WAGON MOUND IS RESPONSIVE TO G. O. P. TALKERS

Big Rally Is Held in Opera House; Hill, Pankey, Sedillo, and Others Address the Meeting.

Special to The Journal
Wagon Mound, N. M., Oct. 6.—An enthusiastic republican rally was held at the Opera House Monday night, and was attended by a crowd which filled the lower floor and all the balcony seats. A committee headed by Mrs. J. R. Aguilar as chairman, escorted the speaker to the platform while the Wagon Mound played "America." A. C. de Bae, who acted as the interpreter, introduced the guests of honor, after which each one addressed the audience along various phases of the coming election issues.

Benj. F. Pankey, former lieutenant-governor, was the first speaker and gave a resume of the republican candidates on the state ticket. He was followed by C. L. Hill, a brief but succinct address. Then Hugh H. Williams, corporation commissioner, made a forceful speech. A. A. Sedillo, republican nominee for attorney-general, addressed the audience, emphasizing the work that is being done by the republican administration.

Short addresses were made by R. P. Barnes, O. A. Matson and Fred Muller, candidate for justice of the supreme court, state treasurer and land commissioner, respectively. At the conclusion of the meeting, the candidates came down to the front door and shook hands with the people.

A big dance, attended and participated in by a large crowd, followed the meeting and was enjoyed until a late hour.

FACES CRUELTY CHARGE.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—John Sall, a factory worker, today faced a charge of cruelty to a minor, following the finding in the attic of his home in Hamtramck, of his 13-year-old daughter, Wanda, whose wrists had been chained to a rafter. The girl was so horribly injured that she was taken to the hospital. Sall told the police, because he had been told she conducted herself improperly at school.

YANKS DROP THE THIRD GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES TO GIANTS, 3-0

Scott, Three Months Ago Regarded as a "Has Been," Pitches Himself Into Baseball Fame.

37,620 FANS CROWD INTO POLO GROUNDS

Huguen Are Held to Four Safe Hits While the McGrawites Pile Up Twelve; Ruth Fails to Connect.

New York, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—A little more than three months ago John William Scott dropped out of the baseball hot spots and no team—save possibly his own—were shed. Jack had never ranked with those whose names are passed on. A hard-working plodder had just worn out and was expected to fade away. Tonight he is the most talked about man in the United States, and his name will live.

He transformed himself today and became an identity by pitching 12 balls that resulted in his team, the New York Giants, defeating the New York Yankees 3 to 0 in the third game of the world series, and supplied his club with a two-game lead in the classic, an advantage that has been overcome only once in history.

Nearer to having been a "never-was" than a "has-been" in cold fact, a discard, a castoff, a useless ball player, a name that was shunted out of the baseball world by the Cincinnati club last July. He had gone to Cincinnati in a trade with Boston last December, but didn't make good. His arm was dead. They said he was through.

A creditable story traveled among the 37,620 fans who occupied every possible bit of space at the Polo grounds today, that Scott, aged 34, had taken a chance, and had Scott's arm treated by a specialist and it helped some—just "some." Scott won eight out of ten games, but he still was rated low.

Today John J. McGraw, famed for his deviousness, instantaneity and permanent, let his team out on the field with his mind open and anxious to be closed. McGraw was in distress. His face betrayed anxiety. His manager's feelings. Came the time for the pitchers to get ready—for some one, any one, to "warm up."

Still McGraw pondered. With the final time for a decision approaching dangerously near, the "Napoleon of Baseball" nodded silently to Hugh McCulligan to "warm up." Word was sent to the pitcher, McGraw, who had been made and the wire whirled. Temporarily relieved, the manager watched his selection twirl a few balls. But only for a moment.

McGraw didn't like McCulligan's twirl. He turned to Scott, sitting on the bench and, with the air of a man who is resting all his hopes on a broken record, ordered him to replace McCulligan. It was a unprecedented move. Scott never had pitched in the big leagues, and his choice in so important a matter at such a time.

Every one knew that Waite Hoyt, the "boy wonder" who was two out of three games from the Giants in the 1921 series, striking out 18 men, allowing only 15 hits and yielding only two runs, both unearned, was to pitch for the Yankees. One fan remained unconvinced. He was conceding the odds, believing Hoyt unbeatable and had decided not to throw away a man who might win tomorrow.

Jack Scott's record is in the books. He said there that the castoffs' pitching was so marvelous that the Giant outfielders made only six putouts—that the Yankees were so thoroughly subdued that it was out of their 34 outs that the easy infield variety. Only four hits were made by the Yankees, with their touted "Murderers' Row" and only six times did they get a man on first.

On the mound, facing 40,000 pairs of critical eyes, listening to the blasts of the mighty shouts, Scott was the incarnation of earnestness, faith and hope, but he never smiled. He remained inscrutably calm and cool.

Jack Scott combined his head and his right arm today—and he followed orders. Earl Smith, the catcher, said afterward that every time he called for a high pitch, a high one came. Not once, he said, did Scott fail. He used only a curve but he had such remarkable control that it always went where Smith, whose knowledge of the Yankee batters and discerning judgment cannot be overvalued, ordered it.

McGraw was voluble in his praise for Scott, and Miller Huguenen, the bearded and crestfallen mentor of the Yankees, was not remiss.

Though Scott's marvelous pitching stood out today—as only the victory of the "under dog" can—two other incidents furnished material for the crowd, a better tempered and more appreciative gathering than yesterday.

Ruth and Groh in a Tilt.

Babe Ruth, from who so much is expected and so little comes, almost got into the headlines through a tilt with Heinie Groh, the Giants' third baseman. In a play in the fourth inning, Ruth tried to go from first to third where Frisch batted Menzies' hit. Frisch lodged the ball to third and Heinie was waiting for Ruth.

Caught under full headway, Ruth bumped into Groh, who

BIBLE WORKERS HAVE NO TIME FOR OTHER TASK

Captain Guest of Charities
Bureau Suggests Practical Undertakings, But Fails to Get Response.

"We're traveling across the country to San Francisco, where we hope to enter the Bible school. We'd like to hold some meeting here and do some good. Also, we'd like to collect enough money in the city to enable us to go farther on our way doing the Lord's work."

This was the statement made yesterday to Captain Richard Guest, of the charities bureau, by a party of three young women and two young men, who called at his office. They said they had been attending Bible school in St. Louis, and now were called to go to San Francisco. The two men pointed out two of the women as their wives.

Captain Guest told the party that if they wished to serve the Lord, here was a good place to do it, as there are many sick needing assistance from volunteer nurses, and many bedridden people who would enjoy having somebody to come in and read and pray with them. He suggested that they stop here and get work, and use their spare time in doing the Lord's work.

The young people said they guessed they'd be on their way west as soon as they could raise the funds.

Captain Guest said this was typical of many of the people that call on him. All feel called to travel and pray, but none seem called to work. The charities bureau has never often been able to get any people of that class to do volunteer work, even for pay.

tugged him and then fell from the impact. Groh jumped up, shouting and drew back his fists. He didn't strike, however, and Umpire Hildebrand stepped between the two.

Booms Greet Babe.

Babe came to the dugout in a roar of booms and a faint mingling of applause—maybe the applause was for Groh. It was repeated when Ruth came to bat but the cheers and clapping were stronger, indicating that it must have been for him. The next time he crossed the field he stopped Groh and tried to explain what happened, but Groh refused to be appeased in the heat of the moment.

Ward's boot of Bancroft's bounder paved the way for the two-run lead acquired by the Giants in the third inning and as it turned out they were more than enough to win, as Scott turned back the Yankees' inning after inning with baffling cunning and relentless courage. A third tally was pounded in off Hoyt in the seventh but it was not needed.

Ward Nips a Rally.

Hoyt was threatened in both the first and second innings, before the Giants broke through. Ward nipped a rally in the first, grabbing and doubling Frisch at first after Groh and the Fordham flash had singled. Young and Cunningham singled in the second, but Pep was caught by Bob Meusel's accurate throw, trying to stretch his single, and Cunningham was forced by Earl Smith for the third out.

Jack Scott started the Yankee downfall in the third with a single to center. Bancroft hit sharply to Ward and when the second sacker kicked the ball into the left field, Scott raced to third and Bancroft the play, scored on Frisch's sacrifice hoist to Witt in deep center. Groh advanced a base and came home on Irish Meusel's wallon to right. Young forced Meusel to end the inning.

Bancroft Scores.

Bancroft scored the third run in the seventh. Two were out and Hoyt had the Giant captain "in the hole" with two strikes and one ball when he walked. Scott then pitched ones. Groh hit the first ball pitched to right field, on a hit and run play, and Bancroft easily reached third, from where he scored on Frisch's single. Ward ended the rally by tossing out Irish Meusel.

Hoyt was never a puzzle. With the top end of the Giant batting order again leading the attack, the youthful Yankee twirler was hit hard throughout the seven innings he worked. The Giants collected two hits off his delivery in each of the five innings. The fifth was the only hitless inning for the winners. Sam Jones pitched the eighth after Frank Baker had batted for Hoyt. He retired the side after Young had singled for his third hit and Cunningham walked.

The Yankees, on the other hand, threatened only once, in the seventh, but it was a golden opportunity they missed. With Pipp out, Bob Meusel batted an infield hit over Scott's head and Schang walked the first ball down the right field foul line for a double, Meusel holding third.

Scott Grounds Out.
It was the game's eighth for Scott. The Giant infield parleyed with the pitcher and Coach Hughie Jennings came from the dugout with instructions. The outlook was grim. Scott pitched to Earl Smith, a dangerous hitter, battering in place of Ward. But with the count three and one, Smith let the second strike shoot by and then, in the third, he struck out. Scott ended Yankee hopes by grounding out to Bancroft.

The Yankees got two hits off Scott in the other eight innings. One in the second by Pipp, who also stole second, and another in the sixth by Hoyt. Both were the first to face Scott, who quickly retired the next three batters each time. The Giants, with two victories and no defeats, now hold a formidable advantage over their rivals. Their supremacy in pitching, generalship and all-around defensive and offensive work, while especially clear cut today, has been outstanding in the entire series to date.

Pitchers "Come Through."
Few more startling reversals of fortune have been recorded in the fortunes of the rival twirling staffs. Huggins, with stars to rely on, was conceded an overwhelming advantage. McGraw, on the other hand, with a staff considered ineffective by a hard campaign, faced a dubious outlook with the chance that one or more of his moundsmen might come through. That did come through—Nebt and Barnes and Scott—and displayed more pitching skill, resourcefulness and courage than Bush, Shawkey and Hoyt, in the sensation of the series.

MONTAÑA TELLS SOLDIERS THAT BONUS IS SURE

Congressman States at Ft.
Bayard That Measure
President Will Sign Will Pass in December.

