ANOTHER INSURANCE COMPANY

Disciples of Blackstone Sign Roll as Members of New Mexico Bar.

Governor McDonald left over the Santa Fe this morning for Clayton, where he will be the guest of the town tomorrow and will be feasted and banqueted. Governor McDonald of course, is intensely interested in the Baltimore convention and watched the bulletins until late last night, and early this morning was asking for further news. He has been somewhat annoyed by the reports that have gone out that he has washed his hands entirely of all responsibility for the status of conditions in Las Vegas on July 4, during the prizefight. It is far from his intention to deliver the community to such things and the prizefight element, even though he does keep his hands off the prizefight itself, providing law and order are observed. He is keeping in close touch with the situation and has surrounded no prerogative or responsibility.

Another Insurance Co.

The Amicable Life Insurance Company of Waco, Texas, was yesterday admitted to transact business in New Mexico. The company had on December 31, 1911, a paid up cash capital of $472,580 and a surplus of $382,889.49.

Attorneys Sign the Roll.

John C. Lewis of Albuquerque and William B. Pistole of Artesia, attorneys signed the roll in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and took the oath of office as attorneys. They will be formally admitted as members of the state bar when the court meets in next regular session. Both were admitted without examination having certificates of practice from other states. Both are now practicing under temporary certificates.

Testing Salary Question.

For the purpose of determining whether or not that official has the right under the regime inaugurated by statehood to collect his four per cent commission on taxes collected, action has been brought against County Treasurer and Collector Eugenio Romero by District Attorney Charles W. G. Ward at Las Vegas. Mr. Ward seeks to have Mr. Romero enjoined from collecting any commissions.

Four Passed Bar Examinations.

Out of some eighteen applicants for examination for admission to the bar, four successfully passed the examination, according to the announcement made today by Jose D. Senna, clerk of the supreme court. Some of the applicants did not take the examination. The four who were successful are Milton John Helm of Socorro; Robert L. Hitt of Willard; Walter A. Jones and George S. Downer of Roswell.

LAS VEGAS FILLING UP

WITH FIGHT FANS.

Johnson Offers $200 to Any Man Who Will Stand Up Two Rounds With Him.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Las Vegas, N. M., June 28.—Activity in the training camps of Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn today conformed with plans to put the finishing touches on the principals in the ring battle for the world's heavyweight championship on July 4. With the big event only six days away, Johnson is being groomed to enter the ring at 212 pounds, and the Pueblo fireman is hovering around the 194 mark. Yesterday was a day of comparative idleness in the Flynn camp, the Pueblo contenting himself with a twelve mile road run in the afternoon. Today, Flynn resumed his routine of gymnasium and road work with a stiff boxing program scheduled for late today. The Johnson camp promised to be the mecca for fight fans today and Saturday, Johnson having announced that he would give $200 to any aspiring heavyweight who would survive a two round bout with him. Advance reservations indicate that the arena, which seats 17,150 will be filled to capacity July 4. With the fight only six days away Las Vegas is filling rapidly with the advance guard of fight fans.

Postage stamps still are selling at 2c each but otherwise prices have taken a jump.

Johnson today finds himself handicapped in his final training for the fight by a lack of sparring partners. George DeBruy has a wrenched knee; Marty Cutler cannot stand the wear and tear of ten rounds daily which Johnson says he needs to get into proper shape, and Rastus Respress is too badly battered to give the champion enough work. In lieu of sparring Johnson is doing long stretches of road work and declares he does not mind letting up on boxing for a few days before the fight.

CAHOON ON NEW PARTY.

E. A. Cahoon returned yesterday afternoon from Chicago where he had been taking a big dish in the Republican national convention for Taft. Asked what he thought of the Roosevelt organization of the new party he said "Like all other new parties it will flourish for a while and then die."—Roswell Morning News.

A Tumultuous Night.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, Md., 8:17 a. m.—After a tumultuous night of wild clamor for candidates as they were named in flowery nominating speeches, a ballot was taken resulting in no choice, not any of the candidates receiving a majority, much less the two-thirds, necessary.

Stirring Up Class Hatred.

The convention was called to order at 8:15 p. m., and after an appeal of Bryan to class hatred, the convention adopted resolutions commanding all slaves of the "interests" to withdraw their names as nominees for the presidency. This resolution forced through, Bryan declared victoriously: "Now we will name a progressive candidate on a progressive platform."

Wilson Gets Biggest Applause.

At 10:52 p. m., a motion was passed to continue the session until after the first ballot and the all night session began, each state being called to present its candidate for the presidency, and the various candidates being nominated with flowery speeches that led to one wild demonstration after another.

A wild demonstration for Clark was followed by a greater one for Wilson. Minor demonstrations followed for Harmon, Baldwin, Marshall and Underwood. The balloting started at 6:42 a. m. and had the above result. When this was announced a recess was taken.

BRYAN DECLARES HE WON

GREAT MORAL VICTORY.

Underwood and Harmon Eliminated and Interests Given Death Blow
By Resolution.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—William J. Bryan had no word to say today on the first presidential ballot at the Baltimore convention. After the adjournment of the all-night session, the Nebraskaan hurried to his hotel where he retired for a needed rest. He indicated that the delegates already had spoken their mind against Underwood and Harmon but was noncommittal as to whether his choice was Clark or Wilson, although he added that he had voted for Clark.

Mr. Bryan Believes that he has achieved a great moral victory in securing the passage of his Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution, which was buried into the convention like a bomb-shell last night. Over the breakfast table, Mr. Bryan talked freely of the resolution. When asked what the effect would be, he replied: "You wait for a week. There never has been such an alignment of a political party against any interest. Just see the vote that was cast for the resolution."

"Is not the resolution nullified by the elimination of the last clause, demanding the withdrawal of any delegates representing the Morgan-Ryan-Belmont interests?"

"No," replied Mr. Bryan with emphasis. "The last clause was merely putting into effect the first clause. When before in any convention have we had such men named?"

"What did you think of Virginia's vote in favor of this resolution? There were 23-12 votes for it and 1-2 vote against it. And Thomas F. Ryan was sitting in the delegation."

"This resolution has made the delegates get in line. Those who nominated a reactionary after passing the resolution would never dare go home if they lived west of the Allegheny mountains."

The convention has gone on record."

Bryan is Nettled.

An inquiry whether he would support a reactionary candidate seemed to nettles Mr. Bryan and he gave no definite answer.

"Mr. Bryan, it has been suggested among delegates that conditions might arise that would cause you to bolt."

"I don't reply to every report that is started about me, answered the Nebraskaan. "I don't think any man has the right to ask me that question. When this convention started, could you tell what was going to happen? A man's course of action must be determined as circumstances rise." Mr. Bryan's friends say the passage of the "bombshell" resolution has shown the country that "this is a Progressive convention, and that a 'Progressive' must be named."

Present Coal Car Distribution

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Washington, D. C., June 28.—In a case brought by the traffic bureau of the Sioux City Commercial Club, the interstate commerce commission today reduced freight charges on yellow pine lumber from points in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas to Sioux City and similarly situated destinations from 30 cents to 28 cents a hundred pounds.

D. & R. G. and A. T. & S. F. Scored.

Sharply criticizing the practices of the Denver & Rio Grande respecting the distribution of its coal car equipment, the interstate commerce commission today decided the case of the Consolidated Fuel Company against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad and other carriers in favor of the complainant.

The present relation of rates on coal to destinations in Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon were held to be unduly discriminatory as between the Utah and Rock Springs fields, and the differential against Utah coal was reduced to 25 cents a ton. The railroads were ordered to establish through routes and joint rates from the Utah mines to all points taking such rates from the Rock Springs mines.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

Santiago, Cuba, June 28.—General Evaristo Estenoz, the rebel leader, and 100 insurgents, were killed in a battle at Vega Bellago, six miles from Micaia, in the vicinity of Sango by government troops under command of Lieutenant de la Torre yesterday. The dead included probably also General Pedro Ivolet, whose body, however, has not been found.

Estenoz's body arrived here today. Great crowds lined the streets as the body was taken to the military barracks, where it will be exposed to the public view until burial.

Will Finish Up Job Quickly.

Havana, Cuba, June 28.—General Montenegro, commander-in-chief of the government forces, telegraphed today that the death of General Estenoz, the rebel leader, puts an end to the rebellion. General Montenegro expresses confidence that he will have the whole province of Oriente pacified within two days.

Thousands View Remains.

Santiago, Cuba, June 28.—General Estenoz was killed by Lieutenant de la Torre himself with a shot in the head from a revolver. General Ivolet's horse covered with blood, was found on the field of battle. His sword and revolver also were picked up. It is now believed General Ivolet escaped, but his capture is expected at any moment. There is great rejoicing in the city over the defeat of the rebels. Thousands of people flocked to the barracks throughout the morning to see the body of General Estenoz.

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—Two persons were killed and three seriously hurt in a fire that attacked a second floor dormitory in a business building here early today. One of the victims was a homeless woman, believed to be Mrs. Daisy Carter of Evansville, Ind. Last night, she appealed at the dormitory for shelter. It was given. This morning her charred body was found in the kitchen of the burned apartment.

The other person cremated was Cromey Vannort, a chauffeur. Of the three injured, Charles Rogers, a newspaperman, is not expected to survive.

The fifth ballot was also without result.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—The balloting of the early morning was taken today as the starting point for all speculation about the Democratic convention as to who would be its candidate for President. All eyes were centered on New York, Illinois and Indiana. The feeling was general that the nominee of the convention is assured of a practically solid South next November and all energies were being bent to add to this conceded southern strength the additional strength of the pivotal northern states, notably Illinois and Indiana, which would combine enough electoral votes from the North and the South to secure a victory.

Bosses in Consultation.

Messrs. Murphy, Sullivan and Tom Taggart, the three leaders of these northern states, have been in constant consultation and have been working in harmony as the lines have been formed. They planned to go over the situation before the balloting resumed this afternoon. The New York delegation has an element of about one-third of its strength favorable to Wilson. But the predominating element, of about 60 votes, is for any one who has reasonable assurance of carrying New York.

With the Compliments of Tammany.

Thus far, the New York delegation has reached this stage: At the caucus yesterday the delegates agreed on a complimentary vote for Harmon; they may follow this with a complimentary vote for Gaynor, and they probably will continue these complimentary votes until they can see more definitely the way to make the large vote of the Empire State most effective. A Tammany caucus was called for 3 o'clock today, and the Harmon leaders were to go into conference about the same time.

Ollie James Doesn't Mind It.

