TAFT AGAIN VETOES WOOL BILL THIS TIME ON GROUND DUTY IS TOO LOW

HE DECLARES DUTIES ARE SUCH THEY WILL WIPE OUT BUSINESS IF MEASURE BECAME LAW--ASKS CONGRESS NOT TO ADJOURN WITHOUT REDUCING TARIFF WITHIN REASONABLE BASIS BASED ON BOARD REPORT.

STEEL BILL AND COTTON BILL WILL SUFFER LIKE FATE IN WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—For the second time within a year President Taft today vetoed a bill to revise the wool tariff—Schedule K—of the Payne-Aldrich law. The president returned to congress the bill evolved as a compromise between the house and senate, holding that its low rates would bring disaster to home industry. He appealed to congress, however, not to adjourn until it had enacted a measure to "substantially reduce unnecessary existing duties without destroying protection for the wool industry in the United States."

The president's disapproval of the wool bill is to be followed with similar vetoes of the steel bill and the cotton bill. The sugar bill was likely to be vetoed, as is the excise tax bill, the latter probably on the ground that the president believes it unconstitutional. "I stand by my pledges to maintain a degree of protection to offset the difference in cost of production here and abroad and will heartily approve of any bill reducing duties to this level," wrote Mr. Taft. While the present bill and the one disapproved last year were identical in terms, the president's reasons differed. He vetoed the former because it had been framed before the tariff board's report—the latter because he said it had been framed with disregard for the board's findings.

"Most of the rates in the submitted bill," wrote the president, "are so low in themselves that if enacted into law, the inevitable result would be irretrievable injury to the wool growing industry, the enforced idleness of much of our wool combing and spinning machinery, and of thousands of looms and the consequent throwing out of employment of thousands of workmen."

The bill sent to the White House imposed an ad valorem duty of 29 per cent on raw wool and on clothes of 49 per cent. Both rates Mr. Taft held were insufficient to protect the wool grower and the manufacturer.

It was predicted today that the wool bill might be passed by the house over Mr. Taft's veto, but there was some doubt as to its fate in the senate.

Republican leaders were inclined to believe that it would fail of passage

ROOSEVELT MEETS THE CHEERING CROWDS

HE ARRIVES IN NEW YORK AND GOES FIRST TO EDITORIAL OFFICES LEAVING LATER FOR OYSTER BAY.

New York, Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt and party arrived here from Chicago at 9:50 today on the Twentieth Century Limited. A cheering crowd greeted the Colonel. He went at once to his editorial office.

As Colonel Roosevelt left the Grand Central station, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, his nephew, George Hamblin Roosevelt, and Ernest Abbott, he remarked that he had a "fine trip." He showed no sign of fatigue and seemed happy.

He will remain at his office until 5 o'clock, when he will depart for Oyster Bay.

The state convention of the progressive party will be held in Syracuse, it was learned today.

COW PUNCHERS ARE FOR THE COLONEL

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Western men who "ran" cattle with Theodore Roosevelt on the Maltese Cross ranch near Medora, N. Dak., thirty years ago, and who now live in Montana, Idaho and other states, today renewed pledges of fealty to the Colonel in enthusiastic interviews with United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Montana, at Progressive headquarters.

The headquarters were thronged with men from the Bitter Root Valley and the Jackson's hole country, who had waited after the close of the Progressive National Convention to hold personal conference with Senator Dixon and other leaders.

Although the active campaign has been practically launched, Senator Dixon said that the executive committee would not be completed until after a meeting in New York early next week. Saturday the Senator probably will go to New York.

There were rumors that E. H. Hooker of New York, tentatively had been decided upon as treasurer of the executive committee. Illinois progressive leaders have made public a telegram from Colonel Roosevelt in which the nominee expressed his pleasure at the Illinois ticket and the Illinois platform.

ANOTHER TAFT VOTE.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—President Taft sent to the senate today the nomination of John W. Cook, to be register of the land office at Lander, Wyo.

NICARAGUAN REBELS MAKE LITTLE PROGRESS

Managua, Aug. 9.—The Nicaraguan government maintains continued confidence in the outcome of the present revolution brought by the revolt of General Mena, former minister of war and his partisans. The railroad and telegraph service to Corinto from the capital is under the control of the government forces. The guard of American bluejackets who were brought to protect the lives and property of American citizens has created a good impression by its workmanlike appearance. The health and spirits of the men are excellent.

A body of insurgents today removed a rail from the railroad track and a passenger train which passed shortly afterwards was derailed, one person being killed. An attempt was made to dynamite one of the railroad bridges, but this was prevented by the guards on duty.

The American manager of the railroad has taken measures to restore the train service, and trains are now running to Corinto. Government

BORDWELL SAYS STEPHENS LIED

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 9.—Judge Bordwell, who presided at the trial of James P. McNamara, was called today as a witness for the state in the bribery trial of Clarence S. Darrow, to impeach the testimony of Lincoln Steffens, the magazine writer.

Steffens had testified that he had informed Judge Bordwell of the negotiations for the compromise plea in the McNamara case.

Considerable feeling was aroused at the time of the denunciation in that case by the denunciation of Steffens by the judge, who asserted that the writer had nothing to do with bringing about the compromise.

Judge Bordwell flatly denied on the stand that Steffens had ever discussed with him the matter of the plea prior to the pleading of the McNamara brothers. With three witnesses remaining the prosecution in the bribery trial of Clarence S. Darrow expected to conclude its case in rebuttal Monday.

It was generally expected that the prosecution would make another attempt to introduce the transcript of alleged incriminating conversations between Darrow and John R. Harrington.

The trial is now in its thirteenth week and both sides apparently eager to conclude. With two days given the defense for rebuttal, however, it is not likely that the case can go to the jury before week after next as the defense has indicated that it would use three days in final arguments.

According to Judge Bordwell, Steffens attempted to discuss the matter with him upon one occasion but he had stopped the writer with the admonition that he could not talk about the trial. "He asked me if he could come back and talk about it, and I told him no," concluded the judge.

On cross examination the jurist witness corroborated the testimony of Steffens that the latter had shown him an article published in a local newspaper, prior to its publication, to which he had suggested alterations.

OFFICIAL COUNT IN MISSOURI IS NECESSARY.

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—The official count of the vote cast in Tuesday's primary election will be necessary to determine whether Attorney General Elliott W. Major, or former Congressman Wm. W. Cowherd, has won the democratic nomination for governor.

On the face of late returns from county districts, Major is now leading Cowherd by several hundred votes.

COLORADO FUEL MEN ARE UNDER FIRE

IN REPORT OF STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION THEY ARE CHARGED WITH HAVING DEFAUDED STOCKHOLDERS.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 9.—Certain officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., are accused either of misrepresenting to stockholders the property holdings of the corporation in this state, or of attempting to deprive the state of $103,526 in taxes in 1910, in a report of the state board of equalization just issued. The report sets forth that a reappraisal was made in 1910 whereby more than $19,000 was added to the valuation of the property holdings of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, in Wyoming. That this valuation was used in making a report to the stockholders, and continues: "When the company came to list its property for taxation we did not get an increase of 19 per cent."

On the contrary, counsel for the company appeared before the equalization board and asked that the output for 1910 at a figure 10 per cent lower than the preceding year.

TWO BATTLESHIPS ARE SEVERELY DAMAGED

Nebraska Ran on Uncharted Shoals While Connecticut Broke Shaft—Both Are Ordered to Yards for Repairs.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The battleship Nebraska ran on an uncharted shoal near Newport, R. I., last night and was so seriously damaged that she has been ordered to dry dock at Boston navy yard.

The flagship Connecticut about the same time broke her starboard crankshaft and has been ordered to Philadelphia for repairs.

The navy department immediately ordered the Nebraska to the Boston navy yard for examination. It is believed the ship has been seriously injured and it may be necessary to put her out of commission, replacing her in the fleet with one of the reserve battleships.

An investigation will be made to locate the uncharted shoal, the existence of which in waters so crowded with shipping is a great surprise to naval officers.

The Connecticut's accident was not serious. It resembled that of last week to the battleship Mississippi. The crank shaft of the starboard engine broke.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 9.—Captain William M. Caperton, commandant of the Narragansett Bay Naval station, said he heard today from Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, and that no mention was made of any accident to the battleship Nebraska, and flagship Connecticut.

So far as known, no wireless message concerning the Nebraska or Connecticut has been picked up by any of the wireless stations along the Rhode Island coast.

It is thought here that the fleet is somewhere off Block Island.

STARS AND STRIPES WILL FLY OVER VAST MERCHANT MARINE IS OBJECT OF BILL

SENATE AMENDMENT TO PANAMA CANAL LEGISLATION PROVIDES FOR AMERICAN REGISTRY OF ALL VESSELS ENGAGED IN FOREIGN SHIPPING WHICH WILL BUILD UP GREAT LINES OF SHIPS UNDER OUR FLAG--ADMINISTRATION WILL NOT DISAPPROVE OF PROGRAM AND NAGEL FAVORS IT.

RAILROAD CONTROL OF WATER WAY WILL BE RENDERED AN IMPOSSIBILITY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The senate's amendment to the Panama canal bill to admit to United States registry American-owned foreign-built ships engaged in foreign trade only, and pass them through the Panama canal free of tolls, in all probability will receive no opposition from the administration.

Secretary Nagel is committed to the idea. In his last annual report he recommended the passage of a bill for the admission of foreign built ocean steamships to American registry to engage solely in foreign trade.

This, he believed would be the beginning of an American merchant marine extending shipping under the United States flag in trade with South and Central America and the West Indies.

The provision, it is said, probably would not affect trans-Atlantic or trans-Pacific commerce, as there would be no incentive for such ships to assume the obligations of American registry.

The right of free passage through the canal, however, is said today, by officials of the department of commerce and labor, probably would bring all the lines engaged in traffic between the countries of the western hemisphere, but flying foreign flags, under the Stars and Stripes.

The United Fruit Company and the New York and Pacific Navigation Company were cited as instances. With a vote on the Panama canal bill and all amendments to it, set for 5 o'clock this afternoon, the senate began final consideration of the measure with a renewal of the fight against railroad-owned ships.

The committee amendment, providing that a railroad-owned vessel might pass through the canal provided fifty per cent of its cargo was destined to foreign ports, was the chief subject of discussion.

Senator Burton of Ohio, declared a prohibition against railroad owned ships from using the canal would restrict the full development of the waterways. The fear that railroads could drive out all other ships and ultimately control rates could be fully met by adequate laws, he said.

Senator Kenyon asked Senator Burton whether he believed the point had been reached in American development where a regulated monopoly must be recognized in railroad development.

"That is practically it," said Senator Burton.
"I believe we are near the parting of the ways," said Senator Kenyon, "where we must decide between competition for railroads, or combinations held under the control of the government."

Senator Burton said he did not favor absolutely passage through the free Panama canal by railroad owned ships. He favored control by the interstate commerce commission of ships owned or controlled by railroads.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.—Control of New England steamship lines

by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad provoked another lively debate between Senator Poindexter and Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island, who had clashed in last night's session.

Senator Poindexter read a letter from Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, declaring New England was in the grip of an "intolerable railroad monopoly."

"Mr. Brandeis is a professional agitator," interrupted Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire.

"He is not a business man. He is always in the limelight when the question of railroads, steamships or monopolies is under discussion."

Senator Lippitt declared that sentiment of New England "cannot be founded on misstatements."

Senator Poindexter retorted that officials of the New Haven railroad had given testimony at variance with statements by Senator Lippitt and that it was a question of choosing between the statements of the officers of the New Haven road and the statements of the senator from Rhode Island.

The granting of free tolls to American vessels engaged in foreign trade, approved yesterday by the senate, was attacked by Senator Lodge as likely to be construed by foreign nations as a violation of existing treaties. This is bound to raise serious questions with other countries, he said. He opposed the sweeping restrictions of the Panama bill as it passed the house against the control of steamship lines by railroads.

