Territorial Election.

Santa Fe New Mexican.

Later reports confirm the complexion of the council of the 34th legislative assembly as standing nine republicans to three democrats. However, in the house, the republicans will only have 20, and the democrats 4 members. Returns from Otero and Dona Ana counties give slaughter, the democratic candidate for the house, a small majority over Llewellyn, republican candidate for the house from the district composed of Dona Ana and Otero counties. Ascarate, the democratic candidate to the house from the district composed of Grant, Dona Ana and Otero counties, was elected over Barnes, the republican candidate. U. S. Bateman for the house, is elected from the district composed of Lincoln, Chaves and Eddy counties, and W. B. Walton, the democratic candidate for the house, is elected from Grant county. The latest figures therefore give the republicans twenty-nine out of thirty-six members of the legislative assembly on joint ballot.

The majority of H. S. Rodey given yesterday in the New Mexican as 4,035, will be increased some, but not materially. His official majority will be probably over 4,500.

OTERO COUNTY.

Special to the New Mexican.

Alamogordo, N. M., Nov. 9.—Otero county with one precinct missing, gives Rodey 433 votes, and Larrazolo 608; for council, Colonel Lewis, R., 433 votes; Winkle, D., 596 votes; for assessor, votes and Fielder, D., 576 votes; for the house, Llewellyn, R., 450 votes; Slaughter, D., 592 votes; Barnes, R., 437 votes; Ascarate, D., 589 votes.

UNION COUNTY.

Special to the New Mexican.

Clayton, Nov. 9.—With one precinct to hear from, Larrazolo has 78 majority; Navarro, R., for the council, 31; Sandoval, R., for the house 141. The republicans have elected the assessor, treasurer and three commissioners. The election of the superintendent of schools is still in doubt.

GUADALUPE COUNTY.

Special to the New Mexican.

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 9.—Eleven precincts out of sixteen in Guadalupe county gave B. S. Rodey, republican candidate for delegate to congress, 296 votes; O. A. Larrazolo, democratic candidate for delegate to congress, 517 votes; Frank Springer, republican candidate for the council, 465 votes; Chas. A. Spess, republican candidate for the council, 450 votes; Tammie, democratic candidate for the council, 283 votes; Hanna, democratic candidate for the council, 423 votes. The missing precincts will not affect the vote. The county ticket is unified. The republican candidate for the legislative assembly, Pablo Martinez, is believed to be elected.

Las Vegas Politics.

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 7.—Pops who voted the democratic pop, discovered that the democratic ticket upon which Charles Tammie and Philadelfo Baca appeared as candidates for members of the council had been wrongly printed, in that it was stated that these two candidates ran for the legislative council from the 4th district, which is the county of Santa Fe. This question has been discussed by prominent attorneys, and it is the consensus of opinion that the entire vote for these two candidates will be thrown out, as the ticket stated them as candidates from the wrong legislative district.

That, of course, means that the republican candidates from the 3d legislative districts, Messrs. Frank Springer and Charles A. Spess, are elected without any opposition whatsoever. Mr. Springer and Mr. Spess were elected by a majority anyway, but the fact is that the misprinting of the tickets gave them the entire field free.

Rodey's majority in precinct 5 is 1; in precinct 64, 37; in precinct 29, 52. Larrazolo carried his home precinct 25, by a majority of 25, and Rosado precinct by a majority of 40.

Both the town of Las Vegas and the city of East Las Vegas gave Rodey a majority of 63.

Sheep Sanitary Board Order.

Albuquerque, Oct. 13, 1900.

To the Sheep Growers of the Territory of New Mexico:

You are hereby notified that all sheep which have not been dipped since June 1st, 1900, must be dipped between now and the first of December, 1900, using any standard proprietary dip, such as Cooper's, Little's, Canon's, Seab's, Caro, Blackleaf or the lime and sulphur formula, heretofore prescribed by this board in its rules and regulations. And in the event of any flock still showing scab after having been dipped, the dipping must be continued until the scab is cured.

Any sheep owner who fails or neglects to comply with this order, and whose sheep have not been dipped by December 1st, 1900, will be subject to a fine of one cent for each and every head not dipped and the respective inspectors for the various counties have been ordered to strictly enforce this order, and to collect such fines, and to have all sheep not so dipped as above ordered, at owner's expense.

The board desires to call especial attention to the notice received from the bureau of animal industry of the United States government, that no sheep will be allowed to leave this territory that have or show any signs of scab, and that a force of United States government inspectors have been employed to enforce this order. All growers who fail to take this warning will find that they cannot dispose of their sheep to leave the territory, and should see that their sheep are entirely free from scab or they will be unable to make a sale.

A DASTARDLY DEED.

Las Vegas Optic.