Chairman Ollie James reiterated his view that there would be no deadlock when the convention opens at 4 o'clock, and that the standard bearer would be chosen without another all night session. The chairman was little the worse for wear after his arduous duties of the night. His voice was holding out and his sturdy physique was serving him well in his efforts to keep the convention moving steadily forward amid the storms of popular demonstration. He felt, however, that most of the pent up energy of the shouters has found expression and from now on the convention would keep steadily at business, with the prospect of a succession of ballots until a decision was reached. It was not expected that the platform would be reached until late this evening and possibly not until tomorrow, although the draft will be ready for presentation well before that time.

Trying to Pull Two Ways at Once.

There are a number of conflicting influences operating on the convention. One is the desire to nominate a candidate whose appeal to the people will be sufficiently strong. The other is to name a man who can make an appeal to the South and to New York, which are regarded as two sections most conservative.

Yoke-Fellows.

While Murphy, Sullivan, and Taggart are yoke-fellows for the time being, it is felt that they are likely to come to a parting of the ways very soon. It is not improbably, according to the speaking going on early in the day, that New York will turn to Clark, while Illinois and Indiana contingents are more likely to turn to Wilson. There is nothing definite on these moves, but these were the tendencies along the lines as the day progressed.

The Lady or the Tiger?

Mr. Bryan, as an ultimate candidate, is but little discussed although some continue to regard him as a possibility. This has developed a singular divergence of view between the two strong elements, the South and New York. The South would prefer Wilson to Bryan, while New York would prefer Bryan to Wilson.

All Up in the Air.

The view held by southern leaders is that after three campaigns for Bryan it is desirable to turn to a new man. On the other hand, the New York sentiment is based on the feeling that with Bryan they would know what they were facing, whereas Wilson is an untried candidate. What will become of the other elements in the contest—Underwood, Harmon, Baldwin, Marshall—gives ground for a wide range of speculation.

Underwood and Harmon.

The Underwood forces continue very aggressive, and they are bound together by strong sentiment for the conspicuous tariff leadership of their candidate. The strong Harmon showing made on the first ballot is a source of encouragement to his friends but they perceived that his main strength is the ninety votes of New York, which were complimentary and cannot be counted as an enduring quantity.

Exhausted Delegates Sleep on Floors.

The Baldwin and Marshall votes are similarly regarded as complimentary to favorite sons, but where they will go in case of a break has not been made clear, although the expectation is that some of the Baldwin votes are more likely to go to one of the so-called conservative candidates, while the Wilson men are counting on besting the beneficiaries of some of the Marshall strength. In the Clark headquarters this forenoon exhausted delegates slept in their clothes on chairs, on the floor and on such beds as were available.

Surprise Parties.

It was said that a number of surprises were encountered in this morning's balloting. Tennessee had been expected to give 16 votes for Clark. He got but 6, the other 10 being equally divided between Wilson, Harmon and Underwood. The Tennesseeans were unimpressed. Equally surprising was the vote in Ohio where it was understood that 19 votes would go for Wilson and the other 29 for Harmon. Instead of this, Clark received 11, Wilson 10, and Harmon 25, Bryan 1, one being absent.

Clark Claims.

Today the Clark forces say that on the first ballot this afternoon, Speaker Clark will certainly receive 32 additional votes, as follows: One Underwood vote from Hawaii; two Underwood votes from Maine; seven Harmon votes in Michigan; three Harmon votes in Nebraska; seven and one-half votes in North Carolina, one probably six votes from Tennessee, and one-half a Harmon vote for Utah. They also claim that there is a possibility that 28 votes from Ohio instructed for Harmon might go to Clark on this ballot. A conference is to be held by the twenty-four avowed Clark states this afternoon at 3 o'clock to be attended by one delegate from each state, at which plans will be formulated.

Harmon on Fourth Ballot.

The Harmon managers expressed themselves as jubilant over the prospects of their candidate. Lieutenant Governor Nichols of Ohio, Harmon's manager, declared that the Ohio governor would lead all candidates on the fourth ballot.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—Most of the state delegations had taken their places in the convention hall at 3:45. The gallery crowds already extended back to the last tier and promised to exceed the magnitude of any former meetings. Officials were gradually taking their places on the platform. The prevailing talk from the floor indicated a prolonged session with little material change in the early ballots.

New York Sticks to Harmon.

The New York delegation decided in caucus late this afternoon to stick to Judson Harmon on the second ballot and to vote for Clark on the third ballot unless unusual developments arise. As to Underwood, Kern and others, future caucuses will determine. "We can caucus any time without leaving our chairs," said Alton B. Parker.

May Switch to Clark.

Charles F. Murphy announced after the New York caucus, that it was not definite that New York's 90 votes should go to Clark on the third ballot. "We will vote for Harmon until the delegation is polled," said Murphy. "That may come on the third ballot. It may not."

Will Remain in Session.

Leaders representing all candidates for the presidential nomination declared before the convention was called to order that all had agreed to remain in session until a nomination is made.

THROTTLING
THE REBELLIONFederal Troops Getting Between Rebels and American Border

MARCH ON JUAREZ BEGINS

Huerta Flanking Orozo and His Cohorts at Bachimba and Chihuahua.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)

At the Rebel Front, Bachimba, Mex., June 28.—Rebel chiefs here are mystified at the disappearance of the federal troops from their front at Bachimba. Almost as far south as the big Ortiz bridge, fifteen miles away, scouts report no federal in sight. The theory most commonly believed by the rebel officers is that General Huerta has moved his army by a circuitous route away from the railroad in an effort to flank the mountain pass.

It is asserted here that General Huerta probably is planning a flank movement to prevent the rebel army from retreating to Chihuahua. It is assumed that the federal commander has withdrawn his troops from the rebel front of Bachimba to allow the rebels to head southward if they choose. What the government is said to be anxious to do is to get between the rebels and the American border and prevent them from obtaining ammunition or supplies of which they are in great need.

Moving on Juarez.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mex., June 28.—The federal campaign on Juarez began today with the departure from here of eight hundred men under General Blanco who moved towards Colonia Morelos, a small town on the border between the states of Sonora and Chihuahua where they will form a junction with the main column there under Colonel Rivera.

General Sanjinez who is commander-in-chief of the Sonora movement under orders from General Huerta left today for Fronteras, south of here to inspect the troops under General Giuseppe Garibaldi proceeding thence to Colonia Morelos to take charge of the mobilization there. When concentrated the federal force will number about 2,500 men. General Garibaldi will command the advance guard, General Blanco the reserves, and General Sanjinez the main column. The troops will march close to the border of Arizona and New Mexico, reaching in the vicinity of Juarez within five days.

Big Battle Impending.

At the Rebel Front, Bachimba, Mex., June 28.—Rebel scouts reported at noon today that federal cavalry and heavy artillery bringing up the rear were advancing northward, leaving troop trains at Ortiz to follow later. Based on this information a battle is likely either late today or early tomorrow.

Rebel advances returning from near

Ortiz had reported that the federals had abandoned the work of repairing the large bridge there when as a matter of fact the structure had been completed the day before, the federals leaving but two trains on the south side for a ruse while the balance of their trains were withdrawn south for water.

Enlilio and Raul Madero, with 900

cavalry, are quartered at Humboldt ranch near Meoqui east of Ortiz, while a similar number consisting of Infantry is holding forth at Santa Cruz de Rosales four miles west.

It is hoped to shape the financial plan so as to convince bankers that there is a possibility of revising the finance without resorting to the central reserve plan suggested by Senator Aldrich. The Aldrich plan is denounced.

A suggestion of the distribution of the government funds throughout the country in a way to make them available in case of monetary disturbance may be made.

Both the sub-committee and the full committee agreed upon the desirability of criminal prosecutions against the man back of the trusts.

Regarding conservation of the natural resources, the committee would not take a backward step, but it is emphatic against a policy which would drive American homesteaders to other countries. There, there will be a declaration for the administration of the land laws so as to encourage settlement and homesteading.

Only One Term for President.

In view of the desire to please Mr. Roosevelt's followers, some surprise has been expressed over the committee's decision to insert a declaration in favor of one term for the President of the United States. It is there, however, and probably will remain. No expression is given as to the length of the term which would be a matter of detail in legislation.

Many members of the full committee submitted planks covering various subjects. Some of them were accepted and others voted down. One of the rejected provisions was for a prohibition outlying a policy for the Indians. The inheritance tax, the equal suffrage for women plank, and the initiative and referendum went out as matters for state control. Strong declarations for direct legislation and for primary elections were inserted. Toward the end most propositions were rejected on the ground that the platform was already crowded.

"It is as long as a clothes line," said

Senator Clarke of Arkansas, "and we simply have got to stop."

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—The jury in the case of John C. Henning, who sued Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, for $25,000, charging alienation of Mrs. Henning's affections, today returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Funk.

When the night is beginning to lower,

Comes a pause in the day's occupations, that is known as the Children's Hour.

I hear in the chamber above me the patter of little feet,

The sound of a door that is opened,

and voices soft and sweet.

From my study I see in the lamplight,

Descending the broad hall stair,
Grave Alice, and laughing Allegra, and Edith with golden hair.

A whisper and then a silence; yet I know by their merry eyes

They are plotting and planning together to take me by surprise.

A sudden rush from the stairway,
A sudden raid from the hall!

By three doors left unguarded they enter my castle wall!

They climb up into my turret o'er the arms and back of my chair;

If I try to escape they surround me;

they seem to be everywhere.

They almost devour me with kisses,
Their arms about me entwining.

Till I think of the Bishop of Bingen,
In his mouse-tower on the Rhine!

Do you think, oh, blue-eyed bandits,
Because you have scaled the wall,

Such an old mustache as I am is not a match for you all?

I have you fast in my fortress, and will not let you depart.

But put you down into the dungeon in the round tower of my heart.

And there will I keep you forever, yes, forever and a day.

Till the walls shall crumble to ruin,
and molder in dust away.

fray the expenses of the Fourth of July at Silver City, and the enthusiasm manifested by everybody indicates that the celebration will be one of the largest and best ever held in Silver City.

A Bad Hombre.

Some "bo" who refused to give his name, was arraigned on the charge of vagrancy. He was given his choice of hitting the trail or 30 days on the chain gang and selected the former.
The gent had in his possession two razors and a long butcher knife, and had the appearance of a bad number.

Barbecue at Fort Bayard.

The officers of Fort Bayard, Grant county, gave a barbecue on upper Cameron Creek of the reservation. Mr. and Mrs. Butler and the Misses Butler were guests from Silver City. A whole pig and quarter of beef were roasted for the substantial part of the refreshments and every one had a delightful time.

