HE IS THANKFUL

President and Family Will Enjoy Thanksgiving.

TELEGRAPHERS WILL ORGANIZE

Roosevelt Congratulates Sultan of Turkey on His Birthday.

PITCHER JACK POWELL TO WED

Washington, Nov. 26.—This is going to be a jolly Thanksgiving in the renovated White House. All of the president's children, including young Theodore, are at home and they are bound to have a romp, in which their father and mother will join. It will be a holiday in every sense of the word. The clerks and secretaries will not report for duty and all official engagements will be postponed until the following day. In the morning the president and his family will go to church and in the afternoon they will receive some visitors in a social way. Dinner will be at 7 p. m., and three or four friends will be invited to share it. Mr. Roosevelt will carve his own turkey, which will be a majestic bronze Rhode Island bird, weighing nearly thirty-five pounds and of the finest breed. Each year at Thanksgiving time the noblest gobbler in all that little state is sent to the president of the United States, being selected with utmost care by an old gentleman named Horace Vose of Westerly, who for more than a quarter of a century has taken pride in making this annual contribution to the table of the White House. Mr. Vose is a sort of likeness of David Hare in real life. He does not raise poultry himself, but is a dealer in fowls and horses on a wholesale scale. In response to his gift Mr. Vose will receive from Secretary Cortelyou a pleasant little note of acceptance, inscribed in neat typescript on the note paper of the executive mansion. Mr. Vose has a number of such letters, one for every year since 1873, which he has carefully preserved. In 1873 Mr. Vose sent his first Thanksgiving turkey to the White House, addressed to President Grant. It was a magnificent bird, tipping the scales at thirty-two pounds after being dressed. Of course, anybody who wishes to do so may send a turkey to the president, and the reasonable expectation is that it will not be refused. While gifts of substantial value offered to the chief executive or to any member of his family are invariably declined, such things as choice eatables or drinkables or even smokeables are accepted as a rule. It is always the policy of the occupant of the White House in such matters to be courteous, while avoiding embarrassing obligations. In return for the contribution of a turkey the sender is sure to receive a pleasant word of thanks with Mr. Cortelyou's signature. Ordinarily from half a dozen to twenty gobblers are received at the White House every Thanksgiving, and likewise at Christmastide, and this year has proved no exception to the rule. The giver of such a fowl can by no means take it for granted that his own bird will appear on the presidential table. There would not even be room for them all in the great two-story oaken ice chest in the basement, which holds the family supply of provisions. On the other hand, there is no danger of their going to waste, inasmuch as they are distributed among the clerks employed in the establishment.

Pitcher Powell to Wed.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—"Big" Jack Powell, of the St. Louis Browns, the star of the American league twirling staff during last season, will be married here tomorrow to Miss Nora O'Connor, a sister of Catcher Jack O'Connor. Powell and his bride have planned to spend the winter in Chicago.

TELEGRAPHERS TO ORGANIZE

Commercial Operators of Canada and United States to Unite.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 26.—The movement looking to an effective organization of the commercial telegraphers of the United States and Canada, which has been in a formative stage for some time, is expected to be put into tangible shape at the conference called for this city today. The promoters of the movement have been somewhat handicapped in their work by the fact that there are at present two so-called national organizations, which claim jurisdiction over the commercial telegraphers and in addition there are a number of local organizations which are affiliated with neither. Through the good offices of the American Federation of Labor the differences among the various organizations appear to be in a fair way of being satisfactorily adjusted and the outlook is bright for the formation of an international union which will make the commercial telegraphers as strong a labor body as that which has controlled the railroad telegraphers for some years past.

SULTAN'S BIRTHDAY.

President Roosevelt Sends a Telegram of Congratulations to Him.
Washington, Nov. 26.—Having been informed that tomorrow will be the anniversary of the birth of the sultan of Turkey, President Roosevelt has sent to that monarch a personal message of congratulation. This is in return for a similar compliment paid by the sultan to President Roosevelt on his birthday last month. The custom of exchanging congratulatory messages of this kind was begun many years ago and is faithfully observed by most of the European rulers. Queen Victoria always kept informed with respect to the birthdays of American presidents, and never failed to send a personal telegram of congratulation, and the compliment was always reciprocated on the anniversaries of her birth.

POLICE COURT.

The Fake Jewelry Gang Put to Work on the Street.

A FEW DRUNKS GET JUSTICE.

In Justice Crawford's court this morning two natives were given the choice of five dollars or five days for overestimating their capacity. However, rather than spend the five days working hard on the streets for the city, they scraped up the necessary and went away wishing they had been good.
Harry McKay, an ex-night watchman around the Alvarado, was up before the judge with the same old charge of breach of the peace. The judge had been very lenient with him on previous occasions, when he wore the badge, but this time he was given a gentle reminder of fifteen days of hard work.
The case of the gang arrested Sunday in the shack in Dog Town by Officer Harry Cooper was given the finishing touches. McAndrews, the boss, finally pleaded guilty to the charge of being a peddler and was given his choice of $15 or 15 days.
He firmly denied that he was trying to dispose of the small stock of razors, rings and needles, but stated that the reason he failed to take out a license as soon as he hit the town was because he was not feeling well and wanted to rest up.
The two lads with him were marked up as vagrants and received the usual sentence of five days. They are both very young, yet at the same time they bear the marks of the criminal class. The judge advised them to hit for home as soon as released as the business of traveling over the country working a fake racket is dangerous, and is anything but pleasant.
The other two arrested with them were released, as no charge could be placed against them. They wended their way toward California, the place they claim as their home.
The constant bobbing up of the cheap jewelry fakirs cause considerable guessing among the police authorities, as one cannot tell what they may do on the side. Frequently they use the title of peddler as a guise, in reality being graduates from the school of crooks.

PRICE OF SILVER

Its Decline Causing World Wide Concern.

NEGRO HANGED IN NEW JERSEY

Western Union Telegraph Company at Law With Pennsylvania Road.

PHILADELPHIA HOLDING DOG SHOW

London, Nov. 26.—The continued decline in the price of silver causes some considerable comment in financial circles. According to the best informed houses it is regarded as being directly due to China's flooding the market with silver in payment of indemnity to the powers.
Prior to the recent disturbances China was a large buyer of silver in London, but now the balance of trade is reversed, and instead of China taking silver in return for tea, silk and other articles imported into the United Kingdom, she has to ship silver in payment of manufactured articles. This alone without the war large indemnity disbursements is considered sufficient to account for the depreciation in value of the metal market. It is pointed out that if China paid the indemnity in gold, the result would be the same as she would have to send the same quantity of silver to Europe in order to buy the gold. The Chinese contention that China should pay the indemnity at the higher rate of exchange in force when the recent peace treaty was signed finds some support among English houses who are not only alarmed at the prevailing conditions on account of their far eastern trade, but also on account of their large commerce with India. Rumors were rife recently that this was the cause of the decline but these find no credence among the larger Anglo-American firms.
Negro Murderer Hanged.
Bridgetown, N. J., Nov. 26.—Job Williams, colored, was hanged here today for the murder on October 27 last of John S. Holmes, an aged farmer, and the latter's housekeeper, Miss Catherine Schutt. The drop fell at 10:35. Williams shot and killed the couple when detected robbing the Holmes farm house. He then carried the bodies to the barn and fired that structure. Williams was arrested and confessed.

WANT INJUNCTION.

Western Union Telegraph Company at Law With Pennsylvania Railroad.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 26.—The application of the Western Union Telegraph company for an injunction restraining the Pennsylvania railroad from compelling the plaintiff company to remove its poles and wires from the right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, by reason of the alleged expiration of contract between the companies, came up for argument in the United States circuit court before Judge Buffington today. An additional bill, accompanied by a petition, was filed today.

Yale-Harvard Athletics.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 26.—The reports to the effect that a breach was likely in the athletic relations of Yale and Harvard were neutralized by a Yale announcement, authoritatively made today in the editorial columns of the Yale Daily News, the university organ. The News announced that a meeting of the Yale-Harvard conference committee is to be held in the immediate future to decide on a term of years agreement between the two universities.
Patrick Case.

HAVANA STRIKE.
General Gomez Succeeded in Preventing Further Rioting in the City.
Havana, Nov. 26.—There was a general resumption of work today except in the case of the cigarmakers, who still have a few minor points under discussion. Gualberto Gomez, colored, is mentioned as the successor of Diego Tamayo, the secretary of the government, who recently resigned.
Gualberto Gomez, with Gen. Maximo Gomez, took a prominent part in the settlement of the strike. His speech to the strikers Monday night is said to have prevented further rioting.

THE COMMITTEES AT WORK.

Mayor Myers, G. L. Brooks and Others Working Among the Dear People.
LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER.
One of the most thankless jobs imaginable is that of serving on a rustling committee soliciting funds for an enterprise that will help build up the city, and the railroad committee who are now hard at work, are fast finding out that they have tackled such a thankless job.

Mayor Myers and his committee know that the scheme to get the Albuquerque Eastern railroad is a good proposition, and in their rounds they cannot imagine why certain people, the biggest property owners and the largest merchants and shippers, are small contributors, and even some hesitate about subscribing at all.

With a competing line, even in awhile Albuquerque would enjoy something she does not have now—a freight rate war—and in one shipment of goods and supplies the merchants would gain back every cent of their subscriptions, so it is not loyal, nor justice to the committee, to be stingy in giving to secure such an enterprise. Everybody knows that another railroad is needed to help make Albuquerque a city like El Paso, and The Citizen again appeals to the merchants and property owners to not let this opportunity pass but be liberal in your subscriptions.
At 4 o'clock this afternoon, Mayor Myers reported between $9,000 and $10,000 subscribed.
More About Mrs. Gore.
Paris, Nov. 26.—Consul General Gowdy received a letter from M. Elasser, of London, offering to furnish information to the family of Mrs. Ellen Gore which will assist Elasser, in clearing up the facts in connection with her death by shooting on Wednesday last. Mr. Gowdy has written to Elasser asking him to forward the details. The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Gore will take place this afternoon in the American church.

Rise in Manhattan Stock.

New York, Nov. 26.—The official announcement of the lease of the Manhattan Railroad company to the Interborough Rapid Transit company caused a jump in the price of Manhattan to 157 1/2. It immediately dropped off to 155 under a flood of realizing, came back to 157 and dropped again and closed weak.

