REFUSE TO SIGN
JOINT NOTE.

Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching Balk at the Conditions of the Powers.

ANTI-FOREIGN SENTIMENT.

The Court Is Again Controlled by the Extreme Haters of the Foreigners—Plenipotentiaries Think Their Counsel Will Prevail.

Peking, Jan. 8.—Li Hung Chang is better. Both he and Prince Ching balked at signing the joint note, until the court is heard from again, and explained that the emperor's edict directing them to put off signing prevented them using the imperial seal until permission was received. It is known here among the Chinese that the extreme anti-foreign element is now in power and that the court favorites now advise the emperor to delay. Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching both strongly urge the signing of the agreement and believe that their counsels must prevail.

DISCUSSING CHINESE SITUATION.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—It is understood that the subject of the lengthy interview which U. S. Ambassador White had yesterday afternoon with the secretary of state for foreign affairs, Baron von Richthofen, was in regard to the proposal of the United States, that the powers withdraw their troops from China as soon as the Chinese government accepts all the articles in the joint note except those relating to the indemnity and commercial treaties, these being left for settlement at the conference of the powers at Washington or elsewhere. No final decision has been announced, but the feeling in diplomatic circles here seems to be opposed to the proposition of the United States.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

An Accidental Discharge of a Blast Causes Havoc at an Arizona Mine.

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 9.—By the accidental discharge of a blast in the mal-chite mine at Middlepark, Jack O'Brien, a miner, was blown to atoms, and his working partner, Claude Newell, was seriously injured. Newell was thrown over 150 yards, but managed to drag himself to camp and tell of the accident.

BOERS RACE CYCLE CORPS.

Pickaners' Kiof Occupied by the British
After a Running Fight.

Capetown, January 9.—The cyclist corps, which left here on Saturday, occupied Pickaners' Kiof on Sunday after a race with the Boers for its possession. The Boers attempted to intercept the cyclists, but the latter succeeded in occupying the position, though three were killed and 23 wounded. The cyclists retained the pass. Commending of horses has commenced in the districts where their owners refused to sell to the military authorities.

THE ARMOUR
FUNERAL SERVICES.

Great Throng Take a Last Glance at the Dead Millionaire—No Funeral Sermon Was Preached.

A SIMPLE BUT IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Private funeral services over the body of the late Philip D. Armour were held at 11 o'clock today at the Armour residence. Following the services at the house, the body was taken to the Armour mission, where from noon until 2 o'clock, it lay in state, and was viewed by thousands of people, including the throngs of employees from the great packing houses and other business interests of the dead millionaire. The services at the house were of the simplest character, carrying out the expressed wishes of the deceased, and were attended only by the family and close friends. At 2 o'clock the public funeral services were held at the Armour mission and here again simplicity was observed. Dr. Gunzautus delivered no funeral sermon, simply reading the fifteenth chapter of Corinthians. The crowd united in the Lords prayer. The burial was at Graceland cemetery.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The River and Harbor Bill Called Up For Debate.

Washington, Jan. 9.—In the house today a joint resolution for the appointment of Ex-Senator George Gray, of Delaware, as a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian institute to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late W. L. Wilson, was adopted.

Burton, chairman of the river and harbor committee, called up the river and harbor bill. He suggested that the general debate be limited to three hours but all attempts to secure an agreement failed. Burton made a preliminary statement in support of the measure.

In the debate upon the re-appointment bill, Duffell denied the affirmation that under the rules this was an efficient house, on the contrary it was an inefficient house. The records showed it. He argued at length in opposition to the increase of membership. Bingham of Pennsylvania, expressed opposition to the Hopkins bill and spoke in favor of the Burleigh bill. He declared the inefficiency of the administration of the business of the house was due in part to its size. Grosvenor of Ohio, declared he would vote for a smaller rather than a larger house. If the Burleigh bill became a law, it turned over twenty-five per cent of the power of the 58th congress to the cities of this country and stripped the rural districts of their power.

The Burleigh substitute for the Hopkins re-appointment bill was adopted by the house by a vote of 165 to 102.

SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 9.—A sharp tilt occurred in the senate today when Pettigrew was questioning Hawley regarding the canteen in the army. Many questions had been asked and replies given when Hawley said: "I decline to answer any further questions." "I am perfectly aware," said Pettigrew, "of the senator's inability to answer any questions intelligently." "Oh, what does he mean?" retorted Hawley, "by a few down insult like that?" This ended the incident.

The senate this afternoon laid on the table the committee bill providing for the continuance of the present canteen system in the army.

A GENERAL SNOW STORM.

A Train Buried in Colorado and Much Trouble Caused in Missouri.

Denver, Colo., January 9.—A great snow storm has been prevailing at many points in the mountains. At Alpine Pass mountain the snow has accumulated. The train from Gunnison, due at Buena Vista Monday evening, is snowed in there.

