TRIAL OF GUEST BEGINS HERE IN DISTRICT COURT

Is Accused of Assaulting a 15-Year-Old Girl; Defense Gains an Important Break, Is Belief

It was generally considered about the courthouse yesterday that the defense had gained its first important break in the case of the state versus Richard Guest. The break came just before the close of the session for the day, when Judge Reed Holloman, judge of the First Judicial court, who is presiding in the case, decided that the testimony of Charles Murphy, he taken at his bedside in the hospital, Murphy has been called as a witness for the defense. Guest is being tried on a charge of having committed a serious crime against Ethel Patterson, a 15-year-old girl.

Francis B. Wood, chief attorney for the defense, informed the court that Murphy is one of the most important witnesses for the defense. He said that the witness is confined to St. Joseph's sanatorium, suffering with tuberculosis, and that it would be serious to affect his condition to be moved. He asked that the court, the district attorney and the defense visit the hospital and take the testimony and submit it to the jury later.

Garcia Objects
Ernest B. Garcia, district attorney, objected on the grounds that it would be unfair to the state. He said he had no wish to affect the man's condition but would prefer to have the witness brought before the court so that he might be cross examined before the jury if it were possible. Judge Holloman ruled that there are provisions to cover such a case. He decided that the district attorney, the defense attorney, the accused and the principal witness for the state, Ethel Patterson, would go to St. Joseph's sanatorium at 10 o'clock last night. The testimony was taken by Claude Hutto, court reporter, and will be submitted to the jury some time today.

Jury Is Selected
It required the entire morning yesterday to select the jury in the case. Alvin Blum, mechanic for the Quiklet Auto company, was the final juror accepted. He was the thirty-third juror examined. The other jurors selected are: P. A. Nohl, Santa Fe conductor; C. H. Hayden, manager of the Guarantee Clothing company; C. B. Miller, restaurant proprietor; F. W. Hamm, of the Continental Oil company; Luis Candelaria, mechanic at the Santa Fe shops; W. L. Hawkins, of the Hawkins Grocery company; George P. Learnard, music dealer; Fred Canfield, insurance and real estate agent; W. L. Morrow, Jr., proprietor of the Mexican Auto company; H. Schweizer, manager of the Harvey news and curio stand; E. G. Read, insurance and real estate agent.

Judge Holloman queried the attorneys for the state and the defense before opening the afternoon session, as to whether or not they thought it would be necessary to hold a night session. Both sides stated they believed the case could be concluded by this afternoon without a night session. Judge Holloman then ruled that the night session would be dispensed with for last night at least.

Witnesses Excluded
Before the afternoon session was opened the court asked the attorneys if they wished to have the witness rule applied. Both sides did and the witnesses were ordered removed to a room where they could not overhear the proceedings.

The testimony and cross examination of Ethel Patterson, the 15-year-old girl whom Guest is accused of assaulting, was the principal witness for the state, occupied the court for exactly three and one-half hours yesterday afternoon. She took the stand at 1:30 a. m. and for a short recess did not leave it until 5 o'clock. Attorney Wood alone devoted more than two hours and 20 minutes to cross examination.

Tense Her Replies
Much of the girl's testimony was simply repetition of her testimony offered at the preliminary hearing, held before George Roddy, December 15. For the most part she was very terse in her replies to questions, excepting when she appeared to recent questions or the manner in which they were asked. She broke down only once during the hearing. That was when she described an episode she declared occurred when she accompanied Guest in an automobile. It was necessary for her to take a short time to control herself before she was able to continue.

Upon the life of Stephen O'Mara, formerly a trustee of the Irish republican fund deposited in New York and now a prisoner of the Irish Free State, hinges the disposal of the suit of the Free State to recover the $2,000,000 in securities. Free State attorneys have tied up the fund by injunction, which will be vacated unless O'Mara is brought to New York to testify at the hearing.

During the cross-examination Attorney Wood asked: "Isn't it true that you love Conrad?" "Yes, I do," she replied. "And you would do anything to protect Conrad, wouldn't you?" "Yes, sir," she answered. "I do."

"And you hate Captain Guest, don't you?" asked Wood. "Yes, sir, I do."

"And you knew that Captain Guest was trying to break up the affair between you and Conrad, didn't you?" "Yes, sir."

"And the next day after you learned that he was going to break up the affair between you and Conrad you decided to smash him, didn't you? It was the next day after you found out he was going to break up the affair between you and Conrad that you told on him, wasn't it?"

"Yes it was. And it was him I knew he wanted to break it up so he could have me all the time."

Later Wood asked: "Wasn't your father very angry about your affair with Conrad?" "And didn't you know that if your father thought Conrad had got you in trouble he would kill Conrad?" "Wasn't you afraid your father would do that?"

"Yes, sir," she replied. "But I WAS Captain Guest. He did it. It WAS nobody else."

