The Silver City Normal School

Its Curriculum is a Broad One and Includes the Branches Necessary for a Normal, a Business, a Musical and a Manual Training Course.

The primary object of the New Mexico Normal School located at Silver City, is to educate and train young women and men to teach in the public and high schools of the territory. But the New Mexican desires to call the attention of the public to other departments which aim at a general culture.

The academic course of study has been planned to meet the entrance requirements of the best universities. Several of the normal graduates have already entered Leland Stanford, Jr. University, without entrance examination, and graduated in four years.

The manual training department is to be opened this year for the first time. A graded course of study has been prepared, giving work suitable to every grade of advancement in the school. A room in the new building has been fitted up with the latest improved apparatus for the work.

The music department offers instruction on the mandolin, guitar and hand instruments. Vocal music is taught as a regular exercise to all students.

The business department offers all that is usually found in a regular business college. Stenography and typewriting is made a prominent feature. Two years of Spanish are offered to all who take the business course. The demand is greater than the supply in the new insular possessions for stenographers who speak both the Spanish and English languages.

Corps of instructors: No favoritism has been shown in the selection of any member of the faculty; each was chosen solely upon his merits; each is a specialist in his particular line, but has successful experience in all classes of school work, both in teaching and superintending schools. All are graduates of normal schools and five have been trained in university work. With such teachers as these the school is prepared to meet the particular wants and needs of all who come fully under its influence. This is the important consideration in every school.

Expenses: With the exception of $1 per month tuition, the expenses of students are largely under the control of the students themselves. They may obtain board at from $16 to $25 per month; or they may rent rooms and board themselves quite reasonably. Many students, however, work for their board. Thus far, the normal school has been unable to supply the demand for such helpers.

Finally, attend the normal; it aims at the best of everything. It aims to develop the best type of manhood and womanhood. Teachers take a personal interest in their students, giving them individual assistance, visiting them at their homes, and are associated with them in all their doings. Pupils are thus drawn into an atmosphere of culture and refinement. The normal seeks the best methods and the highest ideals of scholarship. Students are taught self government and led to take an interest in current affairs by having access to the best newspapers and magazines that are published. No one should fail to attend school at a higher institution of learning. It is an experience of invaluable worth. The normal attempts to make this the great epoch in the life of the individual.

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

The Conference of the Labor Leaders at Pittsburgh Yesterday Was Without Result.

EACH SIDE HOLDING ITS OWN

President Schwab of the Steel Trust Not Being in Pittsburgh at Present No Progress Has Been Made in the Arbitration Movement.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 24.—The closing of the sixth week of the great steel strike finds the controversy apparently as far from settlement as on the 18th of July, when the joint conference of manufacturers and workers disagreed. Yesterday's conference of labor leaders to devise means for bringing about a settlement was devoid of results, and it rests with the conferees as individuals to seek another conference with the United States Steel corporation executives or to arrange for arbitrating the differences. The meeting made no effort to extend the strike to affiliated trades. This morning President Shaffer expressed himself as well satisfied with the situation.

SCHWAB NOT AT HOME.

New York, Aug. 24.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, was absent from the city today. The plan of the members of the industrial commission and the National Civic Federation to discuss peace in the steel strike with him cannot be carried out until he returns. No expression as to the attitude of the steel corporation in regard to the latest move for a settlement outlined from Pittsburgh was obtainable.

ADDITIONAL STEEL TRUST STOCK. New York, Aug. 24.—The statement furnished by the stock exchange in connection with an application to list additional stock of the United States Steel company issued for the acquisition of the Shelby Steel Tube company

A REPLY BY ADMIRAL SCHLEY

The Navy Department Will Not Question Admiral Howison Regarding His Alleged Interview Published in the Record.

NO CHALLENGE OF ADMIRAL HOWISON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Hackett today received a reply from Admiral Schley to a letter recently submitted to him by the department declining to question Rear Admiral Howison as to the authenticity of an alleged interview with him reflecting upon Admiral Schley. The reply was sent to Captain Lemly, judge advocate of the court of inquiry. This means as far as the department is concerned further action on Howison and the incident will not be taken, that being left to the court.

The letter was as follows: Washington, August 21.

Sir: I have to acknowledge the receipt of the department's letter on this date in reply to my communication of the 18th instant.

2. While it is true one of my counsel, Captain Parker, in reply to an inquiry made to him, did give his personal opinion on several rear admirals on the active and retired list, among them Rear Admiral Howison, I am assured by him that he believes that the secretary misunderstood him and that any of the officers named would be perfectly satisfactory to me. Captain Parker's conversation was had at the time when nothing was known of an alleged interview as was published in The Record.

3. In my letter of the 19th instant, I expressly stated my opinion of the high personal character of Rear Admiral Howison and I avoided any expression of opinion as to the truth of statements made in a newspaper clipping which I enclosed.

4. It was with a desire to avoid the necessity of making a formal challenge that I requested the department to lay before Admiral Howison statements

A SWINDLE ON UNCLE SAM

The Treasury Officials Have Unearthed a Conspiracy at Nogales to Admit Chinese.

