on the threshold of victory, and also to those who, by this arms victory, tomorrow will avenge the fallen. A nation that lingers such can never perish.

"By the organs of the ministry of finance, which has conveyed to you a masterful explanation of the financial situation, there has been revealed to you the resources which have accrued from the emissions of treasury bonds and the advances made by the Bank of France. These have made it possible for us to meet the expenses brought about by the war, and we have not found it necessary to have recourse to a loan. The Bank of France is in condition, thanks to its excellent standing, to furnish the treasury with resources and to aid in the re-establishment of the economic life of the country.

Financially Strong.
"All this is evidence of the vitality of France, of the safety of her credit, and of the confidence which she inspires everywhere. In spite of a war which is shaking and impoverishing the world, the French bank note is accepted at a premium; the discounting of commercial paper grows daily and the totals obtained from indirect taxation increase. All this is a manifestation of the economic strength of a country which has adapted itself with facility to the difficulties arising from a deep seated trouble and which declares before the entire world that the condition of its finances will permit it to continue the war until that day when the necessary compensation shall be obtained.
"Gentlemen, the day of final victory has not yet come and until it does our task will be one of great difficulty. The way may be long and for this let us prepare our spirits and be ever courageous. We have intended the greatest burden of glory the any people can carry. Already the country has agreed to make every sacrifice that this duty entails.
"If this contest is the most gigantic ever recorded in history, it is not because the people are hating themselves into warfare to conquer territory to win enlargement of material life and economic and political advantages, but because they are struggling to determine the fate of the world.

"Nothing greater has ever appeared before the vision of man.

What the Struggle Means.
"Against barbarity and despotism; against the system of provocations and methodical menaces which Germany called peace, against the system of murder and pillage which Germany called war; against the insolent hegemony of a military caste which looted the world, France the emancipator, France the victor, at the side of her allies, arose and advanced to the fray.
"That is the stake. It is greater than our lives. Let us continue, then, to have but one united soul, and tomorrow, in the peace of victory, we shall recall with pride these days of tragedy, for they will have made of us more valiant and better men."

GERMAN ARMY DRIVES

General Mackensen's Headquarters, Russian Poland, Saturday, Dec. 19 (via Berlin, The Hague and London, Dec. 23, 234 a. m. Delayed in Transmission.)—The Germans, in direct before the army of General Mackensen, are attempting to make a stand on the strong neutral line between the Bzura and Rawka rivers. This line has previously been fortified and the Russians now are trying to hold it. The Germans, however, already have broken through and it is thought that the Russians will be obliged to fall back still further, although they are attempting to check the German advance by a counter offensive.

The Associated Press correspondent met 4,000 prisoners this afternoon at a camp of Lodz, under a small escort and was informed by the commanding general that he regarded the situation for the Germans as excellent. He expressed the opinion, however, that heavy fighting would be necessary before the Russians would be obliged to retire behind the Vistula. Lodz has suffered little through the bombardment, but the employed workmen are destitute.

NEUTRAL STRIP AT NACO MAY BE THE SOLUTION

General Hill Says He Will Not Follow Maytorena if Latter Withdraws From Border, but Will Hold Trenches.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Naco, Ariz., Dec. 22.—An agreement to create a neutral strip along the Mexican side of the border to save Naco, Ariz., from further damage from Mexican shot and shell, will be sought tomorrow by Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army.

General Scott has been here several days receiving suggestions from both Sonora factions as to the best way of stopping the siege of Naco, Sonora, which has resulted in the killing of fifty persons and the wounding of forty-seven on the American side of the line.

General Hill said today that he would not evacuate the place where he had withstood attacks for ten weeks.

He agreed, however, not to follow Governor Maytorena if the latter withdrew from the siege and went to Nogales, Sonora. No word has been received from the Sonora governor as to whether he would accept such a solution of the situation.

Torrential rains that created a river 100 feet wide and five feet deep between the United States army camp and Naco itself, have so far prevented General Scott from holding conferences with the Mexican leaders.

The first accident since the arrival of the infantry which swelled the American patrol here to more than 5,000 men, occurred today. Private Alexander Baker of the Eleventh Infantry, was killed while attempting to board a passing freight train on his way to camp.

BALANCE OF TRADE GROWS ASTOUNDINGLY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Dec. 22.—Reports made public tonight on imports and exports at the thirteen customs districts handling 86 per cent of the nation's foreign trade, showed a balance in favor of the United States the week ending December 19, of $27,028,263, an increase of approximately $7,000,000 over the balance for the previous week. The aggregate favorable balance for the three weeks of December was $69,570,991.

Exports for the week of December 19, amounted to $19,440,242 and imports totaled $22,411,979. During the week ended December 7, exports were $45,417,922; imports, $24,428,446. From November 30 to December 19, exports totaled $1,167,800, as against $1,595,709 in imports.

Cotton exports for the week of December 19, amounted to 236,315 bales.

PLOT TO BLOW UP FRENCH STEAMER IS FRUSTRATED

Conscience of German Conspirator, Over Certain Loss of Innocent Lives, Causes Him to Betray Conspiracy.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) New Orleans, Dec. 22.—The arrest here tonight of four Germans is believed by the police to have frustrated a plot to blow up the French steamship Rochambeau, due to leave New Orleans next Saturday. The police confiscated a box containing seventy-five pounds of dynamite set by clockwork to explode six and one-half days from tonight. Two of those arrested, confessed, according to the police, that it was intended that the vessel would be blown up after she got to sea.

Worried Over Innocent Lives.

Worry over the prospective loss of innocent lives is believed responsible for the discovery of the plot. One of those arrested, Peter Langman, when questioned by detectives who have been at work on the case for ten days, is said to have told them that while he was willing to blow up a French or English ship, he was not willing to see persons not directly connected with the war die.

On information given by Langman, the police arrested Frank Helon, alias Hans Heller, and held him on a charge of preparing explosives for shipment in violation of federal law. George Summers and George Brinkman, the former proprietor of the Faust hotel, were held as accessories and Langman was allowed his freedom.

Had Prepared Bombs.

Helon admitted, the police say, that he prepared the bomb and expected to express it to New York from the Faust hotel. Summers admitted, the police say, that he had been working upon explosives, but denied he knew for what purpose he intended using them.

After being confronted with his alleged conspirators, the police say Helon admitted it was his intention to blow up some French or English ship, and that if the attempt against the Rochambeau failed, he intended to try some other vessel. He said he was a waiter without a position and wanted to do something "to help the fatherland."

The prisoners said they understood the Rochambeau was to sail from New York Saturday. Shipping records, however, show that she left New York, December 13, and police L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, said that the conspirators miscalculated the date of her departure.

OPIMUM SMUGGLERS

ARRESTED AT NEW YORK

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) New York, Dec. 22.—Customs officers seized today aboard the White Star line steamship Adriatic, 199 tons of opium, said to have come from London, and arrested James Murphy, a stevedore on the ship, on a charge of attempting to smuggle the forbidden drug into this country.

Later the officers arrested Tora Sato, a Japanese, on the same charge and confiscated seventy five of opium worth $8,000, found in his apartment.

When the customs officers boarded the Adriatic, which arrived here late yesterday, they caught one of Murphy's assistants, they said, in the act of throwing the opium overboard. Murphy and the Japanese were held in $15,000 bail each.

SWISS PEOPLE FOR SWITZERLAND, SAYS PRESIDENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Bern, Dec. 23 (415 a. m.)—Private messages in Switzerland are varied, said Dr. Giuseppe Motta, the new president of the Swiss Confederation, in an interview with the correspondent of the Petit Parisien at Bern, but we must be Swiss, nothing but Swiss.

"That attitude is the only one which can serve our interests and the cause of Europe. The three races which make up our nation are working in the closest union with this end in view."

"After certain hesitations, the German-Swiss, whose minds work less rapidly, and the French and Italian-Swiss, who are more easily influenced by sentiment, have closed ranks around the national idea that from whatever quarter an aggressor comes, if he should come, he will be the enemy for all Swiss, and immediately the Swiss army will enter into line with those who already fight against that enemy."

DEPLORES TALK OF WAR WITH JAPANESE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Scranton, Pa., Dec. 22.—Viscount Saitani Chinda, Japanese ambassador to the United States, was a guest to-night at the annual dinner of the New England Society of Northeastern Pennsylvania. Ambassador Chinda touched briefly upon the relations between Japan and the United States, deploring the frequently printed stories that war between the two countries was inevitable.

Bishop Ethelbert Talbot of Bethlehem, and Bainbridge Colby of New York, were other speakers.

