Need Remain No Longer

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—E. T. Johnson, widely known sporting man, was questioned late today at the Los Angeles sheriff's office in connection with the escape of Mrs. Clara Phillips, convicted murderer, from the county jail last Monday night. He denied all knowledge of the escape, but admitted being in company with deputies who are investigating the escape.

Johnson was a prisoner in the jail last summer, when Mrs. Phillips was arrested for slaying Mrs. Alberta Meadows. He acted untrustfully, operating the elevator which runs from the women's section to the men's floor out of the jail. According to the deputies, he said today that he became acquainted with Mrs. Phillips and aided her in securing counsel, but Sheriff Tracer and his assistants said they seemed to be nearer to recapturing the missing woman than when her escape was discovered yesterday morning. They continued to express confidence she would try to make her way into Mexico and a squad of men headed by Undersheriff Brian Ruiz was reported to have reached Ensenada, Lower California, where it was thought Mrs. Phillips might be.

W. C. T. U. MAY HOLD NATIONAL MEETING HERE

Big Convention, Bringing 5,000 Visitors, Seems Certain for 1925, Says Mrs. Anna Strumquist

Albuquerque seems certain to be selected to entertain the national W. C. T. U. convention in 1925, says Mrs. Anna Strumquist, who has returned home from Philadelphia, where she attended the national convention for 1922, said last night that this city was such a strong contender for the meeting next year that Detroit, which had been practically conceded the honor was greatly worried and its delegates had to work hard on the floor of the convention and in the executive committee to prevent Albuquerque winning.

The invitation was presented at a general session of the convention and visitors to the convention at New Mexico's harm of climate, its interesting relics of a civilization older than that of New England and its wonderful scenery and historic ruins of California, Texas, Nevada, Arizona and other western states threw their support to New Mexico and the supporters of Detroit hastily had the matter referred to the executive committee.

Henry Ford wired the executive committee that he would promise every one of the 5,000 delegates and visitors to the convention a ride in a car manufactured in a plant which is operated by men not addicted to liquor and which immediately discharges any employee who violates the Volstead law. This message, following strong telegrams from the mayor, chamber of commerce and other organizations of Detroit promising entertainment on a royal scale, turned the tide, and New Mexico lost by a comparatively small majority. Detroit's victory was by no means unanimous.

It was decided to have the fortieth anniversary meeting in Chicago in 1924, and Albuquerque appears to be the strongest contender for the 1925 meeting. Telegrams from M. L. Fox, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and M. C. McEachern, governor of New Mexico, added to New Mexico's strength. The interest created in Albuquerque and in New Mexico was so great that Mrs. Strumquist was besieged with inquiries from prominent W. C. T. U. workers from all parts of the country. The historical and scenic wonders of New Mexico stood out in contrast to the offerings of other states, which were largely good hotels and plenty of railroad facilities.

When Mrs. Strumquist took the seat that had been assigned to her in the assembly hall for the meeting of the world W. C. T. U. convention, which preceded the national convention, she found it claimed by a woman from Nebraska, who said that New Mexico, being a foreign country, should take its place with the other Spanish-speaking countries. "I am not going to be displaced by a Mexican," the Nebraskan said. Mrs. Strumquist was forced to prove that New Mexico is a part of the United States before being allowed to take her seat. Several of the delegates congratulated her on her ability to speak English fluently.

The national convention awarded New Mexico a service badge and banner for its large increase in membership. An additional $2,000 was voted for the Frances E. Willard school in Santa Fe, and six state presidents promised to endow scholarships in the school. This school, which is the only one of its kind in the nation, in that it is not a school for the wayward but an institution for the education of girls of good character who have not the means to pay their own expenses, is to be given wide publicity through the publicity department of the national W. C. T. U. Mrs. Duncan, head of the department, has written Mrs. Strumquist for a news story about the institution. A newspaper syndicate has asked for a story to be sent to 2,500 newspapers.

