De Beers Mines Show Profit of Eleven Millions.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUITS

Chorus Girls Want Protection From the "Johnnies."

BRIDE OBJECTS TO RICE THROWING

Kimberley, Nov. 27.—The De Beers mines netted a profit for the year ending June 30 of £2,167,709. The directors' report, which was read at a meeting of the company, showed that the output of diamonds realized £4,678,194, and that the expenditures were £2,510,485. The reserve fund exceeds £1,500,000.

The company's interests outside the diamond field include what the chairman predicted would be one of the best explosives factories in the world, which is being built at False Bay. He said he hoped the company would supply the Rand miners with explosives. The fruit farms of the company in western Cape Colony are being developed under California experts.

LOVE AFFAIRS.

Rich Kansas Farmers Up Against the Real Thing.

McPherson, Kan., Nov. 27.—Papers have been filed in the district court by Mrs. Roesner for $5,000 damages against Nels Olsen, a wealthy bachelor farmer of Marquette, Kan., for breach of promise. Mrs. Roesner is the divorced wife of Richard Roesner, another farmer living near Marquette, reputed to be worth $35,000.

On the separation of Roesner and his wife about two years ago, Roesner brought suit against James F. Darrah for $10,000 for the alienation of his wife's affections and subsequently for a divorce from his wife. The divorce being obtained, Roesner sought another wife and imported one from Germany, a Mrs. Schwartzfeger, under the promise of marriage upon her arrival. Roesner was disappointed in the new candidate to share his home and broke off negotiations, whereupon Mrs. Schwartzfeger brought suit for damages against Roesner in the sum of $10,000. Roesner's suit against Darrah is now in the supreme court.

CHORUS GIRLS CHAPERONS.

Threaten to Quit Unless They Are Protected from "Johnnies."

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 27.—An advertisement appeared in the local papers calling for a chaperon for the chorus girls of "The Liberty Bells." The "pajama girls" wrote Manager Scott that in Denver and other cities they had been greatly annoyed by the "Johnnies." In their letter they said: "On three evenings there were so many of these men at the stage door we had to leave the theater by the front way. We beg to inform you that if, according to our understanding in New York, we cannot be properly escorted, you may consider the two weeks' notice clause as being in effect and we will return to our homes in the east."

Forty women called on the manager during the day in response to the advertisement, but the name of the one selected was not announced.

BRIDE OBJECTED TO RICE.

Bridegroom Drew a Pistol and Throwing of Old Shoes Stopped.

St. Louis, Nov. 27.—"It isn't a bit funny," wailed young Mrs. Horace Rumsey while a bridal party pelted her with rice and old shoes in the Union station, where she was waiting to take the train to New York on her honeymoon. Rumsey heard the plaint of his bride and asked the merry-makers to stop. They didn't and his hand went to his inside pocket and the bridal party found themselves looking into a pistol barrel. "Now let's have no more of this," the bridegroom said.

Women screamed, the rice throwing stopped, and a banner inscribed "Just married and going to see the sights of a big town," was hurriedly put out of sight.

LEATHERMAN'S WILD CAT.

It Came This Morning as a Present for a Texas Officer.

A leopard wild cat was the Thanksgiving present received by Deputy United States Marshal Leatherman this morning. United States Marshal Seabright of the western district of Texas had promised Mr. Leatherman the cat when he visited here last summer. The cat was received just in time for the Thanksgiving feast, but Leatherman states that his taste was never educated to eat cats of any description. He was smiling all over when he looked longingly into the cage this morning at the depot.

"I know what I will do with it," said Leatherman. "I will send it to the Zoo at Washington, D. C. Then my name will go down in history."

Several bystanders became interested and excited by the deputy marshal's eager conversation about wild cats, and supposing he was going into the business, began to ask all kinds of curious questions. Leatherman seeing he was acquiring a reputation as a wild cat fancier, retreated from the caged beast.

Regular services will be held at Temple Albert at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening. Rabbi Jacob H. Kaplan will present some thoughts on "Thanksgiving" in which will be set forth how our utterances of thanks bespeak our conception of God. The public is welcome.

QUICK WORK OF PORTER.

He Put Out Fire on Moving Train, Thus Preventing a Conflagration.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Nov. 27.—The porter on passenger No. 7 which passed through here today, proved himself a hero this morning at the Santa Fe pumping station of Angel, eleven miles east of this city. As the train was nearing Angel, it was discovered that the vestibule of the smoking car was on fire. The porter, with rare presence of mind and at the peril of being burned and of falling under the moving cars, secured water and extinguished the flames which had gained some headway. His name could not be learned but whoever he is, he should be commended for the brave action he took in saving the destruction of property and possibly loss of lives.

INSURANCE SWINDLERS.

Detective Tells of the Operations of the Men in El Paso and Elsewhere.

SWINDLERS IN BAD CONDITION.

Probably the most remarkable conspiracy to defraud life insurance companies out of large sums of money yet recorded in the annals of crime was disclosed today in the habeas corpus proceedings in the cases of William Mason and C. T. Richardson, charged by the New York Life Insurance company with conspiracy to swindle and conspiracy to murder, and held under bonds aggregating $40,000, says a dispatch to the Denver News from El Paso, Texas.

When Richardson, the company's ex-agent and the alleged ringleader, was brought, handcuffed, into the court room, it was evident that the strain was beginning to tell on him. Mason is a physical wreck, and unable to speak, eat or leave his couch.

The main witness for the state was Detective Gray, of Richmond Hills, L. I., whose right name is W. J. Garrison. He was on the stand six hours, and told the story of the plots and counterplots in detail. Gray said he was sent to Dallas by the company to unearth the frauds, and he began his task by engaging in the lumber business, posing as a rich man, and finally becoming acquainted with Richardson, the company's agent. He afterwards gained Richardson's confidence and met Mason, of Manning, Richardson insured Gray's invalid nephew, Evans, of St. Louis, a fictitious person, for $10,000, substituting a healthy man for the examination. The policy was collected and the money divided.

After this the three men formed a conspiracy to cover the entire southwest and Chihuahua, Mexico, in their operations. They came to El Paso to begin, and insured Gray, under the name of Marshall D. Sangainette, for $100,000, with Mason as David Sangainette's beneficiary. They were to burn a corpse in a house, prove that it was the body of the insured, and divide the policy equally. Gray feared that he was about to be made the victim and murdered by the other two. They urged him to go to Chihuahua with them to carry out other similar schemes. He declined to enter Mexico, fearing murder, but consented to go to Denver. All were arrested.

Attorney D. Curtis Cano, of Rochester, N. Y., testified that in 1896 Richardson was a lawyer of that town, under the name of Leslie Hurlbert, and Mason, then known as William Mitchell, was his clerk. Mrs. Hurlbert was Mitchell's sister.

E. Ashforth and wife and Miss Winifred Ashforth, of New York City, are stopping at the Alvarado.

He is now the editor and manager of that newsy weekly, the Silver City Enterprise.

who will attend the great harvest festival on the 29th of this month. Mr. Switzer takes considerable interest and their wish to attend the dance was granted. However, he will combine business with the pleasure to be derived from such a trip, and will no doubt obtain a few more industrial Indians, which he will place in the curio. The hogan in the Indian village has been fitted with a little stove, and there will be no more "mucha frio" when the Indians return.

The Whitney Hardware company, always generous with their employees, presented each one with a Thanksgiving turkey. This is an annual custom with the big firm and one that is appreciated.