Expensive.

In police court at Roswell, a fine of $75 and costs was placed on West Elgin, who displayed a gun a short time before in the presence of a neighbor. The two men had quarreled over a suit of underclothes and the testimony showed that Elgin then purchased a gun and displayed it to the man with whom he had quarreled.

Thrown From His Horse.

While working a bunch of cattle about six miles west of Silver City, Frank Fleming, a well known cattleman and a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F.
Fleming, was thrown from his horse and seriously injured, suffering a compound fracture of the leg. Horace Hooker was with him at the time and quickly procured medical aid from town and had the injured man brought in on an automobile.

Dropped Dead in the Street.

Policeman Frank McDaniel at Roswell, was notified about midnight by George Wilde that a man was dead on East Tilden street. The officer went direct and located the man lying at the corner of a neighbor's house. It appears that he had been suffering from tuberculosis for some time past and had a hemorrhage, judging from the blood on the bedclothing and at the spot where he was found dead. It appears that he was trying to get to a neighbor's house to tell him of his condition when he fell dead. No inquest was held.

Mapping Out a New Road.

Van T. Manville, chairman of the board of Grant county commissioners, and County Surveyor F. L. Cox spent two days of last week in mapping out a route for the proposed Silver City-Lordsburg road via Gold Hill. A route was picked out which was considered very suitable, owing to lack of steep grades. Several had sandy stretches exist, but it was seen that these could be easily avoided by a reasonable amount of work.

Robbed Transfer Box.

A carload of autos destined for San Francisco, upon the Southwestern transfer, was broken into at Vaughn, Guadalupe county. The taste of the theft seemed not to run toward automobiles, they proceeded to take out their spite by tearing up the bills and interchange reports accompanying the car and appropriating a draft for $160. There have been strong locks placed on the bill box there now and all future marauders will have to use dynamite.

Auto Smash-Up.

While speeding along the Hot Springs boulevard at 5 o'clock yesterday morning the Ford touring car belonging to Peter Olson, and driven by his son, Joe Olson of Las Vegas, turned turtle, throwing the two occupants, the driver and Sam Rhodes, from the car and badly bruising and shaking them up. Rhodes' injuries were the more serious and medical aid was summoned. He was put to bed. The automobile was badly damaged and is due for a siege in the repair shop. The lamps, windshield, a wheel, front seat and other parts of the machine were smashed.

Excavating Gran Quivira.

That the American Museum of Natural History is making plans for systematic excavation at the site of the famous old ruins of Gran Quivira and La Cuara, in Torrance county, is the statement made by N. C. Nelson of San Francisco, making his headquarters with John W. Corbett of Mountainair. Mr. Nelson was accompanied by his wife. Accompanied by Mr. Corbett he made a preliminary survey of the ruins and also visited Chilli, Tajique, Aho and the old ruins of Manzano. Mr. Nelson says that the work of excavation, which will begin this month, will likely take four or five years to complete and is confident that priceless relics of past civilizations will be disclosed by the pick and shovel.

Wedding on Mountain Peak.

Historic Mount Bosque, towering 12,000 feet into the sky, is the highest peak of the picturesque Manzano mountains. Most everybody in New Mexico has heard of the Ray family who live on a ranch near the very summit of the Bosque. There are many stories told of how this peculiar family came to establish their residence in such a lofty place, and the real facts will perhaps never be known. Alice Ray, who was born on the ranch twenty-one years ago, will be married July 18th to William Blackwell. Rev. J. Randolph Carver of Estancia, will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock that evening. There are to be a number of guests from the valley, and quite a few friends from among the mountain folk, including Mrs. Willie Dow of Tajique, the aunt of the bride. The Blackwells will continue to reside at the Bosque ranch, and the groom will assume the management of affairs up there, relieving Mr. Ray, upon whom the burden of years is beginning to tell.

Three Sentenced to the Pen.

Judge E. L. Medler in the district court at Roswell handed out penitentiary sentences to three men who were found guilty of the charges against them in the district court within the last few weeks. Commie E. Prather drew from five to seven years for the murder of David Windsor on the plains some time ago. He was convicted of murder in the second degree.
Counsel for Prather made a motion for an appeal and this was granted and the supersedeas bond fixed at $2,500. Ed. Barnard, who was tried for the same offense with Prather, was declared by jury to be not guilty. W. C. Holmes and Frank Rice, who were recently convicted of stealing mules from S. W. Clore, were given from 18 months to two years in the state penitentiary by Judge Med-ler. In each case the costs went with the sentence.

After a second trial on practically the same case, Claude Lorraine was convicted on a charge of stealing horses from Lon Cottingham pastures near Roswell last year. Lorraine, it will be remembered was tried some time ago on a charge of stealing nine horses from the Cottingham ranch be-by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.

There is only one way to cure deaf-this tube is inflamed you have a rum-when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamma-

This Girl Recovered from Consumption

The makers of Eckman's Alternative, which is doing so much good for Consump-tives, are continually in receipt of really wonderful reports of cures brought about solely through the use of this medicine.
These reports are always at the command of anyone interested, and many of the writers in their gratitude have suggested that this sufferer write direct and leave what it did for them. Here is one specimen:
"Gentlemen: Pardon me for not writing sooner, but I wanted to see if I would stay cured. I can now truthfully say I am perfectly well. Never felt better in all my life.
I wish to express my heartfelt thanks.
I never have any pain, no cough, no night sweats, no hoarseness. Since a child of two years I have been ill with lung trouble, which grew worse as I grew older. At the age of fourteen the doctor said if I could not be sent South, I would surely die of Consumption. Every winter I would be sure to have either Brought's Pleurisy, or Pneumonia. I had Typhoid Pneumonia one time. I had catarrh of the stomach and bowels and had Hay Fever for the last few years; but have not anything of the kind this year.
I will answer all letters sent to me, asking a history of my case, from any one suffering from lung trouble."
I remain with many thanks to you,
your grateful friend,
ETTA PLATH.

longing to Mr. Cottingham and the jury acquitted him of the charge. It was alleged that he stole eighteen horses at the time, the other nine belonging to other parties, and after a jury decided in favor of the state on his plea of abatement, he was tried on a second count. The complaining witness in the last case was John Ferguson. This morning after court opened, Judge Medler increased his bond from $750 to $2,000, Lorraine being out on bail at the time. The Lorance case was concluded at the afternoon session yesterday, and the jury returned about 6 o'clock to consider the verdict. The latter was returned at 10 o'clock.

Vague Murder Story.

A somewhat vague account of a killing which occurred in Lucero, a small settlement near Mora, last Sunday night, was received in Las Vegas today. A man named Padeo Medina was the unfortunate victim. According to the story, Medina was prowling about a house in Lucero when its occupant, inquired what he was doing there. Medina refused to answer. Then the householder picked up a stone and hurled it in the direction in which Medina's footsteps were heard. Unfortunately, the missile struck him on the head, killing him instantly. The householder, whose name was not learned, had no intention of striking Medina but wished to frighten him away. It is understood the Mora county authorities will hold an inquest and make other efforts to learn details of the killing. It is reported that a Mora citizen was found a short time since in the corral of Luciano Gallegos.
The latter asked the intruder what he was doing there and demanded that he give his name. The intruder replied: "Don't shoot! It is me," averting a probable killing, as Luciano was prepared to shoot. Had the intruder at Lucero replied to the inquiry of the householder he doubtless would have saved his life.—Las Vegas Optic.

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man cannot understand the torture and suffering many women endure uncomplainingly. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with patience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for immediate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy which is safe to take because it contains no narcotics, alcohol or "poisonous ingredients." It is an alterative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and is first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women—Dr. J. C. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. LIZZIE M. HESSEMER, of Lincoln, Neb., writes: "I send a testimonial with much pleasure so that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your medicine. I was a great sufferer from female troubles but after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured."

"I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

ARIZONA TO SPEND QUARTER MILLION AT SAN DIEGO.

Site Selected That Covers Two and a Half Acres—State Building is to Cost $75,000.

San Diego, June 28.—Arizona, through her commission to the San Diego exposition, has selected her site and if the recommendations of the commission are carried out will expend $750,000 on her exhibit.

The commission visited the site of the exposition, and, examining the plans and grounds, selected two and a half acres on the most prominent part of the section allotted to states. This is to be covered with lawns and trees and in the center will be the Arizona building, a structure that is to cost at least $75,000. Arizona has always been liberal in her participation at expositions, but on this occasion argues that no other state is in position to derive as much benefit from the San Diego exposition as is Arizona, owing to her contiguous situation, her resources and her opportunities. The exposition is to appeal to those interested in reclamation, conservation, forestation and the attraction of immigration. These four things coupled with mining industry, Arizona is giving the greatest attention. For this reason the commission holds that she must make an extra effort and that her section in San Diego must be the most extensive of any state in the union, she being a large part of the southwest, a part of the territory of San Diego and the state having the greatest undeveloped opportunities.

Work on the section devoted to the southern counties of California is progressing satisfactorily. Plowing and grading is going on and the plantation is to start just as soon as Commissioner Wilson, of the southern counties board, can get at it. The engineering force of the exposition is working on plans and specifications for the building, which will cost nearly $100,000.

Other work going on at the exposition site includes grading for the main east entrance, for the main plaza, finishing of service buildings and emergency field hospital, propagation at the huge nursery, where are now over 300,000 worth of rare plants, ferns and trees, and engineering work for the great bridge. Plans for the California building are also being prepared. This structure will cost about $500,000 if present plans are carried out.

BALTIMORE CONVENTION SWAMPED ALL NIGHT WITH FERVID ORATORY

Speeches Placing in Nomination Wilson, Clark and Harmon For the Presidency on the Democratic Ticket This Fall.

(By Special License Write to New Mexican)

Baltimore, June 27.—A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, seconding the nomination to the presidency of Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, addressed the convention as follows:

I rise to second the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. Born in the Old Dominion, whose proud boast proclaims her the mother of presidents, reared to manhood in the Empire State of the South, trained in the science of government in this border city, where four Democratic presidents have been named, he brought the Democracy of his early environment and education to the attainment for true American ideals for a great institution of learning in the north and the accomplishment of real government of the people in the most sorely despoiled commonwealth upon this continent.