COLLAPSE OF BECKER IS LIKELY

POLICE LIEUTENANT WHO IS ACCUSED OF CAUSING ROSENTHAL MURDER TO PROTECT GRAFT MAY TURN STATES EVIDENCE

HE RAKES UP EIGHTY THOUSAND

New York, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The Toombs prison keeper seemed to think today that Police Lieutenant Becker was on the point of breaking down and there were reports at the public executor's office that the police officer under indictment for the murder of gambler Herman Rosenthal might turn states evidence.

District Attorney Whitman conferred with John F. McIntyre, counsel for the accused Lieutenant, but said no terms for a confession were discussed.

Mr. Whitman said: "I have hope that Becker, who is a shrewd man, may decide that his best interests will require him to tell the whole truth. If he should do that I would have to think over pretty carefully what my attitude should be."

"While murder is a grave crime than blackmail, it might be that I would decide in the event of a confession to ask some clemency for Becker. One of the greatest accomplishments for the good of the community would be to find out who are the big blackmailers in the police department and to abolish forever that treacherous and wicked system."

Mr. McIntyre expects to be out of town until next Wednesday, when he will return and talk over matters with his client.

The grand jury is said to have learned many things to show that Lieutenant Becker has made money very rapidly within the last few months. In one savings bank Becker was found to have $3,000 on deposit, while the prosecutor has been told of other savings bank accounts which will be investigated.

"Bald Jack" Rose, in his confession, says that Becker told him that he cleaned up $80,000 in four months.

Within a few days the grand jury will hand down about six additional indictments. The indictments will

THE RECALL.

MEXICANS IN TEXAS ON A RAID

COLONEL STEEVER DISPATCHES TROOPS HASTILY TO HEAD THEM OFF WHILE SHERIFF ORGANIZES A POSSE.

SIERRA BLANCA IS LOOTED BY ROBBERS

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 9.—Mexican bandits crossed the international boundary into Texas today and then began raiding near Sierra Blanca, according to a telegram Sheriff Edwards received here today.

United States troops are moving to the point where Mexican rebels are reported to be raiding American ranches. Colonel E. Z. Steever has dispatched troop G of the Third cavalry from Fort Bliss, the cavalrymen moving on horses along the border. Steever may send a company of infantry on the special train which has been ordered by Sheriff P. J. Edwards and his posse. The sheriff announces that he will be unable to procure enough armed men before this evening. No further reports have been received here from Sierra Blanca.

A posse is being organized at Sierra Blanca to join the El Paso posse. According to word received here by telegraph, an authentic report has been received by telephone at Sierra Blanca from Hot Springs, Texas, on the border, thirty-five miles south, regarding the entrance into American soil of the Mexican rebels. It was said at Hot Springs that 200 rebels had crossed the line and were raiding American ranches.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The sudden appearance at Bisbee, Arizona, last night of about 200 Mexican rebels has sent a detachment of American troops along the line from the eastward to that point. If the rebels have not retreated across the line when the troops arrive they probably will be arrested.

The news came to the state department from the American consulate at Nogales, and is regarded as confirmation of the report that the rebel forces are rapidly disintegrating.

Santa Monica, Calif., Aug. 9.—President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church, said today that all Mormon women and children had safely reached the United States from Mexico, but that the men of two colonies, Colonia Juarez and Dublin, had armed themselves and would not leave.

"All are now safe," said Mr. Smith, "but their homes, crops and other possessions are at the mercy of the revolutionists. I have made no appeal to Orozco or Salazar, though others of our church did, but nothing came of it. I do not think intervention by the United States would be wise, and am sure it would lead to a still greater demoralization."

WIRELESS BILL PASSES.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The senate bill to regulate wireless telegraphy passed the house today and now goes to the president. The legislation was inspired by the Titanic disaster.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE.

Constantinople, Aug. 9.—A severe earthquake shock, lasting about ten seconds drove the populace here from their houses into the streets this morning. Many houses were violently shaken but the damage reported is small.

London, Aug. 9.—The earthquake recording instruments at stations in England today indicated that a severe earthquake was in progress. The seismograph at West Bromwich observed a violent shock at 1:35 a. m. which was estimated to have occurred at about the distance of the Azores.

HEAT OFTEN TENDS TO MAKE WOMEN PALE
AND WEAK.
They Neglect Their Bowels
and the Poisons Vitalize the Blood.

Hot weather has a very weakening effect on women. They become too languid to exercise and have appetite for light, tasty food, like salads and other cold concoctions, which do not digest readily and tend to increase their natural tendency to constipation.

At this season women, especially,
need all their strength to resist the enervating effect of the heat. Good digestion and regularity of the bowels are essential. Some fruits have laxative properties, but they are uncertain
in their effect and are not generally advised. A mild bowel stimulant and Syrup Pepsin, is preferable because it is certain in its effect, natural in its action and wholly safe. Take a dose of Syrup of Pepsin at night and by morning the sick headache and indigestion will be gone.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere, and costs
fifty cents a bottle; a larger size, intended for family use, costs one dollar. If you have never used Syrup Pepsin and would like a free trial bottle, postpaid, write Dr. W. B.
Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

THE OLD SOLDIERS OF LONG AGO

As stated some time ago in this paper we would give a brief synopsis
of some of the bodies lately removed from the Fort Wingate cemetery to the National cemetery at Santa Fe, N. M.

Most notable among them was "Old Washy" an old Navajo squaw, who at one time saved Fort Wingate, or its garrison from being massacred. All the troops were out in the field after hostile Indians, and only a few members left back for guard duty, the sick
in the hospital and the wives of officers and soldiers. Then the Navajo were considered a hostile tribe, and it seems that, learning that the post was garrisoned by only a few, they concluded to attack it while the main garrison was absent on field duty.
Old Washy as she was ever after known had been doing the washing for some of the officers' ladies,
and being treated kindly by them
formed an affection for them stronger than tribal connections to her. She learned of this assault upon the fort,
and sneaked there after dark, and to some of her lady customers and informed them of what was to happen
next morning. Of course everybody that could carry a gun was at once armed, and even some of the women
went on the hill, where the water works are located now, to help defend the post. At daylight sure enough the Navajos were seen slowly coming towards the post. When they saw the large number of men, which they supposed they were, only seen
the guns glitter, they came to the conclusion that part of the regular garrison had returned to the post during the night and gave up their attempt to invade the post. It being Christmas morning, everyone who knew her ever after, greeted Old Washy with her own greetings "Merry Christmas"
no matter whether that day was six months gone or six months coming. At any rate Old Washy was a fixture at Fort Wingate from that date, up to the day of her death.

Another character was "Benny Green," a Navajo Indian, who while a baby, fell in the fire, face first and the scars left on this Indian disfigured him so, that he was beyond doubt the ugliest Indian ever seen by anyone.
His mouth was actually stretched from ear to ear, without any intermission
and when he laughed, which he generally did, not only his front and eye teeth were visible, but everyone of his back molars. But this was not his remarkable point. Anyone coming to Benny with a lead pencil, and a piece of paper would be met half way, and in a short time this Indian who never had any education, would sit down and with pencil and paper
reproduce a copy of a railroad engine,
and we have seen very few white men
who took engineer drawing as a study
who could do any better. At one time while sitting at the railroad depot at Wingate, a new pattern of an engine
passed through and while it stopped
there for some time, Benny noticed the difference in the new engine and the old ones he had drawn for years.
He sat down and made a copy of his engine, and then went up to the engineer of the new pattern, and informed him that his engine was all wrong and showed him where the mistakes were in building the new engine. The smallest change on any engine would come under his notice
and he would not hesitate to go up to the engineer and call his attention to the fact. Numerous engineers of the old A. T. & S. F. have copies of Benny Green's engines yet in their homes. Outside of an engine Benny could not draw the figure "2." When asked where his father was, he had none. "Where is your mother?" I had no mother, being questioned closer how he came on earth, he would reply, "My aunt and me came on an engine."

Another is "Jack the Silversmith,"
a Navajo Indian who had seen a soldier at some time mending watches
for his comrades, or others in the post, taking a liking to the business and with the rudest tools, would make some of the most unique articles ever manufactured by one of our city jewelers. For instance he would take two quarters, silver, beat them with a small hammer on a pebble anvil, into such shape as would represent the two sides of a canteen, these sides
he would put together in such a manner as to make the entire article water tight. I have one now, that has been made by him and for over ten years has held some German Eau de Cologne. Then he would take a ten cent piece and out of each piece

would form the link of his chain for the canteen. His bracelets made out of a half dollar, always winding up with a snake head for end, were very pretty. He was for some time a scout for the United States government, so were Kinkay, San Juan,
one of the meanest Indians that ever lived, Washeson, Jose Chavez, Tippy Clegan, Henry Rosenow, all these were buried while serving as scouts for the government at Wingate and later brought here to the National cemetery. Every troop of cavalry then in Arizona or New Mexico had ten of these fellows attached to them
as trailers and scouts, and while they were very good at tracking anything, they could never be relied upon. The government used to pay them a soldier's pay, 40 cents per day for use of horse and horse equipments, in addition to that their clothing money.
So it can be seen that with the government rations added free, thereto, those fellows could live high. Generally they came in to the scout service with the most miserable looking horse in the world and went out with a "Maud S."

Arthur O'Neil is also among those removed, he was one of those old time soldiers that could be depended on at any time, and who had served under General E. A. Carr from the first day he enlisted, and he thought there was only one man in the army,
that was his colonel; well there were lots of others that thought so then,
and think so still today. But poor Arthur, when his regiment the "California Sixth" left and he was left behind it broke him all up and it is believed that he died from grief over the departure of his regiment.

There is one monument at the Santa Fe National cemetery which speaks for the love and loyalty of one soldier
for another, Dennis O'Leary, company
"I," 2nd Infantry, died April 1, 1901,
and was buried in the little old stone covered cemetery to the left of the post. At Wingate his friend and bun-ky had thought the world of Dennis and missed him very much, in fact,
he took it to heart and wandered into
the hills to be alone in his sorrow.
His comrades remarked this and as he was a fine young fellow and attended to his duties strictly, was a general favorite. Still his wandering off that way worried some of the rest of the men, and they were beginning to bring this matter to the notice of their company commander. When one day this young man came into the quarters and requested some of the men there, to come out in the hills with him and bring in a monument he had cut out of sandstone for his old chum "Dennis." That monument is at the National cemetery today and is one of the truest marks of comradeship and the real love that one soldier bears for another, when two are thrown together, like those two were, that was ever shown and should be classed with Fred Remington's "Bunky."

A funeral took place at the cemetry Monday afternoon and was attended by a large number of the members of the C. A. B. who came to lay to rest the remains of a member of this camp, James M. Lucas, late private company "I," 121st Ohio Infantry, and who was discharged at Washington, D. C., on the eighth day of June, 1865. Mr. Lucas was a well known pioneer of Santa Fe; he died last Thursday but owing to the request of his daughter who lives in California to await her arrival the funeral was not held until today. A. V. N.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Consumptive patients need no longer
dread either the fate that formerly overtook all sufferers from lung trouble, or even, and often, terribly inconvenient journeys far from home to other climates or to some expensive sanatorium. Hundreds are now staying quietly at home
curing themselves at no expense beyond
the cost of a few bottles of medicine.
Here is one who speaks from experience:
220 S. 4th St., Colwyn (Barry), Pa.
"Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse. I had night sweats and pains in my chest. I was losing my appetite and had become so thin and weak I could not attend to my household duties. A physician pronounced my case Consumption. Not being satisfied, I was examined by the physicians of the Polyvalent Hospital; they also pronounced the disease Consumption, which was proven later by an examination of sputum, as Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks
I had marked relief, night sweats ceased;
pains in the breast relieved; cough became less and my fever left me and I commenced getting well. My health became normal. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it."
(Signed) (MRS.) MARY WASHBURN.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in unimpeding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman

NEW MEXICO BEAUTY SPOTS.

