SIR JOHN FRENCH GIVES OUT ANOTHER STATEMENT IN WHICH BRITISH ACTIVITIES IN FRANCE ARE DETAILED

CONTINUOUS STRUGGLE GOES ON BETWEEN EXTENDED FORCES WHO ARE STRIVING FOR SOME OPENING

Heavy Artillery Fire Is Daily and Nightly Occurrence, Batteries of Both Sides Being Cleverly Concealed; Aeroplanes Do Excellent Scouting Service, but Now and Then One Is Brought Down by Concentrated Gun Fire; German Airmen See Englishmen at Play Back of Lines and Report Them in Great Confusion and Running About Like Mad; All Efforts to Break Through Are Repulsed With Great Loss to Assailants.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL (LEARNED WIRE).
London, Oct. 2 (midnight).—The official press bureau issued tonight a statement from the headquarters of the British expeditionary force under date of September 29, concerning the movements of the British force and the French armies in immediate touch with it. The statement follows:
"The general situation as viewed on the map remains practically the same as that described in the last letter and the task of the army has not changed. It is to maintain itself until there is a general resumption of the offensive."
"No ground has been lost. Some have been gained and every counter-attack has been repulsed—in certain instances with very severe losses to the enemy."

Offensive Movement Checked.
"Nevertheless the question of position is only a part of the battle, and there has been considerable improvement in the situation in another important respect. Recent offensive efforts of the enemy have been made and repulsed. Some of them, indeed, evince clear signs of inferior leadership, this bearing out statements made by prisoners as to great losses in officers suffered by the enemy."
"Further, the hostile artillery fire has decreased in volume and direction, both in control and direction. The first is probably due to the transfer of men to other quarters, but the latter facts may be the direct result of the activity of our air craft and their interference with the enemy's air reconnaissance and observation of his fire."

Use Captive Balloons.
"The Germans recently have been relying, to some extent, on observations from captive balloons sent up at some distance in the rear of their first line, which method, whatever its cause, is a poor substitute for the direct overhead reconnaissance obtainable from aeroplanes."
"As a consequence the damage being done to us is wholly disproportionate to the amount of ammunition expended by the enemy. For the last few days it has amounted to pitting certain areas with large craters and in rendering some villages unhealthy as the soldiers put it. A concrete example of what was on one occasion achieved against our infantry trenches is given later."

Kills German Birdman.
"Of recent events an actual narrative will be carried on from the 25th to 29th inclusive. During the whole of this period the weather has remained fine, though it has not been so bright as it was. On Friday, the 25th, comparative quiet reigned in our sphere of action. The only incident worthy of special mention was the passage of a German aeroplane over the interior of our lines. It was flying high, but drew a general fusillade from below, with the result that the pilot was killed outright and the observer was wounded. The latter, however, was able to continue the flight for some miles, but was then compelled to descend, his petrol tank having been hit."

slowly and remained stationary, spaced as regularly as poplars.

German Quick Firing.

"Again there was a succession of reports from German quick firing on the far side of the valley, like echoes of detonation of high explosives, then the row of expanding smoke clouds was prolonged by several new ones. Another pause and silence, except for the noise in the distance."

"After a few minutes there was a roar from one side of the main valley as our field guns opened one after another in a more deliberate fire upon the positions of the German guns. After six reports there was again silence, save for the whirr of shells as they sang up the small valley. Then followed flashes and balls of smoke, one, two, three, four, five—as the shrapnel burst over what in the haze looked like some ruined buildings at the edge of the wood."

Heavy Cannonade Reopened.

"Again, after a short interval, the enemy's guns reopened with a burst, still further prolonging the smoke, which was by now merged into one solid screen above a considerable length of the trenches and again did our guns reply. And so the duel went on for some time."

"Ignoring our guns the German artillerymen, probably relying on concealment for immunity, were concentrating all their efforts in a particularly forceful effort to enfilade our trenches. For them it must have appeared to be the chance of a life time and with their customary prodigality of ammunition, they continued to pour high explosives or combined shrapnel and common shells into our works."

Big Gaps in Village.

"Occasionally, with a roar, a high angle projectile would sail over the hill and blast a gap in the village. One could only say that our men holding the trenches had dug them selves in deep and well, and that those in the village were in cellars."

"In the hazy valleys, bathed in sunlight, not a man, not a horse, not a gun nor even a trench was to be seen."

"There were only flashes and smoke and noise. Above, against the blue sky, several round white clouds were hanging. The only visible human souls were represented by a glistering speck in the air. On high, also, were to be heard more or less frequent reports of the anti-aircraft projectiles."

Little Injury Resulted.

"But the deepest impression created was one of sympathy for the men subjected to the bursts along that trench. Upon inquiry as to the losses sustained, however, it was found that our men had been able to take care of themselves and had dug themselves well in. In that collection of trenches on that Sunday afternoon were portions of four battalions of British soldiers: The Dorsets, the West Kents, the Kings Own Yorkshire Light Infantry and the King's Own Scottish Borderers."

"More than 200 projectiles were fired against them. The result was nine men wounded."

Amusing Camp Yarns.

"Many camp yarns are now in circulation among the troops, mostly of an amusing nature. As an instance a report is current that Turcom, who are our close neighbors, have been rather short of food and have had to resort to the use of two heavy guns for 10,000 tons of ration beef. The market rate of exchange between guns and meat, however, has not yet been worked out."

"Our troops in the second line at certain spots pass the time by punting the football about on the village places. It is rumored that a German aviator observed this and has sent in a report that the British forces are thoroughly disorganized and are running about their post in blind panic."

Incident of Battle.
"At a certain point in our front our advance trenches are on the north of the Aisne, not far from a village on a hillside and also within a short distance of German works, being on a slope of a spur formed by a subsidiary valley running north and a main valley of the river. It was a calm, sunny afternoon, but hazy, and from our point of vantage south of the river it was difficult to locate on the far bank the well concealed trenches."

"From far and near the sullen boom of guns echoed along the valley and at intervals in a different direction the sky was flecked with the almost motionless smoke of anti-aircraft shrapnel."

Heavy Shell Fire Begins.

"Suddenly and without warning, for the reports from the distant howitzers from which they were fired could not be distinguished from other distant reports, three or four heavy shells fell into the village, sending up huge clouds of dust and smoke which ascended in a brownish-grey column. To this no reply was made by our side."

"Shortly afterward there was a quick succession of reports from a point some distance up the subsidiary valley on the side opposite our trenches and therefore rather on the flank. It was not possible to locate the guns from which the sounds proceeded. Almost simultaneously, as it seemed, there was a corresponding succession of flashes and sharp detonations in the line of the hillside along what appeared to be our trenches. There was then a pause and several clouds of smoke rose

slowly and remained stationary, spaced as regularly as poplars.

German Quick Firing.

"Again there was a succession of reports from German quick firing on the far side of the valley, like echoes of detonation of high explosives, then the row of expanding smoke clouds was prolonged by several new ones. Another pause and silence, except for the noise in the distance."

"After a few minutes there was a roar from one side of the main valley as our field guns opened one after another in a more deliberate fire upon the positions of the German guns. After six reports there was again silence, save for the whirr of shells as they sang up the small valley. Then followed flashes and balls of smoke, one, two, three, four, five—as the shrapnel burst over what in the haze looked like some ruined buildings at the edge of the wood."

Heavy Cannonade Reopened.

"Again, after a short interval, the enemy's guns reopened with a burst, still further prolonging the smoke, which was by now merged into one solid screen above a considerable length of the trenches and again did our guns reply. And so the duel went on for some time."

For them it must have appeared to be the chance of a life time and with their customary prodigality of ammunition, they continued to pour high explosives or combined shrapnel and common shells into our works."

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARTILLERY FIRE IS DESCRIBED BY AN EYE WITNESS

French Fortifications Pounded to Pieces by Shells of Heavy Siege Guns Concentrated Upon Them.

CAMP DES ROMAINS
DESPERATELY DEFENDED

Garrison Finally Permitted to Surrender on Most Generous Terms Because of Valor Displayed.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL (LEARNED WIRE).

Berlin, Oct. 2 (via The Hague and London, 8:45 p. m.).—An opportunity to watch closely the German-Austrian artillery attack on the line of French forts south of Verdun last Saturday, was given an Associated Press correspondent who had been with the Germans at Metz.

An attack which on Friday led to the capture of Fort Camp Des Romains as the first step in the breaking of the defense of the fort lines resulted Saturday in the silencing of Fort Les Paroisses. The correspondent says:

Towards evening it was reported that only one armored turret at Fort Loivre was replying to the Austrian fire, all the other forts being silent. After that the Austrians concentrated their fire with precision on this single turret from a distance of six miles, indicating that it was but a matter of time when the defense line would be ready for an infantry attack."

Valiantly Defended.

Fort Camp Des Romains was valiantly defended by the French. The attacking forces came within five yards of the trench in front of the fort before the garrison surrendered. The French artillerymen in the casemates of the forts had to be dislodged with hand grenades, smoke bombs and fire tubes, which German volunteers placed against the opening of the casemates, filling the interior with fragments of bombs and sense robbing gases."

Even then the defenders refused to capitulate. Finally they were given most honorable conditions of surrender, owing to the valor they had displayed."

Looks Like Iron Plant.

The correspondent's trip over the battlefield showed nothing of the traditional battle tumult such as attacking infantry, racing cavalry and galloping artillery. The heavy artillery could not be seen. There was the tremendous detonation of siege pieces and large columns of smoke arose from burning villages. The black surface thus created was studded everywhere with the white clouds from exploding projectiles."

On the road a few wounded were making their way to the base hospitals. Beyond that the battlefield gave the impression of a tremendous iron plant, with its masses of artillery machinery and the attending noises, a feature which seems to mark this war more and more as the preconceived plans are applied."

Marvelous Artillery Work.
The German and Austrian heavy siege pieces were marvelously concealed and placed, and the working of them was like clock work. Men brought ammunition and placed it with astounding regularity as if they had done nothing else all their lives, though now and then the wholly mechanical process was interrupted for a few minutes by new instructions which were received over the telephone, observations having necessitated a slight change in the direction of the fire. There was a pause for the noon meal."

Men Comfortable.
Once artillery pieces pointed away for four days with Les Paroisses as its objective and the location of the gun never was discovered. During that time the men handling this cannon had gone to housekeeping most comfortably."

St. Mihiel had been evacuated shortly before the arrival of the correspondent. From hills near the battle ground it could be seen that the artillery on both sides was hammering incessantly. Towards evening smoke columns rose south of Verdun, indicating that a fight was going on there."

AFRICAN BATTALION CHECKS
IMPERIAL GUARD CHECKS

Paris, Oct. 2.—An African battalion checked the attacks of the German imperial guard in the recent fighting near Verdun. This is the inference drawn from details received here of the combat in that section. A survivor of the battle who has arrived in Paris, today told the following story of the fight.

"The sun was just rising when our outposts came back on our main force and informed us that the imperial guard was coming. Soon afterward we could see pointed helmets glistering in the sun, rapidly advancing."

"Deceived by our silence, the guard came on even to the barbed defenses and commenced cutting them before our trumpet sounded in order for volley firing. The first line of the enemy seemed just to melt away under our fire. The second line

Summary of War News of Yesterday

The great battle of the Aisne, which has been in progress three weeks, has been decided. The fiercest fighting is taking place in the western arena, where an extremely violent battle continues, especially in the Roye district, in which the Germans have concentrated considerable forces. The action appears to be extending more and more northward.

On the left wing of the allies, one of the French detachments which came out of Arras, department of Pas-de-Calais, has fallen back a little to the north and west of that city, according to a French official announcement.

The allies have made progress in front of Albert, north of the Somme, according to the latest official announcement in Paris. Between Roye and Lassigny, violent attacks have been directed by the Germans against the allied line, but these attacks, the French office says, have broken against the French and British resistance.

Along the remainder of the front quiet is said to prevail. It is officially announced in Paris that no enemy remains on the left bank of the Meuse in the neighborhood of St. Mihiel, twenty miles southeast of Verdun.

The first attempts of the Germans to pierce the outer line of forts at Antwerp appear to have failed. Some of the Belgian forts have been severely damaged. It is stated in a French official report, and the German infantry attacks have been repulsed with heavy losses to the invading forces. On the other hand an official statement issued in Berlin says the siege of Antwerp is making progress.

