NO NEW RAID IS BEING MADE ON INDIAN LANDS FALL SAYS IN A LETTER

Secretary of the Interior Sends a Communication to Senator Borah, Which Is Placed in the Senate Record; Goes Fully Into the History of the Controversy

Washington, Dec. 21.—Declaration that "there is no new raid by any one being made or attempted upon any Indian lands known as the pueblo lands in New Mexico," was made by Secretary Fall in a letter to Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, placed in the senate record today by the senator. Mr. Borah recently brought about a revocation of the action taken last summer by the senate in passing the Bursum bill to recognize the titles of all persons who for the past ten years have held possession of lands not exceeding 160 acres within the exterior boundaries of any pueblo grant in New Mexico.

Secretary Fall in his letter to Senator Borah referred to "the clamor of the most excellent ladies and gentlemen who are besieging you and others with their appeals for protection of these Indians and the denunciation of the officials having in charge Indian lands." Senator Borah in a letter of reply, also placed in the record, declared he had not been influenced by propaganda of any sort and said he had acted as he did with respect to the bill because he was convinced the senate in passing it did not understand fully its provisions. The interior secretary in his letter went fully into the history of the controversy with respect to the pueblo Indian lands, which recently has attracted considerable attention not only in the west, but throughout the east, and said that such legislation as embodied in the Bursum bill was designed to "bring about a conclusion or finally put at rest the controversial questions which have agitated the people of New Mexico for more than 300 years." He added that a particular emergency recently had arisen in "a threatened armed conflict" between American citizen claimants and certain Indians on one of these pueblos.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR WAR VETERANS IN BURSUM'S BILL

Washington, Dec. 21.—A generous increase in Uncle Sam's pension allowance to Civil and Mexican war survivors promises to be a government Christmas present to the veterans and their widows. Legislative action was completed today by congress on the Bursum bill to increase the pensions of the veterans from $50 to $75 a month and Senator Bursum, republican, of New Mexico, introduced a resolution to rush the bill to the White House so that it may be signed by President Harding and become law by Christmas day.

NOMINATION OF PIERCE BUTLER IS CONFIRMED

Has Been Named for the Vacancy on the Supreme Bench Caused by the Resignation of Day

Washington, Dec. 21.—The nomination of Pierce Butler, 81, paid attention to by an associate justice of the United States supreme court, finally was confirmed late today by the senate. The vote was said to be 61 to 37.

Opposition to Mr. Butler was evenly divided, four republicans, Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, Brookhart of Iowa and Norbeck of South Dakota, being joined by four democrats, Senators George of Georgia, Tamm of Florida, Sheppard of Texas and Heflin of Alabama, in voting against confirmation.

The senate voted to remove the ban of secrecy from the roll call and to re-commit the nomination to the Judiciary committee was defeated, 63 to 7, with virtually the same line up that gave the nomination confirmation.

Justice Butler, democrat, who was named for the vacancy caused by the resignation of former Justice Day, will not take his seat until January 2, the supreme court now being in recess.

R. R. STATION IN CHICAGO BURNS; $300,000 LOSS

Fire Destroys the Dearborn Street Depot, Leaving Eight Lines Homeless; Was Erected in 1884

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Fire this afternoon destroyed the Dearborn street railroad station, formerly known as the Polk street depot, and left eight railroads homeless in Chicago.

The building was valued at $300,000, but would cost more than $1,000,000 to replace. Within a little more than an hour after a traffic policeman saw smoke issuing from the roof, the flames swept through the thirty-eight-year-old brick and wood structure, once the pride of railroad men, and left only a smoke-blackened brick shell behind.

Hundreds of passengers and 200 men and women were forced to safety. Mrs. Hazel Locker, aged 24, a woman clerk, fainted and was trampled on by the wild rush of girl clerks from the upper floors. A policeman found her unconscious on the stairs and carried her out.

Postal clerks with motor trucks received 150 tons of holiday mail and railroad employees saved all passenger cars in the train sheds. The Los Angeles limited of the Santa Fe and the Dixie flyer, crack Chicago-Jacksonville train of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, were being made up in the sheds when the fire broke out. They were dispatched from the yards while firemen still were vainly trying to subdue the flames. The station was owned by the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad and was used by trains of that line and the Santa Fe, Monon, Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Wabash and Canadian Grand Trunk.

The interior of the old building, erected in 1884, was a perfect maze of mid-Victorian scroll saw work.

The firemen were hampered by poor water pressure and crowds of Christmas shoppers.

The eight railroads began reorganizing their service while the fire was still at its height, establishing offices in the station annex, a one-story building across the alley.

FREIGHT RATE CUT IS MADE BY U. P. RAILWAY

Omaha, Dec. 21.—The Union Pacific railroad today notified the Interstate Commerce Commission of a general reduction in freight rates on wheat and corn. The reduction was announced at Omaha, where the railroad's headquarters are. The reductions include rates on corn, wheat and merchandise.

KILL MOUNTAIN LION WITH BOW AND ARROW

Boston, Dec. 21.—A mountain lion killed with a bow and arrow in the highlands of Humboldt county, California, has been added to the trophies by Captain Cassius S. Styles of South Hero, Vermont, an army air service officer who is on leave of absence from Mitchell Field, in a letter to his father-in-law, Lincoln C. Cummings of Brookline, made public today. Captain Styles said the animal was a cougar and that his own plume of feathers was one of the few arrow hunters in the country. He makes his own weapons.

LAKES' WATERS TO BE RAGGED FOR TWO BODIES

Men Are Believed to Have Been Murdered by Masked and White Robed Figures of Three States

Mer Rouge, La., Dec. 21.—Bivouacked on the shores of Morehouse parish lakes, a company of Louisiana national guard, bent upon a mission probably unparalleled in the history of this nation, face the prospect of spending the Christmas holidays dragging the waters and affording protection to professional divers in an effort to recover the bodies of two prominent citizens who are believed to have been murdered by masked and white-robed men of three states.

Two days of search by the military and some 75 men and boys of the parish have been fruitless. If unsuccessful in his endeavor to recover the bodies in Lakes Cooper and LaFourche, the search will be extended to other lakes in the vicinity.

"We will drag every lake in the parish until we find them," Captain W. W. Cooper, commanding officer of the camp declared today.

Machine guns were placed on strategic points on the lake shore today as a precaution against the possibility of sniping by those aligned with the mob that swooped down upon five of Mer Rouge citizens last August and carried them off to a punishment ground, where they were executed. Two of the five, Walt Daniels and Thomas Richards, have been missing since that night.

That the slaying of the two men was not premeditated is conceded. Daniels presented the merciless flogging administered his 70-year-old father and tore the mask off one of the men and recognizing him called out his name, which was heard by Richards, and both were slain in the fight that ensued, according to a story credited to members of their families. The bodies, it is alleged, then were weighted down with wagon wheels and thrown into one of the lakes close by.

BORAH PROPOSES CALLING PARLEY ON REPARATIONS OF ALL POWERS

Wants a Meeting Held to Consider Economic and Business Problems and Reduction of Armaments

Washington, Dec. 21.—Extensive discussion of international affairs is expected to develop in the senate as a result of a proposal today by Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, for an international conference to consider economic, financial and business problems, including German reparations, as well as reduction of land, sea and aerial armaments.

Senator Borah offered his plan as an amendment to the $320,000,000 naval appropriation bill, which was reported to the senate today for preliminary consideration tomorrow. He proposed that the president be authorized to call an international conference instead of a conference merely to deal with limitations of naval vessels under 10,000 tons and military and naval aircraft, as provided in the bill as passed by the house.

In offering his amendment as a substitute for the house provision, Senator Borah declared would recognize the need for an international conference to deal with the economic and business problems of the world, and to consider the reduction of armaments.

Senator Borah's amendment includes the house bill's provisions as to naval vessels under 10,000 tons and aircraft, with its provision for consideration of land and sea armaments. Senate leaders do not expect the Borah proposal, nor the house proposal to be reached during tomorrow's consideration of the bill.

Senator Borah's amendment is expected to go over until after the Christmas holidays. The amendment caused general surprise, especially in view of his strong position in the past in reference to American participation in European problems. He was one of the strongest opponents of the league of nations and treaty of Versailles, but in his statement today he made it clear that he believed action was needed to solve pressing economic problems affecting American trade.

