TWO BIRDMEN ON COAST-TO-COAST NON-STOP TRIP FORCED TO LAND

Defective Water Line Makes It Necessary for the Machine to Come to Earth at Indianapolis.

ENCOUNTERED STORM, RAIN PART OF TRIP

Complete 2,060 Miles of Proposed Flight; Want to Repeat the Attempt if Permit Is Granted.

Dayton, O., Nov. 4.—Lieutenants J. A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly, army aviators, who were forced to land near Indianapolis this morning after completing 2,060 miles of an attempted non-stop flight from San Diego to New York, arrived at McCook station here at 12:15 o'clock today and reported to Major T. H. Bane, their commanding officer.

In giving to Major Bane their first official report of the flight the aviators revealed that during their nearly 30 hours in the air, they were in the midst of a storm and rain for 11 hours and 20 minutes. In crossing the mountains the wind was so strong that it threatened several times to turn their ship over.

"At various times I thought the end was near," Lieutenant Kelly said. "I can safely say that we were never nearer death than when the high winds in the passes of the Rockies tossed us about like a top."

"Chill Loomed in Front." "At one time we were flying smoothly at an altitude of 8,000 feet when suddenly a chill loomed in front of us. I began to guide the ship to avoid crashing and by a mere chance I was successful in skimming the top of a precipice by about three feet."

"Our first intimation of real trouble came when we noticed the water leak while passing over Kansas."

"We made every effort to keep our radiator cool by using up our reserve supply of water, and jockeyed until we reached Indianapolis. There we made a final inspection of the ship and found that the motor was so hot that it would not permit us to go farther. We made the landing without trouble."

"Disappointed but not discouraged by their failure to finish the flight to New York, both flyers indicated that they want to repeat the attempt from San Diego if the war department will give its consent."

Lieutenant MacReady, replying to a question, said that although in the air 32 hours as against 26 on the flight ending today, the recent endurance flight over San Diego was made perfectly with the exception of the distance voyage.

"Did Not Lose Their Way." "The winds in the mountains made the difference between the comparative safety of the flight over San Diego and the treacherous of the eastern voyage," he said. "We did not lose our way during the entire trip as our instruments worked perfectly and informed us at all times of our location and the direction in which we were traveling."

"Friday night we experienced heavy cross winds, which caused us to use much precaution. The ship worked perfectly with the exception of the defective water line."

Lieutenant MacReady is the holder of the world's altitude record and Lieutenant Kelly is one of the most expert distance flyers in the air service.

"IT WAS A WONDERFUL FLIGHT," SAYS ARNOLD

San Diego, Calif., Nov. 4.—Gratification that Lieutenants J. A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly, army aviators, had landed safely and that, even though they failed to reach New York, they had brought another aviation record to America, was expressed by local aeronautical authorities today.

"It was a wonderful flight," said Major Henry H. Arnold, commandant of Rockwell field, from the start of the aviators' flight was made yesterday morning, after he learned that Kelly and MacReady had landed near Indianapolis, having made more than three-fourths of their coast-to-coast flight.

It was declared that because the head of the army air service rules otherwise, MacReady and Kelly will make another attempt to cross the continent without a stop, this time starting at Mineola and landing at Rockwell field here. The flyers told friends before they started east that they would make such a trip if they failed to reach New York, provided, of course, that official permission was given.

Officials at Rockwell field said today that it had been planned if the monoplane reached New York safely, to take on a tour of the country and then to install it in the Smithsonian Institution.

Charles Dworack and Clyde Reitz, two aeronautical engineers who installed the motor in the T-2 have left for Dayton, O., intending to install a new engine.

WOMEN VOTE TO ACQUIT MAN ON MURDER CHARGE

Jury Trying Henry Wilkens, Charged With Slaying His Wife, Unable to Agree and Is Discharged.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—The jury trying Henry Wilkens, garage manager, on a charge of wife murder, was called into court and discharged at 4:45 p. m. today, after failing to agree on a verdict in 23 hours' deliberation.

Howard C. Tibbets, foreman said that 11 ballots had been taken. The first, he said, was seven to five. He did not indicate whether it was conviction or acquittal. The remaining ten were six to six.

The court, after Tibbets' report, asked opposing counsel if they wished to have the jury deliberated further. After a brief argument both sides agreed that it should be discharged. The jurors and spectators then left the courtroom and the defendant was taken back to the county jail.

The killing of three persons who figured in the investigation of Mrs. Annie Wilkens' death furnished a tragic prologue to the trial of Henry Wilkens.

Walter Castor, said by the prosecution to have conspired with Wilkens to slay Mrs. Wilkens, shot and killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Castor, who is apparently suspected of having betrayed him to Detective Sergeant Timothy J. Bailey, Castor then committed suicide. The triple slaying took place in the home of Castor's mother, Mrs. Minnie Castor, who later worked out Bailey and his business in the land office, giving Captain Miller any needed opportunity for verbal arrangements.

The republican state convention closed September 9. The alleged letter is dated September 13 and refers to a land lease for one Etchevery. The closing sentence reads: "I wish you could have waited until after the election, then I can do as I want to, but I will put it in someone else's name, so the old fool will not know who it is for. I will work it out some way."

The Morning Journal has received a photographic copy of a purported agreement entered into and signed by Claude N. Neils and H. A. Olive at Hagerman, N. M., September 13, on which date both Neils and Olive were in the city.

THIS AGREEMENT, made this 13th day of September, 1922, by and between Claude N. Neils and H. A. Olive, of Hagerman, N. M., and between Neils and H. A. Olive, of Hagerman, N. M., party of the second part.

WITNESSETH: That the said parties hereto agreed that all of the partnership of both parties now on the premises of the first party near Hagerman, New Mexico, be sold to the said H. A. Olive, of Hagerman, N. M., for the sum of $100,000, cash.

After being discharged the jurors announced that the first ballot was seven to five for acquittal. The case was set for next Friday to be reset for trial.

The three women in the jury voted throughout the acquittal. "We felt that the prosecution did not prove its case," Mrs. Kathryn McKee, one of the three, explained.

Wilkens expressed his disappointment, but said that he "felt sure" that the next trial would mean acquittal.

HEROIC STATUE OF PERSHING IS TO BE UNVEILED

Armistice Day Has Been Chosen for the Ceremony to Be Held in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—On Armistice day, November 11, a heroic statue of General Pershing, picturing him as if watching troops in battle, will be unveiled in the Golden Gate park here.

The statue is a gift to the city of San Francisco by Mr. Morris Herzog, standing squarely and looking forward by an old friend of the doctor, Halse Partigan, noted San Francisco sculptor, 1922.

Eight feet in height, the figure is of gilt bronze and stands on a pedestal of silver granite. The pedestal is five feet high. It represents the general in field uniform, standing square and looking forward, both face and figure animated with the expression of alertness and energy.

On the face of the pedestal is the inscription: "In tribute to General Pershing and the victorious armies of the United States and her co-belligerents during the world war 1914-1918. Presented by Dr. Morris Herzog, 1922."

Dr. Herzog conceived the idea of the statue after he had heard from General Pershing himself the story of the American expeditionary forces and saw with his own eyes the fields where that force had won imperishable glory. The doctor toured the battle fields with Representative Julius Kahn of San Francisco immediately after the armistice and spent some time as the guest of General Pershing.

Patigan has worked on the statue for more than two years, and, at the request of the doctor, has kept the plans a secret.

HEAVY HAIL AT ORDWAY.

Sugar City, Colo., Nov. 4.—At Ordway, six miles from Sugar City, a heavy hail was reported early today. Some of the hail stones were reported as large as hen's eggs. Considerable damage was reported, but no serious damage was reported.

CLAUDE J. NEILS AT HAGERMAN ON SEPTEMBER 15

Records Show That He Executed an Agreement There on That Date; Not in Santa Fe as Claimed.

When the alleged Etchevery letter, written upon stationery of the state land office and bearing the purported signature of Fred Miller, deputy land commissioner, was made public a few days ago, Claude J. Neils of Roswell, to whom the letter was addressed, gave the Morning Journal a statement over the telephone, as follows:

"On the day, and for some days prior to the date of the letter in question, I was in Santa Fe and stopped at Captain Miller's home. No such letter was ever received by me. Of course, as an attorney I have transacted business with the land office for some years for some of my clients. There was no occasion to write the letter because I was in Santa Fe at the time it was written."

At the same time that Neils' denial was printed, what purported to be a statement issued jointly by N. A. Field, state land commissioner, and Fred Miller was given out. Since then, however, Commissioner Field had denied having issued the statement attributed to him. Among other things, the statement said: "The correspondence would have been unnecessary because Mr. Neils came to Santa Fe immediately after the republican state convention and remained a week or longer working on some of his business in the land office, giving Captain Miller any needed opportunity for verbal arrangements."

The republican state convention closed September 9. The alleged letter is dated September 13 and refers to a land lease for one Etchevery. All of the four winners finished a comfortable distance ahead of the field.

The car driven by L. M. Smyers of St. Johns caught fire during the tenth lap of the third race and was virtually destroyed before the flames could be extinguished. Smyers and his mechanic escaped uninjured. No other accidents occurred.

8-YEAR-OLD BOY IS NAMED A MEMBER OF THE BOOTLEG SQUAD

Denver, Colo., Nov. 4.—The youngest member of the bootleg squad was appointed today, when Judge Ben H. Lindsey of the juvenile court named an 8-year-old boy to gather information of places where liquor was being sold.

The boy appeared before the judge yesterday and declared that his life's ambition was to be a bootlegger and that he already had "the goods" on three bootlegging places.

The court told him to report to Officer John Phillips of the juvenile court. The information given by the boy was turned over to government officers.

When asked how old he was the boy answered: "I am 8 years old in years, but 11 in the head."

"How do you make that out?" asked Judge Lindsey.

"That's what the school doctor who examined me said," the boy replied.

The boy reported two more places where alleged violation of the prohibition laws had occurred and said he had seen the sale of liquor through cracks in the doors.

Merrell, 21, charged with first degree murder in connection with the killing of Patrolman Michael O'Connor during a hold-up here last April 23, were found guilty by a jury in circuit court late last night and were sentenced to be hanged. Both men received the verdict stoically.

DUKE CITY GRID TEAM BEATEN BY ROSWELL, 24-0

Pecos Valley Lads Maintain Their Reputation; Have Not Been Scored on Since the Season of 1920.

Special to The Journal.

Roswell, N. M., Nov. 4.—Roswell high school defeated Albuquerque high school this afternoon at Albuquerque in a football game. Three touchdowns and a field goal gave Roswell her score. By holding the Duke City players from scoring Roswell maintained her reputation of scoreless games. The local team has not been scored on since the season of 1920.

In the first few minutes of play Albuquerque had things a bit hot here, but the Duke City players held Roswell's 20-yard line. They were held for down and from that time until near the end of the last quarter Roswell's goal was practically in danger.

At the end of the last quarter carried the ball to Roswell's 20-yard line and worked it on down to the ten-yard line before losing it on downs. Soon then took the ball and ran ninety yards for Roswell's last touchdown.

The forward pass was used by both teams but with more success by the local players.

ANOTHER COTTON GIN IS ASSURED FOR LAS CRUCES

Will Be Owned by Farmers and Will Be Necessary to Take Care of the Crop in the Mesilla Valley.

Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 4.—An announcement was made that Dona Ana county will have another gin next season to take care of a large part of the cotton crop. The gin will be owned by farmers in the Mesilla valley. It will be completely equipped.

Whether the gin is to be operated as a co-operative of private enterprise has not yet been decided, but it is understood that it will be financed by growers, who will engage a competent gin and compressor man to operate the plant.

The gin is in Dona Ana county, in Las Cruces and at Anthony. The first named is operated by the Mesilla Valley Cotton Products company, headed by J. P. Porter, an experienced cotton man.

James Quisenberry, president of the Dona Ana county farm bureau, says that another gin will be necessary next year to take care of the crop. It is expected that the cotton acreage will be from three to four times greater in 1923 than it was this year.

A goodly number of "wet" republicans, they say, will not support the support of a large number of "dry" democrats and democrats who are dissatisfied with Reed because of his opposition to former Governor Wilson. The prohibition question seems to have overshadowed all other issues. Reed has declared himself in favor of modifying the Volstead law while Brewster has declared he would never vote to modify it.

DEFLECTIONS ON BOTH TICKETS IN MISSOURI OBSERVERS PREDICT

St. Louis, Nov. 4 (By the Associated Press).—As the Missouri campaign draws to a close, astute political observers declare the senatorial race between United States Senator James A. Reed, democrat, and R. B. Brewster, republican, will be marked by defections on both tickets.

A goodly number of "wet" republicans, they say, will not support the support of a large number of "dry" democrats and democrats who are dissatisfied with Reed because of his opposition to former Governor Wilson. The prohibition question seems to have overshadowed all other issues. Reed has declared himself in favor of modifying the Volstead law while Brewster has declared he would never vote to modify it.

JUDGE DAVIS IS WELCOMED HOME TO MEADOW CITY

G. O. P. Senatorial Candidate Replies to Some of the Charges That Have Been Made by Opponent.

Special to The Journal.

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 4.—Two brass bands, a parade of automobiles several blocks in length with flaming torches and an audience that packed main floor and balconies of the Dunbar opera house, were among the features that added color and festivity to the welcome that the "home town" extended last night to Judge S. B. Davis, Jr., republican nominee for United States senator, upon his return from a campaign tour through several of the northern counties.

The party arrived late Friday afternoon, coming across from Mesquite and was not out of the city by 11 o'clock. In addition to Judge Davis there are in the party Mrs. Adeline Otero-Warren, nominee for representative in congress, and Hilario Delgado, nominee for auditor.

Audience Enthusiastic.

The Las Vegas audience was extraordinary, not only for its size, but also for its enthusiasm and responsiveness. Mrs. E. J. McVee, president of the democratic club, presided. There were thirty old citizens seated on the stage. George H. Hunker, chairman of the democratic state central committee, was in the audience while Judge Davis was speaking.

In making his next to the last speech of the campaign, Judge Davis replied to some of the charges that have been made by his opponent, Senator J. A. MacReady.

Senator Jones also is a resident of Las Vegas and closed his campaign with a meeting here Tuesday night. Senator Jones has assailed Judge Davis because of his republican nomination and pledged to tariff protection for the manufacturers of Connecticut, in which state Judge Davis was born. Referring to this charge, Judge Davis said:

"I was born in Connecticut, but I look out primarily for the interests of New Mexico, but I do not intend to support any principle for New Mexico and deny the benefits of that principle to other states. If I stand for protection, I will vote for that protection. More than that, I will say that if there should be need of protection for the products of Tennessee, I will vote for that protection. I will vote for protection for my native state."

G. O. P. Has Broad Vision.

"My friend in his address here said he took pride in the fact that he voted selfishly for protection for New Mexico. No true republicanism nor any lasting benefit grows out of a policy of selfishness. The republican party is not sectional or a class party, but a broader vision than that."

On the question of the adjusted compensation measure, the speaker said he stood upon the party's pledge and would support a measure which would be just and fair to the veterans of the world war, but would not pledge himself to any particular measure.

Mrs. Warren was the first speaker. She spoke in an enthusiastic and able manner.

Col. C. C. Winnie, U. S. A., retired, spoke to the former service men, against whom, he said, a campaign had been launched, with the apparent hope of misleading them into voting for Senator A. Jones. His remarks were frequently applauded.

A. B. Reichen of Santa Fe was introduced as the first speaker of New Mexico. He spoke eloquently in extolling the feats of American men under arms, and launched broadsides of ridicule against the extravagant claims of greediness made on behalf of democratic candidates.

20% OF POPULATION OF NORWAY ENGAGED IN LIQUOR RUNNING

Christiania, Nov. 4.—Illicit dealing in liquor in prohibition Norway has proved such a profitable trade that it is estimated 20 per cent of the population is actively engaged in rum running. The racket is so extensive and adventure involved appeal to many people, and are by no means a small factor in causing them to enter the business.

The competition in the trade at sea is so great that 50 per cent alcohol from Germany is bought at thirty cents a quart on the boats and sold ashore for two dollars. The greater portion of this stuff is rank and contains a large percentage of the most poisonous and other poisonous ingredients.

Once ashore this liquor finds a ready market at many times its value, and it is sold under the eyes of the government and all of the cities and towns of the restricted districts.

The press of Norway agrees that the situation is little short of a public scandal, but it is not able to offer any suggestions as to how the revenue department should cope with the violators.

Meanwhile the government is losing millions of crowns, as the liquor brings no revenue into the state treasury.

BOY SET 22 FIRES, HE CONFESSES TO POLICE

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—Thirteen year old Ignatius Grenier confessed today, police announced, to having set fire to 22 buildings in the Russian Hill district here within the past several months.

"I got a kick out of it," Ignatius explained to Thomas Reagan while taking the latter on a round of the houses the lad admitted having set afire.

Property damage in the fires totaled approximately $18,000, police said. The boy was captured yesterday while fleeing from an incendiary blaze.

SOLDIER BONUS IS AN ISSUE IN MONTANA NOV. 7

Question Will Be Submitted to Voters; State and Federal Offices to Be Filled in Western States.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—State and federal offices are to be filled by voters in states from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific ocean next Tuesday and in addition, in most of the states numerous amendments and measures will receive the attention of the electorate. Colorado leads the western states in the number of parties seeking to fill state offices.

Five Parties in Colorado.

Five parties in Colorado have made nominations for at least one office. The parties are a republican, democratic, and socialist, which have complete state tickets and the old age pension party and the farmer-labor party, which have candidates for the gubernatorial chair. Colorado has four parties with candidates to be voted upon—republican, democratic, socialist and prohibition, the last named having a candidate for secretary of state.

Montana and Wyoming, in addition to candidates on the republican and democratic tickets will also vote for socialist candidates on certain state offices in Montana and on a full state ticket in Wyoming. Idaho voters also will receive a ballot with three parties, the republican, democratic and progressive. Oregon has independent candidates seeking certain state offices on a state ticket in the west have but two parties from which to choose.

The governors of Arizona and Oregon are the only two seeking reelection in the states which will hold a vote on a state ticket. In Montana Senator H. L. Myers is not on the ballot, and Oregon, Idaho and Colorado do not elect senators this year. Three men are seeking to become the successor of Senator Myers in Montana.

Important Amendment.

Many important amendments are to be voted on Tuesday. Colorado will vote on a state income tax and an amendment to the constitution for a $5,000,000 bond to build a road building. California will have been asked to vote on a bond issue of $10,000,000 to build a road and a bond issue to build a road and a bond issue to build a road.