Special to The Journal
Fort Bayard, N. M., Oct. 6.—The solemn pledge that the house will pass a soldiers' bonus adjusted compensation bill in a form that President Harding will sign, when it reconvenes in December, was given before an audience of wounded and gassed veterans by Congressman Montaña Tuesday evening in the Red Cross house. The occasion was a republican rally in behalf of the state and county tickets in the November elections. Other speakers were Judge Stephen B. Davis, candidate for the senate, and Delgado, nominee for state auditor. Contact Officer Bennett presided. After the rally a permanent republican club was formed for the purpose of getting out the vote.

Dr. H. E. Whitledge, formerly commanding officer at Fort Bayard, has been placed in charge of the hospitalization section of the veterans' bureau with headquarters in Washington. Colonel Whitledge made an enviable record while commander here, and many employees and patients have sent him a telegram of congratulations. His post as medical officer in charge of the Veterans' bureau hospital at Dawson Springs, Ky., is said to have been filled by the transfer of Dr. O. S. Deatheridge from Fort Lyon, Colo.

At the request of Capt. C. Hamilton Cook, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Director Charles Forbes will issue an order changing the name of the bureau hospitals to "rehabilitation" centers. This means that Fort Bayard will soon be known as Veterans' Rehabilitation Center No. 55, instead of hospital center No. 55.

At a meeting of heads of districts of the Veterans' bureau in Washington recently, Director Forbes outlined sweeping changes in the hospitalization program for veterans. In future, he said, it would be the policy of the bureau to discharge ambulant cases and return them to their homes, provided the atmosphere of their homes will be conducive to their continued recovery. He further stated that their compensation would not be reduced by reason of such discharge as long as their disability exists. About 50 per cent of the patients at Fort Bayard are ambulatory. About 40 per cent of these have home environments of the required nature, it is estimated.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN CLAIM CONVERTS IN THREE COUNTIES

Special to The Journal
Santa Fe, Oct. 6.—Organization of women workers for the democratic ticket is progressing. This announcement was made here today by Mrs. Frances E. Nixon, vice chairman in charge of the women's work. Mrs. Nixon said there are democratic women's clubs being formed in every county, with results that are beyond even the early expectations of headquarters.

In De Baca county the local women are conducting a house-to-house canvass in every precinct, with the result that the aims of the democratic party are being

E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carter's Creek, Tenn. — "Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which was of a certain age and apt to have, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past."—Mrs. E. T. GALLOWAY, Carter's Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest remedy seems a mountain. If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a trial.

THREE MEN FINED ON A GAMBLING CHARGE

Santos Garcia, Joe Napoleon and Pilemon Martinez were fined $15 each in police court yesterday afternoon by Judge George Roddy. The case grew out of the raid on a West Central avenue club several days ago. The men said they were not guilty, but paid the fine rather than go to the trouble of defending the case. The proprietor of the club was fined several days ago.

thoroughly understood, Mrs. Nixon said.

Fort Sumner women have organized a club, membership in which includes republicans and democrats, Mrs. Nixon announced. Women who previously had been following the lead of the republican party have switched this year in Fort Sumner and De Baca county, she said. Fort Sumner is Mrs. Nixon's home.

While De Baca county is obtaining converts to the democratic ticket, similar work also is being carried out in the other counties throughout New Mexico, the vice chairman said. There is considerable activity going on in Colfax county, Union county and other northern districts, while in the eastern and southern portions of the state the organization work has been under way for several months with the result that women's clubs have attained considerable strength there.

Mrs. Nixon declared that there is every possibility of the women rolling up a heavy vote for the democratic nominee.

Mrs. John W. Allen is chairman and Mrs. J. E. Pardue is chairman of the publicity committee of the Fort Sumner organization. In San Miguel county, considerable activity is being carried on under the direction of Mrs. A. C. McMillan and Mrs. B. Archibald.

Women generally feel particularly gratified that the democratic convention selected women candidates of the type of those on the ticket.

Baker's Cocoa
for growing children

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the fully arranged diet. But its quality must be good and no cocoa can quite so well meet the requirements of dietitian, physician, nurse or housekeeper as "BAKER'S."

LIBEL SUITS BEING TRIED IN DISTRICT COURT

Judge M. E. Hickey Overrules Carl C. Magee's Motion Seeking to Make Reynolds His Indemnitor.

Following the overruling of the motion filed by Carl C. Magee, defendant in the $50,000 libel suit started against him and the Journal Publishing company, in which the defendant attempted to establish Joshua S. Reynolds as indemnitor on the grounds of his subsequent purchase of the Morning Journal with an alleged understanding that he was to secure the dismissal of the suit or, as indemnitor, the juryman for the case were chosen yesterday morning and the case proceeded to trial on its merits.

Members of the jury are George C. Wolff, Henry C. Turner, Jose Cervantes, Ambrosio Chaves, M. Trujillo, Antonio Sanchez, Albert Korber, Horace Strong, W. C. Raabe, R. E. Dietz, Julian Trujillo, and Joseado Soto.

The suit arises out of a series of editorials published by the defendant in the Morning Journal while he was its editor and which are alleged by the plaintiff, A. B. McMillen, to have damaged him to the extent of $50,000, the amount sued for in the case.

Mr. McMillen, according to his testimony, has been a resident of Albuquerque for the past 29 years, during which time he has practiced law and been identified with several large business corporations in the city, including the First National bank, of which he has been attorney for that period of time and a director for the past 28 years, and the Occidental Life Insurance company of which he has been president and attorney for the past eight years. He testified to filing the suit for the collection of a note which was due to be due the First National bank from Carl C. Magee. The suit for collection was filed, he stated, upon direction from the bank. This suit is touched by several of the editorials complained of.

Cross examination, which was carried on at the start by Mr. Magee, who is also an attorney, was filled with technicalities. Magee, upon an adverse ruling by the court, gave way to H. H. Jamison, one of his attorneys, who completed the cross-examination. Mr. Jamison attempted to ask a number of questions intended to bring out whether the plaintiff had suffered financial loss in his business on account of the alleged libel editorials, but the court ruled out the questions.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in reading the editorials upon which the suit is based. The trial will be continued this morning at 9 o'clock.

In the motion filed by Magee and overruled by the court yesterday morning, the defendant alleged that he had sold the Morning Journal to an unknown purchaser whose agent was Sidney M. Weil, through Mr. Weil, agreed to either have the libel suit started against Magee by A. B. McMillen, dropped or to act as indemnitor. The unknown purchaser, he stated, developed to be Joshua S. Reynolds.

Answering the motion, the plaintiff claimed that he had entered into a contract to drop the libel suit against Magee and that Sidney M. Weil, instead of acting as agent for Joshua S. Reynolds, had in fact been the agent of Carl C. Magee. This motion was heard by Judge M. E. Hickey Thursday afternoon and taken under advisement Friday morning, when he overruled it.

LIVES OF PRO AGENTS THREATENED BY MOB

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 6.—Riot calls were sent to all eight Baltimore police stations early tonight, when a crowd of more than 1,000 persons surrounded a saloon which was raided by prohibition agents and threatened the lives of the agents. Two automobiles of the agents were wrecked, bricks were thrown through the windows and the police were virtually helpless to quell the disturbance for several hours. The dry agents still are in the raided saloon, fearing to leave.

Owatonna, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while; and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell....

"I got so weak I couldn't go. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed.

"I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. I tried medicine, and everything, but the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up.

"I lay for three months, not able to do anything.

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies' Birthday Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui. They laughed and said I wouldn't take it. But I did. I began with a tablespoonful every two hours.

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and in two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months.

"I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman.

"Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui."

FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Issued by the Extension Service, New Mexico Agricultural College, STATE COLLEGE, NEW MEXICO.

It is a fairly safe guess that when one is in need of credit, it can be secured at a lower rate of interest by going directly to a bank or some other commercial source, than by buying on time. The bank was created for the specific purpose of loaning money, and has the facilities for doing so in the most economical way. The merchant who sells on time usually does so in order to accommodate the customer and to draw trade, and not because he is in the business of supplying credit. He is not in a position to refuse credit as readily as is the bank and his loss because of misplaced confidence is necessarily higher. This loss, as well as the other costs of doing a credit business, is naturally passed on to those who buy on time.

Better and larger sweet peas can be secured when the seed is planted in the fall. Fall seedling is feasible, however, only in the lower sections of the state where the winters are mild. Seedling in September and October have given best results in the tests made by the New Mexico Agricultural college, at an altitude of a little less than 4,000 feet.

When fall seeded the plants should be kept moist to prevent winter killing. The number of irrigations they should be given with the season. One or two irrigations will usually be sufficient during the winter months to keep the plants green. After the growing season

2 BUSINESS MEN ARE SUSPECTED IN MAN'S DEATH

Mystery of Slaying of Guy M. Dernier, Whose Body Was Found in Irrigation Ditch, May Be Solved.

Los Angeles, Oct. 6.—Suspicion as to the identity of the stranger of Guy M. Dernier, club man of Chicago, Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz., whose body was found in an irrigation canal on the outskirts of Phoenix several weeks ago, has been narrowed to "two prominent business men" of Phoenix, said F. W. Bell, deputy sheriff of that city, just before he started home today after gathering evidence here for several days.

A diary, said to have been kept by Dernier and which contained the temporary addresses of Phoenix women who had come to Los Angeles and other southern California cities for the summer, was what led Bell to this city, he said, as suspicions pointed to "a jealous husband," as the man who strangled the club man, and then threw his body into the water in an effort to make it appear he had died from accidental drowning.

In company with J. B. Fox, Los Angeles deputy sheriff, and Floyd Denier, of Los Angeles, a cousin to the dead man, Bell has interviewed most of these women, he said.

The Arizona officer said that the day Dernier was killed he met a woman, Harry Tyle, at the Phoenix Country club, where Dernier acted as secretary. The clubman declined an invitation to lunch with Tyle, saying he was "going out to see a little widow," and would be back in an hour," the deputy sheriff said.

An hour and twenty minutes later, according to Bell, Dernier's body, still warm and clad only in underclothes, was found in the irrigation ditch. His automobile was two miles away and his body apparently had floated about 300 yards from where it had been thrown into the waters.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ENTER THE NEBRASKA POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—Railroad employees, members of the four brotherhood shop crafts, entered the Nebraska political campaign yesterday when they put forward a composite "slate" as being the accepted ticket of the unions. The endorsement was a feature of the convention now in session.

The "slate" endorses R. B. Howell, republican candidate for United States senator, and Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor. A complete list of state and national officers is named and this list includes candidates from each of the three parties actively waging contests—the republican, the democratic and the progressive.

A campaign committee was selected by the unions. This committee will engage actively in electioneering for the "slate."