Later she was asked by District Attorney Garcia what she meant when she said she would do anything to protect the boy, Conrad Gallegos. He asked if she meant by that statement that she would lie for him.

"No, sir. I would not," she replied. "But if Conrad had gotten you in trouble would you tell it on him. Would you tell this jury about that?"

"Yes, sir, I would." The reply was given emphatically.

Asked About a Book
In explanation of her statement that she had previously made as to asking the Gallegos boy about a book, she said that the boy had asked her why she went with Captain Guest so much. She said that she had told him about her alleged relations with Guest and had asked him about a book to help her in her trouble.

"How did you know about this book, Ethel?" Didn't Conrad tell you about it?" Wood asked. "No, he didn't. I just knew it."

"Well, how did you know about it then? Didn't someone tell you about it?"

"No, Ethel," Wood asked, "are you sure about that. Think, now. Think, Ethel. Didn't someone tell you about the book?"

"No, they didn't. I just knew it."

Meeting Will Be Held Today to Suggest Needs of Situation; Santa Fe Experts Coming Soon

A meeting of the engineers' committee will be called for a convenient hour today by City Manager J. J. Connelley. The purpose of the meeting is to consider the Coal Avenue viaduct situation and to make recommendations as to the need for overhead transportation facilities at that point. The report of the committee is expected to have an important bearing on the city's future attitude, as the engineers probably will express an opinion as to whether a new viaduct is needed. Representatives of the engineering department of the Santa Fe railway will be here early next week to investigate the situation from the viewpoint of the railway.

"You Are Wanted on the Phone"

YOU are prompt to respond to the ring of your phone. The very idea that some one has a personal message for you intrigues your interest.

Has it ever occurred to you that back of every advertisement in this paper there is some one with a personal message for you? More often than not these advertisements were written with you in mind. It is impossible for most merchants and manufacturers to give you a phone call about their goods, their wares or their services. So they pay us for the privilege of calling these things to your attention in our advertising columns.

Give an advertisement the same attention you give to a phone call. Many of them are just as important to you—and just as interesting. They will help you economize and keep posted on news of vital interest to you and your pocketbook.

EROSION MUST BE CONTROLLED SAYS LEOPOLD

Forest Service Expert Tells Kiwanians of Need for Government Assistance to Stop Damage

Government control of some of the natural resources of the southwest is necessary for the protection of the capability of the semi-arid regions to support human life. This was the conclusion reached by Aldo Leopold of the United States forest service in a paper on "Erosion as a Menace to the Social and Economic Future of the Southwest," read yesterday to the Kiwanis club.

Following is a summary of Mr. Leopold's remarks: "Grazing of arid lands induces erosion. Overgrazing is worse than conservative grazing, but any kind of grazing results in concentration of stock on the water courses and allows floods to tear out the adjacent lands."

Grazing of the southwest has resulted in the loss of many of the smaller agricultural valleys, and those which remain are threatened with similar loss.

These losses have been so gradual and so scattered that they are not generally known to the public. Nevertheless, they are comparable in area and value to the new lands artificially reclaimed.

These losses are especially serious because these small valleys are a "key resource," necessary to the utilization of the adjacent range and timber. They are also often the only economical routes for roads and the only fit places to establish homes with proper living conditions for family life.

These losses cannot in any proper sense be replaced by artificial reclamation of lands elsewhere, because the irrigable land in the southwest is all needed for future development, and to reduce the total possible irrigable area is to reduce the total possible ultimate development, already limited by nature.

In addition to the losses of agricultural lands along stream courses, much valuable range is being cut up by gullies, reducing the force and saving the remaining land.

Damage to Irrigation
All of this erosion is silt up reservoirs and limiting their life and amortization of the projects. It is also by clogging of channels, a main cause of seepage. This erosion has also covered up streams, exposed underground waters to evaporation, and lowered channels so that water can not be diverted for irrigation.

The prevention of further erosion is an obligation which will some day attach to the ownership of all land. In the meanwhile there are cheap methods by which further losses are often prevented.

These methods need further demonstration and development by our engineering, conservation and agricultural agencies, especially agricultural colleges.

One of the outstanding abuses in the erosion situation is the condition of the unreserved public domain. This must either be put under regulated use or passed to private control.

The southwest, and other semi-arid countries, can not be used by man without serious damage to its ultimate capacity for supporting man. This will necessitate government ownership of some natural resources, and government regulation of the use of all others. The use of land, the fundamental resource, must be put under government regulation.