German reparations, he said, were the "key to the European situation," and he thought his proposed conference might "break the deadlock on that subject."

"We are traveling in a vicious circle," Senator Borah declared. "We enacted an emergency and also a permanent tariff bill. Nevertheless, the cry of distress from the producers of the country is even more piteous than at any time since the war. The farmer can find no markets abroad for his surplus products and without a market for his surplus products it is impossible for him to realize the value of that which he produces."

PRO DIRECTOR RESIGNS

HAYS DENIES HE AGREED TO KEEP R. ARBUCKLE OUT

"Generalissimo" of the "Movies" Says He Did Not and Could Not Make Promise Attributed Him

"I have never made any such promise. Nor could I make it. I cannot say who will or will not work in the industry. I have nothing further to say on the subject excepting what is contained in the statement which I gave you."

This was the statement made by Will S. Hays, "Generalissimo" of the motion picture industry, when questioned by a Morning Journal representative late yesterday afternoon, regarding the declaration of Mrs. Charles Siegemond, that Hays had deceived the members of the National Federation of Women's clubs.

The statement handed out by Mr. Hays is as follows: "Every man has a right way and at the proper time is entitled to his chance to make good. It is apparent that Roscoe Arbuckle's conduct since his trouble merits the chance to make good. I am concerned, there will be no suggestion now that he should not have his opportunity to go to work in his profession. In our effort to develop a new industry, we need confidence within the industry. I hope we can start the new year with no yesterday. 'Live and let live' is not enough; we will try to live and let live."

A typewritten sheet containing this statement was offered by Mr. Hays when he stepped off the train. He would say nothing further suggested to the house and interested for the moment in purchasing Christmas presents for his son and two little nephews than he was in matters of even national importance.

Mr. Hays hurried over to the Harvey Curtis shop and purchased three bows and arrows and a hand braided horse-hair hat band. He explained that the bows and arrows were for his seven-year-old son and for two nephews, one six and the other eight. The hat band was for his son who has recently assembled a cowboy outfit. Bows and arrows and a hat band of the sort he wanted could be obtained only in Albuquerque, he said.

After making his purchases for the holidays, Mr. Hays was ready to talk. He said that he had no absolute control over who should or should not be employed in the motion picture industry and suggested to the directors things which he deemed advisable.

He reiterated the statement that Arbuckle is entitled to his chance and as far as he was concerned at least, he would not do anything to prevent him to come back. He said it would be just as rational to prevent Wally Reid from coming back, because of Reid's misfortune.

"Speaking of Reid, Mr. Hays said: "Reid has made a gallant fight and he's going to win. I saw him while I was in Los Angeles and I tell you he's a real fighter. In regard to the campaign which is proposed to be carried on against narcotics and liquor as it affects the motion picture industry, I am in favor of it. I am in favor of stopping all traffic in narcotics and liquor that may exist in this effort, as in every other good effort, we are going to do everything possible. I am very

LIFELESS BODY FOUND ON GRAVE OF LITTLE GIRL

'Grandpa' Ends His Life at the Spot Where His Granddaughter, Accidentally Shot, Is Buried

New York, Dec. 21.—Two men hurried along the quiet paths in Green Lawn cemetery today bent for the grave of a little girl. One was a detective, the other a relative of the little girl.

They turned in the path and saw the grave. On it was sprawled the body of an old man, a bullet through the temple. The pistol, one cartridge gone, lay beside him. Neither of the men spoke, as the detective, unconsciously professional, picked up the pistol, his companion stared at the body quietly not seeing. Instead, a picture of the man's face came into his mind.

Six-year-old Emma Fuchs had dressed as a gypsy, to give "Grandpa" some fun when he came home. The man, who had been named Emma, Romano regalia and all, scurried beneath the table. Grandpa came in, and smiling, countered fear at the little stranger who popped from beneath the table. To add to the acting, he playfully pointed a pistol he had picked from a dresser at the little gypsy.

There was a shot. The little girl fell. When the police came, Grandpa was holding Emma, the "little gypsy," in his arms. She was dead.

The man standing by the grave saw the drama again, and he saw grandpa as he had seen him since that day. Moody, brooding, thoughtful. Even a day or two ago, grandpa had glared at the windows of the toy shops more than ordinarily rich with Christmas gifts.

Then the man by the grave saw grandpa, leaving the house yesterday for a "visit to Green Lawn cemetery." And Charles Fuchs, with the detective beside him, stopped staring at the grave, leaned over and softly touched his father's cold hand. The detective prepared to report "a suicide in Green Lawn cemetery."

LIFE IN PRISON SENTENCE GIVEN ARIZONA WOMAN

Miss Catherine Encinas Found Guilty of First Degree Murder for the Slaying of Dr. W. G. Randall

Florence, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Miss Catherine Encinas, found guilty of first degree murder December 5 for the slaying of Dr. W. G. Randall, prominent physician of Florence, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Arizona state penitentiary today by Judge Joseph Jenkins.

Arraigned for the defendant, who had previously been denied a motion for a new trial, filed notice of an appeal to the state supreme court immediately after sentence was passed.

Dr. Randall was shot and killed last September in the apartment of Miss Encinas, a nurse, who had previously been employed by him. Miss Encinas surrendered to authorities immediately after the shooting and during her trial testified that she shot Dr. Randall in self defense after he had threatened to kill her.

The jury which found Miss Encinas guilty after more than 12 hours' deliberation also recommended a sentence of life imprisonment.

When asked by Judge Jenkins whether she had anything to say before he passed sentence, Miss Encinas replied: "I have nothing to say except I have been judged by 12 level-headed men. Perhaps they were prejudiced against me, and I feel confident that in the supreme court I will be vindicated of the charge."

BODIES OF TWO ARMY AVIATORS REPORTED FOUND

Efforts to Verify the Reports, However, Fail to Elicit Any Definite Information, McNab Says

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Col. A. J. McNab, in command of operations in the Nogales sector in the search for Col. Francis C. Marshall and Lieut. C. L. Webster, missing in an Indian raid, today declared that he had been unable to secure any definite information concerning the reported discovery of the aviators' bodies on the Papago Indian reservation, southwest of Tucson.

Two reports today fixed the place where the bodies were found in two different sections of the reservation—one at Indian oasis, Covered Wells, on the road to Ajo, almost due west from Tucson and north of Indian oasis. According to both reports the wrecked bodies were found in the wreckage of a burned airplane.

According to the first of these reports the bodies were found by a cowboy, according to the second, by an Indian who told his story in Tucson last night and then was accompanied to the scene of the reported discovery by a search party in an automobile.

Colonel McNab stated that he had talked to the chief of police and other authorities in Tucson over the long distance telephone but that he had been unable to find anyone who had actually seen or talked to the mysterious Indian although several said they had heard of him and his story.

Colonel McNab said that he had received no voluntary information from any source concerning the discovery of the bodies but that he had made an effort to verify the reports which reached him indirectly.

According to Colonel McNab airplanes engaged in the search for the missing aviators landed at Indian Covered Wells on one occasion and that it had been learned that a plane was seen in that vicinity the day the aviators were lost. He said, however, that the aviators believed they had saved the movements of this plane farther south and the discovery led to the extension of the search into Mexico.

RUMORS OF FINDING BODIES UNVERIFIED
Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Generally current rumors that the bodies of Col. Francis Marshall and Lieut. Charles Webster, the missing aviators, had been found beside their crashed plane, today were unverified tonight, and the authenticity of the rumor seemed doubtful when the report was traced to its source.

According to Roy R. Stewart, an Indian friend of his from Indian Oasis, near Covered Wells, told him last Tuesday that he had heard from Indians that two other Indians had found the plane some time last week, but had feared to tell white men for fear of "getting into trouble." The Indian who brought the rumor to Tucson left for the scene Tuesday and after telling Stewart that he would return today or tomorrow.

Stewart, who is employed at a local electrical battery station, declared tonight that he had kept the reported finding of the wrecked plane a secret until today, due to the desire to collect the reward, a total of $700 having been offered for information leading to the location of the aviators.