Reports are being circulated again to the effect that the Germans are preparing to evacuate Belgium, or at least that portion as far east as Brussels.

In the eastern theater of war a battle which promises to be the greatest and most important of that campaign has commenced near Cracow, Galicia. There an Austro-German army, estimated to number 500,000 men, is endeavoring to check the Russian advance. Both sides are bringing up reinforcements.

According to Russian official statements the German plan of invasion of Russia from east Prussia, has failed. The statements say, the Germans got as far as the western bank of the Niemen river, but found strong Russian forces on the eastern bank. Being in low and marshy ground, the Germans, according to the Russian view, were at a disadvantage and could not advance.

A battle is now being fought at Mariampol, near the northern Prussian frontier. The Russians claim that they have repulsed the Germans, but the Germans claim that they have repulsed the Russians. The fighting is taking place in the heights, which, however, they later were compelled to abandon.

A dispatch from Petrograd says that the Germans have lost 20,000 men in killed or wounded and 20,000 men taken prisoners in the fighting in Russian Poland.

A message received in Rome from Russian headquarters said that Prokymel, Galicia, the strongly fortified Austrian town, has been attacked by Russians on all sides. Two of the forts, it is stated, already have been taken.

The attempt of the Servians to cross the river Save into Austria has resulted in failure, according to an official announcement in Vienna.

Papeete, principal town and port of the French island of Tahiti, the most important member of the Society group in the Pacific, was bombarded and half destroyed on September 22 by the German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau. This news has been received in Bordeaux by the French minister of colonies, Gaston Doumergue.

The official information bureau in London has announced that the British government has decided to lay mines in certain areas in the North sea as a counter stroke to the German procedure.

Further communications have been exchanged by the British and American governments with regard to questions concerning contraband. It is stated on high authority that the British government is contemplating revision of its proclamation regarding contraband. Such kinds as foodstuffs consigned to Holland in neutral ships are to be unloading, and other changes doubtless will be announced soon in the lists of contraband.

It appeared to be shaken for an instant but on they came.

"We could plainly see the officers in the lead waving their swords and encouraging their men to the assault. Another valley and the second line thinned out; but a third line came on and the mass crossed the line of wireless defenses."

"When 'charge' was sounded, we rushed forward to meet them. Then our boys commenced to fall, but our impetus was too much for the aristocratic guard, which was moved down and dispersed."

"Of one regiment only a single company remained. It was led by a tall lieutenant with a boyish face. He wore a monocle in his eye and carried a revolver in his hand. This company stood to the last man, and that last man was the lieutenant. He refused to surrender and stood his ground alone until the bayonets of the Jouaves brought him down."

Denies Servian Reports.

Amsterdam, Oct. 3 (via London, 1:30 a. m.).—An official dispatch received here from Vienna denies all Servian reports of victories over the Austrians and says that the Austrians not only are secure in the positions they have captured east of the Drina river but are advancing uninterruptedly.

END OF THREE WEEKS SHOWS NO DECISIVE ADVANTAGE GAINED BY EITHER SIDE IN GREATEST OF ALL BATTLES

FLANKING MOVEMENT OF ALLIES STILL PROGRESSING, BUT KAISER'S ARMIES ARE HOLDING GROUND

Frontal Attacks by French and English Are Discontinued and Assaults on Defenders' Lines by German Invaders Are Repulsed at All Points, According to London and Paris Reports; Russian Attack on Cracow Is Now Begun in Which Millions of Men Are Engaged; Attempted Invasion of Czar's Empire From East Prussia Is Said to Have Been Unsuccessful, Largely Because of Rains Rendering Roads Impassable.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL (LEARNED WIRE).

London, Oct. 2 (10:20 p. m.).—The battle of the Aisne, as it is still called, although the armies contending in it have spread far beyond that river, now has been in progress just three weeks and no decision has been reached.

Reports from Paris earlier in the week that the allies' operations were about to succeed were premature. From all appearances there must be more hard fighting before either side gains way.

The heaviest blows are being given and taken in the western area, where, according to today's French official communication, an extremely violent battle continues, especially in the Roye district, where the Germans have concentrated considerable forces. The communication added that the action was extending more and more northward and that the fighting front now extended to the district south of Arras.

Stubborn Resistance.

This apparently was a modest account of the northward advance of the French, for private telegrams received in London tonight announced that the French actually had reached Arras. Stubborn resistance is being offered by the Germans in the vicinity of Roye, where earlier in the week they succeeded in occupying the heights, which, however, they later were compelled to abandon.

Along the front from the Oise to the Meuse rivers, according to the French report, only partial operations have been attempted by either side. Frontal attacks by the allies as a matter of fact have been discontinued while the flanks are fighting for ascendancy.

Pontoon Bridges Destroyed.

On the allies' right the Germans have made another attempt to cross the Meuse at St. Mihiel, where they got across last week. The German attempt to regain this ground, which they had abandoned when threatened on their flank by troops from Toul, was made yesterday when they attempted to throw a bridge across the river. The pontoon, however, according to the French report, was destroyed during the night.

The Germans, who are supposed to have had the assistance of heavy Austrian guns, apparently have failed in their first attempt to pierce the outer line of fortifications at Antwerp. Official reports and statements by correspondents say that none of the Belgian forts has been severely damaged, and that the German infantry attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers.

Investment Not Serious.

The opinion prevails here that the Germans do not intend, at present, to make a serious attempt to besiege Antwerp, and that the attack they have made is for the purpose of keeping the Belgians within the fortress and stopping sorties, which were disconcerting to the Germans occupying the remainder of the country and occasionally damaged their plans.

Again reports are in circulation that the Germans are making preparations to evacuate Belgium, or at any rate that portion so far east as Brussels. It is stated that the force in Brussels is packing up, but such statements have been made so often that not much reliance is placed in them. Still another rumor has it that the German staff headquarters has been removed from Luxembourg to Mayence.

Engagement Near Cracow.

The battle, which promises to be the greatest and most important of the eastern campaign, has commenced near Cracow, Galicia, where an Austro-German army estimated to number 500,000 men, is endeavoring to check the Russian advance. This combined Austro-German army has occupied a line just inside the Russian Poland frontier from Cracow through Czestochowa to Kalisz, and has had time to prepare strong defensive positions. Both sides are bringing up reinforcements.

Germans are hurrying their troops from Breslau and Bavaria. All the Bohemian and Moravian railways are congested with German troops and war material.

The German plan of an invasion of Russia from east Prussia has failed, according to official Russian reports, which say the Germans got as far as the western bank of the Niemen river, but found strong Russian forces in the hills on the eastern bank. Being in low and marshy ground the Germans, according to the Russian viewpoint, were at a disadvantage and could not advance.

A fight is now in progress at Mariampol, near the northeastern Prussian frontier, while further south in the Suwalki district the Russians claim to have turned the Germans' retreat into a disorderly flight.

More heavy fighting is taking place at Augustow, 140 miles northeast of Warsaw, in the province of Suwalki, where the Germans have received reinforcements and been able to take the offensive. At Gradow, twenty-five miles southwest of Augustow, the Russians again have entered German territory and at Mlawa they claim a victory over the Germans.

OFFICIAL REPORT FROM PARIS REASSURING

Paris, Oct. 2 (11:02 p. m.).—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"First—On our left wing one of our detachments which came out of Arras in a fortified town and capital of the department of Pas-de-Calais has fallen back a little toward the east and north of that city."

"North of the Somme we have made progress in front of Albert. Between Roye and Lassigny, the enemy has directed violent attacks which have broken against our resistance."

"Second—Quiet prevails along the rest of the front. It is reported that in the department of St. Mihiel (department of Meuse, twenty miles northeast of Verdun) there remains no enemy on the left bank of the Meuse."

PREPARES GERMAN MIND FOR POSSIBLE RETREAT

Amsterdam, Oct. 2 (via London, 3:50 p. m.).—A dispatch from the German capital says that the Berliner Tageblatt prints a significant article by its military correspondent, Major Morant, who, while asserting confidence that there will be a fresh German advance on Paris, is careful to add:

"But there is another possibility which must command the conscious attention of calm observers of the fluctuating struggle. What would be gained by the allies if they force back our right wing to the Belgian frontier? Nothing but the passing success which would be the beginning of the end of the Franco-British presumption of victory."

Major Morant then explains that the further the allies move from Verdun and Toul, which he says, form their last great strongholds, the longer is the distance they must travel back when the stream of German armies, broad and unhindered, flows westward from Loiraine.

FRENCHMEN WHO AVOID SERVICE SENT TO JAIL

Paris, Oct. 2.—Numerous prisoners who were liable to military service and evaded the order to mobilize have been tried by courtmartial and sentenced to prison. In addition the military court decided that after the completion of their sentences the offenders should be compelled to fulfill their military duty.

The war office, however, has modified the edict of the court. In an order issued today the war office said it would permit the convicted men to go to the front and expressed the hope that by good conduct under fire the convicts may earn a reduction in the penalty decreed by the courtmartial.

RUSSIAN PRISONERS MAKE DASH FOR LIBERTY

London, Oct. 2 (10:05 p. m.).—The following official statement has been received from Berlin by wireless:

"Russian prisoners at Crossen, Prussia, attempted to escape during a thunderstorm. The sentries opened fire, however, and three Russians

"It is reported from different sources that the Belgians already have placed machine guns in church towers of Antwerp. The steeple of that city is making progress."

"The Germans have occupied Malines and strict orders have been given not to bombard the town so that the cathedral may be spared."

"It is officially announced from Vienna that the attempt of the Serbians to cross the River Sava has resulted in a failure."

SATISFIED WITH PROGRESS OF ALLIED ARMIES

Bordeaux, Oct. 2 (4:15 p. m.)—The concentration of German in great strength at Hoye, as mentioned in the war office statement issued today, is explained here by the ease with which the commanding general discovered the disposition of the enemy through aeroplane scouts.

A very important factor in winning battles is surprising the enemy. The aviators in the present war have made this factor a negligible one. For this reason the battle of the Aisne is continuing for an unprecedented length of time. The public not familiar with all the strategy, is inclined to be impatient of fighting without an end, but those who know declare themselves perfectly satisfied with the progress being made by the French armies.

BELGIANS BEAT OFF ATTACKS ON ANTWERP

London, Oct. 2 (4:20 p. m.)—The Antwerp correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company has sent the following dispatch:

"The German attack on the fort and approaches of Koningshoeven (one of the new forts on the outer line) was repulsed last night."

"A violent attack on Termonde was repulsed at 2 o'clock this morning. The Belgians blowing up the bridge (over the Scheldt)."

"The Belgians undertook a counter-attack from Antwerp on Friday morning on the front of the early position. This continues."

AEROPLANES INVALUABLE IN SCOUTING SERVICE

London, Oct. 2 (4:45 p. m.)—The value of the aeroplanes rendered in flying machines co-operating in naval and military movements is shown by the following statement issued tonight by the official press bureau:

"While the expeditionary force was being moved abroad a strong patrol to the westward of the straits of Dover was undertaken by both aeroplanes and ships of the air service."

planes and ships of the air service. The aeroplanes remained steadily patrolling between the French and English coasts, sometimes for twelve hours, while further to the east, with the assistance of the Belgian authorities, a temporary sea plane base was established at Ostend and a patrol kept up with aeroplanes between that place and the English coast opposite.

"By this means it was impossible for the enemy's ships to approach the straits without being seen for many miles on one occasion during one of the aeroplanes' patrols it became necessary to change a bomber blade of one of the engines. The captain feared it would be necessary to descend for this purpose but two of the crew immediately volunteered to carry out the difficult task in the air. Climbing out to a basket carrying the propeller shafting, they completed the hazardous work of changing the propeller blades, 2,000 feet above the sea."

"On the 27th of August, when Ostend was occupied by a force of marines, a strong squadron of aeroplanes under Commander Hanson complete with all transport equipment also was sent over. Later this aeroplane camp was moved, and much good work is being carried out by aeroplanes supported by armed motors. Advanced bases have been established some distance inland."