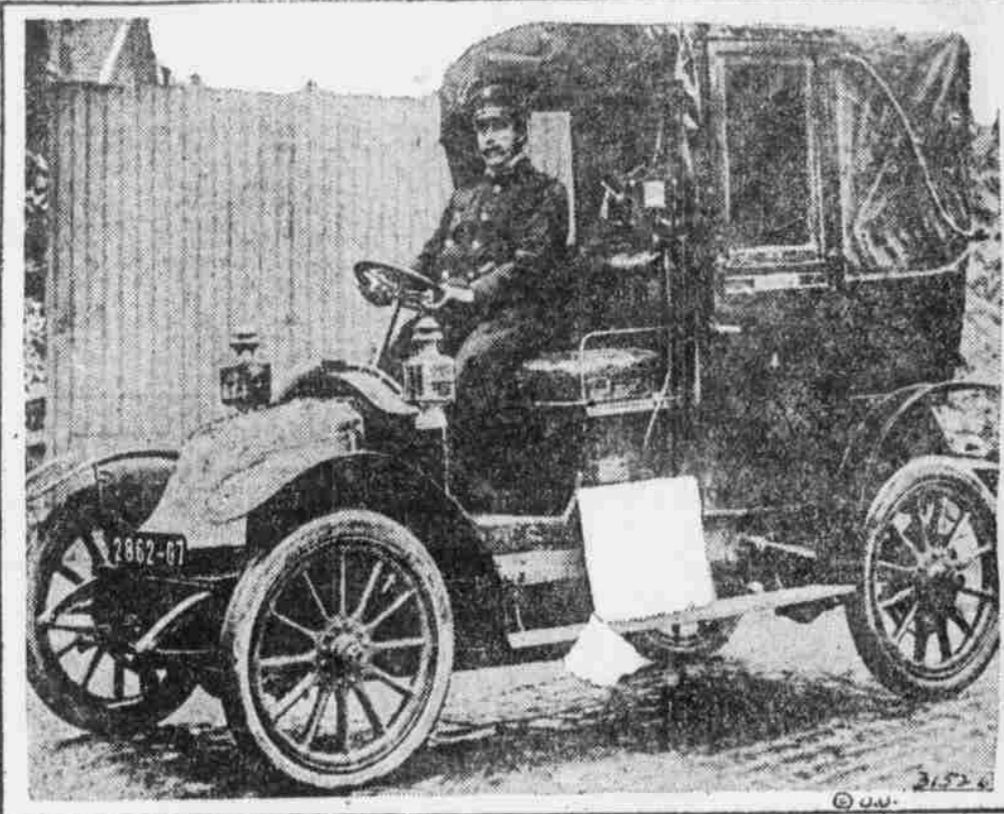

Invited to Santa Fe
The club yesterday had fourteen guests, among whom was Judge Reed Holloman of Santa Fe. The club received an invitation from the Santa Fe Kiwanis club to attend a meeting on Tuesday, January 2, from the incoming governor and the retiring governor, both Kiwanians, will be guests of honor. The attendance prize, given by Col. D. K. B. Sellers, was won by B. C. Hernandez. It consisted of an order on the Alvarado hotel for four New Year's dinners. The idea of the river was that the winner should take his wife, and another Kiwanian and wife for a jolly New Year's meal. D. M. Stevens gave lead pencils for the silent boost.

TAXI THAT HELPED SAVE FRANCE ENTERS MUSEUM

The taxi, with its driver, M. Louis Gouault, who drove it.

Taxis usually are considered nuisances, especially by pedestrians. But the French government thinks enough of the one above to install it in the war museum of the Hotel des Invalides, Paris. This rickety old cab was a veteran in service when the war broke out eight years ago. It was commandeered with every other taxi in the nation to rush troops to the front to halt the Germans' march on Paris. Louis Gouault, the driver, although then forty-four, stuck by his wheel and piloted the machine through those hectic days. Recently he drove the cab, bullet-ridden and creaking with age, into the museum.

AMERICANS JOIN IN A TRIBUTE TO PASTEUR'S WORK

Messages of Appreciation Read at the Centenary Celebration of the French Scientist's Birth

Philadelphia, Dec. 27.—Messages of appreciation of the great humanitarian work accomplished by Louis Pasteur were read here today from President Harding, Woodrow Wilson, Chief Justice Taft, and many others at the centenary celebration of the French scientist's birth. Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, spoke of him as the greatest of the immortal of France. "The wonderful advances of medicine and surgery are the direct result of Pasteur's life and work," said President Harding's message. "Already many infectious diseases have been conquered and as a result the length of human life has been increased. America has been among the first nations to apply Pasteur's work to practical use. The building of the Panama canal was made possible by knowledge of the germs of yellow fever."

Pasteur was hailed as "one of the greatest benefactors of the human race in all history" by Chief Justice Taft.

Dr. Etienne Burnett, director of the Pasteur Institute at Tunis, Africa, arrived at the centenary celebration was concluded. He was sent as a special representative by the French government and made the voyage across the Atlantic in the French liner La Savane, which was delayed by storm and fog.

