KOHLER ACT IS INTERPRETED BY SUPREME COURT

Was Passed to Prevent Subsidence of Service Structures in the Anthracite Coal Regions.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The Kohler act of 1921, by which the legislature of Pennsylvania sought to prevent the subsidence of service structures in the anthracite region around Scranton, was construed in the supreme court today in a case brought by the Pennsylvania Coal company against H. J. Mahon and Margaret Craig Mahon.

The Mahons owned the surface under a deed which expressly reserved to the company the right to remove all coal under it, the Mahons assuming the risk of subsidence and waiving all claims for damages that might arise from the mining of the coal.

The state courts held that the Kohler act, which made it a crime to cause subsidence of a structure by anthracite mining, applied to such property and decided against the company.

The statute admittedly destroyed previously existing rights of property and contract, Justice Holmes stated in delivering the opinion of the court, to which Justice Brandeis dissented. After discussing the police power of states, Justice Holmes stated that when it reaches a certain magnitude it can only proceed through the exercise of eminent domain with entailed compensation.

While ordinarily private affairs, such as the ownership of a piece of property, cannot be permitted to interfere with public interest, damage to a house is not a public nuisance, the justice said, even though similar damage is inflicted on others in different places.

"The damage is not common or public," he explained. "The statute was not justified, he stated, as a protection of personal safety. The Kohler law purports to abolish the court asserted, what is regarded in Pennsylvania as an estate in land—a very valuable estate. "As applied to the case before it the court found that there was not sufficient public interest in warranting the state through the Kohler act to interfere with the company in its constitutionally protected rights."

At the request of the state for a construction of the general validity of the act, the court, in order that its position "may be known at once," stated that the "act cannot be sustained as an exercise of the police power, so far as it affects the mining of coal under streets or cities in places where the right to mine such coal has been reserved. To make it commercially unworkable to mine certain coal has very nearly the same effect for constitutional purposes as appropriating or destroying it. This, we think that we are warranted in assuming that the statute does."

DISABLED WAR VETERANS ARE TO GET GIFTS

Woman's Auxiliary of American Legion to Take Presents and Greetings to Service Men Christmas

A cheery greeting and a "homey" Christmas package will be brought to the habitation of every disabled veteran of the World War in Albuquerque on Christmas day.

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion is the organization that has undertaken this task of presenting a nation's greeting to the soldiers and sailors who gave their physical welfare to the country in time of war.

The Auxiliary and plans are being made to visit 100. The visitations are in no sense along the line of charity, but are meant to bring to the attention of the community the needs of the men away from home who might enjoy a company of their friends suddenly to arrive at his home laden with gifts and good cheer. If there are any ex-service men in want, however, their needs will be cared for.

The women of the Auxiliary will meet all the expenses of the Christmas visitations. They have earned the money during the year with entertainments, sales and other activities. They are the emissaries of a grateful country, which, however, might forget were it not for the devoted work of these women who have determined that America can never forget.

Christmas at Fort Bayard
Mrs. A. E. New of Albuquerque, who is a leader in the State Auxiliary of the American Legion, will go to Fort Bayard for the Christmas celebration where, working with Chester L. Thompson, post of the American Legion of Fort Bayard, she will conduct a holiday frolic for the disabled ex-soldiers.

CELEBRATION OF A JEWISH FEAST BEGINS DEC. 14

Chanukah, to Jews of the Present Era, Corroborates Their Abiding Faith in God's Justice

The feast of dedication, or feast of lights, as the festival known in the synagogue as Chanukah is called, will be observed in Jewish circles for eight days, beginning the evening of December 14.

Chanukah is a minor festival of the synagogue calendar. No special ritual service is now observed in its observance. In connection with the Sabbath of the Chanukah week there are special prayers recited to commemorate the festival, while in the home candles are lighted, beginning with one candle on the first night, two on the second, three on the third and so on.

The festival has, however, an increasing value on the affection of the Jewish people, who read in it a verification of their hope and age-long idealism.

Overlapping a very ancient ceremonial in connection with the winter solstice was the celebration of a historical event, the triumph of the Jews over the Syrians, their revolt against the tyrannical rule of King Antiochus of Syria, also known as "Epiphanes," the mad man. This tyrant sought to compel the Jews to forsake their religious language and abandon their religion, which had even at that day been an inheritance of centuries.

Sublimely subjects and weaklings yielded to the royal decrees and bowed before the images made by man's hand and offered up sacrifices in abominations forbidden by the stern religion of their fathers. The faith of Israel was threatened with extinction. The idols of heathenism had displaced the altar dedicated to God on Mount Moriah (Jerusalem), and the national existence of Israel was doomed, when a priest of Modin, named Mattathias, rallied a few of his countrymen to his side and by the aid of his sons, notably Judah, defied the aggression of the Syrian tyrant.

With death-defying zeal these heroic Maccabees successfully conducted a series of military campaigns against various Syrian generals sent to subdue them, and as a result, drove the invaders from the country. The temple that had been profaned by the idols of heathenism was reconsecrated to the One God, Father of all mercies.

The significance of the Chanukah is evidenced by the fascination of the story of Judah and his heroic brothers has on the imagination of every generation. His exploits, as well as the heroic deeds in which these men and their followers figure, are the themes of many legends. The martyrdom of Hannah and her seven sons is the most popular of these legends. This story relates the heroism of a devoted mother, who, rather than submit to the defilement of paganism, is herself finally put to death, together with her seven children, by the heathen king of the Seleucid empire.

The Jewish people realize, as a result of their long contact with mankind, that there is no king save by the multitude of his hosts. On the contrary, Chanukah voices the hope that the day will come when racial hatreds and national selfishness will yield to the appeal of humanity and brotherhood, and all peoples be banded together in a covenant of love and righteousness.

In the religious schools there are now being inaugurated, in which plays or recitations commemorating the valor of the Maccabees are staged.