The recipient of the information instructed John Blaine, the Indian, to search the country in the vicinity of Covered Wells for the plane. Stewart told the Indian to return to Tucson should his mission be successful. However, the redskin has not yet been in an appearance.

HEATED DISPUTE AT LAUSANNE BY VENIZELLOS AND TURKISH ENVOY

Wrangle Becomes so Violent That It Is Necessary to Adjourn a Session of the Sub-Commission

GREEK DEPORTATIONS CAUSES ALTERCATION

Argument Rages Despite Warning That References to Massacres and Cruelties Must Be Avoided

Taunton, Dec. 21 (by the Associated Press).—A stirring altercation occurred at a meeting of the sub-commission on minorities today between the former Greek premier, Venizelos, and the Turkish delegate, Riza Nur Bey. The dispute arose over the question of responsibility for Greek and Armenian massacres and was so violent that it became necessary to adjourn the session.

According to spokesmen of the Turkish delegation, Riza Nur Bey declared that the Greek army was not so much responsible for the recent military disaster as was Venizelos himself, because it was Venizelos who had inaugurated the idea of a "military invasion of Anatolia." Riza affirmed that in his opinion the Greek ministers who were recently executed at Athens were in all probability entirely innocent of deceiving the Greek people, because the real father of the Asia Minor campaign was Venizelos.

The Italian chairman of the sub-commission, Signor Montagna, had previously warned both the Turkish and Greek delegates that references to massacres and cruelties must henceforth be avoided, but the Turkish delegate today refused to obey this injunction. He declared a bitter indictment against the Turkish army and said so far, the Turkish delegate asserted, that the chairman was repeatedly obliged to call him to order.

After insistent attempts, Riza Nur Bey eventually got the floor and defended Turkey, and then made a personal attack on the former Greek premier.

Another indication that feeling is running high between the Turks and the Greeks was found in a communique which the Turkish delegation issued today declaring that recent advances from Ankara prove that the Greeks are confiscating all the farms belonging to Moslems in Crete, and that the Moslems in the hills fear massacre, have fled to the cities and are dying of hunger.

Every day more than twenty Moslems are dying either through massacre or hunger, says the communique, "and Moslems generally are forbidden to leave Crete." The Turks also allege mistreatment of the Moslems in Smyrna.

In another complication, in Near Eastern conditions was disclosed in a telegram dated December 19, which reached here tonight from Beirut. It stated that between December 16 and 18, 5,000 Armenian refugees fleeing from Turkey had arrived at Aleppo and 2,000 more, were reported crossing the border into Syria the day the dispatch was forwarded.

"All are in an appalling state of destitution, and nearly all of them were wounded in the fighting." "The French are furnishing housing and food. Clothing and food just come from Australia were shipped to Aleppo today. The French are feeding 1,300 of the American Near East relief is straining every resource."

Lord Curzon, M. Barre and the Marquis d'Arsonville, members of the conference, today conferred in an endeavor to straighten out the remaining difficulties over the straits control.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SHOOTING HUSBAND, FREED

Jury Finds He Was Shot Accidentally When His Wife Tried to Prevent Him From Ending His Life

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 21.—Mrs. Hazel Hirsch, charged with shooting her husband after a party last summer at the home of Miss Reine Davies, motion picture actress, tonight was acquitted by a jury, which accepted her defense that Hirsch was shot accidentally when she tried to prevent him from committing suicide.

The jury was out only one hour and eighteen minutes.

Hirsch testified today that "a professional bartender" served in the Davies home and that he and his wife drank considerable liquor. He went out on the lawn, he said, and sat under a tree, where he was "overcome with melancholia."

Drawing his revolver he sat with it in his hand, wondering whether he should shoot himself.

"My wife came toward me," he testified. "I told her I was going to kill myself. She seized the gun and wrestled with me for possession of it. The gun was discharged. Hirsch said he could not remember accusing his wife immediately afterwards of trying to "kill him." He denied that there had been a reconciliation at the hospital when his first wife visited him there, saying "there never was a quarrel."

NEW INFIRMARY AT FORT BAYARD IS ABANDONED

Floors Sag and Walls Crack and Patients Are Removed to Other Quarters; Will Be Investigated

Fort Bayard, N. M., Dec. 21.—Officials of the United States Veterans hospital here were forced to evacuate the new Whitledge infirmary of its 200 bed-ridden patients today because of sagging floors and cracking walls. The handsome infirmary building was completed last June and cost approximately $750,000 to erect. Whether the trouble is due to defects in construction, use of inferior construction material, blasting at the Santa Rita copper mine or to the vagaries of geological formations, is a decision that will be made by a board of inspectors from the treasury department who are probably now on their way to Fort Bayard to investigate. Hospital authorities and contractors from neighboring towns are at a loss for an explanation.

Floors Began to Sag
The building is three stories and of concrete construction. Weeks ago floors began to sag and walls to crack so that many doors could not be closed. Heavy beams were used as props to remedy the condition but the deterioration continued until this morning glass was broken in door transoms and windows, and one nurse said that the floor in her ward sagged so that she stumbled her toe as she walked about.

No parts of the building have fallen except a little plastering and the hospital authorities are of the opinion that the damage may be repaired.

In a statement relative of patients, Dr. W. E. Leighton, the medical officer in charge, assured them that the patients are safe. The statement follows:

"It is regretted that many people have the impression that the new infirmary building has been condemned. The facts are that it has become necessary to make rather extensive alterations in each of the wings. Because of the noise necessarily involved, it was deemed advisable to remove the patients temporarily. This has been done. The evacuation of both wings was completed Thursday."

"It is unfortunate that this move had to be made during the holidays but it is with pleasure that the relatives and friends of the patients here can be informed that the move has been completed and that all patients are properly and comfortably located, and that there is no danger to any one."

Prior to the completion of the Whitledge infirmary the hospital had a capacity of 1,200 beds, and as there are only about 650 patients now in the hospital, there is ample room for all patients to be housed very comfortably."

The abandoned building has two wings of three stories each, and a central building of one story, where is located a large mess hall. The mess hall is still being used.

Various Theories
Various theories are being advanced as to the cause of the sagging of floors and the cracking of walls. The building plans were drawn up by the architects of the treasury department, and in pattern as said to be identical with the uniform plan for the infirmaries of old soldier homes. Some contractors of this section say that concrete buildings are never successful, while others claim that shale formations under the infirmary and that a slipping of this upper crust, which is not perceptible, causes the damage.

In Silver City, which is ten miles southwest of Fort Bayard, large cracks are noticed in nearly all large buildings within a few months after their completion. Just now the Silver City National bank is tearing down a handsome building amply sufficient for a town of that size, because of cracks in the brick walls. In all large residences of stone or brick cracks are noticeable. This fact tends to support the theory that the underlying strata of Colorado shale are extensive and slip enough to damage buildings, although the movements of the upper lithosphere are not perceptible.

The new infirmary is the only heavy building of over two stories at Fort Bayard and this is the first time there has been any construction trouble.

Several weeks ago Major Leighton requested an investigation and T. C. Brooks, superintendent of the structural division of the treasury department, came to Fort Bayard and went over the building. The result of this investigation is that another investigation will be held in the office of Assistant Secretary E. C. Clifford in Washington on January 3, to which Robert E. McKee of El Paso, the contractor, has been summoned.

Another Theory
Another theory of the cause of the damage lays it to the blasting which is constantly going on at the Santa Rita copper mine at Santa Rita, four miles east of here. It is also said that the floor slabs have been badly affected through their inability to bear the weight placed upon them. Contractors and construction inspectors also say that concrete does not do well in high semi-arid climates such as this.

Major Leighton tonight spoke very highly of the cheerful manner in which the sick soldiers take their removal from their comfortable new home. They have quickly become accustomed to their new quarters and even the sickiest were removed with such care that no damage was done. He is confident that the damage will be repaired quickly and the men soon back in their quarters.

sure the authorities now have the situation well in hand."

In regard to his visit to Los Angeles and Hollywood, for the avowed purpose of bringing about a bettering of conditions within the motion picture industry, Mr. Hays stated that it would be accomplished, but only through the cooperation of the 15,000 members of the profession. He said the only way to obtain that cooperation was through "helping to live" and not by holding down. In this connection he added that Roscoe Arbuckle is entitled to his chance and should have it.