GROVER C. BERGDOLL REPORTED EN ROUTE TO PORT ON THE GULF.

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 27.—With the telegraphic announcement that Grover C. Bergdoll of Philadelphia, the noted slacker, had left Germany on a merchant vessel and was en route to a gulf port, every ship and its crew was questioned here today. It was later learned that the German steamship Jupiter was about to arrive and that Bergdoll is a member of that crew. That he sailed is definitely announced by German authorities.

ANTI-GAMBLING ORDER IS HELD UP BY COURT

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 27.—A restraining order directed against the city, preventing enforcement of the anti-race track gambling ordinance which was to have become effective tomorrow, was signed late today by Circuit Judge Harry J. Dingeman. The order is effective until after a hearing January 15. The action was taken by a local newspaper which objects to that part of the ordinance which forbids publication of race results and race odds.

PLANTING SEED WHEAT BY PLANE IN CALIFORNIA

Machine Is Partly Wrecked but a Second Attempt to Be Made as Soon as Another Is Obtained

Fresno, Calif., Dec. 27.—Forced to land in Tolare Lake bottom mud, an airplane piloted by Dick Deane, flying for Loxis C. Thornton, was partly wrecked shortly after noon today, delaying experiments with planting seed wheat from the air over 20,000 acres of Kings county farm lands. Deane and a mechanic were uninjured, the ship nosing over and breaking minor parts in the collision with the ground.

A second attempt to complete the experiment, which is being watched with interest by about fifty Kings county reclamation district land owners, will be made as soon as another plane from Thornton Field can be procured and equipped for the work, Thornton said.

Land included in the aerial seeding plan lies both within an unprotected area of the lake and behind a levee built to hold back lake waters, according to Harry Eastwood, author of the seeding plan, and representatives of owners in that territory.

Soil is of a rich floury nature, requiring no cultivation or turning previous to planting, Eastwood said.

It is the belief of Eastwood, he said, that grain dropped from an airplane will automatically plant itself by the force of gravity from 100 feet altitude.

SLEEPING SICKNESS REPORTED IN COUNTY

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 27.—Another case of encephalitis lethargica, or "sleeping sickness," has been reported in Bernalillo county, the third in the last month. Since the public health bureau began keeping records, two persons have died from this disease in Bernalillo county, one an employee of the Santa Fe who was brought into the city to be treated, and the other a resident of the city whose name was not given out as the records are regarded as confidential matter.

Dr. George S. Luckett, public health director, said nobody had discovered how this disease was spread, or what caused it; but it was known not to be highly contagious, since rarely two persons in the same family had the disease. There was no connection between the two deaths in Bernalillo county, he said.

It was stated here yesterday that the most recent cases reported from here might not be sleeping sickness, as developments since the first diagnosis seem to indicate that it is no so serious an ailment.

Los Angeles, Dec. 27.—A man who the police say is J. R. Anderson, convicted train bandit, who saved his way out of the Texas state prison last October, was captured here today. The police say they learned of his whereabouts through an anonymous letter, which read: "You have done me a good turn, now I can do you one. If you want Anderson, he's at this county hospital."

CLASHES IN ITALY

London, Dec. 27.—A dispatch to the Central News from Rome reports sanguinary encounters at various places during the Christmas holidays between fascists and communists. At Plana, near Venice, communists destroyed fascist manifestos. During the disturbances two persons were killed and many wounded.

WIFE OF LENIN IS HIS ACTIVE AIDE

Washington, Dec. 27.—Woodrow Wilson is expected to spend the greater part of his sixty-sixth birthday tomorrow quietly in his home, although it is understood he probably will receive a delegation during the afternoon.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation, it was announced tonight, will send a delegation to the residence of the former president at 3 o'clock to extend birthday greetings and inform him of progress in its effort to raise a $1,000,000 fund to advance ideas enunciated by him while president.

The delegation will be headed by Hamilton Holt of New York, executive director of the foundation.

THE FANNING HIVE

By NORMAN E. BROWN
The Best
All around utility player
In baseball leaves the majors with the passing of Harold Janvrin, late of the Brooklyn Dodgers to the Seattle club of the Pacific coast league.

Janvrin served little time as a regular during his career in the big leagues, dating from 1913 to the present winter. It was as substitute that he drew his pay—and earned it.

Janvrin jumped from the high school diamond to the major leagues. He was playing with his school team in Boston in 1911 when grabbed by the Red Sox. They gave him a tryout that summer and then sent him to Jersey City in 1913 to acquire a finish. The next year he returned to the Red Sox and played there until war interrupted his career in 1917. When he re-entered the game the Washington Senators acquired him and he played the role of utility man for Grif until sold outright to the Buffalo club in the International league in 1919.

