NO INDICTMENT
IS RETURNED BY
GRAND JURY IN DOUBLE SLAYING

"For Reasons Which Seem to Them Sufficient and Controlling," No Action Is Taken, Says Foreman

HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE IS UNSOLVED

Decision Comes After Five Days Spent by Prosecutor Mott in an Effort to

Fix Responsibility

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 25 (By the Associated Press).—"For reasons which seem to them sufficient and controlling, the grand jury took no action in the Hall-Attills case."

With these words Foreman Gibbs of the Somerset county grand jury late today made known the fact that no indictment had been returned in one of the most mystifying murder dramas that has faced the country in many years.

For five days, Special Attorney General Mott had been presenting evidence to bolster up his theory as to who killed the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, on the Phillips farm the night of September 14. Today the prosecutor presented his star witnesses and then set

Outside the jury room some one else was awaiting the decision. It was Mrs. Frances Noel Hall, the rector's widow, who had rushed to the court house this morning in

Received Decision Stoically
She received the decision as she has received all other developments in the case—stoically with acceptance and without emotion.

She received her first word of the jury's decision from a member of that body. Coming out of the jury room, he handed a piece of paper to her lawyer, Timothy N. Pfeiffer of New York, who throughout the day had been read-

Then, while Foreman Gibb was issuing his formal statement, Mrs. Hall rose. Assisted by lawyer and friends, she passed from the foyer, where, all day she had subjected herself to the stare of the curious and made her way to her car. The trio at once set out for the Hall home in New Brunswick.

Mr. Mott, appointed to direct the investigation, because of criticism of the manner of which it was handled in early stages, pinned his hopes to the story told him by Mrs. Jane Gibson, the ghost character who had appeared in the mystery drama under the caption

The woman swineherd—whose story was that she had stumbled across the double shooting while pursuing on muleback hunting thieves who had been robbing her cornfields—was the last witness

Then the door closed behind the woman who claimed to have recognized the man as the identity of the man who had been seen in the car.

Surprise Witness
But Mrs. Gibson was not the only witness on who Mr. Mott counted. He called before the jury, as a surprise witness, Charles Al-paugh, a jitney driver from Somerville. The state maintained that his testimony regarding a machine he had seen standing near a lane leading to the scene of the murders on the night they occurred would serve to corroborate the Foreman Gibb declined to enlarge upon his formal statement and Mr. Mott also maintained strict silence, so that some doubt remained in the minds of the newspaper men as to whether the jury actually had ballotted, as reported, or had tacitly agreed not to consider the case further.

STAY OF EXECUTION

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 28.—William F. Acker, convicted on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Iver Engle, and sentenced to hang December 1 at the state penitentiary at Florence, Arizona, was granted a stay of execution today following the filing of an appeal by his attorneys with the Arizona supreme court. The appeal alleges that the court of Yavapai county acted in excess of its jurisdiction in sentencing Wallace.

Engle was found in a ravine near Prescott, Arizona, last June, unconscious from the effects of a severe beating and two knife wounds. He died a month later.

6 FORMER GRECIAN OFFICERS EXECUTED

The execution of the condemned men was by shooting. The men executed were: Former Premiers

Gounaris, Protopapadakis and Stratos; M. Theotokis, former war minister; M. Balliazis, holder of portfolios in several former cabinets and General Hadjaneftis, commander of the Greek forces at the time of the Asia Minor mills

MEN OF VISION DRAFTED RIVER WATERS TREATY

Commissioners' Aim Was the Greatest Possible Development of the Entire
Basin of the Colorado

Special to The Journal
Santa Fe, Nov. 28.—Men of vision and constructive ability represented the seven states on the Colorado river commission, which has drafted and signed the seven-state treaty to govern division of the waters of the Colorado river system. Results of the deliberations are the best evidence, and these results show that the commissioners were striving for the greatest possible development of the entire basin, rather than for any particular advantage for their respective states.

How the commissioners themselves regarded their task is shown in the remarks made at the close of the deliberations, when the compact was ready for signing.

Delph E. Carpenter, the Colorado commissioner, said: "We have about completed the task assigned to this commission, which is the first exemplification of greater exercise of interstate diplomacy in the history of our nation."

Work Well Done
"Each member may well reserve unto himself an ample measure of credit for the fortunate conclusion, for much is his just due. It has been frequently remarked in my presence that a like commission composed of members possessing similar personal qualities and qualifications, seldom will be found, and we may go to our homes with a consciousness of work well done, and of lasting personal friendships truly cemented."

"But the members of this commission appreciate that our whole proceedings were incomplete without a firm statement that to our chairman, Mr. Hoover, is due the greater measure of credit for this successful termination of our labors. Through all the days of our toil, he has been kind, just, generous and patient."

"We have come to respect you, Mr. Chairman, not only for your ability, but for your personality; and as we are about to enter upon the concluding chapter of this great undertaking, I am designated by the other members of the commission to express to you not only our admiration, but our love and esteem."

"And we assure you that wherever you may go, whatever you may do, you will carry through life the fond esteem, admiration and love of all of us; and if any of us survive you, ours will be a fond recollection."

Hoover Visibly Affected
Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and chairman of the commission, was visibly affected as he responded:

"I am much overcome by your kind expressions. I realize perhaps more than you the difficulties of conference of this character. Possibly I have had more experience with them. This conference has stood out in my mind as differing from all the rest, in that we are dealing here with honest men. It has not been necessary to discount the veracity and character of its members. It is indeed a monument to the men who have been here, for they have been straight and honest throughout."

"In addition, the problems dealt with have been of more extreme complexity than will ever be ap-predicated by the outside world. It also, has a striking character in the sense of service, in the sense of restraint and in the willingness to compromise shown by its members. Had it not been for these characteristics it would have been indeed difficult to have arrived at a compact."

"I look upon it as an incident which we can all treasure. The days of romance in the west are gone, and the job of western men, now, is the practical side of construction. We have made here, probably, one of the most constructive steps that has ever been taken in the west. Time alone can prove this, but it is more than possible that this compact will become one of the outstanding landmarks of western development."

Blending of Talent
"In the commission there has been, as you mention, a unique blending of talent. The engineers have had more hard things to say about the lawyers than the lawyers have been able to say back. But, I think, the engineers will agree that we would have made but little, if any progress, had it not been for the lawyers. I am not going to make the reverse complaint, because I belong to the other side."

"But, in any event, it has been a very happy combination—a very happy association, and the most valued thing from a personal point of view that can come out of these associations, is the feeling that you have left behind a sense of friendship as well as an accomplishment."

Gratitude of the commission to Mr. C. C. Stetson, executive secretary, was expressed by Col. W. F. Scruggins, Nevada commissioner. "On behalf of the commission, I desire to insert in the record our expression of our appreciation of the splendid services of our executive secretary, Mr. Stetson. He has faced the difficult task of recording the proceedings of the commission, and his task has been accomplished in a most efficient and highly satisfactory manner."

Stetson Replies
Replying, Mr. Stetson said: "It is difficult for me to express how really appreciative I am of the remarks which Col. Scruggins has made on behalf of the commission. It has been a rare privilege for me, an easterner, to have had this unusual opportunity of introducing the association with the members of this commission, westerners, and to have worked with them on the different problems with which they have had to deal—problems the solution of which I feel certain, will lead to the early opening of portions of the southwest yet undeveloped."

"I have always treasure the remembrance of these last few months as the happiest of my life and will store away as the greatest compliment which I ever received the remark made to me by one of the commissioners, when I reached civilization after my trip down the Colorado river: 'You are now a real westerner!'"

