PEACE STILL SEEMS FAR OFF

There Are Vague Rumors of Negotiations to be Resumed With the Steel Trust Officials But There Are No New Developments.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 26.—Development in the steel strike were meagre this morning. The probable renewal of the peace negotiations by disinterested parties was again being discussed, but nothing definite could be learned. Henry M. White, of the Garment Makers of America, and Ralph M. Easley, of the National Civic Federation, who took part in the conference in this city last week, left for the east last night, and it is reported that they went to New York to make another attempt to have the negotiations between the contending parties reopened. President Shaffer, however, said the association had authorized no new steps for peace. The combine, it is said, intends to make aggressive attempts to start more plants this week. They were successful in putting two more mills in operation at Painters this morning.

NO PROPOSITION FOR PEACE.

New York, Aug. 26.—No proposition looking to the settlement of the steel strike had been submitted up to 11 a. m. today to the United States Steel corporation as a result of the conference at Pittsburg last week of the members of the Amalgamated association, the industrial commission, the civic federation and the labor leaders. As far as could be ascertained, no participants in the conference had come to New York.

LABOR LEADERS AT NEW YORK.
New York, Aug. 26.—Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic Federation of Labor, and Henry M. White, of the United Garment Workers of America, arrived here today from Pittsburg. They said they had not been authorized to make any proposition looking toward a settlement of the steel strike. Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, also arrived in the city today. Gompers was in conference with Easley and White, but it was said the conference resulted in no plan for action.

Constantinople, Aug. 26.—M. Constant, the French ambassador, after making farewell calls on his colleagues yesterday, left here today on board of the Vautour for Stamboul, where he will take the train.

THE SULTAN STILL STUBBORN.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Sultan Abdul Hamid's trade giving satisfaction in the quays' question was taken as indication that he would accept the entire French claims but M. DEATH OF JOSEPH HERSCH.

He Was One of the Oldest Residents of the Capital City.

Joseph Hersch, one of the oldest residents of Santa Fe and a pioneer of this territory, passed away peacefully yesterday morning at 5 o'clock of old age, having been ailing for some time. He was 86 years of age, was a pioneer of the days in Santa Fe that followed immediately upon the occupation of the territory by the United States. Mr. Hersch was born in Poland, but at the age of 13 removed to Prussia, and in 1837 came to the United States, residing until 1847 in New York state. In that year he came to Santa Fe and established himself in business. Of the vicissitudes of those early days Mr. Hersch could have related enough to fill a volume. He made and lost fortunes in the turning of a hand and at one time was considered the wealthiest resident of the territory. But misfortunes came. One fire cost him $60,000, another $40,000. Unsuccessful business ventures reduced his wealth considerably. During the civil war he was an army contractor. He raised a company of volunteers, cavalry, and equipped it entirely at his expense. He suffered considerably from Indian depredations, his freight trains making frequent trips to all parts of the territory. Mr. Hersch built and operated the first steam flouring mill west of the Missouri, and also erected a distillery at Santa Fe, showing that he was a man of enterprise. There was a time during his business career in New Mexico when he sold flour for $25 a hundredweight and received prices in proportion for other commodities. Mr. Hersch was one of the first members of Paradise lodge of Odd Fellows in this city, and in his prime took an interest in all public movements. His integrity was never questioned, his word being as good as his bond. He was beloved by many and in the days of his prosperity his charity and goodheartedness were proverbial.

He is survived by his wife, nee Rosalie Herschberg, to whom he was married in 1868, and the following children: Beatrice and Bertha who are at home, Leo Hersch of this city, Mrs. Hattie Hatcher and Helena Hersch of Pagosa Springs, Colo., and David Hersch of the same place, who however, has been in Santa Fe the past week. Three children and one grandchild preceded him to the grave. Five grandchildren are living.

No definite funeral arrangements have yet been made, but the funeral will probably take place Wednesday forenoon. Charles Wagner will be the funeral director.

AN INDEX OF PROSPERITY

A Large Increase in the Number of Incorporations of Companies in New Mexico.