Nevada citizens have placed on the ballot an initiative measure authorizing district judges in their discretion to grant either final or interlocutory decrees in divorce cases. Utah has two tax amendments on its ballot. The state will vote on the use of public mutual machines for betting on horse races at state and county fairs, and also for the issuance of a $4,500,000 bond issue to cover the soldiers' bonus.

Compulsory School Measure.

Oregon has a compulsory school measure on its ballot that has been debated as heatedly as any measure ever put before the people. Some of its opponents say that if it is adopted no schools other than public schools will be allowed in the state.

Oregon also will vote on an income tax sufficient to raise a part of the money necessary to conduct the state government.

Arizona has put to the front a proposal to increase the bonded indebtedness of the state for the improvement of the state highway.

JUNIOR R. C. TO SEND CHRISTMAS GIFTS OVERSEAS

More Than 115,000 Children in Hungary, Austria and Albania Will Be Remembered by Americans.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—More than 115,000 children in Hungary, Austria, Albania, and other countries where dire poverty prevents the usual Christmas festivities, will be remembered by American school boys and girls who are members of the Junior American Red Cross, local headquarters announce.

That number of gift boxes is being filled and will be sent to Europe in time to be distributed to the destitute children at Christmas. In many cases this will be their only Christmas cheer.

The boxes will contain such articles as hair ribbon, rubber balls, rag or celluloid dolls, marbles, tops, dominoes, picture books, pictures, puzzles, mittens, stockings, handkerchiefs, combs, wash-cloths, soap, tooth-brushes, tooth-powder and Balm.

These gifts, all contributed by children, will be packed in paper cartons ten by four inches and on the lid will be printed a Christmas greeting from the donors.

Many schools plan the collection of home-made candles, nuts, raisins, and other simple sweets which will be wrapped in oiled

PRINCESS WEDS FORMER KAISER AT DOORN TODAY

Marriage Augurs a More Workable Union Than Between Wilhelm and His First Wife, Is Claim.

The Hague, Nov. 4.—Gossip in Germany has it that the marriage tomorrow of former Emperor William of Germany and Princess Hermine of Reuss augurs a far more workable union than that between Wilhelm and his first wife, Princess Augusta Victoria, which took place in February, 1881, and terminated just 40 years and two months later when she died an exile from her beloved Potsdam.

There are many who are able to see much in common between the ex-emperor and his bride-to-be, despite the difference in their ages; while back in 1881, when the whole German Empire was in festive attire to celebrate the marriage of its heir apparent, even the most optimistic were compelled to admit that the two royal scions could not have been farther apart had they been of different worlds.

No Sympathy for Pomp. Princess Augusta was shy, distrustful, essentially timorous, a lover of her home, and with no sympathy for pomp and ceremony. For more than 12 years of her married life she was a semi-invalid.

The bridegroom, on the other hand, was already feverishly active and possessed of insatiable ambition. He loved display, never tired of arraying himself in gaudy uniforms, and was happy only when he could play a leading part before the whole world. These were the differences that the world at large saw. Those who were intimate with either or both of the principals, however, knew that the private order of their lives was even further from agreement.

In matters pertaining to love and marriage, Prince William had his own ideas, which he lived up to with almost noisy scrupulousness. He believed, first and always, that a man, whether he be exalted or not, should choose his wife as she would her gown—for qualities that would wear well. Intellectual strength or brilliancy, emotional vigor, and pronounced character were not among the qualities he looked for in a wife.

Fortunately, it was many years after her married life began before Prince William had any important roles to perform, thus she managed to continue with her simple habits without provoking unfriendly comment. She had no experience with court life and knew little if anything about cities; therefore it was years before she mastered the details of her royal social status.

Judgment Played Them False. Yet with all their disparity of temperaments, those who had predicted an unhappy union for the crown prince were forced, as the years wore on, to admit that their judgment had played them false. Never were there any well-founded rumors of a separation, or even of disagreement. The political wiseacres, who usually are able to name a reason for any royal action, were hopelessly at sea when one day William issued a statement characterizing Empress Augusta as "a precious pearl; the type of all the virtues of a Germanic princess. To her I owe it that I am able to tackle and perform in a cheerful spirit the difficult duties of my position."

Docile and uninterested in affairs of state, Empress Augusta nevertheless was supreme within the palace walls. The accounts, the orders, the supplies, the arrangement of the bill of fare, and the management of her seven children were under her immediate supervision. Once the emperor told one of his officers that he wanted the young prince to learn how to paddle a canoe. When the officer mentioned this to the empress, she refused to hear of them taking such risks.

"But the Kaiser has already given the order," said the officer.

"That may be as you say," she replied, smiling. "He is the Kaiser of Germany, but I am the Kaiser of this nursery."

Respects Royal Traditions. Princess Hermine, on the other hand, is understood to enjoy and respect all the royal traditions which Princess Augusta abhorred. While she is hardly known beyond the German borders, and seldom if ever was mentioned, even in the newspapers of Germany before her engagement to the ex-emperor was announced, still there are many households in Central Europe which profess to have an intimate knowledge of her character, and in these the preponderance of opinion is that she has all the qualities to make her a valuable and sympathetic companion to the Imperial Eagle of Doorn.

JEALOUS GIRLS BATTLE IN BOSTON STREET FOR AFFECTIONS OF MUTUAL SWEETHEART

Staid and dignified Bostonians were treated to a real grudge fight in the streets when Miss Marie Hariaett and Lillian Crawford clashed. The cause of the battle was a man, of course, one Herbert J. Cummings, title to whose affections they sought to clear with their fists.

WEALTH NOT AN INDICATION OF SUCCESS, AVERS

Business World Is Beating Back and Will Be Better for the Lessons, Rotarian Says in Speech.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 4.—Men may fail, but business must succeed, or the fabric of modern civilization falls, declared Raymond M. Havens of Kansas City, Mo., president of the Rotary International, speaking before Illinois Rotary clubs here today.

"Art, science, education, research, religion itself, the human mind, flourish by the generous hand of modern business," he declared. "But every fine thing in which is sustained by money, is hypocrisy, if the source of the money is corrupt."

A demand for a code of honor in business was characteristic of men who felt a natural craving to make their transactions harmonious with their social ethics as citizens, neighbors, friends, husbands, fathers. To these men the cynical doctrine expressed in the phrase, "business is business," was an offense and a humiliation.

"There is honorable profit and there is dishonorable profit, just as every virtue may be distorted into evil results. Worship may become fanaticism; refinement may be twisted into snobbery; loyalty may be perverted into intrigue."

"Every human phase runs to extremes and the so-called successful man of great wealth, who does not know what to do with it, has yielded rich material to play-wrights and movie-makers. But it is misunderstanding to call a man successful simply because he has great wealth. He is successful in getting rich, that is all."

"The more brains and skill required for business success, the better. What was the evil influence of the war madness on trade? Wasn't it a loss of fineness of spirit, as much as breakdown of cost control and quality standards, until contracts became scraps of paper?"

"The business world is beating back and will be better for the lessons. Salesmanship must be based on telling the truth. Low costs must be the result of better thinking and doing. The rewards of industry, the exchange and distribution of the products of the soil, greater knowledge, higher standards of living—these are what you will—business is the sustaining force."

REGISTRATION IN ARIZONA BREAKS FORMER RECORDS

Democratic and Republican Campaigns in Preparation for Tuesday's Election Are Near a Climax.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Democratic and republican campaigns in preparation for Arizona's elections next Tuesday were approaching a climax tonight.

With the largest registration in the history of the state the voters will go to the polls to select a senator and a congressman in addition to governor and a complete state ticket.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst, democratic incumbent, who has held his seat since Arizona became a state in 1911, will be opposed by James H. McClintock, republican, of Phoenix, former newspaper man and state historian.

The contest for Arizona's congressional seat will lie between Carl Hayden, democrat, also an incumbent since 1911, and Mrs. H. A. Guild, republican, of Phoenix, the first woman to be nominated for a major political office in Arizona.

The real struggle of the campaign, however, is centered in the campaign for the governorship, in which Governor Thomas E. Campbell, republican, opposes former Governor George W. P. Hunt.

Democrats staged an elaborate torch light parade as a closing demonstration for Hunt here tonight. The republicans closed in more formal style with Governor Campbell giving an address in Phoenix.

The voters will also ballot on one constitutional amendment, a proposal to increase the bonded indebtedness of Arizona for the improvement of a state highway, which would form a connecting link in the Los Angeles-Phoenix highway.

TWO BIRDMEN ON NON-STOP TRIP FORCED TO LAND

In the powerful plane for a flight from New York to San Diego.

MEN RELATE INCIDENTS OF 2,000-MILE FLIGHT

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 4. (By the Associated Press).—After thundering their way three-fourths of the distance across the United States from San Diego to Indianapolis, through storms and calm, darkness and light, aboard the monoplane T-2, Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley G. Kelley relaxed tonight after their hazardous trip and related incidents of their record breaking non-stop flight of 2,000 miles.

The aviators were forced to land their ship at Indianapolis at 9:17 o'clock this morning after they had exhausted their water supply, owing to a broken line. They borrowed a plane and flew to Dayton early this afternoon. Had they traveled approximately 600 miles further they would have succeeded in their attempt to cross the continent without stopping. MacReady and Kelley, however, are not entirely disappointed for their flight demonstrated that a coast-to-coast flight is possible, they declared.

PUEBLO IS ISOLATED FROM REST OF WORLD BY SEVERE BLIZZARD

Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 4.—Pueblo has been completely isolated from the rest of the world for the past six hours. All long distance telephone and all telegraph lines have been down because of a severe blizzard which struck this region at noon Saturday. Meagre reports of a tornado at Ordway and Sugar City, Colo., two points on the Missouri Pacific railroad 50 miles east of here, have not been verified as it is impossible to get into communication with those places.

In Pueblo, electric wires and telephone lines were broken by the heavy coat of sleet that clung to the wires causing them to snap in the wind.

HANNA ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION OF REPUBLICANS

Shows Where Hinkle Can Cut Expenses if He Is Elected; Vaught Shows Up Alleged Shortcomings

"Where can Hinkle cut? The republicans have asked this question throughout the campaign. What can Hinkle do? This is an other question they ask. If Hinkle cuts off even half of the republican job holders who are performing no service, including See Romero's 26 relatives, he will cut the expenses of the state of New Mexico by $100,000. This was the statement made by Richard H. Hanna last night in the democratic rally at the Crystal theater.

"Hanna went on: 'They ask what Hinkle can do as a democratic governor, while a republican legislature controls. Well, Hinkle can do, and he will do, the same as Governor McDonald did. Governor McDonald vetoed many appropriations passed by the legislature and thereby saved the state of New Mexico thousands and thousands of dollars. He gave New Mexico, for five years, the best administration it has ever had.

"I hope you will go to the polls next Tuesday and tell those who are in control of your state, tell them by your voice: 'Go back to your sheep ranches. Go back to whatever private enterprises you may have and allow the people of this state to conduct the state's business, or have it conducted by their best interests generally.'

AIRPLANE CRASH IS FATAL TO TWO ARMY OFFICERS

Lieuts. Wilyard and Zeargass Killed in Louisiana While Flying From Fort Bliss to Long Island.

Lake Charles, La., Nov. 4.—Lieutenant R. C. Wilyard and C. G. Zeargass of Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., were killed this morning when an airplane in which they were making a flight from Fort Bliss to Long Island, N. Y., crashed to the ground near Vinton, La., according to reports reaching here.

An eye witness declared the plane was flying low and that one of the men was hanging outside the plane as though he had failed to extricate himself in his attempt to jump with his parachute.

Parachutes were tied about both men when their bodies were removed from the wreckage, which led to the belief that some tragedy was imminent, they unsuccessfully attempted to leap to the earth.

C. G. Zeargass was aviation mechanic at Fort Bliss.

MARRIED LIFE FOR 2 COUPLES STARTS WITH A BANG AT SPOKANE

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 4.—Married life for two couples started with a bang here yesterday when explosion of a pound of flash-light powder blew up the studio to which they had gone for wedding pictures, painfully injuring one bride, one bridegroom and the photographer, besides calling out the fire department.

Mother and daughter had planned to be married together but the plan had gone wrong. The daughter, Miss Edna Cordner, and her fiancé, Warren Wood, were married in the morning, and the mother, Mrs. Dolly Mae Cordner, and her intended, Marion Earl Davis of Spirit Lake, Idaho, in the afternoon. The visit to the studio followed. Mrs. Wood and Mr. Davis were cut by flying glass. The injuries were not serious.

HEAVY SNOWFALL AT ALBUQUERQUE DAMAGES TREES

Telephone and Electric Light Wires Torn Down by Falling Limbs; Street Car Traffic Delayed.

The heavy snowfall of early yesterday morning did great damage to trees in all parts of the city. Telephone and electric light wires were torn down in several sections. The city yesterday had four gangs of men at work, in as many sections, removing branches of trees from the streets. The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company reported all its toll lines undamaged, but stated that between 50 and 75 telephones had been put out of commission by falling limbs. A gang of men was at work all day making repairs. The Albuquerque Gas and Electric company also had difficulty with some of its lines.

Firemen Called Out.
About 4 o'clock yesterday morning the fire department was called to the corner of Second and Hazel, where wires were torn down by snow, setting fire to a pole and a tree. Because of the numerous branches lying in the street, and the deep snow, the firemen had difficulty in reaching the scene. Robinson park suffered considerable damage through the loss of limbs from trees. The park was full of leafy boughs yesterday that resembled underbrush on the ground. Copper avenue, North Fourth street, Roma avenue and several other streets that are thickly lined with trees were almost impassable yesterday morning.

BUFFALOES ARE DEFEATED, 12-0, BY LOBO TEAM

Game Is Played on U. N. M. Field, Covered With a Carpet of Wet Snow With Mud Underneath.

Displaying good football and clean sportsmanship, and fighting hard all the while, the West Texas Normal Buffaloes went down before the more aggressive Lobos yesterday afternoon, to the tune of 12 to 0. The Lobos outplayed the Buffaloes most of the way, but were unable to score as many touchdowns as they probably would have scored had the field been dry, instead of covered with a carpet of wet snow, with mud underneath.

For the Buffaloes, the work of Henry at end and Golden at left half, were outstanding, and the work of Jones and the splendid interference given the man with the ball, were features of note in the Lobo play, the interference yesterday far exceeding that of any game the Lobos have played this season.

Lobo Touchdowns.
The Lobo touchdowns came in the first and third quarters, the first, made by Jones, on a 15-yard run around right end, following a 30-yard run around the other wing, and the second scored by Hernandez, after a series of end runs and line bucks which brought the ball within a yard of the Buffalo goal.

Capt. John Popejoy, tackle, who has been nursing a sprained knee, did not get in the game, and Pearce, star guard, who was injured in the Texas Miner game, was absent from the game, in spite of the absence of these men the Lobo forward wall was extremely difficult for the Buffaloes to pierce.

The game was unusually clean, with only one penalty.
Summary of game.
First Quarter.
Jones kicked off for the Lobos to the Buffalo 30-yard line, and tackled Graves at almost in his tracks. A Buffalo back hit the line for no gain, another made four yards through right tackle, and a fumble gave the ball to the Lobos. Jones made two yards around right end, and Popejoy failed to gain around left end. Jones hit left tackle for two yards and took time out to recover wind knocked out of him. Popejoy failed to gain around left end, and the ball went to the Buffaloes.

Golden was thrown for a two-yard loss, and Graves kicked on the next down to Hartman on the Lobo 15-yard line, who was thrown almost in his tracks. Hernandez failed to gain through the line, and Jones skirted right and for eight yards. Hartman bucked the center of the line, but Hernandez failed to gain through left tackle for two yards, then failed on a try at the center of the line. Jones made two yards off right tackle, and Hernandez hit the center of the line for three yards. Jones went through right tackle for five yards, then kicked to the Buffalo 35-yard line, where the receiver was downed in his tracks.

Burson failed to gain through the line, and Stewart was stopped by Louis Hernandez on an attempt around right end. Graves punted to Hartman on the Lobo 40-yard line, and he ran it back twenty-five yards. Jones skirted left end with almost perfect interference for thirty yards. Hartman hit the center of the line twice for a yard or two, then Jones skirted right and for fifteen yards and a touchdown, at the end of ten and a half minutes of play, but failed to kick goal.

Graves kicked to Walter Hernandez, who ran the ball back ten yards from the Lobo 20-yard line. Varsity took time out for Greuter, who was badly battered, but stayed in. Jones made two yards through left tackle, and a pass Jones to Walter Hernandez, was good for 15 yards, but was not allowed, because the referee ruled that Jones was tackled before he threw the pass. Jones was thrown for a three-yard loss on a wing shift, then kicked out of bounds on the Buffalo 40-yard line just as the whistle blew for the quarter. The quarter ended with the ball in canyon's possession on their 40-yard line, and the score 6 to 0 in favor of the Lobos.

Second Quarter.
Burson hit left tackle for no gain, and Golden tried the same place to be thrown for a loss. The Buffaloes then tried a lateral pass, followed by a forward pass, which would have been good for yards, but for the fact that the passer was not five yards back of the line of scrimmage. Graves punted 20 yards.

Hernandez failed to gain through the line, and Popejoy went off right tackle for six yards, then Jones skirted right end for 12 more. Popejoy ran out of bounds in an attempt over right tackle, and Jones was thrown for a two-yard loss around left end. A Lobo pass was incomplete, and Jones punted out of bounds on the Buffalo 30-yard line.

Stewart lost two yards in an attempt through left tackle. Burson failed to gain through the line, and a forward pass was incomplete,

ALLIED TROOPS PATROL THRACE

Shaded portions of map show territories patrolled by Italians, British and French troops. Arrows point to Rodosto and Siliori.

Allied troops are in possession of Thrace and have divided it into three zones to see to the evacuation of the Greeks. One battalion of Italians is at Siliori and Rodosto, three battalions of British at Luleburgas, and three battalions of French at Adrianople. The Turks are expected to move in December 1. Greek refugees continue to crowd the ports of Siliori and Rodosto. They have abandoned their possessions, and are fleeing blindly, fearing reprisals when the Turks come.

forcing Graves to punt to Hartman on his 30-yard line.
Popejoy made two yards through left tackle, and Hernandez hit right tackle for two more. Hartman sneaked through center for two yards, and Jones added six more around right end. Hernandez bucked the line for five yards, and Jones started around left end, then cut back around right end for an eight-yard gain. Hernandez made three yards off left guard, and the Buffaloes took time out for Sanders. Jones squeezed through the line for two yards. Stinnett was taken out at right guard for the Lobos, Ferguson shifting to guard from tackle, and Greenleaf going in at right tackle. Jones made three more yards through left tackle, and Canyon took time out for Sanders who was taken out, and Thompson sent in to replace him. Jones was pulled down behind the line of scrimmage in an attempt around left end. Hernandez bucked the line for no gain, and the ball went to the Texans.

