¶ We welcome the appearance of the reminiscences of one of New Mexico's most distinguished citizens: Memoirs: 1892-1969. A New Mexico Item by William A. Keleher (Santa Fe: The Rydal Press, 1969. Pp. 293. Illus., index. $7.50). Mr. Keleher's book is "a combination autobiography, narrative and memoir" and was "written especially for New Mexicans of good heart, whether New Mexicans by birth, adoption or inclination." Here is a delightful informal account of life and events in Albuquerque and New Mexico seen through the eyes of an attorney and historian who not only has spent a long lifetime here but has made an indelible mark upon his surroundings and upon those who have had the privilege of his acquaintance.

¶ Two recent books from the University of New Mexico Press deal primarily with contemporary problems arising from New Mexico's diverse and sometimes conflicting cultural heritage. In The Spanish-Americans of New Mexico: A Heritage of Pride (Albuquerque, 1969. Pp. xv, 246. Illus., map, bibliog., index. $7.95) Nancie A. González attempts to trace the origins of the tensions arising from the long process of adjustment between the traditions and ways of life of the Spanish-speaking population and those of the so-called "Anglo" latecomers. Tijerina and the Courthouse Raid by Peter Nabokov (Albuquerque, 1969. Pp. xii, 285. Illus., map, bibliog., index. $6.95) is a journalistic account of the events leading to the Tierra Amarilla courthouse raid in June 1967 and ensuing developments to Tijerina's acquittal on three of the charges in December 1969.

¶ The Arizona Pioneers' Historical Society has published Latest From Arizona! The Hesperian Letters, 1859-1861, edited by Constance Wynn Altshuler (Tucson, 1969. Pp. 293. Map, apps., bibliog., index. $10.00). Mrs. Altshuler has identified "Hesperian" as Thompson M. Turner. His reports from the turbulent frontier, as correspondent for the St. Louis Missouri Republican and the San Francisco Evening Bulletin, still read like news hot from the press and remain a source of information for attitudes as well as events of the time.

¶ Holt, Rinehart and Winston has reissued Rodman Wilson Paul's definitive Mining Frontiers of the Far West 1848-1880 (New York, 1969. Pp. xix, 236. Illus., maps, bibliog. essay, index. Paperback $2.95).

¶ The University of New Mexico Press offers a facsimile edition of Federal Control of the Western Apaches 1848-1886 by the late Ralph Hendrick Ogle. (Albuquerque, 1970. Pp. xxx, 259. Bibliog., map, index. $6.95.)

First published serially in NMHR and reprinted as Vol. 9 of Historical Society of New Mexico Publications in History (1940), this standard work is supplemented by a new introduction by Oakah L. Jones, Jr. UNM has also reissued Frontier Army Sketches by James W. Steele, with a new introduction by Philip D. Jordan. The author of these long out-of-print semi-fictional and rather mannered sketches was an eccentric young lieutenant briefly stationed at Fort Cummings, N.M., in the late 1860's.

¶ Two very different bibliographical aids will be most useful to students of Southwestern history: Myra Ellen Jenkins has prepared a much needed Calendar of the Microfilm Edition of the Mexican Archives of New Mexico 1821-1846 (Santa Fe, 1970. 144 pp.). This may be ordered from the Archives Division, State Records Center, 404 Montezuma, Santa Fe, N.M. 87105, and costs $1.00. The microfilm project was sponsored by the National Historical Publications Commission. The forty-two rolls of microfilm, a Guide, and the Calendar are available for $378.00; individual rolls are $9.00 each. Arizona Odyssey by David M. Goodman (Tempe: Arizona Historical Foundation, 1969. Pp. xvii, 360. Illus., index. $20.00) indexes nearly three thousand articles relating to Arizona and neighboring areas published in nineteenth-century periodicals, with short abstracts of their content. The bibliography is divided into twenty-five categories, from Archeology to Social Welfare, each preceded by a short background statement. Goodman and his publishers are to be congratulated upon the superb organization and presentation of this valuable research tool.

¶ The first work to appear in the second series of the Colección Chimalistac is La obra cartográfica de la provincia mexicana de la Compañía de Jesús (1567-1967) by Ernest J. Burrus, S. J. (Madrid: Ediciones José Porrúa Turanzas, 1967. Vol. 1, pp. xxiv, 8, 247; vol. 2, pp. vi, 46 maps. Illus., bibliog., indexes). Fr. Burrus has divided his worthwhile study into three sections: I. Maps drawn by Mexican Jesuits. II. Original maps and reproductions dealing with the Mexican Province. III. Cartographical reports on the Mexican Provinces. There are summaries of the careers of cartographers and some reports that accompanied certain maps. In view of the meticulous scholarship which went into the preparation of this survey, it is indeed a pity that the reproduction of the maps in Vol. 2 does not meet high standards.

¶ NMHR and articles in it appear in various periodical listings including: Historical Abstracts, Current Contents, America: History and Life, Index to Periodical Articles Related to Law, The American Historical Review, The Journal of American History, and the new journal of the Western History Association, The Western Historical Quarterly.