THE COLLECTOR ARRESTED

Chinese in Large Numbers Have Been Permitted to Cross the Arizona Border from Mexico Upon the Payment of $50 to $200 Apiece.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The treasury officials have unearthed what they allege is a wide conspiracy at Nogales, Ariz., to admit Chinese to the United States. Thus far the collector at Nogales, Wm. Hoey, and a deputy and Chinese Inspector B. F. Jossey, Frank How and another Chinaman who lives in Clifton, Ariz., have been arrested. Other arrests will follow. It is charged that Chinese in large numbers have been permitted to cross the border upon payment to the collector of anywhere from $50 to $200 apiece. Hoey was appointed about a year and a half ago from Indiana.

HOEY REPRESENTED THE LABOR INTERESTS.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Wm. M. Hoey, arrested at Nogales, Ariz., in connection with the Chinese frauds, was appointed from Muncie, Ind. He was a foreman at the steel mill, his appointment being regarded as recognition of the labor interests.

MANY CHINAMEN ADMITTED. Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The number of Chinamen who bought their way into the United States through the alleged connivance with the Nogales officials is not known, but is believed to be large. A special agent has been ordered to Nogales to take charge of the office if he finds it necessary.

OFFICIAL MATTERS.

AN EXPOSITION COMMISSIONER. Governor Otero today appointed A. E. Page of Roswell, a commissioner to the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian exposition to be held this fall at Charleston, S. C., vice George P. Money, resigned.

APPOINTED COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

Governor Otero has appointed A. Harsch of Albuquerque, a member of the board of county commissioners of Bernalillo county, to succeed R. W. Hopkins, resigned, who was recently appointed postmaster at Albuquerque.

EXAMINATION QUESTIONS FOR TEACHERS.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Francisco Chavez has sent to the county public school superintendents of the territory four sets of examination questions for first and second class teachers' certificates and a circular asking that the examining boards be not too rigid with applicants for certificates this year as these applicants have not had a fair opportunity as yet to familiarize themselves with the requirements of the new law.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

Governor Otero today issued the following proclamation: Territory of New Mexico, Executive Office.

Whereas, The laws of the United States of America designate the first Monday in September of each year as a legal holiday to be known as Labor Day; and Whereas, In this territory the labor of our people in the field, factory and mine have been wonderfully blessed during the past year, and after all toil a period of rest is essential for the best interests of body and brain.

Now, therefore, I, Miguel A. Otero, governor of the territory of New Mexico, do proclaim and declare Monday, the 24 day of September, A. D. 1901, a legal holiday, and do earnestly recommend that all business, except such as the necessities of the community absolutely demand to be carried on, shall be suspended; that the schools be not opened on that day, except as there may be a session in honor of its observance in such manner as will inculcate in our youth a higher appreciation of the dignity of labor, the necessity for it not only for the benefit of the individual, but of the commonwealth and nation, and that all our citizens by the observance of this holiday may come to a higher realization of the fact that to labor is not only necessary, but is honorable and dignified, and that for all men to labor in their respective fields of usefulness is not a curse but a blessing to themselves and to others.

Done at the Capital, at Santa Fe, this 23rd day of August, A. D. 1901. Witness my hand and the great seal of the Territory of New Mexico.

MIGUEL A. OTERO, Governor of Territory of New Mexico. By the Governor: J. W. RAYNOLDS, Secretary Territory of New Mexico.

THE BLAME FOR THE DISASTER IS FIXED

The City of Cleveland, the Contractors and the Crib Engineer Jointly Responsible for the Death of Ten Men.

DISASTER TOOK PLACE LAST WEEK

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—Coroner Simon today rendered his verdict on the disaster ten days ago in which a dozen lives were lost. He finds the city of Cleveland, the sub-contractors and the crib engineer jointly responsible, the former because its officials knew, through the inspectors, of the absence of ordinary precautions for saving life; the sub-contractors because they failed to provide protection for life; and the engineer because he permitted the smoke stacks to become overheated.

EXTENSIVE DEVELOPMENT WORK.

A Contract for a Shaft and a Tunnel on the Jones Copper Property.

Joseph Blonger of this city, today entered into a contract with A. R. Gibson to sink a shaft 100 feet and drive a tunnel 100 feet on the Jones copper property in the Macho mining district fourteen miles southeast of Santa Fe. The shaft will be sunk at the mouth of an open cut which shows ore on all sides. The tunnel will be driven from the breast of the cut which shows 15 feet of ore at the present time. Mr. Gibson is also sinking a trench across from one granite wall to the other, 45 feet below the tunnel and has encountered the same grade of mineral. The distance between granite walls is 92 feet. Extensive development which has been commenced will be greatly increased. Two shifts will be employed and the extent of the ore body which has already been proven large will be determined. The values carried will be copper and gold.

RED RIVER NOTES.

A Mining Dispute of Long Standing Will Soon Be Decided.

Special Cor. New Mexican. Red River, N. M., Aug. 21, 1901.—John Couley has just had his Anaconda No. 3 lode claim surveyed for patent. This property adjoins the town and covers an old copper claim which was worked many years ago. Other parties claim part of the same ground and this step will force a determination of the conflicting interests and settle a dispute of several years standing.

A. H. Reynolds of Columbus, O., brother of Jefferson Reynolds, the Las Vegas banker, is in camp. He will remain several months and will fully investigate its mineral resources. C. M. Morris, of Pueblo, Colo., secretary of the Banker Mining and Milling Company is in town on business for his company.

A $50,000 Suit.