"On several occasions skirmishes have taken place between the armed motor car squadrons and bands of Uhlans. All these affairs have been successful with a loss to the enemy in killed and in prisoners taken. The armed cars and aeroplanes also have assisted the French forces of artillery and infantry on several occasions. Good work has been done in dropping bombs on positions of military importance and military communications."

GERMANS HURRIEDLY BUILD SUBMARINES

London, Oct. 3 (3:40 a. m.)—The German dockyards are working with feverish energy, says a Copenhagen dispatch in the Daily Mail. Fifty submarines are being built, it is reported, the submarine successes having made the German public clamorous for more ships of this kind.

The great lack of benzene, petrol and rubber are seriously affecting the German transport in the field, according to the dispatch as all secret petrol depots established before the war are exhausted.

FINANCES ARE GETTING BETTER, EXPERTS ASSERT

Grain Shipments 3,200,000 Greater Last Week Than Same Week of 1913; Money Becomes Easier.

New York, Oct. 2.—Purchasers of bills on London by the $100,000,000 gold pool and demand from independent sources brought about another decline in foreign exchange today, cables falling to $4.94 and eight cables to $4.95. Trading in these securities was again fairly extensive as a result of the week's heavy grain and cotton exports. Grain shipments were some 2,600,000 bushels larger than in the preceding week and about 3,200,000 bushels in excess of the same week of 1913.

The heavy fall for bonds, particularly those maturing within the next few years, was somewhat broader at one time when it reached about 100 on a 90-cent bid.

The wide fluctuation regarding the weekly movement of cash foreign exchange by local institutions of from $12,500,000 to $25,000,000. Further contraction of loans is expected with a consequent reduction of the deficit in cash resources. Time money is gradually coming back into the market and the middle of the month is likely to show an easier condition. This same condition will doubtless apply to commercial paper and other financial documents.

Announcement by a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation of its intention to cancel the existing wage agreement at the beginning of the coming year reflected rumors of a general reduction in this and other industries.

Bank clearings continue to record unimpaired contraction, the total nationwide cities of the country showing a decrease of $39,275,000 compared with the same week last year.

TWO KILLED WHEN ELECTRIC CARS MEET

Sherman, Tex., Oct. 2.—Two men were killed and more than twenty-five persons injured, several seriously, when two interurban electric cars collided early tonight at Woodlake, a pleasure resort five miles north of Sherman. P. D. Hagan of Sherman, and H. H. Harp of Springfield, Mo., lost their lives.

Two German Ships Sunk.

London, Oct. 2 (10:15 p. m.)—A dispatch to Lloyd's agency from Bordeaux says it is officially announced there that a French gunboat has sunk two German auxiliary ships, the Rhine and Hela, with mitochondrial.

VILLA EXECUTES TWO ENVOYS OF FELIX DIAZ IN CHIHUAHUA CITY

Fighting General's Secretary Announces That No Compromise Will Be Made With Cientifico Element.

ZACATECAS MEETING CALLED FOR OCT. 10

In Event of Resumption of Hostilities With Carranza Faction Old Federal Adherents Will Be Excluded.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
Juarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, Oct. 2.—The Villa faction will not tolerate any connection with the old federal or "cientifico" element, which were termed "reactionaries" in a statement issued today by Luis Aguilar Benavides, General Villa's first secretary. As proof of this it was announced that two prominent adherents of Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of ex-President Diaz, had been executed here. It was stated also that the convention at Zacatecas designed to adjust the differences between Villa and Carranza, would not be held until October 10. The Villa statement follows:

"Attorney Jose Ruelas Sandoval and Augustine Perez, who were sentenced to death by an extraordinary court martial which was formed for the purpose of trying them on a charge that they were envoys of Felix Diaz, and other 'cientificos' who are refugees in the United States, treating to ally themselves to the cause that is defended by General Francisco Villa, were executed in this city today."

"Documents and letters were found which amply proved the alliance and compromises they had with the reactionary party which is treating to take part in the public affairs of the country increasing the division that disastrously exists between the revolutionary element, but which we hope will be adjusted at the next convention which will be held in the city of Aguascalientes on the 10th of the present month."

"In the event that there is a resumption of hostilities with the Carranza faction, by no means will the reactionary elements, which took part in any form whatsoever in the overthrow of the constitutional government of President Madero, be accepted in our ranks."

"LETIS AGUIRRE BENAVIDES"

VILLA COMMANDER CAPTURES ENSENADA

Los Angeles, Oct. 2.—Adolfo Carrillo, General Carranza's consular representative here, said today he had received a message from Mexico City informing him that General Baltazar Avila had taken possession of Ensenada, capital of Lower California, in the name of Villa, and that a force of troops was being sent from there to aid Governor Maytorena in the campaign against Carranza.

The troops being sent to Sonora, according to Carrillo's information, are under command of Colonel Toranzo, and are marching eastward by way of Mexico.

It is understood that three ships belonging to a Mexican steamship company have been tendered to Avila.

MAYTORENA WILL ATTACK GENERAL HILL TODAY

Nico, Sonora, Oct. 2.—Gov. Jose Maytorena, Villa's commander, formally notified Colonel Goffley of the Fifth United States cavalry border patrol tonight that he would attack Nico at daybreak. Col. Benjamin Hill with 1,800 men and some light artillery is entrenched and is prepared to stand siege while awaiting expected reinforcements of Carranza troops.

A formal demand by Maytorena for the surrender of Nico was refused. Several thousand Yaqui Indians attached to the Villa forces under Maytorena have slowly advanced during the week and it is expected they will join in the assault on the town. Notice that the wounded may not be taken across the American line was issued today by the American commander. This was enforced when Col. Figueroa of Hill's command, who was probably fatally wounded by a bullet from his own revolver when he fell from his horse today, was sent to the border seeking better medical attention.

FUNSTON'S TROOPS KEEP WATCH ON VERA CRUZ

Washington, Oct. 2.—Official announcement today that American troops would not be withdrawn from Vera Cruz before October 31 and that no time had been fixed for the transfer of control of that port to Mexican authorities, was accepted as meaning that General Funston's forces will not be ordered home until the Carranza-Villa break has been settled and order restored in the republic.

It was pointed out that if the troops were withdrawn before the trouble between the constitutionalist factions had been adjusted, the action would be interpreted as an indication of favoritism toward the party to which the port of Vera Cruz was surrendered. Officials said tonight, however, that it was highly probable several detachments would be withdrawn from Vera Cruz within the next two weeks, leaving a sufficient force to remain as long as the situation warranted. The battleship Rhode Island is expected to arrive at Vera Cruz within five days to relieve the North Dakota, due to leave October 11. It is possible that a company of marines, probably the Twenty-fourth, will be taken to the Guantamano naval station by the North Dakota on its way north.

The Mexican situation was discussed today by President Wilson and Secretaries Bryan and Daniels at the White House. Reports from Consul Silliman on the convention in Mexico City were laid before the president. They showed that fifty-eight out of a possible ninety-eight delegates were in attendance yesterday and that there was a general feeling that a full representation of constitutionalist chiefs would attend the conference at Aguascalientes on October 4 to settle all existing differences between Generals Carranza, Villa and Zapata.

According to Mr. Silliman, Luis Carranza, former representative of Carranza here, was chosen to preside over the convention. The sessions were held behind closed doors, only those delegates bearing proper credentials being admitted. No report of today's session had been received here late tonight.

ARRANGE TO CARE FOR MAMMOTH COTTON CROP

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
Washington, Oct. 2.—Leaders of the movement to dispose of the vast cotton yield which this year will be left in American hands because of the war in Europe, were given a more definite idea today of the size of the new crop when the department of agriculture announced it would amount to approximately 13,000,000 bales of 500 pounds each.

Curtailed takings of foreign countries, who usually buy from eight to ten million bales yearly, already have resulted in the adoption of new methods for disposing of the 1914 crop, which present conditions indicate will be the second largest on record. Domestic consumption, usually approximating four and a half to five and a half million bales, is expected to be greatly increased this year by heavier exports of American cotton goods and the movement to stimulate their use at home.

BRYAN ARRANGES ITINERARY FOR CAMPAIGN WORK

Other Cabinet Officers to Take Stump for Democratic Candidates for Lower and Upper Houses.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Plans for active participation in the congressional campaign throughout the country about to begin were taken up by President Wilson and administration leaders today.

The president and Secretary Bryan conferred to decide on the itinerary of the campaign trip Mr. Bryan is to begin next week and to discuss the subjects he is to take up in his speeches. It tentatively was decided that Mr. Bryan should speak in New York, in addition to Pennsylvania and Iowa. He will be in Ohio for three days next week and if possible will start out again within three days after his return to Washington.

Secretary Daniels will appear next week in Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia and the week following in Connecticut and New Hampshire.

Secretary Lane, who also was a White House caller during the day, announced he expected to speak on the Pacific coast, explaining the conservation program and work of the administration.

It became known that the full strength of the administration is to be thrown behind Ambassador Gerard in order to secure the election of another democratic senator from New York and that the administration is counting on the election of a democratic senator from Connecticut.

There were evidences that the democratic leaders are to conduct their fight on the understanding that the republican party will give no formidable opposition, and that the progressives are to be the chief opposing factor.

ADJOURNMENT BY OCTOBER 15 IS NOW PLANNED

Washington, Oct. 2.—Conference among the leaders in congress with a view to adjournment on October 15 continued today. Democratic Leader Underwood, of the house, conferred with Senators Kern and Smoot, who expressed the view that an adjournment could be effected at the time planned.

Some of the southern democrats, however, are threatening a vigorous opposition to either adjournment or to an agreement for three-day recesses pending adjournment until some legislation to relieve the cotton situation had been passed. Any objection might meet any three-day recess plan, but there is said to be ample majority in both houses to put through an adjournment resolution at any time.

President Wilson is still considering the plan of calling a special session of congress on November 1 in event the present adjournment plan is carried through. The session, if called would be to consider the government ship purchase bill.

FORTS AT LIEGE NOT MODERNIZED, GERMANS ASSERT

Heavy Artillery Is Reported to Have Smashed Cement and Put Steel Turrets Out of Commission.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Liege, Sept. 14.—Surprise is often expressed that so much money and effort are spent in getting plans of fortresses in time of peace, and that vigilant efforts are made to prevent espionage in fortified places when general outlines and weak spots of a fortress must be disclosed as soon as a serious attack is launched against it in time of war.

A visit to the battered and shell-torn forts of Liege under the guidance of German artillery and engineer officers, now engaged in restoring the Belgian fortresses, indicates one reason at least for this mystery. This is to prevent the enemy from learning in advance the location of the gun turrets. Liege proved that these turrets, despite the heaviest armor and many feet of cement wall protection, are vulnerable to modern artillery once their exact location is established.

Titanic Devastation.
Each fort visited showed scenes of Titanic devastation and destruction. Great gaping holes were opened in the earth wherever the shells from the big siege mortars landed, debris of stone and cement fragments littered the surface within the fort enclosure to a depth of a foot or more, the cement walls of the revolving gun turrets were battered, cracked and smashed and their armor plate roofs showed great dents where shells had landed; but with few exceptions the turrets were still intact despite the heavy bombardment. The guns were put out of action not by shells penetrating the turrets but because the turrets themselves jammed, making the aiming of the cannon impossible. The German shells, even those of the dreaded 16 1/2-inch "surprise" mortar, had bounded off the armored roofs, leaving deep cuts and splashes where they had exploded, but without penetrating, but those striking the concrete casing had cracked off fragments which filled up the space between the turret and casing, effectively jamming the turning machinery.

German Forts Vulnerable.
German artillery experts say that the gun turrets in German fortresses have the same general construction and the same weakness, but point out that in case of attack much time must be spent in locating the turrets, for which hidden positions are skillfully chosen. At Liege the forts were located on the summits or ridges with the gun position in plain view for miles, so that the German artillery even without the assistance of their maps of the fortress, could drop their shells upon the turrets as upon the bulwarks of a gigantic target.

The German experts pointed out as another serious defect the absence of observation posts from which the fire of the forts could be directed and controlled. In each fort was a species of conning tower, serving also as a searchlight tower, but so low-lying as to be useless in directing the fire.