80% OF THE INDUSTRY IN SAN FRANCISCO ON OPEN SHOP BASIS

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Fully 80 per cent of the industry of San Francisco now is conducted on the American plan of open shop basis, it was announced today by the American Federation of Labor.

The federation, which is the largest labor union in the city, has been completely unionized, according to Newton Lynch, vice president and manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, declared in an address today before the Commonwealth club.

Lynch asserted that he had heard that one time even strike pickets became unionized and when these went on strike the unions substituted "non union pickets."

2 TOTS SAVE SELVES FROM ASPHYXIATION

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Burying their heads in blankets the two children of Mrs. Melaine Wild, 32, saved themselves from asphyxiation when their mother turned on the gas in an attempt to kill herself and her babies last night.

Mrs. Wild was found unconscious. The children, Martha, aged 5, and Julius, 3, were but slightly affected.

Mrs. Wild said she longed for her home in Switzerland and was despondent because she could not find an apartment at a reasonable rent.

STOPS TROOP MOVEMENTS

Paris, Oct. 6.—M. Politis, the Greek minister of foreign affairs, tonight informed Premier Poincaré that he had sent instructions to Greece to stop all further despatching of Greek troops into Thrace.

General Martinez was called to Juarez a few days ago to investigate the mutiny of the Forty-third battalion, which was crushed before his arrival by Gen. J. J. Mendez, garrison commander.

Remnants of Murguía's men fled into the hills where they are being run down by three converging columns of federal cavalry.

General Martinez declared that General Escobar surprised the rebels at breakfast and that the victory was decisive from every standpoint.

POST-SEASON GAMES BARRED

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Post-season football games between universities and colleges holding membership in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association will be barred this year, under a ruling made by the executive committee of that organization at a meeting here tonight.

Washington, Oct. 6.—An increase of approximately 100 per cent during the past year in the convictions obtained for violation of the federal narcotics laws was reported by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

MAN WHO ORIGINATED THE PHRASE, 'SAY IT WITH FLOWERS,' DEAD

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 6 (By the Associated Press).—N. P. Lindberg of Rugby, N. D., the man who originated the phrase "Say it with Flowers," was instantly killed at Penn, N. D., near here last night when his automobile jumped a grade, pinning him beneath. His wife was seriously injured and now is in a local hospital. Lindberg was 57 years old and was born in Denmark.

It was when he attended a national florists' convention in Chicago ten years ago that "Say it with Flowers" was originated. When he introduced himself, one of the delegates asked: "What can you raise up in that barren, Dakota country?"

Lindberg answered: "Up there we say it with flowers."

When he was put to use the phrase "Say it with Flowers" as the national florists' slogan and since that time the phrase has become an international byword of florists, and has been used by paragraphists and humorists in various forms.

SUSPENSION OF GREB HAS BEEN LIFTED BY BOXING COMMISSION

New York, Oct. 6.—The state athletic commission announced tonight that the suspension of Harry Greb, light heavyweight champion of America, has been lifted.

The indefinite suspension imposed on Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion of the world, although unrecognized in New York as such, has been made definite, the commission also announced.

Grebe was suspended because he would not sign for a bout with Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn, as directed to do by the commission, which recognized the latter as the middleweight champion.

Wilson's suspension followed his refusal to fight his title in a match with Harry Greb.

6,000 PERSONS IN CANADA ARE MADE HOMELESS

Town After Town Is in Ruins as the Result of Forest Fires; Government Officials Visit the Scene.

Cobalt, Ontario, Oct. 6.—After leaving relief supplies here and the half a dozen other places in the fire-swept area, Premier E. C. Drury and a group of other provincial officials have returned to Toronto, having been assured by townspeople that they have done all that is possible at present for the sufferers in the district, where forest fires claimed twenty-nine known dead and possibly sixty.

The heavy rain this morning quenched the fires and the premier's relief party has provided temporary relief for the homeless estimated at approximately 6,000.

The premier's party today visited Englehart, New Liskeard, Hearst, Charlton, Thelon and Earleton Junction. As the train pulled slowly over unsteady tracks upon charred ties into town after town the sight was appallingly the same. Smouldering ruins, brick or stone chimney stacks, tottering over cellar spaces filled with blackened timbers, marked what was a town.

Sooty-faced men and women gathered eagerly about the train when the relief train came, and in most cases somebody on board was obliged to ask the name of the place, for signs and once familiar buildings had been swept away in the tide of flame which had passed this way a scant twenty-four hours before.

Tales of heroism, of misanthropic escapes and of peculiar tricks of fate, cropped up as the relief party went forward. No fewer than three cases of childbirth during the conflagration have been reported. In only one instance was it said that the baby was doing well.

At 7 years of age the story was told of how A. McLennan, a youth employed in the Union bank, drove a motor truck laden with refugees until, blinded by smoke and blinded by smoke and blinded by smoke, he guided the party on foot across a plowed field to safety. Another boy in Halesbury, who had been operated upon for appendicitis on Saturday, walked to safety.

In Charlton only one house was left standing. James Desre's wife was in the local hospital. He managed to carry her out before the flames reached the building and he carried her to a shallow part of the lake, where he held her in his arms until the danger was past.

LOBOS TO MEET DENVER U. TEAM THIS AFTERNOON

First Big Football Battle of the Season to Be Played at Varsity Field; Both Teams "All Set."

The Denver University Parsons, twenty-three strong, with Coach Murphy and Manager Birmingham, arrived in town at 8 o'clock last night, ready for their game at 2:30 this afternoon with the University of New Mexico Lobos on varsity field. The Parsons, heralded by dopesters as this year's champions of the Rocky Mountain conference, are in good condition for the game. Immediately after eating, last night, Coach Murphy took his squad to the Y. M. C. A. for an hour of skill practice, then sent them to bed early.

Coach Johnson of the Varsity, put his Lobos through a light workout yesterday afternoon and a two-hour skill practice last night, putting the finishing touch on plays the Lobos have been practicing especially for this afternoon's game. With the exception of Captain John Popejoy, tackle, who is on crutches with a badly sprained knee, and Bryan and Harrington, end and halfback, respectively, who have been ill with colds for several days, the Lobos are in good condition and ready to put up the fight of their lives in the hardest gridiron battle that has ever confronted a Lobo squad.

Probable Line-Up.
Coach Johnson has not given out the Lobo line-up, but the probable line-up, together with the Denver University.

Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, University students paraded the principal streets of Albuquerque in automobiles decorated with the varsity colors, cherry and silver, advertising the game. A unique feature of the parade was an old Auto-car of the vintage of '98, or thereabouts, covered with banners urging victory over D. U. and carrying a cowboy and an individual of sanctimonious appearance, garbed in black, representing the University of New Mexico and the Denver Parsons, respectively. Each night this week from 7 to 7:30, a "pep" session has been held on varsity field for the purpose of practicing songs and yells for the game.

MAN BREAKS SHOE; REFUSES PAYMENT; STREET ROW OCCURS

A strange man entered the Family Shoe store, 115 South First street, early last night, and asked to see a pair of shoes. D. M. Elias, proprietor of the store, showed the man a pair of cheap shoes. The customer bent one of the shoes sharply, and it is said, cracked it. Elias demanded payment for the damage. The man refused. An altercation took place, and worked its way onto the sidewalk in front of the store. A crowd gathered and Policeman Fred Renfro went to the scene. When he arrived, Elias is reported to have called him names and made sarcastic remarks about the time of his arrival. The officer, unable to quiet Elias or restore order, cited the man to appear in police court this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace. The man who damaged the shoe got away while Elias was arguing with the officer. This is the police version of the case.

'DEACON' JOHN SCOTT COMES BACK; WINS FOR THE GIANTS

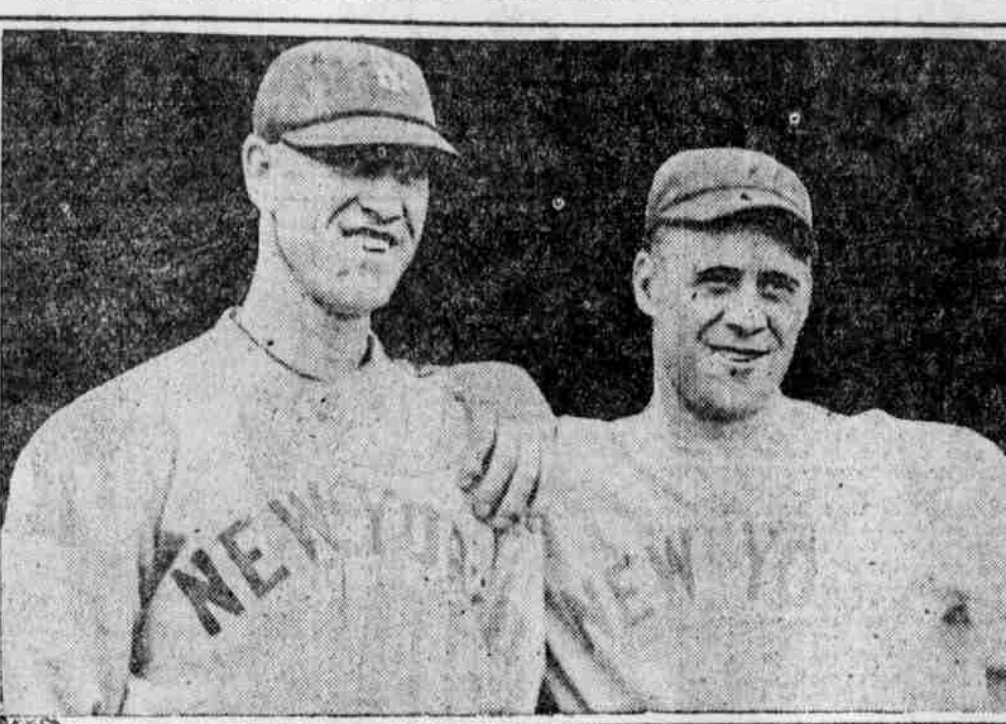

JOHN SCOTT

WAITE HOYT

John Scott almost caused a baseball war when he reported to the Reds from the Braves last spring with a sore arm. The Reds let him go and McGraw took a chance. Friday he allowed the Yankees but four hits and held them scoreless. Waite Hoyt was signed by the Yankees when 17. He was sold to the Red Sox by New Orleans for $2,500 and traded to the Yankees with Schang. He was taken out in the eighth inning of Friday's world's series game after he was touched for eleven hits.

*BATTERY MATES AGAIN IN BIG SERIES AFTER NINE YEARS

This doesn't concern whatever success Joe Bush and Wally Schang may have in the world's series. The interest in the above photo lies in the fact that after a lapse of nine long big league campaigns Bullet Joe Bush, pitcher, and Wally Schang, catcher, find themselves once more battery mates in a fall classic. Bush, then nineteen, won the third game of the 1913 world's series for the Athletics.

