REMISSION OF FRANCE'S DEBT BY ENGLAND IS A POSSIBILITY

Bonar Law Says the Government Is Willing to Consider the Question of Its Cancellation

STATEMENT MADE AT PREMIER'S PARLEY

Question Hinges Upon a Reparations Settlement Satisfactory to Great Britain Being Made

London, Dec. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Premier Bonar Law caused a sensation at the second session of the allied premiers this afternoon, when, in the course of his reply to M. Poincaré's memorandum plan, he gave clear indication that the British government would be quite willing to reconsider the question of cancellation of the French debt, provided such a step was made possible by a reparations settlement satisfactory to Great Britain.

Mr. Bonar Law had previously intimated that America's insistence on the payment of the British debt made it very difficult for England to discuss remission of the French war debt.

The British prime minister's declaration at the afternoon meeting greatly encouraged Premier Poincaré, who was extremely pessimistic early in the day over the outcome of the conversations.

While the premiers are far from an accord, the French delegation to the Bonar Law pronouncement on the debt had made an agreement much more likely.

ISMET ABANDONS RUSSIA ON THE STRAITS ISSUE

M. Tchitcherin Is Highly Satisfied With Turkey; Warns Against Trusting the Allied Nations

Lausanne, Dec. 9.—Proof that bolshevik Russia is highly dissatisfied with Turkey because Ismet Pasha has abandoned the Russians on the question of the Dardanelles was found today when M. Tchitcherin, the soviet minister, issued an urgent invitation to the Turkish journalists, and in the course of a long speech warned them of the dangers of placing their trust in the allied nations.

'TIP' BY WOMAN LEADS TO A MAN BEING ARRESTED

Harold H. Mendell is charged with slaying his closest friend, Rollin Morgan, in Michigan.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 9.—Arrestment of Harold H. Mendell, 42, charged with the slaying of his closest friend, Rollin Morgan, 35, whose body was recovered from the Keweenaw river August 3, last, was postponed late today until Monday. Mendell is being held incommunicado at the county jail.

An admission to investigate Morgan's death, received at the sheriff's office from an unidentified woman, led to the charge against Mendell, according to Sheriff Theodore Truitt.

The sheriff said the woman called while he was absent and told Mrs. Truitt, Morgan's death might not have been accidental.

Morgan's body was disinterred. Physicians said he had not been drowned, but that a blow on the temple had rendered Morgan unconscious and that he had died from suffocation.

That Mendell was in love with Morgan's wife, is an angle of the case the prosecutor's office is investigating, it was announced. The Morgan and Mendell families are said to have been much together.

Mrs. Morgan left her shortly after her husband's funeral and is said to have joined her parents in Albuquerque, N. M.

Morgan was father of three children, the oldest seven years old.

Entire blame for the tragic ending of the "friendship" of two married couples—including the death of one husband and the arrest of the second on a charge of slaying the first—was placed at the door of "the other woman," Saturday by Mrs. R. H. Morgan, 1804 East Central avenue, widow of the drowned Bay City man.

Mrs. Morgan refused to believe that Howard C. Mendell, arrested Saturday in Bay City on charges of the slaying of Rollin Morgan last August, was in any way implicated with the "accidental" death of her husband. She said she was firmly convinced that her husband met his death by accident.

She admitted that Mendell "thought an awful lot of her," and that she had acted as a sympathizer for him during many quarrels, and that he "always brought his troubles to her." Because of that, Mrs. Morgan said, Mrs. Mendell became extremely jealous.

"That woman is at the bottom of the whole thing," Mrs. Morgan asserted. "She hates me far more than she loves her husband or anybody else but herself. She's been the cause of my husband's arrest just to hurt me by hurting him. She'd stoop to anything to hurt me."

Mrs. Morgan said that Mrs. Mendell's grief at the death of Rollin Morgan was "actively disguised," and that "Mrs. Mendell carried on far worse than if her own husband had died."

The Morgan families and the Mendell families belonged to the same churches and same clubs and went about together in Bay City, Mrs. Morgan said. The Morgans and the Mendells kissed each other's husbands and were good friends, she said.

Mrs. Morgan said then Mrs. Mendell's affection, Mrs. Morgan believed, began to be more than friendship. Also Mrs. Mendell became jealous of Mrs. Morgan.

"It was all right for her to kiss my husband but when she saw her husband kissing me, she became very jealous," said Mrs. Morgan. She said she did not remember when she began to notice that her husband and Mrs. Mendell were not exchanging commonplace kisses of friendship. However, according to Mrs. Morgan, when Mrs. Mendell's mother died, Mrs. Mendell came directly to Mr. Morgan for all her sympathy, rather than going to her own husband.

Mrs. Morgan, with her three small children, came to Albuquerque shortly after the death of her husband, three months ago. They are spending the winter here with her mother.

EDGE AND HIS BRIDE
EN ROUTE TO CANADA
ON THEIR HONEYMOON

Bath, Me., Dec. 9.—United States Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey and his bride, formerly Miss Camilla Sewall, daughter of Harold M. Sewall of this city, left late today for Canada on their honeymoon. Their plans, so far as was known here tonight, provided for spending a few days in Quebec before sailing from New York next Saturday for England. Their stay in Europe, it was said, would be over the Christmas holidays, but the length of the tour would depend upon the course of events at Washington.

The church was filled to capacity at noon for the wedding.

Probably the only feasible way of stabilizing the mark would be to start the furnace fire with about 50 per cent of them—Ohio State Journal.

'REAL STUFF' IS CAPTURED WHILE CROSSING LINE

Liquor Said to Be Worth $16,000 Found in Truck and Towing Car in Rum Runner's Possession

Deming, N. M., Dec. 9.—Rum runners transporting "Christmas" liquor estimated to be worth $16,000 were captured by customs officers under Mounted Inspector W. L. Ryan 12 miles east of Las Cruces, N. M., early Wednesday.

Five men were arrested. Two touring cars and a truck were seized. One automobile and the truck were loaded with 55 cases of choice liquors, ranging in variety from French "Parfait Amour," imported champagne and fancy cordials to Chinabush beer. The liquor voyaged eastward across a country road by a Packard car driven by Angel Figueroa, according to arresting officers.

The men arrested were Angel Figueroa, Francisco Figueroa, Ciro Gonzalez, Guillermo Loya and Tomas Ramirez. They will be arraigned on charges of violating the tariff of 1922, which classifies liquor as dutiable merchandise.

Biggest Border Seizure
According to customs officials the seizure is the largest in the history of the enforcement of liquor laws in the border region.

The automobiles confiscated were valued at $10,000. The liquor touring car, a Cadillac car and a Dodge truck were taken.

Only One Man Armed
Only one of the men was armed, according to officers who made the seizure. Francisco Figueroa, driver of the truck, carried a revolver, but did not attempt to use it, they said.

Contents of the Cadillac car were listed as follows:

279 quarts Cedar Brook whiskey.
10 quarts Chartreuse.
22 quarts French rum.
22 pints cognac.
24 quarts Gordon gin.
47 pints J. E. Pepper whiskey.
43 pints Cedar Brook whiskey.

Truck Load Inventory
The Dodge truck contained:

179 one-eighth pint bottles of unlabelled whiskey.
211 pints Cedar Brook whiskey.
223 pints cream de vanilla.
Seven pints cream de menthe.
One quart cream de coeën.
Two pints cream de maoca.
One pint "Parfait Amour".

879 quarts Cedar Brook whiskey.
29 quarts liquor Don.
24 pints Gordon gin.
23 quarts cognac.
Two pints unlabelled whiskey.
One quart alcohol.
83 pints champagne.
One quart Manhattan cocktail.
One quart Yellowstone whiskey.
16 quarts vermouth.

Two quarts Amer Picon.
Two quarts Period Pils.
Two quarts Casillo Rolo.
29 pints Carta Blanca beer.

plan program at Lausanne was based on a community of interests between the Russian and Turkish peoples and he hoped that the end of the conference would find the two countries nearer together.

Demilitarizing Black Sea
If the Turks insisted on their right to fortify the straits and defend Constantinople, Russia would feel more secure and could take up with the neighboring states on the Black sea the question of demilitarizing that water.

Some of the correspondents remarked that Turkey weary of war, had a national desire to establish durable peace in the Near East, but M. Tchitcherine emphasized that it

TOT GIVES UP PENNIES THAT THE POOR YOUNGSTERS MAY HAVE REAL CHRISTMAS JOYS IN ALBUQUERQUE

The Christmas spirit of sacrificing to make others happy has reached to the children. Yesterday the Journal received through the mail the contribution of an unknown child to the Elks Community Christmas tree fund.

It was just such a letter as Santa Claus receives by the hundreds of thousands—a few scrawls a row of ephers like "lovers sometimes use to designate kisses, the figures "1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8," a few marks from a green crayon—and not a sign of a name.

The contents was 13 cents. Do you remember how much fun you could have had with 13 cents, what a fortune it seemed, when you were a kiddie? Do you think it was a great mistake to put trust in the European powers. The correspondent withdrew and sent long dispatches to their newspapers in Constantinople, Angora and elsewhere. Some of them appeared deeply distressed, as they said they did not want to embarrass their delegates.

There are indications that the bolsheviks are inclined to believe that some of the members of the Turkish delegation are dissatisfied with Ismet Pasha's conciliatory policy on the straits problems and that the Russians were trying to play upon this sentiment to their own advantage.

his mother of the case. She told them they must go to the officers and tell them about it. They first told their story to the jury holding inquest and then went to Mr. Garcia's office, to repeat their story to him.

Upon investigation of the case yesterday it was found that four American boys wearing skull caps, had crossed the Barela bridge shortly before the shooting occurred. These boys, however knew nothing about the case.

District Attorney Garcia stated last night that he would investigate the case until tomorrow. He said that according to the story told him by Ignacio Salazar and Felipe Arellanes the shooting was purely an accident. However, he will lodge a formal complaint tomorrow in order that an official investigation may be conducted.

The jury which was convened at Barela for the purpose of determining the death of Felipe Barela, rendered a verdict that in their opinion it was the result of an accident. The inquest was held yesterday. Following is the verdict which was rendered:

KLAN HAS RIGHT TO WORK MASKED, SAYS PREACHER

Tucumcari Minister Says the Foes the Organization Meets Work in Secret; Reads Alleged K. C. Oath

Tucumcari, N. M., Dec. 9.—The Rev. G. E. Ellis, pastor of the Baptist church here, recently celebrated the fifth anniversary of his pastorate. R. C. Morris gave a brief address in which he said that the congregation appreciates the work that Rev. Mr. Ellis has done for the upbuilding of the church.

He then presented the pastor with a fine suit of clothes, the gift of his congregation. Mrs. W. C. Shamblin gave a short talk eulogizing the pastor's work, and presented her with a wrist watch as the gift of the congregation in appreciation of her work.

In the evening Mr. Ellis' subject was "The K. K. K. vs. the K. C. C." The Tucumcari News describes the services as follows:

"He said: I start my sermon this evening with fear and trembling. I do not tremble because I am afraid—just at this point the audience got its thrill when nine masked and robed figures with the insignia of the Ku Klux Klan marched down the aisle. The leader in passing the pulpit laid a sack containing money and the ghostly parade filed out of the building. The services were then continued."

Mr. Ellis stated it was not his purpose to crush out any religion—the Catholics have the right to their belief and that he would shoulder a gun to fight for their freedom as quick as any other. He stated that he stood for freedom and religious thought.

"He defended the right of the Klan to work under cover because the people they were after were working under cover, chiefly the bootlegger. He scored the patron of a bootlegger as also working under cover and said not one of them were willing to be accused."

"He read the principles for which the Klan stood and compared them with an alleged excerpt from the oath of the K. C. taken from the Congressional Record."

"Prior to his sermon Mr. Ellis gave some interesting statistics on his five years work in the church as follows:

"Five years ago the Sunday school had an enrollment of 123; it is now more than 200. During the five years there has been 415 members added to the church. In this period the pastor married 132 couples and conducted 34 funerals."

COLORADOAN IS CONVICTED ON A MURDER CHARGE

Bert J. Lowe Is Found Guilty of Slaying His Sister-in-Law; Judge Congratulates Jury

Greeley, Colo., Dec. 9.—Bert J. Lowe was found guilty by a jury in district court here tonight of first degree murder for the death of his sister-in-law, Miss Edna Fern Skinner of Leroy, Ill., last July 2.

The verdict was returned at 10:20 o'clock. The case was given to the jury at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Lowe had retired for the night and was found asleep when a bullet went to his cell to summon him to the court room to hear the verdict of the jury.

Judge Bradford granted the defense 30 days within which to file a motion for a new trial. Judge Bradford congratulated the jury on their verdict. He declared that he had brought in a just and fair finding in the case. Under the instructions given the jury by Judge Bradford this afternoon, the verdict of first degree murder was the only one which could be brought in aside from acquittal.

The crime for which Lowe was tried was the murder of his sister-in-law, Edna Fern Skinner of Leroy, Ill., on the morning of Sunday, July 2, last, at the Lowe home in Greeley. The state charged that Lowe killed Miss Skinner with a machine hammer which was found in the house shortly after the discovery of her body and then set fire to the body and house, after dismantling a gasoline stove in the kitchen to make it appear as though it had exploded.

The state presented as a motive for the crime that Lowe hoped to collect $2,000 life insurance which he had sold Miss Skinner and in which he was named as beneficiary and on which he paid the premiums. The defense pleaded that Miss Skinner was killed by the force of an explosion of the gasoline stove which she was lighting preparatory to heating water to take a bath and the subsequent fire which partially destroyed the Lowe home.

A few days after the death of Miss Skinner, the coroner at Greeley announced he was satisfied she had met death by explosion and declined to hold an inquest. The body then was prepared for burial and was accompanied to Leroy, Ill., by Lowe. There Lowe's actions aroused the suspicions of a brother-in-law, who, dissatisfied with the story as told by Lowe, came to Greeley in company with the mother of Miss Skinner and initiated an investigation. His investigation resulted in the ordering of an autopsy on the body at the hospital and the subsequent arrest of Lowe and his subsequent arrest August 21. The complaint charging murder was filed by a brother of the dead girl. Lowe took the stand and entered emphatic denial to the charge of murder. The trial consumed two weeks.

Lowe did not display any emotion when the verdict was read. He maintained the same inscrutable calm that marked his demeanor throughout the trial.

None of the members of Lowe's family was in court tonight.

WITHDRAWS SANCTION FOR FOOTBALL GAME AT PASADENA JAN. 1

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 9.—The Pacific Coast intercollegiate conference in its annual meeting here today withdrew the sanction from the annual New Year's day football game at Pasadena, accepted withdrawal resignation of Stanford University from membership, amended the transfer rule penalized one season's play, declared that the football season must end the second Saturday after Thanksgiving and decided to limit as far as possible complimentary tickets to games.

Opposition to post-season games was expressed in the following resolution: "If a conference team shall play a post-season game, it shall do so only at rare intervals, shall not play any game promote or managed by any association or organization other than the conference and shall play subject to conference rules or eligibility."

Mrs. Edith E. Williams, well known lawyer of Dallas, Tex., is the first woman to sit in the legislature of that state.

Listen, World!

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY Elsie Robinson

We hear a great deal about the necessity for "implicit obedience," and there seems to be a growing conviction that the world is going to the dogs for lack of "virtue" in the training of the young. But is obedience such a desirable thing? Do our children need more training—or do they need something better than training? Personally, I think they need something better. Implicit obedience may be excellent for trained seals, but I've an idea that there's a better program for humans.

I do not think that "training" conserves and strengthens the human spirit. I think it wastes and weakens it. Have older people a definite duty towards children? They assuredly have. Should children be taught to play the game with the rest of the world—to play it honestly, kindly, cheerfully? They certainly should. But they shouldn't be and they can't be taught by the animal-trainer plan. If you try that sort of thing with a child you'll get the results that an animal trainer gets—either a broken, servile thing or a dangerous rebel. He'll have utterly pretty manners or utterly vicious ones, and neither either would be worth a man's material.

The things which are most valuable in a child, and in all humans, are, unfortunately, the things for which he is most easily broken—his initiative, his fearlessness, his frankness, his imagination, his hunger for adventure, a generosity in loving, a disregard for artificial restraints. Such attributes are the greatest heritage of mankind, and if they could be conserved the millennium would come the day after tomorrow. But the majority of us do not try to conserve these things. Why? Because they bother us. They muss up our snug program.

BRAZIL'S MOVE FOR DISARMING MEETING FAILS

Incident May Seriously Handicap the General Negotiations Scheduled to Take Place in March

Washington, Dec. 9.—The apparent collapse of Brazil's move for a three cornered disarmament conference with Argentina and Chile has caused a sensation in diplomatic circles here, and has led to belief in some quarters that the incident may seriously handicap the general disarmament negotiations which have been expected to take place next March at the Santiago meeting of the Pan-American Union.

News of Argentina's refusal to join in the three-power conference proposed by Brazil, led the Brazilian embassy to issue a statement today declaring that both Argentina and Chile already had agreed informally to participate in the meeting prior to issuance of the formal invitation.

There was some suggestion that Secretary Hughes might be asked to suggest a way in which the three South American nations could compose their differences so as to insure friendly discussion of the disarmament problem at the Santiago meeting.

Unless some such step is taken, it appears possible that at least one of the leading powers of the South American continent may be absent when the Santiago negotiations begin.

STUDENT AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA KILLED

Carlton T. Converse of Houston, Tex., Loses His Life When His Racing Car Turns Over

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 9.—Carlton Thayer Converse, of Houston, Texas, athlete and junior at the University of Arizona, was almost instantly killed this evening when his racing car turned over on the Nogales road at a point about one mile south of Tucson. J. H. McGibbeny and Lewis Carpenter, who were passengers in the machine, were more or less injured.

The accident is attributed to the fact that the car, which Converse was driving, was not equipped with lights.