RUSSELL WINNER IN DAMAGE SUIT FILED BY WOMAN

Verdict for the Defendant, Governor of Mississippi, Charged With Seduction, Found by Jury

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 11 (By the Associated Press).—A verdict for the defendant was returned at 6:08 tonight in the suit for damages instituted by Miss Frances Birkhead, stenographer, against Governor Leo M. Russell for damages based on charges of seduction and other allegations.

The verdict, merely saying, "We, the jury, find for the defendant," was returned just 28 minutes after the case was submitted to it. Neither the plaintiff nor the defendant was in the court room.

RUSSELL IS IN EFFECT EXONERATED BY JURY

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 11 (by the Associated Press).—Leo M. Russell, governor of Mississippi, was, in effect, exonerated by a jury in United States district court here tonight of charges of seduction and other serious allegations by a verdict finding for the defendant in a suit for damages instituted by Miss Frances Birkhead, stenographer.

The verdict, the climax of one of the most sensational law suits ever filed in a Mississippi court, was returned at 6:08 o'clock, just 28 minutes after the arguments were concluded, instructions given and the case submitted.

Neither of the principals was in the court room when the jury presented its verdict. Governor Russell, with Mrs. Russell, went to the home of his brother immediately after the jury retired.

The verdict contained only the required seven words: "We, the jury, find for the defendant."

Judge E. R. Holmes, who presided at the trial, reconvened court at 6:15 o'clock, his verdict was read and within three minutes from the time the verdict was presented court had been adjourned and the trial of Mississippi's most widely discussed case in a decade had passed into history.

Miss Birkhead had asked for $100,000 damages. Fifty thousand dollars was asked on each of the two counts, one charging seduction and the other impairment of health as a result of an alleged operation which she declared Mr. Russell had conducted at her home.

The verdict was returned by a jury composed of men ranging in age from 24 to 70 years of age. All are married.

The certification of the judges and clerks are held to be not correct in all instances, and the returns from 16 precincts are said to have been made in error.

The complaint states that the various are heads of the county give Miers a total of 1,175 votes and Gallegos 1,170, but that in truth and in fact Miers received 1,155 votes and Gallegos 1,170 votes.

A proposed Turkish law makes it compulsory for women to marry when they reach the age of twenty-five years.

WELL COUNTRY CAMP

Mr. Hammond of the forest service, and Mrs. Hammond, were the guests of the camp on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond spent the previous week at their cabin near Tijano.

Albert Peterson, who has been the able manager of the camp through a successful summer season, has returned to Albuquerque for a year. He has been relieved as manager by Dr. H. O. Schwabe, who was a guest at the camp during the summer. Dr. Schwabe is not a physician, but rates a Ph.D. after his name instead of an M.D.

Among the more recent arrivals at the camp are T. S. Hatten of Atleia, Indiana; Frank M. Leech of Cameron, West Virginia, and John Matzen.

Thanksgiving was appropriately marked by a splendid turkey dinner with all the trimmings prepared by the able force headed by Mrs. Lund. The manager has arranged an equally notable occasion for Christmas, and begun by rounding up three turkeys, Miss Lorene Higgins and Paul Stevens took two turkeys and journeyed up to the rimrock where they secured a beautiful silver spruce for a Christmas tree.

Dr. J. J. Harris spent the night at the camp as the guest of Louis Childerson just before Thanksgiving, getting off a few hours before sunup for deer tracking with Joe Kemp of Tijano. They reported a wonderful day but no deer.

The season has been marked by a determined effort on the part of Messrs. Taylor and Childerson, assisted by Paul Stevens to trap coyotes. To date their combined efforts have scored three different kinds and sizes of dogs, and the coyotes are as noisy as ever.

David H. Etter, an contractor, visited the camp recently with Mrs. Etter, on business connected with the new cabin he built, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Case.

Frank Blacklock returned to camp after an extended trip in the east, visiting his home in Indiana.

E. P. Miller was a visitor to the camp Thursday from El Paso, where he is spending the winter.

DISCUSSION OF DRAFT QUESTION THOUGHT LIKELY

Will Probably Be Discussed When Major and Minor Baseball Leagues Meet in New York

New York, Dec. 11.—The draft question that has been agitating baseball circles ever since five of the largest minor leagues exercised the option given them under the 1921 major-minor agreement and refused to grant the selective privilege, either to the majors or to minors of other classifications, may receive fresh attention this week when major and minor leagues hold meetings in this city. The majors, supported in their views by K. M. Landis, propose to amend the present draft clause embodied in the 1921 rules so that all minor leagues will be obligated by its provisions and given no choice in the matter. Successful overtures were made a year ago by the advisory council and since have been repeated in an effort to secure a new understanding with the five minors, who insist upon keeping in force the present law, which was made effective for seven years, or until 1928.

As an alternative solution of the situation, a number of major league clubs are known to favor an enlarged player limit, to afford a larger range of player selection. On the other hand, several other minor leagues, now affected by the draft, are believed ready to join the other "hold outs" and nullify the selective privileges as far as they are concerned. Examination from the draft by "any league so desired" is specifically provided under the terms agreed upon jointly by the majors and minors on January 12, 1921. At the same time, a league exercising such exemption automatically forfeits any right to draft players from other circuits. The five leagues that have taken this course are the American association, International and Pacific coast leagues, the only class "A. A." circuits in the country; the Western league, class "A," and the Three Eye league, class "B."

Expansion of the federal government's conciliation machinery to enable it to deal effectively with nationwide labor disputes was advocated by Secretary Davis in his annual report.

CARPENTER FILES BANKRUPTCY PAPERS

Listen, World!

There's one thing I'd like to know and I have wanted to know it for a long time. It is this—Why are Lady Criminals always reported as being beautiful? Didja ever notice it, World? It matter not who or what the heroine of the news story may be, she is invariably a Luscious Landscape. Particularly if she belongs to the Criminal Classes. Is she has figured in the wrong end of a holdup she is invariably the "lovely young adventuress." If she has been picked out of the messier portion of a murder, she is still more entrancing. And if, perchance, she herself created the murder with her own little hands, why the rewrite editors pull out all the tremolo stops and do a typographical shimmy that makes Cleopatra look like a cheap chrono.