The New Mexican is informed that A. A. Jones, Esq., of Las Vegas, has brought suit in the district court of Colfax county against J. D. Dawson, Frank Springer et al, for attorney fees to the amount of $50,000 for services rendered in the case of J. B. Dawson et al against the Maxwell land grant, which was a suit for the possession of 22,000 acres of coal lands within the limits of the Maxwell land grant and which suit was finally determined by the United States Supreme court in favor of Dawson et al. The 22,000 acres of coal lands were sold a few months ago to C. D. Simpson, president of the El Paso & North Eastern Railroad, for the sum of $1,000,000, and a railroad company has been organized for the purpose of building a line 110 miles long from Liberty on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad in San Miguel county to the town of Dawson, situated on that tract of land in Colfax county.

District Court Notes.

Judge McFie has granted a preliminary injunction in the case of Eliseo Valdez vs. Antonio Valdez and Pedro Maestas to restrain the defendants from interfering with the ditch of the plaintiff at Coyote, Rio Arriba county, which takes water out of the Puerto river.

J. P. Victory was yesterday reappointed United States commissioner and took his oath of office in the district court this morning.

United States Commissioner J. P. Victory today bound over Stephen Easton in $500 bail on the charge of sending an obscene letter through the United States mail to Fannie Allen or Mrs. Francisca Pino. Easton waived an examination.

The City Schools.

As the teachers' examinations do not close until the 31st of August, the probability is that the city schools will not open until September 9, so as to give the teachers a little rest and to give the examining board time to grade the papers and to make out the certificates. The outlook seems good for a most excellent term of school. It is hoped that parents will have their children ready to enter school the first day. The house committee of the board of education proposes to have all the buildings and rooms in a clean, tasty order for the opening of school.

U. S. Weather Bureau Notes.

TURKEY GIVES IN TO FRANCE

The French Quay Company is Granted All That It Has Asked for.

ARMENIAN DISTURBANCES

The Sultan Yields to the Pressure of France as Inevitable and a Rupture of Relations Between the Two Nations is Averted.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—The Quay's company matter has been settled as expected in accordance with the desire of France. An imperial irade has been issued ordering the company to be allowed to exercise freely all rights granted by the concession.

TURKEY YIELDS.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Turkey has yielded to the French pressure, as inevitable, and a full rupture of relations between the two countries has been averted. An official communique, announcing the granting of French demands was issued this morning as follows: "In consequence of the declaration made to the Porte by the French ambassador that he acts under instructions from the minister of foreign affairs, an imperial irade has been issued declaring that no obstacle shall be opposed to the free exercise by the Quay company of rights resulting from their concessions." A firm for a settlement of the matters in question, will, it is believed, be issued shortly.

DISTURBANCES IN ARMENIA.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—Serious disturbances are reported to have occurred at Mush, Armenia, but no details have been received.

TWO MEN BEHEADED.

They Laid Down to Sleep on the Railroad Tracks Near Hanover.

Elrino Chavez and Leon Mora, were run over by the Santa Fe train and were decapitated near Hanover, on Tuesday evening, besides being otherwise horribly mangled. Mora, it is understood, was engaged to a stepdaughter of Chavez, and the wedding was to have taken place Wednesday. Both men were celebrating in anticipation of the joyful event and were drinking heartily during the evening at the different resorts in the camp. Some time early in the evening they started down the Santa Fe track leading to Hanover and when just outside the limits of Fierro, they laid down to "sleep off" the effects of their dissipation. As it was long past train time it is supposed they thought the train had passed, but unfortunately it was eight hours late that evening. The train came along before 10 o'clock but the heavy rumble failed to arouse the sleepers and the entire train passed over their prostrate bodies. The remains were not discovered until early Wednesday morning by men going to work. Both bodies were headless and were otherwise horribly mangled. The men were in the employ of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and Chavez, who was about 60 years of age, leaves a wife and a number of children.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL AT SAN PEDRO.

The Christian Work of a Number of Ladies.

Special Correspondence New Mexican.

