RUSS TEACHERS TURN TO OTHER LINES OF WORK

Government Is Unable to Pay Instructors; Plan for a Unified System Is Having Hard Sledding.

Moscow, Oct. 14.—Russian children have started a new school year with little prospect of better conditions than they endured during the revolution.

In the Siberian district the indifference of the government to the teachers for salaries has reached the sum of over $5,000,000 rubles, says a recent report to the district soviet. This is a mere fraction of the total amount due to instructors in salaries. In some districts teachers have not been paid for many months, and the officials have even ceased to keep account of the arrears.

The lot of Russian school teachers has been a hard one. In the villages they have been somewhat better cared for than in the cities because the peasants have taxed themselves to contribute to the necessary expenses; have themselves cut wood for the school fuel, and have repaired many school houses. In the cities the schools have been left to governmental care. As a result of these conditions many teachers are turning to other means of earning a living.

The plan of the communists for free and unified school system is having hard sledding. Decree after decree has been passed forbidding the collection of fees from parents for their children's education, but local school authorities from time to time make "assessments" upon parents for the various expenses involved in maintaining the schools.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, H. M. Johnson, 409 W. Lake St., Chicago, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Adv.

ENGLAND'S NEAR EAST POLICY IS DEFENDED BY PRIME MINISTER

stand the jolting of the train that carried it from London to the Balkans. It fell to pieces before it reached Sofia.

"That wasn't his fault. The plan was good, the intentions were excellent, but there were factors which he could not control."

The prime minister closed his speech by saying:

"I place the national security and prosperity above the interests of anybody, and if in consequence of that position which I have taken—that position which I mean to abide by—if in consequence of that I am driven alone into the wilderness, I shall always recall with pride that I was one of the few in the support of loyal colleagues in dark hour of this nation's history, to render it no mean service."

If this were the last day I held this high position, I should be more proud than ever of the fact that I was given my last day in the support of my colleagues who were entrusting to the plighted word of France, Italy and Great Britain as their shield and defense and who are thanking God that this day has been theirs.

One of the features of Mr. Lloyd George's speech was a violent personal attack on Lord Gladstone, who has recently criticized the premier's Near Eastern policy. "It was rather a shock to me," said the premier, "to see a Gladstone denounce us because we were trying to protect thousands of lives against the Turk. I could have taken it from any one else, but from a Gladstone, it was particularly offensive."

"I know the difficulty of any one without adequate gifts who has to carry through life a great name. If he only does it by becoming modest, he ensures his own ruin."

"I am sorry to say Lord Gladstone has never played leading parts. He has given himself airs such as his great father, even in his last days, never took upon himself. He has actually 'excommunicated' me from the liberal party."

Asking ironically what service Lord Gladstone has ever done for liberalism, the premier added:

"He is the best living embodiment that liberalism is a quality which is not hereditary. There, no more ridiculous spectacle than a 'stunt' standing before the footlights in garments inherited from a giant."

TIEZEL LOSES CASE AGAINST THE COUNTY

Jurors in the George Tietzel case against Bernalillo county returned a verdict for the defendant yesterday after less than an hour of deliberation. The case arose through the alleged taking of graves by the county from land owned by Mr. Tietzel. The plaintiff claimed that a large quantity of graves by the county from land his land without his consent and had been used for county road repair work. He asked $5,175 as compensation for the graves and an additional $1,000 as punitive damages.

The case was started Friday morning in the district court and went to the jury late yesterday afternoon. The trial completed the jury work for this term of court and the jurors were dismissed.

COURAGE SHOWN BY WORKERS IN FAMINE REGION

Message of Appreciation Is Issued by District Supervisor for the American Relief Administration.

Moscow, Oct. 14.—Courage, persistence and devotion to their work of the American personnel in the Ufa-Ural district is related in a message of appreciation which, W. L. Bell, district supervisor for the American Relief Administration in this famine swept area, has addressed to his colleagues, and a copy of which has reached Col. William N. Haskell, director of A. R. A. activities in Russia.

The strain that has taxed the young Americans who enlisted their services to fight famine and disease with American food and medicines as weapons, is brought out when Mr. Bell says:

"In writing of the famine relief work of the Ufa-Ural district, A. R. A., it is impossible for me not to refer to the cool courage and absolute devotion to duty that has at all times been shown by the Americans assigned to this territory. Already three serious cases of typhus, and unfortunate death of Blandy, Baird, invalidated to America, and Russell so used up by the nervous strain that it was necessary to send him to Moscow for general over-look and treatment."

Mr. Bell points out that the district was one of the most dangerous to work in of the famine belt, explaining:

"12 Murders in 2 Nights

"Probably as concerns dangerous diseases, banditry, murder and general crimes, this territory has the worst record of all the Russian operations. Over forty cases of cholera in March in Ufa alone. Typhus continuing through the past spring and summer and commencing to increase as early as the first part of August. Twelve people murdered in two nights within a stone's throw of our office. Sixty of our Russian personnel suffered with typhus, of which sixteen died. Entire lack of control by local authorities over the criminal elements forced us to take official notice of the prevalent crimes and murders and demand firearms and permits for carrying same of each of the American personnel here."

"In spite of all this," says Mr. Bell, "each one has not only carried on his own work, but as well has tried to the utmost to help each other with a great spirit of sincere fraternal feeling. The difficulties have in reality been enormous. A disorganized country, almost useless transport, both rail and animal and a people so demoralized by harassing and suffering that it was hard to convince them that our purpose here was to impartially afford the utmost relief and general assistance that the means at our disposal would permit."

Tact and Diplomacy

"Thanks to the tact and diplomacy each one of the Americans has at all times displayed, the work has been made as light as possible and without this assistance it could have been impossible for us to have built up the efficient organization that was finally secured. As well the great spirit of cooperation shown by the American personnel was a great incentive to the members of the Russian staff.

"Hofstra, who carried on the entire job while I was ill with the typhus, November-December, 1921, shared the same fate early in April, 1922, and but for the great work of Drs. Sloan and Foucar, would have met the same fate as Blandy and it was many days before we were sure that he would pull through. Fortunately their unflinching services were successful, but it will be sometime before Hofstra returns to the same rugged health he enjoyed."

"As an example of the unique record of Ufa-Ural, Dr. Surber developed acute appendicitis in August, 1922, and again Dr. Sloan's skill made a successful termination of this case. Dr. Surber's recovery from the emergency operation was remarkably rapid."

"How Kelley got away safely is beyond our understanding. He certainly was under much exposure, and hard work as any of the rest of us. It was a great relief to learn that he had safely arrived in New York. Murphy is well in spite of the hard work at our headquarters and repeated trips in the districts mostly travelling via regular Russian trains. Both Howard and Verdon having served with the A. R. A. in either Austria or Poland were familiar with the dangers of typhus, etc., but this has not deterred them from more than fully doing their work here in this disease-infested territory."

Service Given by Sloan

"It would not be fair to refer to the work of the American personnel here without making special reference to the great service given at all times by Dr. R. M. Sloan. He arrived in Ufa just about the time that Hofstra developed typhus, worked with him day and night attending to his regular duties as district medical officer at the same time. How he did it all we do not know. Just as Hofstra was coming back to earth, Blandy's illness commenced and again it was a twenty-four hours' job, with the additional knowledge that it would possibly be a losing fight, though this did not check the untiring efforts made to keep Blandy with us. With two such men as Sloan and Surber to care for our health, the Ufa-Ural district has indeed been fortunate and without this pair of keenly energetic youngsters it would have been impossible as well to carry on a medical distribution and general vaccination program that served a territory 725 by 425 verst in which there were nearly eight million people."

"In my opinion special commendation should be forwarded the London and New York offices of the American Relief Administration, outlining the services of the ones concerned and can add that to my personal observation and intimate knowledge each one has carried on his work far in excess of what would be considered his regular duty."

Doyle refused to state what was in the package, even when Judge Smith asked him, but he said he had heard his associates talking about quicksilver, and that his mother told him the package contained quicksilver.

"When mother insisted, I turned the package back," he testified. "My friend, Jimmy, I don't know his last name, said he was sorry my folks looked at the strike like that."

You'll See Karpen Furniture In the Homes of People of Well Developed Taste Everywhere

Karpen Furniture is furniture of distinction. A Karpen-furnished room has an atmosphere of restrained luxury—ness about it that evades description—you know it is there, you feel it every time you enter the room.

Karpen furniture is good taste as exemplified by furniture. The designs not only show it, but it is reflected in the way those designs are carried out. It is made by the best craftsmen of the trade, inspired by Karpen tradition.

But in spite of all this, Karpen furniture is neither expensive to buy nor to own. Its first cost is moderate, when you consider its obvious quality; and because it is so well made, and because the materials which go into its manufacture are the very best that knowledge of the markets and unlimited buying power can procure. Karpen furniture actually costs much less in the long run than furniture of ordinary quality.

But most people are already acquainted with Karpen quality—the interesting thing is that a large Karpen stock is on display at Strong Brothers' furniture store, exclusive distributors in this territory. Here is furniture for every lived-in room in the house. A few minutes spent at a display of Karpen furniture brings a harvest of usable decorating ideas—ideas that will keep your home new and comfortable in spirit and in reality.

Next time you are in our neighborhood stop in and see the new Karpen furniture in our store. Its beauty will appeal to you at once, and an examination will show that real service is built into every piece of it.

M'ADOO STATES BIG MONEY HAS G.O.P. CONTROL

Former Secretary of the Treasury Says Present Administration Has Favored Financial Interests.

Charging that the republican party has increased living costs in the United States about four billion dollars a year through the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, that it has hurt business, the laborer and the farmer through its taxation program and its aloofness from co-operation with the nations of Europe, that its handling of the railway problem has been unfair to the worker, the producer and the shipper, and that it has reduced taxation for the rich while maintaining the taxes of the less wealthy at their former figure, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, in an address at the high school auditorium last night, urged his hearers to help return a democratic majority to congress in the coming election, "to save the nation from further domination by the special interests."

Mr. McAdoo spent a considerable portion of his time in a recitation of his achievements as secretary of the treasury during war time, and as director general of the railways of the country.

He declared that a study of legislation passed since the republican administration took control at Washington would show that it has been dictated by the special interests. He declared that the Fordney-McCumber tariff law, which recently went into effect, has increased the cost of living four billion dollars a year for the American people, and that 10 percent of this increased cost will go into the pockets of the government while the remainder will go into the pockets of the big financial interests. He said that the application of the emergency tariff by the republicans had been responsible for a curtailment of European imports to the United States and a consequent cutting down of American exports. This, he said, was the cause of the slump that came in 1920, when American prosperity was at its peak, had been the ruin of the farmer and had caused many millions of men to be without employment.

Favors Protective Tariff.

Mr. McAdoo declared himself in favor of a protective tariff in cases where it was seen that protection was necessary, but said such a tariff should be framed by a non-partisan tariff board, such as he said the democrats had created, whose recommendations should be accepted by congress.

The speaker criticized republicans for having urged deflation, and declared that such a policy had been dictated by Wall Street, "which is able to profit through the losses of others." He said that over-speculation had been responsible for evils that existed during the period of 1918-20, but that in attempting to punish the speculators the government had done irreparable damage to farmers and working men.

Mr. McAdoo said the republicans had failed to keep faith with the people on their promises to reduce taxation. He stated that the income tax of the multi-millionaire had been cut down 15 per cent, while the taxpayer of less wealth is paying at the same old rate. Both, he said, had been given an additional exemption of $500, which, he stated, did not amount to anything.