SNOW IN MIDDLE STATES.

Kansas City, Jan. 9.—A snow storm, which in many places turned to sleet, prevailed throughout the middle states since midnight, and is causing much trouble to telegraph and telephone companies. Between Chicago and Kansas City especially, the telegraph wires covered with sleet worked but indifferently.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS.

A Reported Attempt to Kidnap Mrs. Carrie Nation.

Wichita, Kas., Jan. 9.—The supreme court of Kansas granted a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Carrie Nation, charged with smashing a saloon mirror, returnable at Topeka next Saturday.
Her attorneys allege that the turnkey of the jail offered to let Mrs. Nation out of jail if she would leave the city in disguise. They declare it a scheme to kidnap her.

THE PRESIDENT BETTER.

His Condition Compels Him to Keep in His Bed.

Washington, Jan. 9.—At 10 o'clock this morning, Secretary Cortelyou reported that the president passed a comfortable night, and the case was yielding rapidly to treatment. No unfavorable symptoms appeared, but from the nature of the disease, the president will be compelled to keep his bed for several days.

NO WORSE TODAY.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—It is stated at the White House that the president is no worse than yesterday, and is progressing. He is strictly following the instructions of his physician, remains in bed and does not attend to any public service.

A STORM.

The Fearful Plight of Fifty Passengers Within Sight of the French Coast.

EFFORTS AT RESCUE FAIL.

The Tremendous Height of the Waves Seems to Cut off All Hope for the Ninety Souls on the Steamer Russie.

Marseilles, Jan. 9.—Dispatches from the village of Faraman, near which the French mail steamer Russie, from Oran, Algeria, stranded on Monday in a violent storm with fifty passengers and a crew of forty on board, say that all efforts to reach the steamer failed, owing to the tremendous height of the seas which are running. The only hope seems to be in the ability of the life savers to throw a line over the Russie, as the wrecked vessel is driven closer to shore. The forecastle and part of the forward deck house are all of the vessel above water. The beach was lined all night with watchers. Lights were seen on board of the steamer, but it is believed some of those on board already have been drowned, although no bodies have been washed ashore.

ALL ALIVE ON BOARD.

Marseilles, Jan. 9.—A signal message was received this afternoon from the Russie saying that all on board were alive, but begging for succor. The sea has slightly moderated, but up to the present all attempts to rescue have failed.

A Missouri Legislative Frank.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 9.—A resolution was adopted today by the house of representatives memorializing congress to allow the Philippines to establish a government.

MURDERED BY A TRAMP.

Deputy Sheriff Matthew B. Devine of Yuma, Ariz., Is Killed.

Yuma, Ariz., Jan. 9.—Under Sheriff Matthew B. Devine was murdered last night. He suspected three tramps of having robbed a saloon, and attempted to search them when one of the trio fired two shots at him, with a fatal result. A sheriff's posse, assisted by Indian trailers, is in pursuit of the murderers.

ELIGIO PEREA CAPTURED.

He Is Accused of Murdering Santa Cruz Lucero at Mesilla.

Last Monday night Eligio Perea, who shot and killed Santa Cruz Lucero at Mesilla Friday night of last week, surrendered to a posse that had been searching for him since the hour of the killing. Perea was located in a bosque almost a mile and a half south of the town of Mesilla shortly after the crime was committed. The thicket in which he had secreted himself was completely surrounded, making escape impossible.
After 48 hours in the cold the hunted man surrendered to a deputy sheriff of the party. When he surrendered the posse had a pistol and a Winchester.
His surrender was a surprise to the party, who expected a fight. The murdered man was a brother of the sheriff who took the office January 1st and was popular in the county. He owned and operated a flour mill. He was a young man about 26 years of age. The crime he committed the crime is said to have a hard name, with a record of killing a man in Colorado and another in Arizona. He is about 60 years of age. The cause of the crime is unknown, as there were no eye-witnesses to the shooting.
The wound was inflicted by a shot from a six-shooter, the ball entering over the eye, causing instant death. The prisoner was taken to the Las Cruces jail.

A GOOD TRAIN SERVICE.

Santa Fe Has Close Connections With the Trains on the Main Line.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company is not at all unkind to Santa Fe, for the capital city has now the best train service that it ever had. The branch train to Lamy goes out four times daily to make connection with main line trains.
Connection with the limited train is not made because it would land passengers in Santa Fe at 8 o'clock in the morning, a very undesirable time. Superintendent J. E. Hurley has also given orders to make close connections with all delayed trains so that passengers do not have an uncomfortable and long wait at Lamy before reaching the capital.