BIBERY SERMON

New York Minister on Civil, Social Vice.

KANSAS GOVERNMENT PRISON

Anthracite Coal Miners Will Work on Thanksgiving Day

THE FUNERAL OF GUNMAKER KRUPP

New York, Nov. 26.—In a sermon on bribery, the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, of the Church of the Ascension, has characterized tipping as a species of the evil. After alluding to the official bribery that prevails in the orient Mr. Grant repeated the stories of the recent disclosures in St. Louis and said conditions there and in many other cities were only the earliest phase of what New York passed 20 or 30 years ago.
"It would seem," he said, "that the older and decaying nations have not a monopoly of the civil, social vice."
The same thing operated in business, he said, and a young man in business found frequently that he could receive money if he would lend his influence or good name, or act in a certain way and many seemed to expect something beyond their salaries.
"We smile and charge up such things to foreign ways or heathen religion," he said, "but whom shall we charge it up to that young men in business are not content with the salaries they get and will take commissions and gifts in a business way from anybody? What is the state of mind that can allow it? Can it be absolutely just and honest to the interests in one's own pocket and what wonder that defalcation, embezzlement and thievery take place?"
He said servants in hotels and restaurants expected tips and judged and served the patrons according to the tips they got.
"It is simply bribery," he exclaimed, "and a part of the maelstrom of money getting and spending."

PENITENTIARY FULL.

Capacity of Government Prison at Leavenworth Almost Reached.

Leavenworth, Kas., Nov. 26.—Thirty-one prisoners were received at the United States penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth Sunday. They traveled in a combination prison car and were guarded by twelve United States deputy marshals. Two of the convicts, Andrew Lennox and William Phillips, were brought to prison to serve life terms for murder committed by them in the Indian Territory. Of the thirty-one prisoners nineteen came from the northern district of the Indian territory, eleven from the central district and one from Colorado.
The population of the federal prison is now 843, and its capacity is 900. Warden McClaughey says at the rate that the prisoners are coming to the prison the institution will be crowded, and he will probably arrange to have a number of convicts kept at the new prison, one of the cell houses there being nearly completed.

Will Work the Mines.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 26.—The United Mine Workers have decided to keep all the collieries at work with a full force of men on Thanksgiving day. The operators requested the men to remain at work and this action is in compliance with their requests.

Funeral of Krupp.

Essen, Prussia, Nov. 26.—The remains of Herr Krupp were buried today. The obsequies were impressive. Emperor William followed the hearse on foot from the old home of the grandfather of the decedent to the cemetery. Practically the entire population of Essen attended the funeral.

Bank Robbed.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 26.—The First National bank at Morgan, Bosque county, was dynamited by robbers early today and $5,000 in gold, silver and currency was secured. Before the citizens, who were aroused by the explosion, could reach the bank, the bandits secured the money and made their escape.

SENATORIAL COMMITTEE.

Report on Statehood for the Territories Will Be Made December 3.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 26.—The senatorial committee looking into the claims of statehood made by New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory has finished its investigation, in these territories. Senator Beveridge, chairman of the senate committee on territories and of the sub-committee that made the trip, returned to this city today for a few hours, before going to Washington. He declined to say anything as to the conclusions the committee may have reached and said nothing would be given out until the committee made its report to the senate. The report is expected December 3.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Men Burned and Maimed by a Rush of Molten Iron.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 26.—One man was burned to death, two fatally injured and a third severely hurt while two strangers are reported missing, as a result of a sudden breaking of the furnace of the Williamson Iron company, in Birmingham, today. The dead: Thomas J. Edwards, general manager of the plant. Injured: James F. McAnally, store man, fatally burned; Allam Maw, colored, foundryman, fatally burned; Charles Sampson, son of the secretary of the company, severely injured. The break in the furnace caused a mass of molten iron to gush forth.

The Needy Poor Remembered.

The poor and needy of the city are being made happy today by the distribution of the donations of all kinds of food by the school children. The children were supposed to divide their gifts, giving part at Thanksgiving and part at Christmas, but if the generosity of the public schools at Christmas is equal to the spirit of Thanksgiving there will be no need for the poor to go hungry.

The transfer wagon, donated by E. S. McGuire to collect the gifts from the schools yesterday, was filled to overflowing with everything one would wish for a Thanksgiving dinner. The supplies were taken charge of Mrs. J. W. Edwards, and all the unfortunates who are unable to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner by reason of adverse circumstances will be remembered.

The ladies of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society have done and are doing a noble work among the poverty stricken classes, and they are deserving of the support of every prosperous family in the city.

SHOT BY BURGLAR

Michigan Village Postmaster Killed by a Robber.

ATTEMPT TO ROB INDIANA BANK

Row Browing Between Great Britain and Venezuela Over Damages.

COLFAX, INDIANA, POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Warren, Mich., Nov. 26.—Clint C. Osborne, assistant postmaster and proprietor of the general store in this village, was shot dead early today by one of a gang of robbers that had entered the Warren bank and blown open the safe. The explosion aroused Osborne, who telephoned to one of his neighbors that he thought burglars were at work in either the bank or the postoffice.
All the telephones in the village are connected at night and it is thought that the crackmen heard the bell on the bank telephone ring and listened to Osborne's conversation. Osborne then started down the street, and had gone but a short distance when one of the robbers, acting as an outside guard, shot him in the face with a charge of buckshot, killing him instantly. Then without securing anything from the safe the burglars rushed from the bank and drove rapidly away, leaving no trace of their identity.

DESPERATE ROBBERS.

Daring Attempt to Rob a Bank in Indiana.

Akron, Ind., Nov. 26.—Early today a desperate attempt was made to rob the Exchange bank at this place. The robbers captured and bound the two night telephone operators and cut all the telephone wires leading out of the local exchange. They also bound and gagged a physician, whose office is in the same block with the Exchange bank. The first explosion of dynamite at the bank aroused the citizens who hastened to the scene with firearms. Many shots were exchanged but the robbers escaped without any booty. The bank building is badly wrecked.

WILL NOT SETTLE.

Venezuela Pays No Attention to Demands of Great Britain.

London, Nov. 26.—Diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Venezuela have not been severed up to the present, though the foreign office would not be surprised if it was compelled to take a decisive step at any moment. Thus far Venezuela shows no signs of granting reparation demanded, and the question of seizure of Venezuelan customs has been discussed between Berlin and London as one of the various possible methods of obtaining satisfaction. No decision has been reached, however, regarding the course which shall be finally adopted.

Postoffice Robbed.

Colfax, Ind., Nov. 26.—The postoffice at Clark's Hill was entered today and the safe dynamited. About $300 worth of stamps were taken. The mail pouches were also looted. There is no clue.

Washington, Nov. 26.—William H. Theobald, special employe of the treasury department in connection with the New York custom house, has been discharged by direction of the secretary of the treasury. It is charged that Theobald has been over zealous in the discharge of his duty and has brought the department into disrepute by ill advised action in connection with the seizures of imported goods.

New Mexico demands Statehood from the Fifty-Seventh Congress.

At the recent election the state of Wyoming cast 25,052 votes, 12,000 less than the vote of this territory.

Let us be thankful that the unsightly old porches in Santa Fe are to be removed by order of the city council.

The postmaster general has invited war, devastation and pestilence. If anything awful happens to the country he will be to blame. He has issued a 13-cent postage stamp.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says that it is hinted that Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma are likely to be admitted in the omnibus bill, although it is doubtful if Oklahoma will be satisfied with anything less than a band wagon or an automobile.

The Pueblo Chieftain says that the vicinity of the northwest corner of New Mexico continues to be the finest apple region in the United States. There is now an endless chain of wagons carrying apples from the Hyde company at Farmington to the Durango cold storage plant, and frequently the street is almost closed to passage. Drivers and teams have to wait patiently for a turn to unload. One Durango shipper has sent out 1,800 boxes of fancy apples thus far this season.

TEMPERATE NATION.

America is by far the most temperate nation of the civilized world.

The statistics prove that the annual per capita consumption of beer in the United States is 13.3 gallons, as against 31.7 in England, 27.5 in Germany and 6.2 in France.

France consumes far less beer, but what is lacking here is more than made up in wine and spirituous liquors, in the consumption of both of which she leads by a large majority. For instance, the French consume 25.4 gallons of wine annually, as against .33 of a gallon in the United States, .39 in England, and 1.45 in Germany. Of spirituous liquors the American consumes annually 1.10 gallons, the Englishman 1.12, the German 1.94 and the Frenchman 2.02.

The total consumption of all three classes of beverages is: In the United States, 14.73; in England, 33.21; in Germany, 30.87, and in France, 33.62.

THANKFUL NATION.

"The year just closed has been one of peace and overflowing plenty. Rarely has any people enjoyed greater prosperity than we are now enjoying," says the president.

Whether we can enjoy turkey or not we must acknowledge the truth of this statement. Never have the farmers received such bountiful returns for their labors than this year. Never have so many men been so profitably employed as at present, and never have the American people been freer from misfortune than during the past year. Never a year in our history has seen so much money given to educational and charitable institutions. Never were there so many schools or so many pupils as there are today. Opportunities for material advancement, for advancing physically, mentally and morally were never so plentiful as now. The popularity of athletic sports in and out of our schools has increased to an extent hardly dreamed of a few years ago. This means a stronger, more vigorous race. Facilities for the dissemination of intelligence have grown so rapidly that daily newspapers are now within reaching to persons living in this part of the Union, says the Denver Republican. An illustration of this is shown by the fact that in a recent issue of the Christian Work and Evangelist of New York, Rev. S. E. Wishard represents that if New Mexico and Arizona are admitted as states Mormonism will control the whole section from Mexico to Canada.

Every one who is properly informed knows that Mormonism in this sense is nothing but a bugaboo, hardly worth the consideration of thoughtful men. That the Mormon element is in the majority in Utah is not denied, but its power in Salt Lake City, the center and citadel of the church, has been broken. The Gentiles are the dominant power in Salt Lake, and they are so in every state and territory of the Rocky Mountain region except Utah. In Wyoming and Idaho the Mormons are an element to be taken into consideration, but they cannot affect the result of elections, except as they may throw their weight to one side or the other. In both Idaho and Wyoming they are a minority of the population, and were they to attempt to control the government they would be crushed under an overwhelming adverse vote.