Now why should this be? What difference does it make whether lady criminals are beautiful or not? When Willie the Wop is arrested for messing up the scenery with the remains of his hated rival, does anyone bust a linty machine in telling the world of Willie's soulful brown eyes and slight graceful figure? They do not. When Charlie, the boy cashier down at the First National, lights out with $30,000 does the city editor detail the star reporter to get the latest portrait of Charlie in an evening gown? Not so's you'd notice it.

When Pat and Mike and Tony and Dick and the rest of the flower of the waterfront are on trial for smuggling hon, do the cops stand around to catch them if they faint, do the Jurymen burst into muffled sobs at contemplation of their youth and beauty? No, dear public, they do not. They get the judicial once over and it's the pen for them whether they be blondes or brunettes, palpitating or pliant.

So why, I ask, should we throw such a fit over the ladies? A rose by any other name would hang a gnat as neatly. Would it be any comfort to you if you were murdered to know that the sweetie who bumped you off was "a mere ally of a girl with golden curls and shy blue eyes?"

WHY IS A LADY MURDERER ALWAYS SUPPOSED TO LOOK LIKE THIS?

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ORDERED TO MADILL
Oklahoma City, Dec. 11.—Two officers and ten men of the 17th infantry, Oklahoma National Guard, were ordered to Madill tonight by Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett to protect state and local officials there investigating the operations of a gang of automobile thieves.

The detachment is made up of members of a machine gun company at Ardmore under the command of Lieutenant Colonel William Hutchings and Captain Fred McLean.

The guardsmen were ordered to the Marshall county town as the result of an urgent appeal from Assistant Attorney General R. E. Lee, who reported that conditions at Madill were grave and that threats had been made against the lives of officers engaged in running down automobile thieves.

Investigators reported that a band operating in Oklahoma and Texas apparently have made their headquarters at Madill.

ATTEMPT TO SING IS ABANDONED BY GADSKI
Los Angeles, Dec. 11.—A heated situation growing out of efforts by the American legion and other organizations to prevent the appearance here tonight of Madame Gadske, opera singer, cooled off suddenly late today when Madame Gadske issued a statement declaring she would not attempt to sing before a Los Angeles audience at this time.

Madame Gadske's statement reiterated her previous denials of pro-fascist activities during the war, and pointed out that assurances received from the department of justice refused the charges of those who sought to prevent her appearance here. Her only reason for cancelling tonight's concert, she explained, was due to the fact that she did not "wish to be the innocent cause of even an unpleasant incident."

Shipley said that another car which passed at a high rate of speed struck the buggy and skidded it into his car. Sheriff Tony Ortiz is investigating the case.

ARREST WOMAN BELIEVED TO BE CLARA PHILLIPS

Chief of Police at Casper, Wyo., Thinks He Has Captured Convicted Slayer of Mrs. Meadows

Casper, Wyo., Dec. 11.—In the arrest of a woman who got off the Burlington passenger train from Billings here early tonight, Captain Clayton of the police department believes he has captured Mrs. Clara Phillips, convicted of the hammer murder of Mrs. Albert Meadows at Los Angeles. The woman, accompanied by a man, got off the train here about 8:15 p. m. and immediately entered a closed taxi. Two motor cycle officers followed her and made the arrest. The police took the precaution to place her in one of the strongest cells in the jail here.

As soon as she was placed under arrest, the woman refused to answer any questions as to where she came from or who she was.

She asked Chief of Police Nisbet that nobody be permitted to see her tonight. Early tomorrow, the police expect to start to cross the border.

She is described by Captain Clayton as a woman of about medium height, weighing approximately 135 pounds, fairly good looking, dark complexioned and dark hair which was not exactly black. She appears to be about 35 years old. She was well dressed and wore a fur neckpiece.

BOY, 6, PEDALS 28 MILES ON TRICYCLE
Bisbee, Ariz., Dec. 11.—John Andrews, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Andrews of this city, claims the world's tricycle record. Yesterday morning the boy started for a ride. Late in the afternoon a police officer in Douglas halted him for riding his tricycle on the sidewalk. Douglas is 28 miles from Bisbee. Little John, according to his story, pedaled the 28 miles in about nine hours, 34 minutes and 40 seconds. He returned to Bisbee in an automobile and found that his parents were greatly worried but not at all interested in his claim to the tricycle championship.

Eventually Europe will be saved in spite of every effort to save her.—Indianapolis Star.

NEW CARDINALS ARE CREATED BY PIUS XI

Rome, Dec. 11 (by the Associated Press).—In his allocution at his first consistory today, Pope Pius XI referred to the conference at Genoa and similar meetings, asserting that he would reiterate to the forthcoming Brussels conference his exhortation to the Genoa delegates to consider the remedies for the sad condition of many of the world's peoples. He said that conferences such as the proposed Brussels meeting were useless and dangerous, unless the governments decide to temper justice with charity.

The ceremony for the creation of new cardinals occurred in the presence of all the cardinals living in Rome. The eight cardinals created were:

M. Achille Lucatelli, nuncio, in Lisbon; Monsignor Giovanni Bonanno, apostolic delegate, in Washington; Monsignor Henriquez Rey Casanova, archbishop of Tolosa; Monsignor Alexis Charost, archbishop of Rennes; Monsignor Arthur Stanislaus Touchet, archbishop of Orleans; Monsignor Eugenio Tosi, archbishop of Milan; Monsignor Giuseppe Mori, secretary of the congregation of the council of Jesuits; and the Rev. Father Franz Ehrle, former the Vatican librarian.