It was against the Giants, too. He beat Jeff Tesreau 2 to 2. Schang caught Bush. Both drifted about the league in later years, only to come together at the psychological time on the Yankee roster.

MAYS TO START FOR HUGMEN IN FOURTH CONTEST

McQuillan and Ryan Are Ready for the Giants; Scott's Perfect Control Caused Yanks' Defeat.

New York, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—The perfect control of John Scott, curve ball pitcher, who several months ago was thrown into baseball's discard, was the outstanding feature of the third game of the world series, according to McGraw and Huggins, managers of the Giants and Yankees.

McGraw, considered the best judge of pitching ability in baseball, who picked up Scott, a cast-off in mid season, said he knew the "Deacon" had plenty of stuff but that his control was a thing to marvel at.

"Catcher Earl Smith told me," said McGraw, "that not once during the game did Scott fail to put the ball where he wanted it. His curves were breaking perfectly and after a couple of innings I just let him and Smith work as they pleased."

"I thought that our team should have counted more runs on their hits, but with Scott's pitching, that didn't matter. We won and the credit is all Scott's."

Huggins, the Yankee leader, also praised the Giant pitcher's work.

"We thought," he said, "that Scott would be easy for us, but his control was too good."

"I think that the error credited to Ward lost the game for us. It was a bad ball and Ward was hardly to blame for kicking it, but that was one of the 'breaks'."

Huggins said he would start Mays in tomorrow's game and McGraw, who now can afford to take a chance, is to have McQuillan and Ryan ready.

DEMOCRATS TO OPEN HEADQUARTERS IN LOVELACE BUILDING

The democratic county central committee announced yesterday through Chairman Coors that it would open headquarters at once in the Lovelace building, corner of Fifth and Central avenue. The headquarters will be maintained until after the election. A special campaign committee, to be named by the chairman, will be announced shortly. Members of the committee will be in charge of the headquarters night and day.

OILERS DEFEAT MOBILE 3 TO 1 IN 11 INNINGS

Manager Lelivelt's Home Run With a Man on Second Decides the Contest in Favor of Tulsa Team.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 6.—Tulsa defeated Mobile today after eleven innings of play, making the series between the Western league and Dixie champions, 2 to 1, in favor of the Oilers. Manager Lelivelt's home-run with Davis on second decided the contest.

The game furnished a pretty pitching duel between "Lefty" Fuhr for the Oilers and Boehler for the Tulsa team. When the latter threw up his glove in disgust over decisions of Empire Home on balls and strikes and at a time when Boehler was losing control, he was put out of the game. Black, a southpaw, however, pitched well. After Mobile had an earned run in the eighth, Tulsa came back in the ninth with the tying score. Shortstop Leather's, substitute player after Mullen was ejected from the game, in handling an easy grounder by Lamb, threw the ball into the stands. Two more errors quickly followed and Tulsa scored the tying run without getting a base hit. With the bases full, Shortstop Leather, Manager Lelivelt, Hahn and Schulte pulled off a triple play.

NO PROVISION FOR AN INDEPENDENT TO FILE IN SENATORIAL RACE

Special to The Journal
Santa Fe, Oct. 6.—There is no provision in the New Mexico statutes under which the secretary of state may certify to county clerks the name of an independent candidate for United States senator, on the request of such candidate, the attorney general has advised the secretary of state, in connection with the request of Mrs. Maud Casad Mandell of Mesilla Park.

The attorney general says the only provision for certifying candidates is the requirement for the chairman and secretary of the state conventions of the political parties to certify the nominees to the county clerk in the county in which the convention is held.

Mrs. Mandell wrote the secretary of state that she desired to be registered as an independent candidate for United States senator under her constitutional rights as a direct descendant of colonial officers who served with General Washington at Valley Forge.

STILLMAN FIGHT FOR DIVORCE IS FAR FROM ENDED

At Least Three More Actions Loom on the Supreme Court Calendar; Two Hearings Set for Today.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—The Stillman divorce fight appeared far from ended tonight, despite the fact that Supreme Court Justice Morschauer today handed down a decision confirming the report of Referee Daniel J. Gleason, in which the dismissal of the divorce suit filed by James A. Stillman, wealthy banker, against Mrs. Anna Stillman, and affirmation of the order of the legitimacy of her youngest child, Guy, was recommended.

At least three more actions loom on the calendar of the supreme court—and after that there is every indication that Stillman, if he continues to play a losing hand in the lower court, will go to the appellate division for a review, then to the court of appeals and possibly eventually, to the United States supreme court. Two hearings are set for tomorrow. One is on a motion by Stillman for judgment on the referee's report, filed in the supreme court at Nyack. The other is a motion for confirmation of the report, filed at Poughkeepsie by John A. Mack, as guardian of the interests of Baby Guy.

Mack, having joined with Mrs. Stillman in the motion just granted by Justice Morschauer, is expected to drop his Poughkeepsie action. Cornelius J. Sullivan, of counsel for Stillman, announced, however, that he would be on hand at Nyack to support Stillman's motion. John F. Brennan, chief of Mrs. Stillman's counsel, will be there to oppose it.

Next Friday Mrs. Stillman's lawyers will submit to Justice Morschauer for his signature a copy of a formal judgment recording the opinion he handed down today, and assessing the costs of the action against Stillman.

At the same time, arguments are scheduled on the matters of fees for the referee and for Guardian Mack, and on the question of alimony for Mrs. Stillman's costs. These arguments are expected to throw some light on the question of how much the famous divorce case has cost Stillman. Estimates of the cost so far range between $250,000 and $300,000.

And when all of these odds and ends of litigation have been cleared away in the supreme court it is almost certain that Stillman will appeal.

John F. Brennan, Mrs. Stillman's chief counsel, asked today as to reports that Mrs. Stillman was planning to go to Paris and sue there for a divorce, declared he had no such information and that he "did not believe the report."

He added that Mrs. Stillman had given him no instructions to prepare a separation suit either.

"We don't have to being a separation suit to get money," he said. "The law is that a man must support his wife. If he does not he can be sent to jail."

At last we are convincing Europe that our foreign policy is not an endowment policy.—Houston Press.

ASHES AND TRASH ARE EQUALLY TO BLAME FOR 9 PER CENT OF FIRES

Nine per cent of the fires in Albuquerque last year were caused by hot ashes. Nine per cent were caused by trash and rubbish. These facts were stated yesterday by Fire Chief Robert Henderson in a talk about fire prevention.

Ashe will retain fire for days and even weeks, the chief said, and should be kept in a metal can or bin, or if this is impossible, should be piled as far as possible away from fences and barns.

Trash and rubbish make handy places for fires to start, and often are set afire by spontaneous combustion, the chief said. He advised that all trash be burned by each household regularly, in small amounts. It is burned outdoors, he said, it should be at least ten feet away from any buildings, or fences and the ashes should have water poured on them. "Never burn trash on a windy day," the chief said. "If possible, use a trash burner to prevent the sparks from flying."

CORA VISITS MR. ROBINSON'S OFFICE.

CHAPTER 17.

One Saturday afternoon Cora stopped for Nellie. She had long been anxious to see the place where she was employed, to see Mr. Robinson. Nellie was busy taking dictation, and she sat down to wait. She told the bookkeeper she was a friend of Miss Riley's not to disturb her until she had finished. "If you're a friend, look over her shoulder," he said under his breath. A frightened look on his face as he glanced over to where Nellie sat at Mr. Robinson's desk.

What did the man mean? It might be no harm to look over her shoulder, but it might be a sign of disrespect; or it might be he knew she disliked him and he wanted to get her out of the office. But it added to Cora's uneasiness. Nellie insisted upon introducing Cora to her employer. He greeted her nicely, with just the right shade of dignity. His white hair, his manner reassured Cora. The bookkeeper was perhaps, as Nellie had said, a cranky sort with a grouchy disposition.

"Isn't grandpa nice?" Nellie asked as they hurried away. "He seems a very nice old gentleman," Cora answered a bit absently. She was thinking of what the bookkeeper said.

"Yes, he's nice, all right. Say, Cora, you should see the Misses. She's in the office today. My, she's a swell dame all right. But the way she looked me over with them eyes on a long stem. It made me feel cold and shivery all up and down my back."

"Oh yes! Like this, with that thing she looked at me through and up to her eyes. She said: 'So you're the new stenographer, are you?' (Nellie was a perfect mimic, and she raised her voice to a different pitch, and added a drawl that was ridiculously funny. "I said 'yes.' I didn't dare to say anything more, she had me scared all right, then she said: 'Don't you think you would look more like a decent office girl if you put a net over that hair?' Then I let go, oh, don't look frightened! I didn't say much. I just told her I was decent, and that hair didn't have anything to do with people being good—Oh, very well, she said. 'It might as well be you as another.' What do you suppose she meant?"

"I'm sure I don't know—but to dinner."

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

THE QUACK

With us he deftly mingles, and asks to save our lives; he has his cures for shingles, for bunions and the hives. From evils that attack us he'll promptly set us free; he'll stop the pains that rack us, however fierce they be. When we are well and hearty we laugh at all his claims; he is a brazen sally, and low down in his game. He learned to cure diseases away in Yucatan, or where the Arctic freezes the whippers off a man. Some desert chieftain taught him his wondrous healing scheme, or maybe angels brought him his knowledge in a dream. We call him a deceiver, when we are feeling fine, when we're not burning fever, or kinks along the spine. And then at last we're ailing, and getting worse each day, and pink pills, unavailing, seem made to throw away. Our doc, Whangdooble Baxter, can't help us much, it seems; then we would have the quackster, with all his hojotjontje. His tales of Injun wizards who taught him how to cure, when we have aching gizzards, don't seem so wild or poor. His yarns of Chinese scholars who showed him how to heal will likely get our dollars when cokes make us queer. The marvelous allures us when pains within us buzz, and so the faker cures us, or makes us think he does.

BARTON IS ARRESTED.

Dublin, Oct. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—The army bulletin announced the arrest here of Robert C. Barton, former minister of economics in the dail cabinet. He was one of the signers of the Anglo-Irish agreement for establishing an Irish free state but afterwards opposed its ratification.

Unable after seven hundred years to lick Ireland, the English are now wisely letting the Irish do it.—New York Tribune.

Answers to Questions.

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Albuquerque Journal Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This office applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Who originated the term "dark horse"? C. D. E.

A. This has been attributed to Sam Flynn, a horse trader of Tennessee. His horse, "Dusky Pete," was quietly entered in a country race meet, and unexpectedly won the purse.