The forts themselves, in the opinion of the German officers, were well laid out and well designed for forts of their age—twenty-four to twenty-six years—but the Belgians since then had done little to keep them up to date. Only of late had they awakened to the necessity of modernizing the forts by putting in a better system of fire control, more telephones, etc., and had placed orders with German firms for the necessary electric wiring and plant and for additional cannon. These are now being installed, but by the Germans with the aid of the original fortress plans captured when Liege fell.

A most interested spectator during the inspection trip was Dr. Earl Liebknecht, the socialist deputy whom the foreign press reported executed early in the war. He enjoyed the special favor of the army officers in charge of the party. Their explanations were addressed to him; the governor of the fortress of Liege, General Godeve, came to welcome him. After his inspection of Liege Dr. Liebknecht departed for Louvain and Brussels, where he was received with the same favor. Dr. Liebknecht will not hear of the annexation of Belgium or any part of it, a condition of peace upon which the superpatriots have already set their hearts.

The minute that an attempt is made to incorporate Belgium or any part of it in Germany, that minute the boasted unity of the German parties will disappear, he said to the representatives of the general staff who accompanied him in the automobile ride around the fort girdle.

NEW EXPLOSIVE TO BE TESTED BY NAVY

Washington, Oct. 2.—A special naval board was named by Secretary Daniels today to investigate the merits of the system of attacking naval vessels by the explosion of heavy charges of nitrocellulose or similar compounds on the outside of their armor. The house naval committee urged the inquiry and at its request the basis of the experiments will be the Isham shell, the inventor of which will be invited to be present.

Secretary Daniels explained that there already had been a number of tests of this theory, but that an attempt to settle the question had been advised by Rear Admiral Straus, chief of the naval ordnance bureau.

The tests probably will take place in the lower Potomac as soon as the necessary hulks or caissons can be prepared.

MRS. KING FREE ON INSTRUCTION OF TRIAL COURT

Woman Charged With Murder of Husband Is Acquitted; West Must Face Jury and Take Chances for Life.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Silver City, N. M., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Isabel King, charged jointly with Augustus West with murder in the first degree on account of the shooting of George C. King, husband of the woman, at the Three Circle ranch in the Alamosa valley, July 27 last, was this afternoon acquitted on an instructed verdict. The jury is yet to decide the fate of her co-defendant, West.

Following the introduction of all testimony, C. W. McSherry, counsel for Mrs. King, moved that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty as to Mrs. King, and counsel for the prosecution concurred in the action. Judge Colin Neblett, who presided at the trial, thereupon gave the instructions as moved and Mrs. King was again a free woman.

Defendant Is Dazed.
On the announcement of the verdict, Mrs. King seemed dazed, and apparently could not realize that she was free of the charge that has been hanging over her. Immediately after the rendition of the verdict counsel for West asked leave to reopen the case in order to place Mrs. King on the stand to testify in West's behalf. The request was granted and Mrs. King was given time during a recess of the court to compose herself.

Upon taking the stand Mrs. King gave testimony tending to show that the shooting of her husband by West was in self-defense, and all efforts on the part of the prosecuting attorneys to shake her testimony were unavailing. The witness broke down under cross-examination and wept bitterly. After giving her testimony Mrs. King left the court room with no other statement than an expression of sincere thanks that she had been set free. She will return to Houston, Tex., with her brother, Jesse Irwin, but so far has made no announcement of her plans for the future.

Hard Fought Case.
The trial was hard fought from the beginning and during its entire session the court room was crowded with spectators. Neither the prosecution nor the defense overlooked any legal points that might help their case.

Following the completion of the state's case, counsel for Mrs. King, Attorney C. W. McSherry, asked for an instructed verdict of not guilty, arguing his motion before the court at considerable length. Judge Neblett, presiding, overruled the motion. Thereupon James S. Fielder, one of the attorneys representing West, likewise asked for an instructed ver-

Letters Introduced in Evidence.

The most interesting feature of the trial and the one upon which the state based its case in the main against the defendants, was the introduction of some twenty or twenty-five letters, several telegrams and notes, written by Mrs. King to West; by West to Mrs. King; by King, the murdered man to West, in which letters King warned West to leave his wife alone and stay away from his ranch, and by King to his wife when she was visiting her relatives in Houston, Tex. In the letters passing between West and Mrs. King, each declared their love for the other, while Mrs. King in her letters to King, her husband, likewise professed her love for him. The letters from West to Mrs. King were taken from King's body after he was murdered, and the letters Mrs. King wrote to West were taken from his person when he was arrested, charged with the killing of King.

Introduced as exhibits in the trial by the state were the rifle, with which it was alleged King was shot; a bed comfort with bullet holes in its pieces of cloth from the wall through which it was alleged West fired the shot which caused King's death, and a plat of the Three Circle ranch house and its interior and furnishings, the scene of the killing.

Throughout the trial West was the concerned, but Mrs. King showed much emotion at times, especially when the letters were read and witnesses testified as to the finding of King's body.

BIG INCREASE IN BERNALILLO SCHOOL CENSUS

Department of Education is Astounded at Figures Sent in by Superintendent Montoya for This County.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Quay county, like Roosevelt, Curry and Eddy counties, appears to continue losing population as do Tucuman, Colfax, Pecos, Carlsbad, Artesia and other eastern New Mexico towns.

The school census returns for Quay county, just received by the department of education show an enumeration of 1,836 males and 1,735 females, a total of 3,571, as against 3,588 last year. Tucuman shows 456 males and 455 females, a total of 911 as against 921 last year. Artesia shows 157 and Montoya 122, all other school districts showing less than 100. This would indicate a total population for Quay county of 12,491 or a loss of 2,421 since 1910 and a population of 1,188 for Tucuman or a loss of 161 since 1910.

Bernalillo County's Gain.
The more surprising to the department of education, therefore, was the report from Bernalillo county, received today which shows a school census figures of 10,372, as against 8,861 last year, the enumeration this year showing 5,191 males and 5,181 females. This would indicate a population for Bernalillo county of 36,302 or a gain of 12,696 since 1910, an enormous percentage in so short a period. The school census for Albuquerque shows 2,509 males and 2,588 females or 5,097 as against 4,231 last year, indicating a population of 17,840, a gain of 6,320 in four years or more than 60 per cent. This is rivaled only by the percentage of gain shown by Santa Fe county and Santa Fe city in that time. Old Albuquerque school census is 1,394, indicating a population of 4,879 or within 299 the population of Santa Fe in 1910.

Thus far only seven counties have sent in their school census returns, making it necessary for Superintendent White to base his apportionment today on the 1913 census.

HARD TO COMPLY WITH LAW IN GRANT COUNTY

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Grant county, that county where superintendents must be careful, was illustrated today by a letter from Miss Isabel Eckles, superintendent of Grant county. The state board of education, in conformity with statute, requires every county superintendent to visit each of the districts in his county, at least once a year and Superintendent White is at present calling for reports on this mandatory action from each superintendent.

Miss Eckles writes that on account of the war, the El Paso and Southern western has reduced its train service so that the only feasible way to visit the districts of Animas, Rodeo, Luna, Chusita, Pecos, Clovis, Loma, Walnut and Walnut Wells is by automobile, and even then she can give each school only half an hour in order to make the trip in four days. The cost will be an entire month's salary and since she is getting poorer every day, she asks to be relieved of the duty of visiting those districts until the European war is over and she can have the less expensive train service from Lordsburg to Hatch.

WOMAN'S PERSISTENCE GETS USUAL RESULTS

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—A woman's persistence and good roads enthusiasm has won out, for State Engineer James A. French today ordered the good roads fund at Bernalillo to La Bajada hill to widen a bad turn on La Bajada hill between Santa Fe and Albuquerque, at which a number of automobiles have come to grief.

Mrs. H. E. Laughlin of Santa Fe has been insistently urging Governor McDonald, State Engineer French and Land Commissioner R. P. Ervin, the state road board, to make that improvement. She would not take "no" for an answer and finally with the aid of Mrs. McDonald she brought the authorities around to her viewpoint and La Bajada hill will henceforth be less difficult for tourists.

Teachers' Certificates Issued.

Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction Eulalia Baca today issued some thirty professional and first grade teachers' certificates, as follows: Professional five or three years, Mildred Hornbein, Gallup; Ruth Conrad, East Las Vegas; Mae Price, Hurley; Gladys Palmer, Tucuman; first grade: Mrs. B. N. Jones, Sawyer; Miss Daisy Pinson, Deidman; Rachael G. Whitaker, Gallup; Miss Grace Allen, Dawson; Miss Frances Murphy, Albuquerque; Juan J. Contreras, Pecos; Edith Daniels, Pecos; C. T. Morrisett, Miss Helen Keyser, Farmington; Letha S. Nash, Las Vegas; Mildred Hornbein, Gallup; Annie C. Murphy, Nara; Mrs. H. L. Pollard, Espanola; Miss Nellie Fuller, Espanola; Mehal Fern Mitchell, Folsom; Susie Connell, East Las Vegas; Pauline Kinsell, Newkirk; Monnie Wilson, Artesia; Louis Dietz, Deming. The following additional professional certificates were granted: Mamie Farrell, Carlsbad; Beryl Long, Deming; Rebecca Livingston, Corona; Myrtle Peide, Gallup; Fern Willison, Captain.

MORE TEACHERS THAN EVER WILL COME THIS YEAR

White Looks for Unprecedented Attendance on Educational Convention to Be Held Here Next Month.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—"It will strain Albuquerque's hospitality to entertain the teachers in Thanksgiving week," said Superintendent White today. "Last year, I thought, that the climax had been reached in attendance, but from what I was told on my trip in Colfax and Union counties, all records will be broken by the convention this year."

"The eleven teachers at Dawson will all go, so will those at Springer, Maxwell and French. The high school teachers at Raton have been given permission and the question of sending the grade teachers is now pending. If they come, practically every teacher from that county will be in attendance. Similarly in Union county and Mrs. W. L. Gamma of Lincoln county writes that the teachers of that county will take their holiday that week so as to be able to go to Albuquerque. The St. Louis, Rocky Mountain and Pacific has promised to send all the teachers from its western coal camps."

Exemplary Conditions.
"At Dawson I found exemplary school conditions under Miss Pearl Hall, formerly of Colorado. A two-year high school course has been inaugurated. "I was much pleased in Union county, where Superintendent Ehret has bought himself an automobile and is busy visiting the schools, while Mrs. Ehret attends to the office work. Everywhere the effort is being made to increase the enrollment so that every child may have the benefit of the best schooling that the taxpayers can give it."

"Colfax county will send its entire school exhibit from Raton to the Albuquerque fair and also to the educational convention in November. Superintendent Mrs. Josie Lockard collected $250 free will offerings so as to erect a hall for school exhibition purposes to the Raton fair building, and the exhibits from Raton, Dawson and other points are the finest I have ever seen."

CLIFF DWELLINGS FORM SCENARIO'S BACKGROUND

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—A scenario with the New Mexico cliff dwellings as the background and the cliff dwellers as the chief actors, has been written by J. A. Jeannot, organizer for the Scottish Rite Masonic reunion who arrived here last night from Colorado Springs.

The play will be given next week at Manitou, where there is a replica of a New Mexico cliff dwelling and a motion picture company will film the drama. Efforts will be made to have the film sent to Santa Fe as soon as possible for production at one of the moving picture houses. The drama is one of love, adventure and intrigue and while archaeologically, ethnologically and historically correct to the minutest detail so as to be distinctly educational, also abounds in romance and thrills. Mr. Jeannot was for a time secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here and of the School of American Archaeology.

Soldiers in Tournament.

Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Not only will the Thirteenth cavalry take part in the military tournament at Columbus in Luna county, but officers of the Twelfth from Nogales and from the Fifteenth cavalry at Marfa, will participate. A number of thoroughbred horses have been entered for the races by these officers. At the field day exercises this week, the half-mile dash for cavalry horses was won by Lieut. John T. Donnelly, who rode Charles Rothschild, Lieut. E. L. Canady finishing second on Royal River. The steeplechase was won by Corporal Dunn in a driving finish. Quartermaster Sergeant Potts won the high jump. Private Brethner won the potato race and Lieutenant Canady the high jump with the horse Prince. The rescue race was won by Corporal Madigan. The first squadron won the baseball game from the third by a score of 4 to 3.