Capt. W. E. Jenks was brought to the city late yesterday afternoon by Posey R. Page and A. B. Campbell, of the Puerto de Luna vicinity, suffering from two pistol wounds, one in the left shoulder the ball fracturing the shoulder blade and lodging in his body, entering from behind, the other through the left hand. The wounds were inflicted by a fellow named Delino Aragon, with whom Capt. Jenks had had trouble two years ago, the same being renewed only a few days ago, when Aragon was told to go elsewhere, if he sought trouble again. Capt. Jenks said the saloon he was conducting in Puerto de Luna and Aragon may have thought that it was because of fear of him that the place was disposed of. At any rate, he suddenly grew bold and determined, leaving Puerto de Luna on horseback with another party and intercepting Capt. Jenks and Posey R. Page in a light vehicle, Tuesday afternoon, about four miles this side of Puerto de Luna. As he rode abreast of the vehicle, he was spoken to by its occupants, but instead of returning the compliments of the day, he commanded a halt, at the same time opening fire, and continuing his fusillade after he had ridden by, which accounts for one of the shots taking effect in the back of Capt. Jenks' shoulder. Another penetrated his left hand, passed through the member, fractured a bone, the spent ball striking the animal almost into getting away from them. They were followed some distance by Aragon and his companion, evidently to ascertain whether or not the intended victim had been killed. Strange it was, that Posey Page escaped without a scratch. But it was the first time he was ever under fire and he may not fare so luckily next time, if he is ever again fired upon at such close range. No arrests have as yet been made, though both parties are well known, their attempt upon the life of a citizen who suspected no harm at their hands was cowardly and dastardly, and they have the reputation in the neighborhood in which they reside of being generally bad characters.

At last accounts, Capt. Jenks was resting easy at his room in the Rawlins house. He is badly wounded, though his wounds will likely heal up in time unless complications set in.

Constipation means the accumulation of waste matter that should be discharged daily, and unless this is done the foul matter is absorbed and poisons the system. Use Herbine to bring about the regularity of the bowels. Price 50 cts. For Sale at the Eddy Drug Co.

Stock Notes.

Roswell Register.

H. C. Lee returned last Sunday with a car load of fine Shropshire rams from Michigan, for his herds.

A. J. Hill of the firm of Clements & Co., informs the Register that his firm has handled 300,000 pounds of wool so far this fall.

J. H. Steele, manager for the Capital Sheep company of Richardson, sold 3500 wethers this week to M. F. Lovelace of this place.

Emil Fritz brought in about 14,000 sheep from Lincoln county last Friday and dipped them at the dipping pens of Godair & Garrett northwest of town having sold about 12,500 of them to the latter firm at a good figure.

J. P. White turned out 200 head of the finest Hereford calves to be weaned on the L. F. D stock farm last week that has ever been seen in the Valley. He also bought of Usher & Odum fifty-two head of fine Shorthorn cows that had shipped in here lately, paying $52 a head for them.

For burns, cuts, bruises, lacerations, or injuries of any description, Ballard's Snow Liniment is a sovereign remedy. It never fails to do good, and so promptly that its wonderful curative properties frequently create surprise. Price 25 and 50 cts. For Sale at Eddy Drug Co.

His many friends will be delighted to learn that L. H. Wentworth, of Las Vegas, is playing in great luck, says the Optic. He has just received a letter informing him that the government has allowed an Indian depredation claim of $5,000 which dates back for thirty years and in favor of H. B. Wentworth, deceased, the father of L. H., and he is the only heir. The claim is allowed with interest compounded and will probably net him between $25,000 and $30,000. It seems that along about 1862, Mr. Wentworth's father was deprived of everything he possessed in the destruction by Indians of a wagon train of twenty-eight wagons, while going from Fort Leavenworth to Denver, the incident occurring on the Platte river near Julesburg. All the men and driver, twenty-eight altogether, succeeded in getting away with their lives.

DANGEROUS BREEDING.

Striving For Pedigree at the Expense of Individual Merit.

One of the tendencies of breeders today is to produce a fine pedigree, says The National Stockman. A noted native to its pedigree helps to sell an animal. If it appears more than once, the pedigree is still "stronger," and it is an easy course of reasoning to the conclusion that the more times this name appears the better the pedigree; hence the more desirable the animal. Of course such pedigree building means inbreeding, one of the most common sources of disaster to breeders. It is true that inbreeding has produced wonderful results in the hands of a few masters, but it was necessary with them to produce their type. Nowadays it is not necessary. Type is not confined to one family or branch of that family. It can be had and improved without resort to the dangerous methods of earlier breeders.

Another mistake closely allied to the above is to give undue importance to certain strains of blood. In Shorthorns, for example, the presence of Scotch tops has such an influence that it often sells an inferior animal for the price of a good one. The buyer of such pays too much for a pedigree that somebody has built; he pays too much for family. He departs from the rule of Crookshank himself, who founded the useful families now so popular on the best individuals he could find regardless of "fashion" in their pedigree. He worked upon the principle that the surest indication of good breeding is a good individual. The individual was the important thing with him, and it should be with all breeders; then the fancier the pedigree the better.

Feeding Lambs.

Before the demand for feeding lambs gets up to full tide it will pay to push them on a bit, so as to make as much profit as possible out of them, says The Sheep Breeder. The professional lamb feeder does not object to this. He knows full well that, a start once made, it is easier to force the feeding after, and a few pounds gained by immediate attention will tell when the lambs are disposed of by the hundred. It is a very sure thing that the more attractive a lot of lambs may be the sooner they will be sold. It costs the buyer some money to be running around seeking something that meets his needs exactly, and it is a sure thing that he will not be hunting over the country for better bargains when he comes to a lot of lambs and he will rather add a little to his limit than seek farther and farther worse.