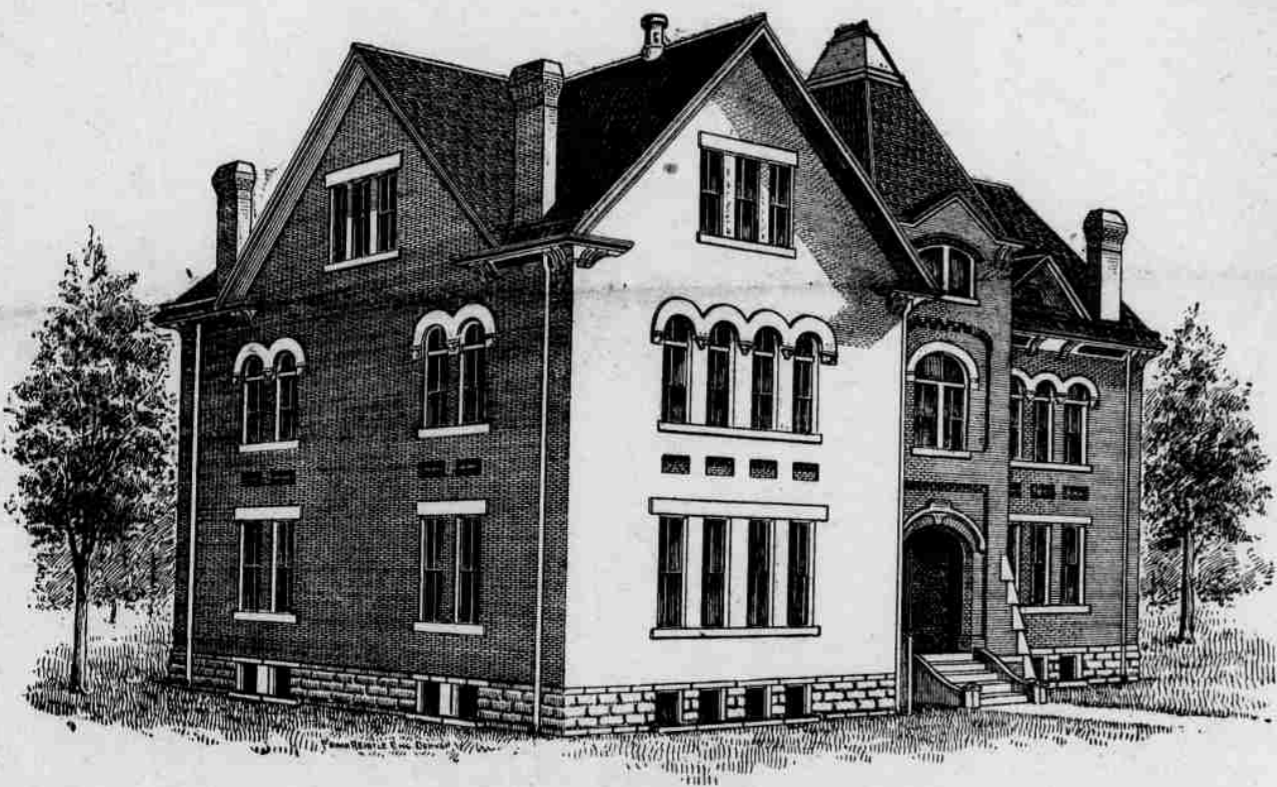

San Pedro, Aug. 24.—During the summer the ladies of San Pedro and Golden have been actively engaged organizing a Sunday school, which is filling a decided want in the community. Hitherto the children have had no place to assemble on Sunday, but now about twenty meet every Sunday at the school house in San Pedro. Mrs. Yates, who has been a resident of San Pedro for about a year, is superintendent; Mrs. Dr. Shadrach, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. J. B. May of Golden, organizer. The school is divided into three classes, the Bible class under Mrs. James, the intermediate with Mrs. James Carruthers as teacher, and the infant class under the supervision of Mrs. J. T. McLaughlin. The enterprise has been very successful, the ladies by their united efforts having purchased an organ and paid for the delivery of a library of 150 books donated by the North Tarrytown, N. Y., Reformed church. Glover Mayo is librarian. As success has so far attended the enterprise, the feasibility of using the books as a circulating library for the benefit of the camp is being actively discussed.

A Fire at Las Cruces.

A fire broke out in the photograph gallery of R. E. Banner at Las Cruces at 2 p. m. yesterday afternoon and destroyed the entire contents, together with a few adjoining apartments. Not a thing was saved from the gallery, as the flames had gained such headway when discovered that it was impossible to enter the premises. Most of the furniture was removed from adjoining places, and the building is an entire loss. The insurance is light.

Granite Belt in Grant County.

The granite belt at Fierro is attracting its full share of attention just now, and a great deal of development work is being done by claim owners. Until quite recently this section of the camp has been greatly neglected, but the finding of rich ore last fall has greatly stimulated investigation. Much of the ground has been owned for years by old timers, but so little did they think of it, that in many instances they did not take sufficient interest in their property to properly describe and monument it. All this is changed now, and since the advent of capital seeking investment, no portion of the camp is receiving more attention, and as a rule, all the ground has been surveyed.

that he is alleged to have made, and thus give him an opportunity to take such action as his sense of propriety on this occasion might suggest.

5. I therefore respectfully state that the department has not placed proper construction upon my letter when it treated it in the nature preliminary to a challenge for the cause. I could not challenge for the cause until I discovered that there was a cause, and the object of my communication, as is evident upon its face, was to ascertain if Rear Admiral Howison had made this statement. You will observe in this connection that in his original statement he says: "I have made no public utterances relating to this subject." I submit that his private utterance would affect his qualification as much as his public utterances, and my request was only to have this alleged interview submitted for his consideration.

Very respectfully, (Signed) W. S. SCHLEY,

Rear Admiral, U. S. N. Secretary of the Navy, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 24.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 57th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

It hard work and well directed efforts on the part of Delegate Rodey will bring about statehood for New Mexico, certainly New Mexico will be admitted by the 57th congress.

Senator Ben Tillman, of South Carolina, is still working his law for the purpose of securing an office. It must be admitted that he has done so successfully for many years past.

Experiments with the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy thus far have proven it to be an interesting system to experiment with, but in order to make sure that a message will arrive at its destination it is still well to rely on the wire service of the Western Union or the Postal telegraph.

Colonel William Jennings Bryan has invested in the petroleum fields of Wyoming and is willfully putting himself in the way to be embraced by the Standard Oil trust. This seems to be a certain sign that he has given up the ambition to become president and will now endeavor to make money to endow universities.