Q. How much glass is used in the manufacture of automobiles? F. F.

A. There was 16,500 square feet of glass consumed in 1921 in the manufacture of passenger cars and trucks. The greater part of this was plate glass.

Q. Please describe the condition of corn when it is ready to be cut for the silo. C. G. A.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that when corn is ready to be cut for ensilage the lower leaves will be dead, some of the husks will have turned down, and the ears will be hard, but the stalks and upper leaves of the plants will still be green and succulent.

Q. How is the hydrogen gas used in airships stored? F. T.

A. The Air Service says that the following three methods are used in storing hydrogen gas after generation: First, storage in a gas holder (fabric or metal) at a pressure of from one to 2 pounds greater than atmospheric pressure; second, storage in medium-pressure tanks at 300 to 600 pounds per square inch pressure; third, storage in portable cylinders at from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds per square inch pressure. The selection of the type of storage system is dependent on local conditions. Most British air stations have all three systems installed, but the medium-pressure system is not in favor.

Q. What are the Janissaries? F. L. A.

A. In 1330, the Turkish ruler, Orkhan or Orkhan issued an edict compelling each city or town to contribute a quota of male children, usually about 7 years of age, for the service of the Sultan. Requisitions were made about every four years, and from four to seven taken from each city or town. The children were given special training and the troops thus formed usually constituted the Sultan's bodyguard and were known as the Janissaries. They were also recruited from captive Christian children. The troops continued in 1825 and the force was suppressed.

Q. Please state some of the superstitions connected with toads. M. R.

A. The toad is not an attractive animal and it has always been the object of curious beliefs or superstitions. Small boys believe that if one is killed and turned on its back there will be rain before night. For ages the general public has believed in the belief that warts were produced by handling toads. Other traditions credit the toad with the power of poisoning infants with its breath; of bringing good fortune to the house in the new-made cellar of which one is found; of curing children of stammering if rubbed on the back of the neck; and of causing a cow to dry or give bloody milk, if she accidentally kills a toad while being driven home from the pasture. The works of the early writers on natural history teem with vague unsubstantiated accounts of the venomous qualities of the toad, the medicinal value of toad skins for treating certain ailments, and the valuable toadstone or jewel to be found in its head.

Q. What is a tickler coil? F. A. N.

A. This is a coil placed in the plate circuit of a vacuum tube receiver to transfer part of the energy of the oscillating plate current back into the grid circuit in order to produce amplification and to enable the tube to generate oscillations of high frequency.

RECIPES FOR "MANGO" PICKLES.

The well-stocked preserve closet contains a few jars of "mango" pickles for use on guest occasions.

The real mango is a fruit, formerly found only in southern Asia, but now grown in nearly all subtropical countries. In addition to its use as a fruit, the mango forms the basis of most chutneys of the East India type. The mango melon is a small round melon with yellow skin and white flesh.

But the term "mango" is now applied to stuffed pickles, and the housewife of today who talks about her "mangoes" has never seen a real mango melon; she refers to any small green melon stuffed with green peppers, or stuffed green peppers. The following pickles are called "mangoes" in this country:

Cantelope Pickles: Cure tiny green cantelopes in brine, as follows: Use one pound of salt to every six quarts of water needed to cover the melons, and weight down the melons in this until "frothing" ceases. (By "frothing" I mean the small bubbles which begin to appear on top of the water after you put the melons into the brine, indicating that fermentation is taking place.) After several days, however, the bubbles will disappear. When the frothing ceases, the melons must be soaked in clear, cold water for two days. After this soaking, scald them in a kettle lined with spinach or with green leaves, in water to cover; drain, and boil them for 15 minutes in weak vinegar. Drain again, and cover them with the following spiced vinegar, letting them stand in this for one week.

To six cups of vinegar, add one ounce of stick cinnamon, one-half ounce of cloves, and one-half ounce of dried ginger root (this can be obtained from a drug store); boil this mixture for five minutes. (Double this recipe as many times as necessary to cover the number of cantelopes melons you wish to pickle.)

When the cantelopes have soaked for a week in this cold, spiced vinegar, take them from it (saving the spiced vinegar), remove a small disc from the top of each melon, scoop out the interiors of each, and stuff them with the following mixture:

Stuffing for Cantelope Mangoes: One pound of ginger soaked in brine for two days, until soft enough to slice; one ounce of ground black pepper, one ounce of all-spice, one-fourth pound of garlic soaked for two days in a weak brine, then dried; one ounce of crushed celery seed, one ounce of mace; one-half ounce of cloves; one cup of grated horseradish and four ounces each of white and yellow mustard seed. (A pint of chopped, sweet pickles or preserved watermelon rind will improve the flavor of this filling.) Mix all these ingredients together, then add to them one teaspoonful of salad oil, one teaspoonful of brown sugar into each melon, chop up any melon which is broken and add this to the mixture also, then begin stuffing the melons. This recipe will stuff about four dozen melons. When packed full of the mixture, replace the skin-disc which you previously removed, secure it in place with toothpicks, pack the melons in sterilized glass jars and cover them with the spiced vinegar. Use as previously but now sweetened to taste, bring it to the boiling point before pouring it over the melons.) Partially seal jars, process in hot water for 15 minutes (to seal airtight), cork, and seal.

BEAUTY CHATS

REJUVENATING OLD FACES

I wonder whether my men readers would be interested in the experiences of an elderly man who, for business reasons, had to make his face look young, and who did so through exercise. Perhaps even some of my women readers will find a hint or two, though women are popularly supposed to prefer cosmetics.

This man used one cosmetic, a little white vaseline rubbed into the skin after shaving, but he never used it when massaging or exercising the face because he claimed that the friction produced by the dry palms of the hands was more beneficial than oil or cream.

The daily face friction or massage will eliminate wrinkles and tone up sagging muscles by drawing up fresh blood and fresh supplies of fat to go under the skin to build it up. But for the first several weeks the beginner must expect the face to be thinner. This is because the amount of loose fat is rubbed away before the new firm flesh begins to form.

This man massaged the muscles of the cheeks firmly with the palms of the hands, pressing upward and back toward the temples, about 10 or 15 movements altogether. His mouth he massaged by inserting the little fingers at the corners of the lips and alternately pulling and relaxing. The forehead was rubbed briskly toward the temples, the chin rubbed vigorously at its point, the jaw rubbed backward from the mouth to the ear. This facial massage was taken in bed every morning. These treatments were also taken in connection with various other massage and exercises for the entire body. The face would naturally benefit by all these other exercises as well.

After the vaseline vaseline was rubbed into the skin and wiped off with warm water.

K. M. R.—Olive oil is not a hair tonic, so you would not benefit by using it except to relieve dryness of the scalp. If the hair is inclined to be dry heated curling irons are injurious. Consult your doctor regarding the dark circles around the eyes.

Louise May—I should not attempt to remove moles with acid, as a bad scar could be the result. Mop a little white hazel or tea-water on the nose to relieve oiliness. At 19 years, 5 feet, 3 inches you should weigh about 120 pounds.

Miss M. L. P.—You can easily rid yourself of all these blackheads over your body, if you take a daily hot bath using a bathbrush. After the scrubbing, cool the bath water until at the end it will be cold, or better still, finish with a cold shower. A number of Turkish baths would clear out these blackheads in less time than the work you could do for yourself.

At 28, 5 feet, 7 inches, you should weigh 150 pounds. To gain in weight drink milk and use plenty of butter.

Lou—A canton crane of extra quality makes a good choice for a dress that must be worn for a long time and for different occasions. With brown eyes, dark hair and olive skin you would look well in brown, relieved with orange or tan in the facings.

ANCIENT "BUS" CARRIES CHALK AND FOUR BOYS

Staggered Into City Under a Heavy Load of Humorous Terminology on the Way to the Pacific Coast.

Driving a 1910 model touring car that bore upon its surface, in addition to the marks of age, legends of various descriptions, a party of four young men drove into town yesterday from Colorado Springs. One of the announcements on the car was "We're for Andy Gump for congress, 100 per cent." Another read: "Gump's Publicity Bureau."

The young men are musicians, and did some orchestra work for the Elks at the circus last night. They also put their car in the auto show. They are Merrill Morris and Carl Perry, Fort Collins, Ill., and Jack Anderson and Win Kyle of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The young men are traveling on no wages, and so far as is known have no views for publication on the new tariff or the crisis in the Near East. They offered to pose for their picture without persuasion.

UNCOLORED NEWS IS A MYTH, SAYS SANDBURG

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Uncolored news is a myth, the equivalent of a lightning corps, Carl Sandburg, author and newspaper man, told the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university in an address last night.

"Neither historians, poets, artists nor news writers can live and grow without passions, prejudices, preferences," he said. He added that newspaper writing of today is more vital, direct and straightforward than ever before.

"There is no standing definition for news. The thing called news is as elusive as the thing called art or poetry."

NO PROSPECTS FOR A BREAK IN PROTRACTED DRY SPELL IS SEEN

Washington, Oct. 6.—With another 24 hours of generally fair weather forecast for the entire season of the country from the plains states eastward, the United States weather bureau saw no immediate prospect for a break in the protracted drought which has gripped a greater portion of the country. Attending high temperatures for the season, which yesterday established records at a number of points in the east and middle west, also were expected to continue at least until tomorrow night.

Despite the extent and intensity of the drought, the damage to crops has been exceedingly small, agriculturalists declare. The most serious effect has been the retarding of winter wheat sowing.

The menace of forest fires, already causing huge damage and threatening additional loss of life in Canada in addition to areas, aggregating about 100 square miles, now burning in northern Minnesota, is by far the most feared consequence of the drought.

A summary available from government records today of the five-year period from 1916 to 1920 showed timber and property destruction of more than $65,715,000, due to forest fires that burned over an area of 56,500,000 square miles, more than the area of the state of Utah.

POINCARÉ AND CURZON HOLD CONFERENCE ON TURKISH SITUATION

Paris, Oct. 6.—The conference between Premier Poincaré and Lord Curzon, the British foreign minister, which began last night upon the arrival of Lord Curzon from London to discuss the Turkish situation, was ended shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

In reply to questions, the British foreign minister declared: "I am exhausted, but we have done good work. We will continue at 9 o'clock this morning."

Baron Hardinge, the British ambassador, also was optimistic over the results of the night's deliberations, expressing confidence that all would be well.

FOREST FIRES WIPE OUT CANADIAN TOWN

Cobalt, Ont., Oct. 6.—A heavy rain today had virtually quenched the forest fires about the city which took a toll of twenty lives and wiped out the town of Halleybury and several smaller settlements.

Thirty-three bodies have been recovered in the scared wreckage that a week ago was Halleybury.

Many more persons are missing. Train loads of tents, food, bedding and other supplies are arriving to aid the 5,000 homeless who have wandered into Cobalt.