School Aid Is Granted.

Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—The first application for state aid ever received from Quay county was today granted by the department of education. In fact, there were two applications, each for $250, and both found favor. Similarly, the first application for aid to finish a new school building at Santa Fe, was received today and $115 was granted for school district No. 19.

To Investigate Dairying Conditions.

Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—The department of agriculture has assigned to New Mexico, L. J. Thomas, an expert dairymen to investigate dairying conditions in this state and to advise as to the establishment of creameries at central points. His first inspection will be in the Mesilla valley.

Why Not Publish It?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Perry, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes: "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers.

BIGGEST PORTION OF SCHOOL FUND GOES TO BERNALILLO COUNTY

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Bernalillo county gets the lion's share of the apportionment of the school funds made today by Superintendent of Public Instruction Alvan N. White, on the basis of ten cents per person included in the school census last year, this being the last distribution under the old census. The next apportionment will be on December 1 and will be about five times as big because of the huge sums that State Land Commissioner R. P. Ervin is turning into the state treasury.
Of the apportionment made today, Bernalillo county receives $886,197; San Miguel comes second with $782,600 and Santa Fe county coming last with $587,550; then Rio Arriba with $565,550; Grant $547,190; Chaves $540,200; Dona Ana $538,190. All the other counties receive less than $500 apiece, as follows: Colfax $463,700; Curry $320,190; Eddy $377,550; Guadalupe $343,200; Lincoln $321,200; Luna $312,400; McKinley $312,800; Mora $433,200; Otero $255,800; Quay $358,800; Roosevelt $251,300; Sandoval $211,300; San Juan $194,500; Sierra $168,800; Socorro $483,400; Taos $399,600; Torrance $320,300; Union $494,500; Valencia $320,300.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK AT LAS CRUCES FAIR

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Governor W. C. McDonald left his ranch at Carrizozo today for Las Cruces to address the democratic convention and also to make a speech at the fair. State Engineer James A. French reports the road between Alamogordo and Las Cruces as being only fairly passable, although he motored the distance in four hours.

Engineer French also reports that before the year is out, the link of El Camino Real to Lincoln will be completed. The Fort Selden link, he declares to be in fine condition, this being a sand-chalk stretch, almost as smooth as an ironing board. The Nogal canyon road is completed and a fine example of state road building that may not need any repairs for several years. The dozen or so bridges are substantially built. The road from San Marcial has been ordered to Dault, western Socorro county, to tackle the difficult stretch into the Mogollon country which will tie up with the road to Silver City.

El Camino Real to the Texas line is in fine shape, said the engineer, but south of the Texas line, the high-priced road that Texas built, is not so good.

The road from Alamogordo to Carrizozo is completed to Socorro and Engineer French inspected it as far as Three Rivers.

ENGINEER REJECTS WATER APPLICATION

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—State Engineer James A. French today rejected the application of Thomas Fox for waters of Cameron creek, Grant county, on the ground that he had no jurisdiction.

The application of David H. Tulloh for waters from Cottonwood arroyo in Eddy county, was canceled. The application of Governor W. C. McDonald for the floodwaters of Bar W draw near Carrizo, to the extent of 2,350 second feet, was granted to irrigate 160 acres.

The application of Domingo Ruiz for the waters of the Minibres, was withdrawn.

The following extensions were granted: G. A. Beaman of Fort Stockton, to apply waters in Eddy county to beneficial use to October 1, 1915; William C. Brannan to apply waters until March 5, 1915; Albert S. Doran of Santa Rita, to apply waters until May 1, 1915.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF HAS ENROLLMENT OF FORTY

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Forty was the attendance, of whom twenty-four were Spanish-Americans, of the State School for the Deaf and Dumb at Santa Fe, according to the report of Superintendent W. O. VILJOEN IS HOT OVER CABLEGRAM AND COMES BACK

Sends Sizzling Epistle to Press Paying Compliments to Alleged General in Boer War Now With Allies.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 2.—Gen. J. Viljoen, the Boer general, who from his bed of illness and pain sent a cablegram and appeal to South Africa urging the Boers to rise against the British while Germany was clashing with England, molts a fiery epistle to the press because of a cablegram stating that General Pienaar is fighting with the allies. The letter says:

"According to press dispatches originating from English sources, a great deal is made of the fact that a person named Pienaar is fighting with the allies. I myself as general in the late Boer army of South Africa, has joined the staff of General French, in charge of the British troops now operating in France."

Never Was General.
"Permit me to state that this person never was a general in the Boer army, that he filled a very inferior position under my personal command and that he was immeminently fired from the Boer army before the close of the war."

"I make this statement in order to correct the impression which the British seem so anxious to convey, namely, that the Boers of South Africa are eager to fight for King George."

"As a matter of fact, the only leaders among the Boer people who have shown inclination to take up arms against the Germans are a few whom the English have bribed with titles, and who do so by any means represent the real South African Boers, or they are of the stamp of this Francis Joubert Pienaar, to whom General French and the British are welcome, I am sure."

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Silver City, N. M., Oct. 2.—The first fatality of the 1914 open season for deer in New Mexico occurred yesterday on the upper Gila river, thirty miles north of here, when Hilo Behan, an electrician in the employ of the Chino Copper company, was shot and instantly killed by a member of a party, starting on a deer hunt.
While proceeding through the underbrush, one of the hunting party mistook Behan for a deer and fired at him through the brush at close range. The bullet from a Savage rifle, struck him in the left side, just below the heart, going clear through his body. The body was taken to Hurley where an inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death was returned. Afterward the body was brought here, arriving today and was sent to Los Angeles for burial. Behan was 39 years old and married.

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO GET DAY SET FOR TRUST BILL

Bristow Accuses President of Having Surrendered to Wall Street; Republicans Try Obstructive Tactics.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Washington, Oct. 2.—Efforts of democratic leaders in the senate today to procure an agreement for a vote on the Clayton anti-trust bill conference report on Monday were frustrated when Senator Smith of Michigan objected, expressing the hope that "prudence will interfere to prevent enactment of such a bill into law."

Following Senator Callahan's request for an agreement Senator Smith made an ineffectual effort to have further consideration of the measure postponed until next December. Administration leaders, notwithstanding their failure today, predicted that the vote on the report will be reached by Monday night.

Bristow Rampant.

In debate on the measure Senator Bristow of Kansas charged the president with "surrendering to the Wall street interests." Senators Norris and Chapp also attacked the conference report, which they said "drew the teeth" of the bill.

The trade commission bill and the pending measure, Senator Clapp asserted, were part and parcel of a general policy which would result in "turning the government back into the hands of big business." He read from President Wilson's speeches before he entered the White House to show that the anti-trust program was antagonistic to the president's expressed opinions. He said he believed the president could not know the full effect of the pending conference report and lend it his support. The press of international affairs, he said, had prevented the president from watching the anti-trust program carefully.

"I believe," interrupted Senator Bristow, "that they know exactly what this conference report does. I am convinced that the president has surrendered his administration to the most sinister influences in this republic. There has been no administration since the beginning of this government which has so abjectly surrendered to the Wall street interests as this has done."

Further democratic opposition to the report was voiced by Senator Martine of New Jersey.

EXHIBITION BY YORK AND TORRES PROVES TO BE DRAWING CARD

A hint of the quality of the boxing card scheduled for next Wednesday night by Mark Levy, director of the New Mexico A. C., was contained in a six-round exhibition at the Elks' theater last night.

Bob York, who is to fight Al Higgins and Jack Torres, who is to meet Frankie Fowler, staged the exhibition for the regiment of visiting Elks officers. More than 150 members of the lodge saw them and determined to go to the big match next week.

The bout could hardly be called an exhibition. Torres doesn't know what the word "exhibition" means. He is a born fighter. York, however, he is said, was nothing loath to exchange wallop and the only thing that saved Mark Levy from having a pair of badly damaged fighters on his hands was that they were eight-ounce gloves.

York and Torres are training together. Yesterday afternoon they went through the regular stunts at the N. M. A. C. gymnasium, but did not spar in view of their exhibition.

Higgins and Fowler are training together. They went three rounds with yellow gloves last night and York showed his famous left to the stomach, which Higgins had trouble in avoiding. Higgins gave ample evidence of a dormant wallop which he, of course, held in check most of the time. He needed it a little bit once yesterday afternoon and cut Fowler's left cheek open.

The total scores for the nine games played so far in the match are 3,435 to 3,285 in favor of Inman, who leads the American by 150 points.

'REWARD OF THRIFT' IS THRILLING MOVIE

As a structural iron worker, Ned Carney firmly believes in the theory of putting money by for a rainy day. His daughter, Fay, places her little savings in the miniature savings bank, the children have established in school. Among Ned's fellow employees on the big skyscraper are Bill Lafferty and Red Crogan, who spend a large portion of their wages in the corner saloon.

While riding a girder to the seven-fteenth story, Ned slips, his foot catches in the chain and he is hanging head down when Bill, from the top story, sees his terrible predicament, slides down the cable and hauls him back onto the girder to safety.

To Ned and his wife, Ned, are very grateful to Bill and Crogan induces Bill to tell her a hard luck story and secure her assistance. After recovering from his experience, Ned invests his savings in a pretty little cottage. Ned is given a special job in one of the caissons and persuades two of the sand-hogs to start a bank account. During lunch time at the saloon Ned knocks Bill down, in reply to an insulting remark.

That afternoon Ned goes down into the caisson alone and Crogan prevails upon Bill to take revenge on Ned by cheating off the air pressure, overcoming the man below and allowing water to pour into the caisson. Ned has a very narrow escape from drowning, but is rescued in the nick of time by the sand-hogs. He refuses to "squawk" on Bill, who, in gratitude, promises to reform, swears off drinking and begins to save his money. Crogan, who will not listen, goes from bad to worse, is arrested for attempted forgery and imprisoned. Five years later, Ned and Bill, now partners and strong friends, have a prosperous business of their own, as a reward of their combined thrift.

"The Reward of Thrift," of which the foregoing is a summary, will be seen at the Crystal theater today and tomorrow, with matinees at 2:30 and 7:30, and night shows at 7:30, 9:15 and 9:45.

Accident to Wedding Party at Grants Explained; Pablo Gallegos, Father of Bride, Made Fatal Mistake.

The tragic ending of the bridal party at Grants Wednesday morning was due to the fact that Pablo Gallegos—not Apodaca—mistook Santa Fe train No. 9, the fast mail train, for a freight and thought he could drive over the crossing before the train reached it.

Gallegos, who was driving, shouted over his shoulder to his daughter, Manuella, who had been married to Alfred Trujillo, of Winslow, Ariz., the day before, that the train was a freight and whipped his horses. They were on the track when No. 9's engine struck them, killing the animals and tearing off the front part of the wagon.

Wedding Big Affair.

The body of Gallegos was found flattened against the front end of the boiler when the train was stopped. His skull was fractured so badly that the brain was exposed. The horses were thrown on one side of the track and the young bride and groom on the other.

Details of the accident, which were unobtainable Thursday, but which were received yesterday, gave the name of the man as Gallegos, and not Apodaca, as first reports indicated. He was 62 years old. He formerly lived at Seboyeta.

Mrs. Trujillo was his youngest daughter. The wedding was an elaborate affair. Ramos Brothers' five-piece orchestra having been brought to San Rafael. The festivities and merry-making were still in progress at the Gallegos home when the party left for the Grants station to take train No. 10 for this city, where the young couple intended to spend their honeymoon.

Walton, exalted ruler of the Albuquerque lodge, and the three visitors—Raymond Benjamin, grand exalted ruler; P. C. Robinson, grand secretary; and J. R. Nichols, chairman of the board of grand trustees—spoke.

The appointment of M. E. Hickey as district deputy for New Mexico was announced by Mr. Benjamin.

The chief entertainment was a six-round boxing exhibition between Jack Torres and Bob York, staged by Mark Levy, director of the New Mexico Athletic club.

A buffet lunch was served.