And now come the tidings that there has been no revolutionary movement in the United States of Colombia at all; that the report of a battle between Colombian and the Venezuelan troops was a fake and that all the stories about trouble in the northwestern corner of South America are not worth while talking about. This may be so but conditions in South America have in the past been such that a report of a revolution is more likely to be true than a report that everything is peaceful and serene.

The total assessed valuation of Grant county for the present year, according to the books of the assessor, is $2,108,427 and the estimated revenue therefrom will be $111,243. This is an excellent showing and is but about one-quarter million less than it was for the year 1900, although about $1,000,000 worth of taxable property was taken from Grant county this year when the new census of Luna was created. This is a gratifying contrast, for instance, to the county of Socorro, where the assessment for the year 1901 is $425,000 less than it was for the year 1900. But then there are no great land grants in Grant county and it evidently possesses better county officials.

Now is the time for the progressive cities of the west to prepare for their annual fairs, festivals and carnivals, and Santa Fe should not lag behind the rest in preparing for the annual New Mexico Horticultural fair which should be made much more of a popular feature than it has been in the years past. It is a good advertisement for the city and this section and after several good annual exhibitions have been given people will commence to flock here during the exhibition as they do to the fair at Albuquerque, the mid-winter carnival at El Paso and the Festival of the Mountain and Plain at Denver. It takes some effort and work however to give the territorial horticultural exhibition a status such as will draw crowds and give the city, the county and the territory as great an advertisement as it should receive through its horticultural products.

Mortality Statistics.

The census bureau has published a bulletin of mortality statistics which is of no value except to demonstrate the necessity of a uniform system and legal compulsion to keep such statistics on the part of every state and territory and of every county and municipality. It is ridiculous to claim that St. Joseph, Mo., is the healthiest municipality in the United States, having only a death rate of 9 per thousand, while Denver has a rate of 18.6 per thousand, and Pueblo 23 per thousand, while New Mexico cities run almost as high as that. It simply shows that some juggling has been done with the mortality statistics of St. Joseph or they have not been correctly kept. The number of deaths given for states and territories are equally misleading for they show on the surface that the death rate in Idaho is less than one-half of what it is in New Mexico. That North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming are more healthful than New Mexico for there, according to the official figures, a less number of deaths per 1,000 occurred in 1900 than in New Mexico. As far as this territory is concerned the census of 1900 has given it a black eye which it does not deserve for it is more populous, possesses more wealth and has a far more healthful climate than the census figures show. The pity of it is that the territory must wait another nine years before it is given a show again to demonstrate officially its true growth and advancement by census figures.

Strike leaders talk big, loud and often. But what about the misery, sorrow and suffering of the wives and children of the strikers? Strike leaders are too big to take these into consideration.

The report to the secretary of the interior for the year ending June 30, 1901, now being prepared at the executive office by Governor M. A. Otero, will be the most complete and interesting ever issued concerning New Mexico. Every subject of interest to the territory is fully treated therein. The preparation of the report is a matter of great importance and painstaking labor, but the document when issued will do the territory a great deal of good.

An Unpopular and Incompetent Official.
"Because Surveyor General Quinby Vance happens to be a man of sufficient mental and moral character to refuse to be ruled by gang and gang rule, the Santa Fe New Mexican and its coteries of satellites are doing all in the power of dirty politics to defeat his reappointment. His term of office expired on July 26, and the appointment of his successor will likely be made in the next few days, and in all likelihood, Mr. Vance will succeed himself, though David M. White, locating agent for the land commission and a good pliable friend of the governor's, is just aching to fill his official shoes."—Optic.

Surveyor General Quinby Vance is welcome to the support of such Democratic-Pop sheets as The Optic and two or three others. No good and reputable Republican newspaper has a good word to say for him nor does one such advocate his reappointment, for the simple reason that he is not deserving of support from loyal Republicans, but is deserving of the greatest and strongest support by enemies of the Republican party.

The opposition of the Republican press and of the Republican party of New Mexico to him is based upon serious facts and the New Mexican will enumerate a few of these:

First: He has been a stumbling block in the progress and advancement of the territory of New Mexico during his four years' term as surveyor general, having in many ways retarded the progress of surveys of public lands, land grants and mining claims throughout the territory by his narrow mindedness, neglect of duties, discourteous behavior and his inability to understand the full scope of the duties of his office.

Second: Whenever possible and whenever the discretion was at his command he patronized Democratic newspapers, giving advertising patronage to them to the detriment and at the expense of the Republican party.

Third: His unpopularity and his discourteous and stately manner of treating deputy surveyors have caused a scarcity of such officials to such an extent that but very few surveyors are willing to serve under him and that therefore there is a great delay in the making of public surveys, which is a great detriment to the business, agricultural, stock raising and mining interests of the territory.

Fourth: Although reputed to be a wealthy man, he has during the past four years, according to the records of his home county, Sierra, and of this county, Santa Fe, wherein he has resided for that period, made returns of taxable property that he owns, in such a manner as to be positively laughable. Although the law of the territory requires that every citizen should make a sworn statement of his property for taxation, he has made returns of possessing only 100 acres of grazing land in Sierra county, which he values at 30 cents per acre and on which the taxes amount annually to the very large sum of about $1. Although he has valuable personal property no return of this is made or has been made.

