NO BROOKES INVESTIGATION

Gov. W. C. McDonald Denies That the Adjutant-General Is Accused

THE KILLING AT MOUNTAINAIR

Victim Was Under Indictment for Attempted Robbery and Torture.

The two following sums of money were received in the office of State Treasurer O. N. Marron this morning: R. P. Ervien, land commissioner, $10,386.58; Imperial Fire Insurance Company, $1.

Company Changed Name.

The insurance department was this morning notified by the Frankfort Main, Accident and Plate Glass Insurance Company of Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, that it has changed its name to the Frankfort General Insurance Company.

Insurance Company Desires Admittance.

The American Casualty Company of Tacoma, Washington, this morning requested information and blanks of the department of insurance preparatory to applying for admission to do business in New Mexico.

Conservation Congress.

Colonel W. A. Fleming Jones of Las Cruces, who is a member of the executive committee of the National Conservation Congress writes that at a meeting of his committee held in St. Louis on the 10th inst., it was decided to hold the next session of the congress at Indianapolis, October 1, 2, 3, and 4th.

Wanted for Murder.

Jesus Oliverias alias Clemente Cariz is wanted for the killing of Doroteo Torrez according to a notice received in the office of the mounted police this morning from Sheriff Julius Meyer of Torrance county. The killing occurred at Mountainair Saturday morning the victims being stabbed in the heart following a quarrel over a debt. The dead man was one of five who were tried last December for alleged robbery of Epifanio Villi near Progresso two years ago and was under bond to appear at the next term of court.

Recent Supreme Court Decision.

Case No. 1427—Kelly Douglas, appellant vs. Territory of New Mexico, appellee. Appeal from the district court of Union county. Hanna and Parker, associate justices, and Mechem, district judge sitting. Opinion by Judge M. C. Mechem. The syllabus reads:

An instruction to the jury, "If verbal admissions or conversations have been testified to in this case, it is proper for you in weighing such testimony to take into consideration the imperfections, if they exist, which naturally, belongs to such testimony, held to comment on the weight of the evidence and therefore erroneous, under section 2994, C. S. 1897.

Remarkable Case!

Battery A of Roswell is in a tense state of excitement according to a local newspaper of that city. Captain M. S. Murray and Lieutenant C. H. DeBremont are said to have tendered their resignations to the governor and Adjutant General A. S. Brookes, is believed to be hanging on the ragged edge of a court martial, a court of inquiry by the war department or summary dismissal by Governor W. C. McDonald. To all this the governor replies: "No charges have been made to me. General Brookes is away. I do not care to discuss the matter."

So far as the governor is concerned this statement sets at rest the possibility of official action unless charges are officially preferred.

According to the same Roswell paper members of Battery A believe that General Brookes has been guilty of questionable methods in gaining his appointment, even charging the head of the state military organization with having threatened certain members of the battery with dishonorable discharge for having supported Captain Murray's candidacy for the position of adjutant general. The Roswell Morning News in which periodical the story appears, has gained its information from what it "believes to be reliable" sources. As a similar story appears in a recent issue of the Albuquerque Journal it might be presumed that this is one of the "reliable" sources. In regard to the account which appeared in the Albuquerque paper, Governor McDonald said: "The Journal's misinformation, as usual, is remarkable."

Spanish American Normal School.

This evening a meeting of the regents of the Spanish American Normal School at El Rito, will be held in this city.

No Appointments Made Yet.

A message from Governor Curry this afternoon, says: "No appointments for any of the land offices have been made."

Supreme Court.

In Case No. 1487, State ex rel Reed Holloman v. T. D. Lieb, an election contest, time was extended to June 3 to file answer.

In Case 1443, motion for rehearing denied.

In Case 1468, Western College, etc., appellee v. J. W. Turknett, appellant,

TAFT TROD ON COLONEL'S CORN

Says Roosevelt Appointed Commissions Without Regard to Law

NO COMPROMISE IS POSSIBLE

Former President Declares He Will Name Dark Horse. "He Will Be Me."

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Hamilton, Ohio, May 20.—President Taft in the last day of his campaign tour of Ohio, and in speech here today, made hot answer to Colonel Roosevelt's charge that he had abolished many important "commissions" appointed in the last administration by making the counter-charge that these commissions frequently had been unlawfully appointed. Mr. Taft again declared that Mr. Roosevelt evidently thought he was the Republican party. It was a speech that handled the former President without gloves, and the crowd broke in several times with cheers and applause.

Handled Without Gloves.

The President, in a discussion of the mining bureau bill, said: "Mr. Roosevelt says that he originated that bureau," that he appointed a commission which was abolished by Congress and that I am not entitled to any credit for the mining bureau bill. That offers a good illustration of his respect for the law. Whenever he thought it necessary without any authority of law, he would appoint a commission."

Colonel Had No Regard for Law.

Charging that Mr. Roosevelt had withdrawn millions of acres of land without warrant of law, the President pointed out that he had a statute making such withdrawals lawful and out on the books and then withdrew 100,000,000 acres.

"That is fair illustration between the difference of his administration and mine," concluded Mr. Taft.

"It shows the patience with which he regarded the law that limited his action."

Roosevelt's Campaign of Bluff.

Turning to Mr. Roosevelt's comment on the way delegates have been selected in many states, the President said the Roosevelt contests were made as the basis of a campaign of "bluffs."

Roosevelt Served Notice.

Cambridge, Ohio, May 20.—Roosevelt served notice today that he would resist any compromise at the Republican national convention.

"There can be no compromise," he said here. "Some of our opponents are saying that neither Mr. Taft nor I should be nominated. I'll name the compromise candidate. He will be me."

Not Ordinary Factional Fight.

"If this was an ordinary factional fight between mere factions, a compromise would be all right. But this is not an ordinary factional fight. This is a conflict between the voters who make up at least eighty or ninety per cent of the Republican party on the one side, and on the other side the men who have assumed to boss the Republican party without reference to the wishes of the majority of the voters."

No Compromise Possible.

"When the two forces opposed are of that stamp, there can be no compromise. I am not surprised at the statement of two Taft delegates that they would be delighted to abandon Mr. Taft and take a dark horse if they could get any votes by it. Take the country as a whole, and the men behind Mr. Taft don't care a rap for him; they would take any man if they could beat me."

NORTHERN PRESBYTERIANS WILL MEET AT ATLANTA.

Louisville General Assembly Advocates Old Age Pensions for Ministers.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Louisville, Ky., May 20.—Atlanta, Georgia, was selected today as host for the 1912 general assembly of the Northern Presbyterian church. Reports of committees, advocating the policy of providing definite pensions or annuities for all ministers based upon the period of service rendered, and the recommendation of a church-wide movement to secure a permanent endowment fund of $10,000,000 to be divided between the board of ministerial relief and that the ministerial sustentation fund, received the attention of the general assembly. The Woman's board of home missions convened in annual meeting today.

HOME BAKERY EXCHANGE ON NEXT SATURDAY.

On Saturday forenoon of this week, between 11 o'clock and noon, and again in the afternoon, a home bakery exchange will be held in the reference room in the public library. The proceeds are to go toward re-binding library books that have been worn out. It is seldom that an opportunity like this is offered to buy home-baked goods. Any donations will be gratefully received, and while patrons of the library especially are expected to attend, the general public is invited also.

WOULD "TALK, TALK, TALK"

Richeson Declared He Had so Much to Say Before His Death

SANG HYMNS AND PSALMS

Condemned Former Minister Says He Will Not Flinch From Chair.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Boston, Mass., May 20.—A desire that his execution might come speedily was apparently the dominating thought in the mind of Clarence V. T. Richeson as he rose from his prison bed today. The young Virginian, who shortly after midnight tonight probably will pay the penalty of his crime for the murder of Avis Linnell, has become reconciled to his fate and courageously faces the future.

"I'll Be Ready When You Want Me."

"I will be ready when you want me, Warden," he said to General Bridges late last night when that official paid him a brief visit. And he added: "Do not worry, I shall not break down."

Sang and Read Psalms.

Richeson bore up well through his last Sunday on earth. He even was cheerful as he sang hymns with Chaplain Herbert W. Stebbins until a late hour last night, several times repeating his favorite selection: "Sometime we'll understand." Then he would read from the psalms and his expostulations of the lessons were described by the chaplain as eloquent and learned.

Wants to "Talk, Talk, Talk."

It was not until daylight this morning that Richeson fell into a fitful sleep. Realizing that his hours were so few in number, the condemned man openly declared that he did not want to sleep. "I have so little time to live and have so much to say that I want to talk, talk, talk," he said.

No Relative to Console.

No relative of the former minister will console him in his last hours or pay him a farewell visit. His aged father in Virginia is too feeble to stand the journey. His sister in New York states she does not wish to have her last thought of her brother associated with a death cell. His brother, Douglas Richeson, of Chicago, although in the city today, declared last night that he would not go to the prison today, but would remain until after the execution to see to the disposition of the body. The Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, Richeson's spiritual adviser, and his counsel, William A. Morse, probably will accompany the body to Virginia, where it will be buried beside that of the young man's mother at Amherst court house.

Disposition of Effects.

