ADMINISTRATION HARDY BILL SHOULD BE PASSED HARDING TELLS CONGRESS

Subsidy Measure Is Necessary to Relieve the Government of "Present Staggering Losses" in Operation of the War-Built Merchant Fleet, Legislators Are Told

Washington, Nov. 21.—Enactment of the administration merchant marine bill was urged upon congress today by President Harding as necessary to relieve the government of present "staggering losses" in operation of the war-built merchant fleet and to establish a program of assured shipping to serve the nation in war and give a guaranty of commercial independence in time of peace.

Personally addressing a joint session of the house and senate, the executive declared an actual monetary saving to the government would result from the proposed law. He challenged every insinuation of favored interests and the enrichment of the special few at the expense of the public treasury. The legislation, he asserted, automatically guarded against enrichment or perpetual bestowal.

"If success attend us we hope it will," he added, "the inspiration of opportunity to earn remains and American transportation by sea is maintained."

The president said congress about American merchant marine policy was not limited "to our own domain," adding that the maritime nations of the world "were in complete accord with the opposition here to the pending measure." He declared those nations had a perfect right to such an attitude but he wished to stress the American viewpoint which he said should be the viewpoint, "from which one sees American carriers at sea, the dependence of American commerce and American vessels for American reliance in the event of war."

Mr. Harding declared it would be most discouraging if a measure of "such transcending national importance" must have its fate depend on geographical, occupational, professional or partisan considerations. A commercial eminence on the seas and ample agencies for the promotion to carrying of American commerce, he asserted, were of no less importance to the people of the Mississippi and the Missouri valley the great northwest and the Rocky Mountain states than to the seaboard states and industrial communities.

"It is a common cause, with its benefits commonly shared," he said.

government aid is a fair term to apply to authorizations aggregating $75,000,000 to promote good roads for market highways, the president added, it is equally fair to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of American market highways on the "salted seas."

As to present government operation of the shipping board fleet, Mr. Harding said there was the unavoidable task of wiping out a fifty million dollar annual loss, and losses aggregating "many millions" which were not only sacrificed or scrapped shipping. He called attention that the government ships were being worn out without any provision for replacement, and that the program of surrender and sacrifice and the liquidation which, he declared, would be inevitable unless the proposed legislation was passed, would cost scores of billions. The cost of the proposed legislation giving direct aid, he said, with ocean carrying maintained at the present average and the maximum direct aid if American shipping were so promoted that it carried one-half the nation's deep sea commerce would exceed thirty millions annually.

Members of the Congress:

Late last February I reported to you relative to the American merchant marine, and recommended legislation which the executive branch of the government deemed essential to promote our merchant marine and with it our national welfare. Other problems were pressing and other questions were being considered, and the suggested legislation has not progressed beyond a favorable recommendation by the board of the committee has given the question a full and painstaking inquiry and study and I hope that its favorable report speedily will be given the force of law.

It will be helpful in clearing the atmosphere if we start with the frank recognition of divided opinion and determined opposition. It is no new thing that the executive branch has divided the congress on various previous occasions. Perhaps a more resolute hostility never was manifest before, and I am very sure the need for decisive action—decisive, favorable action—never was so urgent before.

SLAIN BURGLAR IDENTIFIED AS PAUL O. COUCH

Police Say Man Was Employed Last Spring at Local Cafe as Dishwasher; Disappeared Suddenly

Paul O. Couch is the man who was killed Monday night by Walton Snyder just after he had dashed out of the Snyder home at 107 South Fifth street. Positive identification of the body as that of Paul Couch was made early yesterday by Mrs. Lucy Ong Doo, proprietor of the New Republic cafe, at 122 West Central avenue. At the same time Couch was identified as the man who had worked as a dishwasher and waiter at the Gleason Hotel, at 204 1/2 South Second street, show that Couch registered there Sunday night, as Paul Couch of Detroit, Mich. In the room which he occupied at the hotel the only article in the room excepting the fixtures, furniture and bedding was one sheet of note paper. He had evidently started to write a letter on this sheet of paper, as it showed, "Albuquerque, N. M. Dear:" This was evidently written by Couch, as the writing and that shown in the note book found on his person are identical.

Earlier yesterday, before Mrs. Ong Doo identified Couch, he was identified by two roomers at the Gleason. These two are George McCarthy and J. M. Traut.

Mrs. Ong Doo said yesterday that Couch had come to the back door of the New Republic cafe last Sunday night. She had recognized Couch as the man who had worked for her as dishwasher and waiter at the Gleason Hotel, at 204 1/2 South Second street, show that Couch registered there Sunday night, as Paul Couch of Detroit, Mich. In the room which he occupied at the hotel the only article in the room excepting the fixtures, furniture and bedding was one sheet of note paper. He had evidently started to write a letter on this sheet of paper, as it showed, "Albuquerque, N. M. Dear:" This was evidently written by Couch, as the writing and that shown in the note book found on his person are identical.

She said yesterday that she did not at all distrust Couch when he came in for food but that at the hour was so late and the cafe had been closed she thought it better to send him elsewhere. So she gave him a dollar and told him to go to a restaurant where he could have a meal. Couch had his meal at the New Republic.

Mrs. Ong Doo said that Couch had worked for her for some time last spring and that he had been entirely satisfactory. She added that she had considered him a man of integrity, had trusted him fully and could not conceive him turning into a burglar.

She also said that Couch was in Trinidad, Colorado, during the past summer, according to word she had received. She said that she had received a letter from Leo A. Romero, of Trinidad, Colorado, Trinidad, saying that Couch was then in Trinidad. Romero and Couch were friends, Mrs. Ong Doo says.

Police report that Couch worked here only a short time last spring and then disappeared quite suddenly. They say his disappearance was about the same time that the Gleason Hotel was burglarized, which they made to arrest men wanted in connection with "bunco steering." Couch, they say, was stopping at the Gleason hotel at that time and that he went there to meet two men sought. They report Couch disappeared at that time and had not been seen since until Sunday night.

Police Judge George Roddy called a coroner's jury of six men yesterday to examine into and report on the killing of Couch by Walton Snyder. This jury was composed of M. Salazar, George Kauter, John Hidalgo, C. F. Jacob, P. G. Stevens and Jim Padilla. The jury exonerated Snyder. Following is the verdict rendered:

The undersigned jurors, sitting at the request of an unknown man, find that the deceased, Paul O. Couch, was shot first from the back, either pistol or rifle, by Walton Snyder while the said deceased was in the act of burglarizing the home of D. W. Magon.

WIDELY KNOWN CONVICTED MAN DIES IN PRISON

Magon Had a Record of Three Terms in Various Penitentiaries for Violation of Espionage Act

Leavenworth, Kans., Nov. 21 (By the Associated Press).—Ricardo Flores Magon, alias "The Scorpion," who died in the federal penitentiary here today, was one of the most widely known men convicted under the espionage act. He was charged with inciting revolution in Mexico while the United States was engaged in the world war.