STOPPELLI'S HEIRS ARE IN POSSESSION OF A VALUABLE MINE
El Paso, Tex., Dec. 11.—Heirs of the late Santiago Stoppel were in possession of the wealthy Maravillas mine at Santa Rosalia, Chihuahua, today, after the legal battle for possession of the property took a sensational turn Saturday. This became known when Manuel Cervantes of Mexico City, attorney for the heirs, returned to Juarez with District Attorney J. Ceniceros, accompanied by Van Dyke Howbert, superintendent of the Compañia Minera de Concho, which, it is charged, was operating the mine illegally.

Attorney Cervantes declared that officials of the company which have been operating the mine for the last ten months, in which he declares was disregarded for the supreme court decision, has taken out ores valued at $25,544.68 pesos, while the production cost was $71,657.14.

Mrs. Cervantes, Mrs. Herlinda Valenzuela of San Antonio, Texas, and Santiago Stoppel of Mexico City are the heirs.

WORKERS' PARTY IS UN-AMERICAN, KEATING STATES

Question of Seating Its Representatives Precipitates a Prolonged Debate at Cleveland

Cleveland, Dec. 11. (By the Associated Press).—The question of seating representatives of the workers' party of America precipitated a heated and prolonged discussion at this afternoon's session of the first day's meeting of the second conference for progressive political action and caused an early adjournment when the question was referred back to the credentials committee for further consideration. This committee hoped to reach final decision tonight and report to the conference tomorrow morning. Unofficially, it was reported that the committee would refuse to seat the workers' party representatives on the ground they were "un-American and anti-labor" and had not been invited to sit in the conference.

Debate is Started
Debate was started when C. E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland, national executive secretary of the party, after reading of the report of the credentials committee, asked why credentials presented by him and three others, Ludwig Lore, New York editor of the Volks Zeitung of New York, William Dunn of Butte, Mont., and Caleb Harrison of Cleveland, had not been acted on.

Edward Keating of Washington, former congressman from Ohio, took the floor and declared "The workers' party has no place where honest trade unions are represented and it is a brazen effort to present credentials to a convention that does not wish attendance of the so-called workers' party."

"The workers' party is un-American and anti-labor," declared Mr. Keating. "This convention stands for the flag and constitution and the reason we are going to kick the representatives of the workers' party out is because they do not stand for the flag."

The statement was interrupted by cheers and boos from the floor.

A delegate from Minnesota declared he "hoped the conference would not take the same attitude towards the workers' party as William J. Burns and the department of justice agents, who have thrown workers of this party into jail."

Another debate was precipitated when the credentials committee presented a majority report that representatives from local trade unions should not be seated as such. Morris Hillquit of New York, offered an amendment that such delegates be seated by the committee, but not as delegates from local unions and that they be prohibited from voting on any roll calls. The amendment was lost and the entire question referred back to the committee.

Formation of a Third Party
The question of the formation of a third party did not reach the conference today but reports current tonight indicated that a number of resolutions bearing on this subject may be offered tomorrow. One of the reports was to the effect that the farmer-labor delegates will offer a resolution in favor of the third party movement. From a socialist party delegates it was learned that they will watch the progress of the farmer-labor resolution and in the event it is defeated will offer one asking the conference to consider the question of naming a presidential and vice presidential candidate and calling a conference in the future for that purpose.

Voting Strength
The credentials committee decided on the following voting strength on a roll call ballot based on one vote for each 10,000 accredited members:

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, nine votes; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, 11; Order of Railroad Telegraphers, one vote; Switchmen's Union of North America, one; stationary firemen and oilers, two; Order of Railway Conductors, six; Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, 13; American Train Dispatchers association, one; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, ten; Amalgamated Sheet Workers International alliance, three; International Association of Machinists, 20; Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, 26; International Typographical Union, eight; Public Executive Service, one.

The voting strength of the socialist party and the United Mine Workers of America has not yet been determined.

BANKERS-HARWOOD BASKETBALL TEAMS TO CLASH TONIGHT

The first real battle royal between basketball teams will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock tonight when the Bankers and Harwood go into action at Harwood school gymnasium, on the North Fourth street road. Last season these teams played one game, which the Bankers won by one point after playing two extra five minute periods to break ties, which shows that the quints were evenly matched last year and observers who have watched the teams in action are of the opinion that the same holds true this season. A large crowd is expected at the game tonight.

estimated at 900,000 have also not been determined but it was estimated that the farmers' vote would be about 90.

BROWN'S ALL-EASTERN SELECTIONS

FIRST TEAM

Garbisch, Army, center.
Cross, Yale, right guard.
Hanson, Cornell, right tackle.
White, Army, right end.
Buell, Harvard, quarterback.
Jordan, Yale, right half.
Kaw, Cornell, fullback.

SECOND TEAM

Lorejoy, Yale, center.
Breditor, Army, right guard.
Boles, Navy, right tackle.
Holman, Yale, right end.
Pann, Cornell, quarterback.
Erickson, W. and J., left half.
Pos Miller, Penn., right half.
Wood, Army, fullback.

an extremely difficult matter to select from the candidates one man who can be ranked as without dispute the best at his post. These four men are Kaw of Cornell, Owen and Buell of Harvard and Gray of Princeton.

Kaw is without question the greatest fullback in the east. Charley Buell is without a rival at the quarterback position. George Owen is the peer of all halfbacks and Gray is the perfect end, without an equal.

Buell is selected for the quarterback position ahead of Pann, the great Cornell pivot man, because, to my mind, Buell showed every quality needed in a quarterback against the greatest opposition the east could produce. Pann's work was just as brilliant, but there is a question as to how great would have been his work against more formidable opposition. Cornell had little opposition all season, with the exception of the Pennsylvania game, which Cornell won 9 to 0. Buell was called upon to show his greatness in defeat as well as in victory and delivered.