NEW RECORD MADE IN CAPITAL OF RUSSIA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Petrograd, Dec. 22 (416 a. m.)—For the first time in the history of Petrograd, four consecutive days passed without an arrest for drunkenness, notwithstanding these days included two Russian holidays and Sunday. This is one of the results of the recent governmental order forbidding the sale of alcoholic liquors.

PROHIBITION AMENDMENT HAS SMALL MAJORITY

he left to the individual state," Mr. Henry said. "I love my country, but I never will support a constitutional amendment that will send a horde of federal spies, satraps and intermeddlers into Texas."

Representative Heflin of Alabama referred to the success of state control of liquor traffic in Alabama, and urged vigorously against surrendering to the federal government the reserved powers of the states.

Representative Bland of Missouri, defended the saloon as an institution, declaring that he knew of saloons "where a gentleman would not hesitate to take his wife and daughters."

"Liquor is charged with all the ills to which humanity is heir," he said. "The charge is not true."

He presented figures and authorities designed to show that other causes were to blame for a large share of poverty and crime.

Cannot Cure Drink With Prohibition.
"I cannot cure the demand for drink by cutting off the supply," he said. "If all the liquors in the country were destroyed, the demand would force men to make their own spirituous liquors."

Representative Gordon of Ohio, said:

"The people of Ohio are better able to settle the liquor question for themselves than the people of all the other states are able to settle it for Ohio."

Representative Harchfield of Pennsylvania, opposed the amendment in a vigorous speech.

"What right," he asked, "has the prohibitionist from the corn fields of Kansas, the cotton fields of Georgia, or the sea coast of Maine, where the bootlegger is not the prohibition ticket, to tell the steel worker who faces a temperature of 280 degrees at the furnace door, that he shall not have his beer when his work is over?"

Supports Resolution.
Representative Saunders of Virginia supported the resolution and argued against the amendment, that the amendment would "rob the states of reserved powers."

"The fear of gentlemen that an army of federal spies and informers and officials will invade the state, is but a poor argument," he said. "The army is now there, spies, informers and all. It is under the internal revenue bureau."

"Talk about protecting state rights," said Representative Quinn of Mississippi, "what we want to do is to protect the rights of society. The question here is whether you will stand with all the forces of evil, or whether you will join those who are trying to aid the progress of civilization."

Representative Seldredge of Colorado, advocating the amendment, warned members that they would be confronted by their votes on prohibition in the campaign of 1916.

"The liquor question," he said, "is no longer a religious question. It is a political and economic problem."

Should Have Chosen to Vote.
Representative Dickinson of Missouri declared he knew not what result would come from submitting the amendment to the states, but he believed the majority of his people were entitled to a chance to vote on it.

Representative Small of North Carolina asserted the resolution would be a disastrous blow to state rights and that no democrat could afford to vote for it.

While scores of members left the floor during the evening hours for dinner, Representative Hobson, who remained at his place on the floor throughout the long debate, had his dinner served in the chamber, parceling out time to speakers as he ate.

Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts declared that wherever prohibition obtained it had multiplied insanity, driving men and women from drink to dope. He quoted Cardinal Gibbons as saying recently that while he was a strong advocate of temperance, he was certain prohibition could never be enforced and if it should it would "make hypocrites and violators of the law."

Uproar and Applause.
Representative Morrison of Indiana kept the house in an uproar of applause and laughter with a speech supporting a substitute which he offered to the Hobson resolution to prohibit the shipment of liquor into any state.

"They'll tell you that everybody who opposes the Hobson resolution is a bad man, and everyone who supports it is a good man," he said. "Do you believe it? There are thirteen men in the Indiana delegation who will vote against this resolution and I can point out to you one man who will support the Hobson resolution who drinks more liquor in twelve days than those thirteen men do in twelve years."

"I've been in fights before against the combined opposition of the disillusions and the soldiers in getting this resolution before the house, but I will say that there was a most suspicious contemporaneousness of parallel activities of these two organizations, seeking not a common, but the same result."

Grand and Lofly Tumblings.
Representative Dupre of Louisiana warned southern members who proposed to vote for the resolution that these would be "grand and lofly tumblings." When confronted with the problem of giving the federal government the right to enfranchise women of the states.

Representative Fess of Ohio assailed the arguments of Majority Leader Mann and urged members not to permit the "boxy of state rights to interfere with the adoption of this resolution, for if it does, our method of amending the constitution is wrong."

"We have been told that the vote here tonight means political death for many of us," said Representative Murray of Oklahoma. "But we can choose whether we will have a grave decorated with saloons, breweries and distilleries."

Representative Hobson took the floor shortly before 9 o'clock to make the concluding speech in favor of the amendment. He argued particularly against the Morrison amendment, asserting that congress already had all of the authority which that measure sought to confer.

Hobson's Contention.
Mr. Hobson declared the supporters of the resolution were more consistent than its opponents in their attitude towards the rights of the individual states.

"We believe that three-fourths of the states of this nation," he said, "have the right as well as the wisdom to settle this question of national prohibition. We propose to let the states themselves settle it."

gain that would result. Replying to a speech of Representative Heflin, who had declared that Hobson had been defeated by Underwood on a prohibition issue in the recent campaign in Alabama, Mr. Hobson asserted that Underwood "did not fight alone," that the liquor interests, "Wall Street" and the administration forces "all endeavored to beat Hobson."

In conclusion, Representative Hobson declared that although the resolution might not secure the necessary two-thirds vote in this congress or the next, prohibition would be made a national issue in the 1916 campaign.

"We will have an administration that will not oppose this amendment either in the open or under cover," he said.

Debate Is Limited.
Many of the speakers on both sides during the long debate had to content themselves with a very few minutes of time. Those supporting the Hobson amendment included Representatives Powers and Barkley, Kentucky; Smith, Idaho; Russell, Portland, and Alexander, Missouri; Bryan, Washington; McKenna, Illinois; Towner, Iowa; Norton, North Dakota; Farr, Pennsylvania; and Murray, of Oklahoma.

Speakers against the amendment included Representatives Oglesby, New York; Stafford, Wisconsin; Buchanan, Texas; Thatcher, Massachusetts; Talcott, New York; Witherspoon, Mississippi; Vinson, Georgia, and Aswell, Louisiana.

When the resolution was read for amendment, Representative Mann presented an amendment to submit the prohibition amendment to conventions to be called for that purpose. He argued that by this plan, the members of the conventions would be elected on the direct issue and the question would be brought more directly before the people than if it was submitted to the state legislatures. Representative Hobson opposed this declaring that it would place obstacles in the way of adoption of the amendment.

Mann Amendment Defeated.
Representative Mann's amendment was defeated on a rising vote of 137 to 193. This was the first vote of the night. Mr. Mann demanded a yeas and nays vote and the long roll call began. The amendment was defeated on the roll call by a vote of 219 to 176, the advocates of the Hobson resolution generally lining up against it.

Wanted Absolute Prohibition.
Another amendment presented by Representative Mann, proposed the absolute prohibition of the manufacture, transportation, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors "for any purpose."

If we are to have prohibition," Mr. Mann said, "let us have prohibition that will prohibit."

The amendment was defeated on a rising vote, 239 to 177, after a sharp exchange between Representatives Mann and Hobson.

Following the defeat of the Mann amendment, Representative Hobson offered several perfecting amendments to his resolution. This first altered the phraseology of the first section of the proposed constitutional amendment and included a prohibition against any "exportation" of intoxicating liquors. It was adopted without division.

Representative Morrison's substitute to prohibit interstate commerce in intoxicating liquors was defeated, 212 to 41.

Torres Will Meet Wildcat Ferns
for Welterweight ChampionshipJACK TORRES Albuquerque Aspiration for 142-pound Title.

By posting $100 guarantee for making the required weight, 145 pounds the morning of the fight, and to insure winner and Wilford that he will be an hand to meet Wildcat Ferns before the Cactus Athletic club, Jack Torres yesterday removed the one obstacle to the championship match.

Winner telegraphed transportation to Ferns and Jimmy Hurst, his manager, at Kansas City. They are expected to arrive here late tonight. The Wildcat will train under the public eye so the debaters will be able to get a line on his ability. When he will start the fight and what hours he will appear, of course, will not be known until he arrives. He probably will make an early start, however, because in Torres he will meet a formidable contender. Torres earned the right to be looked upon thus by his showing with Bud Logan.

Torres will begin training at once. Kid George will take him in hand, so he will be properly conditioned for the mill. George has seen Ferns fight and will give Torres the benefit of his knowledge.