In regard to Arbuckle's statement that he is grateful to those who have helped him and will endeavor to prove worthy, Mr. Hays ejaculated: "That's fine, that's good! That's mighty fine."

He said that he did not know how long the Barker-Karpis corporation intends to use Arbuckle. He said: "I don't know whether they intend to use him as an actor, director or a water boy. If they make any films of him I don't think they will use them soon but I don't know anything about it except that he is entitled to a chance."

PROPRIETORS OF LAS VEGAS SOFT DRINK
HOUSE ARE ARRESTED

Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 21.—Ell Green and Wm. Mitchell, proprietors of the Opera Bar, at one time a saloon and gambling emporium, but now being conducted as a soft drink and billiard hall, were arrested when the place was raided Tuesday night by some of Mr. Snyder's prohibition squad. Regarding the fact that the raiders failed to find anything stronger than grape juice, they contended that their olefactory organs, long used to detecting contraband liquors, prompted them to believe that the eighteenth amendment was being violated.

The men were arraigned before United States Commissioner W. G. Ogil Wednesday morning. They pleaded not guilty and were placed under $1500 bond each to appear before the United States grand jury. The bond was furnished.

HAPPENINGS AT WASHINGTON IN TABLOID FORM

The day in Washington—Chief Justice Taft was reported to have virtually recovered from a minor operation performed last Sunday.

The nomination of Pierce Butler, St. Paul, Minn., attorney, to be an associate justice of the United States supreme court, as confirmed by the senate.

Hearings on the Keller impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty were concluded by the house judiciary committee.

The war finance corporation, in its annual report, declared the American farmer, if properly financed, could weather the worst economic storms.

Announcement was made that the surplus received by Clemenceau for lectures and newspaper articles while in America, which will be turned over to the American Field Service fund, amounted to $20,000.

Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, offered an amendment to the naval appropriation bill proposing that the president call an international conference for discussion of economic questions as well as the reduction of armaments.

Plans for the creation of an American commission to aid in the adjustment of the European reparations problem were said to have received the unofficial approval of the United States, Germany and Great Britain and to be under consideration by France.

Court action, it was announced, will be instituted shortly by the department of justice against the United States Harness company, Ransom, W. Va.; Thomas Roberts and company, Philadelphia, and possibly the Bridgeport, Conn. Brass company, in connection with contracts covering war supplies.

COMMITTEE NOT TO ATTEMPT TO OUST DAUGHERTY

No Evidence Produced Upon Which to Base Impeachment Proceedings, It Is Generally Believed

Washington, Dec. 21.—Wilding up his public hearings on the Keller charges against Attorney General Daugherty, the house judiciary committee voted today to meet on January 4 to reach its formal decision and began preparation of its report to the house. It was regarded as practically certain that the committee would hold that there had been produced no evidence upon which impeachment proceedings could be based.

The public sessions today were taken up with the examination of officials and employees of the department of justice in answer to a number of the charges made against the attorney general by Representative Keller, republican, of Minnesota. In announcing the conclusion of the case for the attorney general, Paul Howland, his personal counsel, stated that Mr. Daugherty had proffered "everything we have in relation to these matters and produced all of the documents that have been asked for."

Mr. Howland announced he would like to make a brief statement "expressing our position and hopes in this case, but the committee refused to accept the attorney's statement and the proceedings were ended. Aside from his report on the impeachment charges, the committee has yet to act on the question of what action, if any, is to be taken on the refusal of Mr. Keller to obey a subpoena calling upon him to appear for examination upon oath as to the information upon which he based his allegations against Mr. Daugherty. This question has been referred to a subcommittee of five members, but no call has been issued for a meeting of the subcommittee.

KILBANE-CRIQUI BOAT IS BARRED FROM NEW YORK

William Muldoon Says They Cannot Meet There While
He Is Head of the Body
Governing Boxing

New York, Dec. 21.—William Muldoon, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, announced today that Johnny Kilbane and Eugene Criqui would not meet here in a featherweight championship bout while he was head of the body governing boxing.

"We gave Kilbane every opportunity to fight and not pose and he ignored our warnings," he said. "Boxing promoters intimated that they would not take Chairman Muldoon's edict too seriously in that a new chairman would likely be named when Governor Smith took office."

Mr. Muldoon announced that Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, would not be allowed to box in New York under the jurisdiction of the present commission. The age limit, under the rules of the boxing board, made Willard ineligible for a license, it was said.

The statement relative to Willard resulted from the reports that the former champion and Dempsey might meet in a bout here. Chairman Muldoon placed Johnny Wilson, Boston boxer, middleweight title, was declared forfeited in New York state in the same category with Kilbane.

PECOS VALLEY'S OIL WELL HAS A 25 BARREL FLOW

Another Hole Will Be Sunk
in the Field, Near Dayton, With Gas Taken
From the Original Bore

Special to The Journal.

Roswell, N. M., Dec. 21.—Quite a number of Roswell business men motored down the valley Monday to witness the pumping of the first producing oil well in the Pecos valley. However, they were disappointed, as the pumping machinery was out of order.

Nevertheless, it is a proven fact that the Pecos valley has a producing oil well. The well was drilled by the New Mexico-Kansas-Texas company, and is producing from 20 to 25 barrels of oil. It was put on the pump Sunday, and in six hours pumped 20 barrels, and at the end of the six hours, when measurements were made, it was found that the oil stood at the same depth in the well as before pumping began.

The well was drilled with a common rig and is 1,100 feet deep. Oil was found at from 870 to 1,025 feet, three sands being encountered within this depth. Each sand was shot once. Considerable gas has also been found, and when piped from the well will burn easily. It is the intention of the company to drill another well about 200 yards north of this well, using the gas for fuel, thereby saving the cost of pumping. The well now producing is about five miles southeast of Dayton. The oil is of a high quality, testing 85 per cent paraffin base. It flows by heads, because of the gas pressure. The company expects to keep the well on the pump for some time to thoroughly test its capacity.

GIRL IS SHOT BY EX-SOLDIER IN HOTEL HERE

Martha Domer of Gallup Escapes With Wound in Thigh; Harry J. Ford, Ex-
Service Man, Is Jailed

Martha Domer, a young woman who says her home is in Gallup, was shot through the thigh early last night by Harry J. Ford of El Paso. The shooting occurred in the Bittern rooming house on South First street, in the presence of the proprietor and a number of guests.

Miss Domer was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was found that her injuries are not serious. Ford was detained by guests of the hotel after the shooting and was arrested by Chief Gallagher and Officers Kern and Carter.

The police stated that Ford stated his intention was to kill the woman, whom he accused of being about to break up the home of a friend. They said he stated he had been intimate with her for some time in Gallup.

The shooting occurred in the lobby of the hotel, where the woman was knitting by the stove, and witnesses said the man fired three times without warning, after a brief exchange of words. The woman had been standing at the hotel for several days, but Ford had not been at the place since Sunday night, when he was staying elsewhere. The two never occupied the same room, the hotel people said, and they did not know the couple were acquainted until Tuesday night, when the woman complained that the man had struck her in the face.

Police said Ford has been drinking lately. He had papers in his pocket to show that he had performed military service in some big battles in France. He is said to be in bad health. The shooting was done with a .38 caliber revolver of the bulldog type. Ford recently had been given a leave of absence from a government hospital in El Paso. He had letters that were received recently at Gallup. The woman stated to the police that she had been living in that place.

MINING OPERATIONS ARE TO BE RESUMED IN BISBEE DISTRICT

Bisbee, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Steam shovel mining operations on Sacramento hill, a mountain of low grade copper in the center of the Bisbee district, will be resumed soon, according to an announcement today by General Manager P. G. Beckett of the Phelps Dodge. Practically no work has been done on Sacramento hill since the suspension of copper production two years ago.

"The next few months will be spent in getting the hill and mill operations together," said Mr. Beckett, "and we do not expect that actual ore production can be started on Sacramento hill before May or June. Men will be put on gradually and it will be early summer before the full number of approximately 500 men needed for ore extraction, waste stripping and mill operations will be used."