In all-American and all-western selections I tried to place each man in his own position, even holding to the same side of the line and the backfield. In choosing the all-star eleven of the east, however, Treat of Princeton and Hanson of Cornell stand out as the two best tackles in that section. It would be unfair to place either with another on that account. Hanson could play either tackle brilliantly. So he is shifted from the left to the right side of the line.

Three Princeton men win places on the honor team. They stood out prominently in the most brilliant campaign Prince had in a dozen years. They helped make Princeton the strongest team in the east.

Among the other men considered for posts of honor on one of the two teams and who might play on any all-star team, are:

Charlie Buell, Harvard

Ends: Taylor and Parr of the Navy, Stout of Princeton, Storke of the Army.

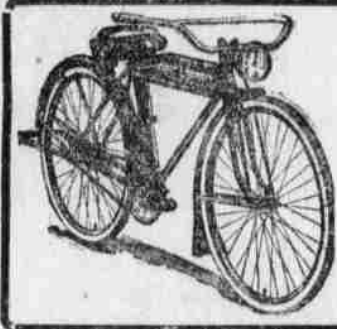

Tackles: Mulligan of the Army, Baker of Princeton, Eastman of Harvard.

Guards: Hubbard of Harvard, Howard of Princeton, Schwab of Lafayette.

Centers: Alford of Princeton, Quarterbacks: Neldinger of Yale, Conroy of Navy, Robertson of Carnegie Tech.

Halfbacks: Cassidy of Cornell, Neale of Yale, Cleaves and Crum of Princeton.

Fullbacks: Brunner of Lafayette, Barchet of the Navy, Mallory of Yale, Hewitt of Pittsburgh.

CLAYTON CLAIMS FOOTBALL TITLE FOR NEW MEXICO

Declares That Roswell, in Refusing to Meet Northern Contenders, Forfeited Right to Pennant

Clayton High is disappointed because it has not had the opportunity to meet Roswell High for the state football championship. Clayton feels that her record warrants her claims to meet Roswell, which has not lost a game in the past two seasons.

The Clayton News says: "History is repeating itself. Last year when Roswell and Clayton were contenders for the state championship, Roswell refused Clayton the game, stating that the financial situation was such that the game could not be played without it being at a loss."

"This year the two teams are again champions of the state. Roswell for the southern and Clayton for the northern part of the state. Clayton, immediately upon eliminating Roswell from the list of contenders, wired for the championship game with Roswell to be played any place Roswell would wish, and that would pay for the game. Albuquerque quickly invited the two teams to play on their grid and offered to give each team $500 to defray their expenses. This eliminated Roswell's excuse of last year, so in hatching up another they said they would play no post-season games whatever."

"The Rotary club, through their executive board, has drawn up a resolution that will be presented to the State Athletic association, requesting that championship honors for the state be awarded Clayton because of Roswell's refusal to play."

"No doubt Roswell has a good team. They have built up an enviable record in the southern part of the state, but it will be well for Roswell to remember that if her team enjoys the championship honors they must meet all eligible contenders, and Clayton people can find no suitable reason for Clayton has a good team. They might not defeat Roswell, but after the game the Roswell boys would know that they had been up against some pretty stiff opposition."

Mrs. W. H. Fulton of Georgia, first woman United States senator, has been appointed to the post of honorary chairman of the National Woman's Party political council, formed recently with the object of bringing about equal participation by women and men in all political offices.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

A TILT WITH ONE OF THE GIRLS

Chapter 14
As perhaps was natural in an office where a number of girls were employed, there was considerable jealousy because of Nellie's promotion. She was one of the youngest of the girls and some of the others had been with the firm much longer than she. They did not stop to think that it is neither age nor length of service that makes an employee valuable, but what the employee does—his or her capability of doing. And not one among the girls had ever thrown themselves into their work with the determination to make good that Nellie had. Naturally Miss Jones' help had been of aid, but even without it Nellie would probably have been the one selected to act as Mr. George Fallon's secretary. Her brightness, her quick grasp of the work, had been noticeable when she was with the elder Mr. Fallon.

Lena Danforth, girl several years older than Nellie, had shown her resentment more plainly than any of the others.

"It wasn't fair to pass up girls, who have been here a long time, and put that Riley girl in Miss Jones' place," Nellie heard her say one rainy noon as she passed the cloak-room. "Everyone can see she's making up to Mr. George. I saw it long ago. She's so bold about it, too. I had to go into his room the other day, and when she looked at him—just talk about 'go-go eyes'!"

"You are lying, Lena Danforth," Nellie burst out from the open doorway. "It's a dirty lie. You never saw me try to attract any man's attention. Never will!"

Nellie turned away, angry tears filling her eyes and right back of her stood George Fallon.

What had he heard?
Nellie flushed crimson with embarrassment. Had he only heard her unladylike retort; or had he also heard what Lena Danforth said? It would be bad enough to have him hear her coarse language; it would be unbearable to have him know what caused it.

Nellie trembled with anger and embarrassment. She could scarcely raise her eyes when Mr. Fallon spoke:

"What is it, young ladies?" he asked quietly. He looked from one to the other waiting an answer.

"I told Miss Riley something,

Fashion's Forecast

BLOOMER FROCKS ARE WORN EXTENSIVELY.

The time has come when one saw youngsters fairly toddling under the weight of their voluminous starched petticoats, and mother is probably the most appreciative of the new fad of matching bloomers to one's frock for her work on laundering day is most assuredly lightened.

The dress shown was originally made of gingham at 25c per yard with lining for trimming at 50c per yard, making the completed garment cost about $1.00. The dress pattern No. 1593 cuts in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 3 yards 32-inch material with 1/2 yard 32-inch contrasting. Price 15c, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Order patterns by number. Send all orders direct to Fashion Department, Albuquerque Morning Journal, 400 South Wells street, Chicago, Ill.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Will Keep Better
When making preserves containing nuts, add them last and cook only enough to heat them through.

Did You Know?
Two teaspoonsful of cream of tartar and one scant spoonful of baking soda are equal to three teaspoonsful of baking powder.