The state of Pennsylvania, long pillaged by the blighting hand of privilege and now shamefully browbeaten in the name of reform, emerging from the dark hour which surely precedes the dawn, turns with hope and confidence to the rising sun, where the "scholar in politics" has lighted up the whole horizon. We adopt Woodrow Wilson as our own, and with him to lead, Pennsylvania can and will be redeemed.

Pennsylvania's appeal should not be measured by results in the throated past, but by the assurance of the open future, without hope of reward or expectation of victory, a half million men in that state have remained true to the historic principles of the Democratic party, and now with the organization responsive to the people's will and in full sympathy with the progressive sentiment of the state, it becomes no mere figure of speech to voice the prophecy that Pennsylvania will resume her early place among Democratic states.

But I shall make my appeal not alone in the name of the progressive Democracy of the state for which I speak, but in the name also of the young men everywhere, whose ideals, purposes and accomplishments in every state will parallel those of the young men of Pennsylvania, who have recently shown their tremendous power in effecting clean politics and honest government.

The most significant condition in present day American politics is the tendency of the rising generation of men to blaze a new trail for political action in the future.

Let no man deceive himself as to the meaning of the movement which swept like the torrent of a tidal wave across the country in the fall of 1910 and maintained its height practically unshaken in the elections of 1911. It was no partisan victory in the old fashioned sense. Let no great leader of any party or faction lay the flattering unction to his soul that then the country responded with loud resounding voice to his appeal for the enforcement of the ancient principles of either of the great political parties.

The fact is—and the old men may well accept it for the young men know it—that the political party of yesterday is not the party today. We are asking for a leader whose promise and performance will appeal to the rising generation of American men who are now changing the political alignment of American citizenship. The destiny of the country is in the hands of the young men of the land, who have come upon the stage of action since the great problems of today have beckoned for solution to the men of clean minds and strong hearts who have a higher regard for the welfare and prosperity of their children than they have for the political dogma of their fathers.

These young men of independent thought and action are being told by many party leaders that the principles laid down before the present day problems arose to challenge the judgment of statesmen are the unbending and absolute test to measure the remedies for ailments of which the men of fifty years ago never dreamed, and which, because human like ourselves, they could not foresee. They are being told there is no such thing as a new Republicanism or a new Democracy, and that the two great parties are planted in the soil filled by our fathers after deep thought and strenuous labor, and that it is political heresy to preach the doctrine of a new, an up-to-date, a twentieth century political creed.

But every sign points to the fact that the young men of the country are persisting in that heresy. They hold more lightly every year the tie which binds them to any party which will not accommodate itself to new conditions. They would leave, without compunction, any political organization when once they are convinced that its leaders are so hidebound to the faith of the fathers, that they are blind to the significance of the battle now being waged on every side by rising men with new ideas, and deaf to the present demand for better performance in government. They would be faithful to the ideals of the fathers, but they do not shrink from that elastic interpretation of party principles which permits the solution of today's problems without regard for yesterday's conditions.

Veneration for ancient landmarks which is too devout, a respect for the work of dead men which is too holy, will blind the party to the crying needs of a living present and an imperishable future. History is a teacher, not a master. Yesterday is gone, today is only an opportunity to prepare for the morrow, which is crowded ing on its heels. That statesman will be the greatest leader of his time of whom it can be truly said by the rising generation of men, "His mind is in the past, but his hand is on the present, and his eye is on the future."

The young men in both the great parties, whose habits of thought have not been stunted by blind adherence to party names, or blunders of speech silenced by the loud noise of party sibilants, are looking for an instrument to work their will. They will eventually go into that political organization which measures up with the truest fidelity to the gigantic task of bringing order out of the chaos, which has resulted in the business world from disobedience to the law of the land. They will make themselves a mighty power to demand just distribution of the benefits of government in the face of the favoritism which has resulted from law-made prosperity for a privileged class at the expense of a heavily burdened people. They will tie themselves only to that party which gives the best promise to bring home closer to the people all the operations of government by a stricter regulation of business affairs, and a closer surveillance of political activities.

They will no longer tolerate either the bi-partisan political machine, long reigning in many states, or its natural outgrowth, the partnership between political and business organizations now powerful in Executive Chamber in the Senate, and on the Bench.

In their search for a leader of the new thought in the old Democracy, the young men have turned to Wilson. We choose him for what he is and for what he is not. We follow him because of what he stands for as well as what he stands against. We believe in him because his performance has squared with his promise to the last inch of the specifications.

He voices the aspirations of the young men who seek the ideals of the twentieth century Democracy, but he promises fulfillment of their hopes with methods tested by time. He is a conservative on the move. He stands for radical measures to be accomplished in a conservative and orderly fashion. He appeals to independent men, but attracts most quickly those in the front ranks of advanced thought. He carries no flaming torch of discontent and makes no appeal to passion or prejudice. He holds aloft the steady lamp of knowledge and makes his appeal to the reason and intellect of patriotic men.

The easy line of least resistance has never been his pathway. As a public servant, he has accepted the people's verdict, always treading the straight line from judgment to execution.

When he denied to the "board of guardians" of New Jersey the right to rule the State, he gave his bond for the faithful conservation of the people's rights when called to higher place. When he refused, as the party's chosen leader, to permit a self-named boss to betray the people's will, he entered security that under him no act of party dishonor will ever soil the record of a Democratic administration. When he made his own political path more difficult by breaking the grip of Wall Street from tightening upon him, he measured up to the supreme test of unselfish devotion to the public interest.

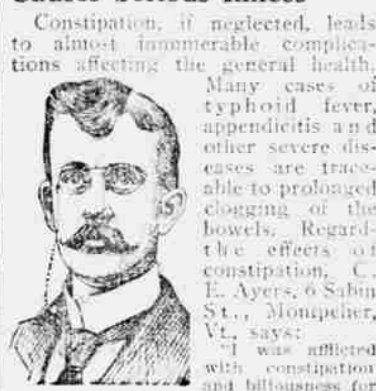

Give us such a leader, standing up on the platform of progress which he personifies, and all the power of Presidential patronage, plutocracy and political piracy will be of no avail to defeat your cause.

Westcott's Speech.
Baltimore, June 27.—The speech placing the name of Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, in nomination for the presidency was delivered by former Judge John W. Westcott, of Camden, N. J. Mr. Westcott spoke as follows:

New Jersey, once bound, but, by the moral energy and intellectual greatness of a single soul, now free, comes to this great convention, in the glory of her emancipation, to participate in your deliberations, aid in formulating your decrees. The New Jersey delegation is not empowered to exercise the attributes of proprietorship, but is commissioned to represent the great cause of Democracy and to offer you, as its militant and triumphant leader, a scholar, not a charlatan; a statesman, not a doctrinaire; a profound lawyer, not a splitter of legal hairs; a political economist, not an egotistical theorist; a practical politician, who constructs, modifies, restrains without disturbance and destruction; a restless debater and consummate master of statement, not a mere phrase-maker; a humanitarian, not a defamer of characters and lives; a man whose mind is at once cosmopolitan and composite of America; a gentleman of unpretentious habits, with the tear of God in his heart and the love of mankind exhibited in every act of his life; above all a public servant who has been tried to the uttermost and never found wanting—peerless, matchless, unconquerable.

New Jersey has reasons for her concern. Let us not be deceived in our premises. Campaigns of vilification, corruption and false pretense have lost their usefulness. The evolution of national energy is towards a more intelligent morality in politics and in all other relations. The line of cleavage is between those who treat politics as a game and those who regard it as the serious business of government. The realignment of political parties

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, of Salem, St., Monmouth, N. J., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.

will be on this principle. The situation admits of no compromise. The temper and purpose of the American public will tolerate no other view. The indifference of the American people to politics has disappeared. Any platform and any candidate not conforming to this vast social and commercial upheaval will go down to ignominious defeat at the polls. Platforms are too often mere historic rubbish heaps of broken promises. Candidates are too frequently the unfortunate creatures of arrangements and calculations. Exigencies, conditions, national needs and necessities make better platforms and produce greater leaders than does the exercise of proprietorship. A disregard of this first promise will bring our dreams crashing in ruins next November.

Again, the eternal conflict between equal opportunity and special privilege is upon us. Our fathers wrote the issue of that struggle in our constitutions. They declared all men to be free and equal. In a single century that principle developed the North American continent, leaving the world with its beneficence, inspired all nations with hope and made the United States the asylum of the world. Yet America, at this very hour, presents the most stupendous contradiction in history—a people politically free, while economically bound by the most gigantic monopolies of all time and burdened by a system of taxation which exploits millions to enrich a few. We have preserved the forms of freedom, but are fast losing its substance. The evils of this condition are felt in a thousand ways throughout the land. Therefore it is that America is awake. Therefore it is that a mistake in our premises will be fatal. Therefore it is that the situation, national exigency, the crisis, call for the right man. Therefore it is that a silent and resolute revolution demands our patriotic and best judgment. Individual ambitions are worse than nothing. If the chosen candidate fails in any sense or in any degree fully and completely to meet the call of the nation, he is doomed to defeat.

Men are known by what they say and do. They are known by those who hate and oppose them. Many years ago Woodrow Wilson said, "No man is great who thinks himself so, and no man is good who does not try to secure the happiness and comfort of others." This is the secret of his life. Later, in his memorable effort to retain good scholarship and democracy in Princeton University, he declared, "The great voice of America does not come from seats of learning. It comes in a murmur from the hills and woods, and the farms and factories and the mills, rolling on and gaining volume until it comes to us from the homes of common men. Do these murmurs echo in the corridors of our universities? I have not heard them." A clarion call to the spirit that now moves America. Later he shouted, "I will not cry peace so long as there is sin and wrong in the world." Here is the very soul of the silent revolution now solidifying sentiment and purpose in our common country.

The deeds of this moral and intellectual giant are known to all men. They accord not with the shams and false pretenses of politics, but make national harmony with the millions of patriots determined to correct the wrongs of plutocracy and re-establish the maxims of American liberty in all their regnant beauty and practical effectiveness. New Jersey loves Woodrow Wilson not for the enemies he has made. New Jersey loves him for what he is. All evil is his enemy. The influences that have opposed him have demonstrated his availability and fitness on the one hand, and exposed the unavailability and unfitness of some others on the other hand. The influence that has opposed him blights and blasts any cause and any person it opposes. That influence has appealed to the sordid, low and criminal. That influence fattens on ignorance and avarice. The man that accepts its aid, so far as his public usefulness is concerned, would be more fortunate had a millstone been tied about his neck and he had been cast into the depths of the sea. New Jersey believes that the opposition to Governor Wilson, such as it has been, necessitates and secures his triumph.

