VILLA PLEDGES LOYAL SUPPORT TO CONVENTION. WAR IS ENDED

Wild Scenes Occur When Northern Leader Makes a Speech, Writes Name on and Kisses Flag of Mexico.

CARRANZA ALONE IS BARRED BY GENERAL

No Further Hostilities Expected, Declares American Consular Agent Carothers in Report to State Department.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—General Villa has informed the United States government that unless something unforeseen occurs, hostilities in Mexico are at an end and that he will support any provisional government set up by the national convention at Aguascalientes.

Villa said he would not accept Carranza as provisional president, but was satisfied he would not be chosen. The general understanding on all sides has been that Carranza does not desire to be provisional president, but wishing to be free to enter the presidential race in the succeeding election.

Villa Visits Convention.
The latest official reports to the state department describe in detail the visit last Saturday of General Villa to the convention at Aguascalientes. When the commander of the division of the north arrived, suspicions were awakened as to his purpose, but when he addressed the convention all doubt was removed. General Villa said he came to pledge his support to the acts of the convention and to take the oath and that he wanted to go on record as having no doubts as to the legitimacy of the convention. He was received with storms of applause. Later he embraced General Obregon, over whom Villa's break with Carranza occurred recently.

As the two generals greeted each other the convention went wild with joy. General Villareal, chairman of the convention, made a speech, saying the country owed a debt of gratitude to General Villa's military achievements, but that they were as nothing compared to his patriotism. Then General Villa wrote his name on the Mexican flag and did all the other delegates and kissed the banner, pledging again amid a storm of applause to abide by the decisions of the convention. Villa departed soon afterwards for Guadalupe, saying that he did not desire his presence in Aguascalientes to be misunderstood.

Pledges Complete Loyalty.
To American Consular Agent Carothers, who accompanied him, General Villa stated emphatically that he would support any choice of the convention, except Carranza, and that he thought permanent peace in Mexico was now in sight. Mr. Carothers reported that the fighting general's visit had produced a profound impression on the delegates. Villa's statement that he would support any man chosen is taken to mean that he has withdrawn his original demand that no military leader be given the provisional presidency and the prevalent belief here is that Gen. Antonio Villareal will be selected.

CONSULAR HEADQUARTERS ESTABLISHED AT EL PASO

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 19.—Headquarters in the United States of the United States government, as headed by General Carranza, will be established soon at El Paso, it was announced officially today. Rafael E. Manizales, who has been acting as consul here, has been appointed consul general to the United States in the dual capacity of an American newspaperman. This bureau also will be located here.

Execution "without further investigation" has been promised all those arrested in Juarez for espionage, according to a printed announcement made today by Maj. M. S. Tepete, the Villa American commander of the Mexican town opposite this port. He declared that several persons had been visiting Juarez to secure information for "the enemy." Exactly what faction he included in that term he did not say. All awaited tonight the opening tomorrow of the Carranza-Villa conciliation conference at Aguascalientes after its recess of several days. No military activity was reported from central Mexico.

MORE WOUNDED ARE BROUGHT INTO DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 19.—Forty-eight more wounded Mexicans from the Naco, Sonora, siege were brought here tonight. This makes a total of 24 patients in the temporary hospital maintained by the Carranza government here under a special order from the war department authorizing the reception of the Naco wounded, those seriously hurt are admitted, others being returned to Naco.

The lack of medical facilities in the besieged town and the danger of execution of the wounded by the Yaqui Indians in case the town falls, are the reasons for the action.

Allegations were made today by the officials of Agua Prieta, Sonora, just across the border, that kidnapping parties of hostile Mexicans have attacked the garrison, coming from Divulville, a suburb of Douglas, eluding the border patrol and returning to the Arizona side before morning.

Colonel Reyes, the Villa commander, continued his sporadic siege of the town.

In addition to the revocation of Huerta concessions recently proclaimed by the Carranza government, it is reported here that a similar proclamation revoking the Huerta concessions will be issued shortly.

MAYTORENA CONTINUES HIS ATTACKS ON HILL

Naco, Ariz., Oct. 19.—A theoretical armistice existing between the Carranza garrison in Naco, Sonora, across the border from here and the besieging Villa force under Governor Maytorena, has so far had little value.

Skirmish fire continues. The Maytorena troops have mounted another field piece to the south of the town where, if ineffective, against the Mexican garrison, it will throw its shells into this town.

Maytorena is reported to have recognized the jurisdiction of the Aguascalientes commission, now on its way here.

PROTECTION FOR EIGHT AMERICAN CITIZENS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) San Diego, Calif., Oct. 19.—With orders to protect the eight Americans supposed to be on board the Mexican steamship Matamoros, the United States steamship Raleigh left here today for Ensenada, Mexico. The Matamoros was commandeered yesterday by the Mexican military authorities to transport artillery from Ensenada to Guaymas. Two of the Americans supposed to be on board the Mexican steamer are passengers, the remaining six being members of a military unit.

The Raleigh is reported to have been ordered to take the Americans to Ensenada, where they will be turned over to the Mexican authorities for protection.

BRANDS DEATH FROM HANGING AS MURDER

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Annapolis, Md., Oct. 19.—Branding the death of Capt. William H. Bowers of Middleburg, Md., from a hanging as a murder, the state court here, on May 6, as a murder, Judge Brashear today urged the grand jury to investigate the tragedy.

The five freshmen who are held responsible for the death of Bowers are George H. Weaver, New York; Henry L. Valdez, of Havana, Cuba; Fendall Marbury, Baltimore; R. A. Jones, Cambridge, Md.; and John M. Noble, Preston, Md.

MORE HUMANE RULES OF WAR ARE PREDICTED

Seizure and Destruction of Merchant Vessels and Planting of Mines to Be Abolished.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—That the European war would start a determined effort to stop forever the capture and destruction of merchant vessels and the planting of mines, was predicted by George C. Holt, of New York, today in an address here before the maritime law association of the United States, of which he is president.

In the Crimean war, he said, France and England allowed Russian ships six weeks to depart from ports unharmed, after the declaration of war; Japan was allowed seven days and Russia two during the Spanish-American war.

"But no sooner was this war declared," he added, "than the universal rapine began." It is reported that Great Britain detained 55 German vessels which were in British ports and Germany detained 75 British vessels in German ports at the outbreak of the war. All neutral ports in all parts of the world are crowded with ships of the belligerents. They lie moored to the wharves; their business is ruined and the commerce of the world is stopped in obedience to that relic of barbarism, the rule of international law that captures and destruction of an enemy's merchant vessels are legitimate in war.

Another matter which almost certainly will become the subject of international consideration, Mr. Holt said, is the protection of fishing vessels and small boats engaged in local trade.

The entire question of the use of mines, the speaker suggested, probably would be considered anew by the nations after the war. Floating mines in the North sea and the Adriatic, he said, had done much more damage to merchant vessels than to warships, and he pointed out that for two years after the war between Russia and Japan, little Chinese junk were blown up in eastern waters by contact with mines.

As a result of Mr. Holt's comment that the great maritime nations had conferred no honor whatever upon William Marconi for perfecting the wireless telegraph, the association elected Mr. Marconi an honorary member.

"At a time when men are receiving every form of honor for their detective work of inventing military instruments of destruction," Mr. Holt said, "it is high time to honor a man whose object had been to save and not destroy human life."

WALL STREET IS IN BETTER FRAME OF MIND THAN FOR SOME TIME

Business Conditions Are Easier, Money Rates Lower and Business Outlook Shows Decided Improvement.

ENCOURAGEMENT FROM VARIOUS SOURCES

Reopening of Hearing on Application for Higher Railroad Rates Augurs Well for Financial Outlook.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) New York, Oct. 19.—Reopening of the eastern freight rate case before the Interstate Commerce commission, the excellent condition of the local banks as disclosed by last week's statement, continued progress in the formation of the gold and cotton pools and an easier tone to foreign exchange, combined to put Wall Street in a more cheerful frame of mind today.

The decline in bills on London, while accompanied by little actual business, was accepted as an augury of further relaxation by foreign holders of our maturing obligations.

Received With Doubt.
There was a revival of recent rumors dealing with the early resumption of business on the local exchange but in conservative quarters this was received with a degree of skepticism.

Regardless of contrary statements the belief persists that this market cannot safely renew operations until London points the way. The presence in this country of a representative of the British exchequer and the approaching termination of the moratorium in England will, it is expected, give rise to interesting developments on this point in the near future.

National Bank Reports.
An abstract of reports made by some 7,500 national banks to the controller of the currency on his recent call, reveals the fact that these institutions hold clearing house certificates aggregating $33,000,000 with an increase in bank notes of about $200,000, while individual deposits are smaller by about $150,000,000. These figures give significance to the steady reduction of loan certificates, now being made at most reserve centers.

Gain in Railroad Tonnage.
A further gain in western merchandise tonnage appears to be due largely to shipments of manufacturers engaged in meeting foreign orders for war materials, the movement, so far as it relates to foodstuffs, showing irregularity. In fact, grain receipts at Chicago were under those of the preceding week if above those of the corresponding period last year.

Money brokers reported a shading of rates for time loans, but only in instances where collateral of the highest grade was offered. Call money was in light request at unchanged rates.

CANADIAN INDIANS OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 19.—Indians in the northern wilds of Canada have been hurt by the war situation in Europe. It was announced today that the dominion government has decided to go to the relief of the Indians to prevent many of them from starving as a consequence of the collapse of their fur industry.

One large company which was buying from the Indians has suspended making purchases and has cut off their customary winter advances of supplies.

HEINZE LOSES IN EFFORT TO SAVE PROPERTY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) New York, Oct. 19.—F. Augustus Heinze lost his battle to have the Ohio Copper Mining company bankruptcy proceedings set aside, when United States Judge Mayer ruled that the federal court here has jurisdiction in the case.

Mr. Heinze claims a large interest in the company and in his recent application for dismissal, declared the corporation's principal offices were in Utah and that the federal court here was without jurisdiction. He set forth also that there was a conspiracy by interests in the company hostile to him and that the conspiracy should not have entered the bankruptcy court.

Referring to this claim, Judge Mayer said today: "I am satisfied that the corporation, acting through its directors, had the power to consent to be adjudicated a bankrupt. * * * It is apparent for various reasons the company could not pay its debts and that the situation was accentuated by the unfortunate condition of the copper market. The present situation is certainly precarious and it probably will be found that the affairs of the company can be worked out only through a court administration as a preliminary step."

FINANCIERS IN CONSULTATION OVER PROSPECT FOR COMMERCE

English Bankers Fail to See Why All American Debts Should Not Be Paid in Gold Promptly.

YELLOW METAL HARD TO GET AT THIS TIME

Much of It Held by Treasury as Security Against Note Issues and Much by Private Individuals.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—The first step toward restoration of normal financial conditions between Great Britain and the United States was taken today at a conference between Sir George Paish, special adviser to the English chancellor of the exchequer, Basil D. Blackett, of the English treasury, Secretary McAdoo and the federal reserve board.

Restoration of normal conditions in foreign exchange dealings between the two countries is the object of several meetings of which this was the first and which will probably have a direct influence upon the disposition of the south's enormous cotton crop.

Cotton Situation Considered.
Although there was no formal discussion today of any plans which may eventually be put forth by the Englishmen or by the reserve board, it became known that the officials of the American government feel keenly that cotton is the crux of a situation which has many ramifications, and that upon the success of plans to care for surplus cotton and upon the willingness of manufacturers in England to resume production of other things, depends the value of Sir George's special visit to America.

To Open London Exchange.
It is probable that before Sir George returns to England the question of a reopening of the London Stock exchange will be considered. It was predicted that the London exchange would reopen shortly, with the British government urging that London brokers should not call loans immediately. If the London market is not greatly affected, its resumption of business may be followed by the New York exchange.

Evolution Hoped For Soon.
So much depends, however, upon the solving of the cotton problem that there probably will be no further consideration until a committee of the board, which is wrestling with the proposed $150,000,000 cotton loan fund plan, has found a solution satisfactory to the board, to the banks and the expected buyers.

Representative Henry Delays Adjournment in Order to Force Relief Measures for Cotton Growers.
Representative Henry, after adjournment today, declared he would insist on a quorum before final disposition of the revenue bill and that he would make another effort to get up his bill for the issuance of $250,000,000 of government bonds for relief of the cotton states.

MINING CONCESSIONS BY HUERTA INVALID

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—Details of the decree of the Carranza government annulling all mining concessions granted, and titles issued by the Huerta government of Mexico have reached the state department through the Brazilian minister in charge of American interests in Mexico.