The Esch-Cummins railway law came in for a rap from Mr. McAdoo, who said it had been responsible for a raise in rates and a cut in wages. Through its operations, he claimed, this law had curtailed business and had dealt the farmer and the stockman a severe blow. He said the railway men could judge for themselves whether the law had fulfilled President Harding's prediction that it would provide a peaceful solution for settlement of labor disputes.

Pleas for Jones.

Mr. McAdoo made a plea for the re-election of Senator Jones, who he said, he knew to be efficient and should elect a democratic congress to stop the control of government by high finance. He urged his hearers to study political and governmental problems impartially, and said the people should take control of their government, as its founders had intended.

"The free man's government must not be for sale," he said, toward the conclusion of his remarks.

Mayor W. H. Walton introduced the speaker, and, after recounting some of Mr. McAdoo's achievements and official connections, declared that it would not surprise him to see Mr. McAdoo at some time the foremost citizen of the United States.

This statement seemed to please Mr. McAdoo immensely, and he deviated from his set speech at great length to recount his connection with wartime events and to defend the league of nations. In speaking of that measure, he said that had the United States given its co-operation to the European nations after the Versailles and Paris meetings, the Turk would have been banished from Europe.

A. T. Hannett of Gallup, speaking in behalf of the democratic state candidates, criticized the policy of the present republican administration. The state highway department, the state auditor and the state penitentiary came in for a rap from Mr. Hannett.

A large crowd, which filled the high school auditorium, heard the address.

McADOO SPEAKS AT MEETING IN GALLUP

Gallup, N. M., Oct. 14.—W. G. McAdoo delivered an address at a theater here today at 12:50 o'clock in behalf of the democratic party in the present campaign. He stated that he was speaking in behalf of what he believes to be right, and that he believes it to be the duty of every man to devote a portion of his time to the discussion of public questions closely and learn to know the right and the wrong side, and then they would have no trouble about voting right on election day, regardless of which party was wrong.

Mr. McAdoo said, "the truth about railroad control and operation under private and federal control had never reached the people of the United States," but that it would some day and that he would work to bring about the day when it would be made clear. The present passenger and freight rates are excessive in his opinion.

In speaking of the McCumber-Fordney tariff bill, which recently became a law, he referred to it as one of the most oppressive measures that had ever been enacted into law by an American congress. The speaker called the attention of the railroad men to things that he had said in Gallup two years ago in discussing the Esch-Cummins law, which, he said, carried a provision for the reduction of the employee's wages and a guarantee by the government in favor of the railroads. He also stated that he believed the eastern trusts and financial combinations who, he said, finance the republican party, "expect to lose the control of government in the election of 1924, but they figure they can make sufficient money from the present tariff bill during the next four years that it will pay them to lose control for four or eight years."

PLENTY OF AIR IN EVERY ROOM URGED BY WEST

Open Windows Should Be the Rule and Ventilation Should Be Done on a Systematic Basis.

(By DR. O. C. WEST, Health Officer.)

With the approach of cold weather, there is a tendency on the part of many of us to close down the windows. Drafts and chills, are often uncomfortable, but these can be avoided if the ventilation in the office, living room, and bedroom is properly regulated. Fresh air is nature's best germicide and in order that it might be brought into use to its fullest extent, windows must be kept open or at least ventilators installed where healthful surroundings are desired. More especially should the open window policy be carried out when weather conditions are quite favorable. In office buildings, work rooms and in schools it is always advisable to thoroughly air the rooms during lunch hours or at a suitable period during the day by raising all the windows. By such procedure the vitiated air is in a sense washed out, the stagnant atmosphere is thoroughly removed and the room is filled with fresh, invigorating cold air.

In overcrowded assemblies and workshops, it is difficult to obtain satisfactory ventilation. In places of amusement, it is well to throw open the doors at the end of each performance, to replace the foul air within. More especially are we concerned with the ventilation at home. Often when passing through the residence section of the city at night, the windows are seen tightly closed. Although a certain amount of ventilation takes place between the shafts of the windows, this is inefficient. The oxygen in the air is soon consumed by the occupants and the atmosphere adulterated by the exhaled breath. To secure the desired quantity of fresh air and oxygen, open the windows. Pneumonia, tuberculosis and colds are bad air diseases.

Overcrowding, whether in street cars (no danger in Albuquerque), theater lobbies, assembly halls, is a menace to public health, because it encourages conditions which are conducive to the spread of disease. Coughing and sneezing are not infrequent in crowded places and these acts tend to inject infectious material into the atmosphere, which is breathed over and over by others, thus exposing them to such infections as tuberculosis, influenza, tonsillitis, colds or, in fact, any of the infectious respiratory diseases.

Most public assembly places are provided with the means of ventilation, but these are not always used to advantage or properly supervised.

The utter lack of ventilation in small gatherings at home is usually responsible for an endless chain of ordinary colds inflicting a family all winter. One of the first symptoms of poor ventilation is a sensation of drowsiness—entire lack of "pep." These signs are more readily recognized in members of the family who are from to spend most of their time indoors. School children who are accustomed to systematic ventilation at school are easily affected by poor ventilation at home. It is an effort for them to keep awake when they attempt evening study in close rooms. With the approach of winter, and the prospects of a fuel shortage ahead, a considerable saving could be made if people would only pay a little more attention to the proper heating of their homes.

The vitiated gases in a room will usually rise to the ceiling, and window ventilation is more efficient if the lower sash is lowered than if the lower one is raised. Rooms where illuminating gas is used either for light, heat, or cooking, should be thoroughly and systematically ventilated, for no matter how well a burner is adjusted, there is a certain amount of unconsumed gas liberated which helps to vitiate the atmosphere.

15 BEARS SHOT IN U.S. FOREST; ONE IS LASSOED

Coyotes Are Reported Killing Deer in Mountains Near Alamogordo; Wild Turkeys Plentiful.

Special to The Journal

Alamogordo, N. M., Oct. 14.—Forest Supervisor Fred O. Arthur, who returned yesterday from a three weeks' inspection trip through the Guadalupe section of the national forest, while near the Texas line in Dark Canyon near Queen, N. M., killed 15 bears. One weighed about 450 pounds, and the other 150. One was a black bear and one brown. Mr. Arthur is having the skins mounted.

Mr. Arthur states that 15 bears have been killed in the vicinity of Queen in the past few months. Calvin Ayers, a young cowboy, encountered a bear when he had no gun, but rather than let the bear escape he lassoed him and killed him by hanging him to a tree. Mr. Arthur saw five bears while on his inspection trip. It is believed, he says, that the bears have come to Queen out of Old Mexico.

Want Game Refuge.

Mr. Arthur visited the proposed game refuge which ranchmen in the south part of the county are endeavoring to have set aside as a protection to the large number of wild mountain sheep which abound there. The sheep are of an unusually large variety and are among the few remaining in the forests of the southwest. The forest service here has approved this area as a game refuge and will submit the plan at the next meeting of the state game commission. A heavy fine is imposed for the killing of wild sheep.

Forest officials state that the deer in the forest have suffered this year from the ravages of wild animals, particularly of the coyotes. Owing to the long dry season, wild turkey are plentiful. Many cattle are being moved from the forest and adjoining pastures to the Texas border, and plans are being made for their shipment into Old Mexico for the winter. The federal banks are co-operating with the ranchmen in getting protection for the stock from the Mexican government, and in case the protection is guaranteed, cattle from Otero and Lincoln counties will be shipped to Mexico.

BOULDER ELEVEN BEATS LOBOS IN SEE-SAW GAME

Colorado Scores a Victory of 3 to 0 Over New Mexico; Many Penalties Feature the Contest.

Boulder, Colo., Oct. 14.—Loser's field goal from the forty yard line gave the University of Colorado eleven a 3 to 0 victory over the University of New Mexico here this afternoon. In State's initial conference game of the season.

With both teams evenly matched, the game developed into a see-saw clash from the first whistle. In the closing minutes of the final period the Lobos came dangerously near the silver and gold goal, after Tohey, halfback, penalized his team by roughing, and the ball was placed within scoring distance of State's goal. The whistle, however, prevented them from pushing the ball over the last chalk line.

A puzzling shift was New Mexico's chief offense. The game was captured by many penalties and frequent changes in the line up of both teams.

INDIANS SUSPECTED OF KILLING TRADER REPORTED ARRESTED

Gallup, N. M., Oct. 14.—Word reached Gallup yesterday from the Navajo reservation to the effect that the murderers of Francis Dugan, who was killed in his trading post at Crown Canyon, Ariz., early in the year, had been captured by Indian police under direction of Agent Peter Paquette of Fort Defiance and that they were being brought to Gallup and would be taken to prison at St. John, Ariz. Two Navajos are now being held in jail under suspicion that they were implicated in the killing. The report is that the guilty ones have been captured.

IOWA FOOTBALL ELEVEN DEFEATS YALE TEAM, 6-0

Hawkeye Gridsters Score a Touchdown in the Second Period and Hold the Easterners Scoreless.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 14 (by the Associated Press).—Iowa's mighty football eleven, champions of the western conference, gave Yale, a member of the "Big Three" of the east, its first defeat by a conference eleven today and it was a decisive victory. The score was 6 to 0, representing a touchdown from a march half the length of the field, which started late in the first period and ended at Yale's last white line soon after the second period began. But Iowa's superiority was much greater than the mere final score shows.

Howard Jones, Iowa's mentor, is, therefore, champion football coach of the Jones family, but in the last year half of the game he must have recalled the stirring finishes of Yale's football teams in the days when he and his brother, Tad, now Yale coach, played on the same Yale eleven. Yale threatened to tie and possibly win the game, a concerted advance toward Iowa's goal of 79 yards ending a few seconds before the last whistle blew with a forward pass over the goal line which grounded.

Tad, as quarterback, directed two famous games against Princeton in which Yale came from behind for victory.

30,000 saw the game. The efforts of Coach Tad's pupils to repeat football history on an ideal football day—thrilled them no less than they had been amazed by the power of Iowa's offensive shown in the first half of the game; thrilled them even as much as they had been surprised in the first half by Iowa's failure to score more points. Fumbles were the principal reasons for this failure. Penalties contributed.

Howard does not think, however, that he is a better coach than his brother. He insists he merely has a better team. As he merely has a better team, he said: "I'm glad for Iowa's sake that we won. It was a test of two teams more than of coaching. Iowa played a good game."

Captain Gordon Locke, so dazed from his brilliant smashing that he could hardly speak as he was assisted aboard the train, could only murmur in happiness: "Wire the folks in Iowa just how we won."

Brothers' Hands Shakes. Tad Jones crossed the field immediately after the game and shook hands with his brother and Captain Locke.

In a statement, Tad said: "I have nothing but praise for the Iowa team, but I have also unlimited confidence in this Yale team. Any other comment that I might make would probably be misunderstood. Captain Locke, his team and Howard have my congratulations."

Iowa had four excellent scoring opportunities, that is, it had the ball within 35 yards of Yale's goal. One of these opportunities was realized. Two failures to make the best of excellent strategic positions were due to fumbles. One failure was due to stiffening of Yale's defense. Three of the scoring opportunities were due to superior offense and one to a Yale fumble.

Yale also had four opportunities. Two of them were due to loose handling of the ball by Iowa, one to a partially blocked Iowa punt and one to the brilliant end-game flash of power which is typified by Yale's premier football song, "March, March on Down the Field."

Inability to throw the forward pass was the chief factor in Yale's failure to make the best of its chances. Yale did not complete one forward pass through the game, while Iowa had four successful ones for a total gain of 59 yards. It seems as if Yale adopted Willie Keller's motto for hitting a baseball and made it "throw them where they ain't." While Iowa revised it a bit, too, "throw them where they are."