HECTIC TOSSER CONTEST IN HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

Closely Contested Game Assured When Bulldog and Banker Basketball Teams Meet; Game Starts at 8

Albuquerque basketball followers will be given their first high school offering of the season at the high school gymnasium tonight beginning at 8 o'clock. There have been two or three games preceding this but these have been merely appetizers for the big official opening of the 1922-1923 season.

One thing is assured for the contest tonight. That is that it will be fast, hard fought and well played, without developing into the mad scramble previous games have been. E. V. Berry, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will officiate. And that fact assures a minimum of unnecessary roughness.

Coch Addison Moore has had seats brought in from Washington park for use in the high school gymnasium tonight. With the seating arrangements there will be seating facilities for 400. Owing to the construction of the building the rear entrance will be used. Lighting has been arranged for this entrance.

The opening whistle will sound promptly at 8 o'clock tonight. The players who will answer this whistle will probably be as follows:

GUEST CASE IS CONTINUED TILL AFTER HOLIDAY

Judge Reed Holloman of Santa Fe Will Preside at Trial, Which Will Begin on December 27

The trial of Richard G. Guest, charged with a statutory offense against Ethel Patterson, aged 15 years, has been set for Wednesday, December 27. The case had been set for today and was to be heard before Judge Raymond R. Ryan. It became apparent, however, that the trial might continue over the Christmas holiday, and as Judge Ryan wished to return home for Christmas and did not wish to hold the juryman, he continued the case until next week.

Judge Reed Holloman of Santa Fe has agreed to hear the case. Sheriff Ortiz and his deputies, who had called the jurors, yesterday began the work of notifying them to appear on Wednesday instead of today.

It has been announced that District Attorney E. B. Garcia will handle the prosecution in person, and that Attorney W. C. Heacock, who was associated with the prosecution at the preliminary hearing, will not appear.

REMODEL ARMORY ENLARGE LIMITS OF ALBUQUERQUE

Chamber of Commerce Undertakes Two Projects Which It Deems of Importance to Community

Important projects which the Chamber of Commerce announced last night that it will undertake directly are the enlargement of the city limits to include adjacent suburbs and the formulation of a plan for the improvement and maintenance of the city.

The first of these projects is a committee on both of these matters, both of which may require legislative action. The committee, it was stated, was chosen as a body qualified to handle the legal and other details. It is composed of R. H. Hanna, O. N. Marron, Carl C. McGee and M. L. Fox.

The latest United States census shows that the city of Albuquerque, if it included the numerous additions whose interests are identical with the municipal corporation and which are so closely joined to it that the boundary lines are apparent only by reference to a map, would have a population of fully 30,000 people. The Chamber of Commerce feels that it is as much to the interest of the residents of these districts as it is to the prestige of the city of Albuquerque that they be made a part of the city.

The need of an adequate convention hall, the Chamber of Commerce feels, is apparent to everybody, and the armory, if properly repaired and remodeled, would make an admirable building for that purpose. The view is expressed by Chamber of Commerce directors that it would be advantageous both to the national guard and to the city to have the building taken out of its present state of ill repair and maintained for the use of the community and of the guard.

ROTARIANS GIVE THEIR PRESENTS TO THE ORPHANS

Have a Lot of Fun With Christmas Exchange at Weekly Luncheon; Tree Expert Gives Advice

Capt. W. C. Field, New Mexico collector for the Santa Fe railway, told members of the Rotary club at their regular weekly meeting yesterday that the Santa Fe has spent in Albuquerque 35 per cent of its annual improvement budget for the past three years. Captain Field, who has recently returned from a two month's trip to Washington, spoke briefly.

Members of Rotary exchanged Christmas presents and after having a lot of fun with their gifts decided to present them all to St. Anthony's orphanage. The children are expected to enjoy the gifts fully as much as did the Rotarians. Some of the gifts were selected for their appropriateness. Captain Field was given an engine and train; Dr. Hasland, the dentist, was presented with an immense pair of forceps; Dr. Raper, who is said to need something of the kind, was given a bottle of hair tonic.

Prof. Allen Miller of Los Angeles, a tree expert, told the club that Albuquerque's trees are in bad shape and should be given into the custody of a municipal tree guardian. Such an official, Mr. Miller said, should warn people when their trees need water, should supervise the pruning of trees, and should be able to tell the people what is wrong with their trees and how to correct it. A hole should be drilled in the ground near each tree and partially filled with rock, with a piece of iron at the bottom. The speaker said, to be used for watering the trees. A tree's pulse, he said, beats once every fourteen seconds, and the circulation of sap is at the rate of 100 feet an hour.

In speaking of grass, Mr. Miller said that the first thing to be done in getting a lawn in Albuquerque is to neutralize the alkali in the soil. He said that Albuquerque is too far north for Bermuda grass and too far south for Kentucky blue grass. Rev. H. A. Cooper spoke briefly but interestingly on the Christmas spirit. C. M. Botts, recently appointed a member of the supreme court, spoke for five minutes in a humorous vein about his impending removal to Santa Fe. Maurice Klein was named musical director for the club, and the next meeting will be devoted to musical program.

HOW ALBERT ROSCOE REACHED THE SCREEN IN "BURNING SANDS"

Albert Roscoe, now playing a "heavy" in George Melford's production of "Burning Sands," which is being repeated at the "B" theater today, once had his own "touring stock" among the old towns of Texas. The villain was also the bull-pusher. They played "The Devil" and the beautiful artist's model—had a wooden leg! But they liked the play anyway. Albert made enough out of it to get back to New York, where Tommy Meighan induced him to go into pictures.

CHAMPION GLOBE TROTTER TOTES RECORD AUTOGRAPH BOOK ON TRAVELS

Joseph F. Mikulec, as he appeared recently in Chicago en route to Texas with record autograph book and (inset) as he appeared in Washington in 1914 after first trip around world.

Joseph F. Mikulec, Croatian by birth, lays claim to being the world's greatest globe trotter and autograph collector. In his travels, since 1901 he has visited twenty-six countries and collected over 50,000 autographs, including those of rulers of the principal powers of the world. He recently left Chicago on his way to Texas with his mammoth book of signatures of noted people, the largest book of its kind in the world.

This photoplay and one of great beauty depicts a fancy dress ball at the aristocratic Pittman home with the guests attired in costumes that reflect the styles of the early sixties.

Katherine MacDonald, "the American beauty" of the screen, was never more lovely than she appears in the old fashioned costume of black tulle, trimmed with rare Valenciennes lace, which formerly adorned one of her grandmother's "party dresses." It is cut low, both in front and in back, and reveals the actress' glistening ivory shoulders.

The old fashioned dances that were enjoyed at this party prove that in the matter of real grace and rhythm such pronounced favorites of another day as the schottische, the Virginia reel, the polka, and the "hop waltz" are superior to the leaders of the modern dance school, born of jazz nurtured in synchopation and reared in the atmosphere of braying brasses and moaning saxophonic blues.

"SISTERS" IS A BIG PICTURE, WITH MORAL LESSON, AT THE PASTIME

"Sisters" is a big motion picture, which was made from the novel by Kathleen Norris, which is showing at the Pastime theater, is a lesson which every boy and girl, man and wife, and prospective couples should see. It shows the greatness of love and the splendor of a woman's courage. It pictures more than a dozen sermons could preach or a million books explain that the home is the rock on which the nation is founded. It goes to the root of the domestic trouble and depicts in a clear-cut manner the reason why the foundation of American life is threatened. It is not a preaching but a vivid story of how one courageous wife fought to hold her husband from a selfish sister and why divorce is such a cowardly thing.

GERMANY RUINED HERSELF, FRENCH PREMIER STATES

Has Failed to Fulfill Her Engagements and the Schedule of Payments Agreed Upon in 1921

Paris, Dec. 21 (By the Associated Press).—"France is no longer forced to await upon America for a solution of the inter-allied debts which are closely bound up with the question of reparations," Premier Poincare told the senate today in a re-statement of the country's position.

The inter-allied debts, he said, would be discussed at the resumption of the premier's conference here on January 2. France had found a freer field in this respect than before, as she no longer met with a flat refusal from her allies to discuss the question.

It was for this reason, he added, that she was no longer forced to await action by the United States for a solution.