ALMOST $90,000,000 CAPITAL

Among the Incorporations the Last Fiscal Year Were Five Railroad Companies Which Will Build 730 Miles of Railroad.

From statistics furnished by Territorial Secretary J. W. Reynolds it is gleaned that as large and as many as were the incorporations in New Mexico during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, that record is exceeded by that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, which shows 149 incorporations with a capitalization of $89,735,925, and fees paid for incorporation to the territorial secretary amounting to $7,640. This certainly indicates that capital is flowing into the territory and that New Mexico is making rapid strides forward. During the year previous the number of incorporations was 108 with a capital of $75,118,000. That year the foreign incorporations furnished the greater part of the capitalization, namely $47,620,000 with 29 companies, while during the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1901, there were 28 foreign incorporations with $17,570,000 capital, while the domestic incorporations were 123 with $89,735,925 capital. Of the foreign incorporations, nine were from Colorado, four from West Virginia, three from New Jersey, two from Arizona and Illinois each and one each from Delaware, Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota, Texas, and Canada. Of the incorporations of the last fiscal year 65 were for the purpose of mining, milling and smelting, having a combined capital of $51,885,000; 47 for manufacturing and other industrial purposes with a capitalization of $2,817,425; 19 for the development of land with a capitalization of $15,550,000, while during the year previous only one oil company was incorporated with $25,000 capital; six bank, building and loan associations with a capitalization of $1,520,000; five railway companies with a capitalization of $16,561,500 to build 730 miles of railroad against two railroad companies the year previous with a capitalization of $3,500,000 to build 130 miles of railroad; five irrigation and improvement companies with a capitalization of $1,392,000; and two benevolent and charitable institutions. The fees for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, were $5,772.25, while for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, they amounted to $7,640.

ORGAN AND VICINITY.

Considerable Development Work is Being Done in the Camp.

A small force continues work on the Excelsior at Organ, and ships enough ore to pay expenses. Jack Hall is erecting a residence near the south foot of Black Mountain near Organ, and will move his cattle and horses from below Alamogordo.

John Hogan has succeeded in stocking up the Oriental group at Organ, and it is confidently asserted that work on it will be inaugurated in a short time. Pasture on the Jornada and on the San Augustine plain is very luxuriant, and cattle and horses which resort to the lower lands are in prime condition.

Professor Goss is still doing surface work on the Little Buck. A few days since he discovered pockets containing sulphides and native silver which assayed from 8,000 to 15,000 ounces per ton.

At the Modoc mine at Organ, 16 hands are at work preparing a site for a concentrator, repairing roads, etc. There is already a store for supplying necessities for workmen, in connection with a saloon for furnishing liquid refreshments to employees.

The Torpedo at Organ, is still idle and will continue idle until a pump with a capacity to lift an over-supply of water is put in place. Meantime large bodies of ore in drifts from the north shaft are liable to be totally lost, unless hoisted before an inevitable cave-in sets in.

C. N. Anthony has just sold to the Torpedo company at Organ 150,000 shares of Copper Bar stock. Mr. Anthony has left camp temporarily, and will represent the Denver Fire Clay company until work recommences on the Torpedo, where he has held position as assayer for two years past.

On the King, at Organ, recorded in the names of W. B. Hayden and Frank T. Anderson, drifts are being pushed eastward and westward, from the bottom of the 100-foot shaft, through iron and quartz. The property is being worked by Messrs. Hayden, Mills, Tate and Ferguson; Ferguson and Mills having a lease on Anderson's undivided one-half interest.

Messrs. Kingsley, James and Hall are working the Tough Nut at Organ, the property of Mrs. Burt and the McLaughlin heirs. The Tough Nut, a silver and lead lead claim from which high grade silver has been taken, is located northeast of the Excelsior, and southwest of the Little Buck, and should prove as valuable as either of its neighbors.