Branch Rickey of the Cards wanted him, however, and bought him from the International league club before that season ended. In 1920 Janvrin played such a brilliant game whenever he was sent in that the Brooklyn Dodgers decided they needed him—he had even played first for Rickey—so Manager Robinson traded Jeff Janvrin for Janvrin and Ferdie Schuff.

The greatest job of subbing Janvrin did, if memory serves me correctly, was when he was called into the breach by the Red Sox during the pennant race of 1916. As the race tightened down to the closing weeks Jack Barry, brilliant second sacker, was injured. Janvrin was forced to play his post. The eyes of the American league were on Janvrin when he took the field. His playing was all that could have been asked of even the great Barry.

SOCIETY

HOWDEN-HORTON WEDDING TO TAKE PLACE TODAY

The social event of the holiday season will be the wedding this evening of Miss Angelica Howden to Herbert Lorenzo Horton of Des Moines, Iowa, which will take place at 6 o'clock in St. John's Cathedral church. Several hundred invitations have been issued, and it is expected that the church will be crowded. There will be a number of out-of-town guests, as well as the friends of Miss Howden and Mr. Horton living in the city.

Miss Howden will be given away by her eldest brother, Douglas Howden of New York city, who came west for the wedding. Her father, the Right Reverend Frederick B. Howden, bishop of the diocese, will perform the marriage ceremony. Miss Elsie Howden, her sister, will be her only attendant, and Van Horton, a brother of Herbert Horton, will be best man. Mabel and Bobby MacDonald will be flower bearers.

Miss Lois Le Seur was among the many young hostesses who received her school girl friends at a Christmas "at home" on Monday morning. Her guests were the high school boys and girls of sophomore age, twenty of whom called during the course of the morning. A huge Christmas tree drew its share of admiration, and to add to the delight of the occasion, each caller was given a Christmas stocking filled with good things. There was dancing, and to remember the occasion, much "kiddie" was done.

Bliss will debate the question, "Resolved: That the custom of giving gifts at Christmas time should not be continued." Mr. Bliss will present his arguments as to why it should not be continued, and Mr. Espinosa, as to why they should.

Wilds of Batesville, Ark., and Miss Beatrice Hill, who is home from Stanford university for the holidays, were the guests at a family dinner party given by Mrs. Herbert Galles, granddaughter of Mrs. Wilds and cousin of Miss Hill's, at her home on West Marquette avenue, Tuesday evening. Eighteen guests were seated at a large table made bright with red candles and evergreen, and with red ribbons hanging from the chandelier and weighted with tiny bells. The room was lighted entirely by candles. Santa Claus place cards added to the holiday aspect of the table. After dinner, there were impromptu musical numbers by Miss Niles Strumquist and Herbert Galles, Jr., who played several violin duets.

Y. W. C. A. HOTEL GUESTS HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

The guests of the Y. W. C. A. had a Christmas tree, Christmas gifts and a big Christmas breakfast in the lobby of the hotel on North Second street on Christmas day. With the aid of a few friends of the hotel—friends who gave liberally of their time as well as of their substance—an effort altogether delightful was produced. In the lobby a table, covered with snow and holding a miniature chimney, was piled with small gifts for every guest, the gifts being cleverly buried under the snow. After the fun of digging in the "snow" for the presents was over, breakfast was served buffet style, with hot coffee, hot chocolate, home-made cookies and Christmas cake. This cake, made and donated by Miss Lena Sjostron, was enticingly iced in chocolate with

One of the many Christmas parties, which have come so thick and fast that it has been difficult to keep up with them, was the dinner for fifteen guests given Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gallies at their home on West Marquette avenue. Interesting and novel decorations were made by the tables, prettiest of these being individual Christmas trees made of apples covered with red, green paper and surmounted by a sprig of Christmas tree, which made a miniature and bright Christmas tree. Pays in every way. If I wasn't good, hadn't kept myself from doing wrong things, and Mrs. Roberts never would have been so sweet to me. She would have known. No one could pretend with her. 200 MORE TREES FOR CHRISTMAS USED THIS YEAR

Forest Service Notices Big Increase in Permits Applied For; No Loss to the Timber

Two hundred more Christmas trees were taken from the Maricao national forest this year than were removed last year. Supervisor Kartchner said yesterday that 750 permits were issued for sales purposes and for household use. The permits for household use were issued from where only one tree was taken by each family. Mr. Kartchner said that the plan of allowing trees to be taken from sections that are too thickly wooded is a benefit to the trees that are left. Christmas greens were used more lavishly this year in decorations of churches, homes, offices and places of business than has been the case for several years.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Don't forget to drain your rubber boots after having worn them in the rain. It will prevent rotting.

A Small Economy

Save all good-sized glass jars; they are excellent containers for dry groceries, such as rice, tapioca, etc.

Moist Cake

A grated potato added to the chocolate cake batter will prevent dryness and yet will not alter the chocolate flavor.

