Statue of Marshal De Rochambeau.

Volcanic Ashes Are Reported From Laredo.

Probably 175 Were Killed in Mine Disaster.

THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

Washington, May 24.—The president of the United States today joined with the official representatives of the French republic in unveiling a statue of Marshal De Rochambeau, a compatriot of Washington and commander-in-chief of the French forces in America during the revolutionary war. It was an event combining many demonstrations of international good will with the French sailors from the battleship Gaulois mingling their cheers with the American blue jackets, French flags entwining their folds with the stars and stripes, and with oratory and music expressive of Franco-American friendship. At the conclusion of the invocation by Rev. Dr. Stafford, President Roosevelt extended a generous welcome to the French guests. As the president closed his remarks, the Countess De Rochambeau drew aside the veils enveloping the figure and bringing into view the massive bronze proportions of the famous French commander, standing proudly erect with an arm outstretched directing the fortunes of war on the field of Yorktown. A great cheer went up from Frenchmen and Americans alike and at the same instant the Marine band broke into the inspiring strains of the Marseillaise. As the French national hymn died away, Ambassador Cambon escorted to the front of the platform the youthful sculptor, M. Hamar, who executed the statue.

Then the ambassador, speaking in French, delivered a brief address. Following the French ambassador, General Horace Porter, United States ambassador to France, spoke. The orator of the day was Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts. As Mr. Lodge closed the French band played the "Star Spangled Banner." The closing remarks of the day were by General Brugere, of the French army.

Bishop Satterlee brought the ceremonies to a close with the benediction and the French and American forces passed in review before the president. This afternoon the French guests visited the capitol and congressional library. From 5 to 7 o'clock this evening they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leiter at a reception. At 9 o'clock this evening a soiree at the French embassy will bring to a close the festivities in Washington.

VOLCANIC ASHES.

Are Said to Be Falling at Laredo, Texas.

Corpus Christi, Texas, May 24.—Passengers who arrived on last night's train from Laredo, report that for three days what many believe to be volcanic ashes have been falling there.

LOSS OF LIFE GREATER.

It is Now Estimated 175 Men Met Instant Death.

Fernie, B. C., May 24.—The loss of life at the Coal Creek mines on Thursday was even greater than first reported. Now it is estimated from 150 to 175 men met almost instant death. The pipes which conduct air through the mines, are almost completely destroyed. It is impossible to enter the mines owing to the afterdamp, until the air pipes are repaired.

Several bodies were taken from No. 3 mine. The mine is free from fire and the bodies will be removed as fast as the afterdamp is cleared. The town is horror-stricken, and heartrending scenes meet the eye on every side. The cause of the accident is unknown, but the opinion of many is it was the result of a heavy shot from one of the machines.

Manager's Statement.

Seattle, Wash., May 24.—A special to the Times from T. C. Thompson, commercial manager of the Crow's Nest Coal company, at Fernie, says:

"We are unable at this moment to give the cause of the accident Thursday evening, resulting in a very heavy loss of life. About 130 men were in the mines at the time. Twenty were saved, leaving the death list at 110. By last night we had taken out thirty-six bodies, and expect to have all out by tomorrow."

Conditions Are Favorable.

New York, May 24.—Conditions are favorable today for one of the greatest Brooklyn handicaps ever run. The list of probable starters is large and of extra high class.

The Brooklyn handicap was won by Reina: Advance Guard, second; Pentecost, third. Time, 2:07.

Mail Delivery in New Mexico.

L. A. Thompson, special agent of the postoffice department, spent last week at Carlsbad, looking over the proposed rural mail route to be run south from that city. While there, he held an examination for the position of carrier. The route is expected to be in operation within the next few months.

AGAINST THE CIRCUS.

Methodists Declare Church Members Should Not Attend Them.

Dallas, Texas, May 24.—At today's session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, the following members of the new book concern were selected to serve four years: O. E. Brown, W. E. Dibley, John W. Ransom, J. B. Morgan, Collins Denny, R. M. Millsap, Paul W. Head, James Campbell, Jr., J. R. Hindman and Sidney Bass.

The conference ratified the recommendation including circuses in the list of worldly amusements which the membership should not indulge in.

The following are the annual salaries as fixed by the committee on Episcopacy and adopted: Bishops, $3,600; superannuated bishops, $2,000; widows, $1,000.

Regarding the question of granting a license to preachers the conference adopted the majority report increasing the jurisdiction and discretion of the district conference.

A resolution was adopted that connectional officers who had failed of reelection be allowed salaries until the meeting of the annual conferences unless in the meantime they accept permanent employment at salaries. Ten thousand dollars was subscribed to the superannuated investment fund of $100,000.

ONLY FOUR WITNESSES.

Testimony Against Eakin Is Said to Be Strong.

Special to The Citizen.
East Las Vegas, N. M., May 24.
—In the Eakin case four witnesses were examined up to 3 o'clock with nearly twenty more to examine. The territory's testimony was strong against the accused. Probably the case will not end before Monday.

LUNACY IS CHARGED.

Sad Case of a Young Woman Found in El Paso.

WAS AN INSANE NURSE.

Ada Barker, the friendless girl whose reason became detoured in this city several days ago, has been placed in the county jail until she can be sent to the asylum or restored to her friends, says the El Paso News.

The complaint against Miss Barker charging insanity, was sworn out late yesterday by the chief of police, for she had become violent and it was thought best to restrain her in a room the windows of which are protected by iron bars, that she might not jump out, as she attempted to do yesterday.

The girl now occupies the large airy southwest room on the second floor of the county jail. The room is generally used as a holding place for Chinese prisoners, but as there are now none of these in jail the room was vacant. It was cleaned thoroughly and the girl was placed therein. A rocking chair was provided for her, and she was found sitting near a window this morning, her head resting on a pillow at the chair back and her eyes fixed on vacancy, beyond the iron bars.

"I am not feeling very well," she said in a low tone, responding to a question. Then she relapsed into a trance again. Last night she complained of pains in the back of her neck and head and the attendants offered such relief as was at hand.

The physicians who have been treating her still maintain that her mental condition resulted from contact with insane people in the asylum where she had been employed as nurse.

"Three nurses out of five become the victims of mental disorder," said Dr. Anderson, this morning. "This results from contact with the insane people and its attendant sympathy and suggestion."

The doctors reject with contempt the theory that the girl was drugged for the purpose of robbery or violence and that her mind was thus wrecked. They say she is afflicted with a genuine case of insanity.

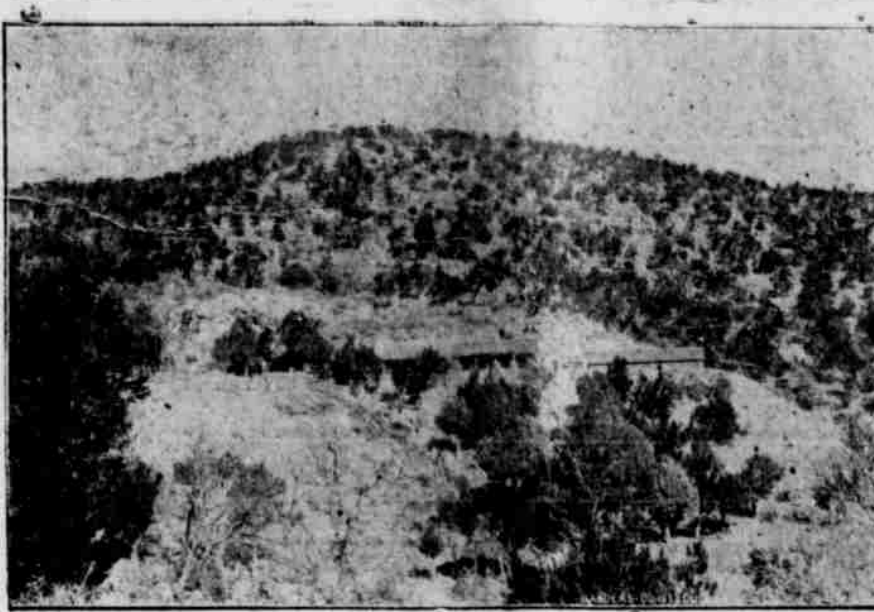

The county judge will probably pass upon the insanity case within a few days and as the girl will unquestionably be pronounced demented, she will as soon as possible be sent to the state mad house unless her relatives come forward to claim her.

BRYAN REALLY PLEASED.

Says the Cubans Really "Exhibited a Superior Patriotism."

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 24.—W. J. Bryan passed through this city today en route home to Lincoln, Neb., from Havana, Cuba, where he witnessed the ceremonies of the inauguration of the Cuban republic. He stated the natives exhibited a superior patriotism during the ceremonies. He further said he believed the United States will eventually give the Filipinos a government of their own.

A. J. Loomis, the deputy internal revenue collector, who was at Las Vegas attending court, returned to the city last night.

CAMP WHITCOMB RESORT, NEAR ALBUQUERQUE.

A FINE CONCERT.

The Most Delightful Musical Event of This Season.

AN APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

The most delightful musical event thus far given this season was the concert under the direction of Prof. Di Mauro at Colombo hall last evening.

There was a large and appreciative audience which generously bestowed upon Prof. Di Mauro great and deserved praise for his efforts. He had made up his program with great care and his own skill as a director was seen in the two numbers given by the orchestra under his direction with great smoothness. The well known and dashing overture from William Tell was given with a spirit that was delightful and put the audience in a good mood for the things to follow. The second number given was more difficult, the overture of Rossini's "Semiramide." The complete score was not given but the arrangement was excellent. It was skillfully rendered.

Prof. Di Mauro's pupils on the violin acquitted themselves with great credit. Prof. Di Mauro appeared with Master Ike Singer in a fantasia by Pletow; with Miss Spiers in a series of selections from Maritana; with Master Yanow, who is but 8 years old, in a remarkable performance. Prof. Di Mauro gave as a solo the Seventh Aria of the Barber.

A number of talented musical people assisted. Probably the most notable number on the program was the "First Movement of the Beethoven Sonata in C Minor" by Mrs. Mabel Himes on the first piano and Mrs. L. Frankford on the second. The performance was of high artistic merit and the interpretation of the great master was a delight. Both performers were at their best.

Miss Katherine Helmbeck contributed a charming number in "Cavatina" from "The Barber of Seville." She was in excellent voice, her enunciation was clear and distinct and she sang it with ease and grace.

Miss Mabel Anderson delightfully gave the Romeo and Juliet Romance by Gounod. "Forbidden," by Horna, was very sweetly sung by Miss Julia Renison.

The solo by A. L. Newton caused all to regret that he is not more frequently heard. His fine bass voice showed to advantage in "It is I," by Piusulli.

Miss Grace Houghton gave a selection from Faust with such a pleasing effect she was compelled to respond to an encore. She gave "He was a Prince." Miss Houghton has a sympathetic voice.

A cornet solo by George Leo Patterson and a number by a quartet consisting of Messrs. Nettleton, Snyder, Gilman and Anderson, closed the program. Regret was generally expressed that Miss Ida McCune and Mrs. Cuneo could not appear. Miss McCune has not sufficiently recovered from her illness to appear and Mrs. Cuneo was detained by illness in the family.

The hall was cleared after the concert and there was dancing.

Mrs. L. B. Putney, who was on a visit to her old home in Wisconsin, and on her return to the southwest stopped over for a day or two at both Chicago and Kansas City, reached the city last night.

FOR FLAG DAY.

Orders Have Been Issued by the Grand Army Officers.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1902.

The following order of Commander-in-Chief Torrance, in regard to flag day has been received by Department Commander Edwards:

Special Order No. 1.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 17, 1902.
1. Pursuant to a commendable custom established in many states of the Union and at the request of Comrade Allan C. Bakewell, chief aide in charge of military instruction and patriotic education in schools, it is recommended that all members of the Grand Army of the Republic observe Saturday, June 14, 1902, the anniversary of the birth of our flag, by decorating their homes and places of business with the stars and stripes, the emblem of our country, and encourage their neighbors to do the same.

2. Department commanders will promulgate this special order without delay and urge their influence with the press and all public officials to make the day honorable by reason of the special reverence and respect manifested by our fellow citizens for the United States flag. By order of

ELI TORRANCE,
Commander-in-Chief.
SILAS H. TOWLER,
Adjutant General.

In accordance with this order Mr. Edwards issued the following:

Special Order No. 1.

Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, Department of New Mexico, Albuquerque, N. M., May 23, 1902.
Pursuant to special order No. 1, from the commander-in-chief, Grand Army of the Republic, I hereby request that all public buildings, school houses, and institutions of learning; also of all merchants and patriotic people in the territory of New Mexico, that June 14, 1902, be observed as the birthday of our glorious flag, by displaying the stars and stripes from doors and windows, and house tops and flag poles, that our children may learn to reverence the emblem of our country. All territorial papers requested to copy. By request.

J. W. EDWARDS,
Department Commander New Mexico.
Official: W. W. McDONALD,
Assistant Adjutant General.

Are Getting Well.

James Brown and Cora Miller (said by some to have been married on February 10, 1902) are reported getting along nicely by the attending physician. Dr. Carna Brown is the man who slashed the neck of the Miller woman, and then cut his own throat from ear to ear. The doctor will draw out the threads tomorrow morning from the wound in the throat of Brown, after which the man will be taken over to the county jail, and kept there until his case is called for preliminary hearing. Horton Moore has been engaged to defend Brown.

Belen Bowlers.

The Belen Heyday club bowling team will arrive here tomorrow morning, and will meet the Albuquerque team at the Sunnyside bowling alley, old town. The local management desire The Citizen to say that on account of the limited accommodations, only a few friends of the participants have been invited and will attend. The matches, therefore, to be more definite, are to be private. The boys from Belen telegraph this quite a crowd of Belenites will visit the city with them.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Five Men Indicted for One Crime in Rio Arriba County and Two Sentenced.

At Tierra Amarilla, in the district court for Rio Arriba county, Juan Gallegos and Desiderio Martinez pleaded guilty to the charge of murder and were sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Desiderio O. Sandoval, Manuel Martinez and a man named Lobato are indicted for the same offense and will probably also plead guilty. The four men in 1897 murdered Silverio Martinez and Pepilla Moya, who were maintaining illicit relations, the murdered man also also maintaining illicit relations with another woman, wife of one of the murderers.

One man was found guilty of whipping his wife. On Monday evening he thrashed her, the next morning he was indicted by the grand jury and the same afternoon he was found guilty.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Patients at the Santa Fe Pacific are improving.

George Haynes, the brakeman whose collarbone was broken as well as several ribs, is up and around. Although he is plastered up he is cheerful and assists Dr. Saylin in his operations.

B. Sanjule, division master mechanic with headquarters at Gallup, is in the hospital suffering from rheumatism.

Miss Daisy Weaver, the trained nurse who was received in a precarious condition and suffering from articular rheumatism complicated with heart trouble, is sitting up. She will probably fully recover.

Andrew Rodriguez, who fell through a bridge near Gallup and was injured internally, is about well and will be discharged Monday.

Charles Gill, head nurse, who has been suffering from typhoid fever, is improving.

SCHOOLS IN NEW MEXICO

Splendid Progress Made by the Territory Within a Decade.

NEGLECTED BY UNITED STATES.

With a university at Albuquerque, a normal university at Las Vegas and a normal school at Silver City, with several technical institutions, with an excellent system of graded schools in all of its larger towns and cities, and public schools being extended into all the country districts, New Mexico is showing a remarkable advancement in education, says the Denver News. The sneers that a portion of the eastern press is making at the ignorance of her population are ill deserved. No state or territory can show an equal ratio of progress. It was to demonstrate these facts and aid in dispelling the harsh and untruthful criticisms of the eastern press that a meeting of the territorial board of education was called lately. The last legislature had failed to appropriate money for the publication of the annual report of the territorial superintendent and it was to arrange if possible some means of overcoming this oversight that the board met, since this report contains an astonishing array of facts, which would stand the territory in good stead at the present time, when the statehood question is on. The board's indignation as expressed in resolutions over criticisms of New Mexico, led it to call attention to the fact that while teachers were being sent by the ship load to Porto Rico and the Philippines, New Mexico, although for more than fifty years a territory of the United States, had never received any aid in the way of public education. It is a fact that the United States will have to plead guilty to this indictment. When this territory passed under the dominion of the United States it was as thoroughly foreign in customs and language as Porto Rico is today. Yet the United States has taken no special pains to educate the people of that territory, and what they have accomplished is due to their own splendid effort.

MINING CAMP BURNED.

Whitehorn, Colo., Was Almost Wiped Out of Existence.

Salida, Colo., May 24.—A telephone message from Whitehorn, a mining camp twenty miles north, states that place was practically wiped out of existence today by a fire. Nearly eighty buildings in the camp were destroyed. A number of casualties are reported, including Proprietor Witting, of the Witting hotel, and Mrs. Lampe, both of whom are badly burned. The financial loss is $25,000.

WAR PRACTICALLY OVER.

Definite Announcement May Not Come For Several Weeks.

London, May 24.—Developments in the South Africa peace negotiations today brought out all the details as called by the Associated Press. A member of the government said today:

"You are perfectly correct in insisting that everything is practically settled and the war ended. It may be, however, several weeks will elapse before a definite announcement can be made."

A HIGHLAND TAXPAYER.

The members of the city council met last night and informally discussed the question of reduction of city expenses. It is desired to cut out from $4,000 to $5,000 a year. No decision was reached as it was only a general discussion.

PAUNCEFOTE

The British Ambassador Died Very Suddenly.

More Miners Have Decided to Strike.

University of California Defeated Princeton in the Track Meet.

SAVED BY RAIN.

Washington, May 24.—Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador, died this morning at 5:30. About 2 o'clock he suddenly developed a very weakened heart condition and a consultation of physicians was called. They were unable to rally him and he died peacefully, not having regained consciousness from the sleep he fell into during the night.

Right Hon. Lord Pauncefote, of Preston, first ambassador to the United States and dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, was born at Munich, Bavaria, seventy-four years ago and is an issue of one of the most ancient British families. He was educated as a lawyer. His governmental service began at Hong Kong as attorney general in 1865, and after much valuable colonial experience he came to Washington in 1889, first as minister and afterwards as the first ambassador. His service here has been one unbroken record of successful diplomacy.

The Bering sea negotiations were among his earliest works of importance. The arbitration treaty negotiated with Secretary Olney was the forerunner of the great work accomplished at The Hague. Then came a number of reciprocity treaties. The task which Lord Pauncefote regarded as the greatest accomplishment of his busy life, was the framing of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which was recently ratified.

All through the past winter Lord Pauncefote has been suffering from intermittent attacks of asthma and rheumatism. In April came another severe attack and from that time until his death the ambassador has been confined almost continuously to his bed.

STRIKE ORDERED.

Miners of Virginia and West Virginia Will Go Out.

Huntington, May 24.—Today the United Mine Workers' conference ordered a general strike among miners of Virginia and West Virginia, which will begin June 7 and last until the demands for 10 to 22 per cent increase of wages adopted in the convention here on March 18, are accepted by the operators.

CALIFORNIA WON.

Defeated Princeton in the Dual Track Meet Today.

Princeton, N. J., May 24.—The University of California today defeated Princeton at the dual track meet by a score of 7 points to 6. One of the notable features was the defeat of Plaw, California's hammer-thrower, by Dewitt, who placed the hammer seven feet beyond his opponent's throw of 157 feet 4 1/2 inches. The summary is as follows:

Hundred yard dash—Winner, Abadie, California, time 10 3/5.

Hundred twenty-yard hurdles—Winner, Cheek, California, time 16 1/5.

One mile run—Winner, R. E. Williams, Princeton, time 4:33.

440 yard run—Winner, Cadogan, California, time 1:12 1/2.