The decree repeats the declaration of Carranza and fixes the period of time within which all of the Huerta acts are invalidated as from February 19, 1915, to August 15, 1914. It covers all acts issued by the mining agencies of the Mexican republic.

A matter of equity all interested persons are granted sixty days from September 3, to apply for new titles, in default of which the land will be considered as free to appropriation by any interested persons. In all new applications the interested persons are required to deposit $5 to cover the stamp tax for the new title.

English Casualty List.
London, Oct. 19, 1914, p. m.—A casualty list dated October 13 and made public here tonight, gives twelve officers as having been killed and forty wounded in the recent fighting.

would have a hard time getting a few hundred million from the individuals who hold it. These facts probably will be pointed out to the English cabinet.

Will Consult Ministry.
No matter what plan is worked out, it will be necessary for Sir George to return to England for a personal presentation of it to the English cabinet.

It was said tonight that cotton exchanges probably would open shortly if arguments made here availed. One of the difficulties at present is the fact that there are no quotations on which offers can be based.

The question of opening the London and New York stock exchanges probably will be taken up later at a conference with New York bankers. Secretary McAdoo said tonight, "The representatives of leading banking houses in New York will be invited to the conference."

FEDERAL CONTROL IS NECESSARY, SAYS FOLK

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—The weakness of the market in enforcing laws and their turning to the federal government for relief, as shown in the white slave and the pure food acts, were emphasized by Joseph W. Folk, solicitor of the Interstate Commerce commission, in addressing the Association of Attorneys General here today.

The meeting preceded the opening of the annual session of the American Bar association tomorrow.

Other subsidiary organizations which met today were the section on legal education and the associations of maritime and on military law. The commissioners on uniform state laws concluded their conference of several days.

The program of the association on military law was cut short by the decision of several army officers not to read papers in view of President Wilson's recent orders concerning officers commenting on the European war.

COLORADO MILITIA TO BE IMPROVED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Denver, Oct. 19.—In accordance with a plan to bring about a revision of rules and regulations and extend the scope of instruction in the Colorado National Guard, Adj. Gen. John Chase today announced the appointment of a special committee which will begin work at once.

The members of the committee are Captain Edward A. Smith, Captain J. Schults, Lieut. Albert Williams, Lieut. J. H. Nankivill and Lieut. Geo. P. Hopkins.

Another committee for the revision of the hospital corps regulation will also be named in the near future, it was stated.

CONSIDERATION OF WAR REVENUE BILL BLOCKED

Representative Henry Delays Adjournment in Order to Force Relief Measures for Cotton Growers.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Oct. 19.—The tactics in the house delayed progress today on the war revenue bill. Instead of referring the bill to conference as administration leaders had expected, it was sent back to the ways and means committee for consideration of the ninety-eight senate amendments on demand of Representative Henry of Texas, who is insistent that there shall be some cotton relief legislation before congress adjourns.

That action postponed members of the house in a better mood and Representative Fairbairn of Ohio made a point of no quorum and forced the house to adjourn until tomorrow.

Chairman Underwood said the committee would report the bill tomorrow with the recommendation that the house disagree to all the senate amendments.

"What the house will do, I do not know," said he, "but I believe the general temper of the members is to support the bill to conference and get away as soon as possible. Despite this delay we can still adjourn this week if the members of the house will be good. If they insist on discussing amendments and sticking to all the rules we cannot possibly get through for another week."

Representative Henry, after adjournment today, declared he would insist on a quorum before final disposition of the revenue bill and that he would make another effort to get up his bill for the issuance of $250,000,000 of government bonds for relief of the cotton states.

CANAL TO BE OPENED TO TRAFFIC TODAY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Panama, Oct. 19.—The Panama canal will again be opened to traffic tomorrow and the ten merchantmen will be passing through the waterway from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Conditions at the scene of the recent slide north of Gold Hill are reported to be excellent, the channel probably being 150 feet wide with an average depth of thirty-five feet.

The dredging operations are proceeding at the rate of 25,000 cubic yards daily. The earth movements in the Gold Hill district have ceased.

Ships today were being sent through the locks at both ends of the canal in order to facilitate their passage. It is planned to send through the canal in two days twenty-two vessels which are waiting.

CRISIS IN GERMAN EFFORT TO SEIZE FRENCH CHANNEL PORTS COMES WITH HEAVY ENGAGEMENT IN PROGRESS

BRITISH FLEET PARTICIPATES IN BATTLE RAGING ON LAND CLOSE TO COAST OF BELGIUM

Reports So Conflicting That It Is Impossible to Judge of What Is Actually Occurring in Northern France; Fighting Draws Closer and Closer to Shores of England Just Across Narrow Strip of Water; Movement by Both Wings of Kaiser's Forces Predicted; Conflict in Russia Proceeds on Gigantic Scale With Successes Claimed by Both Sides; Teutonic Position Said to Be Improved by Big Reinforcements From Antwerp.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

From the Battle Front (via Paris, Oct. 19, 11:56 p. m.)—King Albert's Belgian army, whose stamina seems unaffected by the privations it has undergone, again fought with the greatest gallantry today alongside the British and French allies near the Belgian coast.

A new element was introduced in the conflict when the British fleet made its presence known by a brisk cannonade of massed German columns which were trying to break down the allies' resistance.

The fighting was very severe along the river Yser, where the Germans sought to gain control of the forts, without success. Further south at La Bassée the struggle which has been in progress several days developed into a house-to-house combat. Both sides displayed the greatest determination and in many cases bayonet duels progressed from one floor to another until the Germans were eventually overcome.

All along La Bassée canal the two opposing forces were fiercely engaged throughout the day. Good railroad connections meet here leading to various centers and the series of coal mines about Lille which the Germans in many instances damaged or destroyed. In the vicinity of Vervelles, near La Bassée, a French three-inch battery destroyed fifteen German machine guns with a rain of shell.

The allies made a slight advance in the neighborhood of Arras and Roye, where for ten days a hard battle has gone on and is still unfinished. Very little has been seen of the German infantry in this locality recently, but their artillery is extremely active in trenches behind complicated barbed wire entanglements.

Summary of War News of Yesterday

British warships and the big guns that laid waste the Antwerp forts contended for mastery yesterday in the German effort to seize the French channel ports for a move against England. Heavy fighting around Dunkirk, between British and French troops, continued today, with the French claiming that the Kaiser's troops had fled from Antwerp and had hurried back to Germany. The capture of Antwerp by the allies was also reported, but not officially confirmed.

The Berlin official statement of the day's fighting along the coast near Dunkirk declared that the inhabitants of that city and Boulogne were fleeing.

The French war office also claimed gains in the fighting between Arras and Roye and near St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Meuse while the German statement was silent on operations in these quarters.

In the eastern theatre of war, an Austrian statement claimed that the Russians had lost 40,000 men in fruitless attacks upon Przemyśl.

Tokio announced that the Japanese cruiser Takachio had been sunk on October 17 by a German mine at Kiao Chow bay with the loss of 247 men.

An Austrian submarine is reported to have been sunk in the Adriatic by a French cruiser.

Shell fire from the forts at Tsing Tao is said to have heavily damaged the British battleship "Tirpitz."

Turkey has refused to assent to Great Britain's request that the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau be discharged.

The German official report covers these operations more tersely. It says that the attacks to the west and northwest of Lille have been repulsed with heavy losses to the allies. The situation is so dark that it is impossible to judge of the exact trend of events. The English and French papers naturally rather encourage movement from the coast another sweeping movement like that which carried them so far into France.

In this field of action, it appears inevitable that there must soon be some decisive result. The flatness of the country seems to have made it impossible for the two armies to entrench and face each other without important change in position for weeks as they have done across northern France.

The announcement that the Germans have taken sleep guns to the neighborhood of Belfort may mean that they plan to attempt an advance on both ends of what during the past month has become virtually a long fortified line.

Great battles continue in the eastern theater between the Russian and Austro-German forces. Reports from both sides are brief and contradictory. Petrograd claims the Russians have won partial success in very severe

Only Sure Corn Cure Ever Known

"Get-It" the New Way, 2 Drops Do It
To endure the pain and tortures caused by a little thing like a corn is ridiculous, simply because it is unnecessary. The new-plan corn cure.

"GET-IT" is the first one ever known to remove corns without pain,
without pain and without trouble.
This is why it is the biggest-selling corn cure in existence today. It is now used by millions, because it does away with sticky tape, with plaster and cotton rings that shift their position and press down on the corn,
with knives that "raw up" the toe,
with "harshness" that cause pressure and pain, with knives, razors and files, clamping and pulling at a corn.

"GET-IT" is applied in two seconds. Two drops applied with the glass rod do the work. Pain goes, the corn shrivels, vanishes. Accept no substitute. Try it on any corn,

REFUGEES ARE RETURNING TO CITY OF ANTWERP

London, Oct. 19 (7:45 p. m.)—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuters' Telegram company says that,
according to a dispatch from Antwerp, large numbers of refugees are returning to the Belgian city. This is attributed largely to assurances given by Dr. Franck in a speech to them at Rotterdam.

Gradually Antwerp is beginning to resume its normal appearance, says
the dispatch. This is particularly noticeable in the center of the city where the large hotels and restaurants have reopened. Several of the stores are again doing business, and in other parts of the city whole rows of streets still are as quiet as the grave.

OFFICIAL REPORT TELLS OF GERMAN REFUSEE

Paris, Oct. 19 (11:02 a. m.)—In Belgium attacks by the Germans between Neuport and Dinant have been repulsed by the Belgian army, officially announced by the British official communication issued by the war office tonight says.

RUMANIA DECIDES ON NEUTRAL POLICY

London, Oct. 19.—That Rumania will remain neutral in the European war, was decided at a meeting of the cabinet presided by King Ferdinand and attended by representatives of all parties, according to a wireless dispatch from Berlin.

Members of the American Red Cross

RUSSIAN REPORTS STILL CLAIM GREAT VICTORIES

London, Oct. 20 (1:05 a. m.)—
"Fierce fighting has been in progress since yesterday west of Warsaw,"
according to a dispatch to the Times from Petrograd dated Monday which continues:

"The Russian columns have resolutely forced back the German forward their main positions on the line of Shirokaya, Kieles and Sandomir."
No details have reached the war office concerning this fighting, but the correspondents at the front give descriptions of the fierce artillery duels and tell of the capture of large numbers of prisoners including many Saxons. They add that the Germans are exhausted and starving."

BRITISH BATTLESHIP HIT BY GERMAN SHELL

Washington, Oct. 19.—Shell fire from howitzers in the fortress of Tain-tau has heavily damaged Great Britpelled her to withdraw from the British-Japanese bombarding fleet, according to a statement issued tonight

by the German embassy based on dispatches from the far east by way of San Francisco.

SUBMARINES NOT YET PARAMOUNT IN IMPORTANCE

Battleships Still Have First Place, According to Secretary Daniels and His Expert Assistants.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Oct. 19.—Battleships still hold their place as the paramount factor in warfare on the sea, in the opinion of controlling American naval authorities, despite the remarkable effectiveness of submarines demonstrated since the European war began.

The general board of the navy is so much interested in the real tests that are now going on abroad, however,
that it will withhold its recommendations as to the naval needs of the United States during the coming year
as long as possible and Secretary Daniels will not prepare his report to congress until late next month.

An official statement issued tonight at Mr. Daniels said:

Battleships Paramount.
"While the submarine is a most effective defensive weapon and has great possibilities of marked development in the future as an offensive weapon, it is not believed that submarines in their present state of development will decide any naval war, but that the paramount need of the present-day navy is for battleships by which the ultimate test of strength will be decided."

The statement followed the publication of an article by an anonymous naval expert who criticized the American navy as woefully unprepared for war. The secretary, defending the organization of the navy and in particular the general board which he said
"constitutes in effect a general staff," said:

"The permanent detail of our first naval officer, Admiral Dewey, as its president, insures a continuing policy in its recommendations."

Discussing the strength of the American navy in the submarines, the secretary said:

Our Submarine Fleet.
"When the relative sizes of the fleets of the great naval nations are considered it will be seen that the United States possesses a submarine fleet relatively and actually very powerful. England's fleet is more than twice as large as that of this country, yet she has but little more than half as many submarines.
France has a considerably larger submarine fleet than ours, with a smaller navy, but she has in the past taken the lead in submarine building, and this had England has overcome, and we are on that road. Germany, with a more powerful fleet than ours, has many less submarines, and Japan, with a fleet approaching ours in strength, has only half as many submarines."