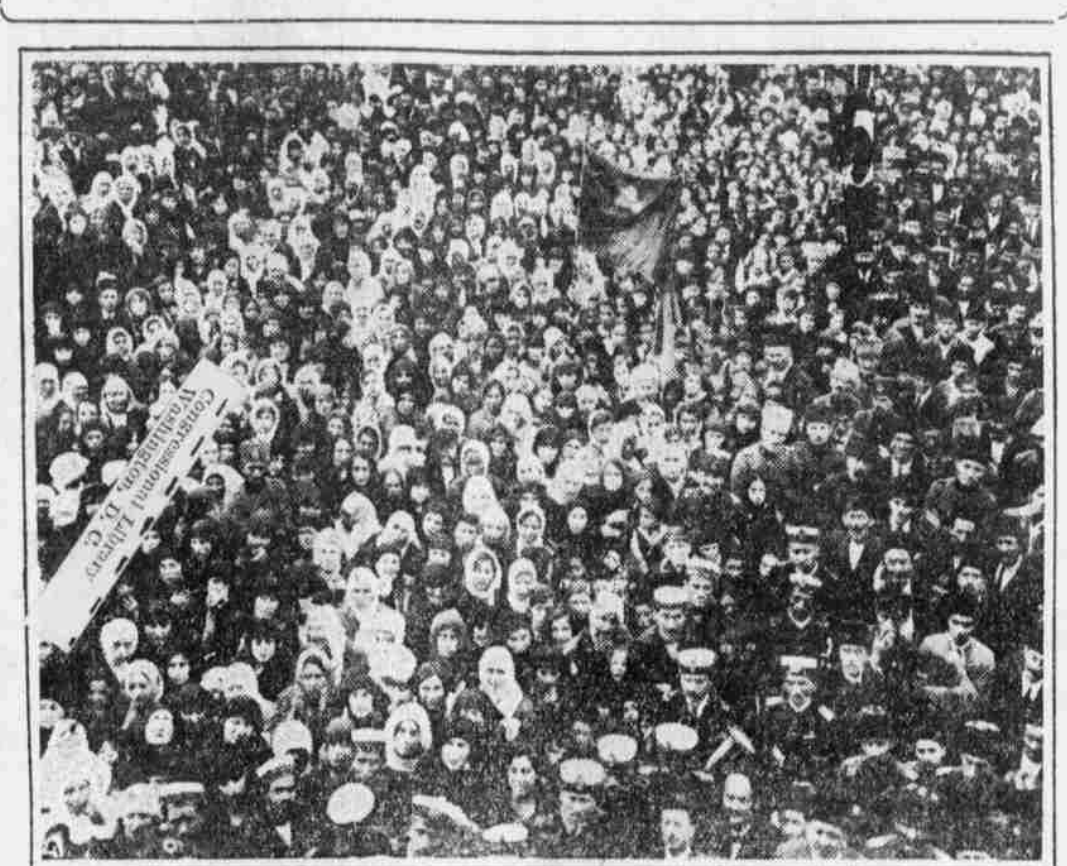

Magon had records of three terms in various prisons. His last conviction grew out of the publication in Los Angeles in 1913 of alleged disloyal articles in a magazine, a newspaper owned by Magon and Liberato Rivera.

The government alleged that the articles, which were printed in Spanish, were calculated to prejudice the large Mexican population of southern California against the prosecution of the war by this country and then incite the Mexicans to act against this government.

Magon and Rivera were sentenced to 20 and 15 years, respectively, in the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Washington. Magon was transferred to the Leavenworth prison November 3, 1919.

In 1912 Magon was convicted in the United States district court at Los Angeles with Rivera and Enrique Magon, a brother, for violation of neutrality laws in inciting revolution against the government of Mexico. They were sentenced to 23 months' imprisonment at McNeil Island. The sentencing was followed by rioting in the federal building by several hundred Mexicans.

Veil Lowered by Turkish Women; Fair Sex Show Faces on Street

Turkish women on Constantinople street minus veils.

The Turkish Nationalist movement, which for centuries has hidden the faces of Turkish women, now is being discarded and the appearance of unveiled women is becoming a common sight on the streets of the Turkish capital.

GEORGIA WOMAN TAKES THE OATH AS U. S. SENATOR

Mrs. W. H. Felton's Effort to "Blaze the Path for American Womanhood" Crowned With Success

Washington, Nov. 21.—Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia took the oath of office today as the first woman United States senator. It was true that her first problem was the only one of her kind, but she overcame it with success the ceremony crowned with success the effort of the 37-year-old lady had made to "blaze the path for American womanhood" in the senate and it was indicated that she would be content to step aside tomorrow in favor of Walter F. George, who was elected November 7 as her successor to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Watson. It was to the vacancy caused by his death that Mrs. Felton was appointed last September to serve until the November election.

Attracted a Crowd
The seating of Mrs. Felton attracted a crowd to the senate chamber, which revealed that she greeted President Harding a short time before at the house, where he addressed congress in joint session.

When she was directed to proceed to the rostrum for the administering of the oath of office, her face broke into a smile. On the arm of Senator Harris of Georgia, and lifting her gown daintily, she walked down the center aisle and up to the vice president's desk, where Senator Cummins of Iowa, president pro tempore, was presiding in the absence of Vice President Coolidge.

Senator Cummins motioned for her to raise her right hand and she exhibited her only sign of unfamiliarity with the proceedings, waving her hand to Mr. Cummins and smiling as if receiving a similar salute. Senator Harris nudged her arm, however, and she then raised it, gazing intently at Senator Cummins as the oath was delivered and given her response in a low voice.

The seating of Mrs. Felton had been expected in view of the fact agreement of senate leaders in the face of her response in a low voice. Her status after the election on November 7 of her successor. But for a time today it appeared as though such objection might be offered and defiance assumed that the oath would be administered without reaching until a delay of two hours.

Walsh Supports Her Claim
The principal delay was due to an address of Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, in support of her claim to the senate seat.

Before going to the capital to see Mrs. Felton, she went to the White House and paid her respects to President Harding. She is expected to be in her seat in the senate tomorrow, but it is understood that Senator-elect George will present his claim to the seat after Mrs. Felton has answered roll call and perhaps delivered a brief address. Then it is understood she will retire without objection in favor of the vice president.

Mr. George, whose delay in presenting his election credentials made possible the seating of the first woman senator.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Christian Wetherell Stevenson, author of the American passion play produced at Los Angeles last summer, died today at the home of her sister, Mrs. Samuel Henderson, at Media, near here.

Mrs. Stevenson became ill two weeks ago in New York after her return from Los Angeles, where she had been engaged in the production of the play. Overwork is said to have brought on her illness.

Mrs. Stevenson was one of the founders of the Philadelphia Art alliance and was active in all movements tending to raise community artistic standards.

DAVIS TENDERED PLACE ON STATE SUPREME BENCH

Is Offered the Vacancy Created by the Resignation of Justice Reynolds; Says He Has Not Decided

Special to The Journal
Santa Fe, Nov. 21.—The post of associate justice of the New Mexico supreme court has been tendered to Judge S. B. Davis, Jr., who resigned from the supreme bench in September to enter the race for United States senator. A vacancy will exist when Gov. M. C. McChesney resigns the office of chief justice. The resignation of Chief Justice Reynolds, which is composed of a majority of the senate, has not yet been made. He said last night, shortly after his arrival here on a brief business visit, that he anticipates a considerable degree of cooperation between the republican senate and the democratic house.

"The democratic house intends to carry out the platform pledges of the democratic party," said Mr. Davis last night, "and that means it will undertake a program of progressive and beneficial legislation. I believe the republican senate will at least make no effort at obstruction. The result of the state expect something constructive and progressive from the legislature, and I believe each house will try to outdo the other in civility to the other."

Mr. Davis, like Governor-elect Hinkle, said the democratic administration is determined to make good on its platform pledges and will work for greater efficiency in state government, at least through reduction in waste. He looks for as short a session of the legislature as can be held, for the intention is to get the work of the lawmakers completed as quickly as may be thoroughly done.

When Mr. Davis takes up the gavel of the state senate, he will preside over a body for which he was a candidate two years ago.

LIFTING BAN ON CAPITALISTS IS PLAN OF LENINE

Moscow, Nov. 21 (By the Associated Press).—The Soviet government must not be afraid to give concessions to foreign capitalists, Premier Lenin declared at a great meeting of the Moscow soviet in the grand opera house last night. Five thousand persons, the largest crowd that has been in the auditorium since the Bolshevik revolution, heard him.

"Russia," said Lenin, "is so big and has such wonderful economic possibilities that there is no reason to refuse any fair proposition from interests outside the country. We will make such favorable arrangements that the capitalists will be compelled to come to do business with us despite their present enmity toward us."

He emphasized that Russia's legislation was so framed that it was quite possible for capitalists to engage in business here safely and under almost normal conditions reaping fair profits for their undertakings.

He remarked that there were many difficulties still confronting Russia—new problems which demanded new methods and new men to carry them out.

"We must strive to learn to work under the new conditions," he continued, "we must learn to be flexible. Of all that we have gained in our five years' struggle, there is nothing we shall give back to the bourgeoisie. We must not dismiss any of our old aims and under almost normal conditions reaping fair profits for their undertakings."

Individuals and government officials were urged by the premier to do things in a practical manner. It was his desire to satisfy the people by the new methods so that there would be no one who wanted to go back to the old state of affairs.

SLIGHT EARTHQUAKE SHOCK FELT AT HILO
Hilo, Island of Hawaii, Nov. 21 (By the Associated Press).—A slight earthquake was felt here early this morning but no damage was reported. The tremor caused considerable excitement because of reports from the continental United States Sunday telling of an earth disturbance that had practically wiped out the city. These reports were due to a mistake in radio readings.

BACA EXPECTS CO-OPERATION IN LAWMAKING

Lieutenant Governor-Elect Looks for Senate to Assist in Passing Progressive Legislation.