What is the most beautiful spot in New Mexico? The Sunshine State may well be called the Switzerland of America. Mountain and mesa vie with valley and plain in beauty of contour, in color and form, until the mind is bewildered with the ever-changing glory of the scenes in our fair state.

New Mexico has pen artists, too,
who can depict the beauties of nature
under our turquoise skies. The New Mexico magazine wants these words and will make this department regular feature of the magazine.

Every section of the state has a thousand beauty-spots, and the nature-loving writers all over the state are requested to contribute to this department.

In the first issue, September, 1912,
will appear two gems from the pens
of well-known New Mexico writers,
descriptive of the Organ mountains,
"Dawn in the Organs," by Judge
Thomas D. Leib, of Raton, and "A Twilight Idyl" also descriptive of the Organ mountains, by Josephine Foster, of Las Cruces.

The New Mexico Magazine will be published by the Posters at Las Cruces. It is a new venture worthy of the cordial support of the people of New Mexico.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine—double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any first class druggist
under an absolute guarantee to refund
the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement,
some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money back guarantee.

SCHOOL OF ARCHAEOLOGY INTERESTING LECTURES

Dr. Hewett began the lectures for Wednesday with a talk upon the Palace of the Governors, on the north side of the plaza. He pointed out the fact that the building was used even before the coming of the Spaniards, which is proved by finding puddled walls within the adobe walls when the building was remodelled a few years ago. The Spanish taught the Indians to make adobe brick and hence adobe brick walls can only date from the time of the Spanish conquest. Before that the Indians had made only puddled walls, which were made in the same way as the poured cement walls of today, using skins for the mud moulds.

After the arrival of Oñate in 1605 the Spanish began the reconstruction of the building, veneering the puddled walls with adobe brick. The Palace was completed in 1608 and used by Spanish officials for the next seventy-five years. The wings extended much further to the east and west than the present building and in the great fortified Palace all the Spanish population took refuge during times of Indian rebellions.

The Spanish were defeated in the rebellion of 1680 and the Indians took possession of the Palace. This lasted until 1693 when DeVargas reconquered the land in the name of Spain. Spanish governors then occupied the Palace until 1821 when the Mexican government took charge of it. General Kearney captured it for the United States in 1846 and from this time it has been occupied by American governors.

At three thirty in the afternoon Dr. Allot gave a most interesting lecture on American architecture from the days of the Pilgrim fathers up to the construction of the Flat Iron building in New York today. The slides illustrating this talk showed our public, private and memorial buildings in all the periods of their growth.

Dr. Allot spoke especially of the architecture of the southwest and Santa Fe. He argued that the architecture here should conform to the surroundings and the historical setting of the place. He emphasized the charm of the unique Santa Fe and showed how essential it was to keep the modern common place out of the Ancient city. Greek temples, colonial mansions and modern villas are beautiful in their proper environment but in Santa Fe the only appropriate and therefore only beautiful type of architecture is the Spanish plan.

In the evening Dr. Hewett gave a short talk on the Rito de los Frijoles where the school will go into camp the last two weeks in August. He explained for the benefit of the strangers that the Rito de los Frijoles meant Bean brook in English and was a deep cañon twenty miles directly west of Santa Fe—twenty miles by air line altho' the trip over the road is a good thirty-five miles. The slides of the Rito were very good and gave some idea of the sheer five hundred feet of wall on the north side of the cañon. At the base of the almost vertical wall are the caves which were the homes of prehistoric peoples in the southwest. Later the people moved from the caves, which were not exactly spacious dwellings and built themselves a huge communal house on the level land in the bottom of the cañon. The slides show that three-fourths of this immense community house has been excavated. Views of the many white tents along the "bean brook" show what a happy and beautiful camp the school holds there each August.

The audience was large and attentive last night but there were no spectators present who showed a keener interest in the lectures and the pictures on the screen than the four Indians sitting in the back row. Julian and his friends came from San Ildefonso and are probably as interested in the school of American Archaeology as any of the board of regents. The three squaws were very picturesque and their bright red shawls added a gay note in the audience. These squaws are the pottery makers who exhibit their art for the "gringo salados" in the day time and exchange the courtesy of listening to the white man's discourse at night. It would be interesting to know just what they thought of the lectures, wouldn't it? Of course the pictures of the Rito were familiar to them and they understood the explanations of their friend, Dr. Hewett, but what do you suppose was their impression when they saw the pictures of the ruins of the Roman Forum and heard of the luxury of the Caesars?

Dr. Wilson's lecture was one of intense interest to the rest of the audience at any rate for his explanations of that wonderful ruin were so clear and direct that his audience had a vivid picture of the happenings in the Forum. We climbed over fallen arches and neglected shrines, in and out of jails, to the tops of churches and hills for a bird's-eye view of the whole Forum, gazed at the beautiful columns of the temple of Castor and Pollux, saw the broken statues in the House of the Vestal Virgins, and instead of being weary and footsore after such a pilgrimage, we found ourselves still seated in the comfortable chairs we had taken at eight o'clock and only refreshed by the keen interest in such a talk.

Dr. Wilson gave a brief summary of the history of the Forum before showing the slides. In the early days primitive peoples lived on the hills and in the valleys of Rome. In time they built shrines to their deities, as the shrines of the Water Nymph in the valley which is now called the forum. There are many legends connected with this valley such as the story of the Pope of the Savine Women, etc. After the people had built shrines and temples this valley became a permanent residence with them and their commercial interests led them to build markets among the temples. Basilica borrowed from the Greeks, were built in the market place. Here law courts were held, business transacted and here the loafers lounged through the sunny afternoons.

About this time the struggle between the aristocrats and plebeians began. In the beginning only aristocrats could hold office but during the struggle the plebeians gained control and Cicero boasted that he was the first plebeian to become consul.

In the time of Julius Caesar the Forum became so crowded that Caesar bought ground near the market and began the erection of the Basilica Julia, which was completed by Augustus. Julius Caesar was the first to have a uniform plan for the buildings of the Forum.

The views of the Forum at present look like pictures taken in a marble yard to those whose imagination can not reconstruct temples on the ruins. Dr. Wilson told a story of a hurried American tourist who told his guide that he had time to see only the monuments of Rome which are the most famous—the wonderful church of Saint Peter and the Roman Forum. The guide took the tourist to the Forum first and after the tourist had looked at the ruins for a minute he said "Well now which is this?"

On the ruined shrines of the goddess Vesta the Germans have planted myrtle and laurel trees—the myrtle which was dedicated to Vesta and the laurel which was won so often by Caesar. These trees add a note of living decoration and beauty in the once busy market place that was built by men long since dead.

LECTURES FOR THURSDAY.

Thursday Dr. Hewett took the students to the San Miguel church for the morning walk and lecture. He explained that long before the coming of the Spaniards Santa Fe had been occupied as an Indian pueblo, in fact some authorities claim that the site had been abandoned at least one hundred years previous to Oñate's conquest. This desertion may have been due to drought or other marauding Indian tribes coming up from the south. Santa Fe had two sites at that time, the larger town occupying the present Fort Marcy and the smaller the settlement around the old church. The settlement on Fort Marcy was called Kwapogone, which means the place of the shell bead people near the water, while the Capitol Hill site was called Anasao, the little place across the water. All Indian towns took their names from important tribes or a peculiar feature of the surrounding country. These names given to Santa Fe were Aztec and were probably brought by the traders, for the Aztecs themselves did not come as far north as Santa Fe.

The first authentic account that we have of the settlement of Santa Fe is in Oñate's journal in which he speaks of passing through "inhabited country" near here. He went north into Chamita and returned to Santa Fe in 1605, establishing a settlement here.

Coronado held his winter camp at Pecos sometime before this and the mission churches there and at Jemez must have been built a short time before the church of San Miguel, which was probably built in the year 1630. The mission churches in Pecos and Jemez were the first established in the United States, antedating those of California. Since the churches of Pecos and Jemez are only ruined walls at the present time, we are correct in saying that San Miguel is the oldest church in America.

In the afternoon Dr. Wilson lectured upon the Palatine Hill and the Sacred Way in Rome. The Palatine Hill is the most desirable residence portion of the city but is entirely owned by the government now and occupied by imposing public buildings. In the days when Rome was the mistress of the world there were many temples built upon this hill to the gods. Excavators have unearthed shrines to Jupiter Victor, Victory the Maiden, Victory, Apollo, and many others. It was upon this hill that Augustus lived; buying the residence of the orator Hortensius. The emperor Tiberius, not being satisfied with this simple residence, built an elaborate palace on the northern side of the hill. Still later, Nero built his famous "Golden House" here.

The Roman's knowledge of architecture, and more especially the building of arches and the use of concrete, made their buildings the wonder of the world. Their walls were built so strongly and with such thick bases that it was impossible to build domes without the supporting pillars, which the Greeks found necessary in their constructions.

The Sacra Via ran through the Forum, just below the Palatine Hill and was the principal street of the Forum. In time this became a great commercial street for there is mention in the ancient accounts of the jewelers of the Sacred Way.

The plan of the city was cut in relief in marble, and this forms an authentic record for the reconstruction of the temples and public buildings in the Forum, that market place which was the center of political power in the entire world for over one thousand years.

Dr. Wilson gave a brief summary of the history of the Forum before showing the slides. In the early days primitive peoples lived on the hills and in the valleys of Rome. In time they built shrines to their deities, as the shrines of the Water Nymph in the valley which is now called the forum. There are many legends connected with this valley such as the story of the Pope of the Savine Women, etc. After the people had

SPORTING NEWS

THAT ELKS GAME ON SUNDAY

A special train is coming up from Albuquerque on Sunday with the Elks baseball players and fans. It is expected that a large crowd will be on board and that they will not be disappointed when they see the game that is to be pulled off at St. Michael's college field on Sunday afternoon. That the game will be full of snap and good plays is a foregone conclusion as the line ups will be strong and every play will be for blood. The players in the Santa Fe side are among the best in the city and with Doc McCarthy and Eddie Safford on the mound to serve up the pill, even the hitters on the Duke City nine are likely to be biffed the atmosphere more or less frequently. Then, there are others on the home side that "ain't no slouch" when it comes to playing the national game and those who attend will be sure of a fine day's amusement. We want to make it a great day for our guests and the Elks know how to do it.

A NEW PITCHER FOR GIANTS.

New York, Aug. 7.—The New York National league club today announced the purchase of Pitcher Al Demaree of the Mobile club of the Southern league. Demaree a few years ago had a trial with the New York Americans. He has pitched many shutout games for Mobile.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Scout Bill Armour has seen two more kids to his liking. He has purchased Second Baseman Galloway of Vicksburg, Miss., and Pitcher Peritt of Greenwood, Miss. They will report either at the end of the Cotton States league season, or in the spring.

MINOR LEAGUE CROP.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 7.—Less than 15 minor league players will be purchased by the major leagues this year according to the scouts who have been in the Central League territory this year, among them being Larry Sutton, of Brooklyn; Jimmy Burke, of Detroit; Louis Heilbroner and Billy Doyle, of St. Louis.

According to these scouts the crop of minor leaguers is so short that practically all of the men who rise in their profession will do so by the draft route. Sutton is authority for the statement that so far he has not seen a single man whom he will purchase. In the Central League he has found six players for whom Brooklyn will put in drafts.

Scout Sutton is also authority for the statement that not within the last 10 years has he found baseball in so bad a condition as it is this year. Having been in all the minor leagues, except those of the far west, Sutton is well versed to speak. According to his statement he has found the attendance very poor even in cities where the clubs are fighting hard to win a pennant, while in towns which have second division clubs the attendance is almost nil.

The Brooklyn scout two months ago left home determined to find three or four players who would bolster up the weak spots in the Trolley Dodger's lineup. Had he found them he would have paid any reasonable price for their immediate release. The men, however, were not to be found.