Needed for Coast Defense.
"It is true that the conditions are not all equal, and requirement for submarine strength cannot be based entirely on fleet strength. Harbors and coast to be defended must be considered and the United States with long coast lines and many harbors, may need rather more than a proportionate number of submarines."

"As far as the submarines are concerned, it is believed ours are on a par with any in the world. The development of our type has been accelerated and in each new type the fleet and command of the officers and men who operate the submarines in service have been considered. In the appropriation made by the last congress two types for the first time were included."

Two Types of Vessels.
"One of high surface speed, to respond to the fleet, and one for coast and harbor defense. In the building of two such distinct types we are in accord with what foreign countries are doing, and submarines of this type will be probably composed of vessels of these two types."

"In general, then, it may be said that our submarines themselves are the equal of any, and in point of numbers we compare most favorably with foreign nations. However, the importance of submarines is undoubtedly being shown at the present time and rapidly as the submarine flotilla of some countries, notably England, have been built, this pace will probably be increased. For many reasons we should undoubtedly, then, keep up and increase our submarine strength, building submarines not only to defend our long coast but to accompany the fleet. Congress in appropriating for twelve in the last two years is following out this idea and

CHICAGO CATHOLIC CHURCH IS BURNED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Oct. 19.—Fire which wrecked St. Charles Borromeo's Catholic church today was tonight responsible for the loss of the body of an unidentified man. The police also are planning to reopen an investigation into a fire which burned St. Jacob's Catholic church and which started in somewhat similar circumstances as today's blaze.

St. Charles Borromeo's church has been closed for several months, electric wires had been removed and it had been safeguarded against the ordinary dangers from fire. The blaze started in the interior of the giant organ. The fire had grown to serious proportions before it was discovered. Twelve hundred children in the convent and parochial school next to the church watched out, marshaled
by sisters of charity in charge.

The police, in investigating, commented on the reports from New York where on October 13, dynamite bombs were exploded in St. Patrick's Catholic and St. Alphonsus' church.

Swimming Collars for Sailors.

London, Oct. 19.—To save the crews of warships struck by mines or sunk by submarines, since other warships have been prohibited from going to their assistance, the admiralty will supply swimming collars to the officers and men of the fleets.
The men are instructed that the collar shall be carried on their person when they are awake and kept inflated near each individual when he is asleep.

BITTER ATTACKS BY ROOSEVELT ON CANDIDATES

Chief Bull Moose Scores Senator Sherman of Illinois and Roger Sullivan, Democratic Nominee.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Oct. 19.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt bitterly attacked United States Senator Sherman, republican candidate for re-election, and Roger
C. Sullivan, the democratic candidate for the United States senate, in a speech here tonight ending a two-day visit to Illinois in favor of the candidacy of Raymond Robins and other progressives. He diverted to score candidates for office on the old party
tickets in New York state.

The old party candidates, he declared, were typical of the bipartisan machine politics and the fight in Illinois as in New York, he said, was not one of party principle but of simple civic honesty.

The Illinois progressives, with his approval, Colonel Roosevelt said, had declined offers to enter a deal with Sherman for a junction with republicans and La Follette republicans of which Mr. Sherman and a progressive candidate would have been chosen to the United States senate in 1912
when finally Mr. Sherman and Col.
James Hamilton Lewis are elected.

Colonel Roosevelt's speech tonight was the climax of a busy day in which he pushed by automobile at noon to Gary, Ind., to speak to the steel workers there in favor of A. J. Beveridge, former United States senator, now progressive candidate for the senate from Indiana.

LONDON RIOTERS AGAIN ATTACK GERMAN SHOPS

Large Force of Special Police Succeeds in Driving Mob
From Threatened Business Houses.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
London, Oct. 19 (11:10 p. m.)—For the second time in two days a mob attempted to wreck German shops in the borough of Deptford, but a large force of special police dispersed the crowd. Many of the German shopkeepers, fearing attacks, had strongly barricaded their shops and houses.

A judge in the police court today declined to accept bail in the cases of over thirty rioters arrested during Sunday night's demonstration. The public prosecutor advised that this course be adopted by the court, declaring that the conduct of the participants in the wrecking and looting of the stores and living apartments of the Germans was a disgrace to the Englishmen.

The newspaper campaign against the employment of subjects of enemy countries continues. Several additional hotels announced today that all German and Austrian employees had been discharged. A number of large restaurants have substituted girls.

Reservists Go to Colors.

New York, Oct. 19.—Six hundred French reservists had sailed from United States ports up to last Saturday to join the allied armies in Europe. It was stated at the French consulate tonight.

Honry Goiran, French consul here, and Paul Pierre Moraschini, an attache of the consulate, also have been summoned to the colors. It was stated Goiran is a son of Gen. Francois Goiran, former minister of war in France, and holds a lieutenantcy in the French reserves.

Valuable Cargo Is Saved.

Seattle, Oct. 19.—After burning for a day and a half, the fire in the shipyard of the Great Northern, which burned the ship, was extinguished, according to a dispatch from Port Said today. It was confined to one hold. The ship is bound from Port Said to Great Britain with a million-dollar cargo of foodstuffs.

HUMAN SYSTEM INJURED BY ONE CUP OF COFFEE

Its Constant Use Tends to Increase Fatigue Products Says Kansas City Physician.

The constant use of coffee and tea tends to increase fatigue products in the human system, says Dr. G. Wilson Robinson, of the University Medical College, Kansas City, Mo.
"Coffee is used in coffee and tea as a beverage for stimulating the system. Even in small doses, one cup of coffee or tea per day, the general results of the action of caffeine upon the nervous system are to increase the irritability of the brain.
"In order to maintain the stimulation of regular doses of caffeine, nerve and muscle tissue must draw upon their reserve energy, and they must do their work in the presence of an excessive quantity of toxic fatigue products, and both of these conditions tend to exhaustion and perversion of function."

"Caffeine is not a food to nerve or muscle tissue. It does not increase the circulation of blood, fatigue products, and both of these conditions
tend to exhaustion and perversion of
function."

NOTE—Too much cannot be said in favor of the value of an invigorating drink, especially during colder weather—but the drink must not be harmful. The food-drink, IN-STANT POSTUM, while resembling the better grades of Java in flavor and appearance, is pure, wholesome and wholly free from the coffee "caffee-ne" and "tannin" and is rapidly taking the place of coffee as a table beverage for reasons of health.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES NEEDED BY RAILROADS

President of B. & O. Presents Needs of Transportation at Interstate Commerce Commission Hearing.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Oct. 19.—Facing that business depression and the war in Europe had caused a shrinkage of more than $75,000,000 in their annual net revenues, representatives of thirty-four eastern railroads operating over 52,000 miles of transportation lines appeared before the Interstate Commerce commission, today, asking that they be granted at least a five per cent increase in freight rates.

Daniel E. Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and also leader of the conference of presidents of the lines involved, was the principal speaker. He was supported by a mass of statistics presented by Vice President Shriver, the same line, acting for all the roads. Further evidence will be submitted tomorrow.

Opposition Represented.
In opposition to the plea of the carriers, Clifford Thorne appeared for the public service corporations of several middle western and intermountain states and also for shippers' organizations in the region affected. Mr.
Thorne declared his purpose at the hearing was to represent the public side of the question should be fully brought out. He did not expect to call many witnesses. Louis Brandeis, counsel for the commission, vigorously assailed Mr. Willard's plea for a five per cent increase, particularly calling attention to the fact that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad had adhered this year to its policy of declaring six per cent dividends despite an actual deficit of more than $3,000, 000 in its recent year.

The affairs
of this system were the only ones given detailed attention today as officers of the other lines were not present.
Mr. Brandeis implied in his questions, however, that a similar policy had been followed by all lines.

Has Adequate Surplus.
Mr. Willard said the dividend had been maintained at six per cent this year at his recommendation. He declared he believed it had been justified by the fact that the road had $32,000,000 in surplus.

"I am not prepared to say, however," the witness added, "what I may recommend in future in view of the present conditions."

He had recommended the continuance of the six per cent dividend, he said, because it was necessary to maintain the credit of the line. A recent note issue of $15,000,000 by Baltimore and Ohio was marketed at par, bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest and a commission of one half of one per cent was paid, making the total cost to the company five per cent. This issue must be not in June next year.
Mr. Willard said, and the present outlook was that money could not be obtained then at less than 7 or 8 per cent. Already, he said, other concerns had been forced to pay other rates than five per cent.

Criticism by Brandeis.
Mr. Brandeis took exception to the statement of the Baltimore and Ohio surplus. He insisted that $22,000,000 of the $32,000,000 was represented in the line's investment in securities of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad now in the hands of a receiver.

Mr. Willard admitted this but declared the purchase of that road was not at issue in the present hearing.
"Whether or not we need it," he said,
"they are not due to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton."

"Yet you have $25,000,000 in notes to pay next year," said Mr. Brandeis,
"and you have advanced $10,000,000 to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton."

Reverting to the possibility that interest rates would be greatly advanced when these notes fell due, Mr. Brandeis asked:

Should Reduce Dividends.
"If it be true that you may have to pay 7 or 8 per cent, but that a risk that should be taken by the stockholders rather than a reduction of dividends, would you be willing to advance in rates? You defend here today a reduction of practically every railroad expense except dividends."

"Nothing we do in the way of reducing expenses of maintenance or equipment is permitted to encroach on safety of operation," Mr. Willard replied.

Mr. Brandeis declared the statement of the railroads had disclosed so far nothing originating since the commission's recent ruling, rejecting the eastern lines' previous plea for a five per cent advance in rates. In responding to the case the commission officially limited it to matters arising since that time. Mr. Brandeis said that the decision had presented a falling off in revenue of $75,000,000 for the period embraced, and the company's statement of $76,000,000 shrinkage only served to confirm that estimate.

Business Is Declining.

The commission also predicts improvement in business condition," said Mr. Willard, "whereas there actually has been no improvement."
The expenditures on maintenance of way and equipment, Mr. Willard said, had been greatly reduced because of the financial outlook. He added that thousands of cars in bad order were being held by his line without repairs because they could not now afford it, although the demand for the cars had decreased.

The general manager has resolved instructions not to expend more than one per cent of the gross earnings for maintenance," he added.

In response to further questions by Mr. Brandeis, Mr. Willard said the railroads had followed the suggestions of the commission in making some increases in passenger rates, both on mileage books and straight fares. To the Baltimore and Ohio he thought it likely the increases would aggregate in time $120,000 annually on the mil-age books, but it was impossible to say how much might be realized from advances on other fares.

More Pay for Labor.
The railroads also followed the suggestion of the commission as to the elimination of certain free services, but that probably would take many months fairly to work them out.

Do you know of any companies—railroads or other corporations—that have been able to market their securities at a better rate than the Baltimore and Ohio?" inquired Mr.
Thorne.
"Personally, I do not," replied Mr.
Willard. "We sold our securities at a fairly reasonable rate."
"Can you mention any increase in labor cost since 1912?" pursued Mr.

Thorne.
"Yes," said Mr. Willard. "We have advanced our laborers' charges on maintenance work in the aggregate between $500,000 and $700,000 a year."

In response to questions, Mr. Willard said he did not share the commissioner's view that coal rates ought not to be increased.
"We need additional revenue," said
he, "and the best and fairest way would be to advance all rates, including those on coal."

He added that he knew of nothing specific that had arisen since the conclusion of the previous advance rate case that would increase the cost of transporting coal that did not apply to transportation of all freight.
"Are these increases asked for to establish credit or to obtain money to meet obligations?" asked Commissioner Clements.

"Both in a measure," said Mr. Shriver. "The Baltimore and Ohio is well worth its outstanding obligations and much more, but our returns have been small. We have put $20,000,000 into the property in the last two or three years—$25,000,000 in short term notes.
Conservatively it will require $15,000-000 a year for many years."

Operating Expenses Lower.

Questioning Mr. Shriver, Mr. Brandeis drew out a statement that the ratio of operating expenses per mile had decreased in 1914 from the 1912 figure. In the same connection, Mr.
Thorne began a cross-examination tending to show that the cost of railway supplies, with the exception of coal, was lower this year than in preceding years.

Continued for the commission questioned Mr. Shriver from a chair showing the gross revenues for operation of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The difference between 1914 and 1913 shown was approximately $20,000 in a total of over $8,000,000.
Mr. Shriver accepted the figures as accurate but insisted they did not properly represent the situation.