The disposition of Richeson's effects has already been provided for in consultations between the prisoner and his counsel and through documents left with his counsel.

Slept Soundly.

The Rev. Dr. Johnson arrived at the prison just as Richeson awoke from a sound sleep. When Warden Bridges went to the death chamber Richeson said: "I am all right and in good condition." The condemned man had no appetite and did not touch his breakfast. Chaplain Stebbins who was in the chamber until Dr. Johnson arrived, said Richeson slept soundly during the early morning hours.

"At Peace With God and World."

Boston, Mass., May 20.—Richeson expressed a desire this afternoon to see his brother, Douglas Richeson, of Chicago, who is in the city. Douglas Richeson, however, decided that he would not go to his brother. The condemned man said today he had reconciled himself to his fate and "felt at peace with God and the world."

MEETING OF AD. MEN IN DALLAS

With Startling Noise or Decoration Delegations Arrived To-day

MEMBERSHIP NEARLY DOUBLED

Kinds and Methods of Advertising Are Discussed by National Clubs.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Dallas, Texas, May 20.—Advertising men from all parts of the nation reached Dallas today, each delegation coming with some startling variety of noise or decoration designed to impress others with the importance of the particular town from which each hailed. It was the signal for the beginning of the annual meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. Prior to the parade there were welcoming addresses by Governor Colquhoun and Mayor Holland.

Improvements in Method.

At a second business session reports of committees were heard and advertising men told of improvements in their methods of work. Julius Schneider, in an address on "The Organization Needs of Retail Advertising," said the "great and glaring fault of most big retail advertising is in-

WILSON ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Representative Akin Would Know How Secretary's Son Landed Job

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Crawford Proposes to Limit Inferior Federal Judges to Ten Years' Term

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Senate.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Met at noon; reports of majority upholding Senator Lorimer investigation committee submitted; majority upholding Senator Lorimer's right to retain his seat, minority condemning him.

Senator Crawford introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to limit terms of federal judges of inferior courts to ten years.

House.

Met at 11 a. m., and considered miscellaneous legislation on regular calendar. Representative Akin introduced resolution directing Secretary Wilson to report circumstances under which his son was appointed to position with a Colorado irrigation company.

Judiciary committee continued its investigation into charges against Judge Archibald, cross-examination of C. G. Holand being continued.

Secretary Wilson Asked to Explain.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Representative Akin of New York has introduced a resolution which would direct Secretary Wilson to report to the House the circumstances under which his son, Jasper Wilson, was appointed at a reputed salary of $10,000 as an employee of a Colorado irrigation company.

The resolution also would call for the name of the person sent to the Philippines from the United States to take charge of agriculture in those islands, the salary he received, and whether his appointment was arranged so that Jasper Wilson, then private secretary to Secretary Wilson, be given the irrigation company place. It was referred to the committee on agriculture.

Jasper Wilson Held Job a Year.

Denver, Colo., May 20.—Jasper Wilson, is chief of the operating department of the Henrylyn Irrigation and Reservoir Company, to which position he was appointed more than a year ago. None of the officers of the Henrylyn Company could be found in Denver today, and no information was obtainable relative to his appointment.

Bill by Senator Catron.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—With the object of enabling people to get certain information from the surveyor general without paying for an entire survey, Senator Thomas B. Catron has introduced the following bill in the U. S. Senate:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in any of the states within which are included portions of the territory acquired from the Republic of Mexico, by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo or by the Gadsden purchase, as it is commonly called, are empowered and authorized to furnish to any applicant thereof certified copies of any survey of such lands embraced within any claim based upon titles alleged to have been derived from the former governments of Spain or Mexico, and of any field notes of surveys of such lands, or of any evidence presented to surveyors general relative to such claims, and of any proceedings had in their offices relative thereto, upon payment by such applicant of the ordinary fees for making and certifying such copies, notwithstanding the fact that the cost of such surveys may not have been paid by anyone."

PRESIDENT OF MANY COMPANIES

C. S. Morey of Denver Could Not Remember All His Connections

APOLOGIZED FOR HIS MEMORY

First Witness in Government's Suit to Dissolve So-Called Sugar Trust.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) New York, May 20.—Chester S. Morey, of Denver, a dominant figure in the beet sugar industry for the last decade, was the government's first witness today in the taking of testimony in the dissolution suit against the American Sugar Refining Company and others alleged to constitute a monopoly in restraint of trade. Before calling Mr. Morey, Assistant District Attorney Knapp, introduced documentary evidence to show that Mr. Morey had been president of six beet sugar companies in Colorado, all of which were organized in 1901-02, and dissolved simultaneously on April 23, 1907. These companies were the Great Western Sugar Company, Greeley Sugar Company, Eaton Sugar Company, Longmont Sugar Manufacturing Company, Ft. Collins, Colorado, Sugar Company and the Windsor Sugar Company.

President of Many Sugar Companies.

Mr. Morey gave his occupation as "president of the Great Western Sugar Company," an office he said, he had held since 1908. He was also president, he said, of the Sterling Sugar Company, and might have been president of another company, he was not sure.

Apologized for Forgetfulness.

Mr. Morey also said he had been president of the Morgan County Construction Company from its organization to the present time, and he was president of the Hillings Sugar Company. Most of these companies were capitalized at from $250,000 to $1,500,000. He apologized for taking an unusually long time to answer questions as to the date of his becoming president of the various companies, explaining that there were so many concerns he had forgotten the dates.

Couldn't Remember His Connections.

Referring to a tabulated list of his connections with numerous concerns, he was able to recall that he was president of the Great Western Railway Company and the Northern Construction Company. More than an hour was consumed in giving a list of the offices he held and the dates he assumed them.

Seventeen Factories in Colorado.

"Were you general manager of the Great Western Sugar Company, a New Jersey corporation?" asked Mr. Knapp. "Yes; almost from its corporation."

"What factories does the company now operate?"

"The Eaton, Greeley, Windsor, Fort Collins, Loveland, Longmont, Sterling, Brush, and Fort Morgan plants in Colorado. They have a capacity of from six hundred to 1,200 tons of sugar. The Hillings Sugar Company has a plant at Billings, Montana, and the Scotts Bluff Sugar Company at Scotts Bluff, Nebraska."

"Do any other companies operate in Colorado?"

"Yes, there are quite a number there, seventeen I believe."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSE THIS WEEK.

The public schools in Tularosa will close this week, the commencement exercises taking place Thursday evening. Rev. J. A. Armstrong of Alamogordo preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) El Paso, Texas, May 20.—Guadalupe, a deserted town of adobe, three miles south from the Rio Grande and thirty-five miles east of here, was entered by a column of 200 federals at noon today, without resistance.

If successful in holding the place against the rebels, the Mexican government will make a port of entry of the town substituting it for the one which it lost when Juarez was taken by the rebels.

American Troops to Patrol Border.

A force of 200 rebels was dispatched from Juarez to drive the federals from Guadalupe. They will not reach there before nightfall. Meantime the federals are bringing up another column behind Guadalupe to engage the advancing rebels. No ring is anticipated.

LORIMER AGAIN IS EXONERATED

Senate Special Committee Says Senator is Not Guilty of Bribery

NO NEW EVIDENCE INTRODUCED

Minority Report Asserts That Ten Votes Were Corruptly Obtained.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Washington, D. C., May 20.—The case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois, whose election was alleged to have been brought about through corruption was placed before the Senate today for final action.

"Logical Result of Political Condition."

Majority and minority reports were made by the special investigating committee, the former upholding the latter and condemning the senator. The majority reported that there was absolutely no new substantial evidence discovered on the re-investigation, his election being the "logical result of existing political conditions in Illinois."

"At Least 10 Corrupt Votes."

The minority reported that the second investigation conclusively established that at least ten of the votes cast for Lorimer were corrupt and that his election therefore was invalid. The minority report was signed by Senators Kern and Lea, Democrats, and Kenyon, Republican.

No New Evidence Introduced.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—Why Senator Lorimer should be permitted to retain his seat in the Senate was set forth today by the majority of the Senate special Lorimer committee in their report to the Senate. It was submitted by Chairman Dillingham and had the approval of Senators Gamble and Jones, Republicans, and Fletcher and Johnston of Alabama, Democrats.

"Solemnly and Deliberately."

The majority took the position that the Senate having once "solemnly and deliberately" passed upon the charges against Senator Lorimer, he should be permitted to retain his seat unless new and convincing evidence had been produced, establishing corruption in his election.

No New Evidence Introduced.

Absolutely no "new and substantial evidence" had been produced at the re-investigation, the majority said and consequently they declared the rules of justice required the former judgment of the Senate, upholding Mr. Lorimer to stand.

The report dealt at length with the evidence in an endeavor to show nothing substantial had been produced against Senator. It also reviewed the legal authorities to show that the first investigation of the Senate should be taken as final.

Lorimer Fund Denied.

The controlling factor in the action of the Senate in re-opening the case, so the majority said, was reports that a fund of $100,000 was either raised by or through the efforts of Edward Hines, a Chicago lumberman, to secure the election of Senator Lorimer.

Rejected Funk Testimony.