JENNINGS LEAVES DETROIT.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—The threat of President Ban B. Johnson to force Manager Hugh Jennings out of the American league has become a reality. The season of 1912 sees the finish of the famous "Ech-Yah" as manager in the Johnson circuit of baseball clubs. He is now working out the last three months of his Detroit contract.

Next season Jennings goes to the Boston National league club to succeed Johnny Kling as manager. He will also be allowed to purchase a liberal slice of the club's stock, and as Hugh Jennings is well fixed financially, the opening carries the opportunity of allowing the fiery-headed little manager to get into business for himself. He will have absolute sway regarding all matters pertaining to the personnel of the club and a free hand to spend all the money necessary to place a winning club in the ground made famous by the late Frank Selee and the old-time Boston champions.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the veteran Detroit pitcher, now doing duty the greater part of the time as a scout for the club, will become the Detroit manager with a two-year contract at something like $10,000 a year. The work Donovan is doing this year combing the bushes is merely a preliminary training for his regular berth next season.

These statements can be made with the absolute authority of a high official in the Detroit club, as well as with the knowledge imparted by a number of Tiger players. The deals have been pending for the last four weeks, and as far back as three weeks ago the slate had been fixed. The fear of causing disorganization both clubs to be affected has kept the Detroit and Boston owners from giving the usual publicity to a change of this character.

Jennings walks the plank for two reasons. The principal one is the scandal growing out of his connection with Manager John McGraw of the New York Nationals in last fall's world series. Jennings and McGraw were team mates in the old days of the batting champions. McGraw has always entertained a bitter hatred toward Ban Johnson and the American league since he turned against them when manager of the Baltimore club, and kidnapped his entire bunch of stars for the New York Nationals. He claimed that Johnson's tyranny drove him out of the organization and in return he did the best he knew how to wreck the league.

So when the world's series opened last year, it was only natural that he should turn to his old friend Jennings for counsel as to the weak and strong points of the Athletics, the American league winners. Jennings looks upon the memory of the old Baltimore world beaters as a sacred one, and he readily responded. He counseled McGraw to the best of his knowledge as to the loose cogs of the Athletic machine and even came out in print with the assertion that the Giants would win and with his own sincere hope that they beat the Mackmen.

Johnson did not forget this, and is said to have volunteered the information to his cronies, among them Chas. Comiskey, that he would "get" Jennings.

The strike of the Detroit players this season over the Cobb suspension and Jennings' pacific stand in the matter, with his leaning toward the players' side of the controversy, only tended to show Johnson that a man with the interest of the league more at heart should direct a team so popular as the Detroit aggression. President Frank Navin was given a quiet tip to get rid of Jennings. Navin is a strong executive and a far-seeing baseball magnate. He saw that the eighteen-year contract Johnson has as president of the American league staring him in the face and quickly made up his mind to side with Baneroff.

Johnny Kling had failed in Boston, both as a manager and a diplomat, as far as his players and the press was concerned. For the past four weeks Jim Gaffney of New York has been dickering with John M. Ward to get Ward's Boston stock and thus gain absolute control of the club. He had Jennings in mind, having been tipped off to the change in the American league affairs by Frank Farrell. Jennings was offered the place as soon as Ward was out of the club. When Gaffney gained control, Jennings was told that the deal was closed.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the new leader of the fighting Tigers, has been a Detroit pitcher for the past nine years, coming from the Brooklyn club in the days of warfare between the American and National leagues. His early training was received around Philadelphia and his first real minor league work was with Providence of the old Eastern, now the International league. His sobriquet of "Wild Bill" was taken from the lack of control he displayed as a minor leaguer and not from any of his personal habits. He was really a member of the Brooklyn club when performing for Providence, being "farmed out." He has always been rated as one of the really great modern pitchers.

In the three years Detroit won the American league pennant, Donovan and George Mullin were the mainstays of the club in the box. His new place is considered as a reward for his long and faithful services.

Donovan has a wonderfully magnetic mannerism and is extremely popular with the other players. He has marked executive ability, good baseball sense and is a shrewd business man. Leading critics of the game have always considered Donovan an excellent managerial material and his promotion comes as no surprise. He is the logical man to be selected by President Navin as Jennings' successor.

BUTLER THE BEST.

The discussion among a party of baseball men turned to the best shortstop in the league. It was agreed that Artie Butler of St. Paul was the man. Butler can hit, throw, run the bases and do everything required of him. Chapman of Toledo, who had been touted all season, it was pointed out, hasn't the arm Butler has, isn't hitting so consistently and has a weakness in playing his position which will make him of less value in major company than Butler. Corriden of Kansas City isn't near the hitter and more erratic. Gerber of Columbus can field with any man in the business. Fifty more points on his hitting would make him a scream. Columbus Dispatch.

REMARKABLE RECORD.

Roy Chapman, the infielder Cleveland acquired from Toledo, in the American association, after practically every major league club had been angling for him, has the remarkable record of transition from the nine of a country high school to the "big show" in less than three years. He is a flyer on the bases. He used to run 100 yards in 10-5 seconds and 220 yards in 23 seconds flat, and was a football player. He has a batting average in the minor league of .341 and has been a first magnitude star in every phase of the game there.

LUCKY WASHINGTON.

Washington stands out as a living example of that decree to which luck figures in the national pastime. No one will deny Griffith was lucky to get Washington and Washington likewise lucky to get Griffith. When the Old Fox took hold of the Nationals, the Capital City boasted just four players outside the pitchers—Milan Ainsmith, Shrtstop George McBride and Comedian "Germany" Schaefer. Griffith may be considered lucky to have picked from his recruits such a coterie of stars as Foster, Moeller and "Chick" Gandil—men who fitted right in with the veteran nucleus to form the strongest aggregation that ever represented Washington. But was it all luck after all?

All these marvels were up in fast company before, but were turned back as lacking the vital spark. That Griffith had the whacked up so well may possibly be due to managerial acumen and genius, do you not think so? "For all things come to him who waits."

BOXING BRIEFS.

The report comes from New York that Palzer and O'Rourke, his late manager, have finally agreed and all is well, once more peace and harmony between the hope and his guardian.

WOULD FIGHT RIVERS.

New Orleans, Aug. 9.—There is nothing about Mandot that speaks of the prize ring. He appears to be a boy of high intelligence and unusually good breeding. Joe's conversation backs up his physical appearance. Nothing vulgar or boastful about him; he is not forward; he appears sincere and you like him.

One of the things that helped Joe get a reputation was whipping all three of the Chicago fighters who belong to the same family circle. One of these brothers of Polish extraction goes under the name of Charlie White, the other calls himself Jack White, and the third is Billy Wagner. Jack is the boy who got the decision over Owen Moran on a foul a week ago.

Mandot sees a chance of beating Rivers and getting a match with Ad Wolgast. "If they are going to post odds at 2 to 1 with Rivers favorite, I'll take $500 on myself and I never bet before," was Joe's only comment on the Labor Day affair.

WHITE, HEREAFTER.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Jim Flynn, Jack Johnson's Las Vegas victim, has drawn the color line.

His manager, Jack Curly, has received an offer from the Garden Athletic Club of New York for Flynn to meet Jeannette in Madison Square Garden as a substitute for Johnson. Flynn declined to consider the offer.

"Any white man, but no more of these colored fighters for mine," is Flynn's decision. "I will meet Palzer, McCarthy or any of the 'hopes' and sign immediately, but as far as Johnson, Langford or Jeannette is concerned, I am through."

Flynn's decision is perhaps brought about by the fact that he has twice lost to Langford on knockouts, and twice to Johnson, once on a knockout and the other time in Las Vegas.

TOMMY BURNS TO TRY AGAIN.

Calgary, Alberta, Aug. 7.—Tommy Burns, ex-champion heavy weight pugilist of the world, announced tonight his intention to make an attempt to regain the title. Discussing an Associated Press dispatch quoting Jack Johnson, who won his title from Burns, as stating that he had perma-

BERNALILLO COUNTY IS IN ROOSEVELT COLUMN

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 9.—Bernalillo county will go almost solidly for Theodore Roosevelt. This was the text of a statement made to a New Mexican correspondent here this morning by Don Jesus Romero, sheriff of this county and a widely known Progressive leader.

Mr. Romero was chairman of the first state Progressive convention held in this city and he is an enthusiastic Roosevelt man. The interview was given in refutation of carefully circulated statements to the effect that

Mr. Romero had been brought into camp by the Old Guard and that he would line up with the stand pat element in the coming campaign.

"Bernalillo county is in the Progressive ranks to stay," said Mr. Romero. "This is especially true among the Spanish-American voters who will never consent to the old time methods and boss tactics."

The interview has come as a severe blow to the old line leaders here who had been industriously at work trying to patch up their broken fences.

WORKMEN THREW SKELETON FROM TRENCH INTO ROAD

Workmen engaged in digging a trench north of the federal building yesterday unearthed a rude basket containing a skeleton. They threw the skeleton into the road and continued work. All day, the skeleton lay in the road. During the evening, a party of half grown boys found the bones of the dead man. They placed the grinning skull on top of a fence post and proceeded to do an Indian dance around it, throwing rocks at the ghastly object and finally knocking it off the post. None of them apparently thought of reverence for the dead man and one of them even removed the hair from the skull and placed it upright on a stick. Passers-by protested at such uncivilized procedure and the matter was finally reported to Rafael Gomez, city marshal. Mr. Gomez at once sent an officer to the scene and ordered the workmen to either re-inter the body at once or burn the skeleton and what remained of the basket. They quickly complied with the order.

"I never heard of such barbarity in my life," said Marshal Gomez today. "You would think that even boys of that age would know better and have a better sense of decency than to desecrate a grave in such a manner."

On the basket was a name plate which bore the name of "James E. Perry" or some such a title. It was almost indistinguishable. The plate also bore the word "September" and the figures "1873." The place where the body was found was formerly an old burying ground.

ORCHARD HAS RELIGION AND SORRY FOR MURDER

Harry Orchard now serving a life sentence for the murder of twenty-six people during a series of dynamiting outrages of the miners of Colorado and Idaho during a strike a number of years ago, has written to Chas. A. Siringo, cowboy detective hero, telling him that he has at last found comfort in religion. The letter, Mr. Siringo says is a remarkable one in many respects when the bloodthirsty nature of the Harry Orchard of a few years ago is considered.

Mr. Siringo, who was Orchard's guard during the trial of Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone, miners and officials of the Western Federation, became well acquainted with Orchard and was largely instrumental in securing a confession from him.

In his letter, Orchard tells of the gift of a typewriter and a fine tuning lathe from former Adjutant General Wells of Colorado. It will be recalled that Orchard, during the trial, admitted that he blew up the Adjutant General's residence with dynamite in an effort to kill Wells. The house was demolished but Wells escaped serious injury because a portion of the dynamite did not explode.

Orchard also admitted having dynamited the residence of Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, killing him. He also dynamited the Independence Colorado depot and also killed a Pinkerton detective. In all he killed 26 or more persons during the labor war.

The letter to Mr. Siringo is as follows:

Boise, Idaho, July 9, 1912.
Chas. A. Siringo,
Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Friend:
I received your card and a few days ago I received your very interesting book. I rarely ever read anything of that nature. But knowing you as I did, of course I became interested, and it is surely a wonderful revelation of human nature.

I know a great deal of it from bitter experience, and I have no hesitation in fully believing the rest. And now Mr. Siringo I have proven beyond the possibility of a doubt, that there is nothing in this life that will bring real lasting peace, without we have a full knowledge of sins forgiven. Even at our best and most prosperous times the pleasures of this world pass away, and leaves our minds unsatisfied. But I thank God that He has provided a remedy for all mankind. I am not sorry that I paid the price, while it has left me a prisoner for life, and if I have to spend it all behind these walls I am not sorry that I made a clean breast of all that awful life, for I never could have come to a merciful and loving Saviour without that confession. I am very sorry for all the suffering and misery that I have caused others, but as for myself, it is the only brave thing that I ever did. There is not many of the officers here now that were here when you was here. Mr. Ackley is the Deputy Warden. I will send you a brush after a while. I put in my spare time making brushes, bridles and bridle bits and a few other little articles. I have been able in this way to send the dear wife and little girl several hundred dollars, for which I am very thankful.