The Buffaloes hit the line three times for no gain, and Graves kicked to Jones in the middle of the field. Jones ran the ball back ten yards.
A pass, Hartman to Jones, was good for 20 yards, and the half ended with the ball in Lobo possession on the Buffalo 30-yard line, and the score 6 to 0 in favor of Varsity.
Third Quarter.
Dutton was shifted to center, and Stinnett went back in at left guard. Bivens substituted for Burson at full for the Buffaloes. Graves kicked off to Hernandez, who ran back ten yards from the 25-yard line. Jones lost a yard on a try around left end, then went through right tackle for two yards. A pass, Hartman to Jones, was incomplete, and Jones punted to Bivens on the Buffalo 40-yard line. Golden skirted right end for five yards, and Bivens hit left tackle for no gain. A Buffalo pass was blocked by Walter Hernandez, and Graves kicked to Hartman on the 20-yard line.

Hernandez went through tackle for two yards, and Jones made it one more through the same place. Hernandez was thrown for a two-yard loss on a criss-cross play, and Jones kicked out of bounds on the Buffalo 40-yard line.
Golden skirted right end for 25 yards. Stewart lost two yards in an attempt around left end, a pass was incomplete, and Golden went around right end for another ten yards. The Lobos were penalized ten yards for unnecessary roughness. Stewart made a yard at left tackle, and a Buffalo forward pass was incomplete at the Lobo goal. Key went in for Golden at left half for the Buffaloes. Key lost around right end, and a Buffalo pass was good for five yards to the Lobo 15-yard line. Dick Bivens was knocked out at right end, and Hais sent in for him. The ball went to the Lobos.

Jones hit the line for no gain, and Hernandez made three yards off right tackle. Jones dashed through left tackle for 15 yards, and Hartman failed to gain through center. A pass, Hartman to Jones, was good for 15 yards. Hernandez hit center for two yards, and the quarter ended. Lobo's ball on the Buffalo 40-yard line.
Fourth Quarter.
Jones skirted left end for ten yards, then ran 20 yards out of bounds around right end. Jones hit right tackle for 15 yards, and Hernandez failed to gain through center. Jones was thrown for a loss of a yard, and a forward pass was incomplete, the ball going over to the Buffaloes, and the Lobos losing what looked like a certain touchdown.
Graves kicked 20 yards to Jones. Guthrie went in for Graves at quarter. Popejoy made three yards through left tackle, and Hartman hit center for no gain. Jones skirted left end for three yards. Hernandez made two yards through left tackle, and Jones made it first down by a yard through the same hole. Jones skirted right end for eight yards,

BEARS WIN FROM WASHINGTON BY 61 TO 0 SCORE

California Takes Another Hurdle in the Race for the 1922 Pacific Coast Football Championship.

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 4.—California took another hurdle in the race for the 1922 Pacific coast conference championship this afternoon by overwhelming Washington State by a score of 61 to 0 before 20,000 people here today.
In all, California used thirty-four men out of its squad of thirty-five. The thirty-fifth could not play because he was injured in practice last week.
With the exception of the second quarter when California failed to score, Washington State was out-kicked, out-charged, out-tackled and generally out-played by the Californians. Practically all the play was in Washington State territory, the visitors getting no closer than twenty-five yards to the Blue and Gold goal line.

Captain Dutton of the Staters supplied the 3,000 spectators with about the only thrill of the game when, in the second quarter, he matched Archie Nesbit kick for kick, both averaging about forty-five yards. With the exception of that quarter the Bear line charged in too fast to allow Dutton to get his kicks away.

"Duke" Morrison, California back, who has been called the greatest line plunger on the coast, lived up to his reputation and smashed through the Cougar's line for gain after gain. To prove his versatility he added three points to the score by sending over a field goal at a difficult angle from the 30-yard line.

Nesbit's drop kick today showed the California fans that Coach Smith, after Jack's a drop kicker for three years, has at last developed a star in that department, the only thing the champion California team of the past three years have lacked.

We Buy St. Clair Heaters and Base Burners and Ranges and Cook Stoves BY THE CARLOAD

BECAUSE WE SELL THEM AT THAT RATE

For Ten Years We Have Been Selling St. Clair Stoves in Ever Increasing Numbers.

We'll confess there have been few re-sales in that time, for people buying their first ST. CLAIR range still have it. Our later sales have been mostly from the word of mouth recommendation of satisfied users.

Because we buy them in carload lots we can sell them at prices not to be equalled in the city. We have purposely kept from pushing these stoves in Albuquerque because of the task of keeping up with the demand. We do it now because the factory has finally caught up with orders. More are being turned out now than ever before, because of new machinery and new manufacturing technique. We recommend the ST. CLAIR stoves as they are being recommended daily by housewives who have them.

Alleged Fred Muller Letter A RANK FORGERY

FRED MULLER'S AFFIDAVIT.

State of New Mexico) ss.
County of Santa Fe)

Fred Muller, being first duly sworn, on oath says that he has read the letter now being circulated by the democratic state committee, which letter is dated September 15, 1922, and which bears his purported signature and is claimed to have been written to one C. J. Neis of Roswell.

Affiant says that he never wrote said letter or dictated the same or requested anyone to write the same for him and had no knowledge of said letter prior to its publication; that said letter is a rank forgery.

Affiant further says that on September 2, 1922, as shown by the records of the State Land Office, C. J. Neis applied in person for the selection of 640 acres of land and that said application was thereafter approved and that arrangements for the selection of said lands and the approval of the application were made by Mr. Neis in person with the Commissioner, Honorable N. A. Field.

Now comes C. J. Neis of Roswell, New Mexico, who after first being duly sworn deposes and says that he has read a certain purported letter dated September 15, 1922, and now being circulated broadcast in this state for the purpose of defeating Captain Fred Muller now running for Commissioner of Public Lands; that the contents of said letter were unknown to affiant prior to its publication for the reason that said letter was never received by affiant; that there was no occasion for the writing of said letter for the reason that every transaction which affiant has had with the State Land Office was always discussed with the Commissioner as well as the Assistant.

N. A. FIELD'S STATEMENT.

Santa Fe, N. M., October 30, 1922.

Hon. H. B. Woodward, Chairman, Republican State Committee, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dear Sir:

In response to your request that I advise you as to all the information in my possession relative to the Etchevary lease and the Neis application for the selection of certain land, referred to in the letter which the Democratic State Committee claims was written by Captain Muller, I beg to advise as follows:

July 11, 1922, Jim Etchevary made application for the selection of 1120.21 acres of land in Township 24 South, Ranges 19 and 20 East and Township 25 South, Range 20 East. The application was approved by this office and sent to the Roswell Land Office July 13, 1922. On September 28, 1922, a lease was sent to Mr. Etchevary for signature and the same was returned to this office on October 7, 1922, by Mr. Clarence Bell, Cashier of the First National Bank of Carlsbad, New Mexico. Said application and lease were all made in regular form and all with my knowledge and approval.

At the time of the application Mr. Etchevary gave the State Land Office a check for $58.00 and a refund is made to him of $25.60, overpayment, by reason of a reduction in the rental.

Relative to an application by Mr. C. J. Neis of Roswell, beg to advise that on September 2, 1922, Mr. Neis applied for the selection of 640 acres of land in Township 24 South, Range 20 East. This application was approved prior to October 3, 1922, and on that date the lieu selection list for filing and the relinquishment, which relinquishment was by John S. Powers and Frank Riley, were forwarded to the United States Land Office at Roswell, New Mexico, and were received by the United States Land Office October 6, 1922, as shown by their receipt No. 2678590. The only applications filed for the selection of lands in the Roswell District subsequent to the Neis application above referred to were by W. B. McKnight, for 320 acres in 6 South, 21 East; by Carl E. Sams for the selection of 954.44 acres in 14 South, 29 East; by George Littlefield for 321.21 acres in 5 South, 29 East and by George L. Ulrick for 320 acres in 4 South, 13 East. These applications were all made in person by the applicants and no one of them was represented by Mr. C. J. Neis or any other person. The above selections were all made with my knowledge and necessarily with my approval and in the regular course of business as conducted in the State Land Office, and no other non-mineral affidavits or relinquishments were filed in this office in any selection in the Roswell District subsequent to the date when Mr. Neis made his application.

I call your attention to the fact that Mr. Neis represented Mr. Etchevary and that the new selection made by Mr. Neis after the Etchevary selection must have been the selection of September 2, 1922, as shown above. That selection as shown by the records of this office was made in Mr. Neis' name and for that selection the relinquishment was filed and the selection made, all with my knowledge, approval and consent and that Mr. Neis talked to me in person relative to this application and that Captain Muller was not even present at the time Mr. Neis took the matter of this application up with me.

For the above reasons the latter part of the alleged letter charged to have been written by Captain Muller is absurd and unwarranted by the facts as shown by the records of this office.

Very truly yours,
N. A. FIELD,
Commissioner of Public Lands.

AN ACCIDENT THAT DECIDED CORA

Chapter 42

A few days after the party Cora slipped on the subway stairs as she was coming home from the office. Gladys was with her, and caught her as she fell, but even so she sprained her ankle. The doctor Dugan got for them said it would be a week before she could step on it.

"How dreadful!" she said. "I don't think they will keep my place for me—they really can spare one girl, and this will give them an excuse."

"Why try to go back?" Gladys asked. "Why not make all your plans for the little office you talked about? We don't need anything more to be comfortable. We can use the boxes a while longer to sit on, and William will help find a place. I'll go with him any time."

"I believe I will!" Cora spoke impulsively. "I think perhaps it is as good a time as any. I am only sorry I didn't get to talk with Miss McBride."

"I'll go and talk to her for you," Nellie offered. "I'll tell her exactly what you want to do, then tell you what she says."

"If you will, dear." So it was settled. Nellie also called up William the next day at her noon hour, told him of Cora's accident, and he promised to come up that evening to see her, and talk things over.

Miss McBride, while not overly enthusiastic, thought Cora's idea practicable, especially if she happened to get into a building where work of that kind "hurry up work," she called it, was needed. Nellie repeated what Mr. Fallon had said about wishing there was someone to help out occasionally, and added:

"There must be lots of firms like mine." It was always "my firm" with Nellie.

She listened very carefully while Miss McBride talked, and that night repeated what she had said. Then William came, and after Gladys and she had left him alone with Cora in the sitting room, where she was stretched out on the couch, her ankle bandaged, they all talked the more over.

"The rent scares me," Cora said.

"If it wasn't for that I wouldn't hesitate a minute," Miss McBride had told Nellie she would have no trouble getting good girls, because of the slackening of business.

"I'll see what I can do at once," William said as he rose to go. Cora was getting tired, then they all had to be up early. He pressed Cora's hand, looked lovingly and wistfully at her, then hurried away.

"Poor William," Cora said under her breath. "I wish—" But she knew what they both longed for was impossible. She tried not to dwell upon it, thankful for his love.

Nellie was rather abstracted the next day. The elder Mr. Fallon was out of town, and she had a little work for Mr. George.

"Is anything wrong, Miss Riley?" he asked kindly. He had noticed the shadow on the lovely face, a face he often thought the sweetest he ever had seen.

"Not with me, Mr. Fallon," he asked kindly. "With someone you care for?" he smiled into the eyes raised to his. "Yes, with Cora."

"Who is Cora?"

Nellie told him graphically all Cora was to her; what she had done for her. Then she told of the accident, and encouraged by his interest, she told of her plan to open a little office.

"But she's afraid of the rent," You see she helps her mother," Nellie finished.

"I wonder—" he paused looking thoughtful. "There's a small room in our suite we never have used. It is very tiny, way at the end of the row, but has a door opening into the hall. If it would answer her purpose, she might have it for a very nominal rent."

"Oh, Mr. Fallon!" again those wonderful eyes were raised in shining thankfulness to him. "Oh, if she only could! I will help pay the rent, so will Gladys, the other girl who lives with us. We keep house, we three," she naively added.

"Tell her to come and see it as soon as she is able to get out." "There's no use trying to thank you—I just can't!" Nellie's eyes were full of tears.

"I've had my thanks," was his cryptic answer, one that Nellie often thought of in the days that followed, wondering what he meant.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and I have never been allowed to have boy friends although my sister started having them before she was as old as I am. My parents and my sister seem to think I am a baby and it will be a long time before I will be old enough to go with boys.

My sister has a lot of boy friends and she is considered one of the most popular girls at school. She is a senior at high school.

One of the boys who has been coming to see her seemed to like me too and he would talk to me almost as much as he did to her. She didn't like this a bit and scolded me afterward. Now he has told me that he would really like to go with me and asked me if he might.

I told him I didn't know and would let him know later.

I told mother and father there was a boy who wanted to go with me and I asked them if they had any objection. They said he might come to see me on Saturday night once in a while, but I mustn't neglect my school work and become boy crazy. I didn't say who the boy was.

Do you think it would be all right for me to surprise the family by telling this boy he may come to see me on Saturday night?

Sister likes him, but she likes another boy better and I wouldn't cut her out. I would just love to let him come because every one would be so surprised.

What shall I do?

DOROTHY ANNE.

Since the boy has asked to come and you have your parents' permission to let him, it will be all right to invite him for Saturday night. Naturally it is thrilling for you since you have such a surprise for the family.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me what I can do to remove stain from my fingers. My fingers stain very easily just from preparing vegetables for my meals.

FANNIE.

Equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide of hydrogen make an excellent lotion to remove stain from the fingers.

That separation was long enough to make me realize how much she meant to me. I knew then that sometime I would ask her to marry me, but still I fought against it. About a month ago, however, I did ask her and she accepted. We are trying to agree before hand about religious matters so that after marriage we will not have to talk about religion. I am perfectly willing that she should stick to hers, but I want to stick to mine too and she is willing I should do so.

Do you think we could be happy together since we both feel this way? I have agreed to be married in her church and bring up my children in her religion, and she has agreed to let me decide the matters of education and from religious education.

TOM M.

It seems to me you have worked out your problem very well. Each is willing to respect the rights of the other, and that is the important thing. Of course it is impossible for me to assure you that you will be happy together. Only time can answer that.

I'm full of weariness tonight. In vain I strive to shed a grin; the moon, that once was shining bright, looks like a planet made of tin. I have two bolts upon my neck, and two more threaten to arrive, and so I sadly cry, "By heck, I wonder why I am alive. I hear the laughter of the young, a sound I loved in days of yore, but now it keeps my nerves unstrung, and makes my head exceedingly sore. I read the works of Sunny Jim, that used to soothe my savage breast, but now I read him limbo from limb, and throw the fragments east and west. My aunts tune up their lutes and lutes, for music once possessed its joys, but now I don my hat and boots and leave the house to dodge the noise. The night wind has a wailing sound, it sighs and whimpers by my shack; my poultrie weighs a half a pound, and keeps on sliding down my back. It is in vain my brow to deck with wreaths of laurel, fairly won; for I've two bolts upon my neck, and wreaths aren't worth ten cents a ton.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 23—Mind-Reading With Matches. A dozen matches are laid in a row, and any one is asked to move as many as he desires from the left to the right, while the performer's back is turned. When this has been done he glances at the matches and names the number moved.

In arranging the matches, the performer looks for a match which is slightly different from the others in color or shape of head. If he does not see such a match he secretly nicks the bottom of one with his thumbnail. This match is placed at the left of the line, and as the matches are moved on by one to the right, he has only to look for the known match and count the number it lies from the right, which will be the number moved.

SUNDAY, November 5, 1922

THE MULLER LETTER.

Elsewhere in this issue we print a communication from Mr. Frank W. Clancy, charging the Morning Journal with "unfairness" in its treatment of Frederick Muller, as the result of our investigation of what he terms "the recent outrageous attack upon him."

When the letter, which is the basis of the charges which have been made against Capt. Muller, was first presented to the Journal, it was withheld from publication for two days pending an investigation. We realized Capt. Muller's reputation was at stake and for that reason gave him every opportunity of explaining the transaction referred to in the letter or throwing any available light upon it. Muller at first admitted that he had written the major part of the letter which had reference to a certain lease, but when that part of the letter was read to him, which expressed the writer's wish that Neis "could have waited until after election, then I can do as I want to, but I will try and get this for you anyway, I put it in some one else's name, so the old fool will not know who it is for, I will work it out some way," Muller at once denied its authorship. He said that there was no occasion for writing such a letter for the reason that Neis was in Santa Fe on the day when the letter in question purports to have been written. Three days later, in a telephonic communication with the Journal, Neis repeated in substance what Capt. Muller had said to the effect that on the day, and for some days prior and subsequent to the day of the letter in question, he was in Santa Fe.

A day or two later Muller issued a joint statement in his own behalf and for Commissioner Field. When Commissioner Field was asked to confirm this statement, he said that it had been issued without his authorization.

Can Mr. Clancy or any one else doubt that Muller "is capable of writing such a letter in which his superior officer is brutally characterized as an 'old fool,' after he has shown himself capable of issuing a statement in the name of his superior officer, without authority and wholly for the purpose of his own vindication?" In the face of Commissioner Field's repudiation of this statement, made for him by Mr. Muller without his authorization, will Muller now deny that he used the name of his superior officer falsely? Will he explain why, three days after the publication of a letter involving his honor as a public official, he issued a statement in which he said:

"Any correspondence would have been unnecessary because Mr. Neis came to Santa Fe immediately after the Republican state convention and remained a week or longer working on some of his business in the land office, giving Captain Muller any needed opportunity for verbal arrangements."

If there were any doubt as to Muller's ability to fix Neis' "exact whereabouts on a given date," we should dismiss the matter. But who can read Muller's statement that Neis "came to Santa Fe immediately after the Republican state convention and remained a week or longer..." and who can read the affidavits of five prominent citizens of Roswell, who say, under oath, that they saw and talked with Neis in that city on the day following the convention and every day for six days thereafter, without having a serious doubt as to Muller's honesty? This was to be Muller's alibi and now we are told that he made it "without verifying the fact." If Muller's memory failed him in so serious a matter, is it not a coincidence which challenges the imagination that Neis' memory should also have failed him in recalling where he spent that now historic week?