W. L. HAWKINS

109-111 NORTH 2ND STREET
Phone 44 and 524MAGNATES SLOW
TO ACT FAVORING LONGER SERIES

Baseball Club Owners' Realize
There Are Several Sides to Plan to Lengthen World Championship Contests.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
New York, Dec. 22.—Although there has been considerable informal discussion among organized baseball magnates regarding the advisability of increasing the number of games to be played in future world's series, the club owners realize that the proposition is one of many angles and are slow to take official action on the proposal. Two plans were suggested. One called for nine games, of which five were necessary to win the title and with the players sharing in the receipts of the first five played. The other proposition was for an eleven-game series with six victories to clinch the championship, the players to share in the proceeds of the first five or six games.

Scout Attention Paid.
These suggestions received but scant attention at the annual meeting of the National league held in New York recently. The senior organization magnates discussed the plan in a casual way without taking any action on it. One of the foremost club owners of the National league in reviewing the idea said that it was the general opinion that the 1915 season would be inopportune in which to attempt baseball innovations. Furthermore the plan involved a number of puzzling obstacles which would have to be removed before the nine or eleven-game series could be considered feasible.

Interest Might Wane.
He pointed out that if two clubs widely separated, such as New York and Chicago, for instance, were to play for the championship the allotment of games would be a matter for the most careful consideration. On the nine-game basis it appeared probable that the series would open in the city winning the toss with three straight games, after which the play would shift to the rival club grounds. Presuming that the teams were tied at the end of six games with the added possibility of bad weather and the extra days needed for travel it appeared questionable as to whether popular interest could be sustained to the point where the longer series would prove much more profitable than the seven game plan.

Final Games Draw Fewer.
That there is a basis for this line of reasoning is borne out by the records of past world's series. Even after making allowance for increased interest in the championship series of recent years the gate receipts figures show that the final games of the long drawn out series fail to approach the receipts of the earlier contests. In past world series where the title was won in four or five games the receipts each day were close to one hundred per cent of the park capacity. Wherever the series ran into seven or eight games there was a sharp slump in attendance and resultant receipts. In the 1912 series there was a difference of approximately $16,000 between the receipts of the seventh and eighth games. In the 1911 games between the Giants and Athletics the receipts decreased with each game. The Detroit-Pittsburgh series of 1909, in which the rival clubs won alternating games up to the seventh, failed to sustain interest if the box office returns furnish accurate records.

Public Wants Snaps.
Careful observation has led the magnates to the conclusion for the present at least, that the baseball public desires a sharp snappy world's series as a climax to the season. Long drawn out play, covering ten days or two weeks according to weather conditions, appears to be a hazardous undertaking under present circumstances and it is extremely doubtful if there will be any effort to alter, during 1915, the regulations now governing the world's series.

AWARDS TO REVOLVER SHOTS
ANNOUNCED BY ASSOCIATION

Awards of national championship prizes and state championship medals have been announced by the United States Revolver association in connection with the recent outdoor contests which were held contemporaneously in different sections of the country. Although bad weather prevailed during many of the competitions, the results were satisfactory.

Following are the national medal winners in each class:

Match A—A. P. Lane, New York; Match B, George Armstrong, San Francisco; Match C, C. McCutcheon, Denver Revolver club team; Match F, Dr. J. H. Snook, Columbus, and the grand aggregate prize for scores in four of these matches was awarded to A. P. Lane for a total score of 1,242.

Among the double winners of state championship medals in Classes A and B, were the following:

George Armstrong, California; Dr. O. A. Burgess, Colorado; Dr. Henry E. Soars, Massachusetts; A. P. Lane, New York; Dr. J. H. Snook, Ohio; Dr. William E. Quicksall, Pennsylvania; and Fred E. Spooner, Rhode Island.

BILL EDWARDS BELIEVES IN ONE-MAN COACH SYSTEM

That a football coach, to produce the best results, should make coaching a regular business is the opinion of William (Bill) Edwards, the famous Princeton guard, Edwards, in stating his views on the future coaching system at Princeton, said recently: "I believe absolutely in the one-man system. Football has become a regular business, and in any regular business, one man must stand at the head. There should never be considered any time any man but a Princeton football man for the position. Princeton has numerous men who can handle this job successfully, but when such a man is chosen, he must make football his regular business and give his entire time to this work. Such a man must be well paid, and this man should, I believe, have entire selection of the coaches under him."

GREAT ACTIVITY IN COLLEGE
ROWING EXPECTED NEXT YEAR

All signs point to an active season for college rowing in 1915. Efforts are being made by various bodies and individuals throughout the country to establish the sport upon a broader and more stable foundation and it is believed that more crews will be on the water next spring than ever before. In the east the recent organization of the Collegiate Rowing association is expected to greatly increase the popularity of rowing in the east. The new association is intended to serve a double purpose, to promote interest in rowing among the college and schools of the country and to establish an annual clearing house for managers to arrange early season races.

The managers of crews will cooperate to increase and promote the interests of rowing among the preparatory schools of the country, to establish an interest in rowing among these schools which now do not have rowing as a part of their athletics, and to increase the interest in rowing in those schools that do.

Another advantage of the clearing house system is that a greater number of colleges may be brought together and races may be more easily arranged between representative crews.

In the west, Coach Hiram B. Conner of the University of Washington is endeavoring to establish an inter-collegiate rowing association which will include crews from the University of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Chicago, California, Washington, Stanford and Syracuse. The idea is a very ambitious one and may require several years to work out since several of the universities mentioned are not at this time represented by crews. Keokuk, Iowa and Peoria, Ill., have been approached regarding the possibility of financing an annual regatta, but nothing definite has been accomplished. It appears likely, however, that Atlantic and Pacific coast crews will meet on the water next summer either at Poughkeepsie or San Francisco, where the exposition officials will stage a college regatta. Several eastern college crews have been invited to row on the Oakland course including Pennsylvania, Cornell, Columbia and Harvard. If the races are held during the summer vacation period and the oarsmen's expenses paid the entry of one or even two crews is not unlikely.

SEMI-OFFICIAL FIGURES ON TRAP SHOOTING ANNOUNCED

Trap shooting averages compiled from semi-official figures at all registered tournaments of the season just closed gives first place among the amateurs to Woodcock Henderson of Lexington, Ky. The national amateur champion broke 1,981 targets out of 2,950 shot at for an average of 366. The professional to score the highest average was L. H. Reid of Seattle, Wash., who shattered 2,148 targets out of 2,225, giving him a grand average of 364.

Officials Return From Aztec.
Santa Fe, Dec. 22.—The district court officials, including District Judge E. C. Abbott, Court Clerk Edward L. Safford, Court Stenographer Mrs. Martha C. McNitt and Assistant District Attorney A. M. Edwards have returned from Aztec, Sheriff W. T. Dufur, accompanied by his son, W. J. Dufur, as deputy, and Deputy Sheriff Charles Whitford brought the following prisoners to the penitentiary: Oliver Collier, two to three years, horse stealing; R. K. Funston, one to two years, for stealing cows; John Zazzel, fourteen months, for cow stealing; Conon Herrera, one year to fourteen months for criminal assault.

SEMI-CENTENNARY OF
NEGRO FREEDOM TO BE CELEBRATED BY RACE

The negroes of the country will celebrate their fifty years of freedom in the city of Chicago in August of this year. The celebration will take the form of an exposition and every phase of the negroes' progress along the following lines will be shown: industry, education, liberal arts, sociology and the professions. The exposition will be held in the spacious coliseum building which has already been secured by the executive commission appointed by the governor of Illinois to take care of the affair.

The exposition will be national and international in its scope and some of the world's most noted workers for social uplift will be in attendance. One of the leading features will be a series of great congresses religious, educational, sociological, industrial, agricultural and miscellaneous.

The following have been appointed by Governor McDonald to represent New Mexico: Dr. James Dennis, Rev. John Eliot Allen, Professor Mitchell, Theodore Brinson and Mrs. Dennis, of Albuquerque; John Shurlock and wife, of George W. White, Roswell; George Williams, Silver City; Coleman Blackford and William Vaughn, Santa Fe. A suitable appropriation will be asked of the legislature, that the negroes of New Mexico may be properly represented at this great gathering of negroes.

WANTS HEARING IN REGARD TO CHAVEZ'S
MOVEABLE SALOON

The question whether Antonio Chavez y Padilla had a right to move his saloon threatens to come before the county commissioners again. A. B. Stroup yesterday asked their permission to file petition for a hearing. The Rev. John Morley entered a complaint against Chavez some time ago, which the commissioners dismissed. His county license permits him to do business on the "main road to Isleta." When the bulk of travel toward Isleta changed from the road on which his saloon stood Chavez moved the saloon to the new road.