W. H. Mackey, Jr., lessee of the Bennett-Stephenson mine at Organ, has not returned from Kansas, and work begun some weeks ago has been suspended. An effort was made to store, in the body of the mine, water after countered in the old shaft, but after some hours of pumping it was discovered that the volume of water was not materially lowered, since it ran back almost as rapidly as it was lifted.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 57th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

A British actor asserts that the play of Hamlet is more of a comedy than a tragedy. The English always do enjoy a sad joke.

Tammany hall knows very well that there is no power in virtue and hence looks with favor upon all classes of vice existing in New York City.

It is breaking no confidence to tell the Hon. David Bennett Hill that the name of the next president of the United States will not begin with an "H," although his home state may be New York.

Card playing on the suburban trains into New York is being stopped. Tammany hall wants to do all the robbing and stealing in and about New York and will not allow citizens to be robbed by anyone else.

By making a great noise and howl a few four-by-nine politicians who are for the territorial administration, are endeavoring to make the people believe they amount to something, but the people know too much.

The University of Chicago seems to have a faculty of getting dam phools among its professors. One of them recently stated that Longfellow was nothing but a writer of doggerel and very poor doggerel at that.

The actions of a few men who are opposed to statehood in New Mexico suggest the action of Mrs. Partington in trying to keep back the waters of the sea with a broom. New Mexico must and shall become a state within the next three years.

The steel workers' strike is turning out not to be a picnic for the strikers. After all strikes are serious things and the wives and children of the strikers are learning this quite thoroughly, but the walking delegates and the leaders do not want to become acquainted with this fact.

The Democratic members of congress want a revision of the Dingley tariff. The country is very well satisfied with it. However, the Democratic party having no very definite policy to fall back upon, it always finds a safe place of refuge by attacking the tariff question.

The territorial papers are commenting upon the fact that Santa Fe does not possess a single modern public school building although its school revenues are greater than those of any other city in New Mexico outside of Albuquerque and Las Vegas. It is a poor advertisement for the territorial capital.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, a paper that in the campaigns of 1896 and 1900 strongly and vociferously supported William Jennings Bryan for the presidency, now bewails the fact that the Democracy did not find out any sooner that Bryan was a very improper man to nominate as its candidate for president. Anything for success seems to be the motto of that paper.

Farmington will after the 31st of this month become of a town government. If its new town officials are wise they will not rush the town heading into debt or spend its revenues for unnecessary frills. A town government is a sign of progress, but it is not necessary for a progressive town to do as many incorporated municipalities have done or are doing, to permit its expenditures to exceed its income.

The Jackson club of Kansas City will on September 18, at a banquet, launch a boom for Ex-Governor William J. Stone of Missouri, for president. It is easy to launch a boomlet, but to steer the craft through the turbulent political waters is another matter and it does not look now as if Ex-Governor Stone had any chance of receiving the Democratic nomination, much less of being elected in November, 1904. The nation will in that year elect a Republican to succeed the present incumbent, the great and wise Major William McKinley.

Bird S. Coler, comptroller of New York City, is being talked of for the Democratic nomination of mayor. Mr. Coler is a remarkable clever young man who seems to have a great future before him if he makes no mistakes and cuts loose from Wall street associations. Should he be elected mayor of New York a natural sequence will be his nomination by the Democrats for governor of the state and should he be successful in that race there is every reason to believe that he will be the Democratic candidate for the presidency in the near future. Mr. Coler's name is very well known in New Mexico, his father's firm, W. N. Coler & Co., having at one time held large amounts of New Mexico county bonds. The young man's career will be watched in New Mexico with great interest.

It pays municipalities to own their water and irrigation systems. The little town of Rockvale in Colorado has less than a thousand inhabitants but in twelve years paid for waterworks that cost it $35,000, by merely charging a nominal water rent. In addition, a goodly area of land has been reclaimed and the people of the town have excellent drinking water and a pressure in the pipes of 100 pounds to the inch, sufficient for the extinction of the largest fire that may visit the town. There are some towns in New Mexico at present without water systems which might do well to imitate the example of Rockvale, the only requisite for its success being the building of the works upon scientific and economic principles and the honest administration of the works so that their revenue will pay for the interest on the investment. Leave a surplus for repairs and improvements and leave sufficient for a sinking fund to pay off the cost of the works in twelve to twenty years as Rockvale has done.