Hammer throw—Winner, Dewitt, Princeton, 164 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Running high jump—Tie between Curtis, Princeton, and Powell, California, height 5 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Pole vault—Winner, Coleman, of Princeton, 11 feet.

Five mile run—Winner, Tibbets, California, time 20:00 3/5.

Shot-put—Winner, Dewitt, Princeton, distance 42 feet 3 1/2 inches.

220-yard hurdle—Winner, Powell, of California, 26 1/5.

220-yard dash—Winner, Cadogan, of California, time 2:22 1/5.

880-yard run—Winner, Adoit, Princeton, time 1:59 4/5.

Broad Jump—Tie between Fox, of Princeton, and Topsis, of California, distance 21 feet 7 1/2 inches.

Saved By a Rain.

Johnstown, Ohio, May 24.—A score of business buildings and residences in this city were destroyed by fire today. A rainfall saved the town from total destruction. The loss is $100,000.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen.

unfair.The Las Vegas Record says that erately extended its authority one us of last year's Las Vegas council, which passed an ordinance regulating the exact locations on which people could erect residences on their own property.PASSING AWAY.It is a sad thought that the Grand Army of the Republic is so rapidly passing and that within the present generation it must become only a memory. Within a few days the nation will observe the annual ceremony of decorating the graves of those who fell intheir country's defense and of those who survived the conflict, but have since been gathered by the Reaper.

These exercises are conducted by the remnant of the G. A. R., assisted by the public that honors the memory of the brave dead. But not many years hence this task of love must be performed entirely by others and the comrades will have gone to answer the last great roll call.THE BEEF COMBINE.The testimony presented to the supreme court of Missouri in the beef trust inquiry shows a complete union of the packers, Armour, Cudahy, Morris and Swift, at that point. It was shown that they had a fixed agreement as to prices, and held meetings twice a week, at which they adopted uniform rules of action as to all common interests. Furthermore, the several firms of the combine buy beef cattle on separate days so as to avoid competition with each other, and it was testified that if a man shipped his cattle elsewhere for sale, they telegraphed ahead of him to agents instructing them as to the price they should offer.
It was proved that the trust methods had driven 100 butchers and two packing houses out of business in St.
Louis.THE COAL STRIKE.The miners of anthracite coal have decided to make their strike permanent, and it is said that no less than 145,000 men will be affected by the decision, and that the miners of bituminous coal in the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois fields may strike out of sympathy before the anthracite men have been out long.There has been no big strike in the coal fields for two years, and it is said the men have been saving up in anticipation of one, and are now better provided with funds than ever before.
They will need all they have to support them in idleness for two or three months.The attitude of the operators in this controversy has been apparently uncompromising. They have alleged that the wages could not be raised nor the hours shortened at the same pay without taking all the profit and making it necessary to operate at a loss.
They have apparently not cared very much whether the miners struck or not, and the natural supposition is that they are willing to have the mines lie idle for awhile, until they dispose of their present stocks, and perhaps advance the price to the consumer later on.No statement has been issued by the operators as yet, so it is not known whether they will try to get nonunion men to operate the mines. The probability is that for the present at least they will not attempt to open.DEMOCRATIC DEMAGOGUES.There are many bills awaiting action by the United States senate, some of them of the highest importance. The Isthmian canal bill, the Cuban reciprocity bill, the territorial statehood bill, and the irrigation bill, are among the number. The session is drawing rapidly to a close and most of these measures will have to go over until next winter for lack of time to consider them. For many weeks the senate has been discussing the bill providing a government for the Philippines. That is, ostensibly it has, in reality it has been wrangling over questions which have nothing to do with the government of the Philippines.
Democratic statesmen have been doing most of the talking, and their speeches have been framed and delivered with the specific purpose of supplying their party with campaign material. They have been striving in every way possible to discredit the administration's Philippine policy. Every slander, irresponsible letter and vagrant rumor that could be utilized in furthering this purpose, has been sized on, presented and magnified.
Republicans have permitted the democrats to do most of the talking, with the view of letting them exhaust what ammunition and get to a vote as early as possible. But the daily grind goes on. All attempts to have a day set for voting on the measure have been opposed and defeated. The windy orators believe they are making literature for the fall campaign and they refuse to abandon the noble work. Business must wait—legislation must fail. The canal, Cuba, the arid lands, the territories may go to Jericho. The great, absorbing, overpowering business in hand is to cheapen the republican administration and make democratic votes!A COMPARISON.The attention of Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, is called to the following statement of facts compiled by the Santa Fe New Mexican:"The census taken in the decade that Indiana was admitted to statehood showed that the hoosier commonwealth had a population of 24,529, and that during the decade previous the population had increased only to the rate of 1,300 a year. Even twenty-four years after admission Indiana had not a single town the size of Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Raton, Roswell, Silver City or Gallup. At the time of admission Indiana was simply a backwoods, frontier, pocket borough with a population consisting of a few farmers, trappers and adventurers. It was a commonwealth overrun by Indians and gave no promise of ever becoming as great a commonwealth as New Mexico is today. In that census year it had less than one-tenth of the population that this territory has today and only a fraction of the wealth and the resources which today stand to the credit of New Mexico. Even thirty-two years after admission Indiana furnished only 5,000 soldiers to the United States during the Mexican war, while as long as only forty years ago, according to an address delivered by Governor Otero at Phoenix last year, New Mexico fur-nished 6,561 soldiers for the defense of the nation out of a population a little over 80,000. Of all the states admitted since Vermont became the fourteenth state of the Union, only three had a greater population at the time of admission than New Mexico has today, and not one had the promise of greater growth and prosperity for the future that the Sunshine territory possesses today, with its imperial domain covering twice the area of Indiana."THE RESPONSIBILITY.The Las Vegas Optic in discussing statehood says that it is not a political question. It is a matter of moral and constitutional right. For fifty years New Mexico has been knocking at the door of the Union. For a half century she has been turned down, her intelligence doubted. Her progressive citizenship is crying out for the rights which have been accorded to others. Her people no longer come as beggars, with bated breath pleading for admission.
They come as free born American citizens, loyal to the cause of constitutional government and demand by the devotion of half a century to the cause of republican government, the right to have voice in the council chamber of the nation. Let the people unite as one man and press our claims upon the senate. This is the crisis. The bill is in the senate. Let us demand action.
Delay means defeat, postponement means bad faith, juggling, insincerity.
If the senate will not admit us say so, and take the consequences.DESERVE STATEHOOD.The Chicago Farm, Field and Fireside is edited by Charles H. Howard, a brother of General O. O. Howard. He is familiar with the conditions in New Mexico and Arizona, having for several years filled the position of inspector in the Indian service. Upon the subject of statehood for the territories he says:"There is a general sentiment throughout the country that the time is ripe for taking in these states, two of which have waited so long. It is hardly a republican system which keeps people waiting thirty years or more before admitting them to statehood. A kind of bitterness has sprung up among the residents of these two territories who made their homes there with the expectation of all the privileges that belong to citizens, and who have so many times been disappointed.""It is not right to make the residents of our great territories the football of politics. The questions should be asked:
What is the population? Are they capable of self-government? What are the natural resources? The two proposed states are rich in mineral resources and as ranges for cattle and sheep. In agricultural and horticultural possibilities New Mexico also holds a fair rank. The grapes, peaches, pears and other fruits of the Rio Grande valley are exceptionally fine.
No better potatoes can be raised anywhere than those of the Pecos valley.
Indeed, the rich soil and irrigation of this valley make it a garden spot, capable of almost any agricultural or horticultural possibilities. Both the territories have fine timber; both have gold, silver, copper and coal.""A remarkably intelligent class of Americans have located in these two territories and are conducting large operations in mining, cattle raising and merchandizing. There is no sound logic or sound principle of any kind in keeping these people out of the Union because, forsooth, we fear they will elect democratic or, perhaps, republican senators. It is by no means certain what complexion, politically the legislatures of the new states may be. This will depend upon the records soon to be made of each of the parties. Any course of the republican party which will lose to it the vote of Illinois or Indiana very probably would lose that of New Mexico or Arizona. In other words, there is an intelligent and thoughtful and patriotic population. If they were convinced that either the republican or the democratic party had dealt unjustly by them or by the Philippines, or had acted with conspicuous unwisdom on any great issue, the party would be adjudged accordingly and would lose votes. If, for example, there is an evident disposition in the United States senate to shut them out, now they are so near statehood, because there is no political boss who carries the territory in his pocket and can contract to deliver it for the benefit of this or that party, this would be resented and ought to be.""Have we not in the United States senate statesmen who can rise above mere party politics? The Farm, Field and Fireside believes that men like Senators Hoar, Cullom, Hawley, Depew, Allison, Beveridge, Spooner, Teller and many others are capable of treating this question of statehood in a statesmanlike way and simply inquiring what is for the best development of this portion of our country—what is for the good of the people residing there?"JEMEZ HOT SPRINGS STAGE LINE.Stage leaves Trimble's stable on Sec-

Notes from Correspondents

SAN MARCIAL.

A Batch of Interesting Local Happenings Briefly Discussed.

San Marcial, N. M., May 23.—Dr. A. Cruickshank was in Socorro Wednesday as witness to the grand jury now in session.

Mrs. F. E. Howard went up to Socorro this morning, also as witness to the grand jury.

E. Ortega & Co., a little mercantile house in La Mesa, is adding a new building to their store and expect to do a good deal of business in the coming season.

The San Marcial Roller Mills have shut down for general repairs and to equip the boiler with new flues.

John Lee, formerly bracking on the Silver City branch, has been promoted to conductor and has moved his family to San Marcial.

A. Armijo is handling a very good business with the Mexicans in Old San Marcial and he says that he is still gaining in that line.

F. H. Sweet received a car of ice last Wednesday, making the second car this year.

M. Cooney, mayor of Socorro, was in town Wednesday and Thursday on business.

The Cooney & Eaton Sheep company shipped a car of excellent wool to Becker, of Belen.

The Santa Fe has issued a new time card to take effect June 1, making better connections here.

The first alfalfa crop this year was commenced on last Tuesday morning, which seems to be a very good crop.

J. R. Nisbet, the Shaw drug store druggist, leaves tomorrow morning for Chicago and from there he goes to Waterloo, when he will be united in marriage to Miss Bessie M. Kelly. He will return on the 9th and will live here.

Thomas Burke, of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is here to attend an investigation of Mr. Kennedy, a fireman out of here.

Harley Foltz, J. F. McNally's chief clerk, met with an accident while in El Paso, and has been on the sick list for two or three days.

G. E. Baca, a merchant at Clyde, was up to Socorro on special business Wednesday and returned yesterday evening.

A. B. Baca is up at Socorro attending the grand jury.

SILVER CITY.

A Baby Show in the Near Future—The Elks Will Entertain.

Silver City, N. M., May 23.—Silver City is to have a baby show in the near future and a number of competent men who deem themselves called upon to be judges are after that honor.

The baby crop in this city has been very good during the past year and the contestants will be numerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Del Holson returned from a several weeks pleasure trip to the Pacific coast yesterday.

A case in which many of the cattle men of Grant county are interested has been in progress for the past week in this city. The case is the Lyons & Campbell Range & Cattle company against T. L. Stockton, et al. Testimony is being taken by Referee Frank J. Wright and case involves some very important litigation as to the owner of the Mule Springs cattle range in the western part of the county.

Quite a large bunch of cattle will be loaded from the local stock pens tomorrow belonging to several stockmen in the Alma section.

Mrs. O. S. Warren, worthy matron of the New Mexico for the Order of Eastern Star, will in a few weeks leave for a visit to the numerous societies of that order in the territory and will also install a number of new lodges in different cities in the territory.

The Colorado Fuel & Iron company, who are operating large iron ore deposits at Florio, have increased their output to about 1,000 tons of ore a day. This will call for forty-five to fifty car loads per day to be shipped to their smelters in Colorado. The company will put on a night force of fifty miners the first of next week to be enabled to keep up this large daily shipment of ore. The tramway from the top of the hill to the railroad which carries the ore right into the cars is lighted by the company's electric light plant, as also is the entire working, which makes a beautiful sight at night.

The Silver City Elks will mingle with their friends on July 4 and 5, and they do not anticipate a disappointment either to the welcome or the welcome. A complete program has been arranged for the two days and the parties say the fun will be furious—that it will be so the list of committees below is plentifully guaranty. Arrangements have already been perfected with the local electric lighting company to illuminate the city for the street carnival on the night of the Fourth. A plant of Marconi's wireless telegraphy will be installed and the most distant friend can be communicated with; a balloon ascension by the most popular Elk present will be a feature; Santos-Dumont has wired, accepting the committee's offer to be present with his airship; a country fair will be held and unusual attractions secured. In short, no expense will be spared to make the historic day truly glorious.—Independent.

Perfect Health

Is within the reach of almost every woman. The weakness, nervousness and irritability from which so many women suffer is in general due to disease of the delicate womanly organism. When the disease is cured the general health is re-established.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It promotes regularity, dries disagreeable and enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these diseases are cured, headache, backache, nervousness and weakness are cured also.

"I was very weak and nervous when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' about a year ago," writes Mrs. M. E. Everett, of 89 Oxford Street, Woodstock, Ont. "I had been suffering for seven long months, and had taken medicine from a physician all the time, but it seemed to make me feel much worse. My stomach was so bad (so my doctor told me), and my nerves were in such a state that I would start at the least noise. I felt irritable at all times; was not able to do any of my own housework; had to keep help all the time. How I suffered! God and myself alone know. I was greatly discouraged when I commenced taking your medicines, but the first bottle seemed to help me. I took five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I can highly recommend these medicines to all who suffer as I did. I never had better health than I now enjoy, and it is all owing to Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A reward of $300 is hereby offered for the delivery to me of the body of my son, Lester Saron Laughlin, either dead or alive. He disappeared from the Eaton ranch, near Lamy, Santa Fe county, New Mexico, on Sunday, May 11, 1902, about noon. He is 24 years of age, although taken by some to be older. Dark brown hair; dark beard, clipped closely on cheeks and chin and coming to a point at chin; had scar on right eyebrow; dark blue eyes; with very heavy dark lashes and brows; a little above medium height. When last seen had on pair of blue overalls and jumper to match; soft grey hat, with medium wide brim; wore about a No. 7 shoe, broad extension sole, came half way to his knee, but worn under trousers; wore vest with small figure on it on a brown ground; dark blue flannel, double-breasted shirt, trimmed with large white buttons; had nickel watch chain with heavy square links. He may have taken Santa Fe train at Lamy, east or west, more probable for his old home at Moss, Monterey county, Cal.

CONVICTED OF INCEST.

Victoriana Tafaya, of San Miguel County, Found Guilty.

Court convened Thursday morning on time and appointed C. A. Larrazola attorney to defend Idelacio Sena, charged with murder, says the Las Vegas Record.

Court then proceeded with the case of Victoriana Tafaya, charged with incest, he himself taking the stand and being the only witness for the defense.

Four witnesses were heard yesterday for the prosecution, two being women. One of the latter was the defendant's daughter, with whom the alleged crime was committed. The testimony of the witnesses was somewhat incriminating but there seems to be another side. The daughter was staying at the defendant's home, her mother being dead, and they wanted to marry the girl to an old man. The father objected and then he found himself in jail on the incest charge. Immediately after the father was jailed, the daughter and old man were married. Tafaya has been in jail since last August.

The evidence was not completed until after 12 o'clock, when the jury went out and at 3 o'clock brought in a verdict of guilty. The sentence will be imposed tomorrow or Saturday.

The United States petit jury was then discharged.

The trial of Idelacio Sena, the wife murderer, is set for next Tuesday, when the territorial court will begin grinding.

The court adjourned at 3:30.

PATHETIC STORY.

Rev. Smith told How He Was Converted to Religion.

The great tent was crowded last night and all listened with intense interest to the pathetic story of the life and conversion of Mr. Smith. The story of his downfall is the same that is being enacted in thousands of other cases, only at a little faster pace than some young men take, so that the limit of degradation was reached a little sooner. But the great and mighty difference is in the fact that he turned to the Lord Jesus Christ as the one able to save to the uttermost all who come to him. The story of his own sufferings excited much sympathy but his description of the effect upon his father, brought tears to many eyes. Usually one's personal sins and shame bring the greatest sorrow to those one loves best.

He turned to God, so does here and there another one, but the great majority pass on from the moderate drinker, to the confirmed drunkard, the shameless sot and the drunkard's grave.

Mr. Smith's appeal for men to turn from a life of sin and shame, to a life of virtue and righteousness, was very tender and earnest.

Usual tent meeting Sunday night.

FRED BURUS DEAD.

He Was Well Known and Was Greatly Beloved.

Last night at 9:25 Fred Burrus, familiarly known as "Uncle Fred" to half the people in this city, died at the home of Mrs. Cuneo, 311 North Fourth street. "Uncle Fred" was 82 years old and until a short time before his death he retained much of his vigor. He came here in 1888 where there were very few Americans and no new Albuquerque at all. He had considerable property here and was known for his quiet, unostentatious charity. It was his custom to give liberally from his means to almost every charity in and it was done without parade or show. He was a man of fine character and was generally beloved.

It was learned later that Mr. Burrus was born in Alsace on July 22, 1820. He is supposed to have several nieces here in Albuquerque or in the southwest. The funeral will be held on Monday morning.

ENJOYABLE EVENING.

Entertainment at Grant Hall Was a Delightful Medley.

The affair given at Grant hall last evening by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen in honor of C. W. Maier, third vice president of the order, was a thoroughly novel and charming one. Mr. Maier delivered a forceful and highly eloquent address on the problems that confront the workman. Then by means of an electric stereopticon he threw on the canvas magnificent views of scenery in California and Colorado, growing crops, incidents in railroad life, home scenes and a great variety of other subjects. A particularly enjoyable feature was a number of illustrated songs, Mrs. Rose Berry furnishing the music.

Dancing was kept up until a late hour.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

At 5 o'clock this morning the students of the University left on a school picnic for Bear canyon. The members of the faculty were invited and a number of them accompanied the merry company on their outing. The senior class conducted the picnic and all expected to return by moonlight.

Thursday morning the methods class of the normal department visited the Central school and the First ward. The object of the visit was to see the work and methods of teaching language and arithmetic. The class particularly enjoyed the opening exercises at the High school, where the singing is exceptionally fine.

A selected quartette for class day is practicing very hard and the rest of the program is well under way.

Most of the friends of the seniors will receive invitations to the commencement week festivities during next week, as they have been printed two or three days. Hopping & Vorhes did the work and the programs are exceptionally unique. Nothing like them has ever been used in the west before.

The juniors have asked for Thursday night of commencement week in which to entertain the seniors. Arrangements are not yet complete, but a fine reception undoubtedly will be tendered them.

Mysterious Disappearance.

A man giving the name of John Jones, who had been working at Oscar Troy's ranch the past four months, disappeared some time during the night of May 11, and although diligent search has been made the man can neither be found nor heard from.

Mr. Troy says he did not take his money or other effects. He also says the man was educated, a good worker and nice man in every way. He is at a great loss to account for his action.—Raton Gazette.

IN DISTRICT COURT.

Right of Possession of a Horse Was Involved.

The case of Meliton Cordova vs. J. A. Skinner, involving the right of possession of a certain horse, was tried this morning. The plaintiff attempted to show that he purchased the animal in 1895 and lost it in 1896; and discovered the animal at Albuquerque in July, 1899, when he brought the suit in replevin at Cabazon. The defendant showed that he lost the horse in question in June, 1899, and that he and the marshal found it in possession of the plaintiff and one Hovey in 1899, from whom they took it; that Hovey told the marshal he had found it in possession of a man whom he believed had stolen it. Skinner traced his possession of the horse back two years, and that of his vendors back to 1896, while the defense established that at the time the horse was found in his possession he claimed he had lost it within a year. The court held the plaintiff's testimony irreconcilable and gave judgment in favor of defendant for value of the horse and damages for detention. T. C. Montoya for plaintiff and H. P. Owen for defendant.