Mr. Clancy says that "no man who really knows him (Muller) would hesitate for a moment to take his word upon any matter..." Which word are we to accept, Muller's word when he admitted the authorship of part of the letter in question, or his denial of the authorship of another part of the same letter?

The most important aspect of this whole matter is that at no time has Muller himself made any effort to see the original letter which impugns his integrity and discredits him as a public official. Why has Muller waited more than a week without having made a formal demand for the production of the original letter? Is it because he is waiting until after the election?

The eight-hour bell had sounded: old Wun Lung's work was done, and he beside his cottage door was sitting in the sun. Around him scampered, full of glee, his little grandson, Hing Wah Lee.

The child exclaimed, "Come Grandpapa, and see what I have found. A hollow cylinder of glass, that's smooth and clear and round. For life of me I cannot see, what this peculiar thing may be." Old Wun Lung smiled serenely. Said he: "Why this thing here was used way back in 1906 to hold a drink called beer. A man named Volstead said, 'quoth he, 'much stuffs not good for you or me.'"

"The thing you've found's a bottle; once known the whole world round. But since we've all forsaken drink, one scarcely e'er is found. Those good old days sound good," said he, "but 'twas a glorious victory."

TODAY'S BEST THOUGHT

THE SCHOOL, THE NURSERY OF CITIZENSHIP.
The existence and perpetuity of a nation based upon universal suffrage, give the school a prominence, and impose duties and responsibilities upon the educator that do not exist under any other form of government. The school is, not merely local, utilitarian, communal, a place where the pupil goes, simply to acquire a specific knowledge and culture that may be useful to him in private life; but in an eminent sense, is a broad, national institution, upon which the highest weal of the republic depends.

The ideal school is the nursery of intelligent citizenship, and the inspiring source of a sterling type of genuine patriotism. The age is a progressive one. The demands of our advancing civilization requires that the curriculum of study should be broadened. An enlightened public sentiment confirms this position, prompts the people to munificent donations for schools of every grade from the kindergarten to the university, and the state willingly stands pledged to pay the necessary cost, while reasonably demanding that the school system should be so complete and comprehensive as to justify the vast expenditure.

The humblest citizen is interested in the maintenance and improvement of the public school system, because it lies at the foundation of our national existence. The active duties of private and public life are better performed by intelligent and cultivated men and women, than by the ignorant and uncultured.

Little Benny's

The Eskimos.

The Eskimos are northern folks who live in caves of ice. And wait! our business how cold it is. As long as they think it nice?

They have snow and ice all summer long. And also in spring and fall. But naturally in the winter time they have the most of all.

The ice and snow keep each other cold. And the days are 6 months long. So naturally if you were there you must feel as if something was wrong.

All Eskimos dress in bear skins in their efforts to keep warm. And altho they may feel comfortable. It makes them thick around the form.

The air up there is too cold for fruit. Or even smaller things such as beans. So one of their favorite foods is The opposite of sardines.

A LITTLE LAUGHTER

Showing Him Up.
"It's no use," said the worried junior partner; "I shall have to get a new typist."

"That's a pity," said his colleague. "Miss Briggs always seemed a nice obliging sort of girl."

"O, she's all that. But she will keep interrupting me when I'm dictating to ask me how to spell words."

"That certainly is annoying. I don't object to that, but it looks bad to keep saying 'I don't know.'—American Legion Weekly.

Got His Price.
The late Dennis Spencer was sitting at his desk one day when a Chinaman entered.

"Yes, John, what can I do for you?"

"You lawyer?"

"No—a-h-h, Mees Spenceh, spozin' one China boy kilum 'nother one, how much you cost gitte him off?"

"It was in the days of the low cost of living, so Spencer said: 'Oh, about $500 for defending a person wrongfully accused of murder.'"

"'Bunnet dollah! Chee Chih!' said the astounded Oriental, and went out sadly shaking his head over the white man's avarice. Spencer forgot him until about two months later, when the Chinaman entered and, plunking down $500 on the desk, said casually, 'All right, I kilum.'—Kansas City Star.

His Wit Saved Him.
"Hello! Hello! Is this you, Mac?"

"Aye."

"In this Mac MacPherson I'm talking to?"

"Aye, spe'kin'."

"Well, Mac, it's like this: I want to borrow fifty dollars."

"All right, Ah'll tell him as soon as he comes in."—The Monitor.

As the People View It

Santa Fe, Nov. 3, 1922.

Nov. 3, 1922.

To the Editor of the Journal, Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Sir:—In your editorial of yesterday, you treat my friend Fritz Muller, with great unfairness, due to a mistaken view of the recent outrageous attack upon him and I am sure not to any malicious intent. You call on him to prove that the Neis letter is a forgery, which recalls the fact that the Journal, under a different management, besought respectable citizens of New Mexico, who were considered enemies of the state, to go to Arizona and in the courts there prove their innocence of charges against them, which would have been a reversal of the ordinary judicial procedure, which puts the burden of proof always on the prosecution, and you declare that he ought to resign his office and withdraw as a candidate.

Fritz Muller has lived many years in New Mexico, has a long and honorable record as a citizen in varied business affairs, as a soldier, as an officer of the United States and of the state so that no man who really knows him would hesitate for a moment to take his word upon any matter, even the most important, but that record is to count for nothing when he denies the authenticity of a forged letter ascribed to him by some unknown character assassin who has at the time the letter purports to have been written are proof of the genuineness of the letter, but a moment's consideration will show you that they are not. Every day experience will demonstrate the difficulty and uncertainty of any busy man fixing the exact whereabouts on a given day. Both Fritz Muller and Neis know that the latter, at the time the letter purports to have been written are proof of the genuineness of the letter, but a moment's consideration will show you that they are not. Miss Alice Robertson

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4 (Special).—More women are seeking office in the pending election than ever before in the history of the country.

In South Dakota Miss Alice Lorraine Daley is seeking the governorship on the Nonpartisan league ticket. On the official lists here are noted sixteen women candidates.

At Tucuman her funds had been exhausted and she had applied for aid there. It is an unwritten law amongst charity organizations that they will not send a person on to another city unless the person has relatives or friends who can care for them at the town to which they are sent.

Tucuman sent the woman to Albuquerque instead of to Los Angeles. Captain Guest refused to help her out of town here, because, he says, in these days there are many women traveling about the country giving garbled accounts of themselves and seeking charity.

The woman refused to give any account of her relatives, so Captain Guest offered to have her cared for until employment could be secured.

Another woman came into Albuquerque recently and was taken sick shortly after her arrival. She asked to be sent to Texas. Several wires were sent to relatives in that state and no replies were received. The woman then asked to be sent west. This turn caused an investigation to be instituted and her request was denied, it being the opinion she was unworthy of assistance.

Later a boy of 14 came in with his mother. The two wanted to thank the secretary for having arranged to bring them together again after a separation of six months.

Boy Is Happy.
Six months ago the boy, Benito Davis, went to California with friends. He went to work on a farm outside Los Angeles and later became sick there. His mother, learning of his illness, asked the bureau of charities to assist in bringing him back. Arrangements were made through the Jewish Aid society, at Los Angeles, and the boy returned to Albuquerque yesterday. He was so happy in the thought of rejoining his mother that he hid himself of most of his illness on the return trip here.

TRIALS OF POOR ARE INCREASED BY GOLD WAVE

Demands Upon Bureau of Charities Increased; Many Cases Handled and Troubles Adjusted by Guest.

With the coming of cold weather demands upon the bureau of charities are growing, the poor, as usual, requiring greater assistance than they do during the summer months. Increase in requests for assistance became noticeable more than a week ago and with the day of cold weather the increase has been greater. Yesterday, the coldest since spring, brought more persons seeking aid than any day for the past eight months.

The average number of cases handled during recent months has been approximately 200 for each full month. During the past six days, however, there have been sixty-eight cases disposed of by Capt. Richard Guest, secretary for the bureau of charities. He estimates that the bureau will be required to handle 300 or more cases this month.

The bureau of charities cares for a wide variety of cases. Captain Guest's office is the clearing house for the afflicted of Albuquerque. His office cares for many needy and he personally effects the smoothing out of numerous family troubles. Skimming lightly through some of the thirty cases he handled yesterday afternoon throws fair light on the achievements of his office.

Boy Paroled to Guest.
Yesterday morning a young chap was hailed before Justice of the Peace Montoya as an incorrigible. Inez Padilla is the boy's name. He is 16 years old and his mother made the charge against him because he refused to offer any contribution toward her support. The boy was paroled to Captain Guest.

The charities secretary, who knows his boyhood, advised the boy from the manly standpoint and the one of common sense. He showed the youngster how living away from home cost more than it would at home and his mother lost his assistance, while he lost the better association of home and dropped into that which is unhealthy. The youngster saw the light and returned to his home. Now he wants to join the navy in order to get away from associations which are ill for him.

Another case was that of a girl 18 years old, carrying a baby only three weeks old. She had had trouble with her husband. Captain Guest called the husband in, talked the situation over and effected a reconciliation.

A woman who had been traveling said she had been married and divorced, had married and again is seeking a divorce. She said she

PROHIBITION TO BE AN ISSUE AT POLLS ON NOV. 7

Millions of Voters Are Expected to Participate in the National Contest of Election Ballots.

New York, Nov. 4.—For millions of voters who will go to the polls next Tuesday to participate in the national contest of ballots, one of the most interesting features will be the question of prohibition, which will come up in different forms in virtually all sections of the country.

Illinois and Ohio appear to be the favorite stamping grounds of the wets. Both states will submit the question of prohibition direct to the people in the form of referendum to amend the state and federal laws in such a manner that they will legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines. The issue also has been reflected in the congressional campaigns in both states. Illinois has 14 candidates for congress who are prepared to stand or fall with the wets, while seven others are as definitely pledged to the dries. In Ohio 14 candidates are opposed to prohibition and 28 have come out in favor of it.

Analysis of Situation
In 15 middle-western states, however, seems to be more comforting to the dries than to the wets, for of some 225 congressional candidates who have pledged themselves on the prohibition issue, 175 are avowedly dry and only 51 wet. In Texas, six are wet and 24 dry. Every candidate in Oklahoma's eight districts is dry, while Kansas, Minnesota, Michigan, North Dakota and Kentucky ignore the question.

California and Massachusetts also will submit the wet and dry issue to the people, although in forms less direct than Illinois or Ohio. In California it appears on the ballot as a referendum measure known as the Wright Act, which would adopt the Volstead Act as a state law. In Massachusetts the people will vote on a measure to formulate state prohibition enforcement regulations in harmony with the Volstead law.

Prohibition is a secondary issue in several other states, including New York and New Jersey, for the democratic organizations in both states have inserted wet planks in their platforms. Governor Edwards of New Jersey, who has been an uncompromising opponent of prohibition since long before the Volstead Act became effective, is running on a platform containing a plank favoring the return of beer and light wines, and condemning the prohibition law as having encouraged bootlegging. It is pointed out, however, that the plank is not so "damp" as the one on which Edwards was elected governor three years ago. At that time he was quoted as saying that he "would make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic ocean."

For Law Enforcement.
Senator Frothingham, republican senatorial candidate to succeed himself, has declared for law enforcement and the upholding of the Volstead Act. He stated in a recent campaign speech that if the constitution prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages, any modification that would permit beer and wines is null and void and unconstitutional, and that as long as the 18th amendment remains a part of the constitution, beer and light wines cannot be brought back.

Those who advocate them, he added, make of themselves nullificationists.

In New York state the issue has not been attracting particular attention in the gubernatorial race, although from the angle of congressional candidates a substantial majority are said to be lined up on the wet side.

In addition to the prohibition issue, considerable interest has developed throughout the country in regard to soldier bonus sentiment, which will be expressed by referendum vote in five states—California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Montana.

Bond Issue in California
In California the voters will determine whether they desire an amendment to the state constitution which will validate a bond issue of $10,000,000 already voted to assist former service men in obtaining farms or homes.

Illinois will vote on a measure to provide the sum of $55,000,000 through bond issues and by direct taxes to pay interest and principal on a soldier bonus.

The people of Iowa will determine by referendum a proposal to raise $2,000,000 for the purpose of paying a bonus to former soldiers and nurses, while the voters of Kansas will pass on the question of raising by means of bonds sufficient money to pay one dollar a day to ex-soldiers who hailed from the Sunflower State. In Montana the voters will be asked to authorize $4,500,000 for a soldier bonus.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 4.—With a broken rudder and out of provisions in a west wind of 65 miles an hour, the Japanese freighter Tomi Maru is in distress in the Pacific ocean about 1,500 miles west of Seattle, according to wireless advices received here tonight.

Says the Herald Editorially:

FASCISTI HAVE FOUGHT WAY TO POWER IN ITALY

Socialists of the Revolutionary Type Have Been Ousted: Benito Mussolini Is the New Premier.

If you look on the back side of a dime, of almost any recent date, you will see a bundle of sticks or rods, bound together at the top, the bottom and in the middle. The blade of an ax projects from the midst of the rods, close to the upper end of the bundle.

That is a picture, in relief, of fasces, the earliest insignia or sign of authority used by magistrates of ancient Rome. The rods were usually of birch, and like the ax bound up with them they represented the power of chastisement, the might of the government and the law.

In that symbol of authority is the origin and explanation of the name of the great and formidable organization which has seized control of Italy, the fascisti. Benito Mussolini, its leader, has just been asked to form a cabinet to replace the one his forces forced to resign.

When the Italian socialists, of the revolutionary type, took forcible possession of great factories and other business establishments in Milan, Turin and lesser Italian centers of industry and trade, after the war, the government feared their violence and shrunk from the menace of real revolution, it did not venture to oppose them openly or attempt to crush their power.

Then the fascisti came into being. They are mostly veteran soldiers of the Italian army. They represent, first of all, the idea of national supremacy over red revolutionary and hostile bodies. They are recruited chiefly from the middle classes, the bourgeoisie, as they say in France and some other countries of continental Europe. There are at least 800,000 of them now.

Under strong leaders, notably Benito Mussolini, a man of great force of character who was himself a revolutionary socialist in youth, the fascisti have met violence with violence, terrorism with terrorism, bloodshed with bloodshed, until they have completely broken the spirit and power of the revolutionary "reds." They have sacked socialist halls and offices, wrecked socialist printing establishments, and slain many socialists, anarchists and other red revolutionists. In the fierce fighting which has marked their rise to great strength and prestige they have been almost invariably victorious.

FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Issued by the Extension Service, New Mexico Agricultural College, STATE COLLEGE, NEW MEXICO.

Radio fans are increasing in New Mexico. Much of the added interest in this novelty, which may soon be a necessity in our life, is due to the activities of Station KOB at State College. Messages are now being sent out daily from this station, and concerts are given three times a week.

The concerts are being broadcast Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30. The best music obtainable is being used. Every day at noon official weather and crop reports and items of general and scientific interest are being released. Time signals will soon be broadcasted between 11:55 and 12 o'clock noon, and again at 10:00 p. m.

KOB was the first college station to broadcast a football game by radiophone. This occurred October 14th when the "Aggies" won from the Albuquerque Indians by a score of 58 to 0. The plays were reported by an observer on the sidelines as they were made and it was easy for those listening in as far away as California to follow the game in every detail. Games will be broadcasted again on November 11 and November 20, when the Agricultural College plays the Texas School of Mines and the University of New Mexico.

Weather, crop and time reports are sent out from KOB station in a 485 meter wave length. Music and games are sent out in a 350 meter length.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, H. M. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. color and line are three things to consider. Sufficient seed corn to plant double the acreage to be planted next spring should be selected this fall and properly stored. This will make another selection possible in the spring in order to secure only the most desirable ears. It may also leave some for sale at a good price to others who failed to select.

It is preferable to make this selection in the field before the corn has been harvested. If this has not been done, selection should be made just as soon afterwards as possible. It should then be placed in a dry, thoroughly ventilated place for storage.

The most critical time in handling seed corn is the first month after it is husked according to direction given out by the New Mexico Agricultural College. At this time nearly one-third of the grain is water. This water is in the cells of the grain and is hard to get out, and the corn should be stored in such a way as to allow ample circulation of air around each ear to carry off the surplus moisture. This may be accomplished either by stringing the corn or storing it in suitable racks.

When selecting tomato seed, care should be taken not to select the seed from plants that have cross pollinated. The tomato plant is very susceptible to cross pollination and if seed has been selected from plants that have been crossed, it will be impossible to secure a uniform crop the following year. Different varieties must certainly be more than 50 or 60 feet apart.

If pure seed is expected according to Professor Garcia of the New Mexico Agricultural College, if fields are of considerable size, the seed can be selected from the middle of the field with greater safety. It is best, however, if seed is to be selected, that the varieties be planted at least 100 feet apart with corn or some other tall crop growing between them.

CAR HURLED 100 FEET; ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE

The touring car of H. E. Livingston was damaged Friday night when a seven-passenger touring car belonging to A. C. Stares collided with the other car on West Central avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets. Livingston's car was parked at the curbing at the time of the accident. The Stares car struck it with such force that it knocked the other car 100 feet, the Livingston car coming to a stop when it smashed into a telegraph pole. In spite of the distance the car was hurled the only damage it suffered was a bent frame and twisted fenders.

THIRD SET OF JUDGES NAMED FOR ELECTION

Supreme Court Decides Commissioners Entitled to Writ of Error on District Court Ruling.

The county commissioners last night for the third time appointed election judges for the coming election. This time two judges in each precinct are republicans.

The supreme court in Santa Fe yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock held that the board of county commissioners of Bernalillo county is entitled to a writ of error and supersedeas of judgment of the district court in the matter of appointment of judges for the election to be held Tuesday, November 7. This action has the effect of setting aside the mandamus granted by Judge M. E. Hickey some days ago at the instance of Chairman Henry G. Coors of the democratic central committee, compelling the commissioners to appoint two democrats and one republican as judges in each voting precinct of the county.

Chief Justice Herbert F. Reynolds and District Judges Reed Holloman of Santa Fe and R. R. Ryan of Silver City heard the arguments in the case and rendered the decision. Francis E. Wood of this city and Judge Clarence J. Roberts of Santa Fe represented the board of county commissioners, and J. O. Seth represented the democratic committee of Bernalillo county.