Mr. Wishard's proposition that if Arizona and New Mexico are admitted they will be controlled by Mormons is only less absurd than the fear that they may become dominant in Colorado. There are a few Mormon settlements in Arizona and possibly one or two in New Mexico, but the idea that they can control either of the territories is ridiculous. Among religious organizations the Roman Catholic church is the strongest in New Mexico, but even it cannot control the government. As for Arizona, it must be classed in this respect with communities east of the Mississippi in which all churches are represented and in which none controls.

Funeral of T. J. Helm.

Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, Santa Fe, the Elks held a lodge of sorrow over the remains of Thomas J. Helm, which was sent to Red Key, Indiana, Monday morning for interment at his old home. The church was crowded to such an extent that many could not find seats.

The poetic and symbolic ritual for the burial of the dead was impressively spoken, the choir singing "Nearer My God to Thee," "We Shall Meet But We Shall Miss Him" and "There is One Vacant Chair."

A solemn hush fell over the audience as each Elk dropped his sprig of green upon the bier and uttered feelingly the word "Peace!"

Hon. T. B. Catron pronounced a eulogy upon the deceased.

Rev. W. Hayes Moore preached upon the brevity of life and "Immortality."

The Elks wore their regalia and crepe upon their left arm and marched into the church in a body.

FRIGHTENED!

The Agony Endured by Nervous Women.

"My nerves are all unstrung" is the expressive way in which a woman is apt to describe a condition of extreme nervousness. The figurative expression "unstrung" may be unscientific but it pathetically suggests the grand harp of the nervous system, strung and keyed for harmonies by its Maker, now become so unstrung that it gives out nothing but jarring discords. Nervous people rarely receive the sympathy which is their due. The dropping of a book which causes the nervous woman to start, or the slamming of a door which causes her to scream, are sounds which do not jar the nerves of a healthy person. To the nervous woman such sudden sounds are like a blow in the face and they cause intense suffering. The extent of this suffering may be gathered from Mrs. Nelson's experience told in the letter given below. She says, "I was so nervous that the least thing would startle me almost into convulsions." Such a condition of nervousness generally indicates womanly diseases. It is useless to attempt to cure nervousness by the use of narcotics.

NARCOTICS ARE DEADLY for the nervous woman whose need is not to make the nerves sleep but to make them strong, not to numb them but to nourish them. The best medicine for nervous women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures nervousness because it cures the causes which are behind nervousness. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which undermine the health and strength, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Dr. Pierce's medicines are the best I have ever used," writes Mrs. C. Nelson, of Chemawa, Marion Co., Oregon. "My health was badly run down when I consulted him by letter. My limbs were cold and my head hurt me continually. I was so nervous that the least thing would startle me almost into convulsions. I had palpitation of the heart so bad that I could scarcely walk sometimes. I felt utterly discouraged, but two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' made a new woman out of me. We are never without Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription but is claimed for it by the women who have been cured by its use. Behind every claim is a sure-yes, a thousand cures. In fact,

GOES TO LAS CRUCES.

Charles P. Downs, of Silver City, where for some time past he has been engaged with the Silver City Enterprise, and who also formerly was foreman of the Las Vegas Record office,

Mrs. Anderson in the letter which follows expresses the general sentiment of her sex when she writes: "I think Dr. Pierce's medicine is the best in the world for sick and nervous women."

"I would like to express my gratitude to you for the benefits I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. N. Anderson, of Rockbridge Baths, Rockbridge Co., Va. "It is a God-send to weak and sickly women, restoring good health without subjecting their weak nerves to the shock of an examination. 'I was all run down in health from November until March—could not work but a short while without resting. Was so nervous at times that I could not even write; had a very poor appetite, and what I ate did not seem to do me much good. I decided to write to Dr. Pierce and state my case, and am thankful that I did, for in due time I received a favorable reply as to what kind of medicine to take. I sent and got it and commenced taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets.' Took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of 'Pellets.' I can now work as well as I could before I was taken sick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world for sick and nervous women. May God bless you in your good work."

WHAT WOMEN DREAD. There is a sentence in Mrs. Anderson's letter which will strike a sympathetic chord in the breast of every woman. She writes of "Favorite Prescription," one of "Golden Medical Discovery" and one vial of "Pellets." I can now work as well as I could before I was taken sick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world for sick and nervous women. May God bless you in your good work."

Women dread the indelicate questionings, the offensive examinations and the obnoxious local treatment considered necessary by many local physicians. All these may generally be avoided by a consultation by letter with Dr. Pierce, for which there is absolutely no charge. Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is strictly private and the written confidences of women are treated with the same privacy observed by Dr. Pierce in verbal consultations with women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Because Dr. Pierce's offer is free it is not to be classed with those offers of "free medical advice" made by men or women who have neither the legal nor the professional right to practice medicine. If they dared to put out their signs with the title Doctor upon them, the law would instantly deal with them. They don't dare to do this, and yet, though without medical training, medical knowledge or medical experience, they cunningly offer "free medical advice." The law can't touch that claim because anyone can give free advice on any subject, but a woman knows that the advice of her laundress is perfectly worthless as to the cutting and fitting of her gown.

In consulting with Dr. Pierce, women not only consult with a real doctor, but one who is a specialist in the treatment and cure of diseases peculiar to women, and who, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has in a little more than thirty years treated and cured hundreds of thousands of women.

WOMEN NEED IT Every woman needs a copy of Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 large pages, which is sent free on request of those who send stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps if the cloth-bound volume is desired, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

has purchased a half interest in the Rio Grande Republican, published at Las Cruces, and will assume editorial charge of that paper on Monday next. Mr. Downs is a first class newspaper man and will no doubt do good work and be successful in his new venture.

Startling, But True.

A TOMATO DISEASE.

Bulletin issued by New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Except for the blight, which is well known to the tomato growers of this section, the tomato has been free from serious diseases in the past. However, it is now desired to call attention to a disease which has occurred on the tomatoes in this locality during the past season. This is the first time the disease has appeared in such abundance as to be particularly noticeable and to cause considerable loss to the tomato growers in some parts of the Mesilla valley. The disease is a fungus, but not being sure of its specific name, the writer sent some diseased tomatoes to Professors Atkinson, Dugger, Pammel, Smith and others. While some of these authorities differ as to the exact specific name, yet most of them class the fungus as a Macrosporium (Alternaria).

The disease was especially bad on the tomato fields that suffered from the drought. On one of Theodore Rouault's fields that suffered from the drought the fungus was very abundant. It is estimated that this field produced less than one-fourth of a crop and the loss due to the fungus was close to thirteen hundred dollars ($1,300). At the experiment station the tomatoes suffered very little from the drought. The disease first appeared on these tomatoes the first week in September, and at the time it was found only on very few fruits. The disease spread and developed very slowly at first, but about the last of September it was quite abundant, especially on the weaker plants.

The disease usually occurs first on the green tomatoes. It begins as a small light brownish circular spot, surrounded by a darker ring. The spots are hard and slightly sunken and as they get larger and older they extend into the flesh of the tomato. The individual spots do not grow large but as they increase in numbers rapidly and frequently almost the whole tomato is dotted with these spots. The disease is likely to occur on any part of the tomato. It attacks the leaves and stems as much as it does the fruit and if abundant enough the leaves drop and the plant stops growing, and consequently it stops bearing.

The remedies for fungus diseases are the various kinds of fungicides. The favorite remedy, both on account of its efficiency and cheapness, is the Bordeaux mixture. It has been used on this disease quite successfully at other places, especially in the south. It may be well to state in this connection that a fungicide is not so much a remedy as a preventative. For this reason, in order that the fungicide may be most effective, the spraying should begin before or immediately after the disease starts. Spraying is about the best and surest remedy that can be recommended at present. If there are any indications of the disease going to attack the tomatoes it is advisable to begin to spray then and there. Do not wait till the disease has gained a strong foothold. If the plants are kept in a vigorous growing condition the fungus will probably not have the same chances of developing as it has in the weaker plants. This disease may attack other kinds of plants. About the last of September it occurred on the melon vines at the station, and it was so bad that many of the vines soon stopped growing.

Winslow, Ariz., Nov. 25.—If the possibility of being located near a strip of 800 acres of oil land dotted with gushing wells, would have a tendency to boom a city, Winslow's prospects are undoubtedly good.

Although very little has been said through the press about the oil lands near this city, the lands are surely here and have been located and the locations registered. The gentlemen who are interested and who have made the locations, have been very conservative about the matter, and it may have been through their efforts that it has been kept from the press and public.

About six weeks ago a man by the name of Taylor came here from California, hired teams and men and drove to a point on the river bottom about five miles north of the city and posted oil location notices on more than a section of land. It took him some days to finish the first part of the work and after it had been done, Mr. Taylor immediately and forthwith went to Holbrook and registered the same as oil lands. He spent money freely, but talked very little. He did not exactly keep his business a secret, as that would be impossible in a case of this kind. He is reported to have told the few supposed to have been on the inside that he was positive that oil would be found on the land located, and also said that he was going to California and would return soon, bringing oil boring outfits with him. This is all that is known of Mr. Taylor and his present whereabouts. He left the city for the west unexpectedly and has not been heard from since.

It is thought by some that he is a representative of the Standard Oil company, and others think that he is crazy and did not know what he was doing. Nevertheless, his expected return is looked forward to with momentous waiting.

Hunter's Return.
Division Superintendent I. L. Hibbard and his party composed of his secretary, Rufus Goodrich; superintendent of bridges and building, D. A. Shope; general storekeeper, C. M. Cotton and Martin Bugeln, proprietor of the Bright Angel hotel at Grand Canyon, who went over across the Grand Canyon last week in search of game, have returned home. They reached the hunting ground all right, but on account of the heavy snow which overtook them, were compelled to return home without doing much hunting or getting any game.

Items of News.
Mrs. M. M. Mickles has opened up a restaurant around the corner of the Down's house, and at last the railroad boys have a good place to get their meals.

R. C. Creswell, the old-time and trustworthy Winslow liverman, is doing business at the old stand and is the right man to get your horses from when at that railroad town.