County Surveyor Ites was authorized to spend not more than $250 in filling the breakwater above the Alameda bridge with brush. He recommended that this work be done at once. He reported that progress was being made in driving the piles.

The commissioners ordered the drawing of a warrant to pay the judgment granted against the county to the Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. in the United States district court recently. The judgment with costs amounts to $4,793.30.

Dr. W. W. Spargo, county physician, advised the payment of St. Joseph's hospital for the care of county patients. He sent five patients there in the last year whose treatment would cost more than $550 if it had been paid for. Whether the county has any legal authority to make payment will be investigated.

FUTRELLE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD TO PAY A NOTE FOR $8,000
Judge Reynolds of the district court yesterday directed the foreclosure of a deed of trust to four lots in the Atlantic & Pacific addition, given by the late W. C. Futrelle and Mrs. Ellen Futrelle for promissory note for $8,000. Juan Barcia is possessor of the note. Garcia was awarded judgment against Mrs. Futrelle and J. E. Elder, administrator of the estate of W. V. Futrelle, for $9,512.10. Laurence J. Lee was appointed special master to sell the property.
W. C. Leonard's and E. L. Washburn's suit against V. A. Greenleaf was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiffs for failure on their part to prosecute the case "in accordance with the order of this court."
Emanuel Maharam and Lasse Maharam were granted judgment against Kate Darrow and W. T. Darrow, her husband, on a note and foreclosure directed under a trust deed to land in precinct No. 13, given as security. The Maharams were awarded $2,164.37 damages.
The court found the taxes charged Jennie Boulter for property in Burelas for the years of 1907 to 1914, inclusive, excessive and ordered the assessment of the land at $650.
Martha Harris' taxes, assessed against lots in the Brownell & Lall addition for 1894, 1895 and 1899 were found to be inequitable. The penalties and interest were cancelled.
Mrs. Emma S. Parra took a decree of divorce. Her former husband, Michael Parra, was found guilty of abandonment and non-support.

He will be taken to Las Vegas today by Deputy Sheriff Gregorio Romero.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD PRIMARIES IN PRECINCT 12

Party Men Will Ask City Central Committee to Fix Date; Democrats to Make Decision Tonight.

The republican city central committee will be asked to meet to set a date for the holding of primaries to nominate a candidate for justice of the peace in Precinct No. 12, the office now held by Justice W. W. McClellan, democrat. A number of representative republicans of the precinct decided upon this course at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the city hall.

Only one republican so far has publicly announced his candidacy in that precinct—Benson Newell—and because of this fact the request that the central committee act gives the situation there rather a puzzling aspect. On the face of it appears to indicate that the republicans expect opposition to Newell. However, as far as could be learned from those who attended the meeting no candidate was mentioned.

Two democrats are already in the field in that precinct. One is Justice McClellan, present incumbent, and the other Dennis McDonald. The democratic city central committee is to meet tonight at Chairman John Simms' office to decide whether to hold primaries and, if that question is decided favorably, to set the date.

Precinct No. 12 at this time, it appears, will be the hottest in the coming election. Justice George R. Craig is the only candidate who has publicly announced himself in Precinct No. 26.

'LES MISERABLES' AT CRYSTAL NEXT TWO DAYS

The photo drama in its ultimate expression will be divulged at the Crystal theater tomorrow and Friday (Christmas day).

The pictures have opened an educational work of motion pictures. It may be readily seen that an adequate and sympathetic interpretation of Victor Hugo's human document through this medium is of tremendous interest and value, apart from its entertaining qualities.

The picture is in nine reels.

A Christmas celebration will be held at Menard school tomorrow morning beginning at 11 o'clock. The exercises will include a musical program of unusual merit, the feature of which will be a cantata entitled "The Real Santa Claus."

POSTAL BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Amount of Insurance Stamps Index of Volume of Outgoing Parcels; Rush Handled With Ease and Speed.

The business done by the postoffice during this holiday season will be shown by far last year's record. While accurate figures on the stamp sales will not be obtainable until the end of the month, Postmaster H. C. Roehl has kept close track of the amount of business through the number of insured packages mailed here.

In December, of last year, less than 1,500 insured parcels were dropped in the boxes. Saturday and Monday along of this year 779 insurance stamps were sold. The ratio of insured packages to insured in ten to one, according to Postmaster Roehl. He estimates that the number of insured parcels sent out from Albuquerque this month will be twice as great as that of the same period for last year. The receipts from stamp sales, he said, would be considerably in excess of last year's.

High Tide Reached.
The crush in the outgoing mails was reached Monday. Yesterday there were fewer parcels, but today and Saturday were practically equal in this respect. Further decrease is looked for today. Early mailing injunctions appear to have had effect.

With the falling off in the number of packages sent out the incoming mail is increasing and will reach their maximum volume toward the end of the week. Four parcels post delivery wagons and fifteen carriers were employed yesterday. Another carrier will be put at work today. Ordinarily one parcel post delivery wagon is worked half a day and the usual force of carriers numbers twelve.

The Christmas "rush" had little the appearance of a "rush" to an outside observer at the postoffice. Postmaster Roehl prepared for it well. Three windows were opened for the sale of stamps and receiving packages. Each clerk had complete equipment. This saved senders from waiting long in the lobby.

Postmaster Roehl. Postmaster Roehl remained in the lobby assisting persons in properly addressing their parcels and keeping the crowds evenly distributed between the windows. Several times when lines longer than usual were formed he lined them. He found that no one had to wait longer than three minutes before being waited upon.

Employees of departments that did not bear the brunt of the rush have steadily assisted those who did. Postmaster Roehl expressed pleasure with the spirit shown by the clerks in this way. The result is that they have handled a greater amount of business than they have been called upon to do heretofore without confusion or delay. Every night since the rush began all eastbound parcels and mail have been out of the office by 8 o'clock and on Santa Fe train No. 3, which leaves here at 8:45 o'clock. Westbound mail, which is of considerably less volume, has always been out of the office for train No. 9.

Clerks Win Friends.
Senders of parcels have commented frequently upon the courtesy shown by the postoffice clerks, and likewise upon the speed with which they disposed of parcels. The fact that they know long lines of parcel post rates by memory now, has proved of great value in expeditious handling.

EXALTED RULER NAMES DEGREE TEAM FOR ELKS

Exalted Ruler W. R. Walter of Albuquerque lodge, R. P. O. E. yesterday announced the personnel of the degree team. This team is to consist of P. T. Loneragan, M. Nash, A. B. Betz, R. S. Dunbar, Harry Benjamin, S. H. Busch and D. E. Phillips.

A class of candidates will be initiated in the lodge room tonight. According to permission granted at the recent session of the grand lodge, the initiation will be in the old style, and a rattling good time is assured those who come to see the new members ride the goat. After the meeting a turkey lunch will be served in the clubrooms.

As usual the Best People will keep open house on Christmas and New Year's day, and a jolly good time is in store for the members and their families, to whom Christmas cheer will be dispensed.

JOHNSON GETS MONEY ON JOHNSON NO. 2'S DRAFT, SAY OFFICERS

C. J. Johnson, a youth, upon waiving his preliminary examination yesterday was bound over by Justice Craig to await the action of the grand jury next March on the charge of forgery. His bond was fixed at $1,000. He was remanded to the county jail.

C. H. Johnson was complainant against Johnson. The latter received a draft sent the former by relatives and obtained money upon it at the Citizens bank according to officers.

LEAD AVENUE CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT

The Sunday school of the Methodist church will give its entertainment and treat to the members of the school tonight at 7:30. A very interesting program has been arranged and the decorating committee have planned a sitting room with a fireplace through which Santa Claus will arrive. There will also be a Christmas tree.

I will rent one-half of my store at 207 West Central. This space would be suitable for soda water, candy or jewelry store. The building runs clear to the alley, which would afford good quarters for a candy manufacturing concern. Building modern in every respect. WILLIAMS DRUG CO.

MURDERERS OF MILLIONAIRE ARE TAKEN BY POLICE

Gallant Fight by Daughters of Dead Man Leads to Capture of Burglars Who Took His Life.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 22.—Less than twelve hours after they had shot and killed William M. Alexander, a wealthy retired attorney, formerly of Dallas, Texas, whose home they entered to rob early today, and wounded William Alexander, Jr., two men giving the names of Ethelbert Charles Osman and Glenn Witt, were in jail, charged with the murder. Both made complete confessions, according to the police.