Tell me if you use a full spade bit. I make some pretty nice ones and will send you one. I have not heard from Mr. McFarland for some time. He has been very good to me and to the dear wife and little girl. He has sold a lot of articles for me. Mr. Wells has never forgotten me either. He gave me a fine typewriter several years ago, and last winter gave me a fine lathe, that cost $250.00. Thanking you from the bottom of my heart for your kind remembrance of me, I am

Very respectfully yours,
HARRY ORCHARD.

nently retired from the ring. Burns said: "Now that Johnson has retired the title reverts to the white race and I am prepared to defend it. Johnson says I gave him the toughest fight of his whole career."

Burns has been living in Calgary for the last year.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—Tom Jones, manager for Ad Wolgast, stated today that he had received a telegram from Wolgast denying reports that Wolgast had signed to meet Freddie Welsh. "I think Rivers will be Ad's next opponent, and that will be some time in the latter part of the year," said Jones.

JOHNSON MAY WRESTLE NOW.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Jack Johnson indulged in a chuckle last night when Tommy Burns' statement was read to him.

"If Tommy will fight for the championship and whip all the other 'hopes,' both white and black, he's welcome to the title," Johnson said. "He's mistaken about giving me the hardest fight I ever had. Sam McVey holds that honor."

Indianapolis promoters have offered Johnson $5,000 to wrestle Charlie Olson to a finish in that city some time in September. Johnson "thinks" he will accept. He said his retirement from fighting will not prevent him from wrestling.

Johnny King, a 133 pounder who has made quite a hit in Chicago, has been matched to meet Tommy Gary. The scrap will be held in Peoria, Ill., where the lid has just recently been hoisted.

A challenge has been cabled to Charles Ledoux, the French boxer, to come to Boston and meet Jimmy Walsh before the Pilgrim A. C. at 118 pounds. At the same time an offer has been sent over to Jean Palsy to come hither and argue with Matty Baldwin at 130 pounds. Ledoux and Walsh are considered the champions of France and America, respectively, at 118 pounds.

Pack McFarland steps onto the canvas again on Aug. 30. His opponent will be Young McCarroll and they will row it out in Philadelphia. Neither of the boys will begin their training until about two weeks before the battle.

A match has been arranged between Freddie Welsh, ex-English lightweight champion, and Johnny Summers, the English welterweight champion. They will come together in a twenty round fight at Cardiff, Wales, on Aug. 15. Welsh has also been signed up for a fifteen round go with Grove Hayes of Chicago, at the National, Can., tomorrow.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH IS PUBLIC DOCUMENT

New Party Makes Its Debut in Washington Political Society When Senator Poindexter Asks to Have Message Printed.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The progressive party made its formal bow today in the senate. Senator Poindexter as a member of the new party, asked that Colonel Roosevelt's speech at Chicago on August 6, be printed as a public document.

The request followed one by Senator Brandegee that Senator Root's speech of notification and President Taft's speech of acceptance also be printed as a public document. Senator Culberson had asked that Senator James' notification speech and Governor Woodrow Wilson's acceptance be printed as another document. All three requests were granted.

MARKETS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The Department of Agriculture's August crop report follows:

Corn—Condition 80.0; indicated acre yield 26.0; estimated production 2,281,000.

Winter wheat—Preliminary estimated acre yield 15.1; of total production 390,000,000, quality 90.7. Spring wheat—Condition 90.4; yield 15.1; production 290,000,000.

Oats—Condition 90.3; yield 31.9; production 1,207,000; quantity remaining on farms 34,872,000. Barley—Condition 89.1; yield 26.7; production 302,000,000. Rye—Acreage 2,097,000; preliminary estimate of acre yield 16.9 of production. Quality 42.0.

Buckwheat—Condition 88.4; acreage 825,000; yield 19.3; production 15,000,000.

White Potatoes—Condition 87.8; yield 100.7; production 371,000,000. Tobacco—Condition 82.8; yield $20.6. Production 980,000,000.

Flax—Condition 87.5; yield 9.4; production 28,000,000. Rice—Condition 86.3; yield 51.9; production 23,000,000. Hay—Condition 91.0; yield 1.49; production 73,000. Apples—Condition 65.8.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 9.—Stocks were strong in today's early market, with gains greatest in certain specialties, some of which failed to hold. Reading again was the feature of the active group. Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific were relatively heavy and Hill issues ruled under recent best prices.

Canadian Pacific moved up on reported foreign buying, while Grangers were stationary. Steel reflected a similar condition with copper under pressure. Bonds were easy.

During the dull noon hour, Canadian Pacific added to its advance and American Sugar was up a point with similar gain for Atlantic Coastline and over 2 points for L. & N.

The market became more irregular in the later trading. The market closed strong. The market was inclined to waiver after the publication of the government crop report which seemed favorable in most respects.

Just before the close, however, an active demand for some of the leaders turned the tide, prices in some cases being the best of the day.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 9.—Bright, warm weather in the Canadian northwest had a bearish effect today on wheat. Reports of heavy shipments from Argentina, India and Australia, also counted against the bulls. Opening figures ranged from 1-4c lower to a shade higher. December started at 93-1-8 to 93-3-8, varying from 1-8-1-4 off to 1-1-6 up and then declined to 92-3-4.

The close was steady at 91-3-4 for September, a net loss of 1-2-5-8. Rains advancing eastward weakened the corn market. December opened a shade down to a dime amount higher at 55 to 55-1-2 and sagged to 54-3-4. The close was firm at 55 for September, a loss of a shade.

A rush to buy cent oats higher despite the weakness of other grain. Scantiness of immediate supplies and threatened delay to the movement from the farms led to the bull flurry. December started 1-4 up to 3-8 up at 33 to 33-1-8 and rose to 33-1-2. Commission house purchases formed the basis of an advance in provisions. First sales were 2-1-2 off to 7-1-2-10c up with October delivery. 17.80 to 17.85 for pork; 10.60 to 10.65 for lard, and 10.52-1-2 for ribs.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hall have taken up their residence at 391-1-2 Gallisteo street.

Benjamin Martinez left today for Tierra Amarilla to accept the position of deputy county treasurer under Venceskoo Jaramillo.

Mr. Edgar P. Shields, traveling representative passenger department,
Southern Pacific railroad, spent Thursday in our city. Mr. Shields is well and favorably known here and we are always glad to see him.

Mr. S. A. Goldsmith, a prominent merchant of Estancia, was a business visitor in the capital city Thursday and Friday of this week.

Misses Maud and Carroll Brown of Boston, will arrive in the city tomorrow en route to Arizona, and while in the city will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weimer.

Robert P. Ervin, land commissioner, and his two sons, Howell and John, accompanied by T. P. Gable, have just returned from Roswell in their auto, where they have been on a business trip.

A hunting party composed of the well known "dead shots," J. A. David, W. H. Kerr and W. E. Turner, the latter the representative of M. J.
O'Fallon Supply company, ran out some fifteen miles and spent the afternoon shooting doves. They report splendid shooting having bagged
about twenty of the "innocents."

Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Phillip Simmons of Belen are in the city to attend the state convention of the W.
C. T. U. They are well known residents of Belen, have a large circle of friends in the state. While in Santa Fe they are thoroughly enjoying the magnificent climate and are taking in the many historical sights in this vicinity.

Messrs. I. B. Viehroy and George Miguel have just returned from a tour of northern New Mexico. Their itinerary embraced the following towns and cities, viz: Espanola, Coyote, Abiquiu, El Rito, Ojo Caliente, Pitca, Taos, Penasco, Trampas, Truchas, Cordova, Chiriquito and thence to Santa Fe. They report having had a splendid time, having slept in the open every night except three.
The weather was fine and they had all the shooting they wanted, and every day was fine trout fishing. In fact, nothing but the dread of leprosy prevented them from continuing their trip indefinitely. They report the crops in fine condition and the people happy and prosperous. They declare that the farmers of that section are exhibiting more progressive spirit
than at any time in their history.

James T. Newhall, father of Frank Newhall, an old resident of Santa Fe,
and the possessor of a host of friends
here, passed a few hours in the city today and made a social call at the New Mexican office.

Hiram Hadley, former member of the board of regents of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, having resigned his position on June 6th,
has been succeeded by R. R. Larkin, of Las Vegas. The appointment was made by Governor McDonald, on the 8th instant.

EDUCATED BURGLAR IS TAKING POST GRADUATE
COURSE IN CHICAGO.

Jacob Foy Guthrie Had Collected a Miscellaneous Lot of Junk Valued at Some $200,000 and Now Lands in Jail.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 9.—Jacob Foy
Guthrie, termed "the educated burglar and forger" who is accused of stealing more than $200,000 worth of property, was held to the grand jury
today in bonds of $37,500 on eleven complaints. Guthrie waived examination and was assigned to a cell in the county jail. Persons whose property was stolen visited police headquarters

MAJOR PALEN WILL NOT RETIRE HE SAYS

ABLE PRESIDENT OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK DECLARES STREET RUMORS TO-DAY ARE WITHOUT FOUNDATION

A street rumor which gained considerable credence to the effect that Major R. J. Palen, veteran banker and president of the First National bank would retire from active business soon and that one of the board of directors would succeed him, was positively denied by Major Palen this morning.

"I am not going to retire," said
Major Palen to a New Mexican reporter. "I have never even given a thought to such a thing and you may say that the report is untrue and that I have no idea of quitting the First National Bank at this time or in the future."

"So long as I feel that I can handle
the affairs of the bank as they have been handled in the past, so long will I continue in my present position. I have, within the past few years, received a couple of banking propositions which would greatly enlarge my sphere of work but I have rejected
both of them. One came from Albuquerque and another from the east.
I intend to remain here, however,
and build the First National bank on the same foundation it always has had for conservative, honest banking methods."

THEY ARE MAKING A GREAT TRIP

An across-the-country automobile trip is being made by a party from Michigan and Ohio to the coast and back again by way of New York. The members of the party are George B.
Spangler of Pontiac, Michigan; Dr.
Oliver of Detroit, a news writer, on a Detroit Journal; Richard West and Clifford Vernon of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, and R. T. Evans of South Wales. They made the start on July 5 from Pontiac in a forty-five horse power Oakland touring car, the object of the trip being partly pleasure and partly business, and will have covered 10, 000 miles by the time they reach home.

They are demonstrating, on the trip
a new compound called Essenkay used as a substitute for air in automobile
tires, and are at the same time proving the value of the Oakland car as a touring machine.

The party arrived in Santa Fe yesterday, all feeling fine and enthusiastic over the journey and left last evening for San Antonio, New Mexico. The next stop from that point will be Albuquerque, then Phoenix, Arizona,
San Francisco, then Los Angeles. On the return trip they will make New Orleans, Atlanta and New York. The points touched east of here were Chicago, Omaha, Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Raton, and they reported good roads most of the way, finding the toughest proposition between Pueblo and Walsenburg, Colorado. They were hit by a cloudburst up in our neighboring state, but got away safely though not entirely dry.

It may be of interest to the people
of New Mexico to know that Mr.
Spangler declared that the New Mexico roads were among the best they had traversed.

Accompanying the party was H. T.
Herring of the H. F. Auto and Garage
Co. of Las Vegas, who is state agent for Essenkay, and who will stop off at Albuquerque.

PRETTY LITTLE SLAVE GIRL IS RESCUED BY SAN FRANCISCO POLICE.

She Was Held Captive in a Den—Her Value is $4,500 and Now Tongue Are Ready to War Over Her Possession.
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Because pretty little Lee Seem, slave girl, valued at $4,500, was rescued from a den in a raid by the police Wednesday evening and taken to a mission home, there is portent of strife
in San Francisco Chinatown. The tongues are muttering and the hatchet
and gun men of the societies are arming, while the police squad in the quarter, is seeking the tong leader who is supposed to have been the owner of the girl.