"During this period I have learned much which will be of value to me in the years to come and will take back with me to the east at least this constructive principle—that, as a rule, straightforward discussions, prompted by an earnest desire for co-operation rather than dispute, bring with them progress and development."

dressed the combined sessions of the city superintendents and principals with a talk on "The High School Course of Study," making it the principal address of both these programs. Superintendent Wood outlined the procedure followed in California in making a high school course of study. He said that high school principals, heads of universities and boards of education had there drawn up a list of minimum requirements for high schools which they agreed to insist on for all these bodies. The most important of these included a requirement of 16 units for graduation, two majors of three units each and two minors of two units each as a minimum requirement.

The program of this section was cut short on account of the council meeting at 11 o'clock. Superintendent Denney, of Carlsbad, explained his system of tests in Carlsbad schools, and Superintendent G. B. Jones of Las Cruces gave a paper on intelligence tests. The business session closed the section's work. Elections resulted in the placing of Miss Lela Manville, of Silver City, in the president's chair; the election of C. E. McClure, of Belen, to the vice presidency, and M. C. Hendricks, of Springer, to the secretaryship.

Principals' Section
The program for the principals' section, which was to have been given Tuesday, will be presented this morning in connection with the program scheduled for today. The business session, with the election of officers, will take place also. Today's program will consist of the following:

November 29, 1922, 9 A. M.
"The Social Science Content of the High School Curriculum"—Dr. A. C. Bowden, president-elect of New Mexico Normal, 10 a. m. Address—John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, Washington, D. C. "Standard Requirements for High School Graduation"—Superintendent D. N. Pope, Roswell, N. M.

Discussion.
Business session.
Indian School Section
A number of papers dealing on the subject of teaching in the Indian schools of the state were presented in the Indian school section, the program as printed being followed out with little variation.

Miss Anna Upjohn gave a talk on "The Junior American Red Cross." The closing of the sessions of the Indian school section today will consist primarily of the business meeting and election of officers. It is expected that the question of whether or not this section is to remain a part of the N. M. E. A. will come up for settlement at this time.

The program for today will include the following: "American Missionary Ideals," Mrs. Frances Dunn; Demonstration of Setting up a new school, Mrs. V. G. Vign; "The General Good of the Service," Superintendent A. W. Leach.

Spanish-American Community Teachers
The section of Spanish-American Community teachers is the newest section in the association, but it opened its session Tuesday morning with an exceptionally large attendance and with an enthusiasm that evidenced the fact that it had been created in answer to a need of the teachers who are working in Spanish-American communities.

Mrs. Lola Grimm, acting as president, opened the meeting, and Miss Rose Davis acted as secretary. The teachers of this section were given a surprise in the appearance of J. O. Engleman of Washington, who talked to them briefly on the subject of unity and cooperation, which he has found among all the teachers of the country. He was introduced by Miss Isabel Eckles.

The question, "Must the rural school teacher understand Spanish?" was the one upon which the thought of the discussions and the talks, hinged. The consensus of opinion was, that it is necessary to her success in Spanish-American communities. Miss Beatrice Sanchez, Mr. N. Gabaldon, Mr. Yeager, Mr. Cruz Alvarez, Mrs. Delgado of Las Vegas and Mrs. Nash took part in these discussions.

The program for today's session will include the business meeting and the election of officers. It is: Wednesday, November 29, 9 a. m., room 106.

"The Spanish-American Teacher and the Spanish-American Community," Philadelphia Race, Spanish-American Normal, El Rito, N. M. Discussion, Mr. J. C. Espinosa, ten minutes; Mr. Cruz Alvarez, ten minutes; Mr. Cristoval Quintana, ten minutes.

"Are Spanish-American Communities Progressing?" John V. Conway, state superintendent of public instruction. Round Table discussion, 20 minutes.

Sex Education Discussed
That the teaching of sex hygiene in the public schools is becoming more generally done throughout the country, and with considerable success, was brought out in the address of Dr. George S. Luckett, state director of public health, before the public health section of the New Mexico Education association yesterday. The subject may be handled in the grades up to the high school in connection with the teaching of nature story, botany and kindred subjects, so that by the time the child has reached adolescence the way has been paved for a more advanced study. Co-operation between the schools and the health department results in benefit to the children and the community, according to a paper by Superintendent D. N. Pope of Roswell.

The section elected Dr. Luckett president to succeed himself, and Mrs. Grace Jeannings of Harwood school, Albuquerque, secretary.

Interest in the history section but who was unable to be present this year on account of ill health. The section elected Mrs. C. F. Coan of the state university, Albuquerque, president; J. C. Webb, Moriarty, secretary. This morning the section will hold a round table for the discussion of the problems of history teaching in the grades and high schools.

The meeting of the anti-tobacco section was postponed until this morning. Speakers will be George Olson, president of the senior class of the Albuquerque high school; R. R. Larkin, Las Vegas; J. M. Moss, Y. M. C. A., Albuquerque.

Primary Section
The primary section's meeting in the armory yesterday morning was featured by the appearance of several children from the classes of Miss Hopkins and Miss Miller of the city schools in a series of demonstrations, folk songs and folk dances. Miss Kennedy of Portales gave a demonstration of reading to the English-speaking children. Miss Schofield of Silver City read a paper on "Arithmetic." Miss Stumpy Adkins and J. C. Engleman, normal university read a paper on "Teaching Reading to the Spanish-American." It was decided that in future years the section would hold a luncheon and an annual meeting for the exchange of views and for social enjoyment and acquaintance.

Miss Selma Anderson of Albuquerque, who has been secretary of the section, was elected president. Dorothy Russell of Albuquerque was elected secretary.

Elementary Section
The elementary section held a largely attended meeting in the high school auditorium yesterday morning. The problems dealt with are those concerning the qualifications of the teacher, sympathy with the child and interest in the results attained. Speakers were Mrs. George Dixon, Florio; Mrs. Redwood Gallup; Miss Minnie Stumpy Adkins and J. C. Engleman, field secretary of the National Education association. The section will hold another meeting this morning, at which election of officers will be held.

Industrial Section
The industrial section, realizing the necessity for creating a greater interest in vocational education in New Mexico, decided at its meeting yesterday to arrange to have a speaker of national reputation present this subject on the general program of the New Mexico Educational association at its meeting, Monday, December 4, 1922.

D. W. Riecke, state supervisor of industrial education, was elected president of the section, and J. T. Benton school, Albuquerque was re-elected secretary.

Mr. Riecke filled the place on the program that had been assigned to J. F. Murray, safety engineer for the Phelps-Dodge corporation at Dawson, and spoke on "Work with the Coal Miners." President Harry L. Kent of State College spoke on "Vocational Education." He said that there is a peculiar need for vocational education in New Mexico, because of the conditions that exist here. Yet, he said, this state has not awakened to the need for such education.

President Kent demonstrated with figures that educational costs, while they have increased, have not done so proportionately, so that the money actually spent for education is less than a few years ago. J. T. Benton, head of the manual training department of the Albuquerque high school, described the shop work being done in the schools of this city, and its relation to the practical side of education.

Patrons' Section
The patrons' section will meet this morning at 11 o'clock at the Central school, corner of Third street and Lead avenue. A joint session will be held with the Parent-Teacher association. The program will include discussions by leaders among the state educators on the subject of co-operation between the school and the home and health education, a roundtable conducted by the president of the N. M. E. A., Mrs. Lockard, and the following musical selections: "Baritone solo," "Hear Me Great Spirit," a song of Geronimo, and "The Gipsy Soldier," by Garland Kennedy of Albuquerque, accompanied by Mrs. Adolphus Kohn of Las Vegas and selection by the Las Vegas high school orchestra.

Teaching Hatred of French
"Their finances have been depleted for the purpose of destroying us. They have not paid us and we have been unable to pay our own obligations. Go through the schools of Germany and you will find that they are teaching hatred of the French, do to our schools and colleges and universities and you will not find one man who would not consider it something undignified and not to the interest of his own people to preach hatred toward Germany."

He reiterated his assertion that Germany had as allies in her designs for war the Russians and the Turks.