Occupation Useless

The premier began his declarations after a question by Senator Japy, who said occupation of the Ruhr district of Germany as a guarantee for payment of reparations would be useless, as it would be sufficient merely to prevent anything leaving the Ruhr without the permission of the allies.

M. Poincare asserted that Germany had persisted in her faults and had obstinately continued to abuse her opportunities, while great industrial magnates had become wealthy at the expense of the nation.

Germany had systematically ruined herself to escape the payment of reparations, he said. She had failed to fulfill her engagements and the schedule of payments agreed upon in May, 1921, had become a dead letter.

"We cannot continue to leave our fellow citizens without sufficient shelter," the premier said.

The order ordered ought to be continued and finished and for this Germany must pay us. She has state property which the Versailles treaty sanctions being allotted for reparations under an article which forbids her to send any gold from the country without the authorization of the reparations commission.

Journal Want Ads. bring results

But this article she has not expected." M. Poincare treated the idea that France desired to stifle Germany, as ridiculous calumny. "We have no wish to ruin Germany," he said, "but we are not willing that, sheltered today behind her apparent poverty, she may jeer at our real poverty in a few years time."

Welcomes Loan Plan

He added that France welcomed the idea of Germany's raising loans, internal or external.

"This," he continued, "does not mean to say that payment of reparations should be put in the hands of bankers. It ought to be regulated by the governments interested, aided by the reparations commission. This question will be treated with January 2."

M. Poincare recalled that war expenses were left to the belligerents. France's amounting to 145,000,000,000 francs. "But," he added, "reparations were a privileged debt and therefore would be inadmissible if France were summoned to pay her debts to England before receiving payment for the damages she has suffered."

The premier closed with a reference to the feeling of mutual confidence which marked the recent London conference of the premiers. "If divergencies of view exist," he said, "we shall watch to see that they are never transformed into disagreements."

DRUG ADDICTS IN THE U. S. ARE DECREASING

Washington, Dec. 21.—In recent years there has been a marked decrease in the number of drug addicts in the United States, according to Colonel L. G. Nutt, chief of the narcotic division of the prohibition bureau, who has just returned to Washington from a trip through the west in connection with plans for an active campaign against opiate vendors.

While "drug bootleggers" still constitute a national menace, he said, their illicit traffic is more nearly under control today than it ever has been.

Nutt denounced as without foundation reports which he said were current in Chicago to the effect that habitues of drugs had increased "about 100 per cent" and that many converts were to be found in society circles.

A STENOGRAPHER'S ROMANCE

BY JANE PHELPS

THE BOARDERS CONGRATULATE NELLIE

Chapter 82

It had become known in the boarding house that Nellie was to marry Mr. Fallon. Most of the boarders were kind and congratulated her nicely. Miss Pitt, true to her acid disposition, however, added after saying a few conventional words:

"Such marriages aren't always happy. I have always believed a woman should marry in her own class."

"And what would you consider my class?" Nellie asked, annoyed. "Why—a stenographer like yourself, or a bookkeeper perhaps. Then there are many men in trades who are far more suitable husbands for a working girl than a rich society man. That is only my opinion, of course."

"Of course! You never have tried either class I notice." Nellie seldom answered now in her old impudent way; but Miss Pitt always made her uncomfortable, and this time she had hit upon a sensitive point with Nellie.

"No, I cared too much for my independence," Miss Pitt quickly replied. "Marriage is a sort of slavery at best—for a woman. Naturally, I have had my chances. I pursued her lips, but as I said, I am too fond of my independence."

"Naturally—no one would ever think you would be passed by by men looking for an agreeable wife," Nellie returned, then sorry she had been so disagreeable, she added:

"Thank you, Miss Pitt, for your good wishes."

Mrs. Roberts always breakfasted in her room and she asked Nellie to join her while she remained in the house.

"It will give us a chance for a little chat before you begin on your sewing," she said kindly. She was a bit worried over Nellie. She didn't seem as happy as she had when she first announced her engagement. Not that she acted actively unhappy. It was more as if she were worried over something.

"No matter how long I live or what happens I never shall forget how kind you have been to me," Nellie said impulsively to Mrs. Roberts. "No mother could be kinder to her own daughter—the mothers I have known anyway."

"I feel almost like a mother toward you, dear," Mrs. Roberts replied. "You have brought a new interest into an old woman's life. If I have helped you, you also have helped me. So we are as men and girls."

Mr. Fallon came often to carry Nellie away for an hour or two. He was as kind as an loving as ever.

B. AND P. WOMEN MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Later in the evening members of the club will be entertained with an informal reception at the home of Miss Margaret Chadwick, 891 West Tileras avenue. Miss Chadwick will be assisted by Misses Margaret Foraker and Alice Gleason.

There will be no meeting of the Woman's club today, all activities of the organization being toward the success of the annual open house held at the club each New Year's day. The next meeting of the club will take place Friday, January 5, when officers for the new year will be elected.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Butter Tips
Soft butter or lard should never be used when making pie crust. Whatever shortening is used should be hard and very cold.

A Novel Thought
One way of insuring a neat bathroom by having all the washcloths hung up so they may be dried out and stay sweet is to buy some small ivory rings and sew one of these firmly in one corner of each cloth. They are easy to find and no one will find it a trouble to hang them up to dry.

Tips and Pointers
Beware of meat that is pale pink in color; it is not fresh.
Never salt the beef cooked in a fireless cooker until removed for serving.
Rub the hands with a little salt and then wash to remove the odor of onions.
Place a Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan when washing valuable china and cut glass.
After all, the only way to keep a kitchen tidy and in order is to have a place for everything and everything in its place.

THREE CHILDREN DIE OF DIPHTHERIA IN ONE FAMILY AT PAJARITO

Diphtheria caused the death of three children in one family at Pajarito Wednesday night and yesterday morning. The third child died within eight hours after the first, while there was only one hour between the death of the second child and the third death. All three children are sons of Jeronimo Castillo and Emilia Ortiz of Castillo.

Manuel Castillo, four years old, died at 9 p. m. Wednesday. His brother, Antonio, eight years old, died seven hours later at four o'clock yesterday morning. The third boy, Joseph, six years old, exactly one hour later.

Funeral of the three victims of diphtheria will be held at Pajarito today. Fred Grollott will have charge of funeral arrangements.

MRS. WEED DIES
Mrs. E. F. Weed, old resident of Albuquerque and one of the first members of the First M. E. church, died at noon yesterday at her home at 722 South Third street. Mrs. Weed had come to Albuquerque 33 years ago. She was survived by her brother, B. A. Hurley, of Albuquerque, and by two sisters, Mrs. E. W. Davis of this city, and Mrs. R. S. Platt, of Hurley.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon from the First M. E. church. Rev. F. E. McGraw will officiate. Services will be in Fairview cemetery.

NO DECISION IS REACHED IN THE VIADUCT AFFAIR

City and Santa Fe Officials Fail to Come to an Agreement; Will Meet Again Before January 15

"Repair the old viaduct and save the citizens of Albuquerque thousands of dollars. The old viaduct can be repaired so as to meet existing needs."

"Accede to the demands of the people of Albuquerque, as expressed when they voted for the bond issue. The old viaduct cannot be repaired and maintained so as to meet with existing requirements of the city."

That was the gist of the meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall between representatives of the A. T. & S. F. railroad and representatives of the City of Albuquerque. After nearly three hours of discussion it was agreed to hold another meeting some time prior to January 15, 1923.

In the meantime, P. E. Robinson, bridge engineer of the A. T. & S. F. system is to meet with City Manager Callahan and City Engineer Kimball. The three will investigate the condition of the present viaduct and the feasibility of repairing it and report to the next meeting. The meeting between Callahan, Kimball and Robinson was held last night but Santa Fe officials assured the city representatives that Robinson will certainly be able to arrange the meeting not later than the second week in January.

Representatives Present

The City of Albuquerque was represented at the meeting by Commissioners Swope, Hughes, and Tingley and City Manager Callahan. Santa Fe representatives were M. C. Blanchard, chief engineer of the Santa Fe system; W. C. Reid, New Mexico collector; C. H. Bristol, assistant general manager; and E. C. Iden, co-solicitor with Mr. Reid.