Gene Watson, California lightweight who has been taking the wind out of the eastern leather pushers' sails for the past two years, stopped off in Albuquerque yesterday and if arrangements can be made, will sign up for a bout here with any lightweight that can be located who stands a chance of putting up a scrap against him.

Gene wants to box here, and to make it easier to find a man to meet him, states that he doesn't particularly care about the weight, so long as it is within reason. He is willing to give 10 or 15 pounds. Local promoters were busy yesterday trying to locate some one to match against Watson, who is making a trip to the coast before meeting Johnny Dundee in February in a match for the lightweight title. Contract for this bout was signed some time ago.

TENDLER-SHADE FIGHT HAS BEEN CALLED OFF

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—The Wisconsin state boxing commission announced late today that the Law Tandler-Dave Shade bout scheduled here for next Thursday, has been called off.

Dave Shade has failed to put up one-fourth of his guarantee, which is $7,500, and Tandler did not place $1,000 for weight and appearance. Both overweights are infringements of the state boxing laws.

MAUGHAN WINS RACE. Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 14.—Lieut. R. L. Maughan, flying an army Curtiss plane, today won the Pulitzer trophy race, the annual air classic of America, his speed of 206 miles an hour over the 163-mile course not being duplicated by any flyer in the final flight of the contest.

BROTHERS MAY STAR FOR CHICAGO ELEVEN

Harry Thomas, hurling a forward pass; his brother John punting, and Capt. Harold Lewis.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

Alonso Stagg's Maroon warriors, deprived of the Big Ten grid championship last fall by their failure to lick Illinois, are out for blood this year. Blood with a large "B."

And there's a sort of satisfied air about Stagg's field that indicates the University of Chicago men are in a pretty confident mood.

Just at present the Chicago team appears to be the one that may fight it out with Iowa for the championship, which the Iowans annexed last year.

Stagg has great strength in two departments of the game in particular which pleases him. These are the line and the kicking divisions. The line which Stagg now has in the field has shown tremendous power and every husky rooter in school is hoping that George Hartong, brilliant line-man of last year, will be declared eligible—which will make the front rank that much stronger. He will play the center and Ralph King will be moved to guard.

Hele and Pyott, left half, have shown in the early games that they can be called upon at any time to drop kick Chicago to additional points if the rest of the team will give them the chance.

Stagg will have, to work with this good line, the same type of plunging backfield he had last season, when Chicago drove the ball ahead by brute force when called upon.

Two brothers, comparative newcomers, are counted on to shine before the season is much farther advanced. They are Harry and John Thomas. Already these North Dakota lads have shown great promise in the backfield.

Chicago's biggest game this season is with Princeton. Last year the westerners furnished one of the biggest thrills in the intersectional matches by licking the Tigers, 9 to 0.

That game was staged at Princeton. The teams clash October 28 at Stagg's field in a return engagement and the Chicagoans hope to duplicate their feat of last fall.

That Princeton felt the defeat last year and wants revenge is indicated by the fact that followers of the black and gold rank this contest in importance with the annual contests with Yale and Harvard.

There is no way of comparing the strength of the teams to date. This in itself ought to make the game more interesting.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY BEATS NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Northwestern's fighting eleven met the University of Chicago here today to settle their traditional rivalry and Coach Stagg's heavier team was forced to extend itself to the limit to win, 15 to 7. Northwestern, which for years has been considered the jowliest in the big ten conference, led by a point for a moment and was dangerous at all times.

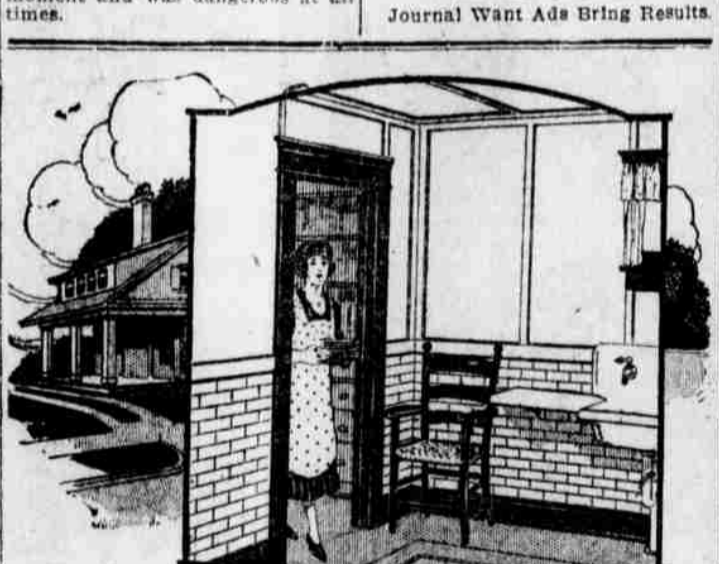

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY BEATS NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A brilliant 89-yard run by Cleaves in the second period and a field goal by Smith in the fourth period, enabled Princeton to defeat the Colgate eleven today, 10 to 0. The visitors outplayed the Tigers, making first downs 13 times to Princeton's five, but rugged playing and inability to gain in Princeton territory prevented Colgate from scoring.

HIGH SCHOOL IS EASY WINNER IN WINSLOW BATTLE

The Winslow football team, game but short handed, was forced to throw in the sponge to the Albuquerque high school gridiron warriors after eight minutes of play in the third quarter of the game yesterday afternoon at Washington park. The score was 38 to 0. The visitors started out with a rush, holding the local players scoreless for the first quarter.

In the second quarter the visitors began to weaken and the locals to find their pace and Albuquerque high scored five touchdowns, kicking goal for two. The half ended with the score 32-0 in favor of Albuquerque. One more touchdown in the third quarter was all the high school could make before the officials called the game on account of the physical condition of the Winslow team.

At the opening of the game Albuquerque received and ran the ball back to the visitors' 25-yard line. Royalbunt on the second down and Winslow fumbled but recovered the ball. With the ball on their 40-yard line Winslow was unable to gain and was forced to punt on the second down. Long received the ball and ran it back to within eight yards of the place where it had been kicked from. Albuquerque carried the ball to the Winslow 10-yard line, where the visitors took it on downs. Several costly fumbles were then made by the locals and the quarter ended with the ball on the Winslow 11-yard line.

In the start of the second quarter line bucks put the ball over the Winslow goal line. Royalbunt dropped the ball and end runs were mainly responsible for the rest of the scoring on the part of the Albuquerque team during that quarter.

Winslow, weakened by injuries to their center and fullback, entered the third quarter under heavy disadvantages. Time was wasted continually for injuries until the game was finally stopped by the officials. The visiting squad consisted of only thirteen players so that only two subs were available. The visitors put up a hard battle and many fans expressed regret that the players were not in better physical condition so that they could have maintained the class of play and strength shown in the first quarter.

Next Saturday the high school boys will meet the strong Menaul school team. Last Saturday Menaul held the Indian school to a very close score.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

By JANE PHELPS

NELLIE GETS WHAT SHE GOES AFTER

Chapter 24

That morning Nellie waited outside the building until she saw Mr. Robinson enter. As he stepped from his machine, her lip curled. He hadn't wanted his chauffeur to know he took his stenographer out the previous night, hence the taxi.

When she appeared in the office he looked surprised, and his face turned a deep crimson as he said "good morning." Angry and excited as she was, Nellie noticed Smith was watching.

"I came for my pay," she said in a hard, cold voice.

"I haven't discharged you. If you choose to leave me in the lurch before your week is up you'll get no pay."

"Oh, won't it? I'll not budge from here until I get it, and something else too—a reference, and a good one."

Mr. Robinson turned away, and in a voice which Nellie afterward said was like an orange squeezed dry said:

"I have no time to discuss matters with you. You'll stay the rest of the week or you'll get no pay." He was showing his real self for the first time—the self that Smith the bookkeeper, knew.

Nellie sat down.

"Take this letter," he said, turning to her, a half smile on his lips. She was coming around. This was all some play of hers.

"Are you going to give me my money?" she asked looking straight into his eyes.

"No," he said, hitting the desk so the papers flew on the floor. The patient Smith stooped and picked them up, and to Nellie's amusement he winked at her.

"I'm sorry to trouble your wife. She seemed a good sort. If she did look at me with those glasses on a stick, I guess she has reason enough to hate the girls in your office. But if you don't give me my money, I shall go to her and tell her why I'm leaving, and all you tried to do, I'd hate to hurt her—perhaps she knows you so well by this time it wouldn't. But I sort of think she would pay me."

"Oh, vixen!" he said between closed teeth, as he counted out the $5 and held it toward her.

"Now my reference!" she said as she thrust the bills into her pocket.

"Your what?" he shouted, the angry veins standing out large and full on his forehead.

"My reference! You didn't suppose I was going to leave without one. I'll type it, and you can sign."

"I'll do no such thing!"

"Well, suit yourself. I shall spend ten cents carfare to call upon Mrs. Robinson. I'm sorry I haven't an automobile to go in," she imprudently returned. Smith was grinning at a grin of pure delight.

Nellie coolly sat before her typewriter and wrote her own reference. Using tact, she said neither too much or too little. She had been with him so long, had done her work carefully and well, had showed willingness and he recommended her as a competent stenographer. She was leaving of her own free will, his business did not afford the salary she required and deserved.

"Sign here!" she said, laying it before Mr. Robinson.

With a glance he took in the contents. Then with a muttered oath he signed his name. He noticed it was written on his business stationery. While this was going on, Smith had left the room. He was laid Nellie in the hall.

"Good for you, little girl," he said. "I wanted to warn you, but you seemed to dislike me so I hadn't the nerve."

"So that's what made you act so queer? You knew—about him?"

"Lord, yes! I've been with him years. I'm half sick so can't leave because the work would be harder than here. I'm glad you didn't fall for him."

"Did you think for a minute I would?" she asked with intense scorn.

When she reached home Cora had a friend, a girl from the office with her. Nellie told her story, making them scream with laughter.

Then this girl remarked:

"I have worked in different offices for 7 years. I never had an employer say an insulting word, do anything wrong toward me. There are occasionally such men—I know because I have friends who have met them. But, Nellie, the really good employers are far in excess of the Mr. Robinsons."

"I only hope I meet some of them!" Nellie said. "I'm out of a job you know. Gee! How I would have hated to go to that old lady with her glasses on a stick—but I'd gone if it killed me if he hadn't come up to the scratch."

She proudly waved her reference. (To Be Continued)

Styles

By LENORE

FROM PARIS.

Many women like the metal tissue or metal lace for evening wear who do not as a rule indulge this preference because these fabrics are a little too elaborate for their needs. At a recent exhibit in Paris, however, one of the gowns most admired by the American buyers was the dress illustrated today.

Silver metal lace was used, but it was posed over a soft slip of black silk, so that the effect, while rich and elegant, was nevertheless agreeably subdued. It is a gown which I am sure would be particularly smart and becoming to that uncommon type of woman whose complexion is youthful but whose hair is gray.

The long wing sleeves are a graceful feature of the dress, and the difference in length between the tunic and foundation gives irregularity to the bottom of the skirt, which is again a characteristic of the newest styles.

pers in a jar sterilized as possible without stuffing, then fill the jar to overflowing with a spiced vinegar. (See recipe for spiced vinegar published recently. If you missed it buy a back copy of this newspaper.) Adjust jar covers, partially seal, process jar in your wash-boiler canner (in boiling water which reaches to within one-half inch of jar-top), remove from canner, completely seal and store.

Spiced Cucumber Mangoes: Select large cucumbers and prepare them exactly as directed recently for spiced cured cantaloupe melons.