The national W. C. T. U. gained 100,000 members last year. The slogan of the world W. C. T. U. is "A Dry World in 1930," and the resolutions put a million women on record for world peace. On her way home Mrs. Strumquist stopped in Raton, where she presided at the meeting of the state W. C. T. U., of which she was president. She was elected to the position of state organizer, and will devote her time to the interests of the Frances E. Willard school. The Raton Kiwanis and Rotary clubs gave the delegates splendid entertainment.

The following officers were elected: State President, Mrs. Harrison, Santa Fe. Vice President, Mrs. Mary Knight, Clovis. Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Mason, Roswell. Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. Palmer, Las Cruces. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Minnie Bird. Treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Weaver, Raton, re-elected.

Three new members were elected as trustees of the Frances E. Willard school girls at Santa Fe. They are: Mrs. A. B. Austin, Clovis; Mrs. James Hinkle, Santa Fe; Mrs. Samuelson, Santa Fe.

The national convention seats about 8,000 delegates and brings in addition about 2,000 persons interested in the W. C. T. U. work. "It is up to Albuquerque to provide a suitable convention hall and increase its hotel facilities by 1925, so that the convention can be accommodated," said Mrs. Strumquist last night. "We feel sure that we can get the 1925 convention."

DRAMATIC CLUB OF UNIVERSITY IN "CLARENCE"

After Lapse of Two Years Will Offer First Major Performance at Crystal, Monday Night

After a lapse of two years in which the U. N. M. Dramatic Club gave no major performance, it was more than ready to go to the front with a play which will be a treat to the people of Albuquerque. A preliminary performance given at the University in Rodey Hall, on Thanksgiving night, proved an excellent entertainment and since that time continued rehearsals have further smoothed out the production and the dramatic club will have a finished offering to present to the public next Monday night at the Crystal Theatre.

The play which was selected this fall was Itho Tarkington's famous production, "Clarence," which featured so largely in eastern cities several seasons ago, having runs of over a year in both New York and Chicago. It is pure comedy from start to finish, with the laughs alternating from Clarence, the "pore sojer boy" with the sick liver, to the grown-up young man of the house, or his madcap sister, Cora, whose character has to be saved.

The cast is very evenly balanced—five men and five women—and the action works in with the words to make a most enjoyable play from start to finish. It has a clever little love episode running through, which is, however, somewhat different from the usual love affair. The plot, of course, centers about Clarence and the mystery over his identity, with its curious entanglements and complexities. He succeeds in settling matters in a very upset household and generally proves himself a hero.

The cast, which was selected and trained by Dr. George S. Hubbell of the university, is well balanced and each member is well suited to his part. Earl Gerhardt is the hero, Clarence, and carries off the difficult role very well. Pat Miller, as Bobby Wheeler, the lovelick kid, and Miss Juliet Fleischer as Cora Wheeler, his innocent sister, are irreplaceable. The part of Miss Pinney, the governess, is well played by Miss Leona Beyle.

Miss Fay Strong and Fred Wagner, as Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, are also good. Mr. Wheeler is the typical tired business man, perplexed by his family troubles, and Mrs. Wheeler sincerely believes he prefers the governess to her, so more complications result. Elizabeth Duke as the "grass widow," Mr. Stern, is good and Otto Bebler and Miss Billy Louden as the butler and the maid, respectively, are the cause of much merriment. The part of Mrs. Martin, which was first taken by Miss Clara Parsons, who has been unfortunately called home on account of the illness of her mother, is played excellently by Miss Margaret Easton.

The play was a huge success in its initial performance in Rodey Hall, given for the students and teachers. All Albuquerque people who enjoy a good play, well acted, will appreciate "Clarence" next Monday night at the Crystal Theatre.

HINKLE AND KELLY CONFER REGARDING GAME WARDENSHIP

A conference which may have more than a little bearing on the game situation in New Mexico and particularly in reference to the appointment of the state game warden, took place at Roswell Tuesday. The conference was between E. Kelley of Carrizozo, president of the New Mexico Game Protective association, and Governor-elect J. F. Hinkle.