The following letter upon that subject has been received by the New Mexican:
East Las Vegas, N. M., Jan. 7, 1901.
Colonel Max Frost, Editor New Mexican, Santa Fe, N. M.
My Dear Sir: Your letter of Nov. 15, 1900, with petition of citizens of Santa Fe, and also your further letter of Nov.
17, 1900, same subject.

Since that time, I have talked with you personally in regard to the conditions. With the new time card in effect you will note that we have most splendid service for Santa Fe. You have four round trips daily, and connect with every train we have except the limited. If the connection with the limited was made, it would land people in Santa Fe at 3 a. m., a very undesirable hour, and in order to leave Santa Fe to connect with it, it would be necessary to leave there about 12.50 a. m., which is also not a desirable hour. We now connect with a train No. 1 and upon it's arrival, run to Santa Fe, and get back for train No. 7, which prevents any lay over at Lamy. We also connect with trains 8 and 2.

Will give the matter personal attention as to preventing any long delays at Lamy, and I believe you will feel that the service is satisfactory and all that it should be.

Yours very truly,
J. E. HURLEY,
Superintendent.

THE LONDON AND GLOBE CORPORATION.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava Succeeds in Temporarily Appeasing the Wrath of the Shareholders.

A VERY STORMY MEETING WAS HELD

London, Jan. 9.—Amidst cries "Turn him out," hooting and other hostile interruptions, the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, chairman of the suspended London and Globe Finance Corporation, limited, at an extraordinary meeting of the company called for today, succeeded in at least temporarily appeasing the wrath of the shareholders. The hall was packed. Warm cheering was mingled with hisses and boos. As a result of his explanations the directors and shareholders voted an adjournment until Monday when a scheme for the reconstruction of the concern will be submitted. Dufferin spoke with evident emotion as he explained his personal relations with the corporation and the result of the meeting was largely a tributute to himself. He explained that he was induced to accept the chairmanship at the solicitation of the late Lord Loch and Sir Wm. Robinson.

THE CREW SAVED IN BOATS.

The Loss Amounts to Fully $500,000—The Cowenham Tunnel Near the Smuggler Mine at Aspen, Colo., Is Burning.

New York, Jan. 9.—The harbor excursion steamer, Idlewild, which was tied up at Pier 42, "Farm" dock in the Erie basin, Brooklyn, caught fire early this morning and drifted from her moorings and collided with the steamship St. Dunstan of Liverpool, which also caught fire. Captain Zoley of the St. Dunstan, and his crew of thirty-eight men, were rescued by small boats.
The Idlewild was almost totally destroyed, and the St. Dunstan and two docks were badly damaged. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

A MINE FIRE.

Aspen, Colo., Jan. 9.—A fire was discovered at midnight, 400 feet from the

The men working in the coal mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Madrid, in this county, quit work last night without having received orders from Organizer Gehr to go out.
It is believed the order will be given today. There is nothing new in the strike situation at Gallup. The miners of the American Fuel Company remain out and in all other mines the men are working as usual.

ANOTHER GRANT COUNTY MURDER.*Jose Delgado Stabbed to Death at Silver City Sunday Morning.

Jose Delgado was murdered in a drunken brawl at Silver City on Sunday.
Evidence seems to show that the murder was premeditated.

Jesus Ramos, charged with the murder, fled, but was captured on Chihua-huila hill by Deputy Sheriff Cipriano Buck. Teodoro Silva and a man named Raula were also arrested upon the suspicion of being implicated in the murder. Delgado had a wound in the abdomen five inches deep, inflicted with a long dirk. Bleeding from a severed artery caused death in a few minutes after the assault. Ramos was still intoxicated when he was arrested.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9.

For Governor of New Mexico from June 7, 1901, to June 7, 1905, or until statehood is attained, Miguel A. Otero.

The president has a bad cold. In this he exemplifies his democracy of feeling for the great majority of the people are with him this time.

The news that snow covers southern Russia and Vancouver to the depth of six feet will awaken a sympathetic shiver on part of people in New Mexico, who probably need the snow more than does southern Russia or Vancouver.

The British parliament, the United States congress and the Prussian diet, besides several state legislatures, are in session now and the wind that is being wasted would drive all the windmills in Holland for a year.

Another puglist has been given a knockout blow which sent him beyond the river Styx. These puglists are using their fists too much; it were healthier for them if they depended entirely upon their tongues to fight their little battles.

Under the revenue laws enacted by the 33d legislative assembly and signed and approved by Governor Otero, the revenue system of the territory has been vastly improved. The Taos Crescent neatly and correctly puts the matter in this shape:

"Governor Otero deserves more credit than any other person for the great improvement made in the revenue laws two years ago, and the decrease in the territorial debt at that time. He will continue this policy during the next four years if re-appointed."