After they have soaked for a week in the spiced, cold vinegar, slice a cap from the stem end, and scoop out the center of the cucumber; fill this cavity with Dixie Relish, using the recipe given above. Replace the cap which you removed, secure it firmly with wooden toothpicks, and pack the stuffed cucumbers in sterilized glass jars. Partially seal, place in your wash boiler canner, with the boiling water rising almost to the jar-top, and let the water boil around them for 15 minutes (this seals them airtight). Press down the side wire to completely seal the jars and store.

BEAUTY CHATS

YEAST

The excitement about yeast as a cure for digestive and complexion troubles has rather died down this last year. The latest fad is to take quantities of iron into the system in the pleasant and easily digested form of raisins. But I may be out of date about that for I confess I do not follow these fads too seriously. Something else may have succeeded the craze for daily vitamins and iron. Frankly, I wish that instead of the slogans "Have you had your iron today?" or "Have you had your yeast cakes?" which once met my eyes at every turning someone would advertise: "Have you had your six glasses of water today?" But I cannot think who might do that unless possibly it would be the water companies who certainly wouldn't profit much from such advertising.

Most fads have their virtues, at least in theory. The yeast fad was one of the most sensible. Most of our best doctors recommend it. For obstinate cases of pimples and constipation yeast is excellent. Generally speaking, I know of no better blood purifier. Yeast also supplies in rich quantities that important food element called vitamins without which one cannot live. But such tiny quantities of vitamins are necessary that I would not recommend yeast solely for this reason. In my mind it is as a laxative and blood purifier.

I would suggest three yeast cakes a day for those who wish to clear the face of pimples. These should be taken before or after meals, one cake dissolved in a little water or fruit juice. If they are too laxative, two a day may be quite enough; you can only find out by experiment. Yeast melted to a paste applied to the skin helps to remove pimples and blackheads.

N: The best way to tint the stray gray hairs is to use henna. This can be done so the natural color of the hair will not be affected. I will be glad to mail you directions for doing this if you wish it and send a stamped address envelope.

Mary: The hair in the brows, or anywhere else on the face, will return after it has been pulled out, as the root from which it grows is not affected in this way.

Agnes: If your health is good, your hair will improve if you massage the scalp every day, even though you do not have a tonic for it. The tonic would hasten the improvement.

Mildred: A cure for biting nails is to put something under them that is unpleasant to the taste. Bitter aloes is often used for this purpose, as it is harmless.

OPERA SINGER'S HUSBAND FILES DIVORCE ACTION

Floyd Glotzbach, Chauffeur, Seeks a Legal Separation in San Francisco, From Mme. Matzenauer.

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 14.—Floyd Glotzbach, Del Monte chauffeur and husband of Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, the opera singer, today re-filed an action for divorce in the superior court here. Glotzbach recently withdrew the suit, his attorney announcing that further action would await the arrival of Mme. Matzenauer here. She is expected Monday.

Glotzbach was granted an order directing his wife to appear before a notary public Tuesday and make a deposition in the case.

In today's complaint Glotzbach reiterated his former charges that Mme. Matzenauer attempted to use him as a "personal maid" and told him that she picked him from a lowly position.

MME. MATZENAUER IS EN ROUTE TO 'FRISCO

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 14.—Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, the opera singer, left for San Francisco at noon today following a concert engagement here last night. She did not know at the time of her departure that her husband, Floyd Glotzbach, had re-filed action for divorce. However, she discussed her domestic difficulties earlier in the day and revealed a morbid tendency of some newspapers of the day to proclaim her troubles to the public.

"If they get any satisfaction or happiness out of it, let them do it," was her comment.

GERMAN WOMAN WINS IN TEST IN TELEGRAPHY

Sends 2,888 Words an Hour on a Siemens Printer in a Competition Held at Berlin Recently.

Berlin, Oct. 14.—Sending 2,888 words an hour on a Siemens printer, Erna Bansemer, of Breslau, won the speed championship of an international telegraphic competition held here recently. The second prize also went to a German woman.

Of seventy-two prizes offered, German contestants captured more than a third. The chief awards fell to competitors of the various nationalities as follows: To Italians for the Morse apparatus; to Germans for the Hughes, the Siemens, and for radio; to Spanish for the Baudot and to Danish for the Wheatstone. Oskar Schindler, of Vienna, won the master-telegraphist trophy for being a prize winner on three different types of apparatus. The award consisted of a large silver urn offered by the president of Germany.

The contests were held under the auspices of the German postal administration. State Secretary Bredow, addressing the assembly gathered to witness the award of prizes, eulogized Heinrich von Stephan, Germany's first postmaster-general, as founder of the world postal union. Doctor Bredow also declared it was Germany who aroused world-wide interest in wireless telegraphy by summoning the first international convention for radio in Berlin in 1902.

AVIATORS WILL FILM CITY FROM PLANE TOMORROW

Shots Will Be Taken Every 6 Seconds; Picture to Be Used in New Chamber of Commerce Booklet.

Ray Thompson, aviator, and J. Waterhouse, aerial photographer, will start tomorrow making photographs of Albuquerque from an altitude of about 700 feet. Mr. Thompson, who operates the airplane which has been making trips over the city for the past few weeks, is attending the state university and has consented to assist in making the picture which will be included in the new Albuquerque chamber of commerce booklet which is being prepared by Chamber Manager M. L. Fox. Mr. Waterhouse was an army photographer and is well equipped to make such a picture.

The plane will maintain an altitude of 700 feet and, starting at Old Town, will fly to the university, a picture being taken every six seconds. The plane will fly directly over Central avenue and it is believed that at an altitude of 700 feet the entire north and south length of the city will be included in the camera field and that by timing the exposures to six seconds, the 20 pictures which will be taken will just overlap. It will probably take several trips to get the pictures exactly right.

The plates will then be sent to the publicity department of the Santa Fe railway, where experts will retouch them and where the large buildings of the city will be enlarged. The 20 pictures will then be united and one picture formed for use in the new Albuquerque booklet.

Work of this type has seldom been done for commercial purposes, New York, Washington, Boston and New Orleans being the only cities in America known to have been filmed in this manner. A number of the European cities have been pictured this way, the famous buildings being brought into the foreground through enlargement.

Plans for the new Albuquerque booklet have been under way for some time and the book will go to press as soon as this particular picture is completed and a cut made of it for printing.

Nurse Saves 2 People From Operation

"I had two patients that the doctors seemed unable to reach with their medicines and in both cases advised the knife. A friend who had tried May's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble, promised that I recommend it to my patients, which I did. Both are now entirely well. I am very glad that I was able to recommend it." Run-Down Women Face to Face With Old Age!

Blood-Power Builds Nerve-Power, Strength, Endurance, Energy, Girlish Charm! S. S. S. Is Remarkable in Building Blood-Power and Nerve-Power!

She is not 40 in years yet but she is run-down, exhausted and that is just what old age is. S. S. S. will build up your blood-power. This gives strength always!

Madam, this truth may give you the "creeps." Shudder as you will, this fact stares you in the face! You cannot deny it! If you face the fact, you can add glorious strength to your weakened body. You can add sweeter years to your life, and being back some of the glorious charms of your girlhood days! But if you refuse to believe it, then no power on earth can help you! When you are exhausted, when you feel like "dropping down" on every step you come to, that very thing you feel is nothing but early old age. Exhaustion and old age are practically the same thing. Both mean a "wearing out." The number of years you have spent on earth has nothing to do with the number of blood-cells you have. The health and strength of your vitality, your health and strength, is all you have! The answer then is, build up your blood-power! S. S. S. has been used since 1820 as one of the greatest blood-cell builders known! It contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable blood purifier. This is why it has proven such startling results in rheumatic conditions, skin eruptions, eczema, skin eruptions, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, and in building up thin, worn out men and women, and in building great nerve power! You are only as strong as your blood! Stronger and more youthful nerves depend on blood-power! Stronger blood shows at once in your face, in the strength of every organ. S. S. S. will give you great energy, strength and more youthful appearance. Stop getting old before your time! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again

DEMOCRATS GIVE ENDORSEMENT TO FELIPE HUBBELL

Will Nominate No Candidate to Oppose County Assessor; David Armijo Named for Commissioner.

Endorsement of J. Felipe Hubbell, republican candidate for reelection as county assessor, was announced last night by the democratic county executive committee. Accompanying this announcement came another to the effect that Manuel Sedillo, democratic nominee for county commissioner from the first district, had resigned from the ticket and had been replaced by David Armijo of Rancho de Atrisco, an independent republican. It was stated that Mr. Armijo had agreed to accept the nomination. Mr. Hubbell was elected county assessor in 1920 on the democratic ticket, which was composed of a fusion of democrats and independent republicans. His administration of the office is said to have given general satisfaction. Mr. Hubbell is popular with both republicans and democrats. When it became apparent that D. A. Macpherson, the democrats' nominee for assessor, could not be prevailed upon to run, the special committee appointed to recommend his successor suggested Hubbell, and the recommendation was ratified last night by the executive committee, according to an announcement by County Chairman Henry G. Coors.

Mr. Sedillo, who is a stockman, offered his resignation as candidate for county commissioner. Mr. Coors stated, because of the necessity for looking after personal affairs, Mr. Armijo, who was named in his stead, is a son of the late Policarpo Armijo, who was elected county commissioner several years ago as a republican on the democratic ticket. The younger Mr. Armijo had lengthy banking experience in the city and now is engaged in looking after his father's extensive estate at Rancho de Atrisco.

LABOR BOARD IS A FAILURE, SAYS DAVIS IN SPEECH

Refers to It as "a Quasi-Governmental Partisan Institution"; Is a Disappointment to Its Backers.

Athens, O., Oct. 14.—Secretary of Labor Davis, in a speech here tonight, advocated the abolition of the Industrial Labor board, which he referred to as "a quasi-governmental, partisan institution," and the reorganization of the board into a body of representatives of the federal government to continue in the transportation field.

The labor secretary said the Industrial Labor board had "demonstrated that it is incapable of fulfilling the high hopes of those who proposed and supported it as a means of industrial peace on the railroads." He added that another system of settling railroad disputes should be adopted to leave employers and employees "to thresh out their differences free from the hope or the fear that meddling quasi officials would interfere to cast their little influence in the balance in favor of one side or the other."

Retention of the board as an arbitration agency, Mr. Davis continued, served to increase the number of disputes and generally to delay their settlement.

Mr. Davis defended President Harding's course during the recent coal strike, declaring that conditions during it had never justified the administration "in stepping over the legal bounds of authority" to bring it to an end.

SECRETARIAL SCHOOL TO ERECT A $10,000 BUILDING ON TIJERAS

The erection of a two-story building to house the Western School for Private Secretaries at Tijeras and Keeler avenues will begin tomorrow. The building will be put up on the site of the present school at a cost of about $10,000.

The new building will incorporate the present residence and class rooms now in use by the school. The new part of the structure will be built of adobe and the entire building will have a light plaster finish. The second floor will be devoted to class rooms, office training rooms and student rest rooms. The building will be ideally lighted and ventilated, all of the interior partitions to be of glass.

Work will begin at once and will be rushed in order to accommodate the students as soon as possible. An unusually large enrollment this fall at the school conducted by Miss Eugenia Keeler and Miss Margaret Keeler necessitated the enlargement of quarters for the pupils. The plans for the building were drawn by Gladding and Gladding and the contract has been let to E. A. Gertig.

Albuquerque is asked to send the names of five prominent citizens, to which the Utica committee may write for additional information.