Everybody in town you meet these days are inquiring "Who will occupy the new Barnett building?" Mr. Barnett has a number of applicants, but has not as yet settled upon who will occupy the building.

The Citizen football team played a game against a team from the shops this morning on the vacant lots opposite the Hotel Highland, and administered a coat of whitewash to their opponents, the score standing 15 to 0.

Roy Shallenberger and Miss Anita Mead will leave tonight for Mesilla Park to attend the Agricultural and Mechanical college. They will be accompanied as far as San Marcial by Mrs. A. L. Mead, who will spend the winter there with her daughter, Mrs. Lee Shallenberger.

W. O. Brown is here representing the El Paso Times. That paper will soon issue an illustrated edition on New Mexico and the advantages of statehood, and Mr. Brown is gathering data. He was a pleasant caller at The Citizen office and obtained several fine cuts to help swell the illustrations in the forthcoming special edition.

The railroad committees, out soliciting funds for the right-of-way and ground terminals for the Albuquerque Eastern railroad, are resting up today, giving the dear people an opportunity to enjoy their Thanksgiving turkey and to agree in their minds how much they can give to get the new railroad. The committees will be out again tomorrow.

With five Navajo Indians, one silver-smith, two blanket weavers and two pappoose, John Lee Clark, of the Hyde company, passed through the city last night en route from Thoreau to Pittsburg. The Indians were gorgeous in their dress. Beads and silver chains were much in evidence and headgear, bells and moccasins of rich material and color. The Navajos will no doubt be a picturesque feature of the fine display of Indian curios in the smoky city.

The missing steamer was passed last Friday by the steamer Algonquin about fifty miles southeast of Passage Island and northeast of Keweenaw point. Since that time nothing has been heard of the steamer. It is supposed the steamer is stranded on Carrabou Island. The Canadian government discontinued that important light about a week ago for the season. With the stormy weather prevailing it is supposed the crew could not have got word to the shore. The Bannockburn carries a crew of twenty men. The ship and cargo are worth $200,000.

AN ANARCHIST NEST.

Street Fight Leads to Its Discovery in New York.

New York, Nov. 27.—As the outcome of the arrest of two Italians fighting fiercely in the street, the police of the Oak street station in this city, believe they have discovered an anarchist meeting place within a stone's throw of the station. The prisoners gave their names as Dominic Santo and Tony Menz. Santo had a big revolver with which he was trying to shoot Menz. The latter carried a dangerous looking knife. When searched fifteen cartridges were found in Santo's pockets. Besides there was an unopened letter from Canatelli, Italy.

Menz had a rough map of Paris and the department of the Seine, with about a dozen of the largest public buildings numbered consecutively and marked. He also had a bill head from the Charlton hotel, London, and admitted that he came to this country three years ago.

According to the police the fight started in a hall where a meeting was in session. Santo was charged with having revealed secrets and the fight in the street followed, resulting in their arrest. Menz is said to have admitted that he is an anarchist.

Rev. Fisher will officiate, and burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

AFTER 2,393 YEARS

Persia Resumes Diplomatic Relations With Greece.

Athens, Nov. 27.—The announcement that Ibrahim Khan Dovleti had been appointed Persian ambassador to the Hellenic court is more interesting than it first appears. Since Darius, in the year 491 B. C., sent heralds to Athens to demand earth and water as symbols of submission no Persian ambassador has been sent to Athens.

Now diplomatic relations are about to be resumed, after a lapse of 2,393 years. The event will be celebrated with an imposing ceremony. The ambassador will soon arrive here to present his credentials.

Mrs. R. E. Fellow, of Bakersfield, Cal., is visiting friends in the city.

HERE IN ALBUQUERQUE.

How Thanksgiving is Being Observed in the Territorial Metropolis.

EVERYBODY HERE HAPPY.

Thanksgiving day crept in on us this morning with a piercing atmosphere which penetrated and caused the denizens to shiver, who made a mistake and were out early. But the pleasant and warm sun was soon shedding the glad rays of warmth into the cold land, and all had the appearance of cheerfulness and happiness.

The streets were unusually quiet, save the cry of some poor chicken or turkey whose doom was close at hand. Everyone had a busy and active air about them. With arms filled with turkeys, and all manner of good things they hastened along the thoroughfares with faces clothed in smiles. Groceries and meat shops were busy this morning passing good things over the counters and filling baskets to the limit. All the business houses were open until noon when quietness reigned supreme. The postoffice and wholesale houses were closed all day.

The annual union Thanksgiving service was held this morning in the Lead Avenue Methodist church, all the denominations in the city taking part. Rev. Mark Hodgson, pastor of the Highland Methodist church, preached the Thanksgiving sermon. The musical service rendered by the choir was very beautiful. Prof. Robert T. Blair, of the school of music, gave a violin solo. A large donation was received for the poor and needy of the city.

Young people's societies held a Thanksgiving praise service at the Santa Fe hospital this morning. The program was as follows:

Gloria—Baptist quartet, consisting of Misses Ida and Videt Johnson, Mr. Money and Mr. Whitehill.

Scripture Lesson and Prayer—Mrs. Newton Cozine.

Spanish Hymn—Mrs. S. B. Gillette. Solo (with guitar accompaniment)—Miss Lillian Huggett.

Reading—Miss Florence Chapin.

Song—Miss Selma Anderson.

In the St. John's Episcopal church the annual Thanksgiving service was conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Returning from the religious services in the morning a Thanksgiving dinner constituted the special event of the day, in most of the homes.

The homes of the poverty stricken will not be without an enjoyable dinner and their unpleasant environments made pleasant. The ladies of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society spent yesterday seeing that every poor family was remembered on the day of universal happiness. And that happiness and contentedness is prevailing in our land today is beyond question.

STATEHOOD URGED

Governor Otero Interviewed on Subject in Chicago.

EXCITING FOOTBALL GAMES TODAY

Cattle and Swine of New England Placed Under Quarantine.

DEATH OF A RICH ILLINOIS WOMAN

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Governor Otero, of New Mexico, is in Chicago on business. "There is no reason on earth why New Mexico should not become a state," he said. "It has a population of 300,000 people, and we have wealth and education that entitles us to statehood. The real property values of the territory reach $200,000,000, and the native Mexican population is fast becoming an educated and more progressive factor in the community."

FOOTBALL GAMES.

Exciting College Games in Many of the Eastern Cities.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—The University of Pennsylvania and Cornell football eleven met today on Franklin field in their annual gridiron battle since 1893.

Cornell has won only one game from Pennsylvania, that of last year. But Captain Warner was sanguine of victory today. He said his players are not so badly injured as the reports indicate. The Pennsylvania eleven was in the best physical condition. There was an immense crowd.

Game at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 27.—With both sides determined to use to its utmost every ounce of skill and sinew in its possession the eleven of the University of Michigan and the University of Minnesota lined up this afternoon to decide the western foot ball championship.

Michigan had to give odds in the betting last night but with the arrival of the Copper continent today even money was in evidence. Half an hour before the game began the bleachers were filled. Snow was falling.

New England Quarantined.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson today promulgated an order establishing a quarantine of cattle, sheep and other ruminants and swine in the New England states and prohibiting the exportation of such animals from Boston until further orders. This action is taken on account of the discovery of a highly contagious foot and mouth disease in New England.

Death of Rich Old Lady.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 27.—Mrs. Eliza Stansbury died here today aged 75 years. She was a wealthy pioneer resident of central Illinois and became noted through her generosity to religious institutions.

OFF FOR LAS CRUCES.