Jose A. Baca of Las Vegas, who was elected lieutenant-governor at the recent state election, looks for some progressive and beneficial legislation to be passed at the opening session of the legislature. Mr. Baca, who is a democrat, will preside over the state senate, which is composed of a majority of republicans. He said last night, shortly after his arrival here on a brief business visit, that he anticipates a considerable degree of cooperation between the republican senate and the democratic house.

"The democratic house intends to carry out the platform pledges of the democratic party," said Mr. Davis last night, "and that means it will undertake a program of progressive and beneficial legislation. ## LABOR BOARD TO HEAR CLERKS', CARRIERS' DISPUTES THURSDAY

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Disputes between the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, which did not strike during the recent shopmen strike, although voting to do so, and forty-one carriers, will be heard by the United States railroad labor board Thursday morning.

Most of the disputes are limited to the request for increase in rates of pay amounting approximately to the rate established by the board July 1, 1921. These employees had been reduced 3 and 4 cents an hour on July 1, 1922.

The petition will be heard the application for increase in rates of pay by the Brotherhood of Railroad Station Employees against a number of the same carriers.

FILE A SUIT TO OUST
THE KLAN IN KANSAS
Topeka, Kans., Nov. 21.—An ouster suit against the Ku Klux Klan in Kansas was filed today in court here today, the names of seven Kansans are given as defendants along with that of the order.

The petition charges the Klan is operating illegally because it has no Kansas charter. It states that the Klan has several thousand members in Kansas, partly of whom are unknown to the petitioner and that the organization is a secret one, using secret signs and holding secret meetings.

The individuals named as defendants are W. J. Robinson, H. J. Ballard, Thomas R. Dally, Bruce Kinke, Richard Martin, W. D. McCrab and Noble C. McCall.

BURCH DEFENSE RESTS
Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—The defense in the trial of Arthur C. Burch for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy rested late today and the prosecution began introducing rebuttal testimony which Deputy District Attorney W. S. Clark said he expected would be concluded tomorrow.

LANDS NOW HELD BY INDIANS ARE NOT IN DANGER

Senator Bursum Explains Workings of His Proposed Bill; Says It Will Work Justice to the Red Man

Senator H. O. Bursum of New Mexico, author of the Indian land grants bill, emphatic in his statement that the proposed law will not deprive the Indians of New Mexico of one foot of land which they now possess. He declares that the bill is misunderstood; that it protects the Indian as well as the settler, and that it is intended to do justice to all persons concerned. Mr. Bursum yesterday gave the Morning Journal a statement concerning the bill.

The bill is fair. In the first place, the bill is a perfectly fair bill. There is no intention on the part of anyone else with the bill, other than the framing of it or its passage, who has the slightest desire to in any way infringe on the rights of the Indians. The bill represents the result of a somewhat lengthy and careful investigation by impartial representatives of the government.

The non-Indians who are involved in the present controversy, at least most of them, were born upon the lands situated within the so-called Pueblo grants, which means town grants. The ancestors of these non-Indians were living upon these lands, holding the title, long before the present state of New Mexico was taken over from Mexico under the treaty subsequent to the Mexican war. All of these people are in perfect harmony with the Indians during all of these years preceding and after the war with Mexico.

"The titles and rights of the non-Indians have been recognized as valid and had not been questioned, either by the government or by the Indians, until the Sandoval case, decided by the supreme court. This decision cast a cloud upon these titles. The representatives of the government, and particularly the department of the interior, being desirous of according a square deal to all concerned, have decided to make a new survey of the titles. Thereupon representatives of the settlers and representatives of the government held a conference in which the commissioners of Indian affairs, the purpose of considering all of the facts in the premises and for the further purpose of determining the proper remedies essential to extending justice to all and also to making most effective and with the least expense and embarrassment to all interested parties."

A hearing was held before the secretary of the interior. The result of all these proceedings was a mutual agreement to submit for consideration of congress the legislation which is embodied in the bill known as the Bursum Indian bill, which has since passed the senate.

Settler Must Prove
In all of the procedure as provided by the bill, the Indian is favored. The burden of proof is upon the settler. He is limited to five years to file his complaint. No cost will be taxed against any settler who need not employ an attorney under the bill. The purpose of the bill is to make a survey of the titles from the government of Spain, titles acquired under the laws of Mexico, and recognized. Ten years' reasonable adverse possession prior to 1910 is recognized. Under the laws of the new Mexico peaceable adverse possession for ten years constitutes a valid right to the land possessed. So that it will be recognized that in this case the Indian is favored by requiring, at least, twenty-two years' adverse possession of land before the settler can successfully make claim to the same.

"Not only is this legislation important to settlers, but it is also important to the Indian, because the bill will quiet title to the Indians upon all lands embraced within the Pueblo grants, except those lands which the settler has produced to the court rightfully belong to him."

"It is by no means a determined fact that the lands now belong to the Indians, and for that reason and to that extent this legislation will redound to his advantage. I am in favor of doing justice to the Indian."

AMERICA PLAYS BRIEF PART IN PEACE MEETING

Lausanne, Nov. 21.—The United States played a brief part in the heart of the peace conference today, Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador to Italy, making a declaration before the assembled delegates of the position of the official observers representing America.

American participation in the conference will consist of joining in the discussions and safeguarding as far as possible rights which the United States feels must be protected in the interest of America and the rest of the world. The American observers will not vote or act as members of any of the commissions.

Two sessions of the conference were held today. At the first, the organization of three commissions was arranged, the first on political and military matters, with an English chairman; the second on economic, financial, and public health, with a French chairman; and the third on capitulations, minority populations and similar questions, under an Italian chairman.

The afternoon session was devoted largely to a general discussion.

OBSESSION NOT TO RESIGN
Washington, Nov. 21.—The Mexican embassy announced tonight it had been officially authorized to press reports appearing in some American newspapers to the effect that President Obregon, due to ill health, was going to resign his office and be succeeded by Secretary of Finance de la Huerta.

M. CLEMENCEAU DELIVERS FIRST PUBLIC ADDRESS IN METROPOLIS

Militarists in Germany Already Are Preparing for Another War, French 'Tiger' Tells Audience

'GREATEST CRISIS'

Former Premier Urges the United States to Renew Conversations With England and France

New York, Nov. 21 (By the Associated Press).—The militarists in Germany already are preparing another war, Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France, declared tonight in the first address of his American tour.

"Don't you read the newspapers," he said, "don't you know what the means?"

The Tiger of France, speaking fervently before a packed house at the Metropolitan opera house, pointed to a rapprochement of the Turco and soviet Russia as ominous war clouds.

German Plan a Coup
In a speech in his criticism, Clemenceau and other German militarists were planning a coup against the democratic government there.

Describing the present as a time of "greatest crisis," he urged that the United States should renew conversations with France and England to prevent the possibility of committing the country to any program, would present to Germany a picture of the three unpleasant folks who faced her in the war.

He said that sooner or later America would have to interest herself in the post-war affairs of Europe, because she could not continue to be a bystander and wealthy if Europe was covered with blood.

He expressed hope that the United States would establish a plan as to what was to be done in carrying out the terms of the peace treaty and join with England and France in imposing it on Germany.

He was frank in his criticism of America's post-war attitude, declaring that America had a large share in imposing the peace terms and had a duty to see that they were carried out.

Challenging the worth of Germany's signature to a treaty, the Tiger declared that if France had not been so weak in 1918, the treaty would have been unpaid four years later, she would have gone on to Berlin.

Burst of Applause
The Tiger received a great burst of applause for the assertion.

M. Clemenceau, who protested that he came to America on no official mission but as a private citizen, declared that reparations was an American idea, because President Wilson had come forward with his famous fourteen points in 1918, and the reparations represented essentially the American point of view.

At mention of Woodrow Wilson there was another great burst of applause.

Expressing the hope that America could find some way of renewing conversations with France and England, looking toward enforcement of the peace treaty, Clemenceau said:

"I don't want to speak of the league of nations. But I might, I might."

The Tiger said he did not believe in the league as a means of preventive war, but that he believed in it as a means of arranging the order of the world, so as to give people time to think.

"You have seen one of the greatest dramas in the world," he said, "and now in the greatest crisis of the world, the world will owe and what effect European misery may have on American prosperity."

He asked what America had done for war and what she had gained.

He said America had come to the last point where she was torn in two. No sacrifice, no effort, no effort of her own, she would to assert herself, as the world she had vanquished was unable to do anything just at the present moment.