J. B. Drumm, proprietor of the Opera House tontorial parlors, seems to be a favorite with the railroad boys.

Operator Duffy, Night Yardmaster Bob Bennett, and Wright, also of the night yard force, are to be made conductors in the near future.

A social event which promises to be a very swell affair, will be the B. of R. T. ball given at the opera house Thanksgiving eve. The boys are making big preparations.

TOWN OF HOLBROOK.

Some Interesting Local Notes of a Good Western Town.

Special Correspondence.

Holbrook, Nov. 25.—To say that five traveling men carrying heavy sample cases alighted from the train a little town of 200 inhabitants in a single day speaks well as to business transactions by that town's merchants. An instance of this kind occurred at Holbrook one day last week, and not only occurs once in a year but quite often. It is not unreasonable to say that the little trading post draws business from both the north and the south of the railroad, in a radius of 175 miles. Not only do the merchants sell large quantities of groceries and other supplies, but they trade considerably in Navajo blankets and Indian curios; and the writer will also say here that these goods can be bought from most any of the merchants of Holbrook at most reasonable prices, and it is safe to say that some of the Indian curio collections owned by them, are almost as large and complete as found anywhere in the United States. Holbrook not only has some generous, progressive merchants, but is the county seat of Navajo county, which is a large and quite wealthy part of Arizona. The county paper, the Holbrook Argus, edited and published by Mr. Pease, is another evidence of the progressiveness of the inhabitants of the town and county.

H. H. Searce, the merchant and cattle raiser, is out on the range branding colts.

Probate Judge Watron, one of the county's leading politicians, and the town's leading merchant, has returned from a ten day's business trip to Los Angeles. The judge was elected to the bench for the second term, and has the honor of receiving the largest vote ever cast for one candidate at one election in the history of Navajo county.

J. R. Hunt is down at Snowflake for a few days.

Will Wooster has moved into his new store building north of the depot.

W. M. Ambuster, the blacksmith, and one of Holbrook's oldest and most honored citizens, is still to be found with hammer and tongs doing business at the old stand.

About 50 scholars are enrolled in the Holbrook public schools.

H. Kempenich, formerly employed with E. J. Post & Co. at Albuquerque, is now acting bookkeeper for A. & B. Schuster, the merchants.

Gone to the Mountains.

Loaded down with camping outfits, an ample supply of grub, cameras and scientific instruments, Prof. W. G. Tigh of the university, accompanied by A. T. Atkinson, John Cannon and E. E. Jones, students of the geology class, set out this afternoon for a four days' exploring trip across the mountains. The first stop will be at Whitcomb Springs; from there they will explore all the mountain region for geological specimens to Hell canyon. Their purpose is to determine the foundation along this region and collect all the geological material possible without removing the mountains.

Prof. Tigh has all the qualities of an explorer and the boys accompanying him will no doubt greatly enjoy the trip.

A Policeman's Testimony.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes, "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Alvarado Pharmacy.

DRY GOODS MERCHANTS.

A Few Pointers on Advertising for Their Benefit.

The first one in the field with an announcement will probably get the greatest share of the business in the line covered by the announcement. All dry goods men handle linens, but the store where they make the greatest talk about the linens they carry will probably have the greatest returns in the way of linen sales. The same is true in other lines. A dry goods man advertised a special line of blankets, and the weather turned warm just at that time and he didn't sell one of the day following the announcement. He had used a half a page of space to tell about the blankets he was offering, and the blankets prevented the selling of any of them. Three days later it grew cold again and the day following the cold snap he sold more blankets than all the other dry goods men in town put together. If the advertisement failed to pull the day after the advertisement was issued there was reason to expect that its greatest force might be lost. But the advertisement was a good one and remained in the minds of the people who read it, and the needs of the season made them buy the goods advertised. The man who talked blankets all the year would probably be able to sell the most of the blankets, for he would create the impression that his was the store at which to buy blankets. Talking along a given line gives the impression that the advertiser is especially well posted and well stocked along that line. People like to buy where the merchant has a knowledge of what he is offering and where they feel he has used his knowledge of the goods for the benefit of his stock when he went to buy it. The persistent talker about certain articles reaps a benefit in this way.

District Court.

The court this morning tried the case of A. Morenci against R. Roper, suit for damages, and rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff for full amount sued for.

Court also tried the case of D. Shaves vs. Jose Platero; replevin for horse claimed by both parties. After hearing evidence of a large number of witnesses the court found the issues for plaintiff, giving him possession of horse and damages for detention.

ART CLUB.

The Members Held an Interesting Newspaper Social.

THE VARIOUS SCOOPS.

A newspaper social is the latest development of the reasonably intelligent and sprightly Art club, and the new and unconventional idea proved to be a very interesting and amusing social affair.

The social began with the lively time usually in evidence in the editorial rooms of a big sheet. The vivid imaginations soon adapted themselves to the fascinating life of knowing everything, from what the prisoner whispered to the policeman to what and how to feed babies.

The editor-in-chief, the promoter of the unique social, accepted the position for himself, because he never has any work to do, but confines himself to the pleasant task of making others work.

Each member of the staff was assigned to the department for which he was best suited. A tall dignified gentleman, wearing glasses, was assigned to the department of fashion notes. The young gentleman, whose artistic taste is used in a clothing store, and has a reputation for being a confirmed bachelor, was given a column on children. Musical notes were assigned to a young business man, well known for his lack of appreciation of music. A fickle minded young sport was made book reviewer, and the most matter-of-fact gentleman of the club was made the joke editor. Then each was to get a sensational scoop.

An intermission of thirty minutes to get in the copy was a genuine imitation of a night in the office of the New York Journal.

At the end of that period the editor-in-chief called his staff to go to press. They all enjoy the evening press. Then came the reading of the copy, criticized by the other editors amid a tumult of shouts of laughter, turning suddenly to tears. The strong points of the fashion editor's copy were that long trains are now the most fashionable on the railroads, and the capes on the east coast of Africa. The editor of the children's corner stated that the best way to raise children was to grab hold of the hair, and the way to keep them clean was never to wash them.

The musical editor assured the critics that the most desirable notes were bank notes, and the least desirable were thirty-day notes. He concluded by adding that the editor-in-chief was a D-sharp, and if he kept practicing he would be in Sing-Sing.

The book reviewer endorsed "Jessie James," Nick Carter and other celebrated authors as being suitable for school books, especially night school. The first scoop was how Columbus discovered America, landing before the reporters got next. A second was on an interview with a celebrated actor in the Elks new theatre on Gold avenue. The third on the capturing of a runaway street car on Railroad.

which were immensely thrilling. The "joke editors" had the hardest task of all. When the jokes were read, some of the editors were so dignified as to use their white vests, ostensibly for the purpose of removing the tears inspired by the sadness of the jokes. THEY LIVE IN TENTS.

The Curiosity of a Citizen Reporter
Discovered a Funny Man.

NOTICE TO INQUIRING CALLERS.

In the sandy lot at the corner of Railroad Avenue and North Walter street stands two small white tents. There is nothing mysterious about this little white city, yet the quietness which surrounds them arouses the curiosity of the most unobserving passer-by.

The ever present prying qualities of a Citizen reporter almost got him into trouble yesterday, when his curiosity was excited by the painful quietness of the tents. As nothing was stirring on the outside he walked boldly up to the first tent, untied the flap string and thrust his eager head within.

"Well, what do you want?" said a stylishly dressed young man seated in a comfortable rocker, with his feet perched in the air.

Forgetting his title, the reporter replied: "Want? I want to know who is who and what."

A scowl came over the young man's face and he said: "I suppose you are another."

Thinking that something was wrong in his attic, the reporter was just about to retreat, when the young man turned quickly and pointed to a notice pinned on the tent flap which was something like this:

"In order to facilitate all inquiries regarding our presence in this most wonderful land, and to save ourselves from wasting our breath, as we may have use for it in future years, we hereby put up the following notice for the benefit of all persons inclined to know our past life, where we come from, who we are, etc., and so forth, only asking in return that they leave us alone after reading this, if they don't want to take chances of being either stared to death with sharp and piercing looks or have a piece taken out of their anatomy by the dog, Yours truly,

BLANK & SPACE.
1. My name is Space.
2. Am n'teen years old.
3. Have no money.
4. Am supported by the Union of Hoboes.

5. Am in for three years.
6. The tent is mine and all paid for.
7. So is the dog.
8. Also my furniture, except the most of it.

9. Don't cook in my tent.
10. Pay board in advance. If in doubt trust me.

11. This is the Easterday reservation.
12. There is no room for any more tents.

13. The coal is paid for.
14. I don't burn wood.

15. It is very cold at night.
16. Servants are all out.

17. My automobile is coming.
18. Keep an eye on the dog.

19. Yes; am in love with the town.
20. The dog has teeth.

"If there are any more questions to be answered, please call on the mayor, as I am deaf and dumb."

The reporter's quick eye again wandered hesitatingly to the heartless young man. But his look was far away, and no doubt he was in a trance. The dog's watchful eye was fastened upon the hopeless newspaper man, who in all his experience had never been at a loss for a question, but now failure stared him in the face. Taking the interior of the tent in with a glance he backed out with both eyes on the dog. Leaving the tent in record time he quickly covered the space between the tent and the fence and breathed a sigh of relief.

The interior of the cool reception tent was neatly arranged and very tidy. A cozy little stove occupied the end, around it were chairs, a writing desk covered with papers and books, and a small couch covered with heavy blankets.

The victim of the curious public was taking it easy in a large rocking chair, relieved of the burden of answering trying questions.

BUSY ARIZONA BEES.

Large Store of Sweets Laid Up in Hidden Places.Tons of the Treasure Taken from the Flowers of the Southwestern Desert—Great Sport for Honey Hunters.

The greatest crop of honey ever known in Arizona is that of the present year. The average product of the territory is somewhat in excess of 2,000,000 pounds. This year it will be far in excess of that amount—probably double. The greater part of this honey will find a market in Chicago, reports the Chronicle.