Hanging Curtains

Use a thimble on the end of the rod when running it through curtains. It will prevent tears in the material and will slide through easily.

To Remove Shine

Shine can be easily and quickly removed from the shoulders and elbow of gowns by a gentle friction with emery paper. Rub just enough to raise a little nap.

Measuring Glasses

Medicine should never be measured in spoons, as they vary so in size. Every medicine closet should be equipped with a small marked glass made specially for this purpose.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the friends of my daughter, Mrs. J. J. Beckham, for the kindness shown during her illness and death.

Theaters Today

"B" Theater—Repeating today for the last time, Gloria Swanson as the leading character in "The Great Zerkow," one of the best Paramount pictures at the "B" for several months; also repeating Charlie Chaplin as the funny character in one of his best, "Shoulder Arms."

Lyric Theater—Wesley Barry, in "Blame to Riches," will leave the Lyric after the last show tonight. It is a great picture, with a great little chap playing the leading roles, and don't miss seeing it today. Also repeating the "Andy Gump" cartoons, and the pictures of the "Goldwyn Sport Reviews."

Pastime Theater—William Fox presents the wonder picture, "My Friend the Devil," based on Georges Ohnet's famous novel, "Doctor Rameau," with an all-star cast; also showing Snub Pollard in "355 Days."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AT "B" TODAY FOR LAST TIME IN GREAT PLAY

Charles Chaplin, the greatest screen comedian of all time, makes his last appearance this afternoon and tonight at the "B" theater in his funniest comedy, "Shoulder Arms." This production is conceded by all critics to be Chaplin's biggest and best comedy. Over a year was required to film the picture at an enormous expense, while the story is one that holds the interest at the very time producing laugh after laugh. If you haven't seen this picture, today is your last chance.—Adv.

"Silks," says The Fairchild News Service, "will play a most prominent role in women's spring apparel. Crepes continue to be the most prominent." This is what comes from all this husband-shooting business.—American Lumberman (Chicago).

Penny Shopping—A great deal of man's shopping is done by women, and well do the dry goods merchants realize this.

Masculine garb is conspicuously displayed along aisles through which women are to be seen, and where feminine attire is to be had, with prices attached that obviously make a bid for feminine rather than masculine favor.

A man would rather go a block out of his way to shop where neckties and dimes, and not pennies, will be handed him in change—for man has no way to get rid of coppers and woman has many ways of disposing them; for wherever women shop there one finds the fractional prices.

That diving may be looked upon as a profession for women is demonstrated by Miss Margaret Naylor, Great Britain's woman diver, who is searching in Tombrory bay, Scotland, for treasure left by a ship of the Spanish armada. A ship of fathoms is nothing to Miss Naylor.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Don't forget to drain your rubber boots after having worn them in the rain. It will prevent rotting.

A Small Economy

Save all good-sized glass jars; they are excellent containers for dry groceries, such as rice, tapioca, etc.

Moist Cake

A grated potato added to the chocolate cake batter will prevent dryness and yet will not alter the chocolate flavor.

Hanging Curtains

Use a thimble on the end of the rod when running it through curtains. It will prevent tears in the material and will slide through easily.

To Remove Shine

Shine can be easily and quickly removed from the shoulders and elbow of gowns by a gentle friction with emery paper. Rub just enough to raise a little nap.

Measuring Glasses

Medicine should never be measured in spoons, as they vary so in size. Every medicine closet should be equipped with a small marked glass made specially for this purpose.

IRRIGATION FARM TROUBLES

Agricultural conditions have been particularly hard on the farmers in the western irrigation projects, especially the more recent ones. Governor Shoup of Colorado recently wrote to Secretary Fall asking that the government defer the payment due this month on the Uncompahgre project. The farmers are not even able to pay their taxes, he says, and payment of the money due the government on the twenty-four year plan is impossible. Insistence on prompt payment, he adds, would drive the farmers off their farms and ruin many irrigation communities.

It is proverbial that irrigation settlers always have hard times. It used to be said that the pioneers in "ditch-farming" always went broke and disappeared and then a new generation came in and inherited the benefits of their hard work and sacrifice. There has been less of that in recent years, owing largely to more enlightened handling of the problem. At this time, when agriculture in general is in distress and Washington is busy with relief measures, those who are toiling to make the deserts bloom should be shown every possible consideration.

THE ROOT OF THE EVIL

Dr. Johnson, after witnessing the performance of a famous actress said to her, "No one, Madam, could have put more life into the death scene than you did." One of the favorites of the moving picture drama of today tells us that he "makes his living by dying" and that getting killed is a regular event in his life.

And herein doubtless lies the secret of the successful actor, living the part, as well as playing it. This is particularly true of the film drama of today. The screen is suitable for productions which are not adaptable to the living stage and it may be said that a play which is a tremendous success as a moving picture would be a failure on the now style legitimate stage.