2 MAJOR LEAGUERS
ARE BARNSTORMING
LANDS INFORMED
Chicago, Nov. 21.—Investigation of reports that two major league baseball players are violating the rule regarding barnstorming by playing winter baseball on the Pacific coast, was started today by Commissioner K. M. Landis, upon his return from the east. The players mentioned are Bill Piercy, pitcher of the Boston Red Sox and "Red" Oldham, twirler of the Detroit Tigers. They are alleged to have been members of a club which played in Los Angeles last Sunday.

S. P. SEEKING TO RETAIN CONTROL OF C. P. SYSTEM

Appeals to the I. C. C., Despite Decision of the Supreme Court Ordering the Merger Dissolved

Washington, Nov. 21.—The appeal of the Southern Pacific company to be allowed to retain control of the Central Pacific, despite a supreme court decision ordering the merger dissolved, came to hearing today with six western states, the Union Pacific railroad and number of communities, traffic associations and stockholders appearing as interveners. The general offices of the merged system, L. J. Spence, director of traffic, and F. L. Burekhalter, assistant general manager, completed direct statements supporting the application before the first day's proceedings ended.

Interveners Divided
While the Union Pacific appeared to oppose the Southern Pacific position, the array of interveners was divided for and against its proposals. Fred H. Wood, counsel for the Southern Pacific, challenged the entrance of the California Producers and Shippers' association, terming it "merely the Union Pacific operating under an alias," as charge which E. F. Tredwell, for the association, promised to meet at the proper time, but cross examination of witnesses was reserved and the proceedings continued without any sharper rising of the issues.

Unity Would Be Disrupted
This unity would be disrupted by the dissolution order by the supreme court, Mr. Burekhalter asserted, adding in summing up that the disruption would result in an additional expenditure of $2,000,000 annually in additional general expense for two companies to render exactly the same transportation service the Pacific coast now receiving. Shops built and owned by one company, now used by both, would have to be vacated in part in some places, he said, and others built elsewhere.

At Sacramento, Cal., he said, the merged system had a manufacturing establishment with a $1,000,000 annual payroll, converting waste metal hauled in from all the lines into finished products re-used by both concerns and its continuance would necessarily be embarrassing. The application pending before the commission seeks to allow the Southern Pacific retain control of the Central Pacific under lease until such time as the interstate commerce commission may determine whether it desires to authorize the consolidation of the two roads in accordance with the terms of the Indians. I am equally in favor of doing justice to the non-Indian. Will Not Concede

"This bill will not take away from the Indian a single foot of land that he now possesses. To give the Indian lands which do not belong to him at the expense of the non-Indian would be a rank injustice, which the principles upon which this government is founded will not tolerate. If the Indian is in need of more land than he now has, let the government set aside lands for his benefit. If lands upon which homes were built more than a century ago are not entitled to be recognized as a valid right, then I say we must have a peculiar notion of what constitutes justice. If the toll, privation and devoted energy of the pioneers who came to this country before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock and who were tolerated and permitted to establish the possession of their homes by both Spain and Mexico are to suffer the ruthless confiscation of the accumulations of more than a century, then I say this is a misdeed of sense of justice."

Professionals Interested
"Another outstanding feature is the prominent part that professional men are taking in the carrying out of propaganda and publicity; professionally who I am informed are working for the compensation, by an attorney or a perfectly legitimate, also the services of a professional organizer or attorney are also an item that may be properly compensated, but in giving weight to the force of professional men in the creation of public opinion, the fact that they are either paid a fee or a salary should be taken into consideration by the people."

"If there is any item contained in the bill which is not in accordance with what constitutes a square deal, attention to such item or any defect of the bill may appear in the bill may be called to the attention of the committee of Indian affairs of the congress, when public hearings will be held, and I am sure that the committee will gladly hear opinions that may be proposed by any person or organization or by the agents of such persons or organizations."
"The committee of congress will not be guided by propaganda or any prejudice sought to be instilled in the public mind, but will be guided by a desire to extend to all concerned a square deal and a fair deal based on actual facts and the relation which those facts bear to actual existing conditions."

FORTUNE FOR VANDERBILT
Portsmouth, R. I., Nov. 21.—William J. Vanderbilt, on his twenty-first birthday Friday, will come into possession of the fortune left him by his father, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who lost his life in the sinking of the Lusitania.

In London the proportion of females to 1,000 males has risen from 1,127 in 1911 to 1,165 in 1921 and there has been an increase of 25,922 in widows during that period.

push to build in establishing ship yards wherever men would organize to expand government money when we made ship builders over night quite without regard to previous occupations or pursuits. I would not have any shipyard built unless it was constructed without any formulated program for a merchant marine. The war emergency impelled and the cry was for ships, any kind of ships. The error is recalled in regret rather than criticism. The point is that our fleet costing approximately three billions, is worth only a fraction of the cost today."

Whatever that fraction may be, the truth remains that we have no market in which to sell the ships under our present policy, and a program of surrender and sacrifice and the liquidation which is inevitable unless the pending legislation is sanctioned with cost of scores of millions more."

When the question is asked, why the insistence for the merchant marine act now, the answer is simple. We are waiting for inspiration which lies in a constructive plan for maintaining our flag on the commercial highways of the seas, waiving the principle in safety against another $3,000,000,000 madness if we ever again impel, we have the unavoidable task of wiping out a $500,000,000 surplus in operation and these aggressive many hundreds of millions in worn out, sacrificed or scrapped shipping. Then the supreme humiliation, the admission that United States—our America once eminent among the maritime nations of the world—is incapable of asserting itself in the peace of the world. It is a doubly humiliating when we own the ships and fall in the genius and capacity to turn their power toward the wants of the world."

Can't Ignore Problem
This problem can no longer be ignored. Its attempted solution can no longer be postponed. The failure of an attempt to act decisively will be no less disastrous than adverse action.

Three courses of action are possible and the choice among them is no longer to be avoided. The first is constructive—maintain the pending bill under which we firmly believe an American merchant marine, privately owned and operated, but serving all the people and always available to the government in any emergency, may be established. The second is obstructive—continue government operations and attending government losses and disbursements private enterprise and government. The third is destructive—involve the sacrifice of our ships abroad, or the sacrifice of our aspirations and the confession of our impotence to the world in general, and our humiliation before the competing world in particular.

A choice among these three is inevitable. It is unbelievable that the American people or the congress which expresses their power will consent to surrender and destruction. It is equally unbelievable that our people and the congress which translates their wishes into action will longer sustain a program of obstruction and attending losses to the treasury.

I have come to urge the constructive alternative, to reassert an American "we will" and to ask you to relieve the responsible administrative branch of the government from a program upon which failure and hopelessness and staggering losses are written for every page, and let us turn to a program of assured shipping to serve us in war and to give security to our commercial independence in peace.

I know full well the hostility in the popular mind to the word "subsidy." It is stressed by the opposition and associated with "special privilege" by those who are failing advocates of government aid whenever vast numbers are directly concerned. "Government aid" would be a fairer term than "subsidy" in defining what we are seeking to do for our merchant marine, and the interests are those of all the people, even though the aid goes to the few who serve it. If government aid is a fair term—and I think it is—to apply to authorization aggregating $75,000,000 to promote good roads for navigation it is equally fit to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of American market highways on the salted seas. If government aid is the proper definition for fifteen to forty million annually expended to improve and maintain inland water ways in aid of commerce, it is a proper designation for a needed assistance to establish and maintain ocean highways where there is actual commerce to be carried.

But call it "subsidy" since there are those who prefer to appeal to make frank and logical arguments. We might as well call the annual loss of fifty millions which we are paying now without any return, as we might as well call it a "subsidy." If so, I am proposing to cut in half, approximately, and to the saving that effected there would be added millions upon millions of further savings through ending losses on capital account—government capital out of the public treasury, always remembered—and there would be at least the promise and the prospect of the permanent establishment of the needed merchant marine.

I challenge every institution of favored interests and the enrichment of the special few at the expense of the public treasury I am first of all, appealing to have the treasury. For the unlimited bestowal of government aid might justify the apprehension of special favoring, but the pending bill, the first ever proposed which carried such a provision automatically guards against enrichment or perpetuated bestowal. It provides that shipping lines receiving government aid must have their actual investment and their operating expenses audited by the government, that government aid will only be paid until the shipping enterprise earns ten per cent actual capital employed, and immediately that when more than ten per cent earnings is reached, half of the excess earnings must be applied to the repayment of the government aid which has been previously advanced. Thus the possible earnings are limited to a very reasonable amount. If capital is to be risked and management is to be

DISCUSS MARKET ABROAD FOR U. S. FARM PRODUCTS

Though differing in detail, it is not more in proportion to the population and capacity than other great nations have done in aiding the establishment of their merchant marines, and it is timely to recall that we have them our commerce to aid in their rebuilding economic distress to tasks is to rebuild and establish in the face of their most active competition. Indeed the American development will have to overcome every obstacle which may be put in our path, except as international commodity forbids. But I wish to stress the American viewpoint. Cereals should be the viewpoint from which the American carrier at sea, the dependence of American commerce, and American vessels for American reliance in the event of war. Some of the early lessons of war must be learned again and again, but our shipping lesson in the world war was much too costly to be forgotten from the memory of this or future generations.