Corn is not hard enough to be safe feed for lambs. Screenings from the wheat thrashing are excellent, and if there is a good allowance of bran in it this is not any serious objection. It is quite as nutritious as the small, shrunken wheat and not in any way injurious for the lambs. But with rape little other feed will be needed to put some weight on the lambs, and good weight too. The best of solid flesh is made by rape, and this feed brings a lamb into such an excellent condition for grain feeding that it cannot be improved upon. Still if it is convenient to give the lambs a little corn or oats with the rape it will bring double the money spent back to the feeder. It is very advisable to give a little of the regular tonic mixture just now all around to lambs as well as old sheep, for it aids digestion, tones up the system and assists the food in making growth. This is made of equal parts of ground ginger, gentian and sulphate of iron and may be mixed with the salt so that a lamb gets a half teaspoonful a day and a sheep twice as much.

Sheep on Farms.

There are not much short of 30,000,000 sheep in England and Scotland, and the area of the whole island of Great Britain, which is made up of these two countries, is about the same as that of the state of New York, says a correspondent of The Sheep Breeder. All these sheep are kept on farms. Many of them are purchased late in the summer from the specially pastoral districts where the mountains afford feeding to many flocks which are bred and reared for the express purpose of supplying the farmers with sheep to be fed on the turnip crops grown for this use. The consumption of the roots finishes the sheep for market as mutton, and covering the land with mure left by the sheep fits it for a crop of wheat following. The feeding of the sheep is incidental merely as far as the farmers are concerned, but the habit has been so popular for the reason that it has been a permanent incident in the culture and enrichment of the soil and has enabled the farmers to grow crops so profitably by the help of the sheep that the sheep have been called the rent payers—that is, they have retained a profit to the farmer in this way equal to about $20 an acre.

TO THE TRADE:
My brand was selected for use at U. S. Marine Hospital at Washington, D. C., after being analyzed by the eminent chemist, W. M. New, over eighty seven samples of the leading brands of Kentucky, Maryland and Pennsylvania. It should be noted that in this department of the government service the sample appears in plain bottles, without marks of any kind, and the selection of the Searey Whisky two years, '92 and '94, of its merits, over such a large number of prominent brands is a record that few distillers can show. The water used for the manufacture of this whisky is from the noted Hocking Springs in Anderson county, Ky., which stands at a temperature of 56 degrees the year round, with a supply inexhaustible. This water is at all times clear. I will further state that I have never had a single barrel returned.
Very Respectfully,

The Argus is given to harping on a $1.50% tax rate. It will therefore not consider the following queries concerning tax rates important:

1st: What opportunity exists for a reduction of taxes while territorial management of business is in the hands of the republicans who have doubled the territorial rate of taxation since 1906?

2nd: What chance has the county board to reduce taxes while we have a republican judge who demands that a levy of six mills must be made for court fund, and a republican district attorney has witnesses subpoenaed who can not be used and know absolutely nothing of the cases in which they are called to testify?

3rd: What opportunity exists to reduce taxes while a republican judge is never known to examine bills closely or cut any matter how excessive; but instead, authorizes the payment of all bills, even to printing a court docket which it let by bids would save the county fifty to sixty dollars each term of court?

4th: How can taxes be reduced while hundreds of people are summoned on juries whom it is generally known are disqualified by law? People are frequently brought in, lay around a day or two and when examined are found to be over sixty years, or who have no property, or from some cause are disqualified.

All these abuses must be remedied. The court levy must be reduced to three mills and the territorial management must change or we can expect lower taxes. As for the county board, it has but a small proportion of the funds raised by taxation to manage. The district attorney and district judge have the expending of the court fund amounting to about $5,000 to $7,000 per annum and this is the most expensive of all funds, amounting to six mills, while the entire running expense of the county, the current expense fund, is only four mills. Out of this four mills all prisoners are fed, all county officials and justices of the peace courts are conducted.

The county printing last year amounted to only $171.38 outside of the delinquent tax list which is not paid by the county but is penalty added to taxes of property on which taxes are not paid. This $171.38 includes every item, consisting of county commissioners proceedings and all stationery used by all the officials of Eddy county. Though the law provides that the county printer shall have $250.00 per annum for publishing the proceedings of the board the total sum charged by this paper was $78.13 for the entire year or four quarters preceding Oct. 1, 1909, and by the terms of the law there is now due this paper the sum of $171.37. The law is as follows:

Sec. 16, page 132, Acts 1907: The proceedings of the several boards of county commissioners shall be published within twenty days after each meeting in some newspaper of general circulation in the county in which such meeting is held, in English or Spanish or in both English and Spanish, such publication to be made but once, and the county commissioners shall allow for such publication not to exceed the following amounts:

For counties of the first, second, third and fourth classes $250.00 per annum.

Eddy county is a county of the third class. Other papers receive the full amount and the CURRENT under the law has for three years earned for publishing proceedings $750.00 and collected less than $250.00. The amount not collected, which under the law is due, is greater by $500.00 than the total amount of the CURRENT's bills for three years, for all stationery and proceedings.

Had the CURRENT charged the full rate allowed by law the board would have been compelled to pay it, for the courts have decided that when the rates of a newspaper are fixed by law, that the maximum rate applies. For instance, the law in Texas provides that railways shall not charge to exceed three cents per mile for carrying passengers. It is therefore decided that railways may charge all the law allows. During the four years the Argus was the official paper, one third more was charged for stationery than the CURRENT ever charged since. So much for the county printing.