The majority rejected the version Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, gave of a conversation he held with Mr. Hines in the Union League Club at Chicago just after Lorimer's election. It was during this conversation that Funk claims Hines asked for a $100,000 contribution to a $100,000 Lorimer fund. The majority said that Mr. Funk's testimony stood uncorroborated either by other witnesses or by any circumstances.

Harvester Company Opposed Lorimer.

"In view of the fact that it was known to Mr. Hines," said the committee, "that the relations existing between the officers of the International Harvester Company and Mr. Lorimer were those of opponents rather than friends, it is improbable that he would seek from Mr. Funk, the representative of that corporation, a contribution to aid in the election of Mr. Lorimer."

Mr. Funk's Imagination.

In discussing Mr. Funk's testimony that he had heard reports of Mr. Hines' "activities" at Springfield, the majority declared that "such reports must have had birth in Mr. Funk's imagination."

Comment was passed on the fact that for many months H. H. Kohlsaat, editor of the Chicago Record-Herald, James Keeley, editor of the Chicago Tribune, Victor F. Lawson, owner of the Chicago News, and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, knew of Mr. Funk's position and none saw fit to bring the information to the attention of any person connected with any investigation.

"Cum Grano Salis."

"In fact, the Funk testimony," the report said, "has been taken 'cum grano salis' by nearly every one who has heard it. Mr. Funk himself admitted that he thought his story would not be believed."

The committee reported that it did find that Mr. Hines was flattered by being consulted by Senators Aldrich and Penrose in regard to the desire to have some Republican elected to the Senate from Illinois.

"His sense of importance of the

The Senate this afternoon in a brief session killed the Burg Child Labor Bill, because, as Crampton explained, although the bill is a good one, it presupposes a board of health, juvenile courts and other machinery not in existence in New Mexico and the time being too short to redraft so voluminous a measure.

Reports of Committees.

The committee on mines and manufacturing, reported favorably House Bill No. 110, for the capping of abandoned oil and gas wells. The same committee reported against Senate Bill No. 121, relating to the inspection of mines.

The committee on judiciary reported amendments to Senate Bill No. 128, to amend the high license law.

The committee on education reported Senate Bill No. 94, providing for the election of city boards of election.

The committee on constitutional amendments reported favorably, the language clause amendment, to eliminate the language qualification for state office.

George Muller, Jr., of New York City, knows a much better way. He says,
"I was pale and thin for a number of years owing to poor blood. Tried sev-investigation of the death of F. T.

Smith from a blow he received in an El Paso saloon. Bob Blenn, the saloon keeper, has been summoned to appear as a witness.

Eliminating Undesirables.

Omaha, May 20.—Unless you are physically, morally and mentally clean you cannot get married in Nebraska if the campaign now being waged by the Nebraska Society for the Friendless succeeds in its efforts. The society is carrying on a propaganda having for its object prevention of the marriage ceremony between any "undesirables" of any description.

Runaway Accident Results Seriously.

Mrs. Tom Osby of Tularosa was seriously injured in a runaway accident which occurred last week. She had just returned from Alamogordo and had gotten into one of the livery hacks at the depot. The team was unhitched and the driver was putting the baggage into the back of the hack when the horses, frightened by the scream of the engine, ran away. Mrs. Osby was thrown out on her head. She was unconscious for two days and although she is reported to be slowly improving her condition is regarded as very serious.

Funeral of W. E. Martin.

Funeral services in memory of W.
E. Martin were conducted Monday afternoon from the family residence in presence of a goodly number of relatives and friends of the deceased.
Rev. W. A. Ervin spoke for a few minutes, inspiring his hearers with the solemnity of the occasion. At the grave in the Knights of Pythias plot of Socorro cemetery, the beautiful and impressive burial service of the Knights of Pythias order was conducted by J. A. Lowe, acting prelate. Thus, under the evening shadow of Socorro mountain, all that is mortal of W. E. Martin shall rest until time shall be no more.—Socorro Chieftain.

Boy Criminals.

Colorado Springs, May 20.—Ed Hoffman pleaded guilty to a statutory crime against Hazel Linthicum, the 15-year-old girl who eloped with him on a bicycle to Pueblo and was brought back and sent to the Girls' Industrial school, Lee Jamison, Peter Martinka and Ed Hoffman, Colorado City boys who were members of a gang recently arrested for petty thefts and stealing bicycles which they sold in Pueblo pleaded guilty in the district court today. Martinka and Hoffman were sentenced to the state reformatory by Judge W. S.
Morris and sentence in Jamison's case was deferred till Monday.

The Boozie of the Fathers.

New York, May 20.—In the lecture hall of the Academy of Medicine some half hundred members of the profession gathered to discuss alcohol and its effects on the brain, the mentality, the individual and the offspring of alcoholic parents. Dr. Charles R.

Stockard described the result of an extensive series of experiments which he had conducted at Cornell. These were with the eggs of fish that had been soaked in alcohol, with guinea-pigs and mice which had been kept in a state of intoxication before giving birth to litters. He had found that the eggs of fish, when hatched, had developed monstrosities, some double-headed, others with double brain, some with four eyes and none normal.
Eggs of chickens which had been treated in the same way showed many gross deformities when hatched. It was the same with guinea-pig litters.
From this he argued that alcoholic indulgence in the human, more particularly in the female, would result in the transmission of inherited defective-ness, epileptics, degenerates and idiots.

Floods on the Animas.

Durango, Colo., May 20.—The first property damage from the spring floods was occasioned in the upper Animas valley when the swollen Hermosa creek and the Animas river started their annual destruction. Hermosa creek cut a new channel near its mouth and surrounded the home of Roy Kerr which was erected last fall. The foundation is being undermined and the house is in danger of being washed away. The Animas river is overflowing its banks. A new steel bridge erected only a year ago, is almost certain to be washed away. The pressure of debris on the upstream side has caused the west end to settle about two feet and the concrete pier leans about four feet down stream.
Twenty feet of debris is piled against the Trimble Springs steel bridge and its destruction before tomorrow is awaited. Every river in the San Juan basin is on a rampage and the crisis will not be reached for a few days.
The indications are that the Rio Grande Southern trains will not be running to Telluride for three or four weeks.

THREE MEN SUFFOCATED GAS IN WYOMING MINE.

Fumes From Engine Exhaust Driven Into Shaft Overcoming Workmen.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 20.—Thomas G. Smith, manager, William Horn, and Joe Johns, were suffocated by gas in the Williams Luman Mine at Shoshone, Wyoming, yesterday, according to advices received here today.
Their bodies were found by Engineer McClendon. Smith formerly was a member of the state legislature from Johnson county, and owner of stage lines between Buffalo and Tensleep.
The engine room in the William Luman Mine is at the end of two han-dred-foot shaft, where the gas engine operates a hoist. The gases from the engine usually carried out through a bore in the mountain. A wind drove the gases back into the tunnel, killing the two workmen.
Smith, who went to their rescue was overcome. William Horn's home is at Lincoln, Nebraska.

FIVE DROWNED WHEN AUTO RAN INTO RIVER.

Chicago Chauffeur Took Spalding Car for Joy Ride With Tragic Ending.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Chicago, Ill., May 20.—Five persons, three men and two women, were drowned early today when the automobile in which they were riding plunged into the Calumet river at the Ninty-second street bridge.

One Body Recovered.

None of the names of the victims so far has been learned by the police and only one of the bodies has been recovered. One of the women jumped into the river as the embankment was reached, according to a watchman.
Her body was recovered. The woman was apparently twenty-four years old and the initials "A. M." were on a bracelet worn by her.

Motor Car Plunged Into River.

The automobile which was going about thirty miles an hour, turned completely over as it went into the river. Only one of the party was seen afterward. One of the men swam for several minutes. The watchman threw him a life preserver, but he apparently did not see it and went down. The bridge had been swung to allow a boat to pass and although a warning was shouted to the driver of the machine by the watchman, the former was unable to apply the brakes in time to avert the accident.

Fatal End to Joy Riders' Party.

William Popham, a fireman on the fire tug Illinois, saw the machine as it plunged into the river. By the time the first boat had been released from

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

My Dear Professor: Yours of April 13th inclosing a bulletin, written by yourself on "The Spanish Language in New Mexico, a Natural Resource" duly received.

I examined your bulletin and letter with much interest and believe that the suggestions therein contained have much merit. In view of the present critical situation, the United States can do no wiser thing than to strengthen the ties which bind us to our sister republics on the south. The establishment and maintenance of a university in which the Spanish language and Spanish institutions would have a large part, has much to commend it.
Yours very truly,
JOHN J. ESCH.

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and strengthened their systems, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthy manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free.

MINES AND MINING

Luna County.
Dr. S. D. Swope has now a small force of men working on his Colebra mining group in the Tres Hermanas mountains. The miners have recently struck some very fine specimens of lead and zinc and are also taking out some fine sand carbonates of lead running fifty per cent. The zinc which is a fine grade of carbonate runs from thirty-five to fifty per cent. Mr. Davis, also operating in this district, is opening a shaft near the porphyry contact that shows some fine iron running four dollars in gold and silver. Clark and Mahoney have finished installing a large mill on their claims in the Tres Hermanas and are now drifting on a splendid seam of galena ore at the one hundred and fifty foot level. They will also continue to sink to another ore horizon.