Not so many months ago the head of a company operating a fleet of ships under our flag called at the executive offices to discuss a permit to transfer his fleet to a foreign flag. He based his request for transfer on the allegation that by such a transfer he could reduce his labor costs alone sufficiently to provide a profit on capital invested.

In good conscience congress has created by law conditions surrounding labor on American ships which shipping men the world over declare results in higher costs of operation under our flag. I frankly rejoice if higher standards for labor on American ships have been established. Merest justice suggests that when congress fixes these standards, it is fair to extend government aid in maintaining them until world competition is brought to the same high level or until our shipping lines are so firmly established that they face world competition on equal terms.

Individual exchanges of opinion, not a few in house or senate, have uttered a discouraging doubt about the sentiment of their constituents. It would be most discouraging if a measure of such transcending national importance must have its fate depend on geographical, occupational, professional or personal objections. Frankly I think it is a matter of policy designed to effect the larger good to the nation than merely record the heavy impressions of constituents. Out of the harmonized aspirations and the united efforts of all people will come the greater republic. When people fall in the national viewpoint and live in the confines in community selfishness or narrowness, the sun of this republic will have passed its zenith and our larger aspirations will shrivel in the approaching twilight.

Facts to Deal With
But let us momentarily put aside the inspiring vision of the viewpoint. Here are facts to deal with, not fancies wrought out of our political and economic disputes. The abolition of the annual losses, and the better management of the account are of concern to all the people.

It is my firm belief that the combined savings of operating losses and the protection of the capital account through more advantageous sales of our war built or war seized ships because of the favorable policy which the pending bill will establish will more than pay every dollar expended in government aid for twenty-five years to come.

From this point of view it is the simple, incontestable wisdom of businesslike dealing to save all that is possible of the annual loss and avoid the millions sure to be lost to the government's capital account in sacrificing our fleet.

Thus far I have been urging government aid to American shipping, having in mind every interest in producing population whether of mine, factory or farm, because expanding commerce is the foremost thought of every nation in the world today.

It is in government aid to American shipping that we have aided the construction of market roads and the improvement of inland waterways. We expended millions in investigation and experimentation to promote a common benefit, though a limited few are the direct beneficiaries. We have loaned hundreds of millions to promote the marketing of American goods. It has all been commendable, and highly worth while.

Farmers Chief Sufferer
At the present moment the American farmer is the chief sufferer from the cruel readjustments which follow war's inflation, and betting government aid to our farmers is highly essential to our national welfare. No people may safely boast a good fortune which the farmer does not share.

Already the congress and the administration branch of the government have given willing ear to the agricultural plea for post war relief and much has been done which has proven helpful. Admittedly, it is not enough. Our credit systems under government provision and control must be promptly and safely broadened to relieve our agricultural distress.

To this problem and such other pressing importance as reasonable may be dealt with in the short session I shall invite your attention at an early day.

Quarreled Since Wedding Day

"My stomach and liver trouble made a regular grouch of me. I was sore at everyone, including my wife, and we quarreled every day since the wedding. She is a dear little girl and I know it was my fault. My wife found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was recommended for my stomach trouble, and since taking it I have felt like a new man. My wife and I now get along beautifully. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including gas, indigestion, constipation, hemorrhoids. ## SLAIN BURGLAR IDENTIFIED AS PAUL O. COUCH

Snyder, 407 South Fifth street in the city of Albuquerque, state of New Mexico.

While Couch signed the register at the Glendon hotel, in registering there Sunday, as being from Detroit, it is reported that when he stopped there last March he signed as being from Denver, Colorado.

Police had photographs of the dead man taken. These photographs will be sent to other cities in the hope of further identifying him. Police at Trinidad, Colorado, will also be asked to obtain whatever information is possible from Leo A. Romero, the Trinidad man reported to be a friend of Couch.

Special to The Journal
Williams, Ariz., Nov. 21.—Upon hearing the stealthy approach of an intruder upon the front porch of his home, Sunday night at 10 o'clock, Roy Hall, manager of Roberts wholesale grocery department, secured a gun and rushed out to take the prowler unawares. To his surprise, he found four men, Mexicans, evidently bent on robbing the house. Hall fired several times, as the men fled. Apparently none of them was hurt.

CLEVELAND MAN TAKES A LOCAL GIRL AS BRIDE

Miss Elliott and Frederick Webb Married at Simple Ceremony Yesterday; to Live at Cleveland

Miss Gertrude Elliott, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude E. Elliott of 524 North Second street, became the bride of Frederick Henry Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Webb of Cleveland, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a home ceremony, distinguished by its charming simplicity.

Unattended, the couple proceeded to an improvised altar of ferns and holly leaves, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. McGuire of the Methodist Episcopal church. Chrysanthemums in pink and white and palms and ferns were used in decorations for the living room which was illuminated by softly shaded candles.

The bride wore her traveling suit of taupe velveteen, with gray skirt. She carried a small bouquet of opheelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, a luncheon for the wedding guests was served at the home of Mrs. Webb.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb left Tuesday night for Cleveland where they will make their home at 2215 Deschamps Drive, the suburban road.

Shortly after the first of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Webb will leave for a honeymoon to the Bermudas.

Miss Elliott, who is a new Mexican girl, is a graduate of the Las Vegas Normal school and has attended the University of California at Berkeley. She has been a teacher of Spanish in the Albuquerque high school.

Mr. Webb, who was star full-back on the Yale football team in 1919 and 1920, has been in Albuquerque several months with the Rockley Lumber company, of which his father is a stockholder. He was graduated from Yale in 1921.

Henry Ford may, of course, be elected president; he wouldn't be the first man the fiver landed in trouble.—Columbia Record.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD FOR WM. H. GODDARD

Simple, yet impressive funeral services were held yesterday for William H. Goddard, veteran of the United States forest service, who died Saturday afternoon at Globe, Arizona. F. C. W. Fowler, district forester, and other members of the forest service attended the funeral, while six forest rangers of the Tonto national forest, acting as pallbearers.

William H. Goddard, known throughout the southwest as "Bert," was a veteran of the service and was held in high esteem by all. At the time of his death, which followed an illness of several months, he was supervisor of the Tonto national forest. He had occupied that position for the past seven years.

He entered the forest service in 1905 and came to the southwest. His first appointment as forest supervisor was to the Dault national forest. He was supervisor of the Dault forest for eight years preceding his appointment as supervisor of the Tonto forest.

Throughout the forest service as well as the southwest, Mr. Goddard was considered one of the "wheel horses" of forestry in the southwest. He was known to all members of the forest service as one of the most enthusiastic workers in forestry work in the service.

Mr. Goddard had been a frequent visitor to Albuquerque and his genial disposition had earned him many friends here as well as in other sections of the southwest. Probably no member of the forest service was so well known as Mr. Goddard.

COUNTRY AND STATE WILL BE REPUBLICAN IN 1924, SAYS BURSUM

Senator Bursum of New Mexico stated yesterday that he will return to Washington toward the close of the present month. He will attend the regular session of the senate, which begins in December, and continues until March 4. Senator Bursum said he was unable to predict whether there would be a special session for the new congress, elected on November 7. He said he looked for constructive work to be done for the good of the entire country.

Mr. Bursum said the democratic victory in New Mexico was the greatest political upset that has been seen since 1890. He does not expect a repetition of it, he said. In his opinion the republican majority in congress, in cooperation with a republican president, will so successfully meet the problems of the present unsettled condition of the country that there will be a big return to the republican party on the part of the voters in this state and in all parts of the country.

ALBUQUERQUE WISHES TO SHOW TRAINMEN'S HEAD HER ADVANTAGES

Albuquerque is anxious to show William G. Lee, president of the Order of Railway Trainmen, that it has the climate and other advantages for a first-class tuberculosis sanatorium. The trainmen expect to establish such an institution for the order, in one of the southwestern states, and Mr. Lee has been traveling about looking for a location. Manager M. L. Fox of the chamber of commerce yesterday sent him a telegram inviting him to come here. Mr. Lee was in San Antonio, Texas, yesterday, having gone there from El Paso, and is expected to be in Amarillo in a few days. The trainmen are creating a fund of $2,000,000 with which to establish the sanatorium.