Something for Nothing

By BERNARD HUGHES.

ALMOST unbelievably immense is the amount annually taken from the confiding American public by the schemers who don't always take the trouble to invent new swindles. The old ones are still potent, and especially so when put to work in new ways.

The average human being is generally willing to accept something for nothing, and it is this inveterate weakness the swindler takes advantage of. Hundreds of thousands of dollars a year are drawn by him under various guises and firm and corporation names, but the main avenue through which he works is the Post Office. Of the good name of that Government is sensitively proud; it is zealous in its efforts to protect it and at the same time to protect the money and rights of the large number of citizens who are susceptible to the schemer's lure.

"There are no spectacular cases in view at the moment where brains

Stallman a letter proving that Canadian witnesses had committed perjury in the divorce case. She turned the letter over to the Post Office Department, which is after him. They believe that he is the man who similarly attempted to defraud Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts, Mrs. Thomas and W. E. D. Stokes.

The Family Crest Maker, who carried on a thriving trade in family trees by the aid of a rented typewriter machine and desk room on the main street, is out of durance and busy again. But he no longer offers his wares under the imposing title "American Heraldic Institution," but asserts that he is a former member of the Ancient Order of the Plantagenets, and is able by means of his familiarity with documents and family papers to trace anybody's lineage from Henry VIII. down. He has increased his price for this service. As a humble American he formerly provided a family tree with innumerable branches for $5; now fenses against banks and private individuals. However, he agreed that all signs seem to indicate that our people instead of growing wiser appear to become less sophisticated. In 1914 and 1915 more fraud orders were issued. Later the Post Office authorities cut them down in the belief that it would be wiser to prosecute criminally the operators of fraudulent schemes. Neither plan alone seems to deter the crooks. Business is sometimes continued "at the old stand" all through the periods of arrest, bail, trial and even imprisonment.

Queer Companies.

The fraud order, on the other hand, puts a quietus on business conducted through the mails. Therefore the authorities are now using both methods.

In the list of what the Post Office calls mail swindlers are inducing betting on "fake" horse races and athletic contests, selling worthless goods through misrepresentations,

Going to Grasse

By BLANCHE McMANUS.

"SEE Naples and die!" See Grasse and breathe the breath of all the myriads of perfume flowers of its gardens and live to sample the rare floral perfumes of the world!

French perfumes encircle the world with a magic ring of sweet charms. In this industry France stands unique, at the very head, and even above the Parisian creations does the mondaine cover these rare essences, the fragrant souls of flowers that the laboratories of Grasse alone distill in secret from the warm bosoms of their blossom-garlanded hillsides.

Between this old French hill town of the Mediterranean and America is a link of sweetness long drawn out and strengthened with every revolving season. The United States is the best of patrons of the perfumes, the Scandinavian countries, curiously, coming second.

Grasse, little metropolis of some twenty thousand souls, composes itself naturally into a picture. Here with its portrait as one sees it coming by the upplapping white stretches of winding roadway running through the "plan," or plain, of Grasse, really a plateau, snugly ensconced in the folds of the circling mountain hinterland of the French Riviera.

Cannes, the first of the big fashionable winter resorts of the Riviera, is the front door to Grasse. Cannes is on the shores of the Mediterranean, Grasse is a dozen miles back and up in its mountain eyrie. The Grassois speak of their brilliant, mondaine Cannes as the port of Grasse. So it is, but all the Riviera pleasure seekers pay Grasse a visit to see for themselves how the souls of flowers are made into tangible forms, also costly forms. A small facon of Grasse perfume in the new flat vest-pocket shapes makes a hole in one's pocketbook all out of proportion to its size.

Grasse, like all other hill towns of Mediterranean France, sits on a rocky pinnacle, enthroned in its medieval ramparts like a queen whose feet are bathed in a sea of flowers. The plan of Grasse is covered with the allotments and property of flower farmers, interspersed with terraces of gray, old, gnarled olive orchards, with oranges and lemons intermingled.

In this sheltered garden spot are grown throughout the year all the perfume plants of the alchemy of the craft. Within a length of a bare fifty miles, with the barrier of the Alps to shelter it from the icy northern winds and the Mediterranean of a lapis-lazuli blue meeting a sapphire sky of endless sunshine before it, these gardens of perfume flowers terrace themselves laboriously up hill and down dale.

Five thousand acres are under cultivation in the rarest of essence yielding flowers which give their nectar to the dressing tables of beauty throughout the world. Carpets of violets in all shades of purples and mauves, fields of tiny fragrant roses, delicate, jasmine, serrated rows of white narcissi, mimosa that rivals the golden fleece in magnificence, heliotrope in trained branches of overpowering fragrance, stately tuberose, mignonette, carnations of varied hues, basil, vervain (which we call lemon verbena) lavender—both wild and cultivated—marjoline, lilacs and lilacs of the valley, all are here, row upon row and rank upon rank.

Ten thousand flower workers grow and pick these blooms for the alchemies of the perfume factories on the heights above. In the spring the plain is seen at its best, the flower fields filled with pickers—men and children with big baskets on arm, the women with their blue and white aprons turned up like big panniers, picturesque figures all in their country costumes of bright colored print dresses and crossed fichus, their heads shaded with flapping straws banded with black velvet, with perhaps a great kerchief draped over the back of the head as a further sun shelter. Watteau-like effects they make as they move through the fields of tuberose growing near by as high as themselves, wandering up lanes of starchy white jasmine or bending over beds of fragrant violets under the gray-green shadows of century old olives.

They gather the blooms and blossoms by great handfuls, tossing them into basket or girded apron. The men workers, too, give a measure or rustic coloring in glistening white shirts, big, baggy blue and brown velvet trousers, buttons galore at ankles and yards of red sashes swathing their middles. Thus unfolds the series of animated pictures of delicate hue as the flower pickers of the garden plain climb the crumbling stone stairs leading from one terrace to another higher up, and finally the town. One fancies that these were the inspired motifs of the painter Fragonard, he of the celebrated four panels that have been so disputed by art collectors and that finally found a resting place in a cadre worthy of their fame and beauty in a New York art collector's gallery. Fragonard and perfumes are inseparably linked together in Grasse, where his former birthplace is conserved as a museum of treasures and a shrine for art worshippers of all the world.

A Polish Spelling

SEEING picnic spelled Plk Nlk, one would naturally think the word had been submitted to phonetic treatment, but it hasn't. Plk Nlk in two syllables is the way the Poles write it.

They carry to these bereaved homes C. O. D. packages addressed to the dead veteran. Always there is a pretty steep bill.

have been used to invent new schemes to defraud," said United States Attorney Maxwell S. Mattuck recently, "but a great many cases of ingenuity in employing old ones have been dug up. Every now and then a fresh avenue of fraud is opened; the scheme may be old but the victims of it are new."

In the Department's recent activities flagrant violations were discovered whereby several thousand dollars were billed from innocent victims who were ambitious to rank as composers of songs. The fakers posed as song publishing concerns and guaranteed, for sums ranging from $75 to $100, fabulous profits to writers of singable lyrics.

Alluring advertisements were sent out broadcast with reference to the vast fortunes that authors of "Two Little Girls in Blue," "Alexander's Rag Time Band," and more modern popular song hits had made. In consequence a vast horde of innocent persons knit their brains to compose verses, and when they thought they had succeeded they forwarded them to the song publishers with the $75 or $100.

In due time they received fifty copies of their songs set to music, printed on cheap paper. So far so good, but a longer time of waiting brought in no profits, and when the authorities took the matter up, they found that nothing further was intended by the fraudulent publishers.

Entree to Heaven.

Among the fraud orders issued by the Post Office Department in the first six months of the present year were a number against the same man. He lives in Canada, although he is really an American citizen. Under many firm names he has been writing to the disappointed aspirants for prizes in newspaper, magazine and other contests in sympathetic terms and promising, for the insignificant sum of $1, to put them "right" in contests that he said were forthcoming. While it might not seem that many persons would be likely to be caught by this bait, they were almost innumerable who came up with the dollar. And then they waited and never heard another word from their sympathetic friend.

Thousands of colored persons in all parts of the country were sending a swindler of their own race last winter and spring $10 for the "Keys to the Kingdom." They expected to get for their money some magic token that would insure them ready admission to Paradise. What they did get was a pamphlet containing a jumble of unintelligible words. The swindler was caught.

He is at his game again in another part of the country, but this time he is selling a salve which, if you anoint yourself with it in the full moon, will bring a remission of all your sins.

The swindler in Rochester who writes sympathetic letters to anybody who gets into the newspapers unpleasantly or otherwise is a sort of kin to the Canadian prize "tipster," but his game is to offer for a mere $100 a letter that "fell into his possession" and that will clear up some doubtful point. For this amount he offered to sell Mrs. James as a servant of the Britannic office he charges $15 for the same service. At the former figure he trimmed it, it is said, Judges, Senators, Governors and society women.

A mean game which started up shortly after the return of our service men from Europe is still being kept up, although exposed by the arrest and punishment of some of its perpetrators. It trades in the affections and sorrows of the parents and relatives of the boys killed in France, and the capital of the swindlers is a list of their names. They carry to these bereaved homes C. O. D. packages addressed to the dead veteran. Always there is a pretty steep bill attached to the package, but it is promptly liquidated. The man who takes the money gets out even more quickly, and what is found inside the package is always worthless.

Get Short Sentences.

A reason for the continuance of these confidence games is thought by some lawyers to be a defect in the law. Long time sentences cannot be inflicted, and the offender gets out soon and is able to begin all over again under a new name and in new surroundings.

One of the lightest sentences ever served was that given to a pretty Polish girl who called herself Bina Inawanka. She got one day in the society of the U. S. Marshal.

Bina was a matrimonial swindler. She advertised in Western papers for a husband, and to the numerous men who answered her she sent a photograph, not of herself but of an even prettier girl. When that bait caught she wrote to the men to send on traveling expenses. From many of her correspondents she received money in amounts varying from $25 to $100. The men who remitted money never heard from her again.

Bina frankly admitted her guilt; but pleaded that she was hungry and promised to reform. After serving her short term she disappeared.

By no means all the mail swindlers of the United States are arrested, though fraud orders stop their operations efficiently where the fake games are carried on exclusively through the Post Office. It often happens, too, that the Post Office inspectors are unable to get evidence to convict, so they do not hale these offenders to court. Very often also the frauds of the swindlers never come to the attention of the authorities.

A corresponding type of crime is said by Burgess Smith, formerly inspector of technical work for the United States Bureau of Engraving, to net the thieves annually more than $35,000,000. This is the loot obtained by check and draft manipulators and forgers. Mr. Smith left last week for England to investigate protective measures taken by that country against such criminals.