There is being shipped from the Victoria Camp, forty miles west, twenty-five tons per day of good lead ore which runs well in gold and silver. There are several miners working on fine prospects that give every promise of early production. The ore from the Victoria district is shipped from Gage station on the S. P. only four miles away.

G. M. Sadler is working a force of men on the old Silver Cave mine in the south end of the Florida mountain.

They are taking out a good grade of carbonate of lead, and have fine prospects of finding a large body of this valuable metal. The Silver Cave is one of the oldest mines of Luna county, which is said to have produced in the past more than a million dollars of silver, gold and lead. The proprietors became wealthy, and it was only recently that a lease of this property could be obtained. This ore can be marketed at Columbus on the E. P. and S. W. at a much cheaper rate than formerly when it had to be hauled to Deming.

J. A. Mahoney is sinking a shaft on one of his claims in the White Ass group in the Florida Mining district to connect with a 500-foot tunnel. Both tunnel and shaft have showed high grade zinc ores at various points in their development. This group is located on the summit of the Florida mountains at an elevation of about 7,000 feet.

Grant County.
Dan Fraser, of the Twin Peaks company, has been at Lordsburg the past week, taking down the mill erected by the Lena mining company, northeast of Lordsburg, which the Twin Peaks company bought. When loaded it will be shipped to New York, the shipping point for the Twin Peaks company, and will be used to reduce the company's ore.

EXTREME WEAKNESS IN GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Chicago, Ill., May 20.—Extreme scarcity of buying orders in the wheat pit today turned the market very weak. Free selling resulted from the influence of large world shipments. Warmer temperatures in the United States tended also to favor the bear side. The opening was 1-8 to 1-4 lower. July started at 108 1-8 to 108 1-4. A decline to 107 followed and then a rally to 107 1-2.

The close was easy with July 1-4 net lower at 107 7-8.

Corn.
Moderate offerings on the part of cash houses and commission concerns proved sufficient to knock out support from under corn. July opened unchanged to 1-8 up to 74 3-4, dropped to 73 3-8 and recovered to 73 3-4 to 7-8.

The close was steady, 74 3-4 for July, a net loss of 7-8.

Oats.
Renewed unloading by owners of oats incited the bears to become aggressive. July started 3-8 to 1-4 down at 48 3-8 to 49 and sank to 48 1-4.

Provisions.
Heavy receipts of hogs and the weakness of grain put much pressure on the trade in provisions. Initial transactions ranged from 21-2 to 15c lower with September delivery 18-22 1-2 to 18 47 1-2 for pork; 10 85 to 10 87 1-2 for lard, and 10 40 for ribs.

THE BAG WITH THE NUGGETS

A Story of Fort Wingate in the Days of Navajo and Apache Raids

LURE OF ARIZONA'S GOLD

Fifteen Dreams of Last Days of Prospector Who Lost Reason.

(Olive Ennis Hite.)

Fort Wingate lay—a ragged brown dot—on the bare breast of the San Mateo desert, the full fervor of a July sun beating down on parade ground and crumbling barracks. Heat waves shimmered over the desolate waste that crept down to the trickling Rio Gallo, and far off toward the scarred sides of Mighty San Mateo's frowning crest, delicate pictures painted themselves on the radiant blue sky and marvelous lakes of azure blue water rose and faded as the mirage waxed and waned. Ah! old Wingate was in very truth "The abomination of desolation." On the roof of the guard house a tired sentinel listlessly paced his beat—around and around—pausing at each cardinal point to scan the sage brush and cactus for something that might be alive and not be one of the wild creatures of the llano, for the Navajo and Apache were "out"; by day thin wisps of smoke, by night slender spirals of flame gave warning to the forlorn little garrison that terrible foes were on the watch. Our band was pitifully attenuated, a skeleton troop of the 3d Cavalry and the ghost of a company of the 5th Infantry, was still further depleted by sickness and the absolute necessity of scouts throughout the mountains. Of women, there were less than a dozen, all told; one officers' wife, and the others, the laundresses and the beef contractor's wife and children. A few Mexican servants made up the small—but altogether, too large crowd of "undesirables." For we were the one invitation that threatened an attack from overwhelming numbers of Apaches. The Navajos were nomads off their reservation. "Down in the lower country," at El Bosque Redondo, and were looking mostly for horses, mules and cattle but the fierce Apaches were out for everything they might use, abuse, torture and destroy.

It was the middle of the afternoon when everyone was within doors in a futile effort to find comfort in the thick-walled houses; the relief had just made one lagging round when sharp and menacing his carbine spoke. There was scarcely a second till "Boots and Saddles" rang out on the air; the long roll sounded from the cornals and stables; where only silence had enveloped the post now all was animation, apprehension and curiosity. Again the sentinel's carbine spoke and that meant "Women and children remain in quarters," and that, to us meant "APACHES!" On the guard house stood the commanding officer, the surgeon and the officer of the day each looking keenly over the plain toward the West. An order was shouted from the lookout and the outposts were doubled and spread; another short, firm command and a sound of dragons trotted out toward the Gallo, while a sergeant, with his handful of infantry, went on double quick time toward the point where the commandant's orders suggested that serious trouble lay. Sergeant MacCarthy, of the 3d, rode proudly at the head of his troopers and, aside from being entirely without fear, stood not in awe of the captain in command, who was only a foot soldier, a cavalryman's particular aversion, but was a bit of a martinet and also, supposed to be more careful of his own body than those of the men under him, suddenly pulled his big grey back to his haunches and yelled with joy: "Tell the women 'tis only man and he's near dead, and I do be thinkin' he's no injun. 'Tis a stretcher we want." Dr. Longwill, only a contract surgeon but far better equal to an emergency than the Captain, waited until he had gathered necessary restoratives, bandages and a wheel chair, which did duty for ambulance, stretcher or lounging place for convalescents, for Wingate was as barren in its hospital supplies as the homes were comfortless. From the top of my quarters I could see something moving in the shadow of a cactus and the men stooping over it looked at each other and then at the object on the ground, then their hands would go up to their faces and they would turn away but to look again. My heart beat wildly for I interpreted each sign to mean it was some of the scouts then out and my own man was in command. Ten days they had been gone and that might be he, one of his men sent in for aid or to report a disaster which was expected, but never prepared for. With flying feet I ran toward the burden the men had swung between them and were carefully bringing in. The grizzled old Sergeant saw me coming and galloped to my side. "Tis not the Lieutenant, Glory be, nor is it one of the min; God only knows what it is, but I think it's what's left of a human being." And that was what it was—the piteous wreck of "a human being."

When the rescuers reached the poor fellow he feebly moaned and moved his body. It was the last supreme effort and with closed eyes he fell back in a coma that lasted for many days. There wasn't an inch of the bony body that was not a welter of blood from cruel wounds, scarcely a shred of clothing was left and the skin drawn over the skeleton was black, broken and festering. So must Greely and his men have looked when out of the Arctic night Schley bore them homeward. It was a sight so harrowing that those battered veterans of the 3d, turned and furtively wiped away tears of pity. Doctor Longwill, with his own hands, cut away the loathsome rags that seemed glued to the skin; tenderly washed and anointed and drew together the gaping gashes which seemed as if made by dull knives but which were the mark of desert stones over which he had dragged from far in the mountains of Arizona to where help had come. For days there was but faint sign of life, for weeks there was no glimmer of returning reason until hope was almost abandoned that the mystery would ever be solved. That the man was white, Longwill had decided and that he was a miner there was evidence in a pouch of nuggets, each the size of a large bullet and smooth as a water-worn pebble. This pouch was tightly grasped in one parchment-like hand when picked up and the first dawn of consciousness after all the weeks of death in life was made hilarious by his querulous demand for "Them Apache bullets." Longwill said he felt like a thief as he took them out of his desk and laid them in the hand that closed over them like an automatic claw. "He looked at me with suspicion and fury and whispered 'Where's the bag?' The bag, alas, was too alive to keep and I told him so; he let out an oath that was horrible coming, as it did, from the awful mouth the poor devil was uttering just then." Whether he had eaten some noxious weed, or it was scurvy, or any other of the sinister things that might easily have befallen him, I never quite made out, but that mouth was not human and a robust oath from it must have been more than shocking. Suspicion was the predominant trait which never, wholly, left him, but so weak and half-witted was he that no one could win his confidence or gather his story. He would begin as if it was all clear with his memory, he would tell of his companions, their search for a mine.