"I am not saying that this is coming, tomorrow, or when it is coming," he continued. "But I am simply giving you warning. I see that your government does not seem to be afraid in this direction and does not look that way. But in France we do. And I think that when we show you—when we catch in the act the Germans hiding arms, and secretly violating the treaty by securing military and arms in Russia, you will understand our feelings. They are to be used to show why against us. There cannot be anybody else."

MOVIE COMPANY MADE DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation Sued for $6,000,000 by the Vitagraph Company

New York, Nov. 28.—The Vitagraph company of America today began suit for $6,000,000 in the United States district court against the Famous Players-Lasky corporation and a dozen individuals charging a conspiracy to control the motion picture industry of the nation.

The action was begun under the section of the Sherman law which provided for the assessment of triple damages when interstate commerce is impeded.

The Vitagraph company alleges that since 1919 the defendants have interfered with the business of competing producers and distributors and have established such control as to have cost the plaintiff $2,000,000.

Among the defendants named in the suit are Adolph Zukor, president of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation; Jesse L. Lasky, Jules Brulaton, one of the leading distributors; Daniel Frohman and Cecil De Mille.

The complaint describes the stages between the filming of a picture and its final exhibition in the 14,000 leading theaters of the United States and Canada. In all of these theaters, the states are divided into three classes, "first run second run and third run" theaters.

In each large city, the complaint avers, there are those that are known as the key theaters, exhibition in which is essential to the financial success of a picture.

COMMISSIONER SAYS TAX LEVY WAS NOT LEGAL

City Commissioner Hughes "Resents Manager Exceeding Authority"; Pump Motor Bid Is Accepted

"I think this levy, as it now stands, is illegal. We commissioners are the governing body and that levy has been certified without our authorization and I believe it is illegal."

This was the statement of City Commissioner Hughes last night. The meeting was a stormy one on the whole and it required all the diplomacy of Mayor Walton to bring about peace in several wordy passages at arms.

"We have never legally acted upon it and even if the city manager sent up twenty notices we did not pass upon it and in certifying it the manager exceeded his authority. We might have either raised or lowered the tax levy and would probably have lowered it."

Mayor Walton then began his act of "pouring oil upon the troubled waters." He said:

"I agree with you that probably the budget should have been submitted to us. But we were acting in a position where it was becoming quite late to submit a budget. I believe Mr. Calkins not only acted in good faith but also acted in the best interests of the city of Albuquerque."

After further discussion pro and con City Attorney Jamison expressed the opinion that Mr. Hughes was probably correct in his stand.

He expressed the doubt, however, that taxpayers could raise this point as a reason for refusal of payment of taxes.

Exceeded His Authority
After other discussion Mr. Hughes said: "I do not mean that I would not have approved the raising of a mill for the paving to the city. I would have done so, though reduction of other items might have brought the levy back to the old basis. But the stand I take is that the city manager exceeded his authority in certifying the budget and I resent it. We city commissioners are responsible to the people of Albuquerque for the tax levy, not he."

Commissioner Swope then stated that the levy could not be stopped now because if the city commissioners do not certify to the levy today it will mean the city will receive no payments until March.

He said it would mean the city would have to go out of business and that the schools would have to close.

Commissioner Hughes said he did not propose to be an obstructionist and that there is nothing which can now be done. But he reiterated that the city manager had exceeded his authority and that he resented it.

"The city commissioners themselves are to blame for any delinquency, because they have not taken the proper interest in the city's business," responded Mayor Walton. "There have been many times when we have not had a sufficient number of commissioners present to transact business."

After the tax levy question had been more or less satisfactorily adjusted Mr. Hughes said:

"While we are enjoying this situation I would like to ask a question. There is a persistent rumor going about the city to the effect that the city has purchased two carloads of sewer pipe which is of the wrong size and cannot be used, costing the city $1,000."

Manager Calkins denied this rumor and stated that the two carloads of pipe purchased are of proper size. He explained that the pipe is of a different size than that which has been used and that a reducer is required with the size that is in use. He said that it will mean economy by using the exact size, as it will eliminate the cost of the reducers.

Meat Selling Ordinance
Another question which was taken up brought about a wordy passage at arms between Commissioner Swope and Attorney Laurence Lee. This was the proposed meat selling ordinance. Again the tactful mayor was required to step into the breach. The motion was tabled.

Upon the motion of Commissioner Swope it was voted unanimously that the city manager be instructed that he make any expenditure of more than $200 he first submit the matter to the city commissioners.

Mr. Swope also moved that the city manager be instructed to discontinue the practice of segregation of paving liens. This motion was also carried unanimously.

Accept Bid for Motors
Commissioner Hughes moved that the bid of the Midwest Motor company, for four motors to be used with sewer pumps, be accepted. This company presented the the motors called for in the specifications—The Lincoln motor. The bid on the four motors was $2,758. The motion was carried by unanimous vote on roll call.

City Attorney Jamison announced that he had filed demurrers in two cases in connection with paving and the injunction filed by the City Electric Railway company. He said the cases have been set for hearing next Monday in the district court.

ROMANCE OF SHEIK AND HIS SHEIKESS SPLITS ON ROCK OF FINANCIAL DISTRESS

"Sheik" Wallace Coffey and his "sheikess," Bernice Cook.

Wallace Coffey, eighteen, was known as the "sheik" of Wilmette, Ill. He decided he needed a "sheikess," so taking his mother's car and with but a few dollars in his pocket, he eloped to Milwaukee with Bernice Cook, twelve. Their frail bark of "puppy love" was dashed to pieces when the "sheik's" cash became low. Deputy sheriffs returned the youthful pair to their homes.

APPOINTMENT OF SCHOOL LEADERS IS RECOMMENDED

Educational Council Makes Suggestion for Selection of State and County Superintendents

Recommendations for changes in the manner of selection, payment and tenure of office of county school superintendents, together with suggestions for the betterment of rural teachers and their communities are embodied in the resolutions passed yesterday by the educational council, which is the guiding body of the New Mexico Educational association.

These, with other recommendations that may be incorporated in the report of the resolutions committee of the association at its general session today, are expected to comprise the program of legislation which the teachers will submit for the consideration of the law making body of New Mexico next year. Before the council's sessions indicated a determination on the part of the teachers of New Mexico to gain for their profession full recognition and to elevate it to a plane that none but the qualified can ever hope to reach.

The resolutions call for the appointment of state and county boards of education, which are recommended to appoint state and county superintendents. There was considerable debate over the provision to give the county boards the power to appoint county superintendents, as it was stated that the county boards of education, thus would be enabled to name the superintendents. Some of the speakers said that the schools had been handicapped by the action of county school boards and declared that some educational qualification should be required.

There was some objection, but not enough to defeat it, to the proposal to allow county boards of education to pay salaries to first grade teachers on the basis of their worth. It was feared by some that extravagant salaries might be paid to teachers not fully qualified, owing to what was declared to be a lack of proper requirements for the issuance of first grade certificates.

Following are the resolutions as finally amended and adopted, the last five being those adopted by the county superintendents' section and incorporated in the council's resolutions by motion:

That the state and county boards of education be appointed, and that state and county superintendents be elected by their respective boards. And that high standards of qualification be required of state and county superintendents.

That we commend the state board of education and the state department of education for their efforts towards raising the qualifications of teachers by raising the requirements for certificates to teach, and we recommend that the granting of a first grade certificate be dependent upon at least two years of training above high school.

That we approve a plan which provides for a state educational auditor to audit and assist in making educational budgets, but we oppose the revision of educational budgets by the state tax commission after July 15 of each year. We recommend that in filling the office of state educational auditor a person be selected who is not only a statistician but who is also familiar with school administration and educational needs.