Mr. Kelley went to Roswell solely to interview Mr. Hinkle in regard to the manner of carrying out the assurances given by the governor-elect last month. These assurances were in regard to the state game department.

The New Mexico Game Protective association has been earnestly advocating the giving to the state game commission the appointment of the state game warden. Members of the association are supporting a bill to that effect. This bill is to be presented at the coming session of the legislature.

President Kelley's discussion with Governor-elect Hinkle was partly in connection with the handling of this bill. It was also to ascertain Mr. Hinkle's preferences as to the procedure to be followed in the interim, before the meeting of the legislature, and in the passage of the bill.

SOVIET STRAITS PLAN IS DEALT KNOCKOUT BLOW

Great World Waterway Should Be Kept Open,
American Ambassador
Declares at Lausanne

Lausanne, Dec. 6 (By the Associated Press).—A strong American plea for freedom of the straits, with the right of warships to pass to and from the Black sea, was the outstanding feature of the Near Eastern conference today, which received from the entente nations, a definite project for the future control of this great world waterway. The Russian plan for the exclusion of all but Turkish warships from the straits received a hard blow by the allied proposals. Richard Washburn Child, the American ambassador, adopted the broad standpoint that the very interests of the countries bordering on the Black sea made it imperative to keep the straits open. The United States, in common with every commercial nation, wished access to every free body of water in the world, and America would not be satisfied if her ships of war could not pursue their peaceful ends wherever American citizens and merchant crafts were accorded that privilege.

The entente nations presented a comprehensive plan for restricted opening of the straits, which was designed to prevent any one body from acquiring mastery there. They suggested demilitarization of the entire straits territorial zone and proposed the appointment of an international commission to guarantee observance of freedom of the straits.

Richard Washburn Child, the American ambassador, ridiculed the allied proposals, saying it meant resumption of international rivalries, but Ismet Pasha, for Turkey, informed the Associated Press that he considered the entente proposals suitable for further discussions, that will be resumed Friday. In addition to the plan presented today, the allies are arranging for the formation of a committee of experts to work out detailed regulations for protecting Constantinople.

Put briefly, the allied proposals for controlling the straits is as follows:

In time of peace there shall be complete freedom of passage for the merchant ships of all nations, but the number of warships shall not be greater than that of the most powerful of the littoral powers of the Black sea, in the Black sea at the time of the passage.

If, however, the Black sea powers should abandon all their naval forces, individual powers would still have the right to send through the straits a fleet of three ships, but only one of these ships could exceed a tonnage of 10,000. If war occurred in which Turkey was neutral, there should be complete liberty for the powers, with the same limitation as to the number and armament of ships as in time of peace. If war should break out and Turkey was a belligerent, neutral warships could pass through under the same restrictions.

The plan for the demilitarization of the straits territorial zone prohibits fortifications on either side of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. The zone includes the Gallipoli peninsula, which was the scene of the great English-Turkish battle in the great war, and takes in the islands of the Sea of Marmora and the group of islands in the Aegean which lie at the entrance of the Dardanelles.

A significant feature of the demilitarizing project is interdiction of all subjects of submarines in territorial waters of the demilitarized zones and islands.

As a special protection for the project arise a garrison not exceeding 10,000 men, but no armed forces shall remain or move in the demilitarized zones.

Explains Proposals.
Lord Curzon, who lengthily explained the allied proposals in an address before the conference said that the international commission would have a Turkish permanent president. The United States would be a member. The exact procedure by the commission would be constituted and whether it will work under the league of nations has not yet been decided.

In attacking M. Titcher's plan to close the straits to all except the Turkish, Lord Curzon referred to the Panama canal. Under international law, he said, Russia and Turkish warships have the right of free passage of the canal, as well as the Suez and Kiel canals and other straits. But M. Titcher wanted to deny these rights to other nations with respect to passage between the Mediterranean and the Black sea.

He declared that the Russian scheme for closing the Black sea would place the other countries bordering on that sea at the mercy of Russia, because Russia possessed the strongest land forces. He insisted that the allied proposals gave no special advantage to the allies, but were framed to secure a durable and equitable solution of one of the most vexed and complicated problems of international policy.