Fifth: In place of using the funds which congress appropriated for the survey of the public domain in New Mexico, in accordance with the spirit and the letter of the law, he has returned to the United States treasury thousands of dollars duly appropriated which should have been spent for such surveys, although the best interests of the territory and of the people demanded that many and many thousands should be surveyed for the benefit of settlers, whose just rights under the law were thus ignored and defied by him in his official capacity.

Sixth: In fact as a public official he has not conducted himself to the satisfaction of the people, whose servant he is, but on the contrary, owing to his indifference to the duties of an office such as he holds, has given great offense and is extremely unpopular.

Seventh: This official has been and is guilty of gross neglect of duty in not attending to the duties of a member of the United States land commission for the territory. He is such a member, but since he became such has attended eleven meetings only, and only one during the past year. The meetings of the commission are held monthly and are of great importance. He is, however, in his own estimation, so immaculate and so saintly that he need not perform the duties incumbent upon him as such member.

Eighth: He is opposed to the advance and progress of the territory and whenever possible assails the Republican territorial administration by word and act; keeping capital and investors out of the territory whenever chance offers, denouncing the people of New Mexico as unfit for self government; by word and deed he opposes statehood for New Mexico whenever opportunity offers, and does many things in his official capacity that are calculated to keep capital and investors out of New Mexico. Were he a private citizen he could do as he pleased, but as an official and public servant and drawing a fine salary from the public treasury, such conduct on his part is very displeasing to the tax payers of the territory.

The New Mexican simply states what is well known all over the territory. It does not assail this man or any other in the territory with false or untrue charges, by innuendoes or insinuations, but in temperate and well measured words shows the people the true state of affairs in this as in all other cases that are mentioned in its columns. This man may be reappointed or he may not be. The issue will be decided in Washington. Surely were the territory a state and had it two senators in the United States senate, men of his caliber and idiosyncrasies would not hold office in the state of New Mexico.

PROFESSOR HUGH A. OWEN.

Professor Hugh A. Owen was born at Worthington, Ind. The early part of his life was spent on a farm. He secured his education in the Kansas State Normal School, the Southwest Kansas College and the Chicago University. He has had experience in teaching in district schools, city graded schools, Chicago evening schools, high schools and normal schools. He had charge of the science work in the Maywood high school, Chicago, for seven years. During his teaching in the Maywood high school, he made annual visits with his classes to the Chicago Academy of Science, Columbian Field Museum, Western Electric Works, Chicago drainage canal, Illinois Steel Works, Standard Oil Refinery, Pullman Car Works, World's Fair, Art Institute, Norton Brothers' tin mill, Latrobe Steel Works, and Lincoln Park Zoological Gardens.

Professor Owen gained a great fund of practical information for himself from these visits, which he uses daily in his classes, thus making his teaching intensely interesting. While his education is quite general, his specialties are physiology, physics and chemistry. He always taught patriotism, and when he heard the call of his country, April 23, 1898, he immediately resigned the principality of the Maywood high school, and enlisted as a private in the volunteer army. He fought during the siege of Santiago in the capacity of color guard of the 1st Illinois infantry, and on the day of the formal surrender, carried "Old Glory" at the head of the victorious American army. He comes by his patriotism in an honest way; his great, great grandfather fought with Washington in this nation's early struggle for liberty. After his return from the Spanish-American war, he secured a position in the New Mexico Normal School of Silver City, which position he now holds.

Professor Owen, as conductor, closes next week, the largest and most successful county normal institute ever held in the city of Santa Fe or in the territory of New Mexico. At the close of the institute the professor returns to his duties at Silver City.

Olive Culture in Arizona.

(Albuquerque Journal-Democrat.)
Each year the business has increased, the Arizona olive gaining a strong foothold in the east, through its peculiar sweet flavor and the quality of the oil. Now about 300 acres of olives in the Salt River valley are in full bearing, and several oil plants have been established. The slow growth and maturity of the olive does not make it a popular tree for the grower who needs quick returns, but to those orchardists who possess patience, and who lined their roadways and protected their orchards with rows of olives, are providing a valuable asset.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under the Sun."
All doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acid charges, and curing in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalant have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cause itching and irritation. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure," and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Snuffles" is the only perfect Catarrh Cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve Hay Fever or Cold in the head.
Catarrh when neglected often leads to consumption—"Snuffles" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure Catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Snuffles" the "Guaranteed Catarrh Cure." Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Det. D644, Edwin B. Gile, Company, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

For Nearly Two Years Unable to Lay in Bed

"In my capacity as druggist, in Buffalo, N. Y., I have the best opportunity to judge of the merits of many different remedies. I am in close touch with the sick, who come into my store for medicines, and most of them tell me how they are getting along. Of all the hundreds of preparations which I sell, not a single one begins to give as much satisfaction as Acker's English Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pleurisy and Consumption. I sell it on a distinct guarantee that it will cure, or the purchaser's money will be returned. This is a perfectly safe guarantee, because the remedy does cure. Nobody wants his money returned. His cures are nothing short of marvelous. Take the case of Mr. A. H. Gilbert, for instance. He lives at No. 5 Carey street, Buffalo, N. Y. For more than three years he had a bad case of asthma, and had been unable to lie down in bed for nearly two years. He came to my store and asked me what to do. I said: 'Take Acker's English Remedy.' He said he had tried other remedies and didn't think this would help him. But he thinks differently now. Three bottles fixed his asthma all right. He could sleep and eat after taking them, as well as when a boy. He was cured several months ago, and is well yet, so I am certain his trouble is gone for good. You can write to Mr. Gilbert himself, if you doubt my word. He will go further than me in praising Acker's English Remedy." (Signed) S. B. THOMAS, druggist, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sold at 25c, 50c, and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back.