Tan Shoes
When you embark in a new pair of tan shoes, stop at the first shoe shining parlor and have them professionally shined. Then scratches will affect only the surface.

Random Tips
A dash of salt is a desirable addition to fudge.

Add a white of egg to the cream that will not whip.

Lay the chili files in diluted sulphuric acid for sharpening. Jams that are boiled rapidly always have a rich, clear color. Lemon juice added to the rinsing water will make the hair soft and fluffy.

When your cake runs all over the pan in baking, use less baking powder next time.

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

By GEORGE BINGHAM

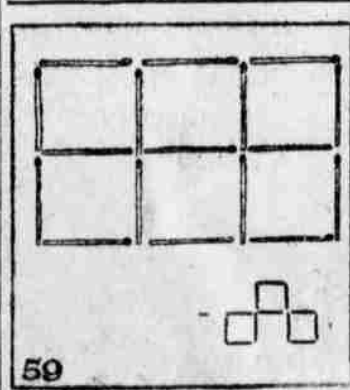

The singing school teacher is again in our midst. Yarn Sims took voice culture for some time and he got so particular he couldn't even call the pigs unless he had his music with him.

A cow stuck her head in at the postoffice today, and through force of habit, the postmaster ran through the letters and then shook his head.

The moving picture show at Tickville Saturday night was attended by a large audience. The scenes were very hair-raising and intense, and in a fight in the far-western saloon somebody threw a chair and broke the film.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 59—A Puzzle With Matches

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When I was 19 years old I became engaged to a young man who enlisted to go to war. When he came back we expected to be married, but he died of pneumonia while he was over there. I tried to be sensible and live my life without him, but it was an awfully hard thing to do and I missed him terribly. When other young men invited me to go places I went and had a good time after a fashion, but I never learned to care for any one else.

Lately I have been going with a young man who has fallen deeply in love with me. I like him as a friend, but I do not care for him in any other way. He says he will teach me to care if I will marry him. He says I am the only girl he wants and that if I do not marry him his life will be spoiled.

I don't know what to do and I would like your advice.

Don't marry a man you do not love. Another love may come into your life just as deep as the first one. But even if such a thing does not happen, you would be advised to marry without love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Could you tell me if it is all right for a girl to set the time when her boy friend should call again? My boy friend always asks me when he may come again and when I ask him when he wants to come, he says he will leave the time to me. I have noticed that you tell girls to invite boys to come, but to let them set the time.

ELEANOR.
Certainly it is all right for you to set the time when the boy asks you to do so.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My girl friend is going to have a party and the girls she has invited are asked to bring boys. I have been going with two boys and I am afraid if I take one it will hurt the feelings of the other. How can I decide which boy to ask?

T. N. E.
Invite the boy you like better. If you think you like one just as much as the other, invite the one who has taken you more places.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: It is possible for a cat and a dog to become friends if a puppy comes into the home when the cat is 3 years old? We just had a beautiful little puppy given us and our cat is nearly crazy. The cat is a great pet and if they will not become friends we cannot keep the dog.

K. G. F.
I think you will find that the cat and dog become friends after awhile. You cannot expect the cat to accept the change immediately. It will probably take a month or more before you notice a change in the cat's attitude.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a certain young lady for several months and I have taken her to several dances and shows. I thought she liked me very much, but lately she has treated me in a cold way. When I have asked to call on her she has told me she is too busy to let me. The other night I invited her to attend a dance with me and she said she was going with some one else. I have invited her to seven things in succession and been turned down and the last five or six times I have asked to call she has refused to let me.

Would you advise me to ask her what is wrong and why she treats me this way?
PAUL S.
No, do not ask the young lady what is wrong or why she treats you as she does. It is evident that she has grown indifferent to you and the most advisable thing for you to do is to find another girl.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Cream of Corn Soup—If you like a smooth soup, take a can of corn through a wire sieve. Put two tablespoons butter into a saucepan (use a double boiler if you like), add a tablespoon of flour and gradually add a quart of milk, add strained corn, season with salt and pepper and about half a teaspoon of sugar, let come to a boil and serve. If the corn is not tender enough to strain easily boil for an hour in water. If you prefer an unsalted soup, simply add the can of corn to the thickened and seasoned milk.

Baked Beans. There is a great difference of opinion concerning baked beans. Some like them like cooked stuff, the shape is lost, some like them sauté and consider them practically useless without it and some prefer them plain. Bacon is sometimes used and preferred and salt is applied to other palates. Whatever meat you use as a flavor can be cut in small pieces and mixed through the beans, or simply placed on top, flavoring but not coloring. Cooked beans, when served in chunks, suggest the beans. On the whole, if you are serving baked beans to a large number of people, it is safer to put your meat on top, as many people are nauseated at the sight of a piece of fat meat in the beans. A very good recipe is to take a pound of beans soaked over night in cold water, parboil in water in which a pinch of soda is applied, then cook in a large pot until the skin is soft and the beans are tender. Put a half a cup of sugar, add one teaspoonful of salt, one pint strained tomatoes, put place on top of beans, which you prefer on top, and bake three or four hours very slowly. Onion can be put in too if you wish. Simply leaving out the tomatoes will give you a nicely flavored dish.

Boston Brown Bread. One cup rye flour, one cup Graham flour, one cup wheat flour, two cups corn meal, one-half cup molasses, one and one-half pints milk, one teaspoon soda, salt. Steam in baking powder tins for three hours. The rye flour may be omitted and two of Graham substituted.

To Prevent Rust. Green things can be prevented from rusting by going over them, perhaps once each week, with a good neutral oil, being careful not to use any oil with salt in it (such as bacon grease).

The Proper Gas Flame.—Your gas flame should consist of blue cones with purple edges and should be sharp and distinct. Yellow or white flames are wasteful, as they deposit soot on the bottoms of pots and pans. Yellow or white flames may be remedied by adjusting the air shutter on the mixing tube, making the opening for air larger.