Full Crew Law Sustained.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 19.—The validity of the Arkansas "full crew law," passed by the last legislature, was sustained today by the state supreme court. The law provides that railroads operating lines more than 100 miles long must employ at least six men in switching in terminals or yards in cities of the first class. The case involved was appealed from Hot Springs.

MOOSE RALLY DEMING PROVES A BIG SUCCESS

Luna County Progressives Have Monster Gathering in Theater Building; Great Enthusiasm Shown.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Deming, N. M., Oct. 18.—The progressive party of the state of New Mexico held the biggest rally yet held in the Crystal theater last Saturday night. The Deming brass band paraded the streets before the meeting and furnished the music between the addresses of the various speakers, and opened the rally, which was attended by a large crowd, by playing a beautiful melody of popular airs.

County Chairman Frank H. Samuels of Deming introduced as the first speaker Ernest H. Garcia, progressive candidate for the legislature from Luna county. Mr. Garcia assailed the bosses of the old-line republican and democratic parties for their delay in the admission of New Mexico to the federation of states. He elected he promised to support Governor William McDonald in his progressive plans and said he would be controlled by party machines.

Mr. Garcia said that he favored the equalization of taxes, and proper salaries for efficient work performed by county officers.

McTeer Speaks.

The next speaker to address the audience was John M. McTeer of Deming, progressive candidate for corporation commissioner. He spoke clearly and in a humorous way and said: "I confess to the crime of being a candidate against Hugh H. Williams, another native son of the progressive town of Deming. I have no personal attack upon Mr. Williams but I claim that he, as a member of the corporation commission, has enforced the powers or attempted to enforce the powers given him by the laws against corporations.

The present corporation commission complains of lack of power but the members have refused to take jurisdiction in taking steps to reduce freight and passenger tariffs in the state of New Mexico. The commission has not the backbone to take the initiative. If they had the nerve they would reduce the rates satisfactory to the people and not to the railroads. If the railroads refuse to accept the orders of the commission the commission should take the matter to the supreme court and fix the responsibility.

Hot One for Ely.

"I shall now take up the answer to my original published statement issued by me, which appeared in the Deming Graphic in its issue of last Friday written by Mr. Ely, not the editor, but by that prince of explainers, that suave, well-fed politician, attorney, looking like a watermelon in a dress suit—Ralph C. Ely, who has the law office next to the city hall. I shall step up the record of one Hernandez, republican candidate for congress. This same Ralph C. Ely, who, while in the explaining mood should tell why he said, some time ago on the railroad station platform, nominate a man for the corporation commission who is no more fit for the job than I am to run that gasoline engine out there," and he nominated Hugh H. Williams.

As an illustration of the competency of the New Mexico corporation commission I want to ask what it gained with Hugh H. Williams as chairman, when the members induced the railroads to reduce the freight rate on cordwood in carload lots, 12 cents a hundred and increased the rate on kindling 12 1/2 cents. They compromised with the railroads like Secretary W. E. Holt, compromised with his wife. When he wanted him for breakfast and she wanted bacon they compromised on bacon. The commission issued an annual report at a cost of $3 a copy which is not actually worth a two-cent stamp.

"The man who runs the Deming water works is not for me as he knows that if I am elected I will make him obey the law and increase the rate on kindling 12 1/2 cents. They compromised with the railroads like Secretary W. E. Holt, compromised with his wife. When he wanted him for breakfast and she wanted bacon they compromised on bacon. The commission issued an annual report at a cost of $3 a copy which is not actually worth a two-cent stamp.

Wilson Makes Fine Speech.

The last speaker of the evening was Francis C. Wilson, progressive candidate for congress, who made a clear, concise address devoid of flights of fancy and devoid of references to conversation with public affairs.

He said in part: "I am greatly pleased with the reception accorded me in Deming, the town which for the last four years I have seen featured daily in the headlines of newspapers. I stand for the measures

IRRIGATION PROJECT GOES BY THE BOARD

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Oct. 18.—An irrigation project on which Santa Fe had built great hopes of development went by the board today when 7,000 acre feet of the flow of the Santa Fe River below Agua Fria to reclaim 18,000 acres of the La Mancha grant between Santa Fe and Albuquerque. The water had been filed upon by Levi A. Hughes of Santa Fe under one application, and by George W. Pfeiffer, and the late Secretary of State J. W. Raymond under the other application, the plan calling for a huge dam on the Cienega grant, on Saturday night to United States Senator T. B. Catron at public sale for federal surveying fees.

ASTHMADOR GUARANTEED TO RELIEVE ASTHMA

"I have arranged with Butts, Inc., that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever or Bronchitis in Albuquerque can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann announced. He said: "Using a 60-cent package of my Asthmador, or Asthmador Cigarettes, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to Butts, Inc., and they will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been given up as incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneous relief. The drugists handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee, absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador. Persons living elsewhere will be supplied under the same guarantee by their local druggist or direct by Dr. R. Schiffmann, Rt. Paul, Minn.

ASCARATE CASE IS PLACED IN HANDS OF JURY

Man Charged With Wife Murder Soon to Know His Fate;
Legal Battle Is Hard Fought
All the Way.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Carlsbad, Oct. 18.—The testimony of both the state and the defense in the murder trial of the state against Ricardo Ascarate was closed Saturday afternoon. It had been a strenuous week for the court and judge, attorneys and jury were pretty well worn out. For this reason it was agreed that the arguments should be heard on Monday. The case was finally given to the jury this afternoon.

It has been a hard-fought legal battle, both the state and the defense contesting every step of the way. When the state introduced its evidence, the defense moved to exclude it, and the court ruled against the state. The defense then introduced its evidence, and the state moved to exclude it, and the court ruled against the defense. The case was finally given to the jury this afternoon.

Evidence Is Contingent.

The defense showed by several witnesses that only one shot was heard, that the defendant was not intoxicated, that he was alone with his wife and that before the officers were summoned, he went from his home to that of his father, there he changed clothing before entering his father's house, and a search of the premises disclosed a pair of bloody trousers which belonged to the defendant and which he had put before speaking to his father of the shooting.

Land Office Begins Contest.

Two Nervous Women.

Made Well By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness. "I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away the medicine the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. GOVERNOR KNOWS HOW TO PICK 'EM AND ADMITS IT

Chief Executive Is Proud of Delegation Appointed to Represent State at American Mining Congress.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Oct. 18.—Governor McDonald is rather proud of the delegation he picked today to represent New Mexico at the seventeenth annual session of the American Mining Congress which will meet at Phoenix, Ariz., December 2. The delegation is representative and its members are well known mining men.

They are John M. Sullivan of Bernalillo, who is in charge of the state mining operations of the Chino company; C. T. Brown of Bernalillo, executive vice operator in the state mines and Black Range district; George H. Eiler, a pioneer mine owner of Silver City; Rhea H. Beadlow of Gallup, the New Mexico mine inspector; Fayette Alexander Jones of Socorro, president of the School of Mines; George H. Hunt, the pioneer mining man in Bent, Otero county; Thomas O'Brien, in charge of the great coal mines at Durango; A. J. Anderson, at the head of the extensive interests of Ex-Providence General Frank H. Hitchcock at Morehead; Thomas F. Conroy, the veteran mining pioneer at Magdalena and recent superintendent for the Santa Fe Gold and Copper company at San Pedro; and George L. Brooks, the Albuquerque real estate man who is also much interested in mining development in the Sandias and Manzanosa.

Governor McDonald believes the delegates will all attend the congress. In fact, if time permits, he would like to attend himself although he is a cattle man.

PERMISSION TO BURY FRIENDLESS TRAMP IS ASKED FROM GOVERNOR

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Oct. 18.—For permission to bury without a coroner's inquest a tramp who had been found dead by railroads in a Santa Fe pump house at Dulles, Valencia county, Superintendent H. H. Tuttle telegraphed Governor McDonald today from Winslow, Ariz.

The telegram stated that the coroner at Los Lunas was ill and that the justice of the peace at Los Chaves could not be reached to hold an inquest that there were military reasons for no longer delaying burial.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, since cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Don't Blame the War

IF YOUR ELECTRIC LIGHT BILLS SHOW AN INCREASE FROM NOW ON.

Remember the days are shorter—almost twice as many lighting hours as there were in June and July. You will probably be in the house more during the coming months. Soon you will need a little light in the morning.

THOUGH OTHER COMMODITIES MAY CLIMB—

ELECTRICITY WILL NOT COST MORE. Electricity is the one necessity of life which is steadily growing cheaper. We have and will continue to keep the price as low as is possible, consistent with the best service and a fair profit. So don't blame us either if your bills climb a little for the next few months.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—kill the inflamed membranes. There is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No other to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine bark, rich in tannic acid, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MAN FOUND GUILTY OF SWIPING AUTO TIRE

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Oct. 18.—The jury today found David Davis guilty of breaking the seal of a freight car on the Santa Fe railroad at Gallup, and abstracting therefrom an automobile tire.

While some witnesses were heard and Davis took the stand in his own behalf, the trial took only a few hours. The defendant made a motion to dismiss the indictment because he charged him with taking a tire when he merely took an outer tube, but Judge W. H. Pope, who is an ardent motorist, knows a good deal about tires from experience, and overruled the motion.

Governor Honors Las Cruces Fair.

Santa Fe, Oct. 18.—Ralph Will, the Las Cruces boy, who drew the first prize at the State Fair at Albuquerque last year for growing the best corn, was signally honored by Governor McDonald today, who appointed him a delegate to the corn convention at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, August 5 and 6, 1915. Ralph Will raised 3,490 pounds of Reid's yellow dent corn per acre on a sandy loam and by irrigation. The yield would have been still better had it not been for water shortage in July. Any boy who can raise such a large yield of corn to the acre is doing more for the state than the average statesman, is undoubtedly Governor McDonald's opinion for he wishes that there were more boys in the state who can raise that much corn to the acre.

FIGURES OF SCHOOL CENSUS SHOW CHANGES IN STATE POPULATION

Santa Fe, Oct. 19.—Torrance, the same as Chaves, Curry, Roosevelt, Quay and Union counties, shows a decided decline in population the past twelve months according to the school census figures returned to the department of education today, for they are only 2,082, that is 1,166 males and 1,916 females as against 2,302 last year. Bernalillo with 127 and Willard with 118 makes an especially poor showing as compared with 257 and 240, respectively, last year. Some of the districts have declined to six persons of school census age.

Valencia county, too, shows a loss in population for its school census this year shows only 3,512 persons between the ages of 5 and 21 as against 3,593 last year. Strange to say, as the population declines, that of Anglo-American increases, for there are 247 persons of school age of that nationality in the county now. Helen returns 822, San Rafael 261, persons of school age, being the two largest school districts in that county, which like Rio Arriba, Sandoval and Taos, other exclusively Spanish-American counties have no incorporated municipalities. Lincoln county reported an appropriation of $2,164.52 among its school districts today, Carlsbad getting $1,100, which is $56.27 or one sixth of the total sum.

President E. L. Baker reported today that the entire faculty of the State Normal school at Silver City will attend the educational convention at Albuquerque next month.

INTERESTING FIGURES IN SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY'S REPORT

Santa Fe, Oct. 19.—The Southern Pacific carried 19,626 passengers an average of 139.4 miles each during the last fiscal year in New Mexico, according to the company's annual report filed today with the state corporation commission. It also carried 1,782,771 tons of freight of which 3,108 tons were intra-state, an average distance of 139.0 miles. The company's business in New Mexico was exceedingly profitable for the passenger revenue amounted to $746,139.16 and the freight revenue to $2,828,128.86. The total operating revenues in the state were $2,781,212.62 and the operating expenses only $1,085,757.41, leaving a net revenue of $1,695,455.21 per mile of the 163 miles the company operates in the state.

The average pay of the general officers of the company is $25.13 per day; other officers $9.23 per day; clerks $2.83; section foremen $3.08; trackmen $1.70; telegraph operators $3.44. Ten trainmen and eight trackmen were injured last year on the road in New Mexico, two trespassers were killed and two injured. Coal to the amount of 1,429 tons at $4.25 per ton was consumed, also 169 cords of wood and 453,160 gallons of oil at an average cost of 12 cents a gallon.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY MADE IN FEDERAL COURT

Santa Fe, Oct. 19.—The following pleaded not guilty today in the federal court:

Abelino Rivera, trial set for October 24; Mateo Vasquez, set for October 25; Pablo Martinez, set for October 25, while a defendant called as Jose Pacheco, asserted that his name is Jacobo Pacheco and his attorney gave notice of a plea in abatement which will be argued on October 23.