Speaking of the county board being responsible for the high tax rate, it is only necessary to examine the levies. There is only 40 cents out of the $4.50% that the board has any jurisdiction over whatever and out of this 40 cents the Argus wants the board to save three or four dollars. If the Argus can show that the county board has ever had power to save on the following funds we would like to see how it can be done: There is the court house and jail bonds interest; Lincoln county indebtedness interest; bridge bonds; current expense bonds; sinking fund court house and jail bonds; sinking fund Lincoln county indebtedness; court fund; road and bridge bonds; interest sinking indebtedness bonds; support public schools; interest on Eddy school bonds; court house repair fund.

The above funds which the board is powerless to reduce, amount to $1.75 on the each $100 taxable property. Then when we add the special levy of 25 cents and the school interest levy in this precinct of 50 cents levied by the school board, and the town of Carlsbad fund of 25 cents, levied by the trustees, we have $2.75. Then add the territorial levy of $1.40% and we have $4.15%, upon which the county board has nothing to say to either raise or lower taxation. The only fund the board can possibly reduce is the current expense fund of 40 cents on $100 and if it reduced the county will be unable to pay its just bills. If any man or set of men can show the board how to reduce taxation such instruction will undoubtedly be received in the spirit given.

Hon. U. S. Bateman is elected as representative to the 34th legislative assembly, his majority over Harvey being 301 votes. Harvey having carried Lincoln county by 127 votes. Mr. Bateman will represent the people in a fair and able manner and the people have made no mistake in electing him. If there were more such men as U. S. Bateman elected a few makers the country would be the better for it.

The national irrigation congress will meet in Chicago next week, November 21 and 24th. Every county in New Mexico should be well represented, especially Eddy county, and it is to be hoped that the next time the congress will be held in an irrigation country instead of in the east, where irrigation is unknown and very few people even know what it means.

Washington Letter.

Washington, Nov. 9, 1909.

Because Hanna and the trusts have by the use of like methods secured the same result as in 1906—the defeat of the will of the people—is no reason for the democratic party to change or abandon a single one of its vital principles. On the contrary, it furnishes a strong reason for the continued agitation of democratic principles. If the power of the corporate rings and trusts which now dominate this government is ever to be broken and our government again be put back upon the constitutional foundation laid by our wise forefathers, it must be done by the democratic party, the only party which recognizes the limits set by our constitution. It is the democratic party to which that portion of the misguided masses which have, for stupid reason, joined in riveting the industrial yoke upon their own shoulders will turn for relief when experience shall have taught them—as it will—the grievous mistake they have made. Let every democrat see the party is kept in condition to respond when that appeal for help is made.

Most democrats are rather glad that other wise that the republicans secured the control of the house along with the presidency. As Tom Reed remarked when the democrats met with similar success, "Let the tail go with the hide". If the democrats had elected a majority of the next house, the republicans would have made use of that control to sneak out of the responsibility for everything that was done or left undone during the first two years of McKinley's second term. With the president, the senate and the house, they must accept full responsibility both for what is done and what is left undone, which cannot fail to be beneficial to the democratic party in the end. Watchfulness and aggressiveness should be the democratic watch words from this time on, until the people again place it in control of the government.

Hon. A. S. Dulin, of N. J., who was a visitor at democratic congressional headquarters since the election, says the republicans carried that state by the infamous Dudley blacks of five system by which Indiana was carried for Harrison the year he was elected only they arranged the votes in blocks of ten. Mr. Dulin called attention to the fact that the democrats held their own in the congressional districts of New Jersey.

One of the first official acts of the administration after it was known that Mr. McKinley was re-elected was to ask Great Britain, through the department of state, to drive the Filipino junta out of Hong Kong, which is British territory. There is no doubt that the request will be complied with as was a similar request concerning the Spanish officer who went from Washington to Canada at the opening of the war with Spain, and sought to conduct a Spanish secret information bureau there. It is evident that this thing had all been fixed up before the election, but for some reason Mr. McKinley was afraid to have it known before the voting. As the request is a perfectly natural one, the only reason for any concealment in connection therewith seems to be the adage "conscience makes cowards," etc.

Representative Sharp, of Miss., who is now in Washington, calls attention to the fact that if the gains made by Mr. Bryan in the east could have been transferred to some of the east states the result would have been different. The more the popular vote is studied the plainer it becomes that there is no reason for democrats to become discouraged over the future.

As soon as they were sure that Mr. McKinley was re-elected the republicans began the squabble over the official plums of the next administration, and it is likely to grow hotter until the distribution is made. At least four members of the cabinet are slated for voluntary retirement. Attorney General Griggs, whose extensive trust practice was said to be worth something like $100,000 a year to him when he resigned the governorship of New Jersey to enter the cabinet because of the relations between him and the late Vice President Hobart, is anxious to quit public life and get rich; Secretary Long, who already has a fortune, wishes to retire and take things easy; Postmaster General Smith is said to prefer returning to his editorial desk to remaining in public life, and Secretary Hay has not enjoyed his public position since he was so harshly and generally criticized for being over friendly with England and the English.