In former days, when histrionic art represented the life which it portrayed, men and women who impersonated kings and queens and courtiers emulated them, not only in the actual playing of the part, but so far as it was possible acquired such "atmosphere" as would give the part the color and aspect of reality. And this is no less true of the men and women who seek to excel in the film drama. It may be said to be the cause of much of the criticism which is directed against the screen, but the majority of the plays which are represented on it reflect the life of the underworld. Acting is acting and, after all, even though an audience does not look upon the actor himself, what it sees is the product of the living man.

So long as the present standard of screen production prevails and meets with public approbation, criticism of the conditions which are responsible for it is hypocritical. The public usually gets what it demands and if the moving picture drama has not succeeded in attaining its highest possibilities as a medium of instruction and entertainment, it is due to the fact that it is a reflex of the popular demand.

TO CURE CRIME

Dr. Vernon L. Briggs, expert on criminology, wants to "fight the crime wave exactly as we fight disease epidemics." He suggests three steps as part of the process:

1. Abolish capital punishment.
2. Sentence criminals guilty of capital crime to life imprisonment and let science study their cases.
3. Establish "habit clinics" in every city for subnormal and abnormal children between 2 and 7 to prevent possible future criminality.

It is a suggestive program. Manifestly present methods of crime prevention are not effective, or murders, for instance, would not be three times as common today as they were twenty years ago. Points one and two are possible steps toward reform.

As for the third point, "Give me a child until he is seven and I care not who has him afterward," said the philosopher. Train him in those early years to good physical, mental and moral habits, and the development of criminality later will be far more rare.

It is significant that those who have made a study of crime are seldom vindictive in their suggestions. Experience has shown them that what is vindictive is seldom constructive. That is why their advice is worth heeding.

TODAY'S BEST THOUGHT

APRIL SHOWERS IN DECEMBER
Many bards have told the story
Of the beauty and the glory
Of the ice-clad and the snow-bound mountain peaks.

And some have sung the praise
Of their childhood's happy days
In a flowery clime where nature gently speaks.

But how many have we heard
Ever say a single word—
While writing of some forest in September—
Of the land by sunshine blest—
Our Wonderful Southwest—
Where they give you April showers in December?

The Markets

By the Associated Press.

FINANCIAL

Day's total sale, 1,036,300 shares.

Twenty Industrials averaged 99.24; net gain, 18. High, 1922; 102.47; low, 73.82.

Twenty Railroads averaged 85.58; net loss, 41. High, 1922; 93.99; low, 73.43.

New York, Dec. 27.—Speculators for the advance endeavored to continue marking up stocks in today's market but they ran into heavy profit taking and short selling with the result that the list presented a decidedly irregular appearance at the close.

Bulldown was taken in hand early in the session and pushed up 4 1/2 points to 129 1/2, the highest price for the year, and American Locomotive advanced three points in sympathy, but few of the other standard industrials were able to make much headway.

While stock sales crossed the million share mark, chief interest in the financial markets was centered in the further rise in cotton prices, new high records for the year being established by all months, bringing the price of raw cotton to approximately $12.50 a bale above the quotation prevailing a few weeks ago. Prices reacted later on profit taking.

There was a continued lack of speculative interest in railroad shares, with decided reactions in the stocks of roads showing poor November earnings statements. Lackawanna dropped to 125 today, but rallied later to 127, where it was off 1 1/2 on the day. Norfolk & Western, which reported a deficit of $171,000 in net income in November, as against an increase of $141,000 in the same month last year, dropped to 110 1/2 for a net loss of 1 1/2 points. Losses of a point or more also took place in Great Northern preferred, Canadian Pacific and Northern Pacific.

The New York Central system showed an increase of $7,336,000 in gross last month over November, 1921, but a decrease of $23,000 in net. The Southern Pacific system showed an increase of $2,160,000 in gross and an increase of $2,278,000 in net, and the Union Pacific system an increase of $1,373,000 in gross and an increase of $1,810,000 in net. Generally, the November showing is considered satisfactory.

Fiber Board, in which there was some speculative selling yesterday, moved up 4 1/2 points today. Some of the other outstanding strong stocks were American Sugar, Eastman Kodak, International Nickel preferred, Producers and Refiners, Kresge, Pierce, Oil preferred and Piggly Wiggly, the last named at a new top, the gains ranging from two to 4 1/2 points, and Du Pont Powder up 9 1/2.

Stromberg-Carlson established a new peak price at 71, dropped to 66 on profit taking and short selling and rallied to 67 1/2, where it was off 3 1/2 on the day.