Acting on the ruling of the supreme court, the county commissioners met last night at 8 o'clock and revised their previous appointment of election judges, which was made on the order of Judge Hickey and "under duress," as they characterized it. Two republicans were named as judges in each precinct and one democrat. This is a reversal of the former action, giving the democrats two judges.

A resolution was introduced by Chairman Max Gutierrez rescinding the former resolution. It was seconded by Commissioner Severo Sanchez. Commissioner A. G. Simms voted no, and Gutierrez and Sanchez voted yes. It was stated that the new list does not contain the names of the two republicans named in the first appointment, which was set aside by Judge Hickey's order.

BAPTISTS MAKE BIG GAINS IN THE PAST YEAR

Reports to Annual Convention at Tucumcari This Week Will Show Increases in Departments.

The annual meeting of the Baptist convention of New Mexico will be held in Tucumcari November 9 to 13, inclusive. On the day preceding the opening of the convention, the annual laymen's convention will be held, also in Tucumcari.

The following official announcements showing the healthy growth in numbers and activities enjoyed by the Baptists during the past year, was made public yesterday:

The fiscal year of the Baptist convention of New Mexico came to a close October 31. They, like all other denominations, have passed through droughts, terrific financial difficulties, overwhelming calamities. The state secretary, J. W. Bruner, has undergone physical suffering and has been forced to be absent from the office on account of two serious operations. But it is an encouraging report that the year closed with a triumph and on the heights of victory.

The total receipts from all sources during the year, including the aid given by the education board and the home mission board, amounts to more than $150,000. New Mexico Baptists have contributed for missions and benevolent purposes $43,500. They have received into the churches during the year 2,300 new members; 1,949 of these came by baptism. Twenty new churches have been organized. The denomination now has a total membership of 9,588, which is a net gain of nearly 600 during the year.

Reports also show that the churches have contributed $138,158 for their local work, which is far beyond the record of the previous year. The attendance on the Sunday schools and B. Y. P. U.'s shows a phenomenal growth. The collections for October among the churches of the state amount to approximately $15,000.

"The Baptists of New Mexico now turn their eyes towards Tucumcari, where the annual convention will be held November 9-13. A record breaking attendance is expected. Many matters of vital interest will come before this annual gathering. Secretary J. W. Bruner refuses to serve longer in his official capacity, and expresses a determination to return to the pastorate, so that they will be forced to consider the serious matter of selecting a new secretary. Recording Secretary William Park is gone from the state and this office must be filled.

"Other matters of importance are to be considered. There will also be an elaborate program carried out. A number of distinguished speakers will be present, including Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the Southwest Baptist Theological seminary of Fort Worth, and general director of the 75 Million campaign. It will doubtless be one of the most interesting and history making conventions ever held in the state. A large number of messengers will go from Albuquerque, including Pastor T. P. Harvey, J. A. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Carmony, George Brown, S. S. Bussell, S. Y. Jackson, J. W. Bruner, Mrs. M. D. Schumaker, Mrs. T. W. Bruce, Miss Lillian May and Miss Ona White.

"The Baptist Woman's Missionary Union of New Mexico has just completed its eleventh year of work. It has been a year of steady growth in all lines of work fostered by the union. There has been a gain of thirty new organizations. There are now about 116 organizations of all grades in the state. The union gave to all purposes this year $29,930."

"The union rejoices over the winning of three out of five efficiency banners and a silver loving cup at the Southern Baptist convention at Jacksonville, Fla., in May. The banners were awarded to the Young Women's Auxiliary, the Girls' Auxiliary and Woman's Missionary Union of the state for the greatest per cent gains in organization of all the southern states. The loving cup was awarded for the greatest per cent of standard organizations according to number of organizations in the state.

"The union meets in annual convention at Tucumcari November 9, 9 and 10. There is every indication of a good attendance and a gracious inspiring meeting. The out of state speaker will be Miss Kathleen Mallory, corresponding secretary of the southern union, and one of the women representatives of the Sunday school board."

2 CHILDREN CRUELLY BURNED AND BEATEN BY AUNT, IS CHARGE

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 4.—Elizabeth Hood, five, and her brother Richard, five, were examined by James Walsh, assistant district attorney today following complaints that the children were cruelly burned and beaten by an aunt in whose care they had been left. According to Walsh, the children were found to have been burned almost to the bone in some places on their bodies. The burning, according to the children, was done with a red hot curling iron as punishment. The mother of the children, the authorities said, is in an insane asylum at Napa.

SYRACUSE VARSITY BEATS CORNHUSKERS

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Syracuse University won a hard played game from Nebraska here today, 9 to 6. The Orange had a slight edge on Nebraska throughout the game, although both eleven fought every inch of the way. Syracuse put over the winning score late in the fourth period on a series of steady drives through the Nebraska line which carried the ball from the 25-yard line over the goal line.

MINER IN WASHINGTON CRUSHED BY CAVE-IN

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 4.—Twenty miners, working desperately, were unable to reach John Hank, a miner, buried in a cave-in at Burnett, in time to save his life. The cave-in was of small extent and occurred in the mine of the Pacific Coast Coal company. Hank was the only miner caught by it.

U. N. M. PLAYERS TRY "CLARENCE" BY TARKINGTON

Tryouts are being held at the state university for the production of "Clarence," famous comedy of adolescence by Booth Tarkington. An attempt is being made to get the play in shape to present before the annual convention of the New Mexico Education association here during Thanksgiving week.

The play will be presented under the auspices of the dramatic department of the Lowell Literary society, a student organization. It will be given as a university production. Miss Helen Jackson is president of the dramatic group and Fred Wagner is business manager of the play.

"Clarence," being the first dramatic effort of the year, is arousing unlimited enthusiasm and is bringing to light an unusual amount of dramatic talent. Thirty students have tried out for the cast of nine or ten characters. Some excellent material is found among the students, according to Dr. George S. Hubbell who is coaching the production.

The cast will be chosen by competitive effort. Two or more student actors will be trained for each part. Among those who are showing up best for the title role are Fred Wagner and Earl Gerhart who will be remembered for his excellent acting in the war play, "Old Lady Shows Her Medals," and in "The Florist Shop." Pat Miller and Ellsworth Duke are trying out for "Bobby," one of the most attractive parts in the play. Nearly 15 girls offered themselves for the feminine lead "Corra," the baby vamp. This number has been reduced to five of about equal ability.

"Clarence" ran over a year in New York and is now playing in several other big cities. The hero enters the play as a soldier, and although appearing as a private is really a distinguished person masquerading as an obscure one. The students are negotiating with the officers of the N. M. E. A. for an evening during the convention on which to present the play. It will probably be given on November 25 if it can be whipped into shape by that time.

International experts seem to disagree as to Germany's next move. They are certain, however, that it will either be a collapse or an upheaval.—New York Tribune.

LOW TEMPERATURES ARE PREDICTED FOR PHOENIX VICINITY

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Further record breaking low temperatures for early November in Phoenix and surrounding points are predicted for tonight by the local weather bureau as a result of cold air currents caused by storms east of here. The temperature will fall below freezing, according to the prediction.

The mercury dropped to 34 degrees in Phoenix early this morning, seven degrees below the previous low record for November 4. In a period of 26 years, the weather bureau chart issued tonight shows. The coldest temperature in the state this morning was two degrees below zero at Flagstaff.

Clear weather, however, is forecast, with a rising temperature tomorrow.

ARIZONA WINS FROM NEW MEXICO AGGIES BY A SCORE OF 21-7

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 4.—The University of Arizona defeated the New Mexico A. & M. eleven here today by a score of 21 to 7. After a surprising stand in the first half which ended 7 to 7, the Farmers fumbled under the fierce line plunging of Halfback Gilliland of the Arizona team. The Aggies excelled in the modern game, but a blocked kick, had fumbles and Gilliland were too much for them. It was Arizona's first southwestern conference game and also her first victory in four weeks.

Full mileage is only one of the strong points of CONOCO Gasoline. It is balanced—as dependable in mileage as it is in starting; powerful on the hills and economical in idling; always sure and always satisfactory.

And CONOCO doesn't just happen to be balanced. A Sunday Sermon

Dr. and Mrs. Voter:

Bernalillo County, New Mexico.

This is perhaps the last opportunity you will have to carefully consider the question as to how you will vote next Tuesday. Doubtless you will make up your mind today and eleventh hour canards and propaganda will not cause you to change.

About High Taxes.

The first point we wish to talk to you about is your pocket book. It is a notorious, plain, outspoken fact, never denied by the republicans in this campaign, that the state and county taxes for the last two years have been excessive, burdensome and out of all proportion to the benefits received.

Taxes Must Be Reduced.

We all know and admit without argument, that taxes must be reduced in this county and state, or we will all be forced into bankruptcy. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are poured into the county treasury and into the state treasury and spent like water for many purposes not desired by the taxpayers. Taxes must be cut. Somebody must use the axe. The republicans admit they are helpless. The democrats on the state ticket and on the county ticket, declare plainly, unequivocally and positively, that they will cut taxes. We say it again: The democrats say they will cut taxes. This means your tax bills will be less in 1923 and 1924, if they are elected. You will save money by voting for the democratic candidates.

The County Commission.

The democrats of this county have put up Jim Bezemek, Frank Butt and Dave Armijo for county commissioners. These men, on the county commission, have the same authority and the same power as the members of the city commission of the city of Albuquerque. The county commission of this county for the last two years has been a disgrace to our civilized community. There has been no economy; no business like, efficient administration of the affairs of the biggest business in the Rio Grande valley. The remedy? Vote for Bezemek, Butt and Armijo and let them pull the county out of the hole financially; get an audit of the books, stop the waste and leaks and see that for every dollar spent you get a dollar back in service or in benefit.

The Other Candidates.

Not a single reason has been advanced for Ed Swope, present county treasurer, should not be re-elected to office. He has had two years' experience on the job. He has devoted his entire time to the work. He has employed efficient help. You have received service in his office. He speaks both English and Spanish fluently. He has kept the records of the office in a business like way. Without compensation he accepted a job as purchasing agent for the county and saved the county thousands of dollars by buying in wholesale lots and at competitive prices. He saved 5 cents a gallon on gasoline used by the county; 25 cents a gallon on lubricating oil. He saved $2,300 in interest to the tax payers by insisting that $45,000 in refunding bonds be retired at an optional date, instead of letting them run for fifteen years beyond that date.

A new deal is needed in the county clerk's office. We must have an efficient person in charge of the deeds, wills, probate records, mortgages, trust deeds and other very important instruments offered for record and recorded in the permanent books of that office. It is to your absolute interest to have a competent, efficient person in that office, regardless of age, height, weight, color or creed. The democrats offer you Miss Lucy Harris, for 14 years a deputy clerk in the county clerk's office, for the last five years in the office of Deputy County Clerk and Court Clerk Harry F. Lee. She speaks English and Spanish, is thoroughly familiar with the records of the office and can give you 100 per cent service from the day she takes charge.

Judge W. W. McClellan, candidate for probate judge, has lived in this community for nearly forty years. He was the first president of the board of education of Albuquerque; supervised the building of the first public school. He has been a justice of the peace sixteen years; city police judge six years. He studied law in his father's office many years ago and is extremely well qualified, because of training and ability, coupled with a sound sense of justice and the fitness of things to give good service in that very important office of probate judge.

Atanacio Montoya has made a record as county school superintendent in this county which is unbeatable. His results in the work speak for themselves.

Felipe Zamora, the candidate for sheriff, is a splendid type of the progressive, business like native son. The republicans have started false, vicious rumors in an effort to blacken his character; but all of these rumors have proved beneficial to Zamora. Zamora is for enforcement of laws, state and county; he stands firmly for using all the force of his office, if elected, to the punishment of violators of the Volstead amendment and all other national laws.

In a word, friends, if you want a good, clean set of county officers, you have no alternative but to vote the democratic ticket. We have said nothing against the republican candidates. We could do so if we desired. We are honest in our statement, that you will be doing yourself the greatest possible good on Tuesday next, by voting the straight democratic ticket from top to bottom.

Yours very sincerely,

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

WESTERN TALKS ON PROGRAM OF C. OF C. DINNER

Hoover to Speak on Community Building and Governors on Affairs of Western States.

The program of addresses to be given by Secretary Herbert Hoover and the governors of six western states at the mammoth Chamber of Commerce dinner at the armory on November 11 was announced yesterday by Manager M. L. Fox. The entertainment features have not yet been completed.

The great number of tickets already taken and the size of the banquet to be provided for make it necessary that only those who can be prepared for between Monday and Saturday evenings can be admitted to the armory, according to Mr. Fox. For that reason all those who expect to attend must secure their tickets not later than Monday evening, November 6.

The program of speeches follows:

Address by Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce in President Harding's cabinet on "Cooperation in Community Building."

Address by A. M. Hall, secretary of interior in President Harding's cabinet, on "Reclamation of the Middle Rio Grande Valley."

Address by Merritt C. Mechem, "Address of Welcome to the Visiting Governors."

Thomas E. Campbell, governor of Arizona, on "What the Roosevelt Dam and Irrigation of the Salt River Valley Have Done in Building Phoenix."

Robert Carey, governor of Wyoming, on "The Anniversary of Armistice Day."

Oliver Shoup, governor of Colorado, on "Business Conditions in the Rocky Mountain States."

Charles R. Mabey, governor of Utah, on "The Cattle and Sheep Industries."

Emmett D. Boyle, governor of Nevada, on "Our Great West."

O. N. Marron of Albuquerque, on the "Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce."

The speeches, except that of Secretary Hoover, have been limited to ten minutes with the consent of the speakers.

Governor Campbell is president of the League of the Southwest and also chairman of the Western Association of Governors. He is an eloquent speaker. Probably no man did more toward securing the development of the Salt river valley than he, and he has notified the Chamber of Commerce that he will tell the people that night all that he can in ten minutes of what reclamation of the Salt river valley has done toward promoting the growth of the city of Phoenix.

Governor Carey of Wyoming is a young man, the son of Joseph M. Carey, who was successively member of congress, United States senator and governor of Wyoming. The present Governor Carey is interested in irrigation enterprises, roller mills, livestock and many other enterprises in his state.

Governor Oliver H. Shoup of Colorado will speak on the financial outlook of the Rocky mountain states. Probably no man in the country is better qualified to speak on that subject than he, as he is a representative in his business in many fields. Until recently he was president of the Middle West Oil and Refining company and is a director in nearly all of the big banks of Colorado.

Governor Mabey of Utah is engaged in banking, irrigation enterprises, lumber and also prior to his election to the governorship was mayor of the city of Bountiful.

Governor Emmett D. Boyle of Nevada, like practically all of the other men who have had successful careers in that state has devoted his life to mining interests.

Col. D. K. B. Sellers of the New Mexico Automobile club announced yesterday that the organization is routing tourists to California by way of Socorro, Deming and the Borderland route to Phoenix. LEAGUE QUOTES CANDIDATES ON DRY LAW ISSUE

Statements of Both Candidates for Major Offices Indicate Support of 18th Amendment.

Additional statements from the candidates for the major political offices in New Mexico declaring their stand behind the enforcement of the prohibition laws have been issued by the Anti-Saloon league of New Mexico.

The statements are submitted by the league without recommendation. The league investigated the present attitude of the candidates, "believing that the sustaining of the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution and the prohibition amendment to the constitution of New Mexico is vital to the welfare of the people of the state."

The statements of Stephen B. Davis, Jr., republican candidate for senator, Mrs. Adeline Otero-Warren, republican candidate for congress, and John Morrow, democratic candidate for congress, have been published previously in The Journal in connection with the questionnaires issued by the Albuquerque League of Women Voters.

Further statements follow:

"I will support the Volstead law. Will state that I had a part in making this bill a law and shall, of course, do all in my power to retain it without change as I appreciate the importance of the Volstead law. My position is that in the matter of prohibition we must go forward."—A. A. Jones, democratic candidate for senator.

"Answering your inquiry, wish to state that I supported the dry amendment to the constitution of the United States and the precinct in which I reside in Dona Ana county went strongly in favor of state prohibition, which I also supported. I consider liquor a menace to health and a financial handicap and certainly favor the enforcement of national and adequate state laws on the subject."

SHIPMENT OF STEEL FOR RESERVOIR IS AWAITED BY CITY

Excavation of the city's new water reservoir southeast of University Heights is about one-half completed, according to a announcement in the city engineer's office. With ordinary New Mexico weather it can be completed in a week. At present the city is waiting a shipment of reinforcing steel to be used in the concrete walls. When the excavation is completed, a gang will be put to work building up the frame for the concrete. The city has available plenty of concrete mixers to do the work, it was stated. The reservoir job employed from 40 to 50 men.

Material is being placed on the ground for the construction of the city's sewage disposal works. The contractors, French, Peabody and Harvey, are expected to begin work this week.

Should The Agitators Rule?

They'll rule anything you let them only your vote can prevent them ruling you.

Tony Ortiz was elected sheriff with a majority of 2,747. During his administration both the Democrats and Republicans expressed satisfaction with the work he was doing. But Tony wasn't nominated for re-election. Why? Because he refused to violate his oath of office by refusing to appoint deputies to maintain peace and protect the life and property of Bernalillo county.

The promoters of strikes who schemed and led the fight for his defeat were the same who initiated the movement for a recall of the best and most business like City Commission Albuquerque has ever had or ever will have.

They are the same who are responsible for the fact that three hundred honorable law abiding citizens—as good as ever clinched a rivet or wielded a hammer—are now out of work with little likelihood of securing their old jobs, (while those who returned to work received an increase of pay). These three hundred must surely have something more than thanks or gratitude in their minds towards the agitators and strike promoters who, to cover themselves with petty glory misled their fellow men.

Do the citizens of Albuquerque wish the election of a peace officer who is pledged body, boots and pants to carry out every wish and whim of the agitators and strike promoters and thus paralyze the future progress and prosperity of Albuquerque.

How fortunate for not only the law abiding citizens of Albuquerque, but the entire state that officers in the U. S. Marshal's office, the sheriff of this county and his deputies foiled the plans of Seyfred and Bruno!

Is it well for the future of Albuquerque to vest honor and emolument of office upon agitators of any class? Ortiz was turned down because he was independent and stood for law enforcement—Zamora was nominated because he was safe and complaisant.

Vote for Dick Lewis because both his reputation and his word stands for enforcement of the law without regard to any class or organization.

SCHICK TEST A POWERFUL FOE OF DIPHTHERIA

Health Department Uses It Here in Fight Against Disease; Gives Preventive Treatment Also.