Secretaries Gage, Hitchcock, and Wilson will, according to current gossip, be members of the new cabinet. Perry Heath, who so strongly endorsed Xexy, the Cuban postal fund thief and who resigned the position of first assistant postmaster general to become secretary of the republican national committee and Hanna's personal representative in the management of the campaign, is said to have told friends that he would be postmaster general under the second McKinley administration, unless he concluded not to accept the portfolio. If he isn't postmaster general it will not be because he declines to accept. That much may be set down as certain.

Hunting parties are getting too numerous to mention, but game is not over abundant.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are killing graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della N. Streyer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything. In fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Thelford's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

Location of Poultry Houses.

John M. Wiles, in American Poultry Journal, says, if possible, locate poultry houses on high, dry ground. Select an elevated site, protected by trees on the north and west. If the yards in front are exposed too much to the sun, plant trees. If you are afraid the fowls will destroy them by scratching about the roots, place stones about the trees, or make a board frame, which can be cheaply and easily made from any old lumber. This will also act as a mulch and keep the ground cool and moist. Trees and fowls are good friends and should never be separated.

C. S. Craven, traveling agent and correspondent of the Texas Trade Review and Industrial Record, spent several days in town this week gathering data for a write up of the town and valley. Mr. Craven says he will not overdraw in the least, but will state the facts as they exist and exactly as he has found them. Such a write-up cannot but help the town and valley, for it will not deceive people as they have been deceived in many previous write-ups.

J. M. Pardue's delivery horse took a fool notion in his head Monday afternoon and the result was a slight "tearing-up" of the wagon. Frank Rainwater tied the horse in front of Blocker's and went in to make a delivery when the horse became frightened and started to run, going up canal street to Judge Roberts', then across the block to the alley in the rear of Heard's residence, then back down the alley, making things fly in every direction. Considering everything, it is a wonder that the delivery wagon didn't get worse used up than it was.

Letter From E. Robinson Who is in The Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. J. E. Lavery recently received a letter from Edw. C. Robinson, who is now in the Hawaiian Islands. The letter is a very interesting one and was dated at Wailukee, Maui, H. I., Sept. 30, 1900. In the letter Ed says:

"You may remember an advertisement of the Pecos Valley that appeared in the Argus that stated that in the valley there were no earthquakes, no eye ones, no poisonous insects; nothing that was harmful. Well, that description, I forget the exact words, did not altogether fit southeast New Mexico, but it there ever was a country that it did fit this, the island of Maui (pronounced Mowee) is without doubt that country. It is now five months since I landed and in that time I have not even anything approaching a storm. The weather has always been fine; there have been no rains, nothing but light warm showers. The thermometer has never reached 100. There are practically no poisonous insects; a small species of scorpion and a small centipede, all but harmless, make up the list. There are absolutely no snakes. Earthquakes never, unknown hitherto, standing the fact that Hawaii, the next island to the south, has an immense active volcano. The sea is ever smooth. Indeed as far as the weather is concerned it would be easy enough to cross the Pacific in a row boat, at any rate until one arrived within 200 miles of the California coast. Men who have lived here many years tell me that storms are unknown. The fruit trees, at least many of them, produce two crops a year. There are many varieties, but I cannot say that I care much for the native fruit, except bananas and pineapples. Bananas are worth from 25 to 50 cents a bunch, according to the size; in many places they grow wild. Pineapples sell for 25 cents each, small ones for less; they are magnificent fruit."

"Not everything is sacrificed to sugar. The profits derived from its manufacture have made many planters enormously rich, but the cane can only be raised to advantage in large areas. Each plantation has its own mill and the machinery is of course very expensive. It is estimated that cane on each acre costs $300 to plant, cultivate and manufacture. But sugar is now worth $30 a ton and the average yield per acre approximates seven tons so there is, you will see, quite a profit. The Wailukee plantation paid a dividend of $350,000 last year on a capitalization of $700,000, or 50 per cent. Of course when the Cuban and Philippine sugar comes in sugar will be cheaper. And as the U. S. laws do not allow contract labor there will be no more Japanese and Chinese hired at $12.50 per month and board themselves, as has been the case. Indeed, now it is very difficult for some of the planters to get labor. The natives will, in a few years, work steadily. While most of the present labor is doing work on the sugar plantations, they are beginning to appreciate their own value as laborers and demand in creased pay. The whites on the island are not the pleasantest people in the world. They look on all new comers as enterprisers who are likely to take part of their profits from them, so they don't extend the helping hand to strangers. The natives are a simple kind hearted race and would be hospitable enough if they had anything. They are shiftless and if it were not for the fact that they live on poi and raw fish, which costs next to nothing, I think they would all have starved to death years ago. Poi is the root of a plant called taro. The root is first baked then pounded with a heavy stone pestle; then damped and allowed to ferment slightly. It is very nutritious and easily digested but I would just as soon eat bird sticker's paste."

I don't think that wages in most cases are much higher than in the states. Blacksmiths, carpenters, brick layers and mechanics generally are paid about $5.00 per day. Perhaps the labor is not quite as high a class here on the average. Plantation managers draw from $10,000 to $15,000 per year, while the head luna or overseer (who is often the more capable man of the two) is paid $125 per month. The under luna get from $40 to $60."