PASTE THIS UP.

The New Time Card for the Summer In Effect June 1.

F. L. Myers, the popular joint railway agent, has received the figures of the new time card which will go into effect on Sunday, June 1. Read over the figures and govern yourself accordingly:

No. 1, from the east, now arrives at 10:15 p. m. and departs for the west at 11:30 p. m. On the new time card it will reach Albuquerque at 7:15 p. m., passengers eat supper, and departs for the west at 8:15 p. m., a little over three hours earlier than now. This train will carry the pouch mail the same as now.

No. 7, from the east, now arrives at 10:40 p. m. and goes west at 11:20 p. m. On the new time card it will reach this city at 10:05 p. m. and leave for the west at 10:45, and is the regular mail train.

No change in No. 2 from the west, it arriving at 8:05 a. m. and departing at 8:30 a. m. as now. This is the regular mail train for the east.

No. 8, from the west, will leave for the east at 7:30 p. m. It goes north now at 7:15 p. m. This train carries pouch mail.

No. 27 (now known as No. 21) the El Paso train, will leave for the south at 11 o'clock p. m. It goes south now at 11:45 p. m.

The train from the south will arrive and depart as now.

The limited trains, No. 3 from the east and No. 4 from the west, will run the same hours as now, twice a week, instead of daily.

Freight train No. 33, going south and carrying passengers, will depart at 8:05 a. m.

STRIKING WINDOWS.

Artistic Contrasts Are Displayed in the Economist Store.

The Economist presents to the public two windows that are artistic and highly appropriate to the occasion. In one of the windows is a beautiful young woman wearing a widow's veil and emblems of mourning. By her side is a lovely child in white who bears a basket of flowers. Both are standing at the entrance to the gate of a tomb in the soldiers' cemetery of Oak Grove. The enclosure is hung with black and white over a background of the national colors.

The other picture is in striking contrast and shows a sweet girl graduate in an exquisite commencement gown. Artistically displayed around her are lawns, brocades, muslins, taffetas and other apparel that will cause the average woman to turn green with envy.

Portales Wants a Jail.

A request from the people of Portales for a calaboose in which to confine disorderly persons has been made to the county commissioners. The question as to the authority of the board to make such an appropriation was raised and the matter was referred to District Attorney G. W. Pritchard, at White Oaks, and his decision will be awaited before action will be taken.

Killed in a Mine.

R. Flora, a coal miner, was killed in a Gardiner mine the other day. He had put in a blast which exploded prematurely, badly mangled him and killing him almost instantly. Funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Baton, being conducted by Father Cooney, and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased leaves a family in Italy-Range.

Old Soldiers, Attention!

All old soldiers and sailors are requested to meet at K. of P. hall tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend the memorial exercises at the tent.

This is a queer world. A reformed tough can tell his experience at a revival meeting and the good people will weep over the recital and take up a collection for his benefit. If the same story is told by a hobo on the street to a policeman he is run in and given ten days on the chain gang.

Highland Buffet.

A. J. Robertson, proprietor of the Highland Buffet, extends an invitation to the patrons of his pleasant resort to visit him tonight and partake at his expense a fine free lunch. The best of liquors handled and served to customers.

Dance at the Orchestration hall tonight. Music will be rendered by Mrs. Berry and James Devine.

Messrs. Quickel & Bothe, proprietors of the Zeiger Cafe, extend a cordial invitation to their many friends to attend the grand free lunch at their popular resort tonight. The chef of the establishment says the spread will be ready about 8:30 p. m.

Banana, vanilla, strawberry and lemon ice cream at Scott's ice cream parlor, Sunday. Open all day.

This evening, at the White Elephant, a free lunch will be served, to which everybody cordially invited to partake. The White Elephant is one of the city's nicest resorts.

Under new management the Metropolitan resort will set out for its patrons a grand free lunch tonight. Everybody invited.

Fresh fruits at Scott's ice cream parlor.

Cordial invitation extended to old customers and visitors to partake of the free lunch at Zeiger's Cafe tonight.

Have you tried the ice cream made at the New England, opposite the postoffice.

Deming has just been incorporated.

Attend a specially prepared free lunch at the White Elephant tonight. Everybody invited.

From the Record.

Ferry Erickson returned from a business trip to Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lowe expect to leave Sunday for an extended visit in Canada.

Mrs. O. G. Schaefer and family left for Santiago, Cal., for a few months' visit.

Miss Minnie Williams returned from Albuquerque, where she was visiting her mother.

William Gregg, of Pinos Wells, who is interested in a big sheep ranch at that place, with F. A. Manzanares, of this city, is in town.

Mr. Green, of Green's lake, brought in three tubs of fish he had seined from his lake, and disposed of them here. They were headies.

Parties in Elleville, Ill., are inquiring for the whereabouts of one James Wilson, formerly a teamster here. His father died recently and left some property, to which he is heir.

Captain Fort returned from Tucumcari and said there were twelve witnesses on the way from there to testify in the Eakin, Burdick, Fondville hearing Saturday.

Bonifacio Salas, of Pinos Wells, will take as a Las Vegas bride next week, Miss Rosita Martinez, daughter of Manuel G. Martinez. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride in this city.

F. P. Waring writes from St. Paul that New Mexico is not the only place in which they have high winds, as he finds St. Paul about as bad. He says things are dull there and he believes Las Vegas a little the brightest spot he has yet found.

Robert Hays left for Guadalupe to see his copper mines. There are several local parties extensively interested in the copper showing thereabouts and machinery is being put in for hoisting the ore. The claims are reported to be showing up well, and a good strike is confidently expected.

From the Optic.

Mayor Goodall still suffers with an attack of rheumatism.

A $5 fine will be positively imposed on any one who expectorates in the postoffice lobby.

Rev. C. M. Smith, pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal church in this city, was able to be cut after a week's confinement at home with tonsillitis.

Lookout for a young man who wears drop stitch half hose and who wants to flip a quarter to see who pays for the beer. That young man's two-bit piece is loaded for the occasion.

Twenty-three years ago Thursday, the Optic, at Otero, N. M., now a deserted village, first saw the light of day. The Optic was moved to Las Vegas twenty-two years ago on the 10th of last November.

Robert H. Hunter is in the city looking after his property interests here. Mr. Hunter is an old time resident of Las Vegas, but now resides at Omaha.

While living in this city he was associated in business with M. L. Cooley, the liveryman. His friends are glad to meet him again.

RATON.

From the Range.

Mrs. Martha Terhune came in from Dawson City this week to see her father-in-law and mother-in-law off for Garden City, Kan.

Miss Ethel Van Buskirk left for Gallagher, near Elizabethtown, where she will teach a summer term of school.

Mrs. George Porter left for Chicago, where she will be treated for an affection of the throat. She was accompanied as far as Topeka by her children, who will join her there on the return trip.

Morrow and Leib sold last week the Horse Mesa and Pocket land situated about eight miles from town, to Ellis Denton, for $2,400. They also sold last week 320 acres in Johnson Park to William J. Popejoy for $1,000.

Prof. L. D. Brown and family will leave for the state of Washington, to be absent until about September 1. Professor Brown is an applicant for the principalship of the Springer schools, and as he is an educator of demonstrated capability his chances for election to that position should be good.

G. W. Terhune, one of the first settlers in Raton, but who left this place ten years ago, since which time he has been a resident of Garden City, Kan., in company with his wife left for their Kansas home last Tuesday, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with their daughter, Mrs. M. K. Terhune, at Dawson. Mr. and Mrs. Terhune's many old friends in Raton were pleased to see them again.

From the Gazette.

Mrs. J. F. White and Miss Mabel left for a month's visit at Topeka, Kansas City and Brooklyn, Ill.

Mrs. A. W. Myers left immediately after the close of the school here to take up her work as teacher in the Ponil Park school district.

C. H. Donahue, a brother-in-law of Mrs. T. R. Mathews, has been spending several days here visiting. His home is Mt. Sterling, Ky., and he had not seen his relatives here for eighteen years.

Mrs. E. J. Porter and son, Lawrence, returned to Raton after a six months' visit with friends and relatives in Missouri. Mr. Porter met them at Trinidad, and accompanied them here, where they will remain until he can build a home for them somewhere in the Stonewall country, where he is in the employ of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

All children of school age are requested to bring three bouquets each or loose flowers to the hall of Carleton post, Grand Army of the Republic, on the morning of May 30.

Plans and specifications for the erection of a story and a half residence for John H. Walker on Grant avenue are now in the hands of contractors for the purpose of submitting bids for the erection of the dwelling.

The 19-year-old son of Louis Moya, living on the Capron road, had his skull fractured on Wednesday evening from a kick of a horse. Dr. J. A. Masie is attending young Moya, who is reported to be on the way to recovery.

St. John's Methodist Episcopal congregation received the glad tidings today that the board of church extension of the church has donated $500 toward the building of the new Methodist church in this city.

The ball to be given by the Hook and Ladder company on May 29 in Gray's hall should be well patronized. The company gives public service free of charge whenever there is need of it and should therefore be encouraged by residents of the city.

Rev. W. Hayes Moore, of the First Presbyterian church of this city, who has been ill for a week or more, is now improving and able to be about, and he expects to preach in his pulpit on Sunday next, both morning and evening, the Grand Army of the Republic veterans attending in a body at the latter service.

SPRINGER.

From the Stockman.

M. W. Mills expects to make a trip east next week.

J. J. Daly has been admitted to practice in the courts of the territory.

Miss Ollie and Nellie Littrell are expected down from Raton next week on a visit to their sister, Mrs. G. W. Warder and family.

J. W. Quick and wife now occupy the rooms in the court house vacated by J. C. Taylor and family, moving there Wednesday.

In the district court for Colfax county the Floersheim Mercantile company has brought suit against F. J. Baca to secure the payment of a $900 note.

H. J. Reiling, of the Oro Dredge company at Elizabethtown, passed through for Chicago, where he will accompany his wife back to Elizabethtown.

Walter Clements left for Idaho, where he expects to make his home several months at least. The people of this section of Colfax county regret very much to lose Mr. Clements.

Captain and Mrs. H. Sturges expect to leave Santa Fe on the 28th for Oregon City, Ore., where they will remain some time. The captain is improving some, and all will be glad to hear it. He sends regards to all, along with Mrs. Sturges.

Melvin W. Mills, who was for over thirty years one of the leading attorneys in the territory, has again resumed the practice of law in Springer. He has associated with him J. J. Daly, who recently moved to Springer, and as will be seen by their card in today's paper, the new firm solicits a share of the legal business of Colfax and adjoining counties.

ALAMOGORDO.

From the News.

Bank Examiner Weil was examining the bank this week.

R. H. Pierce went to El Paso to meet his daughter, Mrs. Duncan, who is now visiting here.

John Stone and Capt. Wilkinson have been appointed by the county commissioners as police for Alamogordo.

A. N. Tibbets has had plans prepared for a fine residence and will commence building next week.

W. C. McDonald and Oliver M. Lee are shipped over one thousand head of cattle from this point during the week.

The building for the planing mill for the Alamogordo Lumber company has been completed and the machinery is being put in place.

Contractor Pelphrey returned from Fort Stanton, where he spent several days estimating on some $50,000 worth of improvements to be made by the government.

Rev. C. M. Gearhart has resigned his pastorate of Grace Methodist Episcopal church in this place and has accepted the charge of a congregation in northern New York. Mr. Gearhart expects to leave for his new field of labor about the last of May.

Proposals for large and extensive alterations and improvements of the Fort Stanton sanitarium were opened this week. Only two bids were submitted, S. E. Pelphrey, of Alamogordo, bid $40,731, and Henry & Stuart, of Las Vegas, bid $24,475. The proposals were submitted to the war department at Washington, D. C., for action.

I. W. Mallory, a New York traveling man, has the following to say about Alamogordo: "I have had some experience in the real estate business, but the rapid and substantial growth of Alamogordo beats anything I have run across, taking into consideration the fact that the town is at the foot of a mountain range on one side and at the edge of a desert on the other. The census just completed was taken by the county commissioners to decide whether or not Alamogordo has a population large enough to demand a police force of its own. The census shows that the town has 3,000 people and several hundred to boot and the police will be granted. It is an up-to-date, progressive town and seems to have an eye to making a bright future for itself. Whether the future is there or not remains to be seen. The El Paso-Rock Island route is going to do great things with Clouderoff this season. The pretty little resort is being extensively ad-

No Use for It Any More.

How good food put a good minister on his feet again is an interesting story. He says: "A little more than a year ago I commenced the use of Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. At that time I had been suffering from dyspepsia for about five years. I had tried all the remedies my friends told me about but with no permanent relief."

"My Sabbath duties at that time nearly prostrated me and the following day I was of no use to myself or to anyone else."

"After beginning the food a change began to take place and gradually the dyspepsia and disturbance left me. Now I have gained twenty pounds and am free from stomach troubles that I suffered so long from."

"I can do twice the amount of work with ease, am well all of the time, and naturally sing the praises of the delicious food that has put me right. I am perfectly willing to have my name appear as endorsing your excellent food for I know from personal experience of its value." L. R. Danforth, pastor of the First M. E. church, Haverhill, Mass.

From the Register.

One of Albert Thiel's horses stepped on a rattlesnake a few days ago and was bitten on the fore leg. At last accounts it was thought the horse would die.

J. F. Bryson is duly elated over a flow of about 700 gallons which he struck in his artesian well on the tract bought by Mr. Seaman a few months ago, at a depth of 231 feet, the casing being six and five-eighths inches.

W. J. Jones returned from his former home at Van Horn, Texas, where he and G. W. Medley, C. O. Finley and John Z. Means delivered to Johnson Bros., of Pecos, 4,000 head of steers sold them. Mr. Jones' lot consisted of a fine bunch of 400 red and white face yearlings.

W. H. Lumley reports a fine prospect for a fruit crop on the Ruidoso this year, the old apple trees showing a full crop and the young ones having all they should carry. Plums, peaches, cherries and apricots are a full crop—never promised better. Mr. Lumley has twenty-five nectarine trees that are

WHITE OAKS.

From the Eagle.

A. A. Highfill returned from Lincoln.

Mrs. Fred Smith was in from the ranch.

Edward Thompson returned from Canaan, Mexico.

E. H. Talbert and wife were in from Jicarillas purchasing supplies.

James McCoy is sinking the well deeper on the old Hyde ranch on Taree Rivers.

Mrs. W. C. McDonald and daughters, Margie and Frances, returned from California, where they have been staying since last October.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Lane returned from the Confederate reunion at Dallas, Texas. The doctor was a surgeon in the Confederates army, and no doubt met many old "rebs" at this, their greatest reunion.

Ten days are said to be necessary to communicate with parties on Bonito and Ruidoso, a distance of forty miles. We can get a reply in better time than that. Better mail service should be installed along small lines.

The cyanide plant at the South Homestake mill began operations on tailings. The same parties who established the plant there five years ago, Gumm & Co., are again operating the reduction works. The supply of tailings will be largely taken from Baxter gulch, mixed with slums from the South yards, and there will probably be enough to keep work going for a year. The capacity of the tank is one tank a day, or about thirty-five or forty tons.

Friends of E. G. F. Uebrecht will regret to hear that he met with a serious accident at Dallas, Texas, in which he came very near losing his life. He was in a runaway, was thrown from the vehicle, sustained very serious injuries and has been under the doctor's care for three weeks. At last accounts he was improving and out of danger.

ROSWELL.

From the Record.

Karl A. Snyder left for New York, where he goes as a delegate from the Rio Grande synod to the general synod of the Presbyterian church.

Another new artesian well reported this week is on the Seaman place, a mile northeast of town. This place was recently purchased by Tony Day for his mother and he had the well drilled for her.

Quince Cummins unloaded a standard well machine this week and will drill his first well for Tannehill Bros., west of the Hortenstein place. His machine has a capacity of 1,000 feet and will be run by a gasoline engine.

T. C. Tillotson, of Lower Penasco, was here this week buying supplies, and incidentally looking for a bunch of good young bulls. He purchased a bunch of seven fine animals of Otto Hedgcock.

GAINES—HURD.

The Culmination of a Pretty Romance at the Marriage Altar in Santa Fe.

At 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the Gilderleeve home occurred the wedding of Morris Walker Gaines and Miss Grace Marguerite Hurd, Rev. W. R. Dye, of the church of the Holy Faith officiating says the New Mexican.

A small company of friends was present but the affair was on the quiet order, owing to the illness of the bride and the absence of the family of either bride or groom. A touch of romance was given the climax by this happy event. The young couple were unknown to one another until a few months ago, when they came here from the east in search of health and chance brought them together. Mr. Gaines had spent his boyhood in Santa Fe in the early nineties and is the son of Prof. Marshall R. Gaines, connected with local educational work. He graduated with high honors from Yale university in 1898, and engaged in business in New York, but failing health brought him west about a year ago. Naturally his boyhood's recollections of Santa Fe's pure air and sunshine brought him this way and today his health is completely restored. The bride is the daughter of Chas. C. Hurd, for many years past literary editor of the Boston Transcript. She also was for some time on the editorial staff of that paper and has attained success in journalistic and literary work in New York and Boston. She is the author of an entertaining volume entitled: "The Bennett Twins." She came west last fall in search of new literary material and was drawn toward Santa Fe because of its advantages for regaining health; its picturesque surroundings and romantic history. She has been seriously ill with nervous prostration of late, and to hasten her recovery, Mr. and Mrs. Gaines left this morning for the beautiful upper Pecos mountains where they will spend the summer.

F. H. Mudge, of the Santa Fe engineering corps, is in El Paso on official duty.

Engineer Kinney has arranged for a lay off, and will visit Chicago and other big cities.

Mrs. Snook, wife of Conductor Snook, is to leave Raton for Kansas, to be gone for some time.

Barney Gilbride, fireman, and S. A. McDonald, brakeman, running out of Las Vegas, have both resigned.

F. R. Frost, the chief electrician of the Santa Fe, is in the city on official business. His headquarters are at Topeka.

A number of new coaches, intended for service on the California division, have passed through this city the past few days.

Mrs. Gus Patterson, wife of the well known Santa Fe engineer, left Las Vegas on her way to Norfolk, Va., where she goes to visit relatives.

Considerable complaint among rail-roads regarding the double-headers, which have recently been put back on this division. Several crews have been laid off.

C. F. Lape, of San Bernardino, came in from the west this morning, en route east. He was the former division master mechanic with headquarters at San Bernardino.

James Thompson, accompanied by his wife, has gone to Topeka. He recently had three fingers on his left hand mangled off by the big steam hammer at the local shops.

The Optic says: Superintendent Fox returned from Topeka, where he had been to work on the new time card. While absent Mr. Fox exchanged his private car, 212, for a better one, 210.

The new speedy Santa Fe locomotives weigh about 209,000 pounds and the tender about 112,000 pounds additional. The tenders are constructed to carry ten tons of coal and 6,000 gallons of water.

Mike Burns, one of the popular freight conductors who has run out of Roswell for several years past, has been promoted to the position of "traveling conductor" and is receiving congratulations of his friends.

Storekeeper White, of the Santa Fe road at Raton, will begin taking an inventory on the 25th inst. He will have to increase his force of helpers during the work. Other storekeepers on the line are arranging to take inventory of stock.

Col. R. E. Twitchell, of Las Vegas, received word from Chester Reed, now at the Santa Fe hospital in Topeka, that he had undergone an operation, having had his leg rebroken and reset. Superintendent Fox saw him while there. He is reported as getting along nicely.