Strange as it may seem, the mesquite and cactus, which flourish without water, provide the bees with a honey far superior to that from cultivated plants, and the blossom and fruit of the cactus are even better than the mesquite blossom. The most handsome of desert flowers grow on the hundreds of varieties of cactus. One of the most beautiful is that of the Cereus Giganteus, the organ cactus, generally known by its Spanish appellation of the "Saguara."

Arizona's most typical plant, that towers in great, green, fluted shafts, the most conspicuous and oddest subject on all the plains. In the late springtime each saguara is crowned by a mass of brilliant, silken white flowers, sometimes over 100 in a bunch. Each blossom is about four inches across. Nearly all develop to fruit, the "petahaya," the most palatable of the wild products, and in the blossom and the fruit the wild bees and the tamed ones find the essence of honey. The prickly pear, the night-blooming cereus, the cholla, the doubly barbed terror of the desert, the ocotilla and many others give honey to the bees, while the wild roses of the rocks and the thousands of smaller flowers aid in furnishing the most delicately flavored honey known to the apiarists.

In the Salt River valley bees work for a longer period than in any other locality, a crop of 200 pounds of honey to each hive being not unusual, while an average of 100 pounds for the season is maintained. From Phoenix and Tempe alone are shipped about 1,000,000 pounds of honey each year, nearly all of it being separated or strained.

The wild bees of the desert and mountains provide an interesting study and honey-hunting is a most unique sport, which is not without its dangers, but with recompense sufficiently delightful to repay one for its difficulties. In the cavities of the highest rocks the bees gather in great swarms and store their supply of food. With remarkable sagacity they choose the most inaccessible spots and frequently find places which baffle all ingenuity of even the Indian, the most persistent seeker of honey. Frequently great hoards of honey are found in caves and down the sides of steep cliffs, where thousands of bees have stored their products for perhaps scores of years, and sometimes as much as a thousand pounds of honey are taken from such places. The Indian bee hunter many times risks his life to obtain the nectar of the wild bees, and swings himself at the end of a frail rope, far down the sides of a steep precipice. Neither is his danger ended there, for if not well protected from the onslaught of the bees, sometimes in dense swarms of thousands, he is likely to become a victim of the angry defenders. Indeed, not long since a Papago young man was stung so badly while robbing a wild hive that he died soon after his comrades had pulled him up to the top of the cliff.

On the desert, too, the bees make their homes, sometimes swarming in the shell of the decayed cactus and often in caves along arroyos and the beds of the large streams. Very often they swarm close to the agricultural districts and it is a frequent and very easy thing for the ranchers to gather them into hives and hold them. One rancher a few miles southeast of Phoenix has on his property a small isolated butte, near the top of which is a small cave. From this piece of rock the owner has gathered honey enough to pay for his ranch. Several years ago a great swarm of bees settled in the cave and the owner has gradually tamed them, and each year gathers from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds of honey from them.

Something Like a Covey.

Two old hunters were swapping yarns and had got to quail.

"Why," said one, "I remember a year when quail were so thick that you could get eight or ten at a shot with a rifle."

The other one sighed.

"What's the matter?" said the first.

"I was thinking of my quail hunts. I had a fine black horse that I rode everywhere, and one day out hunting quail I saw a big covey on a low branch of a tree. I threw the bridle rein over the end of the limb and took a shot."

"Several birds fell and the rest flew away. Well, sir, there were so many quail on that limb that when they flew off it sprang back into place and hung my horse!"—Los Angeles Times.

Greene—I don't know; but certainly hers is not a horseless carriage, is it?—Judge.

The American Bird of Thanks.

THE NOVEMBER EPICURE.

They tell us that we eat too much,
And warn us not to be
Felled by the enervating touch
Of too much luxury.

And yet the turkey, roasted fair,
Doth glow with so much charm,
That he could not, you'd stoutly swear,
Be capable of harm.

The berry sauce all radiant gleams,
Like blushes coyly set;
The celery as modest seems
As any violet.

And there be pies, and puddings, too,
So fire wrought and small,
That serious harm they scarce could do
Were you to eat them all.

—Washington Star.

THE NOBLE BIRD.

There is something about a Thanksgiving proclamation that starts a gnawing at one's vitals which nothing but roast turkey will remove.

No matter how busy we are with business, or how amused we are with amusements, when this proclamation comes out we are immediately seized with this ravenous yearning that causes the sacrifice of countless thousands of turkeys throughout the length and breadth of this fair land—a carnival of fowl murders as one might say.

Scientists tell us that the reason this turkey thirst comes upon us with such irresistible force, at this particular time, is because turkeys get nice and brown, and ripe in the fall of the year, just at the time we all get so jolly thankful.

Visions of well basted, sizzling turkey swim before our consciousness as we patiently wait for the termination of the services. The soft soothing voice of the clergyman is drowned by the wail of hunger that comes from that burning, yearning spot in our bosom, to which we have already alluded.

We hasten home and assemble around the festive board. The sacrifice is about to commence. There he lies, the noble bird, helpless and stark on the broad of his back, his splendid digestion replaced with soggy, indigestible dressing through which a hurrying Mauser bullet would hesitate to pass.

Look at him! The bosom that once swelled with pride, corn, nalls, vanity and other bric-a-brac, as he strutted and gobbled around among the lady turkeys, is now swollen with sad eyed, heart broken, young oysters, torn from their firesides at the bottom of some salt, wet cove of the sea by some ruthless hand of the carnivorous man.

Amid smiles, persiflage, puns, riddles and light banter the destruction takes place, and soon the thankful are joyfully gorging themselves with the hot, and oft burnt, offering.

The gnawing at the inner reticule gradually disappears, the sacrifice is complete, and all that remains of the once proud, glossy bird, whose gentle "gobble, gobble, gobble" has fascinated the ladies of his set many times the time, is a gaunt, haggard skeleton, destined to be buffeted up and down some alley, from dog to dog, until it finally returns to the dust from whence it came.

the latter's health.

District court convened this morning and the panel of the petit jury was completed. There is little business for the petit jury this term, and it is thought that court will finish up this week. A FALSE HEART.

Coffee Does Not Let It Beat True.

"Coffee served me a very hard turn about two years ago. My doctor said I had chronic dyspepsia with serious heart and nervous trouble and nothing would cure me unless I gave up coffee," said Miss Hattie Williams, of Birmingham, Ala.

"My stomach got so bad that I could not eat any solid food without it nauseating me, and I was so nervous I could not sleep and my heart was in a dreadful condition. I had heard a great deal about Postum Food Coffee and how much good people had derived from changing from coffee to Postum, so one day I sent to the grocer for a package.

"The first cup I drank helped me, for it removed all the gas from my stomach, or perhaps the quitting of coffee produced the result, at any rate, in less than a week there was a wonderful change; no more restless nights; no more pains around my heart that made me think I had heart trouble; no more sick stomach. This was two years ago. I am now entirely well and Postum cured me. I found it was not medicine I needed but proper food and nourishment and to quit coffee entirely.

"My brother-in-law (a coffee drinker) was very sick with stomach trouble and all he could eat was the white of egg. I insisted on his trying Postum. He said the first cup he drank soothed his stomach and was nourishing; in a few days he was able to eat solid food again, and now he uses it altogether and does not use coffee.

"My next door neighbor, another coffee drinker, had suffered with catarrh of the stomach, and for months could not eat anything—was just living on beef tea. I carried her some Postum and gave her directions for making it and now she can eat anything she wants and it does not hurt her. She says that she feels better than she has for ten years.

"I could tell you of dozens of people who have been benefitted by leaving off coffee and drinking Postum. It has done me so much good I tell everybody to use it. I have been using it now for two years and my digestion is fine, my complexion clear and everyone says I look ten years younger."

tinez, Pablo Vigil, Teodoro Herrera, Desiderio Apodaca, Lorenzo Gurule, Elseto Tafoya, Juan Sanchez, Fabian Romero, Cruz Sineros, Antonio Montoya, Crescencio Barros, Pedro Garcia, Patricio Armijo, Juan Martinez, Eligio Herrera, A. Martinez, Damacio Tafoya, Damacio Chaves and Ladislado Gallegos.

Jose Clemente Sandoval plead guilty to an old charge of sheep stealing. The case of S. E. Wilkins against the Santa Fe Railway company was dismissed for want of prosecution.

The court then adjourned until afternoon. S. N. Schwartz, a traveling man for a Chicago shirt waist line, and a retired lieutenant in the United States navy, was here yesterday. With him is Emory Martin, an assistant, who is a bugler in the First Regiment of the Ohio national guard. The gentlemen gave the cavalry troop a little exhibition last night.

TO CURE DANDRUFF.

It is Necessary that the Dandruff Germ Be Eradicated.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Kill the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair and baldness, you will have no more dandruff and your hair must grow luxuriantly. Herpetide not only contains the dandruff germ destroyer, but it is also a most delightful hair dressing for regular toilet use. No other hair preparation is on this scientific basis of destroying the dandruff germ, and none other claims to be, for the simple reason that it is only recently that a destroyer of the germ has been discovered—Newbro's Herpetide, the only hair preparation that actually kills dandruff. Send 10 cents in stamps for a sample to The Herpetide Co., Dept. F, Detroit, Mich.

A Narrow Escape.

Charles Hamilton, a well known painter, had a miraculous escape from death one day this week, says the Roswell Journal. He was working on the glass skylight of the Garst building, when a board broke under him, letting him down on the glass. He slipped to the edge of the roof, where he was fortunate enough to catch his foot in the gutter, and save himself from falling fifty feet to the street. Several horrified spectators, who saw him sliding down the roof, expected to see him dashed to death, hurried to his assistance, and Mr. Hamilton was hoisted back to safety considerably frightened, with his hands badly cut, where he tried to hold on to the glass. In speaking of the matter, Mr. Hamilton said it was one of the closest calls to death he had ever had, and one experience was enough for him.

One Minute Cough Cure

is the only harmless cough cure that gives quick relief. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, pneumonia, asthma, la grippe, and all throat, chest and lung troubles. I got soaked by rain, says Gertrude E. Finner, Muncie, Ind., and contracted a severe cold and cough. I failed rapidly; lost 48 lbs. My druggist recommended One Minute Cough Cure. The first bottle brought relief; several cured me. I am back to my old weight, 148 lbs. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, relieves the cough at once, draws out inflammation, cures croup. An ideal remedy for children. J. H. O'Reilly & Co.; B. H. Briggs & Co.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.
"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

THANKSGIVING at 12:30 204 South Second St

from the Independent.