The Four Families Tong, of which the girl's former master was a member, accused two others of the tong of having informed the mission of the girl's plight, and the accused men were served with notice to appear and exculpate themselves or prepare for death.

GERMAN EMPEROR IS VISITOR TO HOMES SADDENED BY DEATH.

He Stops at Humble Cottages. Of Miners and Sympathizes With Widows and Orphans Made by Mine Disaster.

Bochum, Germany, Aug. 9.—Emperor William and his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, arrived here today and visited the injured survivors of yesterday's mine disaster at Gerthe.
Subsequently the Emperor went to several of the miner's cottages, where he expressed his condolence with the families of the victims of the accident.

Thus far 19 bodies have been taken from the mine and eight men still are missing and undoubtedly are dead.
Two of the injured men died last night.

KENYON'S JAIL BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Senator
Kenyon's bill to compel federal courts to impose jail sentences instead of fines upon convicted violators of the Sherman law, got out of committee
today and took a place upon the senate's calendar. Mr. Kenyon will work

MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES
IN LONDON ISSUE DEFY TO COURTS OF ENGLAND.

They Declare Sentences Imposed Upon Rioters Are Only for Purpose of Terrorizing Others Identified With Contest.

London, Aug. 9.—The Women's Social and Political Union, which heads
the militant suffragette movement, issued a statement today regarding the sentences pronounced by the Dublin court on Wednesday on Mary Leigh, who was sent to jail for five years for wounding John Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, with a hatchet she had thrown at Premier Asquith; on Gladys Evans, sentence of a year's imprisonment
for setting fire to the Theater Royal, Dublin; and on Lizzie Baker, who was given seven months imprisonment as an accomplice of Gladys Evans.

The Union defies the authorities, calling the sentences an outrage which was not devised as a punishment to fit the offense, but to terrorize other women.

The judge's hint that the sentence
would be remitted if the women's militant tactics were abandoned, considered, says the statement, a bribe,
which could not be accepted without disloyalty to the cause.

PRESIDENT LECONTE
DIED IN HIS BED.

Body of Late Haitian Chief. Executive is Recovered From Ruins of His Flimsy Palace—New Man Takes Charge.

Port au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 9.—The body of the late president of the Haitian republic, General Cincinnatus Leconte, who perished in the fire which destroyed the national palace here yesterday was found today on the iron bed on which he had slept. The authorities are making arrangements for a national funeral.

The transference of power to the new president, General Tancredi Auguste, who was selected yesterday
by the members of the senate and chamber in national assembly, was carried out in perfect tranquility.
Firemen continue to search the ruins of the palace and the adjacent powder magazine for the bodies of victims of the fire and explosions.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC HAS BLOOD IN ITS EYE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The Dominican minister here Dr. Don Francisco J. Phinadeo, has been instructed by his government to arrange for a loan of $1,000,000 to enable the Dominican republic to war upon Ha-ti. The state department will try to dissuade the two republics from their warlike intentions.

THEY ARE IN DANGER.

The past two weeks have revealed a wider scope in the third party movement than was thought probable at an earlier date, and the warning of the democratic state chairman of Massachusetts to the state committee men of that state as to the third party's strength in the industrial districts of Massachusetts was not given as one of danger to the republican party alone, but was full of significance as to what might happen to the democratic vote in those districts of the Bay state.

There are signs of similar import from New York and Ohio. In fact, the danger signals are out for the two old parties from all over the country. It is not as funny as it was a few weeks ago, when the standpat republicans and the democrats alike were inclined to place the great progressive movement in the class of the Palmer and Buckner movement in 1896 and other political movements of even less importance.

It is the intention of the progressive party to fight strenuously for the eradication of the recognized evils that are existing at the present time, and this new party will have to be reckoned with in every state in the Union, and the campaign is to be one of kaleidoscopic changes and startling climaxes in all localities. It is very significant that one of the greatest and staunchest democratic dailies in the United States has sounded a note of alarm and is calling upon the members of the party to beware of over confidence, as the independent vote promises to be very heavy. It is an acknowledged fact that Roosevelt is a living example of the old Roman spirit to "find a way or make it," and he is not one who ever surrenders. His hold on the rank and file of the American people is a constant and increasing wonder. It seems today stronger than ever before and none of the leaders of the two old organizations know how to meet or check it. They are bewildered at the growth and tremendous strength of the progressive movement. They see old time members of both parties breaking away from their allegiance and cannot tell how far reaching the defection is going to be.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, the old, rock-ribbed democratic paper says, in an editorial:

"The regular republican organization, as was proved last June in Chicago, is under command of experienced, aggressive, skilled, artistically effective leaders, men who only seek results, not arguments or explanations, and Colonel Roosevelt has always risen to meet every political difficulty that has blocked his progress."

It looks like utter demoralization in the old organizations.

OFF THE TROLLEY.

We have got to disagree with Rev. Lichliter of that big St. Louis church, chairman of that city's public morals committee, who justifies lying on the ground that "the duty of truth telling lies within the realm where others have a right to the truth; no one has a right to ask a prying or malicious question."

We think this a mighty cross-eyed view of morality and mighty poor doctrine to inculcate into our youth. A lie is a lie and never justified. There is no realm confining the duty of truth telling. Given the alternative of lying, or telling truth that seriously hurts, there is always a way out by silence.

It is perhaps true as a rule, that no one has a right to ask a prying or malicious question, but shall we instruct our children to lie under such circumstances or to frankly declare to the prying or malicious questioner that the matter is none of his, or her, business?

There is already too much lying, too much evasion, too much flattery, too much false diplomacy in our association with one another. The fellow who asks a malicious or otherwise objectionable question is not entitled to the facts, but that does not justify our lying. On the contrary, he is entitled to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, which is that the matter is none of his business.

Such answer is both politic and moral. It clears the atmosphere and leaves both parties perfectly assured as to their position. To say that lying is justified is saying that deceit is better than frankness, and this is not so.

A TEXT IN OUR CREED.

The tariff should be taken out of politics and made the subject of scientific study by a non-partisan commission of experts. The rates should be lowered to cover the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, and so levied that the benefit would flow to American labor and not to favored interests as at present. No general tariff bill should be enacted, because such legislation offers opportunity for trading and log rolling. The schedules should be adopted one at a time on the basis of the expert data collected by the tariff commission which should be required to report to congress and the president at stated times.

"Business should be so supervised as to make prosperity also take the shape of good wages to the wage-worker and reasonable prices to the consumer, while investors and business rivals are insured just treatment, and the farmer, the man who tills the soil, is protected as sedulously as the wage-worker himself."

That does not sound revolutionary nor dangerous nor dictatorial does it? It has the tone of helpfulness and relief. It has the human ring and surely there is no intimation of bossism in it. It is a quotation from Roosevelt's speech at the Chicago progressive convention.

Some of the rules adopted by the progressive convention show a radical departure from the old system of procedure, and all are along lines which curb the power of the bosses and give the people greater voice. One of the changes precludes the right of a delegate in a convention, seated on prima facie evidence to vote on his own contest and another prohibits any office holder serving on the national committee. Both are progressive measures.

Sec. says in Sec's paper that it was not incompetency that defeated him. It was because Lucero got the most votes. Sure thing. That's always the reason one fellow beats another, but there must be a cause for the fellow's getting the most votes, and we opine that competency had something to do with Sec's defeat. But the competency was Lucero's.

The New Mexican congratulates the Fosters on the enterprise they are displaying in publishing the New Mexico Magazine, mentioned elsewhere, and we wish for them an abundant and gratifying success in the venture.

Evidently the senate is too busy with other matters to take up so trivial a thing as the U. S. marshals for New Mexico.

An edict from the New York police is that all unmuzzled dogs must be shot. That will be easy. Shooting in New York city, whether it's dogs or gamblers, is no trick at all.

Senator Root declares that Taft's nomination is 99 44-100 pure. It would be interesting to see Dr. Wiley's analysis on that.

Bryan has contributed $1,000 to the Wilson campaign fund. Why don't he give a lecture or two, and pay it that way?

A seedless watermelon is the latest. Now if the seedless inventor would turn his attention to grapes.

Woodrow Wilson says he will not interfere with any rows in the democratic party. Woodrow's optimism is as touching as Taft's.

The manner in which Governor Stubbs of Kansas, laid Senator Curtis away in the senatorial contest was one of those trivial acts that occur in politics—not trivial to Senator Standpat Curtis, however.

The progressive platform is broad enough and strong enough for anybody to stand on, and a constantly increasing number of American people are climbing on.

There is an eight million dollar bean crop in California this year. Ah! Who cares where the price of meat soars to.

It must be an awful humiliation now for just a common criminal to be arrested by a New York policeman.

THE SWITZERLAND OF AMERICA.

Valley Ranch Activities.

Valley Ranch, N. M., Aug. 7.—Any one desiring a large number of fine mountain trout should have no trouble in securing them, judging from the quality and quantity of the fishermen now seen on the banks of the Pecos. It has been said, and we believe with truth, that the man who is a success in one thing is likely to be a success in most anything he undertakes, and those who in the last few days have undertaken fishing, and to whom any order for fish should be referred, are Judge R. H. Hanna, Judge Roberts, Nathan Salmon, Mr.

Winters, John H. Walker and many other equally prominent men.

If you are looking for a prominent man around Santa Fe and don't find him, the chances are that you can get him on the long distance telephone by calling Valley Ranch. If he isn't here, he ought to be, because the fishing is unsurpassed.

REMARKS FROM THE SIDE LINE

You ought to have been here to the Old Guard's committee meeting Sec. if you wanted to see the very thing in the "trivial" line.

The Hon. Sec. has become a real poet. Even if he don't land that job, he can let his hair grow long and write those nice little verselets.

And Sec. everybody agrees that it would be a positive shame if any Romero in San Miguel county actually had to go to work for a living.

Certainly Sec. "the nominating power" ought to entitle you that U. S. Marshalship. How shamefully and trivially that good for nothing senate acts about it.

If the Juarez rebels didn't fire at the soldiers in El Paso every night, people down there wouldn't know that Taft was a candidate for re-election.

Gov. Wilson's speech of acceptance did not improve upon the Democratic platform in the least. In fact, there were several items he overlooked entirely.

Members of the Old Guard who are looking for an appropriate hole to crawl into should not overlook the ancient cliff dwellings near this city. And then too, the scenery is just fine out there.

There was perfect harmony in the Old Guard's committee yesterday. Every one agreed that it was perfectly alright with them to let some one else put up for the campaign shish fund.

Gov. Wilson is going to have his picture taken and use it in the campaign. Well, we did that once when we ran for justice of the peace and to be honest and open about it, we lost votes.

Young Rockefeller is helping ferret out the Rosenthal murder conspiracy. If young Rockefeller really wants to be of service to humanity, he might, put in his time ferreting out how the Standard Oil trust put the price of oil where it is—and got away with it.

The senate is figuring on paying Lorimer's expenses in defending his title to that seat that wasn't his. Sure. There ought to be some method whereby every criminal in our state prisons could be reimbursed for the expenses they went to it in trying to keep out.

The Hon. Sec. in the Hon. Sec's own paper declares that it is alright for all the Romero family to have Taft jobs because that is the system everywhere, especially in Washington. Yes, Sec, but that's just exactly what the common gezer is kicking about. Do you get us?

The president of Hayti was blown up and killed when a powder magazine under the Palace exploded. If we had had a Palace we wouldn't keep more than, say, one box of 12 gauge shells for our shotgun and we wouldn't even keep them in the cellar that way. These monarchs are awfully careless.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

JUST A FEW.