The trip was returning from the Nogales-Phoenix game played today in the border city when the accident occurred. The car suddenly swerved to one side of the road near Tucson and before the driver was able to gain control over its course, it shot to the side of the road, turned over once and righted itself.

In athletics, the efforts of Converse were confined to the track team and hurdling events in which he excelled. Before coming to the university he was a student at the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, and brought an enviable track record with him. At the Southwest athletic meet last year he established a new record for the high hurdle race of 16 1/2 seconds and won the low hurdle event.

In the Nogales-Phoenix automobile race, on the opening day of the Arizona state fair, Converse drove the racer in which he was killed tonight. His number on the car was No. 3 and he ran third in the event.

A MORATORIUM FOR GERMANY IS BELGIUM'S PLAN

Loan to Be Participated in by All Nations Is Also Recommended to the Allied Premiers

London, Dec. 9 (by the Associated Press).—The Belgian plan presented by Premier Thunin at the meeting of the allied premiers this afternoon called for a two years' moratorium for Germany and a loan to be participated in by all nations at the rate of 5,000,000,000 gold marks per year for seven years, making a total of 35,000,000,000. This should represent the total reparations indemnity. The loan will be guaranteed by the wealth of the German republic.

According to this plan, the German debt would be reduced to between 30,000,000,000 and 40,000,000,000 gold marks and France must abandon all idea of military or economic pressure on Germany. The Germans would be required to effect rigid financial reforms, including balancing the budget and stabilizing the mark. Part of this loan would be handed over to Germany for that purpose.

The Belgians propose postponement of the Brussels conference until the end of January or the middle of February. Their plan will probably be discussed Monday.

HUMORIST'S ESTATE VALUED AT $294,333

New York, Dec. 9.—Marshall P. Wilder, the humorist, left an estate valued at $294,333. It was revealed when an application for the settlement was filed in surrogate court today, seven years after his death.

Wilder, a dwarf of peculiar mobile countenance and agile humor, was one of the country's most popular vaudeville artists in the '90's. His first public appearances were made at a salary of 50 cents a night. In 1883 he played before the prince of Wales and later before King Edward VII. From then on he billed himself as "The entertainer of princes and the prince of entertainers."

MAN ACQUITTED OF SLAYING IS SHOT TO DEATH

Paul Herron Is Killed on the Court House Steps at Grayson, Ky.; Deputies Guarding Jail

Grayson, Ky., Dec. 9.—Harrison Blanton, 24 years old, shot and killed Paul Herron on the court house steps late today, a few minutes after Herron had been acquitted of killing the former's father, William Blanton.

Sheriff's deputies were guarding the county jail tonight, as the consequence of reports that an effort would be made to lynch the younger Blanton.

The slaying of Herron was witnessed by a crowd of men and women, most of whom had attended the trial.

According to spectators, Blanton fired three shots, two piercing Herron's body, and he died almost instantly.

Blanton ran a few yards and surrendered to the town marshal. He was rushed to the jail. A few minutes later the grand jury, which was in session, returned an indictment charging first degree murder. Blanton's father, a deputy sheriff, was shot at Wilson's creek on July 15, while trying to make an arrest.

DOUG AND MARY PLAN TRIP AROUND WORLD

New York, Dec. 9.—Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford plan to circumnavigate the globe in a Japanese liner next spring. The trip will start from San Francisco.

The ship which they are said to have chartered belongs to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha and has eighty first class accommodations. Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 9.—No one was seriously injured when, near the Rock store on the Quay road, a truck ran into the car of Mr. and Mrs. Lam Lancaster and family, knocking it into the ditch. Mrs. Lancaster was unconscious for about five minutes. The top was torn from the car, but the engine was not injured and they were seen on their way again.

MISS BIRKHEAD TAKES WITNESS STAND AT TRIAL

Testifies in Her Own Behalf in Her Effort to Collect Damages From Governor of Mississippi

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 9.—Interest in the damage suit instituted by Miss Frances Birkhead against Lee M. Russell, governor of Mississippi, centered tonight in efforts being made to locate Theodore G. Bilbo, former governor and wanted as a witness in the plaintiff's case.

The case was halted today when attorneys for Miss Birkhead exhausted available witnesses to be called in rebuttal and asked a continuance until Monday to permit an eleventh hour effort to locate Mr. Bilbo for whom an attachment has been issued. The continuance was ordered over the protest of the defense.

The defense completed the presentation of evidence at the morning session of court, and the plaintiff exhausted his witnesses after an hour of the planned afternoon session.

Mrs. Russell, wife of the governor, and A. B. Schnitzer, campaign manager for Governor Russell, are his contest for the governorship were the last defense witnesses. Miss Birkhead was on the witness stand as the last witness of the day.

Mr. Schnitzer told of money payments alleged to have been made to Miss Birkhead, which have figured in the testimony of several previous witnesses. Mr. Schnitzer explained that friendly of the governor made up a fund of $500 to be given Miss Birkhead when it was reported that she planned to make allegations against the governor publicly.

Governor Russell knew nothing of the plans, Schnitzer testified. Mrs. Russell testified in support of Mr. Russell's statements as to his home life and of the night she had at all times into his affairs.

"I think we are the outstanding example of a happy couple," Mrs. Russell testified.

Expectations tonight were that the case would go to the jury Monday.

Right now is the time to plan one of your most important New Year's resolutions—the one that will lift you out of the rut.

Almost everyone in a minor position today is capable of holding a better one—and enjoying its benefits. All most people lack is the preparation.

Look at the situation from a broad, disinterested point of view: In Albuquerque there are hundreds of people earning $100 to $125 a month—and hundreds earning $200 or more. Examine the mentality of the two groups. You find them almost the same, except in one respect.

The $200-and-up group is a group of specialists. They have learned one phase of business more thoroughly than most people—and are paid for it.

The Western School can put you into this specialist group. It has helped others—it can help you. All that stands between you and the better positions is a little intensive preparation—here you can get that preparation, thoroughly and economically.

BULLDOGS PREP FOR BUSY YEAR IN BASKET PLAY

Getting Ready for Drive Which They Hope Will Bring Them Basketball Title of Southwest

"On to El Paso and the championship of the southwest." This is the battle cry which has been adopted by the Bulldogs of Albuquerque high school for the approaching season of basketball. El Paso and victory. That is the big aim. All others, even the state title, are of secondary importance. For a victory over El Paso will bring with it the championship of the entire southwest.

There is little question of that fact. Coach Luther Johnson has brought the El Paso team through to the championship of the southwest every season he has handled the team. Twice he has taken the Tigers to Austin and there met the best in the state of Texas. In the 1920-1921 season the Tigers captured the championship of Texas. Last year the Tigers were again the best amateur high school team in the final game but it was later proved that at least one of the winning team was a professional. No further investigation was made and El Paso was accepted as the best team.

This year is unlikely to be an exception. El Paso will probably again defeat every team in the southwest—except Albuquerque. Last year the Bulldogs were defeated by the Tigers by two field goals. This year El Paso, with the fleet Lorenzo and other strong players, will probably be as strong as last year.

But the Bulldogs expect to turn out a better team than they did a year ago. And prospects are bright that they will. With that better team they hope to trouble El Paso in basketball as they did in football and make it a complete Bulldog year.

When Coach Addison Moore issued his call for basketball candidates more than forty youngsters turned out to do their bit for old Albuquerque. He. Some did not quite measure up in playing ability to their time and as a group of forty is far too unwieldy to handle it was necessary for Moore to cull the squad. Some of these youngsters who would not make the team were: Ed. Gray and Stout of Princeton, Tabel of Wisconsin, Hahnman of Yale, Jenkins of Harvard.

Tackles: Penfield of Northwestern, Fletcher and Lewis of Chicago, Baker of Princeton. Guards: Mead of Iowa, Breid-

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Alas has nothing on the footballer who attempts to choose a mythical all-star football eleven. For monkeying with the lightning provokes no more possibilities than this.

But here goes. Out of the legion of grid notables produced in what everyone agrees was the biggest year ever enjoyed by college football stand the twenty-two men above. The reason I choose the above players is because I firmly believe that the first team, coached by Tad Jones, Hurry Up Yost or any other great mentor for a reasonable time, could lick the world on the grid. You may fire when ready, Grid-ley.

To my mind the greatest player of the year in the entire country is Harry Kipke, Michigan halfback. To begin with, he has the versatility—the triple-threat make-up. He can run with the ball, pass well and has no equal as a kicker. His ability to place his punts has rightfully earned him the title of the "Willie Kicker of the Gridiron."

Joe's His Field
As a runner he has that elusive style and keen brain needed in this day of open play. One of his most famous exhibitions of heady running was in the game against Wisconsin. With three Wisconsin defense men between him and the goal Kipke played the field for minutes before setting out for the goal. He crossed the entire field twice before advancing—jockeying these defense men and the other Wisconsin players into the position he wanted them. He scored on the play.

Some criticism may come from the shifting of Gordon Locke, Iowa star, to right half. Locke gained fame at fullback originally, specializing in line plunging. An injury to Leland Parkin, quarter, forced Howard Jones to shift Locke to quarter this season and he showed in one afternoon that he is equally as valuable in that back position. I believe that his value would be just as great placed at a half.

Even Division
Brick Muller is the greatest grid star of the Pacific coast and coast cities are agreed that he ranks with the greatest of the middle west and eastern stars.

There are two or three other men for each position in the line who might well be placed on an all-American team and weights points presented for their selection. They rank close to the stars selected above. On this honor roll should be: Ends, Gray and Stout of Princeton, Tabel of Wisconsin, Hahnman of Yale, Jenkins of Harvard.

Tackles: Penfield of Northwestern, Fletcher and Lewis of Chicago, Baker of Princeton. Guards: Mead of Iowa, Breid-

LIVESTOCK SHOW ENDS; WINNING STOCK IS SOLD

Twenty-Third Annual International Exhibition at Chicago Closes; a Record Breaking Week

Chicago, Dec. 9.—The twenty-third annual International Livestock exposition ended tonight after a record breaking week. Sales of winning stock marked the morning program. Fifty-two head of Herefords averaged $333. Twenty-four bulls brought $1100 each, while twenty-eight cows averaged $614 apiece. The high bull, who was champion of the show, Woodford 130th, brought $9,100.

Fifteen bulls of the shorthorn family sold for $889 each and 42 cows went for $482 each. The average price of the 57 head was $537. The average price on 44 head of Aberdeen Angus was $268.55. The bulls of this class sold for $275 each, and 34 cows brought $266 each.

The milking shorthorn sale saw the passing of 42 animals for $13,400, or an average of $323.30 each. Count Pickford, high bull, went for $2,500.

A car load lot of native sheep, owned by Robert McEwen, London, Ont., winner of first prize in this division, was sold to the Illinois Packing company, the animals averaging 87 pounds, selling for $31 per hundredweight.

A splendid field lined up in the competition for the French high commission challenge cup at the horse show, Danzant, entered by John E. Bowman, Stonebridge Farms, Port Chester, N. Y., winning first place in a field of fifteen contenders.

In the competition open to Welsh ponies in harness, first place went to Royal Regent and Regal, nominated by Gorham and Simpson of Morris, Ill.

Highland Choice, owned by George S. Bole, Tulsa, Okla., annexed first prize in the trials for fine harness horses, shown to a four wheeled vehicle.

TIGERS HOPE TO GRAB AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT

Detroit Is Expected by the Fans to Be Stronger in 1923 Than in 1922; Team Will Be Strengthened

Detroit, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press).—Detroit baseball fans, which locally has supported the Detroit Tigers whether they were "up" or "down," has set its heart on an American league pennant for 1923.

The Tigers, coming from the cellar position to third place in the 1922 race, are expected by the fans to be stronger in 1923 than they were this year. Frank Navin, president of the club, believes that such should be the case.

For pitching has been the downfall of the Tigers for several years. In the opinion of observers, next season, Detroit will start with the best string of hurlers of which the local outfit has boasted in a number of years. In speaking of his team's prospects, Mr. Navin said:

"We should have the best pitching staff in the history of the club. 'Rip' Collins, whom we obtained from Boston for Howard Ehmke and other players, will give us help where we need it. Sylvester Johnson, out nearly the entire season, due to injuries, undoubtedly will deliver. Herman Pillette, one of the leading pitchers in 1922, and who with Johnson was obtained from the Pacific Coast league, will, with Collins head our hurling staff. It is possible that we will make one or two deals this winter that will give us even greater strength in the box.

"The team will be strengthened at second base by the addition of Del Pratt. Blue is one of the best third basemen in the game and Rigney, with but one year in the majors, already is considered one of the best shortstops. At first, we have Haney and Jones, excellent fielders. Jones, a left handed batsman, can alternate with Haney, a right hander.

"In baser, we have a great catcher and Woodall is close behind him. The ability of the Detroit outfield is too well known to need comment.

"The club, with an even break, should do better next season than in 1922, when we finished third."

SENEGAL REFUSES TO MEET COMMITTEE

Paris, Dec. 9.—Battling Sikl refused to appear before the investigating committee appointed by the French boxing federation which held its first session today in an attempt to clear up the Carpenter-Sikl frame-up charges. He gave his reasons, through his counsel, sent a letter to the committee saying that inasmuch as the federation has already taken action against him, he would not appear before him. He also stated that the necessity of suing him before the courts, he failed to see why they should ask to hear him now; it might cause prejudice to the legal actions which would be heard by a tribunal.

The committee will hold its next meeting on Tuesday.

HARWOOD TEAM AND BANKERS IN CLASH TUESDAY

Will Open Season for Harwood Basketball Quintet; Expect to Have Best Team in State

The Albuquerque Bankers and Harwood school basketball teams will meet in a game Tuesday night on the Harwood floor, at the Harwood school, on North Fourth street.

This will be the first "honored to grandstand" basketball game of the season. One or two other games have been played but they were considered as practice affairs.

The Tuesday night game should be a close and hard fought contest. These teams have met numerous times in the past and interesting games have always resulted. Last year the Bankers had the edge, taking two out of three games played. But in none of the three games was the victory gained by a wide margin.

The Bankers showed in their game with the Sigma Chi quintet last Wednesday night that they will be a difficult team to stop. The team showed a tendency to roughness which would hamper their play and cause numerous penalties later in the season. But with this ironed out they will have a smooth working crew, one with more than a little aggressiveness.

Coach Clowers, of the Harwood school, says he expects to turn out the strongest quintet of high school caliber in the state. He has his entire team of last year, with one possible exception, and expects that with another season of experience it will prove too powerful a combination for any other five of high school rating.

Last season Harwood played the Albuquerque high school almost to a standstill, just as they did the Bankers. The Bulldogs took two out of three from Harwood but both Bulldog victories are reported to have been by close scores.

There is only one player of whom there is any probability of his being lost to Clowers. This is Chandler Sanchez, whom Clowers describes as: "The fastest guard I ever saw," and who was dubbed "Lightning" last year. It is reported that Sanchez may not return to school.

In addition to the game of Tuesday night Coach Clowers has arranged a game with the University of New Mexico quintet. This game is to be played Friday night. The location of the game with New Mexico U has not been decided upon.

Coach Clowers also expects to arrange numerous other games. If his plans work out his schedule will be as extensive as the one Coach Addison Moore is drawing up for high school. In addition to other games, Clowers hopes to arrange a game with El Paso High school.

The probable lineups for Tuesday night follow:

Harwood School: Bankers: D. Campa, R. F., Pegg, Robles, L. F., Gilbert, J. Costales, C., White, J. O. Castales, R. G., Renner, Madrid, L. G., Cavanaugh.

WEST VIRGINIA AND GONZAGA GRID TEAMS PLAY AT SAN DIEGO

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 9.—West Virginia for the east and Gonzaga, for the west, will be the contestants in San Diego's annual intercollegiate east-west Christmas day football game in the San Diego stadium, it appeared certain today after a meeting of the San Diego Athletic and Recreation association, a non-profit organization which schedules the contests.

Tentative invitations had been extended the Oregon university and Gonzaga university to represent the west and Oregon was said to be eliminated by the Pacific Coast conference crowning upon Oregon's participation in a post-season game. West Virginia has agreed to meet either of the western teams selected.

County Home Demonstration Agent Shows in Annual Report That 3,117 Persons Are Interested

Much practical work is being done by the women and girls of Bernalillo county in the production and preservation of foods, the improvement of poultry, the betterment of health conditions and the making of clothing. The work is being carried on under the direction of Mrs. Maud Doty, county home demonstration agent, acting as representative of the extension department of the United States bureau of agriculture and the State Agricultural college.

Mrs. Doty's annual report shows that ten communities have adopted one or more projects and are pushing them energetically and successfully. Nine communities are working on poultry culture and one on gardening; two on food preservation; four on food selection; four on school lunches, and four have active boys and girls clubs. Four communities are at work on selection of clothing and textiles; six on garment making; one on home management; one on canning; two on community recreation and one has established a community rest room. Classes in training for project leaders have been conducted in many communities. Three hundred three persons have attended the project leaders' classes, and 3,117 have attended the various lectures and demonstrations of all kinds.

Twenty-one home gardens have been cultivated with a value of production of $550. Twenty-eight families have reported the raising of 2,100 chickens of a value of $1,675. Twenty-one standard bread chickens have been purchased, of a value of $165. Seven hundred 40 eggs have been preserved of a value of $2,100.

One hundred forty families have reported work on food preservation. The products put up are as follows: 3,500 quarts of jelly, 7,000 quarts of jams, 1,212 pounds of dried fruits, 12,840 quarts of canned vegetables, 3,460 quarts of brined vegetables. The total value of fruits and vegetables preserved is $21,952. Poultry canned and total is 175 quarts, value $131.25. Beef canned totals 236 quarts, value $214.50. Pork cured, 12,875 pounds, value $5,150. Lard made, 2,600 pounds, value $20. Sausage made, 212 pounds, value $93.60. Total value of products, $28,061.25.