BISBEE PIONEER MEETS DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

James Henderson Loses Control of His Car. It Turns Two Somersaults, and Is Pinned Underneath

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 14.—James Henderson, one of the pioneer residents of Bisbee, was killed this morning in an automobile accident about five miles west of Benson. Mr. Henderson, accompanied by his wife, and son, James Jr., Miss Ellen Watkins and Miss Helen Nichols, was on his way to Tucson to witness the Bisbee-Tucson high school football game. In some manner for which no coherent explanation has been made, Mr. Henderson lost control of the car, and it turned two complete somersaults. Mr. Henderson was instantly killed, his body being found wedged between the broken windshield and the top of the car. Mrs. Henderson sustained severe cuts on the head and hand. James Jr. was not injured. Miss Watkins was cut on the head and left hand and Miss Nichols was badly cut on the right arm. Mr. Henderson has for many years been the leading lumber dealer of the Warren district.

300 WOMEN WILL ATTEND MEETING OF FEDERATION

Annual Convention of New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs to Be Held Here Oct. 24.

Plans for the accommodation and entertainment of the delegates to the annual convention of the New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs which will start here October 24 were discussed yesterday by chamber of commerce officials and representatives of the various women's clubs of the city.

The convention will last three days and it is expected that at least 300 delegates will attend. The federation has a membership of more than 3,000. Meetings will be held at the hall in the Elks' home.

It is expected that the meeting will be more representative of the different sections of New Mexico than is usually the case at meetings of state organizations, as the federation is represented in almost every town and community throughout the state.

SANTA FE CUTS FREIGHT RATES ON FEEDSTUFFS

Railroad Makes a Reduction of 50 Per Cent to Help the Livestock Industry in New Mexico.

Santa Fe, Oct. 14.—In a further effort to help the livestock industry in the drought-stricken districts, the Santa Fe railroad today telegraphed the state corporation commission that the rate on feed-stuffs would be cut in half. This 50 per cent reduction has been approved by the interstate commerce commission, and will go into effect on October 20.

The reduction will apply on cottonseed cake, meal and hulls; corn and articles taking corn rates; hay and alfalfa. It will be applicable from Santa Fe points in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas; also from Kansas City and St. Joseph, to all Santa Fe points in New Mexico.

It is believed probable that other lines operating in New Mexico will participate in the reduction.

VANDERBILT AND MICHIGAN PLAY THE GAME, 0-0

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—The Michigan Wolverines crept back to its hair tonight, torn and toppled from its exalted heights in the gridiron world as a result of its nothing to nothing tie at the hands of Vanderbilt. A Vanderbilt line defense that stood as impregnable as steel, told the tale of Michigan's failure to batter the Commodore into helplessness as had been predicted before the game.

The game's high point and Michigan's only opportunity of crossing Vanderbilt's goal, came only a few minutes after the game was called. A partially blocked punt gave the Wolverines the ball on Vanderbilt's 25-yard line. Two end runs, two line bucks and a forward pass carried Michigan to within one yard of Vanderbilt's goal line. In three attempts, all of them vicious jabs at the heart of the Commodore line, the Wolverine was stopped still. When the ball was taken after the last down it was one foot from the Vanderbilt goal line.

LEGION FORCES BEGIN ARRIVING AT NEW ORLEANS

City Is Prepared to Receive Them; Annual Convention Begins Monday; Many Women Are on Hand.

New Orleans, Oct. 14.—The American legion started arriving in force here today for the annual national convention which begins Monday and found New Orleans ready to receive them. Every train arriving in the city brought hundreds of visitors. With them came the first view of the novel features the states have adopted to establish their identity.

It was estimated that about a fourth of the legionnaires had reached the city, although no big delegations had arrived. Approximately 100,000 legionnaires are expected.

State headquarters have begun blossoming forth in rapid succession. Half a dozen are functioning in practically all of the larger hotels. Lobbies were the scenes of impromptu concerts by legionnaires. Iowa delegates loudly sang their state song "Where the Tall Corn Grows."

Washington state delegates brought forth head pieces on the order of tam o'shanter with feathers. Kansas delegates appeared with the sun flower prominently displayed.

Mascots also began to appear today.

One of the features of the convention this year, is the number of women accompanying legionnaires. Nearly half of the legionnaires who have already arrived were accompanied by their wives.

Business was not forgotten today. The national executive committee held its sessions as did the finance committee and the American legion.

The vanguard of the California delegation prepared to wage a vigorous fight for the 1923 convention, a continuation of the battle they waged at Kansas City last year when New Orleans was the victor.

FIRES ARE REPORTED TO BE RAGING IN THE MONTEZUMA FOREST

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 14.—Advices received here this afternoon from Durango reported forest fires raging in the Montezuma national forest near Mancos, but actual conditions are not known, owing to the absence of Forest Supervisor Hoffman at the scene of the fire.

No lives are reported lost although several homes and some stock are reported lost. Twenty men from Denver, Mancos and Dolores, members of the state highway crews and all available men are fighting the flames. The fires are reported especially bad on Beaver and Stoner creeks where most of the fire fighters are engaged.

FRENCH AVIATORS ARE IN A DURATION FLIGHT

Le Bourget, France, Oct. 14. (by the Associated Press).—Lieutenant Bessourot and M. Drouhin, who took the air at 6 o'clock this morning in an attempt to beat the American duration flight made recently, have completed 13 hours aloft and hope to continue at least 38 hours. They are flying a big Goliath biplane equipped with extra reservoirs, giving them 4,200 liters of gasoline, and 300 liters of oil.

The record which the French aviators are attempting to beat, 35 hours, 16 minutes and 39 seconds, was made at San Diego, Calif., early this month by Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly.

PROFESSORS AT U.N.M. PUBLISH SCIENCE BOOKS

New Work on Geology of Sandia Mountains by Prof. Ellis Is Distributed; Others Being Printed.

The increase of scientific and historic studies upon the part of members of the staff of the University of New Mexico is encouraging, reports President David S. Hill.

Macmillan and company of New York have just sent to Albuquerque the first copies of Dean Thomas T. Eyre's standard text book on "Boilers and Engines." This is an extensively illustrated book of some 400 pages and is the result of years of study and practical work on the part of Professor Eyre who is the head of the college of engineering at the State University.

Of great interest to the state of New Mexico is the new monograph of Professor Robert W. Ellis on the "Geology of the Sandia Mountains." Copies of this monograph were distributed at the meeting of the Rotary club in Albuquerque on Thursday, and a limited number can be secured by citizens upon application at the university. This study of Professor Ellis, who is head of the department of geology at the university, as well as state geologist, contains a geological map of some 50 inches of the Sandia mountains and discusses in considerable detail such subjects as geographic and structural relations of the Sandia mountains, forestation, climate, accessibility, industries, topography, relief and drainage. Under descriptive geology, Professor Ellis has studied the sedimentary rocks, crystalline rocks, igneous rocks, metamorphic rocks and under structures he discusses general features, faults, relation of structure to topography.

Professor Benjamin F. Haught is now reading the proofs of a scientific study in psychology which is to be issued by the Psychological Review Publishing company of Pittsburgh, Pa., upon the recommendation of President Angell of Yale.

Professor Charles F. Coan is also reading the proof of his recent study of Acoma, which study is based upon original materials secured from Spain. This study will be of great interest to students of archaeology in the entire country.

Get Rid of Your Fat

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs without dieting or exercising often at the rate of over a pound a day and without payment until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and personally prescribe the treatment for each individual case, thus enabling me to choose remedies that will produce not only a loss of weight harmlessly, but which will also relieve you of all the troublesome symptoms of over stoutness such as shortness of breath, palpitation, indigestion, rheumatism, gout, asthma, kidney trouble and various other afflictions which often accompany over stoutness.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you renewed energy and vigor, a result of the loss of your superfluous fat.

You are not required to change in the slightest from your regular mode of living. There is no dieting or exercising. It is simple, easy and pleasant to take.

If you are over stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my free trial treatment and my plan whereby I am to be paid only after reduction has taken place if you so desire.

High School News

Report cards for the first six weeks' work will be issued on Wednesday, October 18. These cards should be signed by the parents, and returned not later than Friday, October 20.

"Minimum Requirements in the Mechanics of English Composition" is a new pamphlet issued by the department of English. The purpose of this booklet is to enable the pupil to see the aim of the English courses, and to help him to check his work, so he may meet the minimum requirements of the school.

The following new students enrolled Monday: Norwyne Wilson, a senior and Jesse Wilson, a junior, from Clayton; Vera Lucero, a sophomore, and Pablo Gonzales, a vocational student.

"The Second Mile" was the subject of a very interesting talk given Monday morning by H. P. Demand, Boys' Work secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Demand applied this principle to all departments of life, the business, social, and religious life.

Collateral reading of varying amounts is required by the history department in all the courses. The object of this work is to create a permanent interest in history by appealing to the individuality, to create a critical attitude, stimulate independent judgment and to teach the student how to use books.

The North Central association, to which the Albuquerque High school belongs, has attempted to control this reading by specifying the minimum number of pages to be read by each student. It suggests 200 pages for ancient history; 150 pages for medieval and modern history and 350 pages for American history.

The city library has cooperated with this department and has placed the American history books on the reserve shelves for use of the students taking this course.

The senior class meeting was held in the auditorium Thursday for the purpose of electing an athletic editor for La Renta. Carl Allen was eliminated.

The junior class met Thursday afternoon to elect a junior editor, an assistant athletic editor, and a temporary staff assistant. Elizabeth Fee received the nomination for junior editor, Mildred Lighton for assistant athletic editor and Mabel Olson for assistant staff.

The sophomore class elected Frank Dinelli for sophomore editor, and Jack McFarland for assistant humor editor.

The assembly Friday morning was devoted to singing. Two hundred new song books were added. It is the plan to make singing a part of school life. At the close of the meeting Coach Moore announced the plans for the football game.

A meeting of the Honor society was held October 12, for the purpose of electing officers for the semester. The meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Nathan Glasman. The following officers were elected: President, Carl Allen; vice-president, Lenore Pettit; secretary and treasurer, Mabel Olson. During the counting of votes interesting talks were given as follows:

"The Necessity of Self-discipline," Carl Allen.
"Outside Activities," Vivian Gibson.
"Cheating," George Olson.

TO MAKE WAR ON DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN

Equal Political and Civil Rights for the Gentler Sex by Constitutional Amendment is Sought.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (by the Associated Press).—To fire the first gun in the midwestern sector in a campaign "to sweep away all forms of discrimination against women," Miss Anita Pollitzer of Charleston, S. C., secretary of the reorganized National Women's party, has been organizing an Illinois branch of the party. Preparations will be made for representation of Illinois, as well as all other states, at a national conference to be held at Washington, November 11 and 12, to frame a legislative program.

Illinois was selected as the objective of the first mission by national headquarters, because "it was believed that Illinois was in a position to affect the entire west and mid-west," according to Miss Pollitzer.

Constitutional amendments which the organization is seeking to have passed by all states to guarantee equal political, civil and legal rights for women in each case will contain this clause, according to Miss Pollitzer: "This act will not affect laws regulating the affairs of women in industry." This clause was pointed out because the effect of the legislation proposed by the party upon legislation designed to safeguard women in industry has been questioned.

Miss Pollitzer said that the supreme court of the United States has repeatedly sustained special welfare legislation for women even when it was argued that such legislation was in direct violation of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

The legal "discrimination" which the party is assailing has its roots in the old common law under pose of electing officers for the semester. The meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Nathan Glasman. The following officers were elected: President, Carl Allen; vice-president, Lenore Pettit; secretary and treasurer, Mabel Olson. During the counting of votes interesting talks were given as follows:

"The Necessity of Self-discipline," Carl Allen.
"Outside Activities," Vivian Gibson.

which a married woman was regarded as a "femme couverte" or "covered woman," whose rights were vested in her husband while he lived. Miss Pollitzer stated. Though the effect of this legal tradition from feudal times has been modified in some states by more modern legislation, it survives to a varying degree, she added.