FORMER SOLDIER DIES IN A TAXI ON THE STREET

A. M. Woods, Boilermaker at Shops and Former Soldier, Bought Meal for 2 Derelicts as Last Act

A coroner's inquest conducted yesterday afternoon by Justice George E. Roddy, returned a verdict that A. M. Woods, aged 30, the man who was found dead in a taxi cab yesterday morning, came to his death by natural unknown causes.

Woods was employed as a boilermaker at the Santa Fe shops. He was a veteran of the world war, and came here several months ago from Toledo, where he is survived by his mother.

On Sunday night Woods had been at the home of T. H. Perry, 762 South High street, and complained of not feeling well. He said he had a pain in his chest. Perry took him in his car to the firemen's house at the shops and saw him get ready for bed. After Perry left, Woods called a taxi, and asked the driver, Moses Slat, to drive him to a South First street restaurant, where he ate a hearty meal, ending with raw oysters and milk. Two men who were down on their luck came in, and Woods bought them their supper and some cigarettes.

After leaving the restaurant, the man got in the taxi, and when Santillanes asked him where he wished to go, he replied "No place." Santillanes drove the car to the 17 taxi stand in the alley near Silver avenue and left Woods in it, thinking the man wished to sleep. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning, Santillanes found Woods dead.

On November 4, Woods and Frank Armijo were in an auto accident on the North Fourth street road, and both were badly bruised. After leaving the army, Woods was ill for several months as a result of illness contracted during his service. It has not been determined that either of these circumstances had anything to do with his death.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending the arrival of the mother. The body is at the Albuquerque Undertaking company's establishment.

REV. MR. WEBBER WILL BE PASTOR OF THE CONGREGATIONALISTS

Rev. George J. Webber of York, Neb., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church in Albuquerque, succeeding Rev. Dr. Harold S. Davidson, who resigned some time ago. Rev. Mr. Webber filled the Congregational pulpit on the past two Sundays. He will come here about the middle of February, after finishing his work in Nebraska.

'CLARENCE' IS PUT OVER IN FINE SHAPE BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Clarence, the production by Booth Tarkington which was presented by the Dramatic club of the University at the Crystal last night, was well staged and put over in fine shape by the members of the company under the able direction of Dr. George S. Hubbell.

The entire working of the play is around "Clarence," whose identity remains a mystery until the last minutes of the last act, when it is learned that he is an eminent entomologist and has his name in "Who's Who." It is a laugh from the time the curtain rises until the close of the fourth act.

It would be impossible to select any one person as a special lead or the best, for each and every one carried his or her part through splendidly.

Earl Gerhardt handled the part of Clarence in a clever way, Fred Wagner as Mr. Wheeler and Fay Strong as Mrs. Wheeler were exceptionally good. Juliet Fleischer as Cora Wheeler, the romantic daughter, never once forgot her manner nor her hero worship, Pat Miller was a typical up-to-the-minute dandy, taking the part of the more or less important son, Leona Boyle as Violet Pinney the governess and afterward the lady of Clarence's heart, was pretty and sweet in her part. Ellsworth Duke the widower who was in love with Miss Pinney, was on the job. He handled the part of Hubert Stem very well. Miss Slat, the maid, Otto Behrer, as Dinwiddie, and Margaret Easterday, the secretary to Mr. Wheeler, put through their parts in a clever way. Miss Easterday substituted for Clarissa Parsons, who was called home because of illness, but she handled her part splendidly.

The university people are hoping to complete arrangements whereby the cast will be taken to Clovis and several other places to put on the show.

The bureau yesterday received from the Ministerial alliance the Thanksgiving day collection amounting to $61.07. Mrs. Fred Hamm yesterday presented the bureau with $13.50, half of the proceeds of the sale of fine chickens at the house of Mrs. Hamm on Christmas charity. Mrs. Hamm also donated four fat chickens.

"I have not left the city, neither do I intend to do so at this time," said Mrs. Morgan.

She declared, too, that she had not been informed of any further developments in the case.

Buster and Adams are accused of having run into a buggy belonging to the Mateo Land and Cattle company last Tuesday night on North Fourth street. The buggy was upset, and the occupants, Albert T. McMillan, a ranchman, and another man, were thrown out and slightly injured.

Buster and Adams denied running into the buggy, but claimed that they were blinded by the lights of an approaching car and steered their machine into the ditch, where it was overturned. Both men suffered slight injuries.

THE BURSUM INDIAN BILL

It is unfortunate that the present discussion of the so-called Bursum Indian Bill should be attended with so much bitterness, bordering as it does, in certain quarters, on acrimony. The measure is unquestionably of the greatest importance to New Mexico and for that reason the matter should be determined upon the facts.

It has been openly charged that the bill threatens to rob the Indians of their lands. Neither the bill nor the debate in the House discloses any such purpose or intent and although it has become a subject of discussion throughout the entire country, the fact that the burden of the discussion is that the bill is at bottom nothing more than a movement to deprive the Pueblo Indians of lands which they have owned from time immemorial, it is apparent that most of those expressing this view have failed to give the bill the careful study which it merits. An examination of the history of this subject clearly shows that some remedial steps were imperative if the frequently recurring disputes between the so-called "settlers", as they are described in the bill, and the Indians were to be quieted. Encroachments there undoubtedly have been. Settlers have frequently encroached upon Indian lands, extending their own limits beyond their original grants and Indians, at times, have done likewise. The result has been repeated quarrels between the settlers and the Indians.

The lands in dispute have been occupied by settlers, in many instances, for hundreds of years. They do not, in any way, conflict with what are known as pueblo grants nor are they lands which have been occupied by the Indians. The express purpose of the bill is, therefore, to establish exact boundaries and to quiet the titles to lands coming within those boundaries, whether they be lands owned by the Indians or by the settlers. It is a misconception of the bill to understand that its purpose is to establish new land grants to non-Indians. On the contrary, the whole burden of establishing title to land which may be in dispute is placed upon the settler who is required under the bill to bring suit in order to establish his claim. It substitutes orderly procedure through equitable legal process for the hand-to-hand method of settlement which has been taking place for many years.