"The Injuns" had told about when he was a prisoner "AND THEY CUT AWAY MY TONGUE," which was true, a part of the tongue was missing which added to our inability to understand him, which the Doctor thought might have been a part of his incredible sufferings and not Apache fiendishness. As he grew stronger bodily, he was allowed the privilege of the garrison; he soon found his way to our quarters where a sturdy year old boy attracted him. At first I was not willing he should touch the youngster—who seemed strangely drawn to the hideous face and distorted body—but so humble, so gentle was he that I finally allowed him to hold him for a moment. Like a lightning flash his expression changed and his voice had a soul in it. "I have a little feller at home," he said. "Where is your home? Where is your baby?" His face grew soft and tender and his crippled hands stroked the merry, little one, but the light of intelligence was gone and in its place crept a crafty look. "You will tell me bullets," he said. "That was the end of the confidence I had hoped for, also to his visits—for I was afraid of him. But wherever he saw the baby he would ask to hold him 'Just a minute for I have a little feller.' One day when the nurse brought the baby home she told me 'El Loco' had given him the pouch, in which he again carried his nuggets, and that 'El nino' had them. Some one had given him a bead pouch of Mexican work, and in it he carried his jealously guarded gold. To keep it was not possible; to give it back without disturbing the distraught brain that was making such a fight to come into its own—for the slightest thing would unhinge it for days—not one of us could do. But one night after he had had a particularly unhappy day—Doctor Longwill asked him where his 'bullets' were. He did not remember, so it was an easy matter to put them under his pillow, after he fell asleep. But, next day they reappeared with the child. Again I made an effort to learn something tangible about 'The little feller' that, evidently, was in his thoughts. I found out nothing that was a clue. We wrote to many places where we thought he might have lived. He would mention towns but never a state, and we failed to get the slightest trace of his past. One day he was eating meat and looking up at the doctor he said: 'Doc, this beats the feller I teller I got the Apache bullets; they were mortal tough them feller.' Longwill tried to follow up that admission but 'Adam'—as we called him—shrugged his shoulders, leered disagreeably and lapsed into his usual coma. Days passed before he had a ray of memory again and none of us cared to try to awaken his hideous recollections. The nuggets traveled back and forth between him and 'The little feller' till the rains came on the mark of desert stones over which he had dragged from far in the mountains of Arizona to where help had come. For days there was but faint sign of life, for weeks there was no glimmer of returning reason until hope was almost abandoned that the mystery would ever be solved. That the man was white, Longwill had decided and that he was a miner there was evidence in a pouch of nuggets, each the size of a large bullet and smooth as a water-worn pebble. This pouch was tightly grasped in one parchment-like hand when picked up and the first dawn of consciousness after all the weeks of death in life was made hilarious by his querulous demand for "Them Apache bullets." Longwill said he felt like a thief as he took them out of his desk and laid them in the hand that closed over them like an automatic claw. "He looked at me with suspicion and fury and whispered 'Where's the bag?' The bag, alas, was too alive to keep and I told him so; he let out an oath that was horrible coming, as it did, from the awful mouth the poor devil was uttering just then." Whether he had eaten some noxious weed, or it was scurvy, or any other of the sinister things that might easily have befallen him, I never quite made out, but that mouth was not human and a robust oath from it must have been more than shocking. CITIZENS' COMMITTEE CALLS ON SPEAKER R. L. BACA.

Palace of Governors and New Mexico Museum Need Co-operation of Legislature.

A committee of representative businessmen waited on Speaker Baca this forenoon and secured his promise to introduce and to support a bill providing for the Palace of the Governors, to keep it intact as a monument to the Spanish pioneers, to make absolutely necessary repairs to prevent the east wall and roof from collapsing and for the New Mexico Museum. Among those who were present besides Speaker Baca, who promised to do all in his power on behalf of the measure, were: Mayor Celso Lopez, President A. B. Renahan of the Chamber of Commerce, H. H. Dorman, Former President Samuel G. Cartwright, Secretary J. S. Harris, Major R. J. Pallen, A. M. Berger, George W. Armijo, County Clerk Marcelino A. Ortiz, Judge John R. McFie, Paul A. E. Walter, James L. Seligman and others. A clear cut statement was made of the purpose of the bill by Judge McFie and a general discussion ensued. The committee was well pleased with the cordial reception accorded them by Speaker Baca. The committee also went to see Governor McDonald in reference to work on the Scenic Highway, but Governor McDonald had already gone to luncheon. The committee will meet again at the First National bank at 11 o'clock tomorrow forenoon to go to the capitol to interview Governor McDonald. Tonight a sub-committee consisting of S. G. Cartwright, A. B. Renahan and J. L. Seligman, will meet with ex-Governor Prince, W. M. Berger and Col. R. E. Twitchell, as representatives of the New Mexico Historical Society to formulate an act that will take care of the interests of the Historical Society.

THE INDIAN MEDICINE MAN.
was chosen by his tribe in pioneer days because of his expert knowledge in combining medicines from roots and herbs to cure disease. They could conquer diseases that today baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs. From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham nearly forty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for female ills deemed more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs. Today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized the world over as the standard remedy for female ills.

THIS IS AN ACT making it a misdemeanor to wear a suit of clothes that has not been made at the Capital Tailors.

The strongest argument in favor was that they know how to make a suit of clothes, and make, every inch of it right in the city, leave their money here, and therefore should be patronized.

IRRIGATION IN NEW MEXICO.
Some time ago, the New Mexican reviewed a preliminary statement issued by the Census Bureau on Irrigation in New Mexico. Today a bulletin brings a more detailed report, which is to this state, the most interesting summing up thus far of 1910 census results. Two outline maps show that there is not a single county among the twenty-six, in which there is not some irrigation, and not one county in which as much as five per cent of the area is under irrigation. In only eight counties, Santa Fe, Dona Ana, Eddy, Bernalillo, Mora, Colfax, Taos and Rio Arriba, is the acreage under cultivation more than one per cent of the area; in the other eighteen it is less than one per cent.

The five counties that are properly dry farming districts, less than five per cent of their farms being irrigated, are: Union, Quay, Curry, Roosevelt, and Torrance. In Guadalupe county less than 25 per cent of the farms are irrigated. Grant, Luna, Otero, Eddy, Chaves, Lincoln, McKinley, San Miguel, Mora and Colfax have less than fifty per cent of their farms under irrigation; Socorro, Sierra and Santa Fe counties have between 50 and 75 per cent of their farms irrigated; Valencia, Bernalillo, Sandoval and San Juan 75 to 90 per cent, and Dona Ana, Rio Arriba and Taos more than 90 per cent.

Of the 35,676 farms enumerated in the 1910 census, 12,795 were irrigated, as against 9,228 ten years before, an increase of 40 per cent. Of the 1,467,191 acres of improved land in farms, 461,718 acres were irrigated, as against 293,893 ten years before, an increase of 127 per cent. There was enough water supply in the irrigation systems existing, to irrigate 641,970 acres, while 1,102,297 acres were included under all existing projects. The county having the largest area of irrigated lands is Chaves, 56,064 acres. Three other counties, Eddy, Rio Arriba and Taos had more than 40,000 acres each and three others, Colfax, Dona Ana and Valencia had between 30,000 and 40,000 irrigated acres each. San Juan county had 29,520 acres under irrigation, while the following had between 10,000 and 20,000 acres: Sandoval, Santa Fe, which has 16,180 acres under irrigation, Socorro, San Miguel, Mora, Bernalillo and Grant.

The average cost of irrigation systems per acre irrigated, is $19.83, the cost of construction per acre of land under ditch, is $10.56. The county showing the lowest average cost per acre is Sierra, $3.20; while the highest cost per acre, $127.52, is that for the group of counties including Curry, Quay, Roosevelt and Torrance, or the dry farming counties. In Eddy and Chaves counties, the average cost per acre was $21.72 and $27.30 respectively.

The crop reports are, perhaps, most interesting. Of 1,164,970 bushels of corn raised in New Mexico in the census year, 714,710 were raised on irrigated land; of 720,560 bushels of oats, 440,500 came from irrigated acres; of 499,799 bushels of wheat nearly all, or 456,531 bushels were raised under ditch, of 43,490 bushels of barley 35,391 bushels, and of 2,913 bushels of rye 1,274 bushels came from irrigated farms. Of 4,958 bushels of alfalfa seed the irrigated farms furnished 2,653 bushels, of 85,795 bushels of beans, 26,288 bushels came from irrigated acres; of 30,829 bushels of peas, 21,839 came from irrigated lands. Of 295,255 bushels of potatoes, 82,234 bushels were irrigated products; of $535,778 worth of orchard products, $447,189 came from irrigated orchards and of $9,335 worth of small fruit $6,591 was from irrigated land. Of 265,622 tons of alfalfa, 261,989 were raised on irrigated land; and of 165,381 tons of other forage crops, 35,449 tons came from irrigated land.

Although only one-third of the land in New Mexico in cultivation, is under irrigation, yet of the $7,548,116 worth of crops in the census year, $5,292,699 worth were raised under irrigation. It is no wonder, therefore, to read that while the yield per acre of corn averaged 8.7 bushels under dry farming, it was 20.8 bushels under irrigation. That while oats yield 18.1 bushels on dry farms, they returned 24.2 bushels under irrigation; wheat 6.6 bushels per acre without and 17.7 bushels per acre under irrigation; beans 3.3 bushels per acre on the dry farm and 9.6 bushels per acre under ditch; alfalfa not quite a ton per acre on dry farms, and 2.65 acres under water, potatoes 41.5 bushels without and 74.4 bushels per acre with irrigation, and other crops in similar proportion. Still, the yield per acre, even on irrigated ground, shows that New Mexico farmers are not getting the best results attainable from their farms. Chaves county has more than one-half of all the orchard area in New Mexico, namely 55.5 per cent, then comes San Juan county with 12.1 per cent, and Eddy county with 11.7 per cent.