The heaviest stroke of the meeting was dealt by Commissioner Clyde Tingley. Tingley put this question before the city: "Captain Reid, would you be willing for us to go ahead and build this viaduct and then take it to the courts and find out who is the best man? That is, find out whether the city has to pay for the whole thing, or whether the Santa Fe railroad pays for the whole thing? Would you be willing, Captain, to have us go ahead and do that? I don't say that we would, but would you be willing?"

The query was not answered directly. Prior to the question the commissioners and railroad men had made every effort to work from a friendly basis and reach an amicable agreement. There was no change in this attitude after the question, but immediately following it both sides agreed to defer further action until after Robinson, Callahan and Kimball could hold their conference.

Reid opened the discussion by suggesting that new flooring be placed in the old viaduct, the floor to be of heavy planks, treated with creosote and with a two or three inch surface of concrete. He said that this would offer good cushion, would do away with the rattling of the present structure and that it would be a criminal waste to scrap the old structure.

He said that such repair as he suggested could be done for $15,000 or $20,000 and that it would be the sensible thing to do as it would cost about $375,000 to construct the proposed new viaduct, according to Robinson.

Commissioner Hughes declared that the public wanted a viaduct which will relieve the traffic on Central avenue. In order to accomplish this, he said, it will be necessary to have a viaduct wide enough to accommodate the traffic which will make use of it in case a satisfactory viaduct is built. Tingley added that the viaduct was built 20 years ago, when it sufficed. With the great increase in the growth of the city, he said, it does not suffice now and with the growth increasing steadily it will fall more and more to accommodate traffic.

Mr. Reid responded that there is no argument you can offer against better schools, better roads and better things in everything—providing you have the money. He said it is not the part of the railroad to come in and offer a suggestion for the use of a bridge which is unsafe, but that Swope, of Albuquerque, and by Mr. Robinson says the present viaduct will be all right with proper repairs and will be as pleasant as a concrete viaduct.

He asked if it would be advisable to tear down the present viaduct and said the Santa Fe has no desire to give the city anything it does not want. But he questioned whether it would be wise to take such action, under present financial conditions, as to require of the city a three or four hundred thousand dollar expenditure.

He went on to say that Superintendent of Bridges Robinson had examined the present structure and said it would take care of a ten-ton truck load. An additional allowance of 20 per cent could also be allowed for impact.

Outlet to Highlands
Commissioner Swope said that the only real outlet to the highlands now is Central avenue and when that is blocked it blocks traffic all the way back to First street. He said that even though the viaduct were repaired to stand for 50 years it would not sufficiently relieve the situation. He said a permanent improvement is required with a wider roadway.

Swope went on to say that the expenditure has to come some time and the people of Albuquerque have expressed their willingness to have it come now. He said the city's engineers have investigated the viaduct and expressed the opinion that it would be a waste of money to repair the old one.

Commissioner Well followed this statement with the one that the matter resolves itself into a question of the congestion of traffic at Central avenue. What is necessary, he declared, is a viaduct broad enough and sufficiently attractive to invite traffic away from Central avenue.

Mr. Reid replied that Coal avenue, approaching the proposed new viaduct, is not as wide as it is proposed to make the viaduct and he could see no necessity for a viaduct than the street approach. He went on to say that as far as the Santa Fe is concerned, in the final analysis it is what the people want, it is public opinion which decides. He added:

"I am willing to stake my reputation that the most popular thing the commission could do would be to adopt a policy of retrenchment and save the city a couple of hundred thousand dollars or more. That can be done by repairing the old viaduct and as soon as the people have become accustomed to it they will appreciate the saving and they will use the viaduct shortly after the repairs are made, when they find they can travel over it the same as on a paved street."

"There are two ways of looking at it," Commissioner Well replied. "One is to get along as best possible with no expenditure at all to the city. The way I look at it is this—what we need is a structure built which will not only take care of traffic but will invite it."

Reid replied that he believed the present viaduct would invite the traffic when people find out they can travel over it as well as on a paved street. He repeated that this could be done with the proposed repairs.

Chief Engineer Blanchard then said that people would not drive a block out of the way to cross the viaduct, regardless of the sort of viaduct they would have to cross. He said this had been proved in other cities. Well took exception to this. He said:

"People will drive a block out of the way under conditions which exist here. When they know they will have a free passage over the viaduct, while there is a decided probability they will be held up at the Central avenue crossing by trains, they will turn off to cross the viaduct and insure that passage."

Viaduct Is Necessary
Well then suggested that they start from the premises of whether or not a viaduct is necessary and then to proceed from that point to determine the sort of viaduct which is required. Mr. Reid admitted the necessity for a viaduct and then added:

"Let us have the engineers of the two corporations get together and investigate the matter. If they are agreed that a new viaduct is needed then you have won your case as far as we are concerned."

Commissioner Hughes said that something must be done immediately as the people are up in arms about the present structure. Mr. Reid asked if it is essential to the city commissioners that the city of Albuquerque pay half the expenditure for construction of a new viaduct. Well responded that that would depend upon the cost and Blanchard said it would be approximately $350,000. Well then asked if the Santa Fe would be willing to pay half the expense of a new viaduct and Reid replied that he could not tell and could only say that the Santa Fe is willing to bear half the expense of repairs.

Reid went on to tell how the Santa Fe entered into a contract with the city 20 years ago whereby the city agreed to maintain the viaduct forever after. He went on to say:

"That contract may have been beyond the powers of the city council at that time. It may be legally binding. But if the shoe was on the other foot, legal or not, the railroad company would be held morally responsible to the citizens of Albuquerque. I do not mention this in any attitude that we are through with you but merely mention the fact showing the Santa Fe has maintained its full moral obligations in going into the expenditure it has."

Tingley then asked if the present viaduct was not a second hand structure when it was put in. He said he believed investigation would prove that it was.

City Engineer Kimball then stated, in reply to a question by Well, that he had considered the rebuilding of the present structure when he investigated it with J. N. Gladding. He said the viaduct after repair would stand ten tons all right but that it would require constant maintenance.

Kimball went on to say that he believed it would take the constant attention of two men to maintain the viaduct and believed the cost of putting it in shape would be from $50,000 to $75,000. He said that if a concrete floor was put in it would not suffice for traffic. It would take the load all right, he said, but the vibration would prevent it from caring for the heavy traffic suggested and the same vibration, which can only be corrected with a concrete structure, would demand the maintenance he spoke of.

Stamm Addresses Meeting
M. P. Stamm then addressed the meeting as representative of the citizens of Albuquerque. He said:

"If the Santa Fe railroad will pay its proportionate amount of taxes as the individual does, then we will gladly build the viaduct. If it costs half a million and won't ask the railroad for a bit of help, and the Santa Fe has not paid its proportionate share of the taxes, I mention this merely to illustrate the friendly spirit of the people of Albuquerque for the Santa Fe. The point is not how cheap the viaduct can be repaired, but we want a viaduct that is a viaduct; a viaduct that will meet with the needs of Albuquerque, a growing city."

After some further discussion Commissioner Tingley made the remark referred to about taking the matter to the courts. Then Mr. Reid said, in reply to a question put by Swope, that as far as the railroad representatives could then go was in the repair of the present viaduct. The meeting was adjourned after the meeting between Robinson, Callahan and Kimball and the second meeting of the railroad officials and city commissioners.

RATON

The Sorosis club Christmas party held at the library on Friday afternoon was a most delightful and successful event. Pine cones were used to hang from the windows and as candle holders on the small tables which seated the guests for a turkey dinner. The tables were arranged in cabaret style and between each course the members of the table put on a stunt which proved to be original and clever. They consisted of dances, songs and impersonations. The prize for the best stunt was awarded to the president's table. After the delicious four course dinner was served the club members were given gifts from one of the beautiful trees and each one present was most beautifully remembered.

A MAYORLESS CITY

Through the resignation of W. R. Walton, the city of Albuquerque finds itself without a mayor and the city commission without a chairman. The first duty of the commission, and an imperative one, is the selection of a man to fill the office thus made vacant with the least possible delay and due regard for the best interests of the city.

The names of W. A. Keleher and Judge R. H. Hanna have already been placed before the Commission. Either of these men is well equipped to serve as a member of the Commission and, if it should be so decided, admirably qualified to serve as its chairman. The important point to be considered immediately is that it should not be made necessary to force a special election by reason of the inability of the Commission to select its fifth member.