A woman in New York has announced that the following are the ten chief faults of men: Selfishness, laziness, intemperance, irresponsibility, illtemper, cowardice, dishonesty, conceit, love of flattery, indifference. That looks to me as if the dictionary had been exhausted as far as mean, undesirable traits are concerned, but I would like to see the woman who has man involved in just that way—see her from a distance, I mean, through a telescope or on the movies where she couldn't get out and could not talk. I am glad that woman's estimate of man is not general and it does not seem to be.

One of the first instincts that comes to the sweet feminine nature is to think of a bean and she never seems to outgrow the instinct either, even when she comes to know this man who possesses all those undesirable, disreputable and pitiful qualities.

However, when one reads the estimate of man made by that kind of a woman who ascribes the above mentioned qualities to him, he considers the source. Being a man and knowing men, I am willing to admit that the sex possesses these qualities, but not all at the same time. If he really did, there would not be anything done in the courts but grinding out divorce es, for no court would compel any woman to live with a man who had all those things at once. I do not think that any man would be ungallant enough to go on record as charging lovely womanhood with the possession of quite so much unpleasantness, so in that one particular, at least, man shows his superiority.

One shudders to think what will happen when woman's suffrage really becomes general, and women like the one in New York get on the stump. Gee! Won't man get his then? Past campaigns and the present one will seem like pink teas in comparison to what is coming with New York women on the stump.

THEY DIDN'T LINGER.

"With compliments from Mrs. Wentge, Grand Avenue Heights, Santa Fe." That's the way it read. It was just a slip of paper placed onto another paper which contained a lot of home grown, rich flavored, daintily colored apricots, which were brought into the editorial office yesterday afternoon and disappeared like hot cakes on a winter morning. They did not linger. This is the method taken to extend to the donor the cordial thanks of the donors. As is pretty well understood, generally speaking, the newspaper office is the public's punching bag and a lot of critical slams come in as must be where there are so many people to satisfy. And while the newspaper man's training has made him as impervious to punches as the strong chest of Lil' Artha Johnson, yet when a friendly recognition comes in, in the shape of a bundle of rich, ripe apricots, the cockles—whatever they are—of the newspaper office's heart, grow warm.

It is a wonder that Santa Fe county is not covered with fruit orchards when such fruit can be raised in it as Mrs. Wentge's apricots. It only shows what a fruit country this really is and what can be done if the news goes out to people of the east who are seeking homes in this beautiful and glorious west.

Some way it does not seem as if we but half advertise this beautiful old city and wonderful country. The reports from the east show a varying climate where they are starting their furnace fires one week and sweltering the next, while in this marvelous climate we are enjoying an almost perfect atmosphere. It need only be seen to be fully appreciated. There is not anything on earth finer than a Santa Fe summer. If only everybody could know it.

A RARE TREAT.

I sometimes wonder if our own citizens quite appreciate the value of our summer Archaeological School in session here at the present time. It ought to be one of the big things of the west. There is really no city, even of great size, that can present just this feature and it does, sometimes seem as if people from abroad appreciated it more than our home folks.

There has been some wonderment expressed by those in charge of the school that the home attendance is so small, and those who are attending from the east are also showing some wonder over it. There is so much here in Santa Fe of an unusual character and our people have grown so accustomed to it all that they naturally, perhaps, grow indifferent.

I have known people who lived within a few miles of Niagara Falls, who have never seen them more than once and some who have never seen them. It is in accordance with the old saying: "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." The daily association with things renders them so familiar that we oftentimes lose sight of their real importance. In the matter of the Archaeological Summer School we ought to awaken to its importance and make it a big feature of the season.

HE COULDN'T VOTE

The Colonel must have them going out in California. Here's a story Gov. H. Johnson tells at Chicago:

"There were fifteen of us sitting in the lobby of a Los Angeles hotel. Someone suggested that a straw ballot be taken. 'All who favor Roosevelt for president stand up,' I said. All but one stood up.

"What's the matter with you?" Aren't you for Roosevelt?" I asked. 'I sure am,' he replied, 'but I've got rheumatiz.'"

HE WANTED SANTA FE.

It is but fair to note that George Arnijo, whose loyalty to Santa Fe is perennial and never gets chilled, made an effort to get the standpat state convention held in the ancient city and offered a motion to that effect, but was voted down by the other members who stood for Albuquerque. When George forgets to plug for Santa Fe, it will be when he is so old that he is tottering and toothless and memory has left him helpless. Albuquerque is this year's convention city but Santa Fe is likely to get into the game before the season closes.

MAGGIE MILGATES AT A SUMMER RESORT

Dear Folks: In the last year at the factory eight girls from the third floor, five from the second floor and seven from the buttonhole and finishing rooms won themselves a home. And not one of them had any time but Sundays and holidays to go gunning for bridegrooms. So it somehow jars you to see flocks of remnants who've been sticking around the festive seashore all summer and no engagement ring in sight yet. Are all the men here diacards, or don't the marrying kind come to the summer hotels?

There's one poor doll that I know what's the matter with who gets the glassy eye from all the Charlies.

DIAGRAM.

Winning a Vacation Prize as the Most Popular Pantsmaker, a Factory Girl Writes Home About the People She Meets.

THE REMNANT.

It isn't because she's such a bad looking, although I'd hate to have a face just like hers wished on me for anything. Her main trouble is that she doesn't know how to play her cards. She's too easy to read. She goes into such a eager flutter when a man notices her that it makes him stall and sidestep. It throws a scare into him. He at once sniffs a snare. A bear is more confident and trustful when you're fighting him off. I guess I know, because I've been bridesmaid at a dozen weddings right out of the shop, and knew every one was going to happen before the fellow d.d. But this poor skirt don't realize the right way. It's too bad, too, because she's pretty soon going to fall into the serious yellowleaf.

So she moons along the beach in a red bathing suit, as if that helps any when the boys have put a jinx on you, and pretends to read poetry with the book upside down. Would you butt in, if you was me, and put her wise?

Yours, with no complaint to make, MAGGIE.

Ordinance No. 10.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Santa Fe.

Section 1. NEWS OF THE STATE

DEATH FROM TRIPLETS.

After giving birth to two girls and one boy babies Monday morning at her home at Brazito, Mrs. Trinklea Trete died at 8 o'clock the same morning. The little boy died soon after but the two girl babies are alive and well at this time. Mrs. Trete, the wife of a farmer, has already 6 living children all at home. The funeral was held today and burial was at Tortugas.—Rio Grande Republican.

CAREFUL OF STREETS.

Billy May won his case against the city of Durango, wherein it was alleged that Bill drove a bunch of horses through the streets of that city unlawfully. We understand that the city council has ordered that the owners of cattle or horses who wish to pass through Durango must first notify the marshal, and that Second avenue has been named as the street on which such stock may be driven.—San Juan County Index.

SHOOTING SCRAPE.

Wednesday last three soldiers, all under the influence of liquor, were creating a disturbance at Central. When asked to keep quiet by Deputy Sheriff Buckner they got obstreperous and one of them knocked Buckner down and got on top of him. Buckner drew his gun and fired, the bullet making a long flesh wound on the man's back. The wounded man, whose name was Growth, was taken to the hospital, where it was found that his injuries were not serious.—Silver City Independent.

MANY MOUNTAIN LIONS.

An unusual number of mountain lions are reported this year from the Santa Rita and Black ranges. As everyone familiar with the habits of the lion knows, these animals are exceedingly wary and are rarely seen. Equipped with the keenest sight and sense of smell, and dwelling almost entirely in the wooded sections, they keep out of sight of the hunter or traveler. This season reports of lions having been seen are of common occurrence. One man saw four, and two others saw three each. Several fine specimens have been shot in the Florio section.—Silver City Independent.

WANTED, A RETREAT.

Wanted, an ideal spot for a colony of knuckers—a quiet retreat where the "anvil chorus" may not be disturbed by the whispers of boosters. If there seems any dearth of material for such a colony we might secure up a few croakers in Raton and even pay their car fare to get rid of them; probably the only way in which we could get them out of town, for, paste paste this in your hat, a knucker seldom has a nickel, deserves less and in 99 cases out of 100 has seen about as much of the world as his dog, who knows more, appreciated more, than his worthless master beside whom the pup is a prince in disguise. So there!—Raton Ranger.

GREELEY SKINNED.

E. C. Murrell, east of town, this week brought to the Times office a dozen Irish potatoes that certainly were "peaches." They were large, well shaped and of even size, in fact they had the famous Greeley's skinned in forty ways. Mr. Murrell has planted Irish potatoes here every year and has never failed to raise fine ones and at the same time get a good yield. In the Portales market Mr. Murrell's potatoes always bring, at least, one cent per pound more than the imported varieties. He has about one acre from which he expects to get about eight hundred bushels.—Portales Times.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Little Lessett (Buster) Anderson yesterday afternoon came so near losing his life by fire that the little lad will probably remember his harrowing experience for some time to come. The boy, who is about 10 years of age, was cleaning his bicycle and became besmeared with kerosene. He afterwards approached a small bonfire nearby, and flames leaped at him instantly licking his clothing. The boy ran in fright and ablaze. The boy's uncle, Mr. Lessett, with the aid of Dr. Duffy, their neighbor, wrapped the boy in a blanket nearby and in an instant the flames were extinguished and the lad stood up in amazement, apparently trying to realize just what happened to him. He was unhurt.—Roswell News.

BIG BARBECUE.

On Sunday the French Land and Irrigation company, with headquarters at French, this state pulled off a big barbecue on the plains near Maxwell City.

A. C. Cox of Cimarron was present with his auto and took several parties of land buyers from Dawson to the scene of the barbecue, where land was sold, and it was ascertained that several parties from Dawson purchased small tracts of land, and will abandon coal camp life and resume work on their farms.

The barbecue was a profitable success, so much so, that another will be given some time in the near future, when other land buyers will be present.—Cimarron News.

FIRST CLASS FRUIT.

The fruit growers can not be too careful in the selection and packing of their fruit. This is the first peach crop that San Juan county has ever really had. Former crops have been sufficient to demonstrate that we had a country capable of producing the goods, but this year we have the goods—probably ten times more peach trees are now in bearing than ever before, and it is up to the entire section to show practically on the open market that we can not be out-classed by any other district. To do this it is necessary to discourage any short-sighted policy of any individual or company by which they might undertake to "work off" any interior goods. There is more first class than can be handled, so packing and shipping should be limited to the best.—Farmington Enterprise.

THAT COUNTY SEAT.

Judge Edmund C. Abbott on last Saturday, July 27th, 1912, heard counsel for Carrizozo in chambers at Santa Fe, at which time evidence was introduced in an effort to show that the statutes on the bond in the Lincoln county seat matter were not qualified for the second or additional $10,000 bond recently demanded by Judge Abbott. After hearing the arguments of Attorney Hudspeth, for Carrizozo, and Attorney C. C. Carron for Lincoln, Judge Abbott announced that he would demand a surety company bond in the case if one could be procured and if not procurable, a referee is to be submitted before him showing the actual unimpaired valuation of the parties signing the bond. A third choice was given Lincoln whereby they may produce an entirely new bond which must be unquestionable good for $10,000 and liable for that much damages to accrue.

In announcing his decision Judge Abbott stated that he believed there were now and would be more damages and that a good bond must be secured and that if such a bond had not been submitted on or before September 5th at which time he will return from his vacation that he would issue an order dissolving the injunction now restraining the construction of the county buildings at Carrizozo.—Carrizozo Outlook.

A SLICK WORKER.

Mr. W. H. Angell made a trip to Gallup a few days ago for the purpose of aiding in the roundup of a swindler, who worked a slick game on him a couple of months ago. The man, who gave his name as Hamburger, purported to be a salesman of a liquor distilling firm of recognized standing, but it transpired that he had no connection with the house and his skillful play as a reliable business man making a square deal turned out to be unfounded on fact. He secured something like $200 here in cash and paper. He had an active partner who helped him work the game.

He seems to have been working the state thoroughly. One of the three firms that he victimized at Gallup, by the aid of detectives and information furnished by firms interested, located the man, under the name of Heinisius, in New York City. The machinery of the law was put in motion, requisition papers were made out and an officer from Gallup went on to bring the prisoner back. The man fought requisition and offered to compromise by returning the money, and that was the situation at last accounts.