That we support the provisions of the Towner-Sterling Bill. That house bill No. 60, chapter 33, laws of 1919, limiting the salary of teachers in one, two and three room schools be repealed, and that house bill No. 109, chapter 33, laws of 1921, be amended so as to allow the county board of education to pay salaries to first grade teachers, the salaries being based on successful teaching experience and educational preparation.

That that portion of section 5, chapter 3, laws of 1919, which reads, "Teachers shall be employed by the board of school directors with the approval of the county board of education" and that this law be amended to read as follows: "The employment of teachers shall be by the county board of education."

That section 5, article 2, chapter 3, laws of 1919, which has to do with the compensation of the county superintendent be repealed and that a law be passed providing for compensation to the county superintendent equal to that of the county clerk, also that the county superintendent be allowed a deputy to be paid in the same way as provided for other deputies to other county officers.

That the compensation to county superintendents for visiting schools shall come out of the general fund. That the fiscal year end June 30.

MOTTO OF DUKE CITY GRIDSTERS "STOP DAWSON"

Pass City Will Start Light, Fast Team; Portends Open Game; Tiger Captain Feared in Pass Play

Wherever Albuquerque High school football enthusiasts have gathered during the past two days the cry has gone up: "Watch Stanley Dawson." And that same cry will echo across the Washington Park gridiron when the El Paso Tigers and Duke City gridiron warriors line up at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon for their annual football battle.

Stanley Dawson, El Paso High school captain, will play end. Playing in the backfield most of the season, he has been shifted back to his old position at the left wing during the past week. That means but one thing—that Luther Coblenz has prepared his charges for an open game.

And with that fact practically established the Duke City boys will indeed do well to "Watch Dawson." For Dawson is a demon when it comes to grabbing forward passes out of the air. In a game only last Saturday, playing against the Eighth Cavalry eleven, Dawson clutched so many forward passes out of the atmosphere that the soldiers grew dizzy watching him. With Dawson at end it means that the Duke City secondary defense will have to be on the "qui vive" from opening to closing whistle.

Luther Coblenz, El Paso coach, yesterday wired the Albuquerque Morning Journal the names of the men who will make the trip and the lineup he will probably start. The lineup to be started increases the probability that Coblenz will trust largely to an open game—on top of which is the fact that the Tigers used the open play almost entirely in their game against the Eighth Cavalry last Saturday. And their success against the Fort Bliss Horsemen would indicate that they have come closer to perfection in the open game.

Coblenz has arranged his lineup so as to match the Duke City lineup as closely as possible. He has shifted his weight to the line and Carlos Carter, for instance, the burly 210 pounder who has been used through the season to smash down the smaller line back, has been moved back to his old position at guard.

Carter and Dawson were easily the best line plungers Coblenz possessed. His shifting indicates that he either intends to use very few line plunges or else expects the bulk at the line to open up holes for the fast backs to slide through. And the former is the more probable.

El Paso has always been offensively on the forward passing game. The team has also been well developed by the cagey Coblenz in football strategy. Thus, it will be no surprise to find that the Duke City players will be able to run him down.

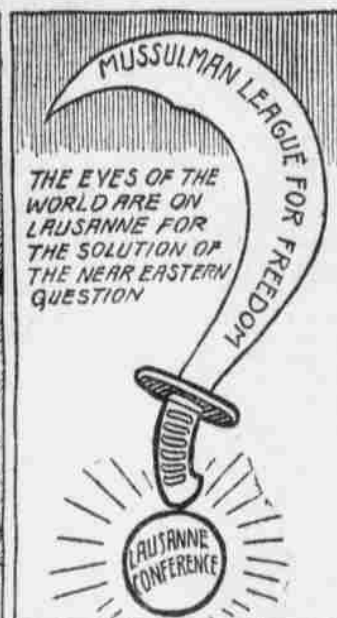

"Piggle" Scotten, Tiger quarterback, if the slender "Piggle" ever gets through to the open field it is more than doubtful that any Duke City player will be able to run him down.

"Piggle" possesses the speed which seems to run in the Scotten strain. His oldest brother, Frank, who is County assessor-elect of El Paso, was perhaps the fastest man in the southwest in his day. The other brother, Roy, not only earned the Congressional Medal of Honor for bravery during the world war but also outprinted all members of the Atlantic fleet in a track and field meet.

The youngest Scotten is said to be fully as fast as either of his brothers. And it is to be seriously doubted that any player on the Duke City eleven has sufficient speed to have kept pace with either of "Piggle's" brothers when they were in their heyday.

There are two satisfactory features in connection with the announced El Paso lineup. One is that it indicates the sort of game which is to be used, and "Pore-warned is forearmed." The other

BASKETBALL TO HOLD CENTER OF STAGE IN STATE

University Will Be Asked to Put on a Tournament in Albuquerque; Moore Is Head of Association

All of the former officers excepting one were re-elected for the ensuing year in the New Mexico High School Athletic association, at the annual meeting and election held yesterday afternoon at the High school building. The one officer who was not re-elected was Julius Kuhnert, formerly vice president of the northern section of the state. Mr. Kuhnert has left the state. F. P. McCall, principal of the Las Vegas High school, was elected to fill this vacancy.

The officers re-elected were: Addison S. Moore of Albuquerque, President; R. T. Hodges of Roswell, vice president from the Pecos valley; Benjamin W. Wheatley of Deming, vice president from the southern section; B. H. Atkinson, Gallup, secretary-treasurer.

After a long discussion as to the advisability of permitting the Silver City and Las Vegas normal schools to remain in the association, it was decided to permit them to continue as members. It was also decided to permit the prep schools of the N. M. I. and N. M. A. & M. and St. Michael's to join.

It was unanimously voted to ask the State University to put on a state basketball tournament at Albuquerque, such as universities of other states arrange for high schools. The time and date of such tournament will be decided later, though it is probable the tournament will be held during the month of March.

It was also voted that the State High school Athletic association shall arrange for sectional basketball tournaments, the winners of the sectional tournaments to come to Albuquerque for the state tournament. These sectional tournaments will probably be held at Roswell, Las Cruces, Las Vegas and Albuquerque. These tournaments are to be staged in February.

It was also voted at the meeting to ask the State University to put on a high school track and field meet and tennis meet as it has in the past. If arranged these two meets will be held late in the spring.

COMMERCIAL SECTION OF N. M. E. A. TO SEE TYPEWRITING EXPERT

The meeting of the commercial teachers section of the educational association, which will be held this morning in room No. 211 at the high school, will be featured by a demonstration of typewriting by William F. Oswald of New York, who will demonstrate the use of typewriter. Mr. Oswald has a speed record for typing of 128 words a minute for an hour, with but one error. He came at no cost to the association from New York, making no other stops. He will use the Underwood typewriter.

A professional demonstration of short hand will be given by Mrs. Margaret F. Barnes of Albuquerque. ## Theaters Today

"B" Theater—Still drawing big crowds, namely: Rodolph Valentino, Lila Lee and Nita Naldi playing the leading roles in "Blood and Sand," which is being repeated today; and showing reels of "Pathe Review" and "Current Events" pictures.

Crystal Opera House—The Metropolitan Players, of ten people, two shows in one, in a new program tonight of drama and vaudeville. Go and see them; they are good.

Lyric Theater—Repeating today Charles Ray, starring in the picture, "Smudge"; also repeating Andy Gump in "Mixing Business with Pleasure," and a reel of Goldwyn-Graphic pictures.

Pastime Theater—Repeating today for the last time the picture, "Scandal," starring Constance Talmadge; also repeating the "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons and the "Fox News" pictures.

A STORY OF SPAIN IS "BLOOD AND SAND," NOW SHOWING AT "B" THEATER

A story of colorful Spain, of moonlight, of serenitas, of dancing and guitars—the land for passionate love-making—written by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, author of "The Four Horsemen," adapted by June Mathis, master of that production and directed by Fred Niblo, who directed "The Three Musketeers." Such is "Blood and Sand," starring Rodolph Valentino, which is being repeated at the "B" theater today.