It is often the case that the most brilliant orator makes the poorest statesman or legislator. Indeed, no great eloquence in any responsible statesman, is a perilous luxury. The greatest orators are often the poorest political guides and while they may thrill an audience for a moment, closer analysis of their speeches, which is sure to be made in a sober moment, shows that burning phrases have too wide a reach, that they are not the product of clear judgment and constructive statesmanship. A businessman, or a sound lawyer, is far more desirable in an executive or legislative position than the merely brilliant rhetorician or fireworks orator.

Governor Orman has some big ideas about doctoring the revenues of Colorado. If he places his dependence upon an income and an inheritance tax he is banking upon a great uncertainty. Income and inheritance have a habit of disappearing or dwindling when the tax collector comes around. Governor Orman, however, is on the right track when he insists upon just and full assessments, especially of incorporations like the Standard Oil Company and the rich mining companies who pay out millions in dividends every year. New Mexico should watch the fight that Colorado is making to compel a just assessment and should follow the example of its neighboring state in that respect.

Between 1870 and 1880, there were 461 suicides in Chicago. From 1880 to 1890 there were 1,065; and from 1890 to 1900 there were 3,132. This increase in the number of persons who took their own lives in that city is startling. The same ratio throughout the United States would indicate 15,000 suicides every year. New York has had one suicide daily for ten years, if the average is taken. The ratio of suicides to every million of inhabitants has increased to 265 per year, a ratio that gives a terrible glimpse of the desperate sorrow and sin that find relief only in self-inflicted death. An army of 150,000 men and women crossing the dark valley of the shadow of death every ten years in the United States, because they found life unbearable! This fact presents a hard problem indeed to the sociologist and reformer.

Teaching Morality.

F. J. Gould in the current number of the International Journal of Ethics advocates the adoption of a text book on morality in public schools, and that morality can be inculcated into a child with a fanned and a rod. Morality can and ought to be incidentally taught in the public schools, but it can be done only by making the pupil feel the influence of a pure moral atmosphere in the school room. He should have a high example of morality in the professional work and daily life of every teacher. Boards of education should only elect teachers of unquestioned morality and citizens on the other hand should elect only men to the board of education, or to any other public office, who are clean in morals. But it is in the home, after all, that the child must have its character formed. The fact that moral decay is spreading among young men and young women is because fathers and mothers are derelict in their moral life or in their home duties, and no text book on morality used in the public schools will undo the harm done by bad example in the home of the child, or neglect of moral precepts on part of the community in which the child lives.

Pneumonia is today slaying as many victims as the plague slew in the days of old. All other diseases are amateurs in the work of swelling the death list in winter compared to pneumonia. Physicians are well nigh helpless in dealing with this monster who descends suddenly upon a human being and almost before he is aware of being sick, carries him off into the world to come. In New York there are today 250,000 cases of pneumonia or incipient pneumonia, for every case of grip might almost be called such. If there were 250,000 cases of smallpox or of any other disease in that city, it would cause a panic, although no other general disease is so deadly as pneumonia. The physician who discovers a specific against that disease will have conferred a greater blessing upon mankind even than Dr. Jenner did in his discovery of the efficiency of vaccination.

The Constitution.

It is strange that these Democrats in congress who are most devoted to the constitution when it comes to arguing the Philippine question, should make wry faces when the constitution is mentioned in connection with the disfranchisement of the negro and a constitutional apportionment of congressmen and electoral votes. The constitution provides that: "When the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state." There is no ambiguity about that, yet the very same statesmen who assert that the constitution is trampled under foot and that the nation is being enslaved by militarism, are fighting tooth and nail the enforcement of the above clause of the constitution. Queer, how the judgment of men is warped by politics.

Statehood for New Mexico.

In order to show to the people of the territory some of the advantages that would accrue to the territory if we were admitted into the sisterhood of states, the following is presented, being a statement of the patronage received by the state of Wyoming, having a population of about 32,000, while New Mexico has two and one-half times that much:

Two U. S. senators and one member of the house of representatives; Willis Van Devanter, assistant U. S. attorney general; W. A. Richards, assistant commissioner general land office; M. C. Brown, U. S. district judge for Alaska; J. C. Baird, U. S. district attorney for Hawaii; Hugo Donzleman, U. S. consul at Prague; C. B. Bradley, legal adviser to military governor, Philippines; Miss Estelle Reed, national supt. of Indian schools; James Bennett, Esq., U. S. P. O. inspector; thirty postal clerks; four clerks in the interior department; fourteen clerks in the census office, permanent; one clerk in the treasury department; one clerk in state department; one clerk in forestry department; seven clerks in U. S. senate; three clerks in house of representatives; J. Blair Schoenfeldt, Indian agent, Union Agency, Mazonide, Ind. Territory; Elwood Mead, bureau of irrigation, and ten clerks, with appropriation of $75,000 per year.

Work for Idle Hands.