By DR. O. C. WEST, Health Officer

The establishment of a program aimed at the prevention and control of diphtheria has been started by the health officer as one of his functions. Approximately 300,000 children in New York and 100,000 in Chicago have been protected against diphtheria. The campaign of publicity to educate the public to diphtheria which has been begun and which will be carried on, will do much towards this preventive feature, and there is no reason to doubt that there will be a further reduction in Albuquerque's death rate; also a reduction in the morbidity rate.

Diphtheria is one of the most dangerous of our acute communicable diseases. In Boston there has been an average of about 170 deaths annually for the past ten years. This represents over one-half per cent of all the deaths in the city. If the value of a single life be taken as an average of $5,000, this means an annual economic loss of three-quarters of a million dollars. Further financial and educational waste is shown as follows:

The average quarantine period of each case is about ten days. There have been over 2,000 cases per annum for the past ten years. The annual loss of time for these cases would amount to between 75 and 80 years; 70 per cent of these cases are of school age, causing an annual educational loss of about 35 years. To this must be added the educational loss to the other children of the family who are excluded from school at the time. To this loss of time is again added an amount which cannot be calculated but is none the less serious, for whenever there is a sharp outbreak in any educational institution, the entire group must necessarily be disorganized and the work accomplished falls to a very low figure.

The remaining cases are adults and to the loss of time must be added that of the other adults who are quarantined as attendants of the sick, and when the patient is treated by the city physician, the expense falls directly on the taxpayer.

Anti-Toxin Gives Protection

The use and value of anti-toxin not only in the treatment of diphtheria, but also in the protection of those exposed to the disease, is an accepted fact, and is omitted only by the ignorant. Anti-toxin is curative in diphtheria if given early enough and protects exposed individuals if given immediately, but the immunization is very fleeting, lasting not longer than ten days or two weeks. Anti-toxin has reduced the death rate, but it has no effect on the number of sick or new cases. All agree that anti-toxin cures the disease, and it has been shown that the mortality of diphtheria has been reduced to a marked degree since its use. But although this is conceded, it has also been proved that the actual number of cases has not decreased, but have been about the same from year to year with the same unnecessary expense to the afflicted person and the taxpayer.

The Schick Test

In 1913 Dr. Schick developed the test which bears his name, the use of which determines those who are susceptible to diphtheria and those who are immune to the disease. This is a simple, harmless, painless, injection of a drop of fluid between the layers of the skin; if the individual is susceptible to diphtheria, a painless reaction takes place; if no reaction takes place, the individual is immune. Before we had this knowledge, all persons exposed to diphtheria were given anti-toxin whether they were susceptible or not. This necessarily was not only an additional expense to the afflicted, but also to the taxpayer. The Schick test has Bezemek Butter Shop, Y. W. C. A. and Bracy's Have Score of 95 in Monthly Report of Health Dept.

Showing an average of 95, the Bezemek Butter shop is given the top of the list in the monthly restaurant score issued by the Health department for the month of October. However, the Bezemek restaurant shares honors with two others, Bracy's and the Y. W. C. A. also having a score of 95.

The Bezemek Butter shop is away to a flying start. October was the first month the concern has been conducted as a restaurant. Herebefore it has been confined to the sale of dairy products. This is the second successive month for Bracy's to be in first place, that restaurant having held undisputed possession of first place last month.

NEW SECRETARY FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF GRANT COUNTY

Maj. Roland A. Laird, until recently connected with the Spokane, Wash., chamber of commerce, has been named executive secretary of the Grant county Chamber of Commerce, which has its offices at Silver City. W. S. Cox, president of the organization, has sent out a formal announcement.

"Grant County Chamber of Commerce," the announcement says, "will continue to function actively in the interests of its specific field and to participate energetically in movements making for prosperity in New Mexico and the southwest."

¶ One of the reasons why so many Albuquerque women like to shop at the National Garment Company is that there is always something new to see here.

¶ Instead of abiding by the old system of purchasing most of the merchandise for the season at its beginning, things are bought for National customers every day.

¶ Our eastern buyers are on the constant look-out for unusual VALUES. Every day shipments of coats, suits, dresses and millinery ranging from single pieces to dozens, are received here and placed on display.

¶ Before a garment is purchased for us it must meet certain qualifications of style, workmanship and quality of materials. In addition it must be an outstanding VALUE or it is passed up.

¶ That is one of the reasons that our store and our merchandise is the talk of the state. A new method of merchandising bringing a greater variety and better prices. And Albuquerque people have appreciated it.

¶ If you were in the National Garment Company yesterday you did not see the things that will be here tomorrow. It makes shopping real fun. And many people make a point of stopping in every time they come down town.

Like Knights of Old
YE olde knights used to fight to protect the fair fame of the devices emblazoned on their shields. And the knight without escutcheon was looked upon askance. He had no name to protect. He could live fairly or unfairly, as his whims directed.
Modern knights of industry have devices—the advertised trade-marks of their products. They must safeguard the reputation of these trade-marks to keep them worth while.
Advertising throws a powerful light on a trade-mark. If it proves worthy, it gains popularity and confidence. If it is shown to be unworthy, it quickly fails.
So you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The name of its maker stands behind it. The trade-mark is your warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

BERNALILLO

CONSTRUCTION HEADQUARTERS AND PERMANENT TERMINAL OF THE NEW SANTA FE & NORTHWESTERN RAILROAD AND HOME OF THE WHITE PINE LUMBER COMPANY.

Railroad and Lumber Mills Now Under Construction

100 Lots to Be Used for 100 New Homes

To meet the urgent need of the lumber mills and railroad contractors for homes for their employes a building company is being organized to develop 100 lots in the new Bernalillo townsite and is completing plans for immediate construction of 100 homes of the type desired by the management of the new industries. While the need for these new houses is urgent they will be substantial in construction and of a class which will warrant a guarantee of a good return on the money to the investor as well as a guarantee of re-sale value at a profit.

Only 133 Lots Remain on Sale

As a result of the big building plan announced in the adjoining column there remain for sale in the new Bernalillo townsite only 133 lots. In spite of the rapid purchase and increasing demand there has been no increase in the price of lots, and the original scale of prices established will be continued for a short time.

Because of the surrounding Indian lands, the river on the west and the foothills on the east, the Bernalillo townsite is restricted and development within the townsite must be concentrated, and therefore of certain increased value as the town becomes an industrial center and the home of 5,000 employees and their families and supplementary population.

The new Bernalillo will be a model town. Water works, electric lights, street lights, modern restaurant, a motion picture theatre, are under way. Under the supervision of Gladding and Gladding, townsite company engineers, the grading and surfacing of streets is now proceeding.

THERE IS NO DANGER OF OVERBUILDING— MORE HOUSES ARE NEEDED RIGHT NOW

The lot sale and building plan described will provide only for immediate urgent need for homes. Both the railroad and the lumber mills are in the construction stage and the large number of employees as indicated by the payroll and upkeep expenditure which will be more than $3,600 per day for the next six months, will absorb at good rental every house that can be built.

Trost & Trost, architects of the new hotel and new First National Bank building, are acting as consulting engineers for the Bernalillo Townsite company in determining the type of home building most desired and the benefit of their plans and suggestions are available to prospective lot owners and builders at the townsite company's Albuquerque and Bernalillo offices. Contractors also may have the benefit of this information in advising their clients.

TO ALBUQUERQUE REALTORS:

Don't you realize that the big railroad and industrial and territorial development at Bernalillo offers not only an opportunity for profit there, but that it also means certain and extensive growth for Albuquerque?

People with money to invest are waiting to be told the facts about Bernalillo. You can get the facts from me. Here's an opportunity to help Albuquerque your clients and yourselves. Grasp it.

REALTORS FIND READY MARKET FOR LOTS IN BERNALILLO

The Albuquerque realtors who have taken an active interest in the Bernalillo town development find a ready demand for lots among the investing public. A dealer said last week:

"The fact that the Bernalillo townsite development is under the personal direction of Sidney M. Weil is helping the rapid sale of the lots. Investors have grasped the significance of the fact that every development project Mr. Weil has undertaken he has finished successfully and they are confident that his plans for the Bernalillo town building enterprise will be carried out to the last detail of public improvement and appreciation of value through permanent industrial establishments."

DEMOCRATS ARE NOT ON PARTY'S PLATFORM-DAVIS

Morrow and Jones Do Not Agree on the Tariff Issue; Mrs. Warren, Hill and Delgado Also Speak.

In their addresses at the high school auditorium last night, Stephen B. Davis, Jr., candidate for United States senator, and Mrs. Adeline Otero-Warren, candidate for representative in congress, made it clear that the republican party is for America and Americans first, and that it makes no appeal to selfishness, to greed, or to class. The party's doctrine, they said, is not one of expediency, but rests upon the basis of common sense.

Both speakers criticized the effort that they said had been made to bring the American Legion in New Mexico into politics, and to make the adjusted compensation for ex-service men a political issue.

Not a Resident of Texas. Charles L. Hill, republican candidate for governor, declared that the attempts of his opponents to create the impression that he is a resident of Texas are unfair, and that his statements are untrue. He said he cast his first vote in New Mexico while a resident of Albuquerque in 1906, and that he had been voting in Dona Ana county, where he has resided on his farm, ever since 1907. "I have never paid a cent of taxes in Texas," said Mr. Hill, "and I am glad to say that I have paid taxes in New Mexico and thus aided in the upbuilding of the state."

Mrs. Otero-Warren declared that the principal subjects for discussion in this campaign are the tariff, adjusted compensation for service men, and economy. She said that the republican policy in regard to the tariff is based on a belief in Americans and a desire to protect them. "It is better," she said, "to produce what we need rather than buy foreign products and send our money away. This can be done under the protective tariff principle, by protecting our home producers." Mrs. Warren said that the protective tariff is a country-wide policy, and not for the benefit of any particular state.

In regard to compensation, she declared that she stands on the republican platform, which provides justice to the American soldier.

G. O. P. Reduced Expenses. In discussing economy in governmental expenditures Mrs. Warren called attention to the fact that the republican party in the first three months of its incumbency reduced expenses by $1,700,000, and so far has reduced the national debt by three billions of dollars. She said that a great deal of economy had been taken by the adoption by the republicans of a national budget law. This is the same measure, she said, that was vetoed by President Wilson.

In her discussion of state expenditures, Mrs. Warren said that under statehood educational advantages for the boys and girls had been greatly improved. State cost of taxes, she said, for education, and approved expenditures for schools, which have increased terms in country districts from four and five months a year to nine months. She said she favored a change in the state law which will permit a teacher to be paid what she is worth.

Deeding State Lands. Mrs. Warren said that the government deed to the state all federal lands in its borders so that the revenue may be used for school purposes. If this is not done, she said, congress should be prevailed upon to give the state an appropriation for schools equal to the revenue these lands would produce.

Mrs. Warren said she favored federal aid for schools, but opposed federal regulation of education, upholding the right of parents to say what books their children should study and what schools they should attend. She declared herself in favor of legislation, or an amendment to the constitution if necessary, to provide an adequate child labor law.

"I want to serve New Mexico," Mrs. Warren said in conclusion, "not to gain fame for myself but to render service. No matter what the outcome of this election, I am going to work with you for the development and welfare of our beloved New Mexico."

Mrs. Davis dealt principally with compensation for the ex-soldiers and the tariff. He said the republican position on the tariff has always been an effort to so equalize the cost of production at home and abroad as to give the American producer, manufacturer, farmer and laborer, protection from foreign competition. Mr. Davis said his democratic opponent is not standing on the democratic principles of free trade or tariff for revenue only, but is advocating protection for New Mexico products and no protection for the products of other states.

Policy of Selfishness. Mr. Davis criticized Senator Jones for following, according to his own assertion, a policy of selfishness so far as New Mexico is concerned. He said the republican party is a national party, conferring protection on all states alike. How Senator Jones could be a protectionist for New Mexico and a free trader for other states, he said he could not understand. In illustrating his point, Mr. Davis said that John Morrow, democratic candidate for congress, speaking on the same platform with Senator Jones, had advocated a high protective tariff on wool. A New Mexico product, but had opposed a tariff on sugar, as he declared it was only for the purpose of putting money into the pockets of the sugar trust. Senator Jones had declared for a high duty on sugar, a fact that Mr. Morrow seemed to have forgotten. "I can see in the democratic argument in this campaign," said

'WINTER' WOULD MARRY 'SPRING'; LICENSE DENIED

Jim Anderson, 62 Years Old, Tries to Wed Mary Flynn. Who Claims to Be 18; License Refused.

"Winter Wedding Spring," was the reel attempted at the county court house yesterday morning. Jim Anderson, 62 years old, attempted to cast himself in the title role of "Winter," and Mary Flynn, claiming to be 18, would have enacted "Spring." However, the reel was deleted by the "Board of Censors," who were portrayed by County Clerk Fred Fornoff, ably supported by Deputy Sheriff Fred Fornoff.

Anderson and Mary Flynn appeared before Crollot yesterday morning and applied for a marriage license. The girl bore such a youthful appearance that Crollot questioned her regarding her age, parents, birthplace and residence. The girl claimed Albuquerque as her home and said she was an orphan. Other questions she evaded.

Crollot decided the girl's replies were not entirely satisfactory and consulted with Deputy Fornoff as to the advisability of issuing the license. Fornoff advised against it and Crollot decided to act upon the advice.

Anderson was informed the license would not be granted until proof of the girl's age was furnished. He left the court house after declaring: "Well, we'll just go to some other county and get it."

Acting on this threat Fornoff immediately got in telephonic communication with adjacent counties. No information had been received late yesterday as to whether or not Anderson had carried out his intention of applying for a license in another county. If he did he probably met with the same result.

Hubbell Also Speaks. Chairman Hubbell of the republican county central committee, who presided at the meeting, predicted a big majority for the republican ticket in Bernalillo county. He charged the democrats with having abandoned the state and county tickets in an effort to elect the sheriff, one county commissioner, and the county school superintendent. Mr. Hubbell declared that the democratic party is made up of the dissatisfied element, those who are disappointed in their political ambitions elsewhere, the agitators and the dynamiters. He said Judge Hanna had proclaimed Hubbell a fine political manager two years ago when it appeared that through Hubbell's assistance Hanna had been elected governor, but that now Hanna is condemning Hubbell and his political methods.

"When I gave him a 1,500 majority two years ago, I was all right," said Mr. Hubbell, "but now I am condemned." Mr. Hubbell said the county precincts would give the republican ticket 1,800 majority, and urged the republicans residing in the city to help to swell it.

The lower floor of the auditorium was practically filled in spite of the cold weather and the fact that Saturday night is a difficult occasion on which to draw a crowd.

Theaters Today

"B" Theater—Richard Kipling presents the picture, "The Gringo Devil," a super-western feature, with an all-star cast, also presenting the episode of "The Blue Fox," and a reel or two of "Current Events."

Lyric Theater—Louisa Mayer presents the great star, Anita Stewart, as the leading star in "Rose of the Sea," a super-western feature, with an all-star cast, also presenting the episode of "The Blue Fox," and a reel or two of "Current Events."

Pastime Theater—William Fox presents the popular Shirley Mason as starting in "Youth Must Have Love," a romance and a mystery; also showing "Fox News," a topical of the day, and a two-reel comedy.

ANITA STEWART PORTRAYS THE GIRL SHE LIKES BEST IN "ROSE OF THE SEA"

Recently Anita Stewart started the film colony by declaring that the only kind of a girl worth while was the girl who had to work hard; and that industrious application to work was the only insurance a star had to retain her popularity. Then to prove her contention the star, who has always been featured in society life, several service pictorial or romantic stories, set to work to make a picture which would portray the kind of character she thought was most worth while.

She not only made the picture of the working girl, but she declares that working "it" was the hardest thing she ever did in her life. It meant being at the studio at 8 o'clock every morning and working through the day, with a half hour for luncheon, and 4 in the evening. The endless walking around the studio, learning new trades and cultivating different mannerisms for her part, she declares, created the most strenuous task ever assigned to her.

The picture is "Rose of the Sea," which has just been released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., and is being shown at the Lyric theater. Blended with the hard work that falls to the lot of the star, however, is an intriguing story of romance and adventure.

SHIRLEY MASON'S NEWEST, "YOUTH MUST HAVE LOVE," NOW AT THE PASTIME

A drama of intrigue and mystery counterbalanced by a romance of adventure and love will be seen in Shirley Mason's next William Fox production, "Youth Must Have Love," which will be shown at the Pastime theater for a three days engagement, starting today.

A cast of exceptional screen artists, including Wallace McDonald, who plays opposite the star; Landee Stevens, the heavy; J. P. Lockney, an exceptional character actor; and Cecil van Alder, who has played prominent parts in a number of recent productions, supports Miss Mason in "Youth Must Have Love."

SHOP EMPLOYEES NOW ARE PAYING FOR THEIR FOOD

Conditions Becoming Normal, With Many Men Eating at Homes; About 250 Use the Commissary

Shop employees of the Santa Fe railway who take their meals at the company's commissary inside the grounds now are paying 35 cents a meal. For several months after the strike began, the company furnished the meals free, but now that it has become unlikely that employees going outside the fences will have reason to think they are in danger because of strike conditions, this practice has been stopped. The company, it is said, is furnishing high class meals at a price much less than would be charged for the same food elsewhere. About 250 men are reported to be eating at the commissary. During the period after the strike began, more than 700 men were fed. Many of the men now go to their homes for their meals.

Cancerous Growths Which Cause Tuberculosis

Dr. Robert D. Brewington, one of the founders of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., was the first Osteopath in New Mexico.

For years doing research work and has achieved remarkable results. He is one of the first to look upon the lymphatic system as the cause of tuberculosis.

Through his scientific research work, cancerous growths have been found in the stomach which cause tuberculosis and stomach trouble.

These growths can be removed without surgery. Call at his office, 509 East Central Ave., and you will be shown the three different growths—mineral, vegetable, and hair growths.

Society Indulges Heavily In Hallowe'en Festivities

Hallowe'en was a ghostly moonlight night when hobgoblins lurked in every corner and the spirits walked about their unearthly business. Gatherings of weird creatures abounded. Little boy apokos in sheets called for little girl witches at the mysterious hour of just-before-seven and they both trudged off to an apple bobbing and fortune telling rendezvous in the next block.

The grown-up apokos had their fun as well. Scarcely a party during the past two weeks but has been decked in the black and orange of the Hallowe'en season. Bridge tables invariably have black and white, and pumpkin pie came into its own as a dessert. The Elks dance on Monday was one of the notable Hallowe'en affairs of the week.