"In some states a man can dispose of his wife's inherited property," said Miss Pollitzer. "Laws often give a woman's earnings to her husband, allow him to collect damages for her injuries, and give him the earnings, control and custody of her child. The women's party is organizing to fight this condition by changing specific laws and by changing tradition."

The party has organized twenty-five professional councils, including a home-makers' council. Mrs. Minnie Madden Fiske and Mrs. Mary Shaw, head the theatrical council; Miss Zona Gale of Portage, Wis., the novelists' council; the writers' council; Dr. Mary O'Malley, clinical director of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington, the physicians' council, and Miss Emma Gillett, dean of the Washington College of Law, Washington, the lawyers' council. Fourteen women lawyers are compiling all state laws in the interest of the woman's party, Miss Pollitzer said, to ascertain the legal status of women in all the states.

SCHOOL NOTES

A meeting of all Junior High school teachers will be called on Tuesday afternoon to plan for the division of pupils. The Lincoln school will be ready for occupancy in ten days. The Junior program will be much the same as that followed in the senior high school. Supervised study periods will allow students to prepare practically all work at school. School spirit will develop rapidly when football, basketball, track and musical organizations start.

You, too, can have "A skin you love to touch"

A BEAUTIFUL skin, soft, smooth, faultlessly clear—any girl can have this charm.

Your skin is constantly changing.

Each day old skin dies and new takes its place. Give this new skin the right treatment, and see how soft and lovely you can keep it.

Use this special treatment for a very sensitive skin:

DIP a soft washcloth in warm water and hold it to your face.

Now make a warm water lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and dip your cloth up and down until the cloth is "fluffy" with the soft, white lather.

Rub this lathered cloth gently over your skin until the pores are thoroughly cleansed.

Rinse first with warm, then with clear, cool water and dry carefully.

THE first time you use this treatment it will leave your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. This means that your skin is responding in the right way to this method of cleansing. After a few treatments the drawn feeling will disappear and your skin will gain a new softness and smoothness.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today. A 25-cent cake lasts a month or six weeks.

Coats and Wraps

REFLECT THE MANNER OF THE MODE

There is a dignity and charm about these garments which places them far above the level of ordinary things to wear.

The graceful swing of their lines, the soft, luxurious fur, combined with even softer fabrics; the glowing autumn shades; the slender lines which enfold their wearers with warmth and beauty—these are attributes which can be well termed incomparable.

The surprising feature is that the prices of these garments are not prohibitive. On the contrary, they are quite in keeping with the lower tendency, when one considers quality. Priced... $32.50 to $100.50

LOOSE LEAF FORM FOR COMMERCE REPORTS SUGGESTED; AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY LEADERS CONFER WITH DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS

Systematizing of "commerce reports" by adoption of loose-leaf form is being suggested to officials of the department of commerce by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce as represented by J. Walter Drake and G. F. Bauer, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the foreign trade committee, and Gordon Lee, chief of the United States automobile division.

Basis for Foreign Sales Campaigns
"This change, if effected, will be a distinct advantage to business men generally. Valuable information, now perishable in many instances, could readily be stored for future use in devising foreign sales campaigns that, based on facts, would be directly reflected in domestic production and exportation."

Timeliness of Action
"Much more, however, can still be done to make the publication of increasing value to American business. Timeliness, accessibility of information and saving in effort by subscriber to keep material available for future use, are factors still needing consideration. Loose-leaf manuals issued by the different commodity and economic divisions of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, offer the solution."

MANY AUTOMOBILE FACTORIES RECOGNIZING THE NAME OF "PHAETON" AND SUBSTITUTING IT FOR THE OLD NAME TOURING CAR

During the last ten years automobile makers have used many names for more or less standard types of body which have had only a temporary and sporadic popularity, but the name "phaeton," which is now being used by many companies for the 4, 5 and 7-passenger open-type cars, has been adopted to such an extent by the car-owning public and manufacturers that it can be recognized as a permanent addition to our automobile nomenclature. The change from the word "touring car" to the word "phaeton" is probably due to the increase in the use of sedans, coupes and other closed cars for touring. Thus the name "touring car" has lost its original meaning.

The name "phaeton" is now used for the 4-passenger open-type body by Brewster, Cadillac, Essex, Hudson, Lincoln, National, Marmon, Packard, Peerless, Premier and Reo; for the 5-passenger open-type car by Brewster, Cadillac, Essex, Hudson, Premier and Reo; and for the 7-passenger open-type car by Brewster, Cadillac, Essex, Hudson, Marmon, Peerless and Premier. Inquiries show that many other companies are studying the advisability of changing from the name "touring car" to "phaeton" and will probably make the change in their 1923 catalogs and in subsequent advertising.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT USING OVERSIZE PNEUMATIC TIRES

A motorist can easily settle for himself the question whether he should equip his car with oversize pneumatic tires. Only two considerations are involved and the problem is by no means a difficult one. One of the elements for consideration is the weight the tires are called on to carry and the other relates to the degree of inflation at which the motorist prefers to use his tires.

Car manufacturers usually apply as original equipment tires of a size sufficiently large to meet the car weights when equipped with standard accessories and carrying a full complement of passengers. To support this load, however, it is necessary to maintain the full inflation pressure as recommended for the size of tire used.

With respect to the weight of the load, it is surprising how rapidly extra car equipment such as spare tires, bumpers and other accessories run up the load the tire is called on to carry.

With this added weight and the addition of an extra passenger or two occasionally, the tires are soon carrying a load that is much in excess of the load the car manufacturer originally figured on when he determined the original tire size to be used.

On the subject of inflation it has been found that car owners in their desire for greater riding comfort are prone to reduce the air pressure in their tires, running them much below the tire manufacturers' recommendation by the tire manufacturers, a practice which leads to early tire failure.

If a car is subject to frequent overloading, oversize tires should be used. Moreover to do away with the operation of underinflated tires and to enable the car user to gain the maximum comfort possible consistent with good tire mileage, it is necessary to use oversize tires that are capable of carrying the car load at a lower proportionate pressure.

It is clear that if it were not possible for the car owners to obtain a larger size tire to fit the size of rim with which his car is equipped, his problem of tire mileage would be a serious one. The tire manufacturer has recognized this problem and has produced an oversize tire for each size of rim, thus enabling him to equip his car with oversize tires for the extra loads.

Cases exist where the single oversizing of tires is not sufficient to meet the owner's needs. In that case it is necessary that he either reduce his loads or change his wheels and rims to make possible out further information. If it is expected that the public will understand such special body names, certainly the general acceptance of "phaeton" in place of "touring car" should be expected.

The reason for the use of the name "phaeton" by automobile makers is not only that all types of body are used for touring but that this type of body is the logical successor of the family horse-drawn open carriage always known as the phaeton. This type of body was so called in the early years of the automobile industry. At the present time it is in general use in France, Hudson and Packard have been consistent users of the name in this country since the early days of the industry. The name "phaeton" therefore has a logical right from a priority point of view, based solely on automobile customs, to contend with the name "touring car." Furthermore, as a name it has a wonderful background of history, for it is associated with the type of carriage people have owned and used. It is also applicable to the more expensive carriages that were exhibited at the horse shows.

At the last annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers these conditions were recognized and the term "phaeton" officially approved as the name for an open-type body with two fixed cross seats for four or five passengers, or with additional folding seats, thereby creating seating accommodations for seven passengers. This society represents the engineering side of the industry, not the commercial side, which may therefore be considered responsible for the continued use in advertising of the name "touring car."

the double-oversizing of his tires. It is not considered good practice to double-oversize tires without changing the rim equipment.

Most car users will find that the single oversizing of tires will show an improvement in their tire mileage, an improvement that warrants the extra cost of the oversize tires. As to the use of oversize tires for Ford and cars of the class, it is exceedingly important that oversize tires be used, for these cars operate very close to the maximum capacity of the sizes furnished as original equipment. A change from fabric to cord tires will usually meet the need of oversizing in this class.

AUTOMOBILE "SLOW" AND "STOP" SIGNALS CAUSE OF COLLISIONS

Increasing use of automatic "slow" and "stop" signals is tending more and more to cause the automobile driver to neglect the use of the hand signal and is thereby increasing the chances for collisions on the highways, according to A. A. A. officials.

It is pointed out that motor vehicle operators depending on these automatic signals forget that such devices generally do not signal an intention to turn either to right or left and consequently often result in slight collisions, at least, with resultant damage to fenders and body of the car.

Another danger, it is pointed out, is brought about by the failure of the automatic signal to function at times thereby leaving the driver in ignorance of the fact that he is slowing down without giving any warning whatever to the motorist immediately in the rear.

"The hand signal after all, is the safest and most reliable," said M. O. Eldridge, executive chairman of the American Automobile association. "Rules promulgated in the proposed uniform vehicle law as endorsed by the motor vehicle conference committee, consisting of the A. A. A., the National Automobile Dealers' association, the National Automobile Club and other organizations interested in the automobile question, provide a simple hand signal that is readily understood by any automobile driver. These signals are in effect in Washington and several other of the large cities and are in effect with some slight variations in almost every part of the country. "It is highly important that the pedestrian learn these signals as well as the automobile driver because knowledge of just what the automobilist plans to do at a specified corner will often save the pedestrian from harm."

The proposed uniform vehicle law provides that an operator intending to turn his vehicle to the left shall extend his left arm in a horizontal position and slow down. An operator intending to turn his vehicle to the right shall extend his left arm with the fore-arm raised at right angles and slow down. An operator intending to stop his vehicle shall extend his arm and move it up and down in a vertical direction.

"If all motor vehicle drivers will observe these three simple rules," concluded Mr. Eldridge, "and pedestrians will so familiarize themselves with such rules that they will be able to know the intent of the driver of an approaching car, a large factor of safety will be added to traffic conditions in our city streets. The driver of a closed car can easily comply with these conditions by lowering the left front window of such car, which is necessary anyway for proper ventilation."

TREKKING ACROSS THE COUNTRY POPULAR

A trip across the continent seems to be the goal of every motor fan. Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Rose of Binghamton, New York, recently completed the trek across the country in their car, covering a distance of 3,926 miles, which included some side trips of interest.

Their route lay from Binghamton to New York city and thence to Atlantic City where they spent a few days before proceeding via the Lincoln highway to Toledo, then via Denver and Yellow Stone park, remaining at the latter point several days. From there the route lay via Spokane and Seattle, then down the Pacific to Portland and on to Frisco.

"It was a wonderful trip all the way," writes Mr. Rose and we had no trouble with the car at any time on the trip. We traveled a total of 3,926 miles since we left home in Binghamton, including several side trips of interest.

"We averaged better than twenty-three miles to the gallon of gasoline and in many places in the west were sixty to seventy miles from the nearest gasoline station. The car had been driven 22,000 miles before the start of the trip."

Mr. and Mrs. Rose are now on their way back to Binghamton going via the southern route. They plan an extensive visit in the Yosemite valley during their return journey.

GATES TIRES

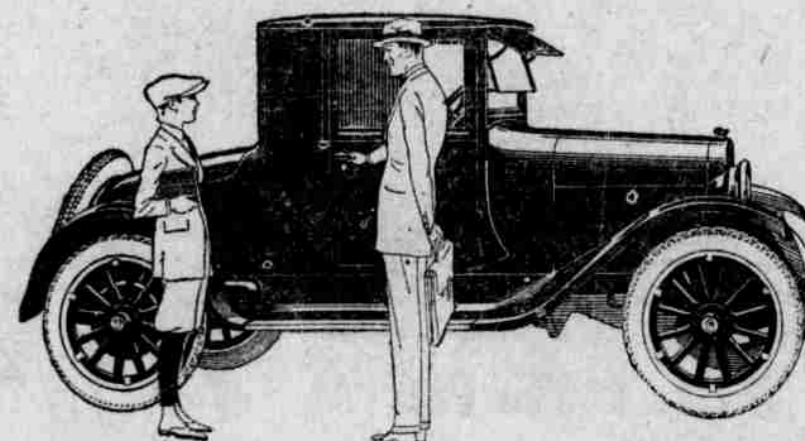

The Tire with the Wider and Thicker Tread

Worth Remembering, Isn't It?