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 15, 1900
My wife was sick for three years. We did everything without relief and spent much money. My wife tried Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She took two more bottles. "It is as if she would have to work hard during the day and then lie down at night and be unable to get up. She was weak and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 20 years of age." JOSEPH A. EISENHAUER.

Mrs. Eisenhauser had tried everything during her three years' sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui, a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures all troubles, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Theodore's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Theodore's Black-Draught.

THE MAIDEN OF THE SMILE.

In that fair land where slope and plain
Shine back to sun and sky,
And olive shade the sprouting grain
When wintry arrows fly,
Where snow-fed streams seek sun-warmed
vales,
Through vineyard-scarped dells,
The world we enter with a smile,
She greeted with a smile.
Slumbering she smiled, and smiling woke,
And when she felt the smart
Of grave sad life, smiles still bespoke
Her tenderness of heart.
And nightly when she knelt and prayed
Beside her snow-white bed,
Her face was one pure smile that made
A Heaven about her head.
When Love first trembled in her ear
The heart-throbs that beguile,
She listened with a smile,
Then chased it with a smile.
Sorrow and pain with smiles she bore
Until her latest breath;
But the sweetest smile she ever wore
Was the smile she wore in death.

An Ugly Girl

By Margaret C. Fawcett.

(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

HE WAS competing for a prize offered by a big publication and had buried himself in Ashton because it was the first place he happened to think of. Ashton was mildly gay in July. In January it was not much livelier than its own quiet cemetery on the West Hill. Naturally Broadbridge did not mind the dullness. The mornings he devoted to writing, the afternoons to long tramps down the main street and out into the country. It was during these tramps that he planned his story. His evenings were a trifle slow—at first. It was at the end of his first week in Ashton that he met "the ugly girl" on one of his walks. She wore a sensible short skirt, sensible stout boots, a short, mannish coat and a scarlet tam o' shanter. He noted these details with disapproval. He was accustomed to elegant women of the hot house variety. Most of all, he objected to the ugly girl's lack of beauty. Small eyes of a nondescript color, though one might stretch a point and call them blue, a tip-tilted nose and a wide mouth; these things he observed with unkind criticism on that first meeting. That lips and cheeks matched the tam o' shanter in color might have compensated somewhat for the irregular features, but, alas! nose and chin were only a shade paler. Then, too, the ugly girl's manner displeased him. She had looked him over with a provokingly superior little air, as if he were the green grocer's clerk or one of the other young men of the village, and Broadbridge had always prided himself on his air of distinction. He was angry that evening to find that he could not forget the episode of the meeting. A crimson tam flitted between his eyes and the pages of the book he was trying to read. The next morning but one he walked down to the village post office and met her on the way. Three dogs were jumping about her, two great Danes and a terrier. He went home and wrote steadily the rest of the morning. Before luncheon he read what he had written and tore it up.

"She's the daughter of the Episcopal minister," said his hostess that evening, in answering a blunt inquiry. "She keeps house for her father. They live in that pretty little white cottage next the church which you think is so picturesque."

He found the rector to be a gentleman and a scholar whose broken hungering for the flesh pots of modern Egypt, Dr. Peters welcomed Broadbridge cordially. The two took a tramp together, and upon their return Broadbridge was invited to have tea at the rectory. He found that the ugly girl had much self-possession for a country lass and the fanciful name of Carr. She chattered cheerfully about many things with him and her father, but Broadbridge felt that she hardly separated the two—and he was only 30. He had learned that the best way to attract an intelligent young woman's attention was to say something rather rude.

"I hardly expected, Miss Peters," he observed, while sipping his coffee in the cosy library one night after dinner—the rector had been called out by a member of his parish—"to find anything quite so new as yourself in sleepy Ashton." One of Broadbridge's many gifts was an expressive voice. That seductively "new" implied many things, not all of them flattering.

"And you don't like new women," said Miss Peters, frankly. "Well, we are quite. I have no great admiration for the modern man. Please smoke, if you care to. Father always smokes here."

"And what is your definition of the modern man?" queried Broadbridge, with interest.

"All opinions and no convictions," retorted Miss Peters, succinctly. "Are you fond of Chopin?"

The abrupt change of subject annoyed Broadbridge. The ugly girl lacked tact, he thought.

That night wild Polish melodies, a tip-tilted nose, a mocking mouth and a fat cheek were curiously mixed up in Broadbridge's dreams. The next morning he began a new story.

After his acquaintance with the Peters he altered his plans somewhat. He still wrote in the mornings, he still tramped about the country in the afternoons, but now a red tam o' shanter generally bobbed near his shoulder. In the evenings he visited Dr. Peters at the rectory. Miss Peters was interested in the story.

"It will be detestably cynical," she said, with her usual frankness. "All played out."

Dull headache, Pains in various parts of the body, Sinking at the pit of the stomach, Loss of appetite, Feverishness, Pimples or Sores are all positive evidences of impure blood. No matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Ackers Blood Bile has never failed to cure Scrofulous or Syphilitic poisons or any other blood diseases. these modern stories are. I stopped reading them long ago."