In the clothing project 317 families reported. New garments made, 418, effecting a saving of $3,698. Garments remodeled, 62, saving $372. Dry cleaning and renovating, 62 garments, saving $69. Patterns cut, 62, saving $18.50. Dress forms made, 76, saving $26. New hats made, 29, saving $263.44. Hats remodeled, 12, saving $42. Two houses were remodeled with the agent's assistance, and 12 homes were redecorated and furnished with new rugs.

Fifty-six girls were enrolled in sewing classes and 33 in hot lunch classes.

Following is a list of the projects and the communities engaging in them:

Food production—Atrisco, Mountainview, Los Grigios, Albuquerque.

Food preservation—Atrisco, Mountainview, Los Grigios, Albuquerque.

Nutrition—Atrisco, Barton, Mountainview, Los Grigios. Those devoting special attention to hot lunch demonstrations are Atrisco, Old Albuquerque, North Fourth street, Mountainview.

Boys and girls clubs—Armijo, Old Albuquerque, Candelaria, Ranchos de Albuquerque, Atrisco.

Clothing—Barton, North Community, Alameda, Atrisco, Los Grigios, Old Albuquerque.

Home management—Alameda, Canning, community rest room—Atrisco.

Farm bureau—Barton, Mountainview.

The Housekeepers' Club at Atrisco, formed under guidance of the home demonstration agent, is made up of a group of women who hold semi-annual meetings in the homes of the members. There are 20 families associated with the club. The community center completed a year ago is used by all of the people of the community. The kitchen is well equipped with built-in cupboard, tables, a handy pump and drain and a large pressure cooker. Three trustees take charge of the business of the organization. A community room has been built adjoining the kitchen, much of the work being done by the women. The women and their families met at a big picnic one day during the summer and both men and women worked as carpenters. The community room is used for the annual dinner given by the women who belong to the club or their families. A friendly community spirit has been aroused by the activities of the club that has done a large amount of practical good. The club room is 30 by 32 feet in dimensions, and has a hard wood floor and composition walls. It will be well furnished and plans are under way for a library. The building was erected by food sales, benefit entertainments and contributions. The names of the women who made the club house possible were placed in the cement corner stone.

The home demonstration department has an ambitious program laid out for the coming year. The expense is borne by county and federal appropriation and the results attained are believed by those in touch with the work to be well worth the cost.

During the year the Bernalillo county girls' demonstration team won the first prize at the boys and girls' contest at State College, and will represent this state at the demonstration by several states at the International Stock Show in Denver next month.

KARTCHMER HAS HIGH PIN RECORD FOR Y. M. PLAY

Manzano Forest Supervisor Leads All Bowlers of Albuquerque With Splendid Average of 198

Just two points short of an even double century average, Kenneth C. Kartchmer, supervisor of the Manzano national forest, is far in front of the rest of the field in the Y. M. C. A. bowling tournament. The other bowlers in the league concede that Kartchmer not only knows "stand timber" but also knows plenty about wood after it has been hewn and sawed.

Next to Kartchmer, and sixteen points short of the Navy team's prize, however, is Wagner, captain of the Yale team, who boasts an average of 182. In third place is Marsh, another member of the forest service and also of the Navy team. Marsh has an average of 177.

The present tournament which is being held at the Y. M. C. A. is for the purpose of "spotting" the bowlers for the big tournament which will come shortly after the present tournament has been completed. For the later tournament the teams will be arranged according to the averages which are compiled in the present tournament.

The arrangement of the second tournament will be in such manner as to balance the teams as evenly as possible. If four teams are entered, the four high men will be pitted against each other on different teams. The next four bowlers will be selected so as to balance any difference in averages among the first four. With this system followed throughout the teams composing the league will be as closely matched as it is possible to arrange them.

The fourth week of the present tournament will open tomorrow morning night, with Princeton meeting Navy. This will bring together the leaders and tailenders. In spite of which E. V. Berry expects to bring his Princetonian crew through to at least one victory. Tuesday night Harvard meets the Army and Thursday night Yale and Cornell, the two teams now tied for second place, will meet.

Wednesday night Yale and Navy will meet. This match was to have been rolled last week but it was necessary to postpone it. Owing to the postponement the pen knife prize for high single score last week will not be awarded until after the game of Wednesday night.

The standings of the teams follow:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Navy	5	1	.833
Yale	4	2	.667

FOOLISH TO LET HAIR FALL OUT

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff!

Delightful Tonic

Quick! Don't wait! Every bald head started with just a few falling hairs and a little dandruff; but soon the hair appeared thin, scraggly, and then the dreaded bald spot. It seems a sin to let hair fall out or tolerate destructive dandruff when you can quickly correct all such hair trouble with a bottle of delightful Danderine.

Millions of men and women know the magic Danderine; how it corrects oily, dandruff, itching scalp and helps the hair to grow long, thick, strong and luxuriant. Danderine is not sticky or greasy. It is the largest selling hair corrective and tonic in the world because it is not a humbug! Get a bottle at any drug store.—Adv.

WEALTHY HUSBAND SUPPORTS PIGS IN PREFERENCE TO FAMILY, SAYS WIFE

Alfred S. Hall, Jr., preferred to spend his money on his herd of blue-blooded hogs rather than on his wife and children, according to the charges of his pretty young wife, Katherine C. Hall, in her alimony fight in a Revere, Mass., court.

Hall is the son of a former mayor of Revere. The Halls were divorced some time ago and alimony was fixed at $100 monthly.

(By Central Press.)

Revere, Mass., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Katherine C. Hall doesn't accuse her husband of wasting her money on his pigs or on his family. Both required food and housing.

She did not volunteer the reason for his decision; whether it was inspired by the company he preferred or by the question of affection or environment.

At any rate he spent his money on the pigs and let his wife and two children, Betty, aged four, and Alfred, aged two, get on as best they could.

In court Hall admitted ownership of the automobiles and the pigsty and admitted that he was backward in making his alimony payments. His only explanation was: "I can't pay it because I haven't got it."

Judge Fosdick advised Mrs. Hall to lay the facts of the case before the district attorney.

FREIGHT SHOWS A 45 PER CENT INCREASE—WELLS

Santa Fe Official Declares Railway Business Is Good; No New Improvements Announced Here

Freight business on the Santa Fe lines during the fall months has been 45 per cent greater than that for the same period a year ago. This statement was made last night by Vice President A. G. Wells of the railway company, who was here from his headquarters in Chicago for a conference with officials of the road at western points. During the month of October, Mr. Wells said, the company handled 191,000 carloads of freight. In November the total was but little less.

The increase in freight business was not affected by abnormal conditions, Mr. Wells stated, but showed a good natural growth and reflected business conditions all over the country. The cars were loaded with every kind of agricultural product, raw materials and manufactured goods. The increase was general over the entire system. Indications, Mr. Wells said, are good for railway and other business during the new year. This company will prepare to take care of an increase.

The meeting here was for the purpose of discussing the new budget, which is in process of completion. Mr. Wells said no announcement could be made at this time as to what the expenditures will be. Asked if he could give any promise for new improvements in Albuquerque or on lines in this territory, Mr. Wells said he could make no statement on that subject. He declared that he was pleased to note the progress being made by the city of Albuquerque, which, he said, occupied a large place in his heart because he spent several years here in the early '80's as trainmaster for the old Atlantic and Pacific railway.

Several officials who were here from various points north and east returned to their homes last night. The Wells party will go from here to Amarillo, where another budget hearing will be held.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

Religion and science have had many controversies. One has so long disagreed with the other that there seems, at times, to be a permanent and impassable gulf between them. There are stages in the progress of science when science seems, prima facie, to be at variance with religion, yet, when science has made sufficient advance, it has often, in the minds of many great thinkers, confirmed religious belief.

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, noted electrical expert, offers this avowal: "All that we can say is that the two, science and religion, are not necessarily incompatible, but are different and unrelated activities of the human mind." Had he contented himself with saying that the two "are not necessarily incompatible," his position might be approved without comment. He goes further and contends that "God and immortality are illogical conceptions" and "science is based on sense perceptions by the laws of logic, and we have no proof of the correctness of either the perceptions or the logic."

But from the viewpoint of the lay thinker God and immortality have always been thoroughly logical conceptions,—as logical as life and mortality. The trouble between science and religion is that science has no faith. It was Herbert Spencer's contention that religion is based on faith, whereas science is based on knowledge. We are inclined to obey Pope's injunction:

"Know thyself. Presume not God to scan;
The proper study of mankind is Itself."

THE CHILDREN'S BOOK SHELF

Grown-ups who are bewildered at the array of children's books set before them in the holiday shops should find a little help in the list recently compiled by American school teachers and the American Library Association.

The purpose of the list was the selection of the best books for a one-room school library for children in grades one to eight. Many conferences and discussions were held before the list was completed. At the end of the balloting it was found that the six prime favorites were "Little Women," "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," "Through the Looking Glass," "Robinson Crusoe," "Tom Sawyer" and "Treasure Island."

The twenty other volumes on the list are: Nicolay's "Life of Abraham Lincoln," Kipling's "Jungle Book," Andersen's "Fairy Tales," Aesop's "Fables," Pyle's "Merry Adventures of Robin Hood," Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verses," Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," "Arabian Nights," Malory's "Boys' King Arthur," Van Loon's "Story of Mankind," Wiggins' "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Burton E. Stevenson's "Home Book of Verse for Young Folks," Dicken's "Christmas Carol," Irving's "Rip Van Winkle," "Mother Goose," Dodge's "Hans Brinker," Hagedorn's "Boy's Life of Theodore Roosevelt," Hawthorne's "Wonderbook," Seton's "Wild Animals I Have Known," and Spyri's "Heidi."

This isn't just a theoretical list of books which adults think ought to be good for children. Most of the volumes mentioned have stood the severe test of child criticism. They have given joy to millions of children already and are destined to give joy to millions more. This is why experienced teachers and librarians voted for them.

A RESOLUTION

Whereas telephone operators instead of saying "I'm ringing 'em" have now been instructed to burden us with: "I am trying to complete your call."

Therefore, be it resolved, in the interest of being specific, that the operators be required to sing the following: "I regret to report that the connection you desire is not giving the proper attention to the signals I am making. I am continuing to use all the means at my command to make it possible for you to converse with the person at the number designated."

It wouldn't be so bad if gossips stuck to the truth, but then on the other hand, neither would it be so interesting.

ON HUSBANDS

Husbands go out in the morning and leave marriages behind them for the whole entire day, that is unless they are the kind that comes home for lunch. But as a rule they usually outgrow home lunches after about the first year, and coming home to lunch is one of the few bad habits a wife can cure after marriage.

Other bad habits such as gambling, drinking and preferring toothpicks to any other form of dessert, why if he has these habits will still a man, it is likely they will not get better when he has become merely a husband, and you know like the old saying about no man will reform after marriage if he won't before, and I always say, well, why would he?

And to see the ideal of our girlhood days who we had only considered as perpetually wearing a dress suit, come wandering out of the bathroom in an undershirt, suspenders draped gracefully over both hips, a face like a soap bubble both hips, a face like a soap bubble party gone wrong, waving a razor and passing some remark about hey listen, whatever you think I told you today, well, a thing like that is a terrible blow to love's young dream.

Of course, if George was ever to stop doing it I would have a fit and commence to think that he was another woman, and be as completely comfortably miserable as only a wife can be when she has nothing to do. But just the same it is grounds for complaint.

Husbands' memories are notably strong on things like the kind of a cook his mother was, what he went around the last nine holes in, the exact raise of salary he needs, and the only time you had one cocktail too many. But they have a blind spot in their minds when it comes to anniversaries, mailing letters and promises to get around more in the evenings to shows and things like we used to when we were engaged.

But they will bound you to death over a little thing like a button on a shirt, which you have overlooked a few times on account of having different things on your mind such as trying to match that difficult

Unity Among Churches

BY REV. REV. FREDERICK B. HOWDEN

Everywhere Christians are recognizing that the only hope of the world is the establishment of Christ's law of peace and righteousness and love, and that, until the churches are visibly united, they cannot proclaim that law effectively. Local efforts for the partial reunion are, therefore, being made all over the globe, and the hope of the world conferences on Faith and Order, to prepare the way for the unity of the churches is arousing increased interest.

In Canada, the Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians have reached almost the final stage of union, and the Anglicans and Anglicans are appointing commissions to confer.

In England, members of the Church of England and of the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, Moravian and Presbyterian churches held remarkable conferences last winter.

The South India United church and the Church of England are continuing their hopeful negotiations.

The Presbyterians, Church of England, Methodists, Congregationalists and other missionaries are continuing their efforts at Kiluy in East Africa. Informal discussions are going on in the West Indies.

The Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland have almost completed their reunion.

In China a National Christian Council has been formed by members, foreign and native, of most of the Christian missions, which it is hoped will prepare the way for direct efforts for one church in China.

In Egypt, members of the Church of England and the Greek orthodox, Syrian orthodox, Armenian and Presbyterian churches are continuing hopeful conferences.

In Ireland the Presbyterians and the Church of Ireland are considering the matter.

The recognition by the Ecumenical Patriarchate of the holy orthodox eastern churches of the validity of the Anglican orders is a long step toward reunion between the eastern orthodox churches and the Anglican communion. The decision of the Ecumenical Patriarchate will need the assent of the other Patriarchates and autonomous eastern orthodox churches before it becomes effective. The Ecumenical Patriarchate and the old Catholic churches of Europe are approaching each other and the relations between the eastern orthodox and the Armenian and Coptic churches are closer.

Viscount Halifax has been having conversations with Cardinal Mercier as to reunion between the churches of Rome and England.

In the United States the Episcopal church has made canonical provisions by which its bishops will be enabled to give to ordained ministers of other churches an Episcopal commission.

While federation is not a substitute for unity, it is a step toward it, and the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America is becoming more and more effective. The Federal Council of the Free churches in England is likewise gaining in importance and efficiency, and federation movements are well advanced in Germany and Switzerland.

The northern and southern bodies in the United States of the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians are still continuing their negotiations. Two of the largest bodies of Lutherans in the United States have united in the name of the United Lutheran Church of America, and the Evangelical association of North America and the United Evangelical church have just united under the name of the Evangelical church, which has voted to destroy all records of the division which separated them many years ago.

Already plans for the World conference on Faith and Order to be held in Washington in 1925, have been made. Representatives of all Christian churches in the world are expected to attend. The president of the United States will make the opening address.

Methods for increasing quail production in state outlined by a forest service official

By ALDO LEOPOLD
Secretary New Mexico Game Protective Association

Each hen quail will lay up to 20 eggs. Any one of six causes may prevent these eggs from growing into 20 grown birds. These causes may be a deficiency of one or more of the following factors: Cover, enemies, weather, feed, law enforcement, disease.

It follows as surely as night follows day that there is always something wrong with one or more of these factors, when fall production is lacking. But if we can find out which one it is and artificially correct it we can, in quite natural consequence, raise great quantities of quail.

The secret of successful quail production is much the same as the secret of raising almost anything else, whether it be birds, cattle or grain. It is to identify the weak factor of the environment and device means to correct it. If we could do that nothing, not even heavy shooting, could prevent the rapid increase of the quail.

In the vicinity of Albuquerque it is very often the case that the weakest factor is cover. Proper quail cover must include a good sprinkling of hawk-proof bushes, our best hawk-proof protective bush is the chemise. If farmers in clearing and leveling land could be induced to leave a few chemise bushes here and there in the fence corners and along the land and if sportsmen would fence off a few chemise clumps on the heavily grazed lands, there would be great areas producing quail, areas which would produce lawless and sufficient birds for seed. A tract treated well would produce a big crop of birds each year, even under heavy shooting.

Law enforcement is poor at present, as is the effort of many hunters to carry out the spirit of the law with its letter. Many hunters shoot coveys down too low during the open season on quail. At least six birds should always be left for seed.

To sum up: Quail production is simply a matter of a group of farmers getting together with a group of sportsmen and leaving a little chemise, leaving a few corners unburned and ungrazed, keeping the law and the land and if sportsmen would fence off a few chemise clumps on the heavily grazed lands, there would be great areas producing quail, areas which would produce lawless and sufficient birds for seed. A tract treated well would produce a big crop of birds each year, even under heavy shooting.

Another weak factor is natural enemies. The valley is full of worthless, half-wild house cats which work havoc with game. There are also many sharp-shin and some Cooper's hawks which do great harm.

Sportsmen and farmers usually make a special effort to shoot the big, clumsy chicken hawks, which are a really simple task. Many hunters shoot coveys down too low during the open season on quail. At least six birds should always be left for seed.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT AND A WARNING to Stockholders in the ALBUQUERQUE HOTEL COMPANY —DON'T Sell Your Stock In the Albuquerque Hotel Company

You bought this stock because of the need of the city for hotel accommodations. The company was organized distinctly as a community proposition. The organizers pledged themselves to prevent control of the stock by any individual, to the detriment of others.

We regard the attempts to purchase stock at less than its par value as an effort to take advantage of the small stockholders. It has come to our knowledge that some people have disposed of their stock for one or two reasons:—Either they have been told that the control of the company has been acquired by one individual and that it was useless for the small stockholder to retain his interest;—or, the stockholder has been in need of funds at the moment, and has been prevailed upon to sell his hotel stock for less than par.

In order to meet this situation to prevent what we believe would be to the detriment of the hotel project, WE HAVE ARRANGED TO LEND MONEY, TO THE EXTENT OF 50 PER CENT OF THE PAR VALUE OF THE STOCK, TO ANYONE NEEDING THE MONEY. THESE LOANS WILL BE MADE UNDER THE FOLLOWING CONDITIONS:

The loan will run for one year, or less if the owner of the stock desires. Interest will be charged at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, payable at maturity.

At the expiration of the year, if you desire them to sell your stock, it should command a good market. In any event we will give you a written guarantee that at the end of the period of the loan you will receive not less than 50 cents on the dollar at that time.

In event you are compelled to sell at the expiration of the loan period, NO INTEREST WILL BE CHARGED FOR THE LOAN, if the stock is then sold to us under the guarantee.