VETERANS' PENSION MEASURE INTRODUCED

Washington, Nov. 21.—Pension of $72 a month for civil war and Mexican war veterans were proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Foster, republican of Ohio. Widows of civil war veterans would be paid $50 a month and $4 for each child of the veteran. The bill also would provide pensions of $35 a month for widows of veterans of the war of 1812. Civil war army nurses would receive $50 per month.

LAND OFFICE TO HAVE NEW FORCE UNDER MR. BACA?

The entire office force of the state land commissioner will quit work on the night of December 31, according to a report received yesterday from good authority in Santa Fe. Justino Baca, state land commissioner, elect, paid a call on the office Monday and was informed by the employees that they did not care to remain at work under the new commissioner, the report had it. It had been generally understood here that Mr. Baca would retain a number of department heads and other employees, some of whom have been connected with the office for many years, for an indefinite period. It is understood that Charles B. Baker, who has been connected with the legal department of the office, will enter the practice of law in Santa Fe, devoting the larger part of his time to land business.

If the report from Santa Fe is correct, Mr. Baca will be confronted with the task of building up a new office organization when he takes up his new duties. He has been in Santa Fe for several days in conference with Governor-elect James F. Hinkle and other successful candidates for state offices.

French for Engineer?

Some speculation has been indulged in here as to who will be appointed to the office of state highway engineer. James A. French of Santa Fe, who held the office from 1912 to 1915, under both democratic and republican administrations, is being put forward as a possible candidate for the appointment. Mr. French at present is engaged in engineering and contracting his firm, having just completed the construction of the Albuquerque sewage disposal works.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR OFFICIAL WILL SPEAK AT CONVENTION HERE

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, associate president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, will deliver an address at the opening session of the New Mexico Christian Endeavor convention, Friday night, December 1. The Rev. Arthur M. Knudsen announced last night. Dr. Poling will be in Holbrook, Ariz., the latter part of November and he was expected to stop here and deliver an address. Dr. Poling served overseas during the world war and is said to be an entertaining speaker. The convention sessions will be held at the First Presbyterian church.

PILING IS BEING DRIVEN FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM

French, Harvey and Peabody, the Santa Fe firm which has the contract for the construction of the city's new sewage disposal works on the Rio Grande river south of town, included a carload of piling on the site yesterday. Piling for the foundations will be driven beginning today. It is expected that it will be necessary to drive piles to the depth of at least 25 feet to reach solid rock. The company announced yesterday that it would push the work as rapidly as possible.

BOND-DILLON COMPANY TO MOVE BUSINESS TO SACRAMENTO SHORTLY

The Bond-Dillon company, which has been engaged in the wholesale grocery for several years, will remove its headquarters to Sacramento, Calif., shortly after December 1, according to announcement made yesterday by W. H. Booth, general manager of the corporation. The firm will take with it from Albuquerque several prominent citizens who are connected with it, including Fred L. Kottmann, M. C. Crumley, George Muller, F. A. Brown and Mr. Booth.

SCENE OF TRIAL OF GOVERNOR IS SHIFTED TO ADA

County Attorney, However, Will Ask Today That Robertson's Case Be Returned to Okmulgee

Okmulgee, Okla., Nov. 21.—The scene of the legal battle being waged against Gov. J. E. Robertson of Oklahoma on a charge of accepting a bribe, shifted tonight from Okmulgee, where the indictment against the executive was returned to Ada in Pontotoc county, the ground selected by the governor upon which to stand trial.

Another barrier to the final action, which will result in acquittal or conviction, was leaped today as the governor's attorneys and the county attorney, however, will ask today that Robertson's case be returned to Okmulgee.

Thomas A. Edwards of Cordell, James Hepburn, Okmulgee county attorney, the governor's prosecutor, will seek to have the case removed to Ada. The move will be resisted by counsel for Governor Robertson.

If Judge Edwards finds that the action last Thursday of Judge Lucien B. Wright of Creek county, sitting here, in granting a change of venue to Ada, was regular and legal, the next contest in prospect is on a motion of the governor to quash the indictment against him.

Decision upon the governor's contention that the proceedings of the Okmulgee county grand jury in indicting him were not legal, will determine whether his case will go to trial before a jury.

Sitting here today, Judge Edwards ruled that the Okmulgee county district court no longer has jurisdiction in the case. A motion by County Attorney Hepburn, seeking to have vacated Judge Wright's order transferring the case to Ada, was not heard, it being understood that in Ada, the case would be heard.

Thereupon the county attorney said he would file a supplementary motion tomorrow morning at Ada, asking that the change of venue from Okmulgee court be vacated.

A copy of the new motion drafted by Hepburn covers the same allegations contained in the motion filed in district court here, with the exception of the charge that Governor Robertson meted out a conviction from the state penitentiary on condition that the convict attend the governor's trial and kill Hepburn.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS IN ARTESIA GROW FAST IN INTEREST

Artesia, N. M., Nov. 21.—The past week was devoted to home athletics among the public schools. The high school met its opponents on the gridiron, but rested after the hard tussle with Roswell high school, in order to be in excellent shape for the game to be played with the fast New Mexico Military Institute Prep team this week. The two teams have met previously this season and Artesia high won by a 20 to 12 score. Coach Adams is confident that the local lads will again be victorious. No first string men were injured in the Roswell game on Armistice day.

The high school second team, which met defeat at the hands of the Junior high school team by a score of 19 to 0, met the same team again this week in a hard fought game, which resulted in a 9 to 0 tie. The second squad was strengthened by the addition of Williams, Tidwell and Pollard, who are letter men on the first team. However, these men were shifted from their regular position at ends and center and into the backfield. The scrappy little gladiators from the Junior high played over them, and Rowland, 115 pound tackle, and Turknett at center, were the stellar performers in the line. Gerner, House, and Adams for the Junior high and Tidwell and Pollard and Feinster were the outstanding stars for the high school.

The Junior high school girls defeated a picked team from the faculty members of the entire system by a score of 19 to 7. This was the first girls' basketball game witnessed in Artesia this season. Several good teams are working hard at practice.

APOLLO CLUBMEN ARE "FOOLED" WITH NOTICE

Members of the Apollo club went through an experience of the "fooling at the church" last Monday night. And it was all due to the fact that a notice was published yesterday in an afternoon paper to the effect that the members would meet at St. John's guild hall last night.

Now it was the practice of the Apollo club to hold its meetings at St. John's guild hall in the dim and misty past. But sometime like a year ago the meeting place was changed to the Woman's club and meetings have been held there since that time.

However, some of the members of the Apollo club took the notice of Monday night at face value. They thought the meeting place had again been moved back to the old site at St. John's guild hall, which is just in rear of St. John's church. So, a number of them went around to the hall and there they were "waiting at the church."

A. F. OF L. WILL TAKE AN INTEREST IN MOVE TO OUST DAUGHTERTY

Washington, Nov. 21.—The American Federation of Labor, according to a formal statement tonight, "will manifest a general interest in every phase" of the proceedings instituted in the house which seek impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty. The statement added, however, that the federation's primary interest would be directed at those men whose labor questions were involved.

The federation's executive committee, according to the statement, is prepared to produce "dramatic evidence" and also to offer evidence about which the public this far has had no intimation.

The Chicago indictment against the rail union leaders and the appointment of William J. Burke as head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, will be "two of the principal issues" under discussion of the federation, according to the statement.

Thieves take all contents of tailor shop at Williams.

Williams, Ariz., Nov. 21.—A thief has been found of the thieves who on Monday night broke into the clothing and tailoring shop of W. H. Allison and carried off the entire stock of merchandise and a few suits belonging to customers. Officers believe the robbery was committed by a band of thieves traveling by auto.

Sheriff Campbell and George B. Dutton spent all night searching in the canyon west of town for an escaped inmate of the insane asylum. The inmate had been recaptured but made a second escape from an officer at Ash Fork. He is still at large.

Ralph Hernandez to join veteran bureau.

Ralph Hernandez has been appointed to the office of rehabilitation at the U. S. Veterans bureau headquarters and will on duty on November 27. He takes the place of Jesse Iwanicki, who has been transferred to Las Cruces. Mr. Iwanicki will be in charge of the vocational training school there.

H. R. Gibson, director, F. C. Wardwell, rehabilitation officer, and C. C. Heath, director in charge of the vocational school, have returned to their desks from Denver where they attended a conference of bureau officials all last week.