The capture of the men came as a climax to an exhaustive combing of the city, in which more than 100 detectives took part. Both men had been badly beaten in the early morning fight at the Alexander home when they were surprised by Alexander, senior. One of them had a bullet wound in his left leg.

Admits Killing Alexander.

Osman, the police say, admitted that he was the slayer of Alexander, and Witt confessed that he had shot Alexander, junior, when the son rushed to the aid of his father. Penelope and Anna Alexander, daughters of the dead man, came down stairs during the fight between the two burglars and the son and made such a brave showing that the men fled from the house, leaving their hats, shoes and socks on the lawn outside.

The whereabouts of the men were telephoned to the police today by a woman who saw them enter a house in search of medical attention.

"When the old man was awakened by a noise I made, he fired at me. I returned the fire," was Osman's statement as given out.

Young Alexander was shot in the chest but is not dangerously wounded. Osman and Witt were taken to the Alexander residence late today and identified.

Mrs. Alexander, the widow of the slain man, said that she was entering the room where Mr. Alexander met the burglars and had taken off her rings to give to them when the fatal shot was fired. Her husband died in her arms.

Upon their return from the Alexander residence, the prisoners were taken to the receiving hospital, where for two hours they occupied the attention of the surgeons. Osman had been shot in the left leg by young Alexander, and both had been beaten severely by the Misses Alexander, aged 16 and 18, who wielded hairbrushes, silver-backed and heavy, with such effect that the robbers' skulls were covered with gashes and cuts that required suturing.

"Those girls fought like Tiger cats," remarked Witt.

Witt said he came from Duquoin, Ill. Osman said his father was a minister in San Francisco just before the fire of 1905. Later he was pastor of a church at San Diego, after which he went to Birmingham, where he is said to have died a year ago.

CARRANZA'S TRIP INTERRUPTED BY ZAPATA ENGINE

Adherents Deny That First Chief Is Contemplating Flight From Mexico to Central America.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Dec. 22.—The trip of General Carranza from Vera Cruz to the isthmus of Tehuantepec was interrupted by Zapata forces, who captured Soledad and from there sent a wild locomotive into his approaching train. Neither Carranza nor any of his party was injured.

These facts were reported tonight in a private dispatch from a point on the railroad on which Carranza was traveling. Officials of the Washington government placed full credence in the report, but declined to comment on it beyond saying that they had consular advisers telling of Carranza's departure for the isthmus.

General Carranza, according to the private dispatch, returned to Vera Cruz after the incident at Soledad, and has now gone to Cordoba to inspect his troops.

From Cordoba some of his officers say he will continue his journey to the isthmus, after which he will go to Mexico, in the state of Yucatan.

Carranza officials here deny emphatically suggestions which have been current in Mexico City that Carranza intends to flee to a Central American country. They say the first chief planned his trip to the isthmus shortly after the railway to that part of Mexico was taken over by the Carranza faction.

SCHOLAR THINKS WAR WILL SOLVE JEWISH PROBLEM

Professor of Oriental Languages at Columbia University Says Future of Race Hangs in Balance.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—Dr. Richard Gottheil, professor of Oriental languages at Columbia university and one of the foremost Jewish scholars in America, today declared the Jewish problem in Russia, Galicia and in Palestine would be solved by the present war. Dr. Gottheil is the guest of the Menorah society of the University of Pennsylvania, where a special evening was arranged in his honor last night.

Speaking of the benefits Jews will derive from this war, Doctor Gottheil said:

"Part of the great war now going on is being fought out in territories very largely Jewish. In Galicia and parts of Russia and Austria, where battles are taking place, there is a large accumulation of Jewish people. In Russia there are at least 6,000,000 Jews, probably more than half of all the Jews existing in the whole world. In Galicia many towns are almost exclusively Jewish.

"Within the last few weeks Palestine itself has come into the fray, and not only are the hundred thousand Jewish inhabitants in danger of their lives and property, but the work which has been going on in that country in the last thirty or forty years, looking to the upbuilding of a civilization there, is jeopardized.

"In the final reckoning, which must come at the end of the war, several Jewish questions will have to be settled. First, there is the Russian question. There are many as 250,000 Jews fighting in the ranks of the Russian army, and it is the hope of many of us that Russia, by allying herself with two of the most democratic powers in western Europe, France and England, will herself receive such an impetus to change her political status that of its own accord the Jewish question will be settled within her borders.

"Secondly, the Rumanian question must be settled. Two hundred and fifty thousand Jews who still remain in Rumania must be taken into full citizenship in that country.

"There is also the Palestinian question, which would have to be solved. I have for many years been a great friend of the Ottoman empire. I have always held that at a time when Europe was practically closed to our brethren in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, it was the Turkish government which opened the doors through which the Jews went who escaped from the Spanish and Portuguese inquisitions.

"I looked upon it as a source of great regret that Turkey allowed herself to be led into the war. Turkey surely will be the loser. If the central European powers are the victors, Turkey not only falls into the orbit which has its source at Berlin, but becomes nothing more than a corner of the German empire. If, on the other hand, the allies win, I am very much afraid that the doom of Turkey is sealed.

"I believe that the future of our people and the future of our race is intimately bound up with the Holy Land, and that it will depend upon the solution that is given to this question when the war is over: as to whether a bright future or not is opened up for the Jewish people."

PROTESTANTS OF GREAT BRITAIN ARE QUITE ANGRY

Serious Objections Raised to Sending Special Minister to Vatican and Protest Is Filed With Government.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) London, Dec. 22 (4:45 p. m.).—The appointment of Sir Henry Howard as a special minister to the vatican has called forth a protest from the protestant alliance, which denounces the appointment as illegal.

The northern church council of the church association at its directors' meeting in Manchester has framed an appeal to the king's ministers in which it is stated that diplomatic relations between England and the vatican have been discontinued for four hundred years and asking for the withdrawal of the present mission which, it says, "cannot but give offense to a vast majority of Englishmen."

The protest continues:

"This council regrets that any action taken by his majesty's government at this time of crisis in the nation's history should place upon the country a controversy which will strain to the uttermost the endeavors of all Englishmen to sink all differences and work together for the defense of the empire."

Always.

Then again, there's nothing exclusive about the war. There is always room for one more ally.—Cleveland Leader.

BRAZIL CHANGES HER METHODS OF COLONIZATION

Railroads Blaze the Trail and Settlers Are Aided to Make Good Start; Experiment Is Successful.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Porto Alegre, Brazil, Dec. 22.—After expending considerable energy in colonizing certain sections of southern Brazil, the government, in co-operation with the Brazil Railway company, in the states of Sao Paulo, Parana and Santa Catharina, has come to the conclusion that the former methods have not been as fruitful with results as might have been warranted by the expenditures made.

The custom has been in this matter of colonization in Brazil to first get the settlers, and then have a railroad line penetrate the cultivated section when it had been built up sufficiently to guarantee a revenue to the railroad. This plan is now being reversed, railroad construction preceding colonization, and already very excellent results are being noticed in some territories.

Financiers Investigate.

Brazilian colonies have recently been visited by European representatives of financial interests which, shortly before the war broke out, intended to invest somewhat extensively for the purpose of inducing farmers abroad to settle in the new world. The war may for the time being interfere with the execution of plans, but in the meantime investigations go on and preparations in a measure continue for opening up his sections.

Nova Galicia is a colony located on the railway line from Porto de Uniao to Rio Uruguay, about an hour and a half distant by rail from the former city. It affords a fair opportunity for judging what may be accomplished by the newer methods of first making transportation facilities available. The road traverses the entire colony the farthest farm being only sixty miles from the station at Nova Galicia. The colony consists of about 25,000 acres, and is divided into 421 farm lots of which more than half are under cultivation.

Nova Galicia Typical.

The first colonists in Nova Galicia came in 1910. The section is therefore quite new. The majority of the newcomers are Poles and Ruthenians. Twenty families speak German and only three speak French. To help the colonists to make a good start the railroad company furnished them with provisions free of charge during the first six months, but this policy no longer obtains, since it was found that a number of the people failed to make the best of their own opportunities and took advantage of the free distribution of food articles.

All the lots are covered with timber, mostly Araucaria pine and Imbuba, the latter being very valuable. This timber is bought by the railroad company from the colonists, who cut it into lumber for construction purposes. The lumbering serves as an immediate revenue. Much of the wood is also used as fuel for the locomotives.

Colonists Find Employment.

Four rivers traverse the colony and it is well supplied with water in consequence. Small, well-built bridges have been put across narrow rivers by the company where the road crosses. The work of construction of roads and bridges is done by the colonists, who are paid for the work and therefore find this additional source for revenue.