"If we settle this problem, we will merit the thanks of the world," he concluded.

The general impression tonight is that today's developments have given a distinctly hopeful atmosphere to the conference.

M. CLEMENCEAU IS A CALLER AT WILSON'S HOME

'Tiger' Spends a Little More Than a Quarter of an Hour in the Company of the Ex-President

Washington, Dec. 6 (By the Associated Press).—America's war time premier met here late today for the first time since the signing of the peace treaty at Versailles, more than three years ago. The meeting was at the home of Mr. Wilson and lasted just a little more than a quarter of an hour. M. Clemenceau described his visit as one of the utmost cordiality and affection, as between old friends, adding that he and the former president had talked a little about old times in Paris, and also about "the past and the present."

Wilson Seemed Pleased
Mr. Wilson made no reference to the purpose of the visit of the former premier of France to America, or the subject matter of his address in this country. M. Clemenceau continued, but smiled and seemed pleased when told that the mention of his name and of the 14 points had elicited more applause from the French statesman's audiences than any other one thing.

Describing Mr. Wilson as somewhat stouter than at the time of his visit to France, M. Clemenceau said he appeared as mentally alert as ever and that there was no noticeable difference in his voice. Also he declared that the former president showed a great clearness of view and precision of thought.

The former chief executive received his distinguished visitor in the library on the second floor of his home. Mrs. Wilson was with him when M. Clemenceau arrived, but retired immediately so that the two might be alone. Mr. Wilson remained seated throughout the visit, the former premier said, adding that he did not prolong his stay as he had when he called on President Harding, because his host appeared to be fatigued.

Small Crowd Applauds
Accompanied only by Colonel Stephen Bonal, M. Clemenceau arrived at the Wilson residence soon after midnight. He was applauded by a small crowd that had gathered and was greeted by John Randolph Bolling, secretary to Mr. Wilson. He immediately was taken to the library. As he descended from his automobile, the aged statesman was given a salute by a flash setter of the photographers, who were disposed by the police before he left the home.

The call at the Wilson home was an important incident of a day, that proved one of the busiest M. Clemenceau has had since he landed on American shores three weeks ago. His "villies" began with an early morning visit to Arlington national cemetery and ended late tonight, with an address to the Southern society in Continental memorial hall, where a few months ago the treaties negotiated at the armistice conference were signed. Between times he spoke to American army officers, most of them overseas veterans, at the war college and made a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon.

The address to the Southern society was in the nature of a message to the south, since the former premier was obliged to cancel his intended trip into that section. M. Clemenceau was presented to the audience by Hugh C. Wallace, former American ambassador to France, and was given an ovation.

On his visit to Arlington, the former premier went directly to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, upon which he laid a wreath, and before which he bowed in silent prayer. Halting only momentarily on his way back to his automobile to get a view of Washington from the Potomac hills, M. Clemenceau drove to the war college, there to give utterance to his first remarks since arriving at the capital last Monday.

As the visitor walked briskly to his place on the lecturer's platform the assembled officers stood and applauded him for several minutes. As he departed the traditional dignity of the army was cast aside. Grouping themselves on the broad stone steps of the college, major generals, brigadiers, colonels and those of lesser rank, under the leadership of Major General McGlachlin, commandant, gave three rousing cheers and a "Tiger."

Boards Naval Yacht.
From the war college M. Clemenceau drove to the navy yard, where he boarded the naval yacht Sylph had dropped anchor the home.

The trip down the river was without incident and after the Sylph had dropped anchor the party had lunch before going ashore in a gig. M. Clemenceau was escorted directly to Washington's tomb within which he placed a wreath.

AN OPERATIC STAR'S APARTMENT ROBBED

New York, Dec. 6.—Frieda Hempel, operatic star, returning today to her apartment on Central Park west, after a concert tour, was notified that the suite was robbed yesterday. Jewels, furs and apparel composed the greater part of the loot, estimated to be worth between $25,000 and $50,000.