Altho a cord tire now costs you little more than a fabric, you're buying 50% more miles in the cord—and you should get all you pay for.

But remember the cords put extra miles only into the tire's carcass and you only get these extra miles when the rubber tread wears longer, too.

A longer wearing tread—a wider and thicker tread—that's what is giving you all the extra miles out of your Gates Super-Tread Cords.

The Studebaker Light-Six Roadster and Coupe-Roadster were primarily built for business use. In meeting the urgent demands of business, they naturally have fulfilled the needs of the small family.

Each is built for hard usage, day in and day out. And as they are completely Studebaker built—you know they will stand up under hard going.

The bodies are attractive, roomy and thoroughly comfortable for all-day travel. Ample luggage space is provided under the rear decks.

There's an internal hot-spot to reduce gasoline consumption to a minimum. Valves are inclined at a 20 degree angle to give a new measure of power, greater flexibility and better acceleration. Crank shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, thus eliminating vibration and insuring longer life to the motor.

Studebaker low prices are made possible by great volume and complete manufacture. Studebaker quality is traditional.

The Studebaker Light-Six Coupe-Roadster seats two passengers; has side coach lamps; rain visor and windshield wiper; eight-day clock. The three-passenger Roadster has cowl lights; storm curtains opening with the doors; large plate-glass window in rear curtain, and inside and outside door handles. Both models are upholstered in genuine leather; have ample space under the rear deck for luggage; ignition and theft-proof transmission lock, and cowl ventilator.

DRAWING FOR SPACE AT THE NATIONAL AUTOMOBILE SHOWS

Drawing for space at the 25th annual National Automobile show took place at the national automobile chamber of commerce offices in New York the other day.

Eighty-six makes of cars were represented. "The variety of models to be offered," said S. A. Miles, closed, and closed types presents the best product at the best values the public has ever seen."

The national automobile shows will be held in Grand Central Palace, New York, January 6 to 13, 1923, and at Chicago (Coliseum and First Regiment armory), January 27 to February 3.

September production 205,950. Shipping figures announced at the N. A. C. C. members meeting indicated a production of 205,950 cars and trucks for September. This is nearly one-third better than September last year, though representing a seasonal decline from August.

Trade reports from the field indicate that October business will be good, though, as usual, it will be considerably under the summer months. The closed car business is helping the fall market. Prospects for Christmas trade are reported to be good in the south, though in other sections this is not a big factor.

THE MOTOR CAR TRADE FLOURISHING

The combined output of auto cars and trucks is estimated by the National Automobile association at 265,000 for August as compared with 244,444 cars and trucks for July. 259,000 in June, 256,000 in May, and 218,000 in April. It is believed that production figures for 1922 will be greater than the record year 1920 when 2,205,000 motor vehicles were produced. There were price reductions in July and August by 35 companies, and increases by 19 companies. The total registration of motor cars in the United States on July 1, 1922, amounted to 10,845,000 compared with 9,413,000, one year before. Total world registrations are estimated at 15,000,000.

EX-SENATOR TRAVELS IN PULLMAN STYLE

A motor caravan, built and owned by ex-Senator Clinton Shingler of Ashburn, Ga., who was a member of the Georgia senate in 1911 and again in 1919, left Atlanta the other day for Asheville, N. C., in one of the most unique traveling homes ever mounted on an automobile chassis. This busgallow on wheels is complete in every detail. "Sparrow Nest" is embossed on the front of the machine, and the car presents a striking appearance with its panels of pale gray and green. There are tiny windows, fitted with white scrim curtains, green under-curtains and screens; awnings shade the front seat, long awnings stretch from front to back, shading couches on which one may rest while traveling; and there is an observation platform, large enough to seat four people comfortably on camp stools with an awning stretching over this also.

This car is the patient labor of two years, and every nail was driven and every piece of wood placed under Senator Shingler's personal direction. Inside, the caravan looks like a very comfortable Pullman car. There are four berths, and the upper ones are entirely detachable, leaving only a silver rail to indicate where they go at night. Steamer rugs cover the lower berths in daytime, making day beds to rest on. There are extension tables, made of green and gray painted wood, which unfold. Everything in the car is a Georgia product. It is all Georgia made.

MOTORCYCLE TOUR OF 13,000 MILES

Clarence A. Ruggles, of Atlanta, Ga., had made a motorcycle trip of 13,000 miles when he pulled into San Francisco recently. He left Atlanta early in June, traveled through 22 states, carried his blankets, change of clothing and camping outfit, rarely slept a night undisturbed, and took a roof over his head, and a cent a mile covered his entire expense. Ruggles, who is 25 years of age, took the trip entirely for pleasure and was untrammelled in the choice of highways, for he followed fifteen, in all. They led him through Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake, Seattle, thence down the coast. He spent less than a day in San Francisco, and left with the intention of reaching San Diego.

PROCTOR & GAMBLE COMPANY SHIP TRAINLOAD OF SOAP TO CHARLES ILFELD COMPANY FOR STATE DISTRIBUTION

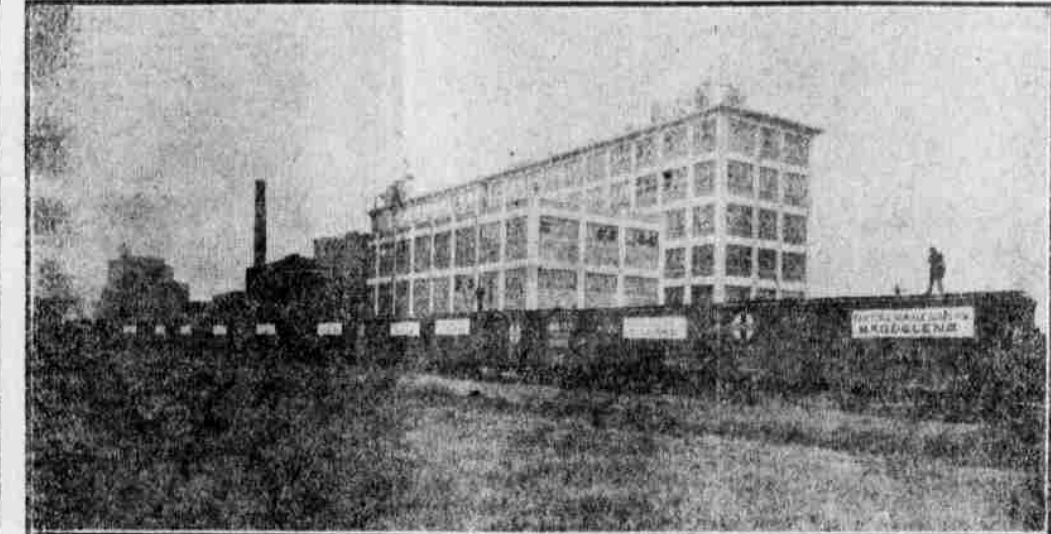

SHIPMENT SETS NEW RECORD IN NEW MEXICO

Nearly a Million Cakes of Soap in 10 Cars Attracts National Attention.

The Charles Ilfeld company, New Mexican distributor for Proctor & Gamble products, has just completed distribution of the largest single shipment of soap that has ever come into the state. The shipment, which came from the Proctor & Gamble Kansas City factories, made up a solid trainload of ten cars and contained eight thousand seven hundred and forty-three boxes of soap of 100 cakes to the box. Of these three-quarters of a million cakes were the P. & G. White Naphtha soap; other lines included in the big shipment being Ivory, Lenox, Luna and Bob White.

Not only is this shipment the first trainload of soap and the largest shipment ever received in New Mexico, but it is also the largest single shipment to one distributor that has ever been made from the Proctor & Gamble Kansas City plant. It was featured prominently in the Kansas City newspapers and attracted attention all along the line. Each car carried a big banner specifying the town to which it had been consigned for the Charles Ilfeld company account. The distribution comprised two cars for Albuquerque, and one car each to Santa Fe, Socorro, Las Vegas, Tucuman, Raton, Gallup, Magdalena and Willard.

J. H. Jones, whose headquarters are in this city, is the New Mexico state representative for the Proctor & Gamble company, and he informs The Morning Journal that the Charles Ilfeld company have received forty-eight cars of soap alone so far this year.—Adv.

SINGLE WOMEN FAR WEALTHIER THAN MARRIED

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—More than half a million single women in the United States paid income tax in 1920 and many of them paid on incomes of fabulous size. The precise number is 502,490 and the aggregate of their incomes reached the astounding total of $1,264,955,727.

These are all in the class which statisticians of society would class ordinarily as "dependent females"; that is they are not rich wives nor heads of families. For the full total of women taxpayers the others must be added. Women heads of families, that is, widows with children or daughters supporting parents, paid tax to the number of 132,181 and their aggregate net income amounted to $388,364,530.

In cases where wives have estates or earnings separate from their husbands they frequently make separate returns. Those doing so in 1920 numbered 77,558 and their aggregate income $524,840,405. These figures reveal that the single women were the richest of all by many millions. All of the fair sex combined paid taxes to the government on net incomes aggregating $2,188,160,662, but the wives and widows together only showed three-quarters as much income as the girls.

The year 1920 is the latest for which income statistics are available. The government in issuing these statistics is compelled to put them in such form that the identity of the rich recipients of the great incomes is not revealed. Under the law, income tax returns are deeply confidential.

Nevertheless, the statistics can be studied to bring interesting facts to light. They indicate that the richest woman in the United States, or at least the woman who received the greatest net income, was single. The statistics do not reveal whether she was young and beautiful, or a forbidding old maid. What they do reveal is that she had an income somewhere between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a year. This does not mean that she merely was worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000; but that each year added that vast fortune to her estate.

The next richest are two women who are married but who make returns separate from their husbands. Purposely, the figures are combined so that the income of each cannot be ascertained, but each of them has an income somewhere between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 a year. In the same class is a single woman.

The next in line are two women classified as heads of families; which means either widows with children, or daughters supporting parents, brothers, sisters or other relatives. These two ladies each receive incomes of from one-half to three-quarters of a million dollars a year.

Who Are They? Now comes a richening group! There are 15 single women in one classification each of whom has from half to three quarters of a million dollars income a year with no one to support and, apparently, not a care in the world. Who are they? The printed column of statistics reveals nothing. Are they actresses? Are they stars of the movies? Are they only daughters of fond, deceased parents? There are 15 of them somewhere in the United States. You may be run over by one's automobile.

There seems to be no lack of millionaires among the women. In this group, that is a class of women who have approximately $1,000,000, the single ladies again predominate. Millionaires usually have incomes of about $100,000 a year. There are 181 of these single women who have such incomes. Wives making separate returns rank next. They number 174. The way in which a family cuts down one's opportunities to amass a fortune is strongly exemplified in the fact that there are only 50 women heads of families who may lay claim to the millionaire class.