W. V. Turner, who has been car inspector for the Santa Fe road at Raton, has returned from a trip to Topeka. He has been promoted to the important position of chief air brake inspector and instructor for the entire Santa Fe system, and will make his headquarters in Topeka.

G. C. Starkweather, trainmaster of the Oklahoma division of the Santa Fe with headquarters at Arkansas City, Kan., was in Roswell. He came in answer to a telegram stating that his wife and little daughter were both ill. The Roswell Record is glad to state that Mrs. Starkweather and little girl are improving.

The trucks on a freight car breaking near Kenna, on the Pecos road, caused the delay of the regular passenger train sixteen hours the other day. The next evening the Kenna bridge burned out which again tied up traffic for several hours. The bridge was 128 feet long and burned out completely. It was probably set on fire by an engine.

President Ripley, of the Santa Fe, has offered the railroad Y. M. C. A. of Topeka $20,000 for a new building. He stipulates that the association secure a site and $10,000. The proposition has been accepted, and the building, which will be a three story modern structure, will be started as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged.

There was a man employed in the machine shops at Las Vegas who came with a letter of recommendation from Charley Taylor, mechanical superintendent. Thursday there came an order from Master Mechanic Patterson requiring his discharge on the ground that some three or four years ago the man, while employed at Raton, got drunk one day.

The Pintado bridge, six miles east of Santa Rosa, Guadalupe county, was finished last week after causing a badly crippled traffic for over a week. On the following Tuesday morning the traffic was again delayed for about twelve hours, when a freight train was derailed and badly tore up the track for some distance. This accident happened only a short distance from the bridge.

Chief Engineer Garvin, of the Lordsburg & Hachita road, reports that about twenty-eight miles of the track of the Lordsburg & Hachita road has been laid, and that there is about ten miles yet to lay. The work is progressing rather slowly. The original contract called for the completion of the road by the 31st of March, but as the company was to supply the ties and steel did not have them at Lordsburg on time it cannot with consistency complain of the delays of the contractors.

The Raton Range says: P. M. Davenport, the civil engineer, arrived in the city Tuesday evening. He has been engaged in making a survey of the Cimarron River & Taos Valley railroad and was called to meet Mr. Stinchcomb and a party of eastern capitalists who are interested in the new road, and who will arrive from Chicago. It is believed that the visit of the members of the new railroad corporation has a favorable significance, and will result in a speedy commencement of building operations.

The weighing of all the mails carried on the trains is generally disposed of in a month, but this year it has been greatly extended in time, and now is in its third month. It is supposed among postal employees that this is done to get a fair account of the through mail now carried by the Rock Island and Southern Pacific which formerly went over the Santa Fe. However that may be, the weighing still continues on the Arizona & New Mexico road. The man who originally had the job on the Arizona & New Mexico got tired of it and resigned. A young man was sent out from Los Angeles Sunday to take his place.

WILL NOT BE RETIRED.

Superintendents Beamer and Denair Will Hold Their Positions.

The various reports which have been in circulation for a month, anent another shake-up among the high officials of the Santa Fe in California, notably the retirement of Superintendent W. B. Beamer, of the Southern California division, and John Denair, of the Arizona division, are at last set at rest and the San Bernardino Sun is in a position to state absolutely and positively that such a step is not to be taken, and to state it upon the authority of General Manager A. G. Wells.

Following the confirmation of the report weeks ago, that a large number of officials in the mechanical department of the Santa Fe, all along the line, were to go, including both Messrs. Lape and Smith, of this city, came the rumor that the shake-up was to extend to the operating department, and that the successor of Mr. Wells in the general superintendent's office, Mr. Shepherd, had found successors for both Mr. Beamer of this division, and Mr. Denair, whose headquarters are at Needles. At first the Sun found no confirmation for the reports, and did not even mention them, even after they had been published both in this city and Los Angeles, but finally sources which had always proven authoritative before brought seeming information, and publicity was given to the report, which was alternately denied and then seemingly confirmed for weeks afterward.

To settle the question so far as the public is concerned, and it is always interested, the Sun carried the question up to Mr. Wells, and from him has received permission to positively and authoritatively contradict the report with reference to both the officials concerned. So that the particular flock of rumors with reference to the changes that were to follow Mr. Shepherd's appearance on the scene are thus laid to rest.

Special Letter Paper for Flyer.

Many of the best features of the California limited trains will be preserved in the Colorado flyer, which begins its daily service from Kansas City to Denver on June 1. Among other things the Santa Fe has just ordered a large supply of stationery for the use of passengers on the train. It will be a fine quality of paper, similar to that furnished to the passengers of transatlantic steamships. The free libraries for the use of passengers will also be continued on the flyer. The libraries contain about fifty well assorted books, some of them being expensive volumes. The object has been to get together a choice library of books by western authors or on western subjects.

Big Land Sales.

Morrow & Leib have purchased and hold for sale the lands commonly known as the "A. L. Lands," consisting of about 7,500 acres of watered lands in Colfax, Union, Mora and San Miguel counties. The purchase was made through Murray Nelson, Jr., of Chicago, from the Palo Blanco Cattle company, and the consideration paid about $30,000. They expect to sell these lands to stockmen as there is a big demand for lands of this character. They have already made some sales and have received a great number of inquiries concerning different tracts.—Raton Gazette.

THE CUT-OFF SURVEYS.

The General Manager, H. U. Mudge Talks on the Situation.

WILL REBUILD PECOS LINES.

General Manager H. U. Mudge, of the Santa Fe denies the statement which has been made in several newspapers to the effect that the Santa Fe has completed its survey of the proposed cutoff from Portales, N. M., on the Pecos Valley line, to a point near Albuquerque, where it will connect with the Santa Fe main line to California, says the Topeka State Journal. "Our surveying parties are still working in New Mexico," said Mr. Mudge, "and no final reports have been made. The object of all the investigations and surveys is to find a route which will give easy grades. That is the principal object of the surveys."

The Santa Fe is now surveying for a new line from Hereford, Texas, on the Pecos Valley line, south toward Lubbock, a distance of 110 miles. This proposed line will enter a portion of the rich Pecos valley which has heretofore been without railway connections. It is said to be the purpose of the Santa Fe to extend this line through to Midland, Texas, a point on the Texas Pacific road 240 miles from Hereford. This new line will be built, it is said, as soon as the surveys are completed and the contracts can be let for the work.

The Santa Fe officials have maintained throughout that the chief object of the proposed Portales cutoff is not to secure a short line to California, and thus regain its supremacy as the short line to the Pacific coast, but to avoid the heavy grades on the line through the mountains near Lamy. The proposed route from Portales to Rio Puerco, on the coast lines, is 250 miles in length. It will cut off at least 180 miles of the present distance via the Santa Fe to Mexican and Pacific coast points, and will be 50 miles shorter than the Rock Island's new line. The territory through which the road will pass is a good agricultural country, and is capable of great development by means of irrigation. The Santa Fe is already doing its utmost to stimulate immigration to this country, and thus have the region settled to some extent even before the advent of the road.

The Pecos Valley lines will be relaid with new steel, and will be rock ballasted. The Pecos Valley lines are now what is known as a "mud bed" road, which is all right for light service, but which could not withstand the heavy use it would get when the through trains to the coast are put on. The proposed Portales cutoff will also be laid of heavy steel on rock road bed, and when these are completed the Santa Fe will have a line to the coast which will be capable of withstanding all the heavy traffic it can get.

In speaking of the proposed cut off, the Las Vegas Optic says: "F. Meredith Jones, the well known civil engineer who for so many years has been in the employ of the Santa Fe road, is paying a brief visit to his family, they being residents of Las Vegas."

"Mr. Jones for some weeks has been at Portales, in the Pecos valley, but is now on his way to Belen, or rather to the section of country a little south of that place. His headquarters, however, will be in Belen."

"Of course, Mr. Jones cannot say whether the cut off line will be built or not. He knows that it is being carefully surveyed, with estimates and that the proposed line will be quite feasible both as to directness of route and cost of construction."

"Much conjecture has been engaged in concerning the effect such a cut off would have on north central New Mexico, the section through which now runs the Santa Fe's main line. The Optic does not believe that this section would be at all damaged by the cut off. Of course, the portion of the territory through which it may run will be largely benefited thereby, but this will be a benefit to the entire territory instead of a damage to any part of it."

"On the other hand, only fast freight, fast through passengers and fast through mails, would use the cut off. All other travel and traffic would seek the old route through the more desirable, beautiful and picturesque portions of the territory. In fact, the Optic doubts should the cut off be constructed, whether the ordinary traveler or citizen would see any difference along the old line."

Wellington, Kan., is also greatly interested in the proposed cut off, and the Wellington News says of it: "It will work to the great advantage of Wellington in that it will place this city on the direct Mexican and California route of the Santa Fe, making it much shorter than the present route and will of necessity add to her importance as a division point."

"The Santa Fe will certainly make Wellington a heavy division point. The shops will need to be enlarged and it is not out of the question to say that the depot will be made to accommodate a half hundred men. The bulk of the business now done out of Newton will be done here. Newton, Wichita and Topeka, as well as other towns on the main line of the Santa Fe, will not be given all through train service but it will have to be given this town. The Santa Fe is laying a double track over the Emporia cut off, which shortens the distance between Emporia and Kansas City nearly 20 miles. This is indicative that a good deal of the through passenger and perhaps all of the through freight business will be sent that way."

"From Florence via El Dorado and Mulvane is a branch which leaves out Newton and Wichita and makes the run 16 miles less to Wellington. This is to be relaid with new steel, double tracked, and will be used almost exclusively for California freight and passenger business. Of course not all of the passenger service can be denied Wichita. Wichita is like Newton and Topeka in the respect that it happens to be on the road somewhere."

A Salt Deposit.

Manuel Salpeter last week discovered a salt deposit covering a space of some twenty-five square feet near Palomas hot springs, Sierra county. The salt is of a good quality and with further development may be of some value to the stockmen of that vicinity.

"It is no time for mirth and laughter
The cold gray dawn of the morning after."

VOLUME 16

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 24, 1902

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

The theological seminary commencement season, on just now, is witnessing a sort of upheaval, due in part to theological controversies and in part to the falling off in number of students. The worries over McCormick seminary, Chicago, are sending some Presbyterian leaders to bed, so they themselves declare. It is a fight between liberals and conservatives. Some say Union Theological seminary history may be repeated. Another seminary, from which was graduated a great number of present Congregational pastors, is to go to Cambridge and out of a separate existence. There is a loud protest from alumni and others, but there seems to be no help for it. Union Theological seminary is ignored by the Presbyterian general assembly, sitting in its own city. Baptist seminaries are seriously affected by the new thought, and for the first time in the history of the Baptist denomination, there has just concluded within it a trial for heresy. Roman Catholic seminaries are discussing seriously, although quietly, the pope's new Bible commission. This commission has done nothing as yet, except to give seminaries here and abroad a good deal of material to talk about. The commission has for its object a purpose quite as radical within the Roman Catholic church as any of the latter day revision movements among Protestant ones. Methodist seminaries are not without their theological difficulties, and altogether the spring of 1902 sees a general shaking up.

Many New Ministers.

There are, of all sorts and kinds, seventy-one Protestant theological seminaries in this country. They graduate on ordinary years about 4,000 men who immediately enter the ministries of the various religious bodies, Roman Catholic excepted. This spring there are being graduated 3,352 men, or about 700 below the average. These averages fluctuate, of course, but it has been many years since so severe fluctuation has obtained. There are always more churches in a religious body than ministers, and fewer ministers are absorbed into the Methodist, Baptist or any similar body each year than might be supposed. For example, there are 7,500 ministers in the Presbyterian north body—1,000,000 members. During 1901 there were 139 deaths and there was an increase of 65. After counting those who drop out or go into other religious bodies it is seen that this, one of the large religious bodies, absorbs only about 300 new men a year. The record of other bodies is almost precisely the same. The reason for the falling off in the number of seminary students has not yet been brought forward. But the opinion is general that the end is not yet; that the number of graduates next year will be even fewer than the number now graduating this year. The present seminary upheaval is contributing to that end.

July Bible School.

The feature of the season at Northfield, apart from the conference of Christian workers, is a July Bible school, with Rev. G. Campbell Morgan at its head. This will be the first summer for Mr. Morgan as a part of Northfield's new plan. Mr. Morgan is to take up "Crises of the Christ," and is to be assisted by Rev. W. W. White, of the Bible Teachers' college, for normal training, and by Rev. J. W. Kelman of long experience among students of Edinburgh university, in spiritual training. The student conference is this year to have but one date, and be for men exclusively. Messrs. Speer, Mott, Kelman and Gordon, Profs. Woodrow, Wilson and Bosworth. At the great August meeting Rev. F. B. Meyer, of London, is to be heard again, and so in Henry Varley, the famous English lay evangelist. Public interest in Northfield does not at all abate. Mr. Moody being gone.

Judaism in America.

The American conference of Jewish rabbis, in session the other day in New Orleans, got American Judaism to talk about in all bodies that the rank and file of their members give to everything except their own church causes. It is now said that this tendency toward undenominational benevolence has about reached its limit. The talk of the day now is that charity must have some general church body to control it, and a distinct reaction has set in, not toward sectarianism, but toward control of benevolence by some body of men competent to administer it and responsible to voters that the best results may be obtained for the money contributed.

Summer Chautauqua.

Indications point to an unprecedented attendance at all summer meetings this season. From managers of all of them come reports that accommodations are already filling up. Most of the Chautauquas have made larger preparations than usual, and several of them are already finding those preparations too contracts. The steamship companies say they are getting the usual number of clergy in their summer parties abroad, the total being if anything above the average to date. Men of the highest fame in the various religious bodies have shown a willingness this year, as they do not some years, to speak on various topics and occasions. Some years managers of summer meetings find almost everybody of prominence unwilling to respond; they say they want to rest. There is a boom in this year. If present indications are to be trusted, thing is educational and is characterized as a Jewish renaissance, and has for its object the conversion of Jews to Judaism. In other words, it is a forward movement, aimed to get into the synagogues the vast number of Jews who do not now take interest in religious matters. An evangelical or propagating Judaism is hoped for, with the new theological seminary in New York, and the old one in Cincinnati, and the Jewish encyclopedia, the second volume of which is to be published next month, as the mainstay, so to speak. American Hebrew leaders do not take the rather blue view which Dr. Solomon Schechter gave out upon his arrival from England the other day. They explain that the new president of the orthodox seminary has been accustomed to the strict English Jew, and was rather carried off his feet by the loose manner of the American Jew, in the matter of ceremonial in public and private worship. The world is looking to American Judaism to lead, and foremost Jews here say American Judaism is not a whit less conservative, safely so, than the European sort, and that Americans expect to lead the world of Judaism. This leadership is to show, it is said, in the work of B'nai B'rith, with its 30,000 members. A Jewish forward movement throughout the world is planning, led by young Jewish Americans.

Presbyterian Expansion.

The Presbyterian Ministers' Alliance of Nashville will ask the general assembly of its body, the Southern Presbyterian, soon to meet at Jackson, Miss., to appoint a committee looking to organic union with the Reformed Church in America. It is counted rather doubtful whether the assembly will do anything of the sort, since it has refused to appoint a committee to consider union with Presbyterian north. It is said there is the slight difference that the latter are revising their confession while the Reformed church is not meddling with the Heidelberg catechisms and is not likely to do so. The Reformed church is better known as the Dutch Reformed, and is the English-speaking part of the Church of Holland, there being also a German-speaking part. Both dropped the distinctive titles of Dutch and German twelve or fifteen years ago. The Dutch branch has a membership of 108,000, the German one of 248,000, while Southern Presbyterians number 227,000. Reformed church leaders have not been consulted about the proposed committee, and express some surprise over the Nashville movement.

May Anniversaries.

Baptist agitation over the management of denominational benevolence seems now likely to result in a uniform basis for the membership of the May anniversaries, so that delegates from the churches which sit in the anniversaries as constituent members of the American Baptist Home Mission society, for example, will also sit as constituent members of the American Publication society and the American Baptist Missionary union. A proposition may be brought forward at St. Paul, where the anniversaries meet this week, beginning on the 19th, to have delegates elected from associations instead of from the churches, but it is said to be unlikely to carry. The cry has been for greater economy in the management of missionary funds. Consolidation has been suggested, but nobody now expects anything more than has been outlined. There may be a closer alliance between women's boards and the Home Mission society, and the missionary department of the Publication society may be transferred to the Home Mission society, but both are rather unlikely.

Christian Charities.

During the past dozen years the increasing denominational comity, and the decline of sectarianism, have resulted in the organization of an enormous number of charitable societies, Christian in fact, but owing allegiance to no general religious body. The effect is serious to denominational benevolence. It is a common saying among leaders in all bodies that the rank and file of their members give to everything except their own church causes. It is now said that this tendency toward undenominational benevolence has about reached its limit. The talk of the day now is that charity must have some general church body to control it, and a distinct reaction has set in, not toward sectarianism, but toward control of benevolence by some body of men competent to administer it and responsible to voters that the best results may be obtained for the money contributed.

A Christian Endeavor Meeting in the Taj Mahal.

Christian Endeavor meetings have been held in all sorts of unlikely places. I once attended one in the hollow trunk of a big tree in California. I have knelt with other endeavorers in the contracted cabin of a Japanese steamer. I have seen the "prayer shelf" which some earnest juniors of Turkey mounted that they might find a place for their meeting, and also the bare, hot hillside, baked in the glare of centuries of Indian sunshine, where some juniors of western India draw near to God.

But the most wonderful spot for an endeavor meeting was the Taj Mahal, of Agra. It stands on the banks of the sacred Jumna, and was built by the famous Shah Jehan as a tomb for his beloved wife, Mumtaz. It cost $20,000,000. But these figures give no idea of its real value or of the wealth lavished upon it, until we remember that even paid labor in India at the present time costs only 7 or 8 cents a day, and that the Taj was built largely by forced labor, for which nothing was paid. Twenty thousand men worked for twenty-two years to make this the grandest and most exquisite tomb that poor mortality ever occupied. It is entirely of white marble, from the lowest course to the topmost pinnacle of the majestic dome, which seems to soar like a mighty bubble toward the sky. Its spotless dome so unstained and unmarred is by the hand of time. You approach the Taj through a magnificent gateway of red sandstone and white marble. Just within this gateway you find yourself at the edge of a long and lovely garden, filled with orchids and roses and brilliant flowers which we never see in a temperate clime. Palms and orange trees and huge banyans compete with humbler shrubs to add their beauty to the garden. Down the center runs a long, shallow marble basin, perhaps 500 feet in length, filled with gold fish and silver fish.

At the end of this vista of perfect loveliness rises the Taj—that exquisite dream in white marble, absolutely the most faultless and perfectly satisfying building in all the world.

We pass within the ever-open portal, through an inner screen of lace-like marble, and find ourselves at the tomb of the beautiful queen. This is in the exact center of the building, while at one side, and raised a little higher, is the tomb of Shah Jehan himself. Both of these tombs are sprinkled thick with inlaid jewels.

In this inner tomb was the little Christian Endeavor meeting held. There were twelve or thirteen of us. We were all seated upon the tombs. Overhead soared the vast dome, 200 feet above our heads. So perfect is this home that every sound uttered within the tomb is echoed and re-echoed, and echoed again, a hundred times, until it dies away in the vast bubble. Especially are high musical tones reproduced in a most weirdly, marvelous way, until you almost think that a choir of 10,000 angels has taken up the song, and is chanting the refrain begun on earth.

MONKEY LABORERS IN PERU.

Apes That Pick Nuts Under a Human Foreman.

"Perhaps the most interesting creatures in Peru are the apes," said Dwight Darrington, in the office of Ph. Hitchcock, of the Wabash railway, at Denver recently. Mr. Darrington has an extensive plantation in eastern Peru. He is traveling for pleasure across the continent.