A story of hot, impetuous love against a background of the most dangerous sport known to man—bull fighting. Immense scenes there are of the bull ring, the tremendous crowds, the impressive opening pageant and the charge of the bull, the cape play, the foot work, the dangerous work of the devils who infuriate the bull, who dare the beast to kill them—and who often lose their dare.

The production is a distinguished one impressive in its sincerity.

SMOKE ABOUNDS IN CHARLES RAY'S "SMUDGE" NOW SHOWING AT LYRIC

Smoke plays a big part in Charles Ray's picture, "Smudge," which is being distributed by First National and which is being repeated today at the Lyric theater.

The plot centers about the use of "smudge" to protect the orange and lemon groves of California from the blighting frosts.

There is smoke even in the opening titles. By some clever trick photography there is a background of smoke to the title and they have the effect of getting the spectator into the spirit of the story right from the start. Later in the picture there are some highly realistic scenes in which the smoke acts as a foil.

Real fog scenes have often been attempted on the screen, but they are almost impossible to secure. Every cinematographer has battled this difficulty by artificial means and Ray's cameraman, George Rizzard, has been particularly successful in depicting foggy and smoky scenes.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN ONE OF HER BEST SCREEN PLAYS, "SCANDAL"

What is described as one of the best performances of her screen career is Constance Talmadge's Selznick Picture, "Scandal," which is being repeated today for the last time at the Pastime theater.

"Scandal" is a Selznick revival in which the comedy star was first presented four years ago, and the general excellence of the production, coupled with the fast-increasing popularity of this star, caused the producers to revive the feature for re-distribution.

"Scandal" is a comedy drama in which the star portrays the part of a spoiled child of society who becomes so deeply enmeshed in falsehoods that it takes five full reels of fun and excitement before she finally extricates herself.

PLAYERS DELAYED BY BAD ROADS; UNABLE TO OPEN LAST NIGHT

Owing to bad roads between Albuquerque and Los Angeles, the Metropolitan Players were unable to open at the Crystal theater last night, as scheduled. Time allowance for probable delays had been generous but the roads proved to be in much worse condition than anticipated and the truck which carries the scenery and costumes of the company did not get in.

The Metropolitan Players came straight through from Los Angeles by auto. Having ample time between the time of leaving Los Angeles and the date set to open here, the actors and actresses decided to enjoy a motor tour on the way. Touring cars were provided for the performers and a truck to carry the stage property.

After leaving Los Angeles the players found the road good for a distance. Then they ran into heavy going and three times were mired down in New Mexico and Arizona. The touring cars finally managed to get through and reached Albuquerque at 1 p. m. yesterday. After resting through the afternoon the players were ready to perform last night.

But the truck failed to arrive as expected and the management decided it was better to postpone the performance than to attempt to put on a performance which would probably have proved unsatisfactory without proper equipment.

The truck was reported to have passed Magdalena yesterday afternoon and the management assures the theater goes it will arrive in ample time for the performance tonight. The program will be conducted on a performance which would probably have proved unsatisfactory without proper equipment.

The offering tonight will be "Three Wise Fools" as it was proposed to open the engagement and tomorrow night the offering will be "The Brain."

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

YOUTH CALLS TO YOUTH

Chapter 43
As the days passed Nellie constantly congratulated herself on having obtained a room at Mrs. Doty's. Not that she mingled with the other boarders, in fact seldom saw them excepting at meals—save Mrs. Roberts, to whose room she had been invited—but they were all politely pleasant to her, and she enjoyed the morning and evening chatter about the big table. Chatter that touched upon every subject, from the way things should be cooked and served, to the political situation, both foreign and domestic.

When young Horne, Nellie had learned his surname was Donald, was at dinner they often appealed to him, and Nellie thought his knowledge marvelous. She had encountered him two or three times in the hall, and he had stopped to chat. Nellie had told him she was a stenographer, that she was with the same firm as Miss Jones. Then one night they both came in at the same time. He stopped her rather awkwardly and said:

"I have two tickets for a new show, would you go with me, Miss Lilley?"

"They're good seats," he went on. "Even if they are passes."

"Thank you, I should love to go," Nellie replied with her usual directness. "Aren't passes just as good as any tickets?"

"Better, because they cost me nothing. I couldn't afford orchestra seats to this show. They're way beyond my purse."

"The Music Box Revue?"

"Oh, really? I have wanted to see that awfully. What time shall I be ready?"

"About 8 o'clock. I'll meet you in the parlor. A small room used as a meeting place for the guests when socially inclined."

Nellie ate her dinner in a glow of anticipation. She had thought perhaps to see the "Revue" from the gallery, but to go with a nice-looking young man like Donald Horne; to sit in the orchestra, would be so much nicer.

She dressed with care, wearing a dark frock, but one trifle low in the neck, fresh gloves, and dainty shoes. She brushed her bobbed hair more carefully than usual, urging each refractory curl in place. Then, just as she was about to sit in the orchestra, she went down to the parlor, unoccupied save by the acid-faced

Wipe off the broad-leaved palms occasionally with soapy water.

When Due to Indigestion, Acid, Sour, Bloating Stomach, Is Restored by a Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals.

When there is indigestion and the stomach does not seem to relax food it is a great mistake to starve or to use stimulants to force appetite. The best way is to woo the stomach back to health by giving it the help it needs, the alkaline effect that arrests acidity, prevents gas, belching, sour risings, flatulence, pressure that seems to crowd the heart and such distresses due to indigestion. Chew one or two of the large, white tablets after eating, no water needed, and the stomach settles down to restful digestion, you feel eased and comfortable and you get the good of food. You now tackle pie, cheese, chicken, sausage or anything you like without fear as you have the means to prevent the distresses arising from indigestion. Get a 50 cent box of Sturt's Dyspepsia Tablets today of any druggist.—Adv.

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a him. Every time a letter comes girl sixteen years old. I am considered very good looking. I have been going with boys for over a year, but my mother and father are very particular with whom I go.

For about two months I haven't been anywhere. I have always gone to dances with my mother and boy friends, and to shows too. But my father has left town and I don't go anywhere.

I am just like a slave here to cook and do all the house work and tend store. I can't even have company any more. My mother's friend doesn't want me to go anywhere or even speak to any one. I am not a thing in this world to him. Father never had objections to what I did as long as I behaved.

I have been going with a young man about twenty-eight years old. I love him dearly and he seems to think a great deal of me. His people are well to do and he has a good education. The other evening he came up after me to go to a dance with him at the Country Club. My mother gave her consent, but her friend said I could not go. He was very much disappointed and didn't know what to do. He has left town now and I get a letter three times a week from him.

"Oh, I'm nothing but a cub reporter now, but they all had to start some way," he told her. She admired his ambition, his unassuming manner. She also admired him. He had left off the goggles for a pair of nose glasses, wore a dinner coat, and was a well turned out looking young man. Ever before had Nellie gone out with anyone who wore a dinner coat, save old Mr. Robinson.

"I wish Cora could see us," she thought.

They both enjoyed the play immensely, and it was the beginning of a friendship between them, one that led to outings of different sorts—play, golf, horse riding, motion pictures when he had not.

Mrs. Roberts smiled as they chatted each other across the table. Nellie had been thrown with any one connected with the literary world and to her it was one of wonderful attraction.

PROF. HODGIN IS PIONEER AMONG N.M. EDUCATORS

New Mexico University Professor Has Been Engaged in Educational Work Since September, 1885

The following article written by Agnes Davenport Bond regarding Charles E. Hodgkin one of the pioneer educators of the state, appeared in the last issue of the National Magazine.

Prof. Charles E. Hodgkin of the state University of New Mexico, might be truly called a pioneer educator of the state. He came to Albuquerque in September, 1885, from Richmond, Ind., where he had graduated from the state normal.