If a stock certificate has not been issued to you and you have paid at least 50 per cent of your stock subscription, we will, if you need it, advance the money necessary to complete payment of your subscription, thus enabling you to secure your certificate to use as collateral security for your loan.

Get this point clearly:—It is not our desire to buy the hotel company stock. We urge you NOT TO SELL IT,—But, if for any reason you feel that you must use the stock as collateral, bring it to those who desire to protect your interests.

The stock of the Albuquerque Hotel Company is a good security. It is our firm belief that this hotel project, if carried out as originally planned as a community enterprise, will not only prove a great benefit to our city, but a successful and profitable business enterprise to its stockholders.

We believe that the hotel should remain a COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE in order to serve best the interests of Albuquerque,—and YOUR interests as a stockholder.

We have formulated this offer and arranged this plan FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF PROTECTING THE STOCKHOLDERS, and for no other reason.

THE MEN SUPPORTING THIS MOVEMENT

This association, formed for the purposes stated herein, consists of the following stockholders of the Albuquerque Hotel Company, who have voluntarily associated themselves together as the Stockholders' Protective Association of the Albuquerque Hotel Company:

G. E. BREECE.	WALLACE HESSELDEN.
LOUIS ILFELD.	H. SCHWEIZER.
W. H. SPRINGER.	W. E. MAUGER.

MARCUS P. SAWTELLE.
P. F. McCANNA, INC.
RAABE & MAUGER.
ROSENWALD BROS.
MARRON & WOOD.

This is the Only Announcement of This Offer That Will be Made. Those Desiring Further Information Should See

This proposition will enable all stockholders to hold their stock until the hotel building is completed and the hotel is in operation, when it will be possible to judge accurately not only the benefits of the hotel to our city, but also the actual and probable future value of the stock.

SANTA FE READY TO TALK ABOUT A NEW VIADUCT

General Manager Lehman of Amarillo Says Conference Will Be Held When City Makes Plans

Discussion of the proposed rebuilding of the Coal Avenue viaduct awaits only the arrangement of a conference by the city officials, according to F. H. Lehman, general manager of the Santa Fe railway at Amarillo, Tex., who was here yesterday in conference with Vice President A. G. Wells of Chicago. When asked about the viaduct situation last night, Mr. Lehman said that Chief Engineer Blanchard of Amarillo would come here to confer with the committee of Albuquerque engineers at any time the conference can be arranged. Mr. Lehman said that he would try to be present if press of other business does not detain him at his office.

Progress on the construction of the new Santa Fe hotel here is satisfactory, Mr. Lehman said. By the time improvements already under way and authorized have been completed, Mr. Lehman said, the Santa Fe will have spent about $4,000,000 in Albuquerque in the course of a little over one year. The transfer table, which will be used to take engines from the shops to the hotel house, has been completed. It is the most modern piece of mechanism of its kind on the Santa Fe system.

Theaters Today

"B" Theater—Wallace Reid in "The Ghost Breaker," supported by Lila Lee and Walter Hiers, also showing the comedy, "His Own Law," and "Current Events" pictures.

Crystal Opera House—Pat Patterson, with a jolly company of fun-makers, in "A Fool and His Money," showing this afternoon and night. It is a good show.

Lyric Theater—Viola Dana, with an all-star cast, in "June Madness," also presenting "Treasure Island," a two-part comedy.

Pastime Theater—Betty Blythe, the beautiful Queen of Sheba, in Rex Beach's melodrama, "Fair Lady," adopted from the author's famous novel, "The Net," also presenting the "Fox News," showing the first scene of the French premiere, Clemenceau, in New York City, and Harold Lloyd in a rattling good comedy.

WALLACE REID AND HIS ALL-STAR CAST IN "THE GHOST BREAKER"

What kind of ghosts should properly haunt an old Spanish castle in Aragon? That is the question which agitated the mind of Alfred Green, director, of "The Ghost Breaker." Wallace Reid's new Paramount starring picture, coming to the "B" theater for two days, starting today.

Should they be ghosts in the familiar white raiment on "incomplete steel arrayed" like the ghost in Hamlet? The problem was accurately settled, however, and the old and crumbling structure in distant Aragon was properly peopled with ancestral specters, bound to provide many thrills. Lila Lee, leading woman and Walter Hiers, has a strong comedy part.

VIOLA DANA STARS IN "JUNE MADNESS" NOW AT LYRIC THEATER

"June Madness" is the title of the new Metro picture which is scheduled to appear today and tomorrow at the Lyric theater, and it depicts the madcap adventures of a sprightly young miss, played by Viola Dana, who breaks away from her own wedding ceremony, leaving a million-dollar bridegroom flat and speechless.

She is chased by mamma, friends, ushers, clergyman and relatives of the million-dollar fish, but outside the church she meets a hundred-dollar Jazz King and orchestra leader in his roadster. He helps her to escape from the huron of a life of luxury. The Jazz King, played by Bryant Washburn, is no inconsiderable party himself, and makes a lot of unwilling people dance to his tune. Even the little runaway bride cannot bluff him, although he has his troubles with her.

The escape is only the beginning, for the complications, complicated until little Miss Christie's adventures seem without end or untanglement. The two are no sooner out of one trouble than they are in another, the only things they miss being possibly mumps and the taxes. They elude their pursuers by land, water, strategy, and the good fortune.

NEVADA'S VOTERS SEND NATIVE SON TO U. S. CONGRESS

Congressman-elect Charles L. Richards.

For the first time in 58 years Nevada's lone congressman will be a native son when Charles L. Richards takes his seat next December. Richards was born in a mining camp at Austin forty-five years ago. Of the 26,000 votes cast at the last election Richards received 17,000.

There is a picturesque scene at a roundhouse, where Miss Dana does an unusual "Wedding Dance" in an unusual costume. Miss Dana's costume, also, is a feature of the production which holds special appeal to feminine photoplay patrons.

THE BEAUTIES OF ITALY SHOWN IN FOX "NERO" COMING TO THE PASTIME

There are exterior views of great beauty taken in the country near Rome that add fresh interest to "Nero," the William Fox super-special which is booked for the Pastime theater, starting Wednesday, December 13, and running several days.

The entire picture was made in Italy under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards, and over a year was spent on completing it. It contains about everything that goes into a historical picture of this nature and has a strong plot, numerous sensations, plenty of thrills and an acting cast of the first rank. Most of the actors were obtained in France and Italy and are exceptionally well suited to their several characters.

In magnitude of production and perfection of detail, "Nero" has never been equaled on the screen. Its reception by the press and public wherever shown has been flattering in the extreme.

EMPLOYEES OF W. U. TELEGRAPH COMPANY NAME NEW OFFICERS

K. W. Dumars, division vice president of the Association of Western Union Employees visited Albuquerque assembly No. 200 on Friday night. Mr. Dumars gave an interesting talk on the advantages and benefits secured by the association for its membership, which totals 40,000. Officials of the general offices of the company at Denver and several agents stationed at various points in the state attended the conference.

The assembly elected the following officers: G. E. Johnson, president; R. C. Suggs, vice president; LaVerne Hagerman, secretary-treasurer; L. T. Delaney was appointed chairman of the board of directors, and D. T. Wilson, chairman of the local committee.

HAWAIIAN DEMOCRATS CELEBRATE ELECTION

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 9.—Democrats of the Territory of Hawaii today celebrated the recent election of William P. Jarrett as delegate to congress with a luau, or Hawaiian feast, at which seven tons of assorted food was served and to which everybody was invited.

The luau was said to be the largest given in the territory since the days of the Hawaiian monarchy. Jarrett's victory at the polls in November was declared to be due almost entirely to his personal popularity throughout the territory. He won his seat in congress in the face of a republican landslide.

MAY ROBSON IN "MOTHER'S MILLIONS" COMING SATURDAY

Every year theatre goers of this city look forward to seeing May Robson, for she never fails to bring a good clean interesting comedy. "Mother's Millions" is booked at the Crystal Opera House on Saturday, Dec. 16, and from all the good reports it's the best play Miss Robson has had since Aunt Mary.

The part of "Harriet Green" is a doll one—a business woman whose whole life has been spent in manipulating stocks and bonds, and she is looked upon as the cleverest woman in the financial world.

The play has more than its share of comedy but it also has some very sensational climaxes.

Augustus Phipps, Inc. has furnished Miss Robson with a superb cast and a production which is a credit to any company. Curtain promptly at 8 o'clock.—Adv.

NEW MEXICO TO SEND CATTLE TO IOWA FEED LOTS

Corporations Acting Under War Finance Board Hold Meeting Here to Pass on Stock Loans

A joint meeting of the directors of the New Mexico Loan agency and the New Mexico Agricultural and Livestock Loan company was held here yesterday. Approval was given to a number of applications of cattlemen holding loans to devote part of the proceeds from cattle sales to the purchase of feed. Under a former ruling, all proceeds of sales were required to be devoted to payments on loans. Applications for a number of new loans also were approved.

The loan company heard reports from the cattle movements across the border from New Mexico's dry districts to Chihuahua pastures. The offer of leases on lands formerly owned by General Terrazas in Mexico was rejected, as the company already has sufficient pastures in care for the cattle on which its loans.

Arrangements have been made for the shipment of probably 2,000 head of New Mexico cattle to Iowa for winter feeding. The Iowa people recently submitted a proposition for the loan company to purchase cattle in Mexico for shipment to the market.

About 7,000 head of cattle have been removed from McKinley county in California ranges. A number of these cattle have been sold.

Both the organizations have a full attendance of board members as follows:

Loan agency—D. T. Hosking, Las Vegas; L. A. Hughes, Santa Fe; E. A. Cahoon, Roswell; Lee Baldwin, Socorro; A. G. Simms and J. B. Herndon, Albuquerque.

Loan company—Gregory Page, Gallup; W. R. Morley, Magdalena; W. D. Murray, Silver City; C. G. Mardoff, Santa Fe; Victor Culbertson, Silver City; Roy McDonald and O. A. Marron, Albuquerque.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

"When constipated, bilious, irritable, listless, or full of cold, your little one needs a teaspoonful of 'California Fig Syrup' to quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the sour bile and undigested food right out and you have a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep 'California Fig Syrup' handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine 'California Fig Syrup' which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! WALTON INVITES WORLD AT LARGE TO HIS 'PARTY'

Governor-Elect of Oklahoma Persons Will Be at His Inaugural January 10-11

Oklahoma City, Dec. 9.—A call for enough provender to serve 200,000 persons two days has gone out over Oklahoma.

Governor-elect J. C. Walton, democrat, has invited the world at large to his inaugural party, January 10 and 11, at the state fair grounds here.

He said he expects his guests to come by ex-trains, airplanes, motor cars, railroad trains, riding the roads and the cushions, afoot, horseback and by all available other methods of travel.

He will serve them barbecue, and give a square dance—on the completely flooded-in circle of a half-mile race track.

Dan V. Lackey, prize fight promoter, is chairman of the committee of 3,000 members arranging the festivities.

List of Supplies

Here is a tentative list of supplies for the barbecue, prepared by Lackey: Five hundred beef cattle; two hundred hogs; two hundred sheep; five thousand chickens; one thousand turkeys; three thousand and rabbits; one thousand squirrels; two hundred opossums; five hundred ducks and geese; ten buffalo; ten bears; ten deer; ten antelope; five tons of coffee; five tons of sugar; five tons of rice; five hundred fifty bushels of onions; one hundred thousand loaves of bread; one hundred thousand buns; fifteen carloads of fire wood and three carloads of pine-knots for kindling.

Here might be included also, as listed by Lackey, three thousand persons to serve the multitude, and five hundred expert butchers, slicers and barbeque men.

The new governor is to take his office on a stand erected in the race track paddock. The two houses of the state legislature will convene in joint session on the stand, and Lackey, as chief justice of the supreme court, who will then administer the oath of office to the chief executive. This is to take place on January 9. The two-day celebration will follow.

The new governor will ride a $3,000 saddle horse, seated on a $10,000 saddle, in a parade which will start the festivities. The horse has been promised, according to Lackey, by Col. Zach Muhlhall, of Muhlhall, Okla., and the diamond and ruby studded gold-mounted saddle by Col. George Miller of the 10th Ranch. Both are members of the central barbeque committee, as is also Pawnee Bill, showman and rancher.

Old fashioned fiddlers

Word has gone to democratic headquarters in every county in the state to enlist all the old-fashioned fiddlers who know how to play "Turkey in the Straw." Other old-timers who specialized in calling the figures for the dances are being sought.

Adjutant General C. F. Barrett has promised that units of the Oklahoma national guard will police the gathering. From national guard and army sources in the state, according to Lackey, it is expected that enough tents can be gathered to shelter the visitors.

Among the expected invited guests of the new governor at his inaugural party will be about 1,000 Indians, representing all the tribes living in Oklahoma. Several tribes have promised to stage dances.

Governor-elect Walton was the nominee of the democratic party in his state-wide campaign and promised that if he were chosen for the office of chief executive his inaugural ball would be no "pink tea party" for the "four hundred," but would be a real old-fashioned outdoor celebration for anyone who cared to be present. The barbeque will carry out his campaign promise.

Walton's barbeque, however, will not be the first inaugural celebration of its kind in Oklahoma. C. H. Haskell, the first governor of the state, who, in 1907, took the oath of office three hours after the president had signed the statehood bill, gave such a celebration at Guthrie, the former state capital.

In a burst of enthusiasm the kaiser's bride says she loves him more than anybody does. But she couldn't love him as much as he does.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

LAW ENFORCEMENT, RESPECT FOR LAW AND FEDERAL CONSTITUTION

(Editor's Note.—The following paper was read by C. M. Botts, Albuquerque attorney, at a recent meeting of the Ten Dons.)

When Secretary Hoover was here on Armistice day, he made one simple statement in the course of his address, which should be transcribed and scattered broadcast in such form that it might be framed and hung in the study of every American citizen. It might be said that this statement is not so valuable for the thought it contains, as for the many thoughts it suggests. He said: "If we would preserve our institutions, we must first understand them."

Demands for Change

It may appear that this remark has small application to the subject which has been assigned me: "Law Enforcement—Respect for Law and the Federal Constitution." Let us see. It will be generally agreed, I think, that our laws will not be enforced, except in the most desultory way, nor our constitution preserved, if the respect of the people therefor be lacking. Neither will it be dispensed that now, as never before, are our institutions held in disrespect. Demands for changes and innovations are heard on every hand. This, of itself, is not to be deplored, in so far as change is necessary to real progress; but this thing to be regretted is that, as a usual thing, those who are loudest in their demands are the least informed and have the least understanding of our institutions which they seek to change. They have little or no idea of the effect upon the fundamental principles underlying our social and political structure, which their proposed changes would have. "If we would preserve our institutions," we must first understand them.

Government by the People

Fundamentally, this is truly a government by the people. That is to say, the sovereignty of this nation is vested, not in one man or group of men, but in the people. In our congress, but in its one hundred millions of people scattered from coast to coast and from its northern to its southern border. For the government of our relations with other nations, we have adopted and are constantly adopting certain rules. These rules we call law. If each of us were alone and without opportunity to mingle with our fellow citizens, we would be necessary—there would be no need to guard against our so exercising our rights that we would thereby infringe upon the equal rights of others, because there would be no such infringement or opportunity therefor. But we are not so individually isolated. We are social creatures—and not only that, but selfish creatures as well, and I use the term "selfish" not altogether in its bad sense, but rather in the sense of personal ambition and aggression. When two or more of such nature come in contact, either conflict or oppression ensues, unless restraint is interposed to prevent. Among a free people, laws have their function and their sole function in effecting such restraint.

Maintain a Solemn Compact

We are such a free people, we have long ago proclaimed and have since sustained our freedom from any and all restraint, except such as we voluntarily impose upon ourselves. And, to the end that that restraint might be imposed equally, fairly and in an orderly manner, and without oppression of temporary minorities by temporary majorities, we, the people, entered into and adopted a solemn compact, each with the other, binding upon all no less than upon one, whereby a definite plan of government was agreed upon, and positive limits were fixed beyond which the many could not pursue the individual. It was seen at the beginning that changes in this compact might be desirable from time to time, and provision for such change was made, but it was also foreseen that stability required that fundamental principles be not abandoned or modified by caprice or temporary popular demand, real or imaginary, but that they should yield only to deliberate and sober judgment. For that reason the process of amendment was made one of slow operation.

What the Constitution Is

For the purposes of this paper, the federal constitution may be said to be, first, a plan of government, and, second, a check on the exercise of arbitrary power by majorities. As a plan for an orderly government, we find it providing for the construction of certain agencies for our use in putting the national sovereignty vested in us into effective operation. This sovereignty being vested in all of us as the collective body of citizens, we are our own rulers; but it was understood in the beginning that we could not, by reason of our unwieldy numbers, govern ourselves directly, we could not assemble in town meeting and adopt rules for the effective regulation of our social relations, and so it was provided that the people living in the different sections should choose from among their number certain representatives, who should meet and with qualifications and authority to legislate for the whole. By adherence to this plan, by the intelligent selection of his representative, the citizen is protected against misgovernment. But it is the work and product of this very body of representatives for which we find so much disrespect. Doubtless, you expect me to discuss first and the cure.