The Foot Ball and Basket Ball Teams Left Last Night.

The girls basket ball team of the high school departed for Mesilla Park last night after a couple of long hours of waiting. The practice games at the high school speak well for the individual and team work of the players. The young ladies are confident of an excellent showing against the university girls at the Agricultural college. The team line-up is as follows: Forwards, Misses Ada Vaughn and Lizzie Bassett; guards, Misses Helen Fitch and Rose Harsch; center, Miss Rose Huntzinger; substitute, Miss Jessie Mordy. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. L. G. Lanker. L. J. Traves of the Indian school will umpire the game. The eventual game will take place tonight at the college.

Foot Ball.

At least one game of foot ball will take place within the boundary of New Mexico. The Albuquerque Indian football team came into the city lavishly decorated with ribbons of brilliant color and went south to Mesilla Park on the late train. They will meet in a pikinik tussle with the A. M. college team. This team of Indian players are noted for their sterling qualities and expect to do some fine work on the gridiron. The teams contesting in the game today are the same that finished with a score of 9 to 0 on the fair grounds here during the territorial fair.

New Mexico demands Statehood from the Fifty-Seventh Congress.

New Mexico will be more thankful if the senate passes the statehood bill.

The official republican plurality in Illinois is 69,678, which gives entire satisfaction for an off year.

Statehood sentiment is so strong in Oklahoma that all of her railroad towns are establishing union depots.

The people of the west know that those who urge the amendment of the omnibus bill are opposed to statehood.

If the democratic party is not careful it will be overwhelmed by socialism as it was engulfed by populism prior to 1896.

The revised figures show that the republicans will have a majority of thirty in the house of representatives of the Fifty-eighth congress.

Hon. Nestor Montoya will be the unanimous choice of the republican caucus for speaker of the house. Major Llewellyn has withdrawn from the race.

New Mexico claims to be a healthier region than Colorado. The El Paso News says that perhaps this is because there is but one physician for each 1,395 inhabitants in New Mexico and one for each 462 people of Colorado.

The senate committee will probably oppose statehood because they found a 19-year-old boy in this territory who could not speak English. It is by such slender threads that self-government is withheld from a quarter of a million of American people.

Grover Cleveland uses the homely illustration of the man who "sat down between two chairs" in describing the plight of the democratic party. The illustration is made the more apt by the fact that in 1896 and 1900 the democracy's back was broken.

Secretary Hitchcock of the department of the Interior believes in going slow in the construction of irrigation reservoirs, rather than to make mistakes that might be fatal in their effect on public sentiment in regard to the reclamation of the arid region.

The total receipts of the managers of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition on account of subscriptions to capital stock up to November 1 amounted to $2,478,030.83, and the total disbursements $2,284,141.01, leaving a balance of $193,889.82 on hand at that date.

From statistics gathered by the United Mine Workers from the Schuyllkill region for presentation to the arbitration commission, the wage rate shows an average of only $385 a year for the mine workers, wages of laborers being included with the miners in the calculation.

Australia and the United States are nearly neck and neck as gold producers. The output of the latter in 1901 exceeded that of Australia by a little less than $2,000,000. Both countries have done their share of the work of supplying the world with the yellow metal, and the indications are that they will continue to do so for a long time to come.

All indications point to the conclusion that Senator Beveridge came to the southwest for the chief purpose of finding some excuse for his opposition to statehood for New Mexico and other territories. His line of investigation and the fact that he and his committee did not visit Silver City, Alamogordo, Carlsbad and Roswell, clearly indicate his object.

A statistician has figured that 19,000,000 turkeys will be required to feed the people of the United States at this Thanksgiving.

Germany is paying dearly for her standing army, her growing navy, and her military glory. More than half a million men are kept under arms and out of all producing channels, taxes are growing more burdensome each year, and the national debt is steadily increasing. The treasury deficit for this year exceeds $14,000,000, and for next year a deficit of $37,000,000 is estimated.

BAD BILL.

The report of the secretary of the Interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, which has just been made public in Washington, contains a pointed reference to a bill now pending before congress, providing for the leasing of lands belonging to the public domain for grazing purposes. The secretary points out the danger to be apprehended from the passage of this bill, as follows:

"There is now pending before congress a bill entitled, 'A bill to provide for the leasing, for grazing purposes, of the vacant public domain, and reserving all rights of homestead and mineral entry, the rentals to be a special fund for irrigation.' Should that bill become a law, the public domain in the sixteen states and territories mentioned therein, aggregating an area of 525,000,000 acres, practically all of the vacant public domain west of the Mississippi, would be subject to lease at 2 cents per acre for ten years, with a privilege of renewal for ten years more.

"It is needless to say that such a bill, if enacted into law, would place the last acre of desirable public land out of the reach of the homeseeker and defeat the purpose of the government to preserve the public domain for homes for actual settlers. It would also defeat the operations of the reclamation act, and make possible the formation of a land monopoly never contemplated by the public land system, but which, on the contrary, it is one of the purposes of that system to prevent."

NOT CONSISTENT.

The declaration of the Des Moines Leader that statehood for the territories should be postponed until the "people have shown some willingness to adopt the language and customs of the American people" reveals gross ignorance or a prejudiced desire to bear false witness, says the Tucson Citizen.

How is it in Iowa? The census reports show that fully one-third of the people of Iowa are of foreign birth. Fully a quarter of a million of Iowa's population is composed of Scandinavians and Dutch who have no knowledge of the language and care nothing for the customs of the American people. And in the prosperous and progressive neighbor of Iowa, Minnesota, more than half the people are of Scandinavian birth and firmly adhere to their native language and customs. In "IMPOSSIBLE" for you to enjoy motherhood," says the doctor. Sometimes he qualifies the statement, and says: "Impossible without an operation." Yet both these "impossibles" have been made possible by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Many times the hindrances to motherhood are to be found in womanly diseases or weaknesses, which are perfectly and permanently cured by "Favorite Prescription." This great medicine cures irregularity and dries debilitating drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I wish to add my testimony to hundreds of others as to the value of Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Ida M. De Ford, of Latona, Hubbard Co., Minn. "I have suffered with a great many physicians—some specialists; have twice been in a hospital for treatment. My case has been regarded as a hopeless one, and they knew not what the trouble was. Heart was bad; stomach all out of order; tired out; severe pains in all parts of the body; sinking spells, and nearly every ailment a woman could have. I took many a bottle of 'patent medicines' without effect. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and ten months afterward I gave birth to a ten-pound boy. All physicians had stated at a point that I never could bear a child. Both the baby and myself were strong, and I got along splendidly—thanks to your medicine."

"Some years ago, while at Martinsburg, W. V., I was taken with cholera morbus, which was followed by diarrhoea. The doctor's medicine did me no good. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down." Alvarado Pharmacy.

To the Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I can recommend it with the utmost confidence. It has done good work for me and will do the same for others. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. USELESS ACQUISITION

French Chef Who Was Out of Place with Buffalo Bill.

The Man of Many Meals Soon Came to Be Regarded as an Expensive Luxury in the Western Wilds.

Some years ago, when Col. Cody started on a tour of the Rocky mountains as the host of a number of foreign military officers, having been feted by them in their clubs and homes, he was anxious to cater to their every taste and comfort while in camp life on this side of the great pond, relates the Detroit Free Press.

His orders were to spare no expense, and among the "luxuries" taken along was a French chef with a record and a price. He was secured from the Brown Palace hotel in Denver, Louis Pierre Gascirgue was his name; but for the long trail, and the generous price paid to him, "60 plunks a week," a cowboy said the chef consented to be called "Gas" for short.