"For centuries past these remarkable animals have been performing work which is usually supposed to require human intelligence," continued he. "Naturalists accredit the horse, dog and elephant with possessing more intelligence than all other dumb animals, but I believe the Peruvian apes surpass all brutes. In the huge nut forests of my adopted country the apes are of inestimable value. With amazing celerity they pick the rich nuts from the dark trees, saving much time and expense. Men cannot do the work in thrice the time required by the nimble fingered apes."

"My plantation near the Ucayali river contains 700 acres, of which an even 100 is in nut trees. I have forty apes to do the picking for me. Two native foremen have charge of the hairy bodied nut gatherers. I have a huge, comfortable cage for the apes large enough to accommodate 100 of them. Into this they march every night. Each morning early when the parrots and scarlet finches begin to scream, the foremen open the doors of the cage and out troop the apes chatting merrily."

"They are permitted to eat and drink for ten minutes and are then led off to the grove selected for the day. Four apes are sent up each tree and every quartet has a big basket at the bottom."

"While the foremen sing and play upon their mouth organ, strolling about from tree to tree and noting progress, the apes pluck the nuts with great rapidity. After several hours the donkey wagons appear with more baskets and remove those already loaded with nuts to the big bins in the storehouse. There is then a brief cessation of work. "Sometimes I go out with my violin and play a bit. Our apes in Peru are exceptionally fond of music, as I suppose all apes are. On my approach they chatter eagerly and group themselves around me. I play tunes of all kinds but never fail to close with something lively and spirited. I clap my hands, point to the trees and depart on my mule. The apes take the hint and the empty baskets, seek the unopened trees and resume picking with renewed vigor."

"We always treat them kindly. Punishment for mischievous conduct is severe, but rarely necessary. Sometimes the wild apes attack the plantation in bands and do much harm. The dogs give warning day or night and we shoot the intruders mercilessly. After they have been repulsed and some killed we take our apes to the spot in solemn procession. We show them the dead and bloody bodies of their friends. Then we lock them up for a day or more."

"The lesson soon produces an indelible impression upon them. They learned long ago that all animals must be subservient to man. They evince rage at the sight of a wild monkey. They are most valuable servants and enable the planters to make handsome income, which would be impossible with solely human labor."

A FORTUNE IN GOATS.

Charles L. Onderdonk Owns the Largest Goat Ranch in the World. There is a new resident in Denver who is not only pleasant in personality and engaging in conversation, but particularly interesting with respect to his business, says the Denver Post.

This gentleman is Charles S. Onderdonk of Lamy, N. M., who has just arrived in Denver with his family and is residing in a beautiful new home at 950 Corona street. He is a man of great wealth and an annual income that runs far up into the thousands.

He depends for all the luxury with which he surrounds himself on goats. There is no time of the year when he has not on his immense ranch—the largest goat ranch on earth—at least 10,000 goats. Often, prior to the periodical shipment, he has as many as 20,000. There are 28,000 acres of ground for them to graze over, and they are such frugal little beasts that they can pick up livings where other animals would starve. They eat the foliage of low trees when the grass is scanty, and even strip off the bark sometimes, and really fatten on such food.

The ranch is just the sort that the youngest kid intuitively longs for. It covers a large part of Glorieta mountain, a great elevation east of Santa Fe. It also contains Apache canyon, with its precipitous sides and rocky ledges, along which the intrepid quadrupeds skip and climb in their careless, break-neck fashion, and it is great fun for them, for nothing tickles a goat so much as risking his neck, and on the Onderdonk farm he can take chances every hour in the day.

Mr. Onderdonk raises but two kinds of goats—Angoras, for their hair, and "Corrientes," for their skins. The word "Corrientes" means simply "coarse ones," and it is from the skins of these tougher animals that the famous "vici kid" goods are made. Robert H. Forrester of Philadelphia, manufacturer of the "vici" leather, being a partner of Mr. Onderdonk.

The hair, which grows luxuriantly on the angoras, is used in many ways, especially it is valuable in the manufacture of mohair goods. The meat of the goat is little used by Americans, but the Mexicans, who inhabit the country around the Onderdonk ranch are quite fond of the meat, and nearly all of it is sold to them or exchanged for labor on the ranch.

Onderdonk has been spending part of his time at the manufacture in Philadelphia, and part of it on the ranch. Henceforth he will spend most of his time in Denver.

SHUT OUT NEWSPAPERS.

Santa Fe Adopts Peculiar Policy at Las Vegas Shops.

The Las Vegas Optic says: Orders have been received at the round house to give the reporters of newspapers no more news items. It seems that the officials are afraid that the reporters will get something wrong or publish items that the management does not want known, while at every other division point on the road items are given up freely. The two Albuquerque papers publish railroad items which could not be gotten in any other way than by the reporters visiting the officers and shops, just as the reporters here have done. The Topeka State Journal also runs several columns of local railroad news collected in the same way. What the peculiar situation may be in Las Vegas which requires that no one should know what is taking place in railroad circles is hard to say. However, it is safe to say that the railroad column will not suffer. Readable items have often been suppressed by reporters on newspapers at the request of officials. It is a great deal better plan for officials to give a newspaper their confidence and have items appear correctly.

What promised to be an interesting little event last Sunday was carefully guarded so as not to get into the papers. The machinists at the round house have for some time had a grievance against the company. They have asked for redress several times but without effect. Last Sunday a man was selected to bear the brunt of the blame and was laid off. So great was the protest that followed that he was reinstated on Monday morning and things this week show a little improvement.

The Santa Fe railway company have oiled their track from Seligman to Mohave and from Barstow to Hesperia, thus practically obliterating the desert so far as the dust feature is concerned and will add very materially to the comfort of their patrons.

It is proposed to extend the standard gauge railroad from Naco to Cananea, owned by the Cananea Consolidated Copper company, to the San Marcial coal fields and thence to Guaymas.

NEW MEXICO AT CHARLESTON

New York, May 19, 1902.

Hon. Thomas Hughes, Albuquerque, N. M.: Dear Sir—Enclosed you will find a letter I am this day addressing to Hon. R. W. D. Bryan to Albuquerque, and also my final report to Hon. William H. Pope at Santa Fe.

These letters are self-explanatory, and in writing to you I would only be repeating what I have said to them, but as you filled such a prominent part in this affair and without your assistance, I am free to say that this exhibit would never have been made, and I feel that I owe you a short letter as well, although not a member of the Charleston commission, hence these enclosures.

Personally, let me thank you for the part you have taken and the nice treatment I have had at your hands, for certainly every consideration has been shown me.

I believe you fully appreciated while I was in Albuquerque that I anticipated a considerable in this, and you know it is a hard to work and expect results without the "filthy lucre."

However, I think Albuquerque should be very proud of the results which have been obtained and as I said to Mr. Bryan, Albuquerque owes to you gentlemen a great debt.

Notice what I said in one of my letters regarding the St. Louis commission. With forty times as much money as we had, I will expect you fellows to get forty times as many medals. Now it is at it! I can see that editorial smile of yours as I see you reading this letter, but believe me that if there is anything I can do to assist you at St. Louis, I will be more than pleased to undertake it, if possible.

I know my experience would be of value to you and I will be very glad to keep in touch with you from time to time and as I will probably be in St. Louis several times before the fair on our own business, I may be able to assist Mr. Blackwell, your colleague. I am, yours very sincerely,

HYDE EXPLORING EXPEDITION,
J. W. BENHAM, Manager.

New York, May 19, 1902.
R. W. D. Bryan, Albuquerque, N. M.,
Charleston Commissioner:

My Dear Sir—Enclosed you will find list of medals which I, as representative of the New Mexico commission, take pleasure in presenting to the people of the Territory of New Mexico, the following medals: Three gold, fourteen bronze and one honorable mention, as follows:

John Becker, Beien, N. M., wheat; gold medal.

B. F. Gooch, Silver City, apples; gold medal.

New Mexico Commission, Albuquerque, mineral collection; gold medal.

Carl Abrahamson, Hanover, copper ore; bronze medal.

W. Cotton, Cooke, N. M., galena; bronze medal.

Galena Mountain Mining company, Las Cruces, lead; bronze medal.

Jefferson Lead Mining & Milling company, lead and silver; bronze medal.

Kingsbury & Brown, Fairview, gold and silver; bronze medal.

Malcolm McGregor, Pinos Altos, gold, silver and copper; bronze medal.

Mineral Point Zinc company, Hanover, N. M., zinc; bronze medal.

Modoc Mining company, Modoc, lead; bronze medal.

Nichol Bros., Silver City, copper; bronze medal.

Santa Rita Copper Mining company, Grant county, native copper; bronze medal.

F. A. Swan, Caballo mountains, gold, silver and copper; bronze medal.

Thompson & Copp, Silver City, copper ore; bronze medal.

Torpedo Mining company, Las Cruces, copper ore; bronze medal.

Hyde Exploring Expedition, Zuni pottery; bronze medal.

Porterfield, Silver City, turquoise; honorable mention.

I suppose it will be with Charleston officials as it was with the Pan-American, that they will simply notify you that you are entitled to a medal, gold, bronze or whatever it may be, and that if the medal is desired the person who receives it must pay for the cost. I do not suppose that any of the gentlemen who have received these medals through the New Mexico commission would care to go to that expense, so I am going to try to arrange to have a certificate copy of the fact that a medal was awarded, made out and sent to Mr. Pope, as chairman of our commission, to distribute.

I know you will take pleasure in seeing that this list is published, for I don't believe there were ever as many awards obtained by any commission from any state or territory with as small an expenditure of money as there has been with this.

It certainly places a precedent for the St. Louis commissioners, and if in proportion to the amount of money expended, they will take back as trophies from St. Louis, forty times as many medals with their $20,000, as we have secured with $500, I will say in the slang of the west, "they're alright."

I have not yet heard regarding the packing and shipping of these goods. I was very much in hopes that the St. Louis commission could stand the expense of $50 in this matter as the Hyde Exploring Expedition has run behind in making this pay and the material which is now in Charleston is fine material to be used in St. Louis. I was certainly in hopes that they could give us $50 to cover expenses.

Will you ask Mr. Hughes if anything has been done about this and let me know at once and address me "New Mexico Exhibit, Exposition Grounds, Charleston, S. C.," as I will leave here tomorrow.

Please extend my congratulations to the citizens of Albuquerque for having as enterprising a lot of gentlemen as there are in that city who raised the money to make this exhibit. If there was any merit in advertising, certainly Albuquerque will receive great results from this little money expended. Yours very sincerely,

HYDE EXPLORING EXPEDITION,
J. W. BENHAM, Manager.

New York, May 19.

Hon. William H. Pope, Santa Fe, N. M., Chairman Charleston Commission:

My Dear Sir—I have the honor to enclose in this, a list of medals which the New Mexico commission, through me as representative, has obtained for the Territory of New Mexico—three gold, fourteen bronze medals and one honorable mention. I suppose as is customary in expositions, the exposition officials simply make the awards and if the individual cares for the medal, they must pay the cost of striking it off. I do not believe that this the individuals would care to do, hence I am trying to get the exposition officials to issue certificates of the awards which I will have sent to you for distribution.

I will have to claim some of the gold medal award of the New Mexico commission, for our whole display was taken in connection with this award, and as the Hyde Exploring Expedition made two-thirds of the display, we want a little credit in that special award. As I have no financial report to make to you, I suppose I can call this my final report. I have been told by Mr. Bryan that these minerals would be sent to St. Louis to be used at the St. Louis fair in 1904. A copy of my letter to him, I am sending to you.

To you personally, I want to say that certainly New Mexico owes a great deal, for without you and your untiring efforts, this exhibit would never have been made and although we have not made any money, the Hyde Exploring Expedition feels quite satisfied, as we believe that New Mexico officials and citizens will appreciate that we have returned to New Mexico something which will represent a good display, as well arranged one as could be made, and a lot of good advertising done for the territory at practically no cost at all.

We thank you for your courtesy in all matters pertaining to this business where he have had any dealings with you, and believe me, I am, yours very sincerely,

Weekly Crop Bulletin

United States Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of New Mexico Section.

Santa Fe, N. M., May 20, 1902.

Although the rains of the past few days have greatly improved stock and crop conditions, as yet there has not been sufficient moisture for the needs of vegetation, excepting possibly in the northern valleys and in the regions contiguous to the principal mountain ranges. As a rule the soil is still hard and dry on prairie ranches and a good soaking rain is needed to put it in condition for working, especially in central and northeastern counties, and also to start the range grass which is coming on very slowly. However, irrigation water is fairly plentiful excepting in a few localities, with an assurance of a steady supply from the mountains for some time to come, and all crops under ditch are making very good progress. Planting is about finished in southern districts, while in the north sowing oats and planting corn is well under way in irrigated fields, with much of the crop up and growing fairly well. The cold nights of the last few days, however, will probably greatly injure corn that is above the ground. In the south wheat is heading and the first cutting of alfalfa has begun with prospects of a fairly good yield. The prospect for an unusually good fruit crop remains promising over the territory generally but the low temperature following the storm of Sunday (18th) has probably killed a great deal of the early fruits in the northern valleys. Early garden produce, as beans, peas, etc., also probably have suffered greatly. Lambing is about over in northern counties, with an estimated saving of about 60 per cent of the lambs. Since the advent of the rains the loss of old sheep has ceased, but many shepherds in Rio Arriba county and in northeastern sections, were heavy losers also in this respect. In general, cattle are not in very good condition, but from now on it is believed there will be a more rapid improvement. The effect of the recent cold weather on lambs remains yet to be seen.

The following remarks are extracted from the reports of correspondents:

Arabella: A. M. Richardson: Considering the dry weather corn has come up very well. The cloudy weather promises rain.

Bluewater: J. S. Van Doren: General local showers; grass has started nicely but more rain needed. Alfalfa is very promising; wheat all sown and corn planting under way. Irrigation water is short and the season is late. Highest temperature, 81; lowest, 34; rain, trace.

East Las Vegas: John Thornhill: Warm weather, but very windy; the ground is dry and hard. Some corn was planted the first part of the week. The range is very dry yet and the grass is short. Irrigation water is scarce.

Fort Stanton: E. W. Halstead: Very favorable weather; numerous showers have put the soil in fine condition for planting. The prospects for a large fruit crop are the best in years. Highest temperature, 78; lowest 39; rain, 0.87.

Frisco: Clement Hightower: Favorable weather for growing crops; partly cloudy days and warm nights and light showers in the mountains. Corn planting is well under way. Streams are not diminishing, but there is considerable wind. Stock in fair condition. Lambing about over with good results; in some instances as much as 95 per cent of lambs saved.

Fruitland: C. J. Collyer: Thunder showers on the 11th and 12th cleared the air and greatly refreshed vegetation. Some hail on the 12th injured garden produce somewhat, but did not damage the fruit. More apricots this year than for some time. Corn planting is progressing. All crops are growing well. Highest temperature, 87; lowest, 38; rain, 0.21.

Gallinas Springs: Jas. E. Whitmore: More rain needed for stock and for planting. First alfalfa is nearing cutting time. Much of the fruit is dropping, but sufficient remains. Fruit damaged by worms in the vicinity of Anton Chico. Gardens growing well. Highest temperature, 97; lowest, 44; rain, 0.09.

Hobart: W. H. Hough: Wheat, corn and vegetables are looking well. Fruit has been somewhat killed out by the late frosts. Irrigation water plentiful. Ojo Caliente: Antonio Joseph: The recent rains have started the grass; crops have revived and are looking quite promising. Grasshoppers have appeared in spots but as yet have not done much damage. Alfalfa is growing rapidly. The mountain streams carry an abundance of water. Highest temperature, 82; lowest, 45.

Lower Penasco: H. W. Creswell, Jr.: Fruit doing well and a good crop fairly well insured. Gardens growing well; first alfalfa will be cut the latter part of this week. There have been several local showers but grass is not starting and unless more rain comes there will be some loss of stock.

Los Alamos: Wm. Frank: Oats and corn being planted; much of the wheat planted during the drought did not come up and the fields will be replanted in oats. Reports from sheep camps show about 60 per cent of the lambs saved.

Mesa Park: A. M. Sanchez: Continued cloudy weather, but no rain. Irrigation water is getting scarce. All vegetation progresses rapidly. First alfalfa cutting is begun; wheat heading out. Alfalfa will yield a fair crop. Highest temperature, 91; lowest, 31; rain, trace.

Miera: Francisco Miera: Lambing estimated about 50 per cent the very best; losses on sheep estimated about 25 per cent, but this is now stopped. Cattle doing well so far. No farming of any kind has yet been done here.

Redrock: Louis Chample: Planting corn in full progress; early planted is up and looks well. Rain is badly needed for the range although as yet the stock looks well. Plenty of irrigation water.

Roswell: W. M. Reed: Threatening storms but the week has been very dry although there has been some rain on back ranges. Crops growing very well. Highest temperature, 94; lowest, 45; rain, 0.10.

Roy: A. S. Bush: Light showers all over this section on the 11th some that relieved the drought, but the hot sun keeps the grass from starting rapidly; water is getting scarce and more rain is badly needed. Farmers are waiting for a good rain to begin work. North of here the lambing is very poor, but to the east and south it is fairly good.

Sapello: M. A. D. Rivera: The good showers of the latter part of last week and the first part of this caused crops to look finely, but the cloudless, windy weather succeeding have changed the conditions. Sowing oats and planting corn is being rushed. Fields under irrigation look very well. Cattle and all stock are poor.

Santa Fe: U. S. Weather bureau: Under the influence of the recent rains gardens and field crops have made rapid advance and grass is starting rapidly on the mesas and in the mountains. Alfalfa making a fine growth. Rather cool nights for corn. The sudden and severe storm of Sunday, 18th, evening brought rain, snow and slight hail, with the temperature dropping to nearly freezing Sunday night, and 3 degrees below on Monday night. The heavy frost resulting killed great deal of the early garden truck, beans, peas, lettuce, etc., and also much of the fruit, especially along the river. Apricots probably received the greatest injury, but away from the river bottom it is believed that the trees have been only beneficially thinned. Many flower gardens suffered. Irrigation water is plentiful, and a good supply assured. Highest temperature, 75; lowest, 33; rain, 0.82.

Teel: Hugh A. Teel: Warm weather, with light showers but not enough to do any good. Prospects for all fruits are good. Water getting scarce in the ditches.

Watrous: M. C. Needham: A light shower on the 12th, but since then the cold nights and windy days have made unfavorable conditions. Reports from the lambing camps indicate a poor season. Highest temperature, 79; lowest, 35; rain, 0.25.

Woodbury: A. J. Woodbury: Highest temperature, 82; lowest, 39; rain, 0.58. R. M. HARDINGE, Section Director.

MORGAN O. LLEWELLYN.

United States-Surveyor General of the Territory of New Mexico.