Public Business Suffers

I said a moment ago that it is by adherence to the plan of intelligent selection of representatives the citizen is protected against misgovernment. Yet we complain of being mis-governed. If our complaint is justified, and in many instances it is, we might well pause to inquire whether the fault lies with the plan, or with our lack of adherence to the plan. Perhaps if we examine the conduct and practices of our neighbors it will be of assistance. We find them taking little or no interest, and rendering absolutely no assistance in maintaining the several citizens from among whom will finally be selected those to represent them in the exercise of their sovereignty. Such matters as these are left entirely to a few self-seekers who make such selections as satisfy themselves. We find them refusing to serve in a public office for which they are well fitted, and complaining that the offices are filled with incompetents. They yet we complain of excuse to escape jury service, and complain because ignorant and incompetent jurors are chosen to pass upon their rights of liberty and property. We find them always mindful of their rights, but forgetful of their duties. And now that we have briefly surveyed our neighbors, let us indulge in a moment of silent introspection. You need not announce the result. Thus it is that we find so many responsible public positions occupied by glad hand artists, who spend their official time in the practice of their art, while public business suffers. Thus it is that our legislatures, state and national, are constantly grinding out half baked laws, which do not command respect because they are half baked. It is because the average citizen does not understand that the sovereign is burdened with duties and responsibilities as well as blessed with rights and privileges, and that in a self governing nation, these duties and responsibilities rest upon the shoulders of the sovereign. Such practices may inspire terror, but never respect. Then there are those who earnestly contend that the cure must be obtained by revolution. It would be interesting to know just what result would follow the sudden placing of governmental authority in the hands of such people. It would also be interesting to know what result would follow the unrestricted practice of medicine by laymen. However, the same foolishness which impels us to refrain from offering ourselves as subjects for the latter experiment makes us prefer that the former be tried in Russia rather than in America. There is never reason or excuse for revolution in a government where the sovereignty is vested in the people, for there the right of revolution displaces any necessary revolution. But this is discussing what is not the cure, instead of prescribing the proper remedy.

Lack of Understanding

Our friend, the doctor, will tell us that the surest cure for any malady is the removal of the cause. I have said, and have tried to demonstrate, that the cause of the condition which you have asked me to discuss, is a lack of understanding of our constitution and our laws. In my opinion such condition can be remedied only by the removal of that cause. We are dealing with a condition which cannot be improved by an operation, nor by the administration of a single dose of any known remedy, but with one which will require long and careful treatment and patient nursing—a condition which has been long in forming and will be slow to respond. We must teach and teach, and teach, in the forum, through the press and throughout all our schools and universities, not by mere blatant appeals to patriotism, but by simple explanation of principles, based upon and illustrated by human experience from a time whenof the memory of man runneth not to the present time, until every child shall be brought to an appreciation of the fact that his most priceless heritage is to have been born an American citizen. Again and finally I say: "If we would preserve our institutions, we must first understand them."

CHILD BREAKS LEG

Mountainair, N. M., Dec. 9.—While playing at school this week Earl Parker had the misfortune to break one of the bones of his leg below the knee. He was taken at once to the office of a local surgeon, where the fracture was reduced, after which he was taken to his home, where he is resting as well as can be expected.

Kinin may be recovering, but he's not what he used to be. The poor man's latest speech was only an hour long.—Dallas News.

Foreign Reds, Parlor Pinks

I might discuss the nefarious influence of foreign reds and parlor pinks, but again we would find cause in a total lack of understanding of our institutions; and so will practically every other evidence of disrespect that might be enumerated. What is the cure? It does not lie in a small group of men delegating to themselves the authority of dictating what the practices of their fellow citizens shall be, and compelling conformance with such dictates by force administered behind a disguise of masks any robes. Such practices may inspire terror, but never respect. Then there are those who earnestly contend that the cure must be obtained by revolution. It would be interesting to know just what result would follow the sudden placing of governmental authority in the hands of such people. It would also be interesting to know what result would follow the unrestricted practice of medicine by laymen. However, the same foolishness which impels us to refrain from offering ourselves as subjects for the latter experiment makes us prefer that the former be tried in Russia rather than in America. PATIENT DIES IN

DENTIST'S CHAIR

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 9.—Mrs. T. M. Redland died suddenly of heart failure Tuesday afternoon in the office of Dr. O. H. Brown, a dentist. Dr. Brown had just administered a dose of novocaine and was about to continue with his work on her teeth when he found that she had passed away. Dr. Brown notified the coroner and an inquest was held. The verdict pronounced the death of any responsibility, physicians having testified that the woman's condition was such that any slight shock might have caused her death.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs WITHOUT DIETING OR EXERCISING often at the rate of over a pound a day and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and personally select the treatment for each individual case, thus enabling me to choose remedies that will produce not only a loss of weight harmlessly, but which will also relieve you of all the troublesome symptoms of over-stoutness such as shortness of breath, palpitation, indigestion, rheumatism, gout, asthma, kidney trouble and various other afflictions which often accompany over-stoutness.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you renewed energy and vigor, a result of the loss of your superfluous fat.

You are not required to change in the slightest from your regular mode of living. There is no dieting or exercising. It is simple, easy and pleasant to take.

If you are over-stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE FULL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE IF YOU SO DESIRE.

THE ARROW WILL INDICATE THE EXACT LOCATION OF YOUR TROUBLE

1. Slight subluxations at this point will cause so-called headaches, eye diseases, deafness, epilepsy, vertigo, insomnia, wry neck, facial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, etc.

2. A slight subluxation of a vertebra in this part of the spine is the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulders and arms, goitre, nervous prostration, la grippe, dizziness, bleeding from nose, disorder of gums, catarrh, etc.

3. The arrow head marked No. 3 locates the part of the spine wherein subluxations will cause so-called bronchitis, felons, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism of the arms and shoulders, hay fever, writers' cramp, etc.

4. A vertebral subluxation at this point causes so-called nervousness, heart disease, asthma, pneumonia, tuberculosis, difficult breathing, other lung troubles, etc.

5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, so-called, are caused by subluxations in this part of the spine, sometimes so light as to remain unnoticed by others except the trained Chiropractor.

6. Here we find the cause of so-called gall stones, dyspepsia of upper bowels, fevers, shingles, hiccoughs, worms, etc.

7. Bright's disease, diabetes, floating kidney, skin disease, boils, eruptions and other diseases, so-called, are caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal openings at this point.

8. Regulations of such troubles as so-called appendicitis, peritonitis, lumbago, etc., follow Chiropractic adjustments at this point.

9. Why have so-called constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica, etc., when Chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine will remove the cause?

10. A slight slippage of one or both innominate bones will likewise produce so-called sciatica, together with many "diseases" of pelvis and lower extremities.

SILK AND WOOL
HOSE, $1 up.
We direct your attention to our long-wearing silk stockings at $1 a pair up, and fine woolen sport hose at the same price.

SILK BLOUSES $2.95, $3.95, $4.95

If you were to see these blouses without their price-tags you would estimate their prices at fifty to one hundred per cent more than they really are. Everyone exclaims at our low blouse and shirtwaist prices. Buying your new blouse at the National entails a saving that actually enables you, in many cases, to get two for the price you had intended for one. New blouses of crepe de chine, canton crepe and matlasse at the above prices.

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES

Our reputation in Albuquerque was made with the values we offer in ready-to-wear coats, suits and dresses. An examination of our silk hose, skirts, silk underwear, muslin underwear and children's clothes will reveal the fact that these articles, too, can be purchased here at a saving. . . .

Your Private Safe Makes a Burglar Laugh

Keeping money and valuable papers in the house is foolish from every angle. The private safe is little or no protection. A husky burglar will steal the safe itself and crack it at his leisure.

To hide things in closets and corners is like locking a fire as well as theft.

Why continue those risks when we offer you absolute safety for your money, and safe deposit vaults for your valuables.

SOCIETY

MISS LOWBER IS BRIDE OF HUGH CASSIDY

At a simple candle light ceremony in a room fragrant with evergreen Miss Louise Lowber yesterday afternoon became the bride of Hugh O. Cassidy. The wedding service was read by the Rev. W. H. Ziegler at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. E. Lowber, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The couple who were unattended stood before a colonial tapestry, flanked by tall torches, in which red candles were burning. The bride wore a dress of white chiffon velvet trimmed with white fur. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Following the ceremony, which was performed at 4 o'clock, an informal reception was held for about 15 friends of the young couple. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy were Mrs. Lowber, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cassidy, Mrs. Molner, parents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Theodore White of Humboldt, Iowa, his sister, who came to Albuquerque to attend the wedding. Miss Eleanor Nickley of Bishop's Lodge also came for the ceremony.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. George Simms, Mrs. C. M. Ferguson, Mrs. L. G. Rice, and Miss Erna Ferguson. The door was opened by little Miss Virginia Klein. In the dining room, where pink roses and candles were used in decoration, Mrs. J. A. Reidy and Mrs. Florence Poyas Johnson presided at the table. Mrs. W. W. Strong served the bride's cake and Misses Marcelle Matson, Anita Hubbell, Katherine Anglo and Esther Howden served.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy left last night for a short trip south. They will return on the completion of their new home at 1920 Orchard Place, which is expected to be ready for occupancy before the holidays. Mrs. Cassidy and her father will return this evening to their homes, while Mrs. Cassidy, Sr., will spend the remainder of the winter in New Mexico.

Mrs. Cassidy has spent her entire childhood in Albuquerque where she has been active in university and social affairs. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority. She has been a newspaper reporter for the past three years. Her father has been located here with the U. S. forest service for the past three years, spending each summer in field work. He is a graduate of the Ames Agricultural school and a specialist in grazing work.

BRIDGE AND TEA GIVEN AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Guests for sixteen tables of bridge were entertained with a delightful bridge tea Saturday afternoon at the Woman's club for which Mrs. C. A. Shumaker and Mrs. C. E. Oden were the hostesses, entertaining an additional number of friends with a tea. The bridge tea was a color scheme of red and green and green candles and hand-painted flowers being used to carry out the decorative motifs. Mrs. Shumaker acted as hostess for the afternoon, entertaining Messrs. Oden and Mesdames Roy Graham, H. B. Hurd, A. B. Burt, Harry Slack, C. H. Spitznagel, Walton Snyder, James N. Gladding, R. R. Allen and A. J. Chauvin.

Bridge guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Frank Roberts, J. E. Zolman, D. H. Carter, H. M. Hayden, Fannie Ricketts, Mabel Hilliard, M. E. Riley, L. S. Peters, D. W. Faw, F. M. Lyon, M. H. MISS HOWDEN HONORED WITH LUNCHEON

Miss Angelica Howden was honored with a luncheon for eight of her intimate friends Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Robert Dietz was the hostess at her home in Los Gatos.

MRS. WEILLER HOSTESS FOR DINNER TODAY

Mrs. Harry B. Weiller will entertain tonight's guests at dinner Sunday at her home, 1228 West Central avenue, as a compliment to Mrs. Anna Rosenwald of San Francisco, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. U. Rosenwald.

Mrs. Mary Mason of Howell, en route home after attending the W. C. T. U. state conference at Raton, was the guest in Albuquerque of Mrs. D. A. Porterfield, 302 South Edith street.

Plans for a Christmas social to be held Christmas night were made at the last meeting of the Esperanza club which was held at the home of Mrs. John Brault. Refreshments were served. Mrs. O. G. Sandoval was the previous hostess.

MRS. McVEY HOSTESS TO GOOD CHEER CLUB

Twenty guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank McVey, 512 North Eleventh street, for the meeting of the Good Cheer club, Wednesday afternoon. Plans were made for the sending of a Christmas box to the Old Fellows home at Roswell, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harris, 503 West Rom avenue, entertained with a dinner Wednesday night. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lathrop, Miss Sadie Stewart and Ernest Polansky.

Mrs. Mary E. Wilds of Batavia, Ark., formerly a resident of Albuquerque, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Wilds Strumquist, 323 North Sixth street, and her granddaughter, Mrs. H. L. Galles, 804 West Marquette avenue.

Today's Recipes
Hamburg Loaf—Mix a loaf pan in cold water. Pour in gelatin and water. Pour in gelatin and water. Pour in gelatin and water.

Apple Sprinkle with two or three tablespoons of sugar and a pinch of salt. Heat some white vinegar to boiling point and pour over said. Keep covered a short time. Serve cold.

Blackberry Tart—One and one-quarter cups flour, one-quarter teaspoon baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, five tablespoons (level) shortening, one-quarter cup cold water. Sift dry ingredients cut in shortening, then add water, a little at a time and mix with a knife to a paste of consistency to clean the mixer bowl of all flour or paste. Roll out about one-quarter inch thick and place on the reverse side of muffin tin to bake. When done, set aside to cool. Then fill the cases with blackberry conserve.

Spanish Salad—One-half small head cabbage, one-half green pepper, one-half red pepper. Shred cabbage very fine. Add chopped peppers and mix with salad dressing. Serve very cold on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with a dash of cayenne and strips of pepper.

Suggestions
Laundrying Linings—It takes considerable time to take off and replace the ribbon bows and rosettes when they need to be laundered. Many have found that it saves time to use fasteners, setting one part to the bow and the other to the cap. It takes but a moment to remove or replace the ribbon ties or rosettes on baby's caps.

Silk Garments—Do not dry a silk garment after washing; instead, roll it in a clean white cloth for about half an hour and air-dry it while damp.

Velvet Brush—A small velvet brush filled with sawdust makes a fine brush for plush and velvet hats. It also takes lint off woollen clothes.

Save Threads—When hemming table linen save all the threads that are drawn in straightening the edges, etc. They will make excellent mending threads for the linen later.

Playing during the winter in a gymnasium orchestra in Los Angeles. Her next concert will be two appearances in San Francisco.

MINERVA SURPRISE FOR MRS. ED CHACON

Members of the Minerva club gave a surprise party Saturday night for Mrs. Ed Chacon, secretary of state-elect, at the club, her home on North Thirteenth street. Refreshments were served.

The guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Chacon, O. F. Sandoval, E. Romero, Jr., L. Carrasco, Dennis Chavez, P. S. Sanchez, M. Aragon, H. E. Torres.

Mrs. E. Romero of West Central avenue will entertain the club next week.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY FOR E. AND P. CLUB

The Business and Professional Women's club will hold their semi-annual dinner Monday night at the Y. W. C. A. in celebration of their first birthday. Each member has been asked to bring the number of pennies corresponding with her age. A number of surprises are on the evening program, including the club's birthday cake.

Mrs. William Valentine and young son, William, Jr., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Strumquist, 719 South Walter street.

MISS HARRIS BECOMES AUNT OF A BRIDE

The marriage of Miss Gladys L. Harris, former Red Cross nurse, to Ernest A. Polansky, well known local attorney, was solemnized at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bridegroom's sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Harris, 503 West Roma avenue.

Miss Alma Martindale and Earl Hulick were the attendants, immediate relatives and a few intimate friends being present. Rev. F. E. McGuire officiated. Yellow and lavender chrysanthemums were used in the decorations of the living and dining rooms and in table decorations for the wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Polansky left for a motor trip through the state. After January 1 they will be at home at 615 West Lead avenue.

An all-day ride with a luncheon at Silva's Pavilion was taken Saturday by a number of the Women's Riding club.

ELLY NEY TO PLAY IN SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Elly Ney, pianist, whose concert at the High school auditorium Friday night was such a delight to Albuquerque musicians, left after the recital for Los Angeles to join her husband, Mr. Wylly Von Hoogstraten, Dutch violinist and conductor. Miss Ney said she was charmed with her reception here as elsewhere in America and that she intends to remain in America.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

AN AWKWARD MEETING

Chapter 12

Donald and Nellie strolled slowly up the avenue, stopping to look into the windows wherever the curtains did not shut out their view of the display. When they reached the park, Donald proposed they sit on one of the benches and rest before returning.

Donald talked gayly for half an hour, Donald telling Nellie of his aspirations, that he had written a story that had been accepted by a popular magazine, and of others he had in mind.

"How wonderful!" she breathed. "You won't be an editor now, will you? You'll be an author!"

"Oh, I don't know about that! Selling one story means nothing. I have had dozens returned."

"But perhaps you didn't send them to the right people," Nellie replied. She thought it wonderful to be able to put one's thoughts into words, to write and sell stories.

"But we must go back. I promised Mrs. Roberts to come in a few moments before I went to bed."

Unwillingly, Donald rose and they walked slowly down past the brilliantly lighted entrance to the Plaza hotel.

Down the steps came George Fallon and another man. The former stopped abruptly, raised his hat, his face unsmiling, then stepped into a motor, followed by his companion.

Nellie felt the blood rush to her face. Oh, why had she left the house? There had been something in Fallon's unsmiling look that drained all happiness from her; that made her feel he might think she had deceived him; that there was something between her and Donald Horne.

There was no reason she should feel ashamed of Donald. He was tall, straight, neatly dressed. Yet she almost hated him as they walked side by side down the avenue, all her vivacity gone; her desire to look at "pretty things" forgotten. When Donald spoke of it she answered impatiently: "I'm tired. I want to get home."

The next morning at breakfast the acid faced woman remarked: "Did you have a pleasant walk last night, Miss Riley?"

"No—Yes," Nellie, who had passed an almost sleepless night, snapped. "Love is a thing of bliss, the poets tell us," Miss Pitt smiled at Nellie, as she said it, then cast a meaning glance about the table.

"I should think, Miss Pitt, that it might depend a lot upon whether that love was mutual. It might be hell for one of the party, instead of bliss."

"Oh, Miss Riley!" Miss Pitt breathed in a shocked tone. "Miss Riley is right, Miss Pitt." Mrs. Roberts broke in, unless love is a mutual affair it is not happiness. I take it you are talking of love between men and women?

"Yes, although it is a subject I seldom discuss."

"One needs to know about a thing to talk about it!" Nellie exclaimed in her old impudent manner, a manner she now seldom used; then rose from the table and flounced out of the room, much to Mrs. Roberts' amusement. She had no patience with Miss Pitt, and her old-maidish ways.

Mr. Fallon said "good morning" as usual, but that was all. Save to dictate his letters he made no conversation with Nellie, hardly looked in her direction all day. It was Saturday. On Monday she would take Miss Jones' place, occupy her desk, so near Mr. Fallon's.

"Oh, why did he have to see me and what does he think? I don't dare say a word, but I'll bet he thinks I lied about Donald," Nellie soliloquized.

Her hat was on, she was about to leave, when he said: "Did you have a pleasant walk last night?"

"Yes, Mr. Horne asked me to go to a movie, but it was such a lovely night I asked him to walk instead. I like to look in the windows on the avenue." She had spoken simply, intuitively knowing that with him it was best.