CARNEGIE COMPANY TO REDUCE WAGES

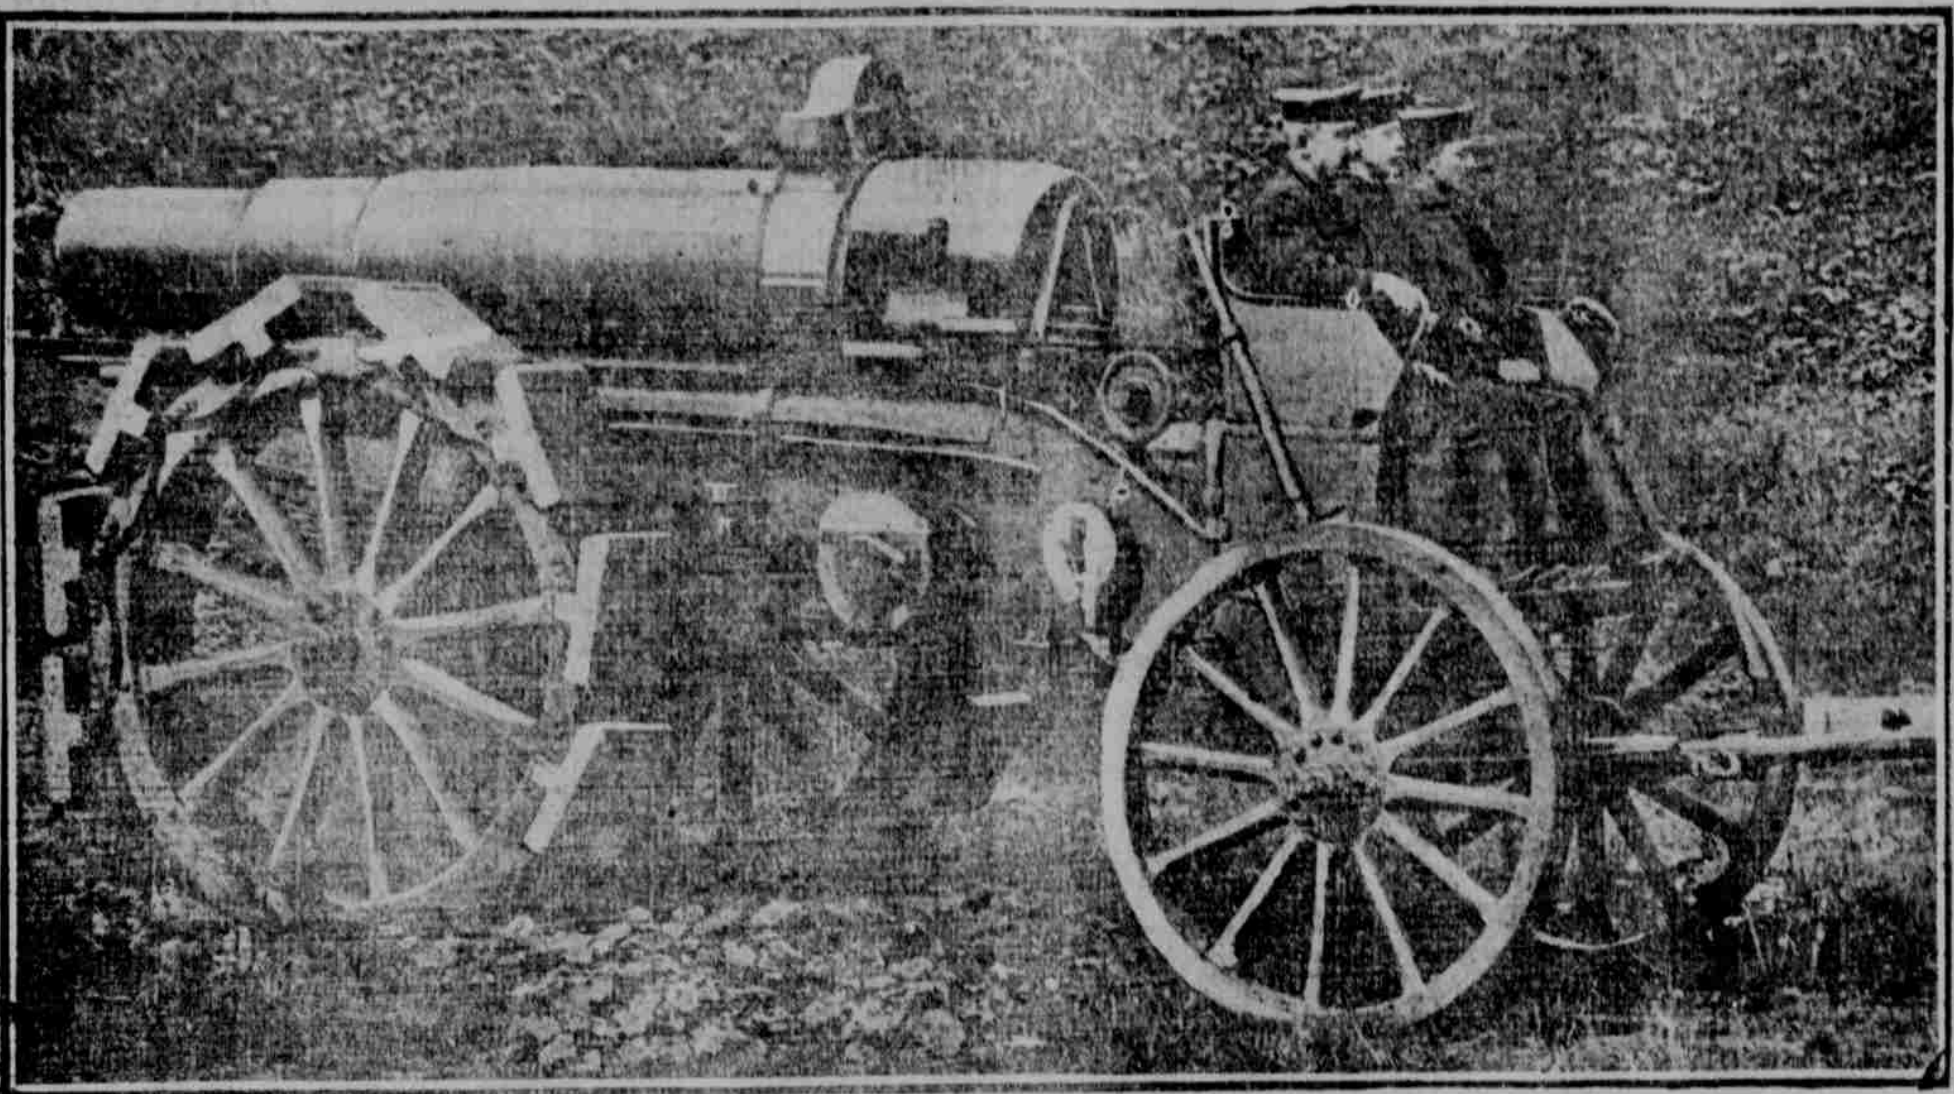

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Pittsburgh, Oct. 2.—Notices were posted in the offices of the Carnegie Steel company in the Pittsburgh district today that the company desired to terminate the wage agreement which has been in effect fifteen years. A. C. Dinkley, president of the Carnegie company, which is a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, said tonight that the company desired to prepare for a probable readjustment of the wage scale. He said there had been a depression in the steel business on account of the European war and that the company would be better able to deal with its perplexities if not restricted by the present agreement.

"It was intimated by Mr. Dinkley that any change in the wage scale would be for a short period and dependent wholly on business conditions."

The town was demolished as a result. The report said:

"From headquarters General Von Scherling reported to the emperor that a field hospital at Orches, in the north of France, was attacked by snipers on September 23. A punitive expedition consisting of superior forces and sent to retreat, leaving thirty-five wounded. On the following day the Bavarian troops met no enemy and found Orches deserted, but found no one."

Although the vessels previously sailed under British, German or Belgian flags, they were really American-owned and had foreign registry only because they were foreign-built.

There twenty wounded Germans, left the day before, horribly mutilated. Their arms and legs were cut off and they were suffocated by inserting bayonets into their mouths and noses. Corpses of the wounded were taken to the hospital by two French trucks. Orches then was demolished."

Here part of the wireless message was notified in transmission but the embassy statement said in substance it declared that according to the Avanti of Milan, the Paris Matin, had reported in regard to the capture of German prisoners that they should be shown no pity "if they fall into our hands, those notorious criminals, against human law of whom Wilhelm probably formed his bodyguard, who are worth being butchered like pigs."

As to military operations the dispatch said:

"On September 20, decision as to the gigantic battle still hangs in the air. The French attacks from Verdun and Toul were repulsed. The siege of Antwerp is progressing. Two forts already have been captured. Meudon had been captured. In the battle around Meudon strict orders were given not to bombard the town."

ANTWERP MADE UNPLEASANT FOR ALL FOREIGNERS

Every Person With German Name Is Suspected of Being a Spy and Is Arrested or Forced to Leave Country.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Brussels, Oct. 2.—Antwerp has been made decidedly uncomfortable for those who cannot establish Belgian nationality beyond dispute, if one may believe the stories of a refugee, who with his family fled here from the temporary Belgian capital today.

The stories told by the refugee are that German residents in Antwerp have been ordered to leave the city within twenty-four hours. The order was issued by the Belgian government, who have been accused of being a German spy and his life has been threatened."

The man from Antwerp related the case of a German who, he said, had obtained the rights of residence in Belgium and whose wife was an American woman. The German, who has large business interests in Antwerp, was ordered to leave the city within twenty-four hours. His son, a Belgian, twenty-third artillery, was a volunteer at the same time. He was armed and taken to Brussels as a prisoner, against the protests of his American mother. The father appealed to Mr. Diederich to obtain the release of his son, but failed as the military authorities declared they were afraid to act. The matter was then taken direct to King Albert, who directed the commander of Antwerp to set the boy free. The family then left the city."

GASOLINE TAX IS CUT; AUTOMOBILE BURDEN HEAVIER

Checks, Drafts and Certificates of Deposit to Assist in Paying Expenses of U. S. Government.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Washington, Oct. 2.—Reduction of the proposed tax on gasoline in the war revenue bill from two cents to one cent a gallon, and the imposition of a tax of fifty cents per horsepower on automobile sales, were agreed to today by the members of the senate finance committee. They plan to complete their revision of the house bill by tomorrow night. The committee did not reach the bank tax in its deliberations today, but will have before it tomorrow a subcommittee recommendation that the proposed tax of $2 a thousand on bank capital and surplus be eliminated and that there be substituted a stamp tax on checks, drafts, certificates of deposit and other negotiable paper.

The tax on checks, drafts, etc., would be two cents and on certificates of deposit, etc., two cents for each $100. From this it is estimated the revenue would be about $10,000,000 a year. It was also agreed to retain the proposed tax of fifty cents a barrel on beer in the house bill, with the understanding, however, that a further increase of 25 cents might be made should the committee find it necessary to raise more revenue after it had completed the consideration of all sections of the bill.

The proposed tax of twenty cents a gallon on sweet domestic wines and 12 cents on dry wines, the committee agreed to revise, retaining the house rate on sweet wines but reducing the dry wine tax to eight cents. This was on recommendation of the treasury department.

"The town was demolished as a result. The report said:

On the Battle Front (via Paris, Oct. 2, 9:15 a. m.)—A thrill was in the air all about the extended allied lines today. The French and British troops, who have been over a fortnight in the closest contact with the Germans, felt they had accomplished their hard task of preventing the Germans from breaking through the human barrier erected between them and Paris, their main objective, and that this meant eventual victory for the allies.

WHY WE SUPPORT THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Editor Journal:
Will you kindly state in your paper what side of the fence
you are on?

As we have noted heretofore
that you have a republican paper
and stay to the republican party,
now will you kindly state what is your idea for changing from the party and keep knocking the candidates that the republican party has up for nomination in this coming election?

Yours respectfully,
REPUBLICAN VOTER
AND SUBSCRIBER.

The above question has been asked
and fully answered many times.

The Journal believes in the republican principle of protection for American industries, as against the products of the cheap labor of foreign countries.

But more important to the voters
and taxpayers of New Mexico is efficient and honest government in county and state.

Under territorial control a republican machine was built up and managed by men who used their power dishonestly, in most instances, and practically always with reckless disregard for the welfare of the people.