The greatest per cent of its irrigated area in corn is in Grant county 13.8

THE VALLEY RANCH. VALLEY RANCH, N. M.

The legislature will have to find a more plausible excuse than that of health, to defeat the bill providing for traveling libraries for the public schools, especially since such libraries have been in vogue for some years not only in other states but also in New Mexico, and no epidemic, or case of disease, has been traced to them. It has been and is the rule to destroy books that have been in houses in which infectious or contagious disease exists, and to disinfect the libraries at frequent intervals. To deny the people of rural districts the benefits of public libraries on so flimsy an excuse will not go with the common sense. The same excuse would close every public library, every school house, every church, every lodge, and would necessitate wrapping everything and everybody in antiseptic cotton batting to prevent the festive disease germ from getting in his iniquitous work.

WHY ADVERTISING PAYS.
Advertising besides being a direct, scientific method of salesmanship, bringing immediate results, is also like bread cast upon the waters that returns after many days, or like seed sown this year that may not sprout until next. Some months ago, the New Mexican contained a notice of the History of New Mexico by B. M. Read, which will be from the press of the New Mexican in another two weeks, and today Mr. Read received the following letter from classic Oxford, England, for the New Mexican, has subscribers in England, Switzerland, Germany and other foreign countries: Somerville College, Oxford, England, May 5, 1912.

Benjamin M. Read, Esq.,
Santa Fe, N. M., U. S. A.
Dear Sir: I enclose money order for $10.00 (£2.18) for History of New Mexico.
Believe me yours very truly,

For some occult reason, the New Mexican has noticed that many of the deeds of devilry, from horse stealing to the most atrocious murders, committed in New Mexico, are by men whose first name is "Jesus." It comes as a shock to the sensibilities of many a newcomer to New Mexico to meet that name so often in the criminal news of the day. Not that a deed committed by a man named Jesus is any blacker than a deed committed by Paul, John or Jacob, yet, the early training of many, places the name of "Jesus" above all others, and it might be well to suggest to dotting parents and god-parents, that this one name is too holy to be bandied through the vicissitudes of human affairs. The Hebrews deemed the name Jehovah too holy even to be pronounced, and among Christians, the name Jesus, or Christ, should be equally sacred.

Perhaps, the Raton Range is right, when it declares that the worth of New Mexico's two U. S. Senators and two Congressmen, should not be measured by their statesmanship, but by what they get out of the pork barrel for their New Mexico constituents. If that is true, the Raton Range must again be right when it declares that the New Mexican will sooner or later point to the fact that the one lone, voiceless delegate "Bull" Andrews, seems to have gotten more pork for his constituents, than thus far has been secured by two high and mighty United States Senators, and two exceedingly popular Congressmen. Still, it all depends on the point of view, the psychological moment and the opportunities.

The insistent demand of some of the brethren of the press that the legislature get busy and pass a whole lot of laws, is based neither on necessity nor on reason. There are not many laws wanted at the present time, and the more the legislature sits and examines the five hundred bills introduced or to be introduced, the better it will be for the commonwealth. In the final analysis, not more than fifty out of the 500 measures will have any excuse whatever for having been drafted at all. The constitution makers performed their work so well that new legislation, outside of financial measures, is not an urgent necessity.

Advertising Talks

TURN THOUGHTS AS DESIRED

Advertising Declared a Mental Science—Greatest Benefits in Cumulative Results.

"Making Advertising Pay" was the subject discussed before the Milwaukee Advertisers' club at a luncheon the other day by J. J. Rockwell of New York. He said in part:

"The science of making advertising pay is a broad subject. You might as well endeavor to lay down rules for making business pay, because it all depends on experience, courage and persistence. Regardless of where the advertisement be placed, persistence is the most influential element to be considered. This is especially the case when a program of advertising is contemplated for newspapers.

"Among many advertisers seeking the best results from newspapers, the element of time is greatly overlooked, because persistence is one of the most important elements in advertising as well as in the science of selling.

"One of the conditions overlooked by many advertisers is in failing to give advertising credit for what it really performs. Advertising is like any selling investment, in that its greatest results are cumulative, and the results follow each other in sequence. If an advertiser can trace a sale to some particular advertisement he generally gives it credit for that sale; but he fails to give it credit for future sales which are a direct result of the first sale made.

"If a shoe dealer in Milwaukee, for instance, publishes an advertisement which induces somebody to come into his store and buy a pair of shoes, and this customer be satisfied, he or she immediately proceeds to inform his or her friends about the bargain secured. Then the parties who have been informed of the trading opportunities afforded by this house come and patronize it, so both the original and subsequent patrons of the house, in response to this advertisement, are credited definitely, or should be credited, to the original advertisement, notwithstanding it made but a single sale definitely.

"The chief use of advertising is found in these cumulative results. It forms a starting point of sales which, by reason of the mouth-to-mouth advertising following, makes advertising profitable.

"Advertising should not be considered as a mere matter of paper, type and ink, but an exchange of thought—the transference of the work of one mind to another. It is a mental science, for which the best definition is that it makes people think as the advertiser wishes him to think."

ated on American territory, as Guadalupe is far removed from the border, but the border patrol of American troops has been extended to Tornillo to prevent the crossing of armed men from either side.

Federals Lost 90 at Pedricena.
Jimenez, Mex., May 20.—Ninety volunteers of the government force and twenty rebels were killed at Pedricena southwest of Torreon last Tuesday, according to couriers reaching General Orozco's headquarters here today.

From Colonel Canales, the rebel commander, the fighting lasted ten hours after which the rebels claim they entered the town. The insurgents claim to have taken 100 prisoners and much ammunition.

Close in on Torreon.
After the fight, the rebels continued their march to join Generals Canales and Argumedo in their advance on Torreon. An unconfirmed, but reliable report is that Colonels Amaya and Canales were wounded, the former seriously.

British Gunboat at Mazatlan.
Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mex., May 20.—The British gunboat Algerine arrived at Mazatlan last night, preparatory to a cruise along the west coast of Mexico to pick up refugees. Two hundred rebels captured by federal scouts today were sent to Mazatlan to be put on board the Mexican gunboat Guerrero en route to the penal colony at Marlas Island. Rebel leaders have notified Southern Pacific officials that railroad bridges will be burned if federal troops are carried on trains.

Federals Attack Guadalupe.
Juarez, Mex., May 20.—Colonel Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the military chief, who is in charge of the garrison here, received word at 11 o'clock today that thirty rebel rurales in the town of Guadalupe, thirty-five miles east of here along the Rio Grande had been attacked by 200 federals from San Ignacio. Colonel Orozco ordered 200 men from here to reinforce the Guadalupe garrison.

To Make Tornillo a Customs Port.
It was reported today that the Mexican government will make a determined effort to take Guadalupe and establish there a port of customs entry. Since the taking by the rebels of Juarez the Mexican government has had no border point near here through which it could obtain munitions of war. It is expected that the Mexican government will ask the United States to make Tornillo, Texas, opposite Guadalupe, temporarily a customs port.

American Consul Protests.
At General Orozco's Headquarters, May 20.—Bridge burning, wire cutting and the resultant destruction of property along the line of railroads in this vicinity, has brought forth an exchange of notes between American Consul Letcher at Chihuahua, and Jose Cordova, secretary of state of Chihuahua.

Rebels Deny Responsibility.
Cordova today notified Orozco that in answer to a note from Mr. Letcher protesting against the destruction of railroad property in which Americans are interested, he had sent a counter note declaring that the depredations referred to were the work of the Madristas or government agents.

Bridge Burning Handicaps Rebels.
For some weeks the rebels have been greatly handicapped by the wrecking of bridges between here and Chihuahua. The latest instance was Saturday night when the telegraph wires were cut at points north and south of Santa Rosalia, which is behind the rebel army here. Wire communication was restored today.

May 20.—General Huertas' federal army made no effort today to crowd the rebel lines. His vanguard is in fact several miles south of its position yesterday due to what the government commander construed as another attempt to dynamite his troop trains as was done at Rellano several weeks ago.

Wouldn't Take Chances.
Near Javalasca today, one of the federal trains supported by a column of cavalry was moving slowly northward.

Celone Alatorre in command of the rebel garrison at Escalon, loosened the brakes of a half dozen freight cars and started them down grade toward the advancing enemy. A broken bridge separated the trains, but the federal commander appeared unwilling to take any chances and immediately his locomotive was reversed, the train and escort went pounding southward again while the cars sent by Alatorre were stopped by the bridge. Alatorre is still in command of a small garrison at Escalon and the main body yet holds its position at Asunsolo and Rellano, fifteen miles behind.

DETROIT BASEBALL STRIKE COMES TO ABRUPT END.

Club Captain Announces That Team Will Play Without "Ty" Cobb.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexico)
Philadelphia, Pa., May 20.—The baseball strike inaugurated by the Detroit team last Saturday came to an end today when President Frank Navin of the Detroit Club announced in the presence of all players that the team would play in Washington tomorrow without the services of "Ty" Cobb, who still stands suspended for his attack on a spectator in New York last week.