Donacion Galleros was delivered by the United States marshal to the sheriff of Pecos county, the indictment against him charging assault being dismissed to the federal court for lack of jurisdiction. Judge Poppe handing down a lengthy opinion going into the matter of the jurisdiction of the state at length.

NAVAL BATTLE REPORTED FROM GULF OF MEXICO

German Vessel Limp Out of Engagement With British Cruiser, Say Members of Crew of American Schooner

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL (LEADS WIRE).
Keyport, Oct. 19.—A battle between a German four funneled cruiser, apparently the Karlsruhe, and a British cruiser, somewhat similar in size, is reported by the American schooner Fannie Prescott, which arrived here today from Gulfport, Miss. The engagement is said to have occurred October 17 in latitude 26.19 north and longitude 84.26 west.

After a half hour of fighting the cruisers separated, according to the schooner's crew, the British vessel going west and the German north. The German, it was stated, was listing to port and apparently had been damaged seriously.

TEAMS OF REPORTERS WILL GIVE SCHOOL NEWS TO THE PAPERS

Two teams of reporters have been formed by high school students who will furnish news to the newspapers. Principal J. W. Giltner explained the plan to the students yesterday morning. He announced the teams as follows: Annette Weinman and James Blair, seniors; Herbert Hickey and Edward Crispy, juniors; Jessie Short and Harold Woodward, sophomores; Dorothy McAlister and Lloyd Kellam, freshmen; Horro Boylan and Paul Harper, eighth grade.

The high school equivalent yesterday was 225 students and that of the eighth grade 164.

Neither Howden, who came with her family from Washington, D. C., entered school yesterday as a member of the freshman class.

Mrs. LaBar, assistant principal, who was called to California last week on account of the death of her brother, has returned and will meet her classes today. Miss West substituted for Mrs. LaBar.

Miss Inches, teacher of Latin, was called to her home in Kansas last Friday on account of the serious illness of her father. The date of her return is uncertain and Mrs. Jerre Haggard is substituting for her.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE ADDRESSES TWO BIG CROWDS IN ONE NIGHT

A. G. Hill, democratic candidate for state corporation commissioner, spoke before two crowds last night, the first at Martinatown and the second at San Jose. Dennis Chavez, assistant city engineer, spoke also at the first meeting, while Mr. Hill alone addressed the second. Arnold Hall at San Jose was filled by the audience. Mr. Hill's heaters at both places were enthusiastic, loudly applauding his assurances of democratic success at election.

Mechem Hears Injunction Case

Santa Fe, Oct. 19.—District Judge M. C. Mechem this afternoon heard the case of the A. T. & S. F. v. Celso Lopez, county treasurer, in which the treasurer from selling the railroad's property in Santa Fe county for taxes which the company maintains were illegally levied. Judge Mechem set for Judge E. C. Abbott, Oct. 20. Reid appeared for the railroad and Assistant District Attorney A. M. Edwards for the county treasurer.

Army-Navy Game On

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The annual Army-Navy football games are assured for the next five years. It was announced here tonight. The game this year will be played in Philadelphia, November 28. Under the agreement finally reached by the athletic committees of the West Point and Annapolis academies, each will alternately select the site of the game, the choice this year going to the navy.

John Kling Defeated

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—In the opening game of the interstate three-cushion billiard league here tonight, Charles McCourt, of Pittsburgh, defeated John Kling of Kansas City, 50 to 31 in 49 innings. Each had a high run of 8.

TREASURER OF DAHO TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

Books Are Being Examined by Bonding Companies and Governor Orders Banks Not to Cash Treasury Checks.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 19.—A. V. Allen, state treasurer, resigned voluntarily today when Governor John Humes telegraphed all banks in the state not to honor state treasury checks until further order. Mr. Allen's resignation has not been acted upon.

Bonding companies are at work on Allen's books.

In a statement tonight, Governor Humes said:

"For some time the treasurer has been the target of political attacks based on matters separate and apart from his office. These, as seems apparent, caused the surety bonding companies to send experts here to audit the treasurer's books. In view of the whole situation, Mr. Allen tendered his resignation in order that the inquiry might proceed without a free hand."

"I have not accepted the resignation and will not do so until the audit is completed. If anything wrong develops I shall act vigorously. Nothing can be known, however, until the work on the books is completed. I have notified all banks in the state not to honor state treasury checks until further orders. This is a precautionary measure and it will also aid the investigation to keep the business of the office in suspension for a short time. I have named Alex. Tumbler, an expert accountant and a member of the public utilities and tax commission, in charge of the office."

Mr. Allen will have served two terms as state treasurer if he remains in office until January 1, next. He was re-nominated at the recent primaries.

JURY SECURED FOR TRIAL OF DOCTOR'S WIFE

Minneapolis, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The jury which will determine whether it was Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman who on June 20 last, thrust a revolver through a shattered window pane in the office of her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, of Prescott, and shot and killed Mrs. Louise Bailey, was completed in the supreme court of Nassau county here today.

Never before in the history of this county has a jury in a murder case been selected as quickly.

It was announced tonight by officials connected with the prosecution that night sessions might be held to complete the case before the end of the week.

Mrs. Carman, about whom District Attorney Lewis J. Smith and his assistants hope to weave a net of circumstantial evidence so strong that a verdict of murder in the first degree will be returned, was the most interested spectator in the court room today.

Grave at times, and at others smiling at her husband, or her counsel, the wife of the Prose-poet physician paid close attention to every detail of the proceedings.

She studied the face of each witness while the district attorney or her counsel was examining him, but she offered no suggestion. She appeared to have perfect confidence in her attorneys.

Taft and Wiley Met.

Washington, Oct. 19.—William H. Taft, president, and Harvey W. Wiley, pure food expert, of the United States during the last republican administration, met tonight as official citizens, the first since they left public office. They came together to forget political differences and to pledge permanent friendship on the occasion of Dr. Wiley's seventieth birthday.

A dinner to celebrate the doctor's birthday was given by various health promoting organizations under the auspices of the National Mouth Hygiene association.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair naturally dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop itching itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyle's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wavy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. In declining years, when all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

GERMAN SHELLS WORK HAVOC IN CITY OF ANTWERP

Streets Are Piled With Wreckage and People Have Deserted Homes; Army Has Passed on to Other Fields.

Antwerp, Oct. 19.—Antwerp is a dead city. The populace has fled and the streets are deserted. Smoking ruins still mark the havoc wrought by the German shells and rockets. They are piled with wreckage, millions of dollars worth of merchandise having been ruined in the wholesale district alone.

The invading host has passed on. Only bare skeletons and marines infirmaries from the German stations at Kiel, Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven now guard the city.

Detachments of sailors among them, recruited from German merchant marine vessels, are only with rifles and revolvers. They lack several weeks behind the army, taking no part in the fighting, and evidently are destined for sea duty after the capture of a port.

Easy German Victory.

The German staff officers assured the correspondent that the German commander, General von Beseler, had found easy victory in his campaign where hard fighting was expected and desperate resistance where little trouble had been anticipated. The officers said Antwerp had fallen after days earlier than expected, the Belgians evidently being disheartened by their nine weeks of defeat and also because of the easy manner in which the fortified positions behind the river Nethe were carried, October 7.

Defections in Great.

As the correspondent drove through miles of the streets of Antwerp the city seemed to have suffered less from the bombardment than had been believed. Indications of damage were observed in all quarters of the city, but the destruction usually was confined to individual houses at widely scattered points.

At the German headquarters, it was said, the fact was due to the definite plan of the Germans to convince Antwerp with a minimum of damage that the city was at the mercy of their guns.

Systematic Bombardment.

The heavy 12 and 16-inch guns, it was stated, were not used against the city proper but shells from the smaller mortars were dropped throughout the place, a few in each section, until every quarter had been systematically visited.

How accurately the public buildings were avoided seemed to have been proven by a shell hole in the pavement at the entrance to the city hall and in the destruction of a house across the street from that building.

Strong Artillery Force.

The artillery park of the Germans before Antwerp was stronger than was generally known.

In addition to their widely heralded 16-inch mortars and a large number of 12-inch siege guns, they had two Austrian automobile batteries of twelve guns.

The effect of the big guns on Antwerp's outer fortifications, was more striking than at Liege. Two armored turrets at Fort de la Woluwe, which were not out of action with a single shot, their steel beds being broken in two and the heavy masses of metal hurled five or six yards away.

Concrete Easily Pierced.

In another place the concrete embankment was pierced like an egg shell and the steel turret uprooted. Still another turret was completely upended and lies with its base pointing skyward and its run buried beneath.

Behind Fort Waelin, where a 12-inch shell penetrated the magazine, a heavy steam engine which furnished power for the light plant, was blown twenty yards from its base. The entire top of the fort here was torn off and the northern part of the bastion are said to have been buried beneath the debris.

German staff officers say that when the river Nethe was crossed the Belgians virtually collapsed. They abandoned the forts and machine guns while the Germans entrenched themselves expecting a counter-attack.

The

CLUB SERVANTS WILL PROBABLY GIVE EVIDENCE IN STAAB CASE

Questions of Counsel for Contestant Indicate Line of Attack That Will Be Made on Validity of Will.

DEAD MAN'S ROOMMATE INTERESTING WITNESS

Annotated Copy of Compiled Laws of State Plays Conspicuous Part at Morning Session of Court.

That attorneys for Arthur Staab, who is contesting the will of his brother, the late Julius Staab, will rely, in part at least, upon the evidence of the servants of the Commercial club, where Judge Staab at one time made his home, to show that the latter was insane at the time the will was made was clearly indicated in the trial of the case yesterday.

The housekeeper of the club, referred to by counsel and witnesses as "Sophie," and three of the club servants, were present throughout the trial yesterday. It was while Ernest Landolfi, who for more than a year was Judge Staab's roommate at the Commercial club, was the state witness in the line of attack which will be made on the validity of the will, that the housekeeper of the club, referred to by counsel and witnesses as "Sophie," and three of the club servants, were present throughout the trial yesterday.

Attorney Neil B. Field, representing Arthur Staab, had Mr. Landolfi identify the housekeeper and the three servants, and then asked the witness whether or not he had ever told "Sophie" or any of the other employees of the club that Judge Staab "had wheels" or was "big-house." Mr. Landolfi with an emphasis that amounted to vehemence denied that he had ever made such a statement.

Annotations as Evidence.
The general line of the evidence yesterday was the same as that on Saturday. Personal friends of Judge Staab and men who had been through closely with him in a professional and official capacity, without exception testified to his great ability as a lawyer and stated that in their opinion, during the period just preceding and just following the execution of the will Judge Staab's mind was sound and clear.

A copy of the Compiled Laws of 1897, which was used by Judge Staab in his work as a commissioner to revise the statutes of the state, figured conspicuously in the cross-examination of witnesses by Neil B. Field during the morning session. The book, however, is conspicuously annotated in ink, the margins of many of the pages being literally covered with memoranda and citations of authorities. Apparently it is the intention of Mr. Field to use this volume as evidence that Judge Staab was mentally unsound at the time the annotations were made.

Sheriff James Romero and Attorneys A. A. Sedillo, Modesto C. Ortiz and J. A. Miller were the witnesses at the morning session. Each of them told of more or less intimate dealings with Judge Staab, and each gave it as his opinion that he was of sound mind.

The first witness in the afternoon was County Clerk Marcelino Ortiz, of Santa Fe, who told of his acquaintance with Judge Staab and of his dealings with him in an official capacity on the occasion of the probate of the will of the late Abraham Staab, father of the testator in the present case. Mr. Ortiz stated that he had never had occasion to call in question the sanity of Judge Staab. Though nervous and excited, Judge Staab had no marked peculiarities or idiosyncrasies that the witness had ever observed.

Ernest F. Landolfi, who for more than a year was Judge Staab's roommate at the Commercial club, proved a most interesting witness.

It appeared from Mr. Landolfi's testimony that his relations with Judge Staab were not as close and intimate as might be inferred from the fact that they occupied the same room. This, it was explained, was because the witness was out late almost every night, coming in after Judge Staab had retired, while the latter invariably got up in the morning before Mr. Landolfi. During the day they saw little of each other except when Judge Staab came into the bank where the witness was teller. Nevertheless, Mr. Landolfi frequently saw Judge Staab at social affairs and around the club, played cards and tennis with him occasionally and once or twice had discussed with him books in Judge Staab's library.