Mrs. J. E. Sheridan, who has been quite seriously ill at her home in this city, is slowly but surely improving.

A Junior Christian Endeavor society is being organized in connection with the work of the Christian Endeavor society of the local Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Julia Black, a former well known resident of Silver City, has recently been critically ill at her home in Los Angeles, but is now reported as greatly improved.

While in Silver City last week, as assessor-elect E. J. Swarts, announced that when he entered upon the duties of his office he would name C. B. Hickman, of this city, as his deputy.

Mrs. Rhodes J. Cox and daughter, Miss Lucia, mother and sister of W. S.

Cox, accompanied by Mr. Cox's little daughter, Bessie, arrived from Chicago and will spend the winter here.

A force of men is at work at last putting the streets of Silver City into something like decent condition.

Miss Kate Crawford, a popular young lady of Silver City and a graduate of the normal school, is now teaching in the public schools in the Santa Rita camp.

W. S. McLaughlin, a former Grant county boy, who is now in charge of the big store of the Montezuma Copper company at Nacozari, Mexico, was in Silver City for a couple of days last week on a visit to his family and friends. Mr. McLaughlin is doing exceedingly well in his new position and his many Grant county friends will be pleased to learn of his success.

Mrs. Charles L. Ashton returned to Silver City last week after an absence of nearly three years. The greater portion of that time she has spent in Europe, continuing her musical studies, under the direction of the best instructors on the continent, and as a result of her well known natural ability and thorough training, she has perfected herself to a high degree. She will be gladly welcomed back home, especially in social and musical circles.

An adjourned meeting of the Silver City Commercial club was held at the San Vicente, at which considerable business was transacted. President Woods announced the appointment of the executive committee as follows: R. W. Turner, H. W. Ruffner, W. S. Fox, T. F. Farnsworth and W. C. Porterfield. The president and secretary are ex-officio members of the committee. W. H. Newcomb, Percy Wilson and J. W. Pennell were named as an auditing committee. The membership of the club is increasing right along.

phone system for Socorro is an improvement that will be hailed with joy by everybody.

Mayor Cooney left for his ranch for an absence of a few days. On his return he will at once enter upon the enterprise of constructing a good road between the city and the School of Mines. This is an improvement that is greatly needed and will be correspondingly appreciated.

All stomach and bowel troubles in child or adult are due to a single cause—Indigestion. Flux, colic, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, dysentery and all complaints of like nature, are the result of undigested foods fermenting in the stomach. The only way to prevent fever and to cure such troubles without injury to the membranes lining the stomach is to restore perfect digestion.

KODOL Digests What You Eat

Kodol is the new discovery which cures all stomach and bowel troubles by removing the cause. This famous remedy checks fermentation, cleanses, purifies and restores the stomach. It digests all classes of food and gives to the body all the nourishment, health and strength it contains.

With the approach of the national holiday, the kitchen, in homes where "mother does the work," becomes the center of attraction. From its homely portal the most heavenly odors issue forth as kettles simmer, egg whips click "plop, plop," the chopping knife rings merrily and all the household from grandfather to the baby comprehend the fact that "something's doing." Now is a good time to "rope" the children in.

Ordinarily a request to "wipe the dishes" or "peel the potatoes" falls upon stony ground. Jane suddenly recalls the fact that she has to write a composition, while John as suddenly develops a sore finger. So, rather than bother mother goes at it herself. Standing on the threshold of Thanksgiving, however, the culinary rites leading up to it possess an unwonted attraction, and the high priestess can be sure of all the help she requires. If she is wise she will utilize it. After school Jane and John can just as well get the almonds and peanuts shelled and blanched ready for salting; they can stone the raisins for the pies, cut the pumpkin up ready for cooking or chop the apples and meat if it has not already been attended to for the mince pies. It may be necessary to keep them whistling while at these tasks, although usually the prospect of shearing in the perfected results will keep them from taking too much toll en route. They can clean the silver too if you will spread in front of them a newspaper to prevent a too plentiful sprinkling of the powder, and they can give an extra polish to the old brass candlestick or ancestral pewter that makes its annual obsolescence at the Thanksgiving dinner.

So shall your labors be lightened, and at the same time the children pleasantly and diplomatically inducted into the daily task whose "trivial round" in less agreeable surroundings is oft deemed drudgery.

In preparing for the Thanksgiving dinner it is always wise to be liberal in your supplies. Things keep this time of year. Vegetables can be reheated and delicious dishes for meals to come can be obtained from the leftovers of the Thanksgiving feast. Besides there is always some destitute or friendless one to be remembered. At church you doubtless subscribe liberally toward the hospital fund or for the "amelioration" of the church poor. But this is not enough. In giving money one does not always give themselves and "the gift without the giver is bare." Can't you recall some one, not necessarily poor, but away from their own home ties and friends, who would appreciate to the full an invitation to make one of your family party? Let the children carry a "portion" from your well spread table to the washerwoman, the corner cobbler or the "odd job" man who lives all alone, gets his own meals and has never been used to having pretty things to eat. You won't miss it. And the recipient—well, you may forget it in the lapse of months, but he never will. It is a chance once more to carry out Emily Dickinson's working program:

If I can stop one heart from breaking
I shall not live in vain;
If I can ease one life the aching
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin
Unto his nest again
I shall not live in vain.

While adherence to the traditional Thanksgiving bill of fare is the rule, there are sometimes those who desire the exception—that is, something a little more up to date. For these the following suggestion for dishes that may be tucked into the orthodox menu without imperilling its distinctive character:

Game, for instance, is always appropriate. Was not the first Thanksgiving feast in 1621 composed almost entirely of game?—the wild turkeys brought back by the hunters and the venison and oysters furnished by their Indian guests under Chief Massasoit?

Venison.
May be roasted, broiled, fried or made into a pie. For roasting, the saddle is best. As the meat is naturally dry, it must be larded with strips of firm fat pork. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Roast in a very hot oven and baste frequently. A little claret used in the basting is considered to add greatly to the flavor. Serve rare and very hot, accompanying it with red or black currant jelly.

To prepare venison steak, hunters' style, select small steaks, season with salt, pepper and a dash of nutmeg, and let them lie in a plate containing some sweet oil for half an hour, turning often. At the end of that time broil five minutes over a clear bright fire, and put on a hot platter. Meanwhile prepare the dressing by putting into a saucepan a half pint of port wine and three tart apples sliced thin. Cover and cook until the apples are soft. Add a half glass of currant jelly and a little cayenne pepper. Strain over the steaks and send to the table as soon as possible.

An excellent sauce for any kind of game is this:
Put over the fire in a stewpan a half pint of rich steak with three or four cloves. As soon as hot season with salt and a dash of pepper, cayenne preferred, and add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, a gill of sherry wine and a glassful of currant jelly. Serve as soon as smoking hot.

Like the wild turkey which Benjamin Franklin declared should have been made the American national standard bearer, the Canvasback Duck and the Red Head are strictly American birds, therefore suited to the day. These should be roasted or broiled but always served rare. Twenty minutes in a very hot oven will cook them enough to suit the average masculine taste, but women usually prefer them to be cooked twenty-five or thirty. While many authorities in cooking recommend stuffing these ducks with celery to improve their flavor, it is like gilding the lily to attempt any improvement. If the birds are fine and fat and have come from first class feeding grounds they should be cooked as simply and quickly as possible. See that the birds have been properly plucked, singed and drawn. Do not soak them, but wash with a cloth and wipe dry. If they are to be broiled split down the back like a chicken and flatten with a rolling pin. Season inside and out with salt, dredge lightly on the outside with flour, and if they are to be broiled roll in a little oil or melted butter before laying on the gridiron. Cover with a thin dish to keep in the heat, expose about ten minutes to the flames on the outside, then trim and broil seven minutes longer on the inside. Serve piping hot with thin slices of fried hominy, currant jelly, the crispest of celery and Baltimore Apple Bread.

This recipe comes from an old fashioned housekeeper, who says that in antebellum days it always went with the Chesapeake duck. To make it take about a pound of sifted bread flour which has been slightly warmed in the oven. Rub through it two-thirds of a cupful of butter and add three heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar. Dissolve half a compressed yeast cake in a half pint of milk which has been boiled and cooled until lukewarm. Mix to a stiff batter with the flour, add three well beaten eggs and beat the batter with a wooden spoon until it blisters. Let it rise over night in a warm place. It should then have doubled its bulk. Roll the dough out into two cakes about half an inch thick, spread one cake with tart apple sauce, cover the other over it and let them rise together for about half an hour. Then bake until well done. When taken from the oven spread some more tender, well flavored apple sauce over it, dredge with sugar and set back in the oven for a few moments for the sugar to melt and glaze. Serve very hot.

For the woman with the deep purse who wishes a distinctive Thanksgiving turkey service there are exquisite platters and plates of the blue Doulton ware in market. These are decorated with a turkey design and come at $20 for the platter and half dozen plates. If you wish to punctuate your dinner between turkey and game with an ice try this of serving lemons in small plates garnished with green leaves. Select lemons of good size and fresh appearance, allowing a half lemon for each plate. Scrub well, to polish the skins. Cut in two lengthwise and remove the pulp carefully with a silver spoon. Scrape out all the fibre remaining and put in ice water until needed. Take all seeds and fibre from the pulp and to a quart of juice and pulp add juice and one cupful of water and sugar to taste—preferably not very sweet. Freeze as an ice, and when frozen fill the rinds and pack in a freezer until needed. If liked, ginger syrup or preserved sugar cut in bits may be added to the ice when freezing.

City Treasurer W. J. McPherson reports that the board of education had to its credit on November 1, $2,106.75. The amount of warrants paid since then is $2,016.86, leaving a balance on hand of $89.89. Since then County Collector and Treasurer Frederick Muller has paid over $1,030.43, which makes the amount to the credit of the board, $1,120.32. This is more than necessary to pay all the bills for November.

An Ideal Woman's Medicine.

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never during the lifetime of this wonderful medicine has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and throughout the length and breadth of this great continent come the glad tidings of woman's sufferings relieved by it, and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women saying that it will and positively does cure the worst forms of female complaints.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.