Mr. Navin told the players he would do his utmost to have the suspension of Cobb lifted at the earliest moment and that he would take care of all fines inflicted on the players for their strike. The players have consented to return on this promise because they feel Mr. Navin was the innocent sufferer in this extraordinary affair. The players desire it distinctly understood that the principle involved on which they struck will be taken up and fought to a finish with the American League.

Still Sore on Johnson.
The players announced in the presence of Mr. Navin that hereafter, if they have their way, an investigation shall be made before a player is suspended.

Mr. Navin promised the players and announced in the presence of the newspaper men that he would take up with the American League the question of protecting the players against unsportsmanlike conduct by spectators.

The players say that this action was not taken as a result of anything "Van" Johnson has done. That their fight against what they termed the arrogance of the American League president is still on. While no official announcement on the subject has been made, it is expected that Cobb will be back in the game by Wednesday.

Herrin was charged with killing a watchman in the depot in Carrizozo in 1909. Emmett Bozarth entered a plea of guilty to the three charges of assault. Pedro Bajila and Juan Estrada entered a plea of "Guilty" to the charges of robbery. The sixth special venire of the week was issued for the murder case of the State vs. Lavina Dunn. An elegant room with bath at $1.50 and $2.00 per day, or an elegant room with private toilet and lavatory at $1.50 per day has been the new feature installed in the Albany Hotel, Denver, which will fill a long-felt want. A room with bath in a hotel these days has become a necessity and not a luxury, and the managers of The Albany realizing this, have been ambitious to satisfy the traveling public.

These rooms, while being rated at a very reasonable price, have not been neglected in any way in the furnishings and equipment, nearly all being finished in Louis XVI style of furniture and finished in the light enamel colors. This character of furnishings is what has made the newer hotels in New York so popular within the last few months, and The Albany will be the only hotel West of New York to be equipped with furnishings of this character.

LORIMER IS AGAIN EXONERATED.

matter," it was said, "was greatly enhanced when he knew that they had been in conference with the President and that Mr. Lorimer's candidacy would not be objectionable to him."

Employed Expert Accountants.

Expert accountants employed by the committee, it is stated, had failed to find any evidence in the books of Edward Hines or Edward Tilden in connection with a Lorimer election fund.

The committee next considered testimony of William M. Burgess, of Duluth, Minnesota, that C. F. Wiehe, brother-in-law of Mr. Hines, had stated in a smoking room of a sleeping car that he had contributed $10,000 to the Lorimer election fund.

Wiehe's Business Experience.

The report stated: "With a convincing array of evidence in denial of all the facts, contained in Mr. Burgess' testimony, and in view of the improbability that a man of Mr. Wiehe's intelligence and business experience should, in a public place and to an utter stranger, have confessed to having part in an infamous proceeding, this committee cannot do otherwise than discard the testimony of Mr. Burgess as proof of any facts alleged."

McGowan's Testimony Believed.

The committee considered the attempt to impeach the testimony of Charles McGowan, the young Canadian who testified in the Wiehe's behalf. This impeachment was sought by private detectives with a stenographer and telephonic apparatus extending into a room in which Mr. McGowan was supposed to have acknowledged having perjured himself. The committee related an attempted reproduction of the conditions under which the stenographic report of McGowan's conversation was made, and added that the results were so disastrous to the claims made by the stenographer as to satisfy the committee that no dependence whatever could be placed upon his testimony.

White Story "Fabrication."

The committee passed judgment upon some of the prominent features of the first investigation which were the further subject of inquiry at the second investigation. The sensational account by former State Representative Charles A. White, of receiving Lorimer election money was pronounced "as a pure fabrication," so far as it relates to the election of Senator Lorimer.

The committee advanced the theory that instead of Senator Daniel W. Hastings having been paid $2,500 for having voted for Lorimer, it might have been paid by liquor interests to defray his election expenses although posing as a "dry."

"From a consideration of all the circumstances," it was explained, "the committee is satisfied that Hastings was the candidate of the liquor interests in his senatorial district and was elected by them; that he was subjected to large campaign expenses, and money being dearer to him than his reputation, he felt convinced that he would not be likely to incur such expenses unless assured that he would be reimbursed."

It is conceded that liquor legislation has been one of the prominent and continuing elements in the Illinois general assembly, and John Broderick, being a saloonkeeper in the city of Chicago, was naturally a representative of the liquor interests, and money passing from him to Hastings, is a feature of the case so suggestive in the absence of any other consideration of its payment as to raise a strong presumption at least that its payment had some connection with the election of Mr. Hastings to the Senate of Illinois.

Taken altogether, the committee said, the testimony indicated to it that Mr. Lorimer's election was not attributable to the corrupt use of money. It dwelt upon the statement that not a single witness had reflected upon Senator Lorimer personally and that no testimony existed as to a single indiscreet remark or improper action on his part.

Illinois Legislature Corrupt.

As to general corruption funds in the Illinois legislature, it was said that without definite proof of the existence of a specific Jack-pot, the committee can only report that a general belief exists among many classes that corruption funds have been more or less common with legislation in that state."

LOCKWOOD WILL TELL OF ALLEGED JUROR BRIBING.

Sometime Tomorrow Witness Will Take Stand in Darrow Prosecution.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Los Angeles, Calif., May 20.—George N. Lockwood, rancher, civil war veteran and last fall a prospective juror in the McNamara case, is expected to take the stand as a witness against Clarence S. ## DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Santa Fe Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and most kidney ills follow.

Help the kidneys do their work. Doan's Kidney Pills build up weak kidneys.

Santa Fe people endorse our claim. Manuel Delgado, 140 Canon St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "The public statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1902 still holds good. For four or five years I was subject to attacks of backache which were so severe that I was unable to work. I tried various remedies said to be cures for such troubles, but nothing benefited me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They promptly proved their worth and effected a cure which has been permanent. My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been gratifying that I gladly recommend them."

leged to have implicated the Chicago lawyer in the attempt to buy his verdict, should he have been selected as a juror in the McNamara case.

Prosecution and defense expected that the two jurors required to complete the jury would be selected today. The special venire ordered by Judge Hutton Saturday was summoned to be present in court this afternoon, but it was not thought that many of them would be required.

Of the two talesmen in the box, the examination of whom was not completed Saturday, C. E. Price of Los Angeles before adjournment made a statement to the court that he had a strong opinion. Attorney Rogers for the defense challenged him for cause, but the state denied the challenge and Price was ordered locked up with the others over Sunday.

DULNESS OF LEADERS TODAY'S MARKET FEATURE.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) New York, N. Y., May 20.—First hour irregularly became marked later on the stock market today. Reading sold under Saturday's close, as did United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Smelting and other market leaders. Harriman shares were relatively firm.

Manipulative tactics in specialties were continued. Bonds were easy. Copper shares derived no advantage from another advance in the price of the metal and the market became increasingly heavy and dull. Illinois Central rose two points.

Business fell to minor proportions and prices were offered at concessions. The list suffered a further setback with a decline of four points in Texas Company.

The market closed heavy. Prices yielded to the lowest of the day in the last hour, Lehigh Valley losing all its gain and other standard stocks selling under Saturday's close.

In cooking vegetables of all kinds, a wire frying basket is a great convenience, as the vegetables may be removed quickly and dried out, or if the water does not boil away they have a little time before scorching to be discovered.

A pair of sheet iron baking sheets are a boon to the busy housewife. Have the sides bent, making a very shallow pan and making a place to take hold of in handling. If the sheets are made the size of the oven, a whole row of cookies may be baked with one oven heat. This is an important item when using gas.

A tablespoonful of flour will take the place of egg in a meat loaf when eggs are too high to be used lavishly.

IDON'T know which ever is the worst, to see the beautiful things that there are in the world and not be in 'em, or to see people that might be in 'em and ain't.

—Mrs. A. D. Whitney.

MISCELLANEOUS DISHES.

A most wholesome dessert and one that is not expensive is—

Rhubarb and Raisin Pudding.—Cut a pint of rhubarb in half-inch pieces and sprinkle with a cup of sugar. Let stand an hour or more with a cup of chopped raisins, then add a pint of bread crumbs and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Put in layers into a buttered baking dish, cover for the first half hour. Serve with liquid sauce or cream.

A little grated cheese with chopped onion and French dressing makes a new and delicious filling for sandwiches.

Prunes in Lemon Jelly.—Cook prunes until soft, take out the stones without breaking them; add half a cup of figs or half the quantity used of prunes, and put into a mold. Pour over lemon jelly and set away to mold. Serve with whipped cream.

Vegetable and Peanut Soup.—Cut in small pieces two medium-sized potatoes, one large carrot and two stalks of celery, one large tomato and cook in salted water with a bunch of soup herbs. When the vegetables are tender, put through a sieve, if desired, and add two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter which has been softened in a little hot water. There should be enough liquid to serve four.

Beet and Cheese Salad.—Make cottage cheese into balls and stick a walnut meat on each side. Slice small cooked beets and put two cheese balls and three slices of beets on each lettuce leaf or nest. Keep on ice until ready to serve. Add French dressing just before serving.

For those who object to pastry, a crustless pie will be welcome. Butter a deep pie plate with plenty of butter, then dust over a coating of flour, pour in the pie filling, pumpkin, custard or any kind desired, and bake as usual.

Nellie Maxwell.