Seeing that the fight might be prolonged indefinitely Mr. Angell returned Tuesday to await further developments.—Vaughn Reporter.

NEWSPAPER MEN VISIT NEW MEXICAN.

H. B. Henning of the Albuquerque Herald and Orrin A. Foster of the Rio Grande Republican were visitors in Santa Fe yesterday attending the sessions of the Old Guard Republican committee. Both newspapermen paid a visit to the New Mexican and had a pleasant chat with the new management.

The Albuquerque Herald under new management is rapidly forging to the front in the journalistic field, while the Fosters have made the Rio Grande Republican one of the foremost weekly publications in the state and a paper much better than the town of Las Cruces and the county of Dona Ana are entitled to. Both Mr. Foster and Mr. Henning are veterans in the newspaper game in the southwest.

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE Extract of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest of pleasure, that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. H. HENNING of Lindholm, E. C. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to crawl; a specialist concerning my ear, that the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I dressed the wound with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines."

Mrs. HENNING.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

Boils, Rashes, Pimples, Etc.

When the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by boils, pimples, and rashes or eruptions on the skin. Humors get into the blood usually because of an impure condition of the eliminative members. Thus unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment and be absorbed into the circulation. Remove these humors and no skin trouble can exist, because its very source is then removed. Boils, rashes, pimples, etc., can never be cured through the application of external medicines, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood; the most to be obtained from such measures is temporary relief. S. S. S. CURES all skin affections because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation and cleanses it of every particle of unhealthy matter. Then the blood exercises its normal function of supplying nourishment to the cuticle instead of irritating it with a fiery humor. If you have any skin trouble you could not do better than purify your blood with S. S. S. It does not "patch up" it cures. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

STATE CONVENTION, W. C. T. U. A PLEASANT SESSION

(Communicated.)

The 28th Annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their opening meeting in the House of Representatives last evening. This is rather a notable and "special" convention for several reasons. First, while this is the second convention held by this organization in the Ancient City (the first being held 21 years ago) it is the first state convention, and it was fitting it should be held in the Capital City. Then, an unusual number of notable people took part in the exercises. It is a noticeable feature that Santa Fe can on short notice produce more notable and officials, and ex-officials than any other city in the United States, barring none but Washington. So it was not surprising that the visiting delegates were welcomed by Governor, Ex-Governor, Chief Justice, Judges, Lawyers, Educators, Ministers and Laymen.

Mrs. S. C. Nutter, state president, presided and exercises were opened by singing "America," followed by lesson and invocation by Rev. Smith, Rector of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Faith of Santa Fe. An enjoyable number was rendered by the quartet from the same church.

Governor McDonald warmly welcomed the delegates and extended the courtesies of the capital city, commending their work and assuring them he would render them all the help he could at any time, which promise the legislative superintendent carefully jotted down.

Ex-Governor Prince gave a little synopsis of some of the rare and valuable exhibits to be found in the historical rooms in the east end of the Palace of the Governors, some of which he said could be seen nowhere else in the world. He kindly offered to have the rooms open at any time most convenient for the visiting guests.

Rev. J. M. Shimer, Pastor of St. John's M. E. Church, welcomed them as "Sisters" fighting under the same glorious banner as his own Brotherhood, for this organization is first Christian, realizing that nothing but the binding love and faith in Christ could sustain them in the heart-breaking struggle in which they are engaged.

Judge Wm. H. Pope said he hardly knew why he was asked to welcome the delegates in the name of Santa Fe City unless it was on account of his record as a "sob-snoozer" that he had established on his entry into Santa Fe as a permanent resident. He might have added that his judicial record was somewhat tinged with the same propensity. Judge Pope also gave some timely hints in regard to the construction of certain laws now existing inimical to the efficient expression of the will of the people in suppressing the liquor traffic, which were noted and appreciated.

Mr. Renahan, president of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce, stated that he represented the youngest organization there, but asserted that it was born alive and he rather gave the impression that it was a precocious and "impish" youngster who was liable to play "progressive" pranks with the ancient and venerable city, whose interests they are enthusiastically boosting.

Mrs. Rupert F. Asplund spoke for the Woman's Board of Trade and Federated Clubs and made a splendid address. She assured the delegates of the good will and wishes of these organizations for their every fight for better conditions, beautifully expressing that sentiment of universal brotherhood: "We are all members of one body," fighting in a common cause against a common foe, and under the same great Commander.

Hon. Alvin N. White spoke in behalf of the Educational Institutions, welcoming the delegates as co-workers in educating and training the children for better citizens and higher ideals. Superintendent White is so situated as to appreciate the benefits of the S. T. I. laws in our different states.

Colonel George W. Prichard in a witty little speech for the New Mexico Bar association, carefully explained that their bar had no connection or relation to that other "bar" toward which their efforts were directed; he established strong bond of relationship between the two organizations and generously offered the services of himself and colleagues in settling any little internal complications that might arise, or in defending them from outside interference, and as the presiding officer remarked "all without mention of a retainer."

Judge McFie, in his usual happy way, welcomed the visitors to the American School of Archeology, who had generously given the evening in full to the exercises, and who are sharing the evenings for the rest of the week with the convention, and CANDELARIO MARTINEZ, Proprietor.

FATHER AND MOTHER

Why do you force your child to play the piano? You know it is a luxury and a money spender and only for the talented. The typewriter is a necessity. Why not let your boy or girl learn the Blindfold Touch Typewriting while their fingers are supple? There's money in this for the child. It is their proudest moment when they are typewriting. Oh! what a difference between the piano and the typewriter machine; when will you wake up to this fact, mother?

To make a quick note of what a speaker or preacher or teacher is saying or for a resolution at a club, would you not like it for yourself, mother? What would the other woman say about you being able to do such brisley and clever work? Even when reading a book you can make a quick extract. It is not the kind of shorthand that was taught eighty years ago when candles were being burned, for this is the modern electric system of reporting. Invented by the same man who gave the Shorthand that is used by almost every one in America at the present day; Sir Isaac Pitman. The A. B. C. Shorthand was invented late in his life and given to seven of his pupils; Professor Norton, now of Santa Fe, being one of the seven. He is here on behalf of an English society to train teachers so that they may carry on the good work. A boy or girl who learns Shorthand while in the grades is worth untold treasures, for it enables the child on leaving school to immediately earn money and not to be forced to attend another college for two years; remember, these two years mean the cost of board and room and not a cent income; altogether a loss of at least $2,000. Mother, prove your judgment and come to the Santa Fe Business College right away. It is those resolutions put off that ruin the boy or girl and carries a long regret which lasts through life. WE SAY NOW.

The question generally asked a few weeks ago was, "How long will the College remain open?" The answer, "Forever," has become popular. The question now asked, "How many pupils are there?" The answer is 22. The next question will be, "How many pupils now?" The answer in one month will be, 30—and commencement of the Winter term, 60. That is good sound growth and proves that the pupils now attending are being taught satisfactorily.

The English society has promised that when we have 100 pupils, they will build a college in Santa Fe that will be a credit to all concerned—and as money is no object, it all depends on the support of pupils. Let every one try for the 100 pupils, and have the building early next spring. Every pupil gets value for money and we say once more, COME IN AND SAY WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD WEEKLY. ALL SUBJECTS TAUGHT.

Among yesterday's arrivals of delegates were Mrs. Sarah Browne and Mrs. Hanson from Springer, who are guests of Mrs. O. L. Owen.

Mrs. Janie Manney, Mrs. Lucretia Major and Mrs. Mary Ulmer are arrivals from Tucuman.

Mrs. Leaming, Mrs. Pitt Ross, Mrs. Butler, from Albuquerque.

Mrs. Buell, president of the Las Cruces Union, and Mrs. Link from Las Cruces.

Mrs. S. C. Nutter, state president, and Mrs. L. E. Tripp, recording secretary, from Clovis, who are occupying the Summers cottage.

PROGRAM FOR FRIDAY.

Business session from 10 a. m. until noon at St. John's M. E. church, followed by Noonday Prayer.

STUBBS CLAIMS SEAT HELD BY CURTIS IN U. S. SENATE

Governor of Kansas Who is Progressive Asserts That He Has Defeated Standpatter in Primaries.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 9.—With returns from all of the 105 counties, friends of Governor Stubbs today claim his nomination to the United States senate in Tuesday's primaries.

Returns indicate that Stubbs has carried 92 of the 105 legislative districts. Judge Wm. H. Thompson is probably the democratic senatorial nominee, although Hugh P. Farrelley is a close contender for the nomination. Both Billard and Hodges claim the democratic gubernatorial nomination, with complete returns to be received from nearly 10 counties. Billard's lead is being slowly reduced and Hodges claims the nomination by 8,000.

Montoya Over.

In the case of the State vs. Jose Montoya, Jr., charged with burglary, Justice Jose Ma. Garcia of precinct 17, yesterday bound the defendant over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond.

A pistol and two gold rings were found on the prisoner's person. Montoya at first pleaded not guilty, but after an examination of witnesses and of the defendant himself who desired to testify, he changed his plea to guilty.

Montoya was already out under half charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. The assault was made on an elderly woman some time ago, with rocks and stones. He furnished bonds at that time but in the present instance was unable to do so and is confined in the jail.

TWENTY ALDERMEN UNDER ARREST

DETROIT FACES ONE OF THE WORST
KINDS OF MUNICIPAL GRAFT DIS-CLOSURES IN HISTORY OF COUN-TRY, SAYS DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—Sensational developments in the local aldermanic graft scandal occurred today when Prosecuting Attorney Shepard announced that before night about 20 aldermen would be arrested on charges of conspiracy to defraud the city in connection with their official positions. The nine aldermen recently arrested on a similar charge also are included among the 20 new arrests. It is said more arrests are to be based on entirely different evidence than that which caused the arrest of nine aldermen, and the secretary of the common council committees who now are at liberty on bail facing charges of receiving and conspiring to receive bribe money for giving the Wabash railroad city property for building purposes.

The new evidence is alleged to have been obtained by the prosecutor investigating the city administration for years back.

The prosecutor said he has struck many new instances of graft but refused to say whether the evidence was obtained from confessions by aldermen previously arrested.

Fifteen arrests were made before noon. Eight of the aldermen also face the original bribery charges.

Those newly arrested were required to furnish $5,000 bonds and those formerly taken into custody were released upon furnishing surety to the amount of $2,000.

BEET SUGAR MEN TO TELL THEIR STORY.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 9.—Taking of testimony from Colorado beet sugar men will be begun here Monday morning before special examiner Wilson B. Brice in the government's proceedings in equity to dissolve the so-called sugar trust under the Sherman anti-trust law. J. R. Knapp, Goldthwaite H. Dorr, and Abel Smith, Jr., Assistant U. S. Attorneys of New York, will conduct the hearing here for the government, having arrived today from Salt Lake City, where a similar hearing was conducted. The hearing in Denver will require two or three days.

be drawn against Louis Rosenzweig, "Whitey" Lewis, Harry Horowitz, Frank Cioflet and probably Jack Sullivan and Sam Schepps. Indictments against police officials for grafting will be drawn later.

Lieutenant Becker made a brief statement in his cell denying the truth of reports that he contemplated making a confession.

"I would like it to be understood once and for all," said Becker, "that I have no confession to make for the simple reason that I have nothing to confess. That will be proved very clearly when I have my day in court. I never felt better in my life and any one who has the privilege of seeing me will appreciate that."

Henry S. Curran, chairman of the special commission of the board of aldermen, which was appointed to investigate police conditions, said today that offers have been received from a number of gamblers who claim to have paid for protection, to appear before the committee and tell what they know about the situation.

These men say that screws have been shut down too hard "upon them and while they have done the work and taken the risk others have been reaping a large proportion of their profits."