He had the selection of the canned goods to be carried along, and turtle soup, of the very best, M. Gas ordered, and it took an extra wagon to hold them. The chef was radiant in a snow-white suit and cap, and presented the appearance of the first night in camp of a ghost, and was regarded with superstitious suspicion by the cowboys and others of that ilk.

"Gas" set in to show the wild westerners a thing or two in the culinary art by his first camp dinner. He had a patent cooking stove, the wide world for a kitchen with heaven for a roof, while china, fine linen and wines were right at hand. Six o'clock was the dinner hour that first night at the base of the San Francisco mountains, and Gas was in raptures over his dinner. Buffalo Bill, the host, looked serious, the guests more so. Such a dinner they could get in any club in a city, but they did not say so, if they did keep up a devil of a thinking. It was not what Col. Cody liked, but it was what he thought he ought to have for his distinguished guests. The latter stood it for two days and then went on a strike.

"I say, Cody," ventured Sir St. John Midway, major of the Grenadier Guards, "do you call this wild western camp fare and cooking? You see, we are all half dead with dyspepsia now, and thought we would get some good, wholesome food on this thousand-mile trip in the saddle with you."

The others joined in the chorus to the same effect, while monsieur, the chef, looked as solemn as a country parson's horse. As for Col. Cody, he beamed with delight, said that Rocky mountain trails and table d'hôte dinners didn't mix well, and Gas was at once given leave to go along, as he couldn't be sent back, as an ornament, a useless acquisition, and two scouts were installed as cooks. And with the chef, the canned goods, china, fine linen and the stove were sealed up in the wagon, and tin plates and cups were brought forth.

And such cooking as these scouts did could not be improved upon, while Col. Cody showed that he was a first-class cook himself. He could throw a flapjack from a frying pan into the air 15 feet, turn it over and have it come down on the other side, never once making a miss and falling into the fire. The guests tried to learn this trick, but it was found too expensive, as they never missed the fire, but always the frying pan. M. Louis Pierre Gascirgue could not be prevailed upon to taste any of the frontier cooking, but stuck to his soups and plum puddings, while he looked as though he had buried his best friend. He sought excitement in riding a broncho, and was thrown daily. He took a wagon and was upset, after which he walked, dropped behind, and was scared nearly to death by the Indians. One day he stood looking up disconsolately at the sun and said in a funeral tone: "Dat sun do shine for all parson, but it do not seem to shine for me."

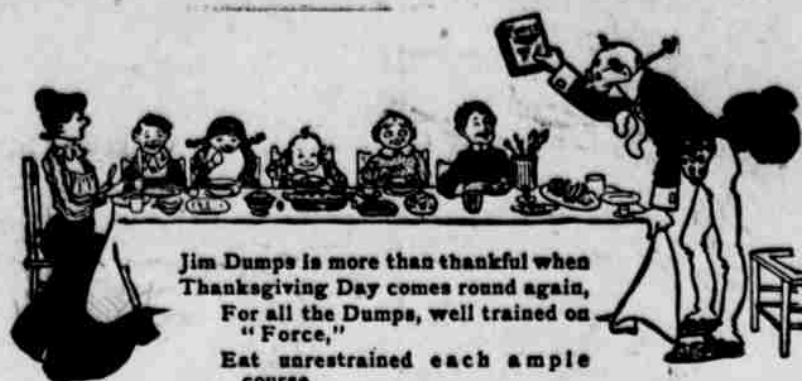

When the long trail ended at Salt Lake City the French chef was the only one of the party who had indignation, and he drowned his sorrows by getting gloriously drunk, hence was happy for the time being. But Col. Cody braced him up and returned him to Denver, having paid well for a "luxury," not to be taken on a Rocky mountain trail.

Invention to Bar Intruders.
Nervous travelers who dread sleeping in unknown houses will welcome the so-called "vigilant dragon," which is not unlike a small brass-shelled tortoise. It is, in fact, a dome-shaped table bell, with spiked legs and with a spiked dragon's head. When a bedroom door is closed the spikes are placed in the floor and against the door, and then the dragon's tail just touches the floor. This tail is connected with the bell clapper, so that if anyone endeavors to open the door from the outside an obstacle is met with, and the alarm is given. When the anxious watches of the night are over the "vigilant dragon" becomes a reposeful bell for the writing table.—London Express.

Blast-Furnace Gas-Motors.
In western Europe, and particularly in Germany, the employment of motors utilizing gases from blast-furnaces is increasing. It is said that the use of these gases, which is not so common in England or the United States, effects a considerable saving in the cost of founding. The motors thus driven are employed principally for actuating air compressors and electric generators.—Science.

WHAT IT COSTS TO MARRY.

Only a Five Dollar Bill is Necessary to Defray the Expenses in Most Places.

Marriage is one of the cheapest of luxuries if one reckons only the outlay required for the payment of the preacher or magistrate who performs the ceremony and the cost of the license in such states as require licenses. Any minister, priest or preacher of the Gospel in the United States may solemnize marriages, and in many states judges for one or more classes of courts may officiate. In all save half a dozen states, too, justices of the peace have the privilege of officiating at the highly important function, says the Chicago Chronicle.

In some parts of the United States the person performing a marriage ceremony must have personal knowledge of the identity, names and residence of the parties, and inasmuch as such laws are enforced in some of the western states where young people frequently drive long distances to be married, the stipulation has on occasion caused more or less inconvenience. In most of the states two witnesses are required to be present at the solemnization of a marriage, although in some states a single witness is sufficient. There is still in force in Pennsylvania an old law which prescribes that 12 witnesses shall be present, but this exacting is seldom if ever enforced. Perhaps the strangest stipulation of all is that which appears in the laws of Tennessee, and is to the effect that the validity of a marriage shall be in no wise affected by the omission of the baptismal name of either party in the license and the use of a nickname instead, provided the parties can be identified. Any person conversant with the conditions prevailing in the mountain districts of Tennessee will appreciate the wisdom of this unique proviso.

Common supposition is to the effect that the fee for performing the marriage ceremony is dependent entirely upon the generosity of the bridegroom, and it will, doubtless, therefore, surprise many persons to learn that in several states the law has a hand in the matter. In the Old Dominion, for instance, there is a statute which provides that the person solemnizing a marriage is entitled to a fee of one dollar, and that "any person exacting a greater fee shall forfeit to the party aggrieved $50." In West Virginia it is stipulated that the fee be "at least one dollar," and the Idaho law says that "the fee shall be five dollars, or any other or greater sum voluntarily given by the parties to such marriage." In 16 states of the union a wedded couple may obtain a more or less elaborate certificate of their marriage.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.
The little daughter of J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Portland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by all druggists.

LAS VEGAS LOCALS.
Batch of Interesting Topics From a Northern Town.
Special Correspondence.
Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 26.—Work is progressing at the El Porvenir coal mines. A fifty foot tunnel has been completed and a contract for another fifty feet has been let and work will progress steadily. After getting in the fifty feet, crosscuts will be made and it is thought the black diamonds will be found plentiful then. There is now about twenty tons of coal on the dump ready for the first steam under the boilers of the street railway power house.

William Fresenius has located a particularly fine iron claim in the second canyon this side of Porvenir. The vein, it is thought, is about seven feet thick and Mr. Fresenius will work on the claim this winter. Associated with him are Robert Howe and Charles Semple, and a cabin has already been erected on the claim for shelter during the winter.