Of principal interest during the coming week is the marriage on Tuesday morning of Miss Stortz and Mr. McCanna, two of the most popular young people in the city. With no further wedding or holiday in immediate prospect, however, it appears that society will be obliged to exercise its ingenuity in order to evolve anything out of the ordinary for a few weeks. Or else some one might announce an engagement, just to enliven things.

LADIES' DAY AT COUNTRY CLUB WEDNESDAY

November "Ladies' day" at the country club will be observed on Wednesday with the customary luncheon and afternoon of bridge to be followed by tea. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. Those wishing table reservations are urged to make them before Tuesday noon. The hostesses will be Mrs. L. C. Bennett, Mrs. P. G. Cornish, Jr., and Mrs. Walton Allen.

MISS STORTZ WILL BE MARRIED TUESDAY

The marriage of Miss Grace Stortz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Stortz, to Raymond J. McCanna, son of Mrs. P. F. McCanna, will take place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the church of the Immaculate Conception. The ceremony will be followed by a wedding breakfast at the Alvarado hotel for members of the bridal party and a few intimate friends.

After the ceremony the couple will leave for an extensive honeymoon in the east. Upon their return they will occupy a home just completed for them at 601 Luna boulevard. Both Miss Stortz and Mr. McCanna are popular among the younger set of the city and have been widely entertained during the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. August Datter entertained at dinner at their home last night in honor of Miss Stortz and Mr. McCanna. The table appointments were in pink and white with bridal favors and place cards. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stortz, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Whitmer, Mrs. Gladys Abbott and Mrs. Ida Kups.

JOINT BRIDGES IN BROTHER SERIES

Mrs. George S. McLandress and Mrs. Ross Merritt entertained yesterday afternoon at a bridge tea, the first of a series to be given this winter. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. McLandress on West Central avenue.

The guests were: Mesdames Harry Lee, Frank A. Stortz, Fred Canfield, E. W. Johnson, W. H. Ziegler, Martin Hayden, Frank Shuffelbarger, C. M. Barber, Arno Hunsing, D. A. Macpherson, Jerry Haggard, Harry Benjamin, Roy Stamm, Margaret Medler, Frank A. Hubbell, Jr., J. A. Riedy, T. E. Wiltmer, S. T. Vann, Frank Copp, P. O. Sorenson, E. L. Moulton, Robert E. Putney, Lyman Putney, Ruffin and C. G. Macabam.

SHIRINERS TO GIVE AN ELECTION DANCE

Preparations are going forward for the entertainment and dance to be held at the Masonic temple, election night, Tuesday, November 7. The program, which will commence at eight o'clock in the Shrine room on the main floor, promises to be one of unusual interest and to include some of the best talent in the city.

The program follows: "Dream of the Shepherdess," Lavitzky; Valet violin quartet, Miss Helen Gurnie, accompanist. Saxophone meditation, selected, F. C. Mason.

Soprano solo, "Winds in the South," Scott, Mrs. Ray Bailey. Dramatic readings, "Don't You Be What You Ain't," Milton Royle; "It Takes a Girl to Do It Every Time," Joseph Stern, Mrs. Roy Graham.

Tenor solo, selected, F. W. Darrow. Mrs. F. W. Darrow and Lewis B. Thompson will assist in the program. After the program dancing will commence immediately below in the ball room.

The White Lightning Harmonizers have been engaged to furnish the dance music and with the new floor completed some weeks ago, everything is being planned to insure a good time.

The Western Union Telegraph company will furnish the section returns throughout the evening. These will be delivered every three or four minutes, as fast as they come in over the wire. Many people are planning to attend in order to benefit by these complete returns.

MISS KLEISDORFF WEDS AT 11 A.M.

The wedding of Miss Betty B. Kleisdorff, formerly of this city, to Nathan, Miss., on October 25 appears in the National Democrat.

In a setting of brilliance and flowered beauty, the marriage of Miss Betty Benjamin Kleisdorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Kleisdorff and Mrs. Louis Legans, took place Wednesday evening at the Temple B'Nai Israel, Rabbi William Ackerman officiating before a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

The exquisite bride was never more lovely than in her wedding robe of imported tulle of sequins, opaque beads and satin embroidery over duchess satin, veil of illusion and real lace carrying a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

"Miss Lillian Kempenich of Albuquerque served as maid of honor. She was exquisitely gowned in a tulle and lace over duchess satin, heavily beaded in silver and crystal beads. Mrs. Sol Benjamin of Albuquerque, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Bernard Schaff of Boston, sister of the groom, as matrons of honor were handsomely gowned.

Following the ceremony the guests assembled at the Prentiss club where a brilliant reception was tendered and delightful refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Schaff left at midnight for several weeks' bridal trip to New York and other eastern points.

DANCES.

The most elaborate Hallowe'en party of the season was the dance given for the Elks and their ladies at the ballroom of the club house on Monday evening. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stortz, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Whitmer, Mrs. Gladys Abbott and Mrs. Ida Kups.

Mr. Jack Reynolds entertained at luncheon at the Alvarado on Thursday in honor of Miss Stortz. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the table decorations of which cypress, tulle and yellow tulip and carnations. Those present were Mesdames Frank A. Stortz, Louis M. Reynolds, Charles S. White, Henry G. Coors, H. L. Brechman, Frank O. Westfield, E. T. Lasseter, Frank Butt, R. P. Woodson, Jr., Miss Stortz and Miss Ruth Tompkins.

The Sixty Dancing club held its first party of the season at the Elks club on Thursday evening. The affair was a simple dance and business meeting combined. New officers for the year were selected and some new members were taken in. The first formal party of the club will be held at Tamarisk Inn during December. The new officers are Dr. H. M. Bowers, president; James Gladding, vice-president; and Mrs. Harry McCoy, secretary-treasurer. The board of directors is composed of Mrs. Harry Strong, Mrs. R. L. Hunt, Frank Stortz, A. B. Bett and Dr. C. A. Schumaker.

The Dulcinea club gave another of their lively informal dances at the Women's club last Saturday evening by celebrating Hallowe'en. The club building was appropriately decorated for the occasion. The dancers were black and orange caps and received favors of holly and modern witches of the flapper type. When the dance was at its height the lights suddenly went out and guests were waken to prove about the room. The usual club membership and a few guests were present for the affair.

Mrs. John F. Pearce who was called home suddenly in September by the death of her mother returned last week from the east.

Choosing Real Smart Clothes That Are Practical Is Problem

Ask any business girl or mother who must outfit a daughter for school what is the greatest worry of the clothes problem and it is not the delicate one of how to pay for the clothes, it will surely be how to get smart, attractive clothes which are practical and can stand hard wear. The business girl must have costumes which are suitable, not only for the office, but for the theater, the restaurant and the dinner at a friend's home. In addition to these demands it must be ready for hard wear and all kinds of weather. Here are three costumes which seem to have been designed for just such wear. They are inexpensive, smart and serviceable. At the left is a coat for sports or general wear. It is made of tan knitted fabric with a long, full overcoat. Blue leather used as binding is the only trimming. It is a frock which may receive all manner of hard wear with the minimum number of cleanings and pressings.

A longer coat marks the new suits and very often as here a fur collar is added for comfort as well as beauty. This is a brown and white mixture with a racoon collar. An autumn dress is shown at the right. It is made of tan knitted fabric with a long, full overcoat. Blue leather used as binding is the only trimming. It is a frock which may receive all manner of hard wear with the minimum number of cleanings and pressings.

CLUBS

The Business and Professional Women's club was entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. J. Strong, the president. The gathering was called for the purpose of hearing Miss Pearl Matlock, an energetic member of the Kansas City club, who was a visitor in the city. Miss Matlock gave an account of the annual convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs and suggested some activities for the western clubs. After her talk the meeting resolved itself into a Hallowe'en party with the usual appointments.

The Sew and So club was entertained last Wednesday by Mrs. Roy Ball at her home, 295 South Edith street. Miss Mabel Sims of Detroit, Mich., a guest of Mrs. C. A. Watson, was a guest of the club for the afternoon.

Miss Nichols and Miss Gertrude Thompson will play a double piano number, Mrs. S. E. Miller will sing and Mrs. G. L. Blair and Mrs. E. P. Ancona will play piano solos. Arrangements for the annual concert series to begin in December will be discussed.

The C. U. P. club varied its regular Tuesday night supper at the Y. W. C. A. by a costume party in celebration of Hallowe'en last week. The guests came dressed as spooks and after supper sat around in a circle in the dark and listened to ghost stories. About 25 young women were present.

The Women's club will give a benefit bridge party at the club house on the afternoon of November 17 for the purpose of raising money to cancel the deficit resulting from entertaining the Tuesday Literary club last month. It was decided at a meeting on Friday afternoon. The deficit is comparatively small, the club having been greatly assisted in entertaining the delegates by associated organization. The program scheduled for November 17 will be held at Thanksgiving time instead, it was announced. A resolution passed by the Tuesday Literary club opposing the plan proposed for a national park in the southern part of the state was read by Mrs. W. R. Walton. The club members expressed their sympathy with the resolution but will act later after an investigation. After the business meeting refreshments of French pastry and coffee were served by Mrs. A. Gooden and her committee composed of Mesdames B. C. Hernandez, William McClurken and P. K. Schack.

Scholarship Assembly
The assembly Thursday morning was in charge of the Scholarship society. The following program was given:
"A la bien Amie," Schutt, orchestra.
Introduction of president, Miss Dixon.
President's address "Carrying a Message to Garcia," Carl Allen.
Vocal solo, "The Brownies," Leonie Florence Samuels.
Address, C. M. Botts.
Class solo, "Rustles of Spring," Sinding, Clyde Cleveland.
Presentation of pins, Mrs. Ella M. LaBar.
Miss Dixon, faculty advisor, in course of study as the students' tools and emphasized the fact that since $100,000,000 was spent on education the courses of study were planned for the community and nation, and not merely for the individual. The president of the society, Carl Allen, reviewed Hubbard's Message to Garcia, and urged the students to stand upon their own feet, to do the right thing, and apply the principle of the preachment to school life. Success is the ability to do several things, so members of the society should have a goal and take part in all school activities.
C. M. Botts, president of the board of education, very effectively pictured a base ball game in the introduction to his talk. He then briefly stated the requirements for membership in this organization, stressing the point that no one could keep a student out of it but himself. He showed that the members were not bookworms, but real folks, active and interested in every thing in the high school. Mrs. LaBar, principal, read the list of members, and presented silver pins to the following new members: Thelma Adams, Carl Allen, Richard Arledge, Elmer Cheney, Kathleen Curtis, Orrie Davis, Edith Freed, Laura Gerich, Joe Harris, Grace Harrington, Ellen Knoff, Thelma Mayhew, Philip McMain, Isidore Sanchez, Lillian Scott, Louise Snyder, Myrtle Stevenson, Yanabelle Stevenson. A gold pin was presented to George Olson.

U. N. M. SOCIETY
A pretty firelit and candlelit dance was given by the Phi Mu chapter at the country club last night. An electric fountain and crepe paper streamers in the sorority color of rose and white also added to the romantic effect in the ball room. The programs were grey booklets with rose cords. Punch was served through the evening. Mrs. Carrie A. Malchow, Phi Mu housemother, chaperoned the party. Those present were Mesdames and Mesdames R. S. Rockwood, L. B. Hessler, L. B. Eliminate Waste From State With Your Ballot Tuesday

SENATOR JONES
FOR RE-ELECTION.

JOHN MORROW
FOR CONGRESS.

J. F. HINKLE
FOR GOVERNOR.

SAM G. BRATTON
FOR SUPREME COURT.

REPUBLICANS TRY TO RETAIN HOLD ON STATE DESPITE RECORD OF WASTE AND MACHINE RULE

New Mexico is confronted with an example of the most daring procedure yet attempted by ring politicians—the effort of the Republican leaders to keep their grip on the state.

This fight is being made by them despite the fact that they have not told the public why the Republican governor now in office retains the warden of the state penitentiary after the prison board has twice urged his dismissal. Those recommendations were made after exhaustive investigations of the killing of one prisoner and the wounding of others. The Republican leaders want to continue in power in face of the fact that they have increased the cost of government in New Mexico virtually 300 per cent in six years. Instead of seeking ways to cut that burden on the taxpayers, the Republicans defiantly maintain that the state is being run as economically as possible. Taxes cannot be cut, they say. They say this because in case New Mexico retained the present gang in power, expenses would be the same or more as the Republican machine must be supported.

With these things, and the plunging of the Las Vegas Normal University into partisan politics to take care of a party worker, before the Republicans as only parts of their record, the gang leaders step before the public and insist that their candidates be elected Tuesday. Being a part of that machine helps many. For instance, there is the assistant land commissioner, who wrote the informative letter on how favoritism works in the land office. He now is trying to be elected commissioner.

The Republicans have been promising economy for six years, yet each year has the amount of money spent exceeded the previous twelve months. That is the type of economy and efficiency which has made New Mexico's taxes vastly higher than they should be, even if the Republicans do insist that the present assessments are as low as they can be.

The governor has special agencies, the tax commission, auditor, through which offices he can control the expenditures of counties by lowering budgets. But a Republican governor would not dare use this power to cut expenses because in so doing he would eliminate a lot of useless jobs which now serve to hold together the Republican organization. New Mexico can no longer afford to support the Republican machine while the people—Democrats and Republicans—stagger under the present tax burden.

GIVE NEW MEXICO BUSINESS-LIKE GOVERNMENT; VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES INTO OFFICE

Democratic candidacies should be supported by your vote Tuesday.

They want—nationally—an adjusted compensation for World War veterans; the tariff taken from politics; reclamation of New Mexico lands adaptable to agricultural development; all legislation to be fair to all citizens. They want—for New Mexico—lower taxes, no waste of public money; no excess jobs created only to maintain a political machine; the state's affairs to be openly conducted so that the people know at all times what condition their business is in.

Your best interests lie in voting these men and women into office:

JOSE A. BACA,
FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

JUSTINIANO BACA,
FOR LAND COMMISSIONER.

ISABEL L. ECKLES,
FOR SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

JUAN N. VIGIL,
FOR AUDITOR.

BONIFACIO MONTOYA,
FOR CORPORATION COMMISSIONER.

SOLEDAD C. CHACON,
FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.

JOHN W. CORBIN,
FOR TREASURER.

MILTON J. HELMICK,
FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

WHEN LEAST EXPECTED

By J. A. WALDRON
Illustration by Lawrence Fellows

The other members of the company had been enthusiastic.

Lydia Bayley and her fiancé, Glenn Lilley, quarreled, and as to them romance fled. What did they quarrel about? Who can tell? No third person knew. Love is set apart and its secrets are inviolable except in cases in which matrimony and the courts are sequent. Then the newspapers horn in.

Lydia was artistic, and that means temperamental idiosyncrasy. Her father, potent in affairs and artistic himself in the sense that he was deft in accumulating money originally in other hands and her mother, socially prominent, were sure Lydia was artistic and delightful in the fact. Not that they cared to have Lydia make a career, of course. An artistic daughter reflects credit upon her parents.

So Lydia, her romance shattered, declared she would live for her art alone, imagining that this was an original idea. And her parents, who had not objected to her fiancé, were pleased that she had something to divert her mind.

Young Lilley, who had enjoyed a sinecure in his father's banking house, disappeared from his former haunts—which socially were Lydia's own—and adopted Greenwich Village, a neighborhood in which certain temperaments may forget trouble, unless the trouble is vital, or develop it if they pine for excitement.

Lydia and Glenn had quarreled in the spring, when lovers usually are sympathetic. In the summer, at Narragansett, where Lydia's mother led a set that thought little of other sets, Lydia painted feverishly. Local amateurs declared that her pictures were worthy of exhibition, and some of her work, in elaborate frames, was in fact shown on the walls of the family castle in company with paintings about which there was no doubt.

Returning to the family mansion in town in the autumn, Lydia became possessed with a desire to exorcise Greenwich Village. This obsession she cherished secretly, for her parents were very conventional. One day, taking luncheon alone in a smart restaurant on Fifth avenue, Lydia encountered Marilla, who had been a chum at a finishing school. They had not seen each other in ages. Confidences flowed like a brook. It appeared that Marilla, ignoring her family's wishes, had filled a fiancé who had money.

"And he had nothing else, dearest, absolutely!" she said to Lydia. "But I found a mate."

"Married?"

"Of course. And happy. My name is now DeLaTour. My husband is a poet and a dramatist. And a Socialist." Marilla added with a laugh.

Yet none of these vocations—nor all of them—had proved Marilla with clothes that at all resembled Lydia's. In fact, Marilla was enjoying luncheon in this smart place on a part of the proceeds of sketches she had just sold to the advertising manager of a big shop, for she also was artistic. Her bobbed hair indicated it.

"And where are you living?" Lydia asked.

"In Greenwich Village." The words were magic to Lydia. "May I come to see you?"

"You can come home with me now—this minute! And meet my husband. I shall be due in a few minutes. He has been rehearsing one of his wonderful plays, called 'The Bird with a Broken Wing'."

Lydia literally embraced her opportunity. She was impressed by the elementary simplicity of the DeLaTour ménage. The place looked as though they had just moved in or were just about to move out. The furnishings showed a genius for adaptation. It was all interesting to Lydia because it was so different from anything she had ever seen.

DeLaTour came in while the young women were chatting. He was interesting to Lydia for a like reason. He looked like a not remote removal from a farm hand. His abundant hair was long after the old Theophrastus fashion. His collar and scarf were very prominent, and his coat had something of the careless amplitude of a gabardine.

"You are the type!" he exclaimed to Lydia a moment after introduction.

"Yes? I don't quite—"

"Isn't she, darling?" he challenged Mrs. DeLaTour.

"He means, dear Lydia, that you are the type he wants for one of his plays."

"Do you mean that?" Lydia was incredulous.

"I always mean what I say," replied DeLaTour. "Have you ever acted?"

"No, except in an amateur way

at school. But I'm told I read the classics well."

"The classics!" DeLaTour scoffed. "We of today are writing things that will relegate what are called 'the classics' to oblivion. Come, darling! He turned to Marilla. 'Let's take your pretty friend to a rehearsal!'"

"Of this play you think I—"

"Oh, no! A rehearsal of 'The Bird with a Broken Wing'! I shall want you for another play—'The Dissolved Pearl'."

Lydia hesitated. "Of course I should like to see a rehearsal, but as for acting—I may not be able to—I mean my mother, and my father, might not—"

"We shall talk of that later. Come."