"Is that the man that lives at your boarding house?"

"Yes, the newspaper man."

Then: "I had promised to see Mrs. Roberts, the old lady I told you of, so couldn't be out long."

Did his face brighten, look happier, or was it her imagination? He said "goodnight" in that old general manner, making some remark about her new duties which would begin on Monday.

Even Miss Pitt could not annoy Nellie at dinner. Nothing mattered if Mr. George was not displeased with her.

A NEW APRON DESIGN

The task of dishwashing or house cleaning is considerably lightened if one has a pretty apron dress to slip into like the one shown.

This style may be made of gingham, percale or chambray. As shown in the sketch percale at 15c per yard is used with chambray at 20c per yard for trimmings and the completed garment costs but 65c.

The pattern No. 1608 cuts in sizes 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material with 3/4 yard 36-inch contrasting. Price, 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

This style may be made of gingham, percale or chambray. As shown in the sketch percale at 15c per yard is used with chambray at 20c per yard for trimmings and the completed garment costs but 65c.

The pattern No. 1608 cuts in sizes 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material with 3/4 yard 36-inch contrasting. Price, 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Mr. Fallon said "good morning" as usual, but that was all. Save to dictate his letters he made no conversation with Nellie, hardly looked in her direction all day. It was Saturday. On Monday she would take Miss Jones' place, occupy her desk, so near Mr. Fallon's.

"Oh, why did he have to see me and what does he think? I don't dare say a word, but I'll bet he thinks I lied about Donald," Nellie soliloquized.

Her hat was on, she was about to leave, when he said: "Did you have a pleasant walk last night?"

"Yes, Mr. Horne asked me to go to a movie, but it was such a lovely night I asked him to walk instead. I like to look in the windows on the avenue." She had spoken simply, intuitively knowing that with him it was best.

"Is that the man that lives at your boarding house?"

"Yes, the newspaper man."

Then: "I had promised to see Mrs. Roberts, the old lady I told you of, so couldn't be out long."

Did his face brighten, look happier, or was it her imagination? He said "goodnight" in that old general manner, making some remark about her new duties which would begin on Monday.

Even Miss Pitt could not annoy Nellie at dinner. Nothing mattered if Mr. George was not displeased with her.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Egg Camouflage

If you are cutting down the number of eggs in a cake, add a half teaspoonful of baking powder for each egg-white omitted.

Home-Made Sherbet. When making sherbet or ice, try adding the stiffly beaten whites of an egg to each quart of mixture used. It is very little added expense, but will result in lovely smooth laces.

These Troublesome Shoe-Laces. If you have trouble keeping your shoelaces tied, when facing the last eyelet, insert the lace from the outside of the shoe and then tie as usual. The knot can be tucked in and you will not see it again until you go to remove the shoes.

Wash Day. Poorly rinsed clothes are more apt to scorch when ironed. A good pure soap is economy, even if it costs a few pennies more. Iron padded embroidered and waists having buttons on a thick Turkish towel and they will iron as smoothly as a handkerchief.

Pongee will iron evenly and without those white spots so often seen if washed and then rolled in a Turkish towel for an hour before ironing.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl going on 15. There is a fellow 18 years old who works at our neighbor's. He comes to our house every Sunday. Do you think it would be proper to let him take me to a school which I attend? He is eleven miles from home and I go on Sunday evening.

PEGGY T. If the young man took several girls to the school, it would be all right. But you are too young to go with him alone.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and have been married only two months. At times I seem to love my husband more than my life. Then again I seem to be tired of him and long to run away from him and all his people. He does not dance and cares nothing about me. I love him, but I love both with all my heart.

I try to be satisfied and do all I can to please my husband. We get on real well together. I have to love my husband more than my life, but he hasn't the money to buy me what I want. I am going to stick it out with him as long as I can, but I can hardly bear to live the quiet life I now live. He has not taken me to anything since we have been married.

Do you think he loves me? And do I love him? Please tell me something to do to help me be satisfied. We could not very well support any children, and anyways my husband does not want any.

Any advice you can give me will be greatly appreciated. E. D. You are looking for superficial things to bring you happiness. Your husband does not dance, does not take you to amusements and cannot afford fine clothes for you. But is he good to you? Does he enjoy your company so much that he prefers to stay at home with you to poolrooms and poker parties? Would he be willing to read out loud to you while you mend or make clothes?

It seems to me your attitude is decidedly selfish and instead of buying yourself with cooking delicious foods to please your beloved, learning to make dresses for yourself, etc., you are feeling sorry for yourself and seeking trouble. There is no reason why you cannot have amusement and plenty of it, if you make use of the hours of the day. Invite women to your home for lunch, belong to a church, society or club, and you will have interests outside the home.

I think you love your husband.

more than you realize. If you were to leave him and marry again you would probably look back on this period of your life with great longing. You would wish you had a chance to try over again. The game of life is thrilling when lack of money makes it impossible to realize the heart's desires. Think how much more credit it would be to you to have a beautiful little home and pretty clothes which you have made for yourself.

Your husband must love you or he would not have married you. Be your part, to please him and I am confident he will respond by trying to please you. Don't nag at him to take you places, or even ask him to go when he is tired. Two months could not possibly have changed the character of your husband. He is the same man you loved before you married him.

FINANCING SENTIMENT

By J. A. Waldron
Illustration by Lawrence Fellows

"I've Two Seats and No Partner"

The boarding house was of the better class. The odor of poverty, which is more obvious than the odor of sanctity, was absent. The rates excluded it.

But the boarding house nevertheless had human variety. Most of the women guests were of sedate age, and of manners and aspects that insured them freedom from the wiles of designing men. Four of the ladies, middle-aged and with ample means, spent their leisure about a table at auction bridge. Of course, they had their little differences, but always these were solved. Their luck and skill were so uniform that the end of each week of play saw them peculiarly where they started, plus amusement.

There was but one woman in the house warranted by nature and age to quicken male pulses. She was the chief dining room girl, and her name was Maude. She was tall and willowy, yet athletic, with a face perfect in contour and a complexion suggesting a peach of the prettiest variety. Her hair, abundant and unquestionably original, was the color of brass the day after polishing. Maude went home every night after dinner.

The old maid middle-aged male guests, having wives that kept track of their impulses, smiled at Maude as fathers smile. But every young man in the place was keen for Maude, who was no flirt. She greeted them all alike, paid appreciative glances for compliments—what woman will not?—and was self-reliant and verbally able when repartee was pertinent.

Maude was what the young men called a "swell dresser." Perhaps it was her figure, but she always looked like a model for clothes, and the women whispered with one another in wonder at her appearance, knowing their own apparel cost much more than Maude's. And she looked at all times as though she had just been to a coiffeuse. But it was all her own skill, with the prime asset of beauty behind it.

One by one the young men in the place secured brief moments with Maude to try themselves out. It never worked.

John Grafton waylaid her one evening in the hall after dinner as she was going home. Grafton was chief clerk in a broker's office and had all the nerve and sophistication of his kind.

"Ah, Maude! But you look a winner tonight! I wonder if you wouldn't like to go to the Follies? I've two seats and no partner."

"Sorry," Maude replied, "but I've an engagement."

"Some other evening, then?"

"Oh, my evenings are filled for quite a spell." And she laughed and went her way.

Another evening Billy Hanley, another boarder, was waiting for her on the corner. He was resident buyer for one of the big shops. He flashed pair of Hippodrome seats and wanted her company. She thanked him, but it wasn't possible. And the way she smiled left him as good natured as before.

At various times she was also approached by four other young men of the house. All had plenty of money, and the theatre list was canvassed aimlessly by each. Maude was unexcited and gracious, but her negatives were flexible. Archie said Grafton a moment alone with her and tried his luck for a third time. He was assistant treasurer of a prosperous theatre. "You're absolutely wasted in a boarding house," he said. "It isn't your natural environment, girlie. You would be a winner in the theatre."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Why, there isn't a girl in the chorus in 'The New Moon' that shines as you could. And I'm the boy that could get you there, if you cared for popularity and all that."

"Don't you think I'm popular where I am?"

"Altogether too popular for such an environment."

"But the theatre has no fascination for me—unless I'm in the front row of the balcony with some one I like."

"Oh! Then you have a suitor?"

"I didn't say so. But I don't need one."

After the various young men were satisfied that she was not for their society they held little experience meetings and compared notes. As long as all were hopeful, they might as well be candid with one another. And they all seemed to think more of her than ever.

"I even saw the Scotchman asking her to go with him somewhere last night," said Grafton. "And although she smiled at him just as she smiles at all of us, it was useless. A well-chance that tightwad would have, wouldn't he?"

"The movies are his size," replied Hanley. "and if in an insane moment he should ask a girl to go, his pecuniary regret after the show would be poignant."

The young man referred to was Donald Ferguson, who was said to be thinking in the skirt and suit trade, which is a highly competitive business. His name alone suggested his origin, for he was a New Yorker born. And he was as good to look at as any of them. In a quiet way Donald had been as susceptible to the charms of Maude as the others, but his frugality was a standing jest. He seemed to be the only young male about who had not brought Maude beribboned boxes of candy and flowers.

"Well," said Archie Jay, "she's one peach of a girl. She'd make a great hit in a beauty chorus."

The boarding house mistress had loitered and heard something of the conversation. "If you're talking about Archie," she remarked to Maude, "you're on the wrong track. She would never become an actress. She's engaged to be married."

There was a chorus of queries as to when, and about the man in the case. "I don't know the lucky man, or when; but she has given me notice. She will leave two days before Christmas," said the mistress.

"Let's club together in a purse for her," suggested Grafton, as Donald Ferguson was seen entering. "We'll make it a Christmas present as well as a matrimonial complement."

"Good!" replied Archie. "And we'll show up the Scotchman. Let's all give the same amount, and make it worth while."

Grafton wrote a check for fifty dollars. The others responded, each with a like amount, as Ferguson came forward.

Grafton explained what they were doing. "Surely," Ferguson, he said, you must think as much of the lady as the rest of us. And Christmas is coming."

"I think a lot of her," was Ferguson's reply.

"Well, we have financed our good-will. Come across!"

Donald wrote a check for fifty dollars without a word and put it with the others.

"You're a brick after all!" said Hanley. "We didn't think you'd do it."

"Why shouldn't I do it?" asked Donald. "I'm to marry the lady."

Have Pains?

ALBUQUERQUE IS ABLE TO HANDLE W. C. T. U. MEET

Delegate to National Convention Thinks This City Should Begin Campaign for 1925 Session

By ANNA WILDS STRUMQUIST

If Albuquerque boosters and organizations will begin now to plan for the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in 1925, I believe the convention will come here. This convention is one of the most important in the world and its proceedings are carried to 50 countries of the world where the W. C. T. U. is organized. Evangelical Booth, in an address to the national convention in the Academy of Music in Philadelphia to an audience of about 5,000 people, declared that "no assembly ever in history represented more of brilliant brains and consecrated souls than this one—that here are gathered the very flower and fragrance of the world's womanhood."

To bring this convention to Albuquerque would mean much in getting the unknown historic and scenic and climatic values of the Sunbaked State before the leaders of the entire country, and always there are representatives of foreign countries present. But in order that Albuquerqueans may know just what to plan for in the way of numbers, I wish to state that the national convention in delegates is about as large as the state teachers' convention, and I believe could easily be cared for by the present hotel facilities. In an interview, a newspaper writer received the wrong impression about the size of the convention, probably inferring the number of convention delegates to be what was mentioned as those in attendance in the auditoriums. Always at these conventions there are a large number of club women and visitors from other cities, and many press representatives. Moving pictures are always taken of the conventions, and railroads from New York to San Diego, from Canada to Mexico, give rates. And I wish to make it clear to Albuquerqueans that this convention in numbers would be about the same as the state teachers' convention, and could be accommodated with the hotel facilities when the new hotel is completed.

Each city that has recently had this convention has made efforts for two to three years to get it. All the southwest state chapters profited Albuquerque's efforts. Many state presidents of eastern and southern states have pledged their co-operation to bring the convention here in 1925.

Mr. Fox's telegram set forth in a striking way the historic attractions of Acocoma and Pajarito Canyon, and the charm of the state capital with its historic buildings, and declared these all could be visited in motor excursions. He listed the available hotel rooms and automobiles. His telegram was applauded in the executive session where it was read.

I told them we have the "Fountain of Youth" in New Mexico. It became a slogan and I urged them to visit the "City of the Sky" at Acocoma, built by Indian women centuries ago; and to come to New Mexico to visit the institution the national organization brought into existence, the Frances E. Willard school at Santa Fe.

Mrs. Frances Graham of New York sang the Frances Willard school song—a beautiful jingle for Santa Fe and the school. This too was applauded. The appeal of seeing a district unknown to many and identified with Mexico by a large number, made sentiment that would have given the convention to this city. If the vote had been taken then, Detroit, Louisville and Seattle were other bidders for the convention. The decision was referred to the executive committee two days later. At that time Louisville and Seattle had dropped out of the race. Detroit and Albuquerque contended in a lively contest. The splendid telegram from Mr. Fox of the Chamber of Commerce, backed by Kiwanis and Rotary and other clubs, and Governor Mechem's invitation, and the pleas of Arizona, California and other southwest representatives, made it seem that Albuquerque might be chosen for the next convention. The assurance from Henry Ford, who never employs a drinker or violator of the prohibition laws, that "every delegate would have a ride in the car that made Detroit famous" settled the matter. The convention was voted for Detroit in 1922, and announcement was made that two years hence, the jubilee convention, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the W. C. T. U., would be held in Chicago, so that ceremonies could be in and near the former home of Frances E. Willard, "Red Cottage" at Evanston, now the "dry capital" of the world, the shrine of pilgrims from many lands where the affairs of the W. C. T. U. in 10 countries are administered by Miss Anna Gordon, president of the world's and national W. C. T. U.

So 1925 is the date, and if Albuquerque goes after it, Albuquerque will be the place, I believe, of the national convention of the W. C. T. U. Because Miss Gordon has been in New Mexico, and was delighted with the climate and people, and is fond of historic Santa Fe; because the Frances E. Willard school there is attracting attention of the W. C. T. U. from other states; because there has never been a W. C. T. U. convention in this part of the country; because we have unique and antique attractions; because the Indian pageant requested by Miss Gordon for New Mexico to be presented at the jubilee convention in Chicago will be a telling advertisement, to rouse interest and because Albuquerque is well able to provide for the comfort of the delegates and visitors; and able to equal the hospitality and cordiality of even the great "City of Brotherly Love"—I believe a campaign ought to be launched to bring this convention to Albuquerque at the earliest possible date—1925.

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL

The very interesting and appropriate posters advertising the junior play, "Captain Kidd," which are in the high school halls and the show windows down town, were made by the art classes under the direction of Miss Shanks. These posters represent the best work of the class. During the teachers' convention the art classes displayed the pictures made this year. Miss Reid, the art supervisor at the Santa Fe high school, exhibited one of the pictures made by her pupils—Reported by Christine Lettich.

Juniors Start Ticket Sale.
The Junior class meeting Thursday afternoon was called for the purpose of starting the sale of tickets for "Captain Kidd, Jr." The class was organized into four teams under four captains, Mildred Light, Elia Olson, Mabel Olson and Clyde Cleveland. The president, Marcella Reidy, appointed the advertising committee, Franklin Corp, Vernon Herndon and Buel-Mandel. The class committee consists of: Maxine Halthusen, Frank Stortz and Frank Grimmer.

Fellows Club Hears Cartwright.
The Fellows club met Thursday afternoon at 8 o'clock, in accordance with President Harding's proclamation, the time was devoted to education. The club president, Hugo Glom, introduced Edward Cartwright, a former student of A. H. S., who has returned after an absence of six years. Mr. Cartwright has seen a good deal of the world in the years he was away. He is a firm believer in the fact that opportunity does not knock at your door, but you must go out after it, and it is found after much study. He learned this through experience with a number of so-called opportunities and now realized the value of a good education. He has returned to get a diploma from A. H. S.—Reported by Howard Heyn.

Observe Education Week.
The Girls' League was addressed Thursday morning by Miss McCormick, of the department of physical training at the university. She stated that the aim of physical education was to develop the body, and consisted in rowing, hoeing, carpentry, and various forms of outdoor work, as well as games. Children need more exercise than adults, and games and other devices are provided by schools in order to encourage the development of the big muscles. Two hours a day is enough time for high school girls to devote to physical exercises. The aims of physical education are social and physical development. The social values are the teaching of honesty, play and obedience to authority. The physical values are strength, skill, endurance and development of organs and muscles. Physical education is now recognized by educators everywhere, and more attention is paid it each year. Miss McCormick's talk was helpful and an inspiration to the girls in the Webster society. —Reported by Gladys Maddison.

Inter-Society Debate.
The Roosevelt and Webster societies met Tuesday afternoon in the study hall. Resolved: That the German reparations should be reduced was the question. The affirmative was taken by the Webster team, composed of Russell Gere, Christine Shaver and Louise Oestreich. The Roosevelt team, Edna Curtis, Hazel Freed and Gladys Dorris argued for the negative. The decision was in favor of the Webster society. This is the second time the Websters have defeated the Roosevelts.—Reported by Elliot Wilesworth.

Kodak Club Meets.
A brief meeting of the Kodak club was held Wednesday afternoon. The sale of calendars, prints, and the picture exhibit were discussed.

Home Economics.
The home economics department served lunch on Wednesday and Thursday to students and faculty members who live too far away to go home for lunch. Hereafter this department will serve every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Soup, vegetables, salads, sandwiches, fruits, desserts, and milk will be served at a low cost. The lunches served this week were excellent and a large number of the students took advantage of this opportunity to obtain a good lunch. The work is done by the girls who are taking cooking under the supervision of Miss Gills and Vandervort.