The Rio Uruguay colony is another settlement which appears to be well favored. It is situated on the right bank of the river in the state of Parana, and forms the boundary line between Santa Catharina and Rio Grande do Sul. The colony is composed of 126 lots of sixty acres each, the people are but just beginning to arrive, six German families, fourteen Italians as well as Polish and Brazilian families taking up their homes. Virgin forest covers the sections and the colonists will find plenty to occupy them.

COLORADO NOT FAVORABLE TO LANE'S POLICY

Governor Ammons and Governor-elect Carlson Opposed to Pending Water Power Site-Leasing Bill.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Governor Ammons and Governor-elect Carlson of Colorado appeared today before the senate public lands committee to oppose the passage of the pending water power site leasing bill, public hearings on which will be concluded by the committee tomorrow.

Governor Ammons attacked the principle of lease holding, upon which water power, as well as coal and other non-precious mineral lands would be opened to development by the program recommended by Secretary Lane and declared that this policy would deprive the public lands states of the west of the taxes with which to build themselves up. Vast portions of those states, he said, were held by the government under a leasing system only the federal government would profit by their development.

The governor insisted there was no danger either of the exhaustion of coal or the monopoly of water power, if the states are left to care for the regulation of their industries. Colorado alone, he added, had sufficient coal to supply the world for three hundred years with its present rate of consumption.

"There is only one way to prevent monopoly," he declared, "that is to do it directly; to limit the amount any one company shall own."

The policy under which government departments have dealt with the resources of the western states for years was attacked by the governor as unfair and unjust. Any new measures, which might be enacted, he declared, should provide that at least 50 per cent of the revenues from these resources should go to the states involved.

Mr. Carlson agreed with all that Governor Ammons said, and added that many years of experience had shown conclusively that private ownership was the only system under which the resources of the west could be developed. What the west needed, he said, was liberal laws and regulations that would encourage settlement; not restrictive measures that would retard its growth.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT.

Great Britain's assumption of a protectorate over Egypt, the ousting of the khedive and the placing of his uncle on the throne with the title of sultan, to show his independence of the sultan of Turkey, make changes only in name, not in fact.

From the time Cromer was sent to Egypt as resident agent of the British government, England ruled the land of the Pharaohs. Her troops garrisoned the Egyptian forts, her ships patrolled Egyptian waters, her agents directed the making and the enforcement of laws.

The suzerainty of the sultan of Turkey was merely in name and the power of the khedive over his subjects also was nominal, not real. But when the war came the Turkish government cast its lot with the empire of Great Britain and the khedive of Egypt left his country and placed himself under the Turkish flag.

The purpose of the sultan and the khedive was to arouse a national spirit in Egypt and to call all Mohammedans to the flag of the prophet for a holy war against the infidels.
 To offset these efforts, Great Britain has ousted the khedive, placed a new prince in his place, and formally assumed responsibility for the government.

The chief advantage of the move is to give the Egyptians a Mohammedan prince as their nominal ruler who will act as a buffer between the British government and religious prejudices of the Mussulmans. The Egyptians lose nothing, and they gain nothing except in name.

We thought of waiting until after Christmas was over before mentioning it, but believe it really should be mentioned now that the streets of Albuquerque are in worse condition today than ever before in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

INHUMANITY OF THIS WAR.

No one pretends that war can ever be made humane. It is the most hideous of human institutions. Yet just as there were humane slave-owners, can there not be humane war makers?

Even our common law recognizes that murder, the worst of crimes in the contemplation of the law, has several degrees of guilt. In like manner, may it not be held that in such thing as wholesale murder, which in this war, committed in the first degree; war in the second degree;
 and war when it is simply the manslaughter of fighting armies and natives?

Quite irrespective of The Hague conventions, have not noncombatants some rights on a continent at war with itself? We condemn the war as the greatest foolishness that the world ever has seen; we condemn Austria for her demands upon Serbia, following the assassination of the archduke, which precipitated the war.

We never have condemned Germany for standing by Austria, provided Austria could not be checked in her proposed aggression against Serbia, for the interests of Germany and her prestige as one of the great powers of Europe were interwoven with the destiny of her Teutonic ally.
 That fact was recognized with keen foresight by Bismarck when he dictated mild terms of peace to Austria after the battle of Sadowa. He was as generous with the Austrians as he was harsh with the French after the overthrow of Louis Napoleon.

But in the conduct of the war the Germans have shown themselves unnecessarily severe and rapacious. The destruction of the cities of Belgium and the commandeering of the food of the Belgians and sending it to Germany, leaving the noncombatant population to starve or to be fed by the United States, cannot be justified by any law of modern warfare. Worse still, is the levying of a tax of ninety-six million dollars on the stricken people of Belgium as a war tribute when thousands of women and little children and infirm men are actually starving and dying for the food that money would buy for them.

The ruler of the Universe, that Power that holds in His hand the fate of war and Kaiser, never will allow such acts of cruelty to go unpunished. The noncombatants of Germany are subject to the human emotions, the same capacity for human suffering, the same right to life as the noncombatant in Belgium. There will come a time when the savage hordes of Russia will sweep over that country, and the sympathies we are extending to the Belgians will be extended to the Germans with even greater cause.

If civilization should revert to the ethics of darker ages, not only would the noncombatant lose his right to be allowed to escape from the zone of actual firing, as was the case of the English port cities recently bombarded, but would lose the rights of citizens after conquest by a hostile nation. In other words, if the sentiment of the civilized world is to permit things that are being done in this war to continue without a protest, humanity is going on a long step backward. If we are to have war, it should be merely manslaughter, not murder in the first degree without mitigating circumstances.

England is not doing much of the fighting, but whenever the allies are applauded, she comes to the front of the stage and makes a profound bow and a speech telling what will be done by her next spring.

THE CURSE OF EGOTISM.

The state health commissioner of Pennsylvania believes there is a close relationship between hysteria and selfishness. He has not much sympathy for the self-centered individual who gets excited over every trifle and gives way to his nerves, thus allowing the mind to weaken its control. But his most significant observation is this:

"The greatest number of sufferers from nervous diseases are not, as might be expected, overworked individuals, but are commonly enough people who have little or nothing to do and for want of activity devote too much time to thinking of self."

These unhappy people, largely women but not a few of them men, spend their lives in a sort of busy idleness, fidgeting and fuming, not from exhaustion, but from a surplus of pent-up energy. Every topic of conversation, every happening of the day or night, every attitude of mind, is viewed from the angle of their personal consideration and well-being.
 They coddle their whims and cultivate their idiosyncrasies until they become mere grown-up nuisances to those about them.

If they happen to have work to do, they do it poorly because they are thinking of themselves, not of the work they are doing. Generally they are obsessed with the idea that they are sick, from a complication of diseases. They read medical advertisements and find symptoms of each ailment described. They wake up at a morning and, instead of meeting the day cheerfully, wonder how many pains they will have during the day or how many unpleasant things will have to be encountered, how many injustices they will suffer at the hands of others.

All of which is merely self-cen-teredness and egotism, fighting for "rights" that never existed, enduring pains largely imaginary; unsuccessful because they never have earned success—they have been thinking of themselves too much to do anything well.

"Turkey loses out on land and sea," reads a headline. The turkey lost out in this country about a month ago, and will lose out again day after tomorrow.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

War has driven Europe into government ownership of government control of nearly everything. The spirit of militarism has always fostered that sort of thing. The warlike countries have been most possessed by it;
 the most peaceful, the most free from it.

For example, almost every nation
 but the United States owns its telegraph and telephone lines. Railroads are wholly or partly owned in Russia, Germany, Austria, France, Italy, Japan and Mexico, primarily in most of those countries for use in war.

In every country operation has been inferior, so far as public service goes, to the services rendered by privately owned lines, and has cost more money. In Austria, the operation of the railroads has been a drain upon the public treasury. The same is true of the government-owned lines of Italy. Prussia charges higher rates, in proportion to wages, by far than we do, gives poorer service to the public and makes about twenty-five million dollars a year for the public treasury. In that country it is but another form of taxation, added to the almost innumerable others that inequity has devised for the purpose of raising money with which to support the army.

It is well for this country to lay the ghost of government ownership before it begins to stalk too aggressively. We have far too much of centralization of power in the federal government already. Washington is not efficient in any thing. It winds red tape about every undertaking until the very word "efficiency" has become a jest when applied to any government enterprise.

In many cities of Canada the price of bread has advanced. We suspect the tariff has something to do with it.