While they ransacked the apartment and packed the loot into suitcases, the thieves smoked a box of cigars taken from the room of the singer's husband. A janitor, filled with perfect butts was left on a sitting room table.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1893, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a family-looker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a plump, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable matter. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

Home-made Remedy
Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $5.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Then you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A NEW INTEREST IN LIFE

Chapter 70

Miss Jones left Mr. Fallon alone and he at once remarked:

"Miss Nellie, has Miss Jones told you she is leaving us?"

"Why—no—Mr. Fallon?" The girl's heart sank. Would that Nellie might have to go too?

"She leaves on Saturday. She is going to be married. Would you like to take her place, be my private secretary?"

For a moment Nellie could form no reply, although her lips moved. "I think you are capable, she tells me she has put a great deal of her work upon you with this in view."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Fallon, I should love to try to fill her place," Nellie replied, her cheeks flaming, her eyes shining. She was not to be sent away, but given this wonderful chance—and she would be near Mr. George.

"But are you sure I can do the work? I should have to make it harder for you." Her native reply caused him to look at her queerly, before he answered.

"Quite sure. I have intended to tell you how much I appreciate your—your faithfulness." It was his turn to flush and hesitate. Nellie could scarcely believe she had heard right. Was George Fallon stammering over a speech to her—his stenographer?

When Miss Jones returned she smiled encouragingly at Nellie and the girl tried to thank her.

"He owes it entirely to your own merits, Nellie. You have always been punctual, done your work and now you also have decided to do an initiative, a knowledge of business that makes you valuable to Mr. Fallon. You will not grow careless, I am sure, else I would not say this to you. I hope you will be as happy in the situation as I have been. He tells me you will receive the same salary."

Nellie knew that Miss Jones received $40 a week. Could she, the Riley, the slavey of Hudson Corners, be worth as much? It was almost unbelievable, almost too good to be true. "Oh, I hope I'll make good," Nellie exclaimed. "I'll just die if I don't! But I will! Then I'll go back to The Corners some day and show them Nellie Riley is some good even if they didn't think so and I had to run away from them."

"Of course you will," Miss Jones answered smiling. She had heard the story of Nellie's life at the Corners, and was always amused at any reference to it.

All that week Nellie felt as if she were walking on air. She had told no one save Cora and Mrs. Roberts. In fact she had no one else to tell, but she had been more her old self, had been full of happiness and it had flowed over upon Donald Horne, even on the acid-faced spinster.

Day after day she had realized more keenly that George Fallon meant everything to her; not that she dreamed of him as giving her the slightest place in his thoughts, save that he would give to any girl who attended to his business in a way to please him. But to be near him, to hear every morning his pleasant greeting, to realize his consideration through the day, his "goodnight, Miss Nellie" when she left the office—this was happiness indeed.

Occasionally she found herself wondering what it would be like to be loved by him? But she soon remembered who she was, that they were of different worlds. She must not allow herself to become foolish, to think of the impossible. Hadn't she witnessed enough unhappiness in the girls she knew who had allowed themselves to dream? He was miles and miles above her.

"I'd have to take an aeroplane to even reach his level," she said grimly to herself. "Then, like as not, he'd have a better one, one that could fly higher."

Yet more than once that week he set her heart beating.

"You have very lovely hair," he said one day, apropos of nothing. "You wear it very becomingly."

That night Nellie's dreams were all of George Fallon. He had not freed her hair, had spoken of it. She seemed to feel his fingers caressing it, and woke to find her pillow wet with tears.

Tomorrow—Nellie takes stock of her beauty.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Suds
Bent the soap flakes into a foam with the egg beater. Power flakes will be required and better suds will result.

To Keep Cheese
Cheese will keep fresh and free from mold by wrapping it in a cloth wrung out of vinegar. Cover with oiled paper and keep in a cool place.

Better Fruit Cake
Brown the flour before using it in fruit cake. It will give it a most delicious flavor. Use an aluminum frying pan for this purpose, taking care not to burn the flour.