Similar necessities, motives and causes impel all men alike. The same alive and you have a feeling almost of pity for the common herd back there in the business world.

"You reach the little city of Santa Fe possibly just as the sun in a blaze of glory sinks to rest behind a distant peak. You are fortunate if you do, for how beautiful it is; and what wonderful colors around the Santa Fe and Glorieta mountains for a painter's brush. No artist can paint the sky as the hand of God. World known artists have endeavored to get the picture setting out there a few miles of Santa Fe—but not yet have they succeeded in getting the effect and wonder and beauty.

"Although snowbanks are still piled high within twelve miles of Santa Fe, yet, the immense forests, the majestic mountains towering to heights of 12,000 feet and more, the titanic canyons, the lush meadows rainbow colored with wild columbine and other blossoms are at their best. What golden opportunities for inexpensive vacations spent out-of-doors right here in this vicinity. One may go a thousand miles, and find nothing more attractive than this veritable vacation land, that stretches toward the soft phantasies of the Blood of Christ range on the east, and to the Cliff Dwellings and the shimmering blue of the Jemez on the west. What wealth of trout streams, of cool retreats, of beautiful haunts.

"Why not spend this year's vacation exploring the unsuspected beauties of this neighborhood?"

APPEAL TO CLASS HATRED.

The successful appeal to class hatred made by William Jennings Bryan last evening, draws the lines between the two great parties still more clearly.

To the man down and out, every man who has a job is a representative of the interests. To the man who is incompetent, every man who is competent is a capitalist. To the man who cannot pay his grocery bills, the grocer, the drygoods merchant, the wholesale merchant, represent the brute force of money. To the man who has a little, the man who has a little more, is a bloated plutocrat. To the man who must walk to work, the owner of an automobile is hateful if the Bryan spirit pervades him. To the man who pays rent, the owner of a cottage is an object of envy. That is the kind of spirit to which the Democracy through Bryan, or Bryan through the Democracy, appeals.

But to quote another great Democrat: "No matter how much socialistic talk there may be, there is one thing which neither sensational newspapers nor fiery mouthed orators can make this nation of Americans, (old or new—whosoever their ancestors were—and whatever they themselves were)—believe after a well fought campaign and a few nights sleep—and that is, that it is morally wrong to be thrifty, to accumulate a competency, to strive honestly to make declining years free from financial worry and to give one's children the very best in education that money can buy."

How is it with Bryan himself? Does he not in his printshop employ men and women, boys and girls at the very lowest figure that the union scale permits; has he not been accumulating wealth until the day laborer looks at him as a capitalist who can live without working?

It all depends on the viewpoint, whether one is a part of the interests, or a part of the incompetents, the unfortunate, the failures in life.

ENTERPRISE.

It has cost the New Mexican something to keep the dear public in Santa Fe posted on the two great national conventions. Its bulletin board has served the purpose of a morning daily and more, for a minute after the ball was taken at Baltimore at 8:15 o'clock this morning, the tabulated vote was posted on the New Mexican bulletin board, almost ten hours before the evening dailies are on the street and more than twenty hours before the morning dailies brought the news to their readers.

The New Mexican is glad to say that Santa Fe appreciates its daily, and that Santa Fe's wide-awake business men advertise, and advertise liberally, in its columns, thus enabling the New Mexican to keep right up to the scratch in serving the people of the Southwest in every way that a newspaper should serve a commonwealth and its people.

Dexter, N. M., June 28.—The intensive improvement of 480 acres of land located four miles west of Dexter, is the object of a deal which was consummated the fore part of this week by which the Gill farm of 160 acres and the Hendrickson farm of 320 acres are deeded to the Pomona ranch company. By the arrangement John B. Gill of Roswell and Fred Hendrickson and Henry Witter consolidate their holdings in this vicinity. Their plans are to plant the major portion of the entire tract to orchard to plant shade trees, grade roads and subdivide the entire tract into five, ten and twenty acre tracts to be placed on the market at a later date.

AUTO WITH SPORTS PLUNGES INTO LAKE.

Sunk in Fifteen Feet of Water and Coats Occupants Walk 19 Miles to Denver.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Denver, Colo., June 28.—"Sandy" Griswold, sporting writer of Omaha, Robert Edgren, sporting writer of New York, and F. C. Hurley, Omaha sport enthusiast, with Hurley's chauffeur, while enroute in an automobile to Las Vegas, N. M., to attend the Johnson-Flynn fight, plunged into Stanley lake near Brighton early today when the driver dozed and failed to take a turn in the road. The car plunged into fifteen feet of water, and is still at the bottom of the lake. The men swam to shore.

The four walked 19 miles to Denver. They wore neither hats, coats nor shoes when they arrived, those garments having gone to the bottom of the lake in the car. Griswold and Edgren will resume their journey by rail to night.

Among the contributions were: Arizona $800; Colorado $2,000; Kansas $1,500; Wyoming $200.

NEGRO HATERS GIVE CLOVIS UNDESIRABLE NOTORIETY.

A conference of railroad men and citizens has been held at Clovis to discuss the possible attitude of the people of Clovis toward the negro employees of the Santa Fe who might in future come to Clovis to live. The citizens made it plain that the people of Clovis were fully in sympathy with the upholding of the law and for the protection of all citizens regardless of color. Much regret was expressed over the unprofitable advertising that Clovis has received from the acts of five or six irresponsible persons who have since fled the town and who never had the interest of the town at heart. Two rewards of $250 each were offered by the citizens present. One for the apprehension and conviction of any of those guilty of the recent disturbance among the negroes of the town, and one for the arrest and conviction of anyone guilty of such conduct in the future.

Thomason stated that on account of the witnesses in that case being in California he did not think the case would come up for trial at this term of court. The court will adjourn for the term Saturday.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

In an editorial a few days ago, the New Mexican called attention to the fact that the Republican party at its Chicago convention had adopted a platform, wisely progressive, honest, open and dealing fearlessly with every issue before the nation. That once again, as in its past history, the party had met a crisis in the national life, firmly and fearlessly. This is more strongly emphasized today, by the action of the Democratic party at Baltimore. In that convention, lured by the eloquence and personality of William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic party has cast aside all restraint and followed the bell wether into new pastures. It has seized firm hold upon every "ism" and theory in the air today and has locked and bolted its doors against every thing and every one, not absolutely radical. The preachings of Theodore Roosevelt pale into insignificance before the creed of the Baltimore convention and it has committed Democracy to another, as wild-eyed program as Mr. Bryan's sixteen to one and cross of gold. The convention it is true, has not entirely concluded its program but it has gone far enough to make it an absolute certainty that the lines will be drawn between the Republican party, standing for the United States of America and constitutional government, and a new order of things of which no man may forecast the outcome but which threatens the very life of the Republic as founded by the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

From a Republican standpoint, the action of the Baltimore convention in practically turning over to Bryan, the Democratic party, can cause no sorrow. As in the previous campaigns where it has been a question of Bryan and his fool theories as against a government "of the people, by the people and for the people," the people have spoken at the polls by a decisive majority for the Republican party. Mr. Bryan has been too long in the limelight and too many of his fanciest theories have proven to be balloons to be punctured and to explode, as merely whims of the hour.

But it is interesting to note, by way of references to bores, so frequently charged by our Democratic friends, that there is a boss in the Democratic party who is a past master at the game and he is none other than William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. King of them all, when it came to the fine points of the game, Mr. Bryan has played the entire convention into his own hands and his word is law.

But knowing Mr. Bryan, the American people will pause to think before they place the nation in jeopardy by the election of any candidate on any platform he may write. And after all, the years of Republican success, the years of prosperity Republican regimes have made, show that the people do think and think hard—at least before voting in a national election.

A GREAT NEWS SERVICE.

It was a splendid service that the Associated Press rendered its newspapers the past two weeks. With much foresight, it had gathered nominating and keynote speeches for both conventions and mailed them in good time for all its papers to use. At both conventions every detail was carefully watched and it seemed as if the Associated Press representatives sat in the very innermost councils of all factions and parties and were in position to flash out the news before it had left the committee rooms and the council chambers. The running story, as events, most of them unforeseen, happened, was accurate and brilliant, and the millions of readers of Associated Press newspapers had drawn for them a word picture that presented vividly the stormy scenes at Chicago and Baltimore, more than graphically to their mind than if they had been in the crowds that sat in the convention halls. The Associated Press franchise is invaluable to the newspaper fortunate enough to possess it.

KEYNOTING.

When it comes to real, genuine, sure "mough oratory, as they would say in the imperial blue grass state of Kentucky, we remove our sombrero to Ollie James, permanent chairman of the Baltimore convention.

As a sounder of keynotes, Ollie has our most respectful respect. Judge Alton B. Parker of Esopus N. Y. is a lack number when he tries to get into the Ollie James class of oratory. He said a few things about the Colonel that were a trifle pointed but as a keynoter, he was merely the barker for the sideshow.

It may be that the Judge's early education was neglected in the keynote branches or that Ollie James had exceptional ability in those lines. Be that as it may, Ollie sounded a keynote that was a keynote and it may be remarked right here that none of the delegates got up to walk out. They got up, but they got up to yell—to yell for Ollie.

Viewed in the cold, far away distance of New Mexico, where the enthusiasm and applause of the convention can not bias judgment, the solution of the problem seems to be that climatic conditions have much to do with it. How could any one, hailing from a burg with a name like Esopus expect to be much of an orator? And the name is not alone; it rains in Esopus, some times for a week, a cold, chilling, penetrating wet rain. Hence a keynote hatched in a town with a name and a climate like that, might be expected to fail to rise to an occasion such as a Democratic National convention.

On the other hand, Ollie hails from Kentucky where the greenest blue grass in the world abounds; where nature smiles, a smile of sweet content; where the sun shines almost as bright as in New Mexico; where the southern mocking bird and the nightingale, warble to the moonlit heavens; where sparkling streams and other sparkling beverages gladden the hearts of men. But that is sufficient. We have no desire to enter into that sort of a descriptive contest with Ollie. We realize our shortcomings in that respect but just the same it is easy to see why, when it comes to sounding a keynote or two, Ollie has the aforesaid keynotes right in his vest pocket while the Judge from Esopus is compelled to grope in exterior or interior darkness.

More and better keynotes are turned out in the state of Kentucky every day than are produced in Esopus N. Y. in a year. And Ollie stands six feet three in his socks, which by way of conclusion, we must admit, helps some in the keynote business.

THE CALL OF THE WILD.