What I dislike most is the eternal sameness of the weather, winter and summer; all days are alike. It is claimed that there is an actual difference of ten degrees between winter and summer, but as there is hardly any breeze stirring in the winter months the difference is barely noticeable. I want colder weather than this; there is nothing bracing about the air. If one were tired out with work a couple of months here would be the very thing, but to live here always would not suit me at all."

I have had steady work, haven't lost a day until the last week when I was under the weather and not able. With best regards to all, believe me to be your friend,
Edw. C. Robinson.

A contest will be instituted by the democrats on the office of sheriff and probate clerk, to the latter of which L. I. Analla, R., was elected. Scratched tickets were the rule in all precincts. ### Looks Like Business.

On Thursday Col. Hagerman, president, and D. H. Nichols, general manager of the Pecos Valley railroad, arrived in Amarillo from Roswell in the Hesperia. They were met here by Col. Morgan Jones, president of the Wichita Valley Railroad and J. V. Goode, general superintendent of the Fort Worth & Denver. They drove all over the city, but whatever their business was has been kept a profound secret. We learned, however, that the Pecos Valley railroad will sometime this month commence the construction of the new road from Roswell to El Paso.—Amarillo Champion.

Blank's Coffee

The above is a cut of the most complete coffee plant in the United States. The tremendous business that made it necessary to erect such an establishment is the result of new ideas applied to the coffee business. C. F. Blanke was the first man in the United States to blend coffee solely with regard to their drinking quality in the cup, rather than follow the old formulas of so much "Mocha" and so much "Java." There are good, medium, and poor Mochas and Javas, the same as there are good, medium and poor California fruits. That is the reason other coffee are not uniform. Blanke scientifically blends every lot of coffee to produce a drinking quality exactly like "It has always been." "Fast Blend" is his highest grade. Blanke's other brands are as good proportionately.

Maynard Sharpe, the well known orchardist, died at his home in La Huerta, Sunday night, Nov. 11th 1900, at 10 o'clock, of heart disease. Mr. Sharpe was one of the early settlers in the valley and was the most successful fruit raiser in this section of the country and has done more for the valley than any other man in the valley. By his death the town and valley loses a valuable and highly respected citizen. His remains were laid to rest in the Carlsbad cemetery Monday afternoon.

"Red" Seeley, the slayer of Hob Hall, a full account of which appeared last week, is now in the Eddy county jail awaiting the arrival of extradition papers when he will be taken to Texas for trial. The arrest was made by Sheriff Stewart on Black River Wednesday, Stewart leaving here in the morning and returning that night at twelve o'clock with Seeley. Thomas Hall, brother of the murdered man, and two men were following Seeley's trail and would probably have captured him in a few days. Seeley is well known here and refuses to talk about the killing. A reward of $1,000 was offered by Mrs. Hall, wife of the murdered man, for Seeley's arrest.

W. A. Roberts, a representative of the Farm and Ranch, Dallas who spent several days here left Tuesday morning much to the regret of J. D. Walker, who has an unpaid bill as a trophy of Robert's visit. Mr. Roberts hired a rig from Mr. Walker and after driving around the country eight dollars' worth left Tuesday morning without saying a word. J. D. says he don't know that Roberts was a genuine representative of the Farm and Ranch but he claimed to be, and if he is then all J. D. has to say is that the paper has a sorry man to represent it. Such men should be "set down" on and if Roberts is really representing the Farm and Ranch the management of that paper will no doubt get along without Mr. Roberts' assistance when their attention is called to this little bill.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY.

Brigadier General James H. Wilson, who has been sent to China from Cuba, is especially noted as a cavalry leader. Besides this, he knows Cuba and the Chinese. General Wilson was born at Shawneetown, Ill., Sept. 2, 1837, and was graduated at West Point in 1860, and assigned to the corps of topographical engineers. He took part in the General James H. Wilson, bombardment of Fort Fisher, and, as aid-de-camp of General McClellan, was present at the battles of South Mountain and Antietam. He was appointed lieutenant colonel of volunteers in November, 1862, and as chief topographical engineer and inspector general of the Army of the Tennessee took an active part in the siege of Vicksburg. In 1863 he became captain of engineers and brigadier general of volunteers and was engaged in the operations about Chattanooga. In 1864 he was transferred to the Army of the Potomac and had command of a cavalry division under Sheridan during the Shenandoah campaign. Later in the year he was placed in command of a cavalry corps in the department of the Mississippi, where he effectively supported General Thomas and Sherman, and especially the latter on his famous march of destruction and occupation toward the sea. It was a part of his force that captured Jefferson Davis.

Wilson was a major general of volunteers at the end of the war, and received a commission as lieutenant colonel in the regular army. He left the army in 1870, and engaged in railroad and engineering operations in the United States and China. At the outbreak of the Spanish war he was appointed a major general of volunteers and took part in the invasion of Porto Rico.

A Boston Joan of Arc. Miss Lillian Clayton Jewett, who has so stirred the southern states by her antilynching crusade, is a beautiful and wealthy Boston young woman. Miss Jewett formed the Antilynching League more than a year ago, and has attracted to her standard a large number of Boston colored people as well as many of the white race. She is not always conservative in her statements, and it has been some of her quoted utterances which have moved people in the south to threaten her with personal violence. The report that an organization of whites in New Orleans had offered $10,000 for her head turns out to have been more of a hoax than anything else, although Miss Jewett seems to have considered it in a serious light. Her ambition appears to be to pose as a sort of Joan of Arc for the colored people of the south.