Stewart-Warner Speedometer also touched a new top at 77, but was off fractionally on the day at its final price of 75 1/2. Market heaviness was also noted in General Electric, General Anhalt preferred, Lorillard Tobacco, and Chicago Pneumatic Tool, off three to four points, and Mexican Petroleum off nine. Marine preferred dropped below 43 for an other new low record, but rallied to 43 1/2 at the close.

Call money was firm, opening at 5 per cent and advancing to 5 1/2 before the close.

The time money and commercial paper markets were dull with no change in rates.

Foreign exchanges reacted slightly on a large volume of business. Late business in demand sterling was done at $4.64 1/2 or 3/4 below last night, while French francs dropped 19 1/2 points to 7.19 cents. German marks slumped from 1.47 to 1.25 cents a hundred in reflection of the reparations commission declaring Germany in default in her wood deliveries to France. The Canadian dollar was at a discount of 1 cent.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President
American Society for Thrift.

It is well to bear in mind that one of the greatest sources of human happiness is work. And this is a truth that could be more widely learned to advantage. Two many follow the rule that the more work they can avoid the greater will be their happiness. Waste of time is a form of thriftlessness that is as destructive of rightful pleasure as waste of money or waste of health. Work alone brings happiness, because work is creative and up-building. All the instincts of the human race which have been responsible for humanity's development have found their fulfillment only in work.

every realm of man's activities, whether it be spiritual, mental or physical, human experience has shown that progress alone has come through work. This does not mean that there is no rightful place in life for play, or that diversion is not in accordance with good thrift. It is a matter of common sense that life can not be made up entirely of labor. There would be little if any progress in a material way under such a condition, and, in the finer things of life, there would be absence of all development. You cannot transform a man into a machine and get human results. But, within the bounds of the average routine of life, work brings the most satisfying happiness—work that is right, up-building and helpful.

Happiness through work is one of the fundamentals that can be continually counted on. It is a splendid type of true, constructive thrift.

DO YANKEES WANT HIM WITH EDDIE?

Washington, Dec. 27.—Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, 28 years superintendent of the International Reform Bureau which he founded and widely known because of his activities on behalf of prohibition and similar movements, died at a hospital here today of pneumonia. He was 74 years old.

Dr. Crafts, charged by opponents of legislation he sponsored with being a "reform fanatic," was for years a picturesque figure in congressional lobbies and committee rooms. By those in sympathy with his policies he was credited with having an influential part in enactment of prohibition, of laws to restrict the use of narcotics and of legislation of a similar nature.

Outspoken in his opposition to Sunday amusements, Dr. Crafts sought to have them banned by legislation. He also endeavored to prevent the holding of the Dempsey-Carpenter bout in New Jersey in the summer of 1921. He was a prolific writer on moral questions. After funeral services here tomorrow, the body will be sent to Westbury, N. Y., for burial.

EXPORTS OF COTTON

October exports of cotton totaled $38,664,000 valued at $109,323,769.

GALLUP STORE ROBBED BY MEN WITH A WAGON

Dry Goods and Jewelry Valued at $600 Are Taken on Christmas Night From Yoniss Establishment

Special to The Journal.

Gallup, Dec. 27.—One of the most daring robberies ever known in Gallup took place Christmas night when persons drove up to the back door of the Yoniss dry goods store and after breaking in the door loaded about $600 worth of dry goods onto their wagon and drove away without being detected or caught. Persons passing noted a wagon to which was hitched a single horse standing in the alley back of the store. It is believed that the goods were carried away on this wagon.

The proprietor stated that as far as he could determine about $600 worth of goods had been stolen. The material taken was mostly ready to wear garments but some toilet articles and jewelry were also taken.

There seems to have been several persons in the robbery, as it would be hardly possible for one or two persons to carry it out successfully as it was done. The eight marshals heard several shots fired in the north end of town and went there to see if he could learn what the shooting was about. It is now believed that the shots were fired to decoy the marshals away from the town section during the robbery. He found no disturbance of any kind at the location where he believed the shots were fired.

The robbers made a complete get-away and left absolutely no trace of what direction they had taken or whether they left town with their loot. It is believed that the robbery was done by local parties who were familiar with the inside of the store. It is evident that they knew from observation that the back door could be easily pried from its hinges.

LA RUE'S WOUND WAS INFLICTED BY SELF, CORONER'S JURY FINDS

A coroner's jury empaneled by Justice George E. Roddy held an inquest yesterday in the undertaking establishment of Fred Crollott and returned a verdict to the effect that Thomas N. La Rue had "come to his death from a wound self inflicted, said wound being made by a razor held in the hand of the deceased."

La Rue is the man who committed suicide Tuesday afternoon in the rear of his home, 415 West Lead avenue. The body will be sent to La Rue's former home in El Paso for burial.

The members of the coroner's jury were R. O. Archuleta, Arthur B. Hall, Tim Padilla, B. L. Mark, Augustus Padilla and Bert Spain.