HOPPE REGAINS BILLIARD CROWN LOST YEAR AGO

Defeats Schaefer, Who Wrested Title From Him in 1921; Comes From Behind at Critical Stage

New York, Nov. 21.—Willie Hoppe regained his billiard crown tonight. In a major final with daring play, in which his gathering about 2,000 fans, the old champion made his sensational comeback by defeating John Schaefer, winner of the title a year ago at Chicago, by the score of 20 to 13 in the final match of the International 152 ball billiard championship tournament at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Hoppe came from behind at a critical stage of the contest when Schaefer led him by more than 100 points. At the close he put together massive runs of 188 and 200.

THE MODERN MOTHER

These problems far beyond those of the fathers. She herself must be a much more competent person, combining in one individual the duties of nurse, cook, teacher and social instructor. It is no wonder that more conscientious women break under the strain, and that others drag out a miserable existence, always tired, and yet unable to take a day's vacation. Such women will find themselves demoralized and their husbands made easier by the sin of Lydia E. ## MILLINER SEES MISSING HATS ON TWO GIRLS

Wearers Are Admiring Selves in Window of Las Vegas Store When Proprietor Calls the Police

Special to The Journal.
Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 21.—Two comely young women of Spanish descent, walking up Sixth street Saturday morning, caused before the plate glass window of the Spanish millinery emporium to admire the effect of the pretty new hats they were wearing. Much to their surprise, they were hailed by the frate milliner, who angrily inquired where they had obtained their hats, declaring them to be her property.

Mrs. Standish, who operates the emporium, had not discovered her loss until she recognized the hats on the two girls as they were passing. A survey of her store disclosed the empty stands on which the stolen hats had recently been posed. Chief Murphy was called and the young ladies were summoned into court. They disclaimed any knowledge of the theft, and said that they had purchased the hats from Pedro Duran, paying him $5 each for them.

Duran was taken into custody and his home searched for a third hat which Mrs. Standish said was missing. Although the hat was not found, the police discovered several new silk shirts which they believe to be part of the loot taken from the Style Shop some weeks ago.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Court, Monday morning, Duran pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the district court. The young ladies were released for lack of convicting evidence.

GRAND JURY IS SIFTING MURDER OF JERSEY PAIR

Thirty Witnesses Examined in the Hall-Mills Case; at Least 25 More Will Be Called

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 21 (by the Associated Press).—Thirty witnesses had told their stories when the grand jury investigating the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills finished its second session tonight. The prosecutor declared that at least 25 more would be called.

The grand jury has learned that the minister and the choir singer were murdered; that the victim was shot once through the head; that the woman was shot three times; that the shots were fired by an expert marksman; that the choir singer went by trolley and afoot to a trying place with the minister.

It is learned that the prosecutor believes Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were killed under the crab apple tree on the Phillips farm where their bodies were found.

Ordered Before Jury
George Sipel, who last night popped into the case after his wife announced he was innocent of any knowledge of it, today was ordered before the jury tomorrow. In all probability, the jury will have an opportunity to decide whether Sipel is a really vital factor in the case.

The jury heard 18 witnesses, none of whom had any really important story to give. They heard doctors tell how Mrs. Mills' throat was found to have been cut when her body and that of Rev. Hall were discovered for an autopsy. Prosecutor Mott went even farther and called two Somerville undertakers and one from New Brunswick to tell what they saw.

Mrs. Henry Blust and Mrs. Leo Harkins were the next witnesses. On the night of the murders the two women, walking along Easton avenue, told that they had seen Mrs. Mills followed by Mr. Hall walking slowly toward the Phillips farm. Mrs. Harkins' story has been that Mr. Hall appeared troubled and although he knew her, did not appear to recognize her.

Schneider Is Called
Raymond Schneider was called, presumably to tell how he found the bodies and to corroborate Pearl Bahner's story of mushroom hunting and the accidental discovery beneath the crab apple tree.

James Mills, widower of the slain choir singer, today was served in New Brunswick with a grand jury subpoena.

He took the paper just as nonchalantly as he has taken most of the other developments since the murder of his wife.

Exide BATTERIES

How long should a battery last?

Under the same conditions and with the same care, is there a difference in the length of service you will get from different makes of batteries?

There is. And you have a right to expect longer life from an Exide. Motorists who have used several kinds of batteries will tell you the Exide has unique-lasting power. We receive numerous letters telling us of Exides in service many years and still doing their unflinching duty.

It was not a paper "guarantee" that gave Exide its title of the long-life battery. This reputation has been earned by actual performance ever since cars used batteries—and the first successful battery to go in a car was the Exide.

The difference in life of an Exide makes it a real economy for you, just as its dependable power makes it a real satisfaction. The nearest Exide Service Station will gladly show you how rugged strength has been built into the Exide made for your car.

PROTECTION UNDER A SHIP SUBSIDY

Col. Robinson, President of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, voiced a great truth when he declared that development of an American Merchant Marine would benefit the whole country as well as ship owners.

Promotion of foreign trade, and the retention of hundreds of millions of dollars a year of freight charges in this country, the employment of over a hundred thousand Americans on ships, in the ship yards and in allied trades such as the steel mills and iron mines, and the creation of a naval reserve so that it will never again be necessary to create a fleet at a cost of three billion dollars in an emergency, are some of the benefits which Col. Robinson pointed out would flow from the establishment of an adequate Merchant Marine on the high seas.

And he is right in his contention. Transportation is essential to industrial prosperity; and for transportation, ocean-going vessels are as important in their own way as railroads or inland waterways. There are many people who, while they are ready to concede this principle, are opposed to a ship subsidy. These people are of the sort who balk at words and are frightened by shadows. No one will deny that America is committed to a policy of protection and what is a merchant marine but the policy of protection applied to transportation instead of to manufacturers?

It merely extends in another direction subsidizing processes long in effect but not generally recognized as such because they are not so labeled. What are reclamation projects and irrigation dams, such as the Colorado River Commission is now considering at Santa Fe, set up by the federal government in co-operation with certain states, if not a form of subsidy to land owners, stock raisers and agriculturists? What are the advances made through federal aid for highways? Subsidy. What is the War Finance Corporation? Subsidy. What are the farm mortgage banks if not to provide to those concerned at least an indirect subsidy?

These are all a fair application of a principle with which the public is thoroughly familiar. Then why deny its potential value in other ways because it happens to come under another designation? In the last analysis it is merely quibbling over words.

What Abraham Lincoln once said in the defense of the principle of protection applies equally in the case of a ship subsidy. "If I buy a pair of trousers abroad for $10.00, I have the trousers and they have the $10.00; if I buy them at home for $12.00, I have the trousers and we have the $12.00 at home." The same reasoning applies to our own ships; we have the ships and we also have the money which we spend for freight. In other words, like protection, it is a distinctly American policy.

MAKE IT THANKS GIVING.

Make Thanksgiving more than a mere day of feasting and frolic.

There are many families in need of a kind helping hand. It is on festive days like these that poverty and misery are accentuated. So if the gods have been good to you, be grateful and share your own abundance with those who have been less fortunate. Thanks for the opportunity to give is of a far finer sort than thanks for having received. Or, "To get by giving, and to lose by keeping," is an eternal truth.

A SANE IMMIGRANT POLICY.

Canada has launched the greatest immigration effort in its history. The Canadian Colonization Association in conjunction with the Overseas Settlement Fund of Great Britain has planned to bring thousands of desirable settlers to vacant lands in the provinces. In this effort Canada will spend between 30 and 40 millions of dollars.

Canada's present population from coast to coast approximates 10,000,000. Its last census showed very little growth in the number of its people. With vast territories unoccupied, containing agricultural possibilities and natural resources development of which is necessary for its material advancement, Canada has every reason for promoting growth of population through immigration. Canada has possibilities of wealth of a magnitude surpassing that of a majority of the nations of the world.

But Canada is not going into this immigration movement blindly. It proposes to select immigrants and to insist that each newcomer give promise of material assistance in her development. She will offer inducements in the way of easy terms for lands allotted and assistance in rendering them productive, but will insist that in proportion to assistance there are results accruing to her advantage. Canada's standards are high and the only question is how many immigrants will measure up to them.

BY THE WAY.

Turkey has a right to celebrate Thanksgiving this year.

The Near East is getting a little too near for the peace of the world.

The new code for women is framed to make life even more difficult for men.

It begins to look not a little as if Matilde's horseback-riding fiancé has been thrown.

The corn husker is to the rural resident what the reckless motor car driver is to the city dweller.