Sugar Beets and Beet Sugar.

The British consul, Wyndham, at Chicago, is of the opinion that the United States will soon be producing from sugar beets the $100,000,000 worth of sugar that is being imported annually. As soon as this is the case, New Mexico will contribute not a small share toward that result. Of the total consumption of sugar by the world, one-third is at present produced from cane and the other two-thirds from beets. Consulting the cultivation of sugar beets in the United States has proved that it may be made a profitable and successful investment. A large factory has been built at Rocky Ford, Colo., which cost $1,000,000 to build and equip. It is proposed to have it ready for the crop of the coming season. To supply it the farmers in the vicinity have contracted to grow 8,000 acres of beets a year for five years. From tests made, they estimate their beets will yield 15 to 18 per cent of sugar. The factory, when running at its full capacity, will consume daily 1,000 tons of beets, which it will convert into about 100 tons of refined sugar of the highest purity. The beets reach maturity with a high percentage, and seldom go below 15 per cent; 12 per cent is taken as the basis of buying beets at the factory.

"The beets are grown by the farmers under contract with the factory, and paid for according to the saccharine contents determined by chemical tests made of samples taken from the wagons at the time of delivery. In addition, the factory controls about 5,000 acres of land. Most of the land will be farmed by tenants, but only a portion of each farm is devoted to beets each year. Growers sell their beets to the factory under the sugar contents. The tests somewhat resemble the assaying of ore from the mines. Selling upon this basis encourages better farming and the raising of better beets. It is the only fair way, both to the raiser and the manufacturer."

"At Sugar City, a farm of 12,000 acres has been cultivated for raising sugar beets, and a sugar factory has been built with a capacity of 500 tons every 24 hours. On the farm 1,000 men and women have been employed during the summer, and this season's crop will be converted into sugar. The establishment of the sugar factory at this point built the town, which a few years ago consisted of a hut or two and thousands of prairie dogs. Next year fully 4,000 acres of beets will be in cultivation. The output will be increased as rapidly as possible, and every day the demand for workmen is increasing."

"A general estimate of the cost of construction, cost of operation, and general results to be counted upon, of beet sugar factories in this district as taken from the Rocky Ford plant places the general average of sugar in the beets at 12 per cent. So far as the Arkansas Valley in Colorado is concerned, this percentage is largely exceeded; the minimum percentage of sugar being about 14 per cent, while the maximum has reached 23 per cent, with a coefficient of purity ranging from 80 to 96 per cent. In stating these results, reference is especially made to the factory at Rocky Ford, built and worked by the American Beet Sugar company, a New York corporation, which works two factories in California and three in Nebraska, the one at Rocky Ford being their fifth. The experts in charge of this last factory all express surprise at the results of this first campaign, and they have become thoroughly convinced that this valley (Arkansas Valley, Colo.) is the ideal sugar-producer, thanks to its equable climate, ample supply of water for irrigation, cheap fuel and limestone, and an unlimited extent of available land for beet culture. It is expected that the same company will erect one or more factories in addition to the one at Rocky Ford, one to be built further east and the other west of Rocky Ford."

What is said of the Arkansas Valley, Colo., can be said of the Rio Grande, the Santa Fe, the San Juan and other valleys of New Mexico, with a few advantages added that the Arkansas Valley does not possess. The best plan to secure sufficient land under beet cultivation is that of the capitalists building the factory also buying, reclaiming and cultivating the land necessary to supply the factory with raw material. Wherever the other plan has been tried in this country of securing enough beets from independent cultivators of the soil there has been friction and in some years failure, but with the sugar factory controlling 8,000 to 20,000 acres itself and cultivating it according to scientific and economical methods there is sure to be success and dividends at the end of the season. Land in New Mexico is cheap and it can easily be reclaimed in favored localities such as Santa Fe by storage reservoirs and water pumped from wells. The Ozarks instead of waiting for the people of this section to go to them offering to put 5,000 acres under sugar beet cultivation should buy the necessary acreage, reclaim it and plant it with sugar beets to supply the factory that they would erect. It would pay them much better in the end than the plan of building a factory upon the pledges of individual land owners to supply them annually with a certain amount of sugar beets.