Penny lunch rooms have been opened in New York City in which 1,200 men were fed in one day and in which it is expected to feed 35,000 to 40,000 men daily. It is not a calamity how when the question is asked: "Is it well, from a social and industrial standpoint, to encourage such a standard of living? Are one cent dishes and three cent meals for American men and women a hopeful opening for the twentieth century?" Our economic conditions are not what they should be as long as 30,000 men in one of our cities are allowed to live on soup house charity. Suppose all the money spent for that kind of charity were put in a common fund and that fund be used in great public enterprises such as building reservoirs and irrigation systems for the west, good roads where they are needed, river and harbor improvements. Wouldn't it be better to employ all idle men on such works at living wages rather than feed them in soup houses? But the nation should not wait for charity to find the remedy, it is sufficiently rich and powerful to find and to give work to every man desiring it and the man not desiring work is not deserving of charity. For charity there are no returns except gratitude and often crime, but in employing idle men and women on public works, a return would be received for every cent expended. Sums for charity must come out of the pockets of the people and certainly do not prove as profitable as the same amount of money spent on public improvements.

Reform in Assessment Methods Necessary.

The assessed valuation of the territory during the past few years has considerably decreased. For the year 1900 the assessed returns show a valuation of but $35,364,761 as against $45,521,220 for 1898. On the other hand it is a well known fact that the territory has gained in wealth and that in place of decreasing in taxable property it has increased. This state of affairs must be ascribed to inefficiency or neglect of duty on the part of county assessors and boards of county commissioners, who approve or disapprove the assessment of assessors. One case in point is the county of Socorro, where the assessment of 1900 is over $2,000,000 below the assessment of 1898. This can be ascribed only to the neglect and inefficiency of the assessor and county commissioners in office during 1900. There should be a way by which the executive could remove county commissioners who fail to perform their duty as prescribed by law in such matters and the county commissioners should have the right and power to remove the assessor who is negligent or inefficient. Such a law would be but just and fair to all concerned. Underestimated valuations or

CANCER Cannot be Cut Out or Removed with Plasters

Surgical operations and flesh destroying plasters are useless, painful and dangerous, and besides, never cure Cancer. No matter how often a cancerous sore is removed, another comes at or near the same point, and always in a worse form. Does not this prove conclusively that Cancer is a blood disease, and that it is folly to attempt to cure this deep-seated, dangerous blood trouble by cutting or burning out the sore, which, after all, is only an outward sign of the disease—a place of exit for the poison?

Cancer runs in families through many generations, and those whose ancestors have been afflicted with it are liable at any time to be stricken with the deadly malady.

Only Blood Diseases can be Transmitted from One Generation to Another

—further proof that Cancer is a disease of the blood. To cure a blood disease like this you must cure the entire blood system—remove every trace of the poison. Nothing cures Cancer effectually and permanently but S. S. S.

S. S. S. enters the circulation, searches out and removes all taint, and stops the formation of cancerous cells. No mere tonic or ordinary blood medicine can do this. S. S. S. goes down to the very roots of the disease, and forces out the deadly poison, allowing the sore to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. at the same time purifies the blood and builds up the general health.

A little pimple, a harmless looking wart or mole, a lump in the breast, a cut or bruise that refuses to heal under ordinary treatment, should all be looked upon with suspicion, as this is often the beginning of a bad form of cancer.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keating, 54 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 41 years old and for three years have suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors in this city said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and all hope of ever being well again, when my drug dealer, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, much to the surprise of the physician. I have gained in weight, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, an enjoying perfect health."

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of long experience, who are especially skilled in treating Cancer and other blood diseases. Write for any advice or information wanted, we make no charge whatever for this service. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

ANOTHER INDORSEMENT.

Governor Otero Has Worked Earnestly and Faithfully for the Territory.

(McKinley County Republican.)

On June 7th next a governor will be appointed for this territory. We favor the reappointment of the present efficient incumbent, Miguel A. Otero. He is a native citizen of our territory and has made a good executive officer in the past four years. He has worked unceasingly for the welfare and advancement of the territory, and in his association with the statesmen of the east has done much to disabuse them of the notion that the natives of New Mexico were unfit for self government. He has worked earnestly and faithfully for our representation among the states of the union and has made a most favorable impression with the politicians east of us in securing at an early day the long-deferred statehood so earnestly desired by the people of both parties. Governor Otero is a consistent republican and commands the respect of the leaders of the party in the east, as well as the support of the party in New Mexico.

THE SOLICITOR GENERALSHIP.

It is an Office of the Utmost Importance to This Territory.

(Cartelard Argus.)

"The Argus gladly gives space to the following communication from Hon. A. A. Freeman, an agent of the proposition to abolish the office of solicitor general of the territory. As an ex-judge of the supreme court of New Mexico and as the leader of the Peas valley bar, the words of Judge Freeman are entitled to great weight and should command earnest attention.