OUR COAL SUPPLY.

Enough to Supply the World, According to Report of Coal Mine Inspector Sheridan.

MCKINLEY COUNTY LEADS.

The annual report of Jo E. Sheridan, United States coal mine inspector, covers 144 pages and reviews in detail the coal mining industry in New Mexico. It is of especial interest because of the account it gives of the new operations in the Dawson and Willow coal fields in Colfax county, and the recommendations for legislation that it makes. While there has been a temporary falling off of over 84,000 tons in the amount of coal mined, compared to the year previous, the inspector calls attention to the vast area of coal lands and enormous available tonnage of coal which may be profitably mined. The competition of fuel oil as bearing upon production of coal in the territory is discussed, and it is shown that the development of other western industries and settlements of the country has more than compensated for the market lost by competition of fuel oil. This competition he predicts to be only temporary, taking for his premises occurrences of similar conditions heretofore in other fuel oil and coal competitions.

The magnitude of the coal fields of New Mexico is little understood and their importance still less appreciated. As is shown in the summary herein below, a very conservative estimate places the aggregate area of these coal fields at 1,365,480 acres, or 2,133.3 square miles, and the coal contained therein at 8,173,840,000 tons, an amount more than twice as great as all the tonnage of coal ever produced in the whole United States, and which has supplied the wants of every industry of the nation since its birth.

Near to California.

Of what vital importance, then, will this, the nearest coal field become to the great state of California, with its mining and manufacturing industries. In the near future, when oil reservoirs are drained and coal will again be in demand for fuel. Arizona, as its vast mineral resources are developed, will be dependent upon her neighbor, New Mexico, for cheap fuel with which to prosecute this development. And New Mexico, with like mining industries at home, will be independent, having the necessary energy stored in its own coal fields to cheaply develop its other industries.

Cheap transportation across the continent of the products of the east and west to their respective markets will depend upon the New Mexico stores of coal to replenish fuel for the machines engaged in the business of transportation.

Labor troubles at the mines have been amicably settled, and a full force of men is at work upon the majority of the mines; yet there is a dearth of coal miners, and a few mines are still short of men.

The gross production of coal for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902, was 1,132,944 tons; amount used at mines, 30,898 tons; net product, 1,102,046 tons; estimated value of net product on board cars at the mines, $1,609,898.90. The gross output, 1,132,944 tons, shows a decrease of 84,586 tons from the product of preceding year.

This decrease was attributed to the scarcity of miners during the past two years and consequent restricted development of the mines.

During the year seventeen fatal accidents occurred, or one life lost per 66,643 tons of coal mined. Twelve hundred men were employed underground and 410 men outside, total 1,610 men; 53 boys were employed underground and 19 outside, total, 72.

Oil was Substituted.
Oil was substituted for coal as a fuel upon the Southern Pacific railroad from San Francisco, Cal., to El Paso, Tex., a distance of 1,150 miles, and upon the Santa Fe Pacific railroad from San Francisco, Cal., to Seligman, Ariz., and branch lines, 911 miles, or a total mileage of 2,061 miles. Besides the substitution of oil upon these railroads, fuel oil has also replaced coal for domestic and manufacturing uses in many parts of California, Arizona and Texas, where New Mexico coal formerly found a market; yet, the coal production of the mines most affected by competition of oil, McKinley county mines, shows an increased production of 30,221 tons over the preceding year.

Never before has so much substantial development and equipment been put upon the coal mines of New Mexico in a single year, and the results of development are beyond the most sanguine expectations of the operators. Taking every condition and circumstance bearing upon the coal industry of New Mexico into consideration, it is evident that a very prosperous era is close at hand for the coal miners of the territory.

Area of Coal Lands.
The area of coal lands in the territory is given approximately as 1,365,480 acres, and the available tonnage at 8,173,840,000 tons. McKinley county stands first among the coal-producing counties of the territory, showing a production of 561,436 tons, of a value of $779,152, against 531,215 tons last year; 700 men were employed. Colfax county is second, with 264,364 tons, valued at $280,197, 467 men and 29 boys employed, against 332,046 tons last year, a decrease of 67,682 tons, caused by lack of labor and consequent restricted development.

Lincoln county is third, with 121,902 tons, 153 men and 6 boys employed, against a production of 173,782 tons last year. Santa Fe county is fourth, with a product of 103,461 tons; 177 men and 7 boys employed. This shows a decrease of 11,885 tons, due to fire in the Cerrillos bituminous mine curtailing the product. Rio Arriba county produced 50,600 tons, giving employment to 48 men and 3 boys. Socorro county produced 29,681 tons, 62 men employed, against a product of 14,116 tons last year. San Juan county produced 1,500 tons; 3 men employed. During the year 11 new mines were opened—9 in Colfax county, 1 in Santa Fe county and 1 in Socorro county. Four mines were abandoned, 3 in Colfax county and 1 in Lincoln county. Three mines in McKinley county temporarily suspended operation on account of lack of demand.

Danger From Explosions.

The inspector calls special attention to the necessity of measures being taken to eliminate the probability of coal dust explosions, now of such frequent occurrence in all of the central southern and western coal-producing states, as well as in the coal mines in the territory; so general is this danger, he states, and so great has been the loss of life therefrom that effective measures to counteract it are well worthy the attention of the federal government. He recommends that a commission composed of experts in the manufacture of explosives be appointed for the purpose of experimenting and producing a flameless explosive which could be manufactured at reasonable cost, and which would be safe and convenient to use. With the same end in view, he recommends that restrictions be placed upon miners in regard to "shooting off the solid," or shooting coal without any preparatory coal cutting or undermining, whereby the force of the explosion is projected in the direction of the mouth of the drill hole, thus frequently producing a blown-out shot, from which cause a majority of dust explosions originate.

Attention is directed to the advisability of making a geological survey of the territory for the purpose of identifying the coal-bearing areas of the territory more accurately; such survey, he states, would also be of great utility to the operators in metalliferous mining.

The mine inspector again recommends that the law be amended, making the miner as well as the mine owner responsible for dereliction of duty, whereby the safety of fellow-workmen or his own safety may be imperiled.

LOOK OUT FOR CATARRH

When the cold wave flag is up, freezing weather is on the way. Winter is here in earnest, and with it all the miserable symptoms of Catarrh return—blinding headaches and neuralgia, thick mucous discharges from the nose and throat, a hacking cough and pain in the chest, bad taste in the mouth, fetid breath, nausea and all that makes Catarrh the most sickening and disgusting of all complaints. It causes a feeling of personal defilement and mortification that keeps one nervous and anxious while in the company of others.

In spite of all efforts to prevent it, the filthy secretions and mucous matter find their way into the Stomach and are distributed by the blood to every nook and corner of the system; the Stomach and Kidneys, in fact every organ and part of the body, become infected with the catarrhal poison. This disease is rarely, if ever, even in its earliest stages, a purely local disease or simple inflammation of the nose and throat, and this is why sprays, washes, powders and the various inhalant mixtures fail to cure. Heredity is sometimes back of it—parents have it and so do their children.

In the treatment of Catarrh, anti-septic and soothing washes are good for cleansing purposes or clearing the head and throat, but this is the extent of their usefulness. To cure Catarrh permanently, the blood must be purified and the system relieved of its load of foul secretions, and the remedy to accomplish this is S. S. S. which has no equal as a blood purifier. It restores the blood to a natural, healthy state and the catarrhal poison and effete matter are carried out of the system through the proper channels. S. S. S. restores to the blood all its good qualities, and when rich, pure blood reaches the inflamed membrane and is carried through the circulation to all the Catarrh infected portions of the body, they soon heal, the mucous discharges cease and the patient is relieved of the most offensive and humiliating of all complaints. S. S. S. is a vegetable remedy and contains nothing that could injure the most delicate constitution. It cures Catarrh in its most aggravated forms, and cases apparently incurable and hopeless. Write us if you have Catarrh, and our physicians will advise you without charge.

Several east of town for about $1,600 to several members of the Dutch Reformed church. We understand that an Indian mission will be established on the ranch. Mr. Smith still has his cattle, but will probably locate at some point on the Colorado river.

We are sorry to record the death of Mrs. John Koenig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoeferle, which occurred the other day. She had been ill a week with typhoid pneumonia. She received every attention that loving hearts could give. A husband, two little children, her parents, brothers and sisters, as well as a host of friends, are left to mourn her untimely death. The funeral was conducted from the Catholic church and was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends.

The voters of McKinley county who want the miners' hospital located here were wise in selecting Hon. Alex Bowie to represent their interests. He worked faithfully in the last legislature and while he did not fully succeed, no other town got the hospital. At that time his energies were devoted to an extension of the county, which he got. Now he will devote his full time to the hospital, and the people of this county knowing the business ability and bull-dog tenacity of Alex Bowie, feel satisfied that he will accomplish whatever he starts in to do.

AZTEC.

From the Index.
John Swire is down from the mountains to remain for the winter.

A daughter of John Graves, of Cedar Hill, was on the sick list this week. Dr. Eblen was called in attendance and reports the patient improving.

Several residence buildings are in process of construction in Aztec, many more are in contemplation and still others are needed. This is a line of industry which can hardly be overdone.

Frank Bates and Will Rash, having disposed of their interests in the livery business, will leave in a few days for the Pacific coast, eventually proceeding to Washington, where they will go into business. They are enterprising lads and will make a stake if anybody does.

The probate clerk's office is now in the new courthouse. The vault not yet being completed, a part of the records are left in the old building, but all business is transacted in the new quarters. The new office is light and roomy and will allow a more rapid dispatch of business than the old.

Frank Blackmer is not color blind but he cannot tell one gray horse from another. He spent a couple of days in the county seat this week, and when he got ready to go home he saddled up Joe Prewitt's grey and rode it off to Cedar Hill leaving his own grey nag in the livery barn. They have telephoned the circumstances to Cedar Hill and only his political pull prevents Frank from having oodles of trouble.

Gentlemen:—I had all the symptoms that accompany this disease, such as mucus dropping in the throat, a constant desire to hawk and spit, feeling of dyspnea in the throat, cough and spitting upon rising in the morning, scabs forming in the nose, which required much effort to blow out, sometimes causing the nose to bleed and leaving me with a sick headache. I. B. Stone, of the firm of Stone, Smith & Rogers, has returned from a trip to some of his mining claims in the Dragoon mountains, Cochise county, Arizona, and as a result feels quite jubilant over a recent discovery of turquoise of fine quality in one of the copper mines of the group.