ECZEMA

Eczeema sets the skin on fire. The acid poisons in the blood are forced out through the pores of the skin, causing intense redness, burning and itching. So terrible is the itching at times, especially when the body is overheated, that the almost distracted sufferer feels that he could tear the skin to pieces, and that he must scratch or go crazy. He knows from experience that this only makes matters worse, but, made desperate by the terrible burning and itching, he is for the time being indifferent to after effects. There are several forms of Eczeema, the moist, or weeping kind, that comes in little pustules which discharge a watery, sticky fluid, which dries and peels off in bran-like scales. So profuse is the discharge at times that it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many highly recommended preparations without benefit, and hearing of Dr. S. S. S. I determined to give it a fair trial, and was immeasurably delighted when a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and leaving my skin as smooth and healthy as ever. I shall not fail to recommend Dr. S. S. S. whenever an opportunity occurs.

Mr. L. Marno, Escondido, San Diego County, Cal., writes: "My body broke out with a rash or eruption which in spite of all efforts to cure continued to get worse. The itching, especially at night, was simply terrible; it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many highly recommended preparations without benefit, and hearing of Dr. S. S. S. I determined to give it a fair trial, and was immeasurably delighted when a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and leaving my skin as smooth and healthy as ever. I shall not fail to recommend Dr. S. S. S. whenever an opportunity occurs."

THE TESTIMONY OF A PHYSICIAN
He Comes to New Mexico Suffering from Tuberculosis and Returns Home a Well Man.

NEW MEXICO'S PEERLESS CLIMATE

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

"New Mexico is a paradise for consumptives and all other sufferers from pulmonary troubles. When I left Pittsburg two years ago, I weighed only 168 pounds. After I had been in New Mexico six months I weighed 218."

Thus spoke Dr. S. Carnes, formerly of Homestead, but now located in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Two years ago he fled himself to the arid wastes of the great southwest, there to seek a prolonged lease on life, as he found he was suffering from tuberculosis, and continued living in this climate would have resulted in untold suffering if not death. Dr. Carnes is well known in the busy steel town of the Monongahela river, having been president of the Homestead board of health and surgeon for the Pennsylvania navy, and for a number of years an active member of the borough council. He is now in Homestead on a visit to his old friends and a healthier, more robust looking man it would be hard to find. He says he feels as if there were no tuberculosis bacilli within a thousand miles. He is fervent in his praises of the territory of New Mexico as a home for consumptives. In speaking of it, he said:

"A person can be greatly benefited and in some cases cured if he goes there before the disease has made too much progress. If he waits until he is nearly dead, however, nothing can be done, for there is no climate that will put new life into a man that is half dead. The trouble is most people go too late. I know lots of people who went to Albuquerque and came home cured. Everybody who goes there when in the first stage of tuberculosis can be benefited, that's certain. But they should rough it, going there and keep it up as much as possible. That's the way I did, and I never felt better in my life. I went with a party and we got a wagon and drove over the plains and the steppes and camped out and hunted and fished and slept in the open air. There's no use of a person going there for two or three weeks. That's where the mistake comes. They should go and stay until either cured or in first-class shape. If they come back to the old climate where they got the seeds of the disease they will simply fall into the same old rut. Some persons get well enough to come back here and resume work, but they are rare and the course of a few years it is dollars to doughnuts that they must return to the west."