Taxes were levied for the purpose of rewarding this man or punishing that; school and road taxes were collected and dissipated for the promotion of political ends—rarely for the education of the county children or for the construction of roads.

Men were nominated for county and state offices without regard to fitness, and it appeared at one time
as though a criminal record was a pre-requisite to secure a republican nomination.

The courts, in some localities, were used to abet political bosses and the justice of a case was the last thing thought of. Innocent men were punished and guilty men allowed to go free.

Elections were bought or built dosed or stolen outright. There are not hearsay statements, but fully verified through congressional investigations.

A fight was begun some years ago to and such conditions. The machine was partly smashed in the first state election, but not sufficiently to put it out of working order. It nominated a good man for congress in 1912, but retained its grip on the organization.
It was defeated again.

This year it nominated B. C. Hernandez for congress, well knowing that he was not qualified in any respect to creditably represent New Mexico at Washington. It also knew that his record as treasurer of Rio Arriba county was such as should bar
him from nomination for any office or to involve any republican from voting for him, should he be placed upon the ticket.

The republican party cannot know
in New Mexico as long as it is controlled by such influences. It is the duty of all republicans who have the good of the party at heart, or who wish to see the state prosper, to vote
the democratic ticket until conditions change.

The following from the republican Philadelphia Public Ledger regarding conditions in Pennsylvania, expresses the Journal's position exactly:

"Voters who call themselves republicans, who support a corrupt organization in preference to voting for a clean democrat, display a partisanship totally inconsistent with the highest type of citizenship."

Virginia will be "dry" after January 1, 1915, but the distillers will be where the Webb law is not enforced.

PRACTICAL TEACHING.

United States Commissioner of Education F. P. Clayton, whom the people of New Mexico remember as well as the principal speaker at the meeting of the State Teachers' association here last year, has been urging that country schools shall be maintained in the summer, as well as in the fall, winter and spring months.

He wanted to keep school all summer to work out those ideas. It was irregular, the school directors said, because school never had been kept
all summer and the boys were needed at home.

But the directors were talked around, for Shepard was a persistent sort of person, and twenty-nine boys of the district were told that the school would be something out of the ordinary.

When the summer term "look up,"
each boy was required to rent from his father or a neighbor a half acre of ground and plant whatever he wanted to, under the advice of Mr.
Shepard. The business connected with this farming the boys had to do themselves. There was to be no hiring of help. There was to be no regular, procure the seed, sell the produce and bank the money. The teacher was kept quite busy hurrying from one place to another where the farm operations were being carried on.

The result was that the boys banked
about seven hundred dollars,
while the total profits were above
two thousand. Here was real education and a good proof and example that not all knowledge comes out of books. Here was practical bookkeeping, practical banking, practical farming—and practical teaching.

The best teacher is the one who inspires the pupil with an interest in the subject, and then shows how as well as tells how. In teachers, as well as in other human beings, the thing that counts most is personality.

Still it is Mr. Ely's contention that Hon. W. H. Andrews is the republican candidate for congress, notwithstanding the action of the convention at Santa Fe in naming one B. C. Hernandez for standard bearer. There is nothing to which Mr. Ely can point with pride in Mr. Hernandez's record.

WHO'S RUNNING.

Characteristic of Chairman Ralph
C. Ely is a communication from that gentleman recently published in the Las Vegas Optic in which Mr. Ely condemns the people of Las Vegas
on account of their failure so far to secure a new federal building, reminding them of the work of former Delegate W. H. Andrews in getting the present postoffice for Albuquerque and arguing the unfitness of Congressman H. B. Ferguson on account of his failure to get an appropriation to pave the streets alongside the federal building here.

If Mr. Ely were as well versed in matters of governmental policy as he is in political mail-order methods, he would know that under no circumstances does the United States government appropriate money for erecting in front of its buildings. Having erected the building, it looks to the city to bear the small burden of furnishing a suitable approach to it,
and the republican chairman can not cite a single instance where paying has been done at the expense of the government under such circumstances.

If Mr. Ely were as sincere as the voters have a right to expect him to be he would not attempt to conceal the unfitness of his candidate for congress by laudatory references to the achievements of Mr. Andrews. It is all right for Mr. Ely to conduct a mail-order campaign in behalf of Mr.
Hernandez if that sort of thing appeals to him, but he should at least show that the goods come up to sample. Mr. Hernandez is not running on his record, but rather appears to be running away from it. As much as his campaign manager may endeavor to obscure the fact, it is he, and not
Mr. Andrews, who is making the race for congress on the republican ticket.

And while on the subject it is not amiss to call attention to the fact that Chairman Ely has not as yet replied to some decidedly pointed and entirely relevant questions recently propounded to him by Chairman Cat-tina of the progressive state committee. To refresh Mr. Ely's memory the questions are herewith reproduced.
They are as follows:

"1. Is it the duty of a county official to protect his friends?"
"2. Is it his duty to get even with his enemies?"
"3. When the governor sent the traveling auditor to examine Mr.
Hernandez's accounts, was he committing an act of 'partisan political activity'?"

"4. Aside from his not being a 'criminal' has Mr. Hernandez any qualifications which should induce any one to vote for him for congress,
and if so, what are they?"

The Fighting Men of Germany

Since this war began much has been heard of Germany's military regulation and much misinformation has been disseminated. Military service in Germany is compulsory. Liability begins at the age of 17 and ends at the age of 45, but actual service begins at 20. There are no exceptions to the rule, no ways to dodge duty except by leaving the country. The rigorous law applies to all, rich and poor, aristocratic and laborer.

The term of compulsory service in the German army is seven years in the first line, or active army; two of these in the ranks and five in the reserves, except in the cavalry and horse artillery, where the periods are three and four years. During this reserve service the soldier is regarded as belonging to his corps and joins it twice in the five (or four) year period
for six weeks of training.

After being in the first line army
the German soldier passes into the landwehr or second line army. He serves five years in the infantry, or three years for cavalrymen and horse artillerymen, in the first ban of the landwehr. Infantrymen are called out for training twice in this period,
each time for eight or fourteen days.

The German army in normal times consists of twenty-six army corps of about 43,000 men each, as well as an independent cavalry, a total of about 1,250,000 combatants. Besides this vast army is the landwehr of 600,000, bringing the total mobile force of Germany, which was ready for instant service, up to 1,850,000 men. In addition there are, according to some computations, about 1,500,000 men, wholly or partially trained, to supply the needs of war. These figures do not include garrison units nor any part of the landsturm. Estimates of the total possible German hosts range from 4,000,000 to 5,500,000.

German Novelist in Arms Tells Why He Had to Order Civilians Shot

(New York Times.)

A letter written from the field by Paul Oskar Hoeker, one of the leading German novelists, who is serving as a captain of the landwehr in Belgium,
gives a vivid description of the searching and shooting of Belgian civilians at Hoeker's own order, when they were found to be in the possession of weapons. The letter, which appears in the Berliner Lokal-Anzeiger of August 27, reads as follows:

"Our assignment is heavy and grievous. We are not yet to get into the first line—we do not even know where the first line is—we are not yet to fight with honorable foes in the field.
But we are to clear the territory of the Meuse of snipers. Each day shots are fired from cover upon our troops
as they pass, especially upon small groups, couriers, cycle officers and military messengers. So at last it is a question of dealing sharply. A clear and energetic proclamation has warned the inhabitants of all Belgian territory so far occupied by us to deliver over to us all weapons, ammunition and explosives in the next few hours.

"My men know what is expected of them. We do not wish to act like barbarians; but we must act with all rigor. I shall give the proprietor of every estate I search for arms a last chance to hand over to me the weapons he has concealed. If he declares that he has none, and if such are found in his place, he must be shot on the spot. Houses from which attacks are made, or in which opposition is encountered in our search, will be burned down immediately.

"Forward, with a heavy heart. On the right lies neutral territory, near Moresnet, in which 'Das Heiratsdorf,'
the pretty novel by Nanny Lambrecht, has its scene. On the right begins the road to Liege, on which snipers have caused much annoyance. Not far from Moresnet lie several country estates. Jungbush, Roof and two other buildings. To these I send my four officers, each with a search party,
while I ride with the first division toward Junclosh.

"A red, white, and black flag waves from the lindens tree in front of the house. No human life in this part is without a German flag. Just as we open the gate a young fellow makes a break for the nearby woods. I give chase, but the white thorn bushes,
high as a man's shoulders, make pursuit impossible.

"A woman appears in answer to our shout. Is she alone in the house?
Alone? No; she has a daughter of 15 years with her. No one else? Hesitatingly she adds, yes, her husband is at home, too. The guardsmen dart into the house and fetch him. The lieutenant has the guns put in readiness; the civilians are forced into line up in front of the fence of the vegetable garden, and I warn the occupants of the house as earnestly as I can to deliver over all the weapons they have in their home. The old man swears he never owned a weapon. His son, he says, has been away from home for several days. Did the son own a gun?
All three raise their hands and swear,
no. He was a peace-loving fellow;
never had a weapon in his hand. But many shots have been fired on troops from this neighborhood. We must search the house from top to bottom.

"A last word of warning. 'You know, monsieur, that every civilian who is still found in possession of weapons must be shot forthwith.'
They answered: 'We have no weapons!'

"My men divide into groups and search cellar, livingrooms, barn and stable, and ransack the garden and surrounding green for traces of fresh digging. The three there in front of my guardsmen with the upraised gun meet my gaze unflinchingly.

"Who was the fellow who escaped just as we came in, monsieur? I ask.
'Have you, in this last moment, a confession to make to me?'

"The old man clasps his hands: 'No, monsieur officer, as a man of 72
years, I swear to you—'

"And then the horrible happens. A guardman and a sergeant drag a young fellow out of the house. They have found him hiding in the straw on the ground floor. He had a Belgian gun in his hands, loaded with five cartridges.

"From the attic window he may have aimed that gun at many an honored German's head or chest. The young fellow had been forced to raise his hands. He stands there trembling, pale as cheese.

"Who is this young fellow? I ask the old man.

"All three have fallen upon their knees, as a thunderbolt might have struck them, and are raising loud lamentations. The woman screams:
'He is my son! For God's sake,
you do not mean to take his life!'

"And the 15-year-old girl is howling

Landwehr cavalry and horse artillery
are not called out in time of peace.
The soldier then is passed into the second ban of the landwehr until he reaches his fortieth year. There is no training during this period of service.

At 46 the German soldier is not through. He goes then into the landsturm, or third reserve body, in which he is liable for military duty until he is 45 years old. In ordinary times the landsturm is strictly a home defense body, but in this war the Kaiser finally called out the landsturm for active duty. After 45 the German soldier is exempt from mobilization, but many Germans past 45 joined the colors at the beginning of the great conflagration.

made for him, and he only accepts the guidance of Providence. Backwoods boy, rail-splitter, store-keeper, country lawyer, politician, president
—the stages come so naturally that one forgets the human effort. The gods seem to be preparing the one man for the appointed hour.

The greatness of Lincoln as president lay in his clear perception of one essential truth—that in the interests of posterity the union must be maintained. Amid a throng of distracting side questions, he never lost sight of the main issue. It takes a very real intellectual greatness to stake everything upon an abstract truth. The tenderest-hearted of men had to wage a bloody and relentless war. The least dramatic of statesmen had to hold fast by one dogma, and shut his eyes to difficulties.

Above all, he did not "look too good, nor talk too wise." The author of the most exalted speeches in English oratory since Burke transacted
the ordinary business of life in language of a home-spun simplicity. His humor at once endeared him to his people and allowed him to "keep the common touch" in the terrible mysteries of high policy and war. It refreshed him to put a difficulty into homely idioms and illustrate it with a country tale.

A REAL POEM ON THE WAR.
For felicity of phrase and seemingly effortless but powerful expression of the feeling it is destined to convey, John Masfield's "August, 1914," published in the English Review is not only the best of all the English poems thus far inspired by the war, but is one of the English poems to be treasured for all time by the anthologists. It is Masfield's poem, and not another man's, and in its verses
the trumpet does not blow, the drums do not beat. The poet looks on a quiet cornfield in Berkshire as the evening
falls, and reflects:

"The sheep bells in the fold
Stumble on sudden music and are still:
The harvest is ripe for gathering but the moonlight runs
Over the grasses of the ancient way,
Fluttered this morning by the passing guns.