Better Than Patches
Should the lining of your coat show signs of wear under the arms, make neat silk dress shields to match your lining and sew care-fully over the worn parts. A silk belt may be added over the lining if it is worn out at the waistline.

A Good Investment
Where there is a baby in the house a thermometer is a necessity. Baby's head always seems hot to the anxious watcher, but when his temperature can be taken, either under the arm or by rectum, and the result is normal, home remedies can be applied and many an unnecessary call for the doctor avoided.

CAN DO WORK LIKE A GIRL AT AGE OF 73

"I took Tanlac because I saw a testimonial in the paper from Indiana where I used to live, and it has made me look and feel years younger," this statement was made recently by Mrs. S. F. Getty, 5231 Lincoln Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

"Tanalac increased my weight until all my clothes got too small for me, and stronger, why, I can do as much work right now as a young woman if I am seventy-three."

"I had suffered from nervous indigestion for several years. My stomach was so out of order I couldn't even have cream in my coffee. My food would ferment and gas would form and keep me with a continual pain in my stomach. I also had rheumatism and my joints were so stiff and painful I couldn't stoop down to do my work. My nerves were all undone and I would lie awake every night for hours."

"Nothing helped me and I just thought my age was against me, but I know since taking Tanlac that all I needed was the right medicine. After I started on Tanlac my troubles all soon left me. I used to have someone to do my housework and washing, but now I have strength and energy to do it all myself. Tanlac is simply wonderful."

LONELY FATHER CONTRIBUTES TO CHRISTMAS TREE FUND TO HELP MAKE DUKE CITY KIDDIES HAPPY

A lonely father came to the Journal Wednesday afternoon and asked for the privilege of making his small contribution to the Elks Christmas fund.

He was Richard Kent, a man of about thirty, and a father of two small children back in Chicago. Kent, who is making a brave fight for his life here, will not spend his customary Christmas with his "kids." He hasn't enough money to go home for Christmas, but he brought his two dollars and a half to make every child in Albuquerque a happy youngster Christmas day.

"It isn't much," Kent half-apologized, "but I just got to thinking of how much I miss the tree at home, and how much it means to my own kids. I suppose it means just as much to every kid and I'd like to help a little."

Have you brought or sent your contribution to the Elks Christmas fund? Remember, there are nearly fifteen hundred youngsters who look forward to a day of great joy at the Elks' Christmas party. Unless your contribution is made, some child's day will be a tragedy, a real tragedy because of a blind hope that Santa Claus will remember them, as they will know he does thousands of other youngsters.

A one-cent postage stamp is laid on the open palm of the left hand. The fingers of the right hand are then merely passing the right fingers over the stamp is transformed into a two-cent.

The trick is accomplished by gumming a one-cent and a two-cent stamp back to back. The stamp is exhibited as an ordinary one-cent stamp. With very little practice the stamp can be secretly turned over by the right fingers, so that it apparently is raised in denomination.

A DESIRABLE CHANGE OF VENUE

The recommendation made by a committee of lawyers that trials involving non-jury hearings be conducted in special chambers in Albuquerque instead of at the county court house is one which should be adopted. No one is better qualified to pass upon such a question than the lawyers who compose the committee. Any procedure which would tend to mitigate "the law's delay," as undoubtedly the proposed plan would do in the amount of time which would be saved to litigants as well as to lawyers who try the cases, should commend itself to the public.

Furthermore, such a step might also accomplish another very desirable result and that is the location of the county seat in the city of Albuquerque where the center of population is. As it is now, the amount of time which is consumed in transacting any business with the county is oftentimes entirely out of proportion to the amount of business accomplished.

But for the present a special trial chambers should be designated in the city at once, even though it may be necessary to establish a special clerk's office for the maintenance of records.

AUTODEATH

The increase in the number of deaths due to what we have been accustomed to habit to call motor "accidents" suggests that the Malthusian theory of population is to be supplemented by a new economic force in the reduction of population through this new and modern means of reducing human life by a new form of death—autodeath.