I note what the Argus has to say against the suggestion to abolish the office of solicitor general. It must not be forgotten that all changes are not reforms. I believe that every state and territory in the Union has such a law officer. And indeed, it would seem that there is a peculiar necessity for such a one. The name differs in different jurisdictions. In some states he is called the state's attorney general; in others, state reporter, a part of his duties being to report the decisions of the supreme court. But in all states it is deemed necessary to have an officer whose duty it is to represent the public in the higher courts.

There is no state or territory where such an office is more important than in this territory. Some one must represent the territory in criminal appeals. Who is going to perform that service if the office of solicitor general is abolished? Will the several district attorneys follow up their cases from the district courts? Certainly not, on the present pay. What then? Suppose you have each district attorney follow his cases to the supreme court; you must necessarily incur the expense of paying a sufficient sum to reimburse all these gentlemen for their expenses, to say nothing of the additional salary which they would require. And after that, what then? The territory would not, and could not get as good service as under the present conditions; for it goes without saying that one intelligent lawyer, situated at the seat of government, giving his special attention to this branch of the business, can better prepare his cases than can a half dozen lawyers scattered over the territory and having only a perfunctory interest in these cases.

But the considerations suggested are not the only nor principal—features that go to make up the necessity for the existence of this office. At a rough guess, there are one hundred and fifty county and territorial officers scattered over New Mexico, whose functions require them to pass upon the construction of territorial statutes. Some of these officers place their own construction on the statutes, but most of them appeal to their law advisor, the solicitor general, and this method, in doubtful cases, is always the safest course. Suppose his construction is not always correct; it is a thousand times better than to have the law construed one way in one county and a different way in each of the other counties. It is of incalculable service to the several county officers to have the advice of an able lawyer, who has given his time and attention to the construction of the laws they are called upon to administer.

Referring to the suggestion that there is no danger of depriving the territory of a law officer, and that the movement looks only to the abolishment under one name and its re-creation under another for the sole purpose of a change in the person of the officer, I have only to say that such a method seems cowardly. If General Bartlett is not the right man, why, then, point out his faults, prove them, and see to it that the right man is appointed. In my opinion, however, General Bartlett is the right man in the right place. I have always found him active in the discharge of his duties, and he has discharged them well and ably.

A Good Word for Griffith.

(Ranswell Register.)

The Register hopes that Judge McMillan will retain J. E. Griffith as clerk of the district court. He has discharged the duties of the office in a satisfactory manner and has proved to be very efficient. So far as the Register is able to learn, he has handled all court business promptly and has been exceedingly courteous and obliging towards all persons having business with him.

The Territories Will Be Admitted.

(Globe-Democrat.)

An attempt will be made to secure admission for all the territories before the present congress steps down on March 4 next, but this is not likely to be successful, except, perhaps, in the case of Oklahoma. New Mexico and Arizona are much older as territories than Oklahoma is, but they fall far short of it in population. All the territories, from the present indications, will be admitted before the next election for congress takes place, but the pressure of important work may keep all of them except Oklahoma out until the long session of 1901-02.

The United States received more prizes at the Paris Exposition than any other nation, except France. The total honor 1,891. It is also a remarkable fact, that though the inhabitants of every country suffer from digestive troubles, and though every clime offers some alleviative therefrom, it remains for America to produce an absolutely reliable remedy for such common diseases. This remedy is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Half a century ago, it was placed upon the market, and from that day to this, it has never been equalled. It has an almost unparalleled record for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, sick headache, sour stomach, belching, heartburn, nervousness, fatigue, insomnia, or any other disturbance of the stomach. Be sure to give it a trial.

Lady Anna's Warning

By Magdalen Rock.

"No, no, Ellis," Guy Durant said, hastily, "you shall not enter upon such a bargain blindfolded. Let me see," the speaker consulted a schedule for a moment. "Yes, there's a train to Helsingfors at 2:30. If you are not otherwise engaged, we can journey by it to Durant Hall. You can view the park and the few acres surrounding it, examine the house, dine and sleep there. Then, if you are foolish enough, tempt me with your offer."

"Nonsense, Durant! I am perfectly satisfied to give you the money I say for your property," Kirby Ellis answered. He was a short, stoutly-built man, with keen black eyes and a square, determined jaw. Possibly there was Hebrew blood in his veins. At any rate, few men on the stock exchange were bolder in their speculations, and fewer still were as successful.

"But I am not satisfied to take it," his companion remarked, quietly. "To tell you the truth, you offer too much. Durant Hall is a dilapidated old structure, and I won't sell it to you except you see it."