Yes, Indeed.

Though by no means gluttonous, this country could well stand a still larger helping of prosperity.—Chicago News.

Not at All.

She—Isn't she a gorgeous bore?
 He—Well, no; because I manage to work out all my next day's problems while she chatters.—Judge.

Where a Buffer People Between Austria and Russia Now Find Themselves

(Alexander von Huler, Austro-Hungarian Consul General in Liberty.)

It is safe to assume that most of our readers are unaware that the Ruthenians, or Little Russians, as the Russians christened them,
 or Ukrainians as they style themselves, are a people numbering 40,- 000,000. The western world hardly suspected the existence of this nation,
 which ranks second among the Slav;
 the Ruthenians have been moved to a more prominent place in European politics lately, their future destiny being one of the main causes of the present war.

Of the 40,000,000 Ruthenians, more properly called Ukrainians, about 4,- 000,000 live in eastern Galicia, and half a million in upper Hungary, whereas more than 25,000,000 are at home in southern Russia, in the fertile plains stretching from both banks of the Dnieper to the Don and the Black sea. As far back as the tenth century, Ukraine was a mighty country, and its capital, Kiev, then was the largest, wealthiest and most advanced city in eastern Europe. In those days western Europe fully realized the Ukrainian rulers' power, foreign rulers sought their friendship. Prince Volodymir Monomach married, to Harold's Saxon king of England's daughter, Gytha, and his daughter, Anne, became queen of France. After the destruction of their flourishing country by the invading Tartars, the Ukrainians came under Lithuanian, Polish and finally Russian domination.

Denationalized Them.
 Russia was quick to realize that were the national civilization of such a large population occupying the most fertile parts of the empire allowed to subsist, this would ever be a source of danger for herself. It was, therefore, decided to denationalize the Ukrainians and drastic and unscrupulous methods applied to this end. The very existence of the nation was denied, the language was summarily decreed to be the "little Russian dialect," and was prohibited in schools and official life. Not content with this, official Russia prohibited the printing of Ukrainian texts even of prayer books.

The total suppression of national existence which threatened the Ukrainians was happily averted when a fraction of them came under Austria's rule as a consequence of Poland's partition. With the constitutional freedom granted by Austria, the Ukrainians in that country were enabled to maintain and develop their national existence and culture. Ukrainian schools and colleges were founded, besides many national clubs and associations for upholding the people's economic and ideal interests. Ukrainian was officially recognized as the country's language, and acts were passed in local courts and councils and parliament safeguarding Ukrainian rights.
 The people were inaugurating a national "renaissance," their culture and literature were once more going ahead, the Austrian government, well appreciating the situation, had agreed last year to the establishment of an Ukrainian university in Lemberg.

Yoke Unbearable.
 The national resurrection of the Ukrainians, though materially confined to Austria, had a moral effect far beyond the Russian borders. Comparing their lot with their happier fellow countrymen in Austria, the Ukrainians in Russia gave signs of unrest, and Russia had to realize that her yoke was unbearable.

The Ukrainian aspirations were not passed unnoticed by the watchful Russian officials, who quickly perceived that a new threat was arising to their government's despotism; nationally enlightened Ukrainians would not willingly submit to Russian oppressive rule and would even attempt to free themselves.
 Official Russia then declared that the annexation of Galicia was the safe-est course to take in order to avert the threatening danger. When this would be achieved, the time-honored Russian "la Cossaque" methods would nip in the bud the resurrecting Ukrainian culture. These official Russian views were disseminated in periodicals and at public meetings. As long as a powerful Austria stood in the way such theories could be advanced in speech and print, but they could not be put into practice. Since annexation by violence was not possible, one had to resort to other means.

Ukrainian Resistance.
 The Ukrainian "renaissance" was declared by official Russia to be but a cunning invention of the Austrian government, nay, the very existence of the Ukrainians in Galicia was flatly denied and the Ukrainians were described by Petersburg as Russians, brothers who were subject to utterly intolerable religious and national oppression. The Petersburg government gave its financial support to the recently launched "Russian-Galician society" and "Slav Benevolence society," both inspired by Count Hrobinski with the sole object of promoting Russian political agitation in Galicia. In this campaign, which started both on educational and religious lines, the chief Russian weapon was the ruble.

At first Galicia was flooded by Russian emissaries, these "agents provocateurs" were entrusted with the "disaffection mission" of the poorer class of peasants who were to be promised a free hand in the partition of the domain estates and the resisting of the Jews, since the czar would have conquered the country. Numbers of these poor peasants' children were taken to Russia, there to be educated in convents to be fit assistants for the Russian orthodox church in the Ukrainians in Galicia are members of the Roman Catholic church, though they have retained Greek rites; once their education completed, the "students" were sent back to Galicia with sufficient funds and weapons to agitate and also act as military spies, as the persecutions in Marmarosa Szigeth and Lemberg have amply disclosed.

Conditions Made Easier.
 Free boarding schools for poor peasant children were founded with Russian funds, the educational work being carried on in accordance with Russian anti-Austria literature, the prayer books containing prayers for the czar and the emperor, but these gave all these good things free without wanting anything in return!
 Even certain English newspapers were influenced so far as to publish accounts of "the unparalleled oppression of the Ukrainians in Galicia," the authors being Hrobinski and also J.
 W. Birbeck, an Englishman acting as Russia's agent for England. Hrobinski did not shrink from going to Galicia, and there to speak in terms of should, had the Austrian authorities concerned not been too lenient for peace's sake, have led him to detention for political crimes. Attempts were also made to persuade the Austrian government to crush diplomatic channels that peace with Russia could be maintained only if the Russian agitation in Galicia were tolerated; at the very time Petersburg's bureaucrats declared Galicia would soon be ripe for picking.

Plan of Long Standing.
 Inasmuch as public opinion exists in Russia it was carefully prepared and familiarized with the idea that war with Austria is unavoidable, and that Galicia must be annexed. This policy was succinctly expressed by Hrobinski's characteristic exclamation:

 "We shall not rest ere the Carpathian tiger flies over our heads and thence to bring war about and at the same time conceal her aggressive policy. Russia started the anti-Austrian campaign in Serbia. The unsuspecting reader might fancy that Russia's attitude in backing Serbia in the outcome of a sincere feeling of Slav solidarity, but the initiated know perfectly well that Russia could reach Lemberg best by way of Belgrade.

Let us finally consider what was the Ukrainian attitude when this war started. From the very first minute it was well defined and unanimously supported: "We shall fight for freedom and Austria." Immediately hostilities began, numerous Ukrainian volunteer companies took the field against Russia, their archbishop in Lemberg, Count Sheptycki, having devoted his entire fortune to this purpose. The archbishop has already been made prisoner and sent to Russia, where he shall have to answer for his answering patriots. Count Sheptycki will be one of the many noble victims of a just cause; the Ukrainians will hold his memory in high esteem and honor.

It is to be anticipated that the hopes of his enduring and cultured nation will be fulfilled at an early date.
 Western civilization would fare all the better by it.

With Scissors and Paste

CAVE DWELLERS IN THE TRENCHES.

But for the soldiers the real period of long waiting begins when the men commence to intern themselves in the trenches.

Everyone knows and loves the sensation of being in a secure little house when the stormy winds blow. Say on the seacoast bald or on a nesting cliff, in there anything more gratifying and comforting than to listen to the storm arising and whistling against the vibrating and trembling roof and walls or to hearken to the wind that makes the ruddy fire embers glow at the base of the wide-gauge chimney?

Instead of hailstones or slashed raindrops, shrapnel or rifle bullets may rain on the roofs of the covered trenches, but the men rest therein secure and only to hold these lines and wait.

Three inches of a long horizontal slit is the aperture through which they may observe, watch, or shoot their
 foe. Then the trench begins to become a residence. The furnishing of this residence immediately becomes a very important matter. It will be a very lucky thing for the occupants if there is a supply of fresh hay or straw available in the immediate vicinity, as either makes all the difference in upholstery and padding up the interior for the comfort of the occupants.

The character, habits and temperament of the men soon become very apparent in the appearance of the apertures of these modern cave dwellers.
 The natty, tidy, careful fellows soon have their section of the trenches almost like a navy man's cabin, while the slack and slovenly ones settle down to pig it—just anyhow.

When the serious part of the digging is accomplished, and all has been done possible to make the abode of the cave dwellers secure for a probable long wait, it is often amusing to observe the stock taking that is gone through as to what resources are available to pass the idle hours before them.