At that time there were no public schools in Albuquerque; the only institution for learning being an academy, supported by the New West Educational Company. That winter Professor Hodgkin taught for three months in a little frame building, which was built by private subscription for a school house. A very small amount of public money was also furnished at that time to aid in the promotion of education. After finishing the term of three months Professor Hodgkin taught in the academy for five years. The academy was, at first a three-room building, but later on a fine, spacious three-story brick building was erected, which is now the public library.

In 1891 the territorial legislature passed a bill to levy a general tax for the establishment of public schools. Ward buildings were built that year, and Professor Hodgkin was the first school superintendent, in which capacity he remained for six years.

In 1898 Professor Hodgkin was one of three men who organized a territorial teachers' association. The first meeting was held in Santa Fe, with a membership of forty. That organization has now developed into the New Mexico Educational association, with a membership of nearly 2,000, and is recognized as a vital power in educational matters. It meets once a year, usually in Albuquerque, and the membership includes teachers and educators. Professor Hodgkin is the only member now in public school work, who was at the opening meeting. He has twice been president of the association and is now president of the educational council, an under section of the association, and is at the present time preparing a program for the council. He has also been a delegate to the National Educational association, and has been a member of this since 1885.

He became dean of the university in 1897, and has been connected with some department of education in the university ever since then, a period of twenty years. For several years he has been vice president and professor of education. It was formerly a custom in this university to allow a teacher who had taught six consecutive years, to take the seventh away from the university, if he so desired. Professor Hodgkin took advantage of this, and spent one year in the University of California at Berkeley, and later on one year traveling abroad, visiting many countries and stopping up much interesting and valuable knowledge. He also attended the Cook County Normal school, in Chicago, under the direction of Colonel Parker for a time. In the course of his teaching he has had pupils who have advanced from the lower grades into high school and gone through the university, entirely under his supervision.

At the present time Albuquerque has a splendid, up-to-date, school system and many substantial school buildings, so it is difficult for us to look backward thirty-seven years, through Professor Hodgkin's eyes, and see New Mexico as it was in the territorial days, and realize what a change has taken place, and what a unit for good and advancement Professor Hodgkin has been in its development.

NO DEFICIENCY OF MATERIALS ON ROAD WORK

Investigation of Concrete Road in Dona Ana County Is Made by Federal and State Engineers

Special to The Journal

Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 28.—Inspection made by E. W. Wheeler of Phoenix, Ariz., district chief engineer of the federal bureau of public roads, and L. A. Gillett of Santa Fe, state highway engineer, as to alleged deficiencies in pavement recently laid between Berino and Anthony on the Las Cruces-El Paso highway developed the following points:

The investigation showed that cement, sand and gravel were up to specifications, both as to quality and quantity.

According to samples submitted to the laboratories, crushing tests showed 3,000 pounds per square inch, which is in excess of the required specifications.

More reinforcing steel was used than the original plans called for, although the material was shifted about by the engineer in charge depending on soil conditions.

In an interview, A. H. Hebenstreit, superintendent of the New Mexico Construction company, said, "We are pleased with the result of the investigation, as it shows that there was no slitting of material, although justification for agitation existed because three slabs had proved defective and had been removed by the company voluntarily. This apparently was the cause of the investigation of the project."

The postoffice department has announced that there will be no delivery of mail and no windows open in the postoffice tomorrow, as Thanksgiving is a legal holiday.

Reports are being made that hunters in the territory just across the Barelas bridge have endangered the lives of residents with promiscuous shooting. Preventive steps are to be taken and there will be vigorous prosecution if offenders are apprehended in this sort of carelessness.

Rev. George J. Weber, pastor of the First Congregational church at York, Neb., will arrive Saturday for a stay of two weeks here. He will preach at the First Congregational church next Sunday morning and at all services December 10. He may accept the pastorate of the church.

THE WOMAN OF POISE

Once a woman is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and sets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women?—Adv.

CONVENTION OF TEACHERS WILL NOT BE CUT UP

Proposal to Divide Annual Meeting Fails to Be Brought Up; Attendance May Equal Last Year's

The expected move to divide the New Mexico Educational association's annual convention into several district conventions has failed to materialize. The educational council, the legislative and guiding body of the association, yesterday completed its 1922 session without a reference to the proposal.

Balloting for officers of the association and for the next meeting place is proceeding briskly at the Y. M. C. A. The result will be reported at the closing general session, which will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

This afternoon's program will be featured by an address by United States Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert of Washington, D. C. Other speakers will be John H. Wagner, president of the New Mexico Normal University; Will C. Wood, state superintendent of California, and H. L. Kent, president of the New Mexico Agricultural college.

Musical selections will be given by Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford of Albuquerque and Mrs. Ada Pierce Wynn of Silver City.

A complete check of the membership certificates issued, according to Secretary T. W. Conway, has not been made. He said last night that the total might reach 1,200, which would equal the registration last year. In view of the fact that salaries of rural teachers were cut this year, the drought and the consequent depression in business conditions, the large attendance at this session is regarded as remarkable.

night that the legislative program mapped out by the council and which probably will be adopted by the association in general session, marks a forward step, and it is believed that it will prove so logical and fair that a large portion of it will be enacted into law. The suggested law providing that revisions of budgets must be completed by the final authority, not later than the middle of July, it was stated, will prove of great value to school boards and to teachers, as it will enable them to make contracts for a school year with the knowledge that they will not be subject to change. This year many teachers, already under contract, were compelled to accept their positions at a lower figure than had been agreed upon, owing to the cut made late in the summer by the state tax commission.

SCIENTISTS OF STATE GATHER AT UNIVERSITY

H. F. Robinson Impresses Meeting With Description of Zuni Fetiches; Other Interesting Talks

H. F. Robinson, supervising engineer of the Indian Irrigation Service, offered a highly interesting talk before the New Mexico Association for Science, gathered at the chemical building of the University of New Mexico yesterday morning. Mr. Robinson's talk, which was on Zuni Fetiches, was the more interesting in his exhibition of various fetiches, including wolf, mountain lion, coyote, mole and white bear, to illustrate his description.

The meeting opened at 8:30 a. m., and John D. Clark, professor of chemistry at the state university, offered the presidential address. His subject was "Future Motor Fuels."

Wesley Bradford, of the school of American research, at Santa Fe, was the next speaker. He spoke on "Some Phases of Native Southwestern Arts." His talk was quite interesting and was illustrated with the "throw stick" and the arrow used with it. This stick antedated the bow and long after the bow came into general use among the Indians the Esquimaux and the Indians of California continued the use of the "throw stick." It was found to be better adapted to throwing animals when a downward stroke was required than was the bow and arrow. It was difficult to adjust the bow so that the arrow could be shot downward and almost impossible for a shot straight down. In the swamps and ice fields such shooting was often demanded.

Paul A. E. Walter, who was scheduled to make the next address on the program, with a talk on historical sciences, was unable to appear. C. A. Barnhart, M. A., of the state university, then spoke on mathematics.

G. S. Lockett, director of the state bureau of public health, then spoke on medical science, choosing as his subject, "Facts versus Fancies in Sanitary Practice."

Charles E. Carey, B. S. E. E., of the state university, spoke on physics. He offered a highly interesting address on "Radio Communication as an Educational Medium."

R. W. Goddard, dean of the college of engineering, of the N. M. A. & M., offered a pleasing address on "The Vacuum Tube Amplifier." O. B. Goldsmith, B. S., of the N. M. A. & M., closed the program for the morning with an interesting talk on "Some New Concepts of the Structure of Matter."

Excerpts from Mr. Robinson's address on "Zuni Fetiches" follow:

"A fetish is any object regarded as possessing consciousness, action and immortal life, and especially magic power which enables the object to accomplish abnormal results in a mysterious manner."