"You are lacking in charity, Miss Peters," observed Broadbridge, gravely. "You should have considered the modern writers."

Miss Peters airily disregarded the sarcasm. "We have smart writers, nowadays. We haven't any great writers."

"For a new woman you are the most old-fashioned I ever met," he said, gazing half quizzically at the mannish little figure. Miss Peters had grace, if she hadn't beauty.

"I suspect only my clothes are new," she answered, with a laugh. "Tell me about your heroine. Is she, hesitatingly, 'very beautiful'?"

"To me she is very beautiful," said Broadbridge, though, of course, still in a matter of taste. "I may safely say"—Miss Peters thought he said it with unnecessary, almost brutal, emphasis—"that the good reading public would also call my heroine beautiful."

"I suppose they are more interesting when they are beautiful," admitted Miss Peters, "but I wish—wisely—"some one would write a story about an ugly girl."

"It would be a rather catchy title," observed Broadbridge, carelessly. He wondered if the ugly girl was not a trifle lacking in penetration.

Broadbridge was young enough to flatter himself that he understood women very well. Such presumption generally carries with it its own punishment. When Miss Peters, after that conversation about his heroine, began to avoid him, he made up his mind that she had read in his eyes his growing interest, and did not care to encourage it. Broadbridge began to feel blue and his story became of secondary importance. The rector possessed a valuable reference library, which he placed at Broadbridge's disposal.

When Miss Peters began to desert him in his walks the library was a pretext for meeting her. The story was almost finished, and in spite of his blueness he felt singularly elated over it. Miss Peters' lack of interest, however, marred his content. He was sitting in the library late one afternoon reading when she came in unexpectedly. She nodded cordially to Broadbridge, seized a book and turned to leave.

"Stay and talk," pleaded Broadbridge. "It's too early for lights and too dusky to read."

"We've nothing more to talk about," said Miss Peters, gazing into the fire. "I know what you would say on every subject."

"Well, life, for instance," suggested Broadbridge, nettled.

"An ill endured because man is vain and objects to becoming nothing."

"And death?"

"An ending with no fresh beginning."

"And—love?"

"Flirtation carried to its logical conclusion—disillusionment."

As she mockingly repeated some of his own pet cynicisms Miss Peters looked provokingly impatient in the freights, but, of course, she couldn't realize her own irresistible charm, and when Broadbridge suddenly kissed her there seemed no excuse for him. He had no opportunity for the explanation that was meant to follow the kissing, for Miss Peters, after one indignant, scornful glance, fled from the room. That night he almost finished the story. The next morning, in passing through the hall, he heard Miss Peters' voice talking to his hostess.

"It's been an engagement of long standing," she was saying. "Although I don't believe I've ever mentioned the name to you before."

"It's perfectly lovely, and I congratulate you—"

Broadbridge, dazed, seized his hat and rushed out of the house. He walked all morning. In the afternoon he tried to finish his story, but found he couldn't write an intelligent line. Finally, with sudden resolve, he bundled up and sent it unfinished to the editor. The next day he went down to bid the rector good-bye. He inquired for Miss Peters.

"Ah," said the rector, kindly, "she was so sorry to leave without seeing you. She left last night for Boston to attend the wedding of a college friend. It's an engagement of long standing, I believe. The girls promised at college that whoever was married first should invite the other to be maid of honor."

Two weeks after he left Ashton Broadbridge received a letter from the editor, together with the manuscript. "Your story is the most available of any sent in," said the letter, "but it's not finished. Doubtless you overlooked sending us the last sheet. If it ends happily, send it back to us with the missing sheet, and we'll consider it."

Two days later Miss Peters in Boston received a manuscript entitled "An Ugly Girl," together with the note Broadbridge had received from the editor. There was also a note from Broadbridge himself.

"I'm in a dilemma," said this latter note. "I should like to have the story accepted, for its acceptance would help make possible an ideal honeymoon with Easter, perhaps, in Rome. But the story is true to life. I can't mar it by making up an ending. Please read it yourself and tell me whether it is to end happily."

"I, too, should like to have the story accepted," wrote back Miss Peters, "for I feel as if I had a proprietary interest in it. End it happily, by all means."

Of course there was a postscript. "Your title is a misnomer," it said. "You call your heroine ugly, but you make her out angelic."

That night Broadbridge took the train for Boston.

OVERBURDENED.

The Egyptian woman looks greatly overburdened, and yet the physical burdens she carries will not compare with the burdens borne by many an American woman. There is no burden like the burden of disease. The woman who suffers from inflammation or ulceration, bearing-down pains, weakness and nervousness, bears a burden which crushes her very life.

Every woman should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures the womanly diseases which cause weakness and feebleness. It quiets the nerves, cures the aching back and throbbing head, and gives strength for wifely cares and maternal duties.

"When I first wrote to you I was in a bad condition, and had almost given up," says Mrs. Bella Sailer, of Wilkesville, Vinton Co., Ohio. "I was suffering from female trouble of the worst kind; I couldn't eat anything without suffering great distress, throat hurt, me by spells; was nervous and weak. Had numb hands and arms, heart trouble, pains all through my body and aching head and feet. I thought that I could not work at all. I got Dr. Pierce's medicine and took it as directed, and the first week it began to help me. I took three bottles and am glad to say that it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever took. I feel better than I have for years."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth bound volume is desired, send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.