Max Nordhaus is making preparations to take an extended trip east. He contemplates leaving next week.

Amacion Barela has transferred to Esmerajido Medina, a house and lot on the west side. Consideration, $26.

Divorces are coming pretty regularly from Union county and Colfax county will have to look to her record if the business keeps up.

Carlos Cornaye now wants a divorce. It seems too bad that Carlos and his wife, Maria Sandoval de Cornaye, should live together since 1873, when they were married, until September, 1900, and then find that married life was a dread failure. It may be because there were no children to bless the union, at least the petition for divorce is silent on the matter of children, and then it may have been because Carlos was not treating Maria Sandoval right. Anyway, she left, abandoned and skedaddled from Carlos' bed and board and refused to have anything more to do with him, so he now wants the court to cut the tie that binds and let him free to begin over again.

At the practice shoot of several of the members of the gun club yesterday evening, S. R. Dearth made the best score on live birds, getting six out of nine, and A. R. Quinley made the best score at the trap, taking nine clay birds out of ten. The shoot will begin tomorrow morning at 9:30 and there will be marksmen from Watrous and Albuquerque to take part. The live bird shoot will be ten pigeons each and the turkey shoot will be the best record made on a 100 yard distant target.

The shoot will furnish considerable amusement for an audience and everybody is invited to be present and see the fun.

Charles Stevenson, the conductor, is just able to be about. He had a narrow escape from pneumonia and is quite weak yet. He contemplates leaving soon for California to recuperate.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stern will entertain a number of lady and gentlemen friends tonight at their home with a chafing dish party.

Mrs. Emma Cohn entertained the Hebrew Ladies' Whist club yesterday afternoon.

Conductor Patrick Conner, from Raton, and running on the north end, arrived here yesterday and was taken to the Santa Fe hospital to recover from an attack of partial paralysis.

Miss Ruby Gray, daughter of the Santa Fe chief dispatcher at Raton, will be married tomorrow, there, to Samuel Ruffner, well known here, and who is the cashier of the First National bank in Raton.

Fred Fletcher and Robert Whigham are now firemen on the Santa Fe here. William Kincaide and John Lowe are new colored porters on the Santa Fe. Harry Bargman, a clothing drummer of Denver, is seeing the local trade. At 5:30 this evening will occur the marriage of Hugh Quigley to Miss Ella Stafford at the home of the groom's brother, J. A. Quigley. Father Pouget will perform the ceremony. The groom is one of the most popular of the railroad boys, and the bride is one of Las Vegas' most estimable young ladies. The happy couple will go to house-keeping as soon as a home can be fixed ready for occupancy. The railroad boys as a unit extend their hearty congratulations to the groom and the best of wishes to the charming young bride.

"So?" he replied, absent-mindedly. "That's what it says," she asserted. "They are too easy-going in a business way, and really don't know how to get a proper return for their services. There is no class, it says, that is so much imposed upon. Do you think it's true?"

"Well," he replied, thoughtfully, "some of them may lack business ability, but others have enough to make the average good. Do you remember that you asked Dr. Pills to dine with us last month?"

A BREATHING SPELL.

If the consumptive could only keep from getting worse it would be some encouragement.

Scott's Emulsion at least gives tired nature a breathing spell. The nourishment and strength obtained from Scott's Emulsion are a great relief to the exhausted system.

This treatment alone often enables the consumptive to gather force enough to throw off the disease altogether.

Land Contest Decisions.

Register M. R. Otero and Receiver Frederick Muller of the federal land office at Santa Fe, have filed their opinion in the homestead contest of Manuel Tapia vs. Luther M. Shelby, involving a homestead in the vicinity of Santa Rosa, Guadalupe county. The opinion recommends that the entry be cancelled for non-compliance with the laws and that Manuel Tapia be given the preference right in making a new entry.

In the contest of Virginia D. McClurg, of Colorado Springs, vs. Clara A. B. Corbin, of Washington, involving a homestead filed by the defendant upon the Gran Quivira ruins in northeastern Socorro county, Mrs. McClurg maintained that Mrs. Corbin had failed to comply with the homestead law and that the land in question was more valuable for its prehistoric ruins than for its agricultural possibilities. The decision was in favor of Mrs. McClurg and it was recommended that Mrs. Corbin's entry be cancelled.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Concert and dance at Colombo hall tonight. Admission, 75 and 50 cents. Plenty of turkey today in the city, and everybody enjoyed a good, square meal.

Some interesting races, given under the auspices of the Gentlemen's Driving association, are in progress at the fair grounds.

Captain Oliphant, the roadmaster of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, was here yesterday on business connected with his duties.

Hon. Solomon Luna, of Valencia county, was in the city yesterday. He went south on a freight today to eat his Thanksgiving turkey at his home in Los Lunas.

A. E. Powell, the popular route agent of Wells-Fargo Express company, who was out on the road the past week, returned to the city last night, so as to enjoy his Thanksgiving turkey with his family.

The Thanksgiving dance at the Commercial club was a most enjoyable affair, although the number of dancers was small. A delicious turkey lunch was served, and dancing continued until a late hour.

Manuel R. Springer, the old town general merchant, has a Thanksgiving gift in the shape of a bouncing baby boy weighing eleven pounds. The attending physician announces mother and child doing nicely.

That Hawaiian claret punch, introduced to the patrons of the White Elephant this morning by Lou A. Schoenecker, touched the right spot, and was pronounced by several old timers as the very best on the market today.

The stock of goods of Theo. Muenstermann, the Railroad avenue shoe merchant, was moved today to the vacant store room opposite the postoffice, where Mr. Muenstermann will be located in the future. The vacant store room on Railroad avenue will soon be occupied by B. Ruppe, the druggist.

Col. and Mrs. A. A. Trimble gave a delightful and grand Thanksgiving dinner, in honor of their cousins, Mrs. Judge Burgess, of Jefferson City, Mo., and Mrs. Redman, of Kentucky. Judge J. S. Trimble, Judge A. J. Crawford and family, William L. Trimble and all others of this extensive family were invited to share it.

The Ladies' auxiliary of St. Joseph's hospital held the initial meeting in the parlors of A. Borders in the Commercial club building yesterday afternoon. Organization was completed and the good work begins with a large and interested membership. The purpose of the organization is to furnish linen and clothing for the charity patients of the hospital.

Mrs. Anna Grace Jacobs, 30 years of age, the wife of P. R. Jacobs, a business man of Spokane, Wash., died at her room in the Highlands yesterday. The deceased had been a resident here only a short time. She leaves a husband and a year old brother to mourn her death. Her father and mother live in Scotland. The remains were taken charge of by O. W. Strong & Sons, and sent to Spokane for interment last night.

Charles Gates Ward, city editor of the Journal-Democrat and wife, nee Miss Turner, were unexpected arrivals on the late train last night. They had just returned from a honeymoon trip in Colorado after the wedding in St. Louis last week. The arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Ward was so untimely that the reception planned by their friends did not materialize. But congratulations are in order just the same. The happy couple will be at home after January 1, at 724 South Third street.