Through the generations men who have tilted these farms have heard the rumors and alarms of war, and comprehend what the message meant.

Then sadly rose and left the well-loved Downs
And so, by ship to sea, and knew
no more
The fields of home, the byres, the market towns,
Nor the dear outline of the English
shore.

EXPORTATION OF BREADSTUFFS IS RECORD-BREAKER

Wheat Prices Continue to Sag, However, Because of Large Visible Supply and Decreasing Speculation.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Notwithstanding that breadstuffs exports for the week from Atlantic ports were the greatest on record, the price of wheat today continues to fall. Lack of speculative buying counted heavily against values. The market closed nervous, 1/4 to 1/8c under last night. Corn finished 1/4 to 1/8c down; oats, 1/4 up, and provisions off 1/16 to 1/8c.

Nearly 10,000,000 bushels of wheat, it was announced today, left for Europe this week, a total of almost 4,000,000 bushels larger than for the corresponding time a year ago. This was mainly responsible for lifting the market temporarily 1/2c above yesterday's close but depression which had prevailed earlier set in again, and near the end of the day there was virtually no buying except from shorts.

Corn followed the action of wheat. Clear, cool weather tended to favor the bear side, and so also did the slowness of cash demand. Assertions that 1,000,000 bushels of oats has been sold here for export had the same effect on the market in the face of the weakness of other grain.

Provisions sagged under realizing by packers. It seemed to be a case where better prices for hogs gave an advantageous chance to unload.

Closing prices:

Wheat—Dec., $1.05 1/2; May, $1.11 1/2.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 2.—Two government reports supplied the features of the cotton exchange today. The census giving figures appeared showing 3,351,863 bales ginned to September 24, or 155,208 bales more than a year ago and within 300,000 bales of the big 1911 crop. In view of conditions these figures appeared surprisingly large to the trade here. The crop report at noon made the condition 73.5, against 78 last month and a ten-year average of 68.5. On the big acreage planted it suggested a yield of 15,500,000 bales, excluding linters, which closely approximates the record crop of 1911-12. No official announcements were issued during the day, but an early report by the cotton committee in expectation which members are still hopeful will solve the problem of the Liverpool straddle account.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 2.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

The abnormal business conditions created by the war continue and caution and retrenchment still halt enterprise, yet there is a significant growth of confidence. Several factors contribute to this situation. Undoubtedly the improvement in the financial markets is slow, but it is steady, and the measures taken to permit limited

WANTED: A Bright Young Man

A long established and reputable house—40 years in business—has an opening in this city for a resident representative. His time will be largely his own; his work is pleasant and agreeable; his profit averages more than 33 1/2% on the business done, and previous experience is not essential. This is an ideal opportunity for a young man of good appearance, wide circle of acquaintance, and a genuine desire to make good in a profitable field of work. The earliest reply will receive first consideration.

dealings in securities under stringent regulations make at least the partial opening of the London and New York exchange a nearer possibility.

Another factor is the active export movement of grain.

Failures for the week in the United States were 415 against 254 last year, and in Canada, 60 against 53 last year. Bank exchanges were $2,151,488,000, a decrease of 22.3 per cent from a year ago.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

Boston, Oct. 2.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

Another week of comparative inactivity is reported in the wool trade this week, although prices have been held fairly steady. There is a disposition shown all around to wait for the opening of the London sales on Tuesday, although the trend of prices there seems to be fairly well discounted already.

The mill situation appears to have changed very little in the week.

COPPER PRODUCERS WANT PROTECTION

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)

Washington, Oct. 2.—Producers and dealers in unwrought copper flooded the state department today with inquiries as to the attitude of the United States government toward Great Britain's classification of the product as conditional contraband of war. No statement of policy will be forthcoming, however, until Ambassador Page forwards from London the statement of facts on which the British government relies for its division of copper shipments from Rotterdam to Plymouth. Several large copper producers have asked the state department to procure the same treatment for shipments of copper to Holland that has been granted to foodstuffs consigned to that country. They suggest that the Netherlands government buy such copper as it needed in that country and guarantee that none of it gets across the border to Germany.

Secretary Bryan will not give the plan his approval until he hears from London.

What Would You Do?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions, and motives. Men do not differ in different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers.

Democratic leaders here learned last night that Secretary Lane would pass through here soon on the way to the Pacific coast on a speaking tour. They will make an effort to induce him to stop here to deliver an address.

The county teachers' guild club will meet for rehearsal in the auditorium of the high school this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Music for the entertainment to be given during the educational convention next month has been received and a full attendance of the members is specially urged.

Deputy Sheriff Querino Coulter and George Baca left yesterday for Valencia county in an attempt to find a horse owned by John Strong. Baca said he traded the horse for another at Valencia and sold the second horse at Sahuar. Under Sheriff Dick Lewis expects them to return tonight.

500 YOUNG MEN AND BOYS WILL DRAW 'Y' FLOAT

Arrangements Made for Demonstration in State Fair Parade Before Motion Picture Camera.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting at the Commercial club last night planned a float to be drawn by 500 young men and boys for the parade next Thursday, A. H. Strong suggested the plan. The meeting received it with delight and completed arrangements at once.

The float will carry the inscription: "We will pull it through."

R. E. Putney, one of the active leaders of the Y. M. C. A. movement, and C. O. Cushman, president of the Commercial club, will lead the procession of men who will pull at the ropes, drawing the wagon. Hope was expressed that 500 men and boys would take part. Practically every one who was present signed a pledge to do so. This made the number 125.

Mr. Cushman announced that the Pathe Weekly photographer would be here state fair week and would "film" the parade. Committeemen, after the meeting, said the advertising value of this "stunt" to the city would be largely in proportion to the number of men at the ropes. For this reason, as well as the interest of the Y. M. C. A., the committee is anxious that a large number assist.

To Distribute Buttons at Fair.

About 150 were present at the meeting. M. L. Fox, C. A. Lenoir, secretary of the Las Vegas Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Seaman, traveling secretary of the Y. M. C. A., spoke.

R. L. Gross was elected president and R. H. Gross secretary of the city squad, whose purpose is to recruit members in the city. Like organizations have been perfected for the Santa Fe shops, the University of New Mexico and the high school.

A committee of nine from each squad will report at the Commercial club next Thursday morning for buttons, bearing the "Y-M-C-A" slogan, to be pinned on every body at the state fair grounds. The buttons were ordered from a Los Angeles firm several days ago and the first shipment is expected before Thursday.

INTERESTING NUMBER OF HERALD OF WELL COUNTRY IS ON SALE

The second issue of the Herald of the Well Country, the new health magazine, is off the press and in the newsstands today. It is larger and more general than the first number which appeared in September and contains a large number of interesting features.

What will probably attract the greatest attention is an article entitled "An Amazing Epistle," which has appended to it a communication from California wherein the tuberculars in general are severely arraigned by a woman who is evidently a fanatic upon the subject she has chosen.

"Indicating the Spitter," "Love, Marriage and T. B.," together with John Harper's poem, "The Exile," and an answer to it by an unknown author form some of the features of the magazine which is embellished with some illustrations this month.

BIG PURCHASE OF COTTON MADE BY ANHEUSER-BUSCH

Brewing Company Goes in Strong on Buy-a-Bale Movement and Will Give Profits to Red Cross Society.

A gentle wind-whisked a slip of paper from the desk of General Manager W. F. Saunders in the Business Men's league late yesterday afternoon, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of recent date, and when a newspaper man picked it up he found it was a check for $100,000. The check, which was drawn on the St. Louis Union Trust company, was made payable to the Buy-a-Bale committee of St. Louis and was signed by Robert Holm, treasurer of Anheuser-Busch Brewing association.

A. L. Shapleigh met by invitation with the directors of the brewing association yesterday to present the plea of the Buy-a-Bale committee. When he left the directors' meeting he bore the following letter, addressed to himself:

"At a meeting of the board of directors called today for the purpose of considering the buy-a-bale-of-cotton movement, it was unanimously resolved that this association purchase, and you are authorized to purchase immediately on behalf of this association, $100,000 worth of cotton at the current market price.

Profits Go to Charity.

"Our directors also decided any desire to make any profit for the association out of the purchase of this cotton, and we authorize you to apply any profits that may arise from this purchase to the work of the National Red Cross association.

"It gives us pleasure to co-operate in this excellent movement for the relief of the southern states in the present cotton-marketing crisis, and we sincerely hope you will receive the liberal support of the large industries throughout the United States, to whom the stability of all the southern trade is so vital.

"We hereby inclose our check for $100,000.

"Very truly yours,

ANHEUSER-BUSCH BREWING ASSOCIATION.

"EDWARD A. FAUST, Acting President."

The directors suggested to Shapleigh that it would be fair to buy half of the bales from Texas planters and the remaining half in the other cotton states.

Ford Asked to Subscribe.

The Buy-a-Bale committee immediately telegraphed to Henry Ford, multimillionaire motor car maker of Detroit, and to Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Montgomery Ward & Co., of Chicago, urging them to subscribe to the Buy-a-Bale movement and to make similar subscriptions and to start buy-a-bale movements among the great corporations in their cities.

The Anheuser-Busch investments in Texas are extensive. The $3,000,000 Hotel Adolphus in Dallas is considered by many travelers the finest hotel in the south, while a $2,000,000 office building under the same ownership in Dallas is the largest structure of its kind in the cotton belt. There are also Anheuser-Busch breweries in San Antonio and Houston.

The committee received a check for one bale from Bennett Raymond, Cherryvale, Kan., and also a check from S. H. Cron, Poplar Bluff, Mo. Orders for one bale each also were received from Norris B. Gregg, William H. Greff, Jr., E. H. Dyer and George A. Mahan. Two bales each were ordered by the Peterson and Fell Boarding and Commissary company and the Mount City Paint and Color company. Five bales apiece were subscribed for by Felix Lowry and W. J. Kinsella.

PATHE FRERES MAY SEND OPERATOR HERE TO FILM THE FAIR

Negotiations between C. O. Cushman, president of the Commercial club, and E. B. Steene, the Pathe Freres representative at New Orleans, are progressing rapidly and closed yesterday for "filming" the trades parade here next Thursday for the Pathe Weekly.

Mr. Cushman exchanged several telegrams with Steene and W. J. Black, traffic manager of the Santa Fe railway, yesterday with the results that a photographer will probably come here. Mr. Black sent Mr. Cushman a telegram, saying he had instructed the Santa Fe's agent at New Orleans to see Steene and do everything possible to get him to send a motion picture operator here.

The New Mexico board of managers of the San Diego exposition also will have its photographer take pictures of the fair to be shown at the San Diego fair. The board's operator will be here the entire week. He will spend part of the time taking pictures of the rural schools.

MARTINEZ JURY INSTRUCTED BY JUDGE RAYNOLDS

Testimony That Late Husband of Plaintiff Did Not Look to See if Train Were Coming Responsible.

Judge H. F. Reynolds, of the district court, brought the Martinez case to an end yesterday afternoon by instructing the jury to find for the defendant Santa Fe Railway company, which Mrs. Petronila Martinez sued for $5,000 because of the death of her husband.

The end came when the plaintiff completed her evidence. Judge Reynolds then held that her husband had not taken due precaution in crossing the Santa Fe track near the Mausard mill. The man was old, slightly deaf and, according to the testimony, did not look to see whether a train was approaching when he stepped upon the track.

Martinez was struck by a freight train. The accident occurred several years ago. The trial of the case, brought by the widow, was begun Thursday afternoon.

Court was adjourned until October 12 on account of the state fair.

FIGHT FOR LIQUOR PERMIT FOR STATE FAIR GROUNDS

M. E. Reynaud yesterday applied to the district court for an injunction restraining the county commissioners from revoking the transfer of his license from his saloon in the north part of the city to Tracton park for next week. The commissioners recently gave Reynaud right to make the transfer for the week, but were said to be contemplating annulling the order. The commissioners were ordered to show cause at 9 o'clock this morning why a permanent injunction should not issue against them.

A motion to appeal in the King will case was granted. Mrs. M. E. Gross, an aunt of Lewis H. King, the testator, and A. B. Stroup, former administrator, are the appellants.