Carelessness in the use of checks explains in a measure this large percentage of dishonestly acquired wealth.

Mr. Mattuck said there was comparatively little forging done in Government paper because criminals are afraid of handling it, the penalty being greater than in similar of-modern in appearance at least.

Here, after the layers of fresh port fat are thoroughly impregnated with the odors of the blossoms that carpet them, the mass of perfumed lard is put into the stills, when drop by drop through zig-zag copper coils the essence, the sweet souls of the flowers, is arrived at. And through the aid of pork fat—curious vehicle for the most recherche of the altar accessories that adorn that temple of beauty and art—the modern woman's dressing table!

At this first distillation does not come forth the wonderful scent which we have always believed French perfumes to be from their birth. Not by any means is this so; a perfume is a creation, indeed, of many component parts and as intricate an assemblage as are any creations.

The first essay at the liquefaction of an odor is a very crude beginning. Anybody could carry the procedure a certain part of the way. The art, as well as the secret of the art, of the perfume maker lies in the subtle blending of these various essences in rightful marriages and just proportions. Here is where the perfume makers of Grasse take their proper place as the great master perfumers of the world.

The curious fact is that no single commercially known perfume is the essence of any one single flower. Evidently each flower has not only one soulmate but many soulmates. Most polygamous are perfumes! For example, a violet perfume requires the admixture of three or four "essences" of as many different flowers before the captivating breath of dewy violets is given out to charm the olfactory sense.

One of the biggest features of this Grasse perfume industry is the distillation of these essences in their simple forms, selling them in bulk, in demijohns and estagnons and bo-caux, to the wholesale perfume makers, the fabricators and the second fusion operators throughout the world. It is they for the most part who concoct the commercially well known blends from their own recipes and paste their traditional trademarked names and labels on cutglass flacons and satin lined caskets.

So it is that the neroli, the crude essence of the orange flower, is the big output of the Grasse factories, as it is the basis of a large majority of perfumes, especially that which is popularly known as eau de cologne—at least that which is recognized as the "type." Grasse to-day produces an eau de cologne that can more than compete with that of the famous trade-marked German article of before the war, which latter, by the way, as its name indicates to those who recall what was supposed to be the genuine article, was nothing German at all originally but Italian.

It is true also, in the first analysis, that perfumes were of Italian origin, though true also that the Italians got their flower secrets from the Persians. Nevertheless, perfumes owe their modern debut to the French godfathers, the perfume makers of the little town of Grasse in southern France, with its narrow picturesque thirteenth and fourteenth century streets and ruelles.

The perfume industry is one that gives every one good returns. The market gardeners around find it profitable to plant rows of perfume flowers among their prosaic farm products, hence vineyards and wheat fields are mingled with choice blossoms; roses and cabbages and jasmine and beans grow side by side.

During the flower gathering season workers flock from all the mountain countryside to the north down to the plain and valley for the harvest of blossoms, and this to the great discontent of the luxurious villa population of the Riviera towns, which complains loudly that ten francs a day paid the girl flower pickers empties their houses of servant maids. These, of course, are after the war prices, three, four and five times what they were ten years ago. Possibly this is one of the reasons why perfumery is a high priced article.

RECKLESS FORD TRIES TO KNOCK A PACKARD CAR OUT OF THE ROAD

Policeman Braden, on West Tjerna avenue at 3 o'clock last night, saw a Ford car pass at high speed. He called to the driver to stop, but the car only seemed to gain momentum, and turned into North Eleventh street. Shortly afterward the policeman heard a loud crash, and hurried to the scene. He found the Ford almost imbedded in the rear of a big Packard car belonging to Miss M. Fortune, parked in front of the residence at 415 North Eleventh. The Ford was jammed up into two-thirds its former length. The Packard's tire rack was jammed against its body. M. E. Maldonado, driver of the Ford, got a bad cut on his left hand. He also got an escort to the police station, where he was booked under a charge of driving while intoxicated.

GENEVA SAVAGE, A FOLLIES GIRL SEEKS FREEDOM

Brings Suit in the Supreme Court to Have Her Marriage Annulled, Charging Misrepresentations.

New York, Oct. 6.—Geneva Savage, formerly Geneva Mitchell, a "follies girl" in the Follies today brought suit in the supreme court for annulment of her marriage on March 3 to Robert Savage of La Jolla, Calif., who was then preparing to enter Yale university.

Mrs. Savage, who is 17, seeks the annulment on the grounds that the ceremony was performed upon misrepresentations and that she was not old enough to marry, as she claims to have done, without her mother's consent.

A letter, alleged to have been written by Savage from Milford, Conn., to the Follies girl whom he first saw in the New York review and introduced to support the first contention of Mrs. Savage, says:

JOE NAPOLEONE WINS SEDAN AT THE ELK CIRCUS

Dr. C. H. Carnes Held the Lucky Number in Thursday Night Drawing; Local Woman Wins Hams.

Joe Napoleone, of the Napoleone Taxi company, was the winner of the Ford sedan given away at the Elk's circus last night. The winning number was 4057, Series "Q." Dr. C. H. Carnes was the holder of the lucky number in the Thursday night drawing. The winning ticket was 7457, Series "A," and Dr. Carnes did not know he had won the machine until he saw the number of the ticket printed in the Albuquerque Morning Journal yesterday morning.

Today, the circus will start at 1 o'clock and at the close of the afternoon performance, a sedan will be given away, and another one at the close of the circus at midnight tonight.

OWNER SEES STOLEN BLANKETS IN TRUCK; SUSPECTS ARRESTED

While driving in her car yesterday Mrs. D. A. Macpherson recognized in a passing truck two Navajo blankets that had been stolen from her house, 1114 West Central avenue, on September 29. The police were notified, and the blankets were traced to the home of Estevan Guevara, by Officer Hogan. Guevara declared that he had bought the blankets from "Speedy" Guevara, his brother, the police said. He was held. "Speedy" Guevara was arrested with Julian Mora, who also was said to be implicated. The men are being held for investigation. Had it not been for the fact that Estevan Guevara was moving yesterday, Mrs. Macpherson probably would not have seen the rugs. Early yesterday evening, Mrs. Bernice M. Russell, 707 West Gold avenue, telephoned the police that a Navajo rug had just been stolen from her front porch. Officer Romulo Salazar, who went to investigate, arrested on the street at Fourteenth and Gold, Ramundo Gallegos and Liberto Chavez, who he suspected of the theft. The men denied knowledge of the blanket. They are being held for investigation.

HAGEN'S PUTTING IS MORE POWERFUL THAN THE BOY MONARCH'S

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (by the Associated Press).—The magic in the putting iron of Walter Hagen was two holes more powerful today than the golf wizardry of Eugene Sarazen—the boy monarch of American professionals. The first half of their 72-hole special match was witnessed by the greatest crowd that ever trod the course at Oakmont, and the two champions will start the final 36 holes tomorrow on the Westchester-Biltmore course at Rye, N. Y., with Hagen 2 up.

Sarazen fought an uphill battle all day, chiefly because his putting was erratic, but the great gallery cheered him until the 36th hole was played.

Far for the course is 74. Gene and Walter shot the 36 holes in 150 each.

DISCONTINUE SEARCH FOR BODY OF MINER

Jackson, Calif., Oct. 6.—Search for the body of William Fessel, one of the 47 miners who were trapped in the lower levels of the Argonaut mine, August 27, by a fire, and who died before rescuers could reach them, has been discontinued temporarily as a result of the fire breaking out anew in the Argonaut shaft, mine officials announced today.

The fire was re-kindled when the bulkhead which had been placed in the shaft to facilitate the rescue work was removed. It spread to such an extent that the bulkhead was again installed. The gas is so heavy in the mine that it cannot be entered by rescue or work crews.

A.E.F. CHAMPION KNOCKED OUT BY FLOYD JOHNSON

Californian Advances Notch in the Heavyweight Division by Defeating Champion Bob Martin.

New York, Oct. 6.—Floyd Johnson of California, advanced a notch in the heavyweight division tonight by winning a technical knockout in the tenth round over Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the A. E. F.

Martin's seconds threw a towel into the ring, thirty-one seconds after the tenth round started. Martin opened the session by rushing to meet Johnson as he sprang from his chair. But Martin missed, his only chance had gone, and he was absorbing heavy punishment when the surrender was made. Johnson jumped into the lead in the first round, had his opponent dazed by the end of the third and was in undisputed command after the first.

MR. HINKLE, ROADS AND OVERHEAD

The voters of New Mexico will do well to follow the statements made by some of the democratic candidates regarding the conduct of the state's business. If the fitness of these gentlemen for office may be measured by their seeming misconception or their willful distortion of the facts, then their present campaign methods will serve a useful purpose. The practice on the part of candidates of making extravagant statements in the hope that they will remain uncontradicted is altogether too common. Campaigns are conducted for the purpose of enabling voters to determine the candidates' qualifications for office.

Mr. Hinkle, democratic candidate for Governor, in a recent speech charged that a dirt fill constructed by the State Highway department across a lake in Roosevelt county was fifteen feet high and cost twenty-five thousand dollars. The fact is that the only fill across a lake in Roosevelt County constructed by this department was three feet high and cost one hundred and nine dollars. Had Mr. Hinkle's charges been based on fact, the voters would be justified in demanding an explanation from the present administration. But if this statement, which was entirely without foundation of fact, may be taken as an illustration of Mr. Hinkle's knowledge of the details which, in the event of his election, would come under his supervision, the voters are entitled to assume that he is not qualified for the office of governor.

The democrats have been vociferous in their charges of waste in overhead expenditures, and lay particular stress on the overhead costs of the State Highway department. "In this department," said Mr. Hinkle, "the overhead cost in New Mexico runs from forty to one hundred and twenty-five per cent." A "look at the inside of the books" discloses that the actual overhead charges for last year were one and twenty-three hundredths per cent, or one hundred times less than Mr. Hinkle would have the voters believe.

PROTECT THE PUBLIC.

To anyone who walks at the intersection of Central avenue and Fourth street the need for traffic supervision must be apparent. The absence of regulation at this point not only impedes traffic but jeopardizes human life. Pedestrians and motorists alike are hampered by lack of direction with the result that pedestrians often find themselves standing precariously between cars headed in every direction. This is a matter which should receive the attention of the City Commission and should not be left to the chance that because accidents have not thus far happened one may not happen in an unguarded moment.

WELL OUT OF THE MESS.

That the United States is well out of the political entanglements of Europe is proved by the equanimity with which we can look on the present turbulence on the other side of the Atlantic. Greece and Turkey, who began the present hostilities, were merely the pawns of two much more powerful nations pulling the strings of Old World diplomacy.