The recent Census Office bulletin, which presents statistics for deaths in automobile accidents for 1921, in the thirty-four states reporting, shows that 10,168 men, women and children lost their lives through accidents which were held to be preventable.

It is pointed out in Washington that the economic loss of such wholesale killings is enormous, no matter how conservative the figures are which enter into such calculations. Supposing that the average earning of each of the killed people was or would eventually be at the rate of one thousand dollars a year, and that the life expectancy of all those who thus died was but ten years each, and the enormous total of $100,000,000 is reached, as the earning power wiped out by automobile accidents in one year.

National campaigns are undertaken in the interest of stamping out tuberculosis, cancer, and other diseases which yearly slay their thousands. None of them, it is pointed out among legislators in Washington, who see in automobile accidents a wholly curable cancer in the body politic, are more deadly than the improperly, carelessly, or drunkenly driven road vehicle. The accidents caused by them thus take a place side by side with the other plagues against which society is at war.

THE INTENT IS THE THING

That the supreme court ruling should exclude Japanese from obtaining citizenship in the United States is no surprise to any one familiar with preceding decisions on the naturalization acts. But the process of reasoning by which a fundamental law is interpreted deserves the attention of citizens.

From 1790 onward the privileges of naturalization were confined to "free white persons," and in 1870 those of African nativity or descent were included. The General Naturalization Act of 1906 differed in wording but left the plain intention to perpetuate the rule in force ever since 1791, plus its single enlargement to take the Negroes.

Among many able Japanese arguments was one to the effect that the framers had in mind, originally, the exclusion of Negroes and Indians, as outside the designation "white." The supreme court, on the contrary, maintained its functions to be to seek the intent of congress and to give effect to it. Thus it became a simple matter of deciding whether Congress meant what it said in the earlier acts and if a suspicion is sufficient to evade the plain intent of that day; the court assumed properly that if Congress had intended to make such a radical change in viewpoint Congress would have said so specifically and not have left it to surmise.

Quite apart from the Japanese exclusion question it is very interesting to see the supreme court recognizing in Congress the superior authority and defining its own functions thus sharply. One of the chief grievances brought against the judiciary has been the tendency to deprive Congress of the effect of its law-making efforts. The scrupulous regard, in this instance, for the simplest and most literal intent of Congress is the true function of the supreme court as most citizens view it and as all of them desire it to be construed.

FINANCIAL

Wall Street

New York, Dec. 6.—A sharp rebound in stock prices took place in today's late dealings after an extremely dull morning session, during which rail shares were completely weak because of speculative uncertainty regarding the maintenance of the $7 dividend on Great Northern preferred.

Publication of Secretary Mellon's annual report indicating that no new federal taxes were announced for next year was the signal for a brisk rally, which was given considerable impetus by the hurriedly announced reduction of the 25 per cent stock dividend, was the market leader, crossing 131 for a net gain of 5 1/2 points. Other markets improved in sympathy.

A rising of the market by the railroad shares recovered somewhat from their early weakness, but lagged far behind on the upward swing. Great Northern preferred, which dropped 4 1/2 yesterday, recovered 5 1/2 today.

U. S. Steel common was sluggish but the buying movement of the last hour put it up to 102 1/2 for a net gain of 3/4. Bethlehem B touched 62 1/2, and Crucible advanced 1 1/2 to 64 after having fallen to 62 1/2.

Baldwin also made a quick recovery moving within a radius of five points for a net gain of 3/4. Pullman improved 3/4, and American Locomotive 1 1/2. Coppers, which were moderately strong in the earlier dealings, fell back later, net charges generally being unimportant. Day's total sales were $25,000 shares.

Sterling exchange touched $45 1/2, or 1 1/2 above yesterday's close, and the highest price in nearly four years. Dutch and Norwegian exchanges also established peak prices at 32.50 and 18.50, respectively, while Calcutta was quoted at 30.30, also the year's best price. French and Italian exchanges improved slightly, and South American rates continued strong. The German mark still sold at 1 1/2 a hundred, despite an unprecedented weekly increase of 110,300,000 marks in circulation.