The rehearsal was in a darkened hall. It was a dress rehearsal. A bald, pompous person was coaching a scene. DeLaTour remained in front, telling his wife and Lydia to go behind and he would join them in a moment. They disposed of their wraps and Marilla, leading Lydia by the hand, for the passage was dark, found an opening—the scene had not been fully set—from which they might look on.

The pompous man was saying something to a young man and woman who had been impersonating lovers. He had praised the young woman, who was caressing the young man's chin, probably as a solace for criticism. The coach had told the young man he "was not at all like it."

Lydia looked, shrieked and fainted. The young man was Glenn Lilley.

Everything became confused. When a young woman who has quarreled and lost sight of her lover faints in such circumstances there is something the matter with her heart.

When Lydia came to she heard Glenn Lilley say, "I'm through!" in the face of protests from DeLaTour and the pompous man. Lydia's next realization was that she was in a cab with Glenn. "When are we going?" asked Glenn's arm was about her.

"I'm taking you home, dearest girl," he answered. "How long have you been in Greenwich Village?"

"Only a few minutes. I never was there before."

"Thank heaven for that!" He was caressing her hair. "And that your hair isn't bobbed!"

"And are you going back to that girl you—"

"Hello there! Glenn! Stop!"

"We shall talk of that later. Come."

boomed a basso-profundo voice as the brake on a great motor along-side shrieked and the motor stopped, while the cabby stopped almost as suddenly. A heavy, gray-haired man leaped from the motor and came to the taxi, taking off his hat to Lydia. "Where have you been?" he asked. It was Glenn's father.

"Finishing my education," Glenn replied, grinning.

"Where?"

"Greenwich Village."

"Hub! Among the softshells, eh?"

"Oh, there are some nuts there."

"When are you coming home—and back to the bank?"

"Tomorrow, dad."

"The New World Begun"

"millions now living will never die"

—Judge Rutherford.

In a Free Lecture at the Armory, Sunday afternoon, Judge Rutherford will prove by Biblical prophecies recently fulfilled, and others being fulfilled, that millions of people now living on earth will never die. Thousands in New Mexico will live forever in happiness on earth and not die.

Judge Rutherford Says:

"Fulfilled Prophecy settles the fact that Bible Students were right forty years ago when they began to proclaim that in 1914 a world war would begin, and that famine, pestilence, distress of nations and revolutions would speedily follow. They based this upon the Bible. Then the message received scant attention; even the clergy scoffed and ridiculed. Now the facts compel their silence. But the end is not yet. Jesus said: 'These things are but the beginning of sorrows.'"

"Take Heed! The old world has ended! The new is beginning! The war bankrupted the nations. The League of Nations and like treaties have failed to bring peace, prosperity and the blessings for which the people hoped. All such conferences must fail. THERE IS A REASON. THERE IS A REMEDY. It is time the people know the divine remedy. It is the only cure for human ills."

"The impending peril of all the nations should arouse the clergy to break their silence and tell the people that the great trouble and the remedy are made plain by the Bible. I invite the clergy to hear me. If my interpretation of the Bible is wrong, then the clergymen owe it to the people to tell them wherein it is wrong. If right, then I appeal to the clergy to tell the people the truth and thereby comfort the hearts of the millions that are sad. This lecture comforts and reassures. Hear it and be glad."

CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

Conditions in Europe are far worse than are pictured usually by the public press. Judge Rutherford recently returned from an extended lecture tour through continental Europe and Great Britain. While there, he looked into social, political and financial conditions as bearing on fulfilled prophecy. The evidence gathered there by him is additional proof that the old world has ended and that Messiah's kingdom is here.

Everywhere great crowds flock to hear his lectures and to be comforted by them. On two occasions Royal Albert Hall, London, the greatest auditorium on earth, was packed out and many thousands were turned away. New York's great Hippodrome was quickly filled to hear Judge Rutherford, while 10,000 were turned away. The people are eager to hear, and he wants them to understand his statement to be literally true, that millions now living will never die but will be restored to perfect condition of body and mind and live on the earth forever in peace and happiness if obedient to the new order under the Messiah.

AN UNSEEN PERIL

Jesus and St. Paul were right in their statements that Satan is the supreme ruler of this world, influencing and controlling the minds of those who disregard God's Word. The so-called talking with the dead is another fraudulent scheme of Satan and his allies to entrap the mighty men of earth, inducing them to believe that they are being guided by supernatural power. Russia's rulers fell victims of these unseen powers through the mediumship of Rasputin. To his downfall, the Kaiser heeded the "inner voice," urging him to make war. Standing upon the battlefield during one of the raging battles of the World War and seemingly speaking to some unseen being, the Kaiser is said to have cried out, "Who is responsible for this terrible war?" Other mighty men are being misled. Be not deceived, but arm yourself against the encroachment of demon power at this time of distress upon the nations. Remember, "Blessed is that nation whose God is Jehovah." In his new book, "Can the Living Talk With the Dead," Judge Rutherford exposes the deceptions of spiritism.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION AFFECTING AUTOMOBILISTS ON TOURING TRIPS TO BE OUTLINED BY AMERICAN AUTO ASSOCIATION

Nation-wide reciprocity for motorists and the elimination of discriminatory laws against automobiles, trucks and motor vehicles will be the goal of the legislative activities of the American Automobile Association during the coming year, according to plans outlined by M. G. Eldridge, executive chairman of the A. A. A., and adopted by the executive board at a meeting held in Washington this week. Mr. Eldridge explained that the adoption of this policy would in no wise affect the attitude of the District of Columbia Division of the A. A. A., toward obtaining reciprocity with Maryland through a gasoline tax in lieu of the present horsepower tax on automobiles in the district.

The executive chairman explained that the supreme court of the United States in two decisions, has ruled that automobiles traveling from one state to another are to be treated as interstate traffic and that under the interstate commerce law congress has a right to regulate such traffic. He called attention to the difference in automobile laws of the various states, some of which permit a visiting motorist only thirty days within their borders without purchasing a new tax while in others, the period runs as high as six months.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Eldridge, "there should be a national law authorizing a motorist who has paid for his license tags in his home state and has complied with the laws of that state, to motor anywhere in the United States without paying additional fees."

Mr. Eldridge also pointed out that congress has removed what excise taxes from a large number of articles but has, as yet, made no move to relieve the automobile, the most necessary unit of individual transportation in America, of these burdens. He expressed the opinion that the A. A. A. should work for the elimination of such discriminatory taxes and the business trip through the states of Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Northern California, which will be duplicated many times in the future.

Rank who works the northwest for eastern manufacturers, purchased a new coupe before starting the trip just finished, and with Leonic, a leather salesman, recently left Los Angeles over the Arroyo trail. Bad roads were encountered in Nevada and Southern Utah and a fifteen-inch snowfall at Beaver, Utah, caused a delay of four days.

The journey from that point, however, while over miserable roads, for the most part was not productive of any more unpleasant weather, so that the trip was enjoyable in every sense of the word.

The total mileage of 5,180 was made without mishap of any kind. Leonic, who drove the entire distance, is enthusiastic over the car's performance and said that with the exception of two punctures the trip was uneventful.

The car was equipped with a trunk rack carrying a heavy sample trunk with a capacity of 250 pounds and the spare tire mounted in the trunk. This, in addition to a large compartment in the rear deck of the car gave ample space for carrying the sample lines and left the interior of the car free for hand luggage.

TIRE CHANGING CONTESTS TO BE AT TIRE CONVENTION

One of the important features of the third annual convention of the National Tire Dealers' association to be held at Milwaukee, Wis., on November 14, 15 and 16 will be contests to determine the tire changing championship of the United States. This is a new form of competition, but considering the 11,000,000 car owners in the country it is likely to hold considerable interest.

During the last few months several hundred tire service specialists in various parts of the country have been going through trials preliminary to the championship contest at Milwaukee with the result that some remarkable records have been established in handling the removal and replacement of various types of tires and rims.

One tire service man in Philadelphia recently made a complete change of a Ford size tire in 3 minutes 23.15 seconds. To appreciate this mark it must be understood that it involved the lugging up of the car, removal of the casing and inflation of a new casing and inflation of the tube to 35 pounds pressure with a hand pump. No tools were permitted in this contest, the tire man being required to make the complete change with his bare hands.

This same man, in competing for a medal offered by Tires, the trade paper of the tire industry, applied a 30x3 1/2-inch tire to a Ford rim in 2.5 seconds with his bare hands. Another mark that he established was in the mounting of a 35 1/2-inch tire to a rim on a Cadillac car and inflating the tube to 70 pounds pressure in 1 minute.

He also mounted and dismounted a 37x 1/2-inch casing in 1 minute 31 seconds. While to the average motorist these times may seem impossible of surpassing, there are many tire changing experts who declare that they will better them at the National Tire Dealers' convention in Milwaukee.

Tires magazine of New York is offering a medal for the best tire changing time made in each state and in Canada and Philadelphia motor trade organizations have offered a silver trophy emblematic of the national championship. These medals and trophy will be awarded at the Milwaukee convention.

HIGHWAY EDUCATORS ASSEMBLED IN D. C. TO STUDY TRANSPORT PROBLEMS; LETTER FROM PRESIDENT TO CONFERENCE

Greetings from President Harding opened the second national conference on education for highway engineering and highway transport held under the auspices of the highway education board at the New Willard hotel, Washington, D. C., the other day.

"We are all agreed," wrote the president, "that the country needs good roads and more of them, but we also have been brought to realize that they are not to be had without very great expense. Your organization is one of those particularly well equipped technical aspects of this problem and I most earnestly hope that your Washington convention will produce some useful illumination of the problem."

The president's letter was addressed to Dr. Walton C. John, executive secretary of the conference, and reflected his great interest in the highway program of the nation. The president was unable to address the conference, preferring to remain near Mrs. Harding during her convalescence from her recent illness. His letter follows:

"We are all agreed that the

"I have to thank you for the invitation to attend and address the national conference on education for highway engineering and highway transport. The subject is one in which I have long maintained a most lively interest and an examination of the program convinces me that this convention will be of very great usefulness."

"The whole program of transportation in all its phases must be regarded as that of a single problem, presenting a great many aspects—among the most pressing and difficult that the entire world is facing at present. As you and your associates are probably much better aware than most other people, the transport facilities of the whole world, whether by rail or by water or whether represented by the great network of public highways, have been confronted with a most difficult situation for a number of years. It is one which demands the very best and wisest treatment from the standpoint of both the technical and economic and financial authorities."

"We are all agreed that the country needs good roads and more of them, but we also have been brought to realize that they are not to be had without very great expense. Your organization is one of those particularly well equipped technical aspects of this problem and I most earnestly hope that your Washington convention will produce some useful illumination of the problem."

Reading of the president's letter was followed by an address by Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi, on the subject "The Relation of Adequate Highway Transport Facilities to National Progress."

Major General Lansing H. Bench, chief of engineers, U. S. army, spoke on the kindred subject "The Relation of Adequate Highway Transport Facilities to National Defense." Other speakers on the program included Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, discussing "The Highway Engineering and Highway Transport Fields and Their Need for Trained Men."

Dr. John J. Tuzet, U. S. commissioner of education, and chairman of the Highway Education board, presided. The conference continued three days, there being in attendance highway engineering educationists, state highway engineers, automotive manufacturers, and perhaps three hundred others concerned in the development of the highway program of the United States along sound and conservative lines.

WILL PROPOSE CHANGES IN CONSTITUTION

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, Nov. 4.—Tinkering with the constitution will be a subject much discussed when Congress gets back on the job after the elections. Several changes in the organic law of the nation will be proposed and at least one of these will be directed to the purpose of making it easier to effect constitutional amendments.

In short, not only is there a manifest disposition to do some tinkering with the venerable document, but there is insistence that the tinkering should be made less difficult of accomplishment.

The latter proposal is a decided departure from the ideas of the forefathers who framed the constitution and in doing so made clear their judgment that it should be safeguarded in every way against hasty or ill-considered alterations. They undertook to see that no amendment could be effected that had not been scrutinized carefully and that did not have back of it an overwhelming sentiment of the people of the country, and that they made a good job of it is attested by the fact that since the constitution was adopted in 1787 it has been amended only 19 times and 10 of these amendments embodied the so-called bill of rights which had been virtually agreed upon at the time the constitution was drafted and were adopted in 1791.

The eleventh amendment, providing that a state can not be sued by a citizen of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign country, and the twelfth, providing for the naming of candidates for president and vice-president separately, followed within a few years—the one in 1795 and the other in 1804. Then there was a lapse of 61 years without a single change in the constitution, with the three growing out of the civil war coming in 1865, 1868, and 1870.

Forty-three years passed and two amendments were declared in effect in 1913—the sixteenth, known as the income tax amendment, and the seventeenth, which provided for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people of the several states. Seven years later the amendments were made effective, which gave the country prohibition and woman's suffrage.

Four Carefully Considered
The last four of the amendments appear to have passed the test contemplated by the forefathers. Certainly they were debated for years and years and were considered with care and deliberation, and it would seem that they must have been deemed by an overwhelming public sentiment. Indeed, it was the difficulty with which these constitutional changes were brought about when it was evident that a majority of the people wanted them that led to the proposal that amendments be made easier.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma is the sponsor for this idea and has introduced resolutions on the subject in several congresses. One of these resolutions is now pending before the senate committee on the judiciary. It provides that the constitution may be amended "in the following manner and in no other way": "An amendment or amendments or the calling of a constitutional convention may be proposed: "By a majority vote of the members of each house of congress; "By either house should the other house twice reject the proposal, and a failure for three months to act favorably shall constitute a rejection. "Congress shall propose an amendment or amendments or the calling of a constitutional convention when requested by a majority of the state legislatures. Congress or either house may submit competing measures."

This differs radically from the original provision of the constitution under which congress can propose amendments only when two-thirds of the members of both houses shall deem it necessary, and can call a constitutional convention only on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states. The constitution stipulates that amendments so proposed shall become effective only when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by convention. He is one of the members in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification.

LOVE NOTES OF OTHER WOMAN WRECK LIFE OF BRIDE ON HER HONEYMOON

Three short months ago Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parr were married and went to live in the cozy love nest they had arranged in a fashionable Chicago apartment. Life seemed just one grand sweet song for Mrs. Parr. Then, she told Chicago police the other day, she came upon some letters to her husband from Margaret "Peggy" Mohr. After reading the torrid phrases in the letter she decided to "end it all" and drank poison. She has recovered from the poison but her beauty is ruined—scarred and seared by the poison. Miss Mohr denies that she was responsible for Mrs. Parr's act.

fiction may be proposed by congress.

Senator Owen would change the method of ratification by providing that amendments, after being proposed after one of the ways set forth in his resolution, shall be voted upon, not by the state legislatures, but directly by the people of the several states. A majority of the votes cast in a majority of the congressional districts, together with a majority of all the votes cast throughout the country, shall ratify.

La Follette After the Courts
Senator La Follette of Wisconsin is understood to favor the Owen proposal, but he has one of his own in which he is even more devoted. He is even more devoted to the rights and prerogatives of that body and he is especially aroused over what he regards as an invasion of the powers of the legislative branch of the government by the judiciary. He does not believe that the courts should be able to nullify an act of congress by declaring it to be unconstitutional.

Accordingly he will urge an amendment to the constitution which will provide (1) that no judge of an inferior federal court shall sit aside a law of congress on the ground that it is unconstitutional, and (2) that if the supreme court of the United States shall assume to declare any law of congress unconstitutional, or by judicial interpretation shall assert a public policy at variance with the statutory declaration of congress, which alone under our system of government is empowered to determine public policies, the congress may by repealing the law nullify the action of the court.

The La Follette amendment, which is said to have the backing of the American Federation of Labor, is generally regarded as even more radical than the one fathered by Senator Owen. As the case now is, the only checks upon the power of congress are the presidential veto and what amounts to a veto by the courts. A veto by the president may be over-ridden by a two-thirds

SIX PRACTICAL TIPS TO MOTOR WINTER DRIVERS

A motorist should have no more trouble with his car in winter than he does in summer, if he takes the right precautions. Cold weather operation requires just a few changes from summer running, and the following six helpful suggestions to those operating motor cars in cold weather are valuable:

1. Use a good clear oil with a low cold test. It will flow at the first turnover.
2. A little alcohol in your radiator will prevent a frozen radiator, cause less inconvenience, and preclude cracked cylinder blocks.
3. A radiator cover will keep your engine and radiator warm. It also makes far easier starting and saves your storage battery.
4. Drain your crank case more frequently in winter than in summer. Every 500 miles is a good plan.
5. Easy starting, even in coldest weather, will result from the use of a volatile gasoline, because of its low boiling point.
6. There are more than 50 parts on your car that need lubrication. See that they get it this winter.

RECORD OF MOTOR REGISTRATION BIG IN CALIFORNIA

All motor car registration records for the United States will be broken by California this year, according to a statement just issued by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. Registrations at present total $27,000 for the state, nearly one-third of which are in Los Angeles county.

The state of New York had registered $12,521 on January 1. The increase of cars registered this year in California is 20 per cent over last year. This is a greater ratio than that ever achieved by any other state in the union.

Last year, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania led California, but the rapid increase of cars in the Pacific coast state indicates that this year it will lead both Ohio and Pennsylvania, with a possibility of passing New York.

The extraordinary increase in the number of autos is attributed to the good roads that form a network over the state, and the climatic conditions that permit pleasurable touring almost every day in the year.

Several thousand cotton pickers are being dispatched by motor truck from Nogales to Phoenix and other Salt River Valley cities in Arizona. Food is provided enroute and the laborers are carried directly to the plantation where they are to work.

ROSENBERG-O'DOWD BOUT IS STAGED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

New York, Nov. 3.—Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn and Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul, Minn., will box for the middleweight championship of the world, so far as recognition in New York state is concerned, in a 15-round contest Thanksgiving day afternoon in a Brooklyn arena. The match, Chairman William Muldoon announced, has the sanction of the state athletic commission, despite the fact that Rosenberg was suspended some time ago by the commission for failure to go through with a previous contract with O'Dowd.

Motor cars used by doctors and other professional or business men for transporting in their daily work are exempt from taxation in Danzig.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

The evenness of performance so often remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 800 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5285 individual inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation either in workmanship or material is instantly discovered and rejected.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

The price is $1,925, delivered F. O. B. Albuquerque

Light-Six Roadster

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crank-shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cowl lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cowl ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.