The speaker leaned back in his chair as he spoke. For two or three generations the Durants had been going steadily to the bad, and Guy Durant had been but little wiser than his immediate predecessors. Not that he was either a gambler or a spendthrift, but he possessed an easy-going, generous disposition, some artistic and expensive tastes, and no business instincts. He had married a pretty young English girl, who had died, leaving him with a baby two months old. The child he had placed under the care of her maternal aunt, and for many years he had led an aimless, pleasurable existence, in continental cities chiefly.

A few months previously he had taken up his residence in London, for the purpose of being near a physician in whom he had much dependence. He had been aware for some time that his heart was affected, and Dr. Chalmers had told him that his length of days could not be long, and for the first time he had begun to consider his child. No provision had been made for her, and Durant hall and its few hundred acres were heavily mortgaged. He had been not a little surprised when Kirby Ellis had offered him a fancy price for the remnant of his property. He had met that gentleman once or twice abroad, and had wondered why he was so anxious to cultivate him, once he settled in London.

"Well, what do you say?" Durant demanded, after a short silence.
"I suppose you must have your way," Ellis replied, rather shortly.
"All right then, I'll wire to the old housekeeper to expect us, and meet you at Paddington in half an hour," Durant said, rising.

Ellis nodded and the two men separated. Three hours later they were at Durant Hall, and its owner insisted on its would-be purchaser seeing the entire property he was so eager to possess. Evening had closed into night when at length they sat down to dinner in the large wainscoted library. It was the most comfortable room in the lower part of the mansion, and various portraits of dead and gone Durants hung upon its dark oaken walls. One of these seemed to have a special attraction for Ellis, and Guy Durant laughed as he noticed it.

"Everyone remarks that portrait," he said. "Shall I tell you Lady Anna's story?"
"I shall be glad to listen," the guest promised. "She is very beautiful," with another glance toward the picture.

"She was, if that represents her with any degree of correctness. It was painted long after Lady Anna had shared the common fate of humanity from an old miniature of her. Yes, she was beautiful."

The speaker paused to look at the delicately molded features, at the slender neck encircled by the enormous ruff that was the fashion of the time, at the fair hair swept high from the level brow.
"And the story?" Ellis asked.
"Well, it seems that the Lady Anna was a Catholic, though the Durants were then, as now, Protestants." Guy Durant laughed cynically as he paused for a moment.
"They attended to worldly matters. If the story is true, more than to spiritual, and accepted Henry's Six Articles as readily as his son's Thirty-nine. But Lady Anna was different. Her husband, Piers Durant, was one of Elizabeth's courtiers, but this fact did not save his wife from being denounced as a Catholic, nor did his entreaties save her life when she was convicted of assisting a priest to escape. She was executed in the courtyard of the hall, and died as bravely as her coreligionists usually did."

"Is that all?" Ellis asked. The story had little interest for him.
"All, except the legend. It is said that her spirit is often seen."
"Oh!" Ellis laughed, mockingly. "You don't believe that?"
"I really don't know. I have never seen her ladyship myself, but it is an article of Durant faith that she often comes to warn her descendants against some danger or folly."

a brief pause, which was broken by a startled exclamation from Durant, and Ellis turned slightly in his chair. From one corner of the library a woman had advanced and stood stock still, surveying them with a strange air. The expression of her face, the upturned hair, the wide, outstanding ruff and stiff brocade bodice were those that the pictured Lady Anna wore; and one white hand was raised as if in astonishment or warning.

While one might have counted a hundred the two men stared at the apparition, and then with a common impulse they turned their gaze to the picture on the opposite wall. When their eyes were again directed to the spot where the woman had stood she had gone.

"What does it mean? Who is she?" Ellis questioned by and by.
"I know no more than you," Durant replied, solemnly, and there was indeed no doubting his words.

"It must have been some one belonging to the house," Ellis reasoned.
Durant shook his head.
"There is no one in the house, so far as I know, but old Johnson and his wife, and besides she—it disappeared."

"It is very strange."
"So strange that our bargain is off. I will not sell the hall," Durant said, and Ellis looked him amazed.

"Not sell the hall!" he echoed, angrily.
"No."
"But you cannot believe that—"

"No matter, I will not sell," Durant interrupted.
"Don't be superstitious, Durant. You cannot be in earnest. I have taken a fancy to the place."

"I am sorry, but I will not sell."
"Look here, man. Will another five thousand not tempt you?"
"No, Ellis, I am not to be tempted. Please say no more."

"But you cannot attach any importance to the—" Ellis hesitated—"to what we fancied we saw?"
"I don't know," Durant answered, truthfully enough. "Perhaps we saw nothing. It may have been fancy in my case."

There was an uncomfortable pause.
"Will you take a hand at cards, Ellis, or go to bed?" the host asked at length. Ellis yawned ostentatiously.