Call money opened at 5 per cent and then advanced to 5 1/2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, with the volume of business small in each.

Grain
Chicago Board of Trade
Chicago, Dec. 6.—Definite moves toward providing for $50,000,000 farm credits by the United States government gave an immediate lift today to the value of wheat, corn and oats. The wheat market closed strong, 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 net higher, with May $1.16 1/2 to $1.16 1/2 and July $1.08. Corn gained 3/4 to 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 and oats 1/2 to 3/4. In provisions the market was unchanged to 1/2 lower.

Although the wheat market showed at first a downward tendency ascribed chiefly to declines in prices at Liverpool, a reaction soon took place, many traders looking for bullish developments at Washington. During most of the session gossip touching this subject was vague, relating to supposed plans for a permanent financing of food exports. Just before the close, however, announcement was made that a bill to create a farm credits department had been passed by the Senate, and that the bill if enacted would make available $48,000,000 in addition to the government's present $12,000,000 subscription to the farm loan system.

Something of a general rush to the buying side of the wheat market quickly ensued, especially on the part of pit speculators, who previously had been sellers. The upward swing of the market also was furnished momentum as a result of word that Europeans had taken a liberal amount of wheat today and that French rains had fallen in Argentina, impeding the harvest there. Under such circumstances and with sterling at a new high record, the wheat market closed at the topmost level reached.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Renewed demand for corn was reported from the west and southwest.

Provisions held fairly steady in line with hog values.

HINKLE PLANS TO ABOLISH A STATE OFFICE

Democratic Headquarters
Says Governor-Elect Sees
No Use for the Traveling Auditor

Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 6.—Plans are under way for a material reduction in state governmental costs by the elimination of a costly department.

The democratic party will insist that the department of the state traveling auditor be abolished. This position, one of the appointive plums created by a republican legislature, is held unopposed by Governor-elect Hinkle, it was said today at democratic headquarters. It is recalled that in the platform adopted at the democratic state convention, the office of traveling auditor was condemned. It became known that several applications are seeking appointments to the traveling auditorship, as well as to the assistants' positions. The question was asked of State Chairman Hunker as to what would be done about this office. His reply was that the democratic officials elected November 7 would remain on the platform upon which they were elected. He said that when the plank condemning the office of traveling auditor was written into the platform, it was with the view of letting the public know that the democratic party was out to eliminate machine jobs and not perpetuate them.

The bill creating the office of traveling auditor provided that that official should have six assistants. These seven salaries, with the office and the traveling expenses of the organization, no longer will burden the state's exchequer, according to Chairman Hunker. The chairman said that while it provided splendid opportunity for taking care of party workers and making it possible for a few, at least, to see a few Mexico first, the office is an expense not needed.

Chairman Hunker explained that while the office has been at the call of the governor, it has not been thoroughly used in curbing expenditures. Consequently, it has been ineffective and costly. At the same time, he said, the same results could be obtained through the state tax commission. This commission, according to the democratic leaders, soon will have a complexion in harmony with the state administration, a situation which will be repeated in the personnel of other commissions.

M'MANUS SPOKE OF FOR WARDEN OF STATE'S PEN

Man Who Held Appointment Under McDonald May Be Given Another Term

Special to The Journal
Santa Fe, Dec. 6.—Prominent democrats visiting in Santa Fe this week were unable to account for the story which appeared in the morning paper that John B. McManus is a candidate for appointment as bank examiner. It was said by men high in democratic councils that Mr. McManus never was and will not be a candidate for that office. However, it was said that Mr. McManus has been prominently mentioned for the position of warden of the penitentiary. He held this post for two years under Governor McDonald and with this experience and the record of management made there—which record received the endorsement of the democratic convention—McManus is actively working in his behalf. The appointment of a warden will be announced by Governor-elect Hinkle in time for the new chief of the prison to take office January 1.