Morgan O. Llewellyn was born in Omaha, Nebraska, and is 23 years of age. When 2 years old his parents moved to New Mexico; his father, Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, having been appointed United States Indian agent at the Mescalero Apache Indian reservation, then in Lincoln county, by President Garfield. His early boyhood was spent on the Mescalero Indian reservation and thereafter at Las Cruces, to which place his parents removed when Major Llewellyn's term as Indian agent expired. He received his education at the public schools of that town and for three years attended the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Mesilla Park, giving special attention to surveying, chemistry and geology. On May, 1898, he enlisted in Troop H, First United States Volunteer Cavalry, "Roosevelt's Rough Riders," and served as corporal in the troop with credit until honorably discharged September 15, 1898, at Montauk Point, Long Island, upon the muster out of its regiment from the service of the United States. Returning thence home he engaged in mining until January of the present year he was appointed deputy collector of customs at Columbus, Luna county, and stationed on the Mexican frontier. The position he resigned upon being appointed United States surveyor general for New Mexico by President Roosevelt January 29 of this year. He took charge of the office of March 11, and has since performed its duties. He is a young man of ability, even temper, and, for his years, has accumulated a large fund of practical experience and knowledge of men and conditions, especially applicable to New Mexico. He has exhibited good executive ability already and the business methods of the United States surveyor general's office have been greatly changed for the better in every respect since his induction to the office. He is courteous, energetic and judging from his manner of doing official business believes in the strict performance of duty by himself and by all those employed in the office. He recognizes that he is a public servant and that the office of surveyor general of New Mexico is here for the benefit of the people and for the betterment and advancement of the commonwealth. Those who have watched him from childhood days and know him to be a young man of great strength of mind, honesty and straightforwardness of purpose, are sure that he will justify the confidence placed in him by the president of the United States in his appointment and by many of the leading citizens of the territory in recommending him to the responsible position.

SMOTHER A COUGH.

You can smother a cough with your hand but you can't cure it that way. Some medicines only smother coughs.

Scott's Emulsion cures them. Old coughs and deep-rooted coughs can't be cured until the inflammation which causes them has been replaced by healthy tissue.

That is exactly the kind of thorough work Scott's Emulsion does. It changes the entire nature of the throat and lungs so that there is nothing to cough about.

tion which he fills. He is very fond of many sports, being six foot four inches tall and weighing 205 pounds. He is an excellent shot, a magnificent horseman, athlete and a boxer of more than local fame and as fine a full back as can be found upon the "gridiron" of any college or university of the United States.

His father, Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, is one of the best known citizens of the territory, full of energy, always at work for advancement of New Mexico, and who acquitted himself extremely well and creditably as agent of the Mescalero Apaches for six years, during two terms of service as member of the legislative assembly of the territory, serving one term as speaker of the house, as captain of Troop G, First United States Volunteer Cavalry during the Spanish-American war wherein he took a leading part in the battles of Las Guasimas and San Juan hill, and during the last fifteen months as territorial district attorney of the Third judicial district, comprising the counties of Dona Ana, Luna, Sierra, Grant and Otero. His mother is one of the most estimable and most highly respected women of the territory, who, in addition to her many duties as a wife and mother, nevertheless finds time to do much for the advancement of the public interests of the town in which she lives. That Surveyor General Llewellyn's future conduct as an official, as a citizen and as a man, will be a credit and source of much gratification to the public, is the belief of all those who know him.

UNLIMITED WEALTH.

Unfortunate Condition of a Machinist Who Thinks Himself Wealthy.

Sad as is the fact of the insanity of Thomas Williams, the old time machinist and mechanic who was for many years in the employ of the Santa Fe at this place, there are several queer features connected with the unfortunate man's mania, says the San Bernardino Sun. His hobby is wealth and he fancies that he is in possession of hundreds of millions of dollars. With this idea in mind he lavishes checks on every hand. Just before being taken to Los Angeles he received the attentions of a barber at his home south of town, and when the shave was over with, promptly wrote out a check for $35,000, which he presented to the wandering artist of the latter. Down in Los Angeles he had more than one enterprising real estate dealer knocking the spots off the high places, thinking that they had a customer with money enough to purchase the city and present it to Pasadena for use as a private park. In the presence of one of these brokers he actually made out a check, payable at one of the banks of the Angel city, for the sum of $40,000,000.

His own powers, especially to give away places and positions, is unlimited and, according to his own idea, in the matter, he has as much to say as to who will fill positions on the Santa Fe system as President Ripley himself. But a few days ago he addressed a letter to Albuquerque, asking for a man to be sent at once to take the position now held by Superintendent Beamer, of the Southern California division. He is at the present time in Los Angeles, under the care of Mrs. Williams.

ARIZONA'S DEBT.

Supreme Court Decides Territory Must Pay Bonds to Pima County.

The United States supreme court handed down a decision affirming the decree of the supreme court of Arizona in the case of the governor of Arizona, the secretary, the auditor of the territory, appellants, versus James L. Utter and others. The case involves certain bonds issued by Pima county, Arizona, in aid of the Arizona Narrow Gauge Railroad company. The governor, secretary and auditor of the territory were petitioned to issue certain bonds in exchange for the Pima county bonds. The petitioners averred that in compliance with an act of the territory to comply with the duty of the territorial officials to provide for the redeeming of the indebtedness incurred by plaintiffs by issuing refunding bonds. The case as now decided is against the territorial officials.

THE FLORAL REALM

Spice or clove pinka deserve a place in the garden for their sweet perfume alone. Her Majesty is a fine, fragrant pink as white as snow and every bloom as large as a silver dollar.

Lily of the Valley grows from pipe or bulbous roots. As they increase rapidly, secure a small bunch of bulbs of a seedman or neighbor and in two or three years a fine bed may be obtained.

Among geraniums Leonard Kelway and S. A. Nutt are preferred for extensive planting in parks and gardens. Both are brilliant red, outblooming almost every other geranium. They are dwarf and compact, with very healthy, rich green foliage.

The Golden Gleam begonia is a novelty of the Sempervivens type, of dwarf, compact habit. Its foliage is of a golden yellow color, making it an odd, interesting and beautiful plant. When planted out in full sun the foliage on many of the plants will color up into various shades, giving the appearance of finely colored autumn leaves.

The brugmansia is a very rapid grower when cared for intelligently, and even when cultivated in the window garden it will soon grow to four or five feet in height. On a well branched plant of this height it is no unusual sight to see from fifty to a hundred flowers when it is in full bloom and innumerable buds in all stages of development.

Coleus do better in cold frames made especially for such purposes as getting quantities of young plants ready for bedding. All of one stage of growth can then be obtained by making the best effect in borders and designs. John Goode is probably a more splendid yellow coleus than the popular Golden Bedder. Verschaffelii, rich crimson, is still the best red coleus for withstanding the summer sun and heat.

The very dry hot weather of last summer cheated us out of some canna and dahlia blooms but those we had were fine and the clumps were in good condition when dug in the fall. For a green leaved red flowered variety the Bouvier or Defender can hardly be improved upon. Chicago is a fine yellow flowered one but our hot Colorado sun is apt to scorch the petals or rather wilt them. These varieties grew over six feet for us, with Egrandale not far behind. We have a Rainbow and a Black Beauty which we shall try in the ground this year. Cannas are very satisfactory.

The Ramblers, General Jacquemont, Glorie de Dijon, Reine Marie Henriette, Champion of World, Victor Verdier and Persian Yellow are prominent early June roses. The old yellow Harison and Persian are grown alone for their early flowering qualities and bright yellow color. They are both ordinary roses otherwise and are merely spring flowering sorts. Strictly ever blooming roses are among the Teas, Hybrid Teas, Bourbons, Polyanthas and Noisettes. These are the varieties best suited for a long season of flowering. However, the Ramblers are too good to reject. After flowering they make the finest kind of green covering for arbors, bowers, arcades or any places requiring shade. The same is true of the Lord Penzance sweet briars.

The calla when grown for winter flowering should have complete rest for several weeks during summer. About May 15 plants should be turned out of pots and planted in the garden or the pot may be turned down on its side in a dry place and the plant allowed to die down after cutting off the leaves. If planted in the garden the plant will die down and start up late in August, when it can be taken up and freshly potted in rich soil. If left in the pot the dry bulbs should be freshly potted about September 1 and started in the new ground. In reporting break or remove all the small bulbs or shoots, leaving one strong central bulb to grow to flower. Do not plant bulbs in too large a pot; one from five to six inches in diameter is amply sufficient.—Denver Field and Farm.

QUEER NAVAJOES.

They Won't Eat Pine River Fish, Believing They Are His Brothers.

"Those Navajo Indians are a strange people," said Thomas Holland yesterday in a meditative mood. Mr. Holland is state superintendent of fish hatcheries, and he has just returned from an extended trip in the southwestern part of the state. "I stopped at the ranch of a man named Bishop," said Mr. Holland. "Mr. Bishop lives north of Durango, and this summer white men are so scarce in that part of the state that Indians are being hired to do all sorts of work. This man Bishop has a Navajo Indian working for him. He is tall and straight and as lazy as any Indian I ever saw."

"I had some packing to be done over to several lakes about thirty miles north of the ranch, and I got this Indian to go with me. It required a great deal of persuasion before he would accept the offer I made him, and then he would do so only upon one condition, and that was that I should do absolutely no fishing on the way, and that no fish of any kind should be cooked. He wouldn't tell me why he had such a dislike of fish, but on the way up into the mountains I managed to get the story out of him."

"He said that thousands of years ago, or a good many at any rate, the great tribe of Navajos divided. There was war between the factions and one part of the Indians drove the other away off to the north, fighting all the way. When the fleeing redmen got to the Pine river, which we had to cross on our way, there was a terrible battle, and hundreds of the routed Indians were killed. Their bodies were thrown into the river, and the chase continued. That Indian told me that the refugees were driven so far north that they were in the region of everlasting snow."

"Then the victorious Indians came back to the country they had left and have occupied it ever since in peace. But the belief has always existed among the Navajos that the dead men they threw into the Pine river turned to fishes, and that all of the funny tribe that now live in that stream are descendants of their vanquished brothers."

"That Indian was a most peculiar fellow. Whenever he did a little extra exertion such as lifting he would go and lie down for a few minutes, and he would not budge until he had rested. He would get up on those frosty mountains and put on nothing but a shirt and a pair of trousers and work until the sun became warm and then he would put on his coat. He would wear his coat until the weather began to get cool in the evening and off would come his coat and he would have nothing on but his shirt and trousers all through the chilly evening."—Denver Republican.

LAS VEGAS INVENTOR.

He Strikes Something of Real Value in the Mechanical World.

Aleck Connell, engineer and machinist at the insane asylum, has invented a contrivance for cutting threads on large pipes, says the Las Vegas Optic.

Heretofore such pipes have been required to be taken to a shop where they could be cut by massive machinery, and then be taken back to the place where they were to be used.

Mr. Connell, an old time resident of Las Vegas, has invented a machine to cut threads on large pipes, just where they are to be used, or have been used, thus saving time and expense in removal. Then, too, the machine weighs not more than thirty pounds and can be transported by hand from one place to another.

The device consists of a chuck which is inserted within the pipe. On this chuck are three dogs at each end. By means of a screw these dogs come out and grip the pipe and hold it fast. Thus threads can be cut on pipes from two inches and a half to six inches in diameter.

There is a lead bar by which the thread can be governed, and this bar can be exchanged for one having different threads, as may be desired for cutting, thus giving any desired difference between threads.

There is a disk, twelve inches in diameter, on one side of which are attached two tools of steel. By these the threads are cut more rapidly than one tool, as in the ordinary lathe, could possibly do it. The disk has cogs upon its circumference; and a handle instantly changeable from a lever to a crank can work as a ratchet or a lever.

Mr. Connell has patents in this country and Canada, and a patent pending in England. The peculiarities of the machine is that it will work on pipe where it stands or is to be used, while heretofore such pipe must be carried to the shop. The probabilities are that Aleck Connell, whom all Las Vegas know and esteem will be a rich man in a few years.

A Lesson in Health.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. Alvarado Pharmacy.

Why Physicians Should Advertise. Dr. Cyrus Edson, of New York city, sets forth some clear, definite views upon the above subject in the Daily News of April 25, and his reasons are not only sensible, but gain authority from his high standing in the medical world.

He holds that physicians must maintain the ethics of the profession, avoiding self-praise, self-exploitation, sensational methods and everything that will tend to identify them with the countless charlatans who use publicity. But he sees no good reason why beginners should not, if they choose, insert cards in daily papers, giving name, address, telephone number and, possibly, their specialty. He would draw a very hard and fast line between what might be inserted and what might not. He believes that the time will come when no member of the profession will deem such advertising out of place. It is countenanced in Europe, and should be permitted here.

The "ethics of the profession" apply to details other than advertising. American medical societies are ultra-conservative, and Dr. Edson says that there was a period when the writing of such opinions as he has put into his paper would have brought censure. A second offense would have resulted in expulsion. No American physician of standing is permitted to follow any business that has to do with medicine, other than his practice. He cannot open a pharmacy, nor even patent a medical compound or surgical instrument that he discovers or invents. Many inventors of valuable medical aids have died poor men through this unwritten law—notably Dr. Morton, the discoverer of the anesthetic use of chloroform. Dr. Edson himself is the inventor of a surgical and needle forceps which is in use in all parts of the world today, yet neither he nor Dr. Olds, who helped in perfecting the instruments, have ever drawn royalties. The revenue would have made both of them rich. The case is different in France, Germany and Russia. One of the czar's physicians receives $200,000 a year in royalties on the drug salol, yet manages to maintain his professional dignity and his post at court. The ethics of the profession are gradually being broadened, however, and American medicine and surgery will ultimately be rid of many old forms without sacrificing an iota of the dignity that is held so sacred.

The real truth of the matter is, no doubt, that physicians do not distinguish degrees in advertising, nor realize what heights of dignity it can be raised to. Propose to a conservative physician that he advertise, and he immediately conjures up visions of Omega Oil bulletin boards and dental ads in the newspapers. The members of the profession who are most anxious to advertise—beginners and the younger element—do not dare enjoy the most priceless kind of advertising—reputation and the good opinion of the community they serve. Medical advertising will ultimately be an accomplished fact, and will doubtless take the lines laid down by Dr. Edson—small cards in various mediums, with mere mention of one's specialty as the only approach to argument. Physicians can begin with mail advertising, however. Neatly engraved announcements of the opening of an office, with address, hours and other suitable data, ought to be quite inside the lines of ethics, being little more than a social form.

FORT APACHE.

To Be a Six Company Post—Government to Build Irrigating Ditches. Lieut. Marion C. Rayson, who spent several days here during the week, says the Globe Belt, states that his regiment, which returned from the Philippines last August, has been ordered there again for service, and the troops at Fort Apache will leave for San Francisco to embark as soon as relieved, probably within a few days.

They will be relieved by two companies of the 12th infantry and four companies of the 14th cavalry, and a force of six companies will probably be maintained at Apache hereafter. The barracks are now being renovated and the accommodations being increased for their reception.

JOYFUL MATERNITY.

Hopeful Words to Childless Women. Two Grateful Women Tell How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How shall a mother who is weak and sick with some female trouble bear healthy children?

How anxious women ought to be to give their children the blessing of a good constitution!

Many women long for a child to bless their home, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs, they are barren.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the parts, curing all displacements and inflammation.

Actual sterility in women is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all expectant or would-be mothers.

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass. $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the following testimonial is not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., Lynn, Mass.

The Story of Mrs. De Bett and Her Baby Girl.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I took your medicine I suffered for years. Life to me was a torture. I often wished I were dead. I had no children, and the doctor said I never could have. Menstruation was very painful, also suffered with severe pains in left ovary, had pains in my back and heart, terrible headaches, and weakness of the kidneys. I tried everything, had womb dilated twice but that did no good. I got discouraged and concluded to let the doctors go and try your medicine. After writing to you explaining my case, I followed your advice carefully and with the result that I never felt so well in all my life. I am indeed a new woman and have a loving little baby girl which is the happiness of my home. I feel that I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine, and feel very proud to recommend it to others. I hope that many others will follow my example and that homes may be brightened as mine has."—Mrs. Lucy De Bett, 80 1/2 S. Halstead St., Chicago, Ill. (March 1, 1901.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before taking your medicine I was unable to carry a babe to maturity, having lost two—one at six months and one at seven. The doctor said next time I would die, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I did not die, but am the proud mother of a six months old girl baby. She weighs nineteen pounds and has never seen a sick day in her life. She is the delight of our home."—Mrs. A. D. JARRET, Belmont, Ohio.

Get Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

It is free as the air. She has been the means of making many a miserable life turn into one of joy—no other living person has had such wide experience with woman's ills. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

My Mesdames Byron, Brown, Bennett; Miss Burnside, Miss Goodfellow. Delivery of Medals—U. F. Duff. Delivery of Diplomas—Judge Seamen Field.

Closing Remarks—A. B. Stroup. Music—Mandolin Club. The class roll is as follows: Nora Emma Lawton, James Oakleaf Clifford, Walter Albert Pickarts, Lee O. Lester, Ellis Williams. Motto: "We Launch Tonight; Where Shall We Anchor." Colors, red and white. Class flower, carnation.

The Faculty—A. B. Stroup, principal; U. F. Duff, assistant principal; Miss Ella P. Guiney, Miss Daisy Allen, Mrs. Ella Smith, Miss M. W. Coulter, Miss Louretta Kurtz.

Like a Drowning Man.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes George S. Marsh, well known attorney of Nocona, Texas. "I took quantities of napsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. J. H. O'Reilly & Co.; B. H. Briggs & Co.

Ancient Irrigators.

In the Superstition mountains, Arizona, engineers have found an artificial gorge four miles long and 100 feet deep, cut down through solid rock by prehistoric irrigators, and leading into 120 miles of ditches, which irrigated nearly 1,000 acres of land, now only a desert waste, covered with the ruins of the ancient people.

Acker's Blood Elixir positively cures chronic blood poisoning and all scrofulous affections. At all times a matchless system tonic purifier. Money refunded if you are not satisfied. 50c and $1. J. H. O'Reilly & Co. and B. H. Briggs & Co.

Demented Young Woman. An unknown young woman, well dressed and good looking, was found at El Paso sitting on the court house lawn and acting strangely. To the officers who investigated she stated that she was guarding her father's grave. She carried a grip and it is quite certain that she alighted from the Southern Pacific west bound train that morning. She was sent to the hospital, where the attending physician stated that she was temporarily insane, and had probably been drugged for an unknown purpose. The case is full of mystery. Among her effects were found papers indicating that the woman is Ada Barker, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a trained nurse. The name Elizabeth Johnson, Los Angeles, was found written on a scrap of paper.

Holds Up a Congressman. "At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter."

Overworked, run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

YOU SAY: "WHAT HAPPENED THEN?"

And the Ruddy Youngster Springs a New One on You.

Where do children pick up the conundrums that they spring on unsuspecting grown ups? A chubby little damsel, who is not a day more than five years old, walked up to the chest of a bachelor visitor last Sunday with a new one.

"Once there was a grocery man," said she.

"Yes?" said the bachelor, with immediate interest.

"And he was very, very little."

"Yes, yes?"

"And somebody told him to eat Scotch Oats."

"Yes, yes, yes?"

"You ought to say 'What happened then?'" prompted mademoiselle, jouncing on the bachelor's knees.

"What happened then?"

"It made the grocer grow sir."

Picture of smiling mamma.

After the bachelor had recovered from the prolonged chuckles which he felt to be demanded by the humor of this reply, Miss Five-Year-Old eyed him thoroughly and inquired:

"Why don't you eat Scotch Oats, too?"

Picture of mamma in anguish.

Newsy Notes From Exchanges

GALLUP.

From the Republican.

Alex Robinson has recovered from his recent illness and is on duty again. R. P. Collins, superintendent of the Pueblos at Albuquerque, arrived here on his way to Zuni.

M. B. Johnson and family returned from El Paso. Mr. Johnson sold his meat market and will engage in other business.

Thos. Osborne, of the firm of Osborne & Walker, Indian traders at Cienega, was in town, transacting business with our merchants.

D. C. Russell has returned from Point Richmond, where he expects to locate in the near future. While away he put in some of his time in San Francisco and was aboard four big warships.

Chas. Lewis, aged 23, whose home was at Lyndon, Iowa, died of tuberculosis on No. 8 just as the train was coming into Gallup. The remains were embalmed and will be sent east for burial. The young man had spent the winter near Fresno, Cal., and was returning home with his father.