Thursday night the Silver City bunch of duck hunters returned to this city after a five days' hunt at Lake Palomas. They report having had an excellent time, with fun galore and plenty to eat, but say that the weather was entirely too mild for good duck shooting. The party succeeded in bringing down only about 250, and the voraciousness of their appetites did not permit of bringing any ducks to show how lucky they were. The crowd was composed of Capt. Powell of Fort Bayard, Tom Parker of the Turquoise Mining company in the Burro mountains, George A. Bell, Ed. Harris, George Burdett, Clarence Rayne, Dr. Copp and Layne of Silver City.

A. W. Pollard, the popular young attorney, lately elected representative on the republican ticket from the Fourteenth district, lies at his Spruce street home in a very critical condition, having been taken ill at Las Cruces late last week, and for several days past his life has been despaired of. The very best of medical attention has been constantly at his bedside, and the indications at present are that he will recover, although his chances of recovery have been doubtful and his life has hung by a thread. During his residence in our midst Attorney Pollard has made a host of friends, who sincerely deplore the condition of which overwork and excitement of the campaign has participated him, and who hope for his recovery and mingling with us again in the immediate future.

NOT A ROBBER.

Pueblo Railroad Man Says Isaac Martin Wrongfully Punished at Rawlins.

Pueblo (Colo.), railroad men, and members especially of Pike's Peak lodge of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, propose to leave no stone unturned in their effort to prevent what they regard as proposed unjust punishment of Isaac Martin, a Pueblo fireman, who was convicted at Rawlins, Wyo., the other day on a charge of burglary. Some weeks ago an attempt was made at Rawlins to hold up a saloon, three men being concerned in the job. A battle with revolvers was fought between the town marshal and the burglars. One man, who, it is claimed, was a member of the gang, was shot in the back. This man turned out to be Martin, who has lived in Pueblo for many years. Martin professes his innocence, and said he was shot by one of the thieves and that he was only a spectator at the occurrence.

Frank L. Harman, secretary of the Locomotive Firemen's lodge at Pueblo, returned from Rawlins and states that the organization has retained an attorney in Martin's behalf, and that another trial for him will be asked. An interesting feature of the case is that a doctor with an X-rays apparatus will be secured to locate the bullet in Martin's shoulder, in order to ascertain its calibre. On this will depend considerable, since the thieves used revolvers of one size and the marshal of another size.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoes as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by all druggists.

A RAILROADER'S BULLET.

It Killed a Young Man at Lane, Kansas.

The sheriff and coroner returned to Ottawa, Kas., from Lane, where they were summoned to investigate a shooting affray in which J. P. McEchorn, a young man, was shot and killed by Al Tabor, foreman of a Missouri Pacific station gang.

Lane is 25 miles from Ottawa, and is without peace officers.

The killing took place on the public street in front of a racket store, and caused intense excitement. McEchorn is the son of P. I. McEchorn, a prominent farmer in the south part of the county. He lived on a farm near Lane. He leaves a wife and two small children. McEchorn had gone to Lane to spend the afternoon and evening. In company with a companion, Lee Caldwell, he had eaten supper, and both were drinking heavily. The two met Al Tabor and Jack Johnson, both railroad men, who were also drinking, and a quarrel ensued, and Tabor fired three shots at McEchorn, only one taking effect.

At the post mortem examination the bullet was found lodged in the victim's heart. During the excitement which followed the shooting Tabor escaped. McEchorn's father has offered $100 reward for Tabor's arrest. Tabor is of Irish extraction, is tall and smooth-faced, and wears brown corduroy trousers and duck coat. His wife and three children live at Lane.

Shopmen in Trouble.
On affidavit of William Canada, chief of the secret service of the Union Pacific railroad, and at the request of counsel of that road, twenty-seven striking shopmen have been cited for contempt charged with having violated the injunction issued against them by the federal court some time ago. The men with one exception have acted as pickets and are charged with having trespassed on company property or interfered with strike breakers. They will have a hearing at Omaha November 28.

TO EXTERMINATE BANDITS.

Rock Island Offers Large Reward—Burlington Fixes Price for Dead Robbers.

Train robbery as an industry is to be throttled through concerted action of railroad and express companies operating from headquarters scattered throughout the middle west.

The Davenport robbery of the fast Rock Island train was the straw that broke the camel's back. The railroad company, in connection with the United States Express company, issued notice of a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the men who robbed the train Saturday. Burlington officials announced that a dead train robber would be worth $1,000 to any of its employees. Officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Illinois Central and Chicago & Alton roads declared that they would not hesitate for an instant to bear their share of any burden brought about by a concerted movement to eradicate the evil.

Will Give Section Hands $1.40 a Day.

The section men on the Southern Kansas division have been given a raise in wages from $1.25 to $1.40. Men are scarce even at this price. Roadmaster Hildebrand, of Ottawa, Kas., is having a lot of trouble keeping men enough to keep the road in shape. He is looking for three men for the yards and needs a good number for the south section. Laboring men are scarce in Ottawa. The new church, the library and other building improvements are taking all of the extra labor.

He also states that the route to the Pacific coast originally selected for the Canadian Pacific and surveyed by Sir Sanford Fleming will be the one used.

Mrs. E. M. Campbell, of St. Louis, was robbed of $700 on a west-bound Santa Fe train. The robbery was either in or near Newton, Kas., where conductors were changed. Mrs. Campbell got off to get lunch and when she searched for her ticket to hand to the new conductor her purse was missing. She had it in an inside pocket of her coat. The conductor brought Mrs. Campbell to Hutchinson. She was going to visit relatives at Los Angeles and says the loss of the money leaves her nearly destitute.

Railroad men have reason to be thankful. The increase in wages which have already been inaugurated, or soon will be, by nineteen railroads during the coming year, will amount to over $25,000,000. Other railroads are planning to increase wages, and the total increase in 1903 over 1902 may exceed $50,000,000.

FREIGHT RATE RAISES.

Old Tariff Schedules to be Withdrawn and New Ones to be Substituted

ON ACCOUNT OF INCREASED WAGES.

Western railroads expect to recover, by a restoration of freight rates to the basis of a year ago, enough money to make up the additional wages provided in the recent wage scale, says a Chicago dispatch.

Arrangements were completed by the representatives of western lines Saturday for the withdrawal of over 1,100 reduced tariff schedules which have been filed since the United States courts issued injunctions preventing railroads from giving preferential rates.

The effort to bring about a restoration of rates in western territory developed a unanimity of opinion regarding the necessity of so doing and there was not a single objection to the movement. It has been agreed to restore all rates, except those on packing house products and cattle, December 15 and to maintain the restored tariffs absolutely.

This action is probably the most important from a traffic standpoint taken by western roads in years. It will have a marked effect upon the revenues of 1903, provided it develops that the tariffs can be maintained.

The increased revenue resulting will be enormous, but difficult of accurate estimation. Traffic men engaged in the work of preparing to make out the reduced tariffs state yesterday that the restoration of rates to the basis of January 1, 1902, would add fully 10 per cent to the aggregate gross revenue received by western roads.

If this estimate is correct the added revenue will be more than sufficient to take care of the increased wages of the past two years. Although the restoration of rates was not due wholly to the desire to offset the increased wage scales the latter were a potent influence toward making a restoration possible. Traffic men call attention to the fact that the new tariffs are not in effect a raise in freight rates, but contend that the present rates are not normal. They insist, therefore, upon calling the new tariff a restoration of rates rather than a raise in rates. Many of the commodities carried on the reduced tariffs were hauled on close margins, and the return was not commensurate with the service rendered. For this reason, if for no other, traffic men insist, the railroads are justified in taking out the reduced tariffs of the past nine months.

The increase in revenue will be ample to meet the recent advances in wages made by nearly all the lines to nearly all classes of employees.

He Could Hardly Get Up.
P. H. Duffy of Ashley, Ill., writes, "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down." Alvarado Pharmacy.

Two hundred million dollars will be spent by the Pennsylvania railroad and the companies which are controlled by it during the next two years for improvements and equipments.

To the Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I can recommend it with the utmost confidence. It has done good work for me and will do the same for others. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health, Ralph S. Meyers, 64 Thirty-seventh St., Wheeling, W. Va. For sale by all druggists.

Railroad earnings continue to increase. Gross of all roads in the United States reported for the first half of November are $15,785,495, a gain of 5.9 per cent over last year and 15.9 per cent over 1900.

There is no cough medicine so popular as Foley's Honey and Tar. It contains no opiates or poisons and never fails to cure. Alvarado Pharmacy.

Passenger officials of western roads have agreed to stop selling "colonist" or half-rate tickets to points west and north of Kansas on November 30. On the same date the railroads will commence selling one-way tickets at half the usual rates to all points in the southwest. During the last six months thousands of "colonist" tickets have been sold to points in Nebraska, Colorado and the Dakotas, but no more will be sold until spring.

Anxious Moments.

Some of the most anxious hours of a mother's life are those when the little ones of the household have the croup. There is no other medicine so effective in this terrible malady as Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household favorite for throat and lung troubles, and as it contains no opiates or other poisons it can be safely given. Alvarado Pharmacy.

A local order of trackmen is being organized in Deming by the employees of the three railroads. They will meet weekly at K. of P. hall. T. T. Smith is the principal promoter of the order and has the new organization almost completed.

We have just learned why the big engines are known as "battleships." The double cylinders are arranged tandem, the same as they are in compound marine engines and that is where the name originated. Thus any engine that has compound cylinders arranged tandem is a "battleship," but those who are not must be classed under some other head.

A wreck occurred on the Bisbee railroad at Tomerlin station the other day, by which a brakeman named Settler was severely bruised about the legs and ankles and disabled. Two heavily loaded freight trains were proceeding in the same direction and only a short distance apart. The forward train was dragging up a long grade and finally came to a sudden stop. The rear train was rounding a curve, and not noticing that the train ahead had stopped, ran squarely into it, the engine telescoping the caboose and two cars of merchandise.