A Coquette For Sale. Queen Victoria has presented to Helen, the operatic tenor, a complete silver coffee service in appreciation of his singing for her at Windsor. At the time of the performance he had to leave the palace to take his role in the opera too soon to make his wishes known as to the nature of the customary present and was requested to tell a messenger sent to him. When the queen learned that he wanted a silver coffee set for his new house in France she was so pleased that she sent him a whole service.

A Lucky Lay. A farmer in Clay county, Va., has a bin containing about 600 bushels of wheat. A little over a month ago he proposed to market the grain, but on going to the bin he discovered that a hen had established her nest on the wheat, was sitting there, and that to remove the grain would "break her up." He decided not to disturb her, but wait until she came off with the wheat. In the meantime the price of wheat advanced until the farmer discovered he had gained over $100 by allowing the hen to sit it out.

FARM AND GARDEN

APPLE SACK.

Convenient When Picking and Emptying Without Straining Apples. The apple sack represented is described by Kansas Farmer as an improvement by Judge Wellhouse, a familiar authority in fruit circles, on another western man's invention. It will hold a half bushel of apples and is carried in front of the picker, being suspended from his shoulders by straps. The body of the sack is made by cutting heavy cotton two bushel grain sacks in such a way that the flap hanging below in the illustration (Fig. 1) is cut opposite to a similar flap, thus making two of these picking sacks from one two bushel sack. A heavy steel wire curled into a hook at each end is sewed around the mouth of the sack, excepting that the space between the hooks shown as coming against the picker's body is left vacant, there being nothing between the hooks but the cloth of the sack.

The suspenders are fastened permanently at the back and are crossed on the individual's back, brought over the shoulders, and each has a ring in the end which is hooked into the curved wire, as shown, thus suspending the sack to the picker. The bottom of the sack as shown in Fig. 1 is open and contains two rings at the bottom. These rings are connected when in use to hooks at upper front rim of the sack, as shown in Fig. 2, where the picking sack is ready for business. When full, the picker lowers the sack into the box or barrel, unhook the flap, and the apples gently slide from the bottom of the sack into the package, thus preventing all bruises. President Wellhouse has made 27 of these sacks for use this year.

Forage Plants For High Altitudes. The eastern Rocky mountain region is well supplied with native leguminous plants, many of which are of great value for hay and pasturage. The native clovers are found chiefly in the mountains and at comparatively high altitudes. Some of them are too rare and others too small to be of much value for forage, but the majority are valuable, and four or five are of sufficient importance to warrant careful experimentation as to their possible use as cultivated crops. From their appearance and thriftiness under natural conditions or in irrigated native meadows it would certainly seem probable that several of them would prove of great value for cultivation, especially in the higher altitudes, where alfalfa and the common clovers cannot be successfully grown.

Mountain red clover is one of the most robust growing native sorts found in the Rocky mountain region. The flower heads are large and showy, and the leaves are composed of from five to seven leaflets instead of three, as is the case with the other clovers of the region. It produces stout, deep growing roots and has many other qualities commending it to the attention of the experimenter. It is most widely distributed on the west side of the continental divide.—T. A. Williams.

Growing the Fig For Canning. With the advent of the canning factory I wish to call attention to and encourage more extensive planting of the fig. No fruit tree will stand as many hardships or as much bad treatment and yet produce some fruit. With a local canning outfit to properly preserve and absorb the crop this fruit has a very bright future, especially for the coast, said Fred W. Maling at the Texas farmers' congress.

FOR THE FARMER.

To insure pure milk the atmosphere in which the cows are milked must be pure. Putting down hay or cleaning out the stable just before milking is a bad practice. The milk in passing from the teat to the pail through an atmosphere laden with stable odors and dust may become sufficiently contaminated to materially affect the flavor of the butter. For similar reasons we hear milking in the barnyard condemned, especially in dry, dusty weather. I noticed in England the farmers had milk sheds in or near the pasture fields and that the men had long linen slaters which they slipped on when going to milk. I thought this a good idea, as it tended to cleanliness in milking and also to a saving of the clothes. Before starting to milk, the hands and udder of the cow should be wiped with a damp cloth to remove all loose hairs and dirt which otherwise might fall into the milk pail. It is found a good practice to cut off the cow's switch and clip the hair from the hind quarters when putting her in for the winter. Endeavor as far as possible to have the cows milked by the same person, at the same hour, in the same place and in the same order. Milk with dry hands, vigorously and exclusively. Nothing will prolong the milking period more than by getting the last drop, and remember, the first pint has but 1 per cent butter fat, while the last pint has 10 per cent. Bacteriologists tell us the small amount of milk which has collected in the teat abounds with injurious forms of bacteria, while the remaining portion of the milk is practically germ free, and they recommend not allowing the last stream to go into the milk pail.

Stamp Your Honey Packages. It is a good plan for all apiarists to put their name and address on all packages of nice honey, either in combs or extracted. A rubber stamp, with plain letters three-eighths of an inch high, is best to mark sections, but bottles or cans of extracted honey must have a printed label pasted on. The marking of first class honey or good goods of any kind is a help to everybody who handles it. If the jobber has any fault to find he can easily trace it to the producer. If the grocer likes it he will be apt to remember the name and buy some more of it, while the consumer will do the same.