Has anybody bought a pack of cards? Although not mentioned in the long list of regulation equipments, one is often found more valuable than some of the items that are.
 Some very grimy and well worn packs I have seen, with the corners well rounded from hard use, yet they have helped to pass by days which would otherwise have been ones of dismal boredom. Then if the particular trench is lucky in having any fellows that have brought a novel or a book of any kind.

In visiting troops at the front I have invariably found that a newspaper was a far more useful passport than any laissez-passer from the general staff. As a Tommy said to me one day: "Why, I might as well be a bloomin' insect in the middle of a bloomin' Siltan cheese for all I know of what is going on in the rest of the war or the rest of the world!"

THE NEW JURY.

An extremely interesting and pathetic incident occurred in Boston last week which affords a startling measure of the extent of unemployment.
 A Boylston street building needed a new janitor. The advertisement was inserted offering a rate of pay $2 less per week than had been given the former janitor. The first day no applications were received. But the second day brought an avalanche of replies totaling 1,600 and requiring many hours to open and sort. Some applicants even went so far as to enclose photographs. And the wage amounts to but $10 per week.

A VILLAGE OF WRECKERS.

The wreck of the Boholia off Whitby, England, makes a memorable addition to the long list of fine ships that have come to grief along that hazardous coast. There is no fishing village up there, however tiny, which has not its tales of maritime disaster;
 no little churchyard without its graves of ship wrecked mariners.
 Many novelists and poets, from Sir Walter Scott onwards, have touched these stories of misfortune and heroism, and have given them literary form and permanence.

Bits of Humor

Natural Deduction.
 "I wouldn't object to my son being a poet if he would write something sensible."
 "Then it wouldn't be poetry."
 Philadelphia Ledger.

Resourceful Woman.
 "Scientists claim that women of the future will positively be baldheaded."
 "Don't let that worry you. If they haven't anything to pin it to, they can glue it on."
 Kansas City Journal.

Advantages of Uselessness.
 The eagle gathers in applause
 With dignity complete.
 We let him pose around because
 He isn't good to eat.
 Washington Star.

Hard to Understand.
 "I don't understand this."
 "Here I am perfectly neutral and yet I gotta pay a war tax."
 City Journal.

The Storytellers

His Explanation.
 "There will have to be new rules made here, or I shall give notice," said the hells girl in the telephone office to the chief clerk.
 "Why, what's the trouble?"
 "Well, some of the things said over the wires are not fit for me to hear."
 "Oh, that's all right," was his flip-pant rejoinder. "You can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked."

To Be Expected.
 "How was the man dressed who swindled you?"
 "He wore a light gray derby, a flashy checked suit, a red tie with diamond horseshoe pin stuck in it, a tan velvet vest and—"
 "That's enough. If you tried to change a hundred dollar bill for a chap dressed like that you deserved to be swindled."

Getting His.
 "I thought your wife positively made you quit drinking."
 "There's always a way to fool the women, boss. She depends on me to mix the punch for her affairs and a conscientious punch-maker has to taste the mixture frequently."
 "Well?"
 "Well, after you've tasted it about a thousand times you've a pretty good edge on."

Just to Make Sure.
 Mistress: Why have you put two hot water bottles in my bed, Bridget?
 Bridget: Sure, mum, wan of them was leaking, and I didn't know which,
 so I put them both in to make sure.—

MANY MISTAKES MADE, DECLARES BRITISH OFFICER

Colonel of Gordon Highlanders Tells of Blunders in Action Which Have Caused Unnecessary Losses.

(Associated Press Correspondence.) London, Dec. 22.—Many of the mistakes made during the war, Colonel Unliacke of the Gordon Highlanders declared in a lecture recently before an audience of soldiers at the Hounslow barracks. A summary of the lecture was permitted to pass the censor too.

It was a "deplorable mistake," according to Colonel Unliacke, which caused such heavy casualties in his regiment. An order to charge was given which never should have been given, he said, and the Gordons went forward "only to come under a terrible shrapnel and shell fire" to which they were exposed for a long time. It was never ascertained who gave the order to attack.

Nor was this terrible experience of the Gordons an isolated one, Colonel Unliacke said. He declared he knew of other regiments that had been ordered to make "a perfectly hopeless attack" and had made it at the cost of half their strength, and afterwards "it was found that the order to attack was never given by the general."

No order to advance or attack should be taken, he insisted, unless it were properly authenticated.

CARLOAD OF RABBITS FOR BELGIAN SUFFERERS

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Madison, S. D., Dec. 22.—The unusual abundance of rabbits this winter has made them a drug on the market and a scheme is on foot to collect a carload to send to the starving Belgians. There will be no difficulty about getting that amount of rabbit meat, as a few organized hunters would produce the desired result, at the same time affording fine sport for the hunters. The only difficulty is in getting a ship to take fresh meat. If this can be overcome South Dakota can furnish every man, woman and child in Belgium with a pair of jack-rabbits.

Someone has suggested that sending rabbits to the native land of the Belgian hare would be like carrying coals to Newcastle, but in reply it is asserted that every hare in Belgium has been destroyed before the war, and it may be necessary after the war to appeal to South Dakota for new stock.

CHECKS GROUP INSTANTLY.

You know group is dangerous. And you should also know the sense of security that comes from always having Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house. ## STOCK EXCHANGE SALES GENERALLY MADE AT DECLINE

Lower Prices Rule in Almost All Issues, Only a Few Shares Advancing Above Recent Prices.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) New York, Dec. 22.—That the supply of securities continues in excess of the demand was again demonstrated by the heavy course of today's dull movement on the stock exchange. Many of the better known and seasoned issues of less importance, including the low price coppers, were quoted at bottom figures. The weakness in the metal group appeared to have its basis in another severe cut in the price of the metal, due to lack of demand.

United States Steel assumed its old position as leader, falling in the early dealings to 48 1/2, from which it rose fractionally only to decline again in the final hour. Support of this stock was rather indifferent throughout the session and the general closing was correspondingly weak. That the steel corporation is hopeful of improved trade conditions, however, was shown by an official statement issued after the close of the market to the effect that no general reduction in the wage schedule would be made at this time, because of "some evidences of a change for the better."

In the early stock trading, Readings and Lehigh Valley were conspicuous for their relative strength, each gaining a point on the decision of the federal court, which declared that Lehigh Valley had not evaded the anti-trust laws in its relations with some of its subsidiaries.

Bethlehem Steel preferred was another isolated instance of strength, partially as a result of a rumor to the effect that the company had secured large orders from abroad. Among the minor specialties, Central Leather rose on the increase of its dividend from 2 to 3 per cent. Announcement that the Virginia-Carolina preferred dividend had been deferred because of the state of the cotton industry occasioned no surprise and failed to bring out any of the stock.

Latest war news was evidently productive of a more cheerful feeling in London, where reports of a reopening of the exchange early in the coming year were irregular with free selling of the active group. Total sales, par value, was $1,575,000.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE
Chicago, Dec. 22.—Immense export sales that were made after a break in prices, rallied the wheat market today and caused the December and cash deliveries to go higher than at any previous time this year. Closing quotations were strong at 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net advance. Other leading staples, too, all wound up with gains—corn, 3/4 to 1/2c; oats, 1/2 to 3/4c; and provisions, 1/2 to 1/4c.

Wheat values had a wider range today than has been the case before in the low point of the session being fully 50c a bushel. Export sales by Chicago houses alone reached 2,000,000 bushels and there also were advices of foreign business by way of the Gulf and at the Atlantic seaboard. European governments were said to have been the chief buyers. Estimates that the amount of spring wheat now remaining in the Dakotas and Minnesota was 70,000,000 bushels less than at the corresponding time a year ago, helped further to lift the market.

At first export demand for wheat was said to be nearly at a standstill with bids generally showing a decided reduction. Some reselling early by foreigners here tended likewise to send prices temporarily down grade, and so, too, did an increase of primary arrivals and of the European visible supply. On the ensuing upturn, however, offerings became surprisingly scarce, and shorts were in a rush to cover.

Corn sympathized with wheat, but kept inside of narrow limits. There was considerable profit-taking by foreigners, hence no independent action. Most of the time trade was of a scattering order.

Something of an advance in the price of hogs gave firmness to provisions. Besides there was a noticeable improvement in the cash demand for lard.

Closing prices:
Wheat—Dec., $1.26 1/2; May, $1.28 1/2.
Dec., 65c; May, 71 1/2c.
Oats—Dec., 48 1/2c; May, 52 1/2c.
Pork—Jan., $18.62; May, $19.12.
Lard—Jan., $10.40; May, $10.57.
Ribs—Jan., $10.20; May, $10.57.