Dr. Carnes then stated the advantages of the New Mexico climate as far as consumptives are concerned. Humidity is the worst foe a patient with consumption can encounter, and it is this that makes residence in Pittsburg and other places unsafe. The weather here is too violently mercurial and there is too much dampness. In speaking of these matters, Dr. Carnes said: "In New Mexico we have all the requirements of a suitable climate for consumptives—pure atmosphere, equable temperature, not subject to rapid variations, and a larger number of sunny days than any other city in the United States. The pure atmosphere is the first consideration and one that is met so well in New Mexico. The rarification of the air in high altitudes is of great benefit in increasing the respiratory movement in pulmonary diseases. It brings about in time a condition of dilation of the air vessels and a permanent increase in the size of the chest, and a point apparently not generally appreciated upon young people with poorly developed chests. Undoubtedly it is from this class that the army of tuberculosis cases which come to arid southwest is largely recruited. If the boys and girls of high school age who are growing rapidly, but show weak lungs, poorly developed chests and a tendency to take cold, could be sent to New Mexico for a year or two to a high altitude it can confidently be predicted that many would develop into strong healthy individuals instead of weaklings who soon join the vast army of sufferers from the white plague."

Alluding to the remarkable number of sunny days, the doctor said that last year there were 357 days in the year when old Sol beamed forth more or less. In no year does the number of days when the sun is excluded exceed eight or nine. At Fort Stanton and Fort Bayard, New Mexico, the United States government has built sanitariums for the sailors and soldiers of the navy

Missouri Code Pleading

By Mr. Everett W. Pattison, (Author of Pattison's Complete Digest.) Nearly 600 Pages. Price, $5. Delivered. This Book is a Very Important One for all Lawyers.

It sets forth, as succinctly as is consistent with clearness, the present condition of the law governing pleading as interpreted by the courts of last resort in Missouri. The decisions are mostly those of the Missouri courts; though in some instances illustrations have been drawn from the decisions of other code states.

The Author Thoroughly Believes in the Advantages of the Code System of Pleading.

He further believes that precision and exactness are even of more importance in code pleading than in pleading at common law. For, while it is true that the common law requires the utmost strictness in adherence to forms, yet, if its forms are followed, the practical lawyer has little fear of attack upon his pleading, even though that pleading should totally fail to inform his opponent as to the real points in issue. On the other hand, the very object of the Code is to compel parties to make clear the grounds upon which their right to recover, or their defense, is based. The lawyer who is well grounded in the rules of pleading will surely have the advantage in litigation. The constant study of this valuable work, familiarly with the rules set forth in it, and with the decisions enforcing and interpreting those rules, cannot fail to make one a good pleader.

SPECIAL OFFER—To those who buy both books at once, we will offer Pattison's Pleading Form Book (Price, $5.00) if ordered within the next 30 days, two works, giving a total of $7.50, to be said as Pleading Missouri.

In one order, Prepaid for $10.00.

Another Air Ship Invented.

Another inventor claims to have perfected an air ship. It is to be hoped this inventor has at last solved the problem successfully, and the launching of this ship into space will be looked forward to with considerable eagerness. The mode of travel will doubtless supplant many other means of transportation, the same as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has supplanted inferior medicines in the cure of stomach, liver and kidney disorders. The effect this medicine has upon the refractory stomach is marvelous, and when taken faithfully will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness and sick headache. It is a good medicine to take as it will keep the bowels regular and ward off attacks of malaria, fever and ague. Be sure to give it a trial.

Pity The Poor Farmer

The average farmer has always been accused of being a chronic grumbler. Whether he is or isn't is aptly illustrated through a conversation ex-United States Marshal M. A. Smalley of Toledo had with one of the farmers in his county. Mr. Smalley is assisting in securing the right of way for an electric railway, and learned through one of the agriculturists his views. In an opening conversation Mr. Smalley said:

"Haven't you got a big wheat crop?"

"Yes," said the farmer.

"Isn't your prospect for corn flattering?"

"Couldn't be better."

"How did your hay turn out?"

"About two tons to the acre."

"Cattle and hogs doing well?"

"Yes."

"In fact, your crops this year are record breakers?"

The farmer reluctantly admitted that they were.

"Well, then, what are you complaining about?"

"Well," said he, meditatively, "these here big crops exhaust the soil so!"

ODE TO AN OLD DOLLAR BILL.