Will Robinson of the Roswell Register Tribune has heard the call of the wild; he is hankering after the trout in the upper Pecos, and the New Mexican expects him to drop in before the season is over, and if he has to walk it.

This is the way he puts it and Santa Feans will modestly admit that he is not putting it any too strong when he says: "There isn't any call quite so insistent as the call of the wild—the call to forest end mountain and streams. Roswell is particularly favored. One owning an automobile can make the trip into the historic White and Sacramento peaks and crags in a half day; three days will give one a delightful excursion with little expense to Santa Fe and return.

"Truly the automobile has worked wonders with the New Mexico roads. Any way one goes it is good traveling, and delightful.

"Several parties are thinking of making the trip to the little ancient city—the capital of the new state. Possibly this is the least expensive

PERSONAL MENTION

MOTHER'S POLITICS.
In years to come when women vote and have a right to mix in every wrangle on the map, including politics, When national conventions meet With bonnets in the van, Among the female delegates, Perchance may be a man.

Then when he rises with the rest To lift a timid voice And some one asks him who will be His Presidential choice This declaration proud and pat Will issue from his throat; "I always vote the same old way That mother used to vote."

RAMIREZ ARRESTED AT EL PASO FOR SMUGGLING.

Casimiro Ramirez, who claims to be a resident of Big Spring, Tex., was arrested at El Paso by United States Marshal Hillebrand, on complaint of L. E. Ross, of the department of justice, on the charge of smuggling ammunition to Mexico. Ramirez says that he knows nothing of the smuggling charge, as he came to El Paso to attend to some business. His case is being investigated. It is alleged that he carried ammunition from a local hardware store to a house on the river bank with the intention of smuggling it to Mexico.

R. W. Hicks, arrested on the charge of accepting a bribe while a witness in the federal court, was given a preliminary hearing Thursday morning and he was bound over to await the action of the federal grand jury and his bond fixed at $1,000.

THINK THISTLES CAUSE OF HAY FEVER.

Tucumcari, N. M., June 28.—Tucumcarians are suffering at present from an epidemic of hay fever, caused, it is thought, by the widespread growth of Russian thistle in this vicinity, the weed at this time being in full flower. Local physicians have been busy keeping the afflicted comfortable. It is said that a treatment based on the theory of the thistle being the active factor, is being worked upon at present with hopes of success. Large quantities of the growth in question were cut and destroyed last year, but this summer has developed a larger crop than ever.

WILL MOVE BRIDGE FROM MOSQUITO TO EL VADO.

Mezulla valley folks will be asked to sign a petition to have the Mesquite bridge moved down to Vado instead of being rebuilt in its present location. The Mesquite bridge was washed away by the high water and only the approaches remain, the residents say. As Vado is more convenient for the majority, they will ask that the bridge be moved to the Vado crossing.

TAFT WON THE FIGHT FAIRLY

So Declares Representative James W. Chaves Who Was at Chicago

SECRETARY OF DELEGATION

Hadley Could Have Had Nomination for Presidency on Republican Ticket

Representative James W. Chaves of Torrance county, chairman of the House finance committee, who returned this week from the Chicago convention, was secretary of the New Mexico delegation and therefore had much insight into the events that occurred behind the curtains at the great convention. Chaves went as a Roosevelt man, and returns a firm believer in Taft and predicts his re-election without a doubt. He saw enough, and heard enough of Roosevelt, at Chicago to turn him and other delegates away from their hero whose ways and manners offended some of the Rough Rider's closest friends.

Mr. Chaves declares that yesterday's Associated Press dispatch that ex-Governor Hadley of Missouri might have had the nomination for the presidency, is based on absolute fact. Mr. Chaves asserts that the forty minute demonstration for Hadley was spontaneous and absolutely overwhelming in its force. But Hadley declined because of his frail health, and because, as the Associated Press stated yesterday, of his loyalty to Roosevelt, the Rough Rider refusing to get out of the way or to consent to Hadley's nomination. Mr. Chaves cannot speak too highly of Hadley as a man and as a political leader.

On the other hand, the demonstration led by a woman with a portrait of Roosevelt, was manufactured and paid for, the woman being an actress and common report having it that she was paid $1,000 for the stunt.

The part taken by National Committeeman Solomon Luna in the committee, of which he is the second oldest member in point of service, the veteran Powell Clayton of Arkansas, alone exceeding him in years of service, was absolutely consistent, says Mr. Chaves, and it was readily seen that Mr. Luna's quiet ways and forceful character made him one of the strong men of the committee. The frame-up of the Roosevelt contest, even in California, was so palpably flimsy, that even the Roosevelt national committeemen, in most instances voted to send the Taft contestees.

Mr. Chaves spoke to Bryan and also hounded by many of the Congressmen, Senators and statesmen whom he knew from his service in Washington where as an employee of the House, he met every member of Congress and many others of those who make history politically. The weather in Chicago was not only cool, but decidedly cold, during the convention.

BEAVERS AT LIBERTY IN SANTA FE RIVER.

Former Game Warden T. P. Gable Issued Permit Last Winter; Water Company Wants Animals.

The Santa Fe Water and Light Company is placing beavers in the Santa Fe river, the object being to permit the little animals to build dams which in turn will keep the water during the spring months from flowing to waste so rapidly.

The permit to trap the beavers for this purpose, was issued last winter by the then game warden, Thomas P. Gable. The first pair of beavers arrived yesterday from Tres Piedras where they were trapped by a deputy game warden. The Water and Light Company pays the expense of catching and transporting the beavers.

The animals arrived in a crate and were taken last night to a point near Monument Rock where they were set at liberty. They will propagate rapidly in the Santa Fe river. It is believed, and the colony will soon be one of the attractions of the many along the Santa Fe canyon and at the same time be of much benefit.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

It Makes a Difference.
Theodore Roosevelt, defeated and repudiated by the party that honored him with the highest gift in its power, but confident and buoyant with hope of the success of his "new party" left Chicago for New York. Roosevelt's departure was in striking contrast to his arrival just nine days ago. Then, like Napoleon, he was acclaimed as the "Conquering Hero." Thousands upon thousands thronged the streets and boulevards and gave him a noisy Rooseveltian greeting. When he left, he folded his tent and stole quietly away. There was no demonstration. Even the police detail had dwindled to a corporal's guard as compared to the army of bluecoats which escorted him to his hotel on his arrival--Denver News.

The Whiskey Creek Bill.
The people of Arenas valley would express thanks to the Grant county representatives in the state legislature, viz Messrs W. B. Walton, Robert H. Boulware and Arthur S. Goodell, for their efforts in securing the passage of an act, recently approved by the governor, changing the name of Whiskey creek to Rio de Arenas, and the region contiguous thereto as Arenas valley that the former name be dropped and the official name adopted in current speech as soon as possible. For and in behalf of the people of Arenas valley, C. C. Bateman, Fort Bayard, N. M.

It Was a Mistake.
We believe Governor McDonald made a grave mistake when he vetoed that part of the appropriation bill which gave the commissioner of public lands $6,500 to be expended for immigration work. The governor gave as his reason that the commissioner is already overburdened with responsibilities and work. We will agree with him perfectly there, but we would go further and say that it would go better far for him to work harder and have more responsibilities than to allow the immigration campaign to cease. The bureau of immigration in the past few years has been one of the state institutions which has more than paid its own way and we predict that the lawmakers of New Mexico will consider this subject among the very first that they take up when they convene once more.--Farmington Enterprise.

Republicans Get Busy.

The Bernalillo county Republican club will hold a meeting Saturday night, reorganize and get in shape for active and effective work during the coming campaign. The following notice has been issued:

I am requested by members of the late Republican club of Bernalillo county, of which I was chairman, and I feel in duty bound to call a meeting of said club, for Saturday, June 29, 1912, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the offices of Attorney John W. Wilson, Room 15, Cromwell building, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

It is proposed at said meeting to elect new officers and to reorganize and equip said club for effective work during the ensuing campaign. All members of said club and other Republicans interested will please take notice, accordingly. A. A. SEDULLO.

ALL GETTING READY FOR DE VARGAS PAGEANT.

Committees Report That Event Will Be Greatest in History of the Ancient Capital.

The De Vargas committees met last evening at the Palace of the Governors. The finance committee reported that it would raise a thousand dollars for the fiesta. Secretary Harris reported that he had distributed 2,500 yellow and red buttons with the De Vargas legend, in the neighboring towns and villages. It was reported that the United States Indian School would entertain the fifty Indians from San Juan and St. Catherine's the fifty Indians from Tesuque, San Ildefonso and Santa Clara. In addition to participating in the pageant, the Indians will dance. At the same time, the arrangements for the annual Plaza Fete are progressing and July 5, will certainly be the greatest Red Letter Day in the history of the Capital. Those participating in the De Vargas pageant had a practice drill last evening.

FEATURING OLD SANTA FE

Dwight L. Elmendorf and W. H. Simpson Charmed With Capital

BUT GOOD ROADS NEEDED

Trip to Cliff Dwellings in Rito de Los Frijoles Proved Enjoyable.

Dwight L. Elmendorf, of New York, the well known lecturer, and William H. Simpson, of Chicago, general advertising agent of the Santa Fe system, who spent two days in Santa Fe and vicinity, have left for the Grand Canyon. Mr. Elmendorf's last visit was in 1897, and before that in 1885, and he declares that Santa Fe has lost none of its charms although it is gradually changing into a more modern city. Mr. Simpson's last visit here was with the late W. E. Curtis. Both visitors went out to the Rito de los Frijoles and took pictures of the Cliff Dwelling scenery that will be used in the Elmendorf lectures as well as in Santa Fe literature.

Mr. Elmendorf, whose travelogues formerly were devoted entirely to foreign countries, will this year have five travelogues on the United States and one of these is to commence at Santa Fe, thirty-five pictures being taken yesterday for that purpose. Among the residences photographed to show the adaptation of the old Spanish style and adobe architecture to modern demands, are those of S. G. Morley, A. B. Renahan, Bronson Cutting and others. Of the Morley residence, several interior views were taken. Pictures were also taken at the U. S. Indian school and at Tesuque.