Hon. W. D. Hoard, ex-governor of Wisconsin, arrived last night from Fort Atkinson, that state, joining here his wife and son, A. R. Hoard and wife, who arrived a few weeks ago. The ladies are here for their health, and the men abide their waiting. In that event, the party may remain here some time, and again may depart for a little warmer climate in a few days. The senior Hoard is editor and publisher of Hoard's Dairyman and the Jefferson County Union at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Here's a case of it:

C. G. Lott, for ten years stationmaster in Albuquerque, now retired from active career of life, residence 315 North Arno street, says: "I had attacks of backache stretching over a period of three years. One of them occurred shortly before Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I went to the Alvarado Pharmacy for a box. I knew the cause of my trouble arose from imperfect action of the kidneys because the behavior of the kidney secretions and their condition fully proved it but what to do to check the trouble was a mystery. Doan's Kidney Pills effectively stopped the difficulty. If everyone in Albuquerque receives as undoubted benefit as I from that remedy, kidney complaint, backache and trouble with the kidney secretions will cease to exist in this vicinity."

Rock-a-Bye Baby

These are sweet words, but how much pain and suffering they used to mean. It's different now. Since Mother's Friend has become known, expectant mothers have been spared much of the anguish of childbirth. Mother's Friend is a liniment to be applied externally. It is rubbed thoroughly into the muscles of the abdomen. It gives elasticity and strength, and when the final great strain comes they respond quickly and easily without pain. Mother's Friend is never taken internally. Internal remedies at this time do more harm than good. If a woman is supplied with this splendid liniment she need never fear rising or swelling breasts, morning sickness, or any of the discomforts which usually accompany pregnancy.

The proprietor of a large hotel in Tampa, Fla., writes: "My wife had an awful time with her first child. During her second pregnancy, Mother's Friend was used and the baby was born easily before the doctor arrived. It's certainly great."

APACHE KID.

It is intimated this blood thirsty Savage May Start War—Has Returned to Fort McDowell.

Apache Kid, the most noted leader of the Apache Indians during the last ten years, has suddenly and unexpectedly returned to Fort McDowell, says a Prescott dispatch to the Chicago Chronicle. His reappearance has caused uneasiness among the white inhabitants living near the fort. While he gave no reason for his presence, his friends took care to have it plainly understood that the chief was in search of a wife or wives.

Since the arrival of the Apache chief two friends who returned with him have been wooing all the eligible Apache women of Fort McDowell, but have so far failed to find a squaw or squaws to suit the matrimonial wishes of the Kid. The two friends finally got drunk because of disappointment over their failure to find a gentle wife for their chief and they, with several others, started a celebration at Fort McDowell that terrified the whites, who believed a new Apache war was in process of formation. As a result of the disturbance Apache Kid and his two friends are now under military surveillance.

Old settlers at Fort McDowell are suspicious of Apache Kid. They would be greatly pleased if he and his friends were imprisoned without delay in order to frustrate any evil purpose he may have. They fear that he is plotting a new Indian revolt. He already has several wives.

Apache Kid could not have returned to civilization at a more critical time than the present. It is but two weeks since there was serious excitement among the Apaches and Mohaves owing to the distress and discontent among them. These two warlike tribes came so closely together owing to their common sufferings that it was believed they had formed an alliance hostile to the whites. The white inhabitants of central Arizona went so far as to prepare themselves for a struggle with the redskins. Apache Kid, the most dreaded of Apaches, arrived at Fort McDowell, where Mohaves and Apaches come more closely in contact than anywhere else, just when his appearance served to confirm the reports of the alliance of the two great Arizona tribes against the whites.

Nothing can be learned from Kid or his friends concerning his whereabouts during the last five years beyond his admission that he has been in Mexico. He has apparently spent most of his time in the state of Sonora. When asked for his opinion of the Yaqui Indians in rebellion against Mexico he expressed contempt for the Yaquis. He evidently considers the Yaquis to be degenerate Indians for the reason that, while they are fierce and destructive in war, during times of peace they are given to industry and toil.

The dreaded chief must have passed most of his time in the last five years in northern Sonora and Chihuahua. It is known that a stray band of Apaches has been operating in that region and Apache Kid has probably been the leader. The members of this band stole enough cattle to keep themselves supplied with meat without exciting any concerted action against them on the part of the Mexicans.

During the past year the Apaches of northern Sonora and Chihuahua have had a number of conflicts with the Mormon colonists of the region because of raids which they had made on the cattle of the latter. It looks now as though the Apaches had made matters too warm for the Apaches and the result is Kid's return to Arizona.

The authorities at Fort McDowell do not believe that Kid has any evil designs in his visit to the fort. For this reason, while they will keep him under strict surveillance, they will not interfere with his movements. They will give him every liberty in securing and selecting a wife or wives and will offer him inducements to settle down and lead a quiet life. It is believed by these authorities that Kid is at present wifeless. He brought no squaw with him to Fort McDowell, so it looks as if he lost them in Mexico, either by death or repudiation.

The Apaches who returned with the chief are known as Ball-o-ice and Smoking Hill. They are of the same age as Kid and are devoted to him.

SALESMEN'S TRIALS.

Bad Food is One of Them. Road traveling is rather hard on salesmen. Irregular hours, indifferent hotels and badly cooked food play smash with their digestion.

An old Philadelphia traveler tells how he got the start of his troubles by using Grape-Nuts. "For years I was troubled with a bad stomach, which gave me constant headaches and pains all through my body, caused by eating improper food. I spent considerable money on doctors, who said I had indigestion, and after taking medicine for a year and it doing me no good, I decided to go on a diet, but the different cereals I ate did not help me. If it hadn't been for the advice of a friend to try Grape-Nuts, I might be ailing yet."

"I commenced to feel better in a short time after using the food; my indigestion left me; stomach regained its tone so that I could eat anything, and head aches stopped. I had gained in weight, and have a better complexion than I had for years. At many hotels the salesmen will have nothing in the line of cereals but Grape-Nuts, as they consider it not only delicious, but also beneficial for their health in the life they lead."

BEEES TO KILL

Agricultural Department Finds Ally in the Philippines.

Sting of the Insect Said to Be Poisonous to the Small Animals—Will Be Introduced into This Country.

The agricultural department at Washington is to make a determined attack upon the American field mouse. His extermination in certain localities has been resolved upon and the Philippine bumblebee is to be brought into service as the executioner.

This was the statement made by Prof. C. H. Riley, of the department, who passed through Chicago last week en route to San Francisco and the Philippines. Prof. Riley, of the division of entomology, will devote a year in the Philippines to the study of bugs and insects of the archipelago. The "bumbling bird" bumblebee of the Philippines will be one of the main objects of his inquiry. It is planned to import the big bee of the Philippines into the United States that he may make war upon the American field mouse, a rodent which has caused the farmers of the country a loss of thousands of dollars.

"It is an old saying among farmers," said Prof. Riley, reports a Chicago paper, "that when there is plenty of clover there are lots of bumblebees. What the farmer really means is that when there are lots of bumblebees there is plenty of clover. He might carry his logic further by saying that when field mice are scarce there are plenty of bumblebees, and that when there are plenty of cats there are few field mice."

"In order to save the clover crops of the country the agricultural department has the choice of two things, to increase the number of cats in the country, which will destroy the field mouse, or to take away from the rodent his supply of winter food. Either method if successful would result in a gain of thousands of dollars to the farmers. The field mouse is very fond of bumblebee honey and never loses an opportunity to deprive the insect of the rewards of his work. The honey taken away from the bumblebees causes him to perish in the winter time. Hence a short clover crop for the bumblebee is a carrier of pollen from one clover plant to another. Thus when there are lots of bumblebees clover comes to perfection. If the field mouse has destroyed the bumblebees there is no insect that can do its work in the summer time and the farmers lose accordingly. This is not only true of clover, but many other plants."

