City Council Meeting.

Discussed Important Measures and Set Money Budget.

Mr. John E. Hattie, Chairman of the Finance Committee, made a report, which was approved, asking the city to add $1,500 to the budget for the needs of the business office.

Mr. Lindsey, in presenting the report, said that the Fire Department was in need of a new building at the cost of $1,000.

The council then voted to add $1,500 to the budget for the new building.

Mr. E. H. Lindsey, the present City Auditor, was reappointed.

Mr. Lindsey reported that the city had been granted a large amount of money for the construction of a new building.

The council then voted to approve Mr. Lindsey's report.

The meeting adjourned.

STILL GROWING WORSE.

President of Milwaukee Avenue Bank is a Bad Joke.

The Milwaukee Avenue Bank is in a bad way, and it is only a matter of time before it fails. The bank has struggled for years to stay afloat, and now it appears that it will soon go under.

The bank was founded in 1892, and for many years it was one of the most successful banks in Milwaukee. However, in recent years it has been plagued by financial difficulties.

The bank's management has been criticized for its handling of funds, and it has been accused of mismanagement. The bank has also been involved in several lawsuits, which have further weakened its finances.

The bank's stockholders have been told that they may lose all of their money if the bank fails.

The Milwaukee Avenue Bank is not the only bank in Milwaukee that is in trouble. Many other banks in the city are also struggling to stay afloat.

The Milwaukee Avenue Bank has been a source of pride for many years. It has been a symbol of the city's economic power, and it has been a source of employment for many people.

The city's leaders have been hoping that the bank would be able to recover, but it now appears that this is not possible.

In the meantime, the city's leaders are taking steps to ensure that the city's economy is not affected by the failure of the Milwaukee Avenue Bank.

The city has set up a fund to help the bank's employees, and it is offering financial assistance to other banks in the city.

The city's leaders are also working to attract new businesses to the city to help offset the loss of the Milwaukee Avenue Bank.

In conclusion, the failure of the Milwaukee Avenue Bank is a serious problem for the city. The city's leaders are working hard to help the bank's employees and to ensure that the city's economy is not affected by the failure of the bank.