"To bed, if you don't mind; and I trust none of your ancestors or ancestors' wives will pay me a visit."
"There is little danger of that," Durant laughed, "but you will find modern comforts in your bedroom. I hope, however, Mrs. Johnson has seen to the airing of the sheets. Shall I show you the way?"

Durant led his guest to the room assigned to him, and early next morning both returned to London.

On the day following Guy Durant received two letters. One bore the postmark of the post town nearest Durant Hall, and the address was in his daughter's handwriting.

"Dear father," it ran, "I hope I did not startle you very much last night. One of Aunt Alice's servants has scarlet fever in a rather bad form, and she took advantage of a long-standing invitation of Mrs. Kingsley's—I was at school with Pauline Kingsley, you know—to send me to Kingsley Court. There is a short cut from it, as perhaps you know, to the hall. Pauline Kingsley is getting up some private theatricals, and she and I ran over to the hall last night in order to rummage through some old silks and things in mamma's room. You won't mind, I hope. We passed through the house without seeing anyone, and Pauline insisted on dressing me up as a court lady of ancient days, and then she discovered a wonderful resemblance in me to Lady Anna's portrait. We ran down one of those old little staircases that the house is so full of and entered the library by a disused door that I found out when Aunt Alice and I once stayed at the hall. Guess my astonishment to find you and another gentleman at dinner. After a pause I hastened back by the way I came. Pauline never got in at all. We felt like a pair of very badly behaved children as we ran back to Kingsley Court. Poor Mrs. Johnson must have been very busy in the kitchen, for we never once saw her nor her husband."

Guy Durant laid down the letter when he had read so far and gave a characteristic laugh.
The explanation, however, was not pleasant reading.

"So Meg was the ghost that led me to refuse a very advantageous offer! Her masquerade has resulted in some mischief," he said, and finished reading the epistle.
In a few minutes he turned his attention to the second letter. It was from the Durant lawyers, and warned him against making a sudden disposal of his property.

"We have learned," Bosworth & Mannors wrote, "that a large and rich vein of copper ore runs through your property. Our knowledge came to us by accident, as also the fact that Mr. Kirby Ellis is aware of the existence of the copper ore in your property. We trust you have not sold Durant Hall for any sum, however large seemingly."

Guy Durant did not laugh over the last letter, and it was some considerable time before he said:
"So there is something, after all is said and done, in 'Lady Anna's warning.'"—Catholic Fireside.

Oldest of Church Bell Towers.
The oldest church bell tower in America is now in good condition in Tacoma, Wash. When the first settlement was made on Commencement bay, Puget sound, a church was built, but there was no bell tower, so a big fir tree was selected. The bell was placed in the top of this tree, a ladder extending from the roof of the church to the improvised tower. The ivy-colored fir still stands, with the bell in its top. The fir, according to calculations, must have been a young tree when Columbus made his first voyage, and therefore it is the oldest bell tower in America.—N. Y. World.

Persons who suffer from indigestion cannot expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. Ireland's Pharmacy.

The only way that a good many men ever get religion, was the reply. I married it.—Chicago Post.

I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Ireland.

THE TURN OF LIFE.

The Most Important Period in a Woman's Existence.—Mrs. Johnson Tells How She Was Helped Over the Trying Time.

CHARLOTTE JOHNSON

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying, and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are only a few of the symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. The three following letters are guaranteed to be genuine and true, and still further prove what a great medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women.

Mar. 12, 1907.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been sick for a long time. I was taken sick with flooding. All my trouble seemed to be in the womb. I ache all the time at the lower part of the womb. The doctor says the womb is covered with ulcers. I suffer with a pain on the left side of my back over the kidney. I am fifty years old and passing through the change of life. Please advise me what to do to get relief. Would like to hear from you as soon as possible."—MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

Jan. 23, 1908.

"I have been taking your remedies, and think they have helped me a great deal. I had been in bed for ten weeks when I began taking your Vegetable Compound, but after using it for a short time I was able to be up around the house. The aching in the lower part of womb has left me. The most that troubles me now is the flooding. That is not so bad, but still there is a little every day. I am not discouraged yet, and shall continue with your medicine, for I believe it will cure me."—MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

April 13, 1900.

"I send you this letter to publish for the benefit of others. I was sick for about nine years so that I could not do my work. For three months I could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had five different doctors, and all said there was no help for me. My trouble was change of life. I suffered with ulceration of the womb, pain in sides, kidney and stomach trouble, backache, headache, and dizziness. I am well and strong, and feel like a new person. My recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knew me. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not do without your medicine for anything. There is no need of women suffering so much if they would take your remedies, for they are a sure cure."—MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

When one stops to think about the good Mrs. Johnson derived from Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in her three letters published above at her own request. As a matter of positive fact Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." Mrs. Johnson's cure is not an unusual one for Mrs. Pinkham's medicine to accomplish.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.