"We hold that the bumblebee is a valuable member of insect society and that the field mouse is a worthless scamp who likes a good dinner but does not want to work for it. The Philippine bumblebee is an entirely different insect from his American cousin. He is fully an inch and a half long and looks like a small bird. He is full of business and has no fear of such a small animal as the field mouse. He is a harmless fellow when let alone, but his sting is deadly to smaller forms of animal life. He will fight for his own with the tenacity of a pugilist and any unscrupulous field mouse invading his domain will have to fight for everything he gets."

"A field mouse after receiving the sting of a Philippine bumblebee would much resemble the wrecked appearance of some of our college boys after the Thanksgiving football game. He would have to lay up for repairs."

"It is the intention of the agricultural department to introduce this bee into the United States if climatic conditions will permit. He will be sent to the warmer parts of the country at first, where he may gradually become hardened to the more severe climate. It is then hoped he will grow and spread until he covers the entire country. The department has its eye upon other insects in the Philippines which may prove of value to agricultural interests. There are several varieties of honey bees which will be given a trial. A species of tree toad, which has a deadly antipathy for certain kinds of citrus insects, will be introduced into southern California with the hope that it may be useful in the extermination of the black or armored scale, which has caused so great a loss to fruit growing interests of late years."

Regret of Wolfe's Monument. "It is sad," writes a Quebec correspondent of the London Post, "to see the state of Wolfe's monument to-day. Rank grass grows high inside the rusty and worn iron railings. The column is cracked, and if nothing be done must soon perish. The monument, a simple column with a helmet and sword on the top, and its inscription: 'Wolfe died here, victorious, 13 Sept., 1759,' is sublime in its simplicity."

The Parson Wandered. A country clergyman whose custom it was to read his sermons, one Sunday morning forgot his manuscript. He determined to take his congregation into his confidence, and he accordingly announced: "My friends, this morning I have come without my sermon. So you must take what the Lord gives me. But to-night I will come better prepared."

The Santa Fe Indian team, like the Albuquerque Indians, played a tie game with the Agricultural college team of Las Cruces. Therefore today's game will be watched with more than usual interest.

F. T. Ferris, of the Santa Fe, appeared before the board of trustees of San Bernardino and asked permission to remove the telegraph poles and wires from the west to the east side of the track along I from Fourth street to the city limits. He stated that the company intended to build a new line between San Bernardino and Barstow. The request was granted.

It is said there is hardly a road in the country that is not in the market for freight cars and most of them are placing orders as fast as they can for new passenger equipment. The Rock Island is said to be completing arrangements for 10,000 new freight cars to be delivered in 1903. The Santa Fe is trying to find some factory willing to take an order for 3,000 cars.

"The mountains are constantly moving," was the remark of an officer of the Denver & Rio Grande road recently, in speaking of the great land slides in the canyon above Glenwood Springs, Colo. "We find from actual experience in maintaining tunnels, bridges and tracks in the mountains that the mountains are moving. It costs a railway passing through the mountains a great deal of money in the course of ten years to keep the tracks in line and maintenance of tunnels is even more expensive. Drive a stake on the side of a mountain, take the location with the greatest care, and return after a few months. The stake is not in the same location. The whole side of the mountain has moved. This experiment has often been tried and in all cases the result proves that the mountains are moving. The mountains are gradually seeking the level of the sea."

Quinine and rum and a whole lot of other things, are pleasant to rub on the scalp after washing it free of dandruff, but not one preparation of the general run cures dandruff and falling hair. It is necessary to kill that germ, to be permanently cured of dandruff. Herpicide will positively destroy that germ, so that there can be no more dandruff, and so that the hair will grow luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause and you remove the effect." Send 10 cents in stamps for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. F, Detroit, Mich.

This morning a passenger coming in on the G. H. limited brought in a wild cat, says the El Paso Herald. It was caged in a common cracker box, with a piece of wire netting nailed over the top. When the cat was taken off the train the box was set down on the platform and a sack thrown over the top. One of the switchmen came along and having a few minutes to spare sat down on the box. Pretty soon along came the owner of the cat and told the switchman what he was sitting on. It is said that the switchman immediately took a lay off and is busy trying to figure out what might have happened if the wire netting had given way.

CAN'T WRITE THEIR NAMES.

Natives Employed by Santa Fe Sign the Hospital Petition.

Speaking of the petition which is being circulated to get the Santa Fe to build its proposed new hospital at San Bernardino, the San Bernardino Sun says:

"All to whom the petition has been presented have signed: that is, all who can write their names. For there are some in the employ of the Santa Fe who are unable to see what they look like on paper, unless some one helps them out. For instance, there are the natives who form the rouabout crew which is Storekeeper Sloan's chief backing. None of them can write, but are nevertheless going to sign that petition. They held a meeting the other day and declared themselves unanimously in favor of having the hospital in San Bernardino, especially if it is going to be in the old mission style. They will have some of the storehouse force sign their names to the petition and after it they will make their crosses."

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Santa Fe Trying to Eject Squatters From Toad-a-Loup.

Attorneys for the Santa Fe at Kansas City filed forty ejectment suits in the north side court, Kansas City, Kansas, against the people who are living in that section of the city known as Toad-a-Loup. The Santa Fe purchased this land several weeks ago and notice was served on all squatters in the district to remove their belongings within thirty days. A great many of the residents removed to Greystone heights and other places not far distant from Toad-a-Loup. Those who are defendants in the ejectment suits filed have refused to comply with the order of the railroad company.

NAVAJO BLANKETS.

Gen. Hollister Explains the Meaning of the Symbols—Told Their Troubles and Joys.

"Navajo Blankets: Their History and the Significance of Their Designs," was the subject of an interesting address delivered before the Colorado Academy of Science and invited guests by Gen. U. S. Hollister, says the Denver Republican. The meeting was held in the rooms of the State Historical society. He exhibited sixty-five rare and ancient specimens, part of his personal collection with several loaned for the occasion by citizens who take an interest in southwestern curios.

Mrs. Cornelia S. Miles, president of the academy, called the meeting to order. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Secretary W. C. Ferrill, she introduced Dr. W. C. Kinley, who spoke of the fact that the Indians are passing away rapidly, leaving as mementoes probably no more lasting articles than their blankets. It was fitting, he continued, that Americans learn as much of the significance of the markings of these blankets as possible. Dr. Kinley then introduced General Hollister. He read extracts from a pamphlet on the history of the Navajos, which he expects to publish, and subsequently displayed each of his blankets, explaining the markings and the history of a few of them. He said in part:

"The Navajos were and are imitators. They secured most of their patterns from the Pueblos, and I presume the Pueblos secured their patterns from the Cliff Dwellers. The source of the Cliff Dwellers' ideas we have no record of. The art of weaving is undoubtedly of aboriginal origin. Our available data shows that soon after 1729 they could produce coarse fabrics. The work was done by the women, and their whole destiny was involved in the designs they adopted. The smallest fabric they made showed their individuality—the individuality of the Navajo squaw. She sets no patterns when she starts, but works symbolically, knowing not until she finishes what she intends to make. She knows symbols, and these must appear in some form. The crosses and squares and bars and zig-zag markings of all these blankets have meanings.

"The simple cross is a common pattern. The Indians paid homage to it as a matter of protection. The creative spirit, father and mother, are shown in red and black. The snake is worshipped by the tribes, and is worked in blankets in homage of this reptile; but we have to approach these subjects with a great deal of care, as the Indians themselves have a great many analyses of their figures. When the Navajos see the cross they consider it equal in effect, with the Great Spirit, to a supplication."