Here is a curious fact which the income statistics reveal. The term millionaire has become a popular one in the United States. It has a certain glamour. Apparently both men and women have striven particularly hard to attain this classification. They have bent every effort to reach it and, having done so, have not been so eager to go higher. This is revealed by the fact that the numbers of millionaires are out of all proportion to the income class either immediately below or immediately above. This would indicate that the million mark has become a standard. Take the single girls, for instance. There are 67 in the class just under the million mark, 181 in the million class and only 58 in the next higher class. In the group of wives making separate returns, there are 68 in the sub-million class, 174 in the million class, and only 51 in the next higher class. The same is true of the heads of families. There are 20 in the sub-million class, 50 in the million class, and only 11 in the next class above.

The rule is even more marked in the case of men. In the sub-million class there are 658 men; in the million class, 1,372, and in the next higher class, only 365. These are married men. The single men show 13 in the sub-million class, 296 in the million class and only 75 in the next class.

This is the more striking in that the income classes, as to every other gradation of income, rise in about the same ratio. All except that million mark.

Probably the most fascinating fact about the income of single women is that the great bulk of those having incomes are in the stenographer class. This is a new economic development of the utmost interest. Only a few years ago there was no such class of money-earners at all. They are a new social phenomenon in the world. The statistics do not classify occupations closely but a shrewd guess can be made from the size of the income. Without exception, the most numerous class of feminine taxpayers are single women with net incomes ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 a year. It seems obvious that these are the stenographers and private secretaries that decorate the offices of modern business and help make the wheels go round.

Flapper Incomes It is the flapper class; and these statistics would appear to furnish what all the moralists have been looking for; the economic or other justification for the flapper. The figures show that the flapper stenographer makes more money than any other class of women. In 1920, 342,968 of these flapper stenographers paid income tax. Their aggregate income amounted to $475,640,103—nearly half a billion dollars or enough to pay the interest on the allied debt.

That a good many of these assist in the support of families is the intent that they are classified as the heads of families is shown by the fact that they are the most numerous of that group of women. There were 79,446 in the same general income class who made returns as heads of families; doubtless supporting parents or younger brothers and sisters. The fact that among the wives making separate returns this also is the largest income class is taken as an indication of the large number of young married women who have kept their stenographic jobs and continue to run their own financial affairs. There were 20,547 in this class and they had an aggregate income of $39,294,207.

RUBBER EXPERT WRITES ON IMPROVED SERVICE FOUND IN THE CORDS

While every car owner realizes that there has been great improvement in tires as shown by the mileage delivered, few, if any, understand just what has brought the longer mileage.

It is made quite clear in the "reign of rubber" just issued by the Century company. Written as a book of human interest for lay readers, it is, nevertheless, authoritative information from a rubber expert, Dr. W. C. Geer.

The remarkable increase in tire service during the last five years," writes Dr. Geer, "is due to the scientific adjustment of the threads that make up the fabric and cord, as well as to the greater resistance of the rubber layers to flexion and heat."

"This rubber layer called 'friction and coat' holds the piles of fabric together and at the same time keeps them apart so that they can not rub against each other; it is another of the essential elements in tire construction.

"The fabric moves over very small distances, yet sufficiently to develop heat. This rubber must serve as a permanent lubricant; not temporarily, like the oil that is put in between the leaves of springs or into the transmission or the differential housing, for that can be changed every few hundred miles, but permanently, because the rubber in the layers between the cords is put in at the time of manufacture and stays there until the tire is gone."

"There is no other substance yet found that will remain so permanent as vulcanized rubber under the heat and bending. But the cotton is equally important with rubber; it is the backbone of the tire."

What is "Balanced" Gasoline?

THE gasoline user wants a combination of many desirable qualities in the fuel he feeds his motor. He wants a gas that is not only positive-starting but full of power; one that gives a quick pick-up and still shows that extra mileage at the end of a long run.

Almost any motor fuel will meet some of these requirements but to fulfill all of them is a task that calls for a balanced gasoline. The reason for this is simple. Certain properties are necessary for positive starting whereas others are demanded if the gasoline is to deliver maximum power and mileage.

To illustrate, when you set out to build a fire in the grate you use plenty of paper at the bottom, some clean, dry kindling in the middle and a layer of coal on top—enough of each but not too much. The paper is there to insure a "positive start"; the kindling to give a "quick pick-up"; and the coal to furnish abundant heat-units ("power") with the greatest economy of fuel ("mileage").

This general principle applies to gasoline and its performance in a motor. Gasoline is made up of several "fractions" which vaporize at different temperatures; what we call a "range of boiling-points". The low (or extremely volatile) points supply the positive start; the medium points the quick pick-up and the higher points the sustained power and mileage-economy.

But it is not enough simply to secure these low, medium and high boiling points. They must be present in just the right proportion—not an excess of low points at the sacrifice of the higher ones (with consequent loss of power)—but a scientifically correct balance of the whole range.

It takes long experience, skill and care in refining to secure a commercial gasoline that meets such specifications. That is what has been achieved in CONOCO. That is why it does everything expected of a motor fuel and does it well.

For all-round dependability and economy, CONOCO is the best buy. Try it for a month—watch its performance—and we believe you'll be done experimenting with other brands.

FIXED CALENDAR LEAGUE SEEKING 13-MONTH YEAR

Each Would Have 28 Days Each, With One Extra Day Per Year, Which Would Be "Year Day."

Washington, Oct. 14.—On what date in the fall of the year are day and night equal in length? Most persons will reply: "Why September 21st, of course." Anyone connected with the International Fixed Calendar league will reply: "September 22, of course."

The calendar league professes to have proof and this is where it originates: The shadow of the Washington Monument was measured on the parking around the obelisk, on September 21, 22, 23, and 24, exactly at noon, when the shadow pointed north. The shadow was found to lengthen:

6 ft. 2 inches bet. Sept. 21 and 22, 6 ft. 4 inches bet. Sept. 22 and 23, 6 ft. 3 inches bet. Sept. 23 and 24, showing by its longest stretch on Sept. 23, according to Moses B. Cotsworth, originator of the "fixed calendar" idea for modern times, and secretary and treasurer of the league, that that day is the equinoctial day when day and night are equal.

The league is composed of persons who are trying to have the present yearly calendar rearranged, so there shall be thirteen months of 28 days each, with one extra day per year, to be known as "year day," making up to the 365 days of the solar calendar. A similar day is included in the plan to account for leap years. In this way, league advocates say, each month would be uniform with all others, each week and month would begin on Sunday and end on Saturday and holidays would come on regularly stated times, instead of skipping around the calendar.

The extra month, also of 28 days, would be called "Sol," or some other suitable name, and would be inserted between June and July. "Year Day" would be inserted either just before "Sol" or July, and would constitute an international midsummer holiday without a week-day name.

Easter day is given as the most remarkable of the "movable feasts," which would be put at some specific point in the year by the advocates of the plan, allowing the ladies to decide better on the class of their Easter finery. Under the present moon-chasing scheme, it is shown, Easter may arrive as early as March 25, which it did in 1918, or as late as April 23, as in 1916. Under the proposed system the date would be fixed as steady as the Fourth of July.

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHUS REPORTED IN KOREA

Tokio, Oct. 14 (by the Associated Press).—An epidemic of typhus is decimating the native population of Pingsang, Korea, according to advice received here by the Jiji, a Japanese daily newspaper.

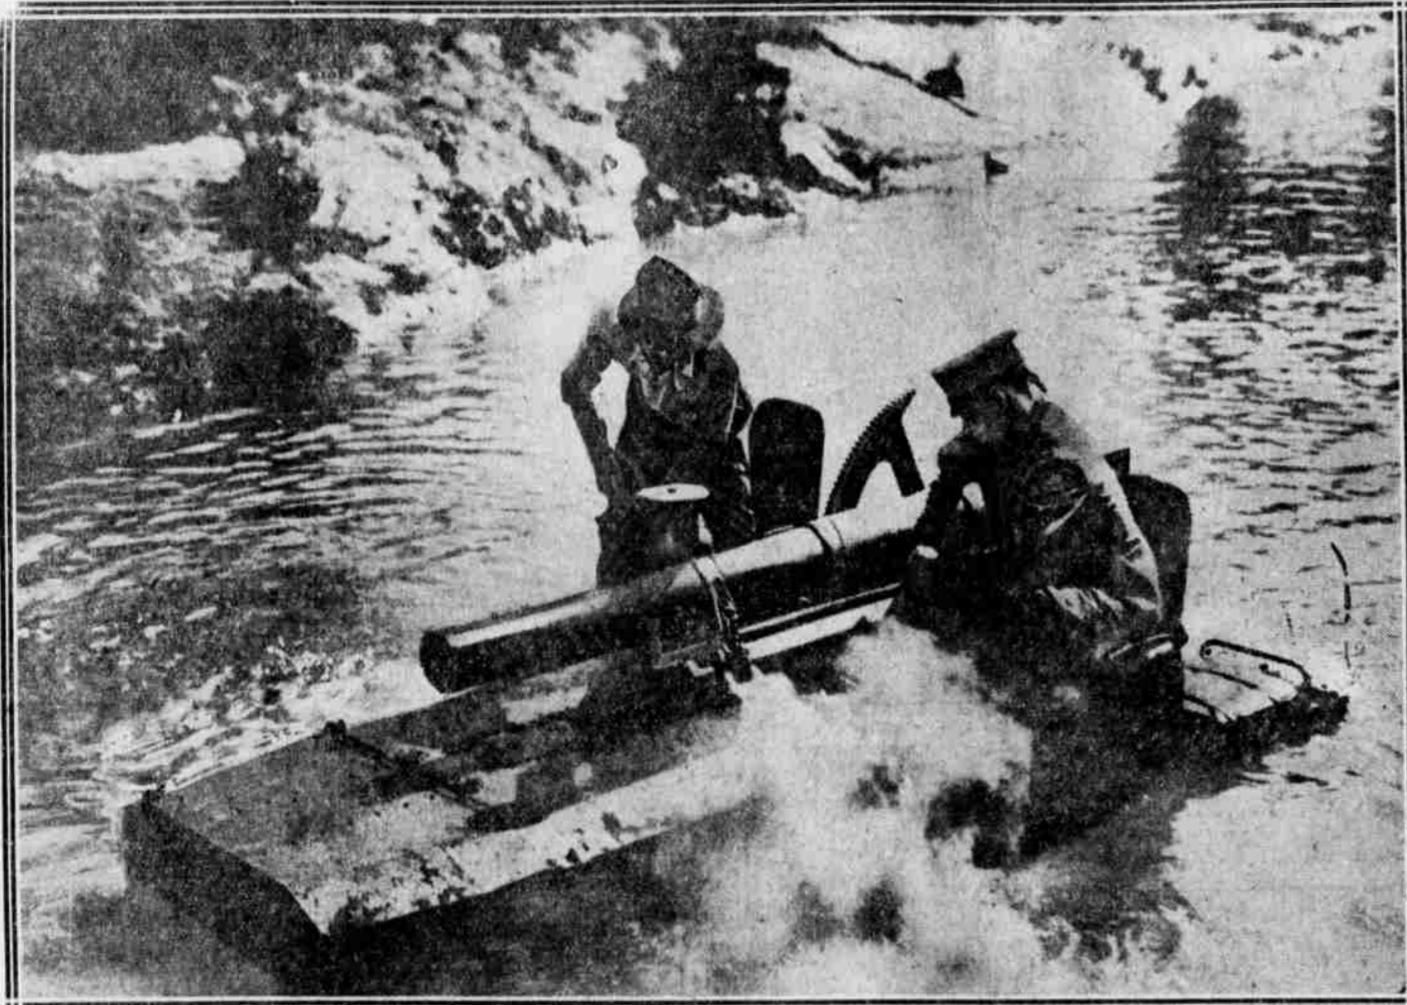

The advice adds that 1,000 Japanese have been attacked by the disease and that 280 have died. Business throughout the district is paralyzed.