The last time the witness clearly remembered having seen Judge Staab was on March 10, 1913, which by the coincidences happened to be the date of the execution of the will that is now being contested. It was also Mr. Landolfi's birthday, and the witness stated that it was his custom always to celebrate his birthday either with a "stag" or a dinner at the Alvarado. On this occasion it was a "stag," and he had invited Judge Staab to be his guest, but the latter had declined on account of another engagement, whether of a business or social nature, Mr. Landolfi could not recall.

Previously to this, it appeared, the relationship of roommates between the two had been terminated by Judge Staab on short notice. Mr. Landolfi had never questioned Judge Staab as to his reasons for changing his room, but took it for granted that the late judge's own hours disturbed his roommate, and didn't blame him for making a change.

Appeared Perfectly Sound.
Mr. Landolfi did not hesitate to say that at all times during his acquaintance with Judge Staab the latter appeared perfectly sound mentally, and he had no occasion to call his sanity in question. The fact that Judge Staab might have committed suicide, the witness said, was not in his opinion an evidence of insanity. He believed that Judge Staab had become depressed on account of his stomach trouble and had despaired of ever becoming cured—this, he thought, accounted for his having taken his own life.

Questioned as to whether Judge Staab was a hypochondriac, Mr. Landolfi told of an amusing incident when he had said to his roommate: "You just imagine that you are sick." Judge Staab replied, according to the witness: "If you had my stomach you would know that you were sick."

The witness did not consider Judge Staab erratic, but admitted that he was nervous and excitable and had a somewhat peculiar manner. He told of an incident when he and Louis C. Gumbiner gave a skirt-dance without skirts in which they imitated, or rather burlesqued, Judge Staab.

Questioned by Mr. Field as to Judge Staab's peculiarities in playing cards, Mr. Landolfi replied, "Well, when he and Tom Wilkerson were playing I always tried to be there to see it."

Mr. Field endeavored to show by Mr. Landolfi that Judge Staab took baths with undue frequency, but was unsuccessful. The witness knew that he always took a bath after a game of tennis, but would not say whether he took a bath five or six times a day, as suggested by the attorney.

Severely Last Witness.
J. Deason Newell, who stated that his occupation was "attempts to practice law," was the last witness of the day.

Mr. Newell said that he became acquainted with Judge Staab while they were both members of the Commercial club, which was then secretary. He had also done stenographic work for Judge Staab, and identified a number of papers as having been drawn by him at Judge Staab's dictation, which were placed in evidence, subject to the right of counsel for Arthur Staab to object later. The date of these papers was shown to have been near to that of the execution of the will. Mr. Newell stated that he had been closely through with Judge Staab during the fall of 1912 and the spring of 1913, and gave it as his opinion that during that period Judge Staab was of sound mind.

The witness was given a rather bad half hour on cross-examination by Mr. Field, who undertook to make him state whether or not, in his opinion, suicide is an evidence of insanity. Attorney Spiers and Klock objected strenuously to this line of examination but were overruled by Judge Reynolds. In the outset Mr. Newell stated that he believed that every man who committed suicide was mentally insane, but in attempting to qualify this statement got badly tangled, and finally declared that a man who committed suicide might or might not be insane. At the conclusion of the cross-examination, Attorney Field made a formal disclaimer of any intentional discourtesy to the witness.

As the hour for adjournment drew near, Mr. Field stated that he had concluded his cross-examination of Mr. Newell as to his oral testimony, but reserved the right to further question him in regard to the papers that had been identified by him and conditionally admitted in evidence. A number of witnesses are yet to be examined, and it is impossible to state how much time it will take to complete the trial.

OWNER OF SPANISH NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED AT VEGAS DIES HERE

E. H. Salazar, owner of El Independiente, a Spanish weekly, published at Las Vegas, died here yesterday morning, aged 50 years. He had been here several days, having been brought from Belen for treatment.

Mr. Salazar was registered at the United States land office at Fort Sumner under the administration of President Taft. His home was in Las Vegas, where he edited El Independiente until his appointment. From Fort Sumner he went to Belen, where he lived recently.

With Mr. Salazar at the time of his death were Mrs. Salazar, Ed Otero, brother-in-law, and Mrs. Otero. The body was shipped last night by Strong Brothers to El Paso, where the funeral is being held. Mrs. Salazar and Mr. Otero accompanied.

KOEHLER WILL DIRECT TAKING OF FILMS IN LINCOLN AND QUAY

A. E. Koehler, commissioner of public lands, at the suggestion of Col. H. E. Twitchell, chairman of the board of managers of the San Diego exposition, departed last night for Tucuman, Quay county, Carrizozo and Lincoln county to make arrangements for and direct the taking of motion picture films by the board's operator, Chase Bell.

Mr. Koehler stated that the board still has quite a number of views to take throughout the state and that several counties that had not already made appropriations, but which had signed their intention of doing so, would be taken care of.

Just before leaving Mr. Koehler sent more than 100 photographs of scenes in New Mexico to engravers for the official State book. These are only part of the 1,900 illustrations that are to be used in preparing the book.

BUSINESS SPANISH CLASS STARTED LAST NIGHT AT A. B. C.

A class in Business Spanish was organized last night at the Albuquerque Business College at 7:45. An excellent teacher was in charge. The first recitation will be held Wednesday evening and those desiring to study this subject should call at the school tomorrow, Wednesday, or Wednesday evening.

ELECTRIC CO. IS NEW RECRUIT TO CIVIC PRIDE CLUB

By Restricting Wires Company Removes Forest of Poles and Network of Copper From Downtown Streets

The Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. is eligible to membership in the civic beauty club. The company has removed a forest of poles from First street, Central avenue and Third street, improving the appearance of the streets greatly.

Rearrangement of the wiring in the downtown district made the removal of the poles possible. The improvements were begun on North Third street. The lead from the power plant, which formerly was strung east on Tularosa avenue from Third street, was changed to Grand avenue. The lead was turned south in the alley between First and Second streets. The wires were strung on Oregon fir bridges as wide as the alley. Steel pins on these bridges support the insulators. Formerly the lead was on First street.

The lead for the Highlands now crosses the Santa Fe tracks on Tularosa instead of Central avenue. Now only five wires instead of thirty-five cross the tracks. Of these two are and three power wires.

Five Wires Instead of 27.
These changes made possible the cutting down of seventy-five poles on First street, West Central, Tularosa and Copper avenues. Twenty-seven wires were cut from West Central between First and Second streets. Now only five cross and these are all in the alley between First and Second streets.

Beginning at the intersection of this alley with the east-and-west alley between Central and Gold avenues a new lead is being strung to the power plant. This goes west through the alley to Tenth street where it turns to Central avenue and then on Central to Twelfth. It follows this street to the plant.

When this is complete there will be three transmission lines from the power house to the downtown district. Any one will carry sufficient load to light the city so in the event of fire in any district through which one or two of the leads pass the entire city will not be cut in darkness.

SCARLET FEVER CASES SLOWLY INCREASING; 6 UNDER QUARANTINE

Six cases of scarlet fever are under quarantine in the city. The first was reported to the health department last week, breaking a record of months of freedom from this disease. While the contagion has not yet reached the proportions of an epidemic, strict enforcement of sanitary regulations has failed to arrest the spread, although it has been slow. The last case was reported last week and the health department is hoping that more will appear.

The first child to take it was Marion Hammond, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. G. D. Hammond, 228 North High street. Andrea Gilbert, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. S. S. Gilbert, 410 West Atlantic avenue, was the next. This resulted in the fumigation of the city clerk's and mayor's offices, where the council meets.

All the cases are children. The others are: Edell Dillard, 310 South Walter street, child of Mrs. Edell Dillard; and Halie Cook, 215 South High street, and James Creel, 218 South High street.

CERVANTES CHARGED WITH 'BEATING' JAP AT WHITE STAR BAR

Julian Cervantes, who is charged with hitting a Japanese on the head with a beer bottle Sunday night at the White Star saloon, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff A. C. Bartless. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice W. W. McClellan. He was released under $100 bond to appear Thursday afternoon for his hearing.

MAYOR'S OFFICE WILL HAVE MAPLEWOOD FLOOR

Only the mayor's office in the city hall will have maplewood floors. All other offices are to have pine floors. The floors of the hall, however, will be laid with maple like the mayor's. Carpenters were laying the flooring yesterday. The lower floor of the hall will be completed soon, permitting the removal of the mayor, clerk, engineer and police department.

WHEN HEADACHY TAKE CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Tonight! Clean your bowels and end headaches, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now. You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never grip or sicken.

33 CHARTERED MASONS LODGES ARE REPRESENTED

More Than 100 Members Here for Grand Lodge; More Will Come for Convocation and Conclave.

Thirty-three of the forty-two chartered lodges of New Mexico were represented last night at the Masonic grand lodge, which met yesterday morning in the Masonic Temple, Central avenue and Seventh street, for its thirty-seventh annual communication.

More than 100 Masons were in Albuquerque last night, according to estimates, and more will come for the grand convocation of Royal Arch Masons and Grand Commandery. Knights Templar. Possibly the attendance at the Masonic Grand Lodge will be swelled today by late arrivals.

All the officers of the grand lodge with the exception of Eugene G. Jacobs, of Tucuman, junior grand deacon, were present by last night. The officers who are here are: Nathan Jaffa, Roswell, Grand Master; Raleigh P. Hare, State College, Deputy Grand Master; James W. Polard, Deming, Senior Grand Warden; Alonzo B. McMillan, Albuquerque, Grand Treasurer; Alphonso A. Keen, Albuquerque, Grand Secretary; John J. Kelly, Silver City, Grand Lecturer; Isaac W. Dwyer, Tularosa, Grand Chaplain; Richard M. Thorne, Carlsbad, Senior Grand Deacon; W. Guy Boak, Hillsboro, Grand Marshal; Samuel F. Miller, Carrizozo, Senior Grand Steward; Oliver P. Eastwood, Clayton, Junior Grand Steward; James P. Kelly, Natchez, Grand Second Deacon; Charles E. Lowler, Albuquerque, Grand Tyler.

Committees Prepare Reports.
Committees were appointed yesterday morning. In the afternoon a large amount of business of great nature was transacted. Last night several committee meetings were held, the members preparing their reports for today.

The grand lodge will be in session today and tomorrow. The grand convocation will hold its convocation Thursday and the grand commandery will hold its convocation Friday.

M. E. HICKEY ALLOWED $250 FEE AS ASSIGNEE OF CHARLES ZEIGER

Following M. E. Hickey's petition for a fee as assignee of Charles Zeiger, Judge Reynolds of the district yesterday signed an order allowing him $250.

John A. Swadlow was granted judgment against J. E. Walker for $425.

The Consolidated Lumber company brought suit against Elmer Lucero, asking judgment for $148.70, which, according to the complaint, Lucero owes him on account.

Laurence E. Levy, attorney, filed suit for Simon Sanders & Co. of Las Animas county, Colo., against Adolpho Salas, praying judgment for $184.91. This amount is a balance due for goods, the company alleges.

Hettinger Brothers received judgment against C. E. Kealey. They will receive $12.25 and costs.

WOMAN OF STREETS SENTENCED TO SERVE TWENTY DAYS IN JAIL

A woman, charged with "street walking," and a man, who appears on the police records as her husband, were sentenced to serve twenty days by Police Judge Gray yesterday afternoon. The woman was arrested Sunday night by Captain O'Grady, who charged her with associating with a man. He arrested the man later. The man, according to the captain's report, was found playing cards in a hotel.

Since the closing of the "red-light" zone the police have been vigorously enforcing the vagrancy ordinance in its application to women of the streets. Several upon arrest agreed to leave the city and they were allowed to go.

CONKLIN IS CHARGED WITH BEATING WOMAN; SECOND OFFENSE

Herbert Conklin, charged again with molesting Mrs. Evelyn Spier, was arrested last night by Capt. Pat O'Grady. Conklin recently was released by Judge Reynolds of the district court, under a suspended sentence.

Mrs. Spier received a cut over the left eye and her face was discolored where Conklin hit her, the police said. She told Captain O'Grady that Conklin broke her spectacles.

ONLY ONE COUNCILMAN PRESENT FOR MEETING

Only one alderman, George D. Hammond, was present at Mayor Boardman's office last night at the time when the council was scheduled to meet. City Clerk Hughes, at the Mayor's suggestion, attempted to get into communication with two more members over the telephone in order to adjourn until some night this week, but he was unable to get any of them. Mayor Boardman said he would issue a call for a special meeting.