Girls' Basketball Season.
An unusually large number of girls are out for basketball practice and since the guards and centers are unusually strong, A. H. S. will have a strong team. Mildred Brooks and Mildred Light are again trying for positions as guard and Aubrey Bell and Pauline Johnson are candidates for the place. Elizabeth Shaver, a new girl, who comes from Dawson, will be an addition to the team. She and Ethel Burgin are trying for running center. Louise Gollitz and Olive Pitt are working for center. Louise has an advantage over Olive on account of speed. The girls working for guards are Inez Garcia, Disidera Rivera, Peggy Foraker and Dolores Benjamin.

Captain's Ball Tournament.
Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock the girls' captain ball tournament was held in the gymnasium. The tournament was played by four teams, captained by Louise Oestreich, Pauline Johnson, Elizabeth Sherwood and Ellen Knoff. The first game was between the team of Louise Oestreich and Pauline Johnson. Captain Johnson's team won by a score of 15 to 12. The second game was played by the teams of Elizabeth Sherwood and Ellen Knoff. Captain Knoff's team won by a score of 34 to 18. The last game was between the winning teams, Captain Johnson's team won the tournament. The score was 12 to 10.

La Reata Staff Meets.
At a meeting of La Reata staff Thursday afternoon Editor-in-chief Loren Moxley assigned new duties to members of the staff. The alumni section notes are to be ready by December 15. The job section work will be ready at the same time. The glossy prints for the individual pictures of seniors and juniors must be ready by January 2. These prints must be sent to the engravers early in order to get the special rate.

The following pupils have made A during the second six weeks of school:
In five subjects: Vivian Gibson
In four subjects: Thelma Adams, Irma Cracker, Katherine Crick, Gladys Davis, Bonnie Herkenhoff, Ellen Knoff, Mabel Olson, Louise Oestreich, Lenore Pettit, Marcella Reidy, Lenora Raney, Marion Raney, Arabella Sterritt, Yvonne Stevenson, Margaret Whitesides and Tom Wilkerson.
In three subjects: Robert Botts,

Audrey Bell, Maynard Bowen, Florence Bruuggeman, Clyde Cleveland, Mildred Freed, Nathalie Furstenfeld, Ina Kimbrough, Louis McRae, Loren Moxley, George Olson, Louis Snyder, Ollie Stewart, Myronelle Stevenson, Isidore Sanchez and Dana Todd.

OLD ALBUQUERQUE.
The Parent-Teacher association held their monthly business meeting at the school Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. E. E. Steiner being in charge. The report of the dance committee showed that $128 was realized. The proceeds are being used in the following purchases for the school: A Singer sewing machine for the sewing class; eighteen small chairs for the primary children; a book case for the eighth grade. Mrs. E. Craine and Mrs. G. D. Ramsey are in charge of the Christmas treat for the school children.

A rising vote of thanks and appreciation was tendered Miss Sanchez for her untiring and successful efforts in coaching pupils for the Spanish play.

Eighth Grade.
Anita Springer and Pauline Maestas demonstrated hot lunches at the army on Tuesday of the teachers' convention. These girls are preparing to go to Denver for similar work. They will go as Spanish señoritas specializing in Spanish dishes.

Christmas borders and decorations were put up by the girls, giving a very festive air to the school room.

The pupils of the eighth grade have a perfect attendance record. They are wearing aprons and towels are being made in the sewing class.

Sixth and Seventh Grades.
This room has a new cupboard, and the boys and girls are happy to have some of their surplus chalk erasers and books. A Christmas candle border decorates the room.

Maria Armijo and Tom Ramsey are the leaders of the sixth grade. Review of South America and Canada was the geography lesson last week.

Paul Anzures, a sixth grader had his arm playing foot ball, but he is able to be in school. Annie Chavez and Beatrice Saavedra are the leaders in the seventh grade.

Fifth Grade and High Fourth.
Billy Carver is a newcomer from Dayton, Ohio, in the fourth grade. Both grades have made an E plus record in spelling.

The fifth grade has been interested in making out mail orders this week, ordering toys from Santa Land.

A border of tiny colored stockings filled with toys appeared on the board. The design and work is by Dolly Williams.

Low Fourth and High Third Grade.
The leaders of the fourth grade are Ermilino Sanchez and Fidel Baca.

Ermilino Mirabal and Louis Gutierrez are leaders in the third grade.

High Second and Low Third Grade.
The drawing lesson last week consisted of fire places and Xmas stockings. New readers are being used in these grades.

Low Second Grade.
A new cupboard was added to the furniture of the second grade room.

Bells, Santas and reindeer are the decorations this month.

First Grade.
During the past week the following have been either absent or tardy: Isabel Chavez, Crescencia Garcia, Virginia Major, Doris Thornton, Antonio Romero, Eugene Ward, Tomas Montoya, Patricia Cervantes, Jose Hernandez Aurelio, Mentores, Leo Nolasco Wiley Reynolds and Joe Martinez.

Primary.
The following children made E in reading: Marie Williams, Robert Morton, Walter Huisman, Edna Chabin, Mary Miekush, Orville Alley, Marcelino Ortiz, Lucy Baca and Joe Wilde.

New Enrollment.
Billy Carter, Dayton, Ohio; Joe Martinez, Gallup; Terecilda Madrid, Gallup; Andrea Lira, El Paso; Frank Barola, Mexico City; Ruth Reynolds, Wiley Reynolds, Henry Reynolds, and Noel Reynolds Mountainair; Victoria Castillo.

Los Chavez; Cora Marquez, Garfield.

NORTH FOURTH STREET.
The hot lunch which is served at the North Fourth street school has proven to be popular with the children, as well as beneficial. This is the third year this feature of the school has been in operation. A system has been worked out whereby the preparation of the dish served requires no time from the regular school work of either the teacher or students. One hot dish is served with the lunch the children bring from home, the menu consisting of soup, beans, and cocoa. The children are served in two rooms, by four boys under supervision of a teacher. The dishes are washed by a certain number who bring lunch, each taking a regular turn, under supervision. Cleanliness and manners are taught. The dish is served at three cents, which covers the cost of materials used.

Sixth Grade.
Marvin Gardner made 100 per cent in spelling. Max Shampain and Violet Shampain have been out of school the past week, due to illness. Perfect attendance last month: Pearl Bettis, Marie Childers, Florence Hauschet, Inabel Morris, Helida Edmunds, Clarabel McDonald, Russell Cote, Marvin Gardner, Wilbur Hagerman, David Taylor, Harold Thorne and Victor Edmunds.

Second Grade.
The second grade children have a spelling match every Friday morning. Those standing this week were: Minnie Lee Thiehoff, Dorothy Lucile Smith, Dorothy Adams, Robert Armstrong, Sam Bowman, and Ivin Miller. The score was four to three in favor of the girls. The leaders were Robert Armstrong and Minnie Lee Thiehoff.

Seventh Grade.
The following made 100 per cent in spelling the past week: Joe Moxley, Georgia Hooten, Lillian Hauschel, Juanita Patton, Inez Morris, Esther Garet. Perfect attendance for the past month was made by Elton Harris, Calvin Hatchett, Joe Moxley, Lois Ehler, Marjorie Hagerman, Inez Moore, Esther Pomeroy. The enrollment is 23.

GAMBLERS IN RUSSIA.
Moscow, Dec. 9.—American dollars are now being used nightly in Moscow's gambling casinos, where the play mounts into trillions of rubles at a single turn. Players at baccarat, roulette and chemin-de-fer, when they win ask for their profits in United States notes.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, well known American woman suffragist, recently addressed the German Reichstag, it being the first time a woman ever was accorded the privilege.

MIRRORS ON AUTOS ARE AMONG BEST. PREVENTS ACCIDENTS

Mirrors on automobiles, showing the driver, at a glance the condition of traffic immediately behind him, are among the best preventives of traffic accidents in use today, according to A. A. A. officials. Mounted at the left side of the windshield on the rear car, or screwed to the frame of the closed car in the same position, the mirror calls immediate attention to a car approaching from the rear, and often saves a collision, with resultant loss to both cars, it is pointed out.

"The A. A. A. has always maintained that every truck in the United States should be equipped with a mirror," said M. O. Eldridge, executive chairman of the A. A. A., "and the addition of a mirror to the left hand side of the passenger automobile would prove a large added factor of safety." The A. A. A. rule of the road is that one vehicle approaching another from the rear and passing it shall pass to the left of the vehicle ahead, and this rule gives the driver with a left hand mirror a perfect view of the approaching motorist and enables him to give the passing car its share of the road. It does not attract the attention of the driver from the road ahead, as a passing glance is all that is needed to show him traffic conditions to the rear of his car.

"Fifteen states and the District of Columbia now require mirrors on trucks, the states being Vermont, Washington, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri and New Jersey. Nevada is now considering such a law and the movement is spreading to other states."

"Passenger cars can benefit from this example and their drivers can do much to increase their present margin of safety by affixing a small mirror to the left hand side of the cars."

Show us the man who recognizes that knowledge does not come by intuition or inspiration, but by study and application.

Show us the man who can hold his head high without a collar.

Show us the man who does not dream of success, but goes forth and makes it.

Show us the man who always says the right thing at the right time, and knows his reason for doing so.

Show us the man who can do a polite act to a good looking woman, and not spoil it by asking for her address.

Show us the man who can sell a tire with 20,000 mile guarantee and refuse a No Charge Adjustment when it delivers 8000 miles.

THE COOPER MOTOR COMPANY TO OCCUPY NEW SALESROOM JAN. 1

The growth of the Cooper Motor company's business during the past 18 months has made it necessary for them to seek larger quarters and they have succeeded in leasing for a term of years the building at 211 and 213 North Fourth street. This is the salesroom now occupied by the Southwest Motor Co.

They will move on January 1. The new location will give them one of the most attractive salesrooms in the city and ample room to exhibit their splendid line of cars. The service department will have a floor space of approximately 2,500 square feet and will enable the Cooper Motor company to give their customers even more prompt and efficient service than they have been accustomed to give.

DURANT QUARTERS NOW ON WEST COPPER AVE.

The Pilcher Motor company, distributors for the Durant and Star cars in this territory and who have formerly been located at 229 North Fourth street, announce a change in their quarters both of sales room and service station, to 414 West Copper avenue. Their new location will give them added floor space in both their sales and service departments and they wish to assure all owners of Durant and Star cars that they are now situated so that they can handle all their service requirements in a very satisfactory manner. They further announce an addition to their sales force in Al C. Vierheller, who has formerly been connected with several prominent automobile firms of this city.

FRANKLIN ANNOUNCES BEHIND IN ITS ORDERS

Joe Myers, the local distributor for the Franklin car, has received the following information from the home of the Franklin car at Syracuse, N. Y.:

"Never before in our history have we had at this time of year so many unfilled retail orders for cars," says H. H. Franklin, president of the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company. "We are over-sold not only on our closed models, which naturally are in greater demand in the winter months, but also on open models. During the first three weeks of last month the number of retail orders exceeded those for the entire month of October. Our dealers report a constant call for used Franklins, business from this source in November exceeding October records."

RECORD TRUCK RUN MADE IN DELIVERY OF PRESIDENT'S FOWL

As the result of an appeal to the General Motors Truck company of Pontiac, Mich., to deliver the turkey for President and Mrs. Harding's Thanksgiving dinner at the White House, a record non-stop run of 825 miles between Chicago and Washington was made on November 27 and 28.

A GMC truck carrying "Supreme III," an Illinois bronze turkey, the gift of the Harding Girls' club of Morris & Co., to President and Mrs. Harding, left Chicago Sunday night, November 26, and the turkey was delivered at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning after an elapsed running time of 27 hours and 24 minutes. An average speed of 23 miles an hour was made.

At the White House the turkey was received by Senator McKinley and Representative Fred I. Britton of Illinois; Pyke Johnson, secretary of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and George Christian, secretary to President Harding.

The entire party, including the drivers and the Misses Marie Maddox and Elsie Allen, representing the Harding Girls' club, then went into the office of President Harding, where the chief executive thanked them for their efforts and extended his greetings to the Harding Girls' club. Senator McKinley, Mr. Johnson and Congressman Britton complimented the drivers on their remarkable record.

Snow and ice were encountered for 100 miles through the mountains.

Otto Frazier, of the Chicago branch of the truck company, and Bert Harcourt, service expert of the truck company, drove from Chicago to just outside of Wheeling, W. Va., maintaining an average speed of about 30 miles an hour. They were relieved by Roy Kloss of Wheeling, who took the truck through the mountains safely, over one of the most dangerous roads in the country, ascending grades as high as 2,900 feet.

For the last three years it has been the annual custom of the Harding Girls' club to send the President and the first lady of the land their Thanksgiving dinner but this year, due to the scarcity of large turkeys, one weighing 41 pounds could not be obtained in several days prior to Thanksgiving, making it too late to be sent by messenger or train.

The girls made a special motor cart of black and gold for the bird to insure him against catching cold and a special cage was built, mounted on the rear of the truck on spiral springs to insure his comfort. Special feed and water were carried the entire distance.

The route followed by the truck was the National Old Trail, leading from Chicago to Indianapolis, Columbus, Zanesville, Wheeling, Uniontown, Pa., and over the mountains to Cumberland, Md., and into the District of Columbia.

CANNON BALL BAKER CHIPS OFF ANOTHER RECORD ON TRIP

Erwin G. "Cannon Ball" Baker, famous racing driver and winner of many speed and endurance runs, has lowered another transcontinental record. This time, Baker has punctured the economy record by taking a 12 1/2 cubic inch Nercar from New York to Los Angeles, 3,364.2 miles on 40 gallons of gas and 44.75 pints of oil at a fuel cost of $15.70.

Baker's running time of 174 hours and one minute (or 7 days, 6 hours and one minute) gives him an average of 19.3 miles per hour and 74.76 miles per gallon. The Nercar, made at Syracuse, N. Y., is the smallest vehicle to make the trip under its own power. It was Baker's sixtieth transcontinental trip.

The Trouble Shooter

TELLS YOU what's wrong

By E. H. SCOTT

This is the fourth of a series of specially prepared and illustrated articles showing the ordinary automobile driver how to locate any engine trouble

What To Do When the Engine Slows Up and Stops on the Road or Starts Up and Runs for a Short Time Then Stops

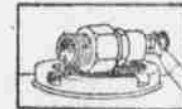

1. Look in the gasoline tank to see that you have sufficient gasoline, and examine the small hole in the Tank Cap to see that it is not blocked up. If you have enough gasoline and the hole is clear then—

2. Lift the hood and open the drain plug at the bottom of the Carburetor or hold the Float Valve open as shown in the illustration, AND KEEP IT OPEN FOR AT LEAST 8 SECONDS, TO SEE THAT THE GASOLINE CONTINUES TO FLOW IN A STEADY STREAM. If it STOPS flowing FREELY after a few seconds, or DOES NOT FLOW AT ALL, then the trouble lies in the Vacuum Tank or its connections, and the instructions given in the second article of this series will show you how to find the exact part. If, however, the gasoline continues to flow FREELY then—

3. The Choker or Priming button on the dash opens and closes a Valve in the main air entrance to the Carburetor. Examine to see that the wire leading through from this button is FIRMLY ATTACHED to the lever on the Valve. If it SEEMS to be all right, then make sure that the Valve itself is not stuck or jarred CLOSED or PARTLY CLOSED across the air entrance. The Carburetor, see that it is not stuck OPEN. If both above are all right then—

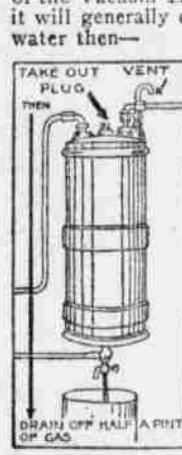

4. Take out a Spark Plug and after attaching the wire again lay it on top of the cylinder as shown. Now turn the engine over while you watch the points of the Plug to see if there is a spark. If there is NOT, then the trouble lies in the Ignition, and the instructions given in last week's article will show you how to find the exact part of the Ignition System at fault. If however, you SEE a spark, then—

5. Test to see if the Gasoline Spraying Nozzle in the Carburetor is not blocked. There are two types of Nozzles, the fixed type, which has a Jet, and the adjustable type, which has a Needle Valve. The illustration shows both types. Consult Carburetor maker's instruction on clearing a blocked Jet if possible. If you have a Fixed Jet, as in a Zenith Carburetor, turn off the "gasoline, then unscrew the plug underneath the Jet and it can be screwed out. If the Jet is blocked, DO NOT use a piece of wire to clear it, as this may make the hole slightly larger and upset the "tune" of the Carburetor. Try and blow or jar the dirt out.

6. Turn off the gasoline and drain all that remains in the Carburetor Float Chamber into a cup or can, and examine to see if there is any water in it. If there is, it will be noticed lying in little globules at the bottom of the can, so drain off some gasoline from the bottom of the Vacuum Tank and some from the bottom of the main tank, and it will generally cure the trouble. If, however, there is NO SIGN of water then—

7. Examine the hole in the end of the Vent Pipe on the Vacuum Tank to see that it is not blocked up. If it is free, then screw out the small plug from the top of the Vacuum Tank and also drain off about half a pint of gasoline from the bottom of the Vacuum Tank, then try to start the engine. If it now starts and keeps running, and in about a minute is firing REGULARLY, the Float in the Tank is punctured or the Suction Valve is not seating properly, and it will require a Service Station to repair it. You can get home by leaving the plug out of the top of the tank and driving until the engine stops again, when the gasoline in the tank will have been used. Just replace the plug in the tank and turn the engine over about a dozen times or until the tank is full, then take it out and drive on again, continuing in this way until you reach a Service Station. If, however, it makes NO DIFFERENCE in the running of the engine whether the Plug is IN or OUT, then—

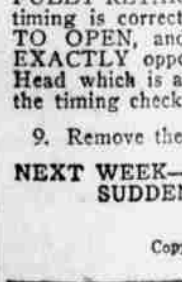

8. Check the Ignition Timing to see if it has slipped. The timing varies a trifle on different engines, so if possible consult the Instruction Book you got with your car, to see what the EXACT setting should be. The following setting is near enough to CHECK UP your timing. If there is VERY much difference, then your Ignition timing has slipped, and will require an expert mechanic to set correctly. Check as follows—

Take out the Spark Plug from No. 1 cylinder (this is the cylinder next the radiator), then place your thumb over the Spark Plug hole, while you have some one turn the engine over SLOWLY, until you feel a PRESSURE against the thumb. As soon as you feel the pressure insert a piece of wire down the Spark Plug hole, so that you can feel when the Piston, which is coming up, reaches EXACTLY the top of its stroke. On some engines you can SEE the piston when it reaches the top of its stroke, and in that case the wire is not necessary. The cylinder is now at the top of its compression stroke, and both Valves should be closed. Now see that the Spark Lever is FULLY RETARDED, then take off the Distributor Head, and if the timing is correct, the Breaker Points will be JUST BEGINNING TO OPEN, and the Distributor Arm Contact will be pointing EXACTLY opposite the point or segment inside the Distributor Head which is attached to the wire leading to No. 1 cylinder. If the timing checks up ALL RIGHT, then—

9. Remove the Muffler and take it apart and clean it.

NEXT WEEK—WHAT TO DO WHEN THE ENGINE STOPS SUDDENLY BECAUSE IT IS SEIZED UP OR IS OVERHEATING BADLY.

DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

Many women who could well afford more expensive closed cars prefer the sedan for their personal use.

They find it easy to drive, easy to park, economical to run, and comparable in the beauty and richness of its appointments with cars much higher in price.

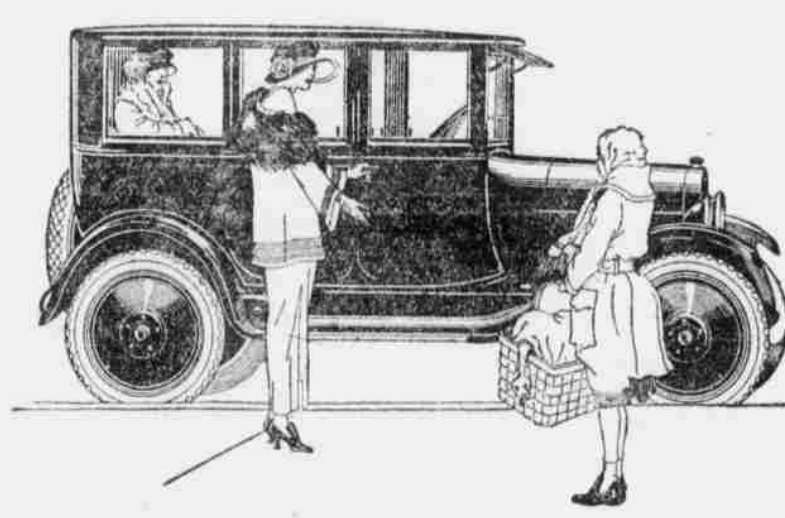

The upholstery is done in genuine mohair velvet of a singularly rich and beautiful pattern. The seats are roomy and luxurious. The hardware and minor fittings reflect thoughtfulness and rare good taste.

Steel disc wheels (with cord tires) screen the under part of the car and harmonize in a most effective way with the new grace and smartness which Dodge Brothers have recently brought to the lines of the body.

RACER IN REO BRINGS NINE PHOTOS AND BEATS AIRPLANE

Franklin Ross in the Reo which Carried the First Photos of California's Mine Disaster.

The first pictures of the Jackson mine disaster in which forty-seven miners lost their lives in the ill-fated Argonaut shaft, were carried 505 miles from Jackson to Los Angeles in eleven hours and five minutes by Franklin Ross, former army aviator, in a Reo. An airplane was also secured to carry a duplicate set of the pictures, and while the motor car and plane started on the journey at the same time, it was the Reo which arrived first at the newspaper offices in Los Angeles.

On duty at the mine shaft, waiting for word of the "break through" below, Ross had no sleep for thirty-six hours before starting on the long grind, yet he proved that courage and an iron will, coupled with a dependable motor car, are a combination which are bound to win through.

Ross left the mouth of the Argonaut shaft at 10:45 at night, with the box of precious photographic plates securely lashed to the seat beside him. Dashing over the rough road south from Jackson, he did not stop until he reached Fresno, 290 miles away, four hours and fifty minutes later. Snatching a hasty sandwich and two cups of black coffee to offset his craving for sleep, he raced onward to Bakersfield and Los Angeles, completing the run a full half-hour earlier than he had previously estimated.

"What are you going to do now?" he was asked as he left the newspaper office after the run.

"I'm going to bed," he said. "Good night."

INCREASED GROWTH OF MOTOR TRANSPORTS AND CLOSED CAR DEMANDS PREDICTED IN 1923 BY MOTOR VEHICLE MANUFACTURERS

"The demand for individual motor transportation continues at a record pace," said Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, on his return to New York from a visit to a number of motor car and motor truck plants in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan. "October and November supplied bigger shipments than ever were recorded for the same period of any previous year."

"The same need for motor vehicles which created a record output of 2,300,000 units in 1922, or 10 per cent better than the previous high mark of 1920, will be as keenly felt in 1923. Further, in 1923 more persons will be able to purchase the needed transportation because farming conditions will be better, exports are already showing a turn upward, and the closed car output which was only 10 per cent of the total in 1919 is running as high as 25 to 30 per cent today.

"In fact, the difficulty of getting enough closed bodies to meet the demand will be one of the limiting factors in 1923. It is true, that there are many in the market who prefer the open type of vehicle, but the trend of favor is toward the enclosed models.

"The continued growth and record output of the industry in 1922 which has astounded some may be accounted for by the fact that motor transport meets a fundamental human need for individual means of travel, and by the fact that manufacturers readjusted prices promptly and directly to the ultimate consumer, so that motor vehicle values today are the best they have ever been offered.

"Motor truck makers are expecting a better outlook for 1923. With improved business conditions there will be greater movement of freight and consequent demand for motor trucks in the short haul field."

THE NEW OLDSMOBILE BROUGHAM HAS JUMPED RIGHT TO THE FRONT

This new Oldsmobile model has already created a place for itself as a leader among five closed cars. Its attractive lines, its interior refinements and conveniences, and its beautiful finish over smooth panels of steel are sufficient in themselves to call forth the high praise which it is receiving from every quarter. But the story of the Brougham does not end here.

The power and efficiency of the marvelous four-cylinder engine, the rigid seven-inch frame, long springs, the rugged transmission and sturdy axle of the model 47-a chassis on which the Brougham is mounted, give it performance ability and long life with all the flexibility and speed of an open car. The Brougham is every bit as good as it looks.

Advantages such as these are usually high priced, yet they are obtainable in the Brougham at surprisingly low cost. When compared point by point with other cars costing several times as much, the real value offered in the Brougham is unquestionable. Indeed, by every standard, the Brougham is sure to win by comparison, says the Oldsmobile Pacemaker.

NEW MAXWELL CLUB COUPE IS A BEAUTY; NOW ON DISPLAY

The latest product of the Maxwell Motor Corporation is now on display in the show room of the Wool Motor Co., local Maxwell dealers. It is the good Maxwell coupe, a two-passenger enclosed car of prepossessing beauty, which displays a number of very obvious features unusual in a car of the type.

The club coupe made its initial bow to patrons of the New York closed car show in September, where visitors pronounced it the most advanced model of the light, two passenger enclosed car yet developed.

Quarter windows which drop full length in substitution of the solid, fabric-covered rear quarter sections generally incorporated in the design of the two passenger coupe, form one notable feature registered in this latest Maxwell product. These windows, together with the rear light which is of large, standard coupe size, give unobstructed vision in all directions, adding greatly to the pleasure and safety of driving. The seating space is positioned as in the good Maxwell roadster with the added advantage to riding qualities of greater weight and an almost even distribution of weight to the four wheels. Unusual comfort and remarkable roadability are claimed for the car.

Correct ventilation, a matter of real importance in the enclosed car of small passenger compartment space, is another feature of noteworthy interest. The extra quarter windows, alone, are not responsible for improvement of ventilation. It is explained: the use of the standard Maxwell closed car windshield is the factor which is emphasized by the company. It is a windshield of the double ventilating type but is of original design and is used on no other make of car. The complete control of ventilation is made possible by its use. An added feature is found in the fact that this windshield is firmly set all around in a rabbet, making it water-tight and rattle-proof.

The exterior beauty of the car is equalled by the luxury of interior appointment. Seat and back-rest are upholstered in genuine leather, the upper section is covered with attractive broadcloth in contrast with the prevailing gloomy trim of cars of the type. Hardware, of the new satin finish, is substantial and attractive. Yale door locks, heavy, rear window curtain, rear vision mirror, windshield wiper, windshield visor, floor carpet, and ventilating type of heater, form the very complete equipment of the club coupe.

A very large deck compartment in the rear is equipped with Yale lock, while another deep compartment for parcels is located inside, immediately back of the rear seat.

All in all, the new Maxwell club coupe is ideal for any man or woman in need of a small closed car in any type of service.

Announcement

We now have on display in our salesrooms at Fourth and Copper the famous Oldsmobile Chassis

Which has been the center of interest at automobile shows and automotive exhibits throughout the country since the appearance of the new model Oldsmobile-8.

This is a cordial invitation to Oldsmobile owners, to prospective automobile owners and to the general public to come in and inspect the famous chassis, which leading automobile experts declare represents the highest development in fine motor car construction.

Every working part is exposed, encased in glass and electrically lighted so that complete inspection is possible of every portion of the mechanism.

A study of this chassis, with the mechanism at rest or in operation will be found a liberal education in the mechanics of modern automobile construction and operation. You are cordially invited to call and see this exhibit, which we assure you, will be found most interesting.

"WILD MAN" IS TAKEN CAPTIVE NEAR BANKS OF ARKANSAS RIVER

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 9.—A "wild man," captured in the brambles along the banks of the Arkansas river, is held at the Sedgwick county jail here.

Duck hunters who maintain club houses along the banks of the stream have reported at numerous times that their establishments had been robbed of food. Estates only had been taken, however.

The robbers were credited to the "wild man," a much discussed character among residents of the vicinity who had seen him while on hunting expeditions. Always, the stories went around, the "wild man" avoided human association. He would be seen to emerge from underbrush, then at their approach scurry back into the brambles to reappear later, but still plenty in advance of the sportsmen. He acted like a coyote. More than once hunters had attempted his capture, but he ran like a deer.

So plans for his capture were laid by the entire personnel of a hunting club. Guards were posted around the club house and when the "wild man" approached on one of his raids he was surrounded. He crouched in submission, refusing to answer questions.

He was but a ragged pair of trousers and a short when taken. His hair was long and matted and his body is covered with a thick growth of hair. When accused of stealing he attempted an explanation, saying that he took food only, rightfully belonging to him as his part of society's debt of owing every man a living.

This finished he became reticent again. He next broke silence when confronted by the city marshal of Sedgwick, Kan., who sought to "make him talk." When informed that he was to be taken to Wichita the "wild man" begged with tears in his eyes not to be placed in the county jail, for he feared he could not bear the confinement. It was so much in contrast to his existence in the free and open country bordering the river.

And now that he is in jail here the "wild man" cowers in his cell, depressed by the walls that keep him away from his great outdoors. To officers he confided that his you lived up there?" Mike replied, "fifteen years."

"Have you a wife?" was flung at him in newspaper German. Mike turned away and has not spoken since except to answer in good English the simple questions asked him by the judge when he was arraigned on charges of burglary and larceny. In default of bond fixed at that time Mike remains in jail, his trial set a few weeks ahead.

Exports of American Automobiles Doubled in 1922

By O. P. Austin - Statistician

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK

(From the WEEKLY TRADE RECORD issued by The National City Bank)

The American automobile is against 23,900 in the same months of last year, an increase of over 100%, and motor trucks, of which we exported but a small number prior to the war, are in the months of this year 8,080 against 3,945 in the same months of last year. Passenger cars in September alone were 5,862 against 2,197 in September of last year.

Curiously, too, this big increase in the 1922 exports of automobiles occurs in large degree in shipments to those parts of the world which are recognized as manufacturers of automobiles. The total number of passenger machines exported in the 9 months of 1922 is 3,645 against but 2,992 in the same months of last year; to Belgium, also a manufacturing country, 3,329 against 344 last year; while to Canada, now a considerable manufacturer of automobiles, the number is 8,661 against 4,644 in the corresponding months of 1921.

This increase occurs in all types of automobiles. Passenger cars exported in the 9 months ending with September show a total of 48,323 against 23,900 in the same months of last year, an increase of over 100%, and motor trucks, of which we exported but a small number prior to the war, are in the months of this year 8,080 against 3,945 in the same months of last year. Passenger cars in September alone were 5,862 against 2,197 in September of last year.

These big increases in our exports of automobiles in 1922 are especially gratifying in view of the evidence which they furnish that the foreign world recognizes the value of this type of American manufacture and gives this recognition after a severe test. The total number of automobiles of all sorts exported from the United States during the decade ending with 1921 was about 650,000 and their aggregate value a billion dollars, and the fact that the world after its thorough acquaintance with them, including the "acid test" on the battle fields of Europe, is now doubling its purchases of our machines when compared with those of last year, indicates that it is recognizing the high quality of this example of the products of the American factory. The United States is now producing over three-fourths of the automobiles of the world.

a ton of whalebone in its mouth, which alone is worth $10,000. It also produced about thirty tons of oil worth about $100 a ton. In the season of 1915-16 the oil production from Antarctic whaling stations was 654,000 barrels, or about 24,000 tons.

During the war this oil was recognized as of vital importance in the manufacture of nitro-glycerine.

It is now used in the making of soap.

The principal whales caught today are a species of rorquals, or fin-whales; the blue whale, and the sperm whale. The latter, the hunting of which is principally confined to Americans, not only give sperm oil, but often contain ambergris, which is sold at $20 an ounce and used in the perfumery trade. The oil used for lubricating the wheels of watches comes from the dolphin and is the finest oil known.

TEXAS MAN KILLED

Port Worth, Tex., Dec. 9.—Claude Bell, former railroad clerk, was shot and killed on Main street today by James Reynolds, mechanic. Bell's alleged attentions to Mrs. Reynolds are said by the police to have caused the shooting. Police-men overpowered Reynolds.

FARM INFORMATION SERVICE

Issued by the Extension Service, New Mexico Agricultural College
STATE COLLEGE, NEW MEXICO.

"We expect to raise from three to five times as much cotton in this community next year as we raised this season," was a statement recently made by a farmer living in the eastern part of New Mexico. "The broomcorn acreage will be greatly increased." These statements are typical of statements heard in many parts of the state where the growing of cotton and broomcorn is possible.

This increased production can be attributed directly to the relatively high prices received for these two crops during this past year. Many New Mexico cotton and broomcorn growers have been receiving 26 and 28 cents for their cotton, and broomcorn growers have been receiving prices that run close to $200 per ton. These prices are approximately double what one might normally expect before the war, and are relatively considerably higher than the price of most farm products.

Many requests are coming to the New Mexico Agricultural College for information on growing these crops in sections where they have never been grown before. Both are no doubt good cash crops in sections of the state adapted to their production, but there is always danger at times that some farmers will become over-enthusiastic because of the high prices, to find out a year later that the relative prices of these crops are comparatively low when they are ready to sell their crop.

Present high prices are largely the result of a short crop. No one can accurately predict what prices will be next year. It is a safe prediction, however, that the acreage of both broomcorn and cotton in sections of the United States where they can be grown will be large. While the carryover will be small, and the boll weevil now practically covers the entire southern cotton belt, if conditions are favorable for a large yield, the relative prices of these crops are liable to take a decided slump before next year's crop is sold.

A new bulletin on The Utility of Yucca and Cholla is now available.

able for distribution by the New Mexico Agricultural College. Experiments have been conducted on these two plants for several years and both were found to constitute a valuable asset as a feed to tide cattle over a difficult and dry season.

In summarizing the experimental work conducted with the Yucca plant, the following conclusions were reached:

When suitably prepared it forms a valuable emergency feed. It is easily prepared, grows in abundance on most of the southern ranges, and cattle easily learn to eat it.

Yucca contains valuable amounts of carbohydrates in the forms of starch, sugar and fiber, but is lacking in protein and fat. This deficiency can be overcome by feeding about one pound of cottonseed meal per head daily, with from 20 to 30 pounds of freshly cut yucca. With this supplement good gains were made, and the experimental animals kept in good condition. No serious ill effects were evident from feeding yucca.

The conclusions drawn from the results of the experiments on the Cholla plant may be summarized as follows:

The Cholla is a valuable emergency pasture plant, but it is not a particularly desirable feed alone in conjunction with cottonseed meal. While cattle may be maintained on it alone, unless the period of such maintenance is brief, the results obtained in the investigation indicate that there is danger of injury to the health of the animal.

PROTECT WHALES IS WARNING OF BRITISH EXPERT

London, Dec. 9.—If the killing of whales continues at the present rate they will be exterminated before another decade, is the warning given by Sir Sidney F. Harmer, F. R. S., director of the Natural History Department of the British Museum. Recent investigations carried out in the whaling areas has revealed this alarming condition, he says.

The whaling industry has survived since the time of Alfred the Great, despite the fact that there has never been a year known when crews of boats did not leave the ports of England, France, Spain and Scandinavia to hunt the sea animals. Sir Sidney declared in a recent address in which he urged legislation against further hunting of whales.

The Greenland variety of the whale is already thought to be extinct, and the hunting of the last few years has been confined almost entirely to the Southern seas. The profits derived from the killing of these cetaceans are enormous, and they increase yearly as the retail price of the oil and bone increases. A fair sized whale has would prove of greater value fed with liberal amounts of corn stover or some allied roughage high in carbohydrates, particularly fiber. A limited amount of cottonseed meal, generally not more than one pound per day, might also be fed as a supplement to good advantage.

A copy of the bulletin, No. 132, giving complete results of the experiment, can be secured by writing the Agricultural College, State College, New Mexico.