"The Zuni Indians believe that everything in nature belongs to one great system, in which the degrees of relationship seems to be determined largely if not entirely by the degree of resemblance."

"Man is considered to be the most finished of all creation, though because dependable and least mysterious, in the lowest. In the degree that any organism, real or imaginary resembles man it is mortal, but just so far as it is mysterious it is considered further advanced and more powerful."

"The animals, while endowed with similar physical functions and organs to those of men, having instincts and powers not possessed by man are between man and the gods, nearer to man than are the gods, and nearer to the gods than is man. Therefore they are or may be the mediators between man and the higher gods."

"The Indian, confusing the objective with the subjective, believing in these powers of the animals, goes further in thinking that the power of the animal is also possessed by a representation of the animal, hence he makes small carved likenesses of these animals for the purpose of establishing relationship with the animals and their influence."

"Being a hunter and warrior, the Zuni has selected particularly for mediators the prey animals. Originally the fetiches were natural concretions or objects in which the original resemblance to animals had been heightened by artificial means and he later made elaborately carved figures of the animals. It is believed that not only the natural resemblance but the artificially made fetiches are either actual petrification of the animals they represent, or were such originally, and they have in their legend of 'The Dying of the World' the story of how 'The Two' to prevent the beasts of prey from multiplying too fast and thus destroying the children of men, by magic means turned them to stone, but leaving in each one the 'living heart' and directing that they be made to serve instead of devouring mankind."

"Elaborate ceremonies occur at midwinter on 'The Day of the Council of the Fetiches' and on all hunting expeditions the hunter carries one of the fetiches with him and in the pursuit of his game uses ritualistic prayers and invokes the assistance of the animal represented by the fetish he carries. When the game is finally killed, to give his fetish additional strength and power for the future, the fetish is bathed in the blood of the animal which is found in the sack surrounding the kill."

"It is firmly believed that without recourse to these fetiches, to the prayers and other inducements toward the game animal, it would be absolutely useless to attempt the chase. Without the 'medicine of the Deer' the power of the fetish, or the animals of prey represented thereby, the larger game is unobtainable, and no man, however great his endurance, is thought to be able to overcome the deer or any of the animals of prey represented by them. Therefore few hunters will venture forth without a fetish."

Extracts from Mr. Clark's talk on "Future Motor Fuels" are given below:

GOVERNOR TURNS SALESMAN TO BOOST PRODUCTS OF WISCONSIN ALL OVER U. S.

Gov. John Blaine and Mrs. Blaine snapped on their journey.

To sell the entire products of his state is the salesmanship job taken by Gov. John J. Blaine of Wisconsin. He is now on the first lap of a 3,000-mile journey around the U. S. to speak before agricultural and commercial bodies to interest them in the products of his state. Mrs. Blaine is accompanying him. His itinerary includes New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago.

CHICAGO GRAND OPERA STAR IN CONCERT HERE

Mlle. Claire Dux, Soprano, Delights 1,500 Music Lovers and Is Pleased With Her Reception

Mlle. Claire Dux, soprano of the Chicago Grand Opera company, delighted an audience of fifteen hundred Albuquerque music lovers and members of the N. M. E. association at a two hour concert at the armory last night. Mlle. Dux was both delightful and delightful. Her program was charming, rather light and particularly well received. Mlle. Dux, herself, was more than delighted with the Albuquerque audience, responding with several encores, and closing her program with a most informal rendition of "In the Time of Roses." She played her own accompaniment to her farewell encore.

Despite the altitude, which the Chicago singer found very difficult, her voice carried well even to the remote corners of the armory, no inflection of her lovely soft tones being lost.

"Mighty Lak a Rose" was greeted by the audience as an old favorite. "Waters of Minnetonka," another favorite with the audience, was closely followed by "Chant Indone," the original song by a Russian composer, from which the popular "Song of India" has been adopted.

The program included:

1. "Vol che Sapete" from the "Marriage of Figaro" and "Susanne's Aria," with "Annie Laurie" encore.
2. "Du Bist die Ruh," "Ave Maria," "Der Jungling an die Quelle" and "Wohin" from Schubert, followed by "Haidenroeselein."
3. "Chant Indone," "Mimi's Aria" from "La Boheme," encore, "Waters of Minnetonka."
4. "Do Not Go, My Love" and "At the Well," by Hageman; "Spring Fancy," by Denmore, followed by "Mighty Lak a Rose."
5. "Care Neme," from Rigolotto, Verdi; encore, "In the Time of Roses."

Mlle. Dux was accompanied by Mrs. D. W. Fawcett, well known Albuquerque pianist.

The singer said she was delighted with her reception Tuesday night, and that this, her first trip west, had been a real pleasure. Mlle. Dux will leave Wednesday for Chicago, after a concert tour of the south.

Following the concert, chairs were removed from the armory and members of the Woman's club acted as hostesses for the dance which followed.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

NEVER before in the history of the world has there been such urgent need of the universal practices of thrift.

From the most reliable statistics obtainable at this time, the total world indebtedness is $380,000,000,000. This includes all the national obligations of one hundred countries and colonies.

As an indication of the rapid increase of the war and various forms of waste have made on the resources of humanity, a few comparative figures may be quoted. The total pre-war indebtedness of the one hundred countries and colonies was $43,000,000,000. At the end of the war this amount had risen to $205,000,000,000. Therefore, world wide national indebtedness increased $162,000,000,000 during the four year war period, or at the rate of a little over $40,000,000,000 a year. Between 1918 and 1921, the date of the latest available figures bearing on this subject, the increase was $175,000,000,000, or over $50,000,000,000 per year.

It is to be borne in mind, of course, that these figures do not make an entirely accurate revelation of the world-wide financial status. Money in itself is not wealth. It is merely the symbol of wealth. Also, a portion of world indebtedness would be eliminated if all the nations could get together and balance accounts among themselves.

In searching for the root of advancing commodity costs, worldwide economic instability, and social unrest, one need go no further than these figures. People in all countries must work and save and develop efficiency. And, as Americans, it is today the leader of nations, it is the right duty of the people of this country to set an example in thrift for all humanity to follow.

Fulfilling the expectations of the most sanguine of their supporters, the Navy bowling team took three straight games from Harvard in the Y. M. C. A. Following are the scores rolled last night:

MERGER PLEAS ARE PRESENTED BY CALIFORNIA

Witnesses Favor Continued Association of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific Lines

Washington, Nov. 28.—California witnesses supporting pleas for continued association of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, notwithstanding a supreme court decision ordering their separation, were again presented today before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the question.

R. B. Sachs, chief engineer of the state railroad commission, dealt with the present transportation and railroad conditions, which he answered, made unified operation of the two systems desirable in the general public interest on Pacific coast areas.

Any attempt at separate operation of the two railroads with point use of tracks and facilities they now occupy, he insisted, meant waste and inefficiency.

H. A. Sandreut, counsel for the union Pacific, led the witnesses in interchanges on cross examination over whether the association of the Central Pacific, as a northern transcontinental carrier, with the Southern Pacific, a southern transcontinental carrier, did not weaken the first named road. Mr. Sachs insisted any traffic diverted to the south in consequence of the merger was entirely negligible.

The witnesses dealt with the point that traffic now handled by a single railroad after the separation would be required to move over two railroads and argued that two line hauls were more expensive and slow.

Warren H. McBride, speaking for sugar refinery interests, declared that a $2,000,000 capital investment, $4,000,000 per annum freight bill and a $50,000,000 annual output from the California and Hawaiian sugar industry concerned would be adversely affected by the two-line haulage in prospect. In Contra Costa county California, he said, sugar and oil refineries and manufacturing industries had been built up on Southern Pacific lines which would have to move an annual product of $250,000,000 in value over two railroads where one system now prevails. Wastage and delay, he argued, would be increased.