On the other hand, look at all the explaining at home that a man with the sultan's wives has to do.

DUG OUT BY ROOT

The wind did many naughty tricks, But the worst it did, by far, Was to blow a young man's trousers off The back seat of his car.

"Does the wind blow like this all the time?" asked a tourist yesterday. The Old Timer who had been addressed was peevish because his eyes were full of sand, and he replied, "No, it just blows like this for about two months, and then it blows like hell for the rest of the year."

Mr. Gioni may win the golf tournament, but it would seem that stronger language might be needed.

Mr. Gosh, Mr. Goodlander and Mrs. Ohse might add to the expressiveness of the tourney.

The tailors and fashion shops, it might seem, need not expect much patronage from the Darnall-Stiles wedding.

A colored pastor announced to his congregation the following subject: "Brethren and sisters, I've come to preach a powerful sermon this mornin'. I've come to define the undefinable. I've come to explain the unexplainable, and I've come to unscramble the unscrambled."

Will La Point of Las Cruces says the state is going wet republican next election. Perhaps Mr. La Point who already has won fame as a prophet believes the avalanche will have melted by that time.

We need a day like yesterday once in a while to make us appreciate what we usually have all the time.

Last summer the drought took all the water out of the Rio Grande. Yesterday the wind took all the sand out of it. And now there's no blame river left except the tin can.

The farmer flippers had a hard time yesterday trying to hold down their long skirts and keep their hair camouflaged from blowing away.

On a windy day there's much to see when e're a dandied passer. But the wind, a modest chap he is, and blows away your glasses.

"The Old Order Changeth." Yea verily, brethren, where once we ordered hard drinks we now order soft ones.

Wise and judicious modes of education, patronized and supported by communities, will draw together the sons of the rich and the poor, among whom it makes no distinction; it will cultivate the natural genius, elevate the soul, excite laudable emulation to excel in knowledge, piety, and benevolence; and, finally, it will reward its patrons and benefactors by shedding its benign influence on the public mind.

VIVE L' TIGER!

THE CAT AND THE DOG

James Brown was driving a neat little runabout down First street rather rapidly and accidentally killed a French poodle that belonged to a rich woman. James got out of his car and with a howl said: "Madam, I will replace the animal!" "Sir, you flatter yourself," she replied.

As the People View It

Editor Morning Journal: History repeats itself—Gaulle had a hard time convincing the people of the truth of his theories. It was only after insistent demand from the public that the authenticity of his day consented to investigate his claims, with the well known classic result. Today we have a doctor and scientist of San Francisco, Albert Abrams, seeking to bring forth a new method of treating and diagnosing disease that will completely revolutionize the present day methods, while the present day authorities, which in this case are the American Medical Association, can only sit back and either refuse or neglect to shed any light or information on a subject which is of vital interest to countless thousands.

For the sake of humanity and the continued faith and confidence of the people they should make a thorough and unprejudiced investigation of this man's claims, give the results to the public with the least possible delay.

Certainly the medical profession have to date accomplished nothing so wonderful. Their discoveries so far, about which there is any degree of certainty, have been all too few. Without doubt, there is at least one exact and certain of all the sciences. How then can they adopt a neutral attitude on a matter which may mark the beginning of an epoch in the eradication of disease?

Upton Sinclair is no doubt looked upon as somewhat radical in his views but he is generally regarded in journalistic circles as a truth-teller. He writes the following in Pearson's magazine: "I assume that the reader is skeptical concerning these miracles. It is proper that should be. But I say in this clinic twice a day for several weeks and in that time saw several hundred blood specimens examined. Abrams has examined to date over 12,000 blood specimens for other poisons and it is in this clinic that he has found poisons in the blood of patients who have been treated by Abrams' methods and he must have been a stage manager of supernatural skill to have taken all this variety of people, men and women from a dozen races and of ages varying from eight to 80, and taught them to play the strange roles which they played before the critical audiences. The blind are made to see, the lame to walk and many other miracles performed. Surely the public will not be content to have such claims dismissed with a wave of the hand but will insist that a careful and scientific investigation be conducted by trained observers. Here is a wonderful opportunity for science to vindicate itself."

Some one has said that by the truth we shall be set free. By all means then let us have the truth concerning this matter to the end that we may be freed from suffering. And it is to the medical profession that we look for an answer to this question.

A HARD BOILED CAPITALIST

"How would you advise one to approach Mr. Wadleigh for a loan?"
"Use the mails."
"But the spoken word?"
"I know. It's considered more effective, but the mere fact that Mr. Wadleigh would discuss his money and the fact that he is holding him down a little. If you called in person there's no telling what he'd say to you."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FATHER WAS HORRIFIED

Susan was having her first beau, a youngster who drove a truck. And often when he came to Susan's home at night, since he lived in the other part of the town, he came in the truck. The family continually twitted her about it, saying such things as "I suppose the neighbors will think we're having our confabulation at night, or 'our flour' or some other commodity. But one evening even father was horrified when one of the 10-year-old boys in the neighborhood said innocently, 'My pa said that your pa would get pinched some night if he didn't quit having so much booze hauled here after dark.' Investigation disclosed the fact

FINANCIAL

Wall Street

New York, Nov. 21.—Dullness again characterized trading in today's stock market prices moving in a confused manner and operations being almost entirely of a professional character.

Opening prices were generally firm but a new weakness of General Asphalt common and preferred and United States Rubber caused the list to turn heavy before the end of the first hour and thereafter prices bobbed up and down, generally within narrow limits.

Renewed activity was noted in the sugar shares, apparently in anticipation of favorable earnings statements in the forthcoming annual reports. American Sugar crossed 71 but closed just under that figure for a net gain of 1 1/2 points. Directors of the Cuban American Sugar company are expected to reach some decision tomorrow regarding the company's $10,000,000 surplus.

Standard railroad shares generally showed slight recessions on a comparatively small turnover, neglect of these issues being attributed to the uncertainty concerning the railroad legislative program of the present Congress.

Independent steels, motors, motor accessories, chemicals and textiles all showed up well at the start, but final prices presented a varied assortment of changes. Early buying of Midvale, which touched 22, revived reports of its possible absorption by Bethlehem, but it sold off later to 20 1/2 and then rallied to 20 3/4 for a small fractional loss. United States Steel also eased off nearly half a point while Bethlehem B. Republic and Valadium yielded at least a point each.

Baldwin, Studebaker and Corn Products enjoyed brief periods of strength but crumbled under the weight of final dealings.

Consolidated Gas showed some of its recent heaviness, advancing more than two points.

Publication of President Harding's ship subsidy message breathes a little life into marine issues, which advanced slightly and then fell back. Marine common and preferred and American International, while United Fruit sold off more than a point.

Call money opened and renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, advanced to 5 and then to 5 1/2, where it closed.

Foreign exchange showed a firm in reflection of the higher London quotations but later developed marked weakness.

THREATENING LETTER

IS RECEIVED BY A HARVARD SOPHOMORE

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21.—Hubert C. Clay, of Colorado Springs, is telling a pistol about the Harvard campus because of receipt of a letter signed "K. K. K." in which he was warned to leave the city.

He told the police that while the note might seem a serious matter, such a measure in Colorado would be deemed a serious matter. Advised by the dean to go unarmed, Clay said "Well, I'd a lot rather shoot myself than have my body tarred and feathered."

Clay, a sophomore, and a descendant of Henry Clay, says he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan and being in the Harvard policy of "striking in the dark."

CHINA VOTES TO VOID AGREEMENT FOR LOAN

Peking, Nov. 21. (By the Associated Press).—The lower house of parliament today voted to void on the ground of irregularity an agreement for a proposed loan of 5,000,000 pounds sterling by a group of German and Austrian financiers, negotiated before the world war. The house also voted to impeach Lo Wen-Kan, the minister of finance who is under arrest on a charge of receiving a personal commission in connection with the intended loan.

Lo Wen-Kan, whose imprisonment Sunday received a sensation in the capital, has refused to accept release on bond or recognizance. He declares he will remain in custody until the charges have been settled.

RECOVERS FROM RHEUMATISM

"Had rheumatism five months that would go from my left knee to my right knee. Tried many different doctors and failed. Finally used Foley Kidney Pills and in fifteen days was entirely cured," writes W. J. Oliver, Vidalia, Georgia. Backache, rheumatic pains, bad headache, dizziness and all manner of ailments are symptoms of kidney disorder. Foley Kidney Pills quickly relieve kidney and bladder trouble. Sold everywhere.—Adv.