MOTOR ENGINE NOW IN SERVICE AT HIGHLANDS

The motor fire engine in service at the central station until the arrival of the new machine, was sent to the Highlands house yesterday. The delay in making the transfer was due to the fact that the machine was retired and overhauled by a machinist. The horses now used to draw the truck at the Highlands station probably will be offered for sale, unless the engine is favorably repaired. Con's suggestion of pensioning them on account of their service.

NEW MINISTER SENT TO CENTRAL AVENUE CHURCH

Rev. Thomas Lilliance Succeeds Rev. S. E. Allison in Albuquerque Pastorate; No Change in Presiding Elder.

Of interest to the Methodists of Albuquerque is the announcement that at the conference in Roswell, which has just concluded, Rev. Thomas Lilliance, of Roswell, was assigned to the Central Avenue church in this city, while Rev. S. E. Allison, who served that church as pastor for four years, has been assigned to the First church in his flock, where he made presiding elder of the Roswell district. Rev. George A. Gray, who was again named presiding elder of the Albuquerque district.

The new pastor of the Central Avenue church is one of the ablest ministers in the New Mexico conference and will no doubt fill with conspicuous ability the place left vacant by Mr. Allison.

You take a Dr. James' Headache Powder and in just a few moments your head, dizziness and all nervous and pain fades away. It's the quickest and surest relief for headache, whether dull, throbbing, splitting or nerve-racking. Send someone to the drug store and get a dime package now. Quit suffering—it's so needless. Be sure you get Dr. James' Headache Powders—then there will be no day appointment.

A Pertinent Question.
The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to pills?" The answer is, "They are more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable. Besides they improve the appetite, cleanse and invigorate the stomach, correct disorders of the liver and have the bowels in a natural and healthy condition, while the use of pills, owing to their drastic effect, is often followed by constipation." TICKET AGENT IS ARRESTED WHEN HE LEAVES TRAIN

Thomas Tomlin, Former Santa Fe Employee at Engle, Held in Old Town Jail on Charge of Stealing Ticket.

Thomas Tomlin, formerly agent for the Santa Fe at Engle, was arrested at 6:20 o'clock last night when train No. 516 arrived at the Santa Fe station here by J. E. Sinclair, station-master, on the charge of stealing a railway ticket. Tomlin was held at the county jail at Old Town last night.

Tomlin got on the train at Engle. He paid his fare to San-Marcel and when the train left there he presented a ticket from Engle to Shawnee, Okla., and returned to Conductor Joe Harrison. It was said, Harrison, his suspicions aroused, reported the occurrence to the superintendent's office at San-Marcel and this resulted in the notification of Sinclair to look for Tomlin.

Tomlin resigned as agent October 8. Sinclair found a railway pass and several baggage checks in his possession.

THOSE PEACE TREATIES.

The United States has completed the twenty-ninth treaty for arbitration of any differences that may arise between this and other nations where diplomacy between this nation and the other country fails to reach a satisfactory understanding.

Whatever may be thought of those treaties by European diplomacy, the nations of North and South America take them in all sincerity and seriousness. The mission and the example of world peace has fallen to the western hemisphere, and a century of growing illumination and sincere practice has prepared us for it.

We confront the war that has overflowed Europe with unbroken peace, aside from the almost composed situation in Mexico, from Cape Horn to the Arctic circle. Canada, of course, is sending troops to Europe, but no part of Canada's war is due to any fault of hers.

The year of the greatest war in history for Europe is for the United States a year for the commemoration of a century of peace with Great Britain. For South America it is a year of harmony and better understanding of the wiser relations that have of late years prevailed among the more civilized nations.

The century of peace with Great Britain is made significant by a 3,000-mile boundary line bare of fortresses, by great inland seas stripped of warships, by armies and navies facing outward. For a century disputes have been settled by peaceful arbitration. Many of them would have involved warlike nations in bloodshed and slaughter.

A worthy commemoration of the Anglo-American peace century than mere celebration is now suggested. This takes the form of an all-American peace league to guarantee the independence and integrity of every nation on the western hemisphere and to pledge the power of all to uphold the peaceful settlement of any dispute among themselves or with European nations.

This would be a fitting consummation of a century of peace among English speaking peoples and an impressive example to the world. It would put all America behind the United States as the great neutral to impress a just and lasting peace upon the exhausted armies, bankrupt treasuries and outraged peoples of Europe when the happy moment comes.

From Santa Fe news comes that the republicans are going to make a whirlwind campaign from now till election day. Wind is not one of the needs of New Mexico just now.

A CAMPAIGN OF BUNCOME.

Every campaign deals more or less in buncombe. The effort of the republican leaders to make a tariff issue in New Mexico is the merest buncombe. Talk of the emergency war tax being the result of the Underwood law is buncombe. Buncombe trifles with the intelligence of the people.

Had the protectionists made the tariff law, there probably would have been no income tax. Without an income tax the emergency tax would have necessarily been much heavier than the one proposed, because, if under a treaty reduced duties or absolute free trade, Europe does not wish to be during this war condition, what would have induced such shipments under a high tariff law? Without the goods from abroad duties could not be collected.

Had there been high tariff and no income tax, fully double the amount of war tax, which now will be laid, would have had to be imposed to meet the obligations of the government. If the republicans were in power, they would be howling about the bill, and probably practically the same sort of bill, that will be passed by the democrats. A bond issue would have been the only alternative, and bond issues are not popular in this country.

To argue against free wool in the face of a four cents a pound advance to the grower, is the purest sort of buncombe. The republicans say it is all luck on the part of the democrats that wool went up instead of down. Possibly they are right. But the democrats claimed that the advance in the price of wool, following close upon the passage of the Dingley tariff law, which supplanted the Wilson-Gorman act, was due entirely to the drought in Australia—a matter of pure luck to the republicans. Possibly they were right. Time will tell, and time only.

It cannot be denied that the democratic party has made a wonderful record of efficiency since it came into power. Its legislation has covered a vast range of necessary reforms which had been ignored by the republicans while they were in power. Our banking system was the least of every student of finance, both at home and abroad. It required the driving force of a master mind, like that of Woodrow Wilson, to overthrow the old unscientific system and substitute for it a system based upon the best banking methods of Europe.

Administration of the public land laws has been reformed; the trust laws have been strengthened without disturbing the operations of the Sherman act; Alaska has been opened, or will be, for the benefit of the whole nation; the tyranny of the injunctive process has been deformed; wildcat financiers have been curbed; the operations of the parcels post system have been extended until now they are of real service to the people of the country; the pipe line between big business and the national capital has been dug up and the rule of the speaker of the house has gone, never to return.

The record of the democratic party is a proud one, and the party cannot be defeated by buncombe and peanut politics. The people of the United States are patriots and lay aside party affiliations when the interests of the nation are menaced.

In this critical period, when nearly all the rest of the world is at war, the voters are going to stand by the chief executive, because he has shown himself worthy of their support.

President Wilson can do nothing unless he has a congress in harmony with his policies. New Mexico will return H. R. Ferguson to congress by a rousing plurality because his services to the country has earned another election and because the country must and will stand by the president.

Four hundred and thirty-five congressmen, less the Maine contingent, are to be elected two weeks from today, and thirty-two members of the United States senate. It is some election after all.

THE HOWL OF THE FAMINE WOLF.

The cables bring word that the last apportionment of flour to the citizens of Brussels was given out a few days ago, and that from now on seven hundred thousand people face starvation in that city alone. Terrible as it may sound for hope in the news. For, much as military experts may glorify their death-dealing inventions, it is not the guns that end wars, but famine, disease and bankruptcy.

When Paris, Berlin, Vienna, London and Petrograd begin to approach the conditions of the capital of Belgium, there will be rumblings more ominous than the roar of cannon. There will be the outcries of the masses, which will give a visual answer to the lines of a poet of the day who has asked:

"Oh, lords and masters and rulers of all lands, how will it be with kings and kingdoms, when the dumb creature does reply to God, to those who made him the thing he is?"

By and by, the pinch of hunger will be felt in Berlin. When it becomes general the Kaiser will be brushed aside as though he were a pestiferous fly. The same is true of all the other nations engaged in war, except Great Britain and Russia. London will have food so long as the British fleet is supreme upon the seas, and Russia has back of her the inexhaustible resources of vast areas of productive soil both in Europe and Asia upon which the foot of no invader ever will press.

But with Paris and Vienna, it is different, as with Berlin. The cities of France, Austria-Hungary and Germany are menaced by the wolf of famine now howling at the door of every home in Belgium. Kings and emperors will be toppled when the people get hungry.

Why elect a man to congress who is not in harmony with the administration? That worked when the republicans were in power. Why shouldn't it work now?

HEAR HON. A. A. JONES TONIGHT.

The people of Albuquerque will have opportunity to hear an address by Hon. A. A. Jones tonight on questions of national politics.

Mr. Jones has been in the thick of things at Washington for the past year and a half. He has been an important part of the government. He is a man of the broadest general grasp of national affairs and of the widest experience. He is eminently fair in dealing with political questions. From the fullness of his knowledge he will speak to the people of Albuquerque of whom he is rightly regarded as the leading citizen of this state.

No one who can hear him should fail to be present at the Elks opera house and learn from Mr. Jones what has been and is being done by the lawmakers and the administration at the national capital. We are all part of the government and are intensely interested in how the affairs of the nation are conducted.

Mr. Jones will be the only speaker present, therefore his time will not be limited and the audience will have no occasion to become weary. What he says will be well thought out and presented interestingly to his hearers. Those present will understand that they are listening to an address the equal of any that will be heard during this campaign in any city of the United States. It will be the speech of one of the really big men of the country, delivered to the people of his state.

The "American ambulance" is welcomed every place in Europe where there is war. Also it is seen in all of the belligerent countries.

The Storytellers

Fatal Disease.
 A young painter had just finished a picture depicting a friend calling to see it.
 "There, now," enthused the artist, "you see my new picture. What's the matter with it?"
 "I don't know," replied the bored friend, "but I should say it was a case of art failure."

Favored Age.
 When the teacher looked severely at Isadore Levinsky all ideas fled from him. When asked to name the president, he could think of just two—with four long gaps between them.
 "I am surprised, Isadore," said the teacher, who had left middle age well in the background. "When I was 11 years old, more than a year younger than you are now, I could recite the list of presidents without

Labor's Triumph in the Present Session of the American Congress

(New York World.)

Labor has won some great victories in this country, but none since the Emancipation proclamation of more importance than that recorded in the supplementary anti-trust bill. By that act trades unions, as such, are no longer considered in restraint of trade. Merely because they are trades unions they cannot in future be treated against summarily. The exceedingly approval of this bill is to be emphasized by the presence at the White House of the men who were chiefly concerned in the legislation. Labor is free, from now on, to stand on its feet, to organize for the great deliverance from error and injustice.

The Sherman law was aimed at commercial combinations. It was discussed for a year and nobody in congress suggested the idea that it would comprehend labor organizations lawfully conducted. Yet by the rulings of the courts holding that labor is a commodity to be monopolized like anything else, the law for several years bore much more heavily upon workingmen than upon trusts.

When this legislation took effect in 1890 there were few trusts. At the end of Mr. Roosevelt's administration, nineteen years later, there were 16,000 trusts. By judicial interpretation

it had been easy to try, convict and imprison labor without a jury, injunctions in several cases had forbidden strikes, and the latter, apparently for constructive contempt had been very harsh. On the other hand, criminal proceedings against the organizers of commercial trusts had usually resulted in failure.

With such a grievance, labor asked for much more than it received. It demanded sweeping exemptions, regardless of its acts. It has received immunity from prosecution and persecution so long as it abides by the laws. A labor union per se is no more a conspiracy in restraint of trade than a corporation per se. To this extent congress has nullified the prevailing judicial interpretation of the anti-trust law and given it the meaning that it was supposed to have had when it passed both houses without opposition.

What is clearly a victory for labor is likely to be a victory also for the American people. A law perverted from its purpose, whether by loose wording or strained construction, may explain in some measure the growth of the evil which the Sherman act was meant to curb. Hereafter prosecutors, courts and juries need have no doubt of its intent or reasonableness.

"The Froth on the Beer," as Shown in Railroad Freight Rates
 A shipowner from Boston, a lawyer from New York, a rancher from Albuquerque, a hotel man from Denver, and a grain man from St. Louis, joined in a few drinks at a Chicago bar one evening, this summer.

A round of beer had been ordered. "Too much froth on mine," said the St. Louis man.