Frank G. Whipple, for refrigerating and cold storage plants, said that California cities obtained their ice supply now at the rate of 100,000 tons per year from mountain lakes in the Sierra with a wastage of 15 per cent involved en route by melting. If an interchange from Central Pacific to Southern Pacific rails had to be made, he contended, losses would be much greater and the expense correspondingly larger to consumers and producers.

ROMANCE OF THE SOUTHWEST

For a hundred years the Santa Fe trail has been in use, and it fitting that the cities and towns of central and western anas should celebrate the centennial, as they are planning to do.

There is romance, wild and thrilling, of the old west in the history of the Santa Fe trail. For centuries before its formal opening to travel by Americans, it had been used by the Indians as a highway from the great Mississippi basin down to Mexico. Colonel Marmaduke—the name itself suggests adventure and romance—was the leader of the first big caravan that ever went down the trail. He headed a train of twenty-five wagons, all richly laden, and the venture was a profitable one. Trade soon began to grow along the trail and with it came the sturdy pioneers who opened the way, at great cost of life and suffering, for the millions who were to follow them out into the golden west.

We of the great West owe a debt of gratitude to those who blazed the trail for us, braving hardships which we no longer know save through what legend and history have handed down. The whole Southwest should join in commemorating those early days and deeds.

WHERE IS THE LEADER?

Lloyd George, who has his moments of vision, said in a recent speech:

"The supreme task of statesmanship at this hour is the pacification of nations so that the people shall have leisure to devote themselves to the peaceful vocations of life, to fill the depleted reservoirs from which we all draw."

Doubtless the world is so minded. But where is the statesman equal to this gigantic task? Or where is the nation ready to support him, when he submits his peace-making program, which will necessarily ignore old prejudices and wrongs, to the exclusion of narrow and short-sighted nationalism, for the good of the whole world?

THE HOME MERCHANT

This is not a "boost" for the old home town. It is a practical, common sense suggestion based on the fundamental law of good business.

With the Christmas shopping coming to full tide within a few days, it is timely to urge the patronage of home industries and the doing as much as possible of the holiday buying in one's own town. Every merchant at this season takes special thought for supplying his customers. If he knows of their desires in time, he can add things to his stock which ordinarily he would not carry even at the gift season. Too often he is criticised for not carrying an extensive line when all he needs is the incentive.

Much of the home merchant's profit goes back into the town. All of it helps him to raise the standard of his service at all seasons. He gives of his best in ordinary times; shares the fate of the home town whether it be up or down. He should have first call when the larger spending time comes.

A SILLY BOYCOTT

The move to "discourage" the circulation of American publications in Canada on the ground that they are salacious and that they carry propaganda damaging to the British empire and advertisements damaging to Canadian trade interests is at odds with the reciprocity talk that has recently been coming across the border. Those backing reciprocity have made much of the friendship that binds the United States and the Dominion together and have emphasized the mutuality and community of interests in pressing for their cause.

The alleged ground for "discouraging" the circulation of American publications—by imposing a high tariff—aggravates this "move". It will not succeed. The "salacious" American magazines do not offend more than do British publications, and the sentiment of the American press has too often been proved friendly to Canada to be questioned. If Canadians persist in reading American publications, in spite of somewhat higher cost, the outcome will be all right. They will get much more than their money's worth.

BY THE WAY

Early Christmas shopping does no good unless you buy.

At any rate, no one needs a search warrant to seize opportunity.

Europe's real troubles will come if there ever should be a general uprising of ex-cabinet members.

The nearness of prosperity should cause a loosening up on the part of the fellow who is close.

This is the golden age of literature, if what some present day authors get out of the stuff they write is considered.

It is the most difficult thing in the world to recall a grand opera season that started out with the press agents in such excellent voice.

Tom Marshall advocates scrapping all laws and adopting the Golden Rule. Is there any assurance it would get through congress without a million amendments?

The Democratic viewpoint seems to be that publication of the Franklin K. Lane letters was unfortunate—unfortunate because they are unfortunately true.

An administration which brings back prosperity, ends unemployment, reduces taxes and returns Liberty bonds to par is a failure, according to Democratic logic.

It was a court-martial, the prisoner being a rookie who was believed to have committed what was, from a military point of view, a serious offense, although from his own point of view, a perfectly natural act.

"Private Smith," began the presiding officer, "you are charged with having been asleep on guard. Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Scuse me sir," objected Smith mildly, "but how am I to know if I was asleep?"

EDUCATION AND THE BALLOT

In the Revolutionary war the American people fought and won the struggle for independence and the principle of self-government. They waged war for the freedom of the seas in 1812. They battled for the emancipation of the slaves in 1861. They shed their blood for the freedom of Cuba and other Spanish colonies from oppression in 1898. A few years ago they sacrificed thousands of young lives in order that autocracy might be crushed and the principle of democracy and self-government preserved and established throughout the world.

In every crisis, therefore, the American people have proved that they are willing to lay down their lives if necessary in order that we may preserve a democratic government for ourselves and extend its blessings to those less fortunate than ourselves. There can therefore be no question as to the stability and permanency of democracy in this country against foreign aggression. Would it not be well, therefore, to inquire whether our government is as safe from internal aggression as it is from foreign aggression?

The president of the United States has issued a request that Sunday, December 3, be designated as a special day for mass meetings in our cities, as a climax to the campaign now being carried on for raising money for the emergency fund in the Near East.

Reliable and official information at hand shows that whole populations of towns and districts are being driven out of that country; that the people are in camps without proper clothing or housing, and unless immediate aid can be extended to them through the Red Cross, epidemics and starvation are bound to follow.

In view of this situation it is the desire of the National Government that the campaign carried on by the Red Cross be supplemented by community effort.

I therefore respectfully request that the mayors of all cities in New Mexico appoint committees of prominent citizens to raise funds for this great emergency during our Thanksgiving period.

When the people of this state sit down to their dinner tables on Thanksgiving day, heartily laden with food, I am sure they will feel inclined to share their blessings with less fortunate fellow-citizens by making generous contributions to the Near East Relief.

Checks for such donations should be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, Near East Relief, 151 Fifth Avenue, New York City; or Mr. Elliot Warworth, treasurer, American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., but made payable to the order of "Near East Emergency Fund."

Respectfully,
MERRITT C. MECHEM,
Governor of New Mexico.

CHAMBERINO MERCHANT BOUND, STORE ROBBED

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 28.—A posse of deputies, headed by the sheriff of Dona Ana county, New Mexico, today was searching for two men who Monday night entered the Chamberino store and post office and secured cash and goods after binding Sam Asher, one of the proprietors.

"The men were masked and one of them carried a rifle," Asher said. "They forced me to open the safe and made me hand over bonds and an amount in cash were taken. They then bound my hands with wire and placed me in a rear room, covering me with bedding. After they had gone I unlocked my door and went to the home of my partner and he untied my hands."

The store is jointly owned by Asher and W. B. Haas and serves also as the Chamberino post office. Haas being the postmaster and Asher his assistant.

Chamberino is in New Mexico, 32 miles from El Paso.

Voile hymns of India were probably sung or repeated for 1,000 years before they were committed to writing.

FUNERAL OF STEVENSON

Denver, Nov. 28.—The funeral of Archie M. Stevenson, noted attorney and republican politician of national fame, who died at his home here yesterday, will be held Friday in this city. It was announced today.

Grained, however, the ability of the American people to govern themselves and to solve their common economic and social problems, the American democracy and the principle of self-government may be endangered at any time through the plain neglect of the people. As in war, so in peace, there must be eternal vigilance. Therefore every man and woman should perform his or her full duty in the peace-time struggle for good government with the same zeal and devotion that have so often been exhibited on the field of battle. No general would expect to win a victory with an army of camp followers. It is the plain duty of every voter to "fall the line" on election day and through honest intelligent voting to help the country solve its problems and win victory for the democratic form of government.—Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, Washington, D.