O, ragged, faded thing,
Thy odor is not reminiscent of the rose;
Thy limp thou art! Unto thy edges cling Ten billion deadly microbes, I suppose—
And yet there's independence in thee, too.
And courage—yes, and strength! There's that in thee
Which makes thee long to do
The best that lies in me—
There's that in thee which makes me dare
To pass a thousand dangers every day—There's joy in thee! Where thou art there Hope builds her nest and frightens Doubt away!

Oh, thou art clammy to the touch—
But, yesterday, mayhap, thou didst release
From some white throat a demon's angry clutch—
With thee, perhaps, went Peace
To some dark haunt, where Hate or Sorrow sat—who knows
What aches have fled because of thee, What little children thou hast caused to laugh, how many a rose
Has bloomed because of thee?—Ah, me, Here on thy smudged and faded face I read the history of man! Thou art the boon
For which he goes through danger and disgrace—
And I, alas, must part with thee so soon!

BURGARS, MOSQUITOES

AND CURIOSITY

WHILE the amateur experimental farm is not ready to make its final reports on the subject of mosquitoes, a subject which seems to be engrossing the attention of scientists everywhere, it is able to make a show of substantial progress. The mosquitoes forced themselves on the attention of the amateur farmer one evening a couple of weeks ago while he was sitting out under the oak trees near the house enjoying the moonlight and the breeze. At first the effort was in the direction of curing out and the mosquitoes, but he rather than prevention. A sheet was labeled "Remedies for mosquito bites," and was soon half filled with glass bottles and pasteboard boxes.

Everything that anybody had ever recommended as a cure for mosquito bites was procured, and after one had annointed himself with half a dozen of these preparations mosquitoes were the least of his troubles. The cook lady, who was most persistent in their use, soon developed a face which resembled the palette of an impressionist painter, and she announced that if something was not done to help her she was going back to town. Her complexion was ruined, anyway, so it was.

The retired agriculturist came over one morning and chuckled unpleasantly as he looked at the row of bottlles. He had forgotten his false teeth and was, consequently, in a most sarcastic mood.

"It's easy enough to get rid of the skeeters," he said. "All you got to do is to take a chaw-fine cut and rub it on a leech curosome ile on yere face, an' there ye be. Not a skeed-er'll touch ye."

An attempt was made to get the assistant agriculturist to apply the cut and the kerenshe, but he refused to sacrifice himself on the altar of science. Accordingly, it is impossible to state positively whether or not the remedy of the retired agriculturist is an effective one, though it sounds as if it would be fatal, to the mosquitoes at least.

It was the lady of the manor who finally, in a moment of inspiration, devised what promises to be an epoch-making invention in the mosquito line. She drove downtown with the assistant experimentalist one morning and returned shortly with the surrey full of lumber and cylindrical bundles. When the experimental farmer started for the city the assistant was already busy with saw, hammer and nails. When he saw what was being built he was told to wait and see.

When he got back home that evening the lawn near the house was dotted with what looked like the unfleshed skeletons of small chicken coops. Inside each was a rocking chair and a small table, on which stood a candlestick and a book.

"Look," said the lady of the manor, triumphantly, "these are individual anti-mosquito cages. They are covered with mosquito netting. You stand inside, sit down and pull the flaps together, and you may enjoy the moonlight and the breeze as long as ever you please without the slightest danger of being bitten by mosquitoes."

On his own motion the assistant experimentalist had gone even further. He had built for his own use a cylindrical mosquito-proof helmet and a pair of gauntlets, incased in which he could safely defy anything which flies, and which enabled him to disperse with an anti-mosquito cage and move about at pleasure.

After dinner the entire family got into their cages and proceeded to enjoy the cool of the evening, the glories of the sunset and the splendor of the rising moon. This procedure acted as a spur to the active curiosity of the retired agriculturist and his wife, who live in the cottage across the way. The old man got out his spy glass and from a point of vantage on the roof of his porch studied the situation long and carefully. Then he went down-stairs and surrendered the spy glass to his impatient wife.

"These people are plum crazy," he said. "They've got a whole lot of little chicken coops built and they're sittin' out in 'em like prize roosters to the county fair."