Mrs. J. A. Gordon left for a month's visit at Jefferson City, Mo. She will also visit with relatives of Mr. Gordon at Walsenburg, Colo., before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. Nont Reid have rented the Gordon residence during her absence.

The Montezuma band has adopted a new rule and hereafter it will charge for furnishing music for entertainments, and parades and dances. The boys have to pay rent for their band quarters and other expenses necessary to keep up the organization. While it had use of the assembly room in the school building its running expense was nominal and the band did not hesitate to furnish music gratis on all occasions. But it is different now.

CERRILLOS.

From the Register.

The infant daughter of Francisco Baca has been very low with pneumonia, but is some better today.

A. Young has returned from Pecos, where he has been doing some building for W. P. Gould.

Chas. Ripley and Henry Wesley are now employed in the Bottom Dollar mine, owned by Mr. Allen, of Chicago, Ill.

Rev. Robert Hodgson, presiding elder for this district, will hold quarterly meeting at the Methodist church in Cerrillos May 26.

J. A. Beal, correspondent and circulating agent for the Albuquerque Daily Citizen, transacted business in Cerrillos.

H. C. Kinsell came down from Santa Fe and went out to the ranch. He has entirely recovered from the injuries he received some time ago.

Messrs. Chas. G. Warner, Chas. R. Galbraith and D. J. Bridge, members of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company, are here from Pennsylvania this week looking over the mines and other property of the company.

Wednesday night the well at the smelter which had been run under the San Marcos arroyo, caved in on the raise under the arroyo, leaving the bottom of the arroyo down several feet. A mare and colt that were wandering that way were caught in the fall. No other damage was done.

BLAND.

From the Herald.

D. T. Evans visited Santa Fe this week.

It is said that Woodbury is to have a store.

Miss Virginia Diamond will run the boarding house at Woodbury.

A. L. Hall and C. L. Scheurich returned from Amizette.

Copious and refreshing showers have fallen throughout the district during the past week.

W. E. Myers and Hank Ritter returned from a trip to Twining, Taos county.

Miss Mary Springer was over from Cochiti canyon this week, the guest of the Misses Arnot.

J. D. May, Henry Brown, D. B. Wilson, Fred Cook and Randolph Kelly returned from a fishing trip, very much disappointed because the fish wouldn't bite.

The young folks were given a social by Clarence Callendar. Those present were Misses Belle, Jennie and Hattie Arnot, Mabel and Minnie Routledge, Mary Springer, Bessie and Lillie Smith, Messrs. Clarence, Wayman and Dan Callendar, Wilbur Crowell, Frank Smith, Ray Myers, Oliver Overhuls, Wilbert Sebben.

The picnic at the Griffin ranch was a most delightful affair. Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Boblett, Mrs. Chas. Scheurich, Mrs. B. F. Bruce, Miss Stella Williams, Mrs. S. Smith, Frank and Bessie Smith, Mrs. David Norman, Mrs. C. W. Graves, Mrs. Wm. Griffin, Alice Griffin, Miss Eola Diamond, S. W. Young and H. E. Anderson.

Prof. Chas. Nicholson, late of Kingston, Jamaica, short mention of whom was made last week, has concluded to locate here and open a studio in the Grand hotel, where he will hereafter give vocal and instrumental music lessons.

John R. Pond had the misfortune of losing a $250 thoroughbred horse by the animal breaking his leg, in attempting to free himself from a wagon to which he was tied. Rather than have the animal killed Mr. Pond gave him to James Fay, who will undertake to splinter the limbs until the bone knits.

D. K. B. Sellers, wife and children and Mrs. D. M. McNasser, spent Sunday at Maple Ranch, the exemplary home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Springer, where they met their daughter, Mrs. Bert Brown, of Silverton, who is visiting with her parents. Everybody seemed glad except the chickens, who have learned to take to the brush whenever the Sellers family puts in an appearance.

Aztec.

From the Index.

Two big kilns of brick will soon be burning in Aztec and building will progress satisfactorily this fall and winter.

Cy Beard, an old timer in this section, is employed by Col. W. H. Williams in sinking a well on the latter's premises near town.

If Aztec is to have a ball team this season it is high time for those who expect to take part to be getting together and making the necessary arrangements.

Thos. B. Tattershall, formerly of Oklahoma, has purchased G. W. Lamberson's 100 acre ranch near Aztec. Consideration, $2,800. Mr. Tattershall is an energetic farmer and with his family has already taken charge of the property.

Robert Mitchell and Mrs. Hannah Jones, both of Hermosa, Colo., were married at the Aztec hotel, by Justice of the Peace E. G. Berry. They were accompanied to Aztec by Mrs. Lizzie Hand and R. D. Sanford, of Durango. The party visited with friends in Aztec and vicinity a few days, being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robbins over Sunday.

Dave Lewis, of the La Plata, completed a contract for the delivery of 60,000 pounds of wheat at the Aztec roller mills, and has yet some 40,000 or 50,000 pounds in his granary at La Plata. This in addition to another delivery of several thousand pounds of the cereal, which was made earlier in the season. They do undoubtedly raise wheat and such things in the La Plata valley.

Rev. R. M. Craig, synodical missionary of the Presbyterian church for New Mexico and Arizona, visited the county during the past week, going as far down the valley as the Jewett mission, which the Presbyterian missionary board is said to be about to take hold of. From the pulpit of the Aztec church last Sunday evening, Mr. Craig told of the work which is being done by his denomination among the people of the southwest, and his discourse was decidedly interesting as showing the uplifting and bettering tendency everywhere manifest. He was evidently pleased with the general prosperous condition noted in this county and said it was making better progress toward development than was shown in any other locality he had visited in recent months in either of the two territories.

Mines and Minerals

Michael O'Neill, of Cerrillos, a well known mining man, is a visitor in Santa Fe.

The Ingersoll mine near Golden is sending in shipments of ore regularly to the Cerrillos smelter.

It is now understood that the St. Lazarus Gold Mining company at Golden will pay up all old debts and resume operations in the near future.

J. D. May, of Bland, will shortly put a force of men to work getting out ore on the Laura S., one of the most promising properties in the Cochiti district.

The diamond drill at the Santa Fe copper mine near San Pedro is being operated to determine the extent of the ore bodies in that famous old producer.

The Las Vegas Record says: William White and A. J. Baker went out to the Tecolote mines to get a few more specimens, although specimens fail to create the former interest.

The smelter at Cerrillos is accumulating a large stock of ore both by rail and wagon, which has caused the opening of a number of mines in that district that have been idle for years.

At the Boston Mining Exchange last week 100 shares of Cochiti stock were sold at 45 cents a share. Of Santa Fe Gold & Copper company stock 4,405 shares were sold at from $2.25 to $3 a share.

Workmen are now engaged in overhauling and repairing the stamp mill at Woodbury, getting it in shape to treat Cochiti ore. It will take but a few weeks to make the necessary repairs.

D. C. King, superintendent of the Empire Copper company of Dona Ana county, is working on the Clearwater group. The shaft on the Clearwater is down 65 or 70 feet, and the drift 20 feet from the surface is in native copper. A whim has been installed and a large ore chute completed. A total of three shafts are being sunk on the group.

R. M. Wilbur, a Chicago capitalist, secretary of the Federal Life Insurance company, and president of the United Gold & Copper company, which has extensive mining interests in the southwest, arrived in Santa Fe and is the guest of A. R. Gibson. Mr. Wilbur is a veteran mining investor, having been interested in mining projects continuously the past twenty years. He will leave with Mr. Gibson for Lordsburg to look over certain interests of the United Gold & Copper company in that part of Grant county.

The Lordsburg Liberal says: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Carter were in the city en route to their home in Springfield, Mass. Mr. Carter is the president of the Shannon Copper company, and came out from Springfield last March to see the Shannon smelter blow in. There were many delays before the blowing in time came, and troubles after it did come. Mr. Carter stayed right with the proposition until the smelter was turning out high grade copper and high grade matte. Some of the copper bullion runs as high as ninety-nine per cent, and the matte runs seventy per cent. The smelters are running perfectly, and there is enough ore to keep them running for an indefinite time. The plans for the converter and the concentrator are nearly completed and the orders for the machinery will soon be made. The reduction process of the Shannon company will not be a perfect one until the concentrator and converter are in full operation.

MACHINERY IN DEMAND.

Several New Concentrating Plants for the Ores of New Mexico.

A correspondent of the Denver News, writing from Santa Rita, N. M., under date of May 19, says:

There is much activity in Gold Gulch, five miles from this camp, and a good sized mining boom is under way.

Some time since a big lead of high grade gold ore was uncovered in the Owl claim, owned by A. A. Hamilton, and the first car of ore shipped out ran $50 per ton. H. Finch and others of Colorado bonded the property for $20,000 and are taking out and shipping ore which they are confident will realize upward of $75 per ton.

J. M. Upton, a Deming cowman and capitalist, this week bought a one-fourth interest in the Warhorse No. 1, 2 and 3 claims, and Black Devil claim, owned by Osmer & Skinner. Extensive development is in progress and a stock company will be organized.

A dispatch from Chicago announces that the Wild Cat and Clifton copper properties will soon be worked again, and the 100-ton concentrator of the Clifton Copper company, which has been shut down for some time, will be started up again.

The daily shipments of iron and copper ores from Santa Rita, Fierro and tributary camps aggregate twenty-five to thirty cars.

J. E. Rhim, superintendent of the La Corona Gold & Copper company of El Paso and Kansas City, has secured for the company the Little Gem and St. Josephine properties in Gold Gulch. This company has twelve claims in this district, but during the ensuing two months most of their work will be concentrated on the Gold Gulch properties, although development will be prosecuted on their groups of copper properties adjoining the holdings of the Santa Rita Mining company. The ore body on the St. Josephine is more than ten feet wide and assays of the ore shows from $10 to $75 gold per ton. A picked sample runs $100.

D. C. King, superintendent of the Empire Copper company, is working two shafts on the Clearwater group. The shaft on the Clearwater is down sixty-five or seventy feet and the drift twenty feet from the surface is in native copper. A whim has been installed and a large ore chute completed. A total of three shafts are being sunk on the group.

W. P. Dorsey and others, operating at Dorsey's camp, eighteen miles from Lordsburg, this county, have opened up a body of ore on one of their properties which runs $11 gold and 254 ounces silver to the ton.

The Gibson Development company has let the contract for a 100-foot shaft on its Sam Simon group, near Lordsburg.

The Hoosier Milling company has agreed to build a 500-ton concentrator at Lordsburg, provided that a sufficient tonnage will be guaranteed. B. L. Berkey, of the B. L. Berkey Machinery company, of El Paso, is promoting the enterprise.

The Lordsburg Mineral railway is a projected enterprise in the Lordsburg district. It is proposed to extend the road from Lordsburg into the Shakespear district.

AROUND SILVER CITY.

Home Treatment Capacity Shows a Steady Enlargement.

The Red River mine at White Signal, owned by Len Hawkins, was purchased last week by the Alessandro Mining company, the consideration being $1,000. It was secured for the purpose of obtaining a water supply for the new leaching plant to be erected in the Burros, although the property contains good gold values.

The gold and silver mill at Volcano camp, Lordsburg, will commence operations on June 1, also shipments of lead and iron ore from Granite Gap to El Paso will be shortly resumed.

The Wilson Mining & Milling company, located about eight miles from Stein's Pass, gives promise of becoming permanent and although it is a new operation, everything is running smoothly.

A new 120-horse power engine and two boilers have been substituted for the three gasoline engines formerly used in the ten-stamp mill and which were unsuccessful. The shaft in the mine is now down 325 feet with levels every 100 feet, and the ore values increasing. Recent assays showed 560 ounces in silver and $30 in gold. The mill has a daily capacity of twenty-five tons.

Owing to the increase in the output of ore of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company at Fierro, a new train has been added, the crew being the one which run between Deming and Silver City. This makes two freight trains for Fierro and the tonnage is still heavy.

The Cooney mine has closed down temporarily on account of the high freight rates to Aguas Calientes, Mexico, that being the nearest smelter since the El Paso plant cannot take care of the ore.

Prof. F. A. Jones, formerly director of the School of Mines at Socorro, is making a geological survey of Grant county and is enthusiastic regarding the future of the district from a mining standpoint.

SIERRA COUNTY MINES.

From the Advocate.

The new strike made on the Ready Pay still holds good.

The shaft of the Cincinnati mine is down 133 feet and a station is being put in.

Martin Conaboy is preparing a shipment of ore from the Flying Dutchman mine at the head of Ready Pay gulch.

John Winspear and Henry Gentsch, of Cincinnati, O., and members of the Prosper Gold Mining company, spent several days looking over the Prosper group of mines.

Experts from Bisbee, Ariz., are examining the Grandview and Grand Central groups of mines and other properties in the Carpenter mining district. They will spend several days in the camp.

A. Knight, a mining man of Denver, Col., is visiting the camp. Mr. Knight is well impressed with the showing in this district and will stay a year at least. Mr. Knight is an old time friend of W. C. Thompson.

Mr. Ricketts, a veteran soldier and a member of Kearney Post G. A. R., department of New Mexico, was in town attending to mining and other business. Mr. Ricketts has a lease on the Liverpool mine on North Percha, and for the past six months has been operating same. The mine is located near the Templar, one of the famous producers of ancient days, when a sack of ore was good for a regular rest or a visit to the sea coast.

The dead still lives—and, from recent press dispatches, is a lively corpse. Mr. Edward L. Doheny, one of the pioneers of Kingston, discoverer and locator of the Miner's Dream and other claims near Kingston, is basking under the light of Aladdin's lamp and swimming in petroleum. With three other lucky partners Mr. Doheny has in the past week sold to the Santa Fe Railway company the Kern river oil fields, for the small sum of $1,500,000. The transfer of the property was made through Mr. Doheny, of Los Angeles, Cal. The sale is the most important cash transaction on oil ever made in California. It is hoped that Mr. Doheny may come to the Black Range, as it is believed that an oil belt passes through the range between Hillsboro and Kingston. Prospectors who were raised in the oil regions of Pennsylvania say that the indications are excellent for an oil field between the two towns.

STOCK NOTES

George Graham of Clayton has sold his yearlings and steers at $17 and $20 respectively.

A herd of twelve cattle at Roswell brought $3,600. This dealer surely has nothing to beef about in prices.

Some 4.50 head of Presidio county cattle have been received by the Walker brothers of Roswell and 3,000 more are contracted for.

J. W. Wiggins of Cimarron county, has closed a deal with Beatty brothers for his yearlings and steers, receiving $17 for the former and $21 for the latter.

V. H. Lusk, from the foot of the plains, was at Carlsbad the other day, and says that he and his neighbors have about 1,500 twos and up, but no buyers.

Price Henry, manager of Ike Gronsky's sheep in Eddy county, has resigned. He has inherited a large estate, and will soon be put in possession of his fortune.

Hugo Goldenberg is in Las Vegas from the Tucumcari country. He is largely interested in sheep, and says that in his opinion 50 per cent of lambs will not be saved in Guadalupe county.

P. J. Towner, sanitary inspector of cattle for Colorado, has sent in his report for the first half of May, showing 25,000 head of cattle had stopped at Las Vegas for feed and inspection.

It is reported that millions of grasshoppers about an inch long are nipping onto every bush and spray of grass and devouring same in northern New Mexico, and that they are headed this way.

J. C. Beard of El Paso, bought 600 pounds of steers from stockmen in the country around Pecos, to be shipped to South Dakota pasture between May 26 and June 1, over the Pecos Valley road. He paid $20 per head.

Jay Barnes, of Cave Creek, was in Hillsboro recently and reports his ranch business safely anchored. Wild animals are destroying some young stock on the range, but the calf crop is an exceptionally good one this year.

Balus, Calvin and Ira Baker were in Deming. These gentlemen came in with a herd of 950 head of 1, 2 and 3 year old cattle which they delivered to Denver parties. There are also 250 head from the Hachitas for the same buyer.

Charles Rouse and brother, Jean, returned to Hillsboro from a hunting and prospecting trip on Cave Creek and the Upper Animas. They report many dead cattle on the Animas killed by lobo wolves. By one carcass they found the tracks of three big lobo wolves where they had been strung a cow. In the past these wolves have been seen by the Animas plateau as far up as Barnes' ranch on the old Apache trail.

Mr. Howard, general manager for Garrett & McCormick, stockmen of Springer, Colfax county, New Mexico, has purchased of Mr. and Mrs. Armer, of Kingston, a band of 680 head of goats. Some of the choice young bucks were readily taken at $50 each. It was a cash business deal and the outside is not presumed to know the inside. However, it is claimed the amount involved will make a $2,000 check look pretty small when the change is handed back. The Armer ranch extends from Kingston to North Percha and is white with the vast herds, over 4,000 now being on the range. When the white metal went out the white hair came in and old Kingston yet bids defiance to adversity.

Traveling is Dangerous.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. George H. Hausan, locomotive engineer, Lima, Ohio, writes: "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." Alvarado Pharmacy.

HEAVY STOCK SHIPMENT.

The Spring Movement Record on Santa Fe Road.

The heaviest stock movement in the history of the Santa Fe road is now on. Hundreds of carloads of fat beef steers are coming north from Texas and New Mexico every day, to be fattened for market on the pasture lands of Kansas and Oklahoma.

From the carefully prepared estimates of men in the field, it is given out by the Santa Fe that the movement of stock, this spring, will aggregate 8,900 carloads, or about 189,000 head. This is about 20,000 head above any previous record.

Since April 1, the Santa Fe has hauled 3,000 cars over the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, via Purcell, and it is estimated that this is only a little over 50 per cent of the total movement for the season.

Up to date, about 2,000 cars have been moved by the Pecos Valley lines, the heaviest shipment yet to come. According to the estimate of Traffic Manager Don A. Sweet it will require about 5,000 cars to handle the stock shipments originating on the Pecos Valley. Of this movement, Eddy county and district will use about 1,000 or 1,200 cars, having about 20,000 head ready for shipment.

Every effort is being made by the management of the local road to handle the rush, this spring, with despatch and, so far, have forwarded all consignments as promptly as called for by contract.—Carlsbad Argus.

No man can cure consumption. You can prevent it though. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma. Never fails.

Movement of Cattle.

The stock cattle of Bead brothers have been bought by Watkins brothers and will be run on their ranges south of Deming.

This week the Baker brothers will deliver the results of their recent roundup to Lamar, Colorado, parties.

Last week S. S. Birchfield delivered 1,000 head to George Chessman. The latter has contracted for at least a train load from R. Hudson, Watkins brothers, Joe Taylor and others.

What Thin Folks Need

is a greater power of digesting and assimilating food. For them Dr. King's New Life Pills work wonders. They tone and regulate the digestive organs, gently expel all poisons from the system, enrich the blood, improve appetite, make healthy flesh. Only 25c at all druggists.

Some Arizona Shipments.

Over 2,000 head of cattle were shipped last week to Billings, Mont., from Douglas, A. T., where the El Paso Southwestern has recently built large new stock yards.

The Lyons & Campbell Cattle company have bought the Walker & Speed cattle and will ship them to pasture in Colorado.

What is Foley's Kidney Cure?

Answer: It is made from a prescription of a leading Chicago physician, and one of the most eminent in the country. The ingredients are the purest that money can buy, and are scientifically combined to get their utmost value. Alvarado Pharmacy.

WEALTH OF CACTUS.

Chaparral Region of Texas Reveals Possibilities to Investors.

The immense area in the western part of the state known as the "chaparral region," formerly, to all practical purposes, unexplored and considered worthless, has come to the attention of English cabinet wood brokers through the agency of Louis G. Hester, an English commercial agent of Houston and Galveston, and indirectly through Professor Attwater of the Southern Pacific industrial department, who furnished specimens of the products of the soil.