If, under the operation of the bill, any attempt is made to rob or in any way to deprive the Indians of lands or rights which they have hitherto enjoyed, the government will unquestionably safeguard those rights to the Indians as it has done in the past and it will be to the interest of New Mexico to protect the historic tradition which attaches to the original pueblo grants by joining with the federal government in any procedure which might arise under the provisions of the Bursum bill.

A SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE

An effort is being made by men interested in collegiate athletics to form a conference of Southwestern universities. It is earnestly hoped that this effort will prove successful.

There is a conference to control college athletics in practically every section of the United States excepting a section of West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. And it is more than a coincidence that conditions in college athletics are at the lowest ebb in this particular section.

The benefits of the college conference have been proved beyond question. While it has not entirely stamped out professionalism, the college conference has achieved much in that direction. Through the enforcement of the freshman, or one year, rule it has stamped out the "tramp athlete" excepting among the few scattered schools which are not affiliated with a conference.

But putting aside the amateur phase, the college conference is highly desirable as a method of fostering interest in college athletics. It has been proved elsewhere and a college conference formed here is certain to result in a boom in college athletics. Increased interest in college always follows increased interest in athletics.

Let us have the conference by all means.

The Markets

By the Associated Press.

FINANCIAL

Wall Street

New York, Dec. 11.—The irregular trend of prices in today's relatively dull and uninteresting stock market indicated that more attention was being paid by professional investors to special conditions affecting particular shares than to the general business and industrial situation as a whole. Most of the popular shares showed losses at the close.

Opening prices were generally firm, but the small amount of buying powers tempted the professional interests to try some professional showing marked strength. California Petroleum, Baldwin, and a few other speculative favorites yielding materials to pressure.

While little attention was paid to outside developments, the further strength of sterling exchange, additional extra dividend disbursements and a lower rate for call money were believed to have had a beneficial effect in bringing about the rally which occurred around midday. From then on it was a backing and filling movement with a few individual shares showing marked strength.

National Lead provided one of the features of the session, being pushed up five points to 129 1/4, a new high record, soon after the opening, then dropping to 124 1/4, and rallying at the close to 125 1/4, where it represented a new gain of 1 1/4. Allied Chemical led a rather spirited advance of chemical shares closing at 40, a net gain of 1 1/4.

Hudson Motors broke through to 26 1/4, a new top for the year, on announcement of an extra dividend of 25 cents a share and other low price motors hardened in sympathy. Hudson, however, but not the latter profit taking. Studebaker dropped 1 1/4 in response to professional selling. U. S. Steel common preferred yielded a fraction on the day and Republic 1 1/4, but special buying went on in Crucible, which ascended a solid 1/2. Other changes in that group being unimportant.

Oils were generally heavy, losses of one to 2 1/4 points being registered by Houston, the Pan-American issues Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Mexican Petroleum, California Petroleum and Royal Dutch. Rails were sluggish and generally lower but not much headway. U. S. Steel common preferred yielded a fraction on the day and Republic 1 1/4, but special buying went on in Crucible, which ascended a solid 1/2. Other changes in that group being unimportant.

The high premium for the loaning of Continental Can stock indicated the existence of a sizeable short interest covering operations resulting in a gain of approximately 2 points. Stock of the Pacific Development corporation which operates chiefly in the Orient today broke below $1 a share. Day's total sales, 658,000 shares.

Call money opened at 4 1/4 before the close. Time money rates continued at 4 1/4, 10 percent for the 30-day maturities and 5 percent for the longer periods. New commercial paper is coming into the market, but names commanding 4 1/4 percent.

Chicago Board of Trade
Chicago, Dec. 11.—Anticipation of a cold wave likely to endanger much of the winter crop raised the wheat market today in the face of heavy profit taking sales on the part of holders. The close was unsettled at one cent net decline to a like advance, with May $1.20 1/4 to $1.20 3/4 and July $1.19 1/4 to $1.19 3/4. Corn finished 1/4 cent to 1/4 cent unchanged to 1/4 cent higher and provisions varying from 1/4 cent decline to 2 1/2 cent gain.

With all deliveries of what today touching a new price record for the season and with Liverpool quotations falling to reflect fully the advance scored Saturday on this side of the Atlantic, many bulls decided that the time was opportune to turn their contracts into cash. The large volume of selling which resulted, met with persistent new buying, based apparently on proposed legislation to authorize credits to farmers and exporters. It was only, however, after issuance of an official forecast of widespread zero weather that bulls regained much advantage.

Although the outlook pointed to snow producing the coldest possibility existing that large areas might be caught without sufficient protection and that serious crop damage would ensue.

Corn and oats, like wheat, reached new top prices for the season and encountered heavy selling, due in some degree to liberal receipts of corn here. Demand, though, for provisions rose.

Provisions were lifted by a rise in hog values. Lard sold at the top to the highest figures of the season.

Closing prices: Wheat—Dec. $1.21 1/4; May, $1.20 1/4; July, $1.19 1/4. Corn—Dec. 72 1/2; May, 71 1/2; July, 71 1/2. Ribs—Jan., 46 1/4; May, 44 1/4; July, 44 1/4. Lard—Jan., 11 1/2; May, 10 1/2; Ribs—Jan., 10 1/2; May, 9 1/2.

The mystery of Russian Women

Men who have traveled far say there is about the women of Russia a strange, baffling, indefinable charm, that seems a mingling of the Parisian with the occult, inscrutable spirit of the Orient.

Nara Alexieff, the young Russian heroine of Richard Washburn Child's novel, possesses this mysterious characteristic to a remarkable degree, and the conflict of her spirit with the stark brutality of revolution and pitiless intrigue makes an amazing romance.