General Hollister exhibited a specimen of Mexican blanket fifty-two years old, in a fine state of preservation. A Moqui dress pattern, in solid black and embroidered in red, was exhibited as a sample of the art as possessed by the Moqui Indians. He showed a Navajo blanket made before the tribe had obtained the secrets of coloring. "They originally made them all white," explained General Hollister, "then they found a combination that made wool gray. Subsequently dyes became available and lurid colors were adopted. Here is a black and red, genuine Navajo, showing red crosses, each cross indicating the troubles of members of the weaver's family."

He showed Navajo blankets made of Germantown yarns, so closely woven that the wool was not discernible. Another was shown woven so closely and yet as soft as a piece of silk. Some specimens twenty-five years old were declared to have been made of Germantown yarns, yet undeniably of Navajo origin. He said, however, that up to 1890 the Navajos made no blankets except of natural wool. About that time they secured from Spanish traders a red cochineal dye, and from that date turned out genuine Ballatas (pronounced layetas). "Now and then," he said, "an odd ballata is found that must have taken a squaw a year to make. Given the red and blue and black they evolved their peculiar greens and yellows by mixtures with their local shrubs and leaves and roots of plants."

Brought Prisoner Here.

Deputy Sheriff Newcomer arrived from El Paso this morning with prisoner Ward, who was arrested in that city some time ago, as a suspect of the Santa Fe and Benjamin safe robberies. One of the early suspects arrested here had property on his person which he claimed to have received from Ward. With the description of the man given by the prisoner here, Officer Ben Williams and Detective O'Reilly, of El Paso, arrested their man. However, he refused to come back with the officers. Fugitive papers were sworn out and as soon as they could be signed by the governor of Texas, Ward was brought back against his will. He will probably be given his hearing today or tomorrow.

Relate Interesting Tales.

INDIANS WERE THEIR FRIENDS.

The contrast of the Thanksgiving in the southwest today and the Thanksgiving of 1860 is most interesting. The manner in which the old pioneers celebrated the great event was much more fascinating and perhaps more enjoyable than are our quiet celebrations and easily obtained feasts.

Albuquerque has several old pioneers in her midst this Thanksgiving who have a vivid recollection of the Thanksgiving as it was celebrated on the plains in the early 60s and 70s. Several of these early plainsmen were seen yesterday and extracts of the early Thanksgiving are given in this article.

Sandy Wardwell's Thanksgiving.
The first pioneer approached was L. C. Wardwell, better known as "Sandy," a name which he acquired on plains years ago.

"Thanksgiving now," said Mr. Wardwell, "does not have the gayety and excitement that it had in the early days. I remember a Thanksgiving in 1860, I believe the first one I spent in New Mexico. It was at the ranch of Lucia B. Maxwell, a Frenchman. He owned the old Maxwell land grant, the largest tract of land in the country at that time. It is now owned by some British land company, and the town of Cimarron now stands where we held our celebrations. Maxwell was an old trapper, and on these occasions Kit Carson, Tom Tobin and other old celebrated frontiersmen would gather here, and what a time we would have."

"On this special Thanksgiving there were 300 or 400 Ute Indians present. We were on pretty good terms then, and they celebrated with us. There was lots of sport in those days. Horse races that were very exciting, Indians against the whites and whites against the Indians. There was lots of betting and high stakes, but usually there was not much money up. The sporting men would bet from 50 to 200 cattle and from 500 to 800 sheep, which soon run up into dollars.

"I have heard old Maxwell tell his rider that if he didn't win he would shoot him. So you can imagine that there was nothing tame about these races.

"Yes, all running races, and the kind you don't see nowadays. Then there was the turkey shooting. The turkey was put in a box some distance away. Each man had to pay so much for a shot and the man who put a bullet through the head got the turkey.

"The men who attended these Thanksgiving feasts were stockmen, stage drivers, prospectors, government officers from Fort Union and other men who were engaged in work in the west.

"Wild game was plenty and previous to the feast there would be a big hunt. Nick nacks like one gets these days were unknown. After the hunt a big fire would be built and the barbecue would begin. An ox would be roasted whole, and the big brown bears roasted were delicious. Then we would have lots of venison and turkeys. Those feasts were great. At Maxwell's place the tables were sixty feet long and they were always filled to overflowing. The Indians sat at one table and we sat at the others, all eating the best meals of our lives. After the dinner the Indians would have their fire dances and the boys and Mexicans would dance until very late at night.

"There were lots of sports then and the betting stakes were very high. Those who had money didn't think anything of staking $1,000 or more on a favorite horse. Jim Hickland was the greatest sport in the bunch. Kit Carson wasn't much of a sport; he was rather quiet.

"People came all the way from Santa Fe and Elizabethtown and other places to attend the one event of the year."

"No," concluded Sandy, "Thanksgiving now is nothing like we use to have. It lacks the interest and excitement of the old days on the plains."

Evans' Thanksgiving.
Another pioneer, the oldest in the city, D. R. Evans, was also seen by the Citizen representative and the story he told of the good old Thanksgiving was equally as interesting.

"The first Thanksgiving I spent in New Mexico was in 1879," said Mr. Evans, his face beaming at the recollection of the day of enjoyment. "A party of ten or fifteen of us were camping north of Elizabethtown and we had a grand celebration. The forests abounded with wild game of every description. The entire party went on a hunt and on our return we had our roasted barbecue. We brought in several bears, deer and other game that got in our way. Then cutting the slain animals into large pieces we roasted them before the large fires built for the occasion. There were no Indians present, as we at that time were not on friendly terms. But the feast in the forest with all kinds of game at our disposal was an event I shall never forget. I spent most of my early Thanksgivings in Colorado and there we also had a grand dinner, at many of which the Indians were present and they would race, have chicken grabbings and all kinds of games. The races at these events were particularly interesting. Everything was fast and exciting, yet never disorderly. At the Thanksgiving in '79, which I celebrated in New Mexico I was connected with the railroad, stationed at Raton Pass. Yes, Kit Carson, Tom Tobin and other now famous men were always present at these celebrations in this territory.

"Tom Tobin was quite an interesting character in those days, and was a partner of Kit Carson. A story is told of how Tobin captured a couple of native desperadoes on one of these events. It was near the Sangre de Cristo range. Tobin with a party were on a march across the country. A thousand dollars reward was offered for a native named Espinosa and his son. Tobin saw a raven circling in the air above a forest. 'Watch that raven,' he said, 'and wherever it lights there is meat of some kind.'

"Everyone kept an eye on the raven, and advancing closer saw smoke arising from between the trees. Crawling on their hands and knees they advanced within a few paces of the outlaws. They refused to surrender and were shot through the head. The heads of the desperadoes were carried back to the camp in a bag, which Tobin retains to this day. This will give you an idea of the way we lived in those days. 'I could tell all kinds of stories which relate to the strenuous life of the early days. Thanksgiving was always an event of great interest among the plainsmen, because it was seldom we could always get together and feast and enjoy ourselves.'

FINE DANCE.

The Christopher Colombo Society Held Forth Last Night.

The Christopher Colombo society gave a swell dance at Colombo hall last night. The merry dancers enjoyed the evening of music and gaiety until the Thanksgiving day had appeared. D. Ramirez's orchestra flooded the hall with beautiful music, which pleased and thrilled the happy dancers. A special feature of the festivities was the grand march played by the orchestra. About 100 couples were present and the spacious hall was comfortably filled.

Concert and dance at Colombo hall tonight. Admission, 75 and 50 cents.