THE JUDICIARY

When the laws which they are sworn to enforce, the statutes prescribing their duties and the traditional dignity, honor and integrity of their office cease to govern the conduct of judges, is it likely the judiciary will consent to be guided by canons recommended by the American Bar Association?

If we cannot answer with confidence, assurance is warranted that no harm will be done by formulation of a code approved by the foremost men of the bar, including some distinguished jurists. The work is under way. Chief Justice Taft is chairman of the committee to which it has been assigned. Several years will elapse before the code of judicial ethics is ready for action by the Bar Association, which already has adopted a set of standards to which practicing lawyers are expected to conform their conduct, professional and private.

Difficulties that lie in the way of reaching abuses by judges, as well as the growth of a tendency to cast aside restraints on the bench, are emphasized by organization of the Taft committee. Freakish sentences, participation by judges in partisan politics, and departures from established principles under the spell of passion are some of the errors of judicial conduct which it is hoped can be rectified.

The Bar Association has no authority over the judiciary, but that is no reason why it should not proclaim standards which upright judges may approve and accept as guides. The general effect of elevating the tone of judicial ethics cannot be other than beneficial.

A RUSTING HALF BILLION

Announcement that Great Britain is about to construct two new warships under the provisions of the Washington agreement may recall to Americans a very pathetic circumstance. Part of the pathos is the fact that it cost the American people a round half billion of dollars. It lies, "this pathetic circumstance," at the docks of Philadelphia, and consists of as handsome a fleet of latest type destroyers as could be found anywhere in the world.

Philadelphia does not want the half billion dollar fleet of destroyers; neither, apparently, does the nation. The vessels were built during the war and now steadily deteriorate for lack of crews and sufficient funds to maintain them.

It is unfortunately true that a warship has to have a war to prove its usefulness and justify its existence. When the war ended this new fleet simply went out of business; there was no employment for them and, sadly enough, the $500,000,000 they represent could find no way to transmute themselves again into good tax-money.

The least the government can do is to declare this huge fleet a national reserve and encourage Americans to view the rusting dollars and decaying currency represented in the most extravagant folly ever devised by man for robbing his own pocketbook.

BY THE WAY

When a leader in Greece loses a war nowadays he's only just begun to lose things.

An Ohio man has had his violin insured for $10,000. One of those wives, just possibly, who pick up whatever is in sight.

Coroners' records seem to indicate that while the beverage nowadays is rarely aged in the wood, the customer is exceedingly like to be.

Now comes the days when father tries to juggle nineteen parcels and packages all at once, in the meantime keeping his hat on and trying to retain his temper.

Boston girls, who started the fad of wearing goloshes unbuckled, are buckling them this season. It's the important new item like this that makes life worth while.

DUG OUT BY ROOT

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse. Dad crawled from his bed, to his trousers he went; he felt in his pockets and found not a cent. He looked in his check book with infinite care and found but a bunch of used stubs sticking there. Dad heard a soft noise to the rear of his back, and looked and saw Santa unloading his pack. "O it's you," said the Dakins, "you whitered old bloke. You get all the credit, but it's me that goes broke." Said Santa "The joy you on others bestow, makes joy in your own heart like embers to glow." He gave Dad a swift clap on the back and he said, "Now pull off your bath robe and climb into bed." Next morning Dad woke at the kids' merry shout, and mother and grandpa soon routed him out. When he saw all his loved ones so full of content, he thought "It's worth while though it took my last cent."

When Santa Claus goes up the chimney our bank account goes up the flue.

"If this country ever goes west again," the Manhattan Mercury announces, "we propose to climb on a house top and sit there. It's dangerous enough now, with the auto drivers sober."

The robbers who looted the Denver mint probably thought the place to get money is at its source. Possibly they wanted it fresh and new—with no germs on it.

If we were a kid we would rebel against speaking a piece and singing four songs and taking part in a pantomime, just to get a sack of Sunday school candy worth five cents. But we gladly did it when we were a kid and wish we had a chance to do it again.

The Ku Klux Klan wants to enforce all the laws except those governing spelling.

I never use my hammer on the gink who slings bum grammar. The bloke who cannot spell, quite often can buy and sell the guy who speaks correct, but with money can't connect. The man who says "ain't went" quite often has gone far toward building up a bank account, and owns a motor car. The man who says "I have not gone" quite often tells the truth, for polished language by itself gets one nowhere, forsooth. But 'spite of all we've said, we feel as happy as a kitten when we find ourselves s'allowing words like in the grammars written.

TODAY'S BEST THOUGHT

TO ONE OF THE LEAST
To give to "one of the least of these"
Is the spirit we all should show.
Let us think of the words of the Master of Men,
Let more of his spirit flow.

It is not hard to give unto one
That we know real well and love.
But to give to "one of the least of these"
Takes the spirit that comes from above.
Shall we think of the ones well cared for and warm
With never a thought for the rest?
Or shall we think of the poor as well,
And then be doubly blest.

Just think of the boys and girls—little folks
With no one to help them through;
So give for a cause that will comfort them,
And make Christmas merry for you.

"Why, did you notice how heartily he shook hands with me?"
"Yes, I did," replied his friend.

The other looked at him thoughtfully for a moment. Then he said: "Yes, he took both your hands because he's very careful of his watch!" —Los Angeles Times.

Naturally Proud
"There goes a proud man—a man to be envied; a man who holds himself high in the world. He is indeed! What has he done?"

The Markets

By the Associated Press.

FINANCIAL

Wall Street

Day's total sales, 958,000 shares.

Twenty Industrials averaged 97.87; net gain, .56. High, 1922; 103.43; low, 73.59.

Twenty railroads averaged 86.24; net gain, .92. High, 1922; 93.95; low, 73.43.

New York, Dec. 21.—Buying operations of professional interests, particularly in the oil group, and a broader investment demand for some of the high grade railroad shares, imparted a strong tone to prices in today's stock market.

By far the most interesting feature was the sensational rise in Mexican Petroleum, which opened at 25 1/2, up four points, and a new record for the year, and then soared to 32 1/2, often jumping five and ten points between sales, all of which was held by the market.

At the close where it represented a net gain of 42 points on the day. Buying of the stock, generally believed to have resulted from belated covering, operations of venturesome short interests although speculative anticipation of more favorable dividend action, and the fact that the company was contemplating acquisition of property in the new Snackover field may have been contributing factors. The day's sales totaled only about 2,000 shares.

Railroad shares were inclined to be sluggish in the early part of the session but they became quite active later in response to some heavy buying of Reading, Lehigh Valley, New York Central and Union Pacific, all of which moved up one to two points.

Part-American issues were heavily traded in following the remarkable report in Mexican Petroleum—approximately 95 per cent of the stock of which is owned by the Pan-American company. The "A" stock gained 1 1/2 and the "B" 3/4. Other strong spots in the oil group were Royal Dutch, General Asphalt, Standard Oil of New Jersey and California, Cosden, Houston, Tidewater, Associated and Pacific Oil, the gains ranging from one to five points.

Baldwin gained the advance of standard industrial, closing at 131 1/2, a net gain of 3 1/2. Ford Greek Coal touched 31 1/2, the highest price in ten years, on reports of its purchase by Henry Ford.

Announcement that the seasonal shutdown in the motor industry would be shorter than usual this year, because of the unprecedented year-end activity, resulted in a brisk buying of Studebaker, which advanced 1 1/2, and later, reacting to 13 1/2, where it was up 1 1/2 on the day. Motor accessories also were strong. Declaration of a semi-annual dividend of 1 1/2 per cent on Marine preferred, which was announced after the market closed, came as a surprise to Wall Street, which had expected the dividend would be omitted altogether. The stock closed fractionally higher.

Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent and held at that rate until just before the close when it advanced to 5. The time money business continued quiet with 4 1/2 per cent bid and 5 per cent offered for the week. The market for 90-day loans being arranged at 4 1/2. Little new commercial paper is being placed.

coming into the market, the rate holding at 4 1/2 per cent.

this connection, special notice was taken of the fact that for the first time in quite a while United States wheat was quoted in Liverpool at the same figures as wheat from Canada.