If you are producing a superior article in quantity, marking it and selecting a reliable jobber and sticking by him, it will be a profitable undertaking, but it won't pay to change jobbers every year or to put your name on anything but a good grade of honey. The ground is taken by jobbers that they do not want the honey stamped, because putting the producer's name on it leads the retailer to deal directly with the producer to the detriment of the jobber. They should more truthfully say, to the loss of their profit. Manufacturers of clothing, of wagons, fancy butter and many other lines of goods put their name on the goods, and the jobber is helped thereby. Darlington butter brings 75 cents per pound because it is Darlington butter. If Tom Jones takes extra pains in handling the carload of fine honey which he produces every year there is no harm in letting the people know that it is Tom Jones' honey and that it is worth 1 cent per pound more because it is as represented.—American Agriculturist.

Rye as a Farm Crop. Rye is one of the best paying crops, as far as dollars and cents go, raised in Columbia county, N. Y. We have paper mills that use a good deal of straw, and several large flouring mills that use the rye, taking it from year to year. The same acreage of rye brings us more money than hay, and the quantity is on the increase, if anything. The average yield of rye per acre for our county is estimated to be 16 bushels, but a great many reach 20 and more. I had a field of less than eight acres that had 187 bushels of grain and 12 tons of straw. The machines for thrashing rye, cleaning and measuring at the same time, are used entirely. They leave the straw in nice shape, all bound and ready for the market. To have a bountiful crop, it needs to be protected through the winter and spring.—George W. Higgins in Rural New Yorker.

Hog Prospects. Those who are in position to judge do not anticipate large supplies and bad breaks in the hog market before the opening of the winter packing season, Nov. 1. Reports from all over the country indicate that numbers of hogs to be finished this summer and fall are not large. In spite of a big crop ahead it is very likely that the winter season will open with hog prices well above those of last year, and, moreover, that prices during the coming winter will average well. A bumper crop usually means very cheap hogs, but this condition promises to be modified next winter by an excellent demand for provisions. Definite calculations are impossible at such long range, but there is every indication of a healthy hog market next winter at prices comparing favorably with values of corn.—National Stockman and Farmer.

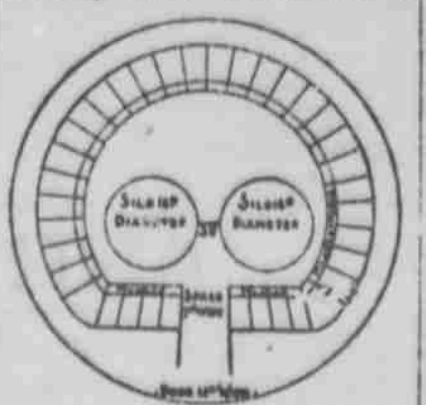

Killing Caterpillars. Professor Fernald recommends fall plowing, trapping with cut clover soaked in paris green water before plowing. After plowing poison them with one pound paris green to 50 pounds of bran mixed to a dough with water and a little molasses. A tablespoonful at the base of each plant attracts the worms and saves the plant.

ROUND BARN.

Advantages Claimed For a Round Barn Including Round Silos.

Drawing some comparisons between the round and the square barn, Colonel F. D. Curtis of Wisconsin writes to The National Stockman and Farmer as follows: A neighbor is building one of the square order 30 by 30 feet, stone basement, stalls for 26 cattle, frame about 30 feet high to roof, requiring 7,000 feet of lumber for frame. It is 150 feet around it and has an area of 1,900 feet. A round barn 30 feet in diameter may have a stone basement and same height above, more or less. It will not take half as much lumber for its frame nor half as much labor to frame and put it up and be vastly stronger when completed. The area or space it incloses is 2,700 feet—half as much again as the square one compared with, and the area of the walls will be the same. It will give space for 40 to 45 cattle stalls instead of 26 in the square barn, room for two round silos 16 feet each in diameter, if properly filled holding not less than 200 tons, located as near as possible in the center of the circle of the stock to consume the silage, saving more than half of the labor of feeding silage when stored outside the stable.

The plan of basement here proposed is designed to make 50 to 55 cattle comfortable in winter. The outside circle represents the wall of the barn. Preferably I would have a circular row of stalls around the outside, but this is broken in upon to give room to drive in a horse and cart—drive around and out the same door to clean out the stable. The stall partitions are to be hung to a 2 by 10 piece of studding in the manger and the back end is to be held in place by a sort of stud button, a 2 by 4 with one bolt to confine it to the partition, the ends of the stud to slide into slots in the floor above and below, confining the cow in the stall by a chain behind her.

Preferably I would grade into a tank 16 feet high above the basement, which would give space for a room between the stable and the floor above. It will be well if we can get an eight foot bank to drive in over the basement, better if we can get 16 feet and still better if we can get 24 feet to the gable. If a ridge roof with a third pitch, it would give us about 20 feet to the ridge of the roof where we would have a hay carrier. Our silos going into the earth ten feet below the stable could stop at the top floor or could go some ten feet more to the support of the purline, "high enough to weight itself."

A silo located as here recommended is scarcely more than 20 feet from any of the stock.