A long distance view in the moonlight was not satisfactory to the wife of the retired agriculturist.

"I'm going to find out what's the matter with 'em," she said. "Mebbe they ain't safe to be left alone."

Your Face

Show the state of your feelings and the state of your health as well. Impure blood makes itself apparent in a pale and sallow complexion, Pimples and Skin Eruptions. If you are feeling weak and worn out and do not have a healthy appearance, you should try Acker's Blood Purifier. It cures all blood diseases where cheap Baraparillas and so-called purifiers fail; knowing this, we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee.

She stopped in her garden and picked a handful of lettuce leaves.

Then she came across the road to the experimental farm and walked up the long lane to the house.

"Why, howdy do," she said, as she approached the first of the cages.

"Our lettuce is so fine that I thought I'd bring ye some over. Ain't it a pretty sight?"

Now the garden at the experimental farm is particularly long on lettuce. There are three lettuce beds, each of which in its luxuriance is a standing reproach to the other vegetables. So the lettuce as a peace offering was not a success. The lady of the manor made no answer.

"Thank you so much, Mrs. McEdwards James"—this to the assistant experimentalist—"bring out a cage for Mrs. McEdwards. It is a lovely evening."

But Mrs. McEdwards waited to hear no more. Her worst fears were realized. Her new neighbors were plainly lunatics. They even wanted to put her in a cage. She scuttled back across the road like a scared old hen.

The following night there was great excitement at the amateur experimental farm. After the mosquitoes had been conquered burglars appeared upon the scene, thus showing that life is a constant succession of conflicts.

It is not likely that a burglar who possessed any signs of human intelligence would pick out the experimental farm as a likely place from which to make a rich haul. But if he did he would find the old house an easy one to enter. Consequently, somewhat elaborate preparations have been made for his reception. The lady of the manor keeps beside her bed a huge farm bell, used in the old days to call in the farmhands to supper from the distant fields. Its voice is that of a fire alarm gong raised to the tenth power. The amateur farmer himself has a revolver. The revolver is kept in one part of the house and the cartridges in another, so that the rising hope of the republic may not, in small boy fashion, experiment with them. Thus armed, the family feels itself ready for any foe.

On the night in question the amateur farmer was awakened by the shrill and brazen clamor of the gong.

The lady of the manor was waving it frantically in both hands.

"What's the matter?" asked the amateur farmer.

"Burglars! They have a light downstairs. Listen! You can hear them moving around the house."

The amateur farmer advanced to the head of the stairs. Plainly in the lower regions he could see the glimmer of a light and hear the creaking of doors. In his deepest bass voice, with the tremolo stop pulled out to the limit, he demanded: "Who's there?"

There was no answer. Only the light suddenly went out and another door creaked. Then the lady of the manor again let loose the brazen thunders of the farm bell. It sounded as if three 4-11 fires had been let loose in the same block. Then armed with an empty revolver and a heavy hand mirror the assembled family slowly descended the stairs, the gong still doing its worst.

Below stairs all doors leading to the kitchen were found open, but neither door nor window opening on the outside had been disturbed, nor

THE CANON ROAD

It is still in an impassable condition at several places.

Fully seventy five people sought to make the trip to Monument Rock yesterday, but only about one third of them got through owing to the well known impassable condition of the county road leading to the Santa Fe canon. It would be difficult to say what amount of money loss is suffered weekly by the merchants and live men of the city owing to the failure of the road supervisors to repair this road. The board of county commissioners should look into this matter and call upon every able bodied resident between the eastern limits of the city and Monument Rock to contribute his quota toward repairing the road, and this too, at once. The Santa Fe canon is one of the most picturesque spots in the whole Rocky mountain range. It is becoming more and more popular each summer as an outing place. Just now it is particularly beautiful, since the late rains have developed the wild flowers and ferns to a greater extent than usual. Many of the picknickers there yesterday feasted on raspberries picked from the mountain sides. Altogether it is entirely too attractive a region to be isolated and cut off from public access because of neglect in repairing the public highways.