It Seemed So.
Wife—I left that child in your care and look at it! What has it been crying about?
Husband—About 10 hours! I think.

Cheap Wines of Tuscany.
The best Italian wines in Tuscany sell wholesale at about eight cents a quart.

NO GRASS BAND.
Brass bands and megaphones have not been needed to herald the accomplishments of the administration of President Taft. All of the great achievements for which the president is directly responsible have been accomplished quietly and without the slightest semblance of noise or bluster. The voters of the country displayed their faith in President Taft and his policies in 1908, and they are prepared to again register their allegiance to his cause.

The KITCHEN CABINET

GET into the habit of looking at the silver lining of the cloud, and, when you have found it, look at it rather than at the baden gray in the middle. It will help you over many hard places.

MORE CHEAP MEAT DISHES.

Buy spare ribs and place a good stuffing on one and cover with the other, surround with potatoes and onions, basting all frequently while roasting. Serve with vegetables as a garnish.

Spare ribs with apple and bread crumbs is another change from the ordinary. Place the ribs in a pan, cover with a layer of sliced apple and then a sprinkling of crumbs, and bake as usual.

Chili Con Carne.—Boil a pound of lean beef until tender, then remove from the broth in which it was boiled and chop in small pieces. Put back into the broth with half a pound of kidney beans which have been cooked until tender; add to these a quart of canned tomatoes, a bit of garlic and a red pepper. Cook for twenty minutes and season with salt, and serve. The pretty green French beans are an addition to this dish if they are obtainable.

Flank Steak.—Take one and a quarter pounds of flank steak, slash with a sharp knife on both sides and sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour, and a half teaspoonful of curry powder. Pound these seasonings well into the meat and then put into a hot frying pan with a tablespoonful of butter and lard. Add two cups of water, cover and simmer slowly for an hour, adding more water, if needed. The meat will be tender and juicy and the gravy rich and brown.

A delicious sauce to serve with steak is:

Creole Sauce.—Slice fine two medium-sized onions, two green peppers, two ounces of lean ham and a clove of garlic. Fry five minutes, then add half a can of tomatoes, two bay leaves, four cloves and eight allspice. Let come to a boil and thicken slightly with cornstarch, cook until smooth, add a dash of red pepper or a fresh one finely chopped. Mushrooms may be added if wanted for an extra occasion.

SOME CHOICE RECIPES.

The following recipes have been gathered from the cherished books of many cooks:

Doughnuts Without Eggs.—Take two cupfuls of sour milk, a cup of thick sour cream or six tablespoonfuls of hot fat, a teaspoonful of soda and a cup of sugar and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted with flour enough to roll very soft. Flavor with nutmeg and let stand to get very cold, then they can be handled quite soft.

Sponge Drops.—Beat the whites of three eggs until thick and lemon-colored; add gradually, beating constantly, a third of a cup of powdered sugar; add the yolks of two eggs, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a third of a cup of flour, vanilla to flavor. Drop on buttered tins to bake. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Queen's Fritters.—Put three tablespoonfuls of butter into a half cup of water over a fire; when boiling add a half cup of flour. Cool and add two eggs, beating thoroughly. The eggs are to be added one at a time. Fry the mixture by spoonfuls in smoking hot fat.

Queen's Pudding.—Take the yolks of four eggs, two-thirds of a cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two cups of cracker crumbs rolled fine, five cups of sweet milk. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour.

Sauce.—Warm a fourth of a pound of butter, add a cup of powdered sugar, the rind and juice of a lemon. Add a half cup of whipped cream.

Coffee Jelly.—To two cups of strong coffee add half a box of gelatin which has been softened in a cup of cold water. Sweeten to taste and stir well while cooling. Serve in sherbet cups with sweetened whipped cream.

The Forgetful Man.
Knicker—What did he remember on the witness stand?
Bocker—Absolutely nothing; not even a winter just like this, only colder.

No Doubt of It.
"A man's home ought to be very dear to him."
"It is, at the present rate of coal and butter."

The manufacturer who decides that he will put out honest, reliable goods and then trust to the system of being "advertised by his loving friends," will undoubtedly in time acquire a delightful little circle of "loving friends," but he will never live to see his trademark rated at a million dollars.

ADVERTISING THAT GIVES BEST RESULTS

By William C. Freeman.

K. S. Fenwick recently made a very interesting talk before Canadian business men on the subject of advertising, in which he said:

There are two methods of advertising in common today. The first might be described as "business building," and the second as "business stimulating."

The first is used persistently, systematically, intelligently, for the purpose of making more sales, day by day and month by month, than were made in the corresponding period of the previous year.

The second is used for the purpose of making the sales take a sudden jump, when it is found that business is dull, when it is desired to raise money, or when any one of a hundred other conditions may arise.

The first, used alone, results in permanent gain and continuous growth, when intelligently applied—the second, used alone, even when accomplishing the desired result, invariably leaves the business in a weakened condition, from which it takes time to recover.

We all like to see quick results—that is natural. We are inclined to consider the immediate benefit as more important than the ultimate profit, on the principle that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." But it should be remembered that continuous advertising has a cumulative influence more than the sum of its immediate, traceable returns.

The cumulative effect of continuous advertising is to build up public confidence and to sell goods through the influence of repeated suggestions.

The constant dropping of water on a stone will wear it away in one spot—the constant contact with the advertisements of any business will make an ever increasing impression on the public mind.

Stop the dropping and the stone will soon wear smooth—the advertising, and the impression will soon be crowded out and replaced by other impressions.

The trouble with special effort in advertising is that the desire to stimulate business creates a condition that makes the merchant sometimes very well contented with the results of advertising, but more often it makes him feel as though advertising has lost its power.

The steady, long pull—always at it—always giving good value—always making good one's promises—always being painstaking in the matter of service—is the kind of advertising that in the long run gives permanency and reputation and profit to a business.

Spend what you can afford, but spread the amount over a persistent course of advertising. Whatever you do, don't be spasmodic.

WHY THE ADS DIDN'T PAY

Experience of a Southern City in Trying to Attract People—Follow-Up Work Necessary.

One southern city wisely contracted for several hundred dollars' worth of advertising space in a leading Chicago publication during the period of the recent land show.

Before the land show had closed returns came freely in the form of many letters of inquiry from various parts of the country. They "looked good" and doubtless represented a goodly percentage of hopeful possibilities. But no one knows and probably no one will ever know, because the local commercial body has no equipment for handling the situation.

They have no printed matter to send to the correspondents. They have no plan for classifying, grouping and referring the several communications to any one who might helpfully respond and deal with them. They have no exact data to submit in reply to specific inquiries.

They have not even one in the office who is making even a formal or "form" reply or at least acknowledgment.

They have no plan, no policy, no program, no machinery, no method, no printed matter, no data, "no nothing!" Is it not awful! Awful! Awful!!!

And of course "advertising does not pay."

Will Advertise Texas University.
Will C. Hogg, a graduate of the University of Texas, has raised $130,000, which is to be devoted to the advertising of the university. In an address made to the students he emphasized the necessity of popularizing the institution with the people.

To Punish "Fake" Advertisers.
Birmingham advertising men are to introduce a measure in the next Alabama legislature to make punishable as a state offense any untrue statement in the exploitation of sales to the public.

Church Will Advertise.
The pastor of the First Methodist church of Springfield, Ill., has arranged with the Evening News of that city for two columns every Saturday in which to advertise the Sunday services in his church.

Blouses With Silk Suits.
Hand tucked tulle blouses are worn with silk suits. They are made quite simple, trimmed only with tulle or net jabots or plashes.

Three Men Draw on Imaginary Bank Accounts—The Las Cruces county jail is becoming a popular resort. Three men last week took up their residence there and are paying their board with the imaginary bank accounts they had assumed in town.

The first is one J. C. Sandstorm, who had been working as a cook in Engle, but arrived in Las Cruces and deposited a draft in the First National Bank for collection on an imaginary bank in Tacoma, Washington, for $10,500.

On the strength of the deposit Sandstorm drew checks in town for over one hundred dollars. The second poet was Beaty Green, a negro porter in the Palmillo Bar, who also drew checks against his imaginary credit at the First National Bank. The third is French, partner in the Merchants Cafe, who not only drew checks in excess of the firm's credit balance but also drew checks in his own name when he had no account.

MAY TERM OF COURT
BEGINS IN LAS VEGAS.

Judge David J. Leahy opened the district court in Las Vegas this morning. It is not expected that the term will be a lengthy one since there is not a great deal of criminal business on the docket and the grand jury will not be called upon to investigate a large number of reported infractions of the laws. District Attorney Ward and Assistant District Attorney Hedg-cock will represent the state in the criminal cases. This will be Judge Leahy's first appearance on the bench in Las Vegas.

Next Friday evening there will be a lecture at the Museum of New Mexico by Mrs.
Gerald Cassidy of this city.
The subject will be "Personal Experience Among the Prime-tive Navajo." It will certainly be a rare treat for all those interested in the life of primitive Indians. Mrs. Cassady will relate her experiences among the Indians in the vicinity of Shiprock. The lecture will be illustrated by slides made from photographs taken by Mrs. Cassidy. The lecture is free, and the public is cordially invited to attend.