Within a few months expeditions will be fitted out for further investigation. Mr. Hester is something of an explorer during his periods of rest, but generally spends his winters in London. One the eve of his return this year he took with him specimens of wood, spices and medicinal herbs. Dealers in cabinet woods have been particularly interested and propose to make a thorough investigation of the territory.

As most Texans know, the "chaparral region" is a wonderful country, at present devoted to stock raising. Here are millions of acres of land not suitable for agriculture, because of the uncertainty of the rainfall. It is literally covered with a growth of small plants, shrubs and small trees, but in the Southern Pacific industrial exhibit, a specimen of the products of the soil destined to bring forth riches. Spices obtained nowhere else except in the jungles of the tropics, the hardest and the rarest of fine grained woods and the best qualities of medicine, the value of which cannot be overestimated. Nuts, seeds, tanning products, gums, berries and galls, fibers and the rare insects upon the leaves of the cactus plants, from which cochineal dye is manufactured, are found in great quantities. In the opinion of Professor Attwater, the "chaparral region" contains a wealth that can scarcely be estimated. At present it is ready for the taker. For years it has existed, but the value of the products have remained unknown. Now for the first time it is to be thoroughly explored. A nation could scarcely produce a greater wealth than is contained in the vast cactus plains of western Texas.

For years the Indians of Texas and Mexico have been utilizing the roots for medicine, berries for food and the spices in their natural state, and but little attention has been called to them. Now at last it is hoped by those who are advertising the state the true conditions have come to the attention of parties who will take advantage of them. More samples of woods are to be forwarded to England for inspection. They could not be used by lumbering men, but to the cabinet maker they are of inestimable value.—Dallas, Texas, News.

This is just what Painkiller will do; try it. Have a bottle in the house for instant use, as it will save you hours of suffering. Watch out that the dealer does not sell you an imitation, as the great reputation of Painkiller (Perry Davis'), has induced many people to try to make something to sell, said to be "just as good as the genuine."

Life Insurance in New Mexico.

During 1901 the life insurance companies' losses in New Mexico aggregated $308,200. Losses amounting to $86,500 were paid in Albuquerque. According to the report of Territorial Auditor W. G. Sargent, however, printed several months ago, the losses of life insurance companies in New Mexico during 1901 were $124,614.91, while the amounts of premiums received by them during that year was $299,151.86.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by all druggists.

Prove its value by investing 10 cents in trial size of Ely's Cream Balm. Druggists supply it and we mail it. Full size 50 cents. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., New York. Clifton, Arizona, Jan. 20, 1902. Messrs. Ely Bros.:—Please send me a 50 cent bottle of Cream Balm. I find your remedy the quickest and most permanent cure for catarrh and cold in the head. DALL M. POTTER, Gen. Mgr. Ariz. Gold M. Co. Messrs. Ely Bros.:—I have been afflicted with catarrh for twenty years. It made me so weak I thought I had consumption. I got one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm and in three days the discharge stopped. It is the best medicine I have used for catarrh. Proberta, Cal. FRANK E. KENDLERVINE.

It's Always the Way. It's always the way. The more of earthly treasure one possesses the more greedy and avaricious he becomes. An Iowa minister has officiated at 507 weddings. When he first commenced business he took anything he could get and was thankful—in fact, once took a counterfeit half dollar and gave the groom back a good quarter. But as time passed success smiled on him, and the more it smiled the more he wanted it to smile—in truth he smiled, his wife smiled, his children smiled, the hired girl smiled, until he is now a living example of the man who attempts to serve both God and Mammon, almost always charging $5 for his services. In case the parties refuse to be "held-up" for perhaps more money than they ever saw, the minister politely, but very firmly, tells them to go to some "Cheap John" or continue to trot down the boulevard of life in single harness.

The price is exorbitant and when is added the expense of a probable divorce suit, it makes married life taste like a luxury. It doesn't take more than a minute, unless the girl balks, and the minister often gets a square meal and kisses the bride, if he wants to.—Exchange.

Tree, Plant and Vine

After a good deal of agony on the part of the California people the secretary of the Interior has been ordered to secure possession by condemnation of the big tree forest in California. The owner of the property has been negotiating with the government for a number of years looking to the sale of the big trees.

There are still some people who believe that moth traps are all right but with most other advanced horticulturists we have an idea that they do more harm than good in an orchard. They will not catch the codling moth, curculio, borer, caterpillar or gopher and these are the insects we want to kill. The use of moth traps by the general public will do more harm than good and they will catch more friends than enemies. The use of lights to save apples, peaches and plums is a decidedly dismal failure.

When currant leaves appear in the spring they should be closely watched for indications of the currant worms and a dusting of white hellebore applied as soon as any are seen. A little of the powder mixed with several times its amount of flour, using enough to whiten the leaves, will destroy these pests and one application will remain until all danger is over if the sprinkling is done while the bushes are wet. If the leaves turn yellow and the berries shrivel on the stalks it is safe to suspect the currant bush borer to be at work. Cut out such stalks to the ground and burn them at once. As the fruit grows mostly upon two-year-old wood and also on that one year old, it is well to cut out all three-year-old stalks every fall or early in spring.

The loss of fruit from self-sterility usually may be prevented by planting other varieties among such trees. The European and oriental pears can fertilize each other and many varieties of the domestic, Japanese and native plums are likewise interfertile, provided they bloom together. The pollen of some varieties will give larger fruit than that of others when it falls on or is applied to the pistils of either self-sterile or self-fertile varieties. Among our common orchard fruits cross-pollination seldom has an immediate influence on the fruit itself. Cross-pollination probably gives better results than self-pollination with nearly all varieties. Insects are probably more important than wind for carrying pollen from tree to tree. If established orchards are unfruitful because of self-sterility it may be profitable to put a few grafts of another variety in each tree.

An ample supply of water is essential to success with strawberries and some of us shall have to skirmish to get it this year. The plants need it in quantities throughout the season and particularly while maturing fruit. No garden plants more quickly suffer from lack of water and none respond more readily when it is properly applied. Make a shallow furrow close to each row of plants as soon as they are planted and run water at once, even though the soil be moist. It settles the earth about the roots, is an insurance against possible dryness and gives the plants a vigorous start. Care should be taken in running water to confine it to the furrows and not allow it to flood the rows. It is better to run small streams for long periods than to try to hasten matters by running too much water. To insure an even, constant flow, it is best to make a lead ditch across the ends of the rows and supply the furrow for each row through a short piece of one-inch pipe or lath funnel which is imbedded in the bank. This is safer and easier to manage than breaking the bank for each furrow, especially in soils that are inclined to wash. As to frequency of irrigation, no definite rule can be given. It must be determined for each particular piece of ground. Some soils may require twice as many applications as others. Study the condition of the soil and the appearance of the plants by reading Wilcox's Irrigation Farming and govern the water supply by the indications there found.

We are told by the scientific gentlemen that this is the year for the return of the seventeen-year locust and we might as well prepare for the worst. Those who have studied the habit of the insect say the female lays eggs in silts or cracks which are made by means of saw-like instrument in the limbs of young nursery stock and trees. In two weeks these eggs are hatched and out of them come little insects which appear like small ants. These run swiftly along the limbs and then fall to the ground and burrow their way into the earth. It is here that the remarkable feature of the periodical cicada is apparent. These insects when once in the ground remain in their subterranean abodes from thirteen to seventeen years, according to the particular brood to which they belong. At the end of that time they emerge—thousands and even millions of them—and quickly swarm over the trees and shrubbery, when their shells part in the middle of the back and out of the old covering comes the true cicada or locust as it is commonly called, although the word locust should apply more particularly to the grasshopper. With each expected visit of the cicada, known as locust years, the eastern newspapers fill their readers with awe at the great damage in prospect. As a fact the cicada harms only young nursery stock and orchard trees and young oak and maple. Their actual aerial existence is so short, from about the middle of May until as late as the first week in July, that they have but little time to commit great material damage and the general twig pruning which they accomplish is often productive of good results. In case an orchard is attacked in this way it should be irrigated at once in order to force out new foliage and thus protect the tops of trees from sun-blight.

The question of whether trees and plants will live for the planter and grow to usefulness depends very largely on care and conditions during the first month after planting and in this country irrigation must necessarily play a very important part in the starting of the new life. The buds commence to grow wholly from supplies stored within the cells. They cannot derive assistance from the soil until they have made new root fibers. Now the question of whether the plant can survive and grow out of its own stores until it can draw support from the soil depends very largely on how long it takes to develop new root fibers. Anything which shall hasten the development of root growth will the more quickly support the tree or plant and increase the probability not only of life but of such vigorous growth as shall establish the existence of that plant before the extreme heat of the summer and enable it to develop the fruitful habit desired. Frequent aeration of the soil is very useful in developing speedy cell and root formations. With this end in view it is best to cultivate strawberry plantations from two to four times a week during the first two weeks after planting. Small fruits should be cultivated twice a week and in the case of orchards it is advantageous to cultivate them at least six times monthly during the first three months after planting. Frequent cultivation, besides conserving the irrigation, stimulates speedy strong growth providing of course that the cultivation is of such character as not to interfere with the root system.—Denver Field and Farm.

Takes the burn out; heals the wound; cures the pain. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, the household remedy.

WHIPPLE'S REBUILDING.

The Work of So Doing Assumes an Earnest Regard.

F. M. Murphy, who may justly be termed the godfather of Whipple, is in receipt of a late letter from the war department at Washington, which states that an assistant quartermaster of that body is now en route to Prescott and will accompany General Funston. As this officer represents directly the maintenance department of the military service and all building or other improvements of the post comes under his official surveillance, the dispatching of this officer to Whipple at this time is plainly evident that the post is to be rehabilitated immediately and placed in order to accommodate additional troops. The energetic consideration these days given to Whipple by the war department is pleasing to our people, and that a permanent and commodious garrison is to follow, there is no doubt.—Prescott Journal-Miner.

Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—Jesse Pinkey Hall, Springville, Ala. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

If black underwear, stockings or black yarn that is to be knitted is boiled a few minutes in milk the dye will not stain the skin.

Hold a red-hot iron to the head of the screw for a short time and use the screw driver while the screw is still hot to remove a rusty screw.

Cut glass should have the greatest care in handling. A wooden tub should be used for washing, and the water in which it is cleaned should never be too warm for the hands.

If in making split-pea soup a teaspoonful of whipped cream is put in the soup just as the soup is poured over, the improvement in flavor of the soup will be noticeable. The puree has sometimes a flat, even watery taste that is not at all agreeable, which the whipped cream entirely removes.

To remove a tight ring from the finger pass a piece of linen thread or fine twine under the ring, and wind it round and round the finger toward the tip. Then take the end below the ring and gradually unwind it. During the process the ring will be gently pushed upward till, little by little, it has moved along the string to a thinner part of the finger, whence it is easily removed.

A good supply of doilies and carvers will protect the tablecloth and will make it possible to avoid spots. The carvers may be easily made at home, and if the linen is bought by the yard and the cloth hemstitched and a little embroidery put on them they will add greatly to the appearance of the table, and the work may be done between times when some light or fancy work is desired.

In using the wringer, it saves both the wash and the washerwoman to fold the clothes to an even thickness and exactly the breadth of the wringer rolls. Sending things through in lumps and bunches strains the springs and brings them quickly to the breaking point. It is much the same with turning the crank. One vicious jerk does more harm than steady rolling on a whole wash. As soon as washing is over use clear, warm water over the wringer, first removing it from the tub and standing it on end; then wipe it dry, put a little fresh oil in the bearings to guard against rust, and set it away in a dry place, cold enough to prevent all danger of warping.

Wants Others to Know.

"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers for constipation and torpid liver and they are all right. I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Helme, Quincy, Ill. They never gripe or distress. Sure, safe pills. J. H. O'Reilly & Co.; F. H. Briggs & Co.

Tough Character Granted a Pardon. Last week Leandro Martinez, a tough character well known in Colfax county, who was sentenced to the Canon City penitentiary in 1895, for forty-five years for killing a man named Allen at Starkville, Colo., has been granted a pardon through the efforts of his attorney and Hon. Castimiro Barcia. Martinez is comparatively young and it is hoped he will profit by the six years of incarceration and lead a different life.

The Springer Stockman says that several months before the killing occurred, Martinez and Pedro Baca, who was also serving sentence in the Colorado penitentiary and used there of consumption, held up the Corner saloon at Raton, relieving the place of several hundred dollars. Great excitement prevailed for a time until a posse of citizens started in pursuit, locating the highway robbers several miles east of Raton in a house. The robbers were prepared to fight, and made quite a defense, but were finally vanquished, but not until both were wounded.

ADVERTISE THE FLYER.

Santa Fe Will Issue Advance Edition of Colorado Tourist Books.

To advertise the Santa Fe's new Colorado flyer and Missouri river flyer a special line of booklets is being issued in conjunction with the regular annual edition of the Colorado tourist books. The Colorado books are not yet ready for distribution, and a special edition is being prepared for the purpose of advertising the Colorado flyer. The flyer will stop only once between Kansas City and Topeka. That stop is at Lawrence. At other points it stops only on flag. To all intents the flyer is a limited train, using the California Limited equipment and making practically the same time between Kansas City and La Junta that the limited made.

You never heard of any one using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied. Alvarado Pharmacy.

SHOOTS HIMSELF.

A Tragic Accident That Occurred on Sunday Near Hobart's, North of Santa Fe.

On Sunday the section foreman of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad at Espanola, accompanied by a young woman, climbed to the summit of Round Top mountain, near E. F. Hobart's ranch, south of Espanola. Soon afterward the woman came running down the mountain to the ranch house and reported that her companion had accidentally shot himself. Mr. Huff, who stays at the house, summoned aid for the wounded man, who it is believed will die, as the bullet passed through one lung.

The Most Common Ailment.

More people suffer from rheumatism than from any other ailment. This is wholly unnecessary, too, for a cure may be effected at a very small cost. G. W. Wescott, of Meadowdale, N. Y., says: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for some time and it has caused me much suffering. I concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that it has cured me." For sale by all druggists.

Word has been received officially to the effect that the mechanical department of the Santa Fe has announced the appointment of A. B. Todd, as master mechanic at Winslow, Ariz., succeeding S. T. Park, the present division master mechanic of the Southern California division. Mr. Todd is now assistant foreman of the construction works at the Puget Sound naval station, but has had extensive experience in railroad work, both on the Pennsylvania lines and on the Mexican Central.

Will Cure Consumption.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." Alvarado Pharmacy.

F. W. Thomas, lately of the Baldwin Locomotive works at Philadelphia, has been appointed engineer of tests of the Santa Fe, and took charge of the work at San Bernardino Tuesday. The office has been vacant since Ben Johnson went to the Mexican Central as superintendent of machinery.

No Loss of Time.

I have sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for years, and would rather be out of coffee and sugar than it. I sold five bottles of it yesterday to threshers that could go no farther, and they are at work again this morning.—H. R. Phelps, Plymouth, Oklahoma. As will be seen by the above the threshers were able to keep on with their work without losing a single day's time. You should keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. For sale by all druggists.

John Donahue, formerly a mechanic at the San Bernardino shops, but who has been away during the winter months, has returned to the city, and will go to work at the shop again. While absent he has been working at Tucson, Ariz.

Reveals a Great Secret.

It is often asked how such startling cures, that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. It cuts out the phlegm and germ-infected mucus, and lets the life-giving oxygen enrich and vitalize the blood. It heals the inflamed, cough-worn throat and lungs. Hard colds and stubborn coughs soon yield to Dr. King's New Discovery, the most infallible remedy for all throat and lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all druggists.

"Jack" Sedwick, the boiler maker who was so severely injured by the falling of a fire pan at the San Bernardino shops Saturday last, is improving rapidly. There is still a small clot of blood on the brain, but the physician believes that this will not interfere with recovery, and holds out the hope that the sick man will be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Won't Follow Advice After Paying For It.

In a recent article a prominent physician says: "It is next to impossible for the physician to get his patients to carry out any prescribed course of hygiene or diet to the smallest extent; he has but one resort left, namely, the drug treatment." When medicines are used for chronic constipation, the most mild and gentle obtainable, such as Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets, should be employed. Their use is not followed by constipation as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For sale by all druggists.

Farmers along the river will commence cutting their first crop of alfalfa in about ten days.

The great register is now open. Don't fail to get your name on it if you expect to vote this fall.

Why don't we have a base ball game? Why is it? It is because the base ball boys have no funds.

Every person should pay their poll tax promptly so as to insure better schools and longer school terms.

The Foresters held their regular monthly meeting in the Engineers' hall with a large attendance of members.

Mrs. Charles Flinn arrived home yesterday morning from a several months' visit in California for the benefit of her health, which we are pleased to note is very much improved.

A prairie schooner passed through town today en route from Globe, Ariz., to Denver, Colo. The party consisted of three persons and they report a pleasant trip this far.

WILLIAMS.

From the News.

John Leak has resigned his position at Salzman's. He will sell out and go east.

The surprise "stag" given by Mrs. George G. Wharton last Saturday evening in honor of her husband was a success in every particular.

Frank Wilson, of Arthur, Mo., died at the hospital in this city last Tuesday afternoon of consumption. Deceased was about 31 years of age. Memorial services will be held at the Methodist church on Sunday evening, May 25. Rev. Geyer will deliver an address, and members of both the civil and late wars are requested to be present.

George A. Dorsey, curator of the Field Columbian museum at Chicago, accompanied by his wife and daughter, visited at the Grand Canyon this week. Dr. Dorsey is one of the best informed men in the country regarding Indians and their customs.

George T. Schmelzel, formerly employed by the Grand Canyon Electric Light & Power company, and who now resides at Silver City, N. M., after having visited in Jerome, stopped over here for a day on his way home last Saturday.

EVERY WALK IN LIFE.

Albuquerque Citizens Appreciate "The Little Conqueror."

Every class of citizens has sick kidneys. The busy business man rushing through life on the run fails to realize the constant strain he daily puts upon the kidneys. The mechanic forced to assume unnatural positions, stooping and straining at his work, does not know that his backache is simply kidney ache. The clerk on his feet continually, leaning over a counter or desk; railroaders, conductors, engineers, street car men subject to constant jarring, all have backache from the kidneys. Women at their household duties, boys and girls at play overtax the kidneys and give them more work than they can do. "It is a fortunate thing the kidneys warn you when in trouble, that they cry out for help. Don't neglect the warning. Don't neglect a bad back. A lame, weak or aching back if neglected means future trouble. Kidney trouble, urinary trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ill, cure a bad back and make sick kidneys well. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by people you know. Read what a Kansas City citizen says:

Mr. H. T. Hazen, of 1007 Grand avenue, Kansas City, blacksmith employed at the Urie Mining & Machinery Co., says: "I suffered from most depressing pains in my back, so much at times that I could scarcely attend to my work, could hardly get out of bed mornings and could not ride on street cars, for the least jar meant excruciating pain. There was also a weakness of the kidneys which caused me inconvenience and distress, besides breaking my rest at nights. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and tried them. The treatment effectively and promptly relieved me of the pain in my back, and the other annoyances entirely disappeared. There has not been the slightest recurrence since."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Albuquerque. Drop into the Alvarado Pharmacy and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Business Opening, $5,000.

Here is a chance for some one to purchase a well established and very profitable business in a first class mining town in Arizona at a bargain. It is about a $5,000 proposition, including fine up to date stock, three lots, large storeroom with cellar, stable five-room dwelling house, finely furnished, etc.; monthly sales, $2,750; mostly cash; terms easy; death of wife and child of proprietor for sale. At a glance it will be seen that this is a rare chance to make an exceptionally good investment. For full particulars and terms, address or see H. S. Knight at once, Albuquerque, New Mexico.