England and France have been manipulating the wires, and their puppets have been dancing, at least those of them who have not been put under ground with their throats cut or a bullet through their heads. And it is with nations who are willing to sacrifice hundreds of thousands of lives for their own lust for conquest, both territorial and commercial, that we were supposed to join in an international peace pact.

BIG CROPS AID BUSINESS.

The looked-for depressing effect of the coal and railroad strikes has not materialized, large crops, authoritative reports show, having been an important factor in stimulating business activities.

This bears corroborative testimony to the improvement in conditions that agriculture has been registering under republican administration. Crops were large in preceding years. But under the depressing conditions, chargeable to democratic control, their size did not mean much.

It is to adjustment of economic conditions under the present administration and to the improvement in market conditions worked by the emergency tariff and promised by the permanent tariff that the present importance of large crops as a business stimulant is chiefly due.

TODAY'S BEST THOUGHT

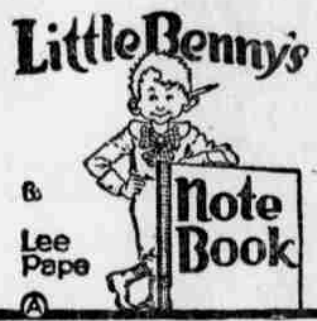

SALVAGE.

Not what you lose when all your ships go down upon some storm-washed shore, Where frowning rocks and foaming surf Will keep them evermore— Those stately vessels that went forth From Youth's fair port, one at a time, With treasure-trove of many kinds, Bound for a distant clime—

'Tis what you save from out of the wreck When tears and vain regrets are past: Have you a soul made strong by pain, A faith that holdeth fast— A courage high that beckons on Through tempests where the coward flees? Then, with your guiding star in sight, Set sail for other seas!

THEY INSIST ON "HORNING IN" ON THE BIG NOISE.

I was out playing with the fellows last night and it started to get dark proving it was starting to get late, and I thawt I better go in before I was sent for, and I went in the back way for a change, climbing over the fence to make it more interesting, and when I got half way over I thawt I felt something funny and when I got all the way over I remembered pop painted the fence yesterday afternoon, thinking, G good nite, no wonder I felt something sticky.

And when I got in the kitchen I looked at my clothes and there was yello stuff all over them, yello being the color pop painted the fence, me thinking, Holy smoke look at me.

And I went up and stuck my head in the setting room door and pop in the setting room reading different parts of the paper, me saying, Hello ma, look at my shoes. And I stuck one foot in the door and ma said, What in the world did you get all over your shoes?

G, that's nothing, ma, you awt to see my stockings, I sed, And I stuck one leg half way in, ma saying, For goodness sakes.

If you think that's anything you awt to see my pants, I sed, sticking one leg all the way in.

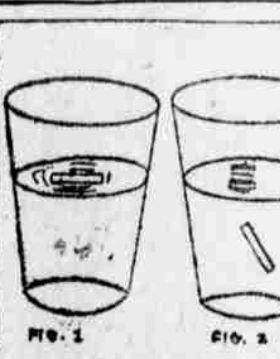

Yee gods, come in here, pop sed, Wich I did, and he sed, My fence, just as I thawt, my newly painted fence, and I sed, The paint's still wet, that's the hole trouble.

I never saw such a site in my life, ma sed, and pop sed, That fence is properly ruined after me spending 3 hours on it this afternoon.

But look at Benny, ma sed, I see him offen enuff, pop sed, And he got his fence like and went down to see what the fence looked like and ma turned me all around to see what I looked like, and pop came back saying, O well, its not so bad. Meaning the fence, and ma sed, Its simply triffel.

And today my clothes smelled so strong of gasolene I bet a blind-bounded could of followed me with its eyes shut.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 5—Metal Floats on Water

A metal disc that floats when carefully placed in a glass of water is quite a curiosity, but when the same disc is placed in the glass by some one other than the performer, the experiment becomes a mystery as well.

Two are used, one made of aluminum, the other of tin or steel, cut from sheets of metal. The steel disc is concealed in the folds of a handkerchief. After the aluminum disc has floated and some one wishes to try the experiment, the performer obligingly wipes off the disc for him and during that action retains the aluminum and pushes forward the steel. The exchange is repeated whenever necessary.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS 25TH BIRTHDAY PARTY IN TOWN OF CARLSBAD

Special to The Journal
Carlsbad, N. M., Oct. 6.—One of the most enthusiastic women's banquets Wednesday night at the Crawford hotel, which celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Carlsbad Women's club, and marked the beginning of the new club year.

Eighty-four women were seated together, four of the original 15 charter members being present, who in the after-dinner speeches, told of the early organization in the pioneer days of this country.

A feature of the evening was the large birthday cake with its 25 candles, and decorated with violets, the club flower.

Plans for the year were given by the chairman of the various committees and will include a study course in art and civics, with a series of debates, also a study club on musical appreciation.

The club officers for the year are: President, Mrs. Flora Stone; first vice president, Mrs. L. G. Ryan; second vice president, Mrs. Joe Wertheim; recording secretary, Mrs. George O'Connor; corresponding secretary, Miss Jennie Linn; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Kindie.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—On the ground that Searchlight, Nev., "has changed from a wide open mining town to a graveyard of tumble down buildings the California, Arizona and Santa Fe railway, subsidiary of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company, has applied to the railroad commission for permission to abandon its line from Goffs, San Bernardino county, to Searchlight.

The length of the line is 53 miles. It began operations in 1908 to serve what was considered very promising mining territory, but since the decline of the mining industry, it has been operated at a heavy loss, according to the petition.

The Markets

FINANCIAL

Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 6.—Confusion in price movements, featured by heavy speculation in oil shares, marked today's active stock market session in which the ultimate trend was upward.

Opening weakness undoubtedly was due to disturbing overnight news from the Near East, which induced profit taking and renewal of short selling, the general list turning quite heavy. The market reversed itself, however, when bullish demonstrations were staged in a number of specialties, but fell back again in response to a bear raid on Mexican Petroleum and Seaboard issues.

Declaration of a 200 per cent stock dividend by the Standard Oil Company of New York was the signal for a rally, which was accelerated by the publication of unofficial estimates indicating an increase of between 750,000 and 1,000,000 tons in the unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation when the September figures are made public next week.

The upward swing was restrained somewhat by a marking up of the call money rate.

Standard Oil of New York, which is traded in on the curb market, jumped twenty points to 590 on announcement of the stock dividend, added 48 more by touching 644 and slipped back to 634 at the close.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, which is traded in on the "big board," sold off five points at the opening, jumped ten and yielded four on profit taking for a net gain of one point. Houston Oil also profited from the heavy demand for oil shares.

Mexican Petroleum, a speculative favorite, was the target of a heavy bear attack, receding more than four points.

Steel shares became quite active in the afternoon, United States Steel common climbing close to 100 for a net gain of 1 1/2 points.

Heavy trading in specialties, especially some of the high grade iron and steel, desirable bologna, but little new peak prices were established by National Biscuit, Pillsbury, May Department Stores, Wells Fargo Express, Du Pont Powder, Corn Products and United Fruit, the net gains ranging as high as eight points.

Total sales were 1,266,700 shares. Call money opened and renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, advanced to 4 3/4 and thence to 5, where it closed.

Foreign exchange rates were irregular. German marks touched 4 1/2 cents a hundred, a new low.

Don't Review.
New York, Oct. 6.—Don't's tomorrow will say:
With few exceptions, major movements in business continue in the direction of improvement. Recent weeks have brought a practically general advance, following a season's fall in different trading circles. In some industries through labor troubles, and sentiment is unmistakably stronger. While uniformity of gain in volume of transaction is lacking, and obstacles to progress are still present, activities in various interiors have expended considerably and in certain instances the best previous records have been closely approached or exceeded. The noteworthy demand for railroad material has remained an outstanding feature, about 1,500,000 tons of rails having been ordered for delivery and large quantities of rolling stock purchased, and production of both pig iron and steel has recovered substantially from the low level of the summer.

Weekly bank clearings, $7,411,757,000.

New York Money.
New York, Oct. 6.—Call money—Firm. High and last loan, 5 per cent; low and ruling rate, 4 1/2 per cent; closing bid, 5 to 5 1/4 per cent.

Time loans—Firm. Mixed collateral, 60 and 90 days, 4 1/2 per cent; four and six months, 4 3/4 per cent; prime commercial paper, 4 1/2 per cent.

Foreign Exchange.
New York, Oct. 6.—Foreign exchange—Firm. Great Britain demand, $4.14 1/2.

Liberty Bonds.
New York, Oct. 6.—Liberty bonds closed: 3 1/2, $100.00; second 3 1/2, $100.00; second 3 1/2, $100.00; third 3 1/2, $100.00; fourth 3 1/2, $100.00; Victory 3 1/2, $100.00; Victory 3 1/2, $100.00.

Grain.
Chicago, Oct. 6.—Although war-like aspects of the Turkish crisis gave the wheat market an upturn at the opening, heavy buying failed to broaden, and prices declined under persistent selling, largely of a profit taking character. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's point to 1 1/2 lower, with December $1.06 1/2 to $1.06 3/4 and May $1.08 1/2 to $1.08 3/4. Corn lost 1/4 to 1 1/4 to 1 1/4 to 1 1/4, and provisions finished at 50 to 60 cents advance.

The fact that the wheat market had been on the upgrade for four days and that the foreign outlook, although disturbing, was still ascertained to be for peace had much to do with the enlarged selling and the lack of any aggressive new demand. Besides, Winnipeg reported greater hedging pressure on account of expected heavy receipts, whereas the outlet for Canadian wheat was further restricted by lake freight rates rising to 8 cents a bushel, the highest charge ever known. In addition arrivals of wheat at prime points in the United States continued liberal.

Showers relieving the drought which of late has retarded the sowing of winter wheat was a further factor. On the other hand, domestic milling call for wheat was said to have improved in many sections, and exporters at the Gulf of Mexico were bidding for wheat at prime points in the United States to be shipped without delay. The eastern seaboard, however, sent word that exporters there were reluctant to offer wheat at prices suggested by the uncertainty of obtaining supplies.

Corn was weak from the start. Talk of Argentine competition in export business acted as a handicap to bulls. Oats were strengthened by comparative absence of future offerings.

Provisions were firmer in line with hog values and as a result of packers buying presumably against shipping, sales being held.

Closing prices:
Wheat—Dec., $1.06 1/2; May, $1.08 1/2; July, $1.01 1/2.
Corn—Dec., 60 1/2; May, 62 1/2; July, 63 1/2.
Oats—Dec., 38 1/2; May, 39 1/2; July, 38 1/2.
Lard—Oct., $11.45; Jan., $9.27.
Ribs—Oct., $10.75.