Mr. Elmendorf lectures regularly in all of the large cities, and the views after being used in his lectures, will be printed in his superb travelogues. It can readily be understood that this is of immense advertising value to Santa Fe. Mr. Elmendorf incidentally praised the management of the Palace Hotel as giving as fine a service as is to be found at any high class tourist hotel, and also Secretary J. S. Harris of the Chamber of Commerce. Both Elmendorf and Simpson insist that before Santa Fe can hope to draw a great amount of tourist travel it must be made easier for tourists to reach the cliff dwellings, the mountains, the surrounding pueblos and all other points of interest. Good roads are the prime consideration. At present, the traveler stops off at Santa Fe only on his way to or from the coast. To Colorado Springs, thousands come as the terminus of their trip. Colorado Springs has provided roads and attractions to keep tourists there all summer and all winter, giving him enough variety to keep him busy seeing it all. Santa Fe has many more attractions than Colorado Springs but has not yet utilized them, the poor roads making it a hardship to visit places like the Cliff Dwellings, the Santa Fe Canon, the Lake Peaks, the Indian pueblos, north and south. But visitors urge Santa Fe to retain enough of the old landmarks and Spanish aspects to maintain it as a city unique among the municipalities of the nation. Mr. Simpson promised that Santa Fe will be featured much more extensively in Santa Fe Railway literature than ever before. The forthcoming folder on the Grand Canyon will give an entire page to Santa Fe and its attractions.

necessities, motives and causes which draw, as by omnipotence, substantially all New Jersey about this great and good man, are identically the same necessities, motives and causes that are in resistless motion in every state in the Union. Its solidarity cannot be disintegrated. False argument fails broken against it. A revolution of intelligent and patriotic millions is the expression of these necessities, motives and causes. Therefore New Jersey argues that Woodrow Wilson is the only candidate who cannot only make Democratic success a certainty, but secure the electoral vote of almost every state in the Union.

New Jersey will endorse his nomination by a majority of one hundred thousand of her liberated citizens. We are not building for a day, or even a generation, but for all time. Let not the belief that any candidate may succeed to rob us of sound judgment. What would it profit the Democratic party to win now, only to be cast out four years hence? The Democratic party should be commissioned to carry on a great constructive program having for its end a complete restoration of the doctrine of equal rights and equal opportunity—without injury and wrong to anyone. Providence has given us, in Woodrow Wilson, the mental and moral equipment to accomplish this reincarnation of Democracy.

New Jersey believes that there is a omniaissance in national instinct. That instinct centers in Woodrow Wilson. How can his power in every state be explained? He has been a political life less than two years. He has had no organization, only a practical ideal—the re-establishment of equal opportunity. Not his deeds alone, not his immortal words alone, not his personality alone, not his matchless powers alone, but all combined, compel national faith and confidence in him. Every crisis evolves its master. Time and circumstance have evolved Woodrow Wilson. The north, the south, the east and the west unite in him. Deep calls to deep. Height calls to height. "From peak to peak, the rattling clanks of life's thunder. Not from one lone cloud.

But every mountain now hath found a tongue. And Jura answers through her misty shrouds. Back to the joyous Alps, who call to her aloud."

The lightning flash of his genius has cleared the atmosphere. We now know where we are. The thunder of his sincerity is shaking the very foundations of wrong and corruption.

If Providence could spare a Washington to lay the foundations of the United States of America; if Providence could spare a Jefferson to make Democracy a living reality; if Providence could spare a Lincoln to obliterate chattel slavery and unite the states in impregnable unity and brotherhood, New Jersey appeals to this convention to give the nation Woodrow Wilson, that he may open the gates of opportunity to every man, woman and child under our flag, by reforming abuses, and thereby teaching them, in his matchless words, "to release their energies intelligently, that peace, justice and prosperity may reign."

New Jersey rejoices through her freely chosen representatives, to name for the Presidency of the United States the Princeton schoolmaster, Woodrow Wilson.

Daugherty Nominates Harmon.

Baltimore, Md., June 27.—Mr. Daugherty spoke in part as follows: "In the last ten decades in national Democratic conventions, Ohio was only a Republican state with no impressive voice in Democratic councils. To you today, Ohio pleads the right, and prays the privilege, of salutation from a Democratic commonwealth redeemed and regenerated by Ohio's great Democratic governor; who never lost a political battle; who transformed the state from the Dead Sea of Republicanism to the paradise of Democracy, confirmed by decisive numbers in two successive elections, and firmly anchored there by more than 100,000 Democratic majority; who crushed and strangled the Republican state machine, the most powerful and the most corrupt of modern days, who has purified the public service in Ohio, and under whose leadership Democracy in Ohio has become the protector and evangel of the aroused and dominant moral sentiment of its people; that sentiment which is the onward and upward and essential spirit of representative government.

"Ohio's great Democratic governor has planned and put into execution in that state a system of taxation and revenue so just, so simple, so comprehensive, so efficient, that it marks its author as a constructive statesman of the first rank.

"Compensation to the tollers injured in workshops and factories, and to their dependent families if accident ends in the tragedy of death, appeals to every man whose heart is not closed to mercy and wrong. Ohio's great Democratic governor outlined and approved a workmen's compensation act, the most advanced and that promises to be the most beneficent that obtains."

The speaker said that progression is the order of the day, and that guided by Governor Harmon, Ohio has accomplished more real and true progress than any other commonwealth and it has been along and within the boundary lines of existing constitutional provisions, "for," continued the speaker, "he believes in the established institutions of his country.

"No man can take the oath of office as President of the United States who does not believe in representative government, because every letter and line and sentence of that imperishable document speaks and breathes the very spirit and soul of a representative Democracy."

Here Mr. Daugherty gave a sketch of Governor Harmon and continued: "Selected by the department of justice because of his recognized abilities to aid in the enforcement of anti-trust laws, he earnestly recommended and urged that the criminal provisions of the statute be empowered against the individuals shielding themselves behind corporate names, declaring that guilt is always personal. But he was promptly advised that his services were no longer needed, because he had committed the unpardonable sin of discovering that the chief offender was a presidential adviser stretching his feet under the council table of an erratic and bombastic, scientific and pragmatic Republican president.

"Ohio now names as your nominee for president her gifted and brilliant son of quiet dignity, superb poise and spotless life, pre-eminent in leadership, in law, in statesmanship, in intellectual and moral greatness, the greatest governor in all her history, Judson Harmon."

Reed Nominates Clark.
Baltimore, June 27.—Senator Reed of Missouri, presenting Speaker Clark's name to the convention for the presidential nomination spoke in part as follows.

"We are here, not to nominate a candidate, but to select a President. Today we shall contend, each against the other; tomorrow we must be brothers in a battle for humanity.

"Ours is a high privilege and solemn duty. It should be met in a spirit of exalted patriotism. Every consideration must be subordinated to the great cause of the people. We speak not only for a party, but for a nation, for mankind and for history. We are about to dissolve the partnership between monopoly and government.

Sixteen years this partnership has levied tribute under the forms of law. It has taxed the crust upon the lips of hunger. It has filched from the pockets of poverty. Monopoly has financed the campaigns of Republican Presidents. It has been rewarded by immunity from punishment for violation of the criminal statutes. The people turn to the Democratic party for relief.

"Republican candidates have resorted to every form of false pretense, every trick of demagoguery. In order to delude the people, one of these candidates has not hesitated to attack the courts of law, and to assail the fundamentals of our government.

"We recognize the truth that all laws and the constitution itself should when necessary be amended to meet changed conditions. But we refuse to assail the structure of our government or to incorporate intellectual vices and fantastic experiments into our jurisprudence.

"We stand for government by law. It is for this very reason we insist that the law against illegal combination must be rigorously enforced. Under Roosevelt the trust flourished as a green bay tree; under Taft the tree has grown and spread its branches until their shadow covers all the land. Roosevelt's policies in all their fundamentals have been perpetuated by Taft. If either is elected, these policies will continue.

"The situation is epic. In such a struggle as lies before us, give me for a leader no summer soldier or sunshine patriot. Give me no political dilettant, who comes into camp when honors are most ripe to pluck. I want no half-fledged chameleon who is only just beginning to acquire a Democratic color. Let me rather have for general him who has suffered the hardships of the camp, the toils of the march, the dangers of the field; who has stood at the bloody angle; who has proven his mettle in the baptism of fire.

Let me tell you of such a leader. He was not born to luxury. He sprang from that stock which produced the men who subdued the West, the people whose hearts are instinct with patriotic love of country and liberty.

"We hear much today of Progressives. The term has perhaps never been clearly defined. But if you mean by a progressive one who studies conditions, and recognizing an evil, bravely seeks for and applies a remedy, then I assert that this man has a record unsurpassed.

"He does not cling to a thing simply because it is hoary with age. Neither will he embrace one because it is new. He is conservative enough to believe that nothing should be destroyed merely because it has lasted a long time. He is progressive enough not to reject an idea simply because it is not covered with the mellow of antiquity.

"Twenty-four years ago he placed upon the statute books of his state a law guarding the secrets of the ballot.

"He advocated the direct primary system twenty years ago; and applied it in his congressional district.

"It is thirty years since he contended for the enactment of the most rigid corrupt practice act to be found upon the statute books.

"Five years ago he advocated the initiative and referendum in his own State. He was not, as some others are, disturbed lest the people should destroy themselves.

"As early as 1885 he declared for the direct election of Senators. Five times has he voted for that measure, and for years in Congress has been its distinguished advocate.

"During all of his long public service he has been one of the most valiant champions of tariff reform.

"I place before you this record, made not when lust of office lures, but written in the story of the years, and graven upon the public statistics of the country; and I challenge comparison.

"All his life this man has been a Democrat. He has not been an occasional Democrat. He does not belong to that class of Democrats who steal out at night, sleep in strange political beds, and then come trailing home about the time they can smell breakfast bacon frying.

"He is not a fair weather soldier. He has marched in the procession when there was no band to lead. He did not enlist for one campaign; he volunteered for life.

"His popularity is confined to no section. In his campaign, he has remained quietly at his post of duty. He has not afforded the spectacle of a Presidential candidate clamorously parading the country with brass bands and red lights, soliciting votes.

"His campaign has been made by the people for him. It has been conducted almost without money and without organization. He counts in his column substantially all of the delegates of twenty-two sovereign States. His popularity has swept across the sea, and he will be supported here on every ballot by substantially all of the delegates from the territorial and insular possessions.

"He carried his own state by a unanimous vote. He carried every state touching its borders. He carried the states touching borders with the home states of his distinguished opponents. He carried almost solidly that great domain known as the Middle West. With two exceptions he swept all states west of the Rocky Mountains.

"I have said he carried these states; let me rather say, the loyal Democracy, the Democracy that has never faltered, that has with unwavering allegiance followed the flag, carried them for him.

"What are the great issues upon which we must fight the battles of 1912? Is it not upon the record made by the Democratic House of Representatives? That record is a story of achievement, of promises redeemed, and pledges kept; of patient, wise, brave statesmanship.