Taking up the glass, the bartender held it under the faucet while more beer ran slowly into it, filling it to the rim. Setting back the glass upon the counter, he said to the St. Louis man: "You're an old one, sir; most men like 'white collars' on their, and we are very willing."

"Why very willing?" asked the St. Louis man.

"It pays the freight," the bartender replied sentimentally.

"Pays the freight?"

"Yes, it's been all figured out. We pay the freight when we get the beer in, and customers who like 'white collars' pay it back in the froth."

The St. Louis man ordered another round, and while they were drinking, the bartender continued:

"Yes, it's been all figured out. I don't know just how, but I heard the boss saying once that the railroad's share of the five cents paid for a glass of beer is one-seventeenth, or three mills. A railroad man was talking with him about the five per cent advance of freight rates which the roads are asking, and they figured that it would increase the freight on beer fifteen hundredths of a mill, or maybe it was fifteen-thousandths—I never was good at remembering figures. Anyway, it is such a trifle that it hardly counts, so trifling that the whole amount of the freight is more than taken up by the froth on the beer."

"Well, now, what do you know about that?" exclaimed the Boston man.

"Let me consult my handy book of reference," said the Denver man, producing a thin little book from his pocket. "We hotel men always go loaded."

Turning the leaves of the book, he continued: "I don't find beer, but about every other commodity is here.

a single mistake or a moment's hesitation."
 "Teacher, yes, ma'am," said Isadore humbly, then a brilliant and comfortable idea came to him. "But there could not have been half as many presidents to remember then, was there, teacher?"—Youth's Companion.

Multitudes.
 General Thomas F. Davis said at a banquet in Galveston:

"War stories are already becoming—unless they are original and sincere—a good deal of a bore."
 "Soon the narrators of war stories will lay themselves open to slights and insults, like the veteran who said:

"The shell came sailing through the air—bang! it burst—death stared me in the face—I thought of all I had ever done—"
 "Regular New York city directory," interrupted a listener.

The Germans' Buttons.
 The black, smokeless troops fighting for France, smoke huge porcelain pipes that they have taken from the enemy. The Turks, or Algerian troops, have hundreds of German buttons which they distribute as souvenirs. About these buttons hangs a tale.

The Turks like to fight, but it bores them to guard German prisoners. They have hit on a method, however, to guard their prisoners without great trouble. This method is to cut off all the German buttons. They are especially careful to cut off all the trouser buttons. The Germans, then, are compelled, as they march on, to hold up their trousers and to hold their other garments together with their hands. Both hands being occupied, a prisoner, of course, can do no mischief.

Millions in It.
 George W. Perkins, discussing in New York the iniquitous war prices, said:

"France, under the heel of an invading army, did not raise the price of her bread, or wheat, or milk or her other necessities a single cent. But we!"

"Food speculators tell us there's a good reason for war prices. They know we don't all believe them, but they say cynically:
 "You can't fool all the people all the time, but there's millions in fooling part of the people part of the time."

The Vital Question.
 A Chicago business man with many relatives, some of whom were well-to-do but grasping, recently sought the services of his lawyer to draw up his will. When, after much labor, the document was completed, his client asked:

"Have you fixed this thing, as I wished it, tight and strong?"

"I have done my best," said the lawyer.

"Well," continued the client, "I want to ask you another thing—professionally, however. As a friend, and man to man, who do you think stands the best chance of getting the property when I am gone?"—Harper's Magazine.

With Scissors and Paste

THE ORGANIZED WILL TO POWER

(From Lichtenberger in 1913.)
 Just as in the domain of economics the unchaining of universal competition everywhere gave rise to a vague feeling of discomfort, that profound sentiment of insecurity which hovers over the whole of modern existence, so too in the life of nations the intense development of the will to power and of "nationalistic" or "imperialistic" policy has resulted in the pessimistic conviction that brute force is the only arbitrator between countries, and that the weak are always exposed to the danger of being violated by the strong. Hence arose the passionate desire to be strong at all costs, and to push to its most extreme limits the offensive and defensive strength of the nation.

It was, beyond a doubt, the experience of 1870, corroborated and confirmed, moreover, by many other episodes in contemporary history, which incited the mind of France, as well as that of Germany, to this way of thinking. To what extent is this attitude justified by the nature of things themselves? To what point is it necessary for a reasonably large proportion of national energy to be expended with the sole object of securing a country against the brutal aggression of a powerful neighbor? Will the efforts of the pacifists succeed in creating an international code of morality which will make armed conflicts between nations an impossibility? These are questions which with painful insistence demand an answer from the man of today.

German public opinion, by an overwhelming majority, has decided that they are still very far from being solved. Germany remains, as we have seen, faithful to the cult of the army, proud of her power and determined not to allow it to decline. Even among the mass of socialists the fondle of the international solidarity of the masses has not seriously undermined the patriotic spirit. More than ever does united Germany stand erect upon the threshold of the new century as an admirably organized will to power, which is quite determined not to go in for disarmament.

A FAMOUS WHITTIER

(The Strand.)

F. W. Foster of Waterbury, Conn., has whittled from his earliest days—in fact, at the interesting age of 2 he is said to have whittled the off leg of the dining room table and thus laid the foundation of his future hobby. When table legs began to give out, his father bought him a harmless little whittling set—not so much to encourage him in his art as to save the rest of the household furniture. After whittling most of his fingers, Foster turned down to real work and began to turn out some really remarkable carvings. He whittled while at school, and thereby attracted the attention of his teachers, who were not always in sympathy with him. When he left school he still continued to whittle, and in fact, he has been whittling, on and off, ever since.

In his home at Waterbury Mr. Foster has dozens of wonderful models, among them being a cribbage board which contains no fewer than 2,500 pieces of wood, so marvelously put together that it is difficult, without the aid of a microscope, to find the joints. You will also see a locomotive and an old-fashioned square-rigged whaling ship, the latter apparently fast in the ice and surrounded by polar bears, all waiting to take a bite at the crew as soon as they show their faces. Then there is the battleship Albatross, with fifty-five sailors drawn up on deck, each being exactly one and a quarter inches tall. Many other models of minor importance, as Mr. Foster modestly puts it, are to be seen, but these are far too numerous to describe.

EASY MONEY IN SHEEP.

Keep all the sheep your spare pasture will support. And for sheep pasture you can count every nook, fence corner and hedge, every ditch, every other stock will do you good. Sheep can be relied on not only to hold clean up the farm, but to gather up young weeds, briars, fence-corner grass and thistles, and actually turn them into your bank account or your pocketbook. And when I say this I am speaking from real experience. On our farm we have thirty-five ewes. We always winter that many. Then we keep a thoroughbred buck. We breed so that our lambs are ready for market.

A year ago last fall our sheep money was $205. This was almost all clear gain—at least it was almost self-made money, made while we slept, and while we were busy doing other work on the farm.

Later in the season when we thought the market suited us we had thirty-five nice lambs to sell. The money we got for them was made from material which would otherwise have gone to waste, and it was made with almost no effort or cost on our part. Then the ewes and ram, in the wool crop, will just about even up with you every year for their keeping. So we have come to call the sheep money the easiest clear money on the farm.

Every farmer with forty acres or more should always have some sheep. Go at it according to the capacity of your fence corners and other little nooks and crannies. Don't stop worrying them without special feeding.

SEX IN THE EVOLUTION OF MAN.

(S. J. Holmes in Popular Science Monthly.)

The reason for the existence of sex is one of those biological problems which has long perplexed the scientific world, and today its solution seems as remote as it did a century ago. Many remarkable discoveries have been made in regard to the microscopic structure and development of the germ cell. We have learned much of the general biology of sex, and the probable evolution of sex in the organic world. And substantial progress has been made in respect to the old problem of the determination of sex. But to the question, why came there to be two sexes at all, or in other words, why did not organisms continue to reproduce asexually as it is probable they once did, we can only offer answers that, at best, are very hypothetical.

The bacteria and the blue-green algae, so far as careful investigation has yet ascertained, reproduce exclusively by the asexual method, usually by fission or the formation of spores. But among the higher plants and in nearly all animals we find the existence of two sexes of very general occurrence. While the fact that sex is absent in the lowest forms of life indicates that evolution has proceeded, at least a certain distance, without its aid, and suggests the possibility of the evolution of sexless forms of a high degree of complexity, yet the general prevalence of sex in all but the most primitive organisms points to the conclusion that sex has played a fundamental role in the evolution of the organic world.

There are many theories as to the part which sex has played, but the profound disagreement among several of these which have secured the widest following is significant of how little is positively established in regard to this subject.

MASON DELIVERS MAIN SPEECH AT RETAIL BANQUET

Shredded Wheat Man Boosts for Y. M. C. A. and Talks Interestingly of High Cost of Living.

The speech of Fred Mason, vice president and general manager of the Shredded Wheat company of Niagara Falls, to the members of the Retail Merchants' association at their banquet held at the Alvarado last night, was the principal event of the banquet.

Mr. Mason, a splendid type of the self-made man, held the interest of his hearers from beginning to end of his remarks. He talked in language that the retailers understood and discussed problems with which they are intimately familiar. He told of the work that is being done by his own company in bettering the condition of its employees and aroused his hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm by his optimistic predictions for the future.

The high cost of living, said Mr. Mason, is due to the higher standard of living that the American people have adopted. The American citizen of today, he said, is not satisfied with what his grandfather had. Nothing but the best will satisfy him, and the best costs more money than something that is not quite so good. The speaker referred to the Y. M. C. A. movement now under way in Albuquerque and gave high praise to Robert E. Putney for the enthusiasm and interest that he has shown in the campaign.

To Entertain Teachers.
H. S. Lithgow, president of the association, presided at the banquet, which was one of the best ever given in Albuquerque. At the conclusion of the feast a business meeting was held at which many matters of interest were considered.

President C. O. Cushman, of the Commercial club, spoke of the value to the city of the state educational convention, which is to convene here next month, and declared that it is worth more to Albuquerque in dollars and cents than the state fair. At the conclusion of Mr. Cushman's remarks a motion was made and carried that a special committee be appointed for the purpose of providing entertainment for the educators during their stay in the city. This committee will consist of O. A. Matson, A. B. Jett and R. W. Mills. A committee was also authorized, the members to be named later, to take action to see that the hotels of the city do not raise their rates on account of the convention.

OCEAN-TO-OCEAN ROUTE IS BETTER THAN LINCOLN-MASON

That the route being marked by the Automobile Club of Southern California surpasses the Lincoln National highway in the matter of convenience to the automobile tourist, was the statement of Fred Mason last night. He knows. He has traveled them both. The route selected by the automobile club, by the way, is partly over the Ocean-to-Ocean highway.

From Salt Lake to Oakland the sign-posting of the Lincoln is a joke, in the words of Mr. Mason. The signposts are for the most part of them in towns, he said. He found the hotel accommodations along the southern route better, too, with one exception. This he preferred not to name. In one day he covered 246 miles with his car. This stretch was between San Bernardino and Needles, Calif.

ROBBED OF MONEY HE INTENDED TO INVEST IN BARBER SHOP HERE

Filippo Pingitore, who was on his way here to open a barber shop, reported to Station Master J. E. Sinclair at the Santa Fe station yesterday afternoon that he had been robbed of $200, part of the money he intended to invest in the shop, on train No. 2.

Pingitore had the money in three white Ensign & Co. checks and bills in his coat pocket. He said it was stolen while he slept in the chair out somewhere between Winslow, Ariz., and here. He had $150 left, he told the station master.

COAL HOUSE CONTRACT IS AWARDED BY BOARD

The county commissioners yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for the brick and house to be built in the courthouse yard, to Lyon & Astell, who submitted the lowest of the several bids received by County Clerk Walker. The firm's bid was $547.20.

Surveyor Pitt Ross submitted plans and specifications for a breakwater to protect the Alameda bridge. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for this work. The commissioners adjourned until Saturday.

Come Out Tonight and Hear Hon. A. A. Jones

Hon. A. A. Jones, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior, will address the voters of Bernalillo county at the Elks theater tonight on the issues of the campaign.

Mr. Jones is the highest official from New Mexico in the administration of President Woodrow Wilson, and citizens of Albuquerque, regardless of party affiliations, will delight to hear him in a public address.

Mr. Jones will tell what has been done and what is to be done by the national administration in solving the peculiar problems of the west. He will also tell why it is important to the continued success of the policies of President Wilson that Harvey B. Fergusson should be returned to congress.

Lay aside all else and hear Mr. Jones tonight. The place--Elks theater The time--8 o'clock sharp.