"I would not detract a hair's weight from the honors due to all Democratic Congressmen. I would not pluck a single leaf from the brow of the present great majority leader. I give to all due merit of praise. But yet I say here is the real leader. He is the man who most of all has borne the burdens and responsibilities, whose counsel has guided, who pointed the way; whose keen intellect, superb courage, and mastery of generalship have forged the force which has been driven like a wedge through the body of the Republican party and split it asunder.

"The army of the Democracy is forming in battle array. The sun of hope glories the horizon of the future and sheds its splendor upon our banners. Above us bends the myriad-lined bow of promise. We have been led to the very gates of success by a veteran grown gray in the service. Let him continue to lead, and the celestial bow will become an arch of triumph, beneath which Democracy will march in glorious victory.

"And so I nominate this man, who has fought a thousand battles for Democracy and not one against her; who has never lowered his flag or asked for quarter; who has never deserted or taken a furlough; who does not know how to quit a friend or betray a party; whose back the enemy has never seen, but whose breast is covered with the scars of many a hard campaign, who leads today and who should continue to lead—the Lion of Democracy, Champ Clark of Missouri."

Colorado Second Clark's Nomination.

Mr. Tew spoke in part as follows: "This is the crisis of the greatest political conflict that this nation has ever seen. This is a climax of the great struggle that is ever old and ever new—Government by the many or government by the few. The conflict between the favored classes and the toiling thousands.

"Between aristocracy upon one side and Democracy upon the other, not the Democracy of party merely but the true Democracy of the nation. The great and growing problem among the people is: 'Shall the great Republic founded upon the principle and dedicated to the proposition that all just powers of government are derived from the consent of the government, live and flourish or wither and decay?'

"There is an awakening of that great giant of public opinion demanding action. There can be no compromise and no procrastination. There can be no faltering now.

"This is the people's inning. It is the people's year. Their mandates are too close to be misunderstood, too emphatic to be denied. They demand the nomination of a man of intelligence and integrity, a man of experience, not in theory alone but in actual contact with public affairs.

"A man of the stamp of that old sire of the Democratic party who penned the great declaration of basic free government and of that defender of those doctrines who stood at the helm of American diplomacy and guided that raft through the hissing storms and tempest of rebellion into the harbor of peace—the link rail splitter of Illinois. Such a man brings old Missouri, a man rich in years of public life without a stain upon his record, and the man who did so much to banish czarism from the speaker's chair and re-established the House as the American Commons. Such a man is for the east as well as for the west, north as well as the south. In the name of the west, the Centennial State—Colorado—nominates for the President of the Republic, that time-

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acid and irritated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S.S.S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures rheumatism. S.S.S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

tried tribune of the people—that son of the soil of Missouri—Hon. Champ Clark."

Arkansas Second Clark's Nomination.

Mr. Robinson spoke in part as follows:

The nation looks hopefully to this convention. Democratic success in the coming election may be measured in part by the wisdom we exemplify. Victory will be assured by choosing a candidate who is acceptable to all loyal Democrats and not needlessly repugnant to those of other parties willing to support our nominees. The probabilities of victory have not improved any Democratic candidate for the Presidential nomination to interminate speech or bitter denunciation. For this they are to be commended. Billingsgate can never become the chief argument of a Democrat who is worthy to be president. The Marquis of Queensbury rules and the vernacular of the prize ring applicable to latter day Republican campaigns and conventions, have no place here.

"The Democrats of Arkansas have commissioned me the task of supporting the nomination of Champ Clark of Missouri. His Progressive, Democratic spirit is exemplified in his public utterances."

Oscar W. Underwood.
Baltimore, June 28.—Democracy's real leader and best asset, invulnerable in his record of long public service, imperturbable in action and impregnable in honor, and blameless in his private life, was the man in which Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, was described in the convention by Wm. B. Bankhead of Alabama, who nominated Mr. Underwood for the Presidency.

After declaring that the Republican party "had become, in the hours of its present degeneracy, the embodiment of complacent incompetency and broken faith," and that, although it claimed to be the "protector of labor, the fruits of its labor had been gathered as dividends by illegal combinations in restraint of trade," Mr. Bankhead asserted that the Democratic party had been acting safely and conservatively.

Then, going on to describe the qualities needed in a leader who could lead the Democratic party to success, he said it would be logical to put Mr. Underwood in command of the forces in that battle where his brilliant achievements already had created Democracy's opportunity and redeemed Democratic pledges. The chief issue before the country, he said, was the tariff; and Mr. Underwood "has fought, with the foresight of a patriot, statesman, and will continue to fight for a lower cost of living, for an equal opportunity for all men through the enactment of a new and righteous tariff."

The sum total of Republican achievements since the last election, declared Mr. Bankhead, "has been the further impoverishment of the poor, plus a placid tariff board whose deliberations give no reasonable promise of relief from the present unbearable burdens." He attacked the Republican campaign as a "humiliating spectacle of a trade of recriminations, in which the highest ideals of statesmanship had been thrown to the winds."

One benefit of this, he said, was that it had brought "the dawning of that day when the people are to restore to full power and responsibility the Democratic party, which has made it evident that it intends to serve the real interests of the people if it can be given full opportunity to redeem its solemn pledges.

"The acts of the Democratic party," he continued, "have appealed to the judgment of the country as wise, conservative and yet safe and progressive.

"Although success, under right conditions, is within our grasp," he warned, "never has it been more essential than now for us to nominate our best and strongest man. There is no safety in picking our nominee in haphazard fashion for among those who possess this or that special gift, unless it has some intimate relation to the requirements of an exacting campaign, to the chief issue before the people and to the duties and needs of our greatest executive office."

"If any intelligent, loyal Democrat entertains doubts as to what the paramount issue is, that part of the platform just adopted dealing with this question should resolve all his doubts. The Democratic party, true to its best traditions as the servant of the people, has pledged itself to a revision of the tariff, fair to the consumer and the public. There are other issues, but for the time our platform makes it clear that they are subordinate.

"So unjust is the present tariff that no one, Democrat or Republican, today dares rise up and defend its further continuance, for it stands for industrial favoritism and industrial bondage, and for a prosperity which is artificial and spasmodic, and not real and enduring.

"What manner of man then," he asked, "shall this convention raise up to be its standard bearer? He should have political training and experience, for these are almost as essential qualifications in a nominee

LEARN MORE TO EARN MORE! YOU MUST LEARN BEFORE YOU CAN EARN. SHORTHAND can be learned in two to three months, and only costs what you can MORE THAN EARN EVERY MONTH OF YOUR LIFE. YOU will never be younger, and the older YOU get, and keep putting off, the more displeased YOU will be.

BE INDEPENDENT. BE PREPARED. LINCOLN said: "I WILL, PREPARE, then my chance may come." A single girl always secures a better husband, for all men prefer a clever woman. A good husband deserves help, and if a bad one, then a wife can help herself. Be prepared. This delay is YOUR loss. REMEMBER, YOUR loss, no one else's. ALL YOUR LIFE YOU are losing. This is a good month to enroll. Do not wait to become old. Make good resolutions that will not be broken. Day after day comes and goes and you are no nearer.

Do act now. Shall we mail YOU YOUR FIRST lesson NOW? When you have learned it, and we pass your exercise, we can MAIL you the second. We guarantee success by MAIL. Come to the college as often as YOU can for 10 minutes, or an hour, to be tested and advised. This is an improvement on Lessons by MAIL entirely.

If YOU come once a week, or two weeks, we can make you clever, or come and remain 8 hours each day. There are plenty of positions open, as follows:

As one of our agents, demonstrators, travelers, examiners, teachers and lecturers.

To open a night or day school in any town in the U. S. where you shall be licensed to teach with the sole rights in such town.

As a teacher of shorthand in the Public Schools; the pay is from $100 to $120 per month. Very soon, the 7th and 8th grades will be taught shorthand, and over 250 teachers will be required the state over. PREPARE FOR THIS SERVICE.

COURT STENOGRAPHERS get over $10 a day.

Secretaries to public institutions, firms, and offices earn good money, the hours are not long, and the work is not arduous.

Public stenographers get a good living.

The Civil Service are always advertising for stenographers at a good wage.

HOT WEATHER IS QUICK TO AFFECT THE BOWELS.

Well-known Fact That Extreme Heat Conduces to Chronic Constipation.

The disposition to eat cold food and indulge in iced drinks is one reason why constipation and diarrhoea is so prevalent in summer, and there is no time when people should more carefully avoid bowel disturbances, as much serious disease is directly traceable to these conditions. We need all of our strength to withstand the enervating effect of heat.

To regulate the bowels and quickly relieve even the most aggravated case of constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended by all who have ever used it. Unlike cathartics and violent purgatives, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently on the stomach, liver and bowels, without griping or other discomfort, bringing relief in an easy, natural manner. It can be used with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or child, and yet is equally effective for the strongest constitution. Mild, pleasant to take, and inexpensive, it is the ideal family laxative. By cleansing the bowel tract thoroughly and eliminating the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame, it will quickly check summer diarrhoea and restore normal conditions.

Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle—a larger, family size costs one dollar. Get a bottle and keep it in the house. It will save many times its cost in doctor bills. A free trial bottle, postpaid, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DROUTH IN NORTHWEST CAUSES WHEAT TO RISE.

Steadiness Prevailed in Provision Pit But Low Temperature Made Corn Market Easy.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican) Chicago, Ill., June 28.—Nervous regarding the effect of continued dry weather, the northwest gave a lift today to the price of wheat. Opening figures started from 1-1/8@1-1/4 lower to 1-1/4@1-3/8 up. September started at 105-3/4 to 106-3/4, the same change from last night and market taken altogether and then rose to 106-3/8@1-2. Reaction to 105-3/4@7-8 followed. The market closed easy with September 1-8 net lower at 105-3/4, a 7-8.

Prospects of lower temperature made the corn market easier. September opened unchanged to 1-8c up at 73-5/8 to 73-3/4, and sagged to 73-3/8@1-2. Oats appeared to be chiefly swayed by the action of other cereals. September started a shade to 1-8@1-1c higher at 40-5-8 to 40-3-4, and later fell to 40-1-4c.

The close was steady at 73-1/2@5-8 for September, a net loss of a shade.

Steadiness prevailed in the provision pit. First transactions ranged from 21-2c off to a like amount up with September delivery 19.02-1/2 for pork; 11.07-1/2 for lard, and 10.65 to 10.67-1/2 for ribs.
